NOT YET WED TO COREY.

Mabelle Gilman Says Ceremony on May 13 Will Be the First.

New York, May 3.—Mabelle Gilman denies a rumor that she is at present the wife of W. E. Corey, head of the United States Steel Corporation. She said that there was no discord between her and the family of her millionaire fiancé.

Whatever feeling his relatives may have had when he was divorced by Mrs. Corey has presumably disappeared, for the members of the Corey family have signified their intention to be present at the wedding.

"Will the ceremony on May 13 be the first, either civil or religious?" she was asked.

"Yes, it will be the first," answered the actress.

"How many persons will be present?"

"There will be no guests except the members of his family and my own."

Miss Gilman said also that the ceremony would be religious and not civil. After the wedding, she said, she and Mr. Corey will take up their residence in this city, where both have many friends. The bridal tour, it is understood, will not be extended because of Mr. Corey's business interests. Their destination is a secret that the bride elect is zealously guarding.

Having set at rest the various rumors, Miss Gilman was not overvoluble about her plans for the future. She declined to disclose where the wedding will be performed, but said that it would not be at Sherry's, as has been reported.

President Gilman Cornered.

Probably the angriest man in New York yesterday was at the Hotel Gotham. He wears what are technically known as "burnsides," is tall and dignified and arrived at the hotel, registering as "D. C. Gilman of Baltimore."

When he emerged he was surrounded by the camera brigade, photographed and then cornered by the interviewers, who poured in a withering crosure of questions about "Mabelle."

"Who are you talking about, I'd like to know?" he demanded in perplexity.

"Aren't you Mabelle Gilman's father?" he was asked.

"Who is—Mabelle Gilman?" demanded the big man.

"Why, Ellis Corey's fiancée, the actress, you know."

The man snorted and said a few things. D. C. Gilman is president of Johns Hopkins University and being unable to find accommodations at the University club went around the corner to the Gotham.

REP. WARD A WRECK.

Prostrated in Room Because of Edith Presley's Death.

Lansing, May 3.—The scandal attending the death of Edith Presley, the senate proffreader, in a Detroit sanitarium will not down and it is still the one topic of conversation here to the exclusion of the usual legislative gossip. Representative Charles E. Ward of Bancroft, speaker pro tem of the house, whose name has been prominently connected with the gossip, is prostrated and does not leave his room. His wife is with him constantly.

Ward has denied himself to visitors; not only that, but he has collapsed and is in bed under the care of two physicians.

It is said that Ward has not slept since Saturday night nor partaken of much if any food. Weakened by this lack of nourishment and rest he is on the verge of nervous prostration and it is understood that opiates were administered to him in an endeavor to get him to sleep.

Comment is made by members of the legislature that he is absent from the house of representatives and while several are offering their services and assistance to him it is asserted that he has made a mistake in not retaining his courage and facing the matter among his colleagues.

There is a disposition shown among the legislators to take official cognizance of the investigation. Members of the Presley family say they are anxious that the investigation be pushed to the limit. They are extending all the assistance possible to the Detroit officers and the Lansing police are also assisting in the case. Rumors of all kinds are current and the general impression here is that the case is fast approaching a climax.

The detectives are weaving a net of circumstantial evidence that may result in the issuance of a warrant when they return to Detroit.

Miss Presley applied for leave of absence to go east. At her rooming place she told Mrs. Scott that she was going away, but refused to tell where. Mrs. Scott finally has made the statement that she knew Miss Presley had been in a delicate condition since last December, although the young woman never told her. On the day she went away Mrs. Scott suspected that there was something wrong and notified Frank Presley and a state official. She asserts that she confided her real suspicions to Frank Presley, but the latter denies this, claiming that his sister told him she was going to be operated upon for a tumor. At any rate Frank Presley put his sister on the evening train for Detroit.

A man talked with her on the train, but when Detroit was reached she hurried out of the depot, after saying that she was going east. She went to the Hope sanitarium on April 20, and walked out every day until Monday afternoon, when she was operated on. The question is where did she go and whom did she meet?

Representative Ward was in Detroit on April 18, registering at the Wayne hotel. Miss Presley registered there the evening of April 19, but it is claimed that Ward then had gone to the Hotel Ste. Clair. How long he remained there is not known, but the Detroit police have looked this up. Downey and Seymour are quietly trying to find a letter that Miss Presley is said to have received, and which is thought to have a bearing upon her sudden determination to go to Detroit.

Ward in Critical Condition.

Information from Detroit to the effect that Representative Charles E. Ward approached a Detroit physician with a request that he perform an operation on a girl friend was doubtless what led to the sudden determination of the Detroit officers to remain in Lansing. It is freely rumored that Ward is critically ill from complete collapse and under the influence of opiates. He is nevertheless under watch at his home on Genesee street.

Dr. A. W. Scidmore, a fellow representative of Ward's, was in constant attendance with Dr. Abrams, also a representative, all night. Ward is in a pitiable condition from lack of sleep and nourishment. Since Sunday he has not slept and aside from a glass of milk and lime-water and a cup of tea has not eaten. The doctors declined to permit the detectives to interview Ward last night and at noon today announced he could not be seen for two days.

Detective Downey made the statement today that his work here was practically at an end. He takes no stock in the Dr. Hulsion incident and is apparently working on more positive lines, which had their inception in the investigation at the Detroit end.

A rumor that Ward had been advised to skip undoubtedly led to the watching of the house during the night, but the attending physicians assert he is in no condition to even leave his bed.

He was terribly frightened today and for some time believed he was dying. The opiates used last evening failed to give him any sleep. Ward sent a telegram to his brother Harry in Du Quain, Ills., in which he asserted there was no truth in the reports of his connection with the Presley case and said a letter would follow and explain, Ward thought he was dying.

VICTIM OF TYPHOID FEVER.

After an illness of nearly six weeks Nime Gustafson, only daughter of Charles Gustafson, died at Escanaba from typhoid fever. She was a member of the senior class of the high school and was regarded by the instructors as one of its most promising students. When the announcement of the death was made a deep cloud of sorrow settled over the entire school. She was but eighteen years of age and had spent all of her life in Escanaba. She entered the public schools at an early age and passing through the successive grades would have reached the goal for which she had been striving for many years in June when she would have had her diploma.

NEW YORK STOCKS.

New York, May 3.—The action of the stock market today was dominated largely by the movements of Union Pacific.

Southern Pacific's net earnings declined over a half million dollars compared with March last year, although a handsome proportion of the gross increase was saved for the net.

New York Central showed an expansion for the first quarter of the year of $2,755,000, or upwards of 17 per cent over that for the first quarter of 1906.

The money market showed little change in rates, but the tone was firm. The estimates of the week's currency movement indicated it to be in favor of the interior, partly offset by a gain on the sub-treasury operations.

Mining News

The East Butte Extension Mining company is reported to own nearly 100 acres of ground. Development work is being pushed and regular shipments of ore are being made.

The development of the vein cut by North Butte in the Berlin crosscut is showing up splendidly. A little drifting is being done on it.

Large sales of copper for June, July, August and September delivery are momentarily expected, says D. R. Houston & Co.

A four foot vein of 7 per cent sulphide ore is reported to have been cut in the shaft of the Amazon Butte company.

Work on the Davis-Daly crosscut from the original mine has not been resumed, but it is hoped that the heavy tunnel will be drained from the vein by another week and that work can be resumed.

The production of copper by the Butte companies for the first four months of the year was between 15,000,000 and 18,000,000 pounds less than the production during January, February, March and April of 1906.

In the primary markets for cotton goods the only developments of importance were a sharp advance in the cost of raw material, which tended to strengthen the position of producers who were resisting with increasing difficulty the pressure to accept lower quotations on distant deliveries.

VACANCIES IN THE SENATE.

Washington, May 3.—Instances where a state legislature fails to elect a United States senator in time to take his seat at the beginning of a new congress are so few in the history of the United States as to be worthy of mention.

Previous to the Civil war there was only one other lapse and that an unavoidable one. The state of Iowa, which had just been admitted to the Union, was entitled to have two senators in the twenty-ninth congress, but was not prepared to choose them in time to take their seats.

Not until the fifty-third congress was there again a break in the representation of state in the senate that could have been avoided. In 1893 the legislature of the state of Washington failed to elect a senator in time to take his seat.

When Delaware was in the throes of a factional fight over the senatorship of the state of Pennsylvania also got into a tangle over the successor of the great political boss of the state, M. S. Quay.

Now comes the case of Rhode Island. While small states have not had a monopoly of erring in respect to full representation in the senate, the fact that Delaware and Rhode Island have had their troubles in this line has led commentators on American politics to conclude that in small states there is greater field for activity in the matter of trying up legislatures and thwarting the intent of the laws of the land.

There have been instances too numerous to mention when states have been temporarily without a full representation in the senate, principally through death and resignation.

No. 2 shaft, the new vertical crosscut of the Hancock Consolidated company, has reached a depth of 100 feet. It will require a year or more to bottom this shaft in known copper bearing lodes.

The production of copper by the Butte companies for the first four months of the year was between 15,000,000 and 18,000,000 pounds less than the production during January, February, March and April of 1906.

In the primary markets for cotton goods the only developments of importance were a sharp advance in the cost of raw material, which tended to strengthen the position of producers who were resisting with increasing difficulty the pressure to accept lower quotations on distant deliveries.

DEMAND FOR HOUSES ON THE INCREASE

THOSE IN PROCESS OF CONSTRUCTION FAIL TO MEET NEEDS OF GROWING CITY.

DEMAND EXCEEDS SUPPLY

Advancement Association, if Organized, Would Be Hampered by Scarcity of Quarters for Incoming Residents.

The residence being built by M. E. Asire for James L. Drogan, steward of the Marquette prison, on the corner of Presque Isle avenue and Waldo streets, fronting the normal school grounds, is rapidly nearing completion, and will be ready for occupancy some time in June. The house is a two-story, nine-room structure, of modern design, and is one of the best in the city. A six room house contracted for by T. W. Cleary and located on Presque Isle avenue, near Waldo, will be completed in a few weeks. John Rosequist expects to take possession of his house on Summit street, between Presque Isle avenue and Fitch street, about June 1. The building is two stories and contains eight rooms. Two houses that will be put on the market as soon as completed are now in process of construction by Mr. Asire on Center street, between Longyear and Wilkinson avenues. They will probably be finished by the middle of June. Mr. Asire will start four more houses within ten days that will be rushed to speedy completion.

"I am not looking for a monopoly in the building line in this city, nor do I desire it," said Mr. Asire yesterday. "I only wish that there were ten times as many new buildings going up here as there now are. Only a few days ago a prominent business man, who has received notice that the owners desired to occupy the house which he had been renting, came to me with the view to securing another residence. We canvassed the situation thoroughly and could find nothing that would suitably provide for the needs of a family. He was willing to pay a good rental, but there wasn't a vacant house in the entire city that answered his requirements. I think that I will have to build him a home. Now incidents of this character are of common occurrence. If some local capitalist had taken time by the forelock and constructed several residences this spring he would have been able to dispose of one to this gentleman or to rent it at a good figure. The man's needs are pressing and there would have been no trouble in closing a deal advantageous to both parties. Alderman Downey is advocating the organization of an advancement association to bring new industries and more people to this city. The alderman's enterprise is to be commended. I like to see a man who places the welfare of his city on a par with his personal interests. But suppose under present conditions we should have a big influx of residents. Where are they going to live? The city is in a congested state already. It could not by any possibility provide accommodations for five hundred or a thousand new residents on short notice.

"Real estate has formed the basis of many great fortunes. The returns from judicious investments are not dazzling, but they are certain. The first of the Vanderbilts dug claims and raised cahages on Coney Island and bought real estate. It was its real estate holdings that gave the Vanderbilt family its start. Now there is not the slightest danger that the population of Marquette is going to decrease. Its location and interests insure it at least a normal growth. Such being the case, property values are bound to rise and the man who builds residences is certain of commensurate returns on his investment. I have been agitating the erection of a flat building among several business men and I hope to see some one take hold of the matter before long. I believe that every inch of space in a building of that character, would be rented inside of a month after its completion. In the line of real estate I cannot think of a better investment."

BARNES-FIELD NUPTIALS.

Were Celebrated This Week at Duluth—Bride Formerly Lived Here.

The Duluth News-Tribune, issue of May 1, has the following mention of the Barnes-Field nuptials: "The wedding of Miss Henrietta Barnes, daughter of Mrs. Julia Barnes and Edwin Dewey Field, both popular and well known in Duluth society circles, took place yesterday afternoon at 1:30 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Julius H. Barnes, Twenty-sixth avenue east, the Rev. Alexander Mills of the Congregational church officiating. Only the relatives and a few intimate friends were present.

"The rooms were artistically decorated with pink and white roses and ferns. The bride, who was unattended, wore a handsome gown of white embroidered tulle and carried bride's roses. After a beautifully arranged wedding luncheon, Mr. and Mrs. Field left for New Orleans. They will be at home after June 1 at 1212 East Third street."

Mrs. Field is widely known in Marquette, where, for number of years, while she was engaged as a training teacher at the Northern Normal, she made her home.

LOCAL POST OFFICE HAS ITS TROUBLES

MANY PATRONS, IGNORANT OF REGULATIONS, REDEEM STAMPED ED MAIL MATTER PURCHASED AT OTHER OFFICES.

Failure of patrons to properly inform themselves on the postal regulations relative to the redemption of unused stamped envelopes and postal cards has been a source of considerable trouble and expense to the Marquette office. Stamped envelopes and postal cards are redeemable only at the office at which they are purchased. Many of the packages recently redeemed at the Marquette office contained envelopes and cards purchased in other cities and in consequence have been returned to the office from Washington. In speaking of the matter yesterday morning, Postmaster Mangum said:

"It is a very simple thing for business men to inform themselves on the redemption of unused mail matter, but many of them fail to do so. All matter must be redeemed at the office at which it is purchased. Suppose a man buys 1,000 stamped envelopes. He has these stamped with his name and address and fails to use them. They cost him $21.25. Uncle Sam will take them back and give him $20 in stamps. No money is given out. All redemptions are made in stamps or stamped paper. With postal cards 75 per cent of their face value is returnable in stamps. Now when these envelopes come in neither the clerks or myself have time to scan every address. We run over the packages and count the number they contain, but we have to take the word of the owner to a great extent as to their character. I have had considerable stamped paper returned from Washington which was redeemed at this office, though purchased in other cities. Some of the envelopes were purchased as far west as Denver. This stamped paper paper was evidently sent to Marquette offices by outside firms who desired replies. The firms receiving them did not consider the matter worthy of reply, but filed the envelopes with their own unused stock, and later redeemed the package for its face value. Matter must also be redeemed by the original purchaser. The clause in the postal regulations covering this says: "An original purchaser is one who purchased the stamped envelopes or postal cards at a postoffice. Postmasters are authorized to refuse redemption of stamped envelopes or postal cards purchased at post offices other than their own, or which bear a return card or printed address other than that of the person offering them for redemption, unless satisfied that the person presenting them is the original purchaser."

"THE TENDERFOOT" SNOWBOUND. Missed Former Marquette Date by Being Held Up at Superior. H. P. Hill, advance agent of "The Tenderfoot," which is booked for the Marquette opera house, Tuesday, May 14, was in the city yesterday. "The Tenderfoot" was to have played Marquette shortly after Thanksgiving, 1905, but was snowbound in Superior. Mr. Hill says that the troupe had an experience unique for dramatic companies in this region. The weather prior to the performance was good and the house was well filled. During the evening, however, snow fell in such quantities and formed such drifts that the chorus girls decided not to leave the house until the morning. The course proved an unwise one, for the next day the building was surrounded by eight foot drifts. The company was held in the opera house for days, food being brought to them by men on snow shoes. Several several dates were missed, among them those at Ishpeming and Marquette. Mr. Hill says that the company is bigger and better than ever and during a recent run at the Davidson, Milwaukee, received even more enthusiastic applause than a year ago, when the Cream City press characterized it as the best attraction of its type that had ever visited the city.
