Miss Nellie Robinson, of Crystal Falls, has returned home after a week's visit with friends in this city.

The Marquette National bank will be closed today from 2 p. m. until after the funeral of the late Frederick W. Read.

A meeting of the Marquette Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The National League of Veterans and Sons will enjoy a supper and smoker following the business meeting at the city hall tomorrow evening.

Paul Quinn, a former resident of this city, who has for the past five years made his home at Duluth, Minn., is the guest of Marquette friends.

A social dancing party, one of the series given by Messrs. Boxer, Connell, Osgood and Peters, is announced for Friday evening at Legion Hall. Sweet's orchestra will play.

Mrs. Belle Frank and daughter, Miss Evangeline, who have been the guests of Marquette friends for some time past, have gone to Neegaunee for a brief visit before returning to their home at Escanaba.

Dr. A. W. Hornbogen left this morning for Saginaw to attend the annual meeting of the State Medical association as the delegate from the Marquette and Alger counties' society. He will be absent from the city until Friday.

Sheriff Richardson of Roscommon county was in the city yesterday, having brought a prisoner to the Marquette penitentiary. He was Frank Monaco, given from three to ten years after having been convicted of a charge of assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than the crime of murder.

Stove Hole in the Clara—While making a trial trip in the launch, Clara J. George Gillett collided with "The Bugs" Saturday and stove a hole in the bow of the Clara. The damage is not serious and can be easily repaired. The Clara J. will shortly make regular trips to Big Bay and the Huron Mountain club house.

May Have Snow Today—The rainfall of Sunday night and yesterday will exert a beneficial effect upon vegetation, according to the local weather bureau, if it is not followed by a fall in temperature. The storm ranges southwest from St. Paul to Northern Texas. It snowed in Colorado and the Dakotas yesterday morning and the temperature fell below the freezing point. Marquette may experience a fall of snow today.

Still Ice in the Portage—Captain Parker's fish tug, the Theora, returned Sunday from Houghton, where she was equipped with a new wheel. The men who accompanied the boat on her trip say that there was still at least a foot of ice in the Portage, though it was becoming badly honeycombed, and was breaking up rapidly. The Theora had no trouble in getting through and had excellent weather for her return trip.

School Interest Fund $13,582—Deputy County Treasurer Wright has received notification that the first apportionment of the primary school interest fund for this county is $13,582. Mr. Wright says that this can be considered the main apportionment and the November allotment will be smaller. The November apportionment last year was $145,519 but the state had at that time succeeded through litigation in securing a large sum of money due it from the railroads.

Light Catches of Fish—According to Captain John Parker the demand for fish far exceeds the supply. The average catch in this vicinity so far this season has been very light and the fishermen will be fortunate if they break even on the season, unless the fishing shows a marked improvement shortly. Were there the same limit on the amount of net to be set as prevails in Canada the fishermen would be compelled to adopt other vocations. Most of the fish shipped from this point go to Milwaukee and Chicago.

Judge Stone Dismisses Action—In circuit court at Menominee Saturday, Judge Stone dismissed the action of Miss Myrtle Schaeffer, a young school teacher, against Mellen township for $105, alleged to have been due her on salary. For three months the school was closed down by smallpox and Miss Schaeffer claimed salary for the period as she was ready and willing to pursue her duties. Judge Stone held that as Miss Schaeffer taught under a verbal contract she had no cause for action. The case, which is the first of its kind in this state, will be taken to the supreme court.

Buildings Are Undermined—There is considerable moving going on at our town," said W. H. Ellis, of Norway, at the Brunswick, yesterday. "I cannot, however, be exactly considered an evidence of enterprise on the part of residents. The ground is steadily sinking in the neighborhood of the big Aragon mine as the ore is removed and it has been found necessary to abandon many buildings. A big grocery store near the post-office has tilted over at such an angle that we expect to see it topple over most any day."

Sues for Big Damages—A suit has been instituted in circuit court at Marquette, Wis., by S. E. Marcott, a traveling salesman of Depere, for $50,000 damages against the Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie Railroad company. Mr. Marcott alleges that while traveling from Minneapolis on his way to Marquette, he occupied one of the company's sleepers which was not properly heated and contracted a severe cold which later developed into pneumonia. The plaintiff in the action is still seriously ill.

Have Secured Two Bonds—The report from Ishpeming that both Ishpeming hands had been secured for the Fourth of July celebration there appears to have been incorrect. Chairman John Hager, of the Marquette committee on arrangements, said yesterday that he had secured contracts with hands at Ishpeming and Neegaunee for the celebration in this city, and would certainly hold the former to its agreement. The committee has already taken steps to secure advanc-

Many Boats Have Cleared

Through the season opened a week later, seven more boats have already cleared from the South Shore docks than up to the corresponding date last year. This is in a great measure due to the fact that operations were suspended for a period of ten days last year by a strike. This season not only Marquette but almost all of the ports on the upper and lower lakes have been singularly free from labor troubles. Some trouble has been experienced through frozen ore. There has been so much rain and snow since ore has been brought on the docks, and the temperature has been so low that the inconvenience from this source has been much greater than is usually experienced.

Must Keep Off Fire Wagons—Members of the fire department assert that they are greatly inconvenienced and at times hampered by the actions of a number of young men who make it a point to ride to fire on the truck wagon and chemical engine. The firemen state that they cannot well stop while going to a fire to put these men off and that to throw them off without slowing up might injure them badly. Saturday night when a false alarm called the department to the Tierney grocery, No. 300 Division street, the truck wagon was so loaded down with sightseers that it was with great difficulty that the firemen found places. It has been impossible for the firemen to personally notify the men who catch on the wagons that their actions are unwarranted because they disappear immediately when a fire is reached and the firemen are then too busy to hunt them up.

TO INSTAL TURRET LATHE.

Lakeside Iron Works Preparing to Look After Increased Business.

August Sweder, proprietor of the Lakeside Iron works, received a telegram yesterday from the Jones & Lamson Machine company, of Springfield, Vermont, that the turret lathe ordered for his plant some weeks ago, had been shipped. Mr. Sweder expects that the lathe will arrive about Friday. It is to be used for the construction of diamond drill supplies, of which the works will in the future make a specialty. Mr. Sweder and Charles Christensen will open their iron foundry on the south side some time next week. They will employ ten hands, and have experienced some trouble in securing labor. Mr. Sweder said yesterday that it was easy to secure inexperienced help, but that the work he expected to turn out demanded skilled molders. Some of the machinery has already been installed and a crane is now being erected. The foundry will be equipped to turn out castings of huge size.

TRIBUTE TO MR. RICHARDS.

In this sunny land where the flowers bloom, the birds sing and the sun shines, we are not exempt from bereavement and sorrow.

In health one day, and in one short week in the sleep that knows no waking, is the sad story that must go to Marquette of one of its old time residents, who had lived here in 1896, and had been actively identified with the place and its prosperity from that time.

Last Monday a little circle of Marquette friends, together with the many warm true friends made in this city of the angels, gathered to pay the last tribute of respect to all that was mortal of Edward Richards. An honest Christian gentleman, a faithful friend, a loving husband and father, he sleeps today in beautiful Rosedale cemetery. He was most enthusiastic in his admiration of this lovely spot, visiting it again and again, and always speaking of its beauty with unstinted praise; it seems most fitting that this should be his final resting place.

Mr. Richards had passed a delightful winter here, and with his usual loving care for those of his household, was looking for such a home here as should please his family, when he was prostrated by paralysis, and although he lingered, till his physician thought he might rally, it was not to be.

Our loving sympathy will go with the family on their sad journey to Marquette, without the protecting, loving care, of the one whose life work has been to bring comfort, and happiness to those he loved.

DEEP WATERWAY PROJECT.

Speaker Cannon and Congressman Burton Comment Thereon. Peoria, Ill., May 13.—Speaker Cannon spent today in Peoria. He was entertained tonight at a dinner at the Country club, and in the course of informal remarks said that the future of the deep waterway project depends upon the practicability of the work on the Mississippi river below St. Louis.

Mr. Burton said that there were several reasons why the last congress did not adopt plans for the improvement of the inland waterways. Enumerating these, he said: "While it was in contemplation to provide a waterway four feet in depth from Chicago to the gulf, only that portion between St. Louis and Chicago had been surveyed, and it would be injudicious to proceed with the construction of part without knowledge of the cost and probable utility of that portion between St. Louis and the gulf."

TODAY'S WEATHER. Washington, May 13.—The following is the weather bureau's forecast for Upper Michigan: Rain or snow Tuesday; Wednesday, fair; brisk to high north winds.

MARKETS

NEW YORK STOCKS.

New York, May 13.—The runaway wheat market caused a monetary setback to stocks today, the prices yielding most of the opening gains in the course of the first hour. The market gathered force again after that to mount to a higher level of prices, but the volume of business fell away to almost nothing. Speculative interest seems wholly diverted from the stock market for the time being. The strong undertone in spite of this neglect was very notable. Some special effect was produced on Atchison by the excited rise in wheat, and Canadian Pacific's 1/2 decline seems to reflect the uneasiness over the backward sliding season in the Canadian Northwest. Elsewhere the influence of the wheat price movement was confined mostly to wiping out early advances. The top level of prices was touched after the sensational opening quotations for wheat were received. The sentiment in the securities market seemed to be to attach considerable weight to the contributing causes to the strength in wheat, in addition to the present condition of the winter wheat crop. The undertone of strength in the stock market was due to an immediate extent to sympathy with the strength in Union Pacific. Reading was a seconding influence to the sustaining effect of Union Pacific. American Smelting showed some depression, and United States Steel was heavy. The money markets were notably firmer abroad, and firm tone was maintained here also. Union Pacific and Reading were the principal factors in a strong closing.

Table with columns for stock names and prices, including Smelter, N.Y. C., D. & H., S. & O., etc.

Logan & Bryan telegraphed yesterday from New York as follows: "The action of today's market would indicate that the list has been pretty well liquidated. It also commences to look as though there is more to put this market higher than the creation of a short interest from time to time, as has been the practice recently. Union Pacific, Reading, Smelters, and the Hill stocks all figured prominently as leaders in the face of a tremendous advance in the grain market throughout the session. There was no news of importance, but the support given the list today was of the sort that is needed to advance and maintain the prices. We believe that on any setbacks the standard issues will do to buy for a turn at least."

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKETS.

Chicago, May 13.—The opening in the wheat pit today was the most sensational known in the history of the board of trade. Amid the wildest excitement, wheat crossed the dollar mark, both the September and the December passing cent figures. Despite reactions caused by heavy selling for profit, the market closed strong, with the demand apparently unabated. The final quotations found the July up 4 cents, at 93 3/4. The buying, started by outsiders last week, was more vigorous than ever today. Brokers were piled high with orders to buy wheat irrespective of price. The curb at Minneapolis was higher, and it was evident that the prices would move upward when this opening would be closed. The general run of trading, however, did not look for any such opening as occurred. Every option with the exception of provisions opened higher, the advance in wheat ranging from 1/4 cents to 8 cents later in the day. The reasons for the advance were those chronicled the last ten days—reports of damage by the green bug and cold weather in the West and Northwest. The continental markets were higher. Liverpool was especially strong because of the gloomy outlook in Russia. The weather bureau predicted no immediate change in the weather conditions. Many professional traders, believing the opening much too high, sold wheat vigorously all day. This heavy pounding carried the July down to 94 1/2, the September to 96 1/2, and the December to 97 1/2. Contingent customers, however, still flooded the market with orders, and the setbacks were only temporary. The September opened 1/4 higher, at 95 to 96, sold between 95 to 100, and closed at 97 1/2. The December opened 1/2 to 3/4 higher, at 99 to 101, sold between those two points and closed 4 1/2 higher, at 99 1/2. The July opened at 93 to 97; highest, 97; lowest, 93; closing, 95 3/4.

FRENCH DEPUTIES GET NOTICE.

Must Approve Government's Labor Policy, or the Ministry Quits. Paris, May 13.—In the chamber of deputies today, during a debate on the government's policy towards labor, Education for Minister Briand announced that if the house did not support the government's disciplinary measures, the ministers would not retain their portfolios.

IRISH BILL DOOMED.

Nationalist Convention at Dublin Not Expected to Accept It. London, May 13.—The opinion in the lobby of parliament on the prospects of the Irish home rule bill, which is designed to meet the wishes of the Irish people, took a very pessimistic turn tonight, because of the growing belief that the Nationalist convention, to be held in Dublin, will not accept the measure. In this case, in accordance with an understanding between Irish Secretary Burrell and John E. Redmond, the Nationalist leader, reached during the negotiations which preceded the drafting of the bill, the government will make no further attempt to proceed with the measure.

PROMISES NATION REFORMS.

Spain's New Parliament Opened in Person by the King. Madrid, May 13.—King Alfonso, who was accompanied by the queen mother, Maria-Christina, opened the new Spanish parliament today. The king read the message from the throne, promising reforms in the state administration, including de-centralization, and urged the immediate necessity of the reconstruction of the Spanish navy. The king referred in happy terms to the birth of the heir apparent. The king has received the approval of the sovereigns of Great Britain, Germany, Austria and Portugal on the conferment of their names on the new born prince, when his birth was registered yesterday.

HEAVY FIGHTING IN MOROCCO.

Melilla, Morocco, May 13.—It is reported here that the army of the sultan has won a victory over the forces of the pretender near Marchica. The casualties on both sides were heavy. Tangier, May 13.—The report that the army of the sultan has won a victory over the forces of the pretender near Marchica is confirmed. The government troops ravaged the country surrounding Marchica, captured 200 prisoners and secured considerable booty.

REICHSTAG APPROVES.

Berlin, May 13.—The reichstag today, with only a few negative votes, passed the second reading of the commercial treaty vivand between Germany and the United States.

MR. TAFT'S BOOM GAINS IN FORCE

Secretary Taft will content themselves with working to obtain from the state conventions formal approval of the policies of the administration, and instructions to their delegates to vote for a man who will carry them out. If any state convention should decline to give such a general instruction to its delegates the Taft forces would probably not oppose an instruction for the renomination of President Roosevelt. Secretary Taft is not one of those who believe the president intends to be in the race next year. The secretary doubtless hopes to obtain a large proportion of the rampant Roosevelt Republicans when they realize that they cannot compel their hero to make the race. It is generally accepted in Washington that Senator Foraker is eliminated as a presidential possibility by the collapse of opposition in Ohio to Secretary Taft's indorsement for the presidency. This opens question as to the action of the conventions in various southern states which proposed to approve his candidacy to succeed President Roosevelt. If the southern Republicans should hold their state conventions today the majority of them might instruct for Vice President Fairbanks. Speaker Cannon would probably capture North Carolina because it is the state of his birth, were it not for the overwhelming Roosevelt sentiment in the south and the feeling that the president may be compelled at the eleventh hour to accept a third term.

Vice President Fairbanks has been informed by his agents who have been canvassing the south that this is the obstacle which confronted them at every turn in their efforts to line up the southern delegates for the "Hoosier" candidates. For example, J. P. Goodrich, chairman of the Indiana Republican state committee, and Joseph E. Keating, United States district attorney at Indianapolis, in soliciting the support of southern delegates for Fairbanks were told: "We Republicans down south are not for anybody else yet because we have not given up hope of compelling him to run, but if we can't get Roosevelt we want the man best fitted to carry on his policies. We would like to hear his views on the subject before committing ourselves." This was not encouraging information to the Fairbanks backers.

What the friends of Secretary Taft are most anxious to obtain at this moment is a Taft indorsement from some great state like New York, Pennsylvania or Illinois. Minnesota or Massachusetts might still pull the wool until a larger state could be captured. His friends believe that should one of the great states rally to his support Secretary Taft's nomination would be practically assured. So far as Illinois is concerned there is no possibility to prevent the indorsement of Speaker Cannon or to make a deal for the delivery of that state but the Taft forces are hopeful that Governor Deeney and the opposing faction will get together and unite upon Secretary Taft as the second choice of that state.

WALKOUT AT HARD ORE.

About 100 Workmen at Oliver Company's Property Quit Work.

The Finnish underground employees at the Oliver Iron Mining company's Hard Ore property, about 100 in all, refused to go to work yesterday morning, sending word to the officials that they had a grievance. The principal grievance was that they thought the machinery at No. 7 engine house was not in condition for the proper handling of the cage in No. 6 shaft, where an accident occurred last week. The men evidently believed the accident due to some defect in the machinery or perhaps to the carelessness of the brakeman, but in this they appear to have been wrong, as the man was injured while attempting to jump on a moving cage. An accident occurred in the shaft some months ago, and this was referred to by the committee who represented the workmen yesterday.

The men who called at the office in behalf of the miners were advised by General Superintendent Johnston and Mining Superintendent Keese to select some competent mechanics to go over the machinery thoroughly. They stated that if any defects were found the company would be only too pleased to repair the plant. It is not thought that anything wrong will be found with the machinery, as it was gone over very carefully after the accident of a few months ago. The shaft was also thoroughly inspected at this time and it was found in good condition. It is expected that the men will be back to work within two or three days, as soon as they receive a report from their representative who is to inspect the machinery.

SAW A CLOUDBURST.

Two Ishpeming Men Witnessed Unusual Spectacle One Day Last Week.

Ed Stenberger, coachman for John P. Outhwaite, and Deputy Game Warden John Manley were startled by a cloudburst within a few rods of them one day last week near the bridge of the Escanaba river, south of city. They were about to pass over the bridge when they saw the big black cloud approaching. It looked very treacherous and was traveling quite rapidly. When within 100 feet of the bridge it burst, and the water in the stream rose fully twenty-five or thirty feet into the air. A great quantity of water came out of the cloud and the report when it burst was as loud as is usually heard from the explosion of a stick of dynamite. The local men had never before seen anything like it. Mr. Stenberger said that if it had struck the bridge with the same force that it did the water, the bridge would never have withstood the blow.

Mr. Stenberger had one of the worst trips of his life in going to and from Mr. Outhwaite's summer resort. He said that he thought he would surely lose his team, particularly at one point where he had to cross a swamp, where the road was flooded. The water was from three to four feet deep in places.

EXPERT OPERATOR.

A. C. Cooley of Chicago, who will manage the Grand theatre, arrived in the city yesterday, accompanied by his wife. Mr. Cooley is considered one of the best moving picture machine operators in the country. He was for some time assistant superintendent of the sub-station of the Edison Electric company at Grand Boulevard, Chicago, and he was also formerly chief operator of the machines used in the Tourist circuit, which includes twenty-seven theaters. For the greater part of a year past he has been associated with R. J. Coleman on the Majestic circuit in Idaho, Nebraska, and Utah. Mr. Coleman is now manager of Lawton & Joyce's Calumet theater. Mr. Cooley expects to try out his machine and pictures today.

RECUED 800 PERSONS.

A Danish coast guard, who died recently at the age of 83 years saved over 800 persons from drowning during his 43 years of service. During the 33 years that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has been before the public it has cured so many cases of stomach, liver and bowel complaints and prevented so much suffering and sickness that it is impossible to record the number of cures to its credit. Sufficient to know that it always affects a cure if such a thing is possible, and as thousands have already testified to this fact there is no reason for any man or woman hesitating any longer. Start today. It is a specific remedy for poor appetite, sick or nervous head-ache, insomnia, flatulency, dyspepsia, indigestion, costiveness, biliousness or malarial fever. The genuine is absolutely pure.

CHAS. E. LAWRENCE INJURED.

Former Ishpeming Man, Now on Menominee Range, Victim of Bad Accident.

Charles E. Lawrence, a resident of Ishpeming for a number of years, now superintendent of several Menominee range mines, last week sustained a fracture of a knee cap. The Crystal Falls Diamond Drill says of the accident: "While walking along the railroad track in the vicinity of Railroad Lake an ore train came along and Mr. Lawrence stepped off to one side of the track to allow the train to pass. In this movement his foot struck on a shifty piece of ground and he slipped and fell, striking the cap of the right knee against a sharp stone. He was unable to arise and lay by the side of the track helpless. Fortunately a small boy came along and Mr. Lawrence sent him to summon assistance.

The injured man was taken to this city where, medical attention was given him and later on he was taken to his home, Assistant Superintendent Jabe coming to Stager to meet him. Mr. Lawrence will be incapacitated for four or six weeks and the injury is very painful."

ON MEMOINNEE RANGE.

Former Ishpeming Man Takes Charge of Property for Iroquois Company.

Thomas H. Martin, for a number of years in the employ of the Cleveland Cliffs Iron company in this city, who resigned to take charge of a property in the Baraboo, Wis. district and who later accepted a place with a Chicago concern, is to have charge of operations at the Gibson mine, Menominee range. The property is to be operated by the Iroquois Mining company. The Crystal Falls Diamond Drill says: "If the news that comes from Amas this week is correct the Gibson mine, which was turned down by the Oliver Iron Mining company after many thousands of dollars were spent in its exploration, is far from being in the down and out class.

"The rumor is that the Iroquois people have decided to begin at once the sinking of a new shaft on the property and the opening up of the ore out by the diamond drill during the winter. "Thomas Martin, who was at one time head bookkeeper for the Corrigan-McKinney company but resigned to take charge of the mine for the Iroquois people in the North Freedom district, has been secured to take hold and manage the property.

"The Gibson was first explored by J. T. Gibson and others who showed up an ore formation and some fine ore in test pits. The property was taken over from Mr. Gibson in 1899 by the Oliver Mining company and that concern sank several shafts did a lot of underground work and after about three years of operations surrendered the lease and stripped the property of its machinery. "The lease reverted to Mr. Gibson who stuck to it with bull dog tenacity for a number of years; paying his royalty and endeavoring to get some party to take hold of the mine and open it up. The blow given by the Oliver's surrender was one that was hard to overcome and it was only last fall that he succeeded in getting someone to take hold of the property.

"Diamond drills were put at work and continued in operation throughout the winter. It is evident that the results of the drill work must have been satisfactory or the present program would not have been entered upon."

OLD CITIZEN DIES.

Andrew Anderson, well known among the Swedish people as "Mr. Skog," died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. C. J. Hammer, on Hazel street, Sunday. The deceased was eighty-one years of age and is survived by two sons and two daughters, all living in this city. The funeral will be held this afternoon, with services at the house.

EPIDEMICS DIVERT BUSINESS.

"The recent epidemic of diphtheria and scarlet fever in the city have, it is reported, diverted thousands of dollars' worth of business from Chicago. In order to allay the fears of towns and cities near Chicago, which were said to be considering quarantine measures until the epidemic had passed, Health Commissioner Whalen called a consultation of big commercial interests which resulted in active co-operative measures being taken to prevent the spread of disease and stamping out the epidemic."—From American Carpet & Trade Record, Philadelphia, March 10, 1907.

SOCIETY SECURES JUDGMENT.

Mission Church of America Gets Possession of Valuable Claims.

Members of the Mission congregation of this city have awaited with no little interest the final result of a law suit which has been pending in Illinois since 1901 between Rev. Peter H. Anderson, a former missionary of the church, and the Mission society of America. The society in 1897 organized a corporation for the purpose of conducting exploratory work in Alaska. Several Ishpeming men were in the pool and two or three good workmen were sent from this city, together with men selected from other localities. Rev. Mr. Anderson was at the head of the expedition.

Shortly after the party's arrival at Nome, gold was discovered, and claim No. 9 was staked out in the name of the society. This was operated with considerable success until 1900, when the society was offered $75,000 for it, but refused. Rev. N. C. Hullberg, a member of the original party, was active in the management of the claim and in 1901 his health became impaired and he returned to America, remaining about a year. During his absence Mr. Anderson had the title of the claim transferred from the Mission society to himself, and it is claimed that he took out $300,000 worth of gold. He refused to give up the property, and soon after operations were suspended.

Several attempts were made to settle the case with Anderson, but without success. Finally in 1903 he agreed to have it settled by arbitration, the society naming one man, he another, and these two the third. The arbitrators decided in favor of the society and Anderson appealed to an Illinois circuit court. The court rendered a judgment in favor of the society and the reverend gentleman appealed the case to the United States court. Last week a decision was handed down in favor of the church organization, giving it a judgment for $232,000 and full possession of the claim. It is said that Anderson is quite well to do. He was a poor man when he started on the expedition. He owns a flat in Chicago valued at $50,000, and he has lands in Kansas valued at $204,700.

It is now expected that the church people will resume operations at the claim. John Brynteson, a former Ishpeming man, who was one of the original discoverers of the Nome district, was there a short time ahead of the Mission party, and claim No. 9 adjoins one he staked out and operated. During Mr. Brynteson's first year or more at Nome he occupied quarters with Rev. Mr. Anderson's party. Mr. Brynteson is now one of the stockholders of the Pioneer Mining company, which is operating a number of valuable claims that are giving the stockholders unusually big returns. Brynteson and his family have for nearly a year past been in Sweden, where he has acquired some valuable property. He also owns a mansion in California.

FROM HOPKINS' CURB LETTER.

"The copper shares did not show much change today from Saturday's close. Copper Range being about the only one that showed any activity, advancing 2 points. The list as a whole has been very dull, the fluctuations being only small fractions. The Parrot has declared the regular quarterly dividend of 25 cents per share payable June 19th to stock of record June 8th. Green-Canaan has been a market laggard the past week and has shown a tendency to work lower, selling as low as 15 1/2. Superior & Pittsburg has also been under some pressure, going as low as 17 1/2. Important Changes in Route of Line to Be Made in Both Cities.

Manager J. W. McCorkindale, of the Marquette County Gas & Electric company, has completed arrangements for the improvements which the company contemplates making at the power house and on the street car line. One of the most important improvements is a change in the route in both cities. The line is to be taken off Iron and Cyr streets and will be extended from the diamond crossing on Cyr street north of the Chicago & Northwestern company's main line, provided a right-of-way can be procured through the short stretch from Cyr street to Jackson. The terminal will be either near the city building or the Cleveland-Cliffs iron company's building. The company would extend its line farther east, if the citizens want the service available beyond Pioneer avenue. On the proposed route there will be no midway crossings where, as at present there are two, one on Iron street and the other on Cyr. The grades on Cyr approaching Iron and on Iron approaching Cyr have caused much trouble during the winter season.

In Islipening it is planned to run the cars out on Third street, from High to Wabash, and east on Wabash to the golf grounds. The road will pass north of the golf grounds and through the lower part of Cleveland park, north of the pond. A spur will be extended from a point west of the golf grounds, closely following the bluff along by the foot of the ski hill and around to Union Park.

The line will be equipped with heavier rails through the principal part of both cities and a complete new trolley is to be provided. The latter will be rebuilt from the power station to Cyr street in this city and from Lake Angelina to High and Third streets in Islipening. Mr. McCorkindale is unable to say just when the material will arrive, as the firms which are to supply the wire and rails are considerably behind in their orders.

Another new car has been ordered, but it is impossible to say when it will be delivered, as the car manufacturers are also crowded with work. The recent big car burn fires in New York and Chicago, and a few smaller fires at other points, destroyed several hundred cars, and increased the already big demand.

SPORTSMEN URGE M'CALLUM BILL

PROVIDES FOR COMBINING OFFICES
OF GAME AND FIRE WARDENS
IN ONE MAN.

IS PENDING IN LEGISLATURE

Numerous Strong Arguments Offered in Favor of the Measure—Is Hoped That Its Passage Can Be Secured.

The committee appointed by the convention of upper peninsula sportsmen held in Marquette February last to look after its legislative program is now urging on the legislature of the state the passage of the McCallum bill, which proposes to combine the duties of state game warden and fire warden. The measure is pending, having been introduced in March, but until the last few days it has not been pushed. The committee is now desirous of having it taken up and favorably acted upon, as its members are convinced that the bill would pave the way for a great advance in the efficiency of the protection provided for the game and for the forests against fire.

The bill provides that the state game and fish warden shall be the fire warden of the state, and that supervisors of towns, mayors of cities and presidents of villages shall be deputy fire wardens, the supervisors being empowered to appoint a warden for each surveyed township in his town in which he does not reside.

The state warden is empowered to divide the counties of the state into districts, and to appoint for each a deputy, who shall receive a salary of not more than $1,000 a year. The deputy will have full powers to enforce the game laws, and also to take precautions against forest fires in his district, being given power to require owners of land to remove brush, rubbish and other combustible material. Should land owners refuse to do as required, the deputies are empowered to enter the land, do the work and charge the cost to the person or persons creating the dangerous conditions complained of. Provision is made for collecting such costs. In case of fires the deputies are empowered to move effectively to extinguish them or to restrict the area of damage.

The deputies are required to make full reports to the state warden, who in turn is required to include these reports in an annual statement to the state land commissioner, who is made state forest commissioner, and who is required to investigate the extent of forests, amounts and varieties of timber, and other kindred facts.

Maximum Expenditure $10,000.

During a dry and dangerous season the state warden is empowered to take such steps as he may deem necessary to prevent or suppress forest fires, the expenses on this account for any one year being limited to $10,000. These are the main features of the proposed law.

The legislative committee appointed by the sportsmen's conference has memorialized the members of the legislature in favor of the McCallum bill, setting forth the weak points of the present law and showing how it is proposed to remedy them. It would be grateful for any assistance from the upper peninsula in making out a case for this measure, which it is thoroughly persuaded would do a great deal for the preservation of both the game and forests of the state. The present law makes the state land commissioner the forest commissioner, and he appoints a deputy known as the fire warden. The forest commissioner receives no compensation and the fire warden but $500 a year. An emergency fund of $5,000 is created, and in addition the deputies, or supervisors, mayors and the presidents of villages may expend not to exceed $50 in extinguishing fires in any surveyed townships. The law has been ineffective, however, and is regarded as hopelessly weak. Under its operation forest fires have burned themselves out without let or hindrance, and no effective patrol of the forests is provided for.

It is urged in favor of the McCallum bill that the fundamental reason for combining the work of these two departments is that the enforcement of the game law necessarily requires the wardens to patrol the forest districts and it is entirely possible for them at the same time to familiarize themselves with conditions likely to produce forest fires and take charge of the work of extinguishing fires. The preservation of the forests and the protection of game are inseparably linked together. There is no use of appointing two separate and distinct sets of men to patrol the same districts. The work of the fire wardens is confined chiefly to the summer months. By combining in one set of men the work of the game wardens and the fire wardens, an opportunity is given to secure efficient men and give them continuous employment at fair salaries. The present method of paying the chief fire warden only $500 and of limiting the expenditures to $50 a year per township is an absolute waste of money and the law might as well be stricken from the statute books.

Makes State Warden Responsible.

The McCallum bill makes the state game warden responsible for the enforcement of these forestry laws; it permits him to use the same force of men who are acting under his instructions to enforce the game laws. He is directly responsible to the governor for the proper administration of his department. While the McCallum bill increases his powers and authority, his responsibility will increase in the same degree, and no work of any importance can be accomplished without giving some one sufficient authority to properly carry it out.

The deputy wardens must be state officials. Experience has demonstrated that local game wardens do not enforce the provisions of the game laws as efficiently as state deputies who are entirely free from local influence. These deputy wardens would investigate the causes of fires and prosecute those who willfully or negligently set fires, just as the sheriff of the county enforces the penal statutes. As soon as it is known that these laws are to be enforced and that there is in every district an official whose business it is to enforce them, it is safe to say that that fact alone will tend to prevent many of the fires which are caused from camp fires carelessly left burning and other causes that might easily be avoided. Again, in case of fire, the deputy warden will personally take charge of the work of extinguishing it. Sometimes forest fires rage for days where they might easily have been checked in the first instance, and finally assume proportions where it is impossible to stop them until they burn out. By prompt action the deputy wardens can prevent the destruction of much valuable timber and of many homes.

There is one other question which may be raised relative to the McCallum bill and that may as well be anticipated here. The question of the expense involved in enforcing any proposed law is always a proper matter of consideration and discussion. It will of course be impossible to estimate with even approximate correctness what the expense would be in any given year, because the weather conditions have much to do with the expense incident to this work. There may be extensive fires in a dry season such as 1906, while in other years the risk from fire may be very small. Of course the employment of deputy wardens in the manner stated will involve some expense, but it must be remembered that a large proportion of that expense is already incurred by the employment of wardens to enforce the game laws, and the only additional expense which can properly be charged to the enforcement of the McCallum bill is such as may be incurred over and above the ordinary expense of enforcing the game law by these same men.

New Sources of Revenue.

In connection with the McCallum bill, there have been introduced in the house several bills by Representative Gordon and others, providing for the payment into the state treasury of all money derived from license fees for killing game. One of these bills, known as House Bill No. 408, provides that all money paid for deer licenses, except the twenty-five cents retained by the county clerk, shall be paid over to the state treasurer and shall only be expended in payment for the services and expenses of the state game and fish warden and his deputies and the state and county (deputy) fire wardens in enforcing the game and fish laws, and the laws for the prevention of forest fires. Other bills have been introduced proposing to impose a rod license upon all fishermen.

It is not our purpose here to argue the merits of each particular bill, but simply to call attention to this important field for legislation to urge the propriety of enacting some law along these lines. The small rod and gun license and the deer license fees imposed by the laws of Wisconsin last year earned for the state the sum of about $75,000, which sum was sufficient to defray the expense of enforcing the fish, game and forestry laws. There is no reason why the same course cannot be taken here. The revenue received from these sources would be sufficient to defray all the expenses of the combined state game and fire wardens department.

HEATS HIGH SCHOOL WITH COAL ASHES

JANITOR E. C. QUARTERS DEMONSTRATES PRACTICABILITY OF RECENT DISCOVERY IN FUEL—GIVES OUT FIERCE HEAT.

E. C. Quarters, head janitor at the high school and superintendent of buildings for the board of education, believes that he has demonstrated beyond all argument the practicability of the alleged discovery by an Altoona, Penn., shoemaker that ashes treated by a cheap chemical solution and mixed with a small proportion of coal, make an excellent fuel. Mr. Quarters' solution is even more simple than that of the Altoona man. Outside of ashes and coal he uses nothing save oxalic acid, salt and water. Oxalic acid is worth fifteen cents a pound retail. Purchased in large quantities it could probably be secured at a much lower figure. Salt of a cheap grade is worth about a cent a pound. In his first experiment Mr. Quarters used a pound of salt, two ounces of oxalic acid dissolved in twelve quarts of water and added to six buckets of ashes and three of coal. The compound gave a good fire, necessitating but a small draught. By doubling the amount of the chemicals, using two pounds of salt and four ounces of acid, much better results were obtained. In speaking of the matter yesterday Mr. Quarters said:

Practicability Is Demonstrated.

"This discovery is not a joke. I believe that I have demonstrated its practicability beyond all question. The high school building is now being heated in a great measure by the chemically treated ashes and coal. The chemicals necessary to transform six bushels of ashes and three bushels of coal into an excellent fuel cost approximately about five cents. This country has been wasting millions of dollars in fuel annually by throwing away its ashes. I believe that the heating bills will in the future be reduced immensely. The exact percentage of saving I would not care to estimate, but I have carried my experiments further. But there is no doubt of the practicability of the discovery. Mix ashes and coal without using the oxalic acid, water and salt and you could not keep a fire going even with a fierce draught. The compound, however, generates a gas which consumes nearly every particle of the fuel, leaving only a small amount of fine ash. When I took the matter up we did not have a great amount of ash on hand as they had been used for filling purposes on various public properties about the city. For some little time past, however, I have been using every bit of ashes taken from the furnaces in the high school. Examine any ordinary ash pile after a rain, when the lighter particles have been washed away from the surface, and you will find that it contains from fifteen to twenty-five per cent of coal. All of this is consumed when sprinkled with the compound. The saving to the city of Marquette alone in the heating of public buildings should amount to a large sum annually."

Makes a Fierce Fire.

Mr. Quarters took a Mining Journal man to the furnace room of the high school and gave him a practical illustration of the value of the fuel. Several bushels of a mixture, the main component of which was unquestionably ashes, was stacked in front of the furnace. It was very damp and heavy from the water that had been thrown upon it, and the uninitiated observer would have jumped to the conclusion that it was a fine thing to utilize as a fire extinguisher. Mr. Quarters opened the furnace door and threw in several shovels. Blue flames showed on the surface and in a few seconds it glowed fiercely, emitting an intense heat. "There will be no coal left in the ashes from that compound," said Mr. Quarters. "It will be consumed to a fine dust."
