LAST SAD RITES HELD.
Late F. W. Read Laid at Rest in Park Cemetery Yesterday.

All that was mortal of the late F. W. Read was laid at rest in the family lot in Park cemetery yesterday afternoon. The funeral services were held from the family residence at 3 o'clock, and among those who gathered to pay a last tribute of love and esteem to the memory of a clean and upright life were many who had known the deceased during all the years of his long residence in Marquette. The funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Ralph Snow, pastor of the First Baptist church of Cleveland, Ohio, formerly of Marquette, and a personal friend of the deceased, and Rev. J. M. Rogers, of the Presbyterian church. The active pall bearers were Messrs. Comer, Ishpeming, Brophy, Michigamme, Lee, Ferguson, Stickey and Godwin, Marquette, all old employees of the deceased. The honorary pall bearers were Messrs. F. J. Jenkinson, D. H. Hall, J. E. Sherman, Dan W. Powell and Charles H. Schafer, directors of the Marquette National bank. Music was furnished by the combined choirs of the Presbyterian and Baptist churches. The floral tributes were many and beautiful.

E. C. Quarters, superintendent of buildings for the board of education, is having the various school lawns about the city sowed with clover seed.

Deputy Sheriff Kendrick of Kent county brought Crawford Shinkel to the Marquette prison yesterday. Shinkel was given from two to five years, with a recommendation of three and one-half years, for larceny of $25.

Land Company Officers—At the annual meeting of the Northern Land company, held last evening, the following board of managers was elected for the ensuing year: D. W. Powell, A. E. Miller, John D. Mangum, Carl Meeske and F. J. Jenkinson.

Exhibits at the Library—A number of stained glass window and lamp shade designs drawn by pupils from the third to the eighth grades in the public schools, are on exhibition at the library building. Many of the designs are really artistic in conception, and the coloring effects are uniformly better than could have been expected in very young artists.

Famine in License Cards—Marquette county was particularly fortunate in having on hand a good supply of red saloon license cards this season. The number of new saloons to take licenses in Michigan this spring exhausted the supply of license cards in the office of the secretary of state, and Escanaba and some other cities were unable to secure the number for which they applied.

Assembly Hall Seated—The assembly hall in the new south wing at the Northern Normal has been seated within the past few days. There are chairs for 320 people. They are of rubbed birch, a light wood, and tasty in appearance. A four program Frick clock has been installed in the building. It regulates the dismissals of all classes during the day, making the class hours exact.

Visiting Iron Ranges—Reginald Meeks, a member of the editorial staff of the Engineering and Mining Journal, spent yesterday in the city. Mr. Meeks is on a trip to points of interest on the Lake Superior iron ranges for his paper, and before he returns to New York will visit the Mesaba and Vermilion, writing extensively about different properties. Mr. Meeks will be at Ishpeming today.

The Dixie Minstrels—One of the few minstrel attractions of the season will be offered at the opera house Thursday evening when the Handy Dixie Minstrels will appear. This is an all-colored company, and contains some of the best colored singers and specialty artists before the public. The Cotton Pickers' band, said to be a fine organization, is one of the attractions, and will be heard both on the streets and during the performance.

Manufacture Its Ink—Marquette has an industry in the basement of the high school building of which few people are aware. This city is among the few in Michigan which manufacture all its ink for school consumption. The materials are purchased in a crude form and the ink, both black and red, manufactured under the direction of E. C. Quarters, the ink gives as good satisfaction as the highest grades on the market, and its cost is but a fraction of any of the standard writing fluids.

"The Tenderfoot" Tonight—Marquette playgoers will have an opportunity to welcome two old favorites at the opera house this evening in "The Tenderfoot," in which Ruth W. White and Oscar Figman, both remembered here because of a previous appearance in "The Burgomaster," are cast in the principal roles. They are supported by a large and well chosen company and have had a most successful season. "The Tenderfoot" is an unusually musical offering—in short, one of the best attractions of its class now on tour.

Pleased With the Kimberly—Rev. James Corcoran and Dr. Cole have returned from Colorado, where they went to inspect the Kimberly mining proposition in which both are interested, says the Marquette Pioneer-Tribune. The party of which they constituted a part, although not from Missouri, decided that they would "have to be shown" and that they were pleased with what they saw in putting it mildly. They consider the proposition an excellent one and deem themselves fortunate in possessing some of the stock.

Gifts to Retiring Officers—At the regular meeting of Red Cross Legion last evening the retiring past president, Mrs. May D. McCormick, was the recipient of a handsome golden oak leather-seated rocker, presented to her by friends in the legion. Mrs. Charles Fairbanks made the presentation, prefacing it with a composition of verses setting forth the good work of Mrs. McCormick as president and past president for nine years. Last evening, also, Mrs. S. J. Fraser, as retiring guard, received a cut glass berry dish in appreciation of work well done. The presentations were a complete surprise to both ladies.

Will Complete Window Next Week—A. F. Sternberg, who is manufacturing the windows for the church of St. Jean de Baptiste, Washington street, at his studio No. 117 West Bidge street, hopes to have one of them completed by the first of next week and believes that he can complete the contract by August. Mr. Sternberg says that he is exercising unusual care in the execution of the work, as he intends to remain in the city and wishes his first contract here to show his ability as an artist. He is personally doing all the designing, coloring and glazing. The windows will be of the opalescent type, and the portions on display at the studio, though as yet unfinished, are particularly rich in color.

"Bad" Convict Retaken—Marquette prison officials have been informed that "Whitney" Prevert, a former convict at the Marquette institution, who escaped some months ago from the Ionia prison for the criminally insane, has been retaken in an Indiana town. Prevert is resisting a transfer to Michigan, and extradition papers will have to be gotten out. He was one of the worst men in the Marquette prison, and a source of continual trouble. He was one of the "Lake Shore" gang that operated in lower Michigan some years ago, and that was broken up after a long struggle, twenty-two members of it being sentenced to prison in this and other states. Prevert was originally sent to the Jackson prison, but was transferred here. He mutilated one of his hands at the Marquette prison to escape working, shortly before he was sent to Ionia on the physician's recommendation. It is possible that he will be returned to Marquette, a development not contemplated with any pleasure by the prison officials.

SUPPER AT M. E. CHURCH.

A supper will be given at the Methodist church this evening, from 5 until 9 o'clock. Although it will be open to everybody, a unique feature will be that the men will be in sole charge, and they have already prepared an excellent menu. A charge of thirty-five cents will be made. The bill of fare follows: Veal loaf, boiled ham, baked loin of pork, pickled tongue; scalloped potatoes; baked beans; jellies; radishes, olives, pickles, salads; brown bread, rolls, white bread; coffee, ice cream, assorted cake.

BUDGET NOT COMPLETED.

At the meeting of the park, cemetery and street commission last evening, the improvements at the Park cemetery as outlined recently in The Mining Journal were decided upon. The budget to be presented to the council at the regular June meeting was the subject of considerable discussion. It will probably be completed at the meeting next Tuesday evening. It was decided to purchase a typewriter for the use of the clerk.

NEW YORK STOCKS. New York, May 14.—The securities markets in all the great centers of capital were more or less depressed today, and it seemed clear that the immediate compelling cause was the bad outlook for crops. This diagnosis is not necessarily discredited by the fact that stocks rose in New York yesterday when wheat jumped, and that the reaction in the wheat market today was accompanied by a decline in stocks.

AN EXPENSIVE IMPROVEMENT.
Change in Location of Water Main May Cost City from $35,000 to $40,000.

While an estimate of the cost of changing the location of the water main, which traverses the lands of the Oliver Iron Mining company south of Pine street, has not yet been made by the street committee, mayor and members of the board of public works, to whom the matter has been referred, it is not expected that the work can be completed for less than $35,000, if it does not exceed this sum by $5,000 or more. The board and committee plan to go over the ground before the end of this week and, if possible, to decide on a new route.

The board of public works has already written several concerns asking for a price on 12,300 feet of fourteen-inch wooden pipe, similar to that now in use. If the cost of this quality and size pipe has not been reduced since the city purchased some 1,800 feet last winter, to take the place of the main threatened by the cave-in at the Lake Angeline mine, the cost of the pipe alone may exceed $30,000, to say nothing of the freight charges, the digging of the ditch and numerous other items of expense.

It is now thought that it may be necessary to abandon the entire main from Douglas street to the corner of Division and Pine streets. The new trench will be nearly two and a half miles in length. It is expected that the new main will start in front of the south end of Douglas street, extending northwesterly over Pine and Badger streets to Washington street, passing a short distance west of the new team road constructed early in the spring, and coming down Washington to Division street and east on Division to Pine street.

The improvement will be by far the most important the city has undertaken since the sewer system was put in more than fifteen years ago. If the pipe cannot be procured within a reasonable time it may not be possible to complete the job until late in the fall. It is not yet certain that the pumping station will have to be moved, but this is altogether likely. If a new station is put in it may be located at the lake, where it would be necessary to erect a building and install boilers and other equipment not necessary at the present station. The present station was recently supplied with a new pump, costing in the neighborhood of $5,000, so that no additional pumps will be needed. With a new pumping station the cost of maintaining the system will be increased, and the employment of two men will be necessary, and besides the cost of fuel will be a big item.

ATHLETIC MEET.
Both Ishpeeming and Ironwood Are Being Considered for Annual Contests.

High school athletic work is now in full swing, says the Calumet representative of the Houghton Gazette. The class work at the Y. M. C. A. has given place to track practice and baseball. The track team so far is making a very good showing, and is taking up the work with enthusiasm. A run down the C & H. is the scene of the practice for the field events. It is not yet definitely known where the meet will be held, but the board of control of the U. P. I. A. A. is going to hold its long postponed meeting in the near future. It is very probable that the meet will be held either at Ishpeeming or at Ironwood.

The Ishpeeming high school will not be represented. The students have shown no interest in athletics this season. If the meet is held in this city the track will need some attention, and the fence will also have to be repaired.

THEATER OPEN TONIGHT.
Lawton & Joyce will this evening open their moving picture-illustrated song theater in the Kennedy block on South Main street. Some hard work has been necessary the past few days in order to get the place ready for the opening, but everything is in first rate order and the management expects that the first performance will be satisfactory. The pictures to be shown tonight will be the "Mine Disaster," secured from a mine in France; "The Jail Bird," "The Rogue's Tricks" and the "Custom House Search." The three latter pictures are of a comic nature. John R. Peterson, a vocalist of Milwaukee, will be heard in two popular illustrated songs, "The Dixie Boy" and "Like the Rose You're the Fairest Flower." The little play house will doubtless be packed to the doors at all of the performances given this evening.

BOTH BANDS ENGAGED.
Ample Music for the Fourth of July Celebration Here.

If the chairman of the arrangements committee for the Marquette Fourth of July celebration understood that he had one of the Ishpeeming bands engaged for the day there must have been a misunderstanding of some sort. J. A. Peterson, the leader of the Ishpeeming Light Guard band, reported to the committee of business men, who secured an option on the band last Friday morning, that he had promised the Marquette committee that in case Ishpeeming did not celebrate the band would go to that city.

At the meeting of the business men and citizens at Braastad's Hall Monday evening the committee of councilmen appointed by Mayor Roberts, composed of Messrs. Sliney, Cassidy, Collick, Olds and Johnson, was instructed to engage both bands, and this was done yesterday morning.

Another meeting is to be held this evening at 8 o'clock at Braastad's Hall, when the arrangement committee will be appointed. It is also possible that other committees will be named and steps will be taken to raise funds. A number of business men are manifesting much interest in the proposed celebration. The promoters of the celebration hope there will be a large attendance to-night.

FRASER STOCK COMPANY.
Will Open Five Nights' Engagement Monday at Ishpeeming Theater.

The Fraser Stock company will play a five nights' engagement at the Ishpeeming theater, commencing next Monday evening. Tuesday evening the company will take a rest, as the theater will be occupied by the "Dandy Dixie Minstrels." The Fraser organization is composed of fourteen people, with Miss Ira Richards, an emotional actress of ability as a leading member. The opening bill will be "Light House Robbery," which is said to be a beautiful play, with a strong love story and a bright vein of comedy.

Other bills to be produced during the week are "Folks Down East," "Among the Moonshiners," "The White Slave," "A Bachelor's Honeymoon" and others. The vaudeville features are said to be exceptionally good. Miss Anna Lewis and James Fraser, who have played some of the best vaudeville circuits of the country, will be seen each evening. Miss Lewis has a fine contralto voice. She also has a good line of soubrette specialties. Joe H. Harris, known as the "wandering minstrel," and Elmer Gamble, a singing and dancing comedian, will also appear in specialties. The prices will be ten, twenty and thirty cents.

DIXIE MINSTRELS TUESDAY.

The "Dandy Dixie Minstrels" of forty comedians, dancers, singers, and musicians, who will be seen at the Ishpeeming theater next Tuesday evening, will be found to render nothing but the latest song hits. Each number used is duly copyrighted and their exclusive use has been obtained for the entire season for the "Dandy Dixie Minstrels." All of James Crook's imitable parodies, Richard Barrett's baritone solos, H. S. Wooten's tenor selections and the orchestrated numbers used by the Oklahoma Octette can be heard only during the engagement of the "Dandy Dixie Minstrels." Then there is the "Cotton Pickers' Band," led by Robert Leach, the colored creature.

BACK FROM CONFERENCE.
Rev. E. V. Isaacson, pastor of the Swedish Lutheran church, arrived home yesterday morning from the Illinois conference, held in Chicago. Rev. Isaacson reports that the meeting was one of the most successful that the conference has ever held. While in the city he visited M. W. Brownman, former organist of the theater here, now holding a similar position at the largest Swedish church in Chicago. Frank Bayard, who was also a delegate to the conference, will remain in the city until the latter part of the week.

METHODIST CONFERENCES.

The Michigan conference will be held at Albion, commencing on the same date, with Bishop McDowell in charge.

FROM HOPKINS' CURB LETTER.

"London came 5 shillings higher for the spot and futures this morning—spot £102, 3 shillings and futures £101, 10 shillings. The market for copper waits the action of the larger consumers but it is an interesting fact that in the interior certain manufacturers have recently been buyers of moderate lots at full prices for June and July deliveries. These sales have failed to show exactly where the prices of the best quality of Lake stand, and bonafide buyers of Calumet & Hecla, Quincy, Wolverine and such brands have had to pay 26 cents. Rio Tintos have advanced 5/8 to 94 on the extraordinary strong position of copper trade. The copper shares market opened with a better tone, showing advances of from 1/2 to 1 point in the better class of coppers. North Butte advanced to 92 1/2 and Copper Range to 83 1/2 but lost the greater part of the advance. Toward noon the market again became very dull, trading being largely in small lots."

RELIEF FROM RHEUMATIC PAINS.

"I suffered with rheumatism for over two years," says Mr. Rolland Curry, a patrolman, of Kew West, Fla. "Sometimes it settled in my knees and lamed me so I could hardly walk, at other times it would be in my feet and hands so I was incapacitated for duty. One night when I was in severe pain and lame from it my wife went to the drug store here and came back with a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I was rubbed with it and found the pain had nearly gone during the night. I kept on using it for a little more than two weeks and found that it drove the rheumatism away. I have not had any trouble from that disease for over three months." For sale by The Stafford Drug Co.

FATALITY AT JACKSON.

Workman at Open Pit Fatally Injured Monday Afternoon.

Alfin Ikonen, who had been in Negaunee but a short time, was fatally injured Monday afternoon at the Jackson south pit, where operations were recently resumed. Ikonen was struck on the head by a chunk of ore which fell from the hanging above where he was working, crushing his skull. He was taken to the Negaunee hospital, but did not regain consciousness. He died at an early hour yesterday morning. His age was about forty years.

Coroner William Prim of Ishpeming was called to the city yesterday morning and impounded a jury to look into the case. It adjourned until this morning, when the inquest will be held.

Cambria Man Blasted.
Jalmor Heino, a young man employed at the Cambria, was badly injured Monday afternoon by a premature blast. While it is not thought that the injury will prove fatal, it is feared that the young man will lose the sight of both eyes. Heino and his partner had prepared two holes to blast. He attached a piece of fuse six feet in length in the first hole, setting fire to it. He thought that he would have plenty time to set fire to the fuse in the second hole and proceeded to do that work. The first blast discharged before he had time to get away. Heino is about twenty years of age. He is being cared for at the Negaunee hospital.

EXCITING BOWLING MATCH.

Victory of Cubs Makes Five Team Tie for First Place Possible.

The league bowling contest at Orr & Tompkins' alleys between the Wolves and Cubs Monday evening was the most exciting match ever bowled here, despite the fact that the Cubs won by a large margin. The place was packed and there was continuous rooting. Most of the crowd was with the Cubs, because they had lost the Wolves would have won the tournament out of hand. By the defeat of the Wolves, who have bowled their last contest, it is possible that five teams will be tied. If the Pickers, Ice Wagons and Ravens win one more game each, and the Cubs two games, this result will be attained.

The scores in Monday night's contest were:
Wolves—

IN BAD WAY FOR HAY.

Supply in Negaunee Practically Exhausted—Several Carloads Coming.

The hay supply of Negaunee, which has been short for several days, is now practically exhausted, and as a result many of the horses and cows are living on short rations. More than a dozen men made the rounds of the dealers yesterday looking for hay, but there was none to be had except a few bales that Miller Bros. had pressed from a stack at their farm. This was divided up among the firm's regular customers and even then the quantity was far too small to meet the demand. The hay sold for $22 per ton, an advance of $2 having been added since the latter part of last week.

Saturday Winter & Sues received a carload, but there were so many wanting hay that the entire consignment was given out from the car. One of the early callers secured a half ton from the man who opened the car, but he was later obliged to give up part of it, in order that others might get a bale or two. The firm did not keep a sufficient quantity to supply its own teams more than two or three days, as other consignments were expected Monday or yesterday, but up to last evening they had not arrived. Several Negaunee men yesterday went to Ishpeming where they got small quantities, but it was reported that the supply in that city was also nearly exhausted.

Some of the dealers did not receive as many carloads during the season as they had contracted for. The demand for hay was so great in other parts of the country that some of the farmers and commission firms who early in the season accepted contracts from the Negaunee dealers failed to fill the orders. It is said that the price offered from eastern districts was greater than they would receive under their Negaunee contracts.

The shortage of hay has been the means of advancing the price of grain, including feed, bran and oats, though the proportionate raise in these commodities is less than it has been for hay. The price per ton for hay is now just 100 per cent greater than it was last fall when indications that there will be still further advances before the new crop comes in.

A Negaunee dealer yesterday said that so far as he could judge from 25 to 25 per cent of the hay consumed here is received from farmers in and near the city. All of the farmers dispose of their hay at home and they could sell a greater amount if they could supply it. The dealer estimated that no less than 300 carloads of ten tons each are consumed here every winter.

The grocers were yesterday advised of

PREFER THE CHANGE.

"The business men on Iron street will be pleased to have the street railway line moved to the route mentioned in this morning's issue of The Mining Journal," said one of their number yesterday. "We don't believe there will be any objection to the change, at least so far as the merchants are concerned, and I am inclined to think the transfer to Jackson street will be generally welcomed. It will be a good thing for Jackson streets, as it will have a tendency to bring more people to that thoroughfare. With the railway off Iron street it can be kept in better condition, both summer and winter, than is now possible. I do not believe that the presence of the cars on Iron street has benefited the business houses to any extent. If the proposed interurban line between this city and Marquette is built, I would be in favor of having the cars of the two systems meet at the intersection of Jackson and Kanter streets, immediately east of the city building. Kanter street is wide at that point and there would be room for a spur, if one were desired."

NO CELEBRATION HERE.

There is no particular desire on the part of the Negaunee business men or citizens to conduct a celebration on the Fourth, and the residents of this city will find amusement at either Ishpeming or Marquette. The Negaunee City band has been engaged for the Marquette celebration. The band will this season render excellent music, as it is said to be in fine condition. There are twenty-three members in the organization, a large majority of whom are old players.

KILLED BY LIGHTNING.

A horse being driven by a diamond drill man named Joliff, working on the Cascade range, was struck by lightning Sunday night and killed instantly. Mr. Joliff had spent the evening in town and started for Palmer a short time before the storm came up. He was not injured by the bolt that struck the horse, and he hardly realized what had happened until he saw the animal stagger and fall.

an advance of $1 per barrel in the price of the best grades of flour. The retail price here during the past few weeks has been $5.50, but it is now thought that flour will sell at $6, and perhaps higher.

BACK FROM BRITISH COLUMBIA.

John Mayne, a resident of this city for a number of years, arrived here Monday from Nelson, B. C., and left yesterday morning for his old home in England, where he expects to spend the greater part of the summer. Mr. Mayne has been employed as a miner in British Columbia, and has done well there. It is about six years since he left Negaunee.

LOCAL LACONICS.

G. S. Wood of Duluth spent yesterday in Negaunee.

A number of Negaunee people attended the funeral of the late E. W. Reed at Marquette yesterday afternoon.

L. E. Chausse expects to put the new city scale in position within a few days, or as soon as the weather becomes favorable.

The morning train on the Chicago & Northwestern line was over two hours late yesterday, owing to a break down at a point on the Wisconsin division.

Several members of the Negaunee council of the Knights of Columbus will attend the funeral of the late Phil Coleman at Marquette this morning.

A bird entered a street car through one of the vestibules Sunday evening. The conductor caught it and threw it out. It returned three different times, each time entering the car through the vestibule.

The Consolidated Fuel & Lumber company has been supplying its Negaunee patrons with both nut and stove coal the past few days. The firm received a cargo of nut and several carloads of stove coal.

The employees of the Jackson, Maas and Negaunee mines will be paid today. The men at the Cambria, Lille and Hartford will receive their pay Friday; at the Regent group Saturday and the Mary Charlotte Monday.

Mayor J. H. Winter is again confined to his home, suffering from rheumatism. The funeral of the late Robert Duschane will be held tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock from St. Paul's church, under direction of the Lafayette society.

The pipe which brings the spring water to the city is soon to be extended to Case street, with a drinking spout near the school. This service would be greatly appreciated by the residents in the eastern part of the city, all of whom now secure their supply of drinking water from the spout near the city building.

THE CHANGE OF LIFE

Sensible Advice to Women from Mrs. Henry Lee, Mrs. Fred Certia and Mrs. Pinkham.

MRS. HENRY LEE MRS. FRED CERTIA

Owing to modern methods of living not one woman in a thousand approaches this perfectly natural change without experiencing a train of very annoying and sometimes painful symptoms.

This is the most critical period of her whole existence and every woman who neglects the care of her health at this time invites disease and pain.

When her system is in a deranged condition or she is predisposed to apoplexy or congestion of any organ, the tendency is at this period likely to become active and with a host of nervous irritations make life a burden. At this time also cancers and tumors are more liable to form and begin their destructive work.

Such warning symptoms as sense of suffocation, hot flashes, headaches, backaches, melancholia, dread of impending evil, palpitation of the heart, irregularities, constipation and dizziness are promptly heeded by intelligent women who are approaching the period of life when this great change may be expected.

Mrs. Fred Certia, 1014 So. Lafayette Street, So. Bend, Ind., writes: Dear Mrs. Pinkham—

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the ideal medicine for women who are passing through this critical period should rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. If there is anything about your case you don't understand write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for advice. It is free and has guided thousands to health."

When a medicine has been successful in restoring to health, actually thousands of women, you cannot well say without trying it, "I do not believe it will help me." It is your duty to yourself and family to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

NOW FOR THE GREAT MAY SALE! THURSDAY MORNING, MAY 16

WE GIVE THE REASON WHY THE SLASHING OF PRICES AT THIS SEASON IS INAUGURATED AT OUR STORE:

Not since the Spring of '83 has the weather been so unsettled and so unsatisfactory to the commercial world. It has in consequence injured all industries. In brief, the inclement April weather can be enrolled as the severest wintry month of the year. The Summer season is thereby lessened by one month, and "The day that's gone never comes again." And so it is with us selling high class merchandise—"What we don't sell to-day we won't sell to-morrow." We have strengthened our selling power for the next few months—we have cut into prices unmercifully, and no matter what condition of the weather, you will not resist taking advantage of these tempting offers.

TWO THOUSAND ANIMALS AT HOME IN WASHINGTON.

They Have Come from Many Sources and Are Intended for Study as Well as Exhibition—Ras Makonnen Contributes Some Rare Zebras; Governor of the Soudan Sends a Lion; "Buffalo Bill" Lends a Bison, and Many Foreign Rulers Have Added to the Collection—The Plan Not Wholly Successful as Haven of Refuge.

Washington, May 14.—Not long ago Ras Makonnen, governor of Harrar province, Abyssinia, after the manner of old world potentates, presented to the United States a rare species of zebra. With the zebra came the lion, and later a pair of ostriches was shipped from the same source. From Sir Reginald Wingate, the successor to Lord Kitchener as governor general of Soudan, there has come another lion, and from the governors of states in Brazil such as the governor of Para and the governor of Amazonas, the United States has accepted a number of South American animals. Within a fortnight Mr. Nelson of the department of agriculture shipped to Washington two Mexican tigers and a number of rare forest birds, the gift of Carlos H. Jones of Campeche, Mexico.

The international courtesies exchanged, it is not generally known what becomes of these animals. The future of many other beasts of the wild which in one way or another, through consuls or department agents, come into the possession of the United States government is not usually followed up. To whose charge are they given and how do they pass the rest of their lives?

Twenty years ago they would have been turned over to some private menagerie or housed in crude wooden structures back of the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, where zoologists and biologists could study them at close range. Perhaps the daily sight of these animals, and the future of many other beasts of the wild which in one way or another, through consuls or department agents, come into the possession of the United States government is not usually followed up. To whose charge are they given and how do they pass the rest of their lives?

The Park Established.

It was not an easy task to convince legislators why they should pay to "have the Nebraska elk and Florida alligators cooped up." In 1890, however, a bill was finally passed through congress to establish a zoological park for the "advancement of science and the instruction and recreation of the people," and also as a haven of refuge where those "native animals that were threatened with extinction might live and perpetuate their species in peace."

The bill allotted $200,000 for the purchase of land and building. The few animals caged back of the Smithsonian Institution were turned over to new quarters and the administration of the National Zoo became a branch of the institution's work.

Now a hundred and sixty-seven acres of hilly, woody land two miles from the center of Washington is the final home of nearly every beast that comes into the possession of the United States government. There is no law making it the only depository for such gifts, but as a matter of fact very few are sent elsewhere.

An idea of Secretary Langley, when he founded the zoo, was to furnish for the animals surroundings as nearly like their natural homes as possible. The idea was a new one at the time. The few menageries in the country had not the facilities to execute any such plan. He opposed any too evident artificiality in the architecture of the grounds. He wished the National Zoo to be a natural park in every mode practicable. The large acreage helped him in this course, for our Zoological gardens are two and a half times as large as the celebrated Tiergarten at Berlin and four times as large as the zoo at London.

Animals from Many Sources.

Since the National zoo was founded over two thousand animals have been housed here, and during the last few years the collection has averaged about twelve hundred birds and beasts at a time. The animals thus brought together have come, necessarily, from very varied sources. Bison lent by "Buffalo Bill," polar bears brought down by adventurers from the far arctic regions, lions from Soudan, snakes from Manila and Cuba, peculiar birds from China, gifts from foreigners through consuls and other government agents, besides any rarer species for scientific study purchased or exchanged by the zoo officials, make up the great animal family.

If the lives of some of these beasts could be put into a story an interesting volume would result. As it is, Head-keeper Blackburn has many a little yarn about their doings. He will invariably point out two healthy rolling bear cubs from Canada which weighed when they arrived, not more than two pounds each. These, he insists, he has brought up entirely on the bottle. Near them sits a big, pensive grizzly from Yellowstone Park, who when the keeper calls "Dooley" looks up and slouches lazily toward the bars. Dooley had been a pet when a cub of the owner of a larger hotel in the Yellowstone. He was captured in the spring and chained at a safe distance from the kitchen where he could get the dainty morsels left by the guests at dinner. Dooley lived contentedly all summer, receiving in a philosophical way the attentions of visitors, but the day before the hotel closed in the fall he heeded the call of the wild, slipped his collar and went roaming the mountains. Curiously enough, when the spring again arrived and preparations were being made to open for the summer to the terror of the servants Dooley ambled up with the air of a pet owner. He had grown considerably during the winter, therefore it was thought safest to trap him and send him to Washington.

Occasional Battles at the Zoo.

The animals are not always peaceful at the zoo. A buffalo battle between a young and old bull several years ago is a classic in the annals of the park. More recently the usually sleepy crocodiles have had differences which must be settled by physical contact. A vicious contest resulted in the complete severance of a leg of one of them before the keepers could interfere. With much trouble the big beast was placed on a thick plank and wrapped around and round with rope. Only when the beast was thus helpless did the keeper dare pick up the foot and sew it back into place. A plaster of paris cast the keeper thought would hold it. So it would, if several weeks afterwards, the rivals had not again found a difference which ended in a second battle. A vicious paris cast, sewing and all, being again snapped through. Minor surgical operations, often necessary among so many animals, usually result successfully.

The antics of the monkeys are not less amusing than they are interesting from a scientific point of view. The keeper tells of a young South African monkey which was placed near several Old-World cousins with large mouth pouches. The youngster, trying to imitate his elders of another tribe, forced a large Brazilian nut into his cheek in such a way that it could be got out only by cutting from the outside. The operation was performed and the nut served up, but the stitiches bothered the little fellow. He pulled them out and was surprised to find he could not feel through another month. Just like a magician, the keeper says, he formed an audience of his companions and to their great amusement kept passing a piece of hay and a small nut through the newly made opening. It was necessary to lock the little fellow by himself where he could not perform and even to the hand, before he would let the wound heal.

Making the Animals at Home.

It is by such incidents as these that some of the animals relieve the monotony of their lives of captivity. For in every case it has not been found compatible with safety to carry into accomplishment the plan for constructing natural surroundings. Some of the animals, to be sure, can be held in a setting somewhat similar to that of their wild life. The buffalo has his rolling plain, the deer his clump of shrubbery, his stream and hillside, the bear his cave and swimming pool, the seal his tank and sunning spot, the peacock is allowed the freedom of the whole park where he can display his plumage and select his nesting place, the racoon has his tall dead tree, the colony of beavers builds its beaver and submarine lodges, its dams and fallen timber, and half a hundred varieties of birds fly about as if in freedom in a "flying cage" the size of three or four dwellings. But the lions and the tigers, the leopards and the panthers, and other carnivorous beasts, must be carefully penned in a house by themselves with outdoor cages attached for fresh air in the summer. The snakes and monkeys must be confined, and there is no jungle for "Dunk," the big elephant, to roam in.

Opportunities for providing more roomy quarters for a number of the beasts are still many. These opportunities will be grasped as soon as government appropriations, to the minds of those in charge, justify the expenditure. Built from the current funds of the park, there has recently been opened a "mammoth house" which embodies the latest ideas in the housing of animals.

The execution as far as possible, however, of the original idea is invaluable from a scientific point of view. For the zoo is designed not alone to afford amusement and recreation to Washington and its thousands of annual visitors. To the student of biology, of zoology, of ichthyology, and many allied subjects, the park affords material for original research in a form probably more available than any other collection in the world. The animals, even those born in the grounds, retain to a remarkable degree the habits of the wild. They learn that, protected from men, they may live to a certain extent their own lives among men. An investigator may here study the glint of a deer, the howling instincts of the prairie dogs, or the habits of the diving crabs and pelicans.

Not Wholly Successful.

The object of furnishing here a haven of refuge where the native animals threatened with extinction might live and perpetuate their species in peace, has, it must be confessed, not met with as great success as was at first hoped for. It has been physically impossible to provide for the buffalo a range as large as his natural one, and the excitement of the hunt for food cannot be furnished. The surroundings are, of course, in many ways different, more perceptibly so to the animals than to the men who have studied them. And it is a known fact among zoologists that, in order to perpetuate their species successfully, some beasts must be allowed to a great degree their natural freedom.

Not only in their living state are the animals valuable for scientific study, but when, in the course of nature or by accident, any of them die, their remains are turned over to the experts at the National museum, who may investigate the structure of their bones or the symptoms of any disease they may have contracted, or use their skeletons and skins for exhibition purposes.

Stronger Rate Law

The opportunities afforded at the zoo for experimental breeding for industrial purposes have not as yet been utilized extensively. The energies of Superintendent Frank Baker and other officials have been devoted to housing the animals, properly caring for them, and beautifying the grounds, leaving industrial experiments to the department of agriculture. The field opened for the future, of developing perhaps stronger beasts of burden or industrial animals better capable of resisting disease, is a large one in which a single success would offset very many failures.

STRONGER RATE LAW

PRESIDENT TO MAKE AN APPEAL AT INDIANAPOLIS.

Present Act Is Good as Far as It Goes, But It Does Not Go Far Enough—Thorough Study of Tariffs to Be Made, and It Is Possible the Government Eventually May Fix Rates—Present Commissioners Admit That They Know Little About Freight Schedules—The Administration Would Have All Discriminations Abolished.

Law Does Not Go Far Enough.

The administration appears to be preparing to take the position that the rate law is all right as far as it goes, but that it does not go far enough. The work of the new interstate commerce commission so far has been largely of a preliminary character. The new law, it is admitted, has hardly received a fair trial, and yet the feeling in administration circles seems to be that something is lacking in the law, and the results desired will not be obtained until additional power is conferred on the commission. If one were required to answer the specific question: What has been accomplished under the new law? he would be compelled to say, practically nothing. The commission's time has largely been devoted to getting ready to get results under the law. A few cases involving unimportant rates so far as the general public is concerned have been decided, but speaking in a broad way little has been accomplished under the law except such reforms as have come voluntarily from the railroads as a result of the moral influence of the legislation. Unquestionably the railroads have voluntarily abandoned some discriminations that were up for public inspection, and the evil of rebating has been lessened, if not eradicated.

Commission Can't Make Rates.

Even if the commission possessed a thorough understanding of the work of making railroad freight rates it would still be handicapped, because the commission has not in its possession the data necessary to be considered in making just and reasonable rates. It has been discouraging to some persons to note that the commission is at this time attempting to fix rates on data that is incomplete. It is constantly handicapped because the railroads have data which it does not possess. This fact was brought out clearly recently in the hearing of the celebrated Spokane rate case before Commissioner Harlan in the West. In resisting the demand for a readjustment of the Spokane freight rates, which have been a bone of contention for years, the Northern Pacific railroad and the Great Northern railroad submitted the physical valuation of the roads as an argument against the proposed change in the Spokane rates. The attorney for the interstate commerce commission purposefully avoided cross-examining the witnesses for the railroad with respect to the valuation figures because the commission had never stated the subject of valuation of the railroad known how to get about dissecting the figures. In the estimation of persons who have given the subject much thought there is bound to be a great deal of misunderstanding about the justice of freight rates until the federal government gets in its possession the data needed and until there is on the interstate commerce commission at least one or two men who have mastered the subject of rate making.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased. Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine stains the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be to secure the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose. Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a Home of Swamp-Root pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Commissioner Harlan in the West. In resisting the demand for a readjustment of the Spokane freight rates, which have been a bone of contention for years, the Northern Pacific railroad and the Great Northern railroad submitted the physical valuation of the roads as an argument against the proposed change in the Spokane rates. The attorney for the interstate commerce commission purposefully avoided cross-examining the witnesses for the railroad with respect to the valuation figures because the commission had never stated the subject of valuation of the railroad known how to get about dissecting the figures. In the estimation of persons who have given the subject much thought there is bound to be a great deal of misunderstanding about the justice of freight rates until the federal government gets in its possession the data needed and until there is on the interstate commerce commission at least one or two men who have mastered the subject of rate making.

Railroads Know the Game.

The administration is awakening to the fact that the railroads "know the game" while the federal office holder does not know it. Attention has been attracted here to a statement which appears in a recent article on the railroad problem. "Suppose, for instance, that half the total earnings of a railroad come from the carrying of manufactured steel, and only one-tenth comes from other manufacturers. If the railroad should lower the rate for the steel-maker by 10 percent, and increase for the other manufacturers 50 percent, the average rate per ton mile would be about stationary. Yet the road would be squeezing the very life out of every manufacturer except the maker of steel. No one on the commission or the roads at this time are doing what this writer says they might do, but the point is that they might be doing it in many instances, and the interstate commerce commission would be none the wiser. It is the business of freight rate makers employed by the railroads to construct the rate sheets as to bring the largest possible profit to the railroads, and as long as the interstate commerce commission has no data at hand on which to base intelligent action, and as long as the commission is not in possession of man skilled in the making of rate sheets, the transportation companies have all the best of the situation.

Would Abolish Discriminations.

The administration is tending towards the view that all discrimination will be abolished when the government knows as much about the science of rate sheet making as the experts in the employment of the railroads, and has access to all the information the railroad rate makers have at hand when they sit down to figure out what a fairly remunerative rate from A to B will be. Recently the commission has received notice of a general advance in freight rates from the central west from the Great Lakes view, needs to be perfected. Doubtless the president in planning to ask for further legislation is only voicing public sentiment. Just what is needed in the way of more legislation is a question on which there is difference of opinion. The closest scrutiny of the rates are not quite ready to say what congress should do. The president is going about with an open mind. He seems to have a fixed conviction that much remains to be done before ideal relations between the public and the transportation companies are obtained, and he is gathering the views of many persons as to what sort of legislation should be attempted at the coming long session of congress. Out of the abundance of advice he is receiving he will endeavor to reach a decision. He may be prepared to make some definite suggestions in his Indianapolis speech, and he may not. If he is not prepared by the thirtieth to come out flat footed for certain legislation he will content himself with a general discussion of existing conditions and the need of additional federal regulations.

Investigation of Rates.

It is well understood that the president is tending toward a campaign in favor of such legislation as will place in the possession of the interstate commerce commission all the data necessary to a determination of the justice of freight rates. The leading question before him at this time is: Is a physical valuation of a railroad necessary in order to arrive at just freight rates? He is receiving light on both sides of the question. Until recently the interstate commerce commission has never taken the view that the knowledge of the actual or true value of railroad property would enable it to make any particular rate or revise any given rate with a greater degree of justice. Since the hearing in the Spokane case all the members of the commission, with the exception of Commissioner Lane, have changed their views on this subject. The controlling view in the commission now is that if the railroads are to use valuation figures in support of a certain schedule of rates the government must be prepared along the same line. It will be interesting to see what conclusion the president reaches on this proposition in his Indianapolis speech if he does reach a conclusion by that time. The administration started out to investigate the advisability of having some federal tribunal make a physical valuation of the railroads for use in arriving at the size of stock and bond issues permissible, but from all accounts the president is more than half way converted to the idea that the physical valuation must form a part of the bases for fixing just and equitable rates.

Government May Fix Rates. The prevailing view here is that the Federal government has only entered on its career as a regulator of the transportation companies. Where it will stop none dares predict. Conservative-minded men are convinced that the federal government is eventually going to fix railroad rates. That is to say, it will in time, take over the whole machinery of rate fixing. Under the celebrated rate law of one year ago it is merely dabbling in rate fixing. The whole subject is uppermost in the president's mind to day, and it is likely to occupy that position until he gets from congress at the next session the legislation he believes will solve the problem. Bryan, of course would go even farther than the president. He believes that the ultimate solution of the problem is government ownership of the railroads. One thing is certain, the rate schedules submitted by the railroads to the interstate commerce commission under the rate law have little or no meaning even to the members of the commission.

Upper Peninsula Breaks Thigh Second Time.

Misfortune seems to be the lot of William Welsh of Iron Mountain. Welsh has been in the Menominee River hospital at Menominee for about ten weeks with a broken thigh. The fracture was a very serious one and took considerable time to heal. He was released from the hospital last week and left for his home. He arrived at Iron Mountain all right and his injury seemed to be entirely well, when suddenly the leg gave away and he fell, breaking the thigh again. He was taken back to the hospital and the doctors say that it will doubtless be another ten weeks before he will be able to get out. He is a woodsman.

Death of Mrs. J. H. Cundy.

The death of Mrs. Cundy, wife of Captain J. H. Cundy, a widely known Menominee range mining man, occurred at the family home, at Iron Mountain, late last week. Her death was due to cancer, from which she had suffered for nearly two years. The funeral occurred yesterday. Captain and Mrs. Cundy were married at Ontonagon in 1866, and had been residents of the Lake Superior region since 1864. From Ontonagon they removed to Houghton, becoming residents of Iron Mountain in 1891. Mrs. Cundy was aged fifty-six. She is survived by her husband and the following children: Mrs. William A. Symons, Iron Mountain; James H. Rock Island, Ill.; J. J. Cundy, Quinnessee; William C. Chicago; John L. Jamesville, Wis.; and Oscar of Chicago. Three children are dead. The following sisters and brothers survive: Mrs. Thomas Cundy, Iron Mountain; Mrs. Thomas Trevarthan, Quinnessee; George and John Hill, San Jose, Cal.

S.S.S. DRIVES OUT RHEUMATISM

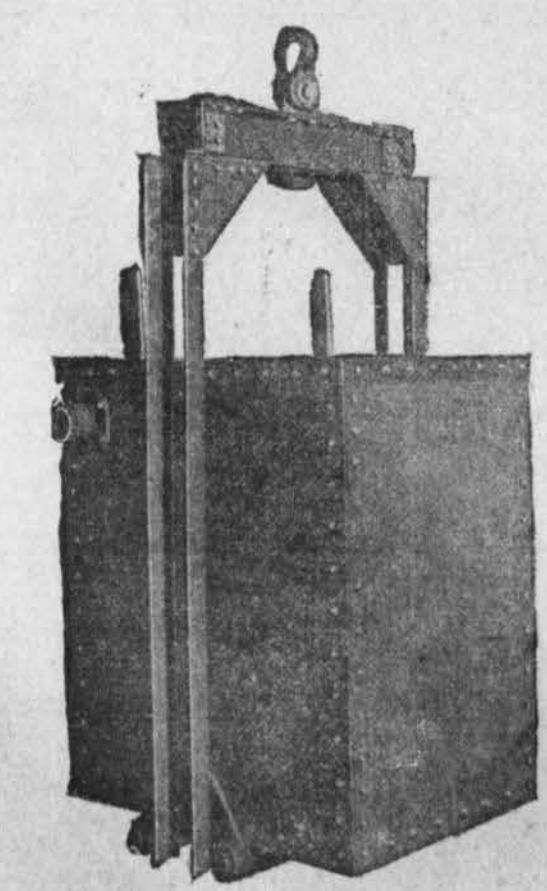

The cause of Rheumatism is a sour, acid condition of the blood, brought about by indigestion, chronic constipation, and the accumulation in the system of refuse matter which the natural eliminative organs have failed to carry out. This refuse or waste matter ferments and sours, generating uric acid which is absorbed into the blood and distributed to all parts of the body, and Rheumatism gets possession of the system. One may also be born with a predisposition or tendency to Rheumatism, because like all blood diseases it can be transmitted from parent to child. The aches and pains of the disease are only symptoms which you may scatter or relieve with liniments, plasters, blisters, etc., or deaden with opiates. As soon, however, as such treatment is left off or there is any exposure to cold or dampness, or after an attack of indigestion or constipation, the wandering pains, sore muscles and joints, and tender places on the flesh return, and the sufferer finds that he has merely checked the symptoms while the real cause of the disease remains in the blood. Rheumatism can never be cured while the blood remains saturated with irritating, pain-producing uric acid poison. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism by driving the cause out of the blood. It thoroughly cleanses the blood and renovates the circulation by neutralizing the acids and expelling all foreign matter from the system. S. S. S. stimulates and invigorates the blood so that instead of a weak, sour stream, constantly depositing acid and corrosive matter in the muscles, joints, nerves and bones, the body is soothed and nourished by rich, health-sustaining blood, which completely and permanently cures Rheumatism. S. S. S. is composed of roots, herbs and barks which possess both purifying and tonic properties—just what is needed in every case of Rheumatism. WOULD RETAIN ENTIRE FACULTY

CONTRACTS OFFERED TO SUPERINTENDENT, SPECIAL AND HIGH SCHOOL TEACHERS.

YEAR A SUCCESSFUL ONE

No Contagious Diseases and Attendance Handicapped Only Through Bad Weather Late in the Spring.

Superintendent Kendall P. Brooks and all special teachers and members of the high school faculty have been offered contracts for next year at an average advance in salary of $75 each per annum. Whether there will be any changes or not cannot be definitely stated until the meeting of the school board the last week of this month, but none of the teachers have as yet signified their intention of retiring or securing employment elsewhere. The faculty at present is as follows:

Superintendent—Kendall P. Brooks. Special Teachers—Laurence A. Flagler, manual training; Willbur T. Casler, assistant, manual training; Mary F. Sigmon, domestic science; Lottie M. Frie, assistant, domestic science; Norma B. Ross, music; Clara Williamson, drawing. High School—J. W. Colebird, principal; Mary R. Powers, mathematics; Edith A. Barnard, history; Harriet Harrington, French; Rachel Hibbard, German; Earle M. Parker, Latin; Albert J. Schantz, science; Laurence B. Brink, English; W. W. Knisley, commercial.

The enrollment of the schools this year has been 2,170, as against 2,124 last year. The number of transfers last year was 129, as against 125 this year. The net gain in scholars is thirty-two. In 1906 the gain over 1905 was 139.

According to Superintendent Brooks the year has been a most successful one and a more than ordinarily large percentage of the pupils in the different grades will be passed with credit. Up to late in the spring the attendance was uniformly large. With the advent, however, of blizzards and a continually changing temperature many of the scholars contracted colds and were compelled to be temporarily absent. However, there had been no cases of contagious diseases, as in the year previous, when scarlet fever, measles and the whooping cough seriously interfered with the school work. Speaking of school work from the standpoint of an educator, Superintendent Brooks said yesterday:

"Both pupils and parents should realize fully that the primary purpose of schools are to equip children properly for life. The man or woman lacking in education is invariably handicapped under present conditions, no matter what vocation is adopted. But the securing of diplomas and the taking part in class exercises are only incidental to school life. Pupils should do their work honestly and conscientiously, bringing to it their best efforts, but they should not wreck their physiques and shatter their nervous systems in the effort to excel. School life does not mark the conclusion, but only the first milestone of life's journey. The student who has seriously sapped his nervous energy in the attempted accomplishment of tasks that require abnormal effort may find himself as badly handicapped as the sluggard when confronted by the problems that must follow entrance into the world."

APPROPRIATION IS CUT $15,000

BILL FOR NORTHERN NORMAL PASSED HOUSE YESTERDAY—HOWEVER, THERE MAY BE SOME CHANGES.

The Northern Normal appropriation bill passed the house yesterday, after having been shaved from $198,000, the amount asked, to $183,000. The bill, as amended, appropriates $90,000 for current expenses for the ensuing two years; $30,000 for a central heating plant and $1,000 for a domestic science department. The appropriation of $3,000 for finishing the third story was cut out entirely; the current expense fund was shaved $4,000 and the fund for a central heating plant $8,000.

It is possible, however, that before finally passed there will be changes in the bill as it was approved by the house. Principal Kaye and Representative Gordon have had some correspondence in regard to the measure, Mr. Gordon suggesting that if necessary it might be possible to get some changes. Principal Kaye says it is quite essential that the third story be finished, and is hopeful that the $3,000 voted for that purpose may be allowed. The cut of $8,000 in the appropriation for a central heating plant is one not viewed with pleasure by Mr. Arnold, the architect for the state board of education. Mr. Arnold appeared before the house committee to show its members why $38,000 was needed. He was of the opinion that a cut of anything below $35,000 would be serious, and will doubtless desire that the appropriation as it now stands be somewhat increased. It is desired to erect the building for the central heating plant of stone.

MANY DEAD DEER ON WOLF TRAIL

MARQUETTE COUNTY HOMESTEADER FINDS ELEVEN WHILE FOLLOWING PATH TO DEN.

SOME WERE WANTONLY KILLED

Wolves Only Partially Devoured the Bodies of Their Victims—Wolf Pups Caught May Exhibit Here.

The havoc which wolves create among the deer is well illustrated by the experience of Joe Krenke, a homesteader in the Huron mountains, near the clubhouse, an account of whose finding of five wolf pups was given in Monday's issue of The Mining Journal. Mr. Krenke found the den and pups by following the trail of a large male wolf that had been made the night previous. Before arriving at the den he passed the bodies of eleven deer, all slain by wolves. In some instances the carcasses were half eaten, and in others they were barely touched. As hungry wolves will consume a deer down to the hoofs and horns, it was plainly evident that most of the animals had been wantonly slaughtered.

Just how many wolves there are in the vicinity, Mr. Krenke is unable to say, but he is of the opinion that the ravages among the game were committed by one pack. He said that a neighbor, Henry Havery, had seen the pack crossing Ann lake in January. It was composed of seven full grown wolves. Havery emptied a Winchester at the animals, but they spread out and escaped unhurt. Mr. Krenke is of the opinion that a small wolf pack can do inestimable damage among the deer. The shika deer which he discovered all lay on top of three feet of snow and had evidently been killed but a short time. They had also been killed within a comparatively short distance of each other. There was no means of telling how many more dead deer lay beneath the snow or what number a thorough canvass of the locality would discover.

Brings Wolves to Town.

Mr. Krenke brought the wolf pups to this city and had them on exhibition at a downtown saloon yesterday afternoon. They are now about five weeks old and about half again as large as sheep dog puppies of the same age. They are cute little fellows and of a soft grey color, with darker shadings around the ears and legs. In spite of their youth their large bones, depth of chest and thickness of throat give evidence of the coming strength and endurance that is their birthright. They are the typical grey timber wolf, the largest, fiercest and most daring of the entire race to which it belongs.

At present the seals of the puppies are worth $10 each, but Mr. Krenke has not decided what disposition he will Captive Wolves Dangerous.

Wolves reared in captivity and which subsequently gain their liberty, are inevitably more to be feared and are more daring in their depredations than their wilder brethren. Familiarity with man appears to breed contempt rather than affection. The celebrated Loup Garou, who for years ravaged the district in the vicinity of Montreal, and at times even invaded the city and pulled down pedestrians in the streets, was bred in captivity and escaped when released to be run down by dogs for the sport of his captors. The wolf distanced his pursuers and subsequently is credited with having killed several human beings and over 500 dogs. He was finally slaughtered after an organized hunt that cost the province $5,000.
