"WHOLE THING IS A FARCE"

General Bell's Reference to the Miners' Trial in Idaho—He Commanded the Military Forces at Cripple Creek.

De Detests the Principles of Moyer and Haywood, but Says That to Try the Men in One and Supposedly Hostile State for Crimes Committed in Another Is Not Giving Them the Square Deal—Jury Is Not Yet Completed.

Denver, May 19.—General Sherman M. Bell, who commanded the state troops in the trouble with the Cripple Creek miners, has not been called by either side in the Haywood trial at Boise. He said today:

Why should they try these men in Idaho? The troubles here and before the murder of Stuenkel there were seventy-five persons killed in Colorado and yet they take the men from Colorado to Idaho to try them for crimes committed in Colorado. Why don't they try them here? Is it because they are afraid?

The whole thing is a farce. It is unfair and un-American. I detest the principles of Moyer and Haywood, but I think they should get a square deal, and if you take men from a state where the alleged crimes were committed to a place supposedly hostile to the men of another state, I don't call it a square deal.

Jury Selection Is Slow.

Boise, Idaho, May 19.—Several of the more important witnesses for the state in the trial of Wm. D. Haywood for alleged participation in the assassination of former Governor Steunsel were arriving today. The prosecution and defense were by this time a trial jury would have been impaneled, but it is now evident that this will not be accomplished for several days. When court adjourned Saturday afternoon the attorneys for the prosecution and defense were trying to fill a vacancy caused by the exercise of the state's fifth peremptory challenge. The defense still has six of its ten arbitrary challenges available, and the state has five.

SCENE IS SICKENING.

Prisoners in Delaware Whipped Until Their Flesh Is Raw.

Wilmington, Del., May 19.—The most sensational whipping in the history of this state took place here at the workhouse yesterday. Nine men were stripped to the waist and each was subjected to from five to forty lashes. Adam Ward, a nineteen-year-old white boy, accused of highway robbery, received forty lashes. While he was being lashed, he cried: "Oh, God, I will be good; please stop." The blood was running down his back and he looked as though he had been slashed with a knife. The scenes attending the whippings were sickening. It is said that the flogging was the most cruel ever administered.

INTERNAL MACHINE FOUND.

Late last night a satchel containing a bomb was found in a street car at the barn at Oak and Broderick street. The fuse had been lighted, but the spark did not, before reaching the powder. The United Railroad officials believe that the internal machine was set in the car by strike sympathizers.

CHANGES IN FOOTBALL RULES.

New York, May 19.—Two changes in the football rules for the coming season have been adopted by the intercollegiate football rules committee, which concluded a session here today. The first provides that in the case of a forward pass, the players must be at least a yard back from the line when the play is begun. This rule was adopted to remove the ambiguity of the old rule. The other rule provides that a forward pass crossing a goal line on the bound or out of play, whether before or after being legally touched, shall count as a touchback to the defenders of the goal.

People arrived in every imaginable kind of conveyance from all parts of the country. Many arrived by special trains, numbers of them refusing to pay fares and the railway officials being powerless to collect.

Schmitz is honest and clean. Haven't we his word for it?

How are you getting along with your plans to better the city's water supply,
Mr. Water Commissioners?

The czar of all the Russians is, we are informed, again menaced from all sides;
also from the top and bottom.

Iowa Republicans are reported to carry their radicalism even to the extent of wanting Roosevelt for a third term.

If Representative Burns of Ishpeming were Senator Byrns the administration wouldn't be much troubled about that seventeenth vote.

Former Senator Baird was much in evidence at the capitol last week. Wonder if he was around when Senator Fyfe was paying his respects to him?

Mayor Busse of Chicago is a frank gentleman, but the reformers, even, will think more of him for his frankness. If he tried to fool 'em they would quickly find him out anyway.

The first thing we know Governor Warner's enemies will badger him into running again, in order that he may complete his legislative program. Something like this occurred in the case of Governor Cummins of Iowa.

If Representative Gordon had only put regulation of the number of Marquette saloons in the platform on which he ran last fall there would have been even a larger measure of local color in the Marquette end of the representative campaign.

The employees of the newly organized park, cemetery and street commission are not so busy but what they ought to be able to find time to clean up the block of street on Baraga avenue east of Front. It has been an eyesore, and a bad eyesore, to these several weeks.

The Jap sailors saw New York the other day, and established a record in doing it, for the strongest thing they drank was Croton water and they didn't lick even a solitary copper. Afloat or ashore the Jap sailor is always a record breaker.

However, if the friends of primary reform that is primary reform showed decent discretion perhaps they could nominate a governor directly, even with the 40 per cent provision retained in the law.
They should, if the necessity arises, steadfastly turn their backs on any candidates brought forth to thimbling them.

And there is no doubt at all that the boxers' program for 1908, in the event of their being successful in retaining the 40 per cent provision of the primary law, contemplates bringing out an upper peninsula candidate for governor, to hold the votes from this region and thereby to lessen the probability that the nomination shall be made by direct vote of the people.

A Lansing dispatch says that if State Road Commissioner Earle's Keweenaw prison bill gets through the legislature
it will be killed by the governor's veto.
It is problematical whether the senate will authorize the binder twine plant at Jackson prison which the governor strongly favors. It is possible that both prison labor schemes will go by the board, for the friction between the administration and senate appears to increase as the session grows older.

The affiliation of Lieutenant Governor Kelly with the liberals at Lansing ought to help him a year hence, when he is a candidate for governor. Similarly Auditor General Bradley's evident sympathy with the boxers, and the fact that his friends are voting with the boxers to have the 40 per cent provision retained in the primary election law, will not be forgotten by such voters as cherish the strange delusion that they are capable of picking their own candidates and managing their own political affairs.

Bad results with concrete walks are reported from Houghton. It must be the method of laying them that is at fault. Here, the walks are laid by the city, in accordance with uniform specifications, they are almost without exception practically perfect. The best system of doing this work is under city direction, with the costs taxed against the property. It insures uniformly good walks and a minimum of delay in replacing defective walks. If Houghton will substitute this system for private contracting it will find all trouble with concrete walks at an end.

One Detroit correspondent thinks that Arthur Hill of Saginaw is a large influence in maintaining the array in the senate hostile to the primary election law amendments. Unfriendliness to Governor Warner is reported to be his actuating motive. It hardly seems conceivable that an advocate of direct nominations with as consistent a record of advocacy as Arthur Hill should be throwing his influence to prevent the people being given real—as opposed to sham—direct nominations of governor and lieutenant governor. However, the fact remains that former Senator Baird was very busy at Lansing last week.

Senator Stephenson's victory was somewhat of a La Follette victory. Senator La Follette didn't get deeply into the Madison contest. He made one trip to the scene of action, but found the legislators in a mood to be impatient of any outside attempt to interfere and left them to their own ways, after a cursory survey of the situation. However, it has been an open secret that Senator La Follette favored Stephenson's election. Well he might. Stephenson has stood by him loyally and has been an important factor in the success of his program. Stephenson's money has been a factor in financing many a La Follette contest, and has been the indirect means of accomplishing much good for Wisconsin. Why, Stephenson even started a paper, the Milwaukee Free Press, to help La Follette out, and it has been of immeasurable value in the La Follette propaganda. And who can do more for a friend than start a newspaper for him?

The editor of the Journal at Escanaba denies that he is complaining at the opposition his course since locating in that city has aroused, and resents being labelled a reformer, saying that a man who simply asks for common decency ought to be immune from that term. He ought, in most places, but from all newspaper reports the man who insists on common decency at Escanaba is a good deal of a reformer, nevertheless. The Mining Journal judges from what Mr. Baldwin has to say and from the fact that he already has a crop of enemies in the city that he has accomplished much good in his new home. The Thomas street resorts have been scattered, and it appears that their inmates have been prevented from establishing a new "red light" district. This is bad for "business," but it is good for the morals of the town, and presently there may be a more general appreciation of Mr. Baldwin's efforts to spur the officials to their duty and to awake the civic conscience. It is a good work, and Mr. Baldwin is doing it well. Also we venture to say that even the bitterest of his opponents manage, by hook or by crook, to read his paper weekly, even if they don't subscribe for it.

Under the heading "Candidate Bradley not a bidder for popular vote," the Detroit News says:
Blight or drouth could not more disastrously stunt the pathetic Bradley boom for governor than the recent political alliances and maneuvers of the aspiring auditor general. It is a remarkable political conscience that will permit a man aspiring to the next nomination for governor by popular vote to ally himself with the opponents of the very reform under which he is to seek his nomination.
The Bradley boom is attached neither to the state administration, nor to any popular cause or following, but is lending itself to the purpose of a handful of machine sore-heads to harass the administration, defeat the cause of primary reform and throw the nomination into a trafficking convention. The machine plan to keep several candidates in the field so as to divide the vote naturally calls for a previous selection of candidates. Is Auditor General Bradley one of the tools to be set up as a straw candidate for the division of the vote and the vitiating of the primary nomination under the 40 per cent clause in case the administration plurality nomination clause fails of passage?

His hand is clearly seen in the recent resistance to the governor's primary reform bill. It is the hand of a politician whose bid is certainly not for the popular vote.

A STRONG HINT FROM DIAZ.

According to the Mexico City correspondent of the Boston Herald there is a possibility that this country will be asked to take an active part in straightening out the affairs of the Central American states. President Diaz has some emphatic views of what ought to be done and as the interview with the Herald correspondent took place in the presence of the American minister its authenticity cannot be questioned.

President Diaz briefly explains the nature of the trouble between Mexico and Guatemala. Political refugees from Guatemala sought refuge in Mexico. As soon as established there they began to plot a revolution. The Mexican government promptly put a stop to the activities of the plotters and placed them under surveillance. Then emissaries of Guatemalan officials went to the City of Mexico and assassinated a former president of Guatemala almost within the shadow of the palace. The Mexican government investigated and found that officers high in the Guatemalan army were implicated. It asked that the suspects be taken into custody until a requisition could be issued and they could be taken to Mexico for trial. This request was refused and Mexico withdrew its ambassador at the capital of Guatemala, not to sever relations with the government, President Diaz explained, but more for the purpose of avoiding insults which might have made war necessary. Mexico does not wish war and does not wish to acquire territory by force.

After outlining Mexico's position President Diaz went on to say that the unsettled conditions in the Central American states are becoming intolerable and a source of trouble. "The problem of the Central American republics," he said, "is a great one and one that for their own benefit must be settled sooner or later. It is none of my business and I am not ambitious to settle it. Nevertheless I have an idea. I believe that the best solution would be an amalgamation of all the Central American countries into one strong government under a man with enough sense to check the revolutionary spirit that has done so much to retard the progress and development of these countries. Mexico is willing at any time to co-operate with the United States in a protectorate over them and in any measure that will be beneficial."

Apparently there has been no official communication between Mexico and this country relative to these matters. President Diaz is merely giving both the Central American states and the United States a strong hint. Probably this country would not feel justified in putting pressure on Central America by anything which has so far occurred. No one can tell, however, what the future will develop.

NO CIGARETTE LEGISLATION.

The defeat of the Dickinson anti-cigarette bill in the house last week means that there will be no legislation of the kind the present session. The bill was killed without the use of "boodle," it is asserted, which is more than can be said of some previous anti-cigarette bills. However, there was "boodle" talk in connection with it. The reported program was that it would be passed by the house, and then killed in the senate by bad methods. It was a desire, it is said, to avoid any suspicion in connection with the bill that resulted in its being killed off in the house. It should be remarked, however, that the good faith of Representative Dickinson in introducing the law has not been in any way questioned. Much influence was brought to bear against the bill by dealers, their efforts, however, being persuasive and argumentative, and thus legitimate.

The Michigan legislature finds it difficult to get the cigarette question off its hands. In the first place most cigarette bills are suspected of having in them an element of "strike." Then again many of them that are introduced in good faith are too drastic. Representative Dickinson's bill was criticised on that score. There is no doubt that an anti-cigarette bill wisely drawn would be a good thing. A measure designed to keep cigarettes out of the hands of boys, and imposing severe penalties on all dealers selling to boys, with other restrictive provisions designed to prevent their smoking cigarettes at all, without attempting to establish a protectorate over male smokers, could probably be passed. Such a bill by its moderation would commend itself to the legislators, and could not be opposed with any reason by either manufacturers or dealers in cigarettes. In fact the manufacturers in many instances say they have no objections to legislation aimed at the cigarette habit among boys.

The fault of many cigarette bills proposed in states not yet having such laws and of laws on the statute books in other states is that they concern themselves with the smoking habits of grown men, and thus have not the support of public sentiment. Legislation of this kind should have as its primary aim the restriction of the cigarette habit among boys.

RELIEF FROM RHEUMATIC PAINS.

"I suffered with rheumatism for over two years," says Mr. Rolland Curry, a patrolman, of Kew West, Fla. "Sometimes it settled in my knees and lamed me so I could hardly walk, at other times it would be in my feet and hands so I was incapacitated for duty. One night when I was in severe pain and lame from it my wife went to the drug store here and came back with a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I was rubbed with it and found the pain had nearly gone during the night. I kept on using it for a little more than two weeks and found that it drove the rheumatism away. I have not had any trouble from that disease for over three months." For sale by The Stafford Drug Co.

City Brevities

Today's weather: Generally fair with fresh northerly winds.

J. F. Penner has returned from a business trip to Chicago.

Red Campbell has gone to Philadelphia on a business mission.

Miss Lillian McLean, of Fond du Lac, Wis., is the guest of friends here.

Dan R. McIntyre, of Duluth, Minn., is passing several days with Marquette friends.

Miss Augusta Spencer has returned to Ishpeming, after a visit with friends in this city.

Mrs. George Reno has returned to her home at Green Bay, after a visit with friends in this city.

James Russell left last evening on a several days' business trip to lower Michigan cities.

The Kelly Hardware company has a proposition whereby its customers may secure a high grade talking machine free.

Jacob Levin, of the firm of Foreman, Feisenhart & Co., of Chicago, spent Sunday as the guest of his father-in-law, Louis Gutta.

The Rivals Juniors defeated "Mullaly's gang" in a hotly played game of baseball at Harlow's field yesterday afternoon by a score of 12 to 10.

The Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company is building two double houses north of the Burt property on the Lake street drive, near the Carp furnace. The frames are now going up. They are being erected for the accommodation of employees of the furnace.

Thomas Scadden's Funeral—The funeral of the late Thomas Scadden, whose death occurred at Denver last week, will take place at Crystal Falls at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. A considerable number of Marquette people will attend the obsequies. They will leave here at 8 o'clock a. m., via the C. M. & St. P. train.

Large Class Confirmed—A class of boys and girls, some seventy in number, received their first communion at St. Peter's church at 7:30 mass yesterday morning, and were confirmed by Bishop Eis following pontifical high mass at 10:15. Subsequent to receiving their communion breakfast was served to the class by the sodalities in Baraga Hall.

West Ends Win Again—The West Ends defeated the North Ends yesterday afternoon by the score of 17 to 16 in a well fought game at the west end grounds. The game was marked by heavy hitting and the fielders had plenty to do in every inning. This is the fourth consecutive victory of the West Ends. Devine and Brandin led the battery for the West Ends and Scholtus and Richter for the North Ends. The West Ends are open to meet any team in the city.

Large Numbers of Ducks—Hundreds of ducks have within the past few days appeared in the Chocoday bayou, which, with the reported return of the geese, encourages upper peninsula sportsmen in the belief that the game is coming back. There have always been a few ducks in the bayou at this season of the year, but it has been many years since they arrived in such numbers. At least a dozen ducks arrived yesterday. Most of them appear to be mallards though there are one or two ducks of teal. A decade or so ago the Chocoday bayou was a famous hunting ground and large kills were made during the proper seasons.

Sleeping Car Service—After June 1 there will be a sleeping car service on all night trains on the South Shore between Calumet and Mackinac. The west bound train to Calumet reaches here at 11:15 p. m., and the east bound train to Mackinac from Calumet at 5 a. m. A sleeping car service on these trains has been demanded by the public some time, as their runs are long and they have a heavy passenger patronage. The South Shore planned to start the service last year, but was unable to secure the cars. On Decoration Day the road will sell round trip tickets to any point on its lines for one fare plus twenty-five cents.

Building Dwelling Houses—C. V. Van Iderstine, who is in charge of the work at the Chocoday furnace, has begun the erection of the dwelling houses to be built for the accommodation of employees. They are going up on the side of the South Shore track opposite the furnace, south of and some distance away from the kilns. Three of the houses are well under way, one of them being already shingled. The windows were put in the dormitory building and the house for the cooks and dining room the past week. Several kilns are now well along toward completion. Substantial progress is noticed at each week end by visitors to the location.

Brakemen Injured—James Van Cleave, a South Shore brakeman, is at St. Mary's hospital suffering from injuries sustained Saturday morning at Au Train. Van Cleave was struck on the head by the timbers of a bridge as he looked out from the tender of the engine of an extra bound freight. He was thrown from the train in an unconscious condition and it was some time before he was found by men on the crew, the train having slowed up to take on water. While the man's condition is serious fatal results are not expected.

Will Give a Musicales—A musicale under the direction of Miss Sophie Linton, head of the music department of the Normal, will be given at the M. E. church, Wednesday evening. In the first part vocal solos will be given by the Misses Sophie and Ida Linton and Miss Chase, a violin solo by Miss Hadley and readings by Mrs. Estie Gay Ruslimore. The second part will consist of a cantata "King Rene's Daughter," sung by the Normal Glee club. The club has been practicing the cantata for several months and the production should be an artistic one.

Catcher Wants a Job—The sporting department of The Mining Journal is in receipt of a letter from Barney Cinnamon, a former Milwaukee boy, now located in Green Bay, announcing his willingness to come here and play ball with any local organization, if a position could be secured for him in a machine shop. Cinnamon is an excellent batsman, having played behind the plate on several of the best Milwaukee teams. He is a good stickler and baserunner. It is a pity, however, that Cinnamon has won the most fame, and he claims the lightweight championship of the northwest. There will be little doubt in that game, though, until fall, and he is anxious to settle in some city where he can combine his trade with some form of athletic sport.

MRS. STAFFORD TO RETIRE.

Her Sister, Miss Bada Schmidt, to Take Over Management of Greenhouses.

Mrs. L. H. Stafford has disposed of her interest in the Stafford greenhouses to her sister, Miss Bada Schmidt, who will in the future have entire charge of the business. Mrs. Stafford has been compelled to retire on account of ill health, and will shortly leave the city in the hope that a change in climate may prove beneficial. The greenhouses, which have been established for twenty years, should not suffer under the management of Miss Schmidt, as she is a thoroughly capable florist and intimately acquainted with the details of the business, having acted as Mrs. Stafford's assistant for many years. Arrangements have been made whereby Dal's grocery will handle the products of Stafford greenhouses down town.

PASSED AWAY AT DAYTON, O.

Father of E. S. and J. H. Bice Died at a Ripe Old Age.

The death at the Miami Valley hospital of Sampson Bice, president of the West Side Lumber company, removed one of Dayton's oldest and most substantial business men, and the announcement will come as a startling surprise to a large friendship, who, although being aware of his illness, were not prepared for the sad termination which came, says the Dayton, O. Journal. Mr. Bice was forced to submit to an operation last Saturday and was unable to recover from its effects. He was a man of wonderful constitution and, although about seventy-two years of age, his faculties and physical vigor were so well preserved that he appeared much younger. He had been ill about two weeks, and it was hoped that the necessity of an operation might be obviated, but such was not the case. His condition became more serious and it was finally determined that the only possibility of preserving life was by an operation, which brought no encouragement and, burdened with age as he was, he was unable to survive the strain.

Mr. Bice was well and favorably known, and his loss to the community in which he lived will be a serious one. He was a man of good temper and possessed a substantial Christian character, having been for a number of years a devoted and active member of the Grace M. E. church, which in his death also suffers a severe loss. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Pauline Bice, and six sons, who have the united sympathy of a large acquaintance in their great bereavement. The sons are: James Bice, of Lansing, Mich.; J. H. Bice, of Marquette, Mich.; C. E. Bice, of Dayton, O.; E. S. Bice, of Marquette, Mich.; George Bice and Vernon Bice, of Dayton, O. Mr. Bice was born in England, coming to this country when quite young, settling in Marquette, Mich. He later came to this city, and had been associated with the West Side Lumber company for a period of five years as its president and was highly respected as able and judicious in the solution of commercial problems.

WISCONSIN A BREEDING GROUND.

Bounty on Wolf Cubs in Badger State But $2 Per Scalp.

"All the efforts of Michigan authorities to rid the upper peninsula of wolves through the high bounties will prove fruitless unless Wisconsin co-operates in the movement," said E. H. Nelson, of Marquette, Wis., Saturday. "The scalps of nineteen wolf cubs were brought to Marquette by two Indians Wednesday. All the bounty received was two dollars from the state and four dollars from the bounty for each scalp, making a total in all of $114. And there are counties in Wisconsin that offer no reward whatever for the scalps of either old wolves or cubs, and all that the hunter locating a den would secure on the cubs would be the two dollars state bounty. It is utterly ridiculous to expect men to give time and labor to wolf hunting for such pitiful inducements. Suppose the Michigan bounty is raised to $75 or even $100 a scalp. How is that going to depopulate the upper peninsula of wolves while the one being bred by the hundred across the Wisconsin line? The wolf is a migratory animal. Packs when they grow too large split up, and it is nothing for them to travel several hundred miles in, the course of a few days. Some steps should be taken by Michigan and Wisconsin to secure the co-operation of Wisconsin in making the bounties offered in both states about the same."

A SPECIAL TREAT FOR THE LADIES.

The ladies of Marquette and vicinity will have an opportunity Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week to inspect what is probably the finest line of furs ever shown in this city. Parlor has been engaged at the Hotel Marquette by the Nicolai company of Milwaukee, who enjoy the best reputation as manufacturers of fine furs. Their showing of Mink, Russian, Sable, Lynx, Otter, Persian, Seal, and all other high class furs, as well as a very fine selection of medium grade furs, all at exceptionally low prices, will be surely a treat and every lady, whether interested or not, should make it a point to see this display.

CARD OF THANKS.

I desire to thank the many kind friends at St. Ignace, Marquette, Michigan, Ishpeming and Negaunee, for the many kindnesses shown my wife during her illness and at her death. Also for the beautiful floral tributes at the funeral.

SONS OF ST. GEORGE REUNION.

Extensive Preparations Being Made for Meeting Here in July.

The general arrangement committee, members of Sir Humphrey Davey and Trelawney lodges of Ishpeming and Sir James Watts lodge of the Winthrop, have made plans for the society's grand lodge convention and reunion here July 18, 19 and 20. On the committee are William Bamford, chairman; Steve Terrill, secretary; John T. Bonnett, treasurer; W. J. Blight, William Andrews, Captain John Trebilcock, James Trebilcock, W. J. Harris, John Dolbe, J. T. Rowe and William Trebilcock. The sub-committees are: Street sports—William Trebilcock, John T. Rowe and W. J. Harris. Wrestling—John T. Bonnett and W. J. Blight. Dancing—William Trebilcock and Steve Terrill. Concert—W. H. Bamford and W. J. Harris. Soliciting—William Andrews and John Dolbe. Committees on street parade, dinner and printing are yet to be appointed.

Twelve Bands Expected.

The committee intends to make the parade one of the biggest features of Saturday, when all the sports will be held. Twelve bands are expected and fifteen or more lodges will be represented by large delegations. All of the lodges affiliated with the grand body, with the exception of one in Detroit, are located in the upper peninsula. The society has had a good growth since the last grand lodge session and reunion in Negaunee. The general committee has written the lodges that are expected to be accompanied by bands, asking them to turn over the bands to the arrangement committee while they are in the city. The committee desires to have music from one or more bands at all times during the day. The bands will be stationed at various places on the streets in the afternoon. It is also likely that the bands will be asked to unite and play a few selections. At a grand lodge session held a few years ago several bands united in a few selections, it proving to be one of the best features of the day.

Wrestling and Other Sports.

Fred Branstad has given the committee permission to use his vacant lot at the corner of Cleveland avenue and Second street for the Cornish wrestling. The bottom of the basement will be leveled off and the seats will be extended to a point above the top of the walls. A ten-foot fence is to be erected on the foundation. It is expected that 2,000 persons can be accommodated with seats. Liberal prizes are to be offered and it is thought that all the best wrestlers of the upper peninsula will participate. The admission will be twenty-five cents. The committee on street sports will submit a report to the general committee at a meeting Saturday evening, outlining a complete program. It is planned to begin the sports immediately after dinner, or an hour or so following the parade, which will take place before 12 o'clock. The committee has secured the Branstad and Woodmen's hall, also Ishpeming theater. The grand lodge sessions will be held in the Woodmen's hall; dinner and supper will be served in Branstad's hall, where a dance will also be held, and a concert will be given Saturday evening at the theater. The committee expects to serve no less than 3,000 persons with dinner and a like number with supper. The charge will be only twenty-five cents. Tickets for the ball will be fifty cents per couple. Some of the best talent in the upper peninsula will participate in the concert. The admission prices will be thirty-five cents for lower floor and balcony seats and twenty-five for gallery.

Grand Lodge Session.

The grand lodge session will open Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. It is expected that the business can be concluded by Friday evening. The grand lodge officers and delegates will be entertained a banquet Friday evening at the Woodmen's hall. Covers will be laid for 150 persons.

Captain William J. Allen, of Ironwood, formerly of Negaunee, is the president. He will retire and Captain John Hodgson of Negaunee will be elected to the chair. Steve Terrill of this city, who at present holds the office of assistant messenger, is a candidate for messenger, and the delegates from the lodges of this city and Winthrop will support him.

One of the most interesting contests for recognition by the grand lodge will be for delegates to the supreme lodge session at Calumet in October. The Michigan grand lodge is entitled to two delegates, and it is said that there are no less than six candidates in the field, with prospects of several more coming in before the date of the grand lodge session. Captain John Trebilcock and James Trebilcock of the Winthrop; William Andrews of this city and Captain John Hodgson of Negaunee will be in the race. It is reported here that the lodge at Iron Mountain will have a candidate, and it is expected that all the delegates from the Monominee range lodges will support the Iron Mountain man.

Henry Cardew of the Winthrop, who has held the office of grand secretary for several years past, is a candidate for election, and it is thought that he will be elected by acclamation in recognition of his good work. Trevanion Andrews, marshal of Hancock, is the grand lodge treasurer, and so far as the Ishpeming Sons have heard he will not be opposed for reelection.

PLEASANT DANCING PARTY.

The Eiks' May party Friday night at Branstad's Hall was declared to have been one of the most successful functions of the entire season. The attendance was unusually large, there being over 110 couples present. The lunch was elaborate and Trombly's orchestra, increased to seven pieces, furnished excellent music.

SOAP GIVEN AWAY.

Five bars of fine toilet soap given away free with each twenty-five-cent purchase (five bars) of laundry soap, at Clark's Savings Bank store. (5-17-07)

TO SELECT ROUTE FOR MAIN.

Mayor and a Committee Will Look Over the Ground Today.

Mayor Roberts, members of the board of public works and the street committee will today endeavor to select a route for the water main to take the place of the main traversing the Oliver Iron Mining company's lands in the southern part of the city. They will meet at the city hall at 1 o'clock and drive out, starting in at the southern end of Douglas street, at which point the new pipe will connect with the old main.

It is doubtful if a route can be decided on today, as about two and a half miles of new pipe is to be put in. The route selected will be looked over by officials of the Oliver Iron Mining company before permission to use it is granted. All of the new route will be over Oliver lands. The officials have assured the council that they will gladly cooperate with the committee and board in selecting a desirable route, as well as aid in the speedy completion of the work.

It is not yet known when it will be possible to begin the work, as the board of public works has not received all the bids expected on the pipe. It is impossible to tell just how long it will take the pipe manufacturers to supply it, as the order will be an unusually large one and besides it is said that most of the larger factories are crowded with business.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

The following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted at a regular meeting of the City Council No. 153, Independent Order of Rechabites, held in Union hall, Ishpeming, Mich., May 30, 1907:

Whereas, It has seemed good to the Order of the Universe to remove from among us our beloved friend and fellow member, John Traise; therefore, in view of the loss we have sustained, and the still heavier loss sustained by his wife, children and other relatives, be it Resolved, That the members of the tent and district hereby desire to express their sense of the bereavement and grief at the loss of one of their most faithful members, and record the enjoyment and profit which we have had in the genial social qualities and intellectual attainments of the deceased.

Resolved, That we sincerely sympathize with the relatives and near friends of our late beloved associate, and we respectfully commend them for consolation to that divine power which, though sometimes inscrutable in its dispensations, yet doeth all things well; knowing that to them, as to us, there is comfort in the knowledge that the deceased was honorable and manly in all respects, and a worthy member of our honorable order.

Resolved, That in our sorrow at the death of our late friend and brother, our charter be draped in mourning for the period of thirty days; and be it further

Resolved, That the secretary of this tent be instructed to send a copy of these resolutions to the family of the deceased as a testimonial of our sympathy for them, and the secretary place the resolutions upon our records, and also cause them to be printed in the local papers of our city.

MAKING GOOD PROGRESS.

All Dwellings, However, Will Not Be Moved from Site by June 1.

John Hogberg, who purchased one of the dwellings, also some buildings at the rear of the lot on which it stood, on the site for the new high school, will finish moving the lumber today or tomorrow and the rest of the material will be carted away before the end of the week. Mr. Hogberg intends to take away all of the brick, which he will use in the construction of a building at his farm, while the lumber is also to be utilized there. Two of the Beaudet houses have been moved and the other will be on rollers today or tomorrow. Albert J. Bice has given Charles Johnson of Ishpeming a contract for the removal of his house to the Wiggins' property, and Louis Corbett, who purchased the Beldy dwellings, is also figuring with the Ishpeming contractor. Mr. Johnson has advised Mr. Bice that he will probably start on his house within a week, or as soon as he finishes moving the Joachim dwelling in Ishpeming.

Members of the board of education do not expect that any of the dwellings will be on the site July 1. The property owners were asked to try and get them off by the first of June, but none of them were able to procure the services of the house movers as soon as they expected. The board will not urge the owners until next month as the plans and specifications will not be ready until the latter part of this month, or probably the first part of June. It will take at least ten days to secure the bids and ten days or two weeks for the contractor to get the material on the ground. It is planned to start the excavating immediately after the contract is awarded.

WILL IMPROVE PARK.

Dancing Pavilion to Be Rebuilt—First Picnic June 24.

The management of the Marquette County Gas & Electric company intends to make Cleveland park an attractive resort this summer. The dancing pavilion, which was destroyed by a storm last fall, is to be rebuilt and a number of improvements are to be made about the grounds. J. Wahlman & Son have the contract for the reconstruction of the pavilion and it is expected that work will be started on the job within a few days. The new pavilion will be an improvement over the old one and will be more solidly built. The floor will be put in fine condition for dancing. The grounds are to be thoroughly cleaned, benches will be placed underneath some of the trees and several swings will be erected. Improvements will also be made at the spring in the lower end of the park, so that picnic parties assembling there will have less difficulty procuring water. The grounds will also be more brilliantly lighted than ever before, as Mr. McCorkingdale plans to put in a greater number of lights in the pavilion as well as on the road. It is expected that there will be a number of moonlight picnics at the park and the societies planning to conduct picnics there intend to continue the dancing until midnight.

The first big picnic of the season will take place on Midsommer day, when the Scandinavian societies of the county will assemble as guests of the Negaunee society. The committee has not yet succeeded in securing a band, but it is likely that Trombly's regular orchestra, augmented by four or five men, will be engaged. The chairman of the committee Saturday that he had secured an option on the orchestra. The parade will be one of the features of the picnic. All of the visiting societies will assemble here prior to going to the park and the parade will take place between 10 and 11 o'clock. Dinner and supper, also light refreshments, will be served on the grounds.

SOME CELEBRATION TALK.

Business Men May Make Effort to Arrange for Celebrating July 3.

There are a number of Negaunee business men who would contribute liberally to a Fourth of July celebration but all realize that it is too late to arrange for one, on account of the celebrations in Ishpeming and Marquette. Besides a Fourth without a brass band would be like the Fourth without fireworks. There is some sentiment in favor of a celebration a year hence, when it is thought that both Ishpeming and Marquette will give this city a clear field.

A business man who thinks that Negaunee should have celebrated this year said Saturday that he and two or three others intend to ascertain what support they will receive in arranging for a celebration on the 3rd. He said he thought that there would be very little work at the mines that day. Another merchant said that he did not favor celebrating on the 3rd and he doubted very much if a fund sufficient to make the celebration a success could be raised.

HAY ARRIVING.

Three or four carloads of hay were received in the city the latter part of last week, but the supply was far from sufficient. It will take several carloads to give the stock owners a full week's supply. The hay shortage has cost E. C. Anthony, owner of Low Moor farm, a greater sum than anyone in this county. He has 160 head of cattle on the place, consuming about 1,600 pounds of hay daily. Mr. Anthony did not raise enough hay on the farm last season to feed the stock until spring, so that he has been obliged to buy a large quantity.

The employees of the Mary Charlotte mine will be paid today.

William Prouse and family are here from Butte, on a visit to relatives.

Miss Anna Joque of Escanaba is in the city, visiting Miss Anna Boyer.

"The Bunch" club will give its next hop Friday evening at McDonald's opera house.

The Finnish dancing club conducted a hop Saturday evening at McDonald's opera house.

Dr. John Winter, who is located at Calumet, spent the past few days in the city, visiting his folks.

John Hakonson, who recently disposed of his livery business here, intends to take a rest. He conducted business for nearly twenty-three years.

Saturday was a busy day in Negaunee as a result of the pay at a number of the mines. The dealers in clothing and men's furnishings were busy from early until late.

The heating plant in the Neely block, occupied by the Savings Bank store, is being looked over by an expert steam fitter of Chicago. The plant has not been working properly.

Anton Hendrickson, the concrete walk contractor, has been busy the past week or so remodeling the basement of the Negaunee Bottling works. He will resume work building within a few days. Mr. Hendrickson has a number of contracts on hand and he expects to have a busy season.

J. M. Perkins has rearranged the rear portion of his store, making additional room, which he expects to use to good advantage after the soda water season opens. All of the new cases that stood in the center of the store have been placed on either side, extending to the rear wall. Mr. Perkins intends to place several tables in the center of the room.

IRELAND'S FATAL DRAIN.

Seventy per Cent of Emerald Isle's Youth Emigrates Annually.

Dublin, May 19.—Hopes which were entertained for a time last year that the drain of emigration had been checked have proved delusive. The figures show that 4668 persons emigrated from Ireland last year in excess of the number that left these shores in 1905. And thus far this year this ratio of increase has been more than maintained. Last week no fewer than 3063 persons left Queenstown for America. This number was the largest recorded in any one week for several years. Nearly 70 per cent of the emigrants were, as usual, the flower of Ireland's population—young men between the ages of eighteen and twenty-five.

Among those who watched their departure one day was Cardinal Logue. His eminence was profoundly impressed by the heart-breaking spectacle which he witnessed on the quays at Queenstown. He conversed with many of the emigrants. They were leaving Ireland because "they had nothing to do at home." As to the remedy to be adopted to arrest this wasting drain of the best elements of the population, Cardinal Logue was emphatic and outspoken.

Would Evict the Cow.

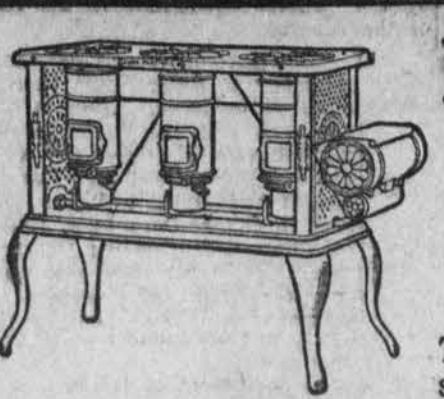

"The only chance of grappling with the difficulty," he said, "is that of breaking up the grass lands and settling the people upon them. Numbers of those leaving today are from Westmeath, Longford and Roscommon, and farming pursuits are the only pursuits they know. Except you provide employment for these people on the land, it is idle to speak to them against emigration. The land is their support, and there is no other source of livelihood open to them at home. There are no industries to keep them. Of course, the conditions are different in the north, where the linen industry affords so much employment. The employes may not be very well paid, but still they have sufficient to live on, and they appreciate the little ready money they earn."

The parish of Durnairy, in the county of Westmeath, affords a striking illustration of the need of applying the remedy suggested by his eminence. According to the census published by the British government the population of the parish in 1841 was 3367; in 1851 it was Parish Almost Depopulated.

If the land of Durnairy consisted of poor, barren soil, the tremendous decrease in its population might excite little surprise. But it is in reality one of the most fertile parishes in the country. It is that which lends such a terrible significance to the figures. The very fertility of its soil has been its curse. It was too good for men and women and it has been turned into pasture land for cattle. Not even the ruins of the cottages of the former inhabitants now remain, for cattle graze where their hearthstones once stood. If the land had been covered with hedges and swamps and rocks, it would now be far more populous than it is, for then it would not be good enough for cattle, but still good enough for poor peasants to wrest a bare pittance out of the soil. Durnairy is not a mere isolated example. There are hundreds of fertile parishes which tell a similar tale. It is on the best land in many districts of Ireland that the depopulation has been greatest. No other country in the world presents a similar spectacle.

FEDERAL POWDER POLICY BAD.

Washington, May 19.—Robert S. Waddell of Berlin, Ill., a powder manufacturer, who has been urging on the government the prosecution of the Du Pont Powder company as a trust operating in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, has come out in a circular assailing the proposed policy of establishing a reserve supply of approximately 30,000,000 pounds of smokeless ordnance powder. Congress has not yet made appropriation for such a reserve. The appropriations for reserve ammunition for the navy are below what is needed.

Mr. Waddell's circular recites the destruction of the Japanese flagship Mikasa by the spontaneous combustion of smokeless powder and of a French flagship at Toulon recently by the same effect from "poudre B" in the ship's magazine. He states that the United States navy smokeless ordnance powder is almost a duplicate of the French "poudre B." Mr. Waddell presents a synopsis of the report of two members of the ordnance research committee of Great Britain, Dr. Silbert and Dr. Farmer, which says shows that "all pyrocellulose powders, continually decompose in ordinary temperatures." Mr. Waddell states that the pyrocellulose powders of the United States for the 4-inch, 4.7-inch, 6-inch and 8-inch guns were included in this test. He adds: "Is it not manifestly unwise and unsafe to continue the present policy of creating a large reserve of powder that is sure to deteriorate and render the gunnery defective, if no fatalities result, and of this the probabilities are all against the government?"

In view of the fact that the Du Pont company can make only 32,000 pounds of smokeless powder a day, and as a first-class battleship carrying 75,000 pounds of this powder can use it all with all guns working in thirty minutes, Mr. Waddell declares that government powder factories are an absolute necessity.

DROUGHT CAUSES BIG LOSS.

City of Mexico, May 19.—The losses to the henequin industry in the state of Yucatan on account of the long-continued drought are enormous. Advertisements here today tell of a most distressing condition of affairs there. Many of the larger henequin plantations have been swept by fire since the drought set in aggregating $15,000,000 in losses, and three of the largest commercial firms in Berlin and Progreso have failed recently for a total of more than $6,000,000.

The millions of dollars of wealth that the henequin planters and dealers in the fiber have accumulated are rapidly disappearing under the depressed state of affairs. The exports of the product fell off more than 20,000 bales during the month of April as compared with the same month the previous year.

It is claimed by the henequin growers of Yucatan that a conspiracy exists on the part of New York buyers of henequin to force Yucatan out of the market. The price of Yucatan henequin has been dropped to 6% cents, gold, per pound, while the price of the Manila product is maintained at 8% to 11% cents, gold, per pound. The people of Yucatan are practically dependent upon the henequin industry, and the drought and depressed market are causing great distress among the poorer classes. There is much suffering and several deaths from starvation are reported.

ISLANDS FOR FILIPINOS

AN IMPORTANT STEP IS TAKEN AT MANILA.

Philippine Medical College Is Established and Will Open Its Doors Early in September—Competent Physicians Much Needed on the Islands—High Standard of Instruction to Be Maintained—Expenses Will Not Be Very Heavy—Marked Improvement in the Condition of Provincial Treasuries—Saving in Public Works.

Washington, May 19.—Establishment of the Philippine Medical College at Manila marks another important step forward in what has come to be known as the Taft policy for the Philippines. This new institution will open its doors early in September with a competent and adequate faculty of American medical instructors. Announcement was made today of the appointment of Dr. B. B. Bean of the University of Michigan as the professor of anatomy and physiology and the services of an assistant professor of pharmacology and of bacteriology and pathology will soon be secured. Several applications for these chairs have been received at the bureau of insular affairs. Difficulty is, of course, experienced in obtaining the right sort of men; the salaries offered are none too large but the opportunity for special research work and for a thorough study of tropical diseases has proved sufficiently attractive to enable the war department officials to exercise great care in the selection of the faculty.

A modern medical college has long been recognized as one of the great needs of the Philippine Islands. Lack of a sufficient number of competent physicians is the almost insuperable obstacle encountered by the insular board of health in attempting to carry on municipal and provincial sanitation. Statistics show that the islands contain today about one physician to each 18,000 inhabitants. In Manila the ratio is one to 977, but in the provinces outside the capital the ratio is about one to 50,000 inhabitants. Outside of the town of Cebu in the province of that name, which contains some seven hundred thousand people, there was a single doctor of medicine a short time ago and in the province of Samar there is but one to each 129,000. The provinces of Mindoro, Misamis, Nueva Visaya and Palawan are wholly without physicians except when constabulary surgeons or inspectors of the board of health are temporarily stationed there.

Among the young the death rate is distressingly high, statistics showing that about 50 per cent of the new born even in Manila die within a year and that 52 per cent of the deaths in the capital occur without medical attendance. The land area of the islands is 115,000 square miles; the average population is sixty-seven to one square mile. Excluding Manila, the average number of physicians is about one to each 430 square miles. In spite of this condition, it is said to be almost as difficult for a physician to establish a practice in the Philippines as in the United States, the law regulating the practice of medicine and surgery being in keeping with the high standard in the large states of the Union.

First Steps Taken Last Year.

Although the Philippine board of health has been discussing for a long time the question of establishing a medical school, it was not until last year that an enabling act was passed and efforts to obtain a faculty and provide the necessary facilities for such an institution were begun. It had already been recognized that medical instruction, which would include laboratory work and which would be open to Filipinos with the proper preliminary training, was an essential for the conduct of efficient medical hygienic work on the islands. The founding of the proposed school has been postponed until this year because of the insufficient number of educated Filipinos who would enter the profession and the lack of facilities. Both these drawbacks have disappeared since the June between four and five hundred Filipino young men and women will have been educated in the public schools to a degree qualifying them to enter the freshman class at college and in the meantime a sufficient number of native college graduates have signified their intention of taking a course at the new medical college to warrant its opening next autumn. A preliminary course has already been established in the bureau of education leading to medical instruction. This course is said to be well adapted to fitting students for the first years of medical instruction. Perhaps the number of men who will be prepared to go on with the work will at first be limited to eight or ten, so that work in chemistry and bacteriology and physiology can be conducted in the government laboratory. Ultimately the school will need a building of its own. Modern instruction in medicine consists for the greater part in laboratory work, and the new building must in the main be devoted to laboratory purposes.

High Standard of Instruction.

It is the determination of the founders of the Philippine Medical college to maintain a high standard of instruction from the first. They hope its very existence will bring to the islands a number of physicians, eminent in the various specialties, who will take places on the faculty and on the hospital staff. Young men with growing reputations it is thought can well afford to begin their connection with the institution as clinical associates or assistant professors, having the hope of full professorships held before them as the reward for work well done and for published research of real value to the scientific world. The fact that the school will at first be small and its initial teaching force must in large part be composed of medical men on the ground, is regarded as no reason why the positions on the faculty should be underrated or why the standard of the school should be placed so high that no one should feel himself entitled to a full professorship who could not with reason believe that he would be recognized for a corresponding position in the best medical schools of the United States. Until a government university is established in the islands the new medical school will be under the supervision of a regularly incorporated board of control, which consists of the secretary of the interior, the secretary of public instruction, one other member of the Philippine commission designated by the governor general and the dean of the faculty.

There is only one medical college in the islands today, the San Jose Medical college, a department of the Santo Tomas university. The institution was organized as a college in 1612 and was made a university before the close of that century. Its medical department was not organized until 1876. The medical course extends over a period of seven years and costs in all about five hundred pesos. Although the published list of the faculty includes eighty-one names, the active professors number about one-fourth that many.

With the equipment of the bureau of government laboratories and the classrooms and supplies of the bureau of education at the disposal of the new medical school its establishment will not call for a large drain upon the island treasury. The greater part of the equipment, in the appliances, is on hand and little, except instruments for the courses in physiology and pharmacology, need be purchased. Besides the three assistant professors who will be sent out from this country the faculty will be composed of the commissioner of public health and several of his assistants, members of the force of the government laboratories, one or more teachers of science in the bureau of education and some of the best known practicing physicians of Manila. From time to time additions will be made to the faculty from the medical colleges of this country, as the number of Filipino students increases. The necessary clinical amphitheaters for the new school are furnished by the government hospital and the various private institutions.

Provincial Treasuries Stronger.

Frank W. Carpenter, assistant secretary of the insular government, who, in addition to his supervision over appropriations and other fiscal affairs, has control of the provincial treasuries and financial operations of the provincial governments, in a recent letter to the bureau of insular affairs calls attention to the marked improvement in the financial condition of the provincial treasuries. "From a practically bankrupt condition in the majority of cases," he writes, "the provincial governments are now getting on a good solvent basis, with the exception of Antique, Bataan, Romblon and Zambales. An illustration of the improvements which have been effected in Pangasinan, which a year ago was practically bankrupt and today has two hundred thousand pesos from its treasurer's current balances of all kinds on fixed interest bearing deposits, besides having done a large amount of road and bridge work during the last six months. Many others have made relatively as great or greater improvements.

For the next fiscal year Mr. Carpenter is preparing a uniform budget scheme and a monthly report of financial operations by which it will not be difficult to check the tendencies of many provincial boards to expend twelve months revenue in six or eight. This will obviate the necessity of loans from the insular treasury as well as the practical paralysis of those branches of the public service which are dependent upon provincial funds. "This appears to be the only effective method of determining promptly neglect on the part of a provincial treasurer to turn his potential revenue into 'cash on hand.' By eliminating an easy going official here and there it has been possible in more than one instance to increase the revenue nearly ten thousand pesos a month, as a result of a more thorough collection of the land tax.

Saving in Public Works.

Considerable saving in the various departments of public works has been possible as a result of the use of traction engines instead of carabao for the distribution of road and bridge material. As much as 50 per cent has been saved in this factor of cost of construction and maintenance. Mr. Carpenter says a campaign is in progress in favor of the use of stone or reinforced concrete construction for provincial and municipal buildings and bridges instead of timber or exposed steel and iron. The use of this material practically eliminates the expense of repair and maintenance and does away with the fire risk. In his efforts to develop Filipino provincial treasurers, Mr. Carpenter has obtained very encouraging results. Not only is it desirable from the standpoint of good policy, but for wholly business reasons it is imperative that a personnel be trained which will give not only efficient but permanent. One Filipino has recently been appointed a full-fledged provincial treasurer. Other appointments of the same kind will follow, the appointee in each instance receiving his promotion only after he has been thoroughly trained through long experience in subordinate positions. Mr. Carpenter says he is willing to stand sponsor for the fitness, honesty and sincerity of each of these Filipinos who have been or will be promoted. The work of Mr. Carpenter in placing the provincial and municipal governments on a firm financial basis without shutting down their departments of public works is highly commended by the officials here.

CONSULS APPROVE OF EXPOSITION

Say Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Fair Will Help Increase Pacific Trade.

Seattle, May 19.—One phase of the purpose of the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition which will be held at Seattle in 1909—the bringing together commercially of the countries of the Pacific ocean—is attracting widespread attention and commendation. Without neglecting the other object, the exploitation of Alaska and Yukon, it is the intention of the management to devote much attention to the exhibits that will exert an influence to increase the trade between the United States and the countries lying by the Pacific and between the different countries themselves. It is a well-known fact that this country does not enjoy its full share of the immense Pacific commerce, especially the Oriental trade.

Letters received by Henry E. Reed, director of exploitation, from American consuls stationed in the different countries bordering on the Pacific, back up the prediction of those who have studied the plan and scope of the exposition that the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific fair will do a great deal for American commerce, that through the medium of exhibits buyers and sellers of many nations will be brought closer together to their mutual advantage. Roger S. Green, consul at Vladivostok, writes to tell how trade can be increased with Siberia. He says in part: "Every time that a European community use is imported here, most of which is American, though Russian and Manchurian flours are also on the market, the Russian articles being considered better than American flour and the Manchurian inferior. Salt beef, corned beef, lard, and other meat products have a considerable sale, also condensed milk, especially evaporated cream, canned fruits, etc.

"American agricultural machinery is beginning to come to this port, mostly destined for the Amur Province. American machines and sporting goods have a good name here; for example sewing machines, typewriters, scales, photographic apparatus, telegraphs, arms and ammunition. Small hardware is as yet imported chiefly from Europe. In the future there will be a market for all kinds of machinery, particularly the flour mill, lumbering and mining machinery.

Consul Green's letter explaining the conditions at Vladivostok, which has only come into prominence as a port since the war between Russia and Japan, shows that there is a great opportunity for American producers and manufacturers in the countries beyond the Pacific which they can take advantage of by studying the needs of the markets at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition.

William H. Michel, consul general at Calcutta, India, writes in part: "I am of the opinion that a much larger trade than now exists can be worked up between the United States and India. With this end in view I think a good Indian exhibit should be made at the exposition." "The west coast of South America is ripe for American products," writes Alfred A. Winslow, consul at Valparaiso, Chile, "and is ready for the harvesters who are prepared to go into the field equipped to do the work. It is a recognized fact that the conscientiously made American goods are accepted as the best to be had, and there is no market here better understood than in this part of South America, but the European manufacturers has the inside in his method of reaching the people. Of course, he has been in the field longer, and has a footing but that can be overcome if our people are willing to adopt some of their best methods, and will go after the business in earnest. Much can be learned through exhibits at a commercial fair like the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition."

STATES MUST HELP.

Money Needed to Keep Naval Militia Ships Repaired.

Washington, May 19.—"The naval militia has made good," declared Assistant Secretary of the Navy Newberry today. "It is no longer regarded as a joke. The members of it have demonstrated that they are in earnest and the men from all the states participating in the Spanish war gave such service as to fix the permanent value of the militia as one of the reliable units in our scheme of national defense. For that reason the various states to whom the national government has loaned vessels as training ships for the naval militia should make appropriate appropriation to keep the boats in condition."

"The fund needed to maintain such a ship as it ought to be maintained is about 10 per cent of its value, and each state having a vessel for its naval militia should appropriate that much annually. Otherwise the vessel will be practically useless, and will not serve any valuable purpose."

"The action of the federal government in loaning these ships in the way it does is decidedly generous and it ought to be appreciated. It not only provides the vessels, but they are in fine repair when they are loaned and there is also always sent with them a crew of caretakers, paid by the federal government, who see that the ship is kept clean, well pumped out and in sweet and serviceable condition. But if there is not enough money provided by the state to keep the vessel in repair the militiamen become dissatisfied and try to make a trade of their ship for some other vessel in the navy."

"Only a few days ago Commander Standish and Adjutant General Cox were here to see if there was not a better boat to be secured for the Michigan militia, but I was compelled to inform them that the best ship in the fleet the government has loaned to any state except New York, and perhaps the best suited to naval training of any vessel in the hands of the militia anywhere."

"She is large, has roomy decks and her hull and boiler and machinery are in the best of condition. But her upper works are of course periodically in need of repair and that is where the state should spend a certain amount every year. The Yantic is a vessel worth $250,000 and ought to be well cared for. I have served in the naval militia and my sympathies are with it. I would like to see it develop to its best possible condition."

IT'S YOUR KIDNEYS.

Don't Mistake the Cause of Your Troubles. A Marquette Citizen Shows How to Cure Them.

Many people never suspect their kidneys. If suffering from a lame, weak or aching back they think that it is only a muscular weakness; when urinary trouble sets in they think it will soon correct itself. And so it is with all the other symptoms of kidney disorders. That is just where the danger lies. You must cure these troubles or they may lead to diabetes or Bright's disease. The best remedy to use is Doan's Kidney Pills. It cures all ills which are caused by weak or diseased kidneys. Marquette people testify to permanent cures.

Edgar Pollock, stone mason of 227 E. Jackson St., Marquette, Mich., says: "I have always believed that the kidneys need continual attention. I have given this considerable study and can always tell when my kidneys are not acting properly. They affect my back and I can feel it in my eyes. At such times I always use Doan's Kidney Pills and they never fail to fix me up. Before I began using them I had terrible attacks of backache, business and pains in my head, and was weak, nervous and nervous. None of the remedies I tried seemed to help me, but as Doan's Kidney Pills were recommended by reliable people I got a box at the Stafford Drug Co.'s store and began using them. The backache and nervousness disappeared and the headache and soreness of the eyes did not trouble me any more. Having found from this experience that Doan's Kidney Pills were to be relied upon in kidney troubles I have continued using them from time to time and they have always given me the greatest satisfaction."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work. Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood. It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs.

The kidneys filter and purify the blood—that is their work. Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty. If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone. If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases, and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

ilities, but it can not be done without the active sympathy of the various state governments, and that degree of tangible support necessary to make its members feel that the people appreciate their belonging to it. It is unquestionably the fact that in future wars most of our fighting will have to be done upon the ocean, and what service can a young man enter, in response to his patriotic impulses, who may have a greater practical duty to the country than the naval militia? It is a training which may well be of the utmost importance to the United States, and I believe the states ought to cheerfully co-operate with the federal government in giving these young men the opportunity to learn something that fit them to help man our warships in time of need."

COURT DECISION WILL STAY.

Drug Prices Against the Trust Will Not Result in Reductions.

New York, May 19.—That the injunction dissolving the so-called "drug trust" will not make an appreciable difference in the selling prices of drugs and medicines is the statement made by members of the drug trade. So far as the actual effect on the drug business is concerned, it is declared that the nullification of all existing contracts will promptly be followed by new ones, with the "co-operative" or illegal features eliminated. In this way the druggists feel confident that the present scale of prices can be maintained as well as if no injunction had been granted, and a period of general price-cutting averted.

The initiative in the matter of contracts has been taken by the manufacturers, several of whom have notified the local wholesale houses that the former contracts are terminated, and enclosing new contracts to be signed. It is estimated that within the next thirty days some three hundred manufacturers will take this means of following out the terms of the court decree, and at the same time maintaining the old prices on their products. The situation is summarized by Dr. William Jay Schieffelin, head of Schieffelin & Co., and chairman of the proprietary committee of the National Wholesale Druggists' association, who makes the following statement:

"Some of the manufacturers are already cancelling their old contracts on account of the injunction, and are substituting new terms. It is not to be expected, of course, that the decree changes conditions, but it should not be true, because druggists have learned the folly of such a course.

"The legality of the contracts has been sustained in fifteen decisions and has been questioned only by one judge, Judge Lorton. The question of contracts should speedily be decided by the United States supreme court."

"There is nothing in the injunction to prevent manufacturers from adopting any individual plan for maintaining a uniform selling price for their products. The final decree, I am informed, does not prohibit the use of the direct contract and serial numbering plan, as has been erroneously reported."

"The ultimate result of the whole matter should be an amendment to the Sherman act to permit reasonable trade agreements."

"A similar attitude in regard to the improbability of a price-cutting war is taken by Albert Plant of Lehn & Frank, who says: "I believe the abrogation of the contracts will not result in the indiscriminate cutting we had here some years ago for the drug trade has learned its lesson. Should any one dealer begin to cut prices we would all follow suit at once and put ourselves on the same basis. There would be no particular advantage for us, evidently, in such a course. So that even without the contracts abrogated I think the wholesale druggists, at least, will be able to make a legitimate profit."

"In my opinion the proprietor of any article can formulate his own contracts and insist on their being carried out by his wholesale and retail agents. And he may make the terms of his contract just as onerous as he likes. It is in no way only that the retail price on standard perfumes, soaps, collars and other commodities are maintained. If this holds true on such articles, why not on drugs? The same principles apply to all trade agreements, and it is not to be expected that one is held to be illegal, so are all the others."

"As a minor result of the injunction it is now reported that the wholesale and retail associations will not send delegates to the annual meeting of the Proprietary Association of America next week. It has always been the custom for such delegates to be present at the sessions of the patent medicine men, but this feature will be eliminated hereafter so as to avoid any appearance of co-operation."

The Maid with Churn was Fair to Look upon

Years ago people ate butter blindly, but in those days there was probably less impurity and certainly less dangerous adulteration of butter than there is to-day. The constant demand for pure, clean butter has resulted in supplying the people with Silver Creek Creamery Pasteurized Butter. It is made with great care, from the finest cream in Wisconsin. Silver Creek Creamery Pasteurized Butter, like bread, milk and meat, is a food. It is put up in one pound prints wrapped in parchment paper. If your grocer hasn't it, send us his name and yours. MYSTERIOUS BIRD A WHISTLING SWAN

SPECIES OF CREATURE KILLED AT DEAD RIVER A SHORT TIME AGO ASCERTAINED.

NATIVE OF ARCTIC CIRCLE

Lives Centuries and Is Credited With Being Able to Break a Man's Leg With One Sweep of Its Wings.

The genus of the bird killed by Edward Yasinski, a resident near Dead River, some weeks ago, and stuffed and mounted by Max M. Stierle, which for some time remained a mystery, has been fixed. It is what is known as the trumpeter swan, a rare species, breeding chiefly within the Arctic circle. When the bird was first brought to him Mr. Stierle sent a description of it to Professor M. Peel, head of the ornithological department of the state museum at Lansing. Professor Peel wrote in reply that he was unable to place it. Mr. Stierle, who has made a somewhat exhaustive study of ornithology himself, then examined all the books on the subject that he could secure, and has finally succeeded in placing the bird as noted above.

Two Appear at Chocoley.

The bird, which is now on display at the Stierle photograph gallery, No. 506 North Front street, weighed in life about forty pounds and had a breadth of wing of something over six feet. It is pure white in color, with a long graceful neck, and a bill about the same length as the head. The front toes are fully webbed and the hind toe without a membrane. The bill is surmounted by a black knob at the base of the upper mandible and has a black nail at its tip. Since the swan was killed by Mr. Yasinski, two more have appeared in the Chocoley bayou. The residents of the locality are very watchful of them and hunters are warned not to fire upon them, as it is hoped that they will breed and form a flock. During the day the birds are silent, but at night they can be heard calling to each other in booming notes that appear to have many times the volume of the hoarse owl's call, but unlike the owl's call are not unpleasant, being rather musical and interspersed with a whistling sound.

The trumpeter swan is one of the rarest of the swan species. The specimen in Mr. Stierle's possession is much larger than the ordinary swan, which rarely attains a weight of over thirty pounds. The authority from which Mr. Stierle gained his knowledge of the bird credits it with the ability to break a man's leg with one stroke of a wing. Swans are claimed by some authorities to possess the greatest longevity of any living creature, exceeding in the length of their lives even the elephant and the whale. At the time that Queen Victoria ascended the throne it is alleged that there were still swans in the royal pond at Woodstock that were alive at the time of the Norman invasion. Such claims must of course be considered mythological to a certain extent, but that the swan possesses great vitality and attains a most extraordinary age cannot well be questioned. Just how old the specimen was is now mounted in the Stierle gallery cannot even be guessed, but it bore about its body evidences that it had successfully weathered many perils and adventures. In its neck were found four different kinds of shot, bbs, goose shot and two smaller varieties. The heavy shot were deeply imbedded and would have caused the nearly instant death of either duck or goose. This was indisputable evidence that the bird had not only time and again been a mark for the hunters but that on several occasions the charges had gone home. The bird was in excellent condition, plump and well-fed.

Another Mysterious Bird.
The "whistling" swan, however, is not the only curiosity at the Stierle gallery. A few days ago Mr. Yasinski, who killed the swan, brought in another trophy of his skill as a hunter which promises to prove even more of a puzzle to ornithologists than the swan. Mr. Stierle has been unable to find anything resembling it in any of his authorities. It is about the size of a teal duck, with the bill of a woodcock, two top-knots, and what greatly resemble mutton-chop whiskers on each side of its head slightly below the eyes. The upper part of its body is almost black, shading into a deep red at the breast. Its feet are only partially webbed. Its most peculiar feature, however, are its eyes which are a deep shade of pink. The bird is evidently of some aquatic species, but is certainly not native to this locality.

MAY CALENDAR IS A SHORT ONE

BUT NINE CRIMINAL CASES ON THE DOCKET OF WHICH BUT ONE, THAT AGAINST MURRAY AND MORAN, IS FROM THIS CITY.

The regular spring term of the circuit court opens this morning at 10 o'clock. The calendar is an unusually short one, comprising but thirty-three cases. Nine of these are criminal, three on issue of fact, trial by jury; nine on issue of fact, trial by court, and twelve in chancery. There are four cases for violation of the liquor law, and one each for bastardy, assault to do great bodily harm, embezzlement, burglary and larceny, in the criminal docket, which will be taken up first.

The only action in which the crime alleged was perpetrated in this city, is that against David Moran and Peter Murray, charged with having entered and stolen a revolver and $100 from the saloon of Peter Boyer, No. 109 West Baraga avenue, about six weeks ago. Entrance was gained through a back window, the entire frame being removed. The men were arrested at Negaunee on the following day by Chief Tom Gribble, on request of Chief Manning. The revolver was found in their possession. Murray subsequently confessed to the crime and implicated Moran. The latter still professes innocence.
