

PLOT FRUSTRATED IN NICK OF TIME

Bombardment of Coast Towns Planned by Mutinous Sailors of Emperor Nicholas' Powerful Black Sea Squadron.

Terrorism Increases Daily at Odessa, and Both There and in Other Cities Liberals Are Jailed by the Wholesale—New Electoral Law Assures for the Government Absolute Control of the Nation—However, a General Strike Is Unlikely.

Odessa, June 17.—It now appears that the mutiny here, June 12, of the Black Sea fleet, consisting of eight battleships, eight cruisers and a division of torpedo boats, whose crews in all number five thousand men, was only discovered just in time to prevent the execution of a plan to bombard Odessa and Caucasian coast towns.

Reign of Terror in Odessa. The news of the dissolution of the duma and the promulgation of the emperor's manifesto was received with stupefaction by progressives here, who had not expected the abrogation of the laws so far forced from the government, but it provoked the highest enthusiasm from the Union of True Russians, which today celebrated the event with the sanction of the authorities.

Many Arrests at Moscow. Moscow, June 17.—The city is tranquil. Many arrests have been made and the headquarters of all professional leagues and trades unions have been searched by the police.

St. Petersburg, June 17.—The chances of the proclamation of a general strike in answer to the government's coup d'etat are steadily lessening.

St. Petersburg, June 17.—The publication tonight of the tables relating to the proposed new elections, showing the numerical composition of the provincial electoral colleges, indicates the motives actuating the government in drawing up the new electoral law.

St. Petersburg, June 17.—The tables put the landlords in undisputed control of the electorate of the whole of Russia.

Unlimited Autocracy Is Sought. The ultra-reactionary party, whose campaign against the duma has been crowned with success, has issued a proclamation of several million copies, entitled the "Glory of God; glory of the autocratic czar; glory of the orthodox Russians."

The proclamation calls upon the people to help in the restoration of a pure and unlimited autocracy.

CUMMINS STRONG FOR TARIFF REVISION

IOWA EXECUTIVE HITS OUT FROM THE SHOULDER IN ADDRESS AT PITTSBURG.

Pittsburg, June 17.—Governor Cummins of Iowa delivered the principal address at the annual meeting of the Pittsburg Board of Trade.

"The course of trade conclusively establishes that the duties are excessive. If the iron and steel manufacturer of the United States can sell his products in the markets of other countries in open competition with all the manufacturers of the earth, and if in doing so he makes a fair profit upon his sales, the man who still holds that our manufacturers need high duties in order to enable them to compete successfully in their own markets will foreign producers has surrendered his good sense in his idolatry at the shrine of that miserable maxim filched from the language of the great American giant.

"I am not astonished to witness the progress these manufacturers are making abroad, but it fills me with amazement when I hear it proclaimed that they need a protective duty of from 88 to 120 per cent to enable them to hold the markets of their own country against the inroads of their rivals from other lands.

"I am for tariff revision and for tariff reduction as a measure of justice to buyers of protected commodities. It seems to me we have gone mad in our zeal for the seller and have abandoned the buyer to the tender mercies of monopoly, combination and greed.

DOUBTS REPORT ABOUT AOKI'S RECALL

WASHINGTON SKEPTICAL OF RUMORED REMOVAL OF JAPANESE AMBASSADOR.

Washington, June 17.—The state department officials and members of the diplomatic corps were much interested in the statement in a Tokyo newspaper, the Hoshi, that the Japanese government probably would recall Baron Aoki, the Japanese ambassador, and appoint Baron Kaneko as his successor.

Officials of the Japanese embassy say that the Progressive party has taken the San Francisco disturbance as a pretext in its effort to bring about the downfall of Aoki, and in this connection it is pointed out here that Marquis Ito has been inimical to Aoki for many years. It was stated authoritatively tonight that if the Japanese government has any intention of recalling Aoki, the news would not be first announced to the world through the columns of the Hoshi, and that "Baron Aoki does not attach any credence to the report."

New York Trader in Cotton Gives Sensational Testimony at the Trial of Edwin H. Holmes, Jr., in Washington.

Partnership Existed, He Declares, Whereby the Former Federal Statistician Shared in the Profits Reaped from His Premature Divulgence to His Fellow Conspirators of Department of Agriculture Information—Says One Deal Netted $167,000.

Washington, June 17.—In Louis H. Van Riper, a New York broker, the government today introduced the first witness in the trial of Edwin H. Holmes, Jr., who has directly connected Holmes with the alleged premature divulgence of the information on which the cotton crop reports of the agricultural department are based.

Van Riper was on the stand all day, and his direct examination had not been concluded when court adjourned. He said that he met Holmes in 1904 through F. A. Peckham, and that he had agreed to give the two men two-thirds of any profits that might be derived through stock deals made on the "tips" supplied by Holmes.

Van Riper said that $167,000 had been cleared on information secured in advance of the report for November, 1904. He also testified that Holmes had agreed to keep him informed on the plans of other cotton brokers, and told how in the end a regular partnership had been formed in which Holmes was one of five members.

et Japanese statesmen who have strongly criticized the administration of diplomatic affairs in this country by Aoki, Aoki also has been strongly opposed by the Japanese on the Pacific coast.

At the Japanese embassy, Secretary Katsuhira said tonight: "Ambassador Aoki does not care to dignify the stories emanating from his political enemies even with a denial. The Progressive party in Japan has taken the San Francisco disturbance as a pretext to stir up agitation in Japan which is directed against the present ministry, and they, no doubt, would be glad to see Baron Aoki recalled. His reported successor has long had desire to enter the diplomatic service, and it is very natural he should desire the Washington mission. Baron Aoki has received no intimation from Tokyo that the government contemplates his recall."

WASHINGTON SKEPTICAL OF RUMORED REMOVAL OF JAPANESE AMBASSADOR.

The San Francisco Japanese question is not an international question, but a simple American constitutional question. Changing the ambassador would not solve the conflict. The solution is all up to the Japanese themselves.

MISSOURI ROADS TO GIVE IT TRIAL

Two-Cent Passenger Fare Will Be Put Into Effect at Once and Will Be Given a Test for the Next Three Months.

Found Unremunerative, It Will Be Fought in the Courts—This the Basis of a Compromise With the State Officials, the Federal Tribunal Assuming Jurisdiction—Freight Rate Law Is Made a Separate Issue, and Will Be Determined Later.

Kansas City, June 17.—The Missouri two-cent passenger fare act will go into effect at 6 p. m. Wednesday next, and will be given three months' trial.

The state officials are temporarily enjoined from enforcing the maximum freight rate law, and this case will be argued later in the federal court.

Attorney General Hadley said this afternoon, regarding the two-cent bill: "If at the end of three months the railroads want to litigate the reasonableness of these rates, the question of the jurisdiction of the state and federal courts to determine the question will be on the day of the trial."

Senate Sends the McKay Cigarette Measure to the Lower Branch, Where It Doubtless Will Be Killed—"Boxers" Attempt Another Coup in the Primary Legislation, and Are Out-Maneuvered by the Chair—Big Sum for Newberry.

Lansing, Mich., June 17.—[Special.]—Senator Smith's bill allowing the consolidation of street car and electric light companies north of the straits passed the house today, 53 to 9.

After the bill had passed the house gave Representative Galbraith of Calumet a beautiful vote of confidence.

In the absence of Senator Wetmore, the "Boxers" tried to work another coup on the primary bill in the senate today.

Mr. Keyes sent up a bill that was a copy of the McKinley bill except for the 40 per cent clause and the removal of the objectionable clause concerning newspaper advertising.

The Newberry insane asylum appropriation has been reported out at $302,501. The institution asked for $302,000.

Mr. McKay's cigarette bill was reported out in the senate, and passed, today. It is thought likely it will be killed in the house.

The railway commission conference committee will meet tonight. Eight of the nine members are administration men but it is not believed likely the Boxers will accept their report regardless of what it may be.

Mrs. Mindon Maynard and son, of Oskosh, are visiting Mrs. Mindon's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Richardson, 312 Prospect street.

The remains of Cornelius Murphy, who was killed at Sand River, Saturday, were sent to Janesville, Wis., last evening. The funeral will be held today.

Two women, who came here from Houghton a week ago, and whose actions on the street have made them too conspicuous, were ordered out of town by chief Manning yesterday.

The funeral of the late Mart McNulty, formerly of this city, and who perished in a boating accident on the Mesaba range last Sunday, will take place here tomorrow morning, with services at St. Peter's cathedral. The interment will be in Holy Cross cemetery. The remains will arrive from Ishpeming on the 8:05 train, and will be taken direct from the station to the church.

Dr. Small to Deliver Address—Dr. Albion W. Small will give the address to the graduating class of the Northern State Normal at the opera house tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock. Dr. Small is head of the sociological department of the Chicago university, and is one of the greatest living authorities on sociology. He has lectured in nearly all the great cities of the country and has an international reputation as an advanced thinker. His topic, "The Genuine Life," is one to which he has given his best efforts and the opportunity to hear him is one which no friends of the school should miss.

May Be Breeding Wolves—Ben Brooks of Mendonine, who was in the city yesterday on his way to Newberry, says that there is every reason to believe that there is a wolf breeding farm somewhere in the vicinity of his home city. Friday, he said, the county board allowed bills totalling over $600 on wolf scalps. Many of the wolves, he says, were just old enough to draw the maximum bounty and that there might be no conflict with the authorities over their age were brought in alive. Mr. Brooks says that it looks rather suspicious that young wolves capable of running almost as fast as a deer should be captured by the litter.

Nature Club Interested—Charles E. Barnes, president of the nature club of Battle Creek, has written for information relative to the trumpeter swan recently killed at Dead river and stuffed and mounted by Max M. Stierle. The nature club of Battle Creek is the first of its kind in America. The range of the club's work comprises all branches of nature study. During the spring, summer and fall the club, either as whole or grouped according to interest in the object of the quest, makes excursions into the country. In the winter weekly meetings are held indoors. The members of the society are particularly interested in the report that two more of the trumpeter swans have appeared at Chocolay bayou.

Many Boats Go to Ocean—The present season on the great lakes has been remarkable from the number of vessels that have been sold to sea coast companies and will consequently retire from the lakes. Thus far this season eleven vessels, nine steamers and two barges, have been sold to be used in the ocean-going trade. These vessels have a combined tonnage of about 25,000 tons per trip. In the meantime shippers on the great lakes are crying for vessels to move their cargoes and steamship companies are placing orders for new and larger boats to replace those sold. This state of affairs promises to bring prosperity to the shipbuilding concerns, as the orders are well scattered. Some of the new boats are over 600 feet over all.

Record Nearly Broken—If the mercury had only climbed five degrees higher Sunday or yesterday the record for a high temperature for this vicinity for June would have been broken. On both occasions the thermometer registered 91 degrees above, which is pretty warm weather for any season of the year. There was a steady breeze yesterday, which prevented the heat from being felt as badly as on the previous day. But for all that it was too warm for comfort. The hottest weather Marquette ever experienced in June was on the 19th of that month, 1893, when the thermometer went up to 95. Strange to say the coldest June day was on the 11th of the same month, when the mercury dropped to 66. So within a period of eight days Marquette experienced a change of 59 degrees in temperature.

Four Hundred Dollars in Prizes—The big parade arranged for the morning of the Fourth of July will be one of the leading features of Marquette's rousing celebration of the American natal day. There is every indication that the pageant will cast far into the shade anything of similar nature ever held in the city. Liberal prizes will be awarded the winners in the various departments that go to make up the line of march, and there will be enough of them to assure an extensive distribution. Four hundred dollars have been allotted to the parade committee for this purpose, and this sum has been apportioned as follows: Prizes for the floats, $200; for the callithumpians, $100, and for the fraternal societies, $100. These awards are certainly liberal, and they ought to be sufficient to bring out the expected large turnout. The parade committee consists of the following members: H. E. Bittner, Frank Wentworth, John Stickney, Carl Wittler and Thomas Carey. It is desired that all who propose to take part in the callithumpian part of the pageant notify some member of this committee. The committee will be pleased at all times to give any desired information with reference to the Fourth of July parade.

SOCIAL THOROUGHLY ENJOYED.

Members of the Presbyterian Church Observe Fiftieth Anniversary.

A social which was in the nature of a reunion in commemoration of the fiftieth anniversary of the Marquette Presbyterian church, which occurred Saturday, was held in the church parlors last evening. There was a large attendance, and the event proved a delightful one in all its features. Selections were rendered by a male quartet composed of Messrs. E. W. Allen, George Gilbert, A. Olson and Fred Krafft. Mr. Krafft also sang several solos. One of the most interesting features of the program was the reading of a paper written by Mrs. O. L. Harlow, which appeared in the issue of The Mining Journal of June 16, 1893. Mrs. Harlow passed away about two years ago. She was one of the pioneer residents of the city having come here in 1849, and had much to do with the establishment and growth of the Presbyterian church. The paper gave a brief history of the church and recorded many incidents and reminiscences of the early days.

"Forming a Pool"

I am forming a pool for the purpose of investment. One can put in any amount up to $500, the smallest amount is $25. I am to use my own judgment to invest, and as I never lose any investor's money, I guarantee not to lose the money you pay me. But any time after November you are at liberty to draw out your money, also profits. Dividends will be paid in the meantime.

I will probably make about five hundred per cent for you. Last year I organized two pools and some of the members made as high as six hundred per cent. Remember I give you a written guarantee that you shall NOT LOSE your money, but to pay it back with all profits. This is nothing new for me to guarantee a party's money, I have been doing it for ten years when I am sure of the investment and no party has ever lost by me. All I want is the commission and your good will.

Women can come to my office at 3 o'clock p. m. or at my residence at 8 o'clock evenings. Outside parties can send express or postoffice money orders. I am 60 years old. Have been a business man in Marquette forty years, a broker for fifteen years. Any business man will tell you Spear is all right, and you always get your money as he agrees. PACKERS ARE WORKING GAME

FORMER PACKING HOUSE EMPLOYEE TELLS CAUSE FOR PRESENT RISE IN MEAT—INSPECTION NOW RIGID.

"I was four years an employe of Armour & Co., and I believe that I have a comprehensive understanding of the causes which led up to the present advance in the price of meat," said George T. McVeigh, of Chicago, in a Marquette business house Saturday. "Within the past three months the packers and the government inspectors have clashed a number of times. The inspection of all kinds of cattle is much more rigid than it was before. In fact, I believe that I may assert that for the first time the inspection is thoroughly effective and that no diseased meat is being sent out. A short time ago an inspector was dismissed for not attending to his duties. That has had a beneficial effect on others who have been more or less negligent, and they are watching matters closely. The time was when the government inspection was something of a joke. The packers owned the inspectors, body and soul. They dictated their appointments and the inspector that took his job seriously didn't hold it very long. That day, however, is a thing of the past. The inspectors now have no fear whatever of the packers, while they entertain a wholesome respect for the government."

Pure Food Law Responsible.

"Another thing that is causing meat to boom is the pure food law. In every large invoice of cattle there is always a number of cows on the point of calving. In the good old days when the packers ruled the earth the mothers were made into beef and the shunt calves went out to the world as potted chicken. This isn't a joke. Every packing house employe knows that it is as true as scripture. Of course the selling of shunt calves in any shape or form as a food product was against the law, but the law was about as obsolete as the old blue laws of New England. The flesh of a shunt calf is a sickly white that after being properly doled looked something like the light meat of chicken. The dark meat was furnished by pigs' livers, and the faint chicken taste discernible in the compound was derived from

Broth made of chickens' heads and legs secured from the various butcher shops about the city. No money was wasted in purchasing real chickens to flavor the dope. This 'potted chicken' was a great favorite with picnic and camping parties, and it is probable that there is not a resident of Marquette, or, for that matter, of any other city but who at some time or other has partaken of it. But now the shunt calf is nearly a dead loss. Of course he is made into fertilizer, but fertilizer at half a cent a pound isn't as profitable as potted chicken at thirty. The packers still produce potted chicken that isn't potted chicken, but they have to print on the can just what ingredients enter into its composition, and shunt calf isn't one of them.

Put Price Up.

"Now the packers are not the people to lose money. Forced to observe the law in the matter of the character of their products, they have resorted to the only remedy left them to keep up their margin of profit and have put up the price of meat. There are pretty shrewd men in control of the big packing industries, so the price wasn't shot up suddenly in a manner to stir public indignation and alarm, but moved up gradually notch by notch, in a manner to indicate that there was a stringency in the market and that the advance was governed by the law of supply and demand. I understand that local butchers have been able to secure but little mutton and pork. As a natural consequence a great deal of beef is being sold at an advanced rate. Now if an investigation were conducted it would be found that in many other sections of the country there is plenty of mutton and pork, but a scarcity of beef. Plenty of sheep and hogs are being shipped into the Chicago yards, but the packers know how to work matters to effect a gradual rise in the price of all meats without exciting suspicion."

ACCEPT LIFEBOAT DEVICES.

Executive Committee of Board of Inspectors Takes Important Step.

C. M. York, United States inspector of hulls, says that the recent report of the executive committee of board of supervising inspectors, which has been approved by the secretary of commerce and labor, provides for an innovation that should render both lake and ocean travel much safer. The board, after a practical demonstration of the Randall patent boat disengaging apparatus, and the Scoble & Ward apparatus, accepted both lifeboat releasing devices.

In the future all boats carrying davits will have to be equipped with them. The committee also amended section 6 of rule 31, in relation to carrying lifeboats, by making the rule more effective without changing its provisions. Section 15 of rule 3, was amended by adding a provision that "supervising inspectors of the districts may, in exceptional cases, permit lifeboats of less than 180 cubic feet as a substitute for such boats on steamers where the crew is insufficient to properly handle a boat of that size, or where there is lack of space to properly carry so large a lifeboat. But in every such case the steamer must be provided with one or more lifeboats, efficient in character and large enough to carry every person on board."

TRIED TO LAND LOUIS GRABOWER

MARQUETTE MERCHANT OFFERED CUSTODIANSHIP OF BEAUTIFUL GIRL AND BIG FORTUNE—WRITER CLAIMS KINSHIP.

The banko artists of Spain must consider Marquette a fruitful field for operations. Indeed it is more than probable that at some time or other a resident of this haitiwick may have risen to the bait offered him and, having made one catch, the "con" artists in the land of the Dons are emboldened to try a few more casts, under the impression that "suckers" are liable to run in schools. When a man bites on a game of that character, however, he doesn't proclaim the matter from the housetops and whatever tears he may shed water spots that are not open to general observation. The operator, however, as he never pays postage, works a kind of "heads I win tails you lose" game, that pays big money if only one throw in a thousand gets a bet. Saturday's issue of The Mining Journal gave an account of an effort to land E. J. Sink by an individual who claimed to be in prison in Spain and who had a trunk containing a vast fortune in a railroad station in this country, which he was willing to whisk up with Mr. Sink if the latter would act as his agent in securing possession of it. Another alleged Spanish gentleman recently wrote a letter to Louis Grabower. Compared with Mr. Grabower's correspondent, Mr. Sink is the veriest tyro. There is reason to believe that the individual that wrote Mr. Grabower stands close to the head of his profession.

At the outset the writer claims kinship with Mr. Grabower through his dear wife, Mary Grabower, who unfortunately passed away some years ago. He then proceeds to laud Mr. Grabower in large and glowing terms, saying that it is his misfortune that he never met him personally but through his wife he had learned of the honesty and many good qualities that distinguish him. Then the writer unfolds his own pitiful situation. At the outset of the Spanish-Cuban war he was secretary to General Martinez Campos until that gentleman was succeeded in the command by General Weyler. Appalled by the brutalities committed by the latter, he deserted the Spanish forces and, called under the banner of the revolutionists, finally being in imminent danger of capture he escaped to England, taking with him a valise containing $180,000. After residing on British soil for some time he learned of the death of his cherished wife, Mary, nee, Grabower, and became imbued with a wild desire to once more clasp to his breast his only child, a young daughter. Despite the awful risks involved he decided to make a trip to Spain. Knowing that his person was liable to be seized and his effects confiscated, he placed his money in a London bank securing a private contract by the terms of which the bank agreed at any time to pay the money over to bearer on its presentation.

The expatriated Spaniard had no sooner set foot on his native soil than he was arrested as a traitor, and sentenced to eighteen years in prison. Being unable to pay the cost of the process against him his portmanteau was retained by the authorities. In the false bottom of this portmanteau was the contract with the English bank calling for $180,000 on presentation. The writer explains that through the payment of certain costs the portmanteau can be redeemed and the money secured. He was enabled to write to Mr. Grabower, he explains, through the kindness of the chaplain of the prison, his confessor. As he was suffering from an incurable disease and his end was near, he beseeched Mr. Grabower to be a father to his orphan daughter and incidentally become the custodian of the $180,000. Mr. Grabower was instructed to write to an individual who is represented to be the servant of the chaplain, and matters can then be arranged. The letter is as follows:

Castle Fort of Valencia, April 15, 1907.

Mr. L. Grabower: My Dear Sir:—Having not the honor to know you, but for the reference which my dear wife Mary Grabower, your relative, gave me, who, mentioning the individuals of our family praised the honesty and good qualities that distinguish you. I address myself to you for the first time (and perhaps the last, considering the grave state of my health) explaining you my sad position and requesting your protection for my only daughter, your niece, fifteen years old, who I keep as a pensioner in the college Anglo-Spanish of Santa Glenda.

As I am strictly watched by my enemies, I hope you will reveal to nobody the most insignificant details of this letter. Being a secretary and treasurer of Mr. Martinez Campos, in the last war of Cuba, and deserving the confidence of such a Christian gentleman, placing my capital in public funds, transactions, so that I might make a brilliant position for my daughter, whom I ever loved with passion since when her mother died. Now my lot would have been happy had my protector continued to the end of the campaign, but no sooner was he replaced by General Weyler than my misfortune presented itself. As I could not succeed in making him allow me to go to Spain, and it not being in my power to see Cuba ruled by a political adversary, I joined the rebellion in behalf of the republic. But as we were victims of the greatest treason, I was obliged to emigrate to English ground taking along with me my money valued to £30,000 sterling. After having resided in London I received the sad news my wife had died, leaving my dear daughter in despair and without help. In this sad situation I found myself in the necessity of coming back to Spain to help my daughter and bring her in my company to your country.

Before starting, considering it dangerous to take along with me this respectable sum of money, I decided to place it in the London bank against an especial private contract, and only as a deposit, as it appears in the security document, payable to the bearer, that the bank gave me as a guarantee, which document I hid in a concealed bottom of my portmanteau, very well made which the keenest eyes cannot find out.

Then very satisfied that the money was in security, I started for Spain to help my daughter, where I was discovered by the military authorities, brought immediately before the military governor of Cartagena, and imprisoned for eighteen years penal servitude. When I was sentenced my equipage and the portmanteau were confiscated. This embargo was made as a guarantee for payment of the costs of my process. Here I am in affliction, not expecting any help whatever from my enemies. I am only visited by the chaplain of the castle, who, being my confessor, is my best friend. I owe to him being able to write this letter, being aware of my grave state of health. I trust in your discretion, and that you be kind enough to be support of my daughter, trying to make her happy, as perhaps I may not be able to see her again.

My daughter will possess a fortune in money of £20,000, although my equipage is confiscated in Cartagena. You only will know if you are good to be the protector of my daughter. I expect you will let me know by return of post. By paying the costs of my process the embargo will be raised and then I shall manage to send the respectable chaplain with my daughter to your home, also the equipage. We will act then accordingly. My capital will be granted to my daughter, Emily, in my testament and a part beside for you and your family, as a just reward.

As it is prohibited to me to receive and direct public correspondence, I expect you will send your answer in a letter, not registered, and under two envelopes, the one inside to my name and the one outside to the name of the reverent of my protector, the chaplain of this castle, who is our confidential man.

Here is his address: Spain, Mr. Luis Costa, Arcellanas, Valencia.

I trust in your discretion, the future of my daughter, and continue to remain yours faithfully and relative, MANUEL ALBA.

Enthusiastic Over Kimberly—

William McFarlane has returned from Kokomo, reports the Ontonagon Herald. In company with officers of the Kimberly-Widley Mines company, he made an inspection of the property and is more enthusiastic than ever that it is going to make a big paying proposition.

Damage by Forest Fires—

Forest fires are again raging in this vicinity and reports have reached here of considerable cut timber being destroyed, reports a Trout Lake correspondent. At Dick three houses were burned and one family had a very narrow escape. James A. Hough at Ozark lost considerable bark and logs and his house and barn were on fire several times but he succeeded in saving them. Jacob Hough had several holes burned in his barn, and while he succeeded in saving the building his straw stack was consumed. In Dickinson county, fires have been raging in the forests in the vicinity of Sagola, but aside from the destruction of a slaughter house owned by the Sagola Lumber company no damage has been done.

Young Woman Burned to Death—

Miss Sara Richards, of Chippewa county, is dead, the result of burns received from an overturned lamp at the home of Mrs. Rose Hamilton at the Soo. Miss Richards had been employed by Mrs. Hamilton, assisting her in dressmaking for about one month. In the evening as she sat at the sewing machine her elbow accidentally hit an oil lamp which was placed on the right side of the machine and upset it onto the floor. Then she apparently sat upon the lamp in an effort to put out the flames. In a few moments the light kimona she was wearing was a mass of flames. The blaze was seen by Elmer Hunt, on the opposite side of the street, and as Miss Richards ran out of the house he rushed to her and caught her in his arms as she was about to fall to the sidewalk. His coat was quickly wrapped around her and blankets and rugs were brought by many of the neighbors, who came soon after. The flames were quickly smothered and a physician was called. He had her removed to the hospital, where she retained consciousness until her death in the morning, prior to which she suffered fearful agony from her burns. The young woman was aged eighteen. Her home was on Drummond Island. Her parents are dead.

Near Death from Drowning—

Close to a tragic death in the waters of the St. Mary's river, Fitch Cady and Miss Muriel Sharpe of the Soo were rescued by the crew of the tug General, which arrived on the scene in the nick of time. Mr. Cady in company with Miss Sharpe and Miss Bernice Harrison intended to take a ride on the river. The accident happened at Brady pier, while they were getting into the boat. Miss Sharpe missed the boat and fell into the water and Cady promptly plunged in to rescue her. Had it not been for his heroic work she would have drowned. The steamer Seaman was standing by at the time and persons on deck saw them fall in. They signalled the Great Lakes tug elite and the General steamed up the river, arriving not a minute too soon as Cady was nearly exhausted in his efforts to keep Miss Sharpe afloat. Captain Root and Chris McGurn were led down to the water by the crew and the rescue was effected. It was some time before Miss Sharpe recovered sufficiently to be taken home, but no permanent serious results are expected. Cady soon recovered from his experience. Miss Harrison had not entered the boat when the accident happened.

City Blamed for Flood Havoc—

At the last meeting of the Norway council Andrew J. Turblom presented a bill for $1,200. Of this amount, he asks the sum of $900 for the alleged flooding of his lands, and the balance for the use of a dam maintained by the city upon the land in question. The flooding is alleged to have been done each year since 1902. John Lindquist also asks $900 damages for a similar injury done to his land, located in the same vicinity. The council has referred the matter to the board of public works. The question of the city's liability, relative to the flooding of these lands, has been up nearly every year but no formal demand for damages has been made. It is rumored that if the city refuses to settle with Turblom and Lindquist, which it will in all probability do, a suit for damages will be commenced.

At a special meeting of the Iron Mountain board of education the contract for the erection of a four-room brick addition to the Chapin school was let to O. R. Johnson, of Escanaba, who will commence work as soon as he can arrange for the material. His bid was $4,135. Only one other tender was received, that of P. A. Balstrom, of Norway, who bid $4,965.

In Your Own Home

That's where you want to get acquainted with your sewing machine—and that's why we agree to send you a competent instructor from our local store.

A competent instructor mind you, is not a time-driven, underpaid clerk from a department store. This is important, too; for if you get started right you will get double service out of your machine every day you use it, as long as you have it.

It is our instructor's business to help you demonstrate to yourself the ease and certainty and speed of operation that has placed these machines in millions of homes all round the world. They are built like a watch,

LIKES PANAMA.

Negaunee Man Writes Relatives Regarding Conditions at Canal.

Arthur Willman, who, with Dominic Lavigne, left Negaunee a few weeks ago to take a position as steam shovel operator on the Panama canal, has written relatives here an interesting letter in regard to conditions in the canal zone. Many unfavorable reports in regard to work on the canal, as well as in regard to the general conditions existing have been, he says, much exaggerated. He writes that there is very little sickness and that the malaria is not feared as much as it was a year or so ago. The sanitary conditions at the camps are all that could be desired.

On the boat going out there were 148 men who were to be employed on shovels. Some of these had been in America for two or three months during the strike of the steam shovel operators, and others were going out for the first time. The canal zone has been given its hard name by irresponsible parties, men who would not work under most favorable conditions. Up to this time a great many unreliable workmen have visited the place in the hope of earning easy money. This is the class, Mr. Willman writes, that has injured the reputation of the zone. During the first few days there he met a number of American families who had gone over with the intention of remaining permanently.

Steam shovel operators are getting good money. The runners receive $220 per month, also board and other camp expenses, and the cranesmen are paid $185 per month, also board, etc. The shovel men who work ten months receive twelve months pay and free transportation to New York in case they want to spend their two months' vacation in this country. There was a shortage of operators at the time, as a great many who were thrown out of employment had left, but it is expected that all of the shovels will be in operation within a few weeks.

Mr. Willman is working on the Culbraut, the largest on the canal, where operations were conducted some years ago by the French government. During the period of the French operations 60 per cent of the workmen fell victims to disease. At no time since the United States has undertaken the work has the death rate been excessive, and at the present time it is very light. Mr. Willman wrote that 2,000 steel cars, sixty locomotives and twenty excavators used by the French government were left on the ground. The excavators alone cost $150,000. Many of the steel cars and several of the locomotives are being used and it is expected that more of them will go into commission before long. The cars and locomotives were found in very good condition, as were also the excavators, though the latter cannot be used to good advantage.

ARIZONA CURIOSITIES.

Herbert J. Adams, who is located at Globe, Arizona, arrived in the city Saturday. He brought back two curiosities which will be seen in J. E. O'Donoghue's drug store window today. One is a Gila monster, fifteen inches in length, and the other a horned toad. The monster is a curiosity even in Arizona, as they are only occasionally found. The largest one ever found there was twenty-four inches in length, so that Mr. Adams' specimen is as large as the average. It is said that several people have been bitten by the animal and that in all cases the wound proved fatal. The toad, however, is harmless. Mr. Adams will be here but a short time, and will return to Globe. It is said that he will not travel alone.

He says, "Success to Foley's Kidney Cure." The Stafford Drug Co.

ROAD NEEDS ATTENTION.

Thoroughfare to Goose Lake Reported in Bad Condition.

Negaunee men who have driven over the Goose Lake road the past few days report that it is in very bad condition in places. One man who went as far east as Cascade Junction, Saturday, came nearly losing his horse, the animal having caught one of his feet in a hole. Had it not been for the fact that the horse stood quietly while the owner and his companion added it in getting its foot out of the opening, it would surely have broken its leg. The road needs repairing in several places, particularly at a number of the culverts, in some of which the planks are broken.

From one-half to three-fourths of a mile this side of Cascade Junction the limbs of the trees are hanging so close to the road that a person cannot sit in a buggy with any comfort; in places the branches are hardly as high as a horse's head. There is always considerable traffic over the thoroughfare during the summer season, as there are a number of farmers who use it. The road is also used considerably by hunting and fishing parties. It would not require a very heavy expenditure to repair the road and to remove some of the branches. The farmers of the district wish to have the road improved, as all of them have business in this city and Ishpeming. A number of local farmers have been opening between here and Cascade Junction during the past two or three years.

"THELMA" TONIGHT.

Manager McDonald has been assured of a fine production of "Thelma," the offering at the Negaunee opera house this evening. The following extract is from the Buffalo Courier's review of the performance of Miss Carolyn McLean, the talented young actress, who will be seen in the title role: "By its keen appreciation of her admirable characterization of Marie Cordill's bewitching heroine the audience expressed to Miss McLean over the footlights the fact that it was glad to meet her and the hope that the acquaintance so auspiciously begun would be strengthened by future visits to Buffalo."

A popular scale of prices will prevail, and seats can be reserved at Perkins' drug store. It is expected that today's sessions of the board of review, which convened yesterday, will be decidedly interesting, as the mining officials, who will seek a readjustment of their companies' valuations, will be on hand.

COBALT GOSSIP

The La Rose Mines, Limited, has assumed control of the Lawson Mining company. Two cars of ore, valued at $40,000 each, are ready to be shipped from this property.

It is reported that a shaft is down 120 feet on the main line of the Gillies' Limit. Two hundred feet of drifting has been done on the 75-foot level. Shipments are beginning.

The Tretwey Mining company recently sent a car of ore to Denver to be treated by the wet process. According to a Toronto broker this experiment was not a success, only 55 per cent of the values being recovered.

Shaft No. 1 of the Abitibi mine is now down ninety-five feet, and the company will crosscut at the 100-foot level to tap the main vein. On the Lorraine property the company will open a body of galena, carrying silver values.

Superintendent La Blanc, of the Ontario-Quebec Mining company, states that the second shaft is down fifty feet, and that the vein is showing as well as in No. 1. Native silver has been discovered on the adjoining property.

A. E. Cole, M. E., in an interview, states that there are now forty-two companies that have steam plants at Cobalt, with a total boiler capacity of 3,246 horsepower. The camp has twenty air compressing plants in position.

The Green-Moehan is working thirty-five men on the main shaft, which is down seventy feet. The vein is holding good, and they are taking out ore daily. They expect a compressor in two weeks, and when it is installed the company will put on a big force.

A continuation of the Lawson vein has been found on the Silver Leaf property. It is a surface vein on the western part of the property, running across in a southeasterly direction, fully nine inches wide, cobalt and full of native silver. It is one of the best veins discovered in the camp.

Large quantities of machinery are being shipped to Cobalt. The Nipissing people have purchased a ten-drill compound steam and compound air compressor, which is expected to arrive in the course of a few months. The city of Cobalt has purchased a four-drill compound, a hauler, a large hoist, and four large Rand drills. The largest drills that have yet been sold in the camp were sold a day or two ago to the La Rose company.

Work is progressing very rapidly on claims Nos. 2 and 3 of the Cobalt Silver Wedge Mines, Limited, and Superintendent Murray has a big force of men at work. On every side of this property there have been many rich bodies of ore opened up during the past two weeks, and it is expected that when the development work on these claims reaches the same stage as those of the neighbors, equally rich silver will be found underlying the diabase formation which is spread all over the surface.

President E. P. Earle, of the Nipissing Mines company, speaking of his recent trip of inspection said that when he left the mines the prospects were extremely encouraging. The sampling mill has been fully equipped and is now in operation. The company is employing fully 250 men and has nearly 100 men doing prospecting work. Taken all in all, Mr. Earle says the Nipissing property is looking better than at any previous time in its history. The directors of the company will meet on June 29 to act upon the dividend question and it is learned that the usual quarterly disbursement of 3 per cent will be decided upon.

A. R. Ledoux states that his sampling works in Jersey City have handled 366 carloads of Cobalt ore besides fifty-two other lots, including nuggets, since January, 1905. It appears that nuggets are not pure silver, but run anywhere from 700 to 870 parts of silver in the thousand. There is a fair amount of gangue and other metals associated with silver. Metallic silver is visibly free from gangue and runs 950 fine. Mr. Ledoux says that out of 291 lots sampled, the highest lot ran 7,402 ounces of silver to the ton and the next 6,909. Out of the 294 lots, 1 per cent ran above 6,000 ounces of silver to the ton and 18.25 per cent was between 1,000 to 2,000 ounces to the ton. The highest percentage of cobalt in any one shipment was 11.96 per cent. The average amount of nickel in the 294 lots was 8.66 per cent; of arsenic, 27.12 per cent. The highest percentage of arsenic was 59.32.

TAKES FAVORABLE VIEW OF MORMONS

J. R. VAN EVERA HAS WORD TO SAY FOR THIS MUCH CRITICISED RELIGIOUS SECT.

POLYGAMY IS FROWNED ON

Is Not Now Sanctioned By the Church—Utah a Wonderfully Rich State With the Best of Its Development Still in the Future.

"Yes, I have spent the last three months in Utah," said John R. Van Evera when seen by a Mining Journal man yesterday. "What do I think of the country? Well, I can't answer that question in a monosyllable. Utah is a state of magnificent resources. In mining, smelting, agriculture and in stock raising it is unsurpassed by any country I have ever visited. The rock ribbed range of the Rockies, which traverses the state from north to south, is a storehouse of mineral wealth which needs but the intelligent touch of energetic and nifty men to open the door to untold and unmeasurable riches, and there are a lot of chaps out in Utah who are not afraid to give the touch. The gold, silver, copper and zinc now coming out of these mountains are making of the Sale Lake valley the greatest smelting center of the great west. In the south of the state there are practically untouched deposits of iron ore and coal which in quantity and purity will compare favorably with those of Lake Superior and Pennsylvania. The growth of population and the development of transportation are sure to bring about the development of these resources, and it is not a far cry to predict the manufacture of iron and steel products in Utah—not only for domestic use but also for export trade to the oriental countries just beyond the Pacific ocean.

A Rich Agricultural State.

"The valleys of Utah," continued Mr. Van Evera, "have a deep, rich alluvial soil, as fertile as the valley of the Nile. The early Mormon settlers introduced in a comparatively small way the system of irrigation first practiced by the ancient Egyptians. The results have been wonderful. You should take with me your after lunch siesta, stretched at full length on the green sward in one of these Utah valleys; feel the earth throbbing with fertile energy beneath you, and with eyes half closed look the mid-day sun full in the face. You'd find no fierceness there, but instead a warm, genial, friendly glow, working its way into your every fibre. Roll over, absorb it in every part of your anatomy. You'd grow, my boy, you'd grow. You couldn't help growing. Everything grows. Then turn your eyes in every direction, and you will see on every side the grand army of snow-capped monarchs, leaping with their perspiration the sun-kissed valley, and you will know, as you could not otherwise know, why these Utah valleys need but the slightest touch from the hand of man to produce a wealth of agricultural products, unknown under any other conditions. If I told my agricultural friends in Michigan all I know about the productiveness of these lands, they would probably think I had been hypnotized by the grandeur of the scenery, the altitude, or some subtle influence—or may be by the Mormons.

"Yes, I have met many Mormons individually, and have observed them collectively. Perhaps the most prominent characteristic of the Mormon people as their open-handed hospitality. I have felt it in their public houses and in their private homes. I have slept in their alfalfa hay stacks, and have observed them tending their herds of sheep and cattle. I have come into close touch with them in the busy life of trade and commerce, and everywhere I have found them to be bright, clean spoken, honorable and patriotic citizens. Several times I attended their services at the famous Tabernacle in Salt Lake City. It must be admitted my going there was to gratify curiosity more than to satisfy religious fervor. The preaching I heard was strictly Christ and him crucified—from the immaculate conception to the ascension. They sounded much like good Methodist or Presbyterian sermons which I have heard, interspersed with strong but kindly admonition to their people to refrain from evil practices and follow the same straight and narrow path which was pointed out to you and I as the only safe and sure way. I wondered if these people were not Christians. If not, why not?

Polygamy Not Now Sanctioned.

"Polygamy seems to have been their ecclesiastical error. By manifesting the church has cut off this withering branch, and there are no more polygamous marriages under the sanction of the church. Did you ever hear of any other religious sect abandoning errors in creed and practices which had become impossible? So having admitted the error and abandoned the practice, it would seem to be proper to spread the mantle of charity, of which we all talk so loudly, over that part of the scene, and turn our eyes upon the good works done, making toward better citizenship and Christian living. I am persuaded that this is the attitude of the large broad majority of gentiles in Utah toward the Mormons, the prominent exception to this being perhaps a certain class of politicians, who seem to be trying to make the Mormon question a political issue. I do not believe their efforts are actuated so much by patriotic motives as by personal political interests. I have found the Mormon people to be the most abstemious in their habits of any I have ever met. The church, by its organization, comes very close to the people, and its influence as far as I can observe is all directed toward making its people live correctly and abstain from all practices which tend to degrade the physical, mental and moral character of man.

"The public school system of Utah, and especially of Salt Lake City, is of a very high order, and I am informed that the Union. Perhaps some of my educational friends can verify this statement. I give it to you not from actual knowledge, but from information.

STONE BOUND OVER.

Alleged Forger Denies Committing Crime, but puts Up No Defense.

James Stone, charged with forgery, reconsidered his determination to waive examination, and was arraigned before Justice Byrne yesterday morning and bound over for trial at the next term of the circuit court. Prosecuting Attorney Bell appeared for the state and W. S. Hill for the defense. The examination, which was brief, was confined solely to the check for $52.00 to which the signature of William F. Koepf is alleged to have been forged, and which was cashed by John W. Rustenhoven. This check was made out on Marquette National bank paper to James Rogers, which is the name Stone is alleged to have used when counterfeiting it. Assistant Cashier Harry C. Davis testified that the signature of William F. Koepf, attached to the paper, was, to the best of his knowledge and belief, a forgery. John W. Rustenhoven, the complaining witness stated that the check was cashed by him, Thursday, June 13. He positively identified Stone as the man who presented it and who counterfeited it with the signature of James Rogers. He said that he had seen Stone at least once before he cashed the check, but could not state where. Stone's only defense was a general denial. He did not show the slightest trace of nervousness during the progress of the examination, and took the decision of the court binding him over in the most philosophical manner imaginable.

INAUGURATED IN 1857.

Catholic Diocese of Marquette Is Now Half a Century of Age.

The Catholic diocese of Marquette was inaugurated in 1857 and was the thirteenth in the United States. The first Catholic colony was established in this country was at Baltimore, Md., in 1632, under Leonard Calvert, son of Sir George Calvert, of the Irish peerage, one of the foremost statesmen of the reign of James I. Leonard Calvert was a man of great talent and lofty ideals, and the tolerance which he exercised toward both the Puritans and the Quakers made him widely respected, and greatly aided in the establishment of the Catholic faith in America. From this settlement sprang many of America's greatest soldiers and statesmen.
