

Enterprise. Much of the progress of the world is due to enterprise. The spirit of enterprise is a valuable asset to a man, a business, or a city. The enterprising boy makes the successful man. Enterprise coupled with thrift produces capital with which the boy can grasp the opportunities which present themselves when he reaches manhood. Therefore, to teach a boy enterprise and thrift begin with the bank account. Teach him to spend a little less than he earns—this is the foundation.

BIG BERRY CROP NOW BEING PICKED

IS LARGER THIS YEAR THAN EVER BEFORE—EWALD & CO. HAS LARGE FORCE WORKING—HAS SECURED PATENT ON BERRY BOX.

J. Ewald, the berry man, has arrived in Ishpeming and now has a force of men and boys making boxes and crates for the fruit, which is brought in daily in large quantities from the plains near the Dead river district. Mr. Ewald says that the berries this season are larger in size and are of a better quality than any he has seen in this locality for many years. He has made this city a headquarters for berry buying for the past seven years. His plant and box machines are placed in the old Dead River company's barn on East Ridge street.

There are a large number of people in the woods to the north of the city and about fifty bushels of berries are received daily. The price paid to pickers this year is considerably above the average and many families have gone to the berry fields. The berries are placed in small boxes, twelve in a crate, for the outside market. In the city markets they sell for seventeen or eighteen cents per box. The only drawback to Ishpeming as a central shipping point is the great distance of the city from the berry patches. The pickers have to travel fifteen miles by team to deliver the berries to the buyers.

Mr. Ewald has conducted a berry buying business for the past twenty years and has bought berries of all varieties in a score of towns in Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Iowa. When he first started and for a number of years he conducted buying houses in a number of places, but this year he has concentrated his operations to four points, Fairchild and Trogo in Wisconsin and Wellsburg and Ishpeming in Michigan. He finds that it pays better to work his plants in just a few towns, as the berry buying business is one in which a competent and experienced manager is a prime necessity. He is in charge of the Ishpeming branch and his partner, Mr. Reese, has gone to Wellsburg, to superintend the operations of the firm at that point.

The berry buying enterprise is only a small part of Mr. Ewald's business interests. During the winter months he operates a box and crate manufacturing business in Minneapolis. For a number of years he has been working upon a machine which would make a serviceable box without being guided by hand. He at last hit upon a device and last week received his patent. Mr. Ewald is not the only man who thought of a machine for box manufacture, as four others applied for a patent on similar machines. The applications of the five inventors have been before the patent department's contest board for the past year and they finally gave a unanimous decision in favor of Mr. Ewald.

The boxes are made from one piece of birch wood and from the time the wood is placed in the machine until it comes out nailed and stamped is only a few moments. The boxes were intended primarily for strawberries, but they can be used for cherries, plums and other small fruit. During the past winter Mr. Ewald manufactured and shipped from his factory at Minneapolis about 800,000 of the boxes. A large number were taken by Iowa people, who use them almost exclusively for blackberries. The invention had a difficult time finding a wood which could be worked in the machine, but finally he secured some Wisconsin birch that filled the bill. Mr. Ewald recently started the manufacture of till boxes with handles and in the few months in which he was engaged in the business he made over 200,000 boxes. The machinery at the Minneapolis plant has been improved and it can turn out about 13,000 of the patent boxes per day. The machine can handle about 18,000 a day when crowded to its capacity, but works to the best advantage when making 13,000 per day.

Mr. Ewald has purchased an interest in a sawmill in Wisconsin where he can secure the timber necessary for his patent berry boxes. He buys a large quantity of wood and is one of the mill's heaviest customers. As the wood needed in the manufacture of boxes is scarce and hard to obtain Mr. Ewald is one of the country's largest box producers.

T. M. SOLAR GETS CONTRACT.

General Contract for the Y. M. C. A. Building Has Been Awarded.

The general contract for the erection of the Y. M. C. A. building has been awarded to Thomas M. Solar, the contractor who is now building the new high school on Division street. The building committee has directed Mr. Solar to start preparations for the erection of the building at once.

Several changes in the original plans have been made to lessen the cost. These modifications will not affect the size of the building or its equipment, as these will be as originally planned. The building will be a three-story brick structure 110 feet long, with an average width of about sixty feet. The basement, which will extend under the entire building, will contain a swimming tank, sixteen by forty feet, regulation bowling alleys, toilet, bath and furnace room. In addition to the swimming tank and bath rooms there will be a large dressing room equipped with steel lockers.

The exterior of the building will be of purple continental paving brick up to the first story window sills. Above the first story the Greater Day red brick will be used. The building will be finished with stone trimmings.

The foundation excavation work has almost been completed by Contractor William Treblecock and an early start will be made putting in the foundation.

BUILDING MANY WALKS.

Contractors Have More Work Than They Can Complete This Summer.

The contractors who are putting in concrete walks have more work than they can complete before the cold weather sets in. This year has been an exceptionally busy one, owing to the large number of wooden walks condemned by the council. A new record will be made this year in the number of feet laid.

Anderson & Killbride, who make a specialty of laying walks, have had a large crew of men at work and have not lost much time on account of bad weather. They have more jobs ahead of them than they can possibly handle, and have already put in over fifty pieces of walk. The walk which this company constructed on Pine street for the Oliver Iron Mining company was the longest stretch that has been built this season, measuring about 400 feet. Last year the largest piece of work done by the firm was the strip of walk and platform at the new Northwestern depot. The firm has just finished a walk on two sides of the Maxwell residence, Ridge and Maple streets, and Friday, of last week it started to lay a walk about the property of the Swedish Mission church on Third street. The crew will begin the construction of a walk at the Uren block today.

WILL CLOSE OUT STOCK.

As will be seen by F. Braastad & Co.'s advertisement in this issue the firm has bought out the Carpenter-Cook company's entire stock of tinware and enamelware, and will dispose of it at a sacrifice, the sale commencing tomorrow. This is easily the largest line of goods of the kind that has ever been assembled in Ishpeming and F. Braastad & Co. acquired the stock at an exceptionally low figure it will be sold at a heavy reduction in prices. The goods are to be displayed in the chinaware department on the first floor.

It is presumption to say you haven't a mind of your own, yet that is what is said to you when you ask for an advertised article and are offered a substitute by your dealer.

BIG MUSICAL PIECE.

"The Mayor of Tokio," Here Tomorrow Evening, a Fine Attraction.

Richard Carle's latest and most successful comic opera, "The Mayor of Tokio" which will open the fall season at Ishpeming theater tomorrow evening, comes recommended as one of the most elaborate musical productions of recent seasons.

The opera is in two acts, with the libretto by Mr. Carle and the music by William Frederick Peters. Both acts are bid in Japan, which gives a fine chance for a gorgeous color scheme, which has been applied to both scenery and costumes with a lavish and artistic hand. The songs are said to be pretty and the girls and costumes bewitching, and there are a number of excellent voices in the large company besides several comedians that keep the fun going at a rapid gait from the rise of the curtain to the finale of the last act. The plot contains all the essentials of comic opera: Marcus Orlando Kilder, the impresario from America, who leads "the most successful failure that ever struck Australasia," the love-sick tenor, who falls in love with the princess at first sight; a sour-visaged wardrobe mistress, who was a "trophy" in the ballet twenty-two years before; the soprano with a great desire to play Shakespearean roles and the song-book boy in love with the soprano. All these characters are interwoven into a series of most amusing situations, interspersed with a number of ensembles executed by a large chorus of pretty, shapely, highly trained girls who sing in harmony and dance and otherwise comport themselves in a most pleasing and gingery fashion.

TEN-INNING GAME.

The Eagles and Invincibles played a ten-inning game yesterday afternoon at the Union Park grounds, the score being twelve to eight in favor of the Invincibles. The game was well played, considering the high wind and the condition of the ground. Up to the sixth inning the score was one to one, but in the sixth the Eagles brought a couple of men across the plate. The first half was principally a pitcher's battle, but in the latter part of the game both teams began to find the ball and several of the runs were earned. The attendance was fairly large and the fans got their money's worth. This was the second game the Invincibles have won from the Eagles, but the teams are very evenly matched. The Invincibles will cross bats with the Marquette nine next Sunday afternoon at the Union Park. They will be known hereafter as the City team.
