The law provides that any person who shall kill a wolf more than six months old in any organized county of the state shall receive a bounty of $25 and any person who shall kill a wolf less than three months old shall receive a bounty of $10. There is no provision for the payment

Chase to adhere to the wording strictly and to pay wolf bounties only when the animals killed were under three or over six months old.

DREAMING OF RICHES

May be a pleasant diversion for some, but it is not the dreamer who acquires wealth. It is the one who works and saves and carefully invests his earnings.

Persons who are beginning to save can do no better than to start an account in this bank. It matters not about the size of the account. It is the BEGINNING that is important.

Great fortunes always come from small beginnings and it is surprising how fast a bank account will grow if one saves systematically. Saving money helps one's business reputation establish credit and provides for a home.

WORLD GROWING BETTER, SAYS A CENSUS REPORT.

Proportion of the Population in Jail Has Decreased Since 1890.

Washington, Aug. 29.—That the country is growing better is the conclusion of the census bureau. It announces that the ratio of persons in prison to the entire population has decreased since 1890. Out of every million Americans there are now 1,906 in prison, while in 1890 there were 1,967.

After thinking it over, the census experts point out that this decrease may mean only an extension of the probation and parole system, and the adoption of various other forms of leniency.

WHY CAMEOS ARE SCARCE. None Are Being Made—Stones Used by Cutters.

There is a great scarcity of cameos in Europe and America now, owing to the gradual dying off of the old cameo cutters. No cameos are being made, and the old stock is diminishing rapidly because of the present craze for old-fashioned jewelry and jewelers say the only way they can replenish their stock is by buying old cameos from private owners.

Of a dozen jewel establishments in St. Louis visited recently by a purchaser in search of cameos, says the Globe-Democrat, only one had unset-cameos in stock, and only three had more than eight specimens of the set gems.

This scarcity of cameos makes them very expensive, and those jewelers that are so fortunate as to have them in stock can get almost any price they choose to ask for them.

The true nature of a cameo is very much misunderstood by the public generally. Most people think it is the stone itself, when in reality the method of cutting it is what produces the cameo. The real meaning of the word is unknown, its derivation having never been discovered, but correctly speaking cameos are small only way excepted in relief on some substance precious either for its beauty, rarity or hardness.

There are emerald cameos, turquoise cameos, shell cameos, coral cameos; indeed, any substance that lends itself to carving in such minute detail can be used for cameo cutting, and nearly all precious stones, except diamonds, have been so used.

WANTED THE GIBBETS. An Incident of Revolutionary Days in South Carolina.

There are innumerable stories of revolutionary days in Charleston. The old ladies used to tell with glow how when the British were supposed to be out of the way, the young fellows would come home to dance with them.

FEW DOGS GO MAD. The Woman's Pennsylvania S. P. C. A. is out with a timely and valuable statement calculated to prevent unnecessary alarm and suffering of human beings as well as of animals.

It has been observed with regret that numerous sensational stories concerning alleged mad dogs and the terrible results to human beings bitten by them are published from time to time.

ONLY ONE SERVICE A YEAR. Story of a Curious Little Church on an English Hilltop.

A BURIED SPRUCE TREE. About seventy years ago millions of tons of earth, boulders and gravel slid from the side of Mount Katahdin in Southern Maine.

Another large tree with foliage intact was found in the pit. The foliage of this tree when first removed from the earth looked fresh and green, as if it had just been removed from a growing tree, but faded in a few hours.

PUTTING ROBERT TO BED.

"Papa!" "Tell me a story." "I'll tell you just one if you will promise to go to sleep."

"My pajamas don't feel good." "Don't think about them. I'll tell you a story, but one will be all."

"Once there was a little boy—?" "What's his name?" "Well, he had a name."

"Where did you ever hear such a thing as that?" "Alfred Potts told it to me."

"But you didn't tell me the story." "All right. This isn't about Julius Caesar at all. Julius Caesar was a king, and he died a long time ago."

"When he froze his feet off, papa?" "He didn't freeze his feet. That is a piece of silliness Alfred Potts told you."

"What is a piece of silliness, Pop?" "Don't ask me such foolish questions. Settle down and go to sleep or I'll go back downstairs and leave you alone."

"Papa, my pajamas don't feel good." "I told you not to think about them. Now, listen and I'll tell you about this little boy. He went out one day and saw—"

"Was his name Julius?" "Yes, yes!" Mr. Todd answered. "His name was Julius and he—"

"Did he die a long time ago?" "No, Julius Caesar died a long time ago. This boy didn't."

"Where does he live now?" "I don't know. Be still!" "How'd you know what's his name, then?"

"Well, he lives—he lives in a town, somewhere. And one day he went out and saw a tree that was simply full of birds."

"What did the birds do?" "The birds sang, of course." "What did they sing?" "They sang songs. Now, if you want me to tell you this story you will have to be quiet. So this boy looked up at the birds, and—"

"My pajamas don't feel good." "They never will feel good—if you don't stop thinking about them. So this boy looked up at the birds, and he was a bad boy—and he thought it would be smart to throw a stone at them."

"Did he?" "Yes, he threw a stone at the poor little birds." "And what did the stone do?" "It made the birds fly. And then—"

"Papa?" "Well, the fly did the birds into." "Robert Gallahue Todd. I am going downstairs, and if you are not asleep in two minutes I shall punish you."

Mr. Todd strode from the room, and the pajamas he halted at the sight of a woman sitting on the top step with her face in her hands and her shoulders and sides shaking. It was his wife.

Dr. Charles W. Dulles, who has corresponded on the subject with most of the distinguished medical men of Europe, a physician familiar both with the literature of rabies, the history of Pasteur and the institutions called by his name, and who in addition has performed the most incredible task of investigating either personally or by correspondence, with the physicians or others in attendance, every case reported in the newspapers of the United States for the past sixteen years, believes that hydrophobia is extremely rare, having after sixteen years of investigation failed to find a single case on record that can be conclusively proved to have resulted from the bite of a dog.

THINKS CANADA WILL HAVE SAME POPULATION AS U. S.

Lord Strathcona Comments on Remarkable Growth of the Dominion.

New York, Aug. 29.—En route on a hurried trip from Montreal to London Lord Strathcona, lord high commissioner of Canada, sailed on the steamship Oceanic. Before leaving he commented on the growth of Canada. He said: "When I first came to Canada, seventy years ago, it was one tremendous wilderness. By the close of the century—if not long before that time—she will have a population equal to the present population of the United States."

"The greatest strides that Canada has made have been in agriculture. The great Northwest, once the property entirely of the Hudson Bay company, to be exploited merely for the furs it could supply, is now cut up into small farms and ranches. Last year the Northwest produced more than 100,000,000 bushels of wheat and more than 200,000,000 bushels of other grains."

RARE LIVE CHINESE DRAGON. Scientists Puzzled in Their Efforts to Classify a Six Foot Monster Captured in Formosa.

Formosa, Japan's island dependency, has yielded up the strangest reptile that has come to New York in years, says the Herald. Six feet long, armored about the head, armed with three inch spikes close set along the spinal column, with a serpentine tail, the legs of a huge frog and the body of a lizard, this monster is a puzzle to scientists.

It is owned by Charles Davis, of 144 Greenpoint avenue, Williamsburg. Mr. Davis' brother bought it in Galveston from a Lascar sailor aboard a cotton ship, who had brought it from Formosa. Because it has not been identified with any known species of reptiles Mr. Davis calls his curiosity the Chinese dragon. The Lascar said this name was conferred on it by the natives of Formosa, who captured it. Its like had never been seen in Formosa before and the natives were in great fear of it.

A woman snake charmer connected with a well known animal show visited the reptile in an effort to identify it, but she declared she never had seen anything like it. She feared to handle it. Animal dealers who have viewed the creature asserted that it was of an unknown species.

Mr. Davis, after searching encyclopedias, inclines to the belief that his curiosity is a latter day nautilus, but as scientists declare the nautilus became extinct 12,000,000 years ago, it is probably Mr. Davis' guess is wrong.

It is open the reptile presents a terrifying appearance. Under ordinary conditions its color is greenish yellow, but, chameleon like, it changes with its environment. If it lies in the sunlight the color becomes a brilliant yellow. When the reptile soaks repose on a bed of green leaves it at once assumes a green hue. The long tail is marked by black and yellow rings three inches wide. The spikes on the back, standing two inches high when the reptile is aroused, are light orange in color.

Under the throat is a huge pouch, where the food is stored for primary digestion. The reptile's mouth is filled with huge, sawlike teeth, that slant backward at an angle of 45 degrees. The legs are short, broad and muscular, ending in feet that resemble a chicken's in the wide spread of the five slender toes. The hind legs are much longer than the front.

In running the "Chinese dragon" makes rapid time. It shows a combative spirit and attacks, kills and devours any animal placed in its pen. It has eaten frogs, chickens and rats, but its favorite diet appears to be lettuce and cabbage leaves.

From the neck forward over the head this strange reptile is covered with a sheath of horned armor. On either side of the head is a disk the size of a silver dollar, that has the appearance of ivory. It is smooth and polished. Like an opal, it shows many colors in varying lights.

HIGH PAY KILLS EFFICIENCY.

The example of performance by some very highly paid executives of American industry tends to disturb the economic theory that every man ought to be paid what he is worth to his employer.

This question has become a serious one with the high organization and vast amount of money in the industry. The talent required for directing the huge social machines is rare. It can command its own price. Meanwhile the service it can render is so immediately lucrative that employers do not count their money in compensating it.

Mea like this are highly paid as an incident of their inheritance of industrial property. This is unjust, of course, but it is not an economic injury if they have sense enough not to meddle with affairs they are unfit for. The real harm is done when a man of extraordinary talent of affairs is suddenly lifted out of his natural environment and surrounded with the demoralizing influences of unaccustomed wealth.

Such a man is in danger of losing not only his moral character, which concerns only himself, his family and friends, but his business efficiency, which is of value to the whole world. The striking example of 'has in the successive presidents of the steel trust age repeated on a small scale all over the country.

XMAS FARE 500 YEARS AGO.

In the old days the standard Christmas dishes were the peacock and the bear's head. Each of these dishes was served up with every circumstance of pompous ceremony, preceded by trumpets and followed by a numerous train of ladies, knights and squires. The bear's head was brought into the hall by a servant, sometimes mounted on a horse, who sang a carol as he placed the dish upon the table.

RECHABITES ORGANIZE A STRONG TENT HERE

ISHPEMING BRANCH STARTS WITH FIFTY-FOUR CHARTER MEMBERS, AND ANOTHER LARGE CLASS IS TO BE RECEIVED NEXT WEEK.

The district organizers of the Independent Order of Rechabites met with excellent success in perfecting the new women's tent in this city Wednesday afternoon at the Mine Workers' hall. The charter list numbered fifty-four, which was from ten to fifteen more than the officers expected to be available for the first class. Another class is to be received next Thursday afternoon, Sept. 5, when it is expected that the charter list will be swelled by from twenty to twenty-five.

The officers in charge of the work here, and to whose credit the success of organizing such a large charter class is due, are John Dobbs, organizer of Michigan District No. 100, and Thomas E. Warrick, district past chief ruler, both of this city. The officers believe that within a few weeks the new tent will have a membership in excess of 100. Mr. Warrick said yesterday that the Ishpeming branch starts out with an excellent set of officers. They are thoroughly interested in their work, and they have already announced that they will endeavor to make the Ishpeming tent one of the largest in point of membership in the jurisdiction. The tent will be known as "The White Rose."

The national society has a membership of over 400,000, being the largest temperance organization in the world, and it pays a large death benefit, as well as a large sick benefit. The society is prospering in many parts of the jurisdiction, and it is announced that the present year will be one of the best in its history. The national body has a larger surplus in its treasury than any other temperance society and it is in excellent condition in other respects.

The officers of the new tent are: Shepherd—Mrs. Mary E. Dobbs. Past Chief Ruler—Mrs. Mary Ann Atwill. Chief Ruler—Mrs. S. J. Carlyon. Deputy Ruler—Miss Lillie May Atwill. Recording Secretary—Mrs. Lena Chamberlain. Finance Secretary—Miss Charlotte Böhn. Treasurer—Mrs. E. A. Rogers. Levite—Miss Flora May Hicks. Inside Guardian—Mrs. Emma Traise. Outside Guardian—Miss Mary Hancock. Chaplain—Mrs. Mary E. Prim. R. H. S. to C. R.—Mrs. P. A. Thatch. L. H. S. to C. R.—Mrs. Emily J. Dowrick. R. H. S. to D. R.—Miss Ellen V. Isaacson. L. H. S. to D. R.—Miss Margaret Heaton. Organist—Miss Ethel Dowrick. Trustee 18 months—Mrs. Louise Semmens. Trustee 12 months—Mrs. Mary E. Knight. Trustee 6 months—Miss Nellie Dawson.

MUSTACHES CONFUSING.

Man Who Assaulted Andrew Alaranta Can Not Be Found.

Matt Tokama, Nicholas Lund, Alex Huntula and John Syrgala, who were implicated in the row with Andrew Alaranta a week ago last Sunday morning, when the latter had his throat badly cut, were arraigned in Judge Andrews' court yesterday. The evidence did not tend to show that either of the four defendants was guilty of the assault. Alaranta testified that the man who stabbed him wore a sandy mustache, though at the hospital a day or two after the row he stated that his assailant wore a dark mustache. One of the quartet answered the description which Alaranta gave at the hospital, but in court he had an entirely different story to tell. The testimony of the five men was to the effect that the man who used the knife had a light mustache. He had left the crowd just before Marshal Lehman and Deputy Marshal Trovorrow gathered them in. The marshal had a knife which he procured from Alaranta, the latter claiming that it was the one that had been used by his assailant. It was first stated that the man with the black mustache owned the knife, but he asserted it was not his. He admitted that the knife was very much like his. In view of the insufficient evidence to convict any one of the four, all were dismissed.

DEATH OF MRS. HOOPER.

A message received by long distance telephone last night conveyed the sad intelligence of the death of Mrs. John Hooper, Sr. Her passing occurred at 7 o'clock last evening at a hospital in which she had submitted to a surgical operation. Mrs. Hooper was an old resident of Ishpeming, and her demise will be mourned by a large circle of friends. She left here for Milwaukee last Tuesday, accompanied by her husband and her son, J. H. Hooper, Jr.

UNIQUE ENTERTAINMENT.

The Excelsior club of the Sunday School society of the First Methodist Episcopal church will give a unique entertainment on Labor Day at the church, corner Second and Division streets. It is to be an indoor picnic. The decorations will suggest a rural scene and packed lunches will be furnished. The charge being fifteen cents for single lunches and twenty cents for lunches for two. Ice cream will be served on the grounds and tea and coffee will be free. The admission to the picnic will be five cents and the gates will open at 5 o'clock.

LABOR DAY PICNIC.

Mine Workers Will Conduct Annual Outing at Cleveland Park.

The Ishpeming branch of the Mine Workers' union is advertising its annual picnic, to be held next Monday at Cleveland park. A program of athletic events, musical numbers, etc., has been arranged and it is expected that there will be a lively time all afternoon and evening. During the morning the Ishpeming band, which has been engaged for the day, will render selections in the business district, and will go to the park, accompanied by the members of the union, immediately after dinner. Refreshments of various kinds are to be served and special attention will be paid to the entertainment of the ladies and children. For the latter a number of swings and merry-go-rounds have been erected. Addresses will be delivered by Mayor W. J. Roberts and Municipal Judge William Andrews.

ORGANIZERS IN CITY.

Prominent Officers of Macabees Will Be Entertained Here Tonight.

F. W. Stevens, state organizer, and J. W. Patterson, district deputy, of the Knights of Macabees, will be entertained here tonight by the Ishpeming branch of the organization. The officers will give addresses on the work of the order in large districts as well as in the state and the fact that Messrs. Stevens and Patterson are to be here tonight was not known until yesterday, so that the officers of Amrose tent have not had an opportunity to extend an individual invitation to the members of the several tents in the city, but The Mining Journal has been asked to say that all members of the order in both Ishpeming and Negaunee will be welcome. The business session will be followed by a lunch and smoker, and an impromptu entertainment will be given.

NEW SOCIAL CLUB.

A social organization, to be known as the Royal Dancing club, will conduct a series of eight parties during the fall and winter months, the first taking place on Wednesday evening, Sept. 18. The club is composed of members of the Ishpeming branch of the Royal Arcanum society, who will conduct the parties more as an advertisement for their organization than for the financial profits they will derive from them. The officers announce that no expense will be spared to make the parties a big success socially. Invitations are being issued for the series.

"A WIFE'S SECRET."

The emotional dramatic success of three seasons, "A Wife's Secret," which will be seen at the Ishpeming theatre next Wednesday evening, comes with a long list of hearty endorsements, and is pronounced one of the most powerful popular priced emotional dramas put forth in several seasons. It tells a beautiful story, full of tender sentiment and sympathetic heart-interest, with a liberal sprinkling of comedy. It is portrayed again this year by a good cast. The production, under the direction of Spencer & Aborn, is said to be most elaborate from a scenic and mechanical standpoint. Popular prices, twenty-five, thirty-five and fifty cents, will prevail.

FROM HOPKINS' CURB LETTER.

"The market opened with further gains this morning, but profit taking has caused another setback, which may extend somewhat further. The market has been an extremely dull traders' affair, with a narrow range of prices. The out in the Quince dividend of 82 has not added any enthusiasm to the situation. This stock has been the weakest on the list and if it had not been for the strength in New York it is likely we would have seen much lower prices in support shares. There was a reduction of one-half cent in the bid and asked prices of lake copper today."

Building Model Town on Busy, New Range

Swanzy District a Scene of Great and Varied Activity-- Exploratory Work in Progress, Mines Being Opened and New Village Established.

Contract Is Let for First Concrete Shaft Will Be Sunk by Foundation Company, and Will be the Third in the Lake Superior Region--Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Company, After Four Years' Endeavor, Has Opened Four Mines--Range Now Has Two Thousand People and Is Expected to Grow to Five Thousand--Mining Journal Man's Pen Picture of the Rapid Growth of the New District.

The Swanzy district, Marquette county's newest iron range, will, within a comparatively few years, be one of the most attractive mining camps in the country. The territory about the mines is picturesque and the area under control of the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company, the principal operator in the field, is ample to permit the building up of locations with conveniences for the residents expected in no other mining district in the United States. In many respects the locations are ideal spots. The beautiful streams of the two branches of the Escanaba river wind their way through portions of the district; a fine variety of shrubbery and timber, sloping hills and spreading plains all combine to make the territory about the mines unusually attractive.

Doing Great Work.

The Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company has expended an enormous sum in the exploration of the mineral tracts under its control; the development of the mines thus far opened up; the erecting of the mining buildings; the improvement of the locations; and the general development of the various features connected with its enterprises. This company was not the pioneer operator in the field, but it has been its task to prove up and properly develop the minerals. The first ore was discovered on the range some thirty years ago by men who had little knowledge of the mineral formations, otherwise they would have presented their work to a greater extent, as they were on the verge of striking the main ore body when they decided to abandon the field.

The old Swanzy mine, now known as the Princeton, was later discovered by others and gave promise of developing into a big property, but the interest in the company never dreamed that the time would come when even more important mines would be developed within a short distance of their holdings. The company became involved and after struggling along for several years all operations were suspended. A limited amount of exploratory work had been done, but the district was generally looked upon as containing nothing of special value. A few exploratory pits had been put down and the indications for finding ore of marketable quality were favorable, but in spite of this there were some who believed that the money spent in the district was being wasted. After several unsuccessful efforts to place the affairs of the company on a firm basis, whereby the mine might be again operated, the officers gave up the task in despair and the corporation's affairs passed into the hands of a receiver.

For several months the receiver endeavored to induce some one to take hold of the property, and finally the Todd-Stambaugh company purchased the Swanzy mine, together with a small acreage surrounding it, for $85,000. This was barely enough to pay off the company's indebtedness, but the receiver was at that time much pleased to receive even that sum, regarding it largely in the nature of a find. Many of the predictions as to the probable outcome of the Todd-Stambaugh company's efforts were made by mining men and others of the county, and later, when facts of the news of discoveries of new ore bodies created much surprise in many quarters, though there were some who had been satisfied from the first that the new owners would eventually develop the property that would pay it handsomely for its investment. The mine was operated for a few years, until it began to attract general attention, when others concluded that the mineral on the range was not confined to the territory immediately surrounding the Swanzy.

Austin Near Original Find.

The original discovery of ore on the range was not made at the location of the present No. 1 Princeton shaft, but it was made a short distance from the Austin shaft, which is over half a mile from the Princeton. It is said that the main pit sunk was bottomed at a point about five feet from the ore formation. The men who were conducting the work were of the impression that the ore formation did not lie so deep and they gave up, satisfied that there was nothing farther down worth going after. The Cleveland-Cliffs people, who began drilling in the district about four years ago, did not work very long before they discovered ore and only a few holes were bored when it was decided to open the Austin mine, which is now producing on a fairly large scale.

Once satisfied that there was an ore body of fairly large extent the Cleveland-Cliffs company pushed its exploratory work vigorously. Many diamond drills have been operated in the territory, extending over an area from ten to twelve miles in length by from three to four in width. At times as many as twenty-five or thirty drills have been operated in the field and the company is now working more than a dozen. All of the contractors' drills were some time ago withdrawn and the exploration work is now being conducted by the company's own men and its own drills. The Cleveland-Cliffs has either under lease or option practically all of the land that is considered in the mineral area, with the ceded to give the New York company the contract.

Central Power Station.

The central power plant, on which work was started over a year ago, will be in operation within from seven to ten weeks. Superintendent George R. Jackson and the other officials point with pride to the equipment being installed at the plant. Two double Sterling boilers have already been installed and a third one is to go in. The plant is equipped with Murphy mechanical stokers and Sturtevant economizers. The plant is almost a duplicate of the one recently installed at the Maas mine, Negaunee. The boilers are located in the lower portion of the structure. The plant will be equipped with fifty-drill capacity air compressor, manufactured by the Allis-Chalmers company. All of the machinery is now on the ground and Charles E. Schneider, an erecting engineer, arrived from the works Tuesday to install the plant. He will be aided by the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company's engineers and he expects to have the compressor ready for operation within six weeks. The Princeton, Austin and Stephenson mines will be supplied with air from this plant.

The foundation has been completed for a cooling tower, which will be located at a point between the power station and the shops building. Plans have been drawn for the tower, the shops building is completed and partially equipped, but it is not yet in use. The shop floors will not be transferred to the new building until the compressor is installed. The power station and the shops building are constructed of brick.

A coal trestle with capacity of 600 tons, has just been completed at the rear of the power building, but it will be a few weeks before it will be filled with coal, as the railway company has not yet built the approach to it. Among the new buildings, under way during the past year is a laboratory constructed of brick, containing two stories and completely equipped. In fact, it is one of the most complete laboratories on the Marquette range. Six men are employed here constantly, three by day and three by night.

At the Princeton is to be found the finest dry house on the range, comparing favorably with the very best structures of any of the older ranges. It is constructed of brick and is provided with steel lockers, shower baths and other conveniences.

Model Office Building.

The company's main office building, power plant, shops and laboratory, are located within easy reach of each other on the hill overlooking the Austin location and the new town site, and are about 100 yards distant from the Marquette & Southeastern Railway company's passenger station. The site is an excellent one and it affords a fine view of considerable of the country toward the town and the surrounding mines.

The office is two stories and basement. The latter has been equipped with bookshelves, baths, etc., for the convenience of the company's own use. The office is equipped with a vault and has separate apartments for the engineers and clerks. On the second floor are six sleeping rooms and a club room for the engineers. The apartments are neatly furnished and are provided with all the conveniences, including bath, steam heat, etc.

Central Pumping Station.

The extensive preparations made by the Cleveland-Cliffs company show that no important feature of their preliminary work has been overlooked. Among the more important of the improvements is a pumping station, now in operation. It is located on the west branch of the Escanaba river, north of the Princeton mine, which is the farthest up on the range. The station is of sufficient distance from the mine and locations to eliminate all possibility of the water being contaminated. The water from the mine and the surface of the Princeton and town will flow into the river at a point far below where the water for general use will be taken, so that the people of the entire range are assured excellent water at all times. The water has been passed on by experts, being pronounced first-class in purity.

The water is evident from the fact that there has never been a typhoid epidemic at any of the locations, which is unusual in a new district. Only two cases of typhoid have been reported on the range and both of these cases are not considered as typhoid, but as typhoid fever. One of the cases resulted in the death of the patient in Ishpeming last Saturday. He was one of the Italians who went to Tennessee a few weeks ago and he contracted the disease either there or on his way back to Princeton.

The pumping station will supply all the water for the mine buildings and the several mining locations, as well as for the new town. The station has been equipped with two duplicate combined Prescott pumps each with a capacity of 600 gallons per minute. It is thought that these will supply the district for some years to come.

Hospital for New Town.

Among the more prominent of the buildings soon to be erected in the new town which the Cleveland-Cliffs company is establishing between the two branches of the river, about a half mile southeast of the Austin location, will be a hospital. The plans for the structure are now being prepared and will be completed by the company's head draftsman, John S. Monie, within a few days. The structure will probably be built of brick. Plans of a number of hospitals have been examined and modern ideas have been incorporated in the plans, so that there will be nothing lacking in the way of conveniences for both the patients and physicians. It will accommodate as many patients as the Ishpeming hospital and the wards will be so arranged that only a few patients will be assigned to the larger rooms, and there will be several private wards. There will also be private quarters for as many physicians as it is thought it will be necessary to employ, and the matron, as well as a large pharmacy. It has not yet been decided to begin work on the hospital this year, and it is possible that building operations will be deferred until spring.

Austin a Pretty Location.

It is doubtful if there is a more attractive mining location anywhere in the United States than the Austin. Over thirty houses are in the group and all but one of them are of the same color. The exception is the captain's house, which is painted a dark green, while the others are dark red. All of the fences, which are uniformly built, are painted white, and practically every part of streets, erection of houses, etc., has been the Austin location; in fact there is a vast difference in the two places. There are several very good dwellings at the Princeton, while there are also a number of the log cabin variety common in the mining camps of this district from thirty to forty years ago. These land marks are still occupied and indeed the people there have been glad to get them, so great has been the shortage of dwellings. Princeton has a good school, also a large hall, erected by the Finnish Temperance society, and a brass band is maintained by the Finnish workmen. The only store there is conducted by Richard Quayle of Ishpeming, who has a stock of groceries in one building and dry goods and furnishings in another, the latter being on the top of the hill, and the former some distance below, near the Princeton No. 1 shaft. Up to this time the postoffice has been located in the grocery store, but next Monday it is to be moved to a separate building and will be in charge of John Combe, who has been appointed assistant postmaster George Sarasin. Mr. Combe was formerly in the employ of Mr. Quayle. He will conduct a confectionery store in connection with the postoffice.

There is at present a population of about 2,000 in the territory, and it is expected that within a few years there will be in excess of 5,000 people in the new town.

Lots to Be Sold. The map for the new town site is about completed and will soon be sent to the auditor general's office at Lansing for registration and inspection. While no definite announcement has been made as to how the lots will be disposed of, it is expected that they will be sold outright. It has been proved by the drill tests that the town is located away from the ore formation, so that it will never be necessary to disturb the surface on account of the mining operations. The company will not make a "one man town," so called, but property owners will be obliged to observe certain restrictions in the manner of conducting their building, etc. The town will be open to all classes of legitimate business, and the management of the mines will aid in the promotion of every enterprise calculated to benefit the place and its people. It is not expected that any of the lots will be disposed of for at least a few months, and perhaps not until spring, as it is not desired that there be general building operations until the preliminary work recently started has reached a certain stage of advancement, but there is every reason to believe that next summer will be an unusually active one at the town site. The officials of the company have received many applications for lots and business privileges, all of which will be considered in due time.

Frederic of Norway has a crew of about 100 men on the ground, putting in the water and sewerage systems, also removing the timber from the streets and alleys. He has an extensive contract, as something like seventeen miles of streets are to be built. After the timber is removed, the grading will be done, and the latter will not be as difficult a task as similar work in many towns, as the greater part of the town site is on a comparatively level plat. Desirable gravel for the macadam is within easy reach. Mr. Freden has his men housed in temporary camps built near the Smith location, close to the railway track, and he has all the equipment on hand necessary for successful and rapid work. While his force is not as large as he desires he is making fairly good headway and will have the greater part of the main sewer and water piping laid before winter sets in. Practically all of the pipe for both jobs is on the ground.

The company has reserved certain places in the town for school buildings, churches and the hospital. While no plans have yet been prepared for a school it is likely that a fine high school building will be erected there in the course of two years or so. The standard of work in the schools at the locations has been raised considerably during the past year or two. Elevator grade work is now being conducted and by the time the high school is ready there will be pupils far enough advanced to take the higher branches to be taught. The officials take considerable pride in the progress that compares favorably with that in many places of larger size.

Bridge Contract Awarded.

The Joliet Bridge & Iron company has been given a contract for the erection of three iron bridges, all of which are to be completed by October 15. These will span the Escanaba river at points in the town site. There are several bridges there now, but all are of an old and scanty character, and it is thought that they would be put upon them if they were maintained until the general town buildings are under construction. Each of the bridges will have a span of about fifty feet.

New Passenger Station.

A site has been partially cleared for a new passenger station, to be erected by the Marquette & Southeastern Railway company at the southern end of town near the bank of the river near the Smith mine. A siding has already been put in for the unloading of material for Contractor Freden. The main line passes where the depot will stand and the location is attractive. There is a natural park surrounding the site, which is to be maintained by the company, and three streets will lead to the station. It is reported that the depot will be the finest on the system and that it will be constructed of either brick or concrete blocks. It is possible that its erection will be commenced before winter sets in.

Industrial Conditions Favorable.

There are a few, if any, mining camps in the Lake Superior district where the workmen are better paid or employed under more favorable conditions than is the case on the Swanzy range. The management of the Cleveland-Cliffs company has endeavored at all times to make the place as attractive as possible for the workmen and their families, well judging from the favorable reports. The Mining Journal representative heard while on the range Tuesday the people are contented, and many of them have made up their minds to make it their permanent home. There are no indications of dissatisfaction among the men and the class of workmen employed is above the average to be found in the more remote mining towns. The company has been handicapped since the opening of the Austin mine because of the lack of sufficient dwellings to accommodate the families of the workmen, but this obstacle is being overcome as rapidly as possible. There are now thirty-one fine double family dwellings at the Austin and three large boarding houses. In addition to these are the houses at the Princeton location, which has been the business section of the district for years past. Princeton was not laid out with the same regard to regularity in the arrange-

HAVE SCHOOL FOR THE DEAF

Four New High School Faculty Members—Amendment to Compulsory Education Law is Now Effective.

The small boy is wearing a thoughtful, sober look nowadays. To him the outlook for the future is doleful, but he is resigned. At home he has but a listless interest in the busy preparations for the event which preoccupies him.

School for Deaf. For the first time Marquette this year is to have a school for the deaf. A room in the high school has been equipped to accommodate this new department and will open at the beginning of the term.

Amendment Now in Effect. The amendment to the compulsory education law is now effective. This amendment passed by the recent legislature requires attendance at school for the full term of all children between seven and sixteen years of age.

Regarding the new law it is announced that the superintendent and the trustee officer are allowed no discretion in the matter, but must enforce the law impartially.

Changes Planned. Superintendent Brooks is seeking to arrange matters for the children of the third grade in the Nester addition, so that the long walk to the third school may be avoided. Some change will be made as soon after the opening of the term as possible.

The Faculty. The list of teachers at the high school is now complete and is as follows: Principal—J. W. Coleberd. History—Edith A. Bernard. Latin—Earle M. Parker. Science—Albert J. Schantz. English—Laurence B. Brink. German—Margaret Wenzinger. French—Lillian Werney. Mathematics—Edna E. Cooper. Commercial—James A. Ferguson. Manual Training—Daniel Green. Assistant—Willard T. Casher. Cooking and Sewing—Katherine A. Signor. Assistant in Cooking School—Lottie M. Frie. Music—Norma B. Ross.

Four Are New. Four of these are new members of the faculty. Mr. Green of the Manual Training department is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin and of the Whitewater Normal school. Miss Lillian Werney of the French department has taught in New Mexico. She is a graduate of the University of Michigan. Miss Erna Cooper of the mathematics department is a graduate of the University of Michigan. Mr. Ferguson of the commercial department was formerly a teacher in the Escanaba schools. He is a graduate of Ferris Institute at Big Rapids. Mr. Ferguson is also superintendent and manager of the Marquette Business college.

Two vacancies in the grades has been caused by the transfer of Miss Wenzinger to the high school and the resignation of Miss Blyth, who has gone to Spokane to teach. Miss Nora Murphy and Miss Agnes Bohan have been chosen to fill out the corps of teachers.

CHILDREN HAVE GOOD TIME

Donations to the French Bazaar Are to Be Disposed of Tonight. There were more than four hundred children at the French bazaar yesterday and the day was one of the most successful that the bazaar has had so far.

Tonight the list of articles published about ten days ago in the Mining Journal and donated to the bazaar by merchants of the city and others, is to be disposed of and a big crowd is expected this evening when these things are to be distributed. The distribution is one of the things that has been looked forward to since the bazaar opened.

Miss Bellier still led in the popularity contest last night, but Miss O'Reilly made a considerable gain. It is believed that the supporters of both young women are now waiting for Saturday night when the heaviest voting will be done. The closing hour for the popularity contest will be announced early in the evening Saturday.

THEATRICAL

A man's lusty and ill-advised action in driving his young wife from home for fancied indiscretions, and thus exposing her to real, instead of imaginary temptations, is the ground work of the emotional drama, 'A Wife's Secret', which will be seen at the Opera House tomorrow night.

It tells a story of real heart-interest and emotion, with quaint humor and brilliant comedy.

The leading role of the wronged girl-wife, Mona Madison, is said to be one of the most sympathetic characters ever seen in a play of this kind, and according to the critics of other cities, it is well portrayed by Grace Bayley, the well-known young emotional actress.

The production of scenery and effects is on a most elaborate scale, and nothing has been left undone that would make success for presentation this season. This attraction is under the direction of Spencer & Aborn, who have contributed many excellent presentations to the field of melodrama and emotional plays.

Beginning Monday night Thomas A. Edison's moving pictures are to be shown at the Opera House. Three presentations will be made, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, and a different exhibit will be shown each evening. The pictures to be shown are the most part along comedy lines and many of them are in color. Besides there will be a number of educational features included. The following comment upon the production is taken from the Washington Evening Star of Washington, D. C.

"Over 1000 people packed the Auditorium of Hamline, M. E. church to witness the Motion Picture company of this city exhibit. It was pronounced to be the most magnificent display of moving pictures ever seen here."
