On Pretext Jews Were Responsible for the Accidental Explosion of a Bomb, "Black Hundreds" Renew Their Bloody Work.

Rushing Through Streets Peopled by Hebrews, and Invading Cemetery Where Mourners Are Praying at Graves of Departed Loved Ones, Bands of Rowdies Engage in a Shooting Bee, Unrestrained by the Police, Who Remain Impassive Spectators.

Odessa, Sept. 2.—The "Black Hundreds" began rioting here this afternoon, alleging that the Jews were responsible for the explosion of a bomb in the courtyard of the central police station here Saturday morning.

The mobs indulged in other brutal excesses. The Jewish cemetery, where thousands of Jews were praying at the gravesides of their dead, was the scene of a fierce onslaught by members of the "black hundreds," who shot down many of the mourners with revolvers.

During this attack, which lasted for several hours, the police were impassive spectators. The "Union of Russian People" passed a resolution this evening to annihilate, with the assistance of the Cossacks, the members of the Jewish self-defense organization.

MARQUETTE, MICH., SEPT. 3.

Entered as mail matter of the second class in the postoffice at Marquette, Mich.

Labor day wasn't as warm and balmy as it might have been, but at least there was no rain.

Even at $700 plus for wrecking charges the Nyanza got off easily; in fact, she was fortunate to get off at all.

The first of September having been passed, the open season for creosote is, according to best calculations, about two weeks away.

It appears to us that the championship aspirations of our Marquette ball team have received something of a crimp. However, there is considerable of the season left. Perhaps its members will be able to rehabilitate them.

The Escanaba council is considering the use of Tavia in finishing its macadam streets. The Marquette park, cemetery and street commission has decided to use it and will use it, i. e., if the equipment necessary for the work ever shows up.

Attorney General Bird's resurrection of the issue of under-taxation of telegraph and telephone companies may have in it something of "playing politics," but in any event it is the sort of politics that the people like to see played. In this matter the attorney general wants a square deal; that's all.

Lieutenant Perry has postponed his polar dash until next year, and is confident that if he gets through next year he will still find a virgin pole, for Lieutenant Perry has no confidence in the airship route. But wouldn't he be disappointed man if Walter Wellman and the Record-Herald headed him out?

The Soo Times, Democratic, suggests Chase S. Osborn of the Lock City as a candidate for congress, but neglects to specify whether the suggestion is made with malice aforethought or with Mr. Osborn's knowledge and consent, which information is of course essential before we know how to take it.

The younger Italians of New York—those who have been weaned from macaroni to American foods and who can read English—have formed the White Hand society, whose primary purpose is to break up the Black Hand. When Hand means Hand it will be time for ordinary white folks to get into the cyclone cellars.

The Detroit Journal believes that Attorney General Bird is right in his advocacy of equal taxation for the telegraph and telephone companies, but believes he was unfortunate in his latest way of putting the question. "Political claptrap" is the term it employs. This sort of claptrap, however, sometimes gets results where saner methods fail.

Where does the money go that the telegraph companies are saved by the ridiculously low taxation they are subjected to in Michigan? The information as to the pay of operators that the public has gained as a result of the pending strike shows that it doesn't go to the employees. It must go higher up, to the foreign stockholders. Wherever it goes the present taxes of these companies are a farce, and should without delay be put on an equitable basis with taxes on other property interests in the state.

Copperdom wrestlers are talking of barring Ziehr from future tournaments. They are becoming rather wearied of seeing him walk off with the lion's share of the purses by bowling men over who are plainly under his class. We should think, too, that their feelings on the subject would be heightened by the fact that Ziehr skulked in the tall timber when he recently had a chance to get on a $500 match with Jack Carkeek, a man in his class. The voege of an "easy money" artist like Ziehr does not endure indefinitely. Possibly in his case it is even now approaching an end.

Without wishing to make invidious comparisons it may be said that Michigan has had two good attorneys general—Charles A. Blair and John A. Bird, says the Lansing Journal. The first, because of his able prosecution of the railroad taxation cases, was elevated to a position on the supreme bench, leaving his work unfinished. It was a happy chance that resulted in the selection of John A. Bird as his successor, for he has not only completed the work of his able predecessor, but he has laid out new lines of endeavor quite as important.

He entered upon the discharge of his duty with but one motive, to do right, and he was not strayed from the path in which he first placed his feet. Close scrutiny of his many official acts fails to reveal one that does not indicate a sincere desire to do justice and to serve the people of the state, which is the highest aim.

Father Flannigan, whose funeral will be held here today, with elaborate ceremonies, lived one of those lives which people of all creeds and nationalities delight to honor—a life of devotion to humanity and the doing of God's work in a spirit of self-abnegation and devotion to high ideals. The value of Father Flannigan's work and the influence of his strong and noble life are best demonstrated to those not intimately acquainted with them by the general regret expressed by the Chicago press and by representative men of that great city at the closing of his career. Father Flannigan was not only a wholly good and unselfish man; in conjunction with these qualities he possessed a gift for effective work and the getting of results. In consequence he not only did tremendous work for his church in Chicago, but was a vital force in activities outside it, a man who can be said to have left the impress of his personality on even that great city.

This has been an unusually backward season for upper peninsula agriculture. Crops, taken their right through, are the poorest in years. Thus the outlook for the agricultural display at the county fair cannot be said to be of the best. Even optimistic directors hesitate to predict that "it will be better than last year." Of course there will be the usual exhibits, but they will compare with displays in other years as the crops in general this season compare with crops in other seasons. But the horse racing promises to be excellent, and critics to the contrary notwithstanding, there has been more interest shown in the horse racing than in any other fair event. This year there are more high grade horses on the track than ever before and they will all be raced to win. There will be no fixing of the terms on the purses will be divided. The events will be conducted under association rules, and will be conducted solely with the purpose of giving the public some good sport.

A. D. Pettit's Teddy takes a wholly dependent view of the forthcoming constitutional convention, saying:

If present indications continue for anything the forthcoming constitutional convention will be controlled by the big corporations, and it is doubtful if any instrument formulated by the convention will be adopted by the voters of the state. The railroads have been most active and will be represented in the convention by a number of able attorneys, whose efforts will be especially in the interests of the railroad. The big brewers have not been asleep and when the convention meets it will be found that the interests of the booze dispensers are not to be slighted. The electric railway, telephone, telegraph and express companies will also have their interests ably looked after by delegates of their choosing who are pledged to do their bidding. Then there will be another element, who are satisfied with the old constitution and who will endeavor to load the instrument down with provisions which will cause its defeat at the polls. In a majority of the districts of the state the people have been sleeping while private interests detested nominations, and the same interests will doubtless control in the election. The people will pay the freight, which at present appears to be about the only part they will have in the proceedings.

Among the elements of the situation which contribute to the belief of the Iron Age that good times are to continue for a time at least is the fact that congress will not assemble for more than three months and another is that the presidential campaign will not begin for eight months. There are other and better reasons, however, why the entire country may feel assured that the industrial activity is to continue. The Iron Age itself mentions some of them. While not in the iron trade some "nervousness" over the future," it says that "the plants are still running at high pressure and will continue to do so for the remainder of the year." This means that many manufacturing institutions are anticipating good business next year as the output of the iron concerns for the remainder of the year will go into the stocks which form the raw material for next season.

The Boston Herald finds among other encouraging evidences the 30,000 letters recently gathered by a Chicago banking house from all over the west. These were from men engaged in all kinds of business and with scarcely an exception they were highly optimistic in tone. They represented business as very good and prospects for the future as bright. The Herald also finds encouragement in the later crop reports. The country will have the usual quantity of staples, enough for our own use and a considerable amount to sell.

The farms of the country, on which so much depends, are in pretty good condition. The mills, the mines, the forests, the fisheries—from all of these come good tidings. The Financial Chronicle's

SUFFERED AGONY WITH SALT RHEUM

On Hands, Arms, and Face for Three Years—Spent Hundreds of Dollars in Seeking a Cure—Hands Became a Solid Sheet of Sores—No Rest from Awful Itching Until

CUTICURA REMEDIES EFFECTED A CURE

"I had salt rheum for three years on my hands, arms, and face and I thought it would eat all over me. I tried five or six doctors but they failed and my husband has spent hundreds of dollars in trying everything we could hear of. But I grew worse and worse, my hands itched awfully and I could get no rest at all. I was just in agony all the time because when they did not itch they were so dry and cracked that I was miserable and when they cracked, they bled. The nails of my finger and thumb began to come off and my hands were a solid sheet of sores. Several of my friends told me to try the Cuticura Remedies so I got a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment and from the first my hands began to improve and now they are well, and I think that the Cuticura Remedies are worth their weight in gold, and I advise every one that has skin trouble to use them. reports show that the gross earnings of about one-half of the railroads for July were 11.52 per cent more than the gross earnings of the same properties in July last year.

"Hard times, in the last analysis," says the Indianapolis News, "prevail because people have spent what they have not got. A panic may come at any time from any cause, but if those affected have spent only what was theirs; if they have their own, they are not to be frightened and the panic quickly spends itself. But when people have spent what they do not own; have discounted the future and the future fails to realize their expectations, panic is followed by inability to liquidate, and this by hard times. We can see no immediate likelihood of hard times, because we have good crops and busy industries, and what has taken place in Wall street, and the whole course of popular agitation and of law enforcement have been toward getting the business of the country on a solid and actual basis."

These opinions from widely different localities seem to be representative of the feeling in business circles. Undoubtedly some anxiety has been felt as to the future in view of the course of affairs in Wall street and of the persistent howls of Wall street financiers that legislation and prosecutions were sure to make trouble, but this is giving place to confidence.

NEW USE FOR POST CARDS.
 The post card as a campaign document is coming into great favor. To meet the needs of candidates, a number of meetings, familiarize the people with the faces of candidates, and present a few convincing arguments briefly are some of the uses to which it is to be put during the next presidential contest. In medicine, Hoadley's Stomach Bitters has been in great favor for over 54 years and because of its wonderful merit is regarded today more highly than ever. Doctors, druggists and thousands in private life have voluntarily praised it and join with us in urging every sick man or woman to try a bottle at once. For curing sour risings, heartburn, cramps, diarrhoea, dyspepsia, indigestion, insomnia, kidney troubles or female ill is splendid. Try a bottle today and see for yourself. We guarantee it pure.

Upper Peninsula

Is Heir to $10,000—
 Fred Lee, an employe of the Enterprise of St. Ignace, is advised from England that he is the heir to the estate of a relative recently deceased. His share amounts to $10,000.

Gladstone Improvements—
 Contracts for the construction of macadam pavements and the installation of sewers have been awarded by the city of Gladstone to the Northern Construction & Engineering company of Escanaba. The improvements will cost $30,000. The contract price for the pavement is $2.04 per cubic yard.

Bank Buys Public Bonds—
 The Commercial bank of Iron Mountain has recently invested $42,000 in Upper Michigan public improvement bonds. It has purchased the issue of $30,000 school bonds at Republic, the $10,000 water works bonds issued by the village of South Lake, and the $2,000 cemetery improvement bonds issued by the township of Norway.

Self-Styled Detective Jailed—
 Discovered in the act of ransacking the personal belongings of guests at a Munising hotel, a man who gave the name of H. R. Russell was taken into custody. He claimed to be a detective hailing from Detroit and asserted that he was looking for diamonds he alleged had been stolen from the Griswold House, in that city. It was concluded to look the fellow up and he was turned over to Sheriff Thornton.

Important Timber Deal—
 A big deal as a result of which sufficient timber has been secured to keep the mill of the purchaser at Hiawatha, Schoolcraft county, in operation for many years to come has been closed between the South Lake Lumber company and the Upper Peninsula Land company. The former concern acquires 194 "forties" of desirable timber land—7,760 acres in all. The consideration is $1,500,000.

Voters to Decide—
 The question whether the city shall purchase voting machines will be submitted to the voters of Manistique at the election to hold Sept. 17 for the selection of delegates to the constitutional convention. The council evenly divided on the matter and it has been resolved to let the people decide the issue. There is little question the decision will be favorable to the machine voters.

Wrestling Match Arranged—
 A wrestling match between George Putnam of Munising and "Terrible Finn" of Mass City has been arranged to take place at Munising tonight of Sept. 12. It will be a catch-as-catch-can contest, two bouts of three. Putnam has achieved much fame on the mat the last two years, while the "Terrible Finn" has yet to be thrown. The latter is a brawny copper miner. Sporting men from a number of counties will witness the match between them.

Money-Handler Resigns—
 Because of failing health, Charles Brebner has resigned as cashier of the Newberry bank. He is succeeded by E. M. Lamberink. Mr. Brebner will leave shortly on an extended trip through the West, and will probably locate there.

Tuberculosis Sanitarium—
 For the purpose of dispensing the advisability of establishing a sanitarium in the upper peninsula for the maintenance and treatment of victims of tuberculosis, a conference of supervisors was held in Marquette, May 20. The various counties will be represented by delegates who are now being appointed.

High Wages Cutting Profits—
 That wages have reached the high water mark this summer employes of labor in the upper peninsula undoubtedly hope and believe, comments the Munising News. As high as $40 and even $50 per month and board has been paid to woodsmen recently at the present time $30 is about the average for that class of labor. It will not be strange if at least a few firms doing business in the Northern Michigan find when they take account the increased cost and the decreased volume of production that this year's business is disappointing.

Manufacturing Plant Sold—
 An important deal has been consummated in Marquette whereby the Goodwill company of Chicago has become the owner of the Weston Manufacturing company's plant in the Schoolcraft county town.

The Chicago concern is engaged extensively in the manufacture of boxes, folders, etc., and operates a number of big plants in other cities. The Marquette plant will be enlarged by the erection of new buildings, and thereafter steady employment will be given a force of 125 men. The site comprises eight acres.

The rougher grades of timber and lumber will be used in the manufacture of the company's products, and of his class of supplies the material available is practically inexhaustible.

The Preservation Successful—
 The process of preserving railroad ties has proved so successful at the Escanaba plant of the Chicago & Northwestern company that $25,000 is to be expended in enlarging the institution. In addition to the so-called Wellhouse process, now in use, the Butler creosote process is to be installed. With the zinc chloride or Wellhouse process, only the soft timber can be treated to advantage. With the creosote and zinc creosote processes the harder timbers, such as maple, can be treated with profit and their life extended through a considerably longer period of years. Timber is becoming so high in price in consequence of its increasing scarcity that the railroads have found the preserving process very profitable.

Much Fish Confiscated—
 During the past two weeks that he has been quietly working in Menominee county, Deputy State Game Warden J. B. Eddy has seized over 1,000 pounds of undersized fish. In the same length of time Warden Eddy has confiscated over 5,000 pounds in several nearby counties, and in his report to the state he says that 6,500 pounds of illegal fish have been seized as the result of one official trip. Warden Eddy is arranging to post special deputies in the respective fishing districts for the purpose of closely watching the men from whom the fish were secured, as a number of prosecutions will be withheld on promises of good conduct in the future. In a number of cases, especially in Delta county, Game Warden Eddy has secured the names of wardens and several of them paid heavy fines. In searching one fisherman's premises near Escanaba, a large quantity of undersized fish packed in eggs were found hidden in a hay mow and were confiscated. It is claimed by Game Fishermen that the fish are gradually disappearing from the lakes and unless something is done to increase the supply it will be but a few years before the business will commence to dwindle. In all probability the taking of undersized fish has something to do with the decrease and the game warden's department is determined to put a stop to the practice if possible.

Dog Case Haid Fought—
 Claiming that he could not be held responsible for the disposition of the carcass of a dog, which had been shot by accident, the animal had been loaned to him and was not legally his property. Emil Nelson put up a vigorous fight when arraigned in justice court at Gladstone. According to the evidence in the case, a dog in the possession of Nelson recently bit the child of a neighbor. The animal was ordered shot and this was done. Nelson was ordered to dispose of the carcass of the canine, and failing to do so he was haled into court. The case was hard fought by the opposing attorneys, Nelson lost and was assessed $10 fine and costs, and now he will appeal to the circuit court.

Chemical Plant Resumes—
 After extensive repairs in progress for the past three weeks, the Mashek Chemical Works at Wells, Delta county, have resumed operations. An interesting experiment tried at the plant has been successful. It has been found necessary to replace many of the corrugated steel plates of which the retorts are made. The intense heat to which the plates are subjected in baking the wood to convert it into charcoal causes them to expand. It was thought the corrugated plates would warp and break under the heat. The experiment proved that the plates were not so affected as was feared. The plates were bent back and forth as in the ordinary bending back and forth of a piece of wire—the plates have broken.

Upper Peninsula Fatalities—
 It develops according to the St. Ignace Republican-News that Lester Engdaling, an attorney at the Battle Creek sanitarium, shot and killed by a gun in the hands of a companion while the two were camping together at Brevoort, Mackinac county, met his doom in consequence of what appears to have been a would-be attempt to violate the game laws. The young men were stationed on a runaway hunting deer out of season, it is said. The weapon was accidentally discharged and the head of lookout struck Engdaling in a vital spot. He died shortly afterward.

Struck by a falling tree just as it had been chopped down by a woodsman, Joseph Poisson, a tenant at Boykin's logging camp near LaSalle, Baraga county, sustained a fracture of the skull as he was driving by, and was dead within twenty minutes.

Estate Left in Trust—
 By the will of the late Lewis Stegmüller of Escanaba, which has been filed for probate with Judge T. B. White of the probate court, the greater portion of the estate, consisting of mineral and timber lands in Minnesota, Montana, Michigan and Wisconsin, is bequeathed to his nephews in Germany. The entire estate is placed in the hands of the Northern Trust company of Chicago, which is given full power to dispose of any of the property at any time and to take any action concerning it that may be deemed necessary. In the will the trust company is advised to consult with J. H. McCabe of Montana concerning any mineral property owned by him in Montana and to consult with Frank H. Brotherton and W. R. Linsley of Escanaba concerning the disposition of any timber or mineral lands owned by Mr. Stegmüller in Michigan, Wisconsin or Minnesota. Mr. Stegmüller directs that the trustees of the property shall pay over $2,000 at once into the hands of two trustees who are named and to be used for the education of a nephew, Ludwig Margruff of Wourtenberg. The income of the estate, it is directed, shall be divided equally among his remaining five nephews. The estate, it is ordered, shall remain in the hands of the trust company until the two oldest of the nephews named as beneficiaries shall have died and shall then be equally divided and distributed among the other nephews or their surviving heirs. In a codicil to the will it is directed by Mr. Stegmüller that the trustees shall pay $25 a month to Wilhelmina Stegmüller of Belleville, Ill., wife of his late brother. In the event of the estate passing out of the hands of the trust company before Mrs. Stegmüller's death, it is ordered that $2,000 shall be paid over to the bishop of the diocese in which Belleville is located and who shall see that Mrs. Stegmüller is placed in an old people's home and cared for. In the codicil it is also ordered that $100 shall be paid each year for a term of ten years to the pastor of St. Joseph's church of Escanaba and St. Clement's church of Chicago for saying masses for the repose of the soul of his sister Marianne and for himself.

TALKED WITH BONAPARTE.
 A Little Belgian Girl Whom the Great Napoleon Told to Care for Her Mother.

There is still living in the village of Lieze, Belgium, a woman who spoke with the great Napoleon on the day of the battle—June 16, 1815—at that place. Her name is Mme. Anne-Joseph Ruybay, and she will reach her 102nd birthday on July 29. Her memory is still perfectly clear as to the incident. Napoleon had established his quarters close to the little farm where she and her mother were alone. Her parents had buried their little stock of money and valuables in the ground, and in the morning the emperor came out and took up his quarters close to the spot. Hearing that he might discover the hiding place, the farmer's wife, to distract his attention, took her head in both hands and pretended to be suffering from toothache. This attracted the emperor's attention, and coming over to the woman he told her not to be afraid, but added that the battle was about to be fought she should betake herself and her little girl to a place of safety. He then turned to the little Anne-Joseph, and patting her on her cheeks, told her to be "a good little girl and take care of her mother."

Encouraged by his kindness, the farmer's wife then told the emperor that her brother had served in one of his dragon regiments, but had not been heard of for several years. On ascertaining the name of the regiment Napoleon replied that it was one of those that had suffered most during the retreat from Russia, but he would have inquiries made. He then told them to hurry off into the forest of Sombrefe until the fighting was over. Mme. Ruybay has a perfect recollection of the emperor's appearance, and describes him as "a little man with a big nose."

She also remembers the scene of destruction and slaughter presented by the village when they returned the next day. She describes the French soldiers as "fine fellows," but her recollection of the Prussians is not so favorable, for "they ate up all our chickens and our two calves without paying for them."—London Daily Graphic.

Copper Country

COPPER COUNTRY'S LABOR DAY.

Celebration Confined to Houghton—Calumet is Quiet.

Labor Day in the copper country was observed quietly. The celebration was practically confined to Haas' Park, Houghton, where the Portage Lake Trades and Labor Council held a celebration in which the Hancock and Houghton unions were jointly interested.

This celebration opened with a parade in the morning, in which pageant two bands and all the labor organizations of the two towns participated.

In Calumet the labor organizations did not hold a celebration. The only unusual event of the day in the metropolis was the picnic of the Calumet campment of the Old Fellows.

The socialists of the county held a picnic at Electric Park. Here Patrick H. O'Brien of Laurium addressed the gathering, and there were other speakers.

LAURIUM MAY HAVE MILITIA.
Colonel Cox Says Houghton Infantry Will be Succeeded.

Colonel J. N. Cox, assistant adjutant general of the Michigan National Guard, arrived in the copper country Sunday afternoon as a passenger on the U. S. S. Yantic.

Colonel Cox is largely responsible for bringing the Yantic to Hancock, and he approves the recent action of the Houghton Light Infantry in voting to transfer to the Third Infantry regiment to the naval brigade, as the second company of the new upper peninsula battalion.

The Houghton division will give the Yantic a company of 100 men, which is about the least with which the ship may properly be handled.

The transfer will make a vacancy in the Third regiment, and Colonel Cox says the succeeding company will be located somewhere in the copper country.

Laurium appears to be bidding for the new company with a fair prospect of success.

OPENING OF THE SCHOOLS.

Copper Country Teachers Arriving for Their Year's Work.

The public and parochial schools of the copper country will open this morning. For the past week the teachers of the various schools, numbering several hundred, have been returning, and yesterday practically all of them were on hand.

Teachers' meetings were held in all the schools yesterday. There are no special features in connection with the opening.

The big event of the school year in the copper country will be the opening of Calumet's high school, with President Angel, of the University of Michigan as the orator of the day. Arrangements for this event are now in making, though the date is not definitely set.

WEATHER OF THE PAST.
Statistics of September as Issued by the Weather Bureau.

The following data, covering a period of seven years, have been compiled from the weather bureau records at Houghton. They are issued to show the conditions that are prevalent during the month in question.

Temperature—Mean or normal, 58 degrees. The warmest month was that of 1906, with an average of 62 degrees; the coldest, 1904, with an average of 54 degrees. The highest temperature was 93 degrees on the 10th, 1906; the lowest, 33 degrees on the 22nd, 1904.

Precipitation (rain or melted snow)—Average for the month, 4.19 inches. The average number of days with 0.1 of an inch or more is thirteen. The greatest monthly precipitation was 9.22 inches in 1900; the least was 2 inches in 1901.

Relative Humidity—Average 7 a. m., 84 per cent.
Clouds and weather—Average number of clear days, 10; partly cloudy, 8; cloudy, 12.

YANTIC IN NEW HOME.
Naval Reserve Steamer Visited by Thousands Yesterday.

As was stated in these columns yesterday, the U. S. S. Yantic, manned by the Hancock Naval Reserve, arrived at Hancock and tied up to the old Quincy smelter dock at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

The ship arrived at Portage Entry at 8:25 Sunday morning, having made the run from the Soo locks, 205 miles, in a little better than twenty hours. The slight mishap, the weather being delectful, there was a heavy shower between 6 and 8 o'clock Saturday evening, but this was greeted with joy on the part of the men, who saw in it a relief from scrubbing decks.

During the voyage from Detroit Surgeon Harkness was called upon to prescribe for every man on the ship, a change of food and water having occasioned minor ailments. Boatman's appendixitis, but was on the sick list for only twenty-four hours, choosing rather to resume duty than to indulge in the luxury of such a wealthy disease.

The ship was open to visitors yesterday afternoon and will be again this afternoon. So much has been said concerning the Yantic, that a description is superfluous here. She carries a brigantine rig, three masts with foremast square rigged. She has a new fore and aft engine, 400 horse-power, and her displacement is 1,800 tons.

Copper Country Is Looked Over by the Best Looker.

The copper country received yesterday the most searching inspection to which it is ever subjected. A pleasant-faced, middle-aged man with a smile of the indelible sort toured the county in W. D. Calverley's big Simplex car with Mr. Curtis and John C. Mann as guides, and when he was through with the trip he undoubtedly knew more about the copper country than any other person who was supposed to be providing the knowledge.

Mr. Curtis occupies a unique position in the newspaper world. He travels the globe for his paper, choosing his own subjects and his own fields, and his daily letters are the most interesting newspaper matter that is published in the country.

QUINCY'S DIVIDEND.

Some Criticism of the Action of the Company's Directorate.

Ever since the price of the metal was reduced, comments the Boston Financial News, those who are interested in copper affairs have naturally been watching closely the dividend action taken by the leading companies.

What permanent effect this action will have on the copper list cannot be foretold, but there is no question that it will more than offset the favorable effect of the action of the Calumet & Arizona.

At the meeting of the directors, which was held on the 28th, the dividend was set at 82 cents per share.

After four directors present, however, voted in line with the policy of President Todd, and favored the disbursement of only $2.50.

The Quincy Mining company produced a little over 9,000,000 pounds of copper for the first six months of this year, and exclusive of construction the cost was probably close to 11 cents per pound.

"We have some good railroad bonds in the treasury, and we have heretofore borrowed on them when we found ourselves pressed for ready cash."

Business men are becoming alarmed at the possibilities of the strike on the part of the machinists, according to Butte articles. It is feared that other names may shut down as fast as the machinery becomes unftted for use.

"The earnings applicable to dividends for the past quarter were rising $500,000, and simply because the company at the moment has a short of ready cash."

"I had the directors 15 cents per pound for all unworked copper we had on hand, but of course it was refused."

"The company's construction this year will be a little larger than last, and may amount for the year for $2,000,000."

"The company's recent averages both as respects costs and copper contents of the rock, are not showing noteworthy changes."

"I don't know that you are inspectors, and I won't let you in."

"BRAVEST GIRL IN BROOKLYN."
Miss Kate Murphy Prevents Robbery and Sends Two Men to Jail.

New York, Sept. 2.—It should be a matter of public record that Miss Kate Murphy is the bravest and most self-possessed ticket agent in the greater city.

"You are the bravest young woman I ever knew."

"The prisoners, when arraigned before Magistrate Naumer in the Manhattan Avenue court, gave their names as John Brennan, twenty-one years old, a clothing cutter of 246 High street, and Joseph Byrne, a motorman, twenty-two years old, of 235 High street. They are now under $2,500 bail each awaiting the action of the grand jury."

"The experiences of Miss Murphy between 11:30 o'clock at night and 12:30 in the morning form a chapter in real life that makes the most thrilling episode in the up-to-date melodrama seem pale and wan in comparison. In the first place, Miss Murphy is nineteen years old and is exceptionally good looking."

"We're inspectors of the company. Come to inspect the register. Let us in," said one of the men.

"I don't know that you are inspectors, and I won't let you in."

Chance for an Argument—Recently the report of a baseball game played by the Skandia and Wetmore teams was submitted to The Mining Journal and as the report came from an authoritative source, it was printed. Now the following contradiction is made: "We must dispute the report that was in The Mining Journal Sept. 2 regarding the baseball game between Skandia and Wetmore. The Wetmore team not only defeated the Skandia team, but shut them out, the score being 15 to 0, and also won the cake which was presented to the winning team by Mrs. Scott and Miss Matilda Beauette." In passing it may be remarked that the sender of the first report has a mistaken idea of values for he failed to say anything at all about the cake, and the ladies who so kindly baked it were not even referred to.

CITY JOINS IN BIG LABOR CELEBRATION

SPEECH BY GEORGE TUCKER IN FRONT OF CITY HALL—BASEBALL, ATHLETICS, AND A DANCE AT NIGHT.

All the stores of the city were closed yesterday and the Labor Day celebration was the event of the day. Early in the morning the streets were crowded and the parade met with a cordial reception. The members of the various unions were in line and the Marquette band and the boys' drum corps furnished the music. There were two floats.

The Exercises.
After the parade the exercises were held in front of the city hall which was decorated with bunting for the occasion. Mayor Robertson was to have been present to speak, but he is out of the city and was unable to get back in time for the celebration. The principal address was made by Attorney George Tucker and the text of his remarks is given below. Walter Ward also addressed the gathering.

The dinner served at the grounds was followed by the base ball game between the carpenters and the painters and by the other athletic events. The game was won by the carpenters by a score of 15 to 1. The most laughable event of the afternoon was the capture of the greased pig by Charles Byrd. The pig only submitted after a struggle which greatly amused the crowd and thoroughly greased the boy. Another event of interest was a boxing match by a number of young boys. The luckless contest was also popular. As there were no entries a number of the events were not held. In the evening the dance was held at Fraternity hall.

Tucker's Speech.
Following is the address made by Mr. Tucker:

"Unionism among the trades and physical toilers, as well as in business, has become a part of the civilization in which we live, and to resist it is to tempt fate and invite disaster. The destiny of our country will be worked out under the combined influence of capital properly organized and labor also properly organized, and each so regulated by statute as to then subsolve the common good of the sovereign citizen of this republic. There is one union above all unions, its jurisdiction is co-extensive with the boundaries of the republic, its constitution is the constitution of our country, its laws are the laws of the land and its emblem is the stars and stripes of the American union.

"Unionism in trade and labor is not a perfect organization, its plans and methods have confessedly, been marked by the imperfections common to human frailty, and the same is true of every successful order of society, or of government. The failures of the past will not be lost if they be made to properly contribute to the successful action of the future.

"One of the tenets of unionism is patriotism. This to economics is what faith is to religion. It is the city set upon a hill; the tree planted on the top of the mountain whose fruits shall shake like Lebanon. And not further proof of the patriotic devotion on the part of trades unions should be required than in the cheerful sacrifices made by its membership on the field of battle when either the fair name of this country has been assailed, or the interests of her citizens placed in jeopardy by a foreign foe. Trade and labor, as an institution, has contributed its full quota to our unprecedented triumphs, whether in peace or war.

"Unionism is inseparable from legislation. Not the folly of blind partisanship in practical politics. Practical politics has no time for any man or combination of men that cannot contribute to its immediate or future success. The elevation of our social conditions will never be accomplished through exclusively political instrumentalities. There is not enough of integrity in the game, and the innocent unfamiliar with its devious windings will soon discover himself exploited for the benefit of those who possess both knowledge and power. But in the office of our public servants, and particularly those we expect to crystallize our will into law, it requires only ordinary intelligence to discriminate between a record of so-called 'interest' and that which stands for the 'square deal.' It is up to all classes of citizenship to make that discrimination. It is also up to all classes to properly protect the facilities for self government. Among the dangerous forms of anarchy is that which through mechanical devices tampers with the right of a sovereign citizen to express his will and to have that will recorded. It is not the stuffing of the ballot box in defiance of law that we need most fear. The abuse of privilege in partisan primaries and conventions may be far more deadly. I commend these thoughts to your dispassionate consideration in the privacy of your homes and in the light of your responsibilities as citizens.

"The unionism that endures will be that which worthily commands the approval of public sentiment. Public sentiment is the most powerful force in the world. Under its merciless exactions the thrones of high finance may totter and fall. We have had the edifying spectacle of H. H. Rodgers dipping his colors to government by law after proudly declaring that 'it makes no difference what the supreme court may desire me to say.' The same has been true of Harrison and many of his votaries in the realm of high finance. An offended public sentiment sent Mayor Schmidt and Sheriff Knoff to jail in San Francisco for the crime of grafting. Like results have been achieved in Philadelphia and New York, where the fierce search light of the people's fiery indignation has driven some into exile, others languish in a felon's cell, while some have sought refuge in the grave. The institutions of man fall or triumph agreeably to what they merit from the world's best thought and trades unionism if it shall develop but one great idea capable of being taken up in the religious or civic thought of the age shall win enduring fame, which future generations will record among the truth, beauty, and religion of its mighty past."

Setting A Good Example

It is needless to more than briefly comment on the advantages of saving some part of one's income. The good resulting from the laying aside of the little, and the evil attached to the utter lack of the saving instinct and practice, are both too apparent. If the parent will devote a small stated sum and deposit the same monthly in the name of the child, and so continue for a term of years, the inevitable is the inculcating in the little one's mind the value of "BRING READY FOR A RAINY DAY," aside from the benefit accruing from the moderately large "nest egg" that results.

ISLIPMING DEFEATED.

Brilliant Individual Work But Outcome of Game Was Never in Doubt.

Islipming turned out the biggest crowd of the season to see the baseball game at Union Park yesterday and the Islipming team was defeated by a score of 17 to 3. Jonsson and LaFave were the battery for Marquette and Lynn Andrews and Nickole for Islipming. Jonsson struck out twelve men and there were seven Marquette men struck out, three by Lynn and four by Andrews. Although the game was interesting and there was a considerable amount of brilliant individual playing, the outcome was at no time in doubt. Following is the score by innings:

Marquette . . . 0 17 2 0 0 0 3 1—17 14 3
Islipming . . . 0 0 0 2 0 0 0 1—3 4 17

Next Sunday's game, one of the strongest teams of the upper peninsula is to play Marquette here.

CHICAGO'S OLDEST SETTLER, DYING NOW, PROVIDES A $50,000 MEMORIAL TO A HORSE.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—A $50,000 monument for his horse is a feature that has been incorporated in the will of Henry Graves, the oldest settler of Chicago, who now lies near death's door at his home. He came to the little settlement about Fort Dearborn in 1831. A pioneer racing man and lover of horses, Mr. Graves has provided that the finest monument ever erected for a horse will be placed in Washington Park. It will memorialize Ike Cook, a famous trotter he owned fifty years ago. Years ago Mr. Graves arranged all the details, but for some reason he preferred that it be built after he has passed away. His will contains instructions for the work, and after his death his executors will see that they are carried out to the letter. Ike Cook had a record of 2:30, which in those early days was remarkable time. In fact, Ike Cook was the first horse to make that mark on a one mile track in the state of Illinois. The animal was famous throughout the country, and, with Mr. Graves driving him, won many great victories. Although Mr. Graves owned many other fine horses, some of which proved more profitable, Ike Cook was his favorite. Mr. Graves was a fashionable in bronze. Ike Cook will look down upon the thousands of people that visit Washington Park. At his feet a fountain will provide refreshment for both man and beast.

PARLIAMENT MAY MOVE TO STOP CRAZE FOR LIMERICK RAM-PANT IN LONDON.

London, Sept. 2.—This year's silly season has developed a craze for limerick and to satisfy the demand the sum of $30,000 a week is being distributed by half a dozen papers among persons who write the best fifth line to four lines of this doggerel. Attorney General Lawson Walton has made frequent statements in parliament on the legality of competitions of this character, and it is believed that on account of irregularities in connection with the award of prizes offered by one paper, whose publisher is of great prominence, these competitions will be stopped altogether.

LETTER CARRIERS PARADE.

Canton, O., Sept. 2.—It took the national letter carriers parade two hours and a half to make the line of march this afternoon. There were carrier bands at the head of the various divisions from Brooklyn, Pittsburg, Chicago and St. Louis; a drum corps from Detroit and several drum corps from nearby places. As the column wheeled at the corner of Louis avenue and North

CLEAN STREETS AT NIGHT

New Method Adopted That Adds Greatly to Gotham's Appearance.

New York, Sept. 2.—Street Cleaning Commissioner Walter Bensen has continued to make radical changes in the work along various lines of improvement, until he says now he is aiming at having a clean city all the time. Night work has helped revolutionize street cleaning. Six hundred street cleaners are at work every night, and the major portion of the department start in working in the morning with the streets pretty well cleaned.

This step counts for a very great deal, Dr. Bensen says, in making for a clean city. The cleaners don't have streets littered with waste and dirt when they begin in the morning, and the work is not so arduous and difficult as before, but so necessary is it to keep at work, and so fast does dirt accumulate, that a corps of cleaners and sweepers has been established to watch for deposits of dirt in the streets and pick it up as fast as found. Three thousand heavy canvas bags with metal lips have been ordered for this work, and 250 of them are being used on main thoroughfares.

For the use of the night workers and for the department generally, Mr. Bensen has put in use a dozen flushing machines and fifty street sweeping machines. Seventy-five more will soon be used. Some streets are practically cleaned three times by this method. Sweepers go first over a street with the machine. Then the flushing machine goes behind, driving all the dirt into the gutters or catch basins. The cleaners follow them and give the finishing touches to the street, which is then perfectly cleaned, ready for the heavy morning traffic. This method has been found so efficacious in maintaining a clean street that the scheme has been extended to Brooklyn.

Commissioner Bensen has been trying to save the city some money while in office, and believes he has done so in the trimming contracts. He found Guy Ponzi, who had the privilege of trimming the sewers at various dumps—(a) in all—was paying the city $1,346 a week. The contract was let from week to week. Commissioner Bensen decided to have competitive bids submitted and he induced thirteen contractors to make offers to do the work. Guyponzi secured the contract again, but he thought it worth while to pay $2,112 a week. This represents an increase to the city of nearly $800 a year. Mr. De Marco had a similar contract in the Bronx for which he paid $150 for the privilege of trimming. Rather than let the contract go to some one else he is paying $300 a week.

DIVING, HE BREAKS HIS NECK.

Ball Player on the Savannah (Ga.) Team Meets a Fatal Fate.

Savannah, Ga., Sept. 2.—Joseph Briskey, right fielder for the Savannah baseball team in the South Atlantic league, dived into shallow water at Tybee island and was taken out dead with his neck broken. Before making the plunge he announced that he was going to try and remain under water for some time, and although his friends saw his body lying motionless on the bottom they did not go to his aid for several minutes, as they believed he was staying on purpose. Briskey leaves a wife and three-weeks-old baby at Houston, Texas.

ASKS $25,000 DAMAGES.

Western Lumber Company Sues Railroad for Failure to Deliver Cars.

Spokane, Wash., Sept. 2.—Twenty-five thousand dollars' damage for failure to deliver cars is the basis of an action filed in Spokane county court by the Frost-Cope Lumber company, operating at Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, against the Great Northern Railway company. This is the first suit of this kind instituted against a transportation company, and it is intimated that scores of others will follow in the event of any kind of a judgment for the plaintiff. The complaint recites that according to contract the railway company was to deliver 5,000,000 feet of logs at the mill, the company having previously paid $1,135 for the construction of a spur track. Failure in carrying out the agreement resulted in a large amount of timber being abandoned, the camps and mill were closed and a force of men thrown out of employment. It is added that from May 15 to Aug. 3 only 71 cars were furnished and that less than 400,000 feet of logs were delivered.

Will Fight for Reduced Rates.

Lumber manufacturers and wood working plants in eastern Washington and Oregon and Northern Idaho, in which territory more than 350 saw mills are in operation, announce they will make an independent fight for a reduction of the rates which the transcontinental lines will put into effect Oct. 1. They insist upon a 10 cent differential in favor of the Idaho lumber interests, which the coast manufacturers will not accept. This prevents an alliance between the interior and coast plants on the proposition of opposing the advance on lumber shingle rates. R. L. McCormick, secretary of the Weyerhaeuser Timber syndicate, has gone east and on his return he will stop off at St. Paul to confer with James J. Hill, president of the Great Northern Railway company regarding a plan to abandon the increased rates, but the appeal for a differential of a cent a hundred pounds is opposed by the coast lumbermen.

GREEKS GO WEST AND SOUTH.

Many Leaving New England Mills for Farms in Other States.

Lowell, Sept. 1.—An exodus of Greeks from the colonies in this city, Haverhill and Manchester, N. H., has been going on for some time, but the large number of incoming Greeks is more than sufficient to keep the settlements from depletion. More than one thousand members of the Lowell colony have already emigrated to states in the West and Southwest, to engage in farming and railroad construction. The latest batch to leave here was composed of almost five hundred men, gathered from many cities and towns in this state and southern New Hampshire, coming mostly from Texas. The reports received from some of the emigrants who have engaged in farming show that they have prospered in their new occupation and are pleased with their new homes. Each letter contains alluring promises and is responsible for the prospect of additional men to the new settlements.

BOAT GOES 32 MILES AN HOUR.

Bridgport, Ct., Sept. 1.—The Henschel motor boat Den attained a speed of thirty-two miles an hour under about three-quarters of her actual driving power. George W. Hoadley of New York city, owner, was pleased with the speed test and said he expected the boat to make forty miles an hour under full pressure. When the original Den was launched two months ago the boat broke in however, although the death of her owner and mechanic. The engine, which went to the bottom, was raised and placed in the new boat, which lacks two feet in length of the original. It is said that the Den is the fastest motor boat afloat.

METCALF MAY RETIRE.

Wishes to Be Senator from California—Newberry Would Succeed Him.

Washington, Sept. 1.—It is the growing belief in Washington that Victor H. Metcalf, secretary of the navy, is soon to retire from the cabinet. Mr. Metcalf, it is said, aspires to be a senator from California. The president has in the past indicated a preference for Mr. Trueman H. Newberry, material for a good secretary of the navy hailing from the Middle West, a section whose interest in the service the administration would like to increase; and Mr. Metcalf will have an opportunity to oppose George Clement Perkins, senior senator from California, for the senatorial nomination. It is the desire of the administration to strengthen its influence in the senate and of course as a senator from California he would be in a position to render considerable service in putting through the administration program for upbuilding the naval stations of the Pacific coast. Both sides would be satisfied if Mr. Metcalf could get into the senate.

The first action of the commissioner, when he took office July 8, was to abolish the system of lines and punishments that had obtained for fourteen years. They were so objectionable as to lead to the big strike of drivers of the department in the summer, which caused an accumulation of garbage that threatened an epidemic to the city's inhabitants. The strikers lost, but Commissioner Craven lost, his office, and Dr. Bensen, who was in charge of the department work on garbage removal and cleaning the streets, was made head of the department. He abolished the fines system at once.

There were fifty-four offenses on a list for which a man might be fined or dismissed, and the chief objection was that a man was fined on the word of a foreman without being given a hearing until after he had been fined. Often he was afraid to appear and ask for justice, owing to a prevalent belief he might lose his job through irregular trial now and then. A man gets a hearing and is held innocent until proved guilty, while the punishments are not so onerous.

Slap at Lawson.

This was an incipient slap at Thomas Lawson. In a recent advertisement Lawson blazoned to the world the fact that the government was about to dissolve the United Metals Selling company, the distributing agency of the copper trust. It is understood that when the law officers of the government appealed to Lawson for evidence he could not supply one tangible fact.

"What individuals do you think should be held as a result of infraction of the anti-trust law?"

This rather leading question was parried neatly by the attorney general, who said: "I have heard many complaints that criminal prosecutions against trust magnates and sentences of imprisonment for them have been very infrequent, and, indeed, for practical purposes, unsuccessful. It is perfectly true that, in my opinion at least, a better moral effect would be produced by sending a few prominent men to the penitentiary. The Constitution, however successful, against the corporations they control."

"You must realize that it is only successful prosecutions that count, and that a prosecution resulting non-conclusively would hurt rather than help."

It is the prosecution of the department of justice to criminally prosecute any one who is guilty of infraction of the criminal statutes wherever evidence can be adduced that promises a reasonable certainty of successful termination of the prosecution.

"If we can get a good case against any of the superiors—a case that justifies a good attorney in expecting a favorable verdict, we will act promptly and with vigor."

WELLMAN'S CHANCE : TO 10.

This the Opinion of a Paris Aeronaut on Aerial Polar Trip.

Paris, Sept. 2.—The Wellman expedition to the North Pole has been the talk of the aeronautical world in Paris of late, and it may be said that all who admire the courage and resolution of Wellman himself, even the most audacious explorers, like Santos-Dumont, Castillon de Saint-Victor and others, believe that the attempt to reach the Pole at present by a steerable balloon is almost a mad enterprise. The example of the Patrie has been cited. It is said that the Patrie can travel at the rate of nearly forty miles an hour, and that, making a calculation of distance, Mr. Wellman might arrive at the Pole in twenty-two hours. Then there is the journey back. All this is a little too simple. The Patrie has hitherto made its trials in very calm weather, always selecting its times and seasons, and up to the present it may be said that it has not tested its utility under chance conditions, even for very small journeys. It has accomplished at most some sixty miles at a time. But Mr. Wellman must multiply this feat by twenty-two, and that with the possibility of encountering one of those storms that rage so furiously in Arctic regions. The balloonists here suggest that a trial should be made of steerable balloons over a considerable tract of Europe, in order to see what nature of accidents they might be liable to under adverse conditions. Then if a breakdown happened it could be repaired, whereas a breakdown in the Arctic regions means almost certain death to the voyagers.

Bonaparte on the Trusts.

New York, Sept. 2.—In an interview with Charles J. Bonaparte, attorney general of the United States, in the Hotel Astor, at Lenox, Mass., today, he made these striking statements: "Fines may be a deterrent toward continued lawlessness of great corporations, but the imprisonment of a proven malefactor from the realms of high finance would be a beacon light of warning and have a better moral effect than much litigation, however successful, against corporate entities."

"The department of justice, as equipped today, is sadly deficient in many essentials to carry on successful prosecutions of the many cases that by new legislation or adjuvanted demand vigorous action. In my next report shall urge a reorganization of the department—such a reorganization being a part of its work. The details of what I propose I cannot discuss at this time, as they must be formulated in an orderly method and then worked out to insure a high degree of efficiency."

"There is a rumor that you are soon to resign," was suggested. "Yes, I saw that," said the attorney general, "but I confess that I must say that my only information on the subject has come from the papers. Personally I have no intention of resigning or deviating one hair's breadth from the program that has been mapped out. I suppose certain interests of people would like to see me resign, but I cannot oblige them."

TRANSFER OF OLD IRONSIDES.

Planned by Navy Department to Send Frigate to Annapolis.

Washington, Sept. 1.—As already announced in these dispatches, transfer of the United States frigate Constitution from the navy yard at Boston to the United States naval academy at Annapolis, there to take her place with the other two historic ships of the nation, the Hartford and the Olympia, and serve for all time not only as an inspiration to the thousands of future officers of the navy, but as a museum of naval history, is a program which has received the approval of the navy department, and which will doubtless soon be executed.

Many Returns Brought About.

"I think" was the response, "that in the matter of rebates a great reform has been worked. The practice used to be the rule, rather than the exception. Now it is the exception, rather than the rule. The undertaking is too arduous and few are willing to take the chance—but in some other lines of alleged practices the men in control of the corporations are the same high-minded, able and philanthropic captains of industry that the honest and heavy-handed men would be satisfied if Mr. Metcalf could get into the senate."

Mr. Metcalf would prefer to be a senator from California because in any event he could not expect to remain secretary of the navy after the close of the present administration, which has less than two years to run. Doubtless the administration will be disposed to give Mr. Metcalf such assistance as it properly can in his senatorial aspirations, and friends of Mr. Roosevelt in California who desire to show their friendship for the president in some substantial fashion can turn to his help. Mr. Metcalf will require a reorganization of the department during the year was suggested by Commissioner Bensen and shows as follows:

"What, if any, criminal prosecutions will be undertaken in the future?" was asked. "I cannot say," replied General Bonaparte. "Suffice to say that many matters are under advisement. These questions must naturally be of a more or less private character until such a time as the government is ready to make an announcement."

"This is not always an easy matter," said the attorney general. "Now you spoke of the United Metals Selling company and a report that it was to be prosecuted. I believe that we were advised that there was a hidden octopus there, that it was guilty of every crime in the calendar. We were to drag it out by its tail and gibbet it. Well, when we went to the man who was said to know all about it, malfeactions, we found that he did not know a single definite thing."

STARVING, FEEDS THE DOGS.

Onita, Novelist, in Dire Poverty, to Get Pension From British Government.

It came as a surprise to the world a few days ago when the famous name of Onita appeared in the British civil list as the recipient of a pension of $750 a year, says a special cablegram to the New York Times. It is a greater shock to learn that the once brilliant novelist has fallen in evil fortunes, and that the venerable lady of sixty-seven has often been literally short of bare necessities of life.

STARVING, FEEDS THE DOGS.

The Florence correspondent of the Daily Mail sends a pathetic story of the two years Onita occupied a splendid villa at St. Alessio, Lucra, where she was known as the "Lady of the Dogs" as she invariably had a large number around her. On one occasion she gathered together all the dogs in Lucra and gave them milk, bread, and meat, paying a dog bill for this canine banquet, at a time when she herself was so pressed for money that she had gone without food for whole days. Frequently her own servant had to appeal to the owner of the villa for food for her mistress.

The proprietor of the villa eventually turned Onita out of the house. The novelist brought suit and won her case in three courts, but the legal expenses still further depleted her slender purse. She took a smaller villa, but again her lack of practical knowledge got her into financial difficulties, and one night she spent on the seashore with only dogs for company.

Her maid took Onita to the maid's mother's cottage at Monti, where the novelist remained for some months, having during her night on the seashore contracted a cold which impaired her health generally and caused the loss of the sight of one eye and difficulty in hearing. Last February Onita took rooms at a hotel in Viareggio, where she stayed until recently, when financial stress again overtook her, she again had to have recourse to the hospitality of her former maid's mother at the village of Massarosa, where she is now living.

When the correspondent went to see her, Onita sent out a note saying, "I am only here for a few days and see no one. Write what you desire to say by post."

Onita rarely goes out of doors and has few visitors. Her passion for dogs is not diminished one jot, though now she possesses only three. She has been heard to say that she would be hopeless without dogs. In Florence in her happier days, when her literary earnings enabled her to spend money without stint, she had always at least thirty dogs, besides forty horses.

granting of the pension has aroused much interest. It is known that the novelist once went three days absolutely without food through sheer want.

ANNUAL MEETING OF SCHOOL DISTRICT NO. 1

MINE WORKERS' PICNIC.
 Large Crowd Attended Outing Yesterday at Cleveland Park.

Nearly every street car going to and returning from Cleveland Park, where the Mine Workers' union held its annual picnic yesterday, was crowded. Lots of the new cars had a trailer attached and the remainder of the cars on the system were run separated. In addition to the crowds going to the picnic a large number also attended the baseball game between Marquette and Ishpeming teams at Union Park. The attendance was by far the largest of the season, but the game was not of the kind to create enthusiasm among the Ishpeming fans.

The unfavorable weather the latter part of the afternoon drove many from the picnic and nearly 30 per cent of the people at the ball game left there before it was half finished. The rain, however, was not sufficiently heavy to break up either the picnic or the game. The program on events at the picnic grounds was interesting and consisted of athletic sports, music by the Light Guard band and addresses by Mayor Roberts and Judge Andrews. Hot coffee and other refreshments, ice cream and soft drinks were served. Had the weather remained favorable all afternoon and the New York Yacht club on this point, and time and again that organization, unofficially, has remarked that it would not cross bridges until it came to them. In other words, the New York Yacht club has given it to be understood that no question of conditions for a race for the cup would be considered until the challenge had been officially sent and received.

But it is now believed that Sir Thomas will challenge for a race next year and that the contest will not be under the old rules. Probably there will be a hot fight in the New York Yacht club by many members against a change in conditions, but the progressives are thought to be in force, and that if a challenge is received it will be accepted and the conditions made such that they will be acceptable to the challenger. In other words, there seems to be good reason to believe that the days of the racing machine for the America's cup and all other important yachting trophies are past.

The showing made by the most recent creations under the present American rules has convinced its friends that it is a success. The yachts turned out are of a good, wholesome type, having speed withal. Sir Thomas Lipton will never build another racing machine, and if he sends a challenge he probably will have some assurance that it will be accepted and that the new conditions will govern. Under the deed of gift of the trophy the races for the cup must be sailed before Nov. 1 and the challenger must give ten months' notice. So there is still plenty of time in which to send the challenge to the New York Yacht club.

On board his yacht Erin in Kingston harbor Sir Thomas was asked point blank if he intended to challenge, and his reply was that affairs had not yet developed sufficiently to enable him to give a definite answer. He said he was in Ireland to consider the matter. He had a month or six weeks in which to offer a challenge. Sir Thomas was informed of the statement by the secretary of the Royal Irish Yacht club that no challenge would be sent over until the New York Yacht club altered its measurement rules. Sir Thomas said:

"The American rule at present is a good one. It makes for a healthy, wholesome, seaworthy type of boat. No doubt it would be better for Europe and America to have one rule, whether American or international, because a boat built for America is of no use for racing in this country. I am not finding fault with the rule as it now exists. It gives us a better chance, as it provides that the competitor must be a yacht and not a machine. I hope the coming races for the cup will be sailed under the present rules of the New York Yacht club with good seaworthy boats." In reference to a challenge, Sir Thomas said he would be decided within the next few weeks. Sir Thomas continued:

"If I challenge, I'm confident I'll bring over the cup this time. If I compete, it will be through the Royal Irish Yacht club. We challenged twice through the Royal Yacht club in the north. Now I want to give the south a chance, to see if my luck will change. If I win the cup it will be a great thing for Dublin, as the subsequent races would have to be sailed in Dublin bay."

LOSING NO TIME.

Republic People Want Early Completion of the New High School.

A force of men and teams is already at work excavating for the foundation of the new high school which is to be built at Republic. The structure will be located south and southwest of the present high school, facing School street on the south, and overlooking the business district of the town on the north. The Republic hospital is to the west.

The dirt being removed for the foundation is being dumped in the hollow space between the street facing the hospital and the South Shore tracks. A number of large boulders have already been encountered and more will be uncovered before the desired depth is reached.

The present high school is to be torn down when the new one is completed and the ground it occupies will be used for playgrounds. A street is to be opened north of the present school and the railroad tracks, leading to the district east of the building. The school will cost in the neighborhood of $30,000, complete.

The Finnish Lutheran society has begun the erection of a new church, on part of the site where the Finnish Co-operative society's block stood. The framework is already up and the building is being damped in a short time. The congregation's present church is located at West Republic. The edifice is not large enough to accommodate the

The greatest sum for permanent equipment for the school buildings was spent at the manual training school, where the outlay was $1,329.50; at the Salisbury school it was $200.00; High street school, $83.91; Ridge street, $242.60; Cleveland, $115; Central, $334.07; High school, $142.55; Junction, $280.76; total, $2,702.99.

In the incidental items in the summary account, which totaled $3,781.94 for the year, there was $1,079.34 for insurance. It cost the district $145.26 to take the school census. The sum expended for the domestic science department was $285.40, and the telephone service cost $146.75. A total of $167.80 is charged for drayage, freight and express, and telegrams; the school sent $62 to the San Francisco fire sufferers and $400 is charged for the director's salary. It cost the district $163.05 to take down storm windows, handle snow on the roofs of the school buildings, the cleaning of basements, etc. The rentals paid for rooms outside the regular school buildings were:

|---------------------|----------|
| Mission church | $112.50 |
| Pearl street cement | 125.00 |
| Pearl street hall | 120.00 |
| Carnegie library | 100.00 |
| Total | $457.50 |

The expense of running the school for the year was $800. Since the assessor's books were closed a check for this amount has been received from the auditor general.

$50,000 to Be Raised.

At the business meeting yesterday morning it was voted unanimously to ask that $50,000 be raised by taxation for school purposes the coming year. In addition to this will be the sum to be received by the one mill tax, also the primary school money. According to the director, 3,230 children were enrolled last year and seventy-seven teachers were employed. The number of volumes added to the school library during the year was 214, increasing the total to 3,137. The estimated value of all the school property in the district is $250,000, with a bonded indebtedness of $45,000.

COOK WITH GAS

MARQUETTE EASY WINNER.

The baseball game at Union park grounds yesterday afternoon between the Marquette and Ishpeming City teams resulted in a victory for the visitors, the score being 15 to 3. The Marquette nine started in at a walk-away clip, having scored seven or eight runs before the close of the third inning. Heavy batting by Marquette and generally poor work on the part of the home players made scoring rather an easy proposition for the visitors during the early part of the game. The Ishpeming woke up later and there were a few innings when they did very fair work, but at no time during the contest was the result in doubt. The attendance was the largest of the season. The rain at intervals during the game interfered with the playing of both teams.

"A WIFE'S SECRET."

Spencer & Alborn's "A Wife's Secret," which is the offering at Ishpeming theater tomorrow night, is the opening attraction at the Francaise theater in Montreal, Aug. 5. According to the papers of that city the play was well received by a bumper house. The Gazette said in part: "The melodrama, entitled 'A Wife's Secret,' had a reception in accordance with its former traditions. The episodes are dramatic and cleverly contrived, while the plot is sufficiently complicated to sustain interest to the close. The theme portrays the sorrows of a clergyman's wife, which result from her husband's mistaken sense of Christian duty. Some exciting moments are experienced in the betry scene, where a perilsous fight takes place."

HAS BETTER POSITION.

George Skogberg, who has represented the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company of Milwaukee here, is now to be one of the district managers under P. G. Teeple, general district manager, located at Marquette. Since the death of W. H. Surles, general agent of Wisconsin and upper Michigan, this territory has been divided into sixteen districts, each with a manager. The copper country will be under the management of M. E. O'Brien and Marquette and seven other counties in this district will be managed by Mr. Teeple.

T. H. BARGH REELECTED.

At the annual school election yesterday Thomas H. Bargh was reelected for a term of three years, he having received 104 votes. There was no opposition to Mr. Bargh. Some taxpayers do not favor the raising of additional funds for school purposes by the spreading of an additional one mill tax, as eleven votes were cast against the proposition, and fifty-eight votes for it. One blank was cast, the total vote being eighty. Only taxpayers could vote on this question.

CHALLENGE IS CERTAIN.

Sir Thomas Lipton Once More Expects to "Lift" America's Cup.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 2.—That Sir Thomas Lipton will challenge for the America's cup for a race in 1908 is now the general expectation in yachting circles. The recent utterances of the Irish baronet—although he has not expressly stated that he will challenge—all lead American yachtsmen to believe that he will shortly do so, or at least before the time expires.

However, Sir Thomas is as much in the dark as ever regarding the attitude of the New York Yacht club. He wants the American organization to agree to a race under the new American rules which assure a yacht of a healthy type, as opposed to the racing machine of the Reliance type. Whatever assurance he received while here on a visit, it is certain that he heard nothing officially from the New York Yacht club on this point, and time and again that organization, unofficially, has remarked that it would not cross bridges until it came to them. In other words, the New York Yacht club has given it to be understood that no question of conditions for a race for the cup would be considered until the challenge had been officially sent and received.

But it is now believed that Sir Thomas will challenge for a race next year and that the contest will not be under the old rules. Probably there will be a hot fight in the New York Yacht club by many members against a change in conditions, but the progressives are thought to be in force, and that if a challenge is received it will be accepted and the conditions made such that they will be acceptable to the challenger. In other words, there seems to be good reason to believe that the days of the racing machine for the America's cup and all other important yachting trophies are past.

The showing made by the most recent creations under the present American rules has convinced its friends that it is a success. The yachts turned out are of a good, wholesome type, having speed withal. Sir Thomas Lipton will never build another racing machine, and if he sends a challenge he probably will have some assurance that it will be accepted and that the new conditions will govern. Under the deed of gift of the trophy the races for the cup must be sailed before Nov. 1 and the challenger must give ten months' notice. So there is still plenty of time in which to send the challenge to the New York Yacht club.

On board his yacht Erin in Kingston harbor Sir Thomas was asked point blank if he intended to challenge, and his reply was that affairs had not yet developed sufficiently to enable him to give a definite answer. He said he was in Ireland to consider the matter. He had a month or six weeks in which to offer a challenge. Sir Thomas was informed of the statement by the secretary of the Royal Irish Yacht club that no challenge would be sent over until the New York Yacht club altered its measurement rules. Sir Thomas said:

"The American rule at present is a good one. It makes for a healthy, wholesome, seaworthy type of boat. No doubt it would be better for Europe and America to have one rule, whether American or international, because a boat built for America is of no use for racing in this country. I am not finding fault with the rule as it now exists. It gives us a better chance, as it provides that the competitor must be a yacht and not a machine. I hope the coming races for the cup will be sailed under the present rules of the New York Yacht club with good seaworthy boats." In reference to a challenge, Sir Thomas said he would be decided within the next few weeks. Sir Thomas continued:

"If I challenge, I'm confident I'll bring over the cup this time. If I compete, it will be through the Royal Irish Yacht club. We challenged twice through the Royal Yacht club in the north. Now I want to give the south a chance, to see if my luck will change. If I win the cup it will be a great thing for Dublin, as the subsequent races would have to be sailed in Dublin bay."

PETER WHITE TO GIVE RIDES

Dr. Hornbogen Is Re-elected—Was Only Candidate on Ticket and He Was the Only One Voted For.

At the meeting of the school board held last night after Dr. H. J. Hornbogen had been declared elected to fill the vacancy on the board, it was voted to dismiss all pupils of the city schools immediately after the organization for the fall term is effected until next Monday morning.

Invitation to Fair. Through the courtesy of the fair management, an invitation was extended by President Mangum of the agricultural association to all the children in the grade schools to attend the fair Wednesday as the guests of the association.

Free Transportation. In addition to the invitation to the fair, it has been announced that through the generosity of Peter White, free transportation is to be furnished to the children for the visit.

At the election yesterday Dr. Hornbogen was the only candidate on the ballot and he was the only one voted for. There were but sixty-three ballots cast during the day at the city hall, the only voting place.

MUCH WORK TO BE DONE.

Said That It Will Be November Before Chocolate Furnace Can Be Started.

Despite the most vigorous work possible on the chocolate furnace there still remains much to be done, and it is now said that it will be November, at the earliest, before it will be ready to go into blast.

A visit to the plant this week showed the stack to be nearly ready. The lining is practically finished and the connections are made. The present stack is some seven feet higher than the old stack, it having been built up that additional height to get more capacity.

Kilns Are Finished. Work on the battery of twenty-four kilns has been finished, i. e., the kilns are all built, though some of the stacks erected for the purpose of carrying off the smoke and gases, with a view to the ultimate establishment of a chemical plant, have not yet been erected.

At the present time a force of men is employed making the grade for a spur track into the iron stock yard, east of the kilns and the furnace proper. It will be some days before this spur is completed, as the ties are not yet laid. Concrete retaining walls will be put in and the floors of the cars will be exchanged level with the surface of the stockyard, permitting of easy loading.

The trestle work for the handling of ore and lime is erected, immediately south of the stack. However, the spur track that will run up on it has yet to be put in. This trestle work will be enclosed, making the stockhouse. The floor of the latter, which is of solid concrete, has been finished, and the scales used in making the proper mixture for the stack have already been installed.

Have Had Steam Up. Part of the battery of boilers has been placed under steam, and the installation of the whole plant is complete. However, the blowing engine has not yet been turned. The engine is the one put in when the furnace was originally

"WALLIE" HOGAN IS STABBED IN THROAT

HE IS NOW AT ST. MARY'S HOSPITAL AND IT IS SAID THAT HE CANNOT RECOVER.

ASSAILANT MAKES ESCAPE

Cause of Attack Which Was Made on Front Street Shortly Before Midnight Last Night Is Unknown.

Many Saw Attack.

Wallace Hogan, familiarly known as "Wallie" Hogan, was stabbed in the throat and probably fatally wounded shortly before midnight last night. He is at St. Mary's hospital. His assailant who is known to the police only by the name of "Charlie," accompanied by a companion, escaped and it is believed, has left town. The cause which led to the attack is not known.

Many Saw Attack.

The attack which was witnessed by a half dozen men occurred in the establishment at the corner of Front street and Baraga avenue of Charles Goethe. On the corner is the Queen City restaurant and immediately next to it is the Queen City saloon both of which are managed by "Goethe."

"Charlie" and his companion entered the place about 11 o'clock. They were standing talking together apart from the others and John Black, who was in charge in Goethe's absence, spoke to them. Black said he saw young Hogan walk toward them, a word or two was exchanged and he saw the man called "Charlie" pick up a small package which he had laid down with another larger package and turn suddenly toward Hogan. He struck at Hogan with the package and they began to struggle about the room.

The Escape.

Black and a number of others ran forward to separate them. They pushed the two men apart and it was then seen that Hogan was wounded. As he was being led to a table his assailant walked to the door and went out. A few minutes later his companion also left.

It was seen at once that Hogan was seriously hurt and Black telephoned at once to Dr. Cunningham who ordered the injured man taken to the hospital. A conveyance was brought from the Freeman livery barn a few doors away and Hogan was taken to the hospital in it with Dr. Cunningham.

Is a Cook.

Before the trouble "Charlie" had told Black that he had just gone to work as a cook in the Schneider restaurant, on Baraga avenue and this statement was afterwards confirmed. The restaurant is now owned and operated by Earl Hill and Herman Piper.

Piper said last night that the man now being sought applied for work early yesterday morning. He said he was a cook and he was immediately put to work. Throughout the day his demeanor gave the other employees at the restaurant the impression that he was mentally unbalanced. The only baggage he had was a bundle in a newspaper and a smaller package which contained a huge butcher knife. He kept this knife near his hand throughout the day and it is the same one with which he stabbed Hogan.

Made Advances.

Mrs. Vangie Richards and Mrs. Ella Warner, both employed at the restaurant were threatened by the man. He was talkative at times and said that he had a wife and two children and had been divorced. He sought upon several occasions to become familiar and when his advances were rebuffed he became abusive and several times flourished the knife.

In the evening he said he wanted to quit and asked for his money. When it was given him he left and was not seen again at the restaurant.

He took the larger package away with him and he left this in the place where the stabbing was done. It was found to contain two bath towels, a dirty dish towel and three new pairs of women's stockings. The three pairs of stockings are of common material, one a dark brown with stripes, another a light brown and the third maroon in color.

Young Hogan is a butcher and is widely known. He is the son of Edward Hogan and he lives with his parents on Fisher street.

Northern State Normal School MARQUETTE School Begins October 2, 1907

The Northern State Normal School admits graduates of approved high schools to the two years' course leading to a life certificate and diploma. It offers courses leading to a three-year certificate, which is renewable for three years and valid in graded schools, and also a rural school certificate. Has excellent facilities for training teachers for special work in Kindergarten, Music, Drawing and Nature Study. It has an exceptionally fine corps of teachers who are specialists in their departments, and its training school gives a splendid opportunity for the training of teachers. There is a splendid dormitory in connection with the school which is an ideal home for the student. The building is lighted with electricity and heated with steam; the living rooms are large, well lighted and pleasant, and the dining room has a seating capacity of one hundred and fifty persons. The expenses are moderate. Students of the Northern Normal School who finish the life certificate course are given fifty-six hours credit at the University of Michigan.
