New Pastor—It is announced that Rev. H. W. Wilkins of Norway, Mich., is to succeed Rev. C. J. Rosenquist as pastor of the Swedish M. E. church. Rev. Rosenquist is a distinguished scientist, has positively committed himself to the declaration that life exists on Mars.

This declaration is made in an article embodying the results of Professor Lowell's observations of Mars during the recent opposition period of the planet. He declares that the planet is at present the abode of intelligent constructive life. The results obtained, writes Professor Lowell, exceed what seemed likely in view of the unfavorable declination of the planet in a position so southern as to render it practically unobservable in England, France or the northern part of the United States.

Professor Lowell goes on to speak of the observations of the caps. He says that owing to the fact that observations were begun in March, three months and a half before the opposition, it was possible to catch both caps at an interesting phase of their careers, the southern one at its maximum and the northern at its minimum extent. The moment was more propitious than had ever been the case before at times at which the planet has been observed, because it was then upon an even keel, as regards the earth, the equator lying nearly in the plane of sight of the southern cap at this epoch stretched across 95 degrees of latitude, counting from one side of it to the other, and the northern only over 8 degrees.

From that date the dwindling of the southern cap and the making of the northern were carefully watched in order to complete the confirmation of the curious manner in which the latter is formed, as witnessed at two previous oppositions. Professor Lowell adds: "The next point has been the observed development of the canal system in the Antarctic and South Temperate zones."

ENDS FRICTION WITH CANADA.
 New Treaty Agreed Upon Settling International Water Disputes.

Washington, Sept. 11.—The report from Ottawa to the effect that the United States and Canada have agreed upon the terms of a treaty by which all the international water disputes are to be settled is believed in the state department here to be accurate. Although the absence of Mr. Root makes it impossible to obtain a definite confirmation of the officers of the department say their understanding is that an agreement was fully expected between Mr. Root and Mr. Bryce some time this summer.

This agreement, it is confirmed, will make an end of several well-known causes for friction between the two countries, such as the continual warring over fish poaching in Lake Erie, the division of the water power at Niagara and Sault Ste. Marie, the establishment of a more definite boundary in Rainy lake between Minnesota and the Canadian province of Ontario, where sturgeon fishermen have been making trouble, the better definition of the boundary in Fessendenquoddy bay between Maine and New Brunswick, and the settlement of the amount of water each country may take from the Milk river. Of all of these the last named was perhaps the most acute.

The Milk river rises in Montana and flows north into Canada, thence eastward for about one hundred miles and then south into the United States again to become part of the Missouri. West of the source of the Milk river, across a divide, are Upper and Lower St. Mary's lakes, two considerable bodies of water, which empty into the St. Mary's river which flows north into Canada and remains there, ultimately finding its way into Hudson bay. The Canadians planned some irrigation project for which they contemplated the use of the waters of both the St. Mary's and Milk rivers. The United States government also planned for the use of the same waters for the reclamation of a great tract of land in Montana of from 100,000 to 200,000 acres to be worth when irrigated from $75 to $300 an acre.

Squabble Over River.
 It was at once apparent that there might not be water enough to take care of the projects on both sides of the line. The United States said, "The Milk river is our river and you must let it come back into this country if, as great volume as it enters Canada." The Canadians replied, "The St. Mary's is our river and we are entitled to its full normal flow, and you must let us have it."

"To this the United States made reply: "Very well, you may have the normal flow of St. Mary's river, and we will give it up to you, but the flood waters of it collect in Montana and they belong to us and we will impound and keep them. We will build a dam and hold them in the two St. Mary's lakes. Then we will dig a canal from these two lakes to the south fork of the Milk river and send these waters through Canada to the lower Milk river, where we want to irrigate 100,000 to 200,000 acres of land. If you will leave this water alone as it flows through the Milk river we will see to it that the St. Mary's always runs at its normal level and we will also let you have such share of the Milk river as you would be entitled to if we added nothing to its volume."

"But if you do not agree to this arrangement we will build our canal direct from the St. Mary's lakes to the lands we want to reclaim, thus diverting all of the water of the St. Mary's river and as much of the headwater of the two branches of the Milk river as the canal will cut off."

The United States set aside $1,000,000 and began the construction of the canal as far as from the Lakes St. Mary and the south fork of the Milk, and also made a survey of the proposed canal to hold all the water in this country, and there the matter rested while the diplomats wrestled. The Canadians thought they ought to have the right to do some of the impounding of waters, as well as of the United States, and now that it is understood that an agreement has been reached the United States reclamation service is quite anxious to have Mr. Root come back and tell what the terms of the proposed treaty are to be.

SAYS MARS HAS PEOPLE.
 Boston Scientist Makes Positive Assertion That Life Exists on Planet.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 11.—As a result of his recent observations of the planet Mars, Professor Percival Lowell makes the positive declaration that the planet is inhabited. While many have indulged in theories and conjectures, this is the first time that a distinguished scientist, has positively committed himself to the declaration that life exists on Mars.

This declaration is made in an article embodying the results of Professor Lowell's observations of Mars during the recent opposition period of the planet. He declares that the planet is at present the abode of intelligent constructive life. He spoke enthusiastically of his project for postal savings banks, and said that these would be in way compete with ordinary savings banks. He believes that establishment of such banks will be of great benefit to residents of rural communities. He also indicated his intention to extend the rural free delivery system, which, he said, was doing more than anything else to relieve the isolation of farmers and others living in remote country districts.

RACE IS TO BE MADE BY FIVE CANDIDATES

FOUR CONVENTIONS HELD LAST NIGHT AT CITY HALL AND FOUR CANDIDATES NAMED.

TWO ON INDEPENDENT TICKET

At People's Convention 119 Men Voted and 125 Ballots Are Counted but the Result is Not Affected.

Two of the seven candidates announced for the vacancy in the recorder's office have withdrawn and five who have now been regularly nominated are to make the race. The election will be held next Tuesday.

E. J. McCarthy was nominated at the Citizens' convention Tuesday night, and last night the other four, H. L. Siegel, Daniel S. Donovan, L. M. Spencer and Arthur W. Moore were nominated.

Union Convention. At the union convention at which Moore was nominated, James H. Bennett presided as chairman and John Zoberlein acted as secretary. The city committee named is composed of Henry Kraig, John Zoberlein and Gus Stack. Moore's name was placed before the convention by Gus Stack and his was the only one voted for.

Independents Split. The independent convention split into two conventions with the result that there will be two independent candidates on the ballot next Tuesday. They are H. J. Siegel and L. M. Spencer.

At the independent convention at which Siegel was nominated, Timothy T. Hurley acted as chairman and Joseph C. Trudeau was secretary. Alderman Schauer nominated Siegel and he was unanimously chosen. The city committee appointed is composed of Timothy T. Hurley, Joseph C. Trudeau and F. J. DeLo.

R. E. Mahaffay presided at the independent convention at which L. M. Spencer was nominated and Harry Price was secretary. They compose the city committee named by the convention. Spencer's name was placed before the gathering by Edward Mitchell and none other was voted upon.

People's Convention. At the People's convention, Martin Delaney was chairman and Edward Van Cleve was secretary. The city committee appointed is composed of Peter Delaney, E. B. Van Cleve and Martin Delaney. John R. Gordon nominated Daniel Donovan and Spencer, who had been named at one of the independent conventions, was also voted for. His name was placed before the People's convention by M. E. Asire. The three tellers chosen were M. E. Asire, Peter Donovan and Homer Corden.

Whether it was due to accident or design is not known, but when the count was taken, it was found that 119 men had voted and there were 125 ballots. Donovan received eighty votes and Spencer received forty-five.

Donovan Chosen. As the discrepancy was not sufficient to affect the result of the vote, a motion was made that Donovan be declared the nominee on the People's ticket and this was carried unanimously. The discrepancy was not explained in any manner at the convention. The ballots used were thin pieces of paper about the size of a small card and it is not at all improbable that when the votes were cast, two or more ballots stuck together in some instances. Had the discrepancy between the number of men who voted and the number of ballots counted been sufficient to affect the result, it would have nullified the proceedings, and another ballot would have been required. As it was, however, it is said that Donovan's nomination is wholly regular.

No speeches were made at any of the conventions either by the candidates or by officers of the conventions. It is said that a number of meetings are to be held during the week by the various candidates.

QUIET HOME WEDDING. Miss Hermine Primeau and Gail Campbell married by Father Pinter.

Miss Hermine Primeau, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Primeau and Gail Davis Campbell of Milwaukee were married at St. Peter's cathedral parsonage at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Only the members of the two families attended the ceremony which was performed by Rev. Father Pinter of St. Peter's cathedral.

The bride was attired in a traveling costume and was unattended and there was no groomsmen. Following the ceremony a luncheon was served after which the couple left on the 6 o'clock train on their honeymoon which is to be spent in Milwaukee, Chicago and other points. They are to go to Milwaukee first. The out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Seifert and son of Calumet and Mrs. Albert Campbell, of Harland, Wis., mother of the groom.

Miss Primeau is a highly popular Marquette girl and she leaves a large circle of friends who regret her departure from the city. Mr. Campbell until recently has been a traveling salesman with the American Tobacco company. His territory was in the upper peninsula and Wisconsin and he is widely known. The young couple will make their future home at Harland, Wis., where Mr. Campbell is to be associated with his father in stock farming.

TO PLAY AT NEWBERRY.

Special Train at Low Round Trip Rate May Leave City Sunday.

The Marquette baseball team and the Newberry team are again to try conclusions, and the game is to be played at Newberry next Sunday. Sunday before last Newberry defeated Marquette by a score of 9 to 5, but a number of conditions of the game were in favor of Newberry.

The South Shore has offered to run a special train to Newberry Sunday if assurance is given that at least seventy-five people will make the trip. If the train is run, the round trip fare will be $2 and how great a reduction this is, is shown by the fact that the regular fare is $3.85 one way. If a special train is put on it will leave at 7 o'clock in the morning and will leave Newberry at 7:30 o'clock in the evening, arriving in Marquette about 11 o'clock. The party to take the special is being formed by Ed Weiser, manager of the Marquette baseball team or those who wish to go may leave their names at the Den or at Willissen's news stand.

UNDER SHERIFF BENNETT AT DEPT REMINDS DEPARTING LIFE INSURANCE MAN OF ACCOUNT AND HE PAYS IT.

Thomas G. Mays, agent of the New York Life Insurance company removed from Marquette to Joplin, Mo., yesterday and before he went he forgot to pay an electric light bill of $11.18—almost. He was boarding the late afternoon train at the South Shore depot yesterday afternoon when he was reminded of the account, which is with the city's electrical department, by Under Sheriff Sam Bennett.

Mr. Mays paid the bill. Besides presenting the bill, Mr. Bennett served notice of a suit which had been begun against Mays by the light and power commission. Besides the notice of the suit, the officer was armed also with a garnishment notice directed to the South Shore company. Mays was informed that the bill would have to be paid or his baggage would be held.

The papers in the case were sworn out by Charles Krieg, collector of the light and power commission. Mr. Krieg stated that he had reminded Mays of the bill a number of times, and he said the latter had promised to settle the account yesterday morning. At noon the bill remained unpaid and in the afternoon when Krieg visited the Mays domicile, he learned that Mays was about to leave the city and that the baggage had already been sent to the station.

Search for Justice. In order that a reminder might be in proper form, Krieg began a search for a justice of the peace. Judge Byrne, he found was home sick, Cray was out of town and neither Blomhard nor McCarley could be found. As the time of the train's departure approached, Krieg grew more and more active and finally he went to Byrne's home where the papers were properly made out. They were then turned over to Mr. Bennett who served them.

As the account and the costs of the suit are now paid, the case will be dismissed. Mays has been a resident of the city for the past two years.

WILL REOPEN SHOP.

Peter Grant to Engage in Business in Marquette.

Peter Grant, who last spring concluded a term of four years service in the navy, with the rank of chief master at arms, at the time of the expiration of his term of enlistment being in service on the U. S. S. Brooklyn, has decided to again locate in Marquette, and to reestablish the business conducted here for many years by his father, the late Peter Grant, who conducted a harness and saddlery shop. Mr. Grant, Jr., learned the trade working under his father, and is thoroughly familiar with it and a good workman. He will open a shop on Baraga avenue Oct. 1.

Mr. Grant's service in the navy was entirely in the police department. He was enlisted as a second-rate master at arms, making application directly to the secretary of the navy. He was promoted rapidly, and finally was made chief master of arms. His four years cruising took him over much of the world.

GET OUT YOUR FLANNELS.

Overcoats and Neck Throws Will Be Accepted Thing if Cold Continues.

Now is the time to get out the flannels and throw the moth balls away. The temperature took a tumble yesterday, and in the next few days it will drop still more, so the weather prophet says. Overcoats and neck throws will be the accepted thing if the drop keeps up proportionately, and the weather man says that it is now time to get the moth balls out and give the clothes an airing, which is desirable before donning them. The lowest temperature yesterday was 33 degrees, while the mean was but 60, and at no time did the mercury go above 56, which is the sign of moth ball weather.
