

DAILY MINING JOURNAL

A MORNING PAPER PUBLISHED BY THE MINING JOURNAL CO. (LIMITED.)

Entered as mail matter of the second class in the postoffice at Marquette, Mich.

Senator Dick is now resting easier; also Senator Forker is a happier man than he was while there was any doubt about that Cleveland election.

There were many shrewd prophets who asserted that Mr. Burton was being made a sacrifice in a hopeless fight; the issue bears 'em out.

Now if Tom Johnson had not already been defeated in a campaign for governor the Democrats might be expected to regard him as available presidential timber.

Much of the comment on Governor Warner's candidacy suggests in a censorious sort of a way that perhaps someone else would have come forward to save the state from the Boxers, if only the governor had given them a little time.

In the copper country it is predicted that the Calumet & Hecla officials will stand by their proposed reduction of 12 1/2 per cent, despite the protests of the men.

The Marquette County Gas & Electric company is to proceed at once to increase the capacity of its gas plant, which supplies both Ishpeming and Negaunee, 100 per cent.

W. F. Knox, editor of the Soo News, who was suggested in an article discussing upper peninsula politics, published in a Detroit paper, as a possible successor to Senator Fuller, in the event that Senator Fuller is nominated for the office of auditor general, has disavowed any political ambitions.

It appears to be definitely settled that the International Hockey league will go out of business. In notifying the president of their intention to give up their connection with the American Soo team Messrs. Ferguson and Murdoch asserted that they had found it impossible to sign players except at exorbitant salaries.

the Soo to take up Messrs. Murdoch and Ferguson's work, and for that matter the copper country towns appear thoroughly reconciled to dropping the game for a season at least.

The telegraphers' strike, which from the beginning was an ill-starred movement, has collapsed, and there now promises to be a stampede of the strikers to get positions again.

most interest was taken in the San Francisco election. This city has shown that she wants a continuation of the decent government enforced by the graft prosecutors, but the majority by which she has spoken is not large as to carry assurance of a continuance of decent conditions unless the decent people are eternally vigilant.

The elections of members of the third Russian duma ended on Oct. 30 and the results so far as known, 359 out of 442 districts, give Premier Stolypin some assurance that his task of managing the legislature will be less difficult this winter than it was last.

HYGIENIC MEASURES IN THERAPEUTICS.

(Paper by Dr. H. T. Carriell, of Marquette read before the Upper Peninsula Medical Association and printed in the October number of the Journal of the Michigan State Medical Society.)

All will admit, I think, that the use of hygienic therapeutics is, somewhat neglected in routine medical practice. There are, perhaps, plausible but not excusable reasons for not giving ample time and attention to minor medical cases; minor so far as danger to life is concerned, but nevertheless, like the minor surgical cases, they form the majority of patients treated.

The successful use of hygienic therapeutics sometimes requires careful detailed directions observing the patient to modify these directions or to see that they are understood and carried out. For instance, it is one thing to tell, in an off-hand manner, a patient with nervous dyspepsia "to be careful of his diet," and quite another to teach him not solely what he should eat, but how he should eat, and how to conduct himself before and after, and even sometimes between meals.

In many conditions drugs are absolutely indispensable, but regular and regular habits and the various hygienic measures are indispensable at all times—in health to keep in health; in sickness to promote health. Week in and week out, year in and year out, and in a large percentage of human ills pharmaceutical remedies have but small place to say, not to mention the proprietary preparations that are so convenient to prescribe and to take.

People's convictions result largely from their experiences. If their experiences have been happy, their judgment of a thing is favorable, and as there are all grades of experiences, so there result all grades of opinions concerning remedial measures. These differences extend all the way from Albert Hubbard, who will tolerate no drugs, to the rustic old woman who says she knows there is a drug to cure each disease, and if one prescription fails she tries another.

A STORY OR TWO.

A Delicacy of the Season. An amusing incident occurred in a cheap cafe in Philadelphia not long ago. A tall, cadaverous individual, accompanied by an exceedingly short and stout woman, entered the place and took a table near the door.

Even a lunatic may not wholly lack the power of reason. This truth appears in a story Life tells of the inspection of an asylum by the trustees: "Walking through the grounds, they came upon a party of workmen who were repairing a well. One of the hapless patients, apparently assisting in the work, was pushing a wheelbarrow along upside down.

"Not on your life!" replied the patient. "I turned it over yesterday, and they put bricks in it!"

"We were cruising in the Mediterranean in the late fall," said the globe-trotter, "and on a golden afternoon we stopped beside a little fleet of sponge divers.

"Nearly nude, the divers sat on the edge of the boat. They held big stones that would help them descend. One at a time they inhaled three or four long breaths, and then plunged with their great stones into the blue water.

"The captain said the Mimla girls were not allowed to marry until they had brought a certain quantity of sponges from certain specified depths." Philadelphia Bulletin.

would plan their work ahead, hustle and do the heavy or disagreeable work in the morning and get their principal meal at noon. Then in the early afternoon, when the bulk of the day's work is done, undress, take a lukewarm sponge bath, lie flat down in bed and rest for an hour or more.

It is not necessary for me to mention the value of good general nursing in acute serious illnesses. Hygienic therapeutics are admitted specifics for some serious pathological conditions—the combination of out-door living, rest and forced feeding for tuberculosis; rest, excluded but pleasant surroundings, mental suggestion and forced feeding in neurasthenia—there are many other remedial or helpful measures that correct an evil or supply a deficiency and not specific for a multitude of people who are like a plant that does not thrive for the want of something necessary to its health development.

In conclusion, the intelligent gardener can usually tell whether his plant's unthriftiness calls for Paris green, more or less water, sunshine or soil. The intelligent, broad-minded physician will give the same solicitous care to human plants.

THEN AND NOW.

Children Different Than They Used to Be When She Was Young. "If it were not for my sister-in-law," said a young mother, "I could be perfectly happy in the bringing up of my little girl. Sister-in-law understands all about 'child nature,' and it pains her to see me treating my daughter as my mother treated me. She has been worried to death because I've let the child believe in Santa Claus. She says it's wicked to teach lies, and that a child's whole moral being is undermined when it discovers that its parents have deceived it. It didn't affect me that way, but children were different in my day. She worked me up so about it that last week I undertook to explain to Dorothy about Santa Claus.

"Santa Claus," said I, "is merely the personification of the Christmas spirit of generosity and good will." "Spirit?" asked Dorothy, looking dazed. "Yes," said I, "the Christmas spirit." "I was called away just then, and Dorothy was taken off to bed. When I went in to kiss her goodnight there lay the child crying softly to herself. At first she wouldn't tell me what the trouble was. After long urging, she sobbed out: "I'm 'traid, I'm 'traid. You said Santa Claus was a ghost, and I'm 'traid he'll come."

A HARD DEBT TO PAY.

"I owe a debt of gratitude that can never be paid off," writes G. S. Clark, of Westfield, Iowa, "for my rescue from death by Dr. King's New Discovery. Both lungs were so seriously affected that death seemed imminent, when I commenced taking New Discovery. The ominous dry, hacking cough quit before the first bottle was used, and two more bottles made a complete cure." Nothing has ever equalled New Discovery for coughs, colds and all throat and lung complaints. Guaranteed by The Stafford Drug Co. 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

CURED OF BRIGHT'S DISEASE.

Mr. Robert O. Burke, Elmore, N. Y., writes: "Before I started to use Foley's Kidney Cure I had to get up from twelve to twenty times a night, and I was all bloated up with dropsy and my eyesight was so impaired I could scarcely see one of my family across the room. I had given up hope of living, when a friend recommended Foley's Kidney Cure. One 50-cent bottle worked wonders and before I had taken the third bottle the dropsy had gone, as well as all other symptoms of Bright's disease." The Stafford Drug Company.

BUTTE COALITION.

The Butte Coalition company, since the general curtailment of the copper production in Butte, has confined its operations to the Rarus mine, from which it is shipping an average of 500 tons of ore per day. The ore is of a high average grade. Butte Coalition has stopped all construction work, including the extensive operations on the surface of the Tramway, where a big hoist is being built jointly by that company and the Butte & Boston. The only work now going on there is the erection of the big steel gallow's frame, which is being done under contract. All the other work has so far advanced that it can be resumed at any time that the mines start up, and finished before it is needed.

At the Minnie Healey mine nothing is being done by the Coalition company, but the Boston & Montana is opening the Minnie Healey shaft and putting it in condition for use as a vent for the smoke from the West Colusa mine. The Minnie Healey is entirely free from gas and smoke and it has been demonstrated that there has been no fire in the workings of that property, and that the fire in the West Colusa, an adjoining and connecting property owned by the Boston & Montana. The fire has not abated in the slightest, but it will be only a question of time before it will be thoroughly confined and controlled, as the Boston & Montana is sinking and opening four shafts to the fire zone, including a new shaft on the Leonard, being sunk right over the fire; two old shafts on the Gambetta, and the Minnie Healey shaft.

The Boston & Montana company will also shortly sink the shaft of the Alex Sect mine, owned by the Butte-Montana company, 500 feet deeper, having secured permission to use it as an air and working shaft until the fire is under control. The Butte-Montana company will derive great benefit through the arrangement, as it will save the cost of sinking the shaft which it would have been under the necessity of doing itself. There is rumor of a possibility that the Butte Coalition company will pass its next quarterly dividend in November. There have also been persistent rumors that the company might suspend operations entirely until the metal market improved. It cost the Coalition in excess of ten cents per pound to produce its copper last year, and recent low prices, if its product could be sold, would not have given it much profit. Manager A. C. Carson is now in New York in consultation with the Eastern officials.

North Butte.

It is not yet certain that there will not be a further curtailment on the part of the other companies, but the Butte officials of the Amalgamated and North Butte companies hope there will be no necessity for a further reduction. The North Butte probably reduced its working force to a larger percentage than any of the other companies. The North Butte is mining some very rich ore again, however. The ore that comes from the 1,800 foot level of the Elith May averages about 11 per cent copper. Very little dead work is being done by the company at present.

The Amalgamated Boston & Montana, Butte & Boston, Parrot and Washoe companies continue at about the same rate of production as they did in the early part of October, about 26 per cent of the normal.

Raven.

The incline shaft on the Raven claim is now down 947 feet and is timbered nearly to the bottom. The station at the 900-foot level has been completed and sinking has been resumed. The shaft will be taken to the 1100-foot level from which point a crosscut will be driven to the vein and drifting done to determine the extent of the ore bodies. The stringency of the money market and the demoralized state of the copper market have had no effect on the operations of the Raven company, the work of development having progressed steadily since the reorganization of the company.

DAILY JUDGE.

The Daily Judge Mining company, at Park City, Utah, has cut down its shipments at the request of the smelters; but this will be only temporary. In the meantime the management is going ahead with development work with just as much vigor as ever, and is also installing its new electric haulage system in the mine which will be ready for commission some time in December. The company will make its own power, a dynamo having been installed in the mill. The ores of the Daily Judge mine carry values principally in lead and silver, while in certain portions of it have been developed extensive bodies carrying a large percentage in zinc, and which will prove to be a valuable asset as soon as facilities for treatment are provided. A company has been formed to build a zinc mill in camp and the Daily Judge management will furnish its principal ore supply. The ores also carry fair values in gold and copper. Several months ago an exceptionally favorable contract was secured from the American Smelting & Refining company which buys the lead-silver ores for treatment at its Murray smelter. Under the new management the Daily Judge mine is making better progress. The property is in better hands now than it ever was before. The passing of the last dividend was a very commendable thing to do in view of the fact that no enough attention had been paid previously to systematic development of new ore bodies.

ISHPEMING BARBERS TO ABOLISH TICKET PLAN

SYSTEM HAS BEEN IN VOGUE HERE FOR THIRTY YEARS AND WAS ESTABLISHED BY E. P. BIEGLER, THE CITY'S VETERAN BARBER.

The proprietors of the Ishpeiming barber shops have agreed to abolish the ticket plan, but it has not yet been decided when it will be given up. The barbers claim that they have been subjected to losses by the ticket or trust business. Under the ticket system eight shaves are given for $1.

"Many men who buy these tickets do not appreciate the fact that they are receiving a 20 per cent discount," said one of the barbers yesterday. "It would be all right if all the customers would pay for their tickets in advance, as they are expected to do, but some of them ask credit for anywhere from one to a dozen tickets. We have losses, just as people engaged in other lines, as there are some people actually mean enough to beat the barber. I should say that our losses through the ticket business aggregate more than $100 per year. I can show you tickets that we have had standing against customers, some of them very well able to pay, for five years or more."

"We do not propose by abolishing the use of the tickets to conduct our business on a strictly cash basis, but we believe that most of our customers will pay cash after the tickets are cashed."

"Ishpeiming is one of the very few places in the country where the barbers use tickets, giving their credit customers a discount that the cash customer does not get. The method is wrong and I am glad that the barbers have agreed to change it," said J. W. Wainman, a local business man.

"If I am not mistaken the ticket business originated in Ishpeiming, but the plan has never been very generally adopted in other cities. E. P. Biegler, the veteran barber, who has been in business in this city for about thirty years, tells me the ticket scheme originated in his shop. The plan was suggested by some store employees, who did not find it convenient to pay cash every time they got shaved."

FINISHED PAINTING.

Ishpeiming Firm Has Completed Big Contract on the Swanzy Range.

Trembath Bros., who have had a crew of painters employed steadily since early last spring on the Swanzy range, have just completed the painting of the twenty-four new dwellings at Gwinn recently completed by J. Wainman & Son. Four other buildings were also painted during the past few weeks. Included among them was Captain Fogelberg's dwelling at the Smith mine, the La-Rochelle saloon and residence, a half a mile or so from the Princeton location, and a country school house in the farm district, about three miles from Princeton. The contract for the painting of the forty dwellings recently started by Wainman & Son at Gwinn has not yet been let, but it is understood that the interiors will be painted as fast as they are completed.

DEATH OF FORMER RESIDENT.

Wife of Captain Enoch Roberts of Stambaugh Has Passed Away.

The remains of Mrs. Enoch Roberts, who died Sunday at her home at Stambaugh, Mich., were received in the city yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, and were taken to the residence of William Andrews on East Division street, from where the funeral will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Services will be conducted at Grace Episcopal church by Rev. W. Poyser, pastor of the Episcopal church at Iron River. Mrs. Roberts had been ill two days. She was seventy-one years of age.

Captain Roberts and his family left Ishpeiming eight years ago. For a time he had charge of the Vulcan mine, and he is at present the surface captain at the Dobay mine, in the Iron River district. The captain and his late wife were among the early residents of Ishpeiming, he having been one of the first men employed at the old New York mine, which was opened over thirty-five years ago.

Among the relatives who will attend the obsequies are Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Wasley of Duluth, formerly of this city; Fred Richards and wife of Iron Mountain; W. H. Roberts and wife of Republic; and Fred Roberts of Crystal Falls. The Roberts brothers are sons of the deceased and Mrs. Richards is a daughter.

Ishpeiming Broker Sees Good Things Ahead for Holders of Lead Stocks.

In his curb letter yesterday George F. Ruez, the broker, offers much encouragement to holders of stock in the Pine Tree and Vandeventer companies. He compares the properties with the Aetna mine, which recently put into commission a concentrating mill similar to the plants being installed at the Pine Tree and Vandeventer. The following from The Mining World of last Saturday is what prompted Mr. Ruez to make the comparison:

"The Aetna Mining company is making the first shipment in the matter of output of any mine in the Wisconsin field. From Oct. 3 to Oct. 25, twenty-three working days, the output was 98 tons of lead, and 227 tons of zinc ore. The operating expense sheet shows a daily maximum cost of $90, less royalty and cartage."

Mr. Ruez says:

"The above is of interest to Pine Tree and Vandeventer stockholders, because the mill operated at the Aetna is the same type as the one just completed for the Pine Tree, and the one under construction for the Vandeventer. The Aetna mill is of about 100 tons capacity. The Pine Tree mill is of 200 tons capacity."

"On the above, the production the Aetna made about $10,000 net. The company probably received about $30 a ton for the zinc, or $360 a day; for the lead $50 a ton, or $250 for the day's output, making $610 for each day's output. Out of this comes the following items: Operating expenses $90; royalty, $61; cartage, $17; total, $168, leaving $442 net for each day, or $10,086 for the twenty-three days."

"If Pine Tree can do this each month, holders of the shares will have no cause for complaint. Good mining men figure more on account of the abundance of rich lead at the Pine Tree, Vandeventer, too, will make a fine showing with her phenomenally rich ores, when her mill is completed."

"General Manager Quinn of the Vandeventer left for the mine Monday evening to hurry the start of the mill. Several of the directors of the Pine Tree left for the property last evening to arrange to start the mill on the test run."

BOND ISSUE TAKEN.

City Recorder J. D. West said yesterday that the $35,000 worth of water bonds had been subscribed for by Ishpeiming people and that all but $3,000 of them had been paid for. The $32,000 has been placed in the bank to the credit of the city and at the regular monthly meeting of the council this evening the recorder will present a statement showing a credit balance of $43,472.74.

The copper market showed some strength today, although it was not very active and fluctuations were confined within a narrow range. The ladies have decided that the admission prices will be twenty-five cents for box seats, lower floor and first two rows of the balcony; fifty cents for the balance of the balcony and twenty-five cents for the gallery. At the matinee to be given Saturday afternoon, the 30th, the prices will be fifty cents for adults and twenty-five for children.

Contractor Solar is making excellent progress this week with the exterior work at the new high school building. He has a larger force of men employed now than at any previous time since starting the job and he expects to complete the brick work within a few days, provided the weather remains favorable. The foundation for the Y. M. C. A. building has been completed, but some of the interior pillars have not yet been finished. Brick and other material has been delivered and the contractor expects to put his entire force of bricklayers to work there as soon as they complete their work at the school.

NATIONAL CAPITAL ON ROLLER SKATES.

What New Yorker's heart did not begin to seethe violently with hot hopes when the news came in from Washington the other day that the citizens of that fair town had found a form of transportation rendering for exercise impossible the tyranny of street car companies? As we read the brilliant suggestion of a high post office dignitary, that Washingtonians go to and from their daily toil and pleasures on roller skates we shared for a brief interval the joyous expectations of our fellow townsmen who say in the application of this scheme to poor old New York the end of all its transit woes. The elevated roads and the surface lines swept away, the subway maintained for a brief interval, and the paving companies so as to prevent the blight and a robust population moving about on eight tiny individual wheels driven by high power—that was the prophetic picture holling us to a state of imaginary happiness.

Upon calm reflection, however, this escape from the grasp of the traction companies proves illusory. In order to roller-skate one must have shoes, straps, skates, machine oil and pavement. The gentlemen who have perfected the art of committing "nerveless" most foul with street rolls, roller wire and street cars will easily adjust themselves to the exigencies of a roller skating community by applying the old rules to shoes, straps, skates, machine oil and pavement. No their daily toil and pleasures on roller skates we shared for a brief interval the joyous expectations of our fellow townsmen who say in the application of this scheme to poor old New York the end of all its transit woes. The elevated roads and the surface lines swept away, the subway maintained for a brief interval, and the paving companies so as to prevent the blight and a robust population moving about on eight tiny individual wheels driven by high power—that was the prophetic picture holling us to a state of imaginary happiness.

THIS IS WORTH REMEMBERING.

As no one is immune, every person should remember that Foley's Kidney Cure will cure any case of kidney or bladder trouble that is not beyond the reach of medicine. The Stafford Drug Company.

A SIMPLE HOME MIXTURE TO USE

Which Anyone Can Prepare Is Said to Relieve Rheumatism Promptly by Forcing the Kidneys to Filter the Uric Acid and Other Poisons.

To make up enough of the "Dandelion treatment," which is claimed to be relieving nearly every sufferer who uses it for backache, kidney complaint, sore weak bladder and rheumatism; get from any prescription pharmacy one-half ounce Fluid Extract Dandelion, one ounce Compound Kargon and three ounces Compound Syrup of Sarsaparilla. Shake well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and again at bedtime.

Those who have tried it claim that it acts gently but thoroughly on the kidneys, relieving backache and bladder trouble and urinary difficulties almost instantly. Many cases of rheumatism are known to have been relieved within a few days, the pain and swelling diminishing with each dose.

A well-known local druggist, who is in a position to know, asserts that this prescription, wherever it becomes known, always brings the sale of the numerous patent medicine rheumatism cures, kidney cures, etc. It is a recipe which the majority of patent medicine manufacturers, and even certain physicians dislike to see published. Few cases, indeed, will fail to fully yield to its penetrating and healing influence. Being composed of common everyday ingredients, which can be had from any druggist, it makes up a good, honest and harmless remedy and at nominal cost.

EIGHT SHORT STORIES.

Anecdotes Worth Reading, Selected at Random.

He was no coward; nay, rather, men had even called him brave. At the peril of his life he had stopped runaway horses, had plunged into the sea to rescue a child from drowning, and had gallantly charged up San Juan Hill in the face of the Spanish bullets. But now his face paled and he trembled.

He Was a Navigator.

Sir Charles Wyndham, during his American tour, said at a dinner in New York: "Too many of us resemble the boy at the wheel."

HIS PERPLEXITY.

The young man with the heavy head of hair and the luminous mouth sighed. "I've noticed," he said, "that in the popular novels and stories they do not have any difficulties or problems to worry over. When the hero's eye alights upon a girl who strikes him hard all he has to do is to gaze for a moment with concentrated determination in his head; then, while his strong jaw sets itself with a quiver of the muscles under his tanned complexion, he says to himself in low, vibrant tones, 'I shall marry that girl!' which he does as certain as fate in the last chapter. You see he is sure right away the instant he sees her!"

"The Blood is The Life."

Science has never gone beyond the above simple statement of scriptural truth. But it has illuminated that statement and given it a meaning ever broadening with the increasing breadth of knowledge. When the blood is "bad" or impure it is not alone the body which suffers through disease. The brain is also affected, and the mind and judgment are clouded, and the soul is traced to the impurity of the blood. Foul, impure blood can be made pure by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which cures and purifies the blood thereby curing pimples, blotches, eruptions and other cutaneous affections, as eczema, tetter, or salt-rheum, hives and other manifestations of impure blood.

In the cure of scrofulous swellings, enlarged glands, open eating ulcers, or old sores, the "Golden Medical Discovery" has performed the most marvelous cures. In cases of old sores, or open eating ulcers, it is well to apply to the open sores Dr. Pierce's All-Healing Salve, which possesses wonderful healing potency when used as an application to the sores in conjunction with the use of "Golden Medical Discovery" as a blood cleansing constitutional treatment. If your druggist don't happen to have the "All-Healing Salve" in stock, you can easily procure it by enclosing fifty-four cents in postage stamps to Dr. R. V. Pierce, 663 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y., and it will come to you by return post. Most druggists keep it as well as the "Golden Medical Discovery."

You can't afford to accept any medicine of unknown composition as a substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery," which is a medicine of known composition, having a complete list of ingredients in plain English on its bottle-wrappers, the same being attested as correct under oath. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels.

HINDU AFFINITIES

The latest thing in affinities came to town recently aboard the Colon liner Panama in the persons of four Hindus from Peru. They bring into our psychological midst a combination of "soul chords" interwoven with body junctures and "merged identities," at the mere sight of which the Earth affinity blazes at its own modesty, while Little Bright Eyes weeps impotently at the sordid memory of her Spirit Kiss.

These four Hindus are (1) Bishen Singh, (2) Bishen Singh, (3) Nand Singh and (4) Nand Singh. They got off the Panama, accompanied by Wir Singh—neglected, lonely and forlorn. An immigrant inspector went up to the first of the five and said: "What is your name?"

"You are utterly absurd!" said the young man's sister. "You don't care about either of them?" "Meh, you know about it!" muttered the young man, darkly. "What I'm kidding about is my frightful uncertainty. The man in the novel wouldn't have it! He'd be setting his jaw and rhapsodizing to the moon!"

"I'd like to see you rhapsodizing to any moon on this street," said the young man's sister. "I can see the patrol wagon coming around the corner now! Anyhow, you'd know it if you really were in love with either one. I'm glad you aren't!"

"Last night," proceeded the young man in the same strangled voice which the leading man in the drama always uses when he approaches a heartrending scene, "I was over at Tom's and met his cousin. She has the biggest blue eyes I ever saw! And the way she smiles at you! Well, I contemplated her for a moment and, honestly, I just caught myself beginning to mutter between my teeth my intentions of wedding her. Now, there's three of them! For all I know my future pathway is simply dotted with more girls who will have the same effect upon me. It is upsetting and annoying. How am I ever to tell which one is the right girl?"

"I wouldn't worry," said the young man's sister with the frank cruelty of a relative. "The girls might have something to say about that, too! You see, it may not have struck them the same way. Maybe none of them would marry you even if you asked them all!"

"Why do you always suggest such unpleasant ideas?" murmured the young man. "Isn't that right! If she was the right girl, of course, she'd say yes; otherwise she wouldn't be the right girl, you know. That's always a great comfort to a man—when a girl turns him down he is instantly positive that the whole thing was a colossal mistake and he has been saved from a life of misery."

THE DIVINING ROD.

No Mysterious Virtues Hidden in the Dowser's Wand.

In experiments with a divining rod as used for discovering underground supplies of water, one of the geologists of the United States geological survey, found that at points it turned downward independently of his will, but more complete tests showed that the downward turning resulted from slight and—until watched for—unconscious changes in the inclination of his body, the effects of which were communicated through the arms and wrists to the rod. No movement of the rod from causes outside the body could be detected, and it soon became obvious that the view held by other men of science is correct—that the operation of the "divining rod" is generally a just unconscious movement of the body or the muscles of the hand. The experiments made show that these movements happen most frequently at places where the operator's experience has led him to believe that water may be found.

The uselessness of the divining rod is indicated by the facts that the rod may be worked at will by the operator, but that he fails to detect strong currents of water running in tunnels and other channels that afford no surface indications of water, and that his locations in limestone regions where water flows in well defined channels are rarely more successful than those dependent on mere guesses.

In fact its operators are successful only in regions in which ground water occurs in a definite sheet in porous material, or in more or less clayey deposits, such as the pebbly clay or till, in which, although a few failures occur, water would get water anywhere.

Ground water occurs under certain definite conditions and as in humid regions a stream may be predicted wherever a valley is known, so one familiar with rocks and ground water conditions may predict places where ground water can be found. No appliances, either electrical or mechanical, has yet been successfully used for detecting water in places where plain common sense or mere guessing would not have shown its presence just as well. The only advantage of employing a "water witch," as the operator of a divining rod is sometimes called, is that skilled services are maintained, most men so employed being keener and better observers of the occurrence and movements of ground water than the average person.—Scientific American.

SOLD HIS COFFIN.

Isaac Coffman of Hatton, Pa., has sold a coffin he made many years ago. He sold it not because he felt he would have no use for it, but because his wife insisted that it was out of date. Mr. Coffman is nearing his eightieth birthday.

He explained to a friend that he constructed the coffin twenty years ago. It was built of chestnut because, as he put it, "Many's the time I have sat beside a cheery blaze of chestnut logs and heard them crack and burn merrily. 'It makes such a homelike blaze that I picked it in preference to other woods. It was my desire to have the coffin as cozy as possible, and I rejected the frivolities which so many persons affect in the matter of coffins. In order to have it handy I kept it in the garret. But my wife tells me that styles have changed, and since I have accumulated a little fortune she will not permit me to die unless I consent to get an up-to-date casket. To avoid trouble I agreed to sell the old one. But at the same time I think that the coffin which was good enough for me in my poorer days should satisfy me now, and I shall always feel out of place in the new-fangled affair."—New York Tribune.

TREMENDOUS GROWTH OF MILWAUKEE CONCERN.

Mayer Boot and Shoe Company of Milwaukee, with Pacific Coast Branch at Seattle, One of the Largest Concerns in Country.

Milwaukee can be proud to be the home of the Mayer Boot and Shoe company. Next to the fame of Milwaukee's great breweries comes the country-wide reputation of Mayer boots and shoes. Mayer shoes have won their reputation on quality. The Mayer Boot and Shoe company has persistently refused to lower quality to enable it to sell shoes at a lower price, and by maintaining this honest and superior quality and keeping in the front ranks in style, it has gradually won the confidence of thousands of shoe wearers who purchase Mayer or add shoes year after year—who look at the Mayer trade-mark as positive evidence of style, comfort, and good wearing quality.

This quality policy so consistently pursued has resulted in healthful and rapid growth. In the twenty-five years since the Mayer Shoe company began operations in the last six months, during which the last factory annex in Milwaukee has been building, the volume of business has so greatly increased that even with this new annex the output lags far behind the demand.

Including the new Seattle factory, which has just been completed, the total capacity of the Mayer Boot and Shoe company exceeds 9,000 pairs a day. This remarkable output, together with the inability of the Mayer company to build factories fast enough to keep pace with the demand, is most convincing evidence of the high quality of Mayer footwear.

She Made It Easy.

They were a crowd of married men, says the Youngstown Telegram, reminiscence of the days of their courtship. "Jim, I don't see how you ever plucked up courage enough to ask your wife, you were always such a bashful sort."

"Well," replied Jim, "she made it pretty easy for me. You know I shined up to her a long time, and, of course, she must have known I meant business. But the only time we ever made reference to it was one night we were sitting on the porch. I said to her, rather casually, so she wouldn't think I meant anything definite."

"Do you think you'll ever marry?" "She said she thought she might, so I said, 'When?' "Whenever you do," was her quick retort, and I said, 'All right.' So we fixed it up."

"Oh, You're Killing Me!" "Oh, you're killing me," cried a male voice. "Have you read Senator Foraker, telling his story of a seaside hotel to illustrate hasty verdicts. "There followed a series of awful groans. Then: "Stop! You are murdering me! I'm dying."

"For a little while the crowd outside heard feeble grunts and moans. Then, a wild shriek rang forth. "Murder! You've done it at last. You've killed me. Oh, I'm dying." "What deed is going on in there?" "There was a smothered laugh within, the door was opened instantly, and a young and pretty woman appeared. "Did the noise alarm you?" she said. "I've just been peeling off the shirt from my husband's sun-burnt arms."

A Surprise. W. W. Jacobs has said that it is only their surprises that make the stories take. To illustrate what he means, he told a story of a lawyer defending a man accused of housebreaking, who spoke like this: "Your honor, I submit that my client did not break into the house at all. He found the parlor window open, and merely inserted his right arm and removed a few trifling articles. Now, gentlemen, my client's arm is not himself, and I fail to see how you can punish the whole individual for an offense committed only by one of his limbs."

Gave Him a Higher Title. When Lord Elphinston was in America a couple of years ago, he was entertained at dinner by a family, the head of which was to accompany his lordship on his hunting trip through the wilds of the Northwest. One of the assets of the family was a child of about five years, named Ethel, and during the dinner the child was big-eyed and big-eared with wonderment in fact, completely overawed by the presence of the distinguished foreigner.

Ethel heard her mother and father now and then say, "My lord this, and my lord that," or "Will you have some of this, my lord, or some of that," the dinner being a purely informal one. Finally, when Ethel's mother was interested in the conversation of another guest, Ethel noticed that, milors was gazing intently at a dish of rabbit quite out of his reach. Ethel, child though she was, thought she saw a chance to please Lord Elphinston, and in a firm, clear voice, exclaimed: "Mamma, God wants some pickles."

He Was a Blacksmith. Charles H. Wilson, the superintendent of Alfred G. Vanderbilt's remarkable stables, said at Newport of a groom he had discharged: "The man was a bluff. He pretended to know all about horses, when in truth he could hardly tell a hackney from a cow. We soon got on to him. His case was like the fake blacksmith's."

There was a chap who thought blacksmithing looked simple and easy, and so, being out of work, he decided to have a try at it. He went to a smith and asked for a job.

"Well," said the smith, "you are a strong, likely-looking young fellow. What experience have you had?" "Eleven years," was the prompt answer.

"All right, I'll try you," said the blacksmith. "Shoe that mare while I go home to dinner."

The smith on his return from dinner frowned and said to the new hand: "What! Haven't you got that mare shod yet?" "I can't get her confounded foot in the vise."

"The Blood is The Life." Science has never gone beyond the above simple statement of scriptural truth. But it has illuminated that statement and given it a meaning ever broadening with the increasing breadth of knowledge. When the blood is "bad" or impure it is not alone the body which suffers through disease. The brain is also affected, and the mind and judgment are clouded, and the soul is traced to the impurity of the blood. Foul, impure blood can be made pure by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which cures and purifies the blood thereby curing pimples, blotches, eruptions and other cutaneous affections, as eczema, tetter, or salt-rheum, hives and other manifestations of impure blood.

In the cure of scrofulous swellings, enlarged glands, open eating ulcers, or old sores, the "Golden Medical Discovery" has performed the most marvelous cures. In cases of old sores, or open eating ulcers, it is well to apply to the open sores Dr. Pierce's All-Healing Salve, which possesses wonderful healing potency when used as an application to the sores in conjunction with the use of "Golden Medical Discovery" as a blood cleansing constitutional treatment. If your druggist don't happen to have the "All-Healing Salve" in stock, you can easily procure it by enclosing fifty-four cents in postage stamps to Dr. R. V. Pierce, 663 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y., and it will come to you by return post. Most druggists keep it as well as the "Golden Medical Discovery."

You can't afford to accept any medicine of unknown composition as a substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery," which is a medicine of known composition, having a complete list of ingredients in plain English on its bottle-wrappers, the same being attested as correct under oath. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels.

HINDU AFFINITIES. The latest thing in affinities came to town recently aboard the Colon liner Panama in the persons of four Hindus from Peru. They bring into our psychological midst a combination of "soul chords" interwoven with body junctures and "merged identities," at the mere sight of which the Earth affinity blazes at its own modesty, while Little Bright Eyes weeps impotently at the sordid memory of her Spirit Kiss.

These four Hindus are (1) Bishen Singh, (2) Bishen Singh, (3) Nand Singh and (4) Nand Singh. They got off the Panama, accompanied by Wir Singh—neglected, lonely and forlorn. An immigrant inspector went up to the first of the five and said: "What is your name?"

"You are utterly absurd!" said the young man's sister. "You don't care about either of them?" "Meh, you know about it!" muttered the young man, darkly. "What I'm kidding about is my frightful uncertainty. The man in the novel wouldn't have it! He'd be setting his jaw and rhapsodizing to the moon!"

"I'd like to see you rhapsodizing to any moon on this street," said the young man's sister. "I can see the patrol wagon coming around the corner now! Anyhow, you'd know it if you really were in love with either one. I'm glad you aren't!"

"Last night," proceeded the young man in the same strangled voice which the leading man in the drama always uses when he approaches a heartrending scene, "I was over at Tom's and met his cousin. She has the biggest blue eyes I ever saw! And the way she smiles at you! Well, I contemplated her for a moment and, honestly, I just caught myself beginning to mutter between my teeth my intentions of wedding her. Now, there's three of them! For all I know my future pathway is simply dotted with more girls who will have the same effect upon me. It is upsetting and annoying. How am I ever to tell which one is the right girl?"

"I wouldn't worry," said the young man's sister with the frank cruelty of a relative. "The girls might have something to say about that, too! You see, it may not have struck them the same way. Maybe none of them would marry you even if you asked them all!"

"Why do you always suggest such unpleasant ideas?" murmured the young man. "Isn't that right! If she was the right girl, of course, she'd say yes; otherwise she wouldn't be the right girl, you know. That's always a great comfort to a man—when a girl turns him down he is instantly positive that the whole thing was a colossal mistake and he has been saved from a life of misery."

"But if there was the slightest bit of difference in my feelings toward the three I should know what course to pursue. I feel that if some one would only put me into a story all the hesitations would be over. I should recognize my affinity on the spot. This is a serious matter, so please don't laugh."

"I can do better than that," said the young man's sister. "None of the three you have mentioned is the girl you want to marry. She remains in the future. And it isn't so much whom you want to marry that matters as who wants to marry you."

"That's so," agreed the young man, after a moment. "I hadn't looked at it just that way before. Anyhow, it leaves me of a heap of responsibility!"—Chicago News.

AN $8,000 HOG. Clay Center is now the home of an $8,000 Poland China hog, the property of C. W. Dingman of Clay Center, and Smith Bros., of Alma. Voter is the name of this wonderful hog, and not only is he an $8,000 hog, but he is the finest specimen of his breed in the world, according to hog experts of the United States. Voter won the championship prize over all Poland China hogs of all ages at the Illinois state fair. The Illinois state fair is held late and the winners of the state fairs held before were there to compete for the prize of champion, which would indicate that the winner was the best of his breed of any age in the world. Voter is not only valued at $8,000, but a half-interest in him sold at that rate. He is the highest-priced Poland China hog in the world.—Kansas City Journal.

CITY'S POWER HOUSE HAS NEW GENERATOR

ONE DISPLACED THREE YEARS AGO AND IDLE SINCE THEN AGAIN BROUGHT INTO USE.

NEW PLANT IS BEING WIRID

Improvement Made to Care for Heavy Demand for Current Between Hours of 5 and 6 in Afternoons.

Within the past week extensive improvements have been made at the city's electric power plant. A new generator, which is to furnish current for the street lights, has been installed and is now in operation. It is the generator which was displaced in 1904 when the one, which has been serving since that time, was installed.

Single Generator Inadequate.

The improvement was made necessary because the single generator which has been in use was found inadequate to supply sufficient power at all times of the day. What is technically called "the peak of the load," that is when the current from the plant is at its highest notch, is reached nowadays between the hours of 5 and 6 o'clock in the afternoon. At that time the street lights are turned on, the homes and places of business throughout the city are lighted and shops and other users of power in industrial establishments are taking current.

During the summer the street lights and the lights in homes and business places are not lighted ordinarily until after 6 o'clock, after the power in the industrial plants is turned off. For this reason, during the summer months the single generator is able to answer all demands. As the days grow shorter, however, current is required in all these places at the same time and the day and night "loads" overlap. Within a short time the street lights will be lighted even before 5 o'clock, as will the lights in homes and business places and the demand for current will then be even heavier than it is now. It is to care for this demand for current which is being used in all places that the new generator has been installed.

1,100 Horsepower.

The new generator is controlled by a "rope drive," or a belt of ropes, which has been installed by the men at the power plant. Rope is used because it has been found to answer the purpose better than a belt. The generator which has been in use stands at one end of the axle of the water wheel and the newly installed generator is controlled by the rope drive from the other end of the axle. The water wheel develops 1,100 horsepower ordinarily, and this is divided between the two generators, the older one carrying by far the heaviest part.

The present purpose is that the newly installed generator shall furnish current for the street lights and will develop about 100 horsepower. The chief supply of power for all purposes will continue to be from the other generator which has been in use and which will develop the remaining 1,000 horsepower. The newly installed generator will be in use only when the day and night "loads" overlap, that is when the current is required throughout the entire city between 5 and 6 o'clock afternoons.

Other Important Work.

The wiring of the new plant of the Lake Shore Engine works is another of the extensive improvements with which the city's electrical department is now occupied. The wiring that is now going on at the plant is to supply about a dozen motors which will consume about 150 horsepower. Besides these motors there will be about forty are lamps at the plant and some two hundred smaller incandescents. The new plant will not be wholly dependent upon the city for power, as in connection with it an independent electric power house is being built. It has been found that even with the aid of the additional generator at the city's power house, the plant will be unable to furnish power to the Lake Shore Engine works plant, and this is the reason why the heavy demand for power comes, and it is for that reason that the new plant is to have a power house of its own. Throughout the day the plant will use power from the city's power house, but between 5 and 6 o'clock it will use power from its own plant.

Is Cheaper.

The logical question why the Lake Shore Engine works people, when they found the city unable to supply them with power at all times of the day and for that reason were obliged to build an electric power house of their own, did not see fit to use only power from their own plant, is answered simply. The reason is that what power the city is able to give them, which is at all times but between 5 and 6 o'clock afternoons, can be furnished to them more cheaply than they can supply it from their own plant. This difference in cost exists by reason of the fact that the city's power is generated by water power and that of the electric plant at the Lake Shore Engine works must be generated by steam or engines of some kind.

REPAIRS COMPLETED.

Work at Pumping Station Recently Ordered by Water Board Is Done.

The repairs at the city pumping station recently ordered by the water board were completed yesterday. A new shaft was recently placed on one of the boilers and fastened in the manner required by the insurance company with which the city's boilers are insured. The work has been going on for the past month and was done by the Marquette Boiler works. The work of replacing the masonry about the boiler is now in progress and will soon be completed. This is the first repair work that has been done on the boilers at the pumping station since they were installed.

STRATEGY EMPLOYED.

How Game Warden's Department Blinded the Commercial Fishermen.

The state game warden's department has sent a 64-foot yacht on a fish net inspecting trip around the great lakes, excepting Superior, and by telling a cleverly fixed-up story to inquiring newspaper reporters has succeeded in keeping the mission of the yacht a secret.

The new laws affecting net fishing required considerable changes in the form of nets and the state game warden's department decided to cover the entire Michigan fishing ground. For that purpose it hired a fine gasoline-driven yacht from a Coldwater patent medicine manufacturer. The yacht is named the Kitchell. And this is the story that was published when the Kitchell tied up in Traverse City, Alpena, Mackinac, Bay City, the Tawas and other places, a deputy state game warden posing as "Mr. Kitchell."

"Why, yes, we're from New York. We're doing a trip from New York through the Erie canal and the Great Lakes and are going to New Orleans via the Chicago drainage canal and the Mississippi river. Then we take the gulf of Mexico and Atlantic sea coast home. Yes, about 3,000 miles. Big trip for 64-footers, 40-horsepower, isn't it?" And then the visitor would be shown over the boat. The boat usually tied up "for repairs." But the secret leaked out at Bay Port while the Kitchell was poking around a big string of nets and got caught at it by fishermen who recognized one of the deputies. The "boat from New York" story is now a sore point with many lake port newspapers.

DEATH CAUSED BY HIS CARELESSNESS

INQUEST OVER BODY OF MAN KILLED BY SOUTH SHORE ORE TRAIN HELD YESTERDAY.

"That he did not use caution and that no one but himself was to blame for his death," is the verdict of the coroner's jury in the case of John Hill, who was killed by a South Shore ore train Tuesday night. The inquest was held yesterday morning in the court of Justice of the Peace Byrne.

Three Trainers Testify.

Hill was struck by the ore train at the entrance of the short tunnel under Front street just as he was coming from his day's work on No. 4 ore dock. The tragedy was witnessed by three trainers—Bernard Tanzev, brakeman; Ross Holmes, switch foreman and G. W. Armstrong, fireman. The verdict of the jury was based upon the testimony given by the three witnesses.

When the men quit work at 6 o'clock on the day Hill ran and boarded the platform of Armstrong's engine, which was backing off of the dock. The engine slowed down at the approach of the tunnel and Hill alighted and started to run forward toward the tunnel. He saw two ore cars standing on the left-hand track and he crossed to the right-hand track, evidently not seeing the train approaching from the other end of the tunnel.

Shouted Warnings.

Both Tanzev and Holmes saw the train and saw Hill running toward it with his head bent forward. Both of them shouted warnings to him, but he appeared not to hear them and kept on. One of the witnesses declared that Hill was running faster than the train. When the car struck him he was hurled forward on the track and the wheels passed over his right leg. He was dead when he was picked up.

The men who composed the jury were: John A. Hager, W. J. Lupton, L. L. Bryson, Peter Adolph, G. E. West and Gus Stack.

COMPANIES KICK ON NEW STATUTE

IMPOSES NEW DUTIES ON INSURANCE COMPANIES—BENEFIT TO POLICY HOLDERS.

A law of the last legislature for the regulation of life insurance companies is raising a protest from the fraternal companies, as it imposes upon them a large amount of extra work.

An innocent-looking act of ten lines provides that after Jan. 1, 1908, all insurance corporations shall attach to their new contracts with the insured copies of all rules and regulations, by-laws, etc., affecting the contract in any way. Old-line life insurance companies will have little difficulty in complying with the terms of this law, but the fraternal deem it a great hardship.

It often happens that a person holding a policy in a fraternal or other company finds when he comes to collect on his policy that he has failed to observe some rule or by-law of which he had no knowledge, and about which he could not reasonably be expected to know, and that the policy may be vitiated thereby. The purpose of the new law was to place in the hands of every policy holder all the by-laws and regulations which affect the policy so that the holder may comply with them, and protect his interests.

A secretary of one of the fraternal companies of the state writes that the regulation is preposterous, as all the rules and regulations affecting the policies issued by such companies are bulky, and would in all probability not be read by the policy holder. Another officer has written to the insurance department that the law was not intended to cover the policies of fraternal companies, but as the courts have held that fraternal insurance companies are included under the head of "insurance corporations," these companies will have to comply with the law.

MAN KILLS HIMSELF WITH PARIS GREEN

LABORER AT FARM OF SUPERVISOR DIES TWENTY-FOUR HOURS AFTER TAKING POISON.

HAD SERVED TERM IN PRISON

Paul Bebeau Finds Package of Deadly Drug When Ordered to Get Saws from Cupboard, and Swallows It.

Twenty-four hours after he had taken a dose of paris green Paul Bebeau, aged thirty-one, died yesterday morning at the farm of Supervisor Robert Shaw where he was employed. The discovery that the man had taken poison was made by Mr. Shaw's little daughter in the absence of her parents, who were in the city. The farm is in West Branch township about fourteen miles southwest of Marquette.

An Ex-Convict.

Bebeau was an ex-convict and had served a term in the Marquette prison. He was brought here from Baraga county and was paroled somewhat more than a year ago. Throughout the time that he was in prison and during the period of his parole, his behavior was good, but it is stated that almost upon the day that his parole expired he began to drink heavily. Within the past twelve months he had worked in various places about the county as a laborer. He had been on the Shaw farm only a month.

Tuesday when Mr. and Mrs. Shaw left for the city, Mr. Shaw directed Bebeau to cut some timber. He told the man he would find the saws in a certain cupboard. It was in this cupboard that Bebeau found the poison. It was what was left of a pound package which had lain in the cupboard for several months.

Cause Unknown.

The man's reason for taking the poison is not known. He left the farm house with the saws about 9 o'clock in the morning and about an hour later returned. It was then that Mr. Shaw's daughter encountered him. He appeared to be suffering and in pain and told her to go for help. She ran to the house of Henry Peterson, across the road and told him that Bebeau was sick. He called Max Robinette, another neighbor, and the two went to the Shaw farm. Bebeau told them what he had done and they made every effort to ease his sufferings. Within a time he appeared to be recovering and the two men took care of him during the day until Mr. and Mrs. Shaw returned in the evening. Mr. Shaw stayed up throughout the night with the sick man, and during the morning his condition suddenly became worse and it was determined to summon aid from Marquette.

Inquest Today.

A messenger was sent to Skandia and from there the call for aid was telephoned to Marquette. Under Sheriff Sam Bennett and William F. Bricker left shortly before 8 o'clock yesterday morning and drove to the Shaw farm. When they arrived they were informed that Bebeau had died at 8 o'clock. It is stated that Bebeau has a brother living in Rockland. An inquest to ascertain the circumstances of the tragedy is to be held today.

THEATRICAL.

Miss Mildred Holland, an actress who has made previous appearances in Marquette, appeared at the opera house last night in "A Paradise of Lies," a play written especially for her, and which, together with her supporting company, has been lavishly praised by the critics in numerous cities which she has played. Truth compels the comment, however, that "A Paradise of Lies" was given a very conservative reception last evening, a fair house not warming up to the production to any notable extent.

Miss Holland is an actress of no mean ability. She has the power of running a considerable gamut from airy grace to tragic intensity. And in her support are a number of players who, given roles of intrinsic merit, might play with more fortunate results. Possibly Miss Holland's greatest misfortune, and her's, is the fact that her play is written especially for her, rather than written because the author had something in him he thought worthy of writing.

"A Paradise of Lies" is a drama of purely theatrical figures, into which no flesh and blood has been written. It is a romantic play, the locale Italy in the latter part of the eighteenth century. It might as well be almost anywhere else. The complications furnishing the meager action are as theatrical and stilted as the figures that move through the piece, and can't well do otherwise than weary a sophisticated theatergoer. Miss Holland and company make all that they can of the piece, but after all the play's the thing, and this play is very indifferent.
