A MORNING PAPER PUBLISHED BY THE MINING JOURNAL CO. (LIMITED.)

Entered as mail matter of the second class in the postoffice at Marquette, Mich.

If a bill for taxing margin deals is actually introduced in congress Washington will have to build some new hotels to take care of the brokers' lobby.

It is in the contradictory nature of politics that the people who don't want a third term of Roosevelt on any terms are the people who are doing the most to make the thing possible.

Of course it was to be expected that Mr. Bryan would have his own plan for preventing future currency troubles.

One thing is certain: If Mr. Earle were governor of Michigan the upper peninsula would not be overlooked.

Father Menard, a Catholic priest at Escanaba, evidently doesn't hold that city to be no better and no worse than its upper peninsula neighbors.

Lieutenant Governor Chanler of New York is spending, or somebody is spending for him, a small fortune to work up sentiment in favor of making him the Democratic nominee for president.

Wage reductions are now rather general in all branches of industry. They have been accepted peacefully, for the drift of things has plainly showed them to be necessary.

TAX MARGIN TRADES. There is general agreement that one thing that has been a large contributor to the present acute currency situation has been over-speculation. What more natural, then, than to find senators and representatives who are returning to Washington for the forthcoming session of congress discussing means of curbing speculation?

It is the margin deals that produce over-speculation, and in a measure lay the foundations for such financial disturbances as we have been and are undergoing.

are in large part devoted to the vilification of the president, in which pursuit it descends even to coarse insult.

The principal effect of this illadvised booklet will be to strengthen the position of the president. It is so palpably the work of a hate-biased mercenary that it will only engender increased feeling against those whose viewpoint it evidently reflects.

Governor Hughes is one of the pamphlet's victims. Not that he is attacked. It would be far better for him if he were. But, on the contrary, he is praised.

MINOR CRIMINAL MATTERS.

Goods Salvaged from Fire Are Stolen—Lorenz Peschl's Revenge.

Theft which is positively ghoulish in its meanness is reported from the mountain. One night last week the fire destroyed the residence of Richard James.

As soon as the family could get other houses and collect the furniture a considerable amount was missing. Articles known to have been salvaged are gone, and it is evident that some people took advantage of the excitement and the unprotected condition of the goods.

SHANNON.

The annual report of the Shannon Copper company for year ended Aug. 31 is issued.

The balance sheet compares as follows: Assets—1907 1906

Assets—1907 1906
Mines developed, const. exp., etc. 1,287,554 1,166,498

UTAH SMELTER SITUATION.

According to advices from Salt Lake City mine owners, and operators are not feeling as pessimistic over the situation as are the stock brokers.

It is generally known that the American company and the United States company, also, at the expense of a fortune, have equipped their lead smelters with great bag houses through which all the smoke and fumes must pass and be stripped of their injurious contents.

The cost of copper from our own ores for the year just ended was thirteen cents at Clifton, as compared with 13.10 cents the preceding year, although higher wages and greater cost of material have been paid during the past year than in the preceding one.

There will be some inconvenience for a time as a result of the demand of the farmers and ranchers of this valley, but it will not be long until all the mines find a market for their ores again.

MOHAWK.

Mohawk is one of the steady-going Lake producers. The company's operating dividends in 1906 when $5 per share was disbursed.

Several new stopes have been opened up during the year showing sulphide ore from thirty to sixty feet in width of good grade.

A conference was held last summer at Clifton between the officials of the company operating the Coronado railroad and the Shannon Copper company, and negotiations were entered into which provided that the company operating the Coronado road should build the road, on terms which we believe will prove mutually agreeable and profitable to both companies.

The question of building a standard gauge road for the mines at Metcalf on the hills to the Shannon smelters is of vital importance to every operating company in Metcalf and Clifton.

The company now has on its books 4,250 stockholders.

Taking everything into consideration, the past year has been a very satisfactory one, not alone in net earnings, but also in the general condition in which the property finds itself at the end of the year.

The through sleeping car service between Calumet and Mackinaw City, on the South Shore, will be discontinued after Saturday Nov. 23, until further notice.

Don't Worry

The doctors tell us, it's WORRY that kills us. Worry pulls us down faster than we think. Mothers worry themselves sick over their children. A young fellow in love, if the girl says no, can't eat and gets thin. The man that's afraid something is the matter with him without knowing just what it is, loses his sleep and runs down generally. The man in debt gets no comfort out of life at all, unless he has security.

If you cut out the worry you can easily take care of your health. If you've made a mistake that bothers you, make it right as soon as you can. If you CAN'T make it right, tell somebody about it; get the best advice you can. GET RID OF THE WORRY, and you can cure a whole lot of the ills of the body with pure water and fresh air if you use them right. Pay a doctor ALL THE TIME to keep you WELL; don't wait until you're sick before you call him in.

ALL YOUR DEBTS PAID AND A BANK ACCOUNT BESIDES is what you want to try for. A bank account takes the WORRY out of the future.

POLICE HERE ASKED TO WATCH FOR CASHIER J. W. GRAY, SAID TO BE $5,000 SHORT.

The Marquette authorities have been asked to be on the lookout for John W. Gray, former cashier of the First State Bank of New Auburn, Wis., who is charged with having embezzled $5,000. In a letter sent to his wife shortly before he disappeared, Gray stated his intention of coming here and it is for that reason that the local police have been asked to watch for him.

Up to a few days ago there was no suspicion of anything wrong in Gray's accounts. Last Tuesday Gray left New Auburn, stating that he was going to Minneapolis, but at Spooner changed his mind and wrote his wife that he had been suddenly called to Marquette on business. Since that time nothing has been seen or heard of him by his family or others.

A few weeks ago Gray decided to go into mercantile business at Baldwin, Wis., and purchased the necessary stock and fixtures. Tuesday the store was to have been opened, but the village authorities prevented Gray's agent from doing business until bond of $1,000 had been filed guaranteeing that Gray would be in business there at least one year. It was when efforts were made to communicate with Gray of this subject that it was learned that his exact whereabouts were unknown.

Covers Long Period.
This fact was communicated to President Gardner of the bank, who resides in Minneapolis, and he called a meeting of stock holders and investigated the condition of the bank with the result, according to Mr. Gardner, that it was learned that Gray's accounts were $5,000 short, the alleged defalcations covering a period of about ten months.

NOT FIXED.

"See here," said the theatrical manager, "you must drop your overbearing behavior toward the other members of the company."

"Indeed!" replied the leading lady, haughtily. "I'm the star, am I not?"

"Well, yes; but just remember that you're not a fixed star."—London Tit-Bits.

PRESIDENT'S ORDER PUZZLES.

Doesn't Say Office-Holders Shall Not Advocate Renomination.

Washington, Nov. 24.—In the now famous game, as Justice Brewer called it, of play hide and seek with the American people on the third-term nomination, the president has, in the course of the last week, made some mystifying moves concerning a reported notification to office-holders that they must not participate in conventions or accept election as delegates to the next Republican national convention pledged to vote for his renomination.

Recently there has been criticism of the activity of federal office-holders along this line. On Tuesday one of those mysterious underground enunciations came from the White House that word had been passed out to all office-holders that any man caught furthering a third-term propaganda for the president would be summarily dealt with.

Diligent investigation fails to prove that any such order has ever been issued and the office-holders' activities have not diminished, it is said. Yesterday a letter, the text of which is withheld, but which reads, it is understood, substantially as follows was sent out by the president to all cabinet officers:

"I am informed that certain office-holders in your department and in various positions throughout the country contemplate attending Republican conventions in the respective states and urging the indorsement of myself for the presidential nomination. This must not be. I wish that you would direct federal office-holders in your department with such a course in view that I will regard it as an act of official impropriety and discourtesy. This, if persisted in, will be dealt with accordingly."

It will be noted that nothing is said about federal office-holders refraining from participating in conventions or securing election as delegates.

ASLEEP SINCE JULY 10.

Newark, O., Nov. 24.—Mertis Wright is still sleeping peacefully. Before he fell asleep, July 10, he weighed 175 pounds; today he weighs less than 100. Wright is thirty-two years of age and was a member of the Seventh Ohio Volunteer Infantry, during the Spanish-American war, where he suffered with meningitis which is thought the cause of the present trouble. He can not be aroused by shouting, shaking, dashing of water in the face or the pricking of pins. A trepanning operation will shortly be performed upon him, which may give relief. The case is attracting attention from prominent physicians all over the country.

BEAN SPROUTED IN EAR.

Marquette, Wis., Nov. 24.—An operation was necessary to remove a bean from the ear of Jack Eberly, a farm hand, of Napper. The bean had sprouted, and the operation was several complications. Eberly and several companions were throwing beans at each other, and one lodged in the youth's ear. By the time he went to a doctor the bean had become a small sized plant.

BEARD FLAMED UP.

Fire Engine Came Too Late—Mischiefous Boys Held for Trial.

Philadelphia, Nov. 24.—Because Abraham Bender's whiskers caught fire and were burned off, two boys are held under $300 bail; engine company 10 is being made the butt of a joke, and the victim is mourning the loss of his one-time proud possession. Bender's beard flowed like a cataract downward from his chin. He related proudly that no scissors had ever touched it. But two boys, Walter Collins and Lawrence Richardson, approached the old man and Collins asked him for a match. Bender complied with the request. One of the lads lighted the match and threw it into the bushy beard. In a flash the whiskers were nothing more than smoke and some tiny bit of ashes and floated in the air. The flames made a clear sweep. In the excitement somebody rang in a fire alarm and brought No. 10 engine company on the scene. But it was too late. The beard was gone.

WOOLING LESSONS? WOMEN LAUGH.

Actresses Doubt Utility of College Course in Love Making.

New York, Nov. 24.—Leading actresses have expressed their opinion of the newest thing on the educational horizon—the proposed course in the art of love-making. Francis G. Blair, Illinois state superintendent of public instruction, in an address before the English club of Chicago, declared that it was quite necessary for a child to be taught to woo as to be taught the multiplication table.

REFUSES TO PAY A CENT.

Indiana Woman Goes to Jail as a Matter of "Principle."

Wabash, Ind., Nov. 24.—Owing two valuable Wabash county farms, beside considerable city property, Mrs. Lucy Burris has been taken to jail because she refused to pay a fine of one cent and costs for assault and battery upon her farm tenant, Tom Sivits. She was tried first in a justice's court and convicted of attacking Sivits with a butcher knife. She refused to pay her fine, and carried the case to the circuit court. There the jury was chivalrous and her fine was made one cent. Mrs. Burris refused to pay this fine or the costs, despite the entreaties of her attorney, and the sheriff was forced to go to her home with his deputies and inform her it was "pay or jail." She said she would never pay one love-making? Does not love itself teach a man or woman just what to say when the right time comes? What kind of beinging up did Professor Blair have? Has he never made love or been made love to? If he hasn't, all I can say is, poor fellow, poor fellow!

"I cannot imagine any one learning anything from a course in wooing," said Miss Julia Marlow; "it would have to be a very unimaginative person indeed that would have to resort to a school to know how to make love. Love is a matter of impulse, not of set phrases; it would take all of the beauty out of love to attempt to teach it."

"What fun!" remarked Miss Mary Manning. "Just think of a school for love-making! How I should like to attend a lesson in such a school! It would be most amusing! Imagine a teacher that teaches the young idea how to say 'I love you' properly. No man or woman or even very young boys and girls ever had to be taught to make love. It is born in them. I am very sure I never was taught."

SEWED HIS OWN ARM.

Called for Needle and Thread When Limb Was Torn by Machinery.

Chester, Pa., Nov. 24.—"Get me a needle and thread, quick, or I'll bleed to death," demanded James Cassidy, when his right forearm was terribly mangled by machinery. Needle and thread were brought, and Cassidy calmly sewed up the wound, which was four inches in length.

"Now send me to the hospital, and I guess the doctors can fix me up a little better," was Cassidy's injunction as he swooned. The company's physician says he has never seen anything to equal the man's pluck during his twenty-five years' practice.

Establishment of Postal Savings Banks Would Keep Cash Now Sent to Europe in the United States.

Postmaster General George Von L. Meyer is advocating the establishment of postal savings banks and how popular and successful these banks would be were they established, is shown almost daily in the Marquette postoffice. The flurry in the financial world has commensurated itself to the foreign population and many of these are actually paying the government to take care of their cash by buying money orders payable to themselves.

Buy Money Orders. These men bring in sums of money ranging from $100 to $500, rarely less than $100, and buy money orders. For a $100 money order the postoffice makes a charge of thirty cents. Such an order may be cashed at the office where it is purchased any time within twelve months. After that time a holder of a money order must present it to the department. Occasionally the men who buy money orders in this manner are asked why they do not take their money to the banks where they could receive interest, instead of having to pay to have the money stored for them. The invariable answer is that the government is safer. As one money order purchaser, an Italian, said recently when the above question was put to him, "Bank been pay—may be; Uncle Sam been pay sure."

It is pointed out that if the foreign population generally has this degree of trust in the government and some degree of distrust for banking institutions, they would promptly become depositors in the postal savings banks were they established. As it is now, great numbers of them either hoard their money or what is worse, send it to their native countries.

Money Deposited in Banks. The money received in this manner in 250 offices is promptly taken to the banks and deposited, and the foreigners who buy the money orders know this, but it does not in any way affect their viewpoint. Their money is in the hands of the government and the government is responsible, they reason. The money so deposited by postmasters goes to designated United States depositories.

The object of establishing postal savings banks is, as the postmaster general recently said in a public address, to encourage thrift and economy. Of all the savings banks in the country, a third of them are in the New England states and these contain one-third of the deposits.

Immigrants have been entering the country in vast numbers within the past ten years and they have been earning a great amount of money, and have been saving a large part of it—by hoarding. Much of this money, however, goes to their homes and it is this that would be kept in the United States, it is contended, by the establishment of postal savings banks.

Money Sent to Europe. Last year more than $75,000,000 was sent out through the postoffice by immigrants to relatives abroad. Sixteen million dollars went to Italy in 400,000 money orders, an average of $40 an order; $7,700,000 went to Hungary, $6,500,000 each to Austria and Russia, and $10,000,000 to Great Britain. This is merely an indication of the amount earned by the senders, for they are subject to the laws of human nature and do not give away all they earn. The sum is probably only a small proportion of their earnings.

Many of these people come here with preconceived ideas hostile to private institutions, and for that reason distrust the savings banks and wish to put their money in a place where they are satisfied it will be safe—and that place, it is now planned, will be provided for them under the guidance of Uncle Sam. Besides these immigrants it is sought to aid the people who live far from savings banks. In the New England states the average distance from a savings bank is fifteen miles; in the middle and western states about twenty-five miles; in the southern states, thirty-three miles, and on the Pacific slope, fifty-five miles.

No Competition Contemplated. There is no intention of competing with the savings banks. It is planned to offer 2 per cent interest per annum, and the banks pay 3 or 4 per cent. No man will withdraw it for a lower rate. The plan is to limit the amount taken to $500 and the amount received in one year to $250. It will be found that when depositors have reached the limit to be accepted they will have formed the banking habit, and will transfer their money to a savings bank. Thus the system will be an advantage and not a detriment to banks. Many millions will be withdrawn from hiding and restored to trade banks, national depositories, in the sections from which the money comes, not remaining deposits to the great financial centers.

The records of the money order department of the Marquette postoffice go a long way to support the arguments advanced for the establishment of postal savings banks. Within the past week $3,089.12 was taken in for money orders. Of this $594.81 was sent to Europe. This is the money that the city and the nation loses and which might be kept in the country. Besides this sum, $1,200 worth of money orders payable to the persons who bought them were sold. The holders of these orders are the persons who are willing to pay the government to care for their money, rather than entrust it to banks where they would receive interest.

EDWARD KEIL DIES FROM HIS INJURIES

BRAKEMAN VICTIM OF ACCIDENT AT CARLSHEND, SUCCUMBS AT ST. LUKE'S HOSPITAL.

After suffering for six days from injuries he received in a railway accident at Carls hend, Edward J. Kiel died shortly after 9 o'clock yesterday morning at St. Luke's hospital. He was twenty-seven years old and had been a resident of the city since childhood. He is survived by a widow and two children.

The funeral will take place at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon from the home of his mother, Mrs. Augusta Kiel of 242 West Michigan street. The interment will be in Park cemetery. Mr. Kiel was a member of the Modern Brotherhood of America, and the members of the order will attend the funeral.

The accident which cost his life occurred just a week ago. Kiel was a Marquette & Southern brakeman. He was riding on the tender of a locomotive at Carls hend, and as it passed a platform he slipped on a knot in a board on the platform and fell between it and the moving train. He was badly crushed before the train was stopped. From Carls hend he was taken to Princeton, and from there to Negaunee. It was a number of hours after the accident before he finally reached the hospital, and from the first there was but the slightest chance for his recovery.

We are not on Worried Street this fall. Our experience in periods of financial unrest has been that while we lose some business from men who must go to clothiers that handle cheaper qualities, that loss is more than made up by men who come to us instead of paying tailors' fancy prices.

The net result when things settle down is that the former tailor's man usually stays by us, while our old friend who had to wear cheaper clothes is glad enough to get back home.

Our muffler sale is making many warm friends for us. 15 dozen still to choose from,—every new color in all qualities
