

ROOSEVELT ASKS PEOPLE TO MAKE MR. TAFT CHIEF

Declaring It Urgently Necessary the Reform Movement Be Continued Along the Lines Laid Down, He Appeals for the Election of the Ohio Candidate.

"POLICIES FOR WHICH I STAND," HE SAYS, "ARE HIS POLICIES AS WELL AS MINE."

"We Have the Same Views as to What Is Demanded by the National Interest and Honor, and He and I Have on Every Essential Point Stood in Heartiest Agreement"—Wise and Courageous, He Possesses the Qualities That Make a Great Executive; the Foe of Corruption and Unfair Dealing, He Will War Relentlessly Against Lawlessness and Injustice, Yet, Fairminded, He Will Be the President of No Class, Protecting the Just Rights of Both the Poor and the Rich, the Workingman as Well as the Capitalist.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Sept. 13.—A letter written by President Roosevelt to Conrad Kohrs of Helena, Mont., an old-time friend, was made public tonight. The communication, it is explained, was called forth by Wm. J. Bryan's statement that he was "the president's heir and natural successor."

of the very fact that the dishonest man of great wealth, the man who swindles or robs his fellow, would not so much as dare to defend his evil-doing in Mr. Taft's presence. The honest wage-worker, the honest laboring man, the honest farmer, the honest mechanic or small trader, or man of small means, can feel that in a peculiar sense Mr. Taft will be his representative because of the very fact that he has the same scorn for the demagogue that he has for the corruptionist, and that he would front threats of personal violence from a mob with the unflinching and lofty indifference with which he would front the bitter anger of the wealthiest and most powerful corporations.

My Dear Mr. Kohrs:—I have received your letter about the candidacy of Mr. Taft, the man who I feel is in an essential sense the representative of all that in which I most believe in political life.

Shoulder to Shoulder With Roosevelt. I have naturally a peculiar interest in the success of Mr. Taft, and in seeing him backed by a majority in both houses of congress which will heartily support his policies. For the last ten years, while I have been governor of New York, and president, I have been thrown into the closest intimacy with him, and he and I have on every essential point stood in heartiest agreement, shoulder to shoulder. We have the same views as to what is demanded by the national interest and honor, both within our own borders and as regards the relations of this nation with other nations.

Reform Movement Must Go On. Every good citizen should desire to see both prosperity and justice, prosperity and fair and righteous dealing as between man and man, obtain permanently in this great republic. As a people we are justly proud of our business industry, of our energy and intelligence in our work, and it is entirely right that we should ask ourselves as to any given course of conduct, "Will it be profitable?" But it is no less emphatically true that the bulk of our people, the plain people who found in Abraham Lincoln their great champion and spokesman, regard the question, "Is this morally right?" as even more important than the question, "Is this profitable?"

It is not possible in the space of this letter to discuss all the many and infinitely varied questions of moment with which Mr. Taft as president would have to deal; let him be judged by what he does, and as regards the relations of the administration, in which he has played so conspicuous a part, has done. But to illustrate just what his attitude is, let me touch on two matters now prominent in the public mind.

The Railroad Problem. Mr. Taft can be trusted to exact justice from the railroads for the very reason that he can be trusted to do justice to the railroads. The railroads are the chief instruments of interstate commerce in the country, and they can neither be held to a proper accountability on the one hand nor given proper protection on the other, save by the affirmative action of the federal government. This law of the land, which the railroads clearly show that the states have not and cannot devise laws adequate to meet the problems caused by the great growth of the railroads doing an interstate commerce business, for more than four-fifths of the business of the railroads is interstate, and under the Constitution of the United States only the federal government can exercise control thereover. It is absolutely necessary that this control should be affirmative and thorough-going.

His Attitude as to Trusts. What is here said as to his attitude on the railway question applies to the whole question of the trusts. He will promise nothing on this subject unless he firmly believes he can make his promise good. He will go into the trusts, and he will destroy all great business combinations; for this can only be done by destroying all modern business; but he will in practical fashion do everything possible to secure such efficient control, on behalf of the people as a whole, over these great combinations as will deprive them of the power to work evil. Mr. Taft's decision in the Addyston Pipe Line case while on the bench is proof, by deeds not by words, of the far-sighted wisdom with which he serves the interests of the whole people, even when those of the most powerful corporations are hostile thereto.

All These Qualities in Taft. In Mr. Taft we have a man who combines all of these qualities to a degree which no other man in our public life since the Civil war has surpassed. To a flaming hatred of injustice, to a scorn of all that is base and mean, to a hearty sympathy with the oppressed, he unites entire disinterestedness, courage both moral and physical of the very highest type, and a kindly generosity of nature which makes him feel that of all his fellow countrymen are in very truth his friends and brothers, that their interests are his, and that all his great qualities are to be spent with lavish freedom in their service. The honest man of means, the honest and law-abiding business man, can feel safe in his hands because is to the interest of shipper, farmer, wage-worker, business man, honest shareholder, and honest manager alike that there should be economy, honesty, intelligence, and fair treatment of all. Abuses to Be Squelched. To put an effective stop to stock-watering would be a benefit to everybody except the swindlers who profit by stock-watering; it would benefit the honest shareholder no damages to any one; it would not be brought into competition with mere paper; it would benefit the wage-worker because when the money earned does not have to go to paying interest on watered capital, more of it is left out of which to pay wages; it would benefit the shipper because the honest shareholder would be paid in interest, rates need not be improperly raised; it would benefit the public because there would be ample money with which to give efficient service. Similarly, the prevention of favoritism as among shippers does no damage to any one; it is honest, and confers great good upon the smaller business man and the farmer, whom it relieves of oppression. Again, such supervision of accounts and management as will prevent crookedness and oppression works good, directly or indirectly, to all honest people. Therefore everything that can be done along all these lines should be done; and no man's legitimate interest would thereby be hurt. But after this point has been reached great care must be exercised not to work injustice to any class by the effort to show favor to another class, and each class naturally tends to remember only its own needs. The stockholders must receive an ample return on their investments, or the railroads cannot be built and successfully maintained; and the rates to shippers and the wages to employes, from the highest to the lowest, must all be conditioned upon this fact. On the other hand, in a public service corporation we have no right to allow such excessive profits as will necessitate rates being unduly high and wages unduly low. Again, while all proper ways rates must be kept low, we must always remember that we have no right and no justification to reduce them when the result is the reduction of wages of the great army of railroad men. A fair working arrangement must be devised according to the needs of the several cases, so that profits, wages and rates shall each be reasonable with reference to the other two—and in wages I include the properly large amounts which should be paid to those whose masterful ability is required for the successful direction of great enterprises. Combinations which favor such an equitable arrangement should themselves be favored and not forbidden by law; although they should be strictly supervised by the government through the interstate commerce commission, which should have the power of passing summarily upon not only the question of the reduction but the raising of rates.

that they show why all our people should be grateful to him and should feel it safe to entrust their dearest interests to him. Most assuredly he never has yielded and never will yield to threat or pressure of any sort, as little if it comes from labor as if it comes from capital; he will no more tolerate the violence of a mob than the corruption and oppression and arrogance of a corporation or of a wealthy man. He will not consent to limit the power of the courts to put a stop to wrong-doing wherever found. The very fact should make the labor people feel a peculiar confidence in him. He has incurred the bitter hostility of foolish and bigoted reactionaries by his frank criticism of the abuse of the power of injunction in labor disputes, and he is pledged to do all he can to put a stop to its abuse in the exercise of the power of injunction. He will never promise anything that he will not do all in his power to perform. He can always be trusted to do a little better than his word, and that before election he will not promise the impossible in itself a guaranty that after election all that is possible will be done.

Whole Country His Debtor. His record as a judge makes the whole country his debtor. His actions and decisions are part of the great traditions of the bench. They guaranteed and set forth in striking fashion the rights of the general public as against the selfish interests of any class, whether of capitalists or of laborers. They set forth the rights of the wage-workers to organize and to strike, as unequivocally as they set forth and stand by the doctrine that no conduct will be tolerated that would spell destruction to a labor organization, read these injunctions, made while he was on the bench, I ask that the injunctions be carefully examined. I ask that every responsible and fairminded labor leader, every responsible and fairminded member of a labor organization, read these injunctions for himself. If he will do so, instead of condemning them he will heartily approve of them and will recognize this further astonishing fact that the principles laid down by Judge Taft in these very injunctions, which laboring people are asked to condemn, are themselves the very principles which are now embodied in the laws or practices of every responsible labor organization. No responsible organization would now hesitate to condemn the abuses against which Judge Taft's injunctions were aimed. The principles which he herein so wisely and fearlessly laid down serve as a charter of liberty for all of us, for wage-workers, for employers, for the general public; for they rest on the principles of fair dealing for all, of even-handed justice for all. The many the judge who rendered them as standing for the rights of the whole people; as far as daylight is from darkness, so far is such a judge from the time-server, the truckler to the mob, or the cringing tool of great, corrupt and corrupting corporations. Judge Taft on the bench since he came to the Philippines, in Panama, in Cuba, in the war department—showed himself to be a wise, a fearless, and an upright servant of the whole people, whose services to the whole people were beyond all price. Moreover, let us remember that it was he that rendered these services, not when it was easy to do so, but when lawless violence was threatened, when malice, domestic and civic disturbance threatened the whole fabric of our government, and when his own life was in jeopardy. He showed not only the highest kind of moral courage but of physical courage as well, for his life was freely and violently threatened.

DISASTER TO TRAIN LAID TO WRECKERS

Running at the Rate of Fifty Miles an Hour, the Erie Road's Chicago-New York Limited Is Derailed at Geneva, Pa.

Striking an Open Switch, the Locomotive and All the Cars Leave the Track, and Thirty-Four Passengers Are Injured, Eighteen of Them Seriously—Bloodhounds Sent to the Scene in an Effort to Trace the Mischance Held Responsible.

Youngstown, O., Sept. 13.—Thirty-four passengers were injured when the Chicago-New York Limited train on the Erie-Railway was wrecked in the village of Geneva, Pa., today. The wreck is believed by the Erie officials to have been due to train-wreckers. Bloodhounds have been taken to Geneva in an effort to trace the alleged wreckers. The train was derailed by an open switch while running at the rate of fifty miles an hour. The locomotive was overturned. All the injured were taken to Meadville, Pa., and eighteen of them are still in hospitals there. It is believed that all will recover. Upon striking the open switch, the entire train left the track, the locomotive turning over upon its side. The tracks were torn up for a distance of over 100 feet. There were but eighty-seven passengers on the train. The injuries consist chiefly of fractured limbs, cuts and bruises. The railroad officials are convinced that the switch was maliciously opened for the purpose of wrecking the train, but they think it was done by persons having grievances against the company rather than for robbery. A key was used to open the switch, the lock hanging loose from the bar.

Trains Collide in Indiana. Chicago, Monday, Sept. 14.—It is reported that a wreck has occurred on the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern railroad at Chesterton, Ind., fifty miles from Chicago, and a number of passengers were injured. A wrecking apparatus and a special train with physicians have been sent to the scene.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—The wreck was caused by a collision between a passenger train and a freight train at 11:30 p. m. and which ran into the rear of an excursion train bound for Indianapolis via the Lake Erie & Western. At the office of the railroad it was said that but few passengers were injured.

WILL OPEN IN KENTUCKY. Taft's First Campaigning Tour Planned to Begin Sept. 23.

New York, Sept. 13.—Chairman Hitchcock left today for Chicago, where he will spend Monday and Tuesday. It is likely he will return to the Eastern headquarters Thursday, after stopping at Cincinnati Wednesday for a conference with Mr. Taft. The speaking itinerary of Mr. Taft will be arranged by Mr. Hitchcock this week and will be announced from Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, Sept. 13.—W. H. Taft's first campaigning tour will begin Wednesday, Sept. 23, if the candidate's present desires are observed. Mr. Taft today in Cincinnati has been like to talk with National Chairman Hitchcock after Mr. Hitchcock has conferred in Chicago tomorrow with Senator Dixon and the Western managers, concerning the proposed itinerary. Arrangements to have the National League of Republican Clubs hold a rally in Cincinnati Sept. 22 have been made. Mr. Taft will accept an invitation he has received from the Kentucky Bankers' association and will address that body at Lexington, on the 23rd. The Republican nominee has expressed a desire to speak in Tennessee, and it is pointed out that he could extend his Kentucky trip to Nashville and Chattanooga and from there go to St. Louis and Kansas City.

MILWAUKEE MAN SLAIN AT ONTONAGON

Attacked for the Purpose of Robbery, W. H. Rogers Is So Badly Beaten That He Dies Without Recovering Consciousness.

Milwaukee, Sept. 13.—W. H. Rogers, of this city, traveling representative of the Shulte D. Rogers company, brokers, was robbed at Ontonagon, Mich., early today and was so badly beaten that he died this afternoon, according to a telegram received here. He was attacked with a blackjack when on his way to take a boat for Ashland. He did not recover consciousness before death, so the authorities have only a slight clue to the assailant's identity.

GRAIN MOVEMENT IS ON. Railroad Men Report It Two to Three Weeks Earlier Than Last Year.

St. Paul, Sept. 13.—According to the general freight agents of the railroads which run through the wheat belt of the Northwest, the wheat crop movement has just started and it is from two to three weeks earlier than last year. Reports received from Duluth and Superior show that the movement of the last two days of last week indicated receipts of from 500 to 600 cars daily in those two cities for trans-shipment down the lake. There will be no cars shortage if the cars are properly handled at the terminals, said George C. Conn, general freight agent of the Soo line.

NEGRO FACES THE GALLOWS.

His Alleged Crime Largely Responsible for the Springfield Riots. Springfield, Ill., Sept. 13.—The trial of Joseph James, a negro, charged with the murder of C. A. Ballard, begins tomorrow morning. James pleads self-defense. The negro crept into the room of Ballard's daughter during the night of July 4, and when the girl screamed her father grappled with James and was killed. This tragedy, followed closely by the alleged assault upon Mrs. Hallam by a negro, was largely responsible for the recent race riots.

HOST NOT CARRIED IN LONDON STREETS

Because of Unexpected Partisan Strife, Scenes Not Anticipated Mark Catholic Clergy's Parade Closing the Eucharistic Congress

Most of the Multitude Attracted by Curiosity, No Such Outpouring of People Has Been Seen in the City Since Victoria's Funeral, if Even Then, and a Small Element Is Openly Hostile—Protestant Alliance Holds a Rousing Celebration.

London, Sept. 13.—The great procession of the Catholic clergy which brought the eucharistic congress to an end was held this afternoon amid scenes such as the English churchmen who had planned it had never anticipated. Cardinal Vanutelli, the pope's legate, walked at the head of the procession, wearing his scarlet robes and hat but not carrying the host. He was accompanied by a body guard of English peers, of whom the Duke of Norfolk was the most prominent, and a concourse of cardinals, archbishops and bishops, who also were attired in unceremonial robes instead of the vestments which originally it had been proposed they should wear.

No such throngs of people have been seen in London since Queen Victoria's funeral, if even then. The purpose of Archbishop Bourne, head of the Westminster diocese, and his associates, who arranged the program, had been to have the host carried through streets in the rear of Westminster cathedral so that the great body of Catholics who were unable to participate in any of services within the cathedral should have opportunity of joining in the eucharistic observances and of seeing all the high ecclesiastics present in London on this memorable occasion.

Some "Booing" Heard. The route of the procession was laid through the quiet streets adjacent to the cathedral, and but for the unexpected partisan strife which the discussion of this ceremony brought on, it probably would have been solemnized quietly and in a reverent atmosphere. The great majority of those who attempted to witness the die, however, apparently were attracted by curiosity, and a small part were openly and demonstratively hostile. The Catholic element cheered heartily while the procession passed by, throughout the route, but there was heard also considerable "booing" in any of people used in theaters to express displeasure at any of the players.

People began flocking toward the cathedral hours before the procession started. They came from all directions—front, east and west, in automobiles and carriages, and from the East and in barges; they poured across the river by all the bridges which converge toward Westminster, and excursion trains brought many from the provinces. At the cathedral Cardinal Gibbons spoke. An enthusiastic meeting of members of the Protestant Alliance was held at Caxton Hall, Westminster, tonight where speeches were made rejoicing at the success of the alliance's campaign against the eucharistic procession, and a solemn covenant to defend the Protestant religion was voted. John Kensit, president of the Antiritualist league, and other speakers paid high tributes to Premier Asquith "for vindicating the Protestantism of England." They declared that the congress had failed miserably, and that instead of promoting the doctrine of the church of Rome it had occasioned a great Protestant awakening.

WOULDN'T SPEAK ON SUNDAY.

However Mr. Bryan Consents to Meet People Gathered to Greet Him.

Deer Park, Md., Sept. 13.—W. J. Bryan put the stamp of disapproval on Sunday political speech-making when, without his knowledge, residents around Mount Lake Park were notified to assemble there to hear him talk. Over twelve hundred had gathered while Mr. Bryan, at Deer Park, was protesting to the local committee that he would make no speech. He finally was prevailed upon to take the three-mile drive and shake hands with those in the assemblage, with the understanding that he should not speak and that there should be no hand-clapping. The people gave every evidence of their pleasure at meeting the nominee for president, even though they were disappointed at not hearing him, and as he departed they violated their pledge and applauded him liberally. The day was one of absolute quiet and rest, with the exception of the short journey to Mountain Lake Park, and in consequence Mr. Bryan prepared himself for the strenuous week ahead. He leaves at midnight for Baltimore and is due to arrive at Camden at 7:30 a. m. He will speak at Baltimore, on Monday; Tuesday he proceeds to Jersey City, Wednesday, to Rochester, N. Y.; Friday, to New York city, and Saturday, to Providence, R. I.

FEARING RABIES, KILLS HIMSELF.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 13.—Fred Peterson, forty-five years old, was hit by a mad squirrel that attacked several persons in downtown streets last week, died today from carbolic acid poisoning. Fearing hydrophobia, he is supposed to have swallowed the acid with suicidal intent. The others bitten by the squirrel ran in Chicago, receiving treatment to prevent serious developments.

MARQUETTE, MICH., SEPTEMBER 14.
Entered as mail matter of the second class in the postoffice at Marquette, Mich.

Congratulations, Representative Young;
also Senator Moriarty.

By the way, where's our old friend Horatio S. Earle these troublous days?

We've had recents in Marquette, if we remember aright, but the only people they profited were the lawyers.

We gather from the latest lower peninsula advices that Arthur Hill, et al.,
have not yet spent their entire pot.

It's a cool day, indeed, when the Sage of Fairview doesn't get a scorching;
likewise it's a cool day when he isn't searching someone else.

The $5,000 crimp put in the city by the supreme court is one of the legacies of that unfortunate municipal year 1904-
'05. Let's see, who was mayor then?

Candidate Bryan pleads not guilty to the soft impeachment, that he has a round million. The figure, he says, is $150,000, all earned by the sweat of his brow—on the lecture platform.

It's not at all modest of the Escanaba baseball team to claim the championship of the upper peninsula before they have tried conclusions with the Marquette Alger county league.

The number of insistent demands for Mr. Taft would indicate that it is more likely than not that he will have to "swing round the circle," though that method of campaigning was not originally contemplated by the national committee.

Quite oblivious of the fact that the present primary law was shaped largely by its enemies with the idea of cooking up a statute that it would be difficult to get good results under, many of its enemies are rasping critics of the direct voting system. It will be time enough to pass judgment on direct nominations when we have had practical experience under a law made by its friends.

Once more the forest fire has a place in the press dispatches, and a prominent
one. The trouble is there hasn't been in the northwest this summer a rain heavy enough to thoroughly wet down the country. An occasional shower has at times quitted the flames for a brief period, but they have not been wholly extinguished, and are soon raging with great fury again. What we need is a downpour that will continue for about forty-eight hours.

His political enemies appear to have the Indian sign on Representative Mc-Callum of the Schoolcraft district and unless there is a big upset somewhere Edward McNamara, an attorney of Mackinac county, will be made the party's candidate this week. Representative McCallum lost his home county last week, three delegates unfriendly to him having been chosen. The thing that killed him in Schoolcraft is said to have been a report circulated at Manistique that he is a prohibitionist, and that he would probably vote for prohibitory legislation. Mr. McCallum denied in a formal manner that he had any radical views on the liquor question, but it was noticeable that the saloonmen and their friends were pretty solidly lined up against him.
Mr. McNamara may be the best sort of representative timber, and yet the apparent defeat of Representative McCallum will be much regretted, for he made an excellent record in the last legislature. The Schoolcraft district is partial to one term representatives, however.
Local jealousies are so pronounced that a man, no matter how good he is, can hardly get his seat warm before he is turned out to make room for someone else. As a result the district is represented at Lansing by a succession of novices and falls far short of having the influence it would possess if it would be content to find a good man and keep him in office for a few terms.

There is to be a recount of a number of counties on the primary vote on governor, it seems. Dr. Bradley will ask it of the canvassing board today. The doctor has been a man of several minds on this question. When the returns voted decisively in favor of Governor Warner

he appeared in the role of a game loser, and manifested a willingness to accept the result. But some of the irreconcilables among the "ants" were not satisfied with that attitude. The Detroit Free Press, in particular, was insistent that Dr. Bradley should start a contest. Now the doctor appears to have turned his back on his first wise attitude and to have fallen in with the plans of those counselors whose hatred of Governor Warner outweighs their discretion and their plain duty to their party. At the same time Dr. Bradley is quite within his rights in the course he has elected to take, and should the recount show the discrepancies he alleges to exist it will be justified. The probabilities are all against this outcome, however. The nebulous stories of irregularities put out by hard losers after every close election rarely prove to have much basis in fact. Perhaps Governor Warner's friends will ask for some counter-recounts. Political methods in the lodging house wards in Detroit, which Dr. Bradley carried almost solidly, and in similar wards in Grand Rapids and Saginaw, where the same thing was true, are not overly nice. The men in control in these wards are not averse to stretching a point or two. It is unfortunate that there has been so much clamor about irregularities. Mr.
Stair's Free Press is proving a sad incubus on the Republican party. As remarked, Dr. Bradley is wholly within his rights in asking for a recount, but his position won't be a comfortable
one if the issue proves that he is fighting shadows.

MESSAGE TO CONSTITUENTS.

In another part of this issue The Mining Journal prints a political utterance that is of more moment to the people of the upper peninsula than perhaps anything else that they will have opportunity to read during the campaign. It is the address of H. O. Young, of Ishpeming, delivered following his renomination, in this city Saturday, for a fourth time to represent the Twelfth district of Michigan in the house of representatives.

Mr. Young's constituents will find in it an exact statement, and one characterized by admirable frankness, of what Mr. Young believes and stands for, as well as a forcible discussion of some of the issues of the present campaign.
They should give it a careful perusal.
If they do this they will surely be able to guide themselves advisedly in regard to Mr. Young's candidacy to succeed himself.

There has been something of a disposition in certain parts of his district to assume that Mr. Young has been one of the representatives who have been out of harmony with the work President Roosevelt has been endeavoring to do.
Mr. Young meets this issue squarely.
Taking Representative Townsend and Senator Smith as criterions, for the reason that they have been quoted by certain of his critics as examples to be pointed to, he shows that he has supported every recommendation of President Roosevelt that they have supported, and some that they have voted against.

Mr. Young is no apologist for congress. In the first place he vigorously defends the existing rules, as absolutely necessary to secure the domination in legislative affairs of the majority. He strongly refutes the oft-repeated charge that the last was a "do nothing" session of congress. The reputed hostility between President Roosevelt and the legislative body has been, he says, throughout Mr. Roosevelt's period of service, greatly exaggerated. He points to the fact that the president has not been numbered among the critics of the last congress, and asserts that, far from this,
he expressed himself as well pleased with what had been accomplished.

As for the present fall, Mr. Young asserts that he stands squarely on the Chicago platform, which is party doctrine, and further says that if he did not believe in and endorse that platform he would not feel justified in accepting a renomination from his party.
Thus Mr. Young may be said to be fully committed to the idea of that platform, and the idea of Mr. Taft, the party's nominee for the presidency, that the work now ahead of the party is to clinch and round off the various measures of progressive legislation that may be said to be in their formative stage.

What we have here said clearly indicates that there is no possible reason why Mr. Young should not receive the loyalest support of Republicans of every shade of belief in the pending campaign, and the more carefully his address is read the more certainly will
this opinion be held by reasonable men.
It is a satisfying declaration of principles, and an exceptionally able and credible utterance. It will confirm the generally held opinion that Mr.
Young's fourth renomination was far the wisest step the district could take.

ALL STEEL RAILWAY CARS.

It being true of railways as well as families that accidents will happen in the best regulated of them, the advent of the steel passenger car is an eventuality for which we should be devoutly thankful. The steel car is one of the most valuable safeguards of human life ever introduced into American railroad, and if, as now seems probable, its early and general adoption by the trunk lines of the country is imminent, a very considerable decrease in the annual mortality list of passengers may be predicted.

In last week's issue of the Engineering News there appears a long discussion of the steel passenger car, including a detailed account of its various forms, and records showing the numbers already in use on American roads. The writer places the total at about 1,228.
Including municipal, elevated, and subway lines, there are seventeen companies
now operating steel passenger cars.
(Steel freight and mail cars have been in use for a number of years.) The New York Interborough leads the list with 350 cars, next comes the Pennsylvania railroad with 208, then the New York Central with 191, the Long Island with 185, and the Philadelphia Rapid Transit company with eighty.

The value of steel construction in safeguarding the passenger is so obvious as hardly to need discussion. In the first place, it is fireproof. The first steel car of the Pennsylvania line contained 1,500 pounds of wood. This has now been reduced to 300. The Interborough's steel cars contain about 700 pounds of wood, all of which is "fireproofed." The shocking destruction of life resulting from the burning of wrecked cars, which too often adds horror to the railroad accident involving wooden cars, will be incident when the trains are composed of incombustible steel boxes.

The steel car has another marked advantage over its wooden predecessor in that it is far stronger than the latter.
The properly made steel car cannot be crushed under the force of an ordinary collision, and when derailed is sufficiently heavily framed to roll down an embankment without collapsing.
Against these advantages are set two disadvantages, of a minor character—the steel car is heavier than the wooden car and costs much more to build. The first of these objections will, it is thought, be minimized if not entirely removed by further improvements in design and methods of manufacture. Experience in the wearing qualities of the new cars indicates the probability that,
despite high first cost, they will in the long run be the cheaper of the two—that is, will have so long a life as to more than make up for the higher first cost.

For backache is really kidneyache.
A kidney cure is what you need.
Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys,
Cure backache and all urinary ills.
Richard Steinke of 615 Wells Ave., Prenaha, Mich., says:—Years ago I used Doan's Kidney Pills and found them to be a true backache cure. While working in a lumber camp in Wisconsin I caught a heavy cold which settled in my kidneys and caused me much suffering. I tried all kinds of remedies but kept getting worse. I was unable to work and could scarcely get my clothing
on. I was told by a friend about Doan's Kidney Pills and I sent for a box. Inside of a week after commencing to use them I was at work and my back became as strong as ever and the pains all disappeared. I procured two more boxes, used them and since that time I have never had a backache. I would not be without Doan's Kidney Pills in the house. You are welcome to refer any one to me at

THE SAVANNA COPPER COMPANY.

Copper Gulf and Comanche Mining Companies Consolidate.

The Silver City Independent of Silver City, N. M., in its issue of last Tuesday, has the following to say about the consolidation of the Copper Gulf and Comanche Mining & Smelting companies:
"The Copper Gulf Mining company and the Comanche Mining & Smelting company's extensive mining interests situated in the Burro mountains have been consolidated, and the new merger known as the Savanna Copper company, with an authorized capital of $2,000,000, divided into 200,000 shares of the par value of $10 each. Of the capital stock, one-half, or 100,000 shares, will be full paid and issued to acquire the stock of the Comanche and Copper Gulf companies.
The remaining 100,000 shares will be treasury stock, to be used for working capital. Fifty thousand shares will be held open for immediate subscription on a call of $2 per share, the balance of $8 payable when needed, to be determined by the board of directors of the Savanna Copper company. To provide for the immediate payment of the debts of the Comanche company, stockholders are requested to contribute 10 cents for each share held by them. Of the 100,000 full paid shares of the Savanna company one-half will be allotted to the Comanche holders who contribute 10 cents a share in their present holdings, which insures the payment of the Comanche indebtedness. The Comanche stockholders have until Sept. 30, 1908, to join the plan and receive full paid up stock.
"The consolidation of the two great companies, the Copper Gulf and Comanche, into the Greater Savanna Copper company, places under one management 6,000 acres of the richest copper bearing land in the world, and with the single exception of Cananea, is the largest holdings owned and controlled by one company in the great southwestern country."
"Within the area of land embraced in the consolidated interests are the exceptionally rich leached porphyrys of the Burro mountains. Outlined on the surface, as indicated by the fissures and fault-planes, there are eight great operating courses which have been practically developed through the medium of exploitations and explorations in the Boone, Virginia, Getty-sburg, Mexican, Copper Gulf, Guavala, Comanche and other mines in the consolidation. That other ore deposits of great extent and value will be discovered, exposed and developed through plans now being formulated, and which will be inaugurated by the first of October, is a conclusion borne out by surface conditions, exploitations and developments now being made in adjacent territory."
"Since the appointment of E. A.
Wayne as trustee of the Comanche company he has been largely instrumental in saving the company from bankruptcy sale, and to him is due the hearty cooperation of leading Milwaukee capitalists who have succeeded him every day in his personal endeavor, consistent with business principles, to bring about the great merger which is destined to accomplish so much for the stockholders, large and small, of the old organizations and of such permanent benefit to the mining industry of Grant county and southwestern New Mexico."
"The Savanna company's holdings have very close to 1,200,000 tons of ore in sight of an average value of 3 per cent concentrating and smelting ore. The developed aggregate over 14,000 linear feet with 1,000,000 tons of ore to the credit of the exploration, in addition to the large amount which has been mined and smelted. The neighboring company, the Burro Mountain Copper company, has
in its possession and control a block of land the Cheyenne belonging to the Cole-Ryan, or United States Steel interests, is close up with nearly or quite 2,000,000 tons now in sight.
"The consideration and negotiations which have led up to the merger and the organization of the Savanna Copper company have been in progress for several months and its success at the very inception of the enterprise is an assured fact, supported by an ample supply of ore to begin operations, exceptionally good smelting facilities and a supply drawn from, which cannot be exhausted during the present century."
The Savanna Smelter,
"Now that the main issues of the merger have been arranged, the many details incident to and connected with negotiations of this character will be disposed of, and the smelting works, which have added so much to the prosperity of Silver City will again be in operation. The daily capacity in tons of the present plant is 1,000, and is to be 250 to 300, and can be doubled in twenty days by the completion of the new furnace now partially completed.

The furnaces are of the most approved type known to metallurgical science.
"One bins of immense tonnage capacity have been constructed, and so conveniently arranged that the removal of slag from the furnaces can be accomplished economically and swiftly, an item in smelting operations which matterially lessens the cost of reduction.
"The large new concentrator will be run in connection with the smelter, and will be a valuable auxiliary to the new company in the treatment of ores from the Burro mountains and elsewhere.
The main ore supply will be drawn from the company's mines, but custom ore will be purchased and fair and square treatment accorded the miner. The facilities necessary for smelting purposes will be derived from the company's holdings in the near vicinity of Silver City, on the line of their railroad to Pinos Altos.
"The works are conveniently situated on the line of the Silver City branch of the Santa Fe road, are well equipped with machinery and the necessary switches connecting with the main line of railroads with the works, and occupy a commanding position in the smelting world by reason of many conveniences not enjoyed by works of a similar character."
"The management has been confined to E. A. Wayne, who brings to his new field of labor the practical knowledge of many years experience gained in Montana and Arizona in the business of mining and smelting, the management and direction of mining enterprises in other localities. Mr. Wayne will score an unqualified success in the manipulation of the affairs of the Savanna Copper company."
"The future is very bright, and a successful era of unmeasured prosperity in mining and smelting for the new company is a positive certainty."

NOTES OF COPPER NEWS.

North Lake has begun diamond drilling and is going down at an angle of 45 degrees. The second drill will start shortly.
The thirteenth level drift south of At-lantia's section 16 shaft is getting into the mineralized zone so favorable on the level above.
The Butte miners' union has voted not to take part in the strike of the lumbermen employed in the several mills of the Annamanet company. The vote was decisive, 1,288 against and 330 in favor of sympathetic action. A distributing circular has been in evidence in the union lately and there was some doubt as to what would be the result of a referendum vote, but the union as a whole has once more demonstrated its conservatism and another cloud has been lifted from the Butte mining industry.

ONTONAGON MINES.

Horace J. Stevens says of the new developments in the copper mines of Ontagon county: "The whole future longages on the new Lake Lode. At the present time there are only about 500 feet of openings on this formation, but I have the greatest confidence in it. In fact, I do not know of a single mine at Lake Superior having a good surface showing from the grass roots that has failed to 'make good,' provided sufficient money has been intelligently expended upon it. Of course, it takes money and time to make a mine at the Lake as well as in any other district. The showing of the Lake property is one of the finest ever made in the district. If it holds out two-thirds as well as at present it will make a very rich property. Apparently the showing is as good at the bottom of the shaft as in the upper workings."
"I think Adventure is today a better proposition than at any previous time in its career. The old property as it stands is world-wide. The equipment, however, is in good shape. They have a mill, and

MADE FROM S.S.S. ROOTS AND HERBS A SAFE AND RELIABLE BLOOD PURIFIER

In the time of our forefathers the forests and fields were the only laboratories from which they could procure their medicines. They searched out and compounded the different roots, herbs and barks into remedies, many of which have been handed down to succeeding generations, and continuously used with satisfactory results.

MARKETS

NEW YORK STOCKS.

Paine, Webber & Co.'s correspondent at New York Saturday telegraphed as follows:

"Considerable evening up of accounts took place today, a short interest of fair proportions having been fostered during the decline of the past few days. Buying of those interests caused a general recovery under the leadership of the Harriman, Pacifics and the coalers. Reading has been conspicuously firm since the announcement of the recent decision and if the same is affirmed by the supreme court there will undoubtedly be a resumption of the old time activity in the issue."

"FRENCH DEPOPULATION."

"French depopulation" is a familiar phrase. The publication of the vital statistics in France never fails to cause a discussion of the steady decline of her birth rate and the grave consequences.

Of course you will take the wife and children when you go to Europe. God pity you if you have no wife and children to take. Seeing Europe alone is dull, stupid, monotonous, uninteresting.

COMPANIONSHIP IN TRAVEL.

Whether this showing will change the optimistic views of those "modern thinkers" who claim that the low birth rate is France's proudest distinction and the clearest proof of her culture, her desire for comfort and happiness, her horror of congestion, filth, misery, disease, is a question.

STRONG NAVY IN PACIFIC. American Strength There Is Considerable, Especially in View of Presence of 16 Battleships.

Washington, Sept. 13.—In connection with the report that the navy department contemplates the sending of submarines to the Orient, the New York Herald's Washington bureau gives the account of America's military strength in the Pacific. The following is a summary:

Navy strength in the Pacific Ocean has been steadily growing recently. With the transfer of the submarines now in the North Atlantic to Manila, the strength of the United States in Pacific waters will be still further increased.

The senatorial committee named at the Laurium senatorial convention, at which Senator Charles Smith of Hubbard was renominated Friday afternoon, is composed of J. B. Cooper, Houghton county; W. J. Smith, Keweenaw county, and A. Brown, Ontonagon county. The address nominating Senator Smith was made by Angus W. Kerr and was seconded by W. R. Gates.

It is stated that the Hancock "red flag" case is the only one of the kind upon which a supreme court decision has been rendered, and the ruling of the Michigan tribunal last week, sustaining the lower courts of Houghton county, establishes a precedent which is being followed in other states. The case grew out of the arrest of Len Perry at Hancock on Sunday, July 26, 1907. They were taken into custody by the police for carrying red flags in a parade in defiance of an ordinance forbidding such display. The prisoners were found guilty by a jury before Justice Oliver, and the supreme court decision was rendered in London the justice court decision was affirmed, as it was in the supreme court last week.

Whether this showing will change the optimistic views of those "modern thinkers" who claim that the low birth rate is France's proudest distinction and the clearest proof of her culture, her desire for comfort and happiness, her horror of congestion, filth, misery, disease, is a question. As to the majority of thinkers, they will doubtless judge their brains even harder to devise anti-race suicide remedies. The proposed taxes on bachelors, gifts to heads of large families, etc., have found little favor. The question, it is felt, goes deep and is affected by land tenure, inheritance laws, colonization, social legislation, education, food and drink habits.

In England, too, the vital statistics for 1907 have furnished food for thought. The birth rate was 26.3 per 1000 or 0.8 below the rate for the previous year. It was, indeed, lower than the rate of any year on record. In London the decline was especially noticeable, and the fall has taken place in spite of a lower death rate and an increase for the year in marriages. However, if the last thirty-seven years be taken as a basis for comparison, the marriage rate for England has declined 12 per cent, as against a fall of 27 per cent in the birth rate of London.

He returned to Milwaukee last evening.

Passed Away Saturday—Miss Margaret M. Connor, who taught school at Gaylord the past four years, passed away at St. Mary's hospital early Saturday morning, the cause of death being diabetes. Miss Connor attended the summer term of the Northern Normal, and at the close of the summer session went to Birch for a visit. The deceased was twenty-four years of age, and made many friends during the summer school. Her mother and brother came here to take the remains home for interment.

The alleys that were used in the pavilion at the Hotel Superior have been purchased and will be removed at once to the Bacon building, and installed. Fog Bell in Commission—The fog bell, operated at the new light at the end of the breakwater, was in commission yesterday and for the greater part of the day tolled mournfully. Many people mistook it for a church bell, and there were inquiries as to who had passed away. The fog bell didn't make much of a hit with the general public; in fact it got on many people's nerves, but they will doubtless grow accustomed to it. The bell is struck by a mechanical device operated by an electric motor and can be put in operation from the lighthouse on the point. The characteristic of the breakwater light has been changed from a steady white to a red flash. The light is illuminated by electricity. This was the first harbor where electricity was used for that purpose, but it is now generally used wherever the current can be obtained.

H. O. YOUNG FIRES THE OPENING GUN
CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS IN THIS DISTRICT GAVE ABLE ADDRESS SATURDAY.

OUTLINES HIS PRINCIPLES
Upholds Work of Congress at Last Session and Takes Up Cudgels for the House Rules—Tributes to National Candidates.

Following is the text of Representative Young's address before the congressional convention held here Saturday:
Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen of the Convention:
I thank you most heartily for this cordial greeting and for the distinguished honor you have conferred upon me in making me for the fourth time your candidate for representative in the congress of the United States from the Twelfth district of Michigan. It is especially gratifying to me to have this nomination come in this way, because during the last year two Republican newspapers published in this district have chosen to throw some doubts upon the character of my Republicanism and to say that I ought to step aside for some man like Charles E. Townsend of the Second district or Senator William Alden Smith, who are, they say, more in harmony with the policies of President Roosevelt, an opinion in which I am gratified to know that you, the chosen representatives of the Republican party of this district, do not agree. If I may be pardoned these personalities, I would like to say that I am glad that these newspapers have established a standard of Republicanism in the conduct of my two distinguished colleagues whom they have set as beacon lights upon the mountain tops, pointing the way in which all Republicans must submissively follow at peril of political ex-communication. Without acknowledging the infallibility of the criterion set up in all cases past, present, and to come, I am willing to be judged by it in this instance.

Since reading the articles of these eminent exponents of true Republicanism, with due humanity I have taken occasion to examine the records. I find that I voted for every recommendation made by the president that Mr. Townsend voted for and for one more. I voted for and he against the recommendation of the president for increased mail pay to ocean steamships plying between the United States and South America and the United States and the Orient. This measure had been recommended by both Presidents Roosevelt and McKinley and Mr. Taft in his letter of acceptance gives it specific approval. Both Mr. Townsend and myself voted for two new battleships recommended by the president's recommendation. We both believed, judging from past experience, that the men could not be obtained to fill the vacancies in our present naval personnel and man more than two new battleships and the smaller vessels we authorized by the time of their completion. So upon this record I seem to have one point the better of my distinguished friend from Jackson. As to Senator Smith, I voted for every one of the president's recommendations that he voted for, except four battleships and I voted for and supported one half of the president's recommendations which he opposed, namely, the bill for the remuneration of workmen who were injured in the government service. I approved and voted for this bill. Senator Smith opposed it by a speech on the floor of the senate. I voted against half of the president's recommendation for four battleships and he voted against the whole of another recommendation of the president's, so inasmuch as a whole is more than a half I seem to have a little the better of the senator also, judged by my critic's criterion.

Member's Judgment Must Guide.

In saying this much, I have not meant the slightest criticism of my two distinguished friends. Either one of them is a good enough Republican for me. I voted on each of these questions as my judgment dictated and I have no doubt they did the same. This is as it should be. I wish to say also that I voted for none of these measures because the president recommended them. Neither did I vote against four battleships because of his recommendation. I voted almost uniformly with the president, because my judgment agreed with his and when I voted against four battleships, I did it in no spirit of opposition to him. Any recommendation made by the president chosen by his party should receive the respectful, careful and painstaking examination of any member of congress, but after he has done this, if he is a man and not a thing it must be his own judgment and not that of another that controls his action. It must not be forgotten that a member of congress is a representative of the people chosen by the people in the same manner that the president is chosen and that it is to congress and not to the president that the people in their wisdom under the Constitution have committed the power to make laws. With the power goes the responsibility. It is congress and not the president that will be held responsible to the older second thought of the country for the enactment of any unwise ill-considered or carelessly drafted legislation. When a district sends a representative to congress, it is entitled to demand that he shall examine public questions that come before him for action in his official capacity himself, and that when he has done so he shall exercise his own judgment thereon within such limitations as are imposed by party fealty, which limitations no honest man will ever evade. What these limitations are is not difficult to decide. Every Republican candidate for congress at this election must stand squarely on the platform adopted at Chicago without equivocation or mental reservation. Much as I desire this nomination, if I could not stand upon the platform in that manner, I would not think for one moment of accepting it at your hands.

But I must say partly fealty requires that the member of congress should go farther than this. In matters (Continued on Page Five.)

re mentioned in the platform, he should follow the traditions and known principles of his party if they will furnish a guide. Even beyond this in matters not within the platform or principles of the party but which his party associates have agreed upon with a considerable degree of unanimity, he should be slow to part from them if an can remain with them without violation of principle. But in regard to the formation and details of measures designed to carry out the party pledges and in that great field of legislation which has no relation to party principles, he should use his own best judgment. His constituents in my opinion are entitled to the benefit of his judgment as much as they are entitled to its presence at the post of duty. If the time ever comes when your representative is merely to register and echo the opinion of some other man, no matter how exalted in ability, virtue or position, the place will not be worth the holding by any self-respecting man and had better be abolished and its duties conferred upon the official whose judgment is to govern. Such at least are the opinions by which my footsteps have been guided as to the duty of one of the people's representatives, and by which they will continue to be guided as long as by the favor of the people I shall remain in congress.

Tribute to House.

The house of representatives is the foremost popular legislative body in the world. While there is no man in it today of the commanding ability and influence of a few of their predecessors, yet never before was the average ability of the body higher, never were there fewer demagogues or more men of strong common sense, sound judgment and high character as one's members. Never and it higher claims to the confidence of the country. Never was it more efficient as a thinking, deliberating legislative body.

The Bryan party in its platform adopted the device of seeking to change the house of representatives has ceased to be a deliberative body and has come under the absolute domination of the speaker whom they say has entire control of its powers of legislation. They lodge themselves if placed in power to amend the rules and regulations which all shall be changed, and the house of representatives be restored to its former greatness.

This is no new charge against the house of representatives. It has been made from time to time by the Democratic party when it was in the minority ever since the rules were so amended that the majority were able to do business in opposition to the will of a filibustering minority.

Defense of Rules.

Some assistant Democrats, who are masquerading as Republicans, and some of whom are perhaps under the delusion that they are Republicans although they always play the Democrats' game a little more vigorously than the Democrats themselves, are reproaching this cry and denouncing the Republican speaker chosen by the unanimous vote of the Republicans of the house, because he entertains the rules of the Republican house, which were adopted by the house and without which it could do business only with the consent of the Democrats. The rules of the house are not new. They have been a matter of slow growth from the first of the Fifty-first congress presided over by Thomas B. Reed. Since that time, they have remained practically unchanged. Previous to the Fifty-first congress a practice had grown up among the minority members of refusing to answer to their names when called. By so doing, while actually present, under the rules they were counted absent and so caused it to appear that there was no quorum present, and thus stopped the people's business. Another practice of similar character was the making of innumerable senseless motions and amendments, and not answering to the answering and in this way make up the quorum. He was also authorized when convinced that a motion was made only for the purpose of delay to ignore it and refuse to put it to the house. These two changes restored majority rule in the house of representatives. Of course they were denounced by the democracy in language as lurid as the flames from Vesuvius. The storm of abuse that burst upon the devoted head of Thomas B. Reed as compared with that which has been lately visited upon Speaker Cannon was as a devastating Asiatic typhoon to a gentle summer zephyr. It exposed the hollow, insincerity and hypocrisy of this charge made against Speakers Reed and Cannon and the rules of the house, it is only necessary to state that the 524 and 534 congresses which succeeded that presided over by Mr. Reed were Democratic and that the Democracy adopted the same rules for the government of those congresses, which they had previously denounced and now again denounce in their platform. When Jennings Bryan was a member of both the congresses and it does not appear that he ever proposed any change in the rules. The simple truth is that the rules enable the majority to govern, so when the Democrats are in power they like the rules and when we are in power we like the rules the same because we can govern.

But the Democratic platform says that the speaker controls the house. This statement is too silly to deceive anyone who thinks. Under the practice which has prevailed in this country for a hundred years, the leader of the majority party is chosen for speaker and he continues to be the leader after his election. He is the servant and not the master of the house. He is chosen for no specified time and the majority of the house can at any moment remove him from office and choose another speaker. If at times he seems almost omnipotent it is because the majority stand behind him in a solid phalanx. If they cease to stand behind him, he becomes as powerless as the humblest member of the body. It is the power of the majority and not the power of the speaker that rules the house of representatives. The present speaker was chosen to his great office for the third time by the unanimous vote of every Republican in the house of representatives. His principles and opinions, his fitness for the office were well known. It is not absurd to say that the majority would deliberately choose a known tyrant to rule over them when they might just as well be free, or choose a man out of harmony with their views who would be ready to just as readily choose one who agreed with them? Let no cowardly Republican, if such there be, hide behind the miserable subterfuge that the house could not do what it wished because the speaker would not let it. The speaker can not control the majority and never tried to do so.

The simple facts are those. In this country the people have always ruled and they will continue to do so, but they rule through the instrumentality of some political party. This is true of every nation in the world where representative government prevails. Men having like opinions upon public questions unite in a political party. Those having different opinions, unite in other parties. They submit their claims to the people and the people choose between them and the others are not. The one entrusted with power is held responsible to the people for the results. In this country the Republican party has been entrusted with the power and it can not if it would, establish a government in the Philippines and Porto Rico and the settlement of our relations with Cuba.

No legislative body that ever convened performed at one session the amount of important work laid before it by the president and supported by the people as this congress could be performed that session. Indeed, he specifically says this as to some of his recommendations. Those recommendations cover all the matters which Wm. H. Taft says in his letter of acceptance, and the charge of blameworthy administration to accomplish. I submit that congress cannot be reasonably blamed for not having done at one session in addition to what it did do, all that our candidate for the presidency expects to accomplish in four years. Nor should we be blamed for not accomplishing what the Republican platform demands for its good work.

And let me say right here that at no time since I have been in congress has there been any substantial difference of opinion between the president and congress as to the ends to be accomplished by federal legislation. There has been differences as to the manner in which they should be done but in all cases after debate and proper consideration, substantial agreement has been reached. The Republican party stands united and will present a solid phalanx and unbroken front to the hosts of Bryan and Hearst. It will divide our forces and give aid to the common enemy who magnifies and exaggerates the differences as to matters of detail that have existed between us. We hear altogether too much of such terms as reactionaries and progressives, and the many words which covers us all. The platform adopted at Chicago is broad enough for us all to stand upon.

But if we examine the work of this congress we shall find an amount of actual achievement greater than that accomplished by most congresses. In addition to the usual work demanded each year for carrying on the government, it found time among other things to reorganize the medical corps of the army, to increase and establish a new basis for the pay of the army, which has enabled it to fill its depleted ranks, and substantially increase the number, to fortify and improve Pearl harbor in Hawaii for a naval base, to reorganize the consular service, to continue the waterways commission and provide for its support, to provide for the co-operation of the navy and the army in the preservation of the forests, to pass the employees' liability act, in such form as is believed to be constitutional, to provide remuneration for workmen injured while in government employment, to pass a stringent child labor law, to improve the government of Alaska, to improve the conditions of the Indians and whites in Oklahoma by permitting the sale of the lands of the former under proper restrictions, to create a bureau of mines, to provide for proper participation in the Japanese exposition, to limit the Chinese indemnity money beyond what is necessary to pay the claims of all Americans, to provide ample means to carry on the new work of the interstate commerce commission, to pass an emergency currency bill, which it is believed will be the best bankers will prevent the recurrence of or greatly alleviate such a money panic as we suffered from last fall and to provide for the collecting of information preparatory to a revision of the tariff along Republican lines. The bare names of these measures, covering so many different subjects, gives little idea of the extent and investigation and work necessary to frame these properly and secure their passage. The bill for the reorganization of the medical corps of the army is one which in my judgment will prove of great importance and in case of war will be the means of saving many thousands of valuable lives. It is a matter which has taxed much of my attention. Three times in three different sessions of congress, I reported it favorably from the committee on military affairs, the first time by a bare majority and against such strong opposition that its defeat in the house if brought up was assured. The second time, the opposition was much less and last winter I was gratified to be able to report it out almost unanimously and carry it through the house with a large majority. It is now a law. The revision of the tariff will be undertaken after a most careful investigation and so as to disturb business conditions as little as possible. If done by a Republican congress, as I trust it will be, it is unnecessary to say there will be kept steadily in view the protection of the interests of all American laborers and farmers and the preservation of our home markets for our own people.

On the whole, I believe the Republican party in congress has acted wisely, sanely and progressively. For the results it is responsible to the people. If it has satisfied them better than its rival has done in the past, or is likely to do in the future, it will be retained in power. If it has failed to do so, it will be thrust from power.

The Candidates.

In its great convention at Chicago, the Republican party made no mistake in selecting for its candidate for president, the trusted friend and supporter of Theodore Roosevelt. As a judge, he was noted for breadth of view, sobriety of judgment, courage and accuracy of learning. As the administrator of foreign possessions, he has shown an ability and wisdom far beyond that of his rival. As a statesman, he has shown a worthy successor to Elihu Root, in which no higher praise can be given. It is safe to say that no man in our history has entered upon the presidential office with a broader and more thorough and varied training. As a man he is genial, friendly to all human kind, approachable, broad minded, sane, judicious, decisive and honest. By his side we have placed Jas. S. Sherman of New York. It has been my good fortune to serve with him in congress for five years. I know him well. He is laborious as a summer day, a man of quiet, unostentatious worth, of marked ability, good sense and wisdom. His long service in congress has familiarized him with all public questions. He is fitted to fill any station in the gift of the people. While the Republican party is proud of its great achievements in the past, it does not rely upon them for support in this campaign. It faces the problems of the present with the same sanity, courage and wisdom with which it solved those of the past. During the last twelve years steadily, step by step, a little at a time, with courage and wisdom, unswayed by passion and unswayed by fear, it has laid down the lines for the government of its own action in regard to the problems, domestic, insular and foreign, of our national life. Like its first great president, Abraham Lincoln, it is conservative and progressive. Like him it takes no step hastily and no step backward. Serene in the consciousness of duty wisely and honestly done, it submits its cause to the people and cheerfully and hopefully awaits the result.

JAPAN MUST ECONOMIZE.
This the Watchword of New Ministry—Rigid Policy Outlined by Premier.

Tokio, Sept. 13.—Marquis Katsura, the new premier and minister of finance, outlined a policy of rigid economy for Japan in an address tonight before the Bankers' club. He declared that patriotism was as necessary now, when economy was necessary to restore confidence and credit, as during the Russian-Japanese war, when he was foreign minister.

The main features of the government's financial program are as follows:

First. The defrayal of all outlays from ordinary revenue.

Second. The extension of the six years' program of armaments and execution of public undertakings to eleven years.

Third. The abstention from all loans during that period.

Fourth. The increase of the yearly redemption of the national debts to a minimum of £5,000,000.

Fifth. The exclusion from the pro-

He Assails Police Commissioner Bingham's Crime Statistics.

Bar Harbor, Me., Sept. 13.—Jacob H. Schiff, who is at his summer home here, was asked for an expression regarding the much-discussed statements made by Police Commissioner Bingham, regarding the alleged preponderance of crime among the Jews in New York. Through his wide philanthropies Mr. Schiff has kept in closest touch with the tendencies of the newly arrived immigrants, especially those of the Jewish faith. Mr. Schiff said:

"I am shocked and astonished at the reckless statements repeatedly made by Police Commissioner Bingham concerning criminality among the Jews in the city of New York. I have always had much respect for the commissioner because of the efficient manner in which he conducts his department, and am therefore the more at loss to understand how he can justify the giving out of figures which certainly have been based only upon a superficial observation and without an investigation of the facts.

"The latter have been only recently thoroughly inquired into by Mr. M. A. Katz, who at the instance of a number of citizens of the Jewish faith has prepared an elaborate table of statistics which is at Commissioner Bingham's disposal. These statistics prove that Jews are seldom convicted of serious crimes, and that the percentage of minor offenses on the part of Jews is far below their proportion of the population.

"What is Commissioner Bingham driving at? Does he wish to add to the unfortunate prejudice which already exists against the foreigner in general and the Jew in particular, and is he in favor of restricting immigration, illegitimately using his official position to further his ends? Of the large influx from foreign countries of which so considerable a part has remained in New York city, only those who in their struggle for an existence have lost their hold and fallen are pointed out for the purpose of discarding the foreigner. The enormous number of newcomers who have been absorbed in the general population and who through honest toil by day and night have helped perhaps more than the native born to make a great metropolis of New York and build up its commercial supremacy, is passed unnoticed. It is among this silent multitude that the few will be found to be leading.

MITCHELL GIVES TESTIMONY.

Gomper's Also Examined in Stove Company Case at Washington.

Washington, Sept. 13.—John Mitchell, former president of the United Mine Workers, who with President Gompers and Secretary Morrison of the American Federation of Labor is charged with contempt of court in the injunction case against the officials for boycotting the Bucks Stove & Range company, testified in his own defense today before Albert Harper, examiner.

Much of Mr. Mitchell's testimony related to his movements leading up to the Mine Workers' convention in January last, when a resolution was adopted placing the Bucks Stove company on the "unfair list" and imposing a fine of $5 on any member buying products of the concern. Mr. Mitchell said he took no part in drafting the resolution, nor did he have knowledge of the subsequent distribution of the resolution among the 30,000 mine workers. He parried all questions designed to elicit information about the part played by the Mine Workers' journal in furtherance of the alleged boycott. "For years I have been followed about the country by detectives," Mr. Mitchell testified.

Samuel Gompers characterized the course against him as an "attempt to assassinate my character." He said he did not know that the publication of the stove company's name in the Federationist was in violation of an order which had not become operative. Mr. Gompers said that in keeping the name of the company on the unfair list it was more the intention to support affiliated bodies than to injure the company.

The word "unfair" is a notice of difference between employer and employee, he said. "The term 'we don't patronize' is a statement of fact and does not affect the business of the employer." The hearing was adjourned until Thursday.

TO FLY BY CORKSCREW.

Berliner Plans Airship Propeller That Will Lift Without Assistance.

Washington, Sept. 11.—Emile Berliner of this city, inventor of the telephone transmitter now in general use, who has been experimenting with the helicopter type of flying machine, has issued a statement outlining the essential parts of his machine, which he calls the "aerobile." Mr. Berliner says:

"I have lately constructed an experimental propeller of such power that placed horizontally it is capable of lifting 300 pounds in a calm straight up into the air. There is no gas bag and no useplane; simply a motor weighing 100 pounds, some framework, gearing, and a two-bladed fan, the latter having a surface of about thirty-six square feet. Moreover, the whole apparatus, outside the seat of the operator, is entirely of steel and aluminum, and is built substantially and for practical use. In order to propel the aerobile horizontally the propeller will have to be tilted forward, and I have calculated that while this could reduce the lifting power less than 1 per cent, the resulting forward thrust would be one-quarter of the lifting pressure.

"It is an accepted theory which has been proved by practical tests that a propeller moving forward is more efficient than when moored fast in one position. Hence, the lifting power of an aerobile would increase in free flight, generally considered, it is necessary to have two propellers revolving in opposite directions in order to steady the machine and prevent it from turning about its own axis in a direction opposite the motion of the single propeller.

"A peculiar importance of these experiments lies in the fact that a power propeller capable of flying straight upward with an operator, when attached vertically to a modern aeroplane, would force the latter through the air at a very high speed—probably from 75 to 100 miles an hour—and would double the present speed of dirigible balloons.

"I am planning also, to apply small aeroplanes to this apparatus of just enough surface to help in lifting and in landing. There will be the usual rudders, such as are used on dirigibles and aeroplanes."

In order to propel the aerobile horizontally the propeller will have to be tilted forward, and I have calculated that while this could reduce the lifting power less than 1 per cent, the resulting forward thrust would be one-quarter of the lifting pressure.

"It is an accepted theory which has been proved by practical tests that a propeller moving forward is more efficient than when moored fast in one position. Hence, the lifting power of an aerobile would increase in free flight, generally considered, it is necessary to have two propellers revolving in opposite directions in order to steady the machine and prevent it from turning about its own axis in a direction opposite the motion of the single propeller.

"A peculiar importance of these experiments lies in the fact that a power propeller capable of flying straight upward with an operator, when attached vertically to a modern aeroplane, would force the latter through the air at a very high speed—probably from 75 to 100 miles an hour—and would double the present speed of dirigible balloons.

"I am planning also, to apply small aeroplanes to this apparatus of just enough surface to help in lifting and in landing. There will be the usual rudders, such as are used on dirigibles and aeroplanes."

CONSTRUCTION WORK STARTS THIS MORNING

FIRST BUILDINGS TO BE ERECTED AT THE PLUTO POWDER COMPANY'S PLANT WILL BE OF CONCRETE AND ERECTED BY TREBILCOCK.

William Trebilcock was on Saturday awarded the contract for the erection of the first of the several buildings that will comprise the group in the Pluto Powder company's upper peninsula plant, to be established on a tract recently purchased about a mile and a half south of the Winthrop location. The structure will be built of concrete blocks, which Mr. Trebilcock will manufacture on the ground. It will be 40x20 feet. The crew will begin work this morning and the structure will be rushed to completion. It will be the first concrete building Mr. Trebilcock has ever put up, but large number of the blocks he has manufactured this season have been used in foundations about the city. He has all the equipment necessary for making the blocks.

It. J. Watters, the general manager, and other officers of the company, have been in the city the past few days, completing arrangements for the erection of the buildings, which they plan to have completed within eight or ten weeks. It has not yet been decided how many buildings there will be, but it is likely that ten or a dozen will be erected. The Consolidated Fuel & Lumber company has been awarded the contract for all the lumber, brick, etc., and the contract will start today with the material. The plans for the Pluto company's plant have been prepared by an architect experienced in the erection of buildings for the manufacture of explosives and their erection will be supervised by an expert in that line. It is likely that several of the buildings will be constructed of concrete. The location of the plant is convenient both to the railroads and team roads.

Mr. Trebilcock's sidewalk work will be at a standstill while his crew is busy at the powder plant. His crew has put in more concrete work this season than has been laid here in any previous year by both of the other firms doing similar work. He has also done much other concrete work, including over 5,000 square feet of basement floors at the new high school building. He has many walk contracts in sight for next season.

"LENA RIVERS" GOOD.

Attraction Here Wednesday Evening Is Well Spoken of by the Press.

The "Lena Rivers" company, which will appear at Ishpeeming theater Wednesday evening, is receiving only praise from the press wherever the attraction is seen. The company has opened three theaters this season and in each engagement did an unusually big business. Its total receipts in thirteen nights and matinees at the Grand Opera House, Chicago, exceeded $12,000. The Freeport (Illa.) Evening Standard of Aug. 17 said of it:

"Lena Rivers," dramatized by Beulah Poynter from the novel of Mary J. Holmes, played to a packed house at the Grand on Saturday night, and was received with great enthusiasm in this city. "The play is a strictly southern one and brings out the strong features of the people of the south which in all instances are forcefully marked. The production is a strictly wholesome one and the plot is so rapidly different from all other dramas that it is really a pleasure to witness the play. "The plot is a clever one and well brought out strong by the company playing it. Bessie Dainty is in the leading role and her presentation of 'Lena Rivers' could not be more true to life. The actress has a fine, full face, her hair and is equal in this part to many who have far greater reputations than has she. Miss Dainty is a part which is a hard one to take for she is taken from a home of happiness and comfort into a home of wealth where she falls in love with a man of the blue blood and then trouble for her comeliness as the mother and all others protest and by an attempt to disgrace her separates the lovers, this on account of the secret of her father who spent a term in prison and who had married the mother of the girl's sweetheart. "The scene in which Miss Dainty denounces her lover and his family is one of the strongest pieces of acting ever seen on the local stage and she is well supported by William Blake who takes the part of the lover. "The play appeals to all theatergoers for it has a strain of humor and brings out a vein of kindness which moves an audience to smiles and tears. 'Lena Rivers' is a most beautiful play, with more than a capable cast, and under the direction of Burton Dixon is certainly one of the best things which will be seen in this city this season."

TYPICAL OF WESTERN LIFE.

With the evident intent of fixing on the stage for all time that fast disappearing type of being, the American cow-puncher, Willard Mack, the author of "In Wyoming," which will be seen here soon, has given in "Bob Richards" a character study that seems to have satisfied all demands of fancy regarding our Western range rider. The hero, although born in Pennsylvania, has lived years in Wyoming and is in perfect sympathy with the prevailing manifestations of civilization that obtained in that region during the '70's and '80's, when cattle raising was the only business, cattle stealing the only crime and lynching the only evidence of law and order.

The Birds Found on Lake Malheur, Oregon—Destruction of Snowy Heron.

After spending two months in the lake region of southeastern Oregon investigating conditions and studying bird and animal life in that locality Horman T. Bohlman and William L. Finley returned to Portland the other day. These two ornithologists have been working in the interests of the Audubon society, whose purposes are to protect and to preserve the wild birds and animals in this state.

"Our trip was full of hardships, especially while we were on the lakes," said Mr. Finley. "I believe there are today less than three thousand antelope in our state. Their destruction has been rapid. The antelope is an animal well equipped by nature, but he cannot hold his own against the invasion of new settlers. In a few years the last of the herd will be gone and the antelope in Oregon will be extinct. The mountain sheep also is practically extinct in Oregon. I know of a small herd still found in the Klamath mountains in the southern part of Barney county, but it numbers only five ewes and three rams.

"Among the native wild birds the snowy heron has suffered most. It is practically extinct in this state because for years it has been sought by the plum hunter. The only two colonies in the state we have known of were in Klamath county and on Lake Malheur, both of these were annihilated years ago. For more than a month we cruised Malheur Lake in a small boat hunting for the remnants of these snow white birds. In all that time we saw only two snowy white herons. I doubt if more than two dozen of these birds are to be found in the state, while in the '80s one of the linc hunters made more than $1,200 in a day and a half 'shooting up' the colony. As a special inducement for the balance of this season, we will make no charge for the first month's gas bill. Office open evenings Monday, Wednesday and Saturday. Both phones.

PEANUT RAISING IS PROFITABLE.

A Woman's Experience and Success in Their Cultivation.

To bring up and educate six small children on fifty acres of poor land in North Carolina was the task Mrs. Jennie R. Cass set for herself seven years ago. Beside the farmhouse of five rooms and its cheap furnishings she had one mule and one horse, both too old to have their ages recorded; a cow and a calf, twenty-two chickens, and three razor-back pigs. The plow, wagons and other farm implements were about as old as the horse and mule and in just about as good condition.

"The children just had to be educated. I set to work to do it," Mrs. Cass told the reporter. "My husband had been ill a long time and all of his little insurance money went to pay bills that had been contracted on that account.

"Excepting the five years that I taught school in the northern part of New York state I had lived on North Carolina farm all my life so I knew what I was undertaking. As the farm was free from debt and there was enough provender to last the stock until the next harvest, I was sure that hard work and economy would carry me through the interval.

"The first step was to decide what crop I would depend on to bring in money. As my husband had raised peanuts with more profit than tobacco, of course I had a leaning that way, though I was not willing to give my time and work to raise twenty or thirty bushels to the acre.

"Among the books and papers I read on the subject of peanut culture none did me so much good as the little bulletin sent out by the United States agricultural department. Most of the peanut raisers I had known about had made a point of planting their land one year in corn and the next in peanuts. That was the only effort at rotation of crops, so far as I knew. When I read that this was injurious, improving even the best land, I set out to try the rotation of crops recommended by the bulletin.

"Instead of planting forty acres of peanuts and ten acres in other farm products, as my husband had always done, I decreased the peanuts to twenty acres, and the rest of the land I planted with a crop of that year was harvested I sowed every inch of land I could in winter oats and rye.

"The next spring when that grain was cut the ten acres which had been planted in general farm crops were prepared for planting in peanut crops. I planted enough corn and potatoes to supply the farm I sowed the balance of the land in cowpeas.

"That first crop of peanuts averaged twenty-six bushels to the acre. The day after the crop was cut from the field I had the plow in and that ten acre plot in winter oats. I had found that oats suited my land better than rye. Also I had discovered that oats make better green feed for working stock than rye.

"Of course, every practical farmer knew this, but as I had never attempted to be a practical farmer, I had to learn it for myself. The next spring I

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased. Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a Home of Swamp-Root pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N.Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

MICHIGAMME TEAM DEFEATS NEGAUNEE

NINE FROM WESTERN END OF THE COUNTY IS FAST ENOUGH TO HAVE HAD A PLACE IN THE MARQUETTE-ALGER COUNTY LEAGUE—SCORE 7 TO 4.

The Musing baseball team did not come to Negaunee yesterday to play its scheduled game, and the Michigan nine was secured instead. The Negaunee players and fans were given a genuine surprise by the Michigan team, which won an exciting contest by a score of 7 to 4. For the first five innings neither team scored, but in the sixth the visitors, all husky chaps, and "sluggers" when they got started, began to find the ball. Sporey was touched for three singles, and aided by a wild throw by LaFave, errors by Scanlon and Roberts, with one batter being hit by a pitched ball, they succeeded in scoring four men across the plate. In its half of the sixth Negaunee began to take Johnson's measure. Mitchell touched the ball for a single to Boback in right field. The ball passed through the hands on a rapid bound and the runner made the complete circuit, scoring the first run. Shea flew out to Elmes at first; LaFave touched the sphere for three bases and Sporey followed with a two-base hit, bringing LaFave home, but time was out in an attempt to steal third on Roberts' sacrifice. Willett fanned, retiring the side.

Both teams played rather loosely the remainder of the game, but there were several exciting periods, due to hard hitting, close decisions on the bases and some costly errors. In Michigan's seventh inning, Manskick touched the ball for three bases and was brought home by Fredrickson, who singled. With one hit, two outfield errors and one infield misplay the visitors were presented with two more runs. Negaunee scored one in the eighth and one in the ninth. With one man gone and the bases full Michigan was in a rather tight place in the ninth, but by holding the hits to the infield the side was finally retired.

Michigan has material for a strong team. Karpensky is an old catcher and a good one. It was said that he did his best in his usual game yesterday, but at that he was on the job all the while and it was largely through his excellent judgment and head work that his team as a whole pitched in the pinches. Henry Johnson, the pitcher, also did good work. He held his position well and in one inning, with the bases full and two batted balls, hit and put out the runners at third, Michigan, and scored one in the eighth and one in the ninth. With one man gone and the bases full Michigan was in a rather tight place in the ninth, but by holding the hits to the infield the side was finally retired.

NO MENACING FIRES WITHIN MANY MILES

MEN IN THE EMPLOY OF THE CLEVELAND-CLIFFS IRON COMPANY'S LAND DEPARTMENT CONDUCTED A CAREFUL INVESTIGATION LAST WEEK.

Last week employees of the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company's land department covered many miles of territory in this county to ascertain the conditions relative to forest fires. They found several small fires, but none of them were in territory where they could do much damage, and there were no indications that they would spread over a large area. They talked with many farmers in the rural districts and found that they were keeping a close watch for fires.

The heavy smoke hanging over Negaunee and other places in the county indicated that the fires were not far distant from the towns and outlying locations, but eight miles south of Negaunee was the nearest point in that direction that any fire was found. The fires in the Green Creek district, south of Ishpeming, also those north in the Dead River district, which were reported as burning fiercely early in the week, had been pretty well burned out when the Negaunee men passed through the territory. There were fires about three miles out from Palmer, but they were not of a nature to cause much alarm either to the farmers or others directly concerned. The land-lookers were of the opinion that most of the fires they had seen would burn themselves out in a short time, even if the dry weather should continue a few days longer. In the territory beyond Palmer the fires were on the south side of the Escanaba river.

The Cleveland-Cliffs company has not had heavy losses on account of the fires in this county this season, considering the large acreage. Its land-lookers have been almost constantly in the woods and they have given the farmers and others much valuable advice as to the best means of fighting the fires. Their presence in the woods has been effective in some ways than one. They aroused interest among the farmers and others who would perhaps have been indifferent if they were not warned to be on the alert. If others having stumpage in this section were equally as vigilant there would doubtless have been much less damage done.

Most of the large land and timber owners of the upper peninsula have given the forest fire question attention the past three or four weeks, and it is largely through the efforts of their land-lookers that damaging fires have been averted in some districts. It is expected that another year there will be greater care exercised in the woods by farmers who have in a large measure been responsible for many of the losses this year.

After being incapacitated for work at the mines he conducted a candy store, but he has not had sufficient funds to put in a big stock and his business has not been sufficiently large to properly support the family.

A democratic convention of the Democratic party of Negaunee will be held this (Monday) evening at 8 o'clock at No. 1 fire engine house for the purpose of selecting twelve delegates to attend the county convention to be held in the city of Marquette, tomorrow, Tuesday, Sept. 15, also for the transaction of such other business as may legally come before said convention.

CONVENTIONS HELD IN CITY SATURDAY

REPRESENTATIVE YOUNG AND SENATOR MORIARTY RENOMINATED BY REPUBLICANS.

MEETINGS WERE HARMONIOUS

Mr. Young Delivered Able Address at Opera House on His Attitude in Past and Present and Discussed National Issues.

H. O. Young, of Ishpeming, was honored by the Republicans of the Twelfth district of Michigan, through their convention held in Marquette Saturday, with nomination for a fourth time as their representative in congress. The convention, which was held in the opera house, and was called to order at 3 o'clock by M. M. Duncan, chairman of the congressional committee, was an entirely harmonious gathering, and the transaction of the actual business could have been compressed into a few minutes. As a matter of fact, however, it was in session somewhat over an hour, as Mr. Young addressed the delegates at some length, giving an account of his service the past two years and outlining his attitude toward pending issues, as well as discussing the several questions that now bulk large in the public's view.

James MacNaughton, the chairman of the Houghton county delegation, designated by the congressional committee for the post of temporary chairman, and the convention selected James MacNaughton of the Soo for temporary secretary. Mr. MacNaughton appointed Robert Shields of Houghton, James Russell of Marquette and William Kelley of Dickinson a committee on credentials, and M. H. Kern of Mononocine, General Bates of the Soo and Robert A. Douglass of Ironwood a committee on permanent organization and order of business. The committee reported after a brief recess. The temporary organizations were made permanent, and the following delegation given seats:

The Delegates.
Alger—George J. Forster, Leo M. Geismar, Edw. Niness.
Baraga—Philip Voetsch, James Mo-Mehon.

Chippewa—C. H. Scott, R. J. Bates, George Kemp, H. H. MacNaughton, Thomas A. Bailey, R. J. Clark, George Watson, George P. McCallum.
Delta—Charles C. Beck, M. Perron, Soron Johnson, Henry W. Coburn, Hugh B. Laing, N. S. Spencer, James E. Patton, J. B. Freebrite.

Dickinson—Alfred Cruise, H. K. Meyers, John Peprato, Thomas Rowell, Tom A. Hanna, Joseph Sarderoott.
Gogebie—L. L. Wright, Henry Rowe, R. A. Douglas, C. E. Houk, Oscar Nordling.
Houghton—James MacNaughton, F. M. Stanton, F. W. H. Barton, W. J. Cron, Charles Smith, R. H. Shields, Charles Webb, O. W. Robinson, S. L. Lawton, Q. T. Noetzel, Paul Rochin, W. F. Keweenaw—A. J. Smith, F. X. Kaizer, Luce—F. P. Holm, Ross Leighton.
Mackinac—Fred Kruger, Frank H. Freeman, John A. Jameson.
Marquette—M. M. Duncan, F. E. Kiese, A. J. Yungbluth, James Clancy, Fred Braastad, J. H. Rogge, E. A. Bell, Thomas Connors, John Deacon, E. W. MacPherson, James Russell, John D. Mangum, N. M. Kaufman, D. W. Powell.

Duncan Made Nomination.
Representative Young was placed in nomination by M. M. Duncan of Ishpeming, with a few words wholly devoid of oratorical trimmings, and, on motion, the secretary of the convention cast the unanimous vote of the delegates present for Mr. Young. There were demands for a speech and Judge Bentley and Mr. Stanton of Houghton county and Mr. Duncan were appointed a committee to escort Mr. Young to the platform.

The body of delegates and others who had assembled in the opera house were treated by Mr. Young to a vigorous and interesting exposition of the principles that have actuated his service in past years and of his attitude on pending national questions. Mr. Young vigorously upheld the right of private judgment, and asserted his intention to follow it, but he denied in set terms any hostility in the past to President Roosevelt's program as such. He vigorously defended the record of the last congress and took up the cudgels for the house rules. He asserted that he stands squarely on the Chicago platform. In conclusion Representative Young paid glowing tributes to both Mr. Taft and Mr. Sherman. His address was punctuated with applause, as he made telling points, and it was generally commented on as having been an exceptionally able effort. Its full text will be found in another part of this issue.

Senatorial Convention.
M. H. Moriarty of Crystal Falls was unanimously renominated for a fourth term as senator from the Thirty-first district by the Republican convention held at the assembly room of the city hall Saturday morning. It was a brief and harmonious gathering.

The convention was called to order by Gad Smith, chairman of the senatorial committee. William Kelley of Vulture was nominated for temporary chairman and Edwin Niness of Munising for temporary secretary. C. E. Houk of Ironwood, D. W. Powell of Marquette and Tom A. Hanna of Iron Mountain were named a committee on permanent organization and order of business, and also on credentials.

After a recess the committee reported the following delegates entitled to seats: Marquette County—W. H. Johnston, J.

O. Adams, John Rogge, Charles Johnson, C. B. Driscoll, Christ Hansen, Thomas Walters, Charles T. Kruse, John Treblecock, Victor Vanhalla, D. W. Powell, J. H. Primeau, William O'Meara and John Carlson.
Dickinson—Tom A. Hanna, John Depraite, Thomas Rowell, Harry H. Meyers, J. H. Sanderott, William Kelley, Alfred Kruse.
Gogebie—L. L. Wright, Henry Rowe, R. A. Douglas, C. E. Houk, Oscar Nordling.
Iron—A. M. Darling, R. B. Webb, E. J. Connell, M. M. Duncan.
Alger—W. J. O'Brien, L. M. Geismar and Edwin Niness.

The temporary organization was made permanent.
Senator Moriarty was placed in nomination with appropriate remarks by M. S. MacDonough, of Iron River, and his nomination was seconded by Mr. Webb of Crystal Falls. Mr. Douglas of Ironwood also seconded it, for Gogebie county, which made its first appearance in a Thirty-first district convention Saturday. On motion the secretary was instructed to cast the unanimous vote of the convention for Mr. Moriarty.

Mr. Moriarty was called to the platform and spoke briefly, saying, in substance: "It is not necessary for me to make a speech outlining my position on matters of state legislation. It is a matter of record and is pretty well known. In taking that position I have not had the interests of the Thirty-first district alone in mind, but have had the interests of the state at large at heart, and of the upper peninsula. If I have voted wrong on questions or acted wrong in any way it is because I have not been informed of what my constituents wanted, and I desire to assure this convention that if the district will only let me know what it wants I will use my best endeavors to fulfill its desires. I thank you for this fourth nomination, and am particularly grateful for it because a new county, Gogebie, is represented here today. In the reappointment made by the last legislature effort was made to group the iron counties and copper counties together, thus Gogebie's appearance in the Thirty-first district."
The following senatorial committee was appointed: Marquette county, Gad Smith, chairman; Iron, Tom Conlin; Alger, T. P. Wyman; Dickinson, William Kelley; Gogebie, R. A. Douglas.

POORLY SUPPORTED.
Jeanson Pitched Good Game Yesterday, But Teammates Failed Him.

Ishpeming joggled off with yesterday's ball game at the fair grounds, winning it handsily by a score of 5 to 1. Jeanson was in the box for Marquette and Siebenthal for Ishpeming. Both men put up excellent games, Jeanson having fourteen strike-outs to his credit, and Siebenthal thirteen. Only five hits were made off Jeanson and four off Siebenthal. Jeanson was entitled to a much closer score in the game, if not to a victory, but he was wretchedly supported. The Marquette error column adds up to eight, and many of them were costly. As if that was not bad enough, there was a bad slump in the batting department of the local team, and with infrequent fielding and no batting the best of pitching is of no avail. The Ishpeming team had the better of the argument the entire distance, and was fully entitled to the victory. The summary is as follows:

Marquette	A. B. R. H. P. O. A. E.
Weiser, 3b	4	0	1	0	0	2
Rydholm, 1b	4	0	0	5	0	2

Score by innings:
Marquette . . . . . 0 0 0 0 1 0 0 0—1
Ishpeming . . . . . 0 1 0 0 3 0 1 0—5
Strike-outs, by Jeanson, 14; Siebenthal, 13. First base on balls, Jeanson, 1; Siebenthal, 1. Hit by pitcher, Vinge.
In the second inning, one error, one passed ball, and a hit by Hoglund gave Ishpeming one score; in the fifth four errors and one hit gave Ishpeming three scores; in the sixth two errors, and a hit by LaMere, gave Marquette its only score; in the seventh two errors and one stolen base gave Ishpeming its last score.

HIT BY BASEBALL.
John S. Sheldon Knocked Unconscious at Fair Grounds Yesterday.

John S. Sheldon, the Washington street barber, was struck in the left temple by a baseball that had been felled by a batter at the Ishpeming-Marquette game at the fair grounds yesterday afternoon, and was rendered unconscious. Sheldon was standing at the race track fence, a little east of and back of the home plate. A swiftly pitched ball was deflected in his direction. He did not see it coming and received its full force. It did not fell him at once, but he walked across the track, and into the ticket office for the grandstand, where he lost consciousness. He was hurried to St. Luke's hospital in an automobile, after everything possible was done to relieve him at the grounds, and at the hospital he was given prompt attention. He was unconscious for some hours, but last evening was reported to be rousing, and it is said that he will suffer no permanent ill results of his mishap, which was much regretted yesterday. It is strange that there are not more similar accidents at the grounds, as the crowds are very reckless about getting in the way of pitched balls, and many people have been hit.

PROTRACTED LAW SUIT HAS JUST BEEN ENDED

SUPREME COURT UPHOLDS DECISION FOR DEFENDANT IN CASE OF NEWBERRY AND LE VEQUE VS. CHICAGO LUMBERING CO.

The supreme court has just handed down its decision in the case of Newberry and Le Veque vs. the Chicago Lumbering company, affirming the decision of the circuit court in favor of the defendant. The case was twice tried in the circuit court for Schoolcraft county. On the first trial judgment was rendered for the plaintiff. On the second trial judgment was rendered in favor of the defendant. The following is a brief statement of the facts:

About twenty years ago the heirs of James Gibbs Ross sold all the pine timber on several thousand acres of land in Alger and Schoolcraft counties to the Chicago Lumbering company of Michigan, by bills of sale in which the time limit for the removal of the timber was fixed at September 9, 1899. The purchase price was recorded and was something over $83,000. After the purchase of this timber, and after much of it had been removed by the Chicago Lumbering company, a large number of claims were allowed against the Ross estate, including a judgment in favor of Thomas Sullivan for about $100,000. A bill was filed by the administrator of the estate against the Ross heirs and the Chicago Lumbering company to prevent the removal of the timber and to require the Chicago Lumbering company to account for the value of what it had removed, notwithstanding it had paid for the timber and the money had been divided among the heirs and devoted to the payment of claims against the estate. Before the entry of a final decree the heirs settled the Sullivan claim. The suit brought by the administrator was dismissed and it was agreed between the Chicago Lumbering and the Ross heirs that all matters in difference between them should be considered as settled.

Newberry and LeVeque, for a more nominal consideration, later procured a quit claim deed of the interest of the Ross heirs in their Michigan lands, including any and all claims for the unlawful taking or removal of timber.

A portion of the timber was removed by the Chicago Lumbering company after Newberry and LeVeque had procured their quit claim deed and assignment for damages. The system upon which the trial showed that prior to the expiration of the time limit for the removal of the timber the Chicago Lumbering company had applied to James Connolly, the general land agent for the Ross heirs, and had procured from him a quit claim deed of the lands on which the most valuable of the timber remained standing. This deed was executed by Connolly as administrator of the estate. Connolly was subsequently removed and James Russell appointed administrator in his stead, and it was by Russell that the suit was brought against the Ross heirs and the Chicago Lumbering company, with a view to enforcing the Sullivan judgment.

The contention by the attorneys of Newberry and LeVeque was that the Connolly quit claim deed was not binding as authorized by the probate court was absolutely void. The defendant's attorneys contended that whether valid or not for the purpose of conveying title, the deed was sufficient to constitute a waiver of the time limit for the removal of the timber, and this contention was sustained by the circuit and supreme courts. The plaintiffs were represented by George P. McCallum, L. C. Heiden and T. P. Sullivan and the defendants by C. W. Dunson and C. R. Brown.

MURDER AT BESSEMER.
As a result of a free-for-all fight among Italians at Bessemer, one man, Peter Colombo, was instantly killed, having been shot in the chest by James Haketto. The alleged murder was arrested after a desperate battle with the chief of Bessemer police department. Haketto fled after the shooting and the chief, who was notified by telephone, accompanied by a deputy sheriff, located him in the loft of a barn a mile from Bessemer. Leaving a deputy below to guard against escape the chief of police went into the loft and after a desperate fight threw the Italian from the loft to the ground below, where the deputy clipped him on his wrists.
