

DAILY MINING JOURNAL A MORNING PAPER PUBLISHED BY THE MINING JOURNAL CO. (LIMITED.)

Our Detroit Tigers have a considerable way to go yet, and the going is not particularly good.

Now if those Methodist bishops will only listen patiently to Uncle Joe he will tell 'em all about it.

There's no two ways about it; if we are going to have recounts we will have to hold our primary elections earlier.

This is a good time for Republican newspapers in Michigan to look pleasant, go slow and keep their tempers.

Uncle Joe says he has not one cent more than a half a million. But he isn't quarreling with his circumstances at that.

The national Democratic campaign is getting along, but so far D. J. Campau has not succeeded in breaking into it anywhere.

Ye noble football warrior is now going through his preliminary paces, and will soon be ready to take the center of the stage.

If the Detroit F. P. follows the lead it has indicated for itself, we can't quite figure out how it is going to avoid landing in the Hemans camp.

The Republican congressional convention for the Twelfth district of Michigan can be recommended as a model of harmony and brotherly love.

Attorney General Bird suggests improvements on the present primary law. It doesn't require an attorney general for that job. Almost any of us could do it.

Candidate Bryan's refusal to talk on Sunday when talking is so easy for him is an indication that he is overlooking none of the fine tactical points of the campaign.

The forest fires have interfered with lake navigation at various points. The smoke has blanketed the water as a fog. The forest fires are a bad thing from whatever angle they are viewed.

With the Detroit baseball team playing five straight extra inning games—a record, by the way—it appears that the American league race is warming up to a white heat in its closing stages.

Chase S. Osborn of the Soc will nominate Senator Fuller of Delta county for the office of auditor general. This means that Senator Fuller's candidacy will get the best kind of a start in the state convention.

The Grand Rapids News, Democratic, gleefully contemplates the possibility that there will be no candidate for governor of any faction whatsoever on the Republican ticket. But it will hardly be as bad as that.

Perhaps considering the way in which the situation within the Republican party has shaped itself W. N. Ferris of Big Rapids is sorry that he did not take a flyer at the Democratic nomination for governor after all.

If the campaign is starting late perhaps the reason is to be found in the fact that the national committees don't want the funds to run out while they are pulling off a smashing finish. The national treasurers are up against the worst "hard times" proposition they have ever been called on to overcome.

It is estimated that the attendance at the state fair at Detroit last week was 318,000, of which 18 per cent were represented passes. The paid admissions, and the other sources of revenue returned a large sum over the expenses, permitting the state fair association to discharge some of its outstanding obligations and also to go ahead confidently with plans for improvements at the grounds. The attendance and gross income this year established new high records, and show that the fair is gaining annually in popularity.

The Democrats meet in county convention today. They expect to put up a complete ticket, and thus to preserve the party organization. They also figure on putting up a candidate for representative and making as strong a campaign as they can. In the task of prevailing on promising possibilities to take a flyer at this office they have been aided by a few dissatisfied Republican spirits, who will doubtless vote for the Democratic nominee on the show-down. But there will probably be no more than the normal amount of "bolting," and there is considerable of it going on in every election, for one reason or another. Certainly there is nothing in the outlook that would justify any rosy hopes of Democratic success.

Senator Moriarty's proposition to his constituents is an eminently fair one. He says that if they will only let him know what they want he will do all that lies in his power to bring it about for them. He asserts that if he has erred in not fairly representing the people of his district on some measures at Lansing it is because he has not known what they desired. There is doubtless much substance to the implied criticism by Senator Moriarty that the people in this region do not take as much interest as they should in keeping in touch with their representatives and letting them know what is wanted. In the lower peninsula the bond that binds representatives and constituents together is much closer. The latter do not hesitate to express themselves freely, by personal interview or letter, to their members, letting them know the drift of public sentiment. As a rule, except in special cases, the upper peninsula member is allowed to drift along without any particular guidance from the people who sent him to Lansing. If the habit of writing to our representatives on questions of state importance became firmly established there would be a much closer accord between the people and the legislators, with profit for both.

WHO SHALL OBEY THE LAWS? The grand jury investigating the anti-riot riots at Springfield, Ill., which so terribly disgraced the state, returned four indictments against members of the police force for cowardice and failure to do their duty. These men were in a position to do much to prevent the rioting, but by failing to act promptly and courageously allowed the mob to run wild. They violated their oaths as officers of the law, they disgraced the force to which they belonged and through sufrage allowed one of the most unfortunate episodes in the history of Illinois.

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN. For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it? Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has cured thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

Upper Peninsula Luce County Ticket—The Republican ticket in Luce county is as follows: H. L. Harris, judge of probate; John Turnbull, sheriff; John Tait, clerk and registrar of deeds; John C. Stephens, treasurer; L. H. Feal, prosecuting attorney; L. H. Feal, circuit court commissioner; Dr. Prentice and Dr. H. E. Perry, coroners; D. K. Smith, county surveyor.

Enthusiasts of the American game of ten pins at Iron Mountain have organized a bowling association. The officers are: President, Daniel Justice; secretary, Eugene Wright; treasurer, E. J. DeGayer. Already a league has been formed, comprising four teams; namely, the Emeralds, Rubies, Diamonds and Sapphires, and other teams are being formed.

Will Make Hair-Dressing—C. Stone, who recently disposed of his merchant tailor business at Escanaba, left yesterday for a trip to Sweden accompanied by his wife. They will remain there until about the first of the year. Upon returning to the states, Mr. Stone will devote his time entirely to the manufacture and sale of a hair-dressing preparation of his own make. He has been interested in New York parties and is "the intention to enter into the manufacture of the compound on a very extensive scale.

Game Law Violators Fined—Two prominent business men of St. Johns, Mich., arrested by Game Warden Hayward and Prost for violating the game laws, pleaded guilty in Judge Knox's court at Manistiquette. They were each fined $100 and costs, amounting collectively to the sum of $242. The men in question are members of a club which has a hunting lodge twelve miles north of Seney, and its members are alleged to have been violating the law with impunity during the entire summer. They are charged with the killing of deer, hares, partridges, and illegal fishing. Other warrants may be issued.

On Recount on Sheriff—It is announced at Escanaba that upon motion of Mr. Clark of Gladstone, who is a member of the county board of canvassers, it was unanimously resolved that there would be no recount of the votes cast for the nomination of sheriff at the Republican party's recent primary election, for the reason that it appeared that very few of the ballot boxes had been sealed and kept since the election in the manner prescribed by law. It was stated by the attorneys for A. J. Henry, the contestant, that a mandamus would be asked from Judge Stone, compelling the board to proceed with a recount.

On Ontonagon Nominations—The Republicans of Ontonagon county have nominated the following ticket: Judge of probate, Walter G. Van Slyke; sheriff, H. C. McFarlane; clerk, John Garvin; register of deeds, John Garvin; treasurer, Jerome Brown; prosecuting attorney, W. R. Adams; surveyor, T. H. Wilcox; circuit court commissioner, A. H. Brown; coroners, Dr. W. B. Hanna and James Corgan. For judge of probate the names of Mr. Van Slyke and John F. Dreiss were presented. Mr. Van Slyke received twenty-seven votes and Mr. Dreiss sixteen. H. C. McFarlane received twenty-four for sheriff to nineteen for James H. Jones. John Garvin for clerk and register of deeds and Jerome Brown for treasurer were nominated without opposition. W. R. Adams and Arthur

DON'T BLAME HER

For she cannot help it. Women are often cross, irritable, hysteric, and declare they are driven to distraction at the slightest provocation. Men cannot understand why this should be so. To them it is a mystery because in nine times out of ten this condition is caused by a serious feminine derangement.

State Lands Bring Money—The state of Michigan, Menominee county, and the various townships of the county are richer at present by $15,063.42 than they were a year ago at this time, through the sale of several thousand acres of land which were turned back to the state by the county as unsalable during the annual tax sales. Some time ago the county decided that there were several thousand acres of land unsalable under tax sale as the back taxes on them amounted to a lot more than their actual value. The county disposed of the lands at an auction and the sum mentioned above is what was received for them. Of this the state received $3,332.93. Menominee county $2,388.49. Cedarville township, $2,388.49. Harris $1,197.28, Holmes $250.76, Ingalls $250.76, Spalding $250.83 and Stephens $1,140.12.

Northern Lights Affect Wires—Many people gazed at the heavens last night and witnessed a display of "northern lights," which were very brilliant than usual, says the Soc News. Early in the night the sky resembled a huge wheel with the hub directly overhead. So far as known, no such illumination was ever seen here before. The only people directly in the line of the lights were the telegraph operators. The aurora borealis seems to exert a strange influence over telegraph instruments and last night much difficulty was experienced in sending and receiving messages. "We frequently have trouble from this source," said Irving Kinney of the Western Union telegraph office. "I remember one instance several years ago in Minneapolis when I was copying the report of a football game, when the chief operator had to reverse the batteries continually in order to get action on the wire, all due to the aurora borealis. No one is sure exactly why the lights cause this trouble, but in the northern countries they have to be considered by telegraph operators."

Loses His Batting Eye—Out in Seattle the life of Emil Friske, a former pitcher for the Marquette ball team and subsequently the prize slugger of the Pacific Coast league, is being made miserable by the same sort of fans as the pitcher's wife, Hans Wagner in Pittsburgh because he did not murder the ball in a pinch every time. Emil is falling down in his batting, and it is doubtless nothing more nor less than the hooters and knockers who are working the big fellow until it has got on his nerves. One evening he was hit by a rap from the leader of the knockers' chorus over there: "Emil Friske almost saved Seattle from a shutout. Emil ran right up to the plate in the second inning while Stanley was being retired at first and then scampered back to third on a flying start. Our Emil also had a chance to distinguish himself in the third inning. Two runners were prancing on the bases and two had perished when Emil strode to the plate. Any kind of a hit meant a run; one of Emil's hard smashes meant two runs, and one of his new, old friends would have counted for three. The world wailed, breathlessly, while Emil came to bat. Over above China, where it was night, the little stars ceased twinkling and flopped fitfully in their orbits, waiting for Emil to land. Mt. Vesuvius stopped smoking, Kilian's hat had its lava. Down in Puyallup a bay mule that was kicking held the hoof suspended in midair. The universe and all its appurtenances waited on Emil—and he struck out."

Track Record Broken—On a track fully four seconds slower than the track of last year, due to the dry weather, Sandy, owned by W. A. Lewis of Royal Oak, Mich., broke the track record for the Menominee county fair, made last year by Baron Walder. The time made by Sandy was 2:14. The record made by Baron Walder, was 2:15 1/4. The record was made in the last heat of the free-for-all. The first money was won by Sandy, second by Oscar Wilde owned by J. I. Scott of Marinette, third by Baron Walder, owned by Will Hubbard of Green Bay, and fourth by Lord Genery, owned by Dr. Conway of Milwaukee. The time was 2:18, 2:17, and 2:14.

Hunter Meets Death—There is another hunting fatality to chronicle, the result of the accidental shooting of Patrick Poupard, eighteen-year-old son of Dominick Poupard of Cooks, Schoolcraft county. The young man was hunting ducks on a lake about two miles from his home. While dragging the gun the trigger caught on the edge of a board, causing the full charge of shot to enter his left arm. He immediately started for home and when he arrived Dr. Livingston was called. The patient was extremely weak from loss of blood, but amputation was found necessary. The operation was successfully performed, but the shock proved too great and death occurred soon after.

Like the roving bands of harvesters that follow the ripening of the barley across the counties of England and Ireland is the nondescript and mobile army of workers who look after the fruit gathering in Missouri and Arkansas. A life of careless vagabondage is led by these people, who make a few dollars picking berries and spend it getting to the next job yonder.

The berry picking is over, and the ancient order of fly-nights has moved back to lock horns with the Alberta strikers and other quick perishing beliefs if it were not for them, that sturdy further and further north. The fruits could not profitably be placed on the Northern markets in such large quantities as at present. It is true that this industry requires a quick mobilization of labor attracted by moderate wages.

The strawberry is the first fruit on the market, the most perishable and the one requiring a considerable amount of organization to get the product on the northern markets while the prices are good.

Last spring was a hard season for both pickers and growers of berries. Both nearly ruined the crop, and hard times brought many more pickers into the district than possibly could be employed. The railroads let pickers ride the freights without molestation, it being pretty well understood that the berry pickers this season had no money. There were many cases of hard luck. A woman and her twelve-year-old daughter went from Fort Smith to Springdale, Ark. The rains destroyed the berries, the woman's money gave out, and after sleeping three nights on the depot benches a ticket home was given to her by a number of traveling men who had observed her plight.

Rudy, Ark., a little town in the Ozarks, where the roads are very rough and rocky, but where the people are hospitable and kind, is a typical strawberry town. Here during the season a well loaded army of traveling men, on a sliding every evening, and the wagons coming and bumping down the hills, ever boulders which it would take tons of dynamite to remove laden with the fragrant fruit.

A mountain stream runs close by the town, and here are the "jungles," the pickers' boarding houses. Any place where tramps camp is called a "jungle." Campfires are burning among the trees. Juicy steaks are being barbecued and "mulligans" are steaming in old bottles and hard tins. On the bushes are various articles of wearing apparel that lately have been laundered in the stream.

Besides sleeping and living in the "jungles" the pickers are allowed to "dop" in the village church and at the depot. Tents are provided in some places, but this is not the general rule. The berry patches of Arkansas are on the high hills. A winding road makes its way up seemingly impossible inclines to a mountain home simply and substantially built of logs, with a fireplace of brownstone masonry at one end and a box for bluebirds and a pigeon cote at the other. There there is the ever present spring. Springs, many of them discharging small rivers, everywhere abound. But the berry patch is the place of interest. It is on ground so rocky that one wonders how anything can grow in such a place. But the growers say that the rocks are no detriment rather a help. They keep the soil loose and moist. The berries are laid out in regular rows which must be kept separate and well cultivated. At one corner of the patch is the berry shed, a roughly constructed shelter looking a good deal like a circus lemonade stand.

Here the pickers bring full boxes, six or seven of them resting on what is called a "holder" this being simply a light frame with handles to carry the boxes. At the other end of the holder are changed for printed tickets of different denominations, which show how many quarts have been picked. These tickets are redeemable at the village store in cash.

LONG TERM IN PROSPECT.

Two Murder Cases Are to Be Disposed of in Houghton This Week.

The September term of the Houghton circuit court opened in Houghton yesterday, and it is more than likely that the session will continue for more than three weeks in view of the amount of business that is to be handled. Though the number of cases on the criminal docket is no greater than usual—in fact, there are fewer cases than were tried at the preceding two terms—this portion of the work may stretch over a longer period than usual, by reason of the fact that a large proportion of the dozen or more cases will go to trial and some of the trials promise to be long and tedious. The list of civil cases is unusually long and will require a great deal of time. The naturalization work, however, will finish the biggest task. There are more naturalization cases to be acted upon at this term than ever before handled in a single term of court in Houghton county, and probably more than any court in the state ever handled in one term. The total number is 336.

At the opening session yesterday morning six of the dozen liquor cases were practically disposed of by pleas of guilty entered by the defendants. The first hearing of the term will be held this morning on liquor cases, that of S. A. Genette of Hancock. The other cases of the sort will follow and will probably be disposed of during the day. Tomorrow morning one of the two most highly important cases on the criminal docket will go to trial—the Cornigan murder case.

The Cornigan case is interesting. Briefly, it is this: A trivial dispute in a Painesdale saloon the night of Aug. 3 last was about to end in a fight. Two men were about to attack a third, but the disturbance was quelled, and this third man, a few minutes later left the saloon. He was shot and killed on his way home by two assailants, apparently without provocation and without reason. William Roskilly, a mine worker, was the name of the victim. Hugo Cornigan is charged by the police with the murder. He is said to have been one of the two that quarreled with Roskilly. No motive for the murder, beyond that of the quarrel, of which there are a dozen a day in the copper country, has been shown up to now. The prosecution may also undertake to show that the shot was fired by Cornigan, or, if he did not fire the shot, that he knew that his companion intended to kill Roskilly. This companion is still at large and has probably made good his escape.

The Williams murder case is another that is awaited with interest. It is fully established that Williams went to his wife's home in Calumet one night last August and shot and killed her, but he has pleaded not guilty. Insanity or the unwritten law figure in his defense, according to gossip about the case. The Williams case will be taken up as soon as the Roskilly murder case is disposed of, probably Thursday morning.

TO PAY CHURCH DEBT.

In order to clear the parish of debt, preparations are being made by the congregation of St. Joseph's Austrian church of Calumet for a bazaar that is to be held beginning Sept. 21. It will continue for two weeks, according to present plans. Programs for every evening are being arranged. The debt now amounts to something like $10,000. It is understood that the purchase of a plot of ground adjoining the church for the purpose of erecting a parsonage is contemplated by the congregation.

Ingot and Kilpi tents, the two Hancock lodges of Macabees, have completed arrangements to go to Calumet in a body Sept. 22 to greet the great commander of the order, George S. Lovelace of Hastings, who will be in the copper country then. It was found that he would be able to only visit Calumet, and the trip by the two tents was arranged that they might add to his welcome.

NEWSPAPER MEN ENTERTAINED.

Trip to Huron Islands Sunday a Most Enjoyable Experience.

Were one today to ask any individual of a certain group of copper country newspaper workers to define by example that trite term, "a good time," the questioner would in all probability hear a description of a trip to the Huron Islands. Further, if individual examples of that other term, "good fellow," were asked, undoubtedly the names of Joseph Croze, John C. Mann, J. A. Cochran and Captain William Bussiere would be mentioned.

Mr. Croze tendered the use of his tug, the Valerie, to the press club Sunday, and members and their friends enjoyed an outing at the Huron Islands. When the crowd reached the landing place, Sunday morning they found a large part of the space in the bow of the vessel occupied by a gorgeous fruit stand, the center piece of which was a mammoth watermelon, flanked by bananas, plums, apples, peaches and other fruit. It had been sent by Mr. Mann. The other end of the boat also had its surprise, for stacked high there were cases of pop and soda water of every variety, sent by Mr. Cochran.

Through the day Captain Bussiere, who commands the tug, looked after the comfort of his guests in a way that quickly won their warm regard. Captain Bussiere is not only a man of ability and charm, but he has other talents. When the phonograph, which Pat Cook thoughtfully had provided, went on a strike with a hoarse and defiant howl, everybody tried to fix it and failed; that is, everybody but the captain. Also he and members of the crew on one explained patiently the minor mysteries of navigation and the use of the compass to the ladies of the party, and also they let some of the ladies steer the boat, or, to be more accurate, having in mind certain marine regulations, they ordered affairs in such a fashion that the ladies thought they were steering the boat—much the same thing, for they were permitted to see the wheel go round.

The reception on the main island of the Huron group was no less kindly than that which marked other portions of the trip. The lighthouse, the fog whistle, the rustic suspension bridge, and, probably most wonderful, the chasm, known generally as "The Cave"—a narrow rift that divides two great walls of rock, and is said to be more in height than it is in width—were all points of interest to geological experts, unusually excellent examples of "fault fissures," were examined and pictured. The trip was a most happy experience.

PRIZE FOR MASTER LANTZ.

Dwight Lantz, a pupil of the Jefferson school of Calumet, was the winner of the prize, one of the most important of the Calumet Woman's club for the year, "the best collection of plants grown by a boy." He planted and tended a box of daisies that developed such singular beauty that other competitors were wholly outclassed. He is just eight years old.

The Hancock baseball team has disbanded for the season. The club makes the claim that it would have carried off the pennant had not the Houghton County Amateur ball league disbanded. The club won thirteen games and lost three.

The Copper Range road will shortly be open for the filling of the deep ravine crossed by the spur which leaves the main line for South Range at Mill Mine junction. During the summer months the road has been filling a number of ravines and gullies, and it is intended ultimately to do away altogether with the wooden trestles now in use.

Truant officers say that the number of cases of truancy in the copper country schools at this time of the year is unusually small. The women of Hurontown, or at least some of them, take an active interest in the affairs of the community, and an evidence of this is that the organization known as The American Ladies' club, in order to raise funds which will be devoted to the betterment of the future welfare of the property, will give a dancing party at the Hecla street mine which is finished, which will be in about two weeks. In the course of one of his addresses to the Detroit annual conference in Calumet last week, Bishop Hamilton, defining the duty of a minister's wife, said that it was only a "bit of graft" when it was expected of a clergyman's wife that she should throw in her labor with that of her husband. He said a congregation should not demand it unless a salary were paid for it; that the minister's wife should do as much but no more than any other conscientious member of the congregation.

Sakris Soppala, of South Range, whose house with its contents recently burned down, has encountered new misfortune, but in this instance the circumstances seem to indicate that Sakris himself is to blame. Following the burning of the structure he was ordered by the village authorities to remove a quantity of refuse from the sidewalk on Baltic avenue, where his house was located. He refused to do this, and, it is said, defied an officer to make him do it. He has been arrested and is to be tried upon a charge of maintaining a nuisance.

What has the appearance of being a street of stony ground has been penetrated on the sixteenth level of shaft "A" of the Michigan mine, reports the Ontonagon Herald. It is at a point where the Calico vein is crossed by a fissure. Drifting has just been started and inside of a few days more will be known in regard to its extent. Operations at the Michigan are progressing quite satisfactorily. The product for last month was 191 tons of mineral, a slight increase over the preceding month. A very satisfactory average is being made, considering the amount of ground which is being broken. The diamond drill is operating steadily. Several ledges have been penetrated. No announcement has been made locally of what has been found.

Diamond drilling is bringing results to the Mass mine and the indications are that they will be of far reaching effect. The announcement that a highly mineralized ledge had been tapped in No. 3 hole did not come as any surprise to those who had been keeping close tab upon operations. When the hole was completed several weeks ago it was quite generally understood that the coveted ledge had been found. However, no steps with a view toward sinking a shaft until after the hole which is being sunk from the fifth level of shaft "A" is completed. If the showing is as good at this point as it was found in No. 3 hole, then there will be something doing which should be of great importance to the future welfare of the property. The Mass has ample funds on hand to care for present operations, but eventually the stockholders will have to again come to the front. It should be remembered, however, that the expense of developing this new formation to a stage where the return will meet expenses is not going to be very heavy. The company has ample equipment for the mining operations and a mill ready for treating the rock.

Drilling operations have been started at the North Lake property with one outfit and another one will be added a little later. The point of attack is about in the center of the southwest quarter of section 28, near the Firesteel quarry. The intention is to make a thorough drill exploration of the property. R. M. Edwards, who has charge of the work, is confident that just as good values will be found there as on the Lake property to the southwest and Mr. Edwards is in position to speak with considerable foresight. North Lake has a good stretch of the mineralized zone and its operations will be watched with a great deal of interest.

IN THE BUTTE CAMP.

Marjoe J. Stevens, who has just made an inspection of the North Butte property, says: "North Butte is a wonderful mine. It made its copper in July for 7.35 cents per pound and the average extraction from the ore was 61 per cent, amounting to the average extraction of Butte as a whole. In my examination of the property I witnessed the most stupendous top I ever saw underground. It was on the 2800-foot level of the

It made its copper in July for 7.35 cents per pound and the average extraction from the ore was 61 per cent, amounting to the average extraction of Butte as a whole. In my examination of the property I witnessed the most stupendous top I ever saw underground. It was on the 2800-foot level of the of Boston. A meeting of directors will be held in Boston on Thursday. It has been decided to continue development work and sink a shaft from the 1,000 to the 1,500-foot level and connect with the winze sunk on the vein from the 1,100-foot level.

Mohawk kept its cost during August under the 10-cent level, although the rock as in the previous month, ran somewhat lower, averaging a trifle under sixteen pounds of copper to the ton. The company produced approximately 531,000 pounds of copper in August, which, sold at the net profit for the month was $22,240. Before that, the fourth haul at the stamp mill should be placed in operation and, with a capacity of 750 tons of rock a day, should increase the company's copper capacity from around 10,000,000 to 12,000,000 pounds per annum.

Developments during the past few days on the intermediate level below the 400-foot in the Great Eastern mine have added greatly to the value of the Superior & Boston company's property. The east drift for the last twenty feet has been the finest kind of carbonate and glaucon ore. Two samples taken from the face of the drift and assayed by Consulting Engineer Frank H. Probert went over 20 per cent and 30 per cent copper respectively. The ore also carries five to six ounces of silver. Further improvement was reported yesterday. The whole face of the drift, seven by seven feet, is solid ore of the same grade.

For the month of August the Boston Consolidated increased its output of copper by about 200,000 pounds. This increase all came from its porphyry operations. The mill handled 25,000 dry tons of ore during the month, getting an extraction of 22 per cent, and securing 1,575 tons of concentrates which contained 600,000 pounds of copper. Four additional sections of the Boston Consolidated mill will go into commission sometime this month, probably within ten days. Two samples taken from the face of the drift and assayed by Consulting Engineer Frank H. Probert went over 20 per cent and 30 per cent copper respectively. The ore also carries five to six ounces of silver. Further improvement was reported yesterday. The whole face of the drift, seven by seven feet, is solid ore of the same grade.

The Arizona Commercial property is greatly benefited by the current developments in the Great Eastern mine of the Superior & Boston. The same ore shoot has been opened on both properties, although less development work has been done on the Black Hawk, but the winze sunk to the water level is in the same character of ore. The Superior & Boston next level in the Black Hawk mine will be opened from the Furea shaft 123 feet below the 500-foot level, and should open an ore body of large dimensions and value. An important discovery was made a few days since, getting an extraction of 22 per cent, and securing 1,575 tons of concentrates which contained 600,000 pounds of copper. Four additional sections of the Boston Consolidated mill will go into commission sometime this month, probably within ten days. The Superior & Pittsburgh has been rather strong during the past few weeks, and we look to see a steady advance in this issue, says Moore & Co., of Laurium. The stock is relatively cheap. It will sell at $20 within the next six months. Managing Director L. W. Powell is visiting in the Lake Superior district at the present time and has made it a point to visit the Superior & Pittsburgh property and see the developments at the Superior & Pittsburgh. The Junction in particular is coming in for a good share of the favorable talk. Crosscutting underway at both the thirteen and fourteen hundred-foot levels indicate that the ore deposits at this part of the Superior & Pittsburgh property are of great magnitude. Sinking has not been resumed at the Briggs shaft as yet, but is likely to be done in a very short time. Superior & Pittsburgh is now producing at the rate of a little less than 20,000,000 pounds of copper at a cost on a thirteen-cent basis for copper is making it possible for the company to do slightly better than break even.

Both May and was forty-two feet wide on what is known locally as the seventh floor. While I was at Butte they had just broken into the ore on the 2200-foot level. It was rich and apparently as high grade as any in the mine. The 1800-foot level was richer than the 1000-foot, so that the North Butte ore appear to be growing even better with depth. The management should be getting into the vein on the 2,900-foot level within a short time.

"I asked John D. Ryan what was the greatest depth at which the Amalgamated companies were mining copper, and he informed me that the Anaconda had it rich on the 2800-foot level in the High Ore mine. They have this ore on the 2,900 level, which is the deepest known ore in the camp, but are not mining below 2,800 feet. By all the geological theories this rich ore should have disappeared at the 2,600-foot level, but then, Butte has left many a good geologist a hopeless wreck. How deep Butte goes will go as deep as the Lake, and why not?"

"The Amalgamated properties are in splendid shape, thanks to the generalship and good management of Mr. Ryan. His work during the last few years has been very creditable. It has been along the line of properly developing the properties to permit of the maintenance of the present large output. He has surrounded himself with a harmonious organization such as the Amalgamated properties never had before. I think the Amalgamated mines will be in shape to increase production when the market is in shape to take it.

"The Washoe plant has been handling Boston & Montana ores while its smelter was undergoing repairs and while I was in Butte it was running to full capacity treating 11,000 tons of ore per day and securing a copper production of about 20,000,000 pounds per month.

"The Butte Coalition has some excellent properties, but the Minnie Healey is still on fire. It has already lost the Minnie Healey shaft of about 90,000,000 pounds, and is working this territory hereafter through the Rarus, where the workings are now being extended into Minnie Healey ground."

AUGUST COPPER PRODUCTION.

For the first month in eighteen the production of copper for the month of August showed an increase compared with the previous year. The Boston Texas Bureau figures the production of copper in the United States, Canada and Mexico for the month of August at 99,487,700 pounds, compared with 95,298,307 pounds in August, 1907, and 102,593,024 in August, 1906. August	99,487,700	95,298,307
Total 8 mos.	659,533,954	697,821,440

The above figures for eight months show a falling-off compared with last year of 99,732,250 pounds, or about 99,732,250 pounds, compared with 99,732,250 pounds in 1907, and 102,593,024 in August, 1906. Democrats Choose Delegates—Marquette Democrats held a mass convention at the City Hall last evening for the purpose of choosing delegates to the county and representative conventions to be held at the City Hall at 3 o'clock this afternoon. F. S. Byrne presided as chairman, and Joseph S. Courtney was the secretary. The delegates to both conventions are as follows: John Thoney, James Anthony, Peter Primeau, Joseph Fay, Peter Kremer, F. S. Byrne, Philip Trembly, John Manning, T. D. Davis, Michael Scully, Louis Riedinger, Jr., Michael Griffin, John Olin, Joseph S. Courtney, John Heffernan, Robert Anthony. F. S. Byrne was elected chairman and J. S. Courtney secretary of the city committee for the ensuing year.

May Build Annex—It is possible that the swimming pool annex to the Guild hall, now in course of erection, will be built the present season. It has practically been decided to postpone this work until next season, but it has been found that much of the material necessary is at hand, and it is possible that it will proceed this fall. Work at the Guild hall is not as far advanced as it was hoped it would be at this date, and some trouble has been experienced in getting the expert who is to apply the concrete to the clay tile, of which the walls of the building are constructed. The Chicago Journal, reviewing a recent performance of the play in that city, said, in part, regarding it: "Lena of the play is about the same Lena of the novel. Of course a good deal of her story of suffering and humiliation is left untold, but only because there isn't room for them in three hours of acting. There is a prologue in which Lena and her grandmother are shown in their poor but happy Massachusetts home, and then there are three regular acts, which deal with their experiences among the aristocracy of Kentucky.

"All through the play Lena has an awful time. Everybody seems to like her somehow, everybody but Caroline Livingstone and Mrs. Graham, but the talking and suspicious and jealousy of these two simply break Lena's heart nearly every three minutes. They even get Durward Belmont to doubt her, and that blow nearly kills her, for she falls right over in a faint on the stage, and everybody in the audience finds use for her handkerchief or has a speck of dust in his eye.

"But in the end, just before the curtain goes down, Lena is able to smile as though she were perfectly happy. Her honor has been vindicated. Everybody knows that her mother was a good woman. Her father has been man enough to acknowledge her before the world. And she has routed Caroline Livingstone and made Mrs. Graham ashamed. And she puts her arms around the neck of Durward Belmont and is going to be his wife. Everybody sighs with relief, and just claps, and claps, and claps. Such a happy ending!

"Besides assuming the responsibility of dramatizing the novel, Miss Poynter appears in the play as Lena. She is a pretty, appealing little actress, with a wealth of silver-gold curls and a childlike piquance in her voice. Miss Poynter has never appeared here before, but she already has been elected one of the galaxy of Great Northern favorites. Everybody will like her, whether she is Lena Rivers or anybody else."

"LENA RIVERS."
Will Be Presented at Opera House Thursday Evening.

The much talked of "Lena Rivers," from the novel of that name, will be presented at the opera house Thursday evening. The Chicago Journal, reviewing a recent performance of the play in that city, said, in part, regarding it:

INQUISITIVE EDWIN.

"Say, maw."

"Well, Edwin?"

"Why do little boys have to go to school?"

"To get an education, dearie."

"How long do I have to go to school?"

"Till you are grown up."

"Then do I get my education?"

"No. You get it while you are going."

"Get it all the time I am going?"

"Yes."

"Huh. I'd rather get it now and not go to school."

"But you can't."

"Did you get one, maw?"

"I did, but I have no use for it."

"What's the matter with you giving me yours, then?"

"Tut, tut, child. Every person has to get his or her own education."

"Hum. Who's got paw's?"

"Why, he has."

"Gee, nobody'd think he had one, would they?"

"Your father conceals a great many of his attainments, son."

"What's an attainment, maw?"

"Something one has acquired in the way of learning or accomplishments, I believe."

"I think I know about accomplishments, maw. I heard Mr. Bingle say paw was accomplished."

"Are you sure? Mr. Bingle is ordinarily very accurate in his statements."

"Yes. I'm sure. He said paw was a accomplished liar."

"Ah, well, Mr. Bingle hasn't gone back on his record. Now, run away, Edwin, and let me finish read 'A College Girl's Unhappy Wifehood; or, She Was Taught More Higher Mathematics Than House-keeping.'"

"But, maw."

"But bother! What now?"

"Specs. I don't get an education?"

"Then you wouldn't know anything when you become a man."

"O, that's all right, maw; I could be a juror."—Chicago Journal.

country, a popularity of which Mr. Bryan is now attempting to secure the benefit by declaring himself Mr. Roosevelt's natural successor? Is there one who does not know that if Mr. Roosevelt had desired to perpetuate his power, he could have been nominated by raising his finger, and that his advocacy of Mr. Tatt's nomination was because it was necessary for him to secure the nomination of some one in order to prevent the most possible administrator of the great policies that were dear to his heart? Is it to a dishonest purpose that Mr. Bryan claims to be the heir, and is it possible to ascribe a desire to perpetuate personal power to the man who held the highest power in his grasp and rejected it?

"It is but a short time since these same voices of detraction were charging the president with the purpose of usurping supreme and perpetual authority for himself. Yet he has proved himself capable of a renunciation of power exceptional in his history, and has contributed to our system of government a precedent which forever sets a limit upon the continuance of the presidential office. It is but a short time since these same voices were heard declaring that the president's character was so rashly belittled that his presidency would involve the country in certain war. Yet he has proved to be the greatest peacemaker of the generation.

"Mr. Bryan charges that the Republican party is responsible for the abuses of corporate wealth. As well might he charge that the man who plants cotton is responsible for the boll weevil, or that the man who plants fruit trees is responsible for the San Jose scale. Until the millennium has brought the eradication of human selfishness and greed, social abuses will come according to the shifting conditions of the times. Adversity and prosperity, wealth and poverty have each their own kinds of abuse. Constant vigilance and constant activity to meet and put an end to abuses as they arise is the task of government and of good citizenship; but the work is never finished. The Republican party has produced the conditions which have made our great prosperity possible, and it is dealing with the evils which have been incident to that prosperity with vigor and effectiveness. Upon the course to be pursued regarding these evils, upon the attitude and action of the government towards trusts, railroads and all the great corporations, there is no substantial issue between the two parties.

"There are two substantial proposals made by the Democratic party as to the policy which they will follow if they are brought into power. One is that they will wipe out the protective tariff and substitute a tariff for revenue only. I shall not discuss that proposition, but it ought not to be forgotten. The seven years which have passed since the Dingley tariff was enacted have brought about many changes in the conditions to which the tariff law is applied. Many of these changes have resulted from the very prosperity which the tariff has fostered by the tariff has produced. In the nature of things, such changes must occur and from time to time every tariff must be revised and adapted to the new conditions. As the period of revision, however, is always one of uncertainty and anxiety to the business men, revisions ought not to be made often or upon slight grounds. The Republican party has not considered that sufficient grounds for thus disturbing business have existed heretofore. It now considers that sufficient grounds do exist and it has pledged itself to carry out after the 4th of March next to devote an extraordinary session of congress to making such a revision in accordance with the true principles of protection.

"One of the questions that must be determined by the coming election is whether we shall have a revision of whether we shall have the principle of protection abandoned and a new tariff enacted in accordance with the principles of free trade, and containing only such duties as are necessary to raise revenues for the support of the government without any protective purpose. The last time the Democratic party was in power it attempted such a change of policy and the result was the Wilson-Gorman tariff of 1893. The very threat of such a proceeding at that time stopped business, closed the mills, threw millions out of employment, and the country accompanied by universal business depression and disaster. Are we ready to repeat that experience now, as we surely shall if we put the Democratic party in power?

"The other proposition of the Democratic platform is to require all national banks to guarantee the payment of deposits by all other national banks. This is another patent financial nostrum, advertised to catch the fancy of the multitude; and it should be suppressed under the pure food law until it is correctly labeled 'a measure to compel legitimate business to bear the risks of speculation.' It might well be called a measure to destroy the national banking system, for who will wish to invest his money in a business where it is not merely subject to the risks assumed by the men whom he and his associates select to manage it, but is subject also to be called upon for the payment of an unlimited amount of debts of an indefinite number of persons over whom and whose obligations he and his associates have no control whatever?

"If the sound and honest banks of the country guarantee the debts of every bank, a well earned reputation for honesty and business judgment will no longer be necessary as a part of the banker's capital. It will no longer be necessary for the community to consider whether a banker is honest or not. Any scoundrel can start a bank and obtain deposits on the credit of all the banks of the country. Any one who wishes to use funds in speculative enterprises can start a bank, invite deposits and thus borrow money on the credit of the entire banking capital of the United States. With such opportunities, who can doubt that the standard of character of the bankers of the country would deteriorate and the use of banking funds for speculative enterprises would increase and that the losses which the honest bankers would be required to make good would increase correspondingly.

"This burden will fall not merely upon the stockholders of the banks, but upon the depositors also. Much banking capital would inevitably be driven out of the business and such a remained would have to make good its losses by reducing the rate of interest to its depositors and increasing the rate of interest upon loans. The profits of the banking business, like those of the merchant, the manufacturer and the farmer, depend upon good management. It is not to be expected that the profits of good management bear all the losses of bad management is a step in the socialistic process which would level all distinction between thrift enterprise and sound judgment on the one hand, and recklessness, incapacity and the other. The object for campaign purposes there is no occasion for any such scheme. The business men of the country need no guarantee of bank deposits. They know with whom they are dealing when they select a bank for deposits, and their intelligence and the knowledge of affairs are amply sufficient for the own protection in making the selection. The wage earners of the country, the multitude of people of small savings, not familiar with business, so far as they live in places where there are savings banks, have practically perfect safety for their deposits, and over eight and a half million of them are enjoying that safety now with a good rate of interest. For them, if they prefer it, and for all who live in places which are not accessible to savings banks, the government shall furnish absolute security through a postal savings bank, so that the wage earner can deposit his savings at the nearest post-office and have the guarantee of the government that it shall be returned but that guarantee will be accompanied by the possession and control of the money itself, so that neither the depositor nor the government can lose. This simple supplement to the banking and savings bank system meets every requirement, and, unlike the Democratic proposal, it has been proved safe and practicable by the experience of many countries, and it violates no principle of sound finance or of common sense.

"What evidence of Democratic fitness to be entrusted with power is to be found in the record of its candidates for the presidency? It is with profound satisfaction that we recognize the purity and uprightness of Mr. Bryan's character, and we cannot withhold our admiration from the skill and attractiveness of his oratory; but when a candidate for high office can make no evidence of fitness from the actual performance of official duty and relies upon what he proposes to do in the future we must test, so far as we can, the soundness of his judgment by the substance of his proposals, not by his manner of presenting them.

"The skillful of Mr. Bryan to say that he is bound by the omissions of the Democratic platform as well as by what it contains; but who dictated the omissions as well as the platform? Can an omission of today wipe out public utterances of yesterday? Can the memory as a basis for judgment upon the public good? The same eloquent voice which now with so much confidence is telling us how the government ought to be conducted was heard in Mr. Bryan's candidacy of 1896 urging upon the Democratic party to carry out for all evils and an absolute necessity for our prosperity the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of sixteen to one. Was he right then? Would it have been wise for the people of the country to elect him president then, and to carry out the policy to which he was then devoted?

"With the same confidence during his second candidacy he was heard to declare that the paramount issue before the American people was that of imperialism. Where is the imperialism now? However tired some Americans may be of the burden of the Philippines, what must be our estimate of the political wisdom and sense of proportion for which in the year 1900 the so-called question of imperialism filled the horizon and obscured the way as to the paramount issue before the American people?

"On the 30th of August, 1906, Mr. Bryan announced upon his return from Europe, as the result of deliberate reflection, that government ownership of railroads was the cure all demanded by the public interest. He reached the conclusion, he declared, that there will be no permanent relief on the railroad question from the discrimination between individuals and between places and from extortionate rates until the railroads are property of the government and are operated by the government in the interest of the people. That declaration he has repeated many times in substance.

"The Republican party believes in the regulation of railroads. It believes that their managers ought to be made and are made to obey the law. It believes that by the enforcement of the law, not spasmodic and sensational, but steady, firm and persistent, excessive and discriminating rates can be stopped, and it is now and has been for a considerable period engaged in such enforcement with marked efficiency and success. It proposes for the presidency a candidate who declares his purpose to continue and complete that enforcement of the law and whose competency to do so with success has been proved. Mr. Bryan does not believe in the regulation of railroads. He does not believe in the law. He regards it as bound to fail, although he is willing to criticize the Republican party for not accomplishing that vast and complicated task all at once. It is natural to observe that if the people of the country desire railroads to be regulated, as the law regarding them is to be enforced, it would be wise to entrust that regulation in the hands of one who has faith in the wisdom and effectiveness of the law, rather than in the hands of one who believes that all effort to regulate must prove futile.

"What is furnished by the record of the Democratic party at large to show that it is competent to maintain the promises of reform it tendered? No proof whatever of that is offered. All the evidence we have is the other way. The record shows us that we are not yet far from the second administration of Grover Cleveland, which ended only on the 4th of March, 1897. The Democracy then had its opportunity to show the world what it could do with government, for it possessed the executive office, a majority of the senate and a majority of the house. Its opportunity to exercise that control for the public benefit was wasted. Discord and confusion reigned throughout the entire four years. Incapacity to reach practical conclusions

OR to take any effective action was demonstrated. No promises were kept. No reforms were accomplished.

"It became apparent that the sole cohesive force that bound the Democratic party together was the desire for office, and once in office, instead of progress, we had all factions pulling different ways, totally incapable of agreeing upon a common course of conduct. There was but one sentiment in which a majority of the Democratic party could be united; that was in hatred of Mr. Cleveland, and they hated him for his virtues. His sturdy integrity and high courage, his sincere convictions and patriotic purpose, his experience in government and strong practical sense afforded a leadership which a party capable of government could have done great things for the country.

"The Democratic party repudiated his leadership and the very men who now control that party followed him to his grave with deprecation and detestation. Under that disreputable Democracy the country drifted through years of commercial depression and disaster, poverty and distress, without effective government until the first election of McKinley and a Republican congress placed the reins of power in the hands of a party competent to govern. Are the people of the United States ready to repeat that experience of Democratic government?"

HAD QUARRELED WITH HUSBAND.
Jumping or Falling from a Window, Chicago Woman Is Killed.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—Mrs. Harriet Stevens, aged twenty-four, wife of Charles H. Stevens, general agent of the Chicago & St. Louis railroad, jumped or fell from a window of an apartment in the Gerald building, Twenty-sixth and State streets, tonight, and died from the injuries sustained when she struck the roof of the engine room, seventy feet below. Stevens told the police that he had quarreled with his wife because she had been absent when he arrived home.

Double Tragedy in Kansas.

BRYAN GETS AN OVATION.
Democratic Presidential Nominee Speaks at Annapolis and Baltimore.

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 14.—W. J. Bryan spoke on two occasions here today, the first time at Annapolis, where he discussed the issues of the campaign, and tonight in this city before 25,000 persons. He received an ovation seldom equaled in this city. The candidate devoted most of his time to a discussion of the same issues that he has presented elsewhere, but he added a little local coloring by explaining that in some cities of the East the Democratic party was at a disadvantage because it not only lacked the means of getting the Democratic policies before the voters, but was subject of misrepresentation as to such policies. He stated with emphasis that there was nothing in the Democratic platform that need alarm any legitimate interest.

STUDENTS ENGAGE IN BATTLE.
Chicago Police Sweep Down Upon Them and Arrest Fifty and More.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—The police were summoned to the Farragut boat house, Thirty-third street and Lake Michigan, by a riot call tonight, and arrested thirty students of the Armour Institute of Technology, who were indulging in a scuffle, resulting from the marooning of a score of freshmen by a larger number of sophomores in an abandoned yacht. Other freshmen came to the rescue of their companions and while the fight was at its height the police swooped down upon them.

SPRINGFIELD RIOT COSTLY.
Springfield, Ill., Sept. 14.—The total claims filed for damages resulting from the recent race riots amount to $121,856. The heirs of six riot victims have filed suits aggregating $35,000 and the expense of the troops is estimated at $83,100 and may reach $25,000 more.

Mining News

The sixth furnace at the Calumet & Arizona smelter has been blown in.

The Stanton interests recently sold 400,000 pounds of copper at 14 cents, and believe that higher prices will soon be reached for the metal.

The Ojibway No. 1 shaft is 375 feet deep. No. 2 shaft is 100 feet deep. A station will be cut at either shaft until a depth of 550 feet is attained.

The Superior tenth level crosscuts are through a lode forty-two feet wide showing mineralization equal to the level above. The mine will begin shipments shortly.

Ile Royale has made preparations to sink a shaft on the Baltic lode. The section 12 shaft is being dismantled and the shaft hoists moved to the site of the new shaft east of the Hussey-Howarth tract.

A total of $300,000 will be disbursed on the 60,000 shares of Wolverine stock by reason of the $5 dividend just declared and payable Oct. 1. The company earned more than sufficient money in the first half of the current calendar year to pay this dividend.

The output of the Nevada Consolidated Copper company and the Cumberland-Elly Copper company in the current month is likely to show an increase of 100 per cent over August. Production since the first of this month indicates such an increase. In the month of August the Nevada Consolidated produced 785,690 pounds of copper and the Cumberland-Elly 585,575 pounds, a total of 1,371,265. The recovery is running about 70 per cent.

At the Eureka shaft of the Arizona Commercial mine, the installation of two Prescott sinking pumps, each of 600-gallon capacity, and of a station pump of 700-gallon capacity has been completed and sinking resumed at a depth of 637 feet. The contractors expect to make 80 to 100 feet per month. The shaft is now in the hanging wall, and making no little water. Forty feet deeper it should be well into the vein and entering the zone of secondary enrichment. At that depth the ledge should carry the same character of ore as was encountered in the winze below the 500-foot level east of the old Black Hawk shaft, which is high grade carbonate, with some glance and five to six ounces of silver to the ton. The management is confident of important developments.

A special meeting of stockholders of the National Mining Exploration company is called to be held in Kittery, Me., Sept. 21, to authorize an issue of $250,000 first sinking bonds, 10-year 6 per cent bonds, convertible into stock at par within two years of the date of issue, bonds being callable at 105. Owing to the large number of stockholders in this company it will be impossible to prorate the subscriptions. In the circular letter to stockholders by President Bruce, he states that the company has accomplished all that was intended from the proceeds of the stock sold Jan. 31, 1907, and in fact more, inasmuch as it has developed the Iron Cap to a point where it shows ore and has also taken out and developed the Penrose mine to a point where it also shows large veins.

The Boston News Bureau says there is no likelihood of an immediate assessment on the shares of the Adventure consolidated. The management has not determined upon the location for a new shaft and furthermore has not definitely concluded to sink one. In putting down the seven drill holes on the southern part of the property, the aim of the company was to locate if possible the Lake lode. Three lodes were found but as to whether any one of these is the sought-for Lake lode is still a problem. Should the sinking of a new shaft be decided upon, it would probably be put down at an angle of about 80 degrees and this would have to go through about 1,800 feet of overburden before penetrating the lode.

It is probable that dividends on Imperial Copper stock will be resumed before the end of the current year—in January and April—two dividends of 2 per cent each were paid and after the second disbursement payments were suspended owing to the unfavorable copper conditions. In July the company showed net profits of $20,000 from a production of between 600,000 and 700,000 pounds of copper. Under the terms of the mortgage covering an issue of bonds, the company cannot in a single year distribute to stockholders in the form of dividends more than 4 per cent. Bond interest calls for $120,000 per annum. The Imperial has just commenced operations at its new 300-ton concentrating mill. The concentrator will eventually be enlarged to permit of the treatment of 1,000 tons a day while the smelters' second unit should blow in about a fortnight.

CERRO DE PASCO.

The Cerro de Pasco mine in Peru is making great progress in copper production under the management of R. H. Channing, who was formerly general manager of the Utah Consolidated, says the Boston News Bureau. It is now producing 3,000,000 pounds of copper per month, at a net cost, f. o. b. New York, of 9 cents per pound. The mine started production two years ago with an equipment of blast furnaces exclusively, but when Mr. Channing assumed charge, he installed MacDonnell and reverberatory furnaces in addition to the blast equipment. They have given excellent results, increasing the output to 3,000,000 pounds per month. Additional MacDonnell and reverberatory furnaces have been ordered and Mr. Channing plans to increase the production next year to 5,000,000 pounds per month, or 60,000,000 pounds per annum. Upon this increased production his expectations of cutting copper costs seven cents per pound, New York, add. All of the Cerro de Pasco copper goes to the Baltimore refinery of the American Smelting & Refining company for electrolytic treatment. It is estimated that with a production at the rate of 60,000,000 pounds per annum there is ten years of ore in sight in the Cerro de Pasco mines. This property is a close corporation controlled principally by the Huggin-Hearst interests, and before a dollar of income was returned they had invested $17,000,000 in the enterprise.

MIAMI.

With depth the grade of ore at the property of the Miami company is apparently decreasing. The ore struck on the 570-foot level from the Red Rock shaft is averaging about 2 1/2 per cent copper, as against an average of better than 3 per cent in the upper levels. It is believed that the bottom of the big lode of ore which has been developed from the 270-foot level to the 470-foot level will be reached between the 570 and 770-foot levels. The ore body of the Miami company is a big copper lense which was never expected to go to very great depth. While its thickness may be discernible after 6,000,000 tons of ore have been put in sight by the present underground workings, the length of the lense has not as yet been determined in any of the levels covered below 270 feet. The company is sinking another three-compartment shaft (other than its big four-compartment working shaft) 2,150 feet to the west of the Red Rock shaft, and at a depth of 270 feet, it has gone through an oxidized material with carbonate of copper through it, which would indicate a near approach to the sulphides. This new shaft is named the Red Spring shaft, and the striking of sulphide ore in this shaft 2,150 feet from the present Red Rock shaft would indicate an extension of the Big Miami copper lense between the two shafts. This would add millions of tons of ore to the Miami reserves. It is the expectation of the management that this extension of the ore body will be found and an anticipation of this, options have been secured on adjoining territory to the west which might possibly carry this ore body for a still greater distance.

Have You the Factory Look

There is nothing that compromises a man in the respect of the world like a suit of clothes that does not fit; a suit that sags and hangs and looks awry after two days of wear.

Are you content to accept the arbitrary styles and sizes of ready-made, factory-made clothes—when a tailor-made suit ordered through me will cost you no more. Are you satisfied to wear a suit out to fit an average man? When no average man ever existed? When the Royal Tailors of Chicago and New York will tailor you a suit to your own individual measures without taxing you more than your usual clothing outlay?

Why not let me show you the complete line of snappy, drowsy, original fabrics waiting to be made up into a suit for you.

FROM MORGAN'S CURB LETTER.

"The London stock market opened yesterday with prices 1/4 to 3/4 higher, copper stocks showed advances generally, Rio Tinto up 7/8. In view of this firmness on the other side, our market opened strong, and it looked like a resumption of the upward movement which started Saturday, but the strength did not last long. Professional traders had stocks for sale on every rally and in addition to this the bear crowd were inclined to put out short lines. Amalgamated scored the biggest break among the active coppers, selling down to 77 1/2 after opening at 79; later recovering to a fraction above 78. Calumet & Arizona lost 1/2, and North Butte 1/2, on light trading. Mass, Wyandot, Wolverine and Superior & Pittsburg were exceptions to the rule. The former sold up to 7, while the latter opened at 13 1/2, and rose quickly to 14 1/2. Wolverine touched 148. From the action of Superior & Pittsburg today, it would appear that there is some favorable news coming out, details of which have not been announced. We believe it will do to buy around these figures. There is some feeling of apprehension as to the outcome of the Maine election held today, and it is believed in some quarters that the effect will be adverse. We do not, however, look for a serious decline in copper, and would continue to buy them on the breaks. The close showed only fractional recoveries from the low prices of the day, but the tone was steady." Yesterday's prevailing prices were:

NOTED SALVATIONIST HERE NEXT WEEK

"JOE THE TURK," AN EFFECTIVE ARMY WORKER, WHO IS MAKING A TOUR OF THE NORTHWEST, WILL BE IN ISHPEMING

Staff Captain Joseph Garabed, better known as "Joe the Turk," and a well known officer of the Salvation Army, will arrive in Ishpeming a week from Thursday, the 23rd, remaining three days. The members of the Ishpeming corps are looking forward with much interest to his coming.

Ensign Wolverson yesterday said that on the evening of the 23rd the Turk will conduct a regular army meeting, but on the two following evenings he will be the principal attraction in his zophonone concert, and will give talks on his experiences in this and foreign countries. Joe is one of the most unique characters engaged in Salvation Army work. He has had the distinction of having been placed in jail in this country fifty-one different times, but most of the arrests occurred in small places, where the army work was not generally known. He has also been traveling in the Northwest for several months past, and will not complete his present tour for six or eight weeks. A short time before starting out he returned from a visit to England, France and Athens, Greece.

The Turk has been a member of the Salvation Army for twenty-four years, having joined it one year after his arrival in America. He has traveled extensively through this country and has visited every state in the union. He always wears his Turkish costume, and he is said to be quite a speaker. He is also an accomplished musician and plays well on the cornet, clarinet and saxophone. The Salvation Army harvest festival will be held the week after next. The officers will make an appeal to the public to donate articles of clothing, coats, etc., and cash contributions will also be thankfully received. During the week sales will be conducted at the barracks and special meetings will be held every evening. The money realized from the sales will be used for general army work. Most of the army corps of the country will hold their annual festival next week and the week following.

ALL FIGHTING FIRES.

Oliver Company's Mines on Western Mesaba Range Closed Temporarily.

An Ishpeming man received a letter yesterday from a relative at Coleraine in which he states that the forest fires are still raging in that vicinity and that the towns are in danger of destruction. The Oliver company has suspended operations at all of the mines superintended by John C. Greenwood, and the men are fighting the fires in an effort to keep them from entering the towns. It is reported that the fires have reached within a short distance of some of the places and with a stiff wind it is feared that it would be impossible to keep them from attacking the mining company's buildings and dwellings.

The people of the Western Mesaba district have been in fear of losing their homes for nearly a week and many of the have their household goods packed, ready to get out on short notice. Smoke has been overhanging the towns for several days and at times it is almost suffocating. The Oliver company is going everything possible to keep back the fires, both on the western range and at other points on the Mesaba. The work men sent out from the mines have been paid full time for their labor. The fire-fighting Sunday in a score of 7 to 8 will be given a game. The Ishpeming fans will be pleased if the management is successful in securing one or more games with the Escanaba team, which claims the championship of the upper peninsula. In a game last Sunday between the Escanaba and Niagara mines the former won in a score of 3 to 0. Christ Buckley, an old-time twiler, who pitched for the Escanaba team in games here fourteen or fifteen years ago, was in the box Sunday, holding the Niagaras down to two hits. It is thought that the game next Sunday between the Ishpeming and Marquette mines will attract a record-breaking attendance.

POST-SEASON BALL GAMES.

It is likely that the management of the Ishpeming baseball team will arrange for post-season games at the Union Park grounds. The game next Sunday between the Ishpeming and Marquette teams will be the last of the season but it is likely that the Michigan game team, which defeated the Nepequin nine Sunday in a score of 7 to 4 will be given a game. The Ishpeming fans will be pleased if the management is successful in securing one or more games with the Escanaba team, which claims the championship of the upper peninsula. In a game last Sunday between the Escanaba and Niagara mines the former won in a score of 3 to 0. IN WYOMING TONIGHT.

Wherever Willard Mack's play, "In Wyoming," which will be the offering at Ishpeming theatre tonight, has been presented, it has won instant favor. The story is original, all the scenes are laid in the Big Horn Valley near Caspar, Wyo., and are founded upon actual occurrences during the time Mr. Mack was recuperating after a severe illness on the ranch, and reproduced in the play. An excellent company has been secured to interpret the different characters, among which are such well known players as Miss Louise Farnum, who is a sister of Dustin Farnum, Frank Patton, Will Chapman, Beatrice Meade, Kitty Cameron, Wm. Fitzsimmons, Earle Metcalf and many others.

PASSED EXAMINATION SUCCESSFULLY.

James Donahue, New Britain, Conn., writes: "I tried several kidney remedies, and was treated by our best physicians for diabetes, but did not improve until I took Foley's Kidney Remedy. After the second bottle I showed improvement, and five bottles cured me completely. I have since passed a rigid examination for life insurance. Foley's Kidney Remedy cured backache and all forms of kidney and bladder trouble. Sold by all druggists."

CASSIDY LEAVES HERE.

Alderman of First Ward Departs for Virginia, Minn.

Eugene V. Cassidy, alderman of the First ward, left last night for Virginia, Minn., where he is to accept a responsible position with the Virginia Brewing company, under State Senator Pat Vail, manager of the company, who is well known in the upper peninsula. Mr. Vail was born at Ontonagon and he was a bell boy at the old Commercial Hotel here, which was located where the A. W. Myers Mercantile store now stands, for some time prior to thirty years ago. Mr. Cassidy's resignation with the Keeley Brewing company has not been accepted and the management wishes him to remain in Ishpeming. He goes to Virginia with the understanding that if he does not like his position there he can return to the Chicago concern, with which he has been employed for a number of years. Patrick Healy, of Chicago, takes his place here. Mr. Cassidy will not resign his seat on the council until he decides positively whether he will remain at Virginia. During the two years he has represented the Keeley Brewing company in Ishpeming he has greatly increased its local business.

SOCIALISTS' TICKET.

Nominees Chosen at Convention Held Here Saturday Evening.

At the mass convention of the Marquette county socialists, held Saturday evening at the Mine Workers' hall, in Ishpeming, a complete ticket was named, but it is not yet certain that a man can be secured to make the run for representative to the state legislature in either the first or second districts of the county. Frank Vivian, who was the socialist party's candidate for congress against H. O. Young two years ago, yesterday said that he is not in the race this year.

Mr. Vivian, who is chairman of the socialist county committee, called the convention to order, but Salie Burnam of this city, was chosen permanent chairman, ex-Mayor W. J. Roberts acting as secretary. The nominees for the several county offices were as follows: Judge of Probate—Salie Burnam. Sheriff—Martin Skogoe. Clerk—Aksel Kolinen. Register of Deeds—Martin Claven. Treasurer—M. J. Soderback. Circuit Court Commissioners—Andrew Peterson and John Michelson. Coroners—Frank Vivian and Frank Liljeblad. Frank Altonen and Frank Vivian were elected delegates to the state convention.

WILL TRAVEL BY SPECIAL.

The members of Company I, Michigan National Guard, will leave here next Saturday morning at 9:15 o'clock for Fort Benjamin Harrison, near Indianapolis, where the annual encampment is to be held. The trip is to be made by special train via the South Shore line. The train is scheduled to leave the copper country early in the morning and the members of the two companies there, also the regulars at the 5000, will be among the passengers. The Michigan troops will go by way of Detroit and Toledo, reporting for duty at Fort Benjamin Harrison Monday morning.

ISHPEMING IN BRIEF.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Brown of Cleveland, O., are visitors in the city.

The Upper Peninsula Brewing company is painting its property on East Pearl street.

Rev. J. Sallstrom, pastor of the Mission church, has returned from Calverburg, Ill., where he attended the fortieth anniversary of the Mission church society.

A meeting of the Country club will be held today. The first bus will leave the home of Dr. G. G. Barnett at 2:15 and the second the Peninsula bank at 5 o'clock.

The funeral of the late Mrs. John Maroney was held yesterday morning from St. John's church and was largely attended. John Maroney, Jr., son of the deceased, who is homebound in Canada, was unable to get home for the funeral.

The board of public works is placing iron corners on a number of business streets, where concrete walks have been built. William Trebilcock's crew is installing them. At a number of corners where the walks are unprotected the wagons have damaged them more or less.

The street and alley committee of the council will meet this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the city building. There are several matters to be considered and it is likely that the committee, together with members of the board of public

VIRTUES OF THE AUTOMOBILE.

The effect of automobile riding on the blood, nerves and breathing apparatus has been given careful study by prominent physicians and the result showed that there was a great increase in the red blood corpuscles, an increased activity in the digestive organs and sleep became regular and restful. The majority of people, however, can't afford the luxury of an automobile, but they can find the same results by taking a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Past experience has proven, both to doctors and patients, that for purifying the blood, aiding digestion and promoting sound sleep the Bitters is unequalled. It is also excellent in cases of sick headache, nervousness, liver and kidney trouble, female ills, dyspepsia, indigestion, rheuma and malaria. We urge every sick man and woman to try a bottle at once.

Three years tomorrow, the 16th of September, The People's Store opened its doors to the buying public of Negaunee and Marquette county.

We approach with the beginning of this FORCED OUT OF BUSINESS Sale the end of a three-year record of progressive retailing and a record free from taint of misrepresentations of any kind, and now that this business is to be sold out, we promise the public that same high standard of honesty as has characterized this store during the three years it has spent in lowering the cost of merchandise to all the people.

ANOTHER CEMETERY SITE SUGGESTED

TEN ACRES IN TRACT OPPOSITE PRESENT CEMETERIES OFFERED BY E. N. BREITUNG—CLEVELAND-CLIFFS OWNS THE BALANCE OF THE FORTY.

Mayor Winter, members of the council and board of public works will, within a few days, inspect a forty-acre tract east of the Mass mine, on the main highway, which it is thought can be secured for cemetery purposes. E. N. Breitung of Marquette has offered to donate to the city the interests held in the tract by the Pioneer and Artie Iron companies, which own one-fourth of the forty. The remainder is owned by the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company. The tract is the most desirable of the several suggested for cemetery purposes, and it is not thought that water would be encountered there, as the surface is high and sandy. The greater part of the surface is on a level with the Mass field, and there are about fifty acres that can be used for cemetery purposes. If the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company is willing to donate its interest in the tract the site will doubtless be acceptable to all concerned, as it is the most convenient place available. It would take in what is known as the cemetery grove. The west line of the forty is directly opposite the main entrance to the two present cemeteries. The cost of transferring the bodies from the old cemetery will be less than if one of the other sites suggested is secured, as the distance is much shorter. There is enough timber on the tract to aid in beautifying the grounds, and it is said that there is no ore beneath the surface. It is not generally believed that the ore formation extends north of the Barasa mine, which is directly south of the proposed tract.

An alderman said yesterday that he feels certain the council will be unanimously in favor of this site, and if the Cleveland-Cliffs officials are agreeable the cemetery matter will be closed up in short order, as it is understood that Mr. Breitung is prepared to give the city a deed of the Pioneer and Artie Iron companies' portion of the land. The tract will probably be inspected by the city officials as soon as C. V. R. Townsend, the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company's last agent, returns home.

MANY POLES DESTROYED.

Telephone and Telegraph Companies Suffer Losses on Account of Fires.

In view of the many thousands of telegraph poles destroyed by the forest fires the past two or three weeks, the lumber concerns and individual timber jobbers expect a good demand for poles. A Negaunee jobber said yesterday that he thought the heavy losses will be the means of greatly stimulating the prices for poles. Some of the telephone and telegraph lines in parts of Wisconsin and Minnesota have been almost completely destroyed by the fires. It is reported from Ashland, where the Wisconsin Telephone company has its headquarters, that nearly all of the poles that concern have been burned, and at some points it will be necessary to erect almost complete new lines. The greatest damage has been done near Ashland, Duluth and Ironwood, the fires taking down lines as far south as Phillips in Price county, Wis. Most of the poles were so badly burned that they cannot be used again. The rebuilding of the telephone and telegraph lines will be an expensive job for some of the corporation, and particularly the Wisconsin Telephone company, which has perhaps suffered heavier losses than any of the other concerns in Wisconsin and Minnesota.

It is said that the aggregate losses to the railway, telegraph and telephone companies, also the land owners of Northern Wisconsin in the districts that the forest fires have run over, will amount to millions of dollars. A vast acreage of land has been laid bare in Northern Wisconsin, and it is reported that many fine tracts of standing pine have been almost ruined. A number of the larger logging concerns have suffered heavy timber losses. In the northern part of Bayfield county, where the fires were probably the worst, there is not ing left but a few burnt logs and stumps. Late last week the town of Cornucopia, with a population of 200, was twice surrounded by fire, but by a heroic effort on the part of the citizens the little settlement, with two fine saw mills, was saved. At Back Point and Roys, also small settlements, the people have been fighting for several days in a desperate effort to save their homes. When the vast acreage of territory burned over in Wisconsin, Michigan and Minnesota is considered, the estimated loss to the farmers of the three states is said to be light compared with that suffered by the timber owners. The greatest danger has not yet passed in the districts where the fires are still raging and if it does not rain soon, a number of towns in Wisconsin and Minnesota may be wiped out.

Anthony presiding as chairman and Peter Trudell, Jr., acting as secretary, the Democrats of Negaunee held a mass convention at No. 1 fire hall last evening for the purpose of selecting their delegates to the county convention called to assemble at Marquette at 3 o'clock this afternoon. A good-sized crowd was present. The delegates chosen are: E. C. ITALIANS FREED OF MURDER CHARGE

THREE DAY TRIAL IN CIRCUIT COURT CAME TO CONCLUSION WITH ACQUITTAL.

CASE WAS HARD FOUGHT

Three Attorneys Engaged in Defense and Two in Prosecution—U. S. Court Will Open Its September Term Today.

The trial of Sam Dozi, Andrew Bernardi and Basil Roman for murder came to an end after four o'clock yesterday afternoon when the jury returned a verdict acquitting all three men. The jury deliberated on the case about an hour. The case, which took up three days, was one of the hardest fought criminal trials that has occurred in circuit court for the county for many months. Five attorneys took a hand in it. M. H. Crocker and P. H. O'Brien of Calumet and C. E. Burton of Marquette for the defense and Frank A. Bell, prosecuting attorney, and W. T. Potter of Ishpeming for the prosecution. All the attorneys participated in the arguments. Mr. Potter closing for the prosecution yesterday afternoon. Some forty witnesses were examined, most of them Italians, and the services of an interpreter were required for the greater part of the trial.

The outcome of the case was not unexpected by those who had followed it, and even the prosecution was not sanguine concerning the results. At best the prosecution did not expect to convict more than one of the men, in view of the testimony that was brought out. The fatal affray occurred on the Swaney range early in May, and was the outgrowth of trouble between men from two different provinces in Italy. A disagreement that was caused primarily by the appearance at a dance of one of the defendants, with a young lady who was being paid attention by another Italian ended, after many minor skirmishes, in a shooting by which one man was fatally wounded. Dozi, Bernardi and Roman were arrested, charged with the murder, and have since been held in jail.

The dying testimony of the victim of the shooting in a measure implicated two of the defendants in the crime, and there was certain corroborative testimony. The defense, however, presented a strong case in rebuttal and gradually broke down the prosecution's case. It was the general contention of the defense that neither of the three prisoners could have been concerned in the shooting. The defense was developed with great care, and the verdict showed that it had the hoped-for effect upon the jury. The jury was much above the average and had the distinction of being called without a single challenge being made.

The civil business of the term will be taken up in circuit court today.

September Term of U. S. Court.

The September term of United States court will open at the court room in the federal building this morning at 10 o'clock, when the docket is called. The docket will then be given over and disposition made of the cases. Covell, who will present the evidence in a number of cases to the grand jury. Among the prisoners whose indictment will be sought are Roche and Ross, the postoffice robbers who were recently arrested at Escanaba. A number of criminal cases are listed on the docket, and there will be a few jury trials of both criminal and civil cases. The court is expected to have a fairly busy session.

NEED EXTRA ROOM.

Eighth Grade Enrollment Largely in Excess of Last Year.

The school board is under the necessity of providing an extra room for students in the eighth grade. The enrollment in that grade is largely in excess of what it was a year ago. It is 144, whereas there are only 115 seats in the eighth grade assembly room in the Ely building on Bluff street. It is planned to provide an extra room and thus to relieve some of the congestion. The board has not yet decided just what it will do. It is possible that some of the room in the Riedinger residence, adjoining the high school on the east, which was recently purchased, will be used, and the basement of the M. E. church, vacant stores and the city hall have also been considered. The board will meet Thursday, when the matter will probably be disposed of.

At the Nester building, also, the enrollment is unusually large, and it is probably that an extra room will be provided. One teacher has sixty-four pupils. The Normal, it is reported, will discontinue the eighth grade in its training school this year, and it is this fact that is said to have caused the extra enrollment in the eighth grade in the Ely school.

JOHN E. BIRD ON PRIMARY ELECTIONS

ATTORNEY GENERAL DISCUSSES SOME OF THE DEFECTS IN PRESENT LAW—SAYS THE FAULTS CAN BE CURED.

"We have not passed beyond the experimental stage in the primary election system; that is the main cause of trouble," said Attorney General Bird. "It makes no difference what some think of the system, as individuals we may as well make up our minds to accept the fact that the system has come to stay. The faults which have cropped out at the recent primary can easily be corrected and the law made better in every way, just as it was improved two years ago. It is as an old Virginian said to me when I asked him how he liked the primary reform system: 'Well, I don't just know, but I reckon it gives all us fellers a little better chance than the old way,' he replied.

"The principal defect found in the system in the election just passed has been the participation by Democrats in the Republican primary. Unquestionably this was done in an extensive way in some sections. The law must be so amended as to require an enrollment in April in order to vote at the primary in September. An early enrollment will do away with this swapping of parties at the time of a primary. In April the lines have not been drawn so that the members of one party will wish to vote at the primaries of the other unless they are going over for good. One much needed change is a provision making it mandatory for all parties to make nominations at primaries.

"Judging from our experience, I should say that the system would better be made optional for counties, but if the system is adopted in any county it should be mandatory on all parties. This might be accomplished by submitting the matter of adopting the system to all voters, and if they voted in favor of it, then require all parties to nominate under it. If the law is to be made to cover all nominations, I believe the upper peninsula should be brought under that provision. I have seen enough of conditions up there to know that the primary can bring about a serious situation up there. The moving population which only stays in a place as long as work is found, can be induced to lend its aid to placing men in office who will not enforce the laws. The state has had some experience with that very thing. This shifting vote is generally against law enforcement, as we believe in it in this country. Because of this promises to allow the bid to be taken off and some offenses condoned and overlooked will secure office for unscrupulous men under the primary system in certain sections, because many times a large percentage of the population is made up of men who have not our appreciation of the responsibilities of representative and republican government. Frankly, under the caucus system this vote can be controlled and law-abiding people can name good men for office, and I believe much better conditions will prevail in consequence in those sections."

If you anticipate buying a Steel Range or cook stove, don't overlook getting our present proposition.

Five manufacturers bid for the contract, but the vestry decided to authorize the Austin company to build the instrument because, as far as could be learned, it has the best of the best reputation for fine work, its organs having particularly admirable tonal qualities. The instrument will be as fine a one as could be provided for the church, the size of the space available for installation considered, and it is expected to give admirable results.

The Austin company has agreed to complete the installation of the organ by December 20, and if this is done the new instrument will be available for the Christmas services. Some little work will be necessary in the interior of the church.

The late members of the congregation to whom the organ will be a memorial were consistent and devoted members of the church, and in many ways during their life time aided it to extend its scope and usefulness.
