At a meeting of the Calumet Republican club Wednesday night it was reported that the committees named at the preceding meeting to solicit funds from members of the party had met with much success, with the result that a considerable sum is now available for carrying out plans that the organization has outlined for the campaign. It was also reported that a large number of new members had been enrolled. It was announced that besides the other speakrs for the rally to be held next Monday evening an address would be given by Representative A. D. Edwards of Atlantic. In the absence of the regular officers of the club W. J. MacDonald and M. W. Youngs presided as chairman and secretary of the meeting.

These oceans are no longer a protection, but on the contrary are the very means for reaching America. We do not wish to turn our peoples into armies, but allow them to continue unmolested in their peaceful pursuits. The only way in the world to do this is for the free institutions embodied in America to control the oceans that stand between them and the armies of the monarchies. If we do not hasten to get control of these oceans our new civilization of peace with its resources, but without its military preparations, will be challenged by the old civilizations of the bayonet with its great warlike preparation, and to meet this challenge America would have to turn aside from her peaceful pursuits and endanger his liberal institutions and make her people an army. IRRESISTIBLE MILLINERY

Our Fall display in its present completeness merits the most careful consideration. This is true especially because of the extensive variety---the Directoire, the Empire and a strong line of the tailor-made Hats, Mushroom Turbans and small draped Toques. Hats to wear with tailor-made costumes were never in such demand. Never was there such a rich array of colors, and the effects surpassingly beautiful. Our showing of authentic style conception in Millinery is from the foremost fashion centers. Our specialty is fitting every one most becomingly.

LOUIS GRABOWER CO.

Three Suits here that will please the most fastidious fancy. They illustrate the three fashionable lengths in the new coat-suits. The two at the right are full-tailored-models, relieved with just enough trimming to give a tone of "PRINTZESS Distinction." The one at the left is the dressiest, swellest little suit you ever looked at. It's made of fancy serge, satinlined, and finished with big satin-covered buttons and elaborate braid effect to match.

Countless other suits and coats at any price you say.
