

AWFUL CRIME HAS A TRAGIC SEQUEL

Rev. John H. Carmichael, Perpetrator of the Fearful Butchery in the Rattle Run (Mich.) Methodist Church, Expiates the Deed by His Own Hand.

Leaving a Strange Confession of Browning's Murder, Features of Which Are Ridiculed by the Authorities, He Dies at Carthage, Ills., Shortly After Being Found Almost Frozen and Weak from a Wound Self-Inflicted in the Throat With a Pocket Knife

Carthage, Ills., Jan. 11.—Rev. John H. Carmichael, who last Tuesday night in the Methodist church at Rattle Run, Mich., killed Gideon Browning, a carpenter, and then burned the body in the stove, committed suicide here today by cutting his throat with a pocket knife.

His Own Death a Horrible One. Carmichael's death was almost as horrible as that of his victim. When he arrived at the boarding house, he gave the name of John Elder, and as he said he was a woodworker and had come here to start a factory, no suspicion was attached to his presence.

Two Broken-Hearted Women. Adair, Mich., Jan. 11.—There are two crushed and heart-broken women in this sensation town tonight.

Showing No Signs of Anguish. Carmichael arrived here over the Burlington road. On inquiring for a boarding house, he was directed to the one managed by Miss Hughes.

Sure Husband Was Insane. The widow is still firm in the belief that her husband was insane when he killed Browning.

Dead Man's Story of the Murder. In his confession addressed to Sheriff Wagness at Port Huron, Carmichael says in the opening sentence that he is guilty, and as the reason for the crime says: "The man had such a high hypnotic influence over me that I could not do anything but do as he said."

SENATOR TILLMAN MISTAKEN.

TILLMAN REPLIES TO THE PRESIDENT

Speaking at Great Length in the Senate, He Refutes the Charge He Has Exerted His Official Influence to Gobble Valuable Lands in the West.

He Has Perhaps Been Disingenuous, He Says, but He Denies Breaking Any Law or Resorting to Falsehood; He Attributes to the Executive a Motive of Personal Malice, for Which He Arraigns Him, and Incidentally He Denounces E. H. Harriman.

Charges Personal Malice. Quoting from the president's message to the house on Jan. 4, in which he said he had no charges of corruption against congress nor against any member of the present house, Mr. Tillman said: "It follows that he found no grounds for indicting me in the courts, which no doubt would have rejoiced him over much and all this fuss, fury and ostian about the seriousness of the case and the gravity of the offense with which he charges me can be attributed to personal malice alone."

Asserts the Man Lied. "It was this bold and outrageous falsehood mainly that caused me to denounce Dorr as a swindler, as well as to declare in the senate that he had no warrant for the assertion. The sleuths which the president put upon my trail have made their report and a perusal of it to show to my fair mind that the fraud order was not a forgery, and the postoffice inspectors, while they searched the records for entries at Coquille, noting that Reeder & Watkins had filed several hundred applications, nowhere mentioned that any had been filed in my name or for me. Therefore the falsehood is proved on Dorr and yet the president declares the assault which Senator Tillman made on Mr. Dorr was according to the report of the inspector a wanton assault made to cover up Senator Tillman's own transactions."

Put Swindlers Out of Business. "No such statement was made by the inspector. In fact, so earnestly intent on convicting Senator Tillman, the president that he actually commits himself to this proposition, to-wit: 'Tillman voluntarily and without any compulsion from any source, and with nothing to conceal, brought up a matter in the senate, which he need not have done, to cover up transactions which were absolutely unknown to any one except himself and his correspondents, Reeder & Watkins, and were entirely honorable and clean.'"

Times Freshly Sharpened. In addressing the senate, Mr. Tillman declares to a question of personal privilege, declaring that, for the first time in the history of this government, so far as he had been able to learn, a member of the senate had been brought to the bar of public opinion before the senate itself, to be judged under indictment by no less a person than the president of the United States. The manner of doing it, he said, and the animus and zeal displayed by the chief executive were worthy of consideration.

DAILY MINING JOURNAL

A MORNING PAPER PUBLISHED BY THE MINING JOURNAL CO. (LIMITED.)

Entered as mail matter of the second class in the postoffice at Marquette, Mich.

The Illinois legislature might appoint a special supervising commission charged with the task of preventing Joe Leiter's coal mines from blowing up.

What to do with our ex-presidents? This is one of the questions of the day.

The most ominous feature of the whole situation is the fact that President Roosevelt will be editing a magazine when the next congressional elections are held.

William H. Taft, in Augusta, Ga., "far from the maddening crowd" in Washington, D. C. Wonder what he's thinking about the things we all are interested in?

Senator Cummins starts his active work in the upper house of congress with a rate bill. Another point of resemblance between him and Senator LaFollette.

The drought last year, we are informed, was due not so much to deficient rainfall as to excessive heat. The results, however, were the same as if it had been due to deficient rainfall.

Senator Tillman says that the president will be "hoisted by his own petard." We were laboring under the impression that if he were hoisted at all he would be hoisted by Ben's pitchfork.

Our friend, Good Roads Earle, says the Grand Rapids News, tried to make political capital out of the pre-election statement that he was going to resign, willy nilly, Jan. 1. Yet he is still holding office and drawing a salary.

Detroit Saturday Night confesses to pleasure at that part of the governor's message relating to the liquor traffic. Very magnanimous of Detroit Saturday Night, we are sure. We hardly expected it to be pleased with anything in the message.

In the last great war between the national executive and congress, the one that made the Johnson administration so eventful, congress had the support and sympathy of a majority of the people.

Senator Knox, who is to be the premier of the Taft cabinet, significantly says that if there is any premature talk regarding prospective appointments the men whom the president-elect has in mind honoring will have to stand the consequences.

Mr. Hemans exhibits a willingness to "take it out of" the upper peninsula for the support it gave Governor Warner in the November election. Evidently he can't forget that it was the upper peninsula that defeated him.

If Governor Warner's declaration on the liquor question had been colorless it would be easy to understand that it might be, in a measure, acceptable to both the saloon and anti-saloon elements.

Elsewhere in this issue The Mining Journal prints an abstract of some of the principal matters covered in the report of the commission of inquiry into tax lands and forestry.

Pulpwood Cut Will Be Small— Pulpwood operations in Chippewa county this year will not be as extensive as last year, according to latest reports.

WILL DISCUSS THE WHITE PLAGUE TODAY

COUNTY POOR PHYSICIANS AND SUPERVISORS OF UPPER PENINSULA TO MEET AT THE COURT HOUSE.

The upper peninsula association for the prevention and cure of infectious and contagious diseases will meet at the court house this afternoon to discuss the establishment of a sanitarium for the benefit of the indigent tuberculosis patients of the upper peninsula. This association was formed in November, 1907, at the instigation of Dr. Frederick McE. Harkin, of this city, and is composed of delegates from the board of supervisors and the county poor physicians of the fifteen counties of the upper peninsula.

At the meeting held at that time great enthusiasm was aroused for the construction of the proposed sanitarium, but it was found that there was no legal way of levying a tax for such a purpose and the idea temporarily went by the board. Under the new constitution, however, owing to inside work by Dr. Harkin and others, it is provided that any county, or association of counties, in the state may, by a vote of the supervisors set aside public money for such a purpose. Accordingly, a meeting was called for Dec. 3, for the purpose of taking up the sanitarium project anew, but owing to the illness of Dr. Harkin at that time, it was postponed until today.

The plan is to build the sanitarium, in the first place, for the indigent tuberculosis patients, but later to extend the field to include both public and private wards. At present, the county cares for its tubercular patients at St. Mary's hospital, but, owing to limited room, it is impossible to give them as good care as is desired. Dr. Harkin's plan is right in line with the movement which is being made to fight the great white plague in all parts of the country.

Owing to the cold weather, the attendance at the meeting may not be as large as might be hoped for, but Dr. Harkin will be fairly well satisfied if even a modest start is made toward the realization of his pet scheme.

THEATRICAL

"A Knight for a Day."

With two very good comedians, a prima donna better than the average annual comedy, beautiful electrical and stage effects, some catchy songs and a chorus of passably pretty girls, "The Knight for a Day" production, given at the opera house last night was well worth the price of admission, if you went simply to be entertained. The piece makes no pretensions of being anything more than amusing and to this extent it is a success. The piece has a go and snap to it, in spite of the very flimsy plot, and there are no dull or laggy spots. As a musical comedy, the show was above the average that visit this city.

Bobby Barry and Elsie Herbert, the leading comedians, are easily the best of the cast. Miss Herbert reminds one very much of Mabel Little, and is one of the few women who are able to play the part of the stage clown. Barry is funny to look at, even if he did not want to be, and is also a good dancer. His stunts took well with the audience.

Miss Hutchinson is easily the next best in the cast. She has a pleasing soprano voice, which she used effectively in some good songs. She was especially good in "Somebody Loves You Dear," which was heartily enjoyed.

James McCormack, Thomas Cameron are little more than the men necessary to the important love affairs, but they filled the demands of their parts passably well. Eleanor Irving, as Elaine, is good to look at and carried her heavier part to advantage. Eugene Moulton, as the French chef, is a good dancer but not a wonderful success as a comedian.

The chorus contained some very good voices, and many of the stage groupings were beautiful, their effectiveness being materially increased by elaborate electrical effects. The company is to be congratulated on the new and trim appearance of their costumes. The audience seemed to thoroughly enjoy the production from beginning to end.

TO REPAIR PARSONAGE.

Swedish Lutheran Dwelling Will Be Improved This Year.

At the annual meeting of the Swedish Lutheran congregation the improvement of the parsonage and making repairs to the church was considered. It was decided to hold another meeting next month, when the trustees will give an estimate of the probable cost. The repairs of the church will be of a minor nature.

At the suggestion of Rev. G. Fletwood the pastor, it was decided to change the time of holding Sunday school from the afternoon to 9:30 o'clock in the morning, so that the children may also attend the church services. Gust Larson was re-elected trustee and Arthur Carlson of the Winthrop was added to the board. John A. Johnson was re-elected deacon. George Skogberg was chosen deacon to fill a vacancy. Andrew Sandberg was re-elected secretary of the board; John O. Viking was chosen as delegate to the Illinois conference and John Wahlman the delegate to the district meeting at Iron Mountain, to hold the latter part of this month.

SWEDISH NATIONAL PICTURES.

Something of a Novelty Will Be Offered at Ishpeming Theater.

The Swedish National Biograph company, direct from Stockholm, Sweden will give an exhibition of moving picture at Ishpeming theater next Saturday evening. The subjects to be produced have never before been shown in this country. Among the more prominent scenes are a series of pictures showing the life of the late King Oscar II, also scenes at his funeral. Many pictures of Swedish scenery familiar to the natives of that country are on the program. Included among them are pictures taken on the canal trip between Stockholm and Gottenburg. Other strong features are the depiction of Swedish winter sports, including ice-boating, sailing on skis, horse racing on ice, and jumping on skis; scenes of the life of the Laplanders, Swedish military maneuvers, and dances by the famous Skansen dancers, who were seen here a little over two years ago.

Swedish national songs, rendered by the most prominent singers at the royal opera in Stockholm, also selections by Swedish military bands, will be produced on a large concert graphophone. The admission prices will be twenty-five, thirty-five and fifty cents.

MERRY MUSICAL COMEDY.

That merry musical comedy "A Knight for a Day," which had such a run at the Whitney Opera House, Chicago; Wallick's theater, New York, and the Tremont theater, Boston, comes to Ishpeming theater Thursday with a splendid cast and stage equipment. The first scene of the play is laid in Evanston, Ill., and the second scene on the island of Corsica. "A Knight for a Day" is a musical comedy of the customary kind as regards both manner and matter, but it is an uncommonly good entertainment, and the admirer of musical comedy, abundant fun-making and dashing, strenuous stage movement will have nothing to regret if he patronizes the performance. The music is among the best. "I'd Like Another Situation," "Life is a See-Saw," "The Little Girl in Blue," "I'm Married Now" and "Whistle When You Walk Out" are all popular and catchy. One of the enjoyable features is the American beauty chorus, which adds greatly to the charm and tunefulness of the piece. The cast is headed by Bobby Barry and Elsie Herbert, well known for their excellent work in musical comedies, and the production is given a sumptuous scenic equipment.

TWO WEDDINGS.

Charles G. Swan and Miss Ida Hansine Anderson, well known young people of the city, were united in marriage Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents on Cleveland avenue. John Anderson, brother of the bride, supported the groom, and Miss Wilhelmine Anderson, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. Rev. F. A. Liljeloh, pastor of the Norwegian Lutheran church, performed the ceremony.

Andrew Rickstad and Miss Oline Olsen were married Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock at 120 Summit street, in the home of the groom's brother. Rev. F. A. Liljeloh, of the Norwegian Lutheran church, officiated.

CONSOLIDATED FUEL & LUMBER CO.

FROM MORGAN'S CURB LETTER.

"With the exception of a few of the curb issues, coppers were easy, and lower today. No sharp declines were recorded, but simply a fractional shading of prices in nearly all of the active stocks. Greene Cananea sold at 1 1/2% and Superior & Pittsburg at 1 1/2%, both of which look like good purchases to us. Groux Consolidated and Cumberland Ely were strong and active, and rumors that both of these companies will be taken over shortly by prominent copper interests. The former sold at 9 3/4%, as compared with 8 at the close Saturday. Cumberland Ely gained vs. selling at 8 1/2%. There is excellent buying of Superior & Globe. It sold at 1 1/2% and we are told it will go to 2. San Antonio is a trifle lower, but no stock is coming out. We would pick it up on any recession from the present level, as they are making an excellent showing at the property, and we have only just begun to hear the good reports from there. Lake copper is 1/4% lower in the bid price, and castings 1/2% lower in the seller's price."

PRESENT LAND LAWS ARE NOT ADEQUATE

STATE COMMISSION OF INQUIRY SHOWS UP INEFFICIENCY OF PRESENT SYSTEM.

RADICAL RECOMMENDATIONS

Would Temporarily Withdraw State Lands from Settlement, and Protect Forests from Fires.

Startling and well-nigh appalling information regarding the waste of lands and forests and the financial loss incurred by the state of Michigan, because of the inadequacy of the present system of administering the state lands, is conveyed in the report of the commission of inquiry, which was authorized by the last legislature to look into the state land and forest situation and recommend such legislation as seems necessary and feasible. The names of the nine members appointed by Governor Warner as the members of this commission in themselves give great weight to the report, and their recommendations should receive the careful consideration of the people of the state and the legislature. The following was the personnel of the commission: R. D. Graham, of Grand Rapids; A. B. Cook, of Owosso; Geo. B. Horton, of Fruit Ridge; Francis King, of Alma; W. E. Osburn, A. E. Palmer, of Kalkaska; Carl E. Schmidt, of Detroit; C. V. R. Townsend, of Negaunee; D. B. Waldo, of Kalamazoo.

The commission concerned itself primarily with the vast body of "unused" lands in the northern half of the state, and particularly with the lands delinquent for nonpayment of taxes. The use of these lands, their possibilities and their history, were all carefully looked into, and the recommendations concerning them take into consideration their utilization, settlement, improvement and protection, from the standpoint not only of their locality but of the state of Michigan as a whole.

Delinquent Tax Lands.

The report states that in 1905 there were 5,132,000 acres in the northern half of the state, which have been logged, burned over and are now called "cut-over" lands, which have become delinquent for taxes. Such land is officially termed "tax homestead land." The policy has been to sell these lands as fast as possible, with a view to getting them back on the tax roll and to encourage their settlement.

The expense entailed in advertising these delinquent tax lands has been something enormous, and coupled with the extra help employed in the auditor general's office to handle this department of the state's business, has cost, in the ten years ending 1905, the immense sum of $1,591,252. In 1906 alone the auditor general advertised over six and one-half millions of acres of lands at a total cost of $177,000. The commission points out that much of this land was held in the auditor general's office far beyond the period intended by law, and that much of this advertising and expense must seem to have been unavailing. There were about 1,112,000 acres of tax lands ready to be sold or deeded to the state in November, 1907, about half of which was deeded and under the jurisdiction of the land office.

Such lands can be homesteaded or bought. Little of the land has been homesteaded, and what has been, in most cases, has been taken for the timber left on the land, skinned and then abandoned. About half of the claims were abandoned before they were even deeded to the homesteader.

Appraised Below Value.

In the sale of state lands, the law requires that they be appraised, but the report shows that the appraisal has been a farce, and that "in most cases was so far from the true value of the land and timber that it seems doubtful if the appraiser ever actually visited the land." On one quarter section, which was sold for $1 an acre, there was found to have been over $4,436 worth of timber. For the 949,000 acres sold in the last six years, the state has received an average price of $1.08 an acre. The commission "sampled" these sales in eleven counties and found that 27,455 acres had been sold for over $200,000 less than the actual value of the land and timber. At this ratio, the state has lost over $9,000,000 in its sales of land during the last six years.

But, it is argued, the money losses do not tell the entire story. The present policy has failed otherwise in the following respects:

1. It has favored speculators as against actual settlers.
2. It has led to land monopoly so that in one county over half of all the land now belongs to a syndicate centered in Chicago.
3. It has not settled the lands, for 95 per cent of all lands in this part of the state are unimproved, and over 85 per cent not settled.
4. It has lost to the state the control over important watersheds and water powers.
5. It has not helped the lands nor the tree growth, but has resulted in further forest devastation.
6. It has developed contempt for these lands and has thus encouraged firing and other vandalism and trespass, much to the harm of the people and the owners of private lands.

Plans for Reforestation.

Considerable space in the report is devoted to the discussion of "forest taxation" and it is clearly pointed out that private enterprise cannot undertake the reforestation of the cut-over lands, unless a modification of our present methods of taxation is secured. To tax a forest plantation for the land and trees (the crop), while farm land is taxed only for the land, is evidently unfair. On such a plantation, the same crop would be taxed for many years. Concerning the taxation of woodlots on the farm, the commission advocates an assessment of land only; for forest plantations, a tax on land and a special tax on the timber whenever it is cut. With regard to existing forests the commission offers no particular solution, but agrees that our present method discourages the holding of forests and thus leads to exploitation and devastation.

The report assumes that the tax lands (practically all the state lands left) have been sifted by our taxation methods so that they represent the culms; that they are widely scattered and do not occupy in any case more than 27 per cent of any entire county. It is maintained that the forest is the only safe and natural crop to be expected from these lands; that this crop will come largely without planting, but does require adequate protection against fire; that the state cannot be expected to do all there is need for in the matter of reforestation and that, therefore, the state must make it possible and give encouragement to private owners of land to take a part in this work.

What Should Be Done.

The commission submits and recommends to the legislature a number of measures, the most salient points of which are the following:

1. That the state withdraw at once all tax and homestead lands until the legislature can decide more fully what the project proposed shall be, and thereby put a stop to the waste heretofore explained. That this should be done without delay and should form the first step is patent to every honest citizen in the state.
2. The auditor general should formally deed the lands to the state according to law and should not hold such lands indefinitely and incur the useless expense of continuous advertising as in the past.
3. Lands should not be offered for sale for the taxes, when once bid in by the state, and be thus given over to land speculators, often to the detriment of the real, original owner.
4. The disposal of the tax lands should be in three ways, according to circumstances:

- (a) Where large bodies of these lands occur close together, they shall be used as state forest reserves.
- (b) Scattered tracts, not used for state reserves, may be sold to settlers, providing the land is agricultural. When sold the minimum price shall be $5 per acre plus the value of the timber.
- (c) Lands not used by the state and not applied for by purchasers may be applied for by actual resident settlers of the township for use as private forests, under proper regulations. Of these private forests no one can have more than 160 acres, and the applicant is obliged to take care of the woods for twenty-five years before he can obtain title. These reserves, it is hoped, will stimulate an interest in forests and help to correct the serious indifference with regard to forest property among the local people.

5. The state forest reserves to be under the care of a state commission empowered, as the present commission is, to protect, plant and utilize the forest as seems best.
6. State and private forest reserves pay taxes at a certain flat rate per acre.
7. In all disposals of these lands the state reserves the water rights.

Fire Law.

1. The state forest warden is placed under the same commission as the lands warden, but somewhat amplified at several points.
2. The state warden and his deputies have the powers now given to the game warden, but somewhat amplified at several points.
3. The state wardens are stationed in definite districts and in these they can:
 - (a) Call out citizens to fight fires.
 - (b) Call out the supervisors and sheriffs to assist in this work.
 - (c) Establish a special patrol in time of danger.
 - (d) Declare a closed season during which no one can set fires.
 - (e) In cases of emergency, they can employ extra measures to meet the difficulties.

(f) All wardens and state deputies have the power of arrest.

4. The state to pay all help.
 5. Spring and early fall of each year are declared danger seasons and the setting of fires is forbidden.
 6. Otherwise the present laws are continued in every important detail.
- This law will need a little strengthening; there is need for a statute compelling the prosecuting attorney to prosecute; and also a statute regulating smoking in and near the woods during dry time, and the behavior of persons on the land of others. During dangerously dry times people having no business in these woods should be made to stay out. Then, also, it should be possible to prosecute cases of trespass and fires in counties other than the one where the offense was committed in order that justice may be obtained.

State Lands Commission.

1. The commission is to consist of five men, two members to be appointed from a list submitted by the board of regents of the state university; two from a list submitted by the state board of agriculture and one to be selected by the governor.

2. Each member serves five years, and only one member is appointed any one year.

3. The commission is not to receive pay.

4. It has jurisdiction over all state lands, over state reserves and over matters of fire and game protection. With half of the lands of Michigan unimproved wild lands; with at least ten millions of acres in form of cut-over and burned over lands, actual waste lands in their present condition; with timber import taking millions of money out of the state every year; with flood and drought, and a constant increase in the severity of our climate and the irregularity of our seasons, the commission believes that it is high time that something be done.

INJURY PROVES FATAL.

Charles Freise, Who Fell from a Ladder at the Brewery, Died Yesterday.

Charles Freise, who fell from a ladder onto a cement floor at the brewery Saturday evening, died at St. Mary's hospital early Monday morning from the injuries received. The deceased was a native of Germany, unmarried, about forty years of age, so far as is known, had no relatives in this country. He fell but nine feet, yet the fall fractured his skull, and he never regained consciousness from the time he was hurt until his demise.

Freise was a member of the German Aid society and the Carpenters' union, both of which organizations will attend the funeral, which will be held at the Presbyterian church at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Interment will be at Park cemetery.
