FEARFUL DISASTER OCCURS AT CHICAGO

With a Mile and a Half of Treacherous and Drifting Ice Cutting Them Off from Ready Communication with the Shore, and with the Great Crowds of Horrified On-lookers Powerless to Lend Aid, Many Men Meet a Frightful Fate in a Crib of the New Water Tunnel.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—With a mile and a half of treacherous and drifting ice cutting them off from ready communication with the shore, at least fifty workmen are included among the list of missing—and practically all of these already are known to be dead—as a result of a fire which had its origin today in a powder vault attached to the intermediate crib used in the construction of the new water tunnel connecting with the south side of the city at Seventy-third street.

It is known that at least ninety-five workmen were employed in the crib and connecting tunnel at the time of the fire, but the work of the destroying element was begun so unexpectedly and reaped its harvest of dead and injured with such swiftness that the contracting firm of Geo. W. Jackson and the rescuers have been unable to arrive at anything like an accurate list of those who perished and those who escaped the flames and the waters of the lake.

Owing to the difficulty of small craft to reach the crib during the winter, the majority of the workmen employed on the work, and particularly those without families, slept in temporary structures, and it was just as these men had been awakened for the day's routine that the explosion and the subsequent fire caused a panic among those who were in the crib, and at least fifty-three lives.

Numbers of Bodies Unrecognizable.

After several hours' work thirty-nine workmen were rescued, and when the fire tug Conway and its crew had succeeded in quenching the flames fifty-three bodies had been carried ashore and placed in the morgue in South Chicago, awaiting identification. The trunks of the victims in the majority of instances were unrecognizable, and the contracting firm gave out the following list of missing: Barney O'Connor, F. Thomas, A. Brennan; Edward Skinner, H. D. McDonald, T. Hanson, time keeper; C. Patterson, J. Thorpe, J. Miller, J. Lynch, W. Reynolds, C. Meyer, J. Faddy, E. Jennings, J. Barnots, Peter Blake, T. Stankus, William Kelley, J. Mulholan, J. P. Fisher, S. Coe, J. Kelly, T. E. Cavel, Edward McGee, E. Miller, Charles Kraper, E. Driscoll, J. Galadinos, J. Fultz, T. Conolly, M. Shodist, J. Lucas, M. T. Brennan, L. Convel, J. Anderson, T. Mitchell, M. Mickson, O. Kelley, T. Tamennis, J. Thomas.

Until such time as the rescuers are able to enter the water tunnel which connects the shore with the crib, it will not be known how many men perished below the surface of the lake. The air pressure was used in this connection, and as the generating plant became disabled after the discovery of the fire it is thought certain that those at work in the tunnel must have perished. The volume of smoke which filled the latter would be sufficient to make breathing next to impossible. The foreman in charge of the work is not certain, however, if any of the workmen had proceeded far enough to make their escape impossible when the alarm was given.

Many Cling to Floating Ice.

Many men kept themselves afloat by clinging to floating ice after they had jumped from the burning crib. It is known that at least three who had sought safety in this manner were drowned, but the majority were hauled from the water and taken aboard the tug Morford. The majority of the bodies taken from the ruins of the crib were found near the mouth of the tunnel, the shore-stricken men evidently having rushed to this spot as a last hope as the flames crept toward them.

According to Captain Garland, of the United States lifesaving station, who assisted in the work of rescue, many bodies cannot be identified, so badly are they charred and burned. Not a remnant of clothing was found on the mutilated trunks of a large number of the workmen who perished in the fire.

Pitiful Scenes on Shore.

From Seventy-first street to Seventy-third street the shore was lined by thousands of men, women and children, who were powerless to lend aid. When the news of the disaster spread, the public schools were deserted, and weeping wives, with their children huddled about them, watched anxiously the return trips of the struggling steam craft, carrying their cargoes of injured and dead. Many of these had relatives working in the tunnel, and the sorrow and suffering among the anxious watchers was pitiful.

The police already have started an investigation with a view to placing the responsibility for the disaster, and Coroner Hoffman, after impugning his jury, will continue the inquest for a week. Meantime Geo. W. Jackson, president of the construction company, has made arrangements to provide burial plots for the victims, the majority of whom depended upon their hazardous toil in the tunnel for a living for themselves and families.

LAKE CARRIERS DECLARE ANEW FOR THE OPEN-SHOP PRINCIPLE.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 20.—A renewed declaration for the open shop principle in regard to the employment of labor on ships of the Great Lakes; the announcement that $80,000,000 worth of vessel tonnage out of a total of $100,000,000 on the lakes has signed the mutual insurance agreement issued here last night, and the disclosing of a movement to make the projected Livingstone channel in the lower Detroit river, 40 feet wide instead of 300 feet were features of today's session of the convention of the Lake Carriers.

CARNEGIE HERO COMMISSION MAKES MANY MORE AWARDS

Pittsburg, Jan. 20.—The Carnegie hero fund commission today awarded twenty-five medals, $14,750 in cash and pensions aggregating $365 per month for deeds of valor performed at the meeting of the commission last October.

TAFT AND ROCKEFELLER ARE FELLOW GUESTS AT AUGUSTA BANQUET

Feast the Climax of a Series of Events in Honor of the President-Elect, It is a Brilliant Function, Attended by More Than 200 Men, Many of Them Personages of Distinction.

Augusta, Ga., Jan. 20.—President-elect Taft was the guest of honor at Augusta today, and from morning until late tonight there was no halt in the attentions showered upon him. The chief event was the banquet of the Chamber of Commerce tonight. More than two hundred guests of the Augusta Chamber of Commerce, and including John D. Rockefeller, Governor Ansel of South Carolina, who was inaugurated today, and many others of distinction, assembled to add to the brilliancy and contribute to the oratory of the occasion.

A HORROR IN SASKATCHEWAN.

Farm House Burns and Mother and Four Children Perish.

Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 20.—Mrs. Ingles and four of her children were burned to death in a farm house twelve miles from Long, Saskatchewan, last night. One of the children was one child escaped from the burning house, but in an attempt to save the other children Mrs. Ingles lost her own life. The surviving child walked to a neighbor's home, and was so badly frozen that she cannot live. The father was in town at the time.

MAN'S CARELESSNESS COSTLY.

Six Miners Killed by an Explosion in a California Colliery.

San Luis Obispo, Cal., Jan. 20.—Six miners were killed and eight others were seriously injured by an explosion in the Stone Cannon coal mine at Chanechors last night. One of the miners entered room No. 27 with a lighted torch. The room was full of gas, and an explosion followed. Most of the men were Italians.

WITH AXE AS THE WEAPON, HE KILLS HIS MOTHER-IN-LAW.

Washington, Pa., Jan. 20.—Revengeful over his arrest for cruelty to his wife John Trilling, a steel worker, late today armed himself with an axe and, going to the home of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Lucretia Corlies, aged nearly seventy, beat the woman so terribly that she died soon after. Trilling escaped.

EARTHQUAKE IN SMYRNA DESTROYS 300 BUILDINGS.

Smyrna, Asiatic Turkey, Jan. 20.—Over three hundred dwellings were destroyed by the earthquake experienced yesterday in villages in the Phocæa district, but only a few persons lost their lives. At Menemon, two persons were killed and ten houses collapsed. Two persons lost their lives and a number of buildings were damaged at Casaba.

PHILIPPINE FLOOD LAID TO A VOLCANIC ERUPTION.

Manila, Thursday, Jan. 21.—In explanation of the disastrous flood of Tuesday night in Tayabas province, the opinion is expressed that a volcanic eruption had occurred on Mt. Hamao, and that this eruption made a fissure through an old crater, releasing a portion of the lake which had formed there.

BANK ROBBERS IN IOWA ESCAPE WITH THEIR PLUNDER.

Des Moines, Ia., Jan. 20.—Three robbers entered the Bank of Dawson at Dawson, west of Des Moines, early today, dynamited the safe and pillaged the contents. When the entire town, awakened by the noise of the explosion, surrounded the building, the bandits got away and escaped from town on a hand car.

HARVARD OVERSEERS CHOOSE PROF. LOWELL AS PRESIDENT.

Roston, Jan. 20.—The board of overseers of Harvard college today confirmed the nomination of Professor Abbott Lawrence Lowell as president of Harvard University to succeed Charles William Eliot.

COLORADO FARMER SLAIN; MURDERED, THEN ROBBED.

Longmont, Colo., Jan. 20.—The dead body of William Collier, a farmer, was discovered today. Collier had evidently been murdered and robbed.

HEINZE TRIAL IS DELAYED.

New York, Jan. 20.—It is stated at the office of United States District Attorney Stimson that the case of F. Augustus Heinze, accused of violation of the federal banking laws, will not be brought to trial this month as had been expected. Pressure of other business has prevented the preparation of the case to the point where it could be tried at so

WEATHER FORECAST

Washington, Jan. 20.—The following is the weather bureau's forecast for Upper Michigan: Rain or snow, Thursday and Friday; colder, Friday.

RATTLESNAKE BIT SENATOR.

Now a Bounty on the Poisonous Reptile is Proposed in Iowa.

Des Moines, Ia., Jan. 20.—Senator Robert Quigley today introduced a bill placing a bounty of fifty cents on the head of each rattlesnake killed in Iowa. The bill follows closely upon the serious illness of ex-Senator Byron Newberry, whose poisoning by the bite of a rattlesnake last summer made it impossible for him to take an active part in last fall's campaigning, thus causing his defeat.

SENATOR HOPKINS LACKS MANY VOTES OF WINNING THE PRIZE

Five Ballots are Taken in Joint Session in Illinois, Without Determining Who Shall Don the Toga—'Oregon Idea' Feared, Opponents of Chamberlain Say He Will Not Be Seated.

Springfield, Ills., Jan. 20.—When five ballots had been taken in the joint session of the general assembly, which convened at noon today, without electing a United States senator to succeed Albert J. Hopkins, the joint gathering of the two houses arose until noon tomorrow, when the balloting will be resumed. The fifth ballot stood: Hopkins, 84; Foss, 16; Springer, 74; Shurtz, 12; Mason, 5; Lowden, 2; McKinley, 1; necessary to a choice, 103.

CHAMBERLAIN DECLARED ELECTED.

Salem, Ore., Jan. 20.—In joint assembly of both houses of the legislature today, George E. Chamberlain was declared elected United States senator for Oregon. The opponents of Governor Chamberlain allege that they have positive assurance that the senate committee on elections will not seat him. This action will be taken, they aver, because Oregon's method of electing senators is now being advocated by New York and other states, and the only way to prevent the spread of the Oregon idea is to reject Chamberlain when he presents his credentials.

THIRTEEN NEW SENATORS.

Washington, Jan. 20.—In the event of the reelection tomorrow of Senator Hopkins of Illinois, eighteen or the thirty-one United States senators whose terms will expire next month will be sworn in to succeed themselves. Among the thirteen new senators is included ex-Governor Cummins of Iowa, who is now serving out the expiring term of the late Senator Allison.

Those who will succeed themselves will be: Senators Brandegee, Connecticut; Clark, Arkansas; Clay, Georgia; Bingham, Vermont; Gallinger, New Hampshire; Gore, Oklahoma; Heyburn, Idaho; Johnson, Alabama; McEnery, Louisiana; Newlands, Nevada; Overman, North Carolina; Pomrose, Pennsylvania; Perkins, California; Smoot, Utah; Smith, Maryland; Stephenson, Wisconsin; and Stone, Missouri.

FRICK MAY QUIT PITTSBURG.

Millionaire is Angered at Smoky City Society, It is Said.

Pittsburg, Jan. 20.—The real estate men of Pittsburg have received a quiet tip that "Clayton," the Pittsburg place of H. C. Frick, is for sale if the right price is offered. Frick is believed to be desirous of quitting Pittsburg forever, so far as his family is concerned. According to those close to society, Mr. Frick is angry at the lack of interest which was shown in the coming party of his daughter Helen here some time ago, and he has decided that hereafter his family will take chances in New York or Europe only. Only fifteen young men, scarcely enough to perform the figures of the dance, were in attendance at the big coming-out party at Clayton, according to some of those who attended. This is where Mr. Frick, it is said, rose in anger and declared himself.

DR. LYMAN ABBOT BELIEVES THAT MIRACLES ARE POSSIBLE.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., Jan. 20.—Dr. Lyman Abbott, in a letter to the Rev. E. C. Dixon, denies the press report which credits him as saying in an address that "didn't believe that the reasonable material order of the universe had ever been broken by a miracle." The Outlook editor says in his letter: "I did not say that I did not believe the laws of nature had ever been violated. The laws of nature are the laws of God. And I do not believe that he violates his own laws. A miracle is not a violation of the law of nature, but a use of the forces of nature in a larger sphere and with a power and comprehension infinitely larger than our own."

PRESIDENT-ELECT OF CUBA.

Havana, Jan. 20.—General Gomez was today officially proclaimed president-elect of Cuba at a joint session of congress, and later he was formally notified of the fact. General Gomez pledged his best endeavors to maintain peace and prosperity and the happiness of the Cuban people.

FRAZIER UPHOLDS ACT OF PRESIDENT

Speaking in the Senate, Tennessee Statesman, Former Judge and ex-Governor, Defends the Discharge of the Negro Soldiers.

Opposing Foraker's Plan to Reinstatement, He Declares It Unquestioned That the Men 'Shot Up' Brownsville, and as One Who Investigated and as a Southerner With Intimate Knowledge of the Colored Race His Remarks are of Especial Interest.

Washington, Jan. 20.—Senator J. B. Frazier of Tennessee today spoke on the Brownsville affair and opposed the passage of any one of the pending bills for the re-instatement of the negro soldiers of the Twenty-fifth regiment who were discharged without honor by the president. Senator Frazier's remarks were of especial interest as he was a member of the committee on military affairs which investigated the Brownsville incident, and being those of a Southerner who had an intimate knowledge of the negro race.

"Whenever," declared Mr. Frazier, "any question arises affecting the negro there are certain people, including the negro himself, who seem to think that he should be dealt with in an exceptional and unusual way; that he is to be treated as the ward of the nation and must be the constant object of its care and solicitude. No greater wrong can be done the negro, and no greater injury can be inflicted upon the country as a whole, than to impress upon the negro such false and erroneous teachings. Those who have been instrumental in placing the entire negro population of the country in the attitude of defending the color of their race because they were of their race have assumed a grave responsibility indeed. They have inflicted a lasting injury upon the country, and upon the negro himself. If those people in every section of the country who are especially so prejudiced against the negro as to act and word, teach the negro that he is to be shown no exceptional consideration, but must stand or fall on his conduct and merit alone they would render him incalculable benefit and the country a lasting service."

NO DOUBT OF MEN'S GUILT.

Analyzing the testimony taken in various investigations Mr. Frazier said there was no question as to the guilt of the soldiers of the Twenty-fifth regiment. He justified the president in his discharge of the entire body of troops because of the impossibility of fixing the guilt upon particular soldiers. Speaking of the incentive of the soldiers for the commitment of the crime, he said: "No one not familiar with the real character of the negro race knows or can fully appreciate the intensity of feeling with which he resents any apparent discrimination against him on account of his race and color. This is strikingly illustrated in the opposition of the negro to those laws in effect in some states providing for the separation of the races in railway coaches, even where the accommodations are equal and exactly alike. It was admitted by many of the soldiers in their testimony that this subject, together with the subject of other indignities which they claimed had been inflicted upon some of them, were frequent matters of discussion in the barracks of the soldiers."

Their resentment in the saloons of Brownsville, Mr. Frazier said, gave ample incentive for the resentment that was shown among them against the people of the town.

HE KNOWS THE SOUTHERN NEGRO.

"In the conclusions which I have reached in this matter, and in the views I have expressed upon it, I have been influenced by no prejudices against the negro," he continued. "I have never favored any policy with reference to the negro that did not recognize his rights as a man, and did not assure him equal and exact justice before the law. I have never failed to condemn every act of lawlessness inflicted upon the negro, and have always demanded for him a fair and impartial trial when he has been charged with the violation of laws, if he mattered not how atrocious his crime. I know the negro, his faults and his virtues—and he has many virtues. My knowledge and observation of the negro race covers almost the span of my life for they nursed me in my infancy; played with me in my boyhood and I have known and studied them in manhood. I have prosecuted and defended them as a lawyer; I have tried and passed sentence upon them as a judge; I have exerted the power of the state to shield and protect them against lawlessness, sought to be inflicted upon them for grave crimes when I was governor of my state and many times in private life I reached out to them in their weakness. I received gratitude, and I pray God I may never forget their loyalty and fidelity to those whom they served and loved during the turmoil and strife and bitterness of the Civil war."

TREATMENT OF THE BLACK.

Speaking of the treatment of the negro by the Southern people, he said: "I would not be entirely frank, if I did not say that upon certain phases of the race question, I, in common with the rest of the South, have stood, and I believe will ever stand, firm and unalterable. First, never again will the negro be allowed to politically dominate and control a sovereign state of this Union. To do so would be to enshrine ignorance and give it dominion over in-

LOBBYIST BILL IS REPORTED OUT

Made the Special Order for Next Tuesday, It Will Afford the First Test of the Strength of the Rival Forces at Lansing.

Administration Intends to Rush the Legislation Through, It is Stated, and It Looks as if This Can Be Done All Right—Two More Anti-Cigarette Proposals Are Introduced, and So Are Two Important Measures Affecting the Liquor Traffic.

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 20.—[Special.]—The bill regulating lobbyists was reported out this afternoon and was made the special order for Tuesday afternoon. It will afford the first test of strength between the administration and anti-administration forces this session. It is believed the administration means to rush the bill through, and it looks as if it could be done all right.

SENATE REBELS LAY PLANS.

Will Make a Fight for a Complete Revision of the Committees.

Washington, Jan. 20.—It has developed at a recent gathering of insurrectionary Republican senators it was resolved to make a fight at the opening of the short session, for a complete revision of the senate committees. Among those who are pledged to assist in the fight are Borah of Idaho, La Follette of Wisconsin, Brown and Burkett of Nebraska, Gamble and Crawford of South Dakota, Bristow of Kansas, Cummins of Iowa, Smith of Michigan, Jones of Washington, Marshall of North Dakota, Beveridge of Indiana, and it is expected a number of others will come into the fold. In fact a total of eighteen senators is claimed, with four more likely to join.

The plan is to pass in the senate conference, when the question of committee re-organization comes up a resolution declaring that no senator shall be a member of more than one of the appropriations committees; that no senator shall be on two committees which have the making of appropriation bills—that is appropriations, judiciary, military affairs, naval affairs, Indian affairs, commerce, public buildings; to provide that no senator shall be on more than two of the second class committees. This, if passed and put in effect, would make vacancies in forty-five committees of the first and second classes, and would give opportunities for a large number of senators who now have little work to do and almost no influence in shaping legislation to get some real work and a chance to do business. The insurgents do not expect to win their fight the first time they make it, but they are bound to stick together and keep on fighting till they force reform.

PANAMA CANAL INVESTIGATION AROUSES INTENSE INTEREST.

New York, Jan. 20.—Speculation as to what action the district attorney of New York had decided to take in connection with the libel proceedings instituted by the federal authorities, against the New York World was in no way lessened today by the admission that that official had decided to present much evidence to the special grand jury. A persistent rumor was to the effect that the presence before the special grand jury of Charles P. Taft, brother of the president-elect, was desired by Mr. Lawrence, and this rumor has been denied. It has been heard by that body developments of a startling nature might be expected.

ROOT AND KNOX MAY TESTIFY.

Washington, Jan. 20.—Secretary Root and Senator Knox of Pennsylvania may be asked to appear before the federal grand jury now investigating in the District of Columbia the Panama case involving the New York World and Indianapolis News. Mr. Root was secretary of war and Mr. Knox was attorney general at the time of the purchase, and conducted the negotiations for the property in behalf of the United States government.

THINKS ANTI-TRUST ACT WILL REMAIN ON THE BOOKS.

New York, Jan. 20.—Congressman Frederick C. Stevens was the principal speaker at the annual dinner of the Minnesota Society of New York tonight. Mr. Stevens discussed the contemplated repeal of the Sherman act. It was Mr. Stevens' opinion that congress would refuse to repeal the act until such time as it felt assured the repeal of the law would leave proper protection to the people, and that the act, if amended, would be amended in such way as to assure its enforcement.

GOVERNOR LILLEY LOSES HIS SEAT IN THE HOUSE.

Washington, Jan. 20.—After adopting without opposition a resolution by which Governor George F. Lilley, of Connecticut, ceases to be a member of congress, the house today proceeded with the consideration of the naval appropriation bill. Mr. Foss, of Illinois, chairman of the naval affairs committee, has charge of the measure.

Seems to me that the Houghton Gazette has been exhibiting an unwelcome friendliness for the president of late. Looking back to last year, and not very far back either, we recall some very sassy editorials in the Gazette's columns on the score of Mr. Roosevelt. However, we are only pleased to find the Gazette now sharing in the majority view of that gentleman.

The Michigan Civil Service league has been formed at Lansing. Its purpose is agitation to the end that state employees, with the necessary exceptions, be put under civil service regulations similar to those controlling the great majority of federal employes in civil life. The purpose is a good one, and one in which the people of the state will sympathize. There is no doubt that state civil service could be made to cover a large number of offices that are now merely political spoils, with excellent results. That the majority of the men organizing the new league are gentlemen nursing sore spots left over from last year's political unpleasantness does not lessen the merit of the plan they suggest.

There's one catch in connection with primary reform legislation by the present legislature. It will provide that every candidate for county office in the state must be nominated by direct vote, and that every candidate for the legislature and the federal congress must win his place on the ticket in the same way. It is in the upper peninsula that these provisions will work the greatest change. In lower Michigan scores of counties, dozens of representative districts and a majority both of senatorial and congressional districts have been nominating by direct vote for two years or more past. In the upper peninsula, however, the direct nominations territory has been limited for county officers to Chippewa, Delta, Schoolcraft and Menominee, and perhaps one or two others, and four representative districts. Thus far the greater number of our candidates have been nominated in convention. It may thus be said that the upper peninsula is more directly concerned with the terms of the new statute than any other part of the state.

EDITOR ALLEGES BOYCOTT.

F. L. Baldwin, editor and publisher of the Escanaba Journal, has commenced an action against specified saloon men in that city, in particular, and the Liquor Dealers' association in general. He seeks $10,000 damages for injury done his business by a systematic boycott which he alleges to have been carried on by the saloon men, and also an order restraining them from continuing the offensive and illegal practice. Mr. Baldwin alleges that not only has he suffered from a direct boycott, but the saloon men, but that he has suffered from the secondary boycott, i. e., the saloon men by threatening to withhold their patronage from second parties who did business with him have compelled these second parties to withdraw their patronage.

The bill of complaint is a lengthy one. It sets forth that Mr. Baldwin established himself in Escanaba in 1906, buying the Journal, an established paper, and the job printing business connected therewith. The circulation, he says, he increased 400 per cent, and gained a considerable advertising patronage. The Journal commented vigorously on the impunity from punishment which the keepers of a large number of disreputable houses enjoyed, and on the lax enforcement of the liquor law. His articles along these lines were, he alleges, followed by withdrawals of advertisements and other patronage, which, he has reason for belief, were the result of the boycott, both direct and secondary, instituted by the saloon men.

Attached to his bill of complaint are affidavits by Thomas Richter and James B. Wilkinson, both Escanaba business men, setting forth that they were waited on, in January, 1908, by a delegation of saloon men who demanded of them, under pain of boycott, that they cease in any way to patronize Baldwin's business. The names of the saloon men enumerated in these affidavits are Nels Ahlquist, Irene Marchand, Jacob Miller, Philip Dupont, Peter Lemmer and Bert Boddy.

It may be commented that the fact of the boycott, direct and secondary, against Baldwin by the Escanaba liquor interests has been notorious for many months past, and that it has been a matter of general comment whenever Mr. Baldwin's newspaper activities at Escanaba have been discussed. That the boycott from which he has been suffering has been illegal in patent, in the light of the plain and easily comprehensible decisions of the courts. What redress he can obtain is problematical. Whether a restraining order would improve the conditions in regard to his business is doubtful; the boycott would likely run along of its own momentum without further illegal acts. Whether a Delta county jury would award him damages is equally to be doubted, for the conclusion is forced that Escanaba, which is to all intents and purposes Delta county, has liked the mess it has been steaming in, and has not regarded the efforts of Mr. Baldwin to tone up local conditions with any general approval. If we were Mr. Baldwin the first thing we would look for would be a change of venue.

DICKINSON PRIMARY BILL. The second direct nominations bill to be introduced in the legislature this session was presented this week by Senator Dickinson. The first was introduced last week by Senator Collins. Both measures have many things in common and they share in the characteristic of being decided improvements over the present statute. The Dickinson bill is regarded as the "administration" measure, and though the Collins bill was introduced first it is commented at Lansing that it will probably have to give way to the measure framed and fathered by Senator Dickinson, which, it may be said, has been passed on favorably by Attorney General Bird.

ination of candidates for congress, state senate, members of the house, and county officers are made mandatory in all counties and by all parties; nominations in cities are made optional, but when the question is submitted such submission is to be to the electors, and wherever any party in any city is now nominating by direct vote all parties shall so nominate, unless the question is submitted and decided otherwise; primary election day is changed from September to the second Tuesday in August; delegates to county conventions of all parties must be elected the same day, instead of only those in counties under the system, as under the old law; all candidates for all offices must be nominated by pluralities, the 40 per cent provision being eliminated; recounts must be made by counties, instead of by the whole state; party committees are provided for; state conventions are authorized at which candidates shall be nominated for offices other than governor, lieutenant governor and U. S. senator.

The Dickinson bill, it will be seen, falls somewhat short of providing for state wide direct nominations, in that the state officials under the governor and lieutenant governor are to be nominated by convention. There will be an outcry from the extreme advocates of the new system at this omission, but, on the other hand, many genuine friends of the principle of direct nominations will hold that it is a wise omission. Party organization must be kept effective in a country of party government. It can only be kept effective by the harmonious co-operation that will result from the assembling of party leaders. It would be difficult to convene a convention of any standing for the mere purpose of enunciating a platform. Bait it with a few minor nominations and it will possess some measure of significance. The Dickinson bill reserves to the people all nominations of first importance. The work it leaves to the convention we believe can safely be entrusted to it. If the issue proves otherwise it will be possible at any time to amend the law, and provide that all the state officers shall be nominated by direct vote.

Upper Peninsula. Baraga's Postmaster Resigns—James McMahon, postmaster at Baraga, has resigned the position. He is succeeded by Miss Jennie Vaughn. Would Thin Out the Saloons—Should the legislature pass a measure restricting the number of saloons to one for each 500 inhabitants, and it looks very much as though some such bill would be adopted, there will be a considerable thinning out of the saloons in Newberry. As conditions are now there is one saloon for every 150 inhabitants.

Chicken Fancier Wins Prizes—P. J. Sawyer of Menominee exhibited a prize-winning bunch of poultry at a show in Lae last week and as a result came back with the lion's share of the prizes given at the show. Partridge Wyandottes, of which Mr. Sawyer has made a specialty, were shown in large numbers but Mr. Sawyer's coop took both first and second prizes. He also received a 50¢ cup for the best egg displayed at the exhibition and a 25¢ cup for the best pen in the American class. Mr. Sawyer has just completed a fine set of chicken houses in the rear of his Main street residence. He is making a specialty of the best breed of fowls.

JUDGE J. W. STONE. Hon. Claudius B. Grant, who graduated from the university in 1859, and subsequently was superintendent of schools in this city; prior to entering the Civil War, some years later settled at Marquette for the practice of the law and eventually was elected to the supreme bench as the representative of the upper peninsula. The judge will not be a candidate for renomination at the coming state convention, but it is understood that at the close of his present term he will return to this city as a home, where he and Mrs. Grant have property interests. The upper peninsula will thus lose its only representative on the supreme bench, but at the coming convention that section will offer as a candidate the Hon. John W. Stone of Marquette, who has been known over Michigan.

OWES HER LIFE TO

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Vienna, W. Va.—"I feel that I owe the last ten years of my life to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Eleven years ago I was a walking shadow. I had been under the doctor's care but no relief. My husband persuaded me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it worked like a charm. It relieved all my pains and misery. I advise all suffering women to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. EMMA WHEATON, Vienna, W. Va. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record for the largest number of actual cures of female diseases of any similar medicine in the country, and thousands of voluntary testimonials are on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., from women who have been cured from almost every form of female complaint, inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion and nervous prostration. Every such suffering woman owes it to herself to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. If you would like special advice about your case write a confidential letter to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

Every school in Chippewa county will observe the one hundredth anniversary of Abraham Lincoln's birth, Feb. 12, Thomas R. Easterday, commissioner of schools, is sending letters to teachers recommending the observance of the holiday. Each teacher will receive a copy of the emancipator's Gettysburg address, beautifully printed in colors and suitable for framing. Mr. Easterday is the only man in the 800 who knew Lincoln personally. He spent many years when a young man in Springfield, Ill., at the time that Lincoln was practicing law there. He met the rail-splitter frequently and was present at a number of trials at which Lincoln addressed juries.

"Abel always stopped and shook hands when we met," said Mr. Easterday. "He was just as he has been represented in historical works. He was a man of the plain people and everybody in Springfield loved him. I remember when he left Springfield for Washington to be the inaugural address." Mr. Easterday was also intimately acquainted with William Herndon, Lincoln's law partner. He always refers to him as "Billy" Herndon. He enjoyed the acquaintance of Annie Herndon, his sister, and used to "see her home" once in awhile.

Priest Advocates Local Option—Rev. Father Sperline, pastor of the Roman Catholic church at Nadeau, Menominee county, and who is one of the most earnest advocates of temperance in this part of the state, is taking an active part in the campaign for local option in Dickinson county. In this respect he is following in the footsteps of Archbishop Ireland, who was one of the organizers of the National Anti-Saloon league, and was for some time one of the directors. It is expected that Father Sperline's work in Dickinson county will be fruitful. There is a large Catholic population there. In an address delivered at Iron Mountain Father Sperline related his experience in an endeavor to enforce the present law at Nadeau, and declared that he had been unable to do so, the liquor dealer always finding some loophole through which to escape justice. After many failures he had become a local optionist. He also dwelt at length upon intemperance, charging that it was at the bottom of all crime and misery, if not all, insanity. He denied that the Catholic church was not in favor of strenuous temperance legislation and quoted high officials to prove to the contrary. The speech was a strong exposition of the cause of local option. Father Sperline was followed by Hon. G. T. Werline, also of Nadeau, who spoke from the viewpoint of a business man. Mr. Werline is a Democrat in politics and at the same time represented Menominee county in the state legislature. He claimed that the adoption of local option would prove beneficial to every merchant and to every wage-earner.

Delta County Investigation—In his instructions to the Delta county grand jury, which is now in session and which is the first one to be convened in Delta county since Circuit Judge Stone read the laws of the state and gave to the jury an excellent idea of what is to be undertaken by them. His instructions were eminently fair and clearly made. He cautioned them to keep secret the proceedings of the body and detailed the process by which indictments or true bills are found and returned. He called their attention to the fact that the concurrent vote of twelve members of the body is necessary to issue a true bill, and that sixteen members of the body must be present when Old-Time Law in the Way—Several township officers in Chippewa county are puzzled over the state law which forbids spending more than $50 for each six square miles in fighting fires. Some of the townships expended several times that amount last fall. The question has been referred to Prosecuting Attorney Wiley, who will endeavor to straighten out the tangle. "I believe there must be some provision unless which this money could be expended without a violation of the law," said the prosecutor, "although I haven't made a thorough investigation. Without doubt this money was spent for a good purpose, as thousands of dollars worth of timber was threatened with destruction."

vote is taken. He called attention to the complaints that have been made as to violations of the state primary election laws in the county and read from the law concerning such violations. He cautioned the jurors, however, that they must be satisfied or have reason to believe that such violations were willfully committed. He called attention to complaints that in the past certain unqualified voters had been allowed to take part in elections and asked that that matter be carefully looked into. He also said that complaint had been made that certain people in Escanaba were leasing property to be used for immoral purposes.

Concerning the investigation of the liquor traffic Judge Stone advised the jurors not to spend a great deal of their time in the consideration of such matters, holding that it was the duty of the regular officers to make arrests and bring about the prosecution of violators, in such cases. He instructed the jurors, however, that they should find whether or not the officers were doing their duty in this regard and if it was found that they are not, that they should be indicted. The judge also said it had been reported to him that minors were being sold in saloons of the city and that intoxicating liquors were being sold to them. He said that if such conditions were found to exist it was clearly the duty of the jurors to find true bills against the guilty parties. Finally Judge Stone cautioned them against allowing anything but the purest motives to prompt them in their work and having found reason to believe that certain persons are guilty of certain illegal practices to indict them without fear or favor.

Copper Country

MEMORIAL SERVICE SUNDAY.

Work of Taking Subscriptions for Italian Sufferers Continues.

The work of collecting funds for the sufferers of southern Italy is still going on in the copper country, though already several thousand dollars have been raised and sent away. It is estimated that throughout the entire copper district not less than $8,000 will be subscribed. Next Sunday morning a special memorial service for the earthquake victims will be held at St. Mary's Italian Catholic church and this will be attended by all of the Italian organizations in and about Calumet. Rev. Father Francis will preside at the service.

Preceding the service the Italian clubs and lodges will meet at the Italian hall and from there will parade to the church. A band will lead the parade and all societies that will be in line will be the Italian Citizens' league, Etore Perone, Young Garibaldi, Italian Benevolent, Cristoforo Colombo, Cavour tent, Knights of the Modern Macabees, and Joseph Guisti.

In Calumet, subscriptions to the relief fund are still being taken in the south range towns, and meetings similar to those held for the several Sundays since the disaster will be held next Sunday. In Hancock the fund being raised there is growing and has now reached a total of about $600. As the Italian population of Houghton is small, further subscriptions to the relief fund have not been taken since the first fund was raised and sent away.

FUNERAL OF MRS. NAREAU.

The funeral of Mrs. Rosealine Nareau of Lake Linden, who died Monday evening after a long illness, will be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. Services were held at St. Joseph's Catholic church and the interment was in Mount Calvary cemetery. Father N. J. Raymond officiated. Mrs. Nareau was born in Vermont. Her family removed when she was a child to Chicago and her marriage occurred there. She came to the copper country with her husband and settled at Lake Linden twenty-four years ago and had been a resident of the village since then. She was fifty-eight years old. Besides being a prominent church woman she was a member of a number of fraternal organizations—the Protective Legion, the Macabees and the St. Ann's society of the church. Her husband died about two years ago. She is survived by two children.

SCOTCH DANCERS AT BANQUET.

Scotch songs, and Scotch music and dancing are included in some of the novel and interesting features of the program that is to be given next Monday night in connection with the Burns banquet, the anniversary celebration of the Scotch poet which is to be held at the Scott Hotel, in Hancock. Besides the regular program of music to be given by the Calumet & Hecla orchestra two expert dancers have been engaged to entertain the company and a Scotch quartet will sing Scotch songs. James MacNaughton of Calumet is to be toastmaster. Among the speakers will be Robert H. Shields, C. A. Wright, James T. Fisher, Angus Kerr, F. W. McNair and Rev. Daniel Stalker.

DIVORCE STATISTICS.

Houghton county divorce statistics show that within the past twelve months a total of twenty-two decrees were granted; one case was dismissed and eight cases were discontinued after having been filed for trial. On the first of the year the county clerk's records included a total of eighty-two cases pending, but a great many of these will probably never come to trial, having been continued from term to term for one reason or another. Twenty-eight petitions for divorces were filed within the period. During the period a total of 785 marriage licenses were issued, considerably more than two for every day of the year.

TREASURY NOT CARRIED OUT.

The list of "dead beats" which the Hancock board of public improvements declared it would publish has not yet been forthcoming. This list is to include the names of the persons who have refused to install water meters and who have not paid their water tax. The board has been called upon to submit a report to the city council, and it did present a communication to that body at the meeting this week. The communication, however, was not read to the aldermen.

GIVES THEM $750.

A. F. Rees, whose home in Houghton was damaged by a fire about a week ago while he was away in the East on business, has tendered to the Houghton fire department a gift of $750 as a mark of appreciation of the services given. In the communication addressed to Treasurer Casper Brand he says: "It is for any use that the department may choose to make of it, but my desire is that it be in some way devoted to the good and enjoyment of the department members themselves."

CHINESE ARE CELEBRATING.

Shrines Are Erected and New Year's Bells Are Planted in Shops.

The Chinese of the copper country, in common with the Chinese in all other parts of the country, today begin the celebration of their New Year's feast. In every laundry and in every other Chinese establishment the emporing shrines, before which incense pinks sticks are kept burning. These shrines vary in gorgeousness with the riches of the Celestial who erects them. The rich Chinese in the large cities have New Year's shrines covered with silks and embroideries of gold and silver, costing thousands. The more common shrine of the hard working laundryman often is of but tinsel and tissue. Heaped up on these altars are fruits and nuts, foods of all sorts, offerings to Chinese deities, but the visitor also is encouraged to help himself of these.

One may also see on display in the Chinese establishments bowls of water and rocks in which repose bulbs of Chinese flowers. A Chinaman never neglects to plant his New Year's bulb, for the flower is a symbol. If the bulb thrives and a flower appears, it is a sign to the Celestial that his affairs for the next twelve months will go well. Should the bulb wither and die, it causes him dismay and concern, for the omens is evil. New Year's bulbs, needless to say, are chosen with exceeding care. The period of celebration continues for seven days.

INSTALLING A PIPE ORGAN.

Father A. J. Rezek, pastor of St. Ignace church, of Houghton, is having a pipe organ installed at the church and it is intended to have the instrument in place and ready for use for the services next Sunday. The organ was originally in use in the Episcopal cathedral in Marquette. When a few months ago a new organ was donated to the cathedral as a memorial to Peter White, Rev. Father Rezek, through a Marquette clergyman, entered into negotiations for the purchase of the one to be removed. It arrived in Houghton Monday. The original cost of the organ, which is as good as new, was some thousands of dollars. Father Rezek got it for $500.

KETCHEL "IN OUR MIDST."

That portion of Calumet's population that has sported proclivities—and a considerable portion of it has—has mildly agitated. "Why," is the question being asked, "just why is Stanley Ketchel in our midst?" The Grand Rapids scrapper dropped off a South Shore train Tuesday afternoon, took a squint at the new depot, nodded his head approvingly and then went to a hotel. Didn't say a word. It is reported that Mr. Ketchel came to copperdom to make money in copper mines. Maybe he did. Who knows?

PORTO RICO ASKS HELP.

Makes an Urgent Appeal for a Duty on Coffee.

An Interesting Phase of the Tariff Situation—Island People Claim to Have a Superior Product and That Cultivation Costs Much More Than in Brazil—The Tariff Undoubtedly Would Advance the Price to the Consumer; but Later Competition Might Reduce It.

Washington, Jan. 20.—The question of greatest popular interest in the whole tariff situation is the proposed duty on coffee. Some new phase of the situation claims public attention every few days, but with all the picturesque developments in the determined campaign of the Porto Ricans for the protection of their coffee, the commanding issue with Congress is whether or not public sentiment will approve the duty. The Porto Ricans want a duty of six cents a pound, and say that anything less will afford them no protection. Congress cares nothing about the protective feature of the proposition but is curious to learn how much of a political "back" is wrapped up in the duty. The Porto Ricans have an active and reputable lobby at work in Washington, and before they get through the families of many statesmen will be able to pass intelligently upon the merits of Porto Rican competition with alleged "Mocha and Java" coffee.

Hancock and Quincy poultry owners have been making complaints to the police of losses suffered at the hands of chicken thieves. Within the past week a number of coops have been robbed. Some of the fowls that were taken were of considerable value and were to have been entered in the poultry show next week.

Patrick Crowley of Hancock, arrested upon the complaint of his father, who asserts that the young man is an habitual drunkard, was sentenced to serve ninety days in the county jail by Justice of the Peace Olivier. Young Crowley, about a week ago, tried to commit suicide by slashing his throat with a knife. He nearly succeeded.

As a part of the work that is undertaken to secure the enactment of legislation for the regulation of tuberculosis, the Houghton County Anti-Tuberculosis society is to circulate petitions, which will be presented to copper country legislators. These legislators will be asked to vote for the measures that are to be brought before them within the next several weeks.

A Painesdale man drove his horse to South Range one evening this week, and while he got drunk the horse fell into a snow drift. It was found the next morning and led to the barn where it was held in a livery stable on a sleigh, as it could not stand up. Attention given to the animal at the stable may save its life. The owner of the horse is to be tried upon a charge of cruelty to animals.

A musical entertainment of more than ordinary importance will be given at the Calumet theater the evening of Feb. 1 under the auspices of the Woman's club. The entertainers will be a troupe styled "The Four Great Musical Artists." The four musicians are: Ernest D. Carr, basso cantante; Joseph of the Maurics; Grand Opera company; Florence Smith, soprano and prima donna; Earl J. Fouts, violinist, and Edwin M. Short, pianist.

Nester Saleme, who recently arrived in Houghton from some corner of Europe, was arrested for drunkenness. He was found with a loaded revolver in his pocket. He was fined $5 and costs for carrying concealed weapons and was also fined for drunkenness. At the hearing held in the court of Justice of the Peace Brand a lecture was administered to him through an interpreter upon the danger of carrying weapons.

A big crowd of people from all parts of the copper country went to Houghton Tuesday night, to attend the dancing and skating party that was given at the Amphitheatre by the Young Men's Association of Lake Linden. During the greater part of the day preceding the party the sun shone brightly and the thermometer was up above the freezing point. The result was that the ice was somewhat softer than could have been desired, but everybody had a thoroughly enjoyable time.

Disatisfied with a photograph taken by flashlight, Nix Protogeros of Calumet visited the picture gallery of his fellow countryman, Will Nara, and smashed things, according to the list of charges recited in a suit started by Nara in the court of Justice of the Peace Brand. The picture which caused the trouble was a group picture of a number of trees. All of them were pleased with it except Protogeros, who wanted all the trees and plants destroyed. When the photographer declined to do this he undertook to do it himself, Nara says, and now Nara is seeking to recover $100 in damages.

SOLOMON ON GAME LAW.

He Acquires a Man Whose Chickens Hatched Partridges.

York, Pa., Jan. 20.—Alderman Jacob Stager made a broad ruling upon the game law, when he dismissed the case against Isaac Ruth of North Cadours township, charged with imprisoning game birds. Ruth admitted that he had taken sixteen partridge eggs from a nest which the mother birds refused to return after he had burned brush in the vicinity, and had put them under a hen. A number of the eggs hatched and the young partridges refused to leave the hen, and this caused Ruth's arrest by constable Kuykendall. When the law is to promote the propagation of game birds, and that Ruth's action was consistent with this intent.

REAL HOSPITALITY.

An Englishman's Experience of It Down Virginia Way.

An Englishman, just returned from a trip through Virginia, declares that there, at any rate, still lingers the true spirit of Southern hospitality.
"I was going through the Capitol at Richmond," he said yesterday, "and got into conversation with a very pleasant woman. I told her I was an Englishman traveling around on the lookout for historical places and happened to mention that I was going to run out to Petersburg."
"I'll give you a letter of introduction," she exclaimed. "There's a gentleman there who will be delighted to show you everything."
"It was a little taken back, you know. I didn't know the lady's name, and she didn't know mine. She had to write the introduction and then it turned out she didn't even know the gentleman's name. It was awkward, you know, and by sheer inadvertency she gave me a letter to her friend's deceased brother."
"It didn't matter much, however. I didn't find the gentleman, but I met his nephew in the country, and he read the letter, as it wasn't addressed to him, but as soon as I told him I wanted to see the Crater, he dropped his business at once and took me out to the battlefield. He'd been in the scrimmage himself and explained the whole affair to me."
"I felt it was awfully decent, you know, to put himself out for an entire stranger, but I was quite overwhelmed, as any fellow would be, when he said he was sorry that he didn't know I was coming so that he could have driven past in the particular month to which it corresponds. Thus, 'Just' for January, has four letters, because the first Saturday in January is the 4th of that month; 'a,' representing February, has one letter, as the first Saturday in February is the first day of that month; and so on through all the twelve months.
Each word of the twelve, excepting the first 'a,' begins with the same letter as the month it represents. Thus, 'Just' begins with J because January begins with J; 'mother's' begins with m because March begins with M, and so on all through, with the exception of 'A' for February.
Having obtained the dates of the first Saturday in the month is got by the addition of the necessary number of sevens, from which it is a step to any intermediate date. For example, to know the day on which Christmas day fell this year, 'dream,' standing for December, has five letters, so the first Saturday in December is the 12th; the third the 19th; the 25th, being six days more, gives Friday, six days on from Saturday—London Tit-Bits.

FOR LEFT-HANDED PATRONS.

It was the noon rush hour and almost every table in the restaurant was filled. "Who is the matter with that table down at the other end of the room?" said the hungry man, for whom the head waiter was vainly trying to find a seat.
"There are four vacant places down there."
"Are you left-handed?" asked the waiter.
"What difference does it make?" retorted the hungry man.
"Oh, perhaps none," said the waiter, "only if you are not I don't believe you'd like that table. It is reserved for our left-handed customers."
"Good heavens!" exclaimed the left-handed man. "Do they constitute a class by themselves?"
"For convenience sake, yes," returned the waiter. "The left-handed man dines not like a right-handed neighbor when eating and the right-handed fellow is equally suspicious of him. There is no reason that I know of. They are simply too apt to clash. If both raises their arm at the same time there is danger of each ramming a fork down the throat of the other. Such accidents are embarrassing, not to say painful. It is by no means an uncommon thing to meet a customer who makes a point of sitting next to a left-handed person. Still, possibly, you have no objection, so if you want a seat at that table—"
"No, thank you," said the hungry man, "I'll wait till somebody else gets through."—New York Times.

COFFEE AND BEET SUGAR.

The coffee protectionists certainly make a strong rhetorical point when they say that the proposal of a duty on coffee for the benefit of Porto Rico implies no more burdensome "justice than that of a duty on beet sugar. In 1877, they say, beet sugar appeared for the first time in statistics. The tariff act of July 14, 1870, was then in force, and refined sugar paid a duty of four cents a pound. The population of the United States was then 47,000,000, and consumed 745,000 tons of sugar, for which the average price per pound while that year was 10.75 cents. Therefore, in order to protect the 80,000 tons of domestic sugar produced that year by the 1,000,000 inhabitants which Louisiana could count at that time, 47,000,000 of Americans were burdened with a tax of approximately $60,000,000. "If at that time," the Porto Ricans argue, "such argument was not used or was ineffective, why fail to see how it can be used today or be effective under identical circumstances against Porto Rico, Hawaii and even the Philippines?"
That the price of coffee to the American consumer would be advanced by a

GRAND THEATER CLOSED.
Manager Could Not Make House Pay at Five Cents Admission.

The Grand moving picture theater on Main street, which has changed hands a half dozen or more times since it was established less than two years ago, is closed again, but it is expected that it will be reopened in a few days by Anderson & Garrow, of Sault Ste. Marie, who a few weeks ago bought out the Campbell interest. H. C. Wilson, also a Soo man, who came here a few weeks ago, taking the house under contract from Anderson & Garrow, is tired of the management and has thrown it up. When he took charge he thought that ten cents admission was too much for the entertainment furnished and he reduced it to five cents. The first few days the cut in price seemed to be an inducement and the house did a paying business, but for a week or ten days past Wilson had been losing money. The house now reverts to Anderson & Garrow.

It is generally conceded that three cheap theaters will have a hard time paying expenses in this city. The Bijou vaudeville house, which opened about a month ago, is doing a very satisfactory business and the management is giving excellent entertainments for the price charged. The Majestic also seems to get its own pretty well. Weather conditions have been very favorable this winter for the cheap play houses. There were a few nights last winter when the moving picture theaters did not open at all, on account of storms, but there has not been a night this winter when they have not been able to do business.

BOUGHT ANOTHER HOME.

John Spolander, proprietor of the novelty store in the Milton block, who recently sold his residence property on Wabash street to Andrew Carlson, has purchased the Crocker dwelling on Barium street, immediately east of the Presbyterian church. The house has been vacant, and Mr. Spolander intends to put a crew to work there improving it. A basement is to be put under the entire structure, which will be raised about a foot, and a complete new foundation will be put in. New floors will be laid and the sheds at the rear will be removed. The property is desirably located, but the house has been in bad repair. Mr. Spolander will occupy his old dwelling on Wabash street until May 10, by which time he expects to have his new home ready for occupancy.

FROM MORGAN'S CURB LETTER.

"The market for copper shares opened quiet and about unchanged from yesterday's closing, but as the day progressed, stocks were offered for sale. There was no great pressure on the market, but a steady stream of shares were being turned into good hands, the buyer is allowing the seller to make the market. The curb issues followed the listed market closely, and as a whole showed fractional declines for the day. A notable exception, and by long odds the most heavily traded in stock on the curb today, was Giroux Consolidated. The buying of Giroux is of the very best kind, and we believe it will sell materially higher. While the action of this market must be discouraging to holders of the Giroux stock, it is entirely in line with the general situation. There is nothing in the situation to warrant a severe decline. On the contrary, we would take advantage of the present weakness to pick up the better class of copper shares. A dividend of thirty cents has been declared on Goldfield Consolidated, payable March 21st."

MEMBER OF TWIN CITY GUN CLUB BELIEVES IT WOULD BE TO THE BEST INTEREST OF SPORTSMEN TO FORM A COUNTY ORGANIZATION.

"Ishpeming sportsmen have been asked by the members of the Negaunee Gun & Rod club to form a similar organization, for the purpose of protecting the game and fish," said a member of the Twin City Gun club yesterday. "I favor any move that will mean better laws or better protection of the game and fish, and I believe the best results can be obtained if all of the sportsmen of the county unite in one organization. It is my opinion that the sportsmen should join the Twin City Gun club, making it a county organization, one of the principal objects of which would be to see that an ample supply of fry is secured annually and that the fish are planted in proper places, also that suggestions are made for the amendment of unsatisfactory laws."

"This county has not received its fair share of fish fry for some years past. The copper country sportsmen get a greater number than we do because they have organizations through which applications are made regularly and whose members see that they are properly planted. I have aided for twenty years or more in planting fry in the streams and I have noticed that the work has always been done by a few individuals."

"In spite of the fact that many upper peninsula sportsmen seem to favor a change in the law governing trout fishing, I am opposed to extending the season to Sept. 1. The present law is all right in every particular, though I believe that some changes that will result in a further protection of the deer should be made."

Don't Want New Trout Law.

Lansing sportsmen, especially the piscatorially inclined, have been discussing the bill which has been introduced in the legislature regarding the opening of the trout season in Michigan, says the Lansing Republican. The proposed statute fixes the first day on which the ardent fisherman may cast his line for the gamey trout as May 1, and while some local enthusiasts look with favor upon this date the majority of them favor the present time, April 15.

Arguments pro and con have been advanced at the various hangouts for the piscatorial fans about the city, relative to the proposed change. One Lansing fisherman who is regarded as an authority on all species of fish and their propagation says that the change in the open date would work to the disadvantage of the sportsmen, meaning the honest anglers. He asserts that this class of rod and reel fans will naturally abide by the law if it is passed, but points out that the other class, the unscrupulous persons and fish "hogs" will get in their work just as soon as spring opens and will hunt for trout catching comes around the streams will be most unfruitful for those who have waited until the lawful time.

"A law changing the opening of the trout season to May 1 would undoubtedly create a large class of sportsmen," said another Lansing fisherman, today. "The new opening date would naturally make the closing later, which would, in this case, be about Sept. 1. Nearly everybody who knows anything about trout knows that this is the beginning of their spawning season and to turn the fishermen loose among the trout at this time would mean a serious depletion of the streams and Michigan's fame as a trout state would be a thing of the past in a short time."

The Michigan Sportsmen's association, of which Lansing men are members, will undoubtedly take the matter up and attempt to have the law changed in the interests of good sport. Local fishermen say that the present bill appears to have emanated from some one who doesn't know a trout from a jelly fish.

GIROUX IN BIG DEMAND.

Shares of New Cole-Ryan Proprietary Traded in Heavily Yesterday.

It was positively announced yesterday that Thomas F. Cole and John D. Ryan and their associates have obtained control of the Giroux Consolidated Mines company's properties, located in Ely, Nev., and in the Utes mining district of the state of Nevada. As soon as the confirmation of the deal was flashed over the wire there was unusual trading in the stock, which advanced in price from 38 at the opening to 82 1/2 at the closing. It was rumored some weeks ago that the Cole-Ryan interests had secured control of the Giroux properties, and the price of the stock went up several points. It was finally denied that a deal had been closed and the price dropped from $10.50 to $7.50.

The Giroux company has been operating its properties for about two years past. There are 1,000,000 shares of a par value of 85, fully paid, and 630,000 shares are outstanding. The Nevada property consists of 1,050 acres in the heart of the Ely camp. It is opened by seven shafts, varying in depth from 200 to 1,100 feet, and by tunnel 875 feet. The total length of the underground workings is said to be 12,000 feet. The officials estimate that there are developed 11,000,000 tons of ore and that the milling here will yield 2 1/2 per cent copper and the smelting 12 per cent. The company owns a 500-ton concentrating mill and a 250-ton furnace. The mill was recently completed.

The Mexico property consists of 450 acres, opened by three shafts with a total of 9,000 feet of underground workings. It is estimated that 600,000 tons have been developed.

The local brokers reported last evening that there were orders for several thousand shares of stock unfilled at the bid price, $8.62 1/2. A number of the Marquette county men bought early yesterday and some of them secured stock at $8. Others paid from $8.25 to $8.62 1/2.

ISHPEMING IN BRIEF.

F. R. Vigeant of Sault Ste. Marie was here yesterday.

T. J. Lynde of Houghton was an Ishpeming business visitor yesterday.

The employees of the Oliver Iron Mining company were paid yesterday.

William Leininger, who spent the past week in Milwaukee and Chicago on business, has returned home.

Godfrey Morin has sold his residence property at 412 Excelsior street to August George, whose family will occupy it.

G. R. Watt, the piano tuner, will be in the city next week and those desiring his services can reach him through Girzi.

William Trebilcock has started to harvest his season's supply of ice from Teal lake. He expects to put up a larger quantity this year than last.

The arrangement committee for the annual ball of the Ishpeming aerie of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, to be given next Monday evening at Braastad's Hall, has issued invitations. Dancing is to start at 9 o'clock, continuing until 3.

The four-year-old son of Richard Chapman of the Winthrop died yesterday morning at an early hour of diphtheria and the funeral was held in the afternoon. Rev. Adamson, pastor of the National Methodist church, conducted services at the house.

The members of Hematite lodge, Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, are meeting with good success in the sale of tickets for their eighth annual ball to be held at Braastad's Hall Friday evening, Feb. 19. Large delegations are expected from Negaunee and Marquette.

Henry Remile, who has been employed as operator at the Ishpeming station of the Northwestern Railway company for several years past, has been promoted to the position of agent at Loret, on the Menominee range. He is succeeded here by Ed Bakken of DePere, Wis.

Special services are being held at the First Methodist Episcopal church this week in charge of the pastor. Rev. James Pascoe preached Monday evening and on Friday evening Dr. Finch, of Detroit, the recently appointed pastor of the Salisbury church, will speak. All are invited.

BRANCH OF THE ALGONQUINS IN NEWFOUNDLAND.

In a report to the British Colonial office Sir William McGregor, governor of Newfoundland, gives an account of a visit he paid to a settlement of Miamees, who are held by ethnologists to be a branch of the Algonquin Indians, at Bay d'Espoir, on the south of the island. There are only twenty-three families living on the reservation, consisting of 131 persons. The Miamees are hunters and trappers and are ignorant alike of agriculture, seamanship and fishing. On the visit of the governor there were only two miserable cows in the settlement and a few extremely wretched sheep, and he saw only one fowl and a "stame wild goose." The fuel consisted chiefly of flour, a few potatoes and cabbage and caribou meat while the majority of the people were in rags. Notwithstanding these obvious hardships the inhabitants are generally healthy, the oldest woman was ninety years of age and the oldest man about eighty. The men are described as of good size and strongly built, clearly of mixed descent and many being nearly like Europeans.—Montreal Standard.

that the minister's wife "always does just as well" a conviction which Hattie failed to share and even at 6, despite some added vehemence, desperately denied. At 7 I burst through the front door, glanced into the parlor, beheld a new brown silk never yet seen at church, gloves and hat to match, seated close to a youth, very black as to coat, white as to tie and radiant as to patent leather. "Why," cried I into madam's astonished ear, "didn't know Hattie Parsons was getting married or ever thought of it?"

"How did you know?" she gasped.

"Since that day every youthful book agent with the slightest trepidation of manner is broken: "Come back at 2 o'clock, do!" The minister will surely be in." Some conversations are uncomfortably thorough.

As to those out-of-towners, the city of my abiding is full of them. Situated at the corner of two other states, it proves a Greta Green for all "lovesick" ones. They run to it away from enraged parents, suspicious offspring, conventionalities of church weddings—the glory and splendor and the dear delight is they run to us. It adds materially to our meager incomes.

The fees are a source of constant palpitations, sometimes of language, sometimes of blushing. For the minister finds in them all the unexpectedness and something of the excitement of a gambler's days. One pastoral brother advised me to keep in stock two varieties of certificates and discriminates. I did. I handed over the $1 kind to a fifty-cent couple and bestowed paternally the twelve and one-half-cent variety on a youth who graciously presented me in return a ten-dollar bill. I don't discriminate any more.

But the fees! I have been paid fifty cents a quarter, nothing but a promise to "kiss round Saturday" when my envelope comes in—which it apparently never did—and from a dollar up, yet not so far up as to be unendurable.

But the strangest case arrived from a hilltop town in Massachusetts. She confessed to be thirty summers. She told the truth, but not all the truth, which his assertion of twenty-one was probably an exaggeration, though there could be no question as to his youthfulness.

After the ceremony he inquired: "Well, minister, what's the damage?"

"I hope," I lied, politely, "no damage has been done; but if you refer to the expected fee, that as you deem the service worth."

"Well," asked he, "will a dollar and a half about kiss?"

"If that suits you it suits me," I responded.

"Say, Jane, I didn't fetch no cash along—yer pay 'im."

Jane thought it worth $2.—Congregationalist.

CAR SICKNESS.

How It Differs from Seasickness—Traveling With Eyes Closed.

Car sickness is a very disagreeable affection, sometimes akin to seasickness, and yet differing from it in several particulars.

In seasickness it is rare to find the very old or the very young affected. If children are seaseek they are very quickly over it, and running about at play is usual, but a baby will sometimes suffer from car sickness in its baby carriage, and the very old are not immune.

The symptoms of the two disorders are very much alike, says The Youth's Companion. They consist of pallor, quick pulse, clammy skin, giddiness, nausea and vomiting. Women are more subject to car sickness than men, and this is equally true of seasickness, and one strange feature of car sickness that has been noted by physicians is that it is frequently handed down through the generation.

If an individual is immune all through childhood and early life, but develops car sickness as an adult, the fault will probably be found to rest with the eyes closed, or better still, to start with properly fitted glasses. It is easy to understand why this should be so. When the eyes need glasses the whole nervous equilibrium of the body suffers, even under the best conditions, and when to this struggle is added the vibration of the cars and the temptation to watch passing scenery through the windows, the struggle turns into active revolt of the whole system against imposition.

The proof that car sickness and seasickness are not quite the same thing is found in the fact that a person may be a good sailor and yet suffer dreadfully with car sickness and vice versa, while its occurrence in babies would go to show that the sense impressions—that is to say, the impressions gained by the ear, the eye or the nose—are not at the root of this disorder, because in very young babies the sense impressions are undeveloped, or, at the best, very feebly developed.

As a further proof of this, car sickness often comes on during sleep, and when this occurs the eyes, of course, are not the cause of that particular case.

The symptoms of car sickness may be of a most appalling violence, the state of collapse being so extreme that death is often feared. It is comforting to know that this fear is unfounded in that, although people may be dreadfully ill, they rarely, if ever, succumb.

Humorous Side of Marriage as Seen at the Parsonage.

The bridegrooms do drop the ring in ecstatic moments—a fine time did I have poking one from under a bookcase once while the bridegroom and his best man leered sheepishly at my crimson countenance; do forget to clasp hands and often step on the bridal train at the crucial second when the turn is made seaward. One unhappy creature pulled my face all askew for one miserable moment by answering, "Yes, sir, thank you!" to the query, "Do you take this woman?" A later bridegroom added at a private performance in my own house, "And mightly glad to get 'er, yer bet!"

The stranger in a strange town and a strange ceremony furnish the comedy. The clergyman soon learns the faltering steps on his porch, the fumble at his bell, the nervously twisted hat, the shy pretense at some other and different business; soon turns confidently and immediately to the nearest street car post to discover that half-hill flutter of bridal skirts. Still such wisdom takes time, and madam during the first year of our own wedded life turned three promising $5 couples from our door. Then came her eye-opening.

I was out of town, and when Hattie Parsons, a demure, beardless, domesticated variety of damsel, appeared at 5 o'clock in the company of a young man and asked for me, madam assured her

Negaunee Department

NEGAUNEE SPORTSMEN WANT MORE FRY

GUN AND ROD CLUB WILL APPLY FOR RAINBOW AND SPECKLED TROUT, TO PLANT IN WATERS HERE NEXT SPRING.

The officers of the Negaunee Gun and Rod club have increased the membership of the organization by more than 50 per cent during the past two or three weeks, and it is now planned to secure at least 176 members. The leading sportsmen, all of whom are members of the new organization, plan to aid in the protection of fish and game, also in the stocking of the lakes and rivers with fish. They would be pleased if a similar organization were perfected in Ishpeming, as they realize that their work can be done more effectively if the Ishpeming sportsmen co-operate with them.

The club has received blanks from Detroit upon which it will make application for trout and other fry for spring distribution. Negaunee sportsmen have contended that the city has not been fairly treated by the department in the distribution of fish. No rainbow or speckled trout have been sent here for planting in the rivers and lakes for five or six years. The only fry to speak of were cutthroat trout. They will also ask the department not to give any fish to individuals who are not members of the club. For years past some men have secured fry and planted them in lakes in which they were personally interested. It is said that some of the lakes which have no outlet, have been so heavily stocked with bass that hundreds of thousands of young fish have fallen prey to the clubs, and that even now the lakes are overstocked.

The fry sent to the copper country exceed the supply sent here by many thousands. The local sportsmen do not blame the department, but realize that the failure to get the fish has been entirely due to the sportsmen themselves, who have not been organized, and who have not taken the proper steps to secure them.

The officers of the club recently received from the Houghton Gun and Rod club the proposed changes in the game laws now being considered by several organizations in the upper peninsula. All of the changes, with the exception of one, have been approved by the Negaunee organization. The one exception has reference to the law on the killing of deer. The copper country men desire to limit the killing to one licensed deer each licensed hunter. The club does not deem it acceptable to the Negaunee club, but the members do not believe that the killing should be confined to a buck, but that a hunter should be allowed to kill either a buck or a doe.

APPROVE OF PLAN. Negaunee Men Believe That Ex-Convicts Should Be Sent Away.

Several Negaunee men yesterday received communications from the board of police commissioners of Marquette asking them for letters stating their views on the disposition of ex-convicts from the Marquette prison. An article that appeared in The Mining Journal a short time ago, outlining the plans suggested by the board of police commissioners as to steps to be taken to bring the matter before the members of the legislature, who are to be asked to amend the law so as to provide for the sending of ex-convicts to the counties in which they were convicted.

Marshall Thomas Grille says that Negaunee has had more than its share of ex-convicts in the past few years. He said that there are at present a number of them in the city and the police department has several times had serious trouble with released prisoners. In his opinion the people of Marquette are not justified in asking for a change.

The Negaunee men appealed to are disposed to aid the Marquette people in every way possible in their efforts to bring about the proposed change in the law.

ICE HARVEST STARTED. Robert Thompson has started to harvest his season's supply of ice on local Lake Superior. He has secured a local dealer, will start a crew to work today. Mr. Kappes expects to employ from twenty to twenty-five men on the job. He has not yet secured as many men as he needs. The ice is about sixteen inches thick, but it is expected that the Negaunee team is fairly strong and it is expected that it will give a good account of itself. A return game will probably be played here within a week or two.

The girls have had difficulty securing a desirable place in which to practice, but finally got permission to use the main room in No. 2 hose house, McDonald's opera house and the room of the Negaunee team is fairly strong and it is expected that it will give a good account of itself. A return game will probably be played here within a week or two.

MAY AMEND RATE LAW.

Congressman Townsend Pleads by Indiana Indorsement. For the Information of Shippers the Michigan Representative Explains the Proposed Changes—If Carriers and Shippers Would Co-Operate the Legislation Would Be Unnecessary.

Washington, Jan. 20.—Representative Townsend of Michigan is much pleased with the action of the shippers in Indiana in getting behind a movement to create sentiment throughout the country in favor of three bills he has introduced to amend the so-called rate law. Possibly there is no chance of getting action on the amendments at this session, but the Michigan member will reintroduce them in the new congress, and with the backing of the shippers, expects eventually to see them adopted. Mr. Townsend has prepared this statement for the further information of shippers as to what his bill provides: "These bills 22,901, 22,902 and 22,903 were introduced by me to correct what seem to be defects in the rate law of 1906, which defects were not anticipated at the time of the passage of the act, but which have been demonstrated since by the carriers. I had hoped that when the country had expressed itself through the congress, upon certain railroad abuses that the carriers would take notice and recognize through their management that the people were going to insist upon their rights, and that they would therefore proceed to serve rather than oppress. "I am pleased to note that many railroad managers have endeavored and are endeavoring to comply with their duties to the public, but others I believe are disposed to do everything possible to disregard the law. Some of the above mentioned bills would be necessary if the carriers would co-operate with shippers, who are not in any considerable numbers demanding what is unjust or unreasonable. "The law provides that no published rate can be raised or lowered by a carrier except after the expiration of thirty days' notice. This provision was inserted so as to prevent 'midnight rates,' i. e., the sudden change of a rate for the benefit of a privileged shipper. Most rates existing at the time of the passage of the bill had been in existence for many years, and there seemed no need of sudden changes, and few comparatively were made except to privileged shippers. Under the law a shipper can complain to the commission at any rate unreasonable, but not until the rate goes into effect. Since the passage of the rate bill notices of a raise of many long established rates have been given, and inasmuch as a large part of sales are made to shippers in sixty and ninety days, and sometimes in a more distant future, shippers have been embarrassed and some have claimed to have been ruined by such changes and proposed changes. "The object of the H. R. 22,901 is to give any shipper or any number of shippers the right to lodge complaints with the commission at any time after a notice of rates is given by the carrier. It is thought that if a rate is unreasonable it would be more just to have its reasonableness determined at the earliest possible moment and before its operation disastrously affects business. Discretion is given the commission to hear these complaints in order that no injustice shall be done the carrier, and if on the prima facie showing of the shipper the commission shall be satisfied that the proposed rate is an improper one, it shall have power to continue the old rate until the complaint has been heard and determined. "Presumably you know, ladies, that the proper paper nowadays is limes. Curves are passed. You have got to take off your fat. This must be done in one of three ways. By dieting, by exercise, or by means of Marmola Prescription Tablets. The two former will keep you busy for months and punish you pretty severely. The latter will cost you 75 cents a year. It will be recalled, for instance, that just before the Panama revolution, when there were certain strained relations with Venezuela and Colombia, it was deemed advisable to send two army officers through these countries on a confidential mission. At that time it would have been most inexpedient to have revealed this fact, or to have made public an itemized account of their expenses, although now conditions have so changed that no harm would be done. Neither would it be deemed expedient to render to congress an account as detailed as to show, for instance, "Items—One package of Turkish cigarettes for use of German army officer attending American army maneuvers, twenty-five cents," and similar trifling expenses of a like nature.

“DOGS KILL MORE DEER THAN WOLVES”

SUCH IS THE BELIEF OF A MARQUETTE MAN FAMILIAR WITH FOREST CONDITIONS.

GAME LEGISLATION DISCUSSED

World Prohibit Taking Canines Into the Woods—Other Restrictive Hunting Measures Advised.

That the revised game laws, which are expected to be adopted by the state legislature at the present session, should contain provisions forbidding the taking of dogs into the woods at all seasons of the year, prohibit the use of decoys to frighten deer, reduce the number of deer that may be killed to one, provide for both gun licenses and deer licenses and require deer licenses to be taken out in the county in which the hunting is done, is the belief of a Marquette hunter, whose business takes him into many of the best deer haunts of the upper peninsula at all seasons of the year.

“The dogs that are taken into the woods by hunters kill a good many more deer than wolves,” is the statement made by this man. “Downstate hunters, especially, bring spaniels, shepherd dogs, and other so-called harmless curs into the woods during the deer season, and with their aid bag more deer than can any honorable sportsman. These dogs are put in the swamps, which have been surrounded by the hunters, and their barking drives the deer out, where they can easily be shot. The method of hunting deer should be put a stop to.

How Decoys Are Used.

“Many non-resident hunters use cow bells, whistles and other decoys to frighten deer out of cover. This is not legitimate sport and should be forbidden by law. I know of one case where a hunter stole a bell from the neck of a cow belonging to a homesteader to use for this purpose. The hunters go into the swamps with these noisemaking contrivances, and chase the deer into the open. When the animals stop to listen and find out what is pursuing them, it is an easy matter for the hunter to make his kill.

“It would be a good idea to limit the number of deer that a hunter can kill in a season to one, but I do not think much of the proposal to limit that deer to one with horns. It is almost impossible to tell a doe's ears, oftentimes, from the horns of a spike-horned buck. By making everyone take out a gun license, and so keeping the guns in the hands of responsible parties, the dangers of deer hunting would be largely obviated. If licenses had to be obtained in the county in which the hunting is done, the game warden would be in much better position to catch violators of the law.

How Deer Are Sold.

“I am told on good authority that non-resident hunters who are not able to get a deer themselves, buy one from men who make it a business to kill and sell them. This is often done by a pre-arranged plan something like this: The native woodsman goes into the forest and kills a deer. The amateur hunter suddenly comes into view and puts his tag on the slain animal. The man who killed it then comes on the scene, and accuses the city hunter of stealing his deer, but agrees to say nothing about it for a consideration of $25, more or less. The would-be hunter gladly forks over his cash in order to have the glory at home of having killed a deer, and the animal is shipped away. In this manner some woodsman, I believe, slay a good many deer every season.

NEW TWO-CENT STAMPS HERE.

First of Series of 1908 Received at the Marquette Postoffice.

A consignment of the new issue of two-cent United States postage stamps has been received at the Marquette postoffice, and other denominations of the new design will be obtained as fast as the supply of the former issue becomes exhausted. The new series is known as “the series of 1908,” and contains 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 8, 10, 15, 50-cent and $1 denominations. The $2 and $5 stamps of the old series have been discontinued.

The subject of the one-cent stamp is the head of Benjamin Franklin in profile from the reverse of the one-cent stamp of the former series. All the other denominations bear the head of Washington in profile from the reverse of the one-cent stamp of the former series. The border designs of all the denominations are identical, the head being an ellipse on end with laurel leaves on either side of the ellipse. Above the head are the words “U. S. Postage,” below it, the denomination. The size and shape of the stamps are the same as of the series now commonly in use.

The colors of the new series of stamps are, in the most used denominations, the same as those of the former series, the different denominations being of the

MARQUETTE BOY HOME FROM SUNNY ALBERTA

RAY BELL, NOW A FARMER IN THE CANADIAN NORTHWEST, TELLS OF LIFE AND CONDITIONS IN THAT COUNTRY.

Ray Bell returned yesterday from the Canadian Northwest, where he owns three-fourths of a section of farming land, near Nanton, in southern Alberta. This former Marquette young man has lived in that country for four years, and this is his third trip home. He will remain here a month or six weeks.

“Business conditions in the Canadian Northwest are generally good, and the country has by no means reached the zenith of its possibilities,” said Mr. Bell last evening. “While most of the land in Alberta near a railroad has already been taken up, there is much fine farming country farther back that is bound to be developed in the near distant future. Then the floating population of the country is now tiring of the region and are selling out their partly improved claims at low figures. When once all the farms are owned by people who intend to make that land their permanent home, land values are going to sharply advance.

“It was forty-eight below zero when I left Alberta, but since then warm weather has come and taken away a most of the snow. The summers and autumns are ideal and I never lived in a country where there were so many nice days during the year.

A Prairie Wheat Country. “Fall wheat is the chief crop raised in the locality of my farm. The soil is a fertile prairie, but wooded hills are not far distant. Farther north, near Edmonton, the land is more rolling and is better adapted to general farming. There is a great deal of swamp land there, however, which is of little value, except as a breeding place for mosquitoes. As a place to live, I prefer Alberta, although I have never visited the Edmonton country. Partridge and ducks are numerous in Alberta and trout abound the streams of the hills.

“The average yield of wheat in southern Alberta is about thirty bushels per acre, although as much as sixty bushels per acre was raised last season. I got seventy-three cents per bushel on the ears for the wheat I sold last year. It was shipped to commission men at Winnipeg, and then to Fort William and Port Arthur. Oats are also raised to some extent. Very little spring wheat is raised.

“The least that the Canadian Pacific is willing to pay for now is $16 an acre. A desirable land is worth from $20 to $30 an acre. There is no great difference in price between raw land and that which has been broken with the plow. It takes a good deal of power to plow the original prairie soil, but it turns up mellow, and afterwards, it is not hard to put the ground in condition for seeding. Steam plows are used to some extent, but most farmers depend chiefly on their horses to draw the plows.

“A fine class of farmers are settling in southern Alberta. About two-thirds of them are from the states, and the remainder are Canadians. There are at most no foreign homesteaders in that region. The country is a pleasant one in which to live, and I have no notion of giving up my farm property in sunny Alberta.

STATE CIVIL SERVICE LEAGUE ORGANIZED BISHOP WILLIAMS, OF MARQUETTE, CHOSEN AS ONE OF THE VICE PRESIDENTS—A REFORM MOVEMENT.

Bishop G. Mott Williams, of this city, was elected one of the vice presidents of the Michigan Civil Service League, which was organized at Lansing Monday, by Rev. Stannard Baker, the noted writer, as its president. Justice C. B. Grant, formerly of this city, is a member of the executive committee. The organization of the league is largely the outcome of an article, written by Mr. Baker during the last campaign, which received wide publicity, and set forth in a clear, convincing manner the evils of the present political grab bag system.

The object of the league shall be to secure the establishment and maintenance of a system of appointment, promotion and removal in the civil service founded upon the principle that public office is a public trust, admission to which should depend upon proven merits. To this end the league will demand that appointments to subordinate executive offices, with such exceptions as may be expedient, be made by competitive examinations only, such as dishonesty, negligence or inefficiency, but not for political opinion, or refusal to render party service; and the league will advocate other appropriate measures for securing integrity, intelligence, efficiency, good character and due discipline in the civil service.

The promoters of the league point to the fact that Michigan is the only state in the middle west which does not have a merit system for the appointment of state employes.

CARD OF THANKS. We wish to express our heartfelt thanks to all who so kindly assisted and sympathized with us in the death of our beloved husband and father; especially to the members of the Skandia Aid society, the Swedish Croquet society and the Fraternal Order of Eagles, for their interest and numerous kindnesses, and to all who sent floral tributes. MRS. JOHN C. JOHNSON and Children.
