Entered as mail matter of the second class in the postoffice at Marquette, Mich.

No doubt about it. The January thaw is with us.

The usual grist of anti-cigarette bills has gone into the legislative hopper at Lansing.

We have no doubt at all that state civil service would mean something of a shake up, or shake down, at Lansing.

The forthcoming junket will be as large as usual, it is said, but hardly as expensive, for the junketers will this year get only what is coming to them.

If the Wayne county press is any fair index of what is going to happen, the Wayne county delegation will be solidly for Judge Stone to succeed Justice Grant.

The Michigan prisons are filling up. Warden Fuller says, and it's the indeterminate sentence law that is doing it. The board of pardons will have to put on a little more steam.

The Detroit Free Press heads an article, "Judge Stone's Remarkable Equipment for the Supreme Bench." If the article went no farther than the head it would still be a strong endorsement.

Mr. Glazier's lawyer is setting out to prove that the Chelsea bank was closed because Glazier wouldn't give $15,000 to Warner's third term fund. That sounds like some of the stuff that was put out in the last state campaign.

The Daily News, Democratic, of Grand Rapids accuses Governor Warner of being the biggest lobbyist of them all, because he refuses to become enthusiastic over Judge Perkins' candidacy for the supreme bench. According to authentic reports, Governor Warner is not attempting to influence the situation in regard to who will be named to succeed Justice Grant, but if he were wouldn't it be somewhat unreasonable of our Kent county friends to expect him to show any solicitude on their behalf? The governor's only human, you know.

In the case of F. L. Baldwin vs. the Escanaba Liquor Dealers' association and a number of individual saloon men, in which an injunction against a continuation of an alleged boycott is sought, also damages for injury done the plaintiff's business during the past two years, the question of damages, we are informed, will be adjudicated by the court, in case Mr. Baldwin can prove that he is entitled to this redress, and will not be referred to a jury, as the action is in chancery. This fact in connection with the case will greatly increase Mr. Baldwin's chance of getting some substantial result from it, which would be but indifferent if the determination were to be left to a Delta county jury.

The appropriation bill for the geological survey, which has been presented in the legislature, contains a proposition to spend $33,000, coupled with an equal sum to be given by the federal government, in making a topographic map of the state, and it is provided that the $33,000 be made available for completing, as soon as possible, a topographic map of the region between Grand Rapids and Saginaw which it is proposed to cut by a trans-Michigan canal. This project received some discussion a few weeks ago, when an association was organized to further it. State Geologist A. C. Lane has said that the proposed canal is practicable, even if it might not be profitable, as the height of land between the two cities named is but seventy-two feet.

Several abortive attempts have been made in the Wisconsin legislature to secure the passage of a resolution calling for an investigation into the ways and means by which Senator Stephenson won his endorsement by the people for reelection to the senate, but have failed, and it is now on the cards that the senator's re-election will proceed, as per schedule, next week. It is alleged that Senator Stephenson secured his endorsement by improper use of money. We have no doubt that the senator used a great deal of money—the Stephensons were never backward spenders when it came to getting things for themselves—but it is probable that extravagant use of this means to political ends has been confounded in his case with improper use. Anyway there is more politics than solicitude about political morals in the agitation the matter has received in the Wisconsin legislature.

Senator Ming this week introduced another bill relating to the liquor traffic. It is neither a brewers' bill, nor yet one favored by the anti-saloon interests, but Senator Ming's own. It provides that applicants for saloon licenses must file recommendations as to character from six reputable citizens, and that if the applicant is not up to the moral standard set by the board, the application may be refused; any city, village or township may exact an additional license of $500, making the maximum license $1,000; council or township boards can designate saloon districts, limit the number of saloons or shut them out altogether; two violations of the liquor law are to act automatically to debar the offender from the right of being licensed for further conduct of the saloon business. The Anti-Saloon league's "search and seizure" bill has also been introduced. It is not expected that any of the liquor bills will receive attention at once, and the real contest over them is not expected to open until the junkets have been completed.

Back in the days when Yates was governor of Illinois, Lorimer and Yates sent Hopkins to the legislature. Then the firm was Lorimer, Yates & Hopkins. Presently the senior member of the firm, Lorimer, had a falling out with Yates, and the firm was Lorimer & Hopkins. Then in came Deneen, unbidden, and Lorimer, also Hopkins, were kept away from the fleshpots of state patronage. Last year the senior partner of the old firm, Lorimer, took back Yates into his good graces, groomed him as a gubernatorial candidate in the primaries, and sent him forth to do or die. But the old firm was not complete. Hopkins held aloof. His aloofness, as the issue showed, was just enough to make the difference between victory and defeat for Yates—incidentally Lorimer—and Yates was defeated. Now he has Lorimer—incidentally Yates—up to his neck in the attempt to "take it out" of Hopkins, and if he isn't successful he will miss success by but a narrow margin. In short the situation that has arisen in Illinois is the product of personal politics in their highest development. It wasn't the fact that Lorimer wants his revenge, and the added fact that he is as shrewd a political jockey as is to be found in the broad, broad land, Hopkins would have been re-elected on the first ballot.

It is reported that there are many legislators at Lansing waiting to fall behind some leader who will open an attack on the proposal to include in the new direct nominations statute the provision in the old law for a direct vote on the candidates for U. S. senator. Among the remnants of the anti-administration forces in the last legislature circling in the present legislature there is much unanimity in opposing this provision, and it is said that there are some members who are friendly enough to the administration on this point only need aggressive leadership to induce them to break away. The prediction is made that the direct vote on aspirants for the U. S. senate will not be retained without a fight. However, both the Dickinson and Collins bills for the reconstruction of the present law contain provisions covering this point, and in the Dickinson bill the provision as it stands in the present statute is materially strengthened. Governor Warner strongly favors giving the people a direct vote on the candidates for senator, and will make a firm stand for the incorporation in the bill to be passed of a provision to that end. If advocates of such a provision find it necessary to bolster up their hands, they will find "appeal to the people" an effective step to that end. We believe that the voters of Michigan want an advisory voice in the disposition that is made of the senatorial office, and that they will insist on having it, should any desire be shown to deny it to them.

thus keep the supply of venison up to the quantity demanded by the increasing inroads of the hunters. Another matter of moment is whether the present season for brook trout shall be retained, or whether it shall be extended to Sept. 1. There are, in addition, numerous minor points that are being debated, pro and con.

Feb. 16 has been mentioned as the date of the proposed Marquette meeting. The objection is made that it will be too late to permit the conclusions reached to have the desired weight with the legislature. The legislature, however, still has its junketing to do, and would be no more than well settled down to business when the resolutions passed by the conference would reach it. We suppose that the date for the conference was suggested as Feb. 16 in order to permit of interest being aroused, and thus a good attendance secured.

A gathering of representative sportsmen of the upper peninsula ought to be able to frame a statement of what the upper peninsula wants, and needs, in the game law revision that would prove of great value to the legislature, as it did two years ago. If this is not done our sportsmen may find, owing to the contradiction in the various resolutions forwarded from this region, that their desires in the premises will receive much less attention than they would wish them to have.

JUDGE STONE'S REMARKABLE EQUIPMENT FOR THE SUPREME BENCH.

To the Editor: We notice in your editorial column, issue of January 14, 1909, an editorial favoring the candidacy of Judge John W. Stone for justice of our supreme court. As you are doubtless aware Judge Willis B. Perkins, of this city, will also be a candidate for this position before the state convention, which will meet in this city on February 12.

The Grand Rapids bar has, by a practically unanimous sentiment, endorsed the candidacy of Judge Perkins. We believe our judge to be an ideal candidate. He is eminently fitted for the place by reason of his ability, his temperament and his thorough education in the law; these facts, together with the fact that he is in the prime of life, forty-seven years of age, make him truly, an ideal candidate.

We believe that if you will look into this matter thoroughly you will come to the same conclusion we have reached, and we hope that if you do that you will give your candidate the proper space in your paper. With kind personal regards, I am, yours very truly,

W. J. LANDMAN.

Grand Rapids, January 18, 1909.

Just think for a moment of Judge John W. Stone's usefulness to the people of Michigan, in official capacities.

This record of usefulness began almost fifty years ago with a service of four years as county clerk of Allegan county.

This was followed by six years as prosecuting attorney of Allegan and a service on the bench of the Allegan-Otsewa circuit.

Four years in congress as representative of the old Kent district succeeded and then four years as United States district attorney at Grand Rapids. For more than eighteen years Judge Stone has now served continuously as circuit judge of the Twenty-fifth Michigan circuit, residing at Marquette.

A man whose horizon has been widened by a service so exceptional under both the state and federal governments, in capacities that have added materially to his professional equipment, presents material of superior quality from which to make a supreme justice. Forty years ago Mr. Stone was a wise and upright judge in Michigan. More than half of the record that has since been made has been spent by him on the bench.

The desire on the part of admirers that his career shall be rounded out by the further honors of the highest tribunal is a natural one. Years of further usefulness are ahead of him, and his age is creeping upon him. This will be the last opportunity so to honor him.

The candidate who has the endorsement of the Grand Rapids bar no doubt will find his opportunity later. The geographical argument may not be an argument of the highest forces in the selection of members of the court of final jurisdiction, but it has no small vitality when urged against a section of the state which already has representation on the court and in favor of a section whose only representative is about to retire.

Grand Rapids is now represented on the court. Judge Stone's selection is urged to continue the representation of which the upper peninsula will be deprived, in the event that a success to Justice Grant is chosen from some other portion of the state.—Detroit Free Press.

Broke Arm in His Sleep—David Perrow has returned to Schaffer Delta county, from the county hospital where he was confined for several weeks with a broken arm. Perrow was the victim of a peculiar accident. He fell from a second-story window and is believed to have been walking in his sleep. He had a narrow escape from serious injury.

Swedish Lutheran Convention—The annual convention and the regular monthly mission meeting of the Swedish Lutheran churches of the Ishpeming district will be held at Iron Mountain next Tuesday and Wednesday, Jan. 26 and 27. There are twenty-six congregations in the district, and each is entitled to be represented by the pastor and a lay delegate, making a total number of fifty-two.

Horrible Fatality in the Woods—While working at Decker's camp, a few miles from Seney, John Boker was killed in a horrible manner. He was assisting a teamster to get out a log when the iron skidding tongs tore loose from the log. The lower hook of the tongs caught Boker in the abdomen, ripping him open almost to the neck. Boker, lying for some time after the accident, remained conscious to the last and suffering horrible agony. He was thirty years old and had relatives in Wisconsin, where the body has been sent.

Lawyer's Arrest Causes Sensation—A dispatch from Escanaba says: Charles Gallup, a court commissioner and one of the leading attorneys of Escanaba, has been arrested on a criminal charge preferred by a local saloon keeper. The attorney's arrest caused one of the biggest sensations of the year here. Delta county's first grand jury in twenty years is investigating affairs in Escanaba and the county in general. Gross violations of the liquor laws and alleged irregularities in the conduct of the last primary election form the basis for the inquiry.

Old Sawmill in New Hands—Escanaba's standing as a lumber manufacturing center may be materially increased as the result of a deal which has been closed by Fuller & Berg, one of the largest lumber firms of Grand Rapids, for the purchase of the mill which formerly belonged to the Iron Port Lumber company and is located near the Manufacturing company's plant. Word has been received that the deal for the mill has been concluded and that the firm is now negotiating for the purchase of a large tract of timber adjacent to the city.

Got a Coyote Well—A large wolf of the variety known as a coyote-wolf was brought to the county clerk's office at Marquette by Paul Teich of Mellen township and the necessary affidavits for a bounty were made out. The animal is what is known by hunters as a direct cross between the timber wolf and the Western coyote. It was skinned and the skin placed in a box and sent to the county clerk's office. The wolf was found in a place where the wolves had frequented. He found the wolf about a quarter of a mile from where it had swallowed the poison.

Low Water Causing Trouble—"Low water in the river is causing us considerable trouble and we do not expect relief until the spring floods raise the water level and give us more force back of our wheels." This is the statement of President Augustus Spies of the Marinette & Menominee Paper company. Mr. Spies says that at present the mills are running at their usual working forces. The pulp mills are not grinding nearly as much pulp as under ordinary conditions and only three of the four machines of the company are in operation. A well water famine is threatening the mills and a direct change occurs in the weather during the next week or two. Wells that have never been affected by low water are now practically dry. The condition is explained by the drought of last summer and fall when the rainfall was so slight that when cold water in the water was lower than it has been for years. When fall and winter started, instead of being accompanied by several snowfalls and subsequent thaws, practically the ground did not thaw and no water found its way to the wells in this way. No relief is expected by well owners until the spring thaws open up the ground and melt the snow.

What Escanaba Wants—Action was taken on various important matters by the board of directors of the Escanaba Business Men's association at a meeting this week. Among other things it was decided to begin a concerted effort to secure the proposed Michigan fish hatchery; to open negotiations with the Jones Furnace company of Iron Mountain in an effort to induce that corporation to make Escanaba the basis of its operations; to prepare a bill for presentation to the present legislature providing for a systematic state inspection of filtering plants; to lend the enthusiastic endorsement of the association to the candidacy of Judge John W. Stone for justice of the supreme court. A special committee was appointed by President J. V. Moran to take action in each of the matters above outlined.

Believing that Escanaba is the logical peninsula location for the Jones Furnace company, which has recently perfected a new iron smelting process and which it is claimed will revolutionize the industry, the association will make a strong effort to interest the officers of the corporation in Escanaba. The following committee was appointed to undertake the work: J. C. Kirkpatrick, John M. Miller, Attorney J. F. Carey, M. N. Smith and Attorney S. M. Matthews.

The high regard in which Judge John W. Stone is held by the association will be shown in a set of resolutions now being prepared by a special committee appointed for that purpose. The members of the committee are: Attorney S. M. Matthews, M. J. Ryan and Leslie French.

Exciting Time at County Jail—Early the other evening Sheriff Bayliss of the Seney received an urgent telephone message asking him to prepare a cell for an inmate man from Pickford. It was alleged that a strange person had been terrorizing the people two miles east of that place. He had been captured after a desperate struggle. A short time later Bayliss was again called by telephone and somebody at the other end of the wire said when the lunatic passed Donaldson he was raving like a wild man and it was all the officers could do to keep him in the sleigh, although he was handcuffed and tied with ropes.

Bayliss and George Barr, the turnkey, made haste to prepare the cell. The "wonder folk" were frightened. Suddenly a loud knock startled the officers. The door was opened and a tall being wearing a white pig hat and waving his arms like a Holland windmill in a forty mile wind rushed into the room. Bayliss and Barr sprang at him, but as the light fell on his face they staggered back in astonishment. They beheld the stately form of one "Sam" Carlton. Rev. Fred Kim in single file came the Rev. Thomas H. Eastwood, George Blank, Frank Reynolds, A. E. Starke, A. M. Sharpe, James H. McDonald, A. H. Eddy and R. F. Endress, all wearing silk hats.

Sheriff Bayliss came near fainting from surprise when it dawned on him that he was the victim of a lunatic game. The visitors were Masons, all past masters. The sheriff is also a past master. The crowd took possession of the jail without asking permission and made every effort to break in the morning. Cards, cigars and a dinner served by Mrs. Bayliss served to round out the evening's enjoyment.

SWARTHY AMERICANS.

Process of Race Intermixture Here Only Just Begun.

Professor William Z. Ripley's speculation is about the future American types are timely. In his Atlantic Monthly article he declares that among the millions of immigrants and their children in this country the process of race intermixture has been begun. Until this have never mixed appreciably. The process is becoming noticeable in the intermarriage between persons of Italian and Irish extraction, while the Irish women in their general freedom from racial prejudices, their social and household qualities may exercise a profound influence in the blending of bloods that is "sure to assume tremendous proportions." From this blending, upon a scale grander than ever before witnessed, a resultant distinctly American type, or types will undoubtedly appear. The influx of foreigners and their relatively higher birth rate will wholly submerge the native "Anglo-Saxon" stock, though it should not submerge its civilization and ideals. Professor Ripley looks for a physical reversion to a swarthy, black-eyed ancestral type, "running back" to a time before the separation of European varieties of men began." He buttresses his surmise by reference to the law of reversion by crossing highly evolved varieties of plants and animals as follows:

"Many of us are familiar with the evidence; such as reversion among sheep to the primary dark type; and the emergence of the old wild silver fox from the breeding of the faintly silvered fox or other varieties. The same law is born out in the vegetable world, the facts being well known to fruit growers and horticulturists. The most recently acquired characteristics, especially those which are hereditary, are so-called, are sloughed off, and the ancestral features common to all varieties emerge from dormancy into prominence."—New York Times.

Wonderful European Formula

All Forms of Bronchial and Lung Troubles Disappear by Magie's European Sarsaparilla. Beware of cheap imitations.

The grim specter of death lurks in every neglected case of Asthma and Bronchitis. The delicate membrane lining of the air passages becomes irritated and inflamed, and the result is a coughing spell and forms the best breeding-place for consumption germs. Magie's European Sarsaparilla is a powerful remedy, which is prepared from a formula handed down through the ages by the monks of Sancto Paulo in Spain, has proved its wonderful efficiency as a permanent cure for every form of lung trouble with a record of success that has made it famous throughout Europe.

It not only allays the irritation, diminishing and finally stopping the cough altogether, but builds up and strengthens the tissue and acts as a splendid tonic. Even a single bottle has been known to completely cure the disease, though in more stubborn cases and those of long duration, a longer treatment may be necessary.

This is the original remedy and is sold and personally recommended in Marquette by all druggists.

Music and Dancing—Professor William Thon, a pianist, and Arnold Morgan, a singer and dancer, will be at the Grand saloon Saturday and Monday nights. These men are from Saginaw, and are said to be good in their line.

Early Car Service—Beginning next Monday, a street car will leave Front street and Hewitt avenue at 6:20 a. m. for the loop, by way of Hewitt avenue, Spruce and Arch streets, and will arrive at the corner of Front street and Baraga avenue at 6:30 a. m.

Entertainment for Children—A novel entertainment for children will be given this afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Methodist church, under the auspices of the Delta Alpha society. It will consist of children's stories, illustrated by lantern slides. Admission ten cents. All are cordially invited to attend.

Honored at University—Joseph Priemeau, Jr., has been honored by his fellow students at the University of Michigan law school, by being elected a member of the students council of the university. The council represents the students in their relations and business with the faculty, and membership in the council is considered a great distinction.

Sheriff Was Surprised—Sheriff Lehman was surprised by a party of 110 of his Marquette friends Thursday evening, at his residence in the county jail. The party had been skilfully arranged, and the sheriff's surprise was complete. On behalf of the self-invited guests, Rev. Oscar Sandahl presented Mr. and Mrs. Lehman with a set of silverware. Later lunch was served and a most delightful evening was spent.

Basketball Game—The Marquette Rifles and the City team will be seen at the Legion Hall Monday evening. The game will be called at 8:15 p. m. Instead of meeting at the City Hall, the Rifles will go over business affairs at the Legion Hall at 7 o'clock. The line-up is as follows: Rifles, Ferris and Petterson, guards; E. Windolt and Quinn, forwards; T. Windolt, center; City team, Riehardt and Sullivan, forwards; Catlin, center; O'Donnell and Drake, guards. A dance will follow the game.

Spear vs. Hanson Case—The case of F. B. Spear & Sons against Charles Hanson, a North Marquette dairyman, went to the jury late yesterday afternoon, and the jury returned a verdict of $30 in favor of the Spears. The suit was brought for payment for a car of hay sold the defendants in December, 1907, which the Hansons claimed was spoiled and not of the quality agreed upon when the purchase was made. The verdict was virtually a victory for the defendants, as the plaintiffs sued for $180.

Carnation Day—Next Friday is "Carnation Day" and every man, woman and child in the country is asked to wear a carnation on that day. It is the anniversary of the birth of the martyred president, William McKinley, whose favorite flower was the red carnation. The Carnation League of America established Carnation day five years ago and since that time it has been generally observed throughout the United States. The local florists are expected to have a plentiful supply of red carnations on hand for that day.

L. A. O. H. Installation—At a regular meeting of Division No. 3, Ladies' auxiliary of the L. A. O. H., held January 20, Miss Anna Lacy, the county president, was present to conduct the installation of the recently elected officers. She complimented the division for the good work they had done during the past year. At the close of the meeting, Miss Mary O'Neill, in behalf of the division, presented Past President Miss Abbie Fitzhenry with a set of silver tea spoons. The pleasant meeting closed with a lunch in the dining room.

A Victory for M. H. S.—The Marquette High school defeated the Ishpeming High school at basket ball at Legion Hall last evening by the overwhelming score of 53 to 9. The game was so one-sided that it was scarcely interesting, it evidently being the first game that the Ishpeming boys had played. The line-up of the two teams was as follows: Marquette, Penhill, center; Burroughs and Gibson, forwards; Madigan and Wilson, guards; Ishpeming, Markert, center; Steier and Hogan, forwards; Barge and Thome, guards. The hall was crowded with spectators, most of whom remained for the informal dance that followed the game. A good-sized delegation from Ishpeming accompanied the team.

MARKING OF STAMPS IS NOW ALLOWED

POSTMASTER GENERAL ISSUES ORDER AIMED TO PREVENT THIEVING—MUST BE PERFORATED, NOT INKED.

An order of considerable interest, especially to large business houses, has recently been issued by Postmaster General Meyer. The order permits the use of personal marks on postage stamps for purposes of identification, providing that certain explicit instructions are followed. Heretofore, the government has not permitted stamps to be touched in any way, even in so much as to be punctured. Being thus "stamps were mutilated" and consequently useless for postage.

The order is aimed to prevent the practice of stealing stamps from concerns who use large quantities of them. This is a practice from which many business houses have suffered heavy losses and, up to the issuance of the present order, there was no way to identify the stolen property. With no marks on the stamps, it was impossible to tell whether they were stolen or not, and those buying or receiving stamps through the mails were equally ignorant in case of theft. Stamps have an unlimited negotiable value, which was made the most of by those wishing to steal in this manner. Business houses have in some measure avoided losses through leakage of stamps by using stamped envelopes. The same result may now be accomplished by having their own personal mark perforated in the stamp, thereby warning all buyers of stamps and also furnishing a means of tracing the guilty party.

The order as given is as follows: "United States postage stamps to be acceptable for postage, must be absolutely without defacement; provided that for the purpose of identification only, and not for advertising, it shall be permissible to puncture or perforate letters, numerals or other marks or devices in the United States postage and special delivery stamps. The punctures or perforations shall not exceed one-third of an inch in diameter, and the whole space occupied by the identifying device shall not exceed one-half inch square. The puncturing or perforating must be done in such a manner as to leave the stamp easily recognizable as genuine and not previously used. The use of ink or other coloring matter in connection with such puncturing or perforating is prohibited."

THE GROWTH OF FRAUD.

Adulterants Have Multiplied as Result of Scientific Research.

Since Solomon and his forebears declared divers weights and divers measures an abomination, the fraud has grown, and, especially the sophistication of weights and measures by the crafty use of adulterants, was uncontrolled until about the year 1875. In Science of November 6, L. W. Winsor, government chemist at Chicago, essays to point out the reasons for this lack of control.

In the first place, the complexities of demand and of invention in producing commercial articles that can be successfully imitated have increased, and are still increasing. Food, drugs, paints, oils, chemicals, and fabrics have thus become debased. The primitive manufacture at home of butter, lard, and cheese, starch, yarn, and cloths, has been supplanted by mills and factories; this reduced the cost and spared the housewife, but deprived her of a first hand knowledge of the genuineness of such products. Then, too, adulterants have multiplied, many of them being the result of the highest scientific research. Solomon would today be fairly affrighted at the long list of abominations in oils, acids, dyes, preservatives, and kinds of habit-forming drugs employed in modern refinements of cheating in goods.

Before it was curbed and because of its subtleties of invasion, the evil of adulterants wrought its monstrous proportions. The Connecticut experiment station was established in 1875 for official inspection and analytical control of food-stuffs. Since then the cities of the nation and all the civilized nations have built up an imperfect engine of defense against the fraud of adulteration. The old Scriptural rage is at last intelligently directed against the sin in its new guises. Before long it will be as generally condemned and punished as is the infraction of the commandment against stealing.

THE FARMER AND THE WOLF.

This Bold Animal Costly in Some Part of the Country.

Vernon Bailey, of the United States Bureau of Biological Survey, declares wolves and coyote cost the farmers and stockraisers of this country several million dollars a year, and in some of the Northern States threaten the extermination of deer. Wolves, it appears, are especially numerous and destructive in Wyoming, although many are there killed and their scalps presented for bounty.

It has been learned in California, however, that the presentation of coyote scalps is not conclusive evidence that the animals from which they were taken lived, moved and had their being within the confines of the State.

An interesting statement made by Mr. Bailey is that elk are great natural enemies of wolves, and he dwells on this as of "great practical significance" for its bearing on the protection of stock from the ravenous beasts. He quotes with unqualified approval these words from George W. Russ of Eureka Springs, Ark.: "An elk is the natural enemy of dogs and wolves. We suffered great losses to our stock until we learned this fact. Since then we have had no losses from this cause. A few elk to a thousand-acre pasture will absolutely protect the flocks there. Our own dogs are so well aware of the danger in our elk park that they cannot be induced to enter it."—Sacramento Bee.

Miss Yvonne Parisien has been called to her home at Iron Mountain on account of the serious illness of her mother.

President James H. Kaye will spend several days the latter part of next week at the Central Normal school at Mount Pleasant.

The plans for the new central building which will house the Normal are now complete as far as is possible at this time.

The journal of the legislature has been arranged, and we expect that the various committees detailed to the upper peninsula will be here the first week in February.

The Normal school is much indebted to Percy G. Temple of this city for a complete set of the Literary Digest, all carefully bound. Complete sets of magazines are of great value, and this latest acquisition is highly appreciated.

The senior class has decided to present Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night" for the class play during commencement week. The members are hard at work upon the various parts, but the best, last not yet been definitely settled in all cases.

Two basketball games between the girls' and boys' teams of the Normal school and those of the Neegaunee High school were scheduled for this week, but they did not take place for good reasons. It is expected they will occur some time within two weeks.

The society of Ygradal recently challenged Ostris to a basketball game. The two teams are made up of the young ladies in the societies and the game will be played next Thursday afternoon. Admission will be charged and the receipts will go to furnishing the society room.

A large water color drawing of the complete group of five buildings, as they will appear after the construction of the central building, has just been completed at the office of the architects, Charlton & Kueozli of this city. The picture is now being framed and will be hung in the office of the president of the Normal school.

The kitchen of the Normal school has recently received a number of additions to its equipment, which will make the matter of giving entertainments much simpler in future. A dish cupboard was recently installed, ten dozens of cups, saucers and spoons were purchased, and during the week a three-burner gas plate was installed.

Tuesday morning, Assembly exercises were by the pupils of the Seventh grade. Five of the children were chosen to tell stories arranged from the great literary classics, work which is typical of the literary work of this room.

Helen June told the story of Mignon from Goethe's Wilhelm Meister. Rexford De Haas gave "The Fish and the Butterfly," an adaptation of Browning's "Amphibian," the prologue to his "Finn at the Fair," Signi Gilling told "The Faust story," Edsworth Roberts related the adventures of Sigfried as rendered by Wagner in his operas, and Naomi Olson told the dainty story of Browning's Pippa Passes. The work of the children was very enjoyable, as they entered deeply into the sentiment of these beautiful stories and gave them with a truth of expression rarely seen in readers of their age.

Last evening the faculty of the Normal held a reception for the students. They invited, also, as guests of the school, Superintendent and Mrs. Gehrand, the faculty and the members of the senior class of the Marquette High school and Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson of the Business College. The hours were from half past eight to half past twelve.

The guests were received in the large room under the library by President and Mrs. James H. Kaye, Dr. and Mrs. L. Anderson, Miss C. E. Maxwell, Miss Grace Spalding and Miss Flora E. Hill. The receiving room was elaborately decorated in the national colors. Two large festoons of paper in the colors hung from the middle of the ceiling to each side wall, and flags of various nations were draped about the electrolier on the walls. The refreshment room was decorated simply in green, with vases of pink carnations on the tables. Music had been provided for dancing and this occupied the latter part of the evening. Refreshments of sandwiches, coffee and cocoa were served. The serving room readily admitted that he had duped the family for years, that he had made love to Mrs. Rose Vrzal and that he had procured large sums of money from her. He denied strenuously that he had any knowledge of the family being poisoned and continued to maintain his innocence.

He told the police he had concocted "love philtres" and a "regimental" to bring about the marriage of Emma Vrzal, that he had given harmful medicines to the father several times and that he had obtained money from Mrs. Vrzal on a score of pretexts. The bodies of the Vrzal family were exhumed from their graves in the Roman Catholic cemetery and evidence of arsenical poisoning was found in each body. Billik was indicted on six distinct charges of murder and on July 3, 1907, was placed on trial for the murder of Mary Vrzal, daughter of "Jerry" Vrzal, who was the principal witness for the state, told of strange trips made with the fortune teller. He declared he had overheard Billik plotting with Mrs. Vrzal to poison Barbara Billik, the prisoner's mother, to acquire a fortune Billik declared her to possess.

Attempted Asphyxiation Charged. Other witnesses told of an attempt by Mrs. Vrzal to asphyxiate her two young children by locking them in a room, the running from the house while the children were unconscious. He was declared to have boasted of his skill with poisons and of having administered medicine to the Vrzals. The prosecution was unable to prove that the man ever had purchased poisons or was known to have them in his possession. Billik on the witness stand admitted that he had duped the Vrzals for years and indicated their credulity to have been illimitable. He told of taking trips to California and Saratoga, at his own expense, to search for "magic herbs" to use in his charms. Billik asserted he had obtained less than $2,000 from Mrs. Vrzal and declared his belief that Mrs. Niemann, the eldest daughter of the family, could explain the cause of her sisters' deaths. The woman later was accused of the poisonings by champions of Billik.

On July 18 he was found guilty and sentenced to death, the execution being set for Oct. 12. Rev. P. J. O'Callaghan, pastor of St. Mary's Roman Catholic church, while visiting prisoners in the county jail, became impressed with the belief that Billik was not guilty and took the lead in the determined struggle to procure a new trial for the man. The priest appealed to the public for funds to carry the case to the supreme court, and on Oct. 8 Judge Barnes granted Billik his first respite, that the case might be taken before the higher tribunal. On Nov. 2 he again was respited, and on Nov. 6 the supreme court issued a writ of error which took the case under consideration.

On Feb. 19, 1908, the supreme court refused Billik a new trial, and he again was sentenced to hang, April 24 being fixed as the date. Two weeks before the date Father O'Callaghan procured from "Jerry" Vrzal an affidavit completely exonerating Billik from the testimony given by him at the trial. He asserted that Inspector of Police Shippy, who since has become chief of police, and two assistants of the state's attorney, had induced him to give false testimony against Billik. The damaging effect of the young man's affidavit was indicated by affidavits from six of the jurors in the trial, who declared they would not have voted to convict Billik save for the testimony of the youth.

A special session of the State Board of Pardons, with Governor Deneen presiding, then was called in Chicago. Mrs. Attorney Healy protested against a new trial, declaring that the boy had told the truth in the first trial. A retrial was urged by former Mayor Dunne and the lawyers. The board met on Feb. 13 and on April 20 Billik was granted a respite by Governor Deneen until June 12.

Prisoners Pray for Him. Mass meetings were held to urge clemency or a new trial for Billik and one Sunday six hundred prisoners in the county jail united in prayer that he might be freed. Two days before the date set for the execution it was announced that the board of pardons had refused to interfere. Preparations for the hanging of Billik were begun and on the morning of June 12 the man had been prepared for death when Federal Judge Landis again stayed the execution by granting him the right of appeal to the United States Supreme Court. In granting the writ the judge declared his belief that the plea before the supreme court would be futile. While the case was pending in the United States Supreme Court, friends of Billik had the body of Henry Niemann, the father-in-law of Mrs. Emma Vrzal Niemann, exhumed and a coroner's jury declared the man had died as a result of poisoning. No action was, however, taken against Mrs. Niemann.

On October 19 the United States Supreme Court rejected the plea of Billik's attorneys and the case was dismissed from its records. The convicted man's lawyers then made their last stand, contending that as the date fixed for his execution had passed, therefore he was legally dead and must be released from custody. The contention was denied by Judge Barnes and on November 17 he again sentenced Billik to be hanged.

URGES THE CONSERVATION OF NATURAL RESOURCES.

Is the Fundamental Question Before This Nation, Declares President Roosevelt in a Message to the Congress.

Washington, Jan. 22.—The president's message on the conservation of the natural resources was read before both houses of congress today. The reading of the document came at the close of the proceedings in each body, and there was but a small attendance of senators and representatives. In part, the message was as follows:

"I transmit herewith a report of the National Conservation Commission, together with the accompanying papers. It is one of the most fundamentally important documents ever laid before the American people. It contains the first inventory of its natural resources ever made by any nation. The facts set forth constitute an imperative call to action. The situation they disclose demands that we, neglecting for a time, if need be, smaller and less vital questions, shall concentrate an effective part of our attention upon the great material foundations of national existence, progress, and prosperity. The report is proof that the conservation of our resources is the fundamental question before this nation, and that our first and greatest task is to set our house in order and begin to live within our means."

"The policy of conservation is perhaps the most typical example of the general policies which this government has made peculiarly its own during the opening years of the present century. The function of the government is to protect the rights of its citizens, now and hereafter, their rights to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. If we of this generation destroy the resources from which our children would otherwise derive their livelihood, we deprive them of the land to support a population, and so either degrade the standard of living or deprive the coming generations of their right to life on this continent. If we allow great industrial organizations to exercise uncontrolled control of the production and the necessities of life, we deprive the Americans of today and of the future of industrial liberty, a right no less precious and vital than political freedom."

Must Control Monopolies. "The unchecked existence of monopoly is incompatible with equality of opportunity. The reason for the exercise of government control over great monopolies is to equalize opportunity. We are fighting against privilege. It was made unlawful for corporations to contribute money for election expenses in order to abridge the power of special privilege at the polls. Railroad-rate control is an attempt to equalize opportunity for all men affected by rail transportation; and that means all of us. "We are building the Panama canal; and this means that we are engaged in the giant engineering feat of all time. We are striving to add in all ways to the benefits of the great waterway of our country. We are striving to hold in the public hands the remaining supply of unappropriated coal, for the protection and benefit of all the people. We have taken the first steps toward the conservation of our natural resources, and we are especially anxious to see the improvement of our waterways. All these efforts are integral parts of the same attempt, the attempt to enthrone justice and righteousness, to secure freedom of opportunity to all of our citizens, now and hereafter, and to set the individual citizen in a position of equality of opportunity with every individual, class or group."

"The tasks this nation has to do are great tasks. They can only be done at all by our citizens acting together, and they can be done best of all by the common sense application of homely common sense. The application of common sense to common problems for the common good, under the guidance of the principles upon which this republic was based, and by virtue of which it exists, spells perpetual liberty for its citizens, and freedom of opportunity in the pursuit of happiness for the plain American, for whom this nation was founded, by whom it is preserved, and through whom alone it can be perpetuated. "The plain citizen, the plain party, the plain man, higher than class, prejudice, broader than any question of profit and loss—there is room for every American who realizes that the common good stands first."

"I urge that the broad plan for the development of our waterways, recommended by the Inland Waterways Commission, be put in effect without delay. It provides for a comprehensive system of waterway improvement extending to all the uses of the waters and benefits to be derived from their control, including navigation, the development of power, the extension of irrigation, the drainage of swamp and overflow lands, the prevention of soil wash, and the purification of streams for water supply. Meritorious projects, in known conformity with the general outlines of any comprehensive plan should proceed at once. The cost of the whole work should be met by direct appropriation if possible, but if necessary by the issue of bonds in small denominations."

"It is especially important that the development of water power should be guarded with the utmost care both by the national government and by the states in order to protect the people against the overgrowth of monopoly and to insure to all a fair share in the benefits which will follow the development of this great asset which belongs to the people and should be controlled by them. I also urge that provision be made for both protection and more rapid development of the national forests, for these forests by the people must be checked or their protection against fire must be dangerously weakened."

"The ownership of forest land is a public trust. The man who would so handle his forest as to cause erosion and to injure stream flow must be not only educated, but he must be controlled. The report of the National Conservation Commission says: "Present tax laws prevent reforestation of cut-over land and the perpetuation of existing forests by use. An annual tax upon the land itself, exclusive of the timber, and a tax upon the timber which cut is well adapted to actual conditions of forest investment and is practicable and certain. It is far better that forest land should pay a moderate tax permanently than that it should pay an excessive revenue temporarily and then cease to yield at all."

"The remaining public lands should be classified and the arable lands disposed of to home makers. In their interest the timber and stone act and the commutation clause of the homestead act should be repealed, and the desert-land law should be modified in accordance with the recommendations of the public lands commission. The use of the public grazing lands should be regulated in such ways as to improve and conserve their value. Rights to the surface of the public land should be separated from rights to forests upon it and to minerals beneath it, and these should be subject to separate disposal. The coal, oil, gas, and phosphate rights still remaining with the government should be withdrawn from entry and leased under conditions favorable for economic development."

TRADE IS EXPANDING SLOWLY BUT STEADILY

While Conservatism Still Rules, There Is More Confidence in Placing Orders and Operations Are Gradually Enlarging.

New York, Jan. 22.—Bradstreet's to-day says: "Trade is expanding slowly but steadily, the wholesale and jobbing lines noting some good orders for immediate delivery and rather more confidence in placing orders for spring. Conservatism is, however, noted in many sections, and some markets report a feeling of disappointment at the rate of progress making. In the leading industries the tendency is still toward gradual resumption. Uncertainty as to tariff changes is still vividly mentioned as a bar to the fullest activity, this being noticeable especially in iron and steel, where the present demand is below expectations, and in some lines of textiles."

R. G. Dun & Co. will tomorrow say in their weekly review: "The development in trade is slow but steady. The larger payrolls in the manufacturing centers naturally help retail distribution, but there is still much restriction, though the underlying conditions are firmly maintained because of the reduced stocks in retailers' hands. The prospect of a change in the customs revenue laws naturally curtails the operations in a number of important industries, and many enterprises that would add materially to the volume of business are held in check until there is definite knowledge regarding the provisions of these laws."

The continued low water restricts the operation of some New England paper and other mills. The movement of cotton continues large, and the prices are firmly maintained. In the West, factors in important industries are still operated short of full capacity, but additional help is constantly employed, enlarging the output very gradually."

Quiet conditions prevail in iron and steel and no transactions of importance are noted. Fair orders are received in some of the smaller plants, but much of this business is said to be obtained through moderate concessions in prices. Cast iron pipe is the most active department of the iron market. The consumption of copper is not keeping pace with the record production, and the prices are declining in consequence."

The manufacturers of cotton goods are displaying more independence than for some time past, partly owing to the firmness of the raw material, but principally as a result of the marked improvement in the China trade. In the home market, heavy goods are more active, and the prices are firm. Many of the wool lines, except fine fancy wools, have been opened, the number of buyers operating is still small and the prices have not been definitely settled."

The total bank clearings compiled by Bradstreet for the principal cities of the United States the past week were $3,299,261,000, against $2,719,704,000 for the corresponding week of last year.

NET LOSSES PREDOMINATE. Strength of U. S. Steel Not Shared by General List of Stocks.

New York, Jan. 22.—The narrow dimensions of the stock market was its principal feature today. The movement of United States Steel attracted a good deal of attention, owing to hopes that the usual strong sympathetic movement of this stock's action on the general list would prove effective in reviving the market.

Yesterday's two point rise in United States Steel did, in fact, have the effect of bringing in some orders, the result being a spread in the price of 1/4 at the opening, on an extreme advance of 1/2. This carried it within a shade of 55, where it hesitated, owing to the very large selling orders awaiting it at that point. At 55 the first sale was of 10,000 shares, and large sales followed. The preferred stock advanced to 115, which is the record price, the previous record of 114 1/2 having been made in November last. The sinking fund bonds of the corporation are ruling also at about their highest price.

There was no definite news to account for this movement. The assertion that some large orders for steel rails were coming in from the railroads were denied by officials of the company. The report that an agreement had been reached in congress to limit the amount of the proposed reduction of the tariff on steel was of such character as to be incapable of verification or disproof. For this reason, probably, the movement failed to awaken the customary response in the general list. Some railroad equipment stocks which are large consumers of steel products showed some sympathy. Quite a varied list of industrial specialties rose briskly on the newly awakened activity, for the most part unexplained by any news.

The forecast of the week's currency movement was modified by the interest in the gold movement. The influx of currency is on so large a scale as to leave the problem for the banks one of finding employment for their resources rather than of conserving reserves. Although the banks have made some large payments to the sub-treasury during the week on return of government deposits in compliance with the call of the secretary of the treasury, the sub-treasury operations as a whole have contributed $3,842,000 to the banks.

This state of affairs is not deemed of hopeful importance to the progress of the business activity, and the prices of stocks were inclined to yield after the publication of the cash estimates. The result was a show of losses at the end of the day, except in notable cases of strength.

KEEPS SOME NAMES SECRET. President Gives Information as to Use of War Deficiency Fund.

Washington, Jan. 22.—President Roosevelt today sent to the senate a response to Mr. Foraker's resolution calling upon the secretary of the treasury for an itemized statement of the expenditure of the $3,000,000 war fund.

The reply reached the senate in the form of an executive document. It purports to be a complete answer as far as the use of the war deficiency fund is concerned, but some of the names of persons to whom payments were made are withheld. In the message, which was read in secret session, the president says that if these names are desired, he will furnish them to the committee on military affairs.

The Foraker resolution was agreed to in executive session, and the reply thereto would ordinarily be sent to the senate in open session, no senator was inclined to take the responsibility of criticizing Mr. Roosevelt's course in keeping the information secret. Many on the committee on military affairs, he has opportunity of obtaining the statement in detail. He was not present when the reply of the president to his resolution was received.

UNION PACIFIC HELD GUILTY. Must Make Reparation for Alleged Unlawful Discrimination.

Washington, Jan. 22.—The Union Pacific railroad is declared to have been guilty of unlawful discrimination, in a decision announced today by the interstate commerce commission in a case involving the rate of elevator allowances, and in which various grain companies sought reparation from the road. With respect to the shipments involved the tariff provision requiring the return to the shipper of unrefused cars within forty-eight hours as a condition precedent to the payment of allowance, is held unlawful. The commission says that the road, though declining to pay this to the complainants, made allowance to competitors. Reparation aggregating $12,524 and interest were allowed.

PLANT INTELLIGENCE. How the Indian Telegraph Plant Goes to Sleep.

There is probably no question of modern times which has so fascinated the thinking world as the pronouncement of Professor Darwin on plant consciousness at the opening meeting of the British association in September. The great botanist, discoursing on his researches in connection with certain vegetable phenomena, committed himself to the startling statement that "we must believe that in some degree there exists a faint copy of what we know as consciousness in ourselves."

Among the writers who have taken up the theme is S. Leonard Bacon, contributing to the Pall Mall Magazine. Mr. Bacon says:

"Certain species of plants, it is noticed, evidence a definite sleep movement; this is especially to be seen among the members of the great leguminous or pod-bearing tribe. The leaflets of the scarlet runner, Professor Darwin pointed out, while appearing to be more or less horizontal by day, sink down at dusk. Even more striking is the Indian telegraph plant (Desmodium gyrans), another leguminous species, which sleeps in a very obvious fashion. The leaflets of this plant, which lie flat out quite distinctly from one another during the day, fall down at dusk to such an extent that the specimen appears to be in a most desolate condition. Now these movements are traceable to the action of the falling light on the leaves, but the point upon which Professor Darwin insisted is this: If a plant which normally drops its leaves at the stimulus of darkness, and raises them at the action of light, is placed in a totally dark room, the daily changes still continue to go on in very much the same style, for a time, at any rate. At about the hour of sunset the leaves droop, while when the morning light returns to the outer world the foliage is raised up in the ordinary fashion. In fact, the cells of the plant may be said to remember that which they have been in the habit of doing for so long, and thus to bring about a continuance of the movement, even though the original stimulus is no longer existent. The conclusion is a curious one when considered side by side with the fact that even with the wisest of us it is only the "bridge of memory" which enables us every morning to span the period of unconsciousness passed through during the night.

The way in which trees will twist their stems in order to avoid contact with an obstacle is well known to all students of forest life.

"A little fern which the writer had in his possession for some time offered one of the most remarkable instances of plant intelligence that have come under his notice. The pot in which the fern was planted was standing in a saucer which always had a little water in it. It may be assumed that the plant did not get quite as much moisture as it wanted, so it started to send down a few roots on the outside of the pot, extending these until the water in the saucer was reached."

GRAND PAGEANT OF DOLLS. Scenes Conspicuous for Their Realism and Artistic Grouping.

A silent but wonderful pageant was shown last week at Tutin street, Westminster, England. The actors and actresses were all dolls.

The doll pageant was a brilliant inspiration on the part of the committee of the Shauhin House of Rest of the Girls' Friendly Society, and was organized by Miss Mary Williams. The pageant was a most artistic and interesting scene, and the dolls were dressed in the most realistic and beautiful costumes.

The Duchess of Albany opened the pageant and Mrs. Arbuckle, the president, spoke a few words of thanks to all who have helped in the organization. The historical groups of dolls covered the whole area of English history, and were most artistically realistic.

Beginning with a group of Druid priests preparing to sacrifice a British maiden, with Julia Caesar, the queen, seated to the present king and queen opening parliament, there was not an epoch of English history left unrepresented.

The groups were most cleverly constructed on miniature stages, with real "back-scenes" and "wings." These were for the exterior "episodes" but there were some charming indoor scenes.

Henry VIII cut a magnificent figure as he is presented to his wife, Jane Seymour, the deeds of Elizabeth I. were shown, and the life of Mary Queen of Scots—the murder of Rizzio—was a terrible realistic.

The first prize was gained by an episode representing "Mrs. Elizabeth Fry Visiting Female Prisoners in Newgate." The historical groups of dolls covered the whole area of English history, and were most artistically realistic.

THE FUNCTION OF TOYS. One of the best informed men in the toy business predicts that within a few years most of the stores that now sell toys chiefly during the holiday season will carry them all the year. Perhaps no industry has developed faster in recent years than that of making, importing and selling toys. Parents and educators seem to be awakening to the big educational fact in regard to toys and their bearing upon the child's development. It is coming to be understood that toys are more than mere amusements—that they are to children what literature, travel, art, business and social life are to grown people. The child learns to deal with things first in idea, which the toy represents—animals, men, women, babies, soldiers, engines, trains and so on. These things, because he can grasp a comprehensive idea of their external nature and relationship mean more to him than the real thing would mean. He can understand a toy horse and wagon better than he could a $3,000 Clydesdale, and because he can understand it it is worth more to him. And it means as much to him in September as it does the day after Christmas. The active and imaginative child mind needs to be acquiring its general impression of the things of the world, and there is absolutely nothing on earth that will take the place of toys in his wholesome mental development. It is the comparative recent recognition of this psychological fact that has given such a notable impetus to the toy industry.—Collier's.

THREE MILES OF STREETS BUILT

IN MARQUETTE LAST YEAR, ACCORDING TO FIGURES COMPILED AT THE CITY HALL.

HALF ORDERED BY COUNCIL

Remainder Was Constructed by Vote of Street Commission, or at Request of Taxpayers.

There have been about three and one-half miles of streets built or rebuilt in this city during the past year at a cost of $26,900.84, according to figures which have been compiled at the office of the street, park and cemetery commission.

Nearly half of the total amount spent in building streets was expended in the construction of the West Washington street extension, from Lincoln avenue to the city limits, a distance of about a mile.

Streets Improved and Cost. The following is a list of the streets improved by order of the street commission and the cost of each improvement:

- Crescent street, from Front to Pine, $829.29. Front street, from Ridge to Hewitt, $1,468.42. Presque Isle avenue, from Fair to Center, $1,218.57. Presque Isle avenue, from Center to Wright (not completed), $941.58. Washington street, from Front to Lake, $726.26. Washington street, from Seymour to 375 feet west of Lincoln, $1,762.16. Fifth street, from Baraga to Rock, $646.58. Mather street, from Third to Fourth, $314.29. The following streets were built or rebuilt by special assessment, the cost of the improvement being paid by the abutting property owners: Walnut street, from Arch to Hewitt, $1,921.69. Harrison street, from Lee to Seventh, $1,111.64. Street macadamized for L. S. & I. Railway Co., near Island Beach, $1,292.31. Seventh street, from Spring to Baraga, $448.80. Division street, from Jackson to Blumhuber, $460.80. Sixth street, from Spring to Fisher (not completed), $909. The last three streets named were not built by the street department, but under contract. Besides the Washington street extension already mentioned, the street department built, at the order of the council, 1,033 feet of Spring street, between Fifth and Seventh. This was ordered for the benefit of the fire department. About one acre, or to be exact, 47,918 square yards of streets were macadamized last year in this city. The total length of the streets macadamized last year is 12,142 feet, or over three miles. The average cost for the total amount of streets constructed was between fifty-four and fifty-five cents a square yard. The Washington street extension cost slightly over eighty-six cents a square yard, as that the average cost of the macadamizing done, exclusive of the Washington street extension, was about forty-five cents a square yard. All but three of the streets were built by the city street department at a lower figure than was offered by any contractor. The three jobs of street building, which were done by contract, were let to Eric C. Johnson, at figures nearly the same as the estimate of the street commission.

WANT AN ACCOUNTING.

T. G. Sullivan and Tim Tarsney Geisler, Order of Injunction at Flint. A Flint dispatch says: Circuit Judge Wisner has granted a temporary injunction restraining the Flint & Saginaw railway from disposing of or encumbering any of its property. The injunction was asked by Thomas G. Sullivan and Timothy E. Tarsney of Detroit, officials of the Detroit, Flint & Saginaw railway who also ask that an accounting be made by those in charge of the new road and by Isaac Applebaum of Detroit. It is claimed an agreement was made between Tarsney, Sullivan and Applebaum to whom the old road was indebted for $69,000, that he take the $147,000 of bonds given as security, reorganize the company, keep a sufficient amount for himself to pay the debt due him and for his expenses and turn the remainder back to Tarsney and Sullivan. They made a demand for their interest a few days ago. It is said, and were told that they had none. The bill was led by three of the leading legal firms of Detroit.

There will be a sale of home-made cakes, pies, doughnuts and bread at the Morgan Memorial Chapel at 1:30 this afternoon. (1-23-1d)

HIGH TRIBUTE PAID TO JUDGE STONE

BUSINESS MEN OF ESCANABA ENDORSE HIS CANDIDACY FOR SUPREME BENCH REGARDLESS OF PARTY TIES.

The business men of Escanaba have paid a high tribute to Judge John W. Stone, by endorsing his candidacy for the supreme bench without reserve and regardless of party affiliations. At a recent meeting of the Business Men's association of that city, the following resolutions were enthusiastically and unanimously adopted: "Whereas, Honorable John W. Stone of Marquette, Michigan, is a candidate for the nomination for justice of the supreme court of this state; and whereas, he has for the past eighteen years filled with great credit to himself and satisfaction to the people, the responsible position of judge of the twenty-fifth judicial circuit of Michigan, comprising the counties of Delta, Marquette, Menominee, Dickinson and Iron; "It is Therefore Resolved, That the Escanaba Business Men's association endorse, and it does hereby endorse, with all reserve and regardless of political affiliations, the candidacy of Honorable John W. Stone for the nomination for justice of the supreme court. S. M. MATTHEWS, LESLIE FRENCH, M. J. RYAN. Committee of Escanaba Business Men's Association."

CLOSED DEER SEASON.

Suggested for That Part of Marquette County North of D, S. S. & A. R'y.

It is reported from Lansing that the suggestion has been made to have a closed deer season for five years in that part of Baraga and Marquette counties, north of the D, S. S. & A. railroad track. The Baraga county sportsmen are reported to be strongly in favor of such a plan, but the feeling of the Marquette county hunters toward such a plan has not been ascertained. It is said that bills are being introduced in the legislature almost every day, providing for a closed season in counties in the lower peninsula, which will naturally increase the number of hunters coming into this district.

AT THE CHURCHES.

German Lutheran church—Rev. Mr. Stromer, of Marquette, will preach at the church Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Methodist church—Mr. Maywood will preach tomorrow upon the theme "Dream Life." In the evening his sermon will be the second of the series which he is preaching on the Old Testament heroes, the theme being "A Warrior Without a Sword." Presbyterian church—Morning subject, "Three Views of Religion;" evening service at 7:30, subject of sermon, "The Bible and Science, the Creative Week," being the third in a series on "Bible Difficulties." St. Paul's Church—Holy communion at 7:30 a. m.; choral celebration of holy communion at 10:30 a. m.; evening prayer at 4 p. m. The new organ will be used for the first time tomorrow morning, and will be presided over by C. J. Shadick.

RESOLUTIONS OR RESPECT.

Whereas, In His all seeing wisdom He has pleased the Almighty God to remove from our midst our well beloved brother and fellow citizen, John C. Johnson, and Whereas, Mr. Johnson has always had close to his heart the object for which this body is organized, to render aid and assistance to our worthy sick brothers and families, be it Resolved, That the Swedish Crown society voices its loss to this organization in the death of John C. Johnson, and that, as members of the same order extend to the bereaved family our sincere and heartfelt sympathy in this hour of their sore bereavement; and be it further Resolved, That we drape our charter for a period of thirty days, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to his family, and that they be published in The Mining Journal. Unanimously adopted at a meeting of the Swedish Crown society No. 2, S. F. S. of A., held on Tuesday, January 19, 1909. C. F. RYDHOLOM, WM. NELSON, ROBERT NYGREN, Committee.

"WITH EVERY GIFT SHE GAVE HERSELF"

THIS WAS ONE OF THE MANY TRIBUTES PAID TO LATE MRS. SAMUEL MATHER, OF CLEVELAND.

The article from the Cleveland Plain Dealer, quoted below, shows the high esteem in which the late Mrs. Samuel Mather, whose husband has extensive business interests in Marquette, was held by the people of that city: "Mrs. Samuel Mather died Tuesday forenoon at the Mather residence, Shorely, Lakeside boulevard. "Although Mrs. Mather had been in poor health for some time her death was a shock to her friends and co-workers in the charitable and educational institutions with which she was actively connected. It had been planned that she should go in January to the Riviera, where her son, Amasa Stone Mather, who has been for some time in Africa, was to join her. It was found necessary, however, to give up the trip and resort to a second surgical operation, which was performed at Lakeside hospital. The development of pleurisy brought her death Tuesday morning. "Mrs. Mather was the younger daughter of the late Amasa Stone, her sister being Mrs. John Hay. Besides her husband, Samuel Mather, head of the firm of Pickands, Mather & Co., she leaves three sons and a daughter, S. Livingston Mather, Amasa Stone Mather, Miss Constance Mather and Philip R. Mather. "There has never been such another woman in Cleveland and there never will be," said Mrs. M. E. Rawson, president of the Day Nursery and Free Kindergarten society, speaking of Mrs. Mather. "There is not a philanthropic organization in the city that will not feel her loss deeply."

MORE RESOLUTIONS AS TO GAME LAWS

MUNICIPAL SPORTSMEN EXPRESS THEIR IDEAS ON THE SUBJECT OF REVISION BY LEGISLATURE. At a recent meeting of the Grand Island Rod and Gun club, of Munising, the following complete and rather radical resolutions were adopted as their idea of how the state game laws should be revised: Sec. 1. That the limit for deer be placed at one and that a deer with horns in the legislature almost every day, providing for a closed season in counties in the lower peninsula, which will naturally increase the number of hunters coming into this district. Sec. 2. That the number of brook trout caught in any one day be limited to twenty-five; unlawful to have more than fifty in one's possession at one time. Sec. 3. That the open season for ruffed grouse be from Oct. 15th to Nov. 30th. Sec. 4. That the number of grouse killed be limited to five in any one day and not more than twenty-five in any one season. Sec. 5. That Sec. 2 of Act 267 be revised by adding the words "All unnaturalized, foreign born residents of this state are to be classed as non-residents." Sec. 6. That Sec. 3 of Act 268 be revised by adding the words, "All unnaturalized foreign born residents of this state are to be considered as non-residents." Sec. 7. That a gun license of $1 be collected from all residents of this state, owning or using a gun or guns, and that this gun license be included, without cost, in all licenses issued to non-residents. Sec. 8. That a rod license of seven-fifty cents be collected from all residents owning or using a rod, line, or net for fishing, and that this license be included in all licenses issued to non-resident fishermen without additional cost. Sec. 9. That the state bounty for wolves be increased to $50. Sec. 10. That the state bounty for wild cats be increased to $5. Sec. 11. That the state bounty for lynx be increased to $10. Sec. 12. That the snaring of rabbits be prohibited. Sec. 13. That the open season for rabbits be from Oct. 1st to Feb. 15th. Sec. 14. That spring shooting of ducks be prohibited. Sec. 15. That the legal length of trout permitted to be taken remain at seven inches. Sec. 16. That the minimum fine for violating the deer laws be fixed at $25. Sec. 17. That the word "dog" be substituted for "hound" in that part of the game law which forbids having hounds in the woods during the deer season. SKATES BOUGHT AND SOLD. Cash paid for second-hand skates.
