Ask Her This Question

"Do you know of any woman who ever received any benefit from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?"

If any woman who is suffering with any ailment peculiar to her sex will ask her neighbors this question, she will be surprised at the result.

During the past 30 years we have published thousands of letters from these grateful women who have been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound...

Houston, Texas.—"When I first began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was a total wreck. I had been sick for three years with female troubles, chronic dyspepsia, and a liver trouble. I had tried several doctor's medicines, but nothing did me any good."

"For three years I lived on medicines and thought I would never get well, when I read an advertisement of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and was advised to try it."

"My husband got me one bottle of the Compound, and it did me so much good I continued its use. I am now a well woman and enjoy the best of health."

"I advise all women suffering from such troubles to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. They won't regret it, for it will surely cure you."—Mrs. Bessie L. Hicks, 819 Cleveland St., Houston.

Any woman who is sick and suffering is foolish surely not to give such a medicine as this a trial. Why should it not do her as much good as it did Mrs. Hicks.

THEATRICAL.

"Little Johnny Jones."

"Little Johnny Jones," George M. Cohan's rollicking musical comedy, will be the attraction at the opera house Feb. 2. This is said to be the original number one "Johnny Jones" company that has met with so much success in all parts of the country. The vogue it obtained in New York was of sufficient quality to carry it over a period of thirty-eight weeks in Gotham town.

Geo. M. Cohan has the happy faculty of composing music and writing plays that appeal to all classes. His first success, "The Governor's Son," is still a potent factor in the amusement world.

The new play effort, "Run, Run, Run for Office," but it was "Little Johnny Jones" that brought him definitely into the glare of the limelight as a successful playwright. Since writing "Little Johnny Jones," Mr. Cohan has finished two other musical plays, one of them for Fay Templeton, entitled "Forty-five Minutes from Broadway," and the other for himself with the fascinating title of "George Washington, Jr.," now in the midst of an exceptionally prosperous season.

In writing a musical comedy, Mr. Cohan generally succeeds in doing what the average author fails in, and that is devising a plot that is discernible without the aid of a searchlight. This is particularly true of "Little Johnny Jones." It tells the story of an American jockey who had been ruled off the track in England for alleged foul riding. The plot as it unfolds also discovers a lottery scheme, international in its far-reaching power, with a detective on the trail of the principals, whom he finally lands after a chase across the ocean and the American continent, in far away San Francisco. There are many thrilling situations and each is environment punctuated with musical numbers galore, and there are of that peculiarly infectious kind described as "Cohanesque." Mr. Cohan not only writes all the dialogue of his plays, but also composes every note of the music and devises the stage "business" — something no other American author has succeeded in accomplishing.

The singing and dancing company which will be seen here in "Little Johnny Jones" contains a large number of players, many of whom have been associated with this organization since its birth. Then, too, there will be the usual swaggar chorus of about 400 men, which thickly punctuate the performance of "Little Johnny Jones."

FOR SAFETY OF SHIPS.

Improvements May Be Made in Lights and Fog Signals on Lake Superior.

United States Secretary of Commerce and Labor Straus has recommended the appropriation of $165,000 for new and improved lights and fog signals on Lake Superior. The secretary advises that $150,000 of this appropriation be expended for a new lighthouse and fog station at Gull Island, the remainder to be used to purchase a modern lens for the Rock of Ages Light station.

Gull Island is a small reef, half a mile from Michigan island, one of the Apostle group. It lies directly in the track of commerce and two vessels, the Corey and the Robert Ireland, have been and it is understood no insurance had been taken out. The news of the fire was first received in Marquette by P. W. Phelps, who called Mr. Underwood by telephone Monday evening to see if the latter was ready to take out insurance on the boilers in the plant.

Annual Meeting.—At the annual meeting of the Marquette club held last evening the old board of directors and officers were elected as follows: President, A. B. Eldredge; president, P. W. Phelps; secretary and treasurer, E. B. Palmer; directors, A. B. Eldredge, E. B. Palmer, J. H. Godwin, A. E. Boswell, Austin Farrell, F. G. Jenks, J. E. Ball, F. J. Jennison and P. W. Phelps. The affairs of the club were reported to be in a flourishing condition, with an increased membership over a year ago, and a balance in the treasury. After the business meeting one of the popular "house nights" with luncheon and music was enjoyed.

Donkers' Proposition Accepted.—At the meeting of the Marquette council of the Knights of Columbus last evening, the proposition of Fred Donkers, offering the lodge a lease of the second story of the block he is to erect on Washington street, was accepted. The rooms will be arranged in the house all wants them. The quarters will be devoted to club purposes, the present lodge hall being retained. The new officers of the council were installed at the meeting last evening, M. H. Kern, district deputy, of Menominee, conducting the work, assisted by Frederick J. DuBucq, also of Menominee. A luncheon and smoker followed the ceremonies, which were very largely attended.

wrecked upon it. Vesselmen have complained about this reef for years. The requested appropriation may not be made by congress immediately, but it is now believed that the improvements asked for will be made in due time.

Many other aids to navigation in Lake Superior have been recommended by the Lake Carriers' association, among which may be mentioned one for Grand Island, namely: that a gas buoy be placed at the southwest point of the island at the intersection of the ranges at the turn to the eastward.

The objection of capital officials to any withdrawal of state land from the market does not surprise those who have sought returns that would block the land speculators' methods, and in doing so have become familiar with the system in vogue, says the Grand Rapids Press. Said a member of the state commission of inquiry:

"The reports from Lansing indicate that department officials are attempting to do a land office business in the log stubble. Their rally against the proposal to withdraw the tax homestead lands from sale and against the idea of making use of them for state forest reserves illustrates what Burke in happy phrase called 'the cohesive power of public plunder'."

"They are of course by their own statement not hostile to forestry, but surely they say, the state should not throw into reserve a big lot of land which they are getting a salary for grinding through the tireless processes of red tape and finally selling for the magnificent average sum of $108 an acre. If this land is withdrawn even temporarily it will put out of business, is their cry. They are not opposed to forestry, but they reserve and the forfeited tax lands continue to be exploited by the timber strippers and land speculators. But the commission of inquiry on tax lands and forestry in its report says:

"These investigations are sufficient to make it apparent that the present system, law and methods are not ideal and that it is advisable to try some radical change which holds forth a reasonable prospect of public benefit from a different use of a method of dealing with the forfeited tax land."

The Hot End of the Poker.

"The commission's investigations disclose that the present law is resulting in large pecuniary loss and even greater injury through the destruction of seed trees and promotion of fire evil and consequent loss of capacity of the cutover regions to reproduce naturally without artificial aid. It is shown that the present law is in no way beneficial to counter-balance in the way of promoting settlement. New settlers there are, but not to any considerable extent, on the state land. There are practically no settlers and had they none there are abandoned before a deed is earned, while much of what is decided is sold to timber dealers for stripping.

"This speculation in lands by coteries of habitual dealers doing a land office business means a great profit to themselves and correspondingly less to the state. Where has the public failed to have handed to it by the land office the state and nation the hot end of the poker? It is not in common speech of synonym of fraud on the public to call a thing a land office transaction? For all its wonderful heritage of soil, fertile, loaded down with timber and minerals, rich beyond conception, what has the nation got, or the state, through the transactions of their respective land offices?

Speculators Reap Huge Profits.

"The land office officials are saying that since 1902 they have received more than a million dollars for lands before thought to be worthless. Evidently they were not worthless. They had value surely, for the timber dealers and land speculators bought three-quarters of what the state has disposed of, paying $1.08 an acre, and they did not consider that they were making a donation to the state. It is common knowledge in all the north that these purchasers reaped a huge profit.

"The investigations of the commission of inquiry merely confirm what was already common knowledge. Its report tabulates the results covering 21,455 acres taken here and there at random in a dozen counties. The sales realized $31,777. On the land was timber of the estimated value of $138,810, five times what the state realized; and the land itself, at a fair appraisal, was worth $91,910, three times what the state received for it—the net loss to the state was $210,740.

Use Enticing Advertisements.

"The very people who are buying this same kind of land are publicly advertising it in big display ads covering whole pages in the Chicago and Detroit daily and Sunday papers at prices never less than $5 and acre for the bare land and from that up to $20 an acre. This, too, right in the same county and lo-

TRAINMEN WANT LEGISLATION.

Paul Tice of the train crew of the Copper Range, running between Houghton and Ontonagon, is back at his old place again for awhile, after an absence of two weeks, which he spent at Lansing, Mich. Tice is secretary of the trainmen's legislative board and expects to spend the next two months at Lansing. The board is interested in having several bills pass the legislature, the most important of which is a personal liability measure, almost identical with the federal act.

MARKETS

NEW YORK STOCKS.

Paine, Webber & Co's correspondent at New York yesterday telegraphed as follows:

The severe decline in Consolidated Gas today precipitated selling in other quarters, and during the early hours the list presented an unsettled appearance. Good support, however, was tendered on the decline, and the recoveries were sharp, particularly in the last half hour which forced advances in a great many cases to above last night's close. The report of December earnings issued by Atchafalaya indicating an increase in net of over $670,000 was favorably received and caused a good demand for that issue. Foreign markets were somewhat unsettled on unfavorable reports regarding the political situation in the Balkans, and Paris was reported as again bidding for gold. The statement issued by Consolidated Gas indicating earnings of less than five per cent earnings were only fair, in the main to be construed as a bullish argument, as under the conditions it is hardly to be expected that the eighty cent gas rate in New York should remain. From the action of the market today we are inclined to look for higher prices tomorrow, and if the Steel statement, which is expected to be issued shortly, is as favorable as expected, should have good effect upon sentiment.

Writing from Boston yesterday, Paine, Webber & Co. had the following to say of the stock market:

"It was apparent soon after the opening this morning that the smoke decision in the Washoe smelter case was not going to have any favorable effect on the market, and the floor traders immediately commenced to sell stocks. Less favorable reports from the mill run at the Superior mine brought in some liquidation of speculative stock, and the people who have been so active in advancing this specialty lately were unwilling to buy any more stock. Pittsburgh was again a seller of North Butte, putting out 1,000 shares between 7:30 and 7:45. Butte Coalition was weak, all the stock sold being taken from New York on a scale down. After midday a little demand sprang up all through the list and prices hardened, but showed no activity. Traders are waiting for the news of some large sales of copper, and will be disposed to buy even if these sales spontaneous had this to say of the wheat market:

"The activity was certainly a relief from the extreme dullness of yesterday. The selling in the end was led by strong La Salle street interests, followed by a number of tired local holders who let wheat go on stop loss orders, and with this was coupled considerable selling pressure from the bear forces in the local trade. There was no active support from the recognized bull leaders who were busy covering a line of short corn. The news situation for the day was about a standoff. The United Kingdom has extremely cold weather and the crop outlook on the continent is not the best. A large element in the local trade has been very bullish for days and when it was found that there was no support from the bull leader the market was forced off very quickly. Conditions are unrelaxed at home and abroad, and we believe in exercising great caution about selling wheat on such a break. We prefer to advise resting orders to take on some long wheat for a possible quick rebound."

JEFF DAVIS DELIVERS IMPASSIONED SPEECH

Evils Attending Gambling in the Products of the Soil by the Sale of Futures Discussed by the Arkansas Senator.

Washington, Jan. 26.—The evils attending gambling in the products of the soil by the sale of futures on exchanges was the subject of a passionate speech delivered by Senator Jeff Davis in the United States senate today. Mr. Davis advocated the elimination of the tax imposed by the state upon the provision of that act were practically similar to those proposed in his bill before the senate. In the latter measure the use of the postal system as well as of the telegraph and telephone were forbidden which he deemed a feasible way to put an end to such transactions. He spoke especially of the harmful effects of the sale of futures on the price of cotton, although his bill had reference to all products of the soil.

"God has blessed the Southland as he has no other portion of this great commonwealth," said Mr. Davis. "He has given us in soil and climate a corner on the production of this great staple, and it is to prevent the gambler from monopolizing it, that I propose that the South, but only of the South, but of the West, as well as of the East, be given a fair share of the benefit of the soil."

"I would to God we had a Caesar in the White House today," he said, "to put an end to the gambling in the products of the soil by the sale of futures on exchanges."

After advocating the passage of this measure, Mr. Davis denounced what he declared to be his "money power" and incidentally touched upon the policy of maintaining a protective tariff as a part of a system which he declared was for the suppression of the right of the people.

Referring to the death of Cæsar, he described the death of Cæsar's love and service for the poor declaring:

"Would to God we had a Caesar in the White House today."

At the conclusion of his narrative of the acts of the Roman emperor in securing laws to suppress usury and in obtaining legislation for the benefit of the poor of Rome followed by his tragic death when "surrounded by the treachery of the money power" these words he uttered pierced his body," Senator Davis said.

"This, sir, is a brief history of Rome and its great reformer, illustrating the terrible fate that lie in the path of any man who seeks to shake loose from the grasp of this government these parasites of wealth, these stock gamblers, these stock jobbers that attempt to control the destinies of the government."

"Al, the money power may be pressing the American people too far. In some evil hour, in some unguarded moment, a match may be touched to the fuse that connects with the hidden mine of discontent and dismay that is planted beneath this republic, and I shudder at the consequences."

A Little Story from New York.

"I read a little story in a New York paper recently, illustrating aptly, I think, the recklessness and wanton disregard of the government, the money power of the government. It is said that a beautiful Italian girl with considerable property married one of her countrymen, believing that he was all that her young heart had pictured him to be. Soon she discovered that she was addicted to that terrible vice, the liquor habit. Their home soon became a drunkard's den, her property was squandered, poverty in all its hideous forms knocked at her door, until finally she was compelled to go into a charitable institution for her drunken husband. She was finally brought into court and tried, and to the judge she said:

"Judge, he finally suggested that I sell myself for his support; he pressed me too far, judge, and I killed him."

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKETS.

Chicago, Jan. 26.—With the exception of moderate firmness the first few minutes, the wheat market was bearishly inclined all day, and the weakness became pronounced the final hour, the close being 1/2 cent lower. Several liquidation commission houses were free sellers nearly all day and there also was active selling credited to Northwestern interests. The chief reasons for the selling were the almost entire absence of export demand, the considerable increase in the primary receipts and additional rains last night in the Ohio and Missouri valleys. The early firmness was due mainly to the strength of the European markets. The world's visible supply decreased 1,900,000 bushels the past week, compared with an increase of 1,004,000 bushels the corresponding week of last year. The May opened at 107 1/2; highest, 107 1/2; lowest, 106; closing, 106 3/4.

RUSSIA ASKS FOR PLANS FOR BIG FIGHTING SHIPS.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 26.—The Russian admiralty has decided to make another effort to obtain satisfactory plans for new battleships, and to this end it has announced a competition, open to foreigners, for plans for vessels of the dreadnought type. These ships may be built abroad. The appropriation of $55,000,000 for battleship construction in the budget of 1908, which was carried against the wishes of the duma, remains unexpended because no decision regarding plans was reached.

CANADIAN PACIFIC ROAD TO USE ELECTRIC POWER.

Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 26.—The Canadian Pacific railway will electrify its system through the mountains of the West. This is in consummation of secret plans begun a year ago, when experts were sent to examine the mountain streams and the available water supply between the eastern Rockies and the Pacific coast ranges. They reported that there were enough waterfalls immediately adjacent to the Canadian Pacific's main line to "develop energy sufficient to run all the railways in the world."

ALMOST DIES PLAYING PIANO.

Brazil, Ind., Jan. 26.—J. M. Waterbury has failed to break his record as an endurance piano player. His record is twenty-seven and one-half hours, and he was to receive nothing unless he played continuously in both hands for twenty-six hours. After playing twenty-five hours and fifty-four minutes he succumbed and fell almost lifeless among the keys of the instrument. For several hours he had been talking incoherently, and every muscle in his body twitched like a man suffering from an epileptic fit. He was almost carried from the theater, and was several hours in recovering his mental faculties. The significant stock gambling institutions play their wicked vocations. Denouncing the levying of a protective tariff he pictured New York city as a scene of poverty as proof that this tariff does not bring prosperity even to those who work in the shops of the protected interests.

It's Foolish to Hoard Your Money

Why? Well, there are many good reasons why you should not carry your savings about with you, or tuck them away in some private place of fancied security.

You take big chances with money so disposed. It may be stolen, burned, lost or foolishly spent. You may be tempted by some reckless "gamble" or speculative "investment" which would not appeal to you if your savings were safe in the bank.

And, above all, hoarded money earns nothing for you. We not only give you absolute safety and protection, without charge, but we pay you 3 per cent (compounded semi-annually) for the privilege of serving your interests.

HARD TO GET A JURY IN THE CARMACK CASE.

Nashville, Tenn., Jan. 26.—The jury to try the famous case of Robin Cook and John D. Sharp against the slaying of former Senator E. W. Carmack was not completed when the second venire of five hundred takersmen was exhausted today. A third venire of five hundred was ordered for tomorrow. When court adjourned there were nine jurors in the box, but two may be taken out on account of charges that have been preferred against them. There is little probability of the jury being sworn before some time next week.

The rate for the death penalty under the federal law, which was passed in 1897, is a statute which imposes the death penalty for all cases of murder in the first degree there is another statute which gives the jury a right to qualify their verdict by adding thereto "without capital punishment." This was a separate act passed Jan. 15, 1897. In section 5233 the revised statutes it is provided that in all cases the jury may qualify their verdict by adding thereto "without capital punishment;" and whenever the jury shall return a verdict so qualified as aforesaid, the person convicted shall be sentenced to imprisonment at hard labor for life. Of course, it is a question as to whether the jury will be able to convince the jury that he was sufficiently justified in taking McManus' life so that they will give him this alternative, but it is entirely within their discretion.

CONVICTION MAY NOT MEAN A HANGING.

SUCH, AT LEAST, IS THE REPORT FROM THE SOO CONCERNING THE GIBSON MURDER CASE.

The Soo News is authority for the statement that John Gibson, who will be tried for murder in the United States district court in this city next May, may escape the death penalty under the federal law. We quote as follows:

"There is a loophole through which it may be possible for Gibson to escape the death penalty," said Prosecuting Attorney Meritt Wiley. "While there is a statute which imposes the death penalty for all cases of murder in the first degree there is another statute which gives the jury a right to qualify their verdict by adding thereto 'without capital punishment.' This was a separate act passed Jan. 15, 1897. In section 5233 the revised statutes it is provided that in all cases the jury may qualify their verdict by adding thereto 'without capital punishment;' and whenever the jury shall return a verdict so qualified as aforesaid, the person convicted shall be sentenced to imprisonment at hard labor for life. Of course, it is a question as to whether the jury will be able to convince the jury that he was sufficiently justified in taking McManus' life so that they will give him this alternative, but it is entirely within their discretion."

Saloon Smasher Thinks London Needs Her Drastic Treatment.

London, Jan. 26.—Finding the saloon conditions in London worse than she expected, Carrie Nation declares that she will have to resort to force in her temperance crusade. She says the situation demands the most drastic treatment. The police have warned her that the first violation on her part will bring a long prison sentence. The almost universal custom in England of cigar smoking has alarmed Mrs. Nation more than the drink evil. She says that "England is puffing its brains away."

JAPAN NOT FEARING WAR.

Tokyo, Jan. 26.—Marquis Katsura, the premier of the Japanese government, in his speech before the Diet, declared that Japan never before had been so peaceful as at present. He declared that Japan's relations with the powers of the world were so improved that the proposed reductions were fully warranted.

Reduction of Armaments Warranted, Say Ministers Before the Diet.

"This is a dark picture. I know what the result may be. For the past twelve months the congress has been regarded with an exhaustive and learned argument as to whether or not the president of the United States had the right to discharge a lot of kinky-headed niggers from the army, who in a drunken fit, got up a bogus and senseless people. And more recently we have been urged to increase the salary of all our public officials, that they might more closely imitate royalty."

"We stand today face to face with a deficit in our public treasury of $10,000,000. One government bankruptcy yet we are appropriating the money of the people at the rate of perhaps a million dollars an hour. The majority in congress seem to be drunk on the wine of success. They flide and dance and make merry with the money of the people. Mr. President, that it is time we were calling a halt, and that the congress of the United States legislate for a little while in the interest of 'Old Man People.' He is a good old man, bowed and bent with years, venerable with long, flowing beard. You have each met him. Simple and confiding, trustful and hopeful, he looks to this congress for some relief, and I risk the senators here to lend an attentive ear to his demands before it is everlastingly too late."

He declared that the rank of 1907 was organized on less than three acres of ground in New York, where these two

POSTAL RATES TO FOREIGN COUNTRIES.

SOME OF THE QUESTIONS THAT PUZZLE THOSE SENDING MAIL TO THE OLD COUNTRY ARE ANSWERED.

The postage rate to England is two cents for each ounce and any fraction thereof. This domestic rate went into effect Oct. 1, 1908.

The rate for postage is two cents for each ounce and any fraction thereof, unless the mail is desired to go by the first steamer via France or England, in which event the rate is five cents. This arrangement went into effect Jan. 1, 1909.

INTERNATIONAL REPLY COUPONS COSTING SIX CENTS MAY BE PURCHASED AT THE LOCAL POSTOFFICE.

They are often sent in foreign letters to insure return of reply. The coupons are issued by the countries comprising an international postal union and are redeemed at any post-office in any country within the union for five cents in postage. The coupons cannot be used for stamps.

The countries in this international reply coupon agreement are: Austria, Belgium, Bosnia-Herzegovina, Bulgaria, Chile, Corea, Costa Rica, Crete, Denmark, Egypt, France, Germany, Great Britain, Greece, Guatemala, Haiti, Honduras, Italy, Japan, Luxembourg, Norway, Roumania, Siam, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland and Uruguay.

Some Sportmen's Views—

At a meeting of representative sportmen of Iron Mountain, held at the country club for the purpose of devising plans for the preservation of game in the upper peninsula, about thirty citizens interested in hunting were present. The meeting was called to order by Hon. Lewis T. Sterling, representative to the state legislature. R. C. Browning was elected chairman and J. E. Quamstrom, secretary. Mr. Sterling recommended the calling of a county convention to elect delegates to a district convention to be held at Marquette. A motion to that effect was made and adopted. E. A. Croft suggested that a committee of three be appointed to get information of what is being done in other counties in the upper peninsula towards the movement for the preservation of game and to draft resolutions to be presented to the county convention. The chairman appointed J. A. Cull, R. L. Hammond and Mitchell Dykes on this committee.

LOGGING BUSINESS IS QUITE ACTIVE

FAVORABLE WEATHER IS RESULTING IN A LARGER CUT THAN WAS ANTICIPATED.

WHAT LUMBERMEN ARE DOING

Mills Are Buying in Fair Quantities and Many Camps Are Operating in the Woods.

The snow and weather conditions thus far this winter have been more favorable for the lumbering and logging industry than for several years, according to T. H. Noble, of the Pioneer Iron Company. The swamps are frozen for the first time in several years and there has been just enough and none too much snow. Even the mill weather of the last few days has not melted the well-iced logging roads in the woods very much, and lumbermen are not yet worried to any extent. If snow comes within the next few days, the roads will be in as fine condition as could be desired.

The depressed condition of the lumber market is having a tendency to cause some lumber companies to go slow with their cut this winter, especially where they have large stocks from last year still in their yards. However, the present indications are that the season's cut in the upper peninsula will be considerably larger than was anticipated last fall. Many lumbermen believe that better prices and a more active market are in sight and are "making hay while the sun shines."

In Marquette and Alger Counties.

The Cleveland-Cliffs sawmill at Munising is buying logs all along the company's railroad lines and is receiving shingle, tie and lath stock from the lumbering department of the same company. The lumbering department of the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company has now in the woods about 650 men, as compared with 1,100 at this time a year ago. Although men are plentiful, the stocks of lumber wood at the Marquette and Gladstone furnaces are large, and it is not necessary to employ as many men as in the past. However, the company has to some extent entered the field of general logging operations and is furnishing a variety of forest products to supply the mines of the Princeton group and certain industries at Munising. The logging camps are located along the Munising railway and on the Rapid River branch of the Soo line.

The Tynall & Jackson interests, of which M. A. Doty is manager, are operating four or five camps in Alger county, and are getting out coopers' stock as well as doing a general logging business.

The Northwestern Coopers' company, of Gladstone, is operating on the Perkins branch of the C. & N. W. railway and on the Rapid River branch of the Soo line, and is buying liberally along the same roads. Their operations include the whole range of forest products, but especially coopers' and veneer timber.

The Escanaba Lumber company, with mills at Masonville, is purchasing and handling general forest products on a large scale.

The Dalton Lumber company, at New Dalton, has created a thriving business from a small beginning. They are getting out a general line of lumber, and are making a specialty of chair rockers and other piece stuff.

The Yalmar Lumber company, owned by the Crubbers interests, at Yalmar, is doing a nice business in general mill and forest products.

The Northern Lumber company at Birch is understood to have large stocks in their yards, which have not moved freely on account of the depressed condition of the market. Consequently, they are not operating as heavily this winter as in times past.

The Munising Paper company uses about 14,000,000 feet of hemlock annually, some of which is being gotten out in their own camp, and the remainder is being purchased from contractors.

The Forster Bros., of Munising, are carrying a large stock of shingles, which is not moving rapidly because of the depressed market. The Munising lumber company is now receiving bark in large quantities nearly every day.

The Great Lakes Veneer company, of Munising, is receiving choice veneer logs from many points along the lines of the Marquette & Southeastern and Munising railways. This concern uses about 1,200,000 feet of birch, ash and birch-elm annually.

Operations West of Marquette. In the copper country, operations are less extensive than for several years past, but there will be a fairly good cut made along the line of the Copper Range road, and in the southern part of Houghton county.

The Worcester Lumber company's mill at Chassell is now running at full capacity, with day and night shifts crews at work, and Manager Hamar says there will be no let-up until spring. The mild weather of the past week has caused loggers considerable trouble, but they look for a speedy change in climate conditions. The company's mill at Kusino is not operating largely as there is a large quantity of cedar on hand. N. M. DeHaas of Marquette, who operates extensively in Baraga county, and who is one of the best known lumbermen in upper Michigan, takes a very optimistic view of the situation.

Mr. DeHaas believes there will be considerably more timber cut this winter than last. He has a contract which this winter will mean a cut of over eight million feet of timber. All these operations are confined to one district near the Huron river. This timber will be cut next summer at the Skaneateles mill and shipped from there by boat. Three camps are being operated, the biggest one employing about sixty men and will get out over four and one-half million feet of the entire cut.

This is only one instance of the amount of logging which is being done this winter. Mr. DeHaas also looks for a much better market price next fall, although there is no special reason why anything different should come about before that time. Little land is being purchased right now and not until the land lookers have visited the tracts for sale next summer will there be very much doing. In the fall there should be the usual number of transfers.

There is also another large firm doing business not far from Skaneateles, Howard & Son of Peapack having several camps operating in that immediate vicinity. The largest camp operated by this firm this season is on Point Abayee where Oliver Morris, another Marquette contractor, has charge of the operations. Mr. Morris will get out more than four million feet of timber.

Nearly all the lumber concerns have on hand large stocks of cedar products and ties in cedar, hemlock and tamarack, some of which were made on the high wage scale of 1907. These stocks are generally moving slowly, as the manufacturers refuse to sell at the prevailing low prices of the present time.

ACTIVITY AT EWEN.

Marvin F. Leach Will Build a Mill at That Town.

Ewen, which has been comparatively quiet the past few years, will enjoy a boom of no small proportions during 1909. Marvin F. Leach has completed plans for building a sawmill there, and the preliminary work of providing booms for the pond and getting out timber for construction is now under way. The site of the mill is the former site of the Detongon River Lumber company. Its capacity will be 25,000 feet daily, and there will be shingle and planing mills run in connection. It is planned to employ twenty-five to thirty men at the plant. The mill will be equipped to handle both hard and soft timber and will be run on logs owned by Mr. Leach. It will also do custom sawing.

ness district of Ewen was burned out, but it is to be rebuilt and the new structures will be more substantial than those which were destroyed. They will be modern buildings, erected on stone foundations.

The Gottonagon Valley Creamery company has built a creamery, which was equipped by the Hastings Industrial company of Chicago, and which it is planned to start up in April. Local capital is invested in it, and $40,000 has already been laid out. The officers of the company are James Norton, president, and Carl Hatfield, secretary, who, with E. J. Humfrey, J. N. Suits and Rudolph Stentz compose the board of directors. The creamery will be supplied with milk from the farmers in the neighborhood and those interested in it have every confidence that it will prove a commercial success.

James Norton has cut and decked for shipment 2,000,000 feet of logs. They will be sawed at Bergland, and have been moving there for the past three weeks. Mr. Norton has reduced his force in the woods by half, having completed the major portion of the season's work.

M. L. Leach and August Wallen, the latter a land agent, both plan new homes to be erected at Ewen, and will build large and convenient dwellings.

MISS WISE TO THE STAGE-STRUCK GIRL

LADY PRESS AGENT OF "A MESSAGE FROM MARS" TALKS ABOUT THEATRICAL LIFE.

Miss Margaret Wise, the only lady traveling theatrical press agent in the United States, was in this city yesterday in the interests of "A Message from Mars," which will be given at the opera house Feb. 8. Miss Wise is a handsome, dark-eyed, dark-haired woman, of commanding and forceful presence, who to all appearances is able to discharge the business attendant upon her profession, as well as her male competitors in the business.

Miss Wise has been on the stage for five years, but six months ago resigned a fine position with the Orpheum Stock company, of Philadelphia, to become press agent for the show she is now representing. She is a graduate of the American Academy of Dramatic Art, the Frohman school, and is thoroughly acquainted with the ins and outs of the theatrical profession.

"I love the theatrical profession," said Miss Wise yesterday, "but I hate the atmosphere of the stage. I come from an old Philadelphia family, and am perhaps a little Puritanical about some things, but if I knew that I could take the star part in any of the best companies in the road tomorrow, I would not give up my present occupation to accept it. In my business, I meet hundreds of stage-struck girls, who have become enamored with the bright and showy side of theatrical life, and should be glad to say something to such girls and to their parents.

The Stage-Struck Girl. "There is a difference between the stage-struck girl and the girl who wants to go on the stage. The stage-struck girl is really and literally struck all in a minute. She goes to the theater some night and she sees the lights, the dresses, and the jewels, and hears the music and, oh, my! how she does want to go on the stage. The next day everything in her plain home life seems dull and uninteresting, while before her eyes all the time is the scene in the play when the leading lady fainted, in spangles and tulle, and fell into the arms of the handsomest leading man her imagination can picture. Now, there is a cure for such a girl. Give her a series of hard lessons, dancing, music lessons, and show her something more practical, and she will soon forget all about the stage and her desire to become an actress. The chances are that she will dance away right into some young man's heart, and there you are.

The Born Actress. "But the girl who wants to go on the stage—that is a different matter. She knows every word of Juliet's role, and yet she will don a cap and plain gown, go on the stage with a feather duster in her hand and say: 'Master went out an hour ago, mum,' just for the sake of being on the stage and being a part of the theatrical life. All the trouble and weariness are forgotten in the strange satisfaction of pretending to be somebody else—that is about all there is to acting. There is no hope for such a girl, she will act or die.

"Why not let her try the stage? She has been brought up in your own home under your influence, and she knows the difference between right and wrong. If she cannot go on the stage and resist its temptations to wrong doing, then she is in danger between your house and the public library. There seems to be a strange idea that there are unknown perils in stage life, temptations other than those met with in other walks of life. There is nothing new or different in stage life as far as temptations go. The unprotected woman on the stage will be assailed by precisely the same temptations as she would meet in any walk of life."
