CALIFORNIA SOLONS KILL THE DREW BILL

Voting 48 to 28, the State Assembly Rejects the Much-Discussed Measure Fought by the Washington Administration.

Amended at the Request of the President and Secretary Root So as Not to Apply Only to the Japanese, but to Prohibit All Aliens from Owning Land, It Is Defeated on the Ground It Would Drive Out a Billion Dollars of Capital.

Sacramento, Cal., Feb. 3.—By the vote of forty-eight to twenty-eight the assembly rejected, late this afternoon, Mr. Drew's bill prohibiting all aliens from owning land in California.

The bill had been amended at the request of President Roosevelt and Secretary Root so that the clause applying only to the Japanese was eliminated, making the bill apply to all aliens, but the measure aroused such a storm of opposition that today before the debate was closed by Representative Drew it was apparent the measure would be defeated.

In substance, the objection was that it would drive at least a billion dollars of foreign capital out of the state and might jeopardize the present friendly commercial relations with Japan. The supporters of the bill contended that the state was being overrun by the thrifty Japanese, who were gradually gaining an impregnable position as land owners and whose government was trying to dictate to California regarding legislation.

Two Sensational Speeches.

Two sensational speeches were made, one for and one against the measure. Assemblyman Johnson, of Sacramento, an ex-congressman and the author of four bills segregating the Japanese in schools and residential districts and preventing aliens from being members of corporations, made an impassioned appeal for the enactment of the Drew bill. As the climax of his speech he walked to the lobby rail and, seizing in his arms a golden-haired girl of three, held her aloft and declared that he was in favor of this as opposed to the Japanese menace to our institutions.

Nathan G. Cole, of San Francisco, who was elected with the endorsement of the Union Labor party, opposed the Drew bill, on the ground that it was in conflict with the state constitution, that it was inimical to union labor and was not favored by the national administration, which he said was dealing with a delicate problem and should be supported by the people of California.

The result of today's contest is considered a fair test of the relative strength of the two factions in the assembly, and as foreshadowing the defeat of all measures that would tend to embarrass the national government in its relations with Japan.

COURT-MARTIAL AT GIBRALTAR.

Georgia's Captain Says He Was Ill; Witnesses Say He Was Drunk.

Gibraltar, Feb. 3.—The court-martial which is to try Captain Edward F. Quattrone, of the battleship Georgia, on the charges preferred by Rear Admiral Wainwright that he was under the influence of intoxicants at the reception given at Tangiers by Samuel R. Gunner, American minister to Morocco, met this morning on board the battleship Louisiana. Captain Quattrone swore that he was ill the night of the reception and drank only a glass of sherry. All the witnesses, however, expressed the opinion that he was under the influence of intoxicants and was unfit for duty.

Railroads in South Dakota at Once Obtain Restraining Order, the State Also Secures Writ and Clash of Courts Begins.

Pierre, S. D., Feb. 3.—The two-cent rate bill, passed as an emergency measure, going into effect at once, was signed by Governor Vestergaard today. It is reported that the railroads, through the United States court at Sioux Falls, will at once seek an injunction against the clerks of the courts in every county of the state in which the railroads operate, to prevent putting the law into effect. Sioux Falls, S. D., Feb. 3.—Judge John E. Garland, in the United States district court, today granted a restraining order, preventing the two-cent passenger rate law signed by the governor today from going into effect, pending the hearing before him March 1 for a temporary injunction. The order was granted at the instance of various railroads in South Dakota. The bill as finally passed by the legislature contained an emergency clause making it effective immediately.

Pierre, S. D., Feb. 3.—While the railway companies were obtaining a restraining order from the federal court at Sioux Falls to stop the two-cent rate law, the attorney general went before the state supreme court and got an alternative writ of mandamus, returnable March 3. The question now is whether the state supreme court will grant a writ of mandamus.

The fees so collected from life and fire insurance companies by these commissioners are estimated at about $200,000. Mr. Housner claims that inasmuch as a specific salary of $3,000 is provided for the commissioner, the fees belong to the state.

MISSOURI HAS A PUZZLE.

State Officers in Doubt What to Do About Standard Oil Offer.

Jefferson City, Mo., Feb. 3.—Attorney General Major has not decided whether to recommend to the supreme court approval of the novel proposal which the Standard Oil company has filed with that tribunal. The proposed procedure for state control through trustees is said to be without precedent, and state officers are puzzled by it. Nothing is said as to the submission of the $150,000 fines levied against three oil companies, and the supposition is that they are willing to pay this amount without further controversy.

MEDALS FOR JACK TARS PROPOSED BY IOWA SOLONS.

Des Moines, Ia., Feb. 3.—The house today defeated a resolution by Representative Scheepers, proposing medals for each Iowa-born member of the naval fleet just completing a tour around the world. The resolution also contemplated the appointment of a committee of twelve Iowans to represent the state at New York in welcoming the fleet on its arrival home and authorized some suitable recognition of Admiral "Bob" Evans. The defeat of the resolution raised such a storm of indignation among old sailors that reconsideration was voted, and the resolution will come up again tomorrow.

In one year the escapement wheel of a watch makes 731,800 revolutions.

SECRET SERVICE BADLY HAMPERED

Its Usefulness Much Restricted by the Legislation Enacted at the Last Session of the Congress, Declares President Roosevelt.

If the Government Is to Act With Full Efficiency Against Criminals, It Must Have an Untrammelled Detective Force, He Says in Statement Protesting That It Is Contrary to Sound Public Policy to Discriminate in Favor of Law-Breakers.

Washington, Feb. 3.—Declaring that "if the government is to act with full efficiency against criminals it must have some force of secret service agents who can get against criminals anywhere," President Roosevelt, in a statement made public from the White House tonight, emphatically reiterates his opposition to restricting the field of usefulness of the secret service.

"The position of the administration," said the president, "that it is against sound public policy to discriminate in favor of criminals by discriminating against the use of the secret service to detect and punish them."

The statement was called by "misleading statements appearing in some afternoon papers," to the effect that the work of the secret service has not been hampered, and that the investigation of cases outside the detection of counterfeiters and the protection of the president has not been discontinued by the restrictive legislation at the last session of congress.

Government's Hands Tied.

The president declares that "the restriction that the restriction was harmless to the government interest is not correct," and continues: "The effect of the limitation was materially to circumscribe the field of usefulness in which trained agents of the secret service had hitherto been advantageously employed. It became impossible to use these investigators in a class of cases in which they have been conspicuously successful for many years."

"The phraseology of the restrictive legislation is such that any person who was employed in or under the secret service division during 1909 for even so short a period as an hour became disqualified for promotion or employment in any branch of the government service where either his compensation or expenses would be payable from any appropriation in the sundry civil act."

"The limitation tied the hands of the secretary of the treasury and made it impossible for him to continue the employment of these men in any cases of emergency which were of such importance that the treasury department devoted to the issuing, redemption and handling of obligations, securities and coins of the government."

Benefits the Evil-Doers.

"It is the contention of the executive branch of the government that it should be permitted to use the best means of investigating criminal cases, and when necessary to employ the secret service branch of particularly desirable and effective investigating force, the government's interests, which are the interests of the people, are injured and the only gainers are the evil doers who may thereby escape detection and punishment."

"The question is: Is it right or wise to prevent specifically to discriminate against one particular division of the government's investigating force and prevent its employment where it might be used to great advantage?"

The game will be played at Minneapolis and had been severed for five years.

SPECULATION IS LANGUID.

Strength of a Few Stocks Has but Feeble Affect on Prices in General.

New York, Feb. 3.—The strength of a few individual stocks had sympathetic influence in sustaining prices in the general list in Wall street today, but the speculative interest was languid and the operations resulting had but feeble effect on values in general. The prevalent disposition is to await more definite developments in the business situation before a good deal was made today of what was called an improvement in the copper trade situation, but the reports on this subject were contradicted and the impression conveyed was confused and will not, to all appearances, direct conflicting reports were in circulation of large sales of copper on the one hand, and of stagnation of demand and sagging values on the other. The copper industries followed the foreign lead upwards at the opening, but afterwards developed a downward movement, with the suspicion aroused by the opposition reports of trade conditions.

Another sustaining force in the dull market was the vitality of the belief in further important deals in the railroad world. The rumors of this kind that were of most effect dealt with the Gould group, the market action of several stocks in that group giving credence to the rumors. These concerns themselves mostly with the revival of the executive branch of particularly desirable and effective investigating force, the government's interests, which are the interests of the people, are injured and the only gainers are the evil doers who may thereby escape detection and punishment.

The call loans late yesterday and today exceeded the recent 2 per cent maximum, and time loans were notably firmer. The expectation of another call on the national banks for the return of government deposits and the likelihood of an outgo of gold to London have made lenders less inclined to place funds at the disposal of borrowers, and some increase in demand from borrowers was also reported. The foreign exchange rates eased with the hardening of the money market.

The day's changes in stocks were mixed, after the usual profit-taking had been concluded.

PENSIONS VOTED FEDERAL JUDGES

Those Who Attain the Age of Three Score and Ten and Who Have Served Ten Years on the Bench Are the Beneficiaries.

Passing This Senate Measure in the Interest of Jurists, the House Devotes Its Attention to the Agricultural Appropriation Bill, and Under the Latitude Permitted by the Terms of the Debate a Multiplicity of Topics Come Up for Discussion.

Washington, Feb. 3.—The general debate on the agricultural appropriation bill in the house today afforded the critics and defenders of the department of agriculture an excellent field day. Mr. Lever, of South Carolina, led off with an attack on the appointment and work of the referee board of consulting chemists in the department. Mr. Heflin, of Alabama, asked on behalf of the cotton growers for a governmental monthly report on the consumption of cotton. Mr. Sturgis, of West Virginia, urged the extension of the forest service; Mr. Humphrey, of Washington, took an exactly opposite view, while Mr. Mondell, of Wyoming, declared the bureau of forestry the most autocratic government bureau outside of Russia. Mr. Bartholdt, of Missouri, urged the issue of bonds for inland waterway improvements. Mr. Crandler, of Mississippi, complained of the tariff on agricultural implements. Mr. Smith, of the agricultural committee, closed the debate with explanatory remarks on the work done by the government during the past year.

Salary Increases Stricken Out.

When the bill was under consideration, under the five-minute rule, an increase of $500 to the salary of Solicitor George F. McCabe, making it $4,500, was stricken out on a point of order. A proposed increase of the salary of Director Willis B. Moore, of the weather bureau, from $3,000 to $6,000, suffered a similar fate.

Before the agricultural bill was taken up in general debate, the house passed the senate bill for federal judges. This measure provides a pension for United States judges who are seventy years old and who have served ten years on the bench.

Military and Navy on Parade.

Within this space on March 4 will be presented some of the most imposing and striking pictures of the foreign trade of the solid columns of Uncle Sam's regulars, walking with the swinging stride that carried them tirelessly to the front in the several recent wars of American history; nearly 3,000 sailors, fresh from their wonderful cruise around the world; the splendid uniforms of the picked national guardsmen from the states, tramping with the precision of regulars, and the endless variety of organizations, novel and otherwise, composing the civic division of the immense pageant.

Not the least interesting picture in the panorama will be the forenoon parade of the grim veterans of the Civil war—units in the vanishing army—who with the Spanish war veterans and the Army and Navy Union, will escort the president and vice president-elect to the capitol, where they will take the oath of office. The veterans will carry at the head of their fattering column the striated and faded banners that fluttered in their newness over many a battlefield. Scores of brass bands and dozens of triumphant republican organizations will fill the air with music and noise, and the promiscuous crowds thronging the streets of Washington will be cosmopolitan.

Fireworks Will Be a Feature.

The fireworks will be a gorgeous feature. Paine will present his best and latest program of pyrotechnics. The sky will be painted in the most brilliant hues that can be reproduced in fire. Three volleys of bombs exploding high up in the heavens will shower downward masses of stars, snakes and other blazing innovations. A feature will be the "magic city," a single stupendous piece, which will cost more than $1,000. It will be 100 feet high and 400 feet long. Two great airships with a cargo of fireworks will float over the magic city discharging pyrotechnics in their flight by means of electricity. Then the city will be burned, the conflagration lasting about five minutes and presenting a thrilling spectacle. The words "Taft and Sherman" will be written on the sky in fiery characters, and there will be suggestions of earthquake and volcanic eruptions.

GIVES STATES JURISDICTION OVER LAKE MICHIGAN.

Washington, Feb. 3.—Favorable action was taken today by the house committee on the judiciary on a resolution which enables Illinois, Indiana and Michigan to the approximate rates that will be charged. Chairman Weller said that in the best hotels of Pennsylvania a regular $5 a day rate will prevail where one room can be occupied by two persons. Where a room is occupied by one person the rate in first-class hotels will be $10 per day. At good hotels the rate will be from $2.50 per day up. The average rate for lodgings in boarding houses and private homes will be $1 per night, or $10 per week, for persons and board in boarding houses.

ONE ROOM A DAY, $300.

Chauncey Depew Pays Big Price to See the Inauguration Parade.

Washington, Feb. 3.—For the coming inauguration, Senator Chauncey M. Depew of New York has contracted for a single room in the Corcoran building, Fifteenth and Pennsylvania avenue, opposite the treasury department, for which he has agreed to pay $300 for a single day, March 4. In this apartment the senator will entertain a number of his friends. Luncheon will be served and there will be "all the comforts of home."

Another wealthy New Yorker has contracted to pay $100 for two windows in a building on Pennsylvania avenue. Governor Guild of Massachusetts has contracted to pay a small fortune for the parlors on the second floor of one of the leading Pennsylvania avenue hotels. He will entertain in the apartments, and on March 4 will be surrounded by a brilliant company, who will view the big parade from the front windows.

Chairman Weller of the local inauguration committee, in discussing the general proposition of caring for the inauguration visitors, said the hotels here can not accommodate the 80 per cent of the people who will come to Washington. As to the approximate rates that will be charged, Chairman Weller said that in the best hotels of Pennsylvania a regular $5 a day rate will prevail where one room can be occupied by two persons. Where a room is occupied by one person the rate in first-class hotels will be $10 per day. At good hotels the rate will be from $2.50 per day up. The average rate for lodgings in boarding houses and private homes will be $1 per night, or $10 per week, for persons and board in boarding houses.

Walker, district president of Illinois. When the convention adjourned for the day there was much bitterness between the factions.

MARQUETTE, MICH., FEB. 4.

Entered as mail matter of the second class in the postoffice at Marquette, Mich.

The farther Mr. Hopkins of Illinois travels, and the harder he works, the more remote the senatorial goal becomes for him.

It now appears that the Calumet & Hecla company can go as far as it likes with the Osceola. It is violating no confidence to say that the outcome of the suit accords with the general expectation in this region.

It goes without saying that if the present occupant of the White House was to remain in office after March the house would have no trouble agreeing with the senate that $12,000 for automobiles is an unnecessary item.

The fool legislator and his fool bill occasionally become more than a joke, and loom up as a menace. One of these times is when he runs counter to the provisions of treaties put in effect between the federal government and other governments.

We haven't seen the text of Representative Young's bill dealing with the water power situation at the Soo, but as a general proposition we would prefer a measure outlined by one of our own representatives to one drafted by a member from another state. We imagine that the Michigan man would have Michigan's interests more clearly in mind.

Admiral Bob Evans, of Detroit this week, declared that Secretary of the Navy Newberry is one of the best officials who has ever been honored by that portfolio. Admiral Evans' unqualified endorsement of Mr. Newberry and his work must have given much pleasure to that gentleman's friends. He might very well be retained in the Taft cabinet.

The Soo lobbyists, Representative Young and the other interests who do not like the plan proposed by the Lorimer bill for handling the water power situation at the Lock City are keeping the Hon. William so busy in Washington this week that he has been compelled, perforce, to allow the Springfield situation to develop without being under his personal direction.

State Highway Commissioner Earle says he will fight to a finish any proposition to abolish the office. Of course he will. What is more, he will have considerable backing. The people, as a rule, have gotten it into their heads that the highway department has done pretty effectively work and has been the means of arousing a wide interest in good roads, and they believe in it. Even if bounties have been allowed by Mr. Earle on some highways not entitled to them, as charged, still nothing has been proved against the value of the state highway department. It has been Mr. Earle who has been at fault. What we need, in that event, is a new commissioner, not necessarily the abolishment of the department.

It is reported from Jackson that Mr. Armstrong, the warden of the prison there, who is just now under a cloud, has two witnesses, whose standing in the community will insure the ready acceptance of their testimony, who will swear that the warden told them all about General Green's plan of bribing him and his intention of leading Green on, with the purpose of revealing the entire transaction to the members of the board of control. It is also stated that Armstrong showed the bills received from Green to friends before they were taken from him, following the search subsequent to his arrest. There is no doubt that the line of defense here indicated is the one that Armstrong's attorneys will pursue. It is also reported that a move will be made to have the case taken up in the present term of circuit court. The preliminary examination is set for Monday next.

Press dispatches from Madison indicate that the deadlock which has been fixed on the legislature as a result of the charges relating to the campaign methods of Senator Stephenson will endure until the proposed legislative investigation to determine whether they married serious attention has been completed. In the balloting Tuesday, the first after the weekend adjournment, Stephenson polled but sixty-three votes in the joint session of assembly and senate, whereas sixty-six are necessary to a choice. The current issue of La Follette's Weekly indicates that the senior senator thoroughly sympathizes with the fight being put up on Stephenson. Verily, there have been great changes since Stephenson financed La Follette's revolutionary propaganda in state politics. And it requires no far-sighted prophet to predict that La Follette, by his present course, is storing up wrath for the time some two years hence when he himself will be a candidate for re-election.

Marquette people who met the legislative party were impressed with its personnel, and the remark was more than once made that the present legislature appears to be a distinct advance on its predecessors. The members who visited Marquette were alert and capable men, and gave the impression of being a body who would consider the matters that came before them on their merits and dispose of them fairly and conscientiously. Commenting on this point, a member of the party said yesterday: "I attribute the fact that we are getting a better class of men in the legislature largely to the operations of the direct nominations statute. We are seeing the disappearance of the member who accepted his nomination and election from a coterie of political leaders to whom he felt responsible and the substitution in his place of the man who is impressed with the idea that he is accountable to all his constituents. This makes for independence of action and greater breadth of vision."

There are being published this week in lower state papers what purport to be intelligible figures of the cost of maintenance of prisoners in the Jackson, Ionia and Marquette prisons. The figures for four years, 1905 to 1908 inclusive, are given. Ionia, with an average population of 516 (official) is credited with having drawn $103,925 from the state; Marquette, with an average population of 300 (approximate), $178,458. On this basis the per capita costs have been as follows: Ionia, $20; Marquette, $148; and Jackson, $272.

There is only one fair way to compare average costs in these institutions, or in any other class of institutions in the state, and that is by eliminating from the calculation everything except charges for maintenance. In the figures above given this has not been done, therefore they have little or no significance. For instance, in 1908 Jackson prison is credited with having drawn $382,458 from the state, but, as Governor Warner points out, $175,000 of this amount was appropriated by the legislature for the installation and operation of the binder twine plant, and was in manner used for maintenance. Other instances of such extraordinary charges against institutions occur in the figures given, but this is the most glaring one.

It may well be suggested that the gentlemen who have interested themselves in securing the publication of the misleading figures here given pursue their inquiry further, and make a schedule of comparative costs on the basis of expense of maintenance, including the cost of officering the prisons, heating and lighting them, feeding the convicts and all the other incidentals of carrying on these institutions, striking out all items of extraordinary expense that can be classed as permanent improvements. Figures compiled on this basis would have both interest and value.

Such figures should show Marquette prison, rather than Jackson, to have the highest per capita cost, for the reason that the number of inmates in the former institution is less than half as many as are confined at Jackson and some 200 less than are confined in Ionia. It is well known that in the management of institutions of the kind the per capita cost decreases, if the management is efficient, in the ratio that the number of persons dealt with increases. Until such figures as we suggest are available those now being published can well be disregarded. On account of the way they lump expenses for extraordinary purposes and for permanent improvements with costs of maintenance they have no value.

CANAL TO BE DONE IN 1915. Colonel Goethals, chief engineer in charge of construction work at Panama, has given a specific promise to President Taft that, barring unforeseen accidents, the big inter-oceanic canal will be completed and ready for ships to pass through it on New Year's day, 1915. The Taft party is now making its tour of inspection along the route of the canal and its members are pleased and satisfied with the conditions which they find and the progress that is being made in construction work. It is further claimed that the engineers in charge of the work have given assurances that the plan of the Gatun dam is safe and practicable, thus allaying the fears that have been aroused by reports of trouble at that point. Everything, in fact, seems to be working out smoothly and according to the original program.

That the people of this country will be pleased and gratified by such reports goes without saying. When the government decided to undertake the digging of the Panama canal it was readily conceded that it was a gigantic task, and

AFTER DOCTORS FAILED

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Cured Her.

Willimantic, Conn.—"For five years I suffered untold agony from female troubles, causing backache, irritability, dizziness and nervous prostration. It was impossible for me to walk upstairs without stopping on the way. I tried three different doctors and each told me something different. I received no benefit from any of them, but seemed to suffer more. The last doctor said nothing would restore my health. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to see what it would do, and I am restored to my natural health."—Mrs. ETTA DONOVAN, Box 299, Willimantic, Conn.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled. It may be used with perfect confidence by women who suffer from displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills, and suffering women owe it to themselves to at least give this medicine a trial. Proof is abundant that it has cured thousands of others, and why should it not cure you?

of course it was generally understood it would cost a large amount of money and probably involve some mistakes and disappointments. Some of these latter anticipated contingencies have occurred, but they have not been nearly as serious as might have been expected. Critics, however, have seized on the opportunity afforded to make dire and fearsome predictions, intimating that the final cost of the canal would be simply staggering in its immensity. Some of them have even predicted failure of the present plans and urged the necessity of changing them. Yet it appears from the reports now made public that the plans are adequate as they stand, and that the work will be completed on time, without the startling increase of cost that has been predicted. No matter what the cost may be, this government cannot now turn back, for having undertaken the canal, it is bound to carry it through to a successful conclusion.

GALLAGHER AFFAIR AIRED.

Two Young Laurium Couples Involved in Case on Trial in Court.

The Gallagher case, involving a charge of assault with intent to kill, and with two young Laurium couples as the important characters, occupied the attention of the circuit court through the day yesterday.

In all of its aspects the Gallagher case is commonplace. From the ordinary domestic wrangle so often seen in the justice courts, it differs only in degree, for apparently it is a story of a husband losing his temper through whiskey drinking and by reason of a neighborhood quarrel.

As the two witnesses for the prosecution related yesterday morning, Gallagher drank more than was good for him. He returned home and treated his wife badly, because he was drunk and didn't know what he was doing.

M. H. Crocker, who is conducting the defense, cross-questioned Caldwell to show that the latter had tried to make capital out of the affair.

The visiting legislative committee members, whose coming to the copper country has been much talked of lately, have begun to arrive and it is expected that all of them will be in Houghton today.

The water power committee members, who came early yesterday morning and after a brief stay in Houghton during which the visitors had breakfast at the Douglas House the visitors went on to Victoria to inspect the water plant there.

The trial of Edward Nystri of the Isle Royale location, who is charged with intent to kill, is the third case on the criminal docket for this term of circuit court, and unless Nystri changes the plea of not guilty that he offered last Monday morning, the case will be taken up immediately after the Gallagher trial, and will be heard today.

Like the other criminal cases given attention so far this week, the charge is of the same sort and, more strangely, no reasonable motive for the crime has yet been advanced.

The case was that of Samuel Bennets, an Ishpeming boy, who came to the copper country about two weeks ago and got himself promptly into trouble. An investigation of the burglary of the Calumet last Thursday led to Bennets' arrest.

Getting Out Cedar Stock—Charles Pelissier has gone to a lumber camp this side of Big Bay, where he is in charge of twelve or fifteen men and two or three teams, who are getting out cedar stock.

City Team Defeated—The Marquette City basketball team was defeated by the Ishpeming Cleveland club team in Ishpeming last night by the score of 31 to 10. The game was played at Braastad's Hall and was fast and interesting.

The Largest Ever—Superintendent Retailie, of the light and power plant, states that the receipts from lighting for the month of December were $6,144.41, about $200 more than for any month in the history of the plant. December is always the month in which the greatest amount of light is used.

Indoor Baseball—The Butchers and Tigers indoor baseball teams will play two games at Armory Hall tonight, starting at 8:15. Admission will be twenty-five cents. Wm. Westmyer is manager and J. E. Desjardin, captain, of the Butchers; HE Constance is manager and Fred Henry, captain, of the Tigers.

Several Bounties Paid—Bounties were paid on a wolf, a lynx and a wild cat at the county clerk's office yesterday. Thomas Moore, of Forsyth township, brought in a wolf and a wild cat, and Joe Thoney, of Powell township, the lynx. Mr. and Mrs. Thoney are spending the winter at his camp, north of Silver Lake.

Work Is Begun—The first excavating for the new Hager block, to be erected on the vacant Washington street lot, west of LaRochelle's store, was begun yesterday, by men in the employ of the contractors, Lipsett & Sinclair. Only a few men were at work, and only a small amount of earth was moved and hauled away in wagons yesterday.

Enteuable Surprise Party—A company of young people from the city drove to the Marquette dairy last evening and swooped down upon the home of F. H. Vandendoom, giving Mr. Vandendoom and his wife a happy surprise. Some forty persons comprised the party. There were music, cards and refreshments on the evening's program, and the time was passed very pleasantly.

Horses to Big Bay—Thirteen head of horses passed through this city yesterday, for use in the logging operations of the Brunswick-Balks-Collender interests at Big Bay. The horses were shipped from Escanaba. It is understood that the Brunswick-Balks-Collender people will make a cut of from 4,000,000 to 5,000,000 feet of hard wood and hemlock at Big Bay this winter.

High School Won—The basketball game at Armory Hall last evening was won by the high school team, by a score of 15 to 13, over the Ferguson Business college. At the close of the allotted period of play, the score was tied, but the rules provide that in case of a tie, the teams must play until one team or the other gets a lead of two points. The high school were the lucky ones to win the game in this manner.

Examiner at Court House—J. A. Dresser, of Detroit, who was recently engaged by the county board of supervisors to examine the county records, is now at work at the court house, and will not complete his work for about ten days. The books of the clerk and treasurer will be gone over by the expert accountant in the same careful manner as in years past. Mr. Dresser has examined the county records on previous occasions.

Money Without Interest—The common council yesterday negotiated a loan from the light and power commission, with which to pay damages and costs awarded by the supreme court to Lachlan Johnson, because of his wife having been killed at the Marquette & Southeastern crossing near Carp river, several years ago. The loan was exacted on a demand note. As the light and power commission had the money and no immediate use for it, this plan has saved the city from paying interest on the loan. The exact amount that will be paid Mr. Johnson is $5,602.84.

There is at Hager Bros' store a view of Marquette taken from Ripley's rock in 1852, which is owned by Jacob Dolf. The picture shows that part of the lake front from Rock street to Spring street. The iron works building, known to the old settlers as the "old forge," is plainly shown, in about the location of the present No. 1 dock. North of the forge building is a large boarding house, kept at that time by Mrs. Bacon, the grandmother of Mrs. Elmer Clark. The O'Hagan building now occupies the site of the old boarding house. Three smaller houses are shown to the north of the boarding house and farther back into the woods.

Peter Dolf, the janitor at the public library, states that the forge was operated at that time by Mr. Harlow, for the manufacture of boiler iron. The ore was hauled in winter on sleds from near Negaunee to the forge, where it was melted and wrought out with stamp heads. There was no town at Negaunee at that time, he says, but another forge was located about two miles this side of that city. In the summer ore could not be brought to the forge in Marquette, as there were no roads. The Dolf brothers' father was head carpenter at the forge at that time, and drew the magnificent salary of $12 a month and board. The forge burned down in 1854, and was not rebuilt.

FIRE ON BARAGA AVENUE.

Pendill Block, Near City Market, Guttered Early Yesterday Morning.

The brick block, owned by Louis Pendill, on Baraga avenue, west of the city market, was gutted by fire about 4 o'clock yesterday morning. The first floor of the building was occupied on one side by Dr. A. Deadman as an office, and by Sun Hop Sing's laundry on the other. Edward Clark and family lived above Dr. Deadman's office and Mrs. Emma Nelson, above the laundry. The greatest damage was done on the second floor and Mr. Clark's and Mrs. Nelson's household furnishings were completely ruined by fire, smoke and water. Eugene Sullivan and Charles Zaperop occupied a room in Mrs. Nelson's flat, and most of their belongings were destroyed. The greatest damage to the down stairs rooms was from water, and, compared with those already mentioned, the loss suffered by Dr. Deadman and Sun Hop Sing was insignificant.

The fire started in the rear room of Dr. Deadman's office, and is believed by the firemen to have been caused by a defective stove pipe or chimney. The blaze was first noticed by Mr. Clark, and at that time was well started. The other occupants of the upper floor were awakened, and the fire spread so rapidly that they had to make a hurried toilet in order to make their escape from the flames, leaving much of their clothing behind.

Neither Mr. Clark nor Mrs. Nelson carried insurance and practically everything they possessed was destroyed. Mr. Clark has been out of work much of the time during the past year, but is now employed at Fay & Bricker's livery. Mrs. Nelson has supported herself by nursing, and both she and the Clark family are understood now to be practically destitute. Mr. Clark is a member of the M. E. A. and Mrs. Nelson of the Lady Macabees, which orders are rendering assistance to their unfortunate members.

Mr. Pendill was not able to estimate the extent of the loss on the building yesterday, but said it was well insured.

Upper Peninsula

Runaway Accident Is Fatal—Frank Hayden, a pioneer business man of Norway, Monticome iron range, is dead as the result of a runaway accident. The delivery wagon which he was driving collided with a telephone pole, and Mr. Hayden was precipitated to the ground, being seriously cut about the head, which resulted in his passing. He was fifty years of age.

Manistigue Will Be Represented—The Manistigue Gun club has elected John Schuster as a delegate to the meeting of upper peninsula sportsmen which is to be held at Marquette shortly. Mr. Schuster will defray his own expenses. President Warfield of the club and N. J. Newville have also decided to attend. The Manistigue club, which has a membership of more than 100, is vitally interested in the preservation of game, and that it has members who are willing to defray their expenses to the meeting in question proves it.

Track Team in Training—The members of the track team of the Ironwood High school have already started practicing under their captain, Neal Geary, for the meets to be held in the spring. Distance running and sprinting is being done on the athletic field track, also cross-country work. The Ironwood boys will attempt to "hit" the cup put up by Northland academy of Ashtand, and which has been won once each by the academy and the Ashtand High school. The team that wins the cup twice retains possession of it.

Hot Beds Cover Two Acres—Almost two full acres of ground will be under glass this spring at the plant of the Michigan Heating & Preserving company in Menominee. All of the cabbage, cauliflower and tomato plants needed for the great acreage of the company this year will be raised in the big hot beds. Every line of production will be increased by the company the coming season. New separating centers for separating peas from the vines and the pods will be installed at both the Broadway and Nine-Mile farms. An additional line of pea-canning machinery will be installed and the capacity of the plant will be doubled.

TRAPS FOR MARINERS.

Some Points of Peril That Are Dreaded by Ocean Seamen.

The exact location of Davy Jones' locker is not shown on any ocean chart extant, principally because it is a state and not a place, but if any one ocean death trap deserves the title it is the Thames estuary. The British naval department has a chart upon which it marks the position of wrecks with a black dot. On this chart the Thames mouth tract is a solid black spot. So numerous have been the wrecks that the dots run together. The point where the black dots actually pile on top of another is the Kentish Knock and this is the place among all of the ocean's danger spots that deserves the title of Davy Jones' locker.

At the Kentish Knock it is not keel shattering rocks of piercing points of coral that wreck the ocean travelers. It is sand, treacherous, clinging sand that grasps the doomed ship with a grip of steel and holds it firmly while the angry sea beats it to fragments. Many a vessel posted at Lloyd's as missing would be duly accounted for if the Kentish Knock sand would give up its booty. There is no hope for ship or man when Father Neptune asks toll at the Kentish Knock, for the nearest land is twenty miles away and the nearest lifeboat at Margate, thirty miles away.

The sands of the ocean are far more dangerous than the rocks. The sand banks extend over more space, therefore offer more points of contact than the rocks, which usually rise in one slender pinnacle. The waters flow over them in smooth waves, and there are no warning breakers.

Next to the Thames mouth tract in point of danger is the Hugel, the salt water river on which Calcutta stands. The most trying part of a large vessel's voyage from New York to Calcutta is the last few miles of this calm river. In this strange river in windless weather and flat, calm water vessels have been lost, dashed to pieces on the ever shifting sand banks by the force of the tides. The sands grasp the keel of the marked vessel, and she stops, but the tide moves on with relentless force, and the helpless ship is carried over on her beam ends. She careens over and founders with all on board. One of the worst shoals in the Hugel bears the name James and Mary. It was the name of a great Indian merchantman shipwrecked on the sunken sand banks.

Another danger point dreaded by the master mariner has neither sand nor rocks, but a great submarine waterfall. In the English channel there is a point just beyond the Shambles banks where there is a sudden drop in the sea bottom. The channel tides sweep over the banks and down this sudden drop, creating rapids equal in fury to those of Niagara. The American ship Georgian foundered in Portland race, the name by which the danger point is known, and all hands went down with her.

Ships bound to New York from Europe pass quite near a deadly hidden shoal which runs out from Sable Island, lying off Sable cape, in Nova Scotia. The shoal runs out for miles in five directions like the fingers of a great hand reaching out for what it can destroy. When the gales blow, heavy seas boom upon the shoals with sufficient force to shatter the staunchest vessel afloat, and when the wind ceases the beaches are strewn with wreckage and the bodies of those who have perished. The distance from the shore is too great and the surf too heavy for the life savers to reach a struggling vessel, and few lives are saved at this point. Ten vessels have been wrecked in this trap in a single day.

The rock danger points in the ocean have nearly all been tagged, and light-houses have been erected on the most dangerous—all except one. There is no light-house on the Virgin rock, and there never will be. Out in the mid-Atlantic a giant pinnacle rears its head up from the ocean floor and endeavors vainly to reach the surface of the sea. It is too short by about eighteen feet. There it stands with its sharp point hidden by the ocean waves, waiting to pierce the bottom of some unsuspecting vessel and send it down to join the pile of ships' ribs and dead men's bones that litter the floor around its base. The waves seem to be in league with the rock, for if a vessel of light draft tries to pass over its head the waves shoot it down into a trough at the bottom of which the point of the rock is waiting to rip out her keel.

These danger spots, however, are but annexes to the real Davy Jones' locker, the Kentish Knock, that cemetery of ships and men where dripping ghosts of master mariners and their men flit over the ruins of their vessels.—B. R. Winslow in Los Angeles Times.

THE ORIGIN OF FEAR.

Plastic Gray Cells of Our Brains Stamped With Ancient Terrors.

The average man would sooner face a 290-pound human antagonist than a fifty-pound dog, which he could choke to death in three minutes. I have seen a charging ram scatter half a dozen men, any one of whom could have mastered the brute in a moment, and not one of whom was, in ordinary matters, a coward. There are instances on record of men who, with their bare hands, have held and baffled an ugly bull; but it was only the pressure of grim necessity that taught them their powers. Put a man against an animal, and the man looks around for weapons or support, whether he needs them or not. There was a time when he did.

For man—today the most lordly of animals—was once well nigh the most humble of them all. He has come out of a state in which fear was the normal condition of existence—fear of violence, of the dark that gave opportunity for violence; fear of falling, of animals, of being alone. And into the plastic gray cells of our brains are stamped these ancient terrors—a living record of the upward climb of man. The baby shows this record most clearly. In him the prints of heredity are not yet overlaid by the tricks of use and custom; and, therefore, in him we may most easily read our past history. He is our ancestor as truly as he is our reincarnation; and his every shrinking gesture and frightened cry are chronicles of the younger world tales of the age of fear.

They tell of the days when man was not master of the earth, nor even a highly considered citizen of the same; but a runaway subject of the meat-eating monarchs, whose scepter was tooth and claw; a humble plebeian in the presence of the horned and hooved aristocrats of woods and fields. They speak of the nights when our hairy sires crouched in the forks of trees and whimpered softly at the dark; whimpered because the dark held so many enemies; whimpered softly lest those enemies should hear.—Lippincott's Magazine.

INURED TO POVERTY AND TOIL.

Natives of Shantung Province Live Lives of Wretchedness.

Of Shantung province, China, a correspondent writes: "A little more than a generation ago one of the greatest famines in the memory of man spread devastation in the great over-populated sections of the west of this province and now famine faces the staked tolls of the land once again. The Shantungese illustrate well the law of the survival of the fittest, for such dire poverty only permits the strong ones to live, with the result that we find sturdy men of great endurance all over this province. Live on the land, which barely produces a sufficiency for Shantung's teeming millions, the people have become hardy, for they are hardened to all kinds of privations. Their brains are deadened by ceaseless toil and this may account for the reputed backwardness of this province in progress along commercial and industrial lines. A less long-suffering people would have a revolution every year. It is an axiom with westerners that discontent is an absolute condition of progress, and we who live among the Chinese know there can hardly be a race in the world so contented as they are considering their lot. This is one of the reasons which makes the regeneration of China such an enormous problem."

SOLDIER BALKS DEATH PILOT.

It seemed to J. A. Stone, a Civil war veteran, of Kemp, Tex., that a pilot existed between a desperate lung trouble and the grave to cause his death. "I contracted a stubborn cold," he writes, "that developed a cough that stuck to me in spite of all remedies for years. My weight ran down to 130 pounds. Then I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery, which restored my health completely. I now weigh 178 pounds." "I have severe Colds, obstinate Coughs, Hemorrhages, Asthma, and I prevent Pneumonia by its use. Price, 50c and $1.00. Little's Free, guaranteed by The Stafford Drug Co."

GWINN MEN HELD ON SERIOUS CHARGE

EMILE AND DOMINICK SOMERS, SUSPECTED OF COMMITTING MANY THEFTS ON THE SWANZEY RANGE, TO BE GIVEN A HEARING IN NEGAUNEE.

Emile and Dominick Somers, who have been working the new school building at Gwinn, were arrested Tuesday at Escanaba by Deputy Sheriff Timothy Curran, on the charge of grand larceny. They were brought to the Negaunee jail that evening by Marshal Maloney of Princeton, and will be given a hearing tomorrow in Judge Thoren's court.

The Somers brothers are charged with breaking into a box car containing merchandise, at Gwinn, also with stealing a violin, valued at $60, from W. G. Miller, a resident of the range. Strong circumstantial evidence has been obtained against the defendants and it is expected that they will be found guilty. The car contained merchandise valued at between $1,400 and $1,500; the greater part of which was consigned to Richard Qualey, who conducts a general mercantile business on the range. Up to yesterday it had not been definitely determined what goods had been stolen from the car, as nearly all of the boxes had been opened and many of the articles in the cases were either thrown out or in other ways disturbed.

A number of petty thefts have been committed on the range during the past six or eight months, and it is now thought that the Somers brothers were guilty of most, if not all, of them. Marshall Maloney found a number of stolen articles in the shack where they lived. Carpenters' saws, hammers and other tools, also nails were stolen from buildings under construction. It was at first supposed that the thefts were being committed by boys.

The Somers brothers left the range shortly after the car was broken into. Marshal Maloney was suspicious of them and they seemed to realize that they would get into trouble if they did not clear out. They were seen but a short time when Mr. Maloney got track of them and he wired the officers at Escanaba to be on the lookout for the fugitives. They had been in Escanaba but a few hours when the deputy sheriff picked them up again.

Several witnesses will come up from the range tomorrow morning to testify at the hearing, and it is expected, in view of the strong circumstantial evidence already obtained, that the Somers brothers will be bound over to the circuit court for trial.

HAVE THEIR OWN REMEDY.

Wisconsin Lumbermen Are Not Supporting Proposed Forestry Bill.

It is reported from Wisconsin that the large lumber interests are not supporting the proposed bill providing for the reforestation of the forests from fire by burning the slashings and waste wood each year. A meeting was held in Milwaukee, preliminary to the meeting of the Northwestern Hemlock association and about 100 lumber dealers were present. State Forester E. W. Griffith was also in attendance. It is expected that other conferences will be held before the bill is reported out by the legislative committee.

It is said that sentiment among the lumbermen is largely against the proposition to have the slashings burned, the firing of slashings would endanger other timber, and that they have a better remedy for protecting the forests, though they do not state what it is. Among the prominent men present at the conference were a number of the largest lumber dealers in the state. A similar bill is to be presented to the Minnesota legislature at its present session, but up to this time no strong opposition to it has developed.

GANS-NELSON FIGHT.

Manager Gillard, of the Family theatre, in McDonald's opera house, has secured moving pictures of the Gans-Nelson fight, which took place at Colma, Colo., on the 8th of last September, and they are to be shown at McDonald's opera house Friday evening. The films are copyrighted and are owned exclusively by the Chicago Film Exchange, from which the Gillard Bros. obtained the right to produce them. The pictures include scenes taken at the ring side before and after the battle and also show the knockout blow in the twenty-second round. The admission prices will be 25c, 50c, 75c and $1.00. Gillard Bros. have secured a date for the pictures at Ishpeming theater for Saturday night.

WANT SERIES OF GAMES.

Many of the Negaunee baseball fans, who have been attending the indoor games this winter, would like to have the managers of the Ishpeming City and Negaunee Unions arrange a series of five games for the championship of the county. The Unions are as strong as the Ishpeming team and the proposed series of contests would be well worth witnessing. It is proposed that the selection of umpires shall be left to a disinterested party and that if necessary men from outside shall be brought in.

THE CONSTIPATION EVIL.

Is Responsible for Most Cases of Piles. Constipation paralyzes the blood vessels of the lower bowel, and often causes piles. Women, and all other indoor workers, are the most frequent sufferers. But curing constipation alone won't cure piles. A special system is needed—internal treatment, to strengthen the flabby veins and start pure blood circulating. Dr. Leonard's Hem-Roid is the only internal pile cure. Sold under guarantee at the People's Drug Store, Marquette, Mich., or Dr. Leonard's Co., Station B, Buffalo, N. Y. Write for booklet.

Horse coughs and stuffy colds that may develop into pneumonia over night are quickly cured by Foley's Honey and Tar, and it soothes inflamed membranes, heals the lungs, and expels the cold from the system. Sold by all druggists.

DRIVING ON WALKS.

Ordinance Prohibiting Use of Walks for Teams to Be Enforced.

Delivermen for the Negaunee stores have been in the habit of using the sidewalks when they felt so disposed. Superintendent Willman, of the board of public works, yesterday said that he had received many complaints from people who have been obliged to walk through deep snow at times when the sidewalks were blocked by the teams. The ordinance governing the use of the walks is now to be strictly enforced and if the delivermen do not keep their teams on the streets they will be arrested and punished.

There have been many instances of late when teams have stood on the walks from ten to twenty minutes at a time. Most of the complaints have come from people living in the eastern part of the city. There is absolutely no reason why the teamsters should monopolize the walks, as the streets are in fine condition. Occasionally after big storms there is an excuse for using the walks in certain places, but the delivermen have been taking too many liberties in this respect. In cases where a delivery of a load of wood or coal is being made the use of the walk for a short time would not be seriously objected to, but a number of those who have been allowing their teams to stand on the walks usually have nothing more than a package of meat or small parcel of groceries to deliver.

PRINCETON MEN IN TROUBLE.

Five Foreigners Living on Swanzeey Range Gave Woman Bad Scare.

Join Chiro of Princeton has caused the arrest of five countrymen, Peter Vezetti, Stefano Aquadro, Antonio Dicarme, Giuseppe Giardi and Antonio Dicarme, charging them with assault and battery. The warrants were issued yesterday by Judge T. A. Thoren and it is expected that the accused parties will be arrested today. All of them will be brought to Negaunee for their hearing.

Chiro alleges that the five men went to his home last Monday evening about 8 o'clock and abused his wife and child. He stated that all of them were under the influence of liquor and that his wife was badly frightened. She tried several ways to drive them from the house, but they refused to go. When they went away all were in an ugly mood and one of the men picked up a large stone and threw it through the window.

LOCAL LACONICS.

J. E. Chaussee, the contractor, is suffering from an injury to his foot, caused by stepping on a nail at the new high school building, which he is erecting.

Sandy Johnson, who is recently engaged in the ivory business, on Case street, is doing well. His office is now provided with the Marquette County telephone.

Mayor J. H. Winter, who has been absent in the east for ten days past, is expected home in time to attend the regular meeting of the council, to be held this evening.

Mrs. Alfred Dyer arrived here Tuesday from Detroit to attend the funeral of her aunt, the late Mrs. Chris Johnson, held yesterday afternoon from the Danish Lutheran church. Rev. Carl N. Olson, the Danish pastor, conducted the services.

J. W. Elliott has men at work decorating the interior of Levine Bros' dry goods department, which has been enlarged by the removal of the Danes' children's shoes to the rear room. New shelves three feet in width have been erected where the shelves were formerly kept.

O. J. Lacombe was called to Ishpeming Tuesday evening on account of the serious condition of his brother-in-law, Charles Duquette, who is well known here. Mr. Duquette had his arm amputated at the shoulder as a result of an injury he received in the Cliffs shaft mine.

THE SKYSCRAPER PROBLEM.

Poor New York in a Dilemma With Sewer Horns—What the Problem Is.

There is an eighteen-story building in the whole of Europe created by the indomitable Dutch at Amsterdam. Philadelphia, Milwaukee, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh and New York have no limit. Chicago specifies 260 feet, but has waived the rule in favor of a certain number of higher buildings. St. Louis, 200 feet; Cleveland, 200; Baltimore, 175; Boston, 125. Washington has placed its lowest, 100 feet on streets forty feet wide, while there is not a European city allowing structures higher than the width of the street on which they face.

San Francisco since her disaster has been rushing up vertically higher than ever on a constricted area. In abandonment the Burnham design for saner reconstruction she has not repeated the mistake of London, which, after the great fire had razed 436 acres for her, tucked away in the archives of Oxford the plans of Sir Christopher Wren for a nobler London and allowed the city to grow up haphazard.

Europe distanced us long ago in civil foresight. While Philadelphia in its consolidation act of 1854, was forgetting the one redeeming feature of Penn's rectangular plan, which would have provided the city with 290 public squares instead of the present forty-five, Louis Napoleon was summoning Baron Haussmann to make Paris a world model of municipal architecture and convenience.

Long before that, in 1807, New York's commission had obliterated from the city map all curves above Fourteenth street, and the city was to be straightened, and by establishing the 25-foot frontage committed her citizens to owning no more than a vertical slice of the island.

That arteries of traffic and hence of business form themselves along diagonal streets is abundantly shown by Philadelphia's Ridge avenue and New York's Broadway. In the narrow lower end of the latter the persistent effort of every one to get on the main thoroughfare gives the appearance of the side streets being built up.

The more careful observer will note that Broadway really marks the city's tendency to vertical improvement. The corroboration is found in the proportion

JUNKETERS PUT IN A VERY BUSY DAY

STATE INSTITUTIONS AND WORKS OF PIONEER IRON COMPANY INSPECTED BY LEGISLATORS.

BANQUET IN THE EVENING

Program of Entertainment Closes With Feast at Clifton, Capped With Pleasing Responses.

The junketers had a busy day of it in Marquette yesterday, and left the banquet tables at the Hotel Clifton last evening at 11 o'clock to catch the train for the copper country, where today will be spent. The legislators went to the Normal yesterday forenoon, were taken in special train to the prison for dinner, and about 2:30 in the afternoon went to the Pioneer iron company's works, and saw the east made, which was delayed a half hour, through the kindness of Superintendent Austin Farrell. This feature of the day's sight seeing was especially interesting to many of the legislators, who had never seen a cast before.

The party of legislators were in charge of Senator Mapes, Representatives Agens and Rice, and Sergeant-at-Arms Jones, of the house. Assistant Secretary of the Senate Carpenter was business manager. Before leaving, made up of the following persons, in addition to those already mentioned: Senators Bradley, Bates, Barnaby, Shields, Collins, Fairbanks, Foster, Whitley and wife, White, Taylor, Kingman, Moriarty and Dickinson; Representatives Ogg and wife, Wheeler and daughter, Agens and wife, Huntley and wife, Farmer and wife, DeYoung and wife, Rice, Willoughby, Kimmery, Spur, Walker, Ormsbee, Gelinas Van Raalte La Huis, Clarken, Whelan, Decker, Bied, Sterling, McCabe, Straight and Green.

The party will remain in Houghton until 3:40 Friday, when they will leave for Chicago and expect to arrive in that city Saturday morning, where the junket will break up.

At the Normal School.
Members of the junketing party from the legislature, to the number of about thirty, visited the Northern Normal school yesterday forenoon, arriving at the institution shortly after 9 o'clock. Upon their arrival, the party was at once taken to the assembly room, where a large crowd of students and others had already gathered. The members of the house and senate normal school committees were each handed a printed estimate of the amount needed for current expenses and for special purposes at the Northern Normal for the two years from July 1, 1909, to July 1, 1901. The appropriation asked for is a large one, as it includes a request for a $150,000 building, which is desired in the space between the main building and the science hall. A colored sketch of the proposed new building was on exhibition in President Kaye's office. If the request of President Kaye should be granted, the buildings now in use would simply be wings to the new and main structure. Equipment for the proposed building, the installation of manual training and domestic science departments and other special improvements asked for raise the total estimated cost of special improvements for which the legislature is asked to make an appropriation, to $174,550. The budget of annual current expenses, according to the estimate, amounts to $61,300.

Chairman La Huis, of the house committee on Normal schools, said that the present depleted condition of the state treasury would probably prohibit an appropriation for the new building at this session, although the extent of the requests from the other normals of the state would have a good deal to do with the action of the legislature in this matter. If the needs of this institution are found to be much greater than in the schools below the straits, it is possible that something may be done toward the erection of a new building here. Mr. La Huis said.

Visitors Speak to Students.
The legislators were escorted into the assembly room by President Kaye and, in so far as possible, were seated on the platform, the remainder occupying front seats. Short talks were made by the students by Senators Dickinson, Mapes and Shields, and Representatives La Huis, Van Raalte, Strait and Haviland. Judging from the nature of the talks given, the legislators are presumably a crowd of humorists, and they kept their audience convulsed with laughter most of the time, although some of the stories told sounded strangely familiar. Most of the speakers diplomatically expressed their desire to do everything in their power for the Northern State Normal school, and regretted that the impoverished condition of the state treasury would probably prevent them doing all that they would like to do. Several of the speakers devoted a part of their informal speeches to a discussion of the privileges, duties and responsibilities of normal school students, and one or two of the speakers opened wide the wings of oratory and allowed them to majestically take their flight. The singing of the Normal school chorus was heartily applauded.

After the meeting in the assembly room, the visitors were taken through the buildings and were much interested in the equipment of the institution, especially in the new central heating plant, which has just been completed. This inspection tour was made hurriedly, as the hour was late and they had to hasten in order to get to the prison in time for dinner. The house and senate committees on Normal schools again visited the Normal on their return from the prison yesterday afternoon, in order to more fully examine into the needs of the institution.

At the Prison.
Following the inspection of the Northern Normal school the members of the legislative party returned to the city and about 12 o'clock left for the Marquette prison, on a special train over the Marquette & Southeastern railway. They were accompanied by the faculty of the Normal school and members of the Marquette committee on entertainment.

Dinner was served in the prison chapel shortly after the party arrived. The prison orchestra played overtures while the service was going on. Places were laid for 100 guests and nearly that number were present. A footsome menu was served, under the direction of the steward, James Deagon, and was discussed with relish by the party, the members of which had put in a busy morning.

When the last course was served Warden Russell called for responses from a number of the visiting legislators. Representative Strait talked at some length, and expressed the opinion that the legislature cannot provide too liberally or plan too carefully for the carrying on of advanced prison work. He laid stress on the idea that the state prisoners should be regarded as reformatory, rather than penal, institutions. This idea Warden Russell took up, and said that Michigan was in the front rank of the progressive states that were aiming to bring this reformatory idea to its fullest development. The hearty applause given sentiments expressed in this vein showed that practically the entire legislative contingent was in sympathy with this point of view.

In his response Representative Ogg put himself on record as in favor of the abolishment of the contract system in the state prisons. He said he believed that of this system was abolished all the prisons could be made self-sustaining, instead of being under the necessity of drawing on the state treasury for maintenance. He said that Representative Clarken of Detroit had a measure along this line, which merited the thoughtful attention of the legislature.

The number of responses was limited because of the time set for the return of the special train to the city, as it was desired to get the party to the North Marquette furnace in season to permit its members to see the afternoon cast of pig iron. Before leaving, however, the entire party made a trip through the prison shops. The committees on the prison remained throughout the afternoon, giving the institution a thorough inspection and consulting with the officials in regard to the needs for the bi-ennial period.

The Banquet.
Shortly after 8 o'clock last night 125 persons, including the members of the legislative party, sat down to the banquet tables at the Hotel Clifton. In spite of the large number of guests, the banquet was handled and served admirably by Landford Sullivan and his assistants. The Peerless orchestra furnished music in the hotel lobby, while the following delightful menu was served:

- New York Counts
- Celery on Branch
- Green Olives
- Green Sea Turtle
- Salted Almonds
- Radiishes
- Roast Young Turkey, with Dressing
- Candied Sweet Potatoes, Cranberry Sauce
- Braised Fillet of Beef, aux Champignons
- French Peas
- Waldorf Salad
- Tutle Fruit Ice Cream
- Assorted Cake
- Wafers
- Coffee

The Responses.
While the last courses were being served, Toastmaster Angus Maywood called the guests to order, and after a few appropriate words, introduced Representative Van Raalte. Mr. Van Raalte said that the people of the upper peninsula were noted for their resourcefulness and that this trait sometimes extended even to the election of a governor. The desire to obliterate the expression of upper and lower peninsula as separate sections was then expressed, the speaker preferring to speak of both as the grand state of Michigan. The speaker spoke briefly of our responsibility as American citizens and closed with a magnificent tribute to the flag of our land.

Senator Bates was next called upon and said that he was proud that the upper peninsula was a part of his state, and stated that the delegation was here from the legislature for business, to investigate the needs of this part of the state. He paid an eloquent tribute to his former school teacher, Judge John W. Stone, whom he declared was an ideal school teacher and that it would be a crowning climax for such a career to place him upon the supreme bench of the state.

Senator Shields stated that Michigan had not been gold bricked by the United States, as was supposed when the state was given the upper peninsula in settlement of a boundary dispute, although it may have been iron bricked. Senator Dickinson said that he was confused and appalled by the large figures in which the upper peninsula computed her mineral and other resources. J. S. Shores was the first local speaker to be called upon, and he spoke on the subject "Products of the Upper Peninsula That We Are Proud Of." He mentioned as things of especial pride, the water power of this section, its farming districts, its iron ore, the copper country, the lumber sections, and said that most of all he was proud of the women of the upper peninsula. He also lauded the men of the upper peninsula, saying that there was not a man in northern Michigan who was "littler" in the beginning of what we may be, and closed with a beautiful tribute in rhyme to Marquette and the upper peninsula.

The visiting legislators generally expressed themselves well pleased with their reception in Marquette, and bid farewell to the people of this city with profuse good wishes for their success and prosperity.

A. MATHEWS HOME FROM THE ORIENT

MARQUETTE MAN TELLS OF INTERESTING TOUR OF CHINA AND JAPAN, AND IMPRESSIONS GAINED THERE.

A. Mathews arrived home yesterday from a combined business and pleasure trip into the Far East. Mr. Mathews was accompanied on the trip by his daughter, Miss Frances, who stopped on at Chicago on their return, but is expected to arrive here this morning. It was six months ago yesterday, when Mr. Mathews left this city by way of Duluth, Spokane and Portland, on his long journey.

The trip to and from the Orient was made in the tramp freight steamship "M. S. Dollar." Mr. Mathews and daughter, being the only passengers. The following places were visited by Mr. and Miss Mathews, in the order named: Nagasaki, Japan; Moji, Japan; Taku, China; Tien Tsin, Peking, Chefoo, Shanghai, Hong Kong and Canton; Kobe, Japan; Tokio, Hakodate, Mororan, San Pedro Cal, Los Angeles, and from there home.

At Peking the Great Wall of China and Ming's tombs were visited. While at Kobe, Japan, the travelers had the privilege of witnessing the emperor's review of the Japanese navy, 117 ships being in line. They did not see the Mikado, as they arrived a few minutes after his departure. On the day of the naval review, the Mikado had imbibed freely and went to sleep in his carriage on the way to the reviewing stand. When the carriage arrived, his majesty was still asleep and the program was delayed for some time as no one dared waken him. Finally, he awoke of his own accord and the program was allowed to proceed.

Resourceful But Untrustworthy.
"My impression of the Japanese is that they are a resourceful people, but wholly untrustworthy, at least among the lower classes," said Mrs. Mathews yesterday. "It is very noticeable that positions of trust in Japan, such as bank and hotel clerks, are almost uniformly held by Chinese, as they are faithful and honest. It appears that even the Japs themselves will not trust their countrymen. I know of no nation where there is as great a difference in civilization between the upper and lower classes. It is almost impossible to realize that the degraded 'coolies' are of the same race and nationality as the educated people of Japan."

"The Japs seem to be imitative and systematically progressive. When they start to do a thing they follow it out to the minutest detail, differing from Americans in this respect. Time is no object when the matter of thoroughness is in question. They are great copyists, and if they can get a model of any invention they soon have made many others like it. They are a remarkably clean people and everyone takes a bath at least once a day."

"During my stay in Japan, I heard only words of praise and commendation for this country and its people. They are greatly pleased with the United States, and more so than ever since the visit of the fleet to their shores. I was told the danger of war with Japan is imaginary and entirely newspaper talk."

Chinese Are Faithful.
"The Chinese, as I found them, are faithful and generally trustworthy, but lack the qualities of leadership. They are good followers, and under the foreign leaders who are now getting into the country, I predict a great future for China. It is a land of wonderful agricultural and mineral resources. The most objectionable thing that I noticed in both China and Japan, but especially in China, was the commonness of child labor. Much of the manual labor and menial work is done by boys, a condition which would not be tolerated in this country. The women and girls of these countries are little more than beasts of burden. It is to be hoped that the Orient will speedily undergo a great reform in these respects."
