

BIG IRONCLAD DOFF THEIR GALA ATTIRE

Bad Weather Is Experienced by the Battle Fleet in Hampton Roads and Because of It the Ships Are Made Snug and Tight.

Storm Is the Worst Encountered in Any Port on the World's Cruise, Yet in Spite of It the Coaling Is Started—Laden With Souvenirs, Many Enlisted Men Leave for Home, Their Terms of Services Having Expired, and This Is an Interesting Sight.

Fort Monroe, Va., Feb. 23.—The had weather which greeted the battleship fleet at the Virginia Capes yesterday—the worst that the ships have experienced in any port visited on their way around the world—continued today. The ships were made snug and tight for the storm, and only a small American ensign at each after flagstaff and the commanding officers' flag at the peak were to be seen today in place of the rainbow streamers which yesterday clothed the vessels of the fleet in gala attire.

Nearly half of the ships began coaling today, in spite of the weather. It is hoped that the last of the ships will have been coaled by Saturday, in order that the men may parade in Norfolk that day in response to the invitation of the citizens of that city.

Jack Tars Scatter for Home. One of the most interesting sights today was the departure of a large number of enlisted men whose terms of service had expired. As they left the sides of the vessels on which they had served, the departing men were given lusty cheers by the sailors. The blue jackets brought home all manner of souvenirs from every country visited. The cruise has furnished them with stories for their friends at home for all time to come.

A number of the sailors who left today were long enlistment men who undoubtedly will come back into the service before three months have elapsed. They have saved considerable money on the trip and are anxious to go home and tell of their experiences. If they re-enlist within ninety days they will be rated as having never leaving left the navy, and will receive the increased pay which comes with every re-enlistment.

Reception to the Officers. The reception tendered in the picturesque Fort Monroe club by the army officers stationed here to the officers of the fleet and their wives was one of the social events today. Tonight there was a ball. The entertaining for the officers will continue almost incessantly while the ships are here, and the hospitalities ashore will be returned aboard ship as soon as the coaling and inspection days are over.

Lieutenant Commander Ridley McLane, first fleet ordnance officer, presided this afternoon at a meeting of officers on board the Connecticut. These officers are meeting constantly to exchange views on the working of the fire control system at the last battle target practice in Manila bay, and it is expected that a decided improvement in the system will result from their reports and suggestions. It is the proud boast of the officers and men that their superiority at the targets is superior to any other navy.

SOUTHLAND PAYS HOMAGE. Admiral Sperry and Many of His Officers Are Richmond's Guests. Richmond, Va., Feb. 23.—Grateful homage was paid by the Southland today to the globe-circling American battleship fleet in this old capital of the Confederacy. "We welcome you to the hearts of a people who yield to no one in the devotion to the American navy nor in the loyalty to your flag." This sentiment, feelingly expressed at a luncheon this afternoon by Mayor Richardson in welcoming Rear Admiral Sperry, Rear Admiral Wainwright and fifty officers under the former's command to this city, found echo in the brief address of Admiral Sperry, who spoke warmly of the Southerners among the officers of his fleet.

The luncheon, at which men of all walks of civil life, of all ages and of unyielding loyalty to Lee and Jefferson, fraternized in stately fellowship with the fighting men of the navy, was given by the Richmond Chamber of Commerce. In his address Admiral Sperry pointed out that the voyage around the world was no junket.

Fleet's Efficiency Greatly Increased. "While we have been encircling the globe," he said, "we have doubled the score of last year's target practice. The fleet's efficiency has been increased 25 per cent by the economy of coal consumption, due to the hard and faithful work of the men below the decks. When the contest comes, a navy must know how to get there, and how to stay there when it gets there. Since the people generally are only impressed by what they see it is necessary if you desire the peace of the world that you show your fleet."

Speeches were also made by Rear Admiral Wainwright and others. Two Captains Made Rear Admirals. Washington, Feb. 23.—The president today nominated the following captains to be rear admirals: Giles B. Harber and Uriah R. Harris.

It has been said, opportunity knocks but once; let him who would succeed be ready to boost that knock.

FIVE COUNTIES VOTE "DRY."

One Hundred and Forty Indiana Saloons Are Put Out of Business.

Indianapolis, Feb. 23.—Five Indiana counties that held local option elections today voted dry. They are Grant, Howard, Daviess, Adams and Newton. One hundred and forty-three saloons are put out of business.

Prohibition Fight in Iowa. Des Moines, Ia., Feb. 23.—By a vote of twelve to six the house committee on suppression of intemperance today voted for the re-submission of the constitutional amendment prohibiting the sale and manufacture of liquor in Iowa, and urged the passage of the bill. Only two Republicans voted against the measure, and the resolution will be waged on the floor of the house this week. Opposed to re-submission will be a small body of Republicans. Effects will be made to substitute the Casson bill for the enforcement of the existing law. The committee on the senate committee on suppression of intemperance will not report favorably upon it. Many senators argue that prohibition could not be enforced in the state.

LEGISLATORS SPURN IT. Commissioner Plan of Government Defeated in the Iowa House.

Des Moines, Ia., Feb. 23.—After a spirited debate today the Des Moines commission plan of government as applied to cities of 2,000 to 25,000 people was defeated in the lower house, 42 to 25. The present equalization of Des Moines commissioners was declared disgraceful, and the smaller towns of the state, whence most of the legislators hail, declare they want none of it.

DEADLOCK CONTINUES AT MADISON, WIS.

"Uncle Ike" Lacks Ten Votes—State Senator Blaine Testifies at the Investigation, but No Sensations Are Developed.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 23.—The United States senatorial deadlock continued today. The fifteenth joint ballot resulted in Isaac Stephenson receiving forty-nine out of the 117 votes cast, lacking ten of the necessary majority.

Senator John J. Blaine, who preferred a long list of specific charges of alleged corruption against Senator Stephenson, in connection with the recent primary, today appeared before the legislative investigating committee and was the star witness. The examination of Mr. Blaine today was practically confined to the first of his sixteen specific charges of alleged corruption. The first of these charges is that Mr. Stephenson spent $100,000 and approximately $250,000 during the campaign. The information as to the first named amount, Mr. Blaine said, he had received from State Chairman Edmunds. As to the $250,000 he said he figured that the booming which Mr. Stephenson received through his Milwaukee newspaper swelled the amount to the higher figure.

Mr. Blaine figured out that the circulation of Mr. Stephenson's paper containing attacks upon former Assemblyman Eken in Eken's district could be considered as corruption. At the afternoon session the witness said that he had several letters showing that money was used unlawfully, and he would present these letters probably tomorrow.

BOXING BOUT A DRAW.

PEACE OF EUROPE IN RUSSIA'S KEEPING.

Whether the Muscovite Government Will Support Serbia in the Event of Hostilities With Austria Is Momentous Question.

Berlin, Feb. 23.—In well-informed quarters in Berlin it is learned that the attitude of Russia is still doubtful in connection with the Austro-Serbian situation. Serbia has neither received assurance of Russian support in case of hostilities, nor has Russia intimated that assistance would be withheld. The expectation here is, however, that Russia will not take any step that would lead to conflict with the great powers.

A special dispatch to the Lokal Anzeiger from St. Petersburg declares that Russia again in the last few days has earnestly warned Serbia against doing anything that might tend to a breach of the peace. The correspondent adds that Russia does not wish for war and would in no way support aggressive action on the part of Serbia.

Belgrade, Feb. 23.—The Serbian government has given orders that until further notice no passports are to be issued to more than forty-five years of age. The object is to keep men of military age at home.

SENSATIONAL LIBEL SUIT.

Berlin, Feb. 23.—The trial of a sensational libel suit in which Naval Captain Berger and Dr. Igenstein, a journalist, were accused of libeling some of the most prominent active admirals of the German navy ended today with the sentencing of the former to a fine of $1,250 and the latter to six months in jail.

ALGERIAN TOWN SHAKEN.

Constantine, Algeria, Feb. 23.—A sharp earthquake occurred here today. It was accompanied by subterranean rumblings and lasted several seconds.

BROWNSVILLE CASE ADJUSTED AT LAST

President Roosevelt Having Approved It, a Compromise Measure Is Passed by the Senate by the Party Vote of 56 to 26.

Provides for a Court of Inquiry to Consider Proposed Re-Enlistments and Recommend the Reinstatement of Such Soldiers Not Found Guilty of Shooting Up the Town—That a Ship Subsidy Law Be Enacted Is New Plan of the House Leaders.

Washington, Feb. 23.—The president is authorized to appoint a court of inquiry to determine the qualifications for re-enlistment of the negro soldiers of the Twenty-fifth regiment who were accused of shooting up Brownsville. The Aldrich bill for this purpose passed the senate by the party vote of fifty-six to twenty-six today, except that Mr. Teller voted with the Republicans for the passage of the bill.

The bill is a compromise measure approved by President Roosevelt and all the Republican members of the committee on military affairs. The court of inquiry will act as a board to consider the applications for re-enlistment and recommend the restoration to duty of such soldiers as are not found guilty of complicity in the affray.

The senate also passed the fortifications bill, with an appropriation of $8,230,111, and the diplomatic and consular bill, carrying $3,616,386.

Proceedings of the House.

Washington, Feb. 23.—Appropriation bills mainly occupied the house today. The sundry civil bill was considered, but the progress was slow. The fortifications, legislative, executive and judicial, diplomatic and consular and postoffice appropriation bills were sent to conference.

Mr. Clarke, of Florida, unsuccessfully attempted to have an investigation by the committee on the judiciary into the writing of the recent letter by Secretary Bacon, apologizing for Congressman Olcott, of Panama, Mr. Clark's object being to ascertain if Secretary Bacon's reference to Raisins, Stafford and Wilson, the privileges of the house.

Militia Companies Disbanded.

Omaha, Neb., Feb. 23.—An order was received tonight, disbanding the three companies of militia which had been under arms the past twenty-four hours. They were instructed, however, to hold themselves in readiness for call.

Ship Subsidy Bill to Be Passed.

Washington, Feb. 23.—Before the close of the Sixtieth congress a ship subsidy or ocean mail subsidy law will be enacted, if new plans of the house leaders are successful. Tomorrow the ocean mail bill which passed the senate March 20, 1908, will be reported out of the house committee on postoffices and postroads. A canvass of the committee today indicated that the vote on this measure would be ten to eight.

INDEPENDENT POLLS BIG VOTE.

Chicago, Feb. 23.—The confusion resulting from the fact that the name of Jacob H. Marks appeared twice on the Republican primary ticket for city clerk voted on today caused the independent candidate, John R. McCabe, to pile up a huge vote, but he was defeated by Marks, who was endorsed by the party chiefs. Marks received 29,377 votes, while McCabe got 27,242. The second Marks only received 3,006 votes. Aside from this confusion, the election passed peacefully. The political leaders declared the new primary law, under which the aldermen were nominated for the first time, a success.

Close Contest at Springfield.

Springfield, Ills., Feb. 23.—In the primary election held today, former Lieutenant Governor Lawrence V. Sherman was nominated as the Republican candidate for mayor over Mayor Reese by eight votes, according to the unofficial figures. Late tonight Reese claims a tie. A contest will undoubtedly follow.

SOME ALARM AT OTTAWA.

Is Feared New Boundary Treaty Gives Hunter Island to the United States.

Ottawa, Feb. 23.—Some alarm was created in the Canadian parliament today by a member calling attention to the fact that if the copy of the recent boundary treaty with the United States furnished to the Canadian parliament is correct, Hunter Island, in the Pigeon river district, containing about a thousand square miles, has been lost to Canada and is now the property of the United States.

In the Ashburton treaty the island was conveyed to Canada through the statement that the boundary line shall not intersect the island. The copy of the recent Washington treaty leaves out the word "not." Dr. W. F. King, Canada's representative on the boundary commission, tonight declared that the Ashburton line had been followed. However the original of the treaty will have to be consulted before this point is finally settled.

Seventy-five per cent of the meat consumed in Great Britain is imported.

SHERIFF CHEATS MOB.

Lynching Threatened at Springfield, Mo., Strong Guard Is Posted.

Springfield, Mo., Feb. 23.—Fearing an attack by a mob on the jail where Eugene Tucker, who last night shot and killed Joseph Ellis and wife, is confined, Sheriff Freeman placed twenty armed deputies on guard tonight. The sheriff was informed that a mob was forming to average the double murder. The police are held in reserve to assist the county authorities.

TEXAS NEGRO TO SWING.

Death Sentence Upheld by the United States Supreme Court.

Washington, Feb. 23.—The case of Marcellus Thomas, a negro under sentence of death on the charge of killing two men in Harris county, Texas, was decided today by the supreme court of the United States against the colored man. As the grand jury by which the indictment was returned against him contained no man of his own race, Thomas charged that he had been discriminated against, contrary to the Constitution of the United States, and therefore he asked the supreme court to intervene in his behalf. The court refused to reverse the decision of the Texas court, which was adverse to Thomas.

INTERCEDES FOR GREEKS.

Pan-Hellenic Union Appeals to the Governor of Nebraska.

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 23.—The Pan-Hellenic union, with a membership of fifty thousand, today appealed to Governor Shellenbeger against the alleged lawless acts of the South Omaha rioters.

Murdered Policeman Buried.

Omaha, Neb., Feb. 23.—The funeral of Policeman Edward Lowery, whose murder by John Masurek, a Greek, was the immediate cause of the riots Sunday, occurred today at St. Bridget's church, South Omaha. The attendance was very large, and a denunciation of mob law by Rev. Father Moriarty, who preached the sermon, gave a hint of the turbulent scenes so recently enacted. The priest urged obedience to the law.

Big Fine Affirmed.

Washington, Feb. 23.—The verdict of the United States circuit court of New York imposing a fine of $108,000 upon the New York Central Railroad company on the charge of granting rebates to the American Sugar company was today affirmed by the supreme court of the United States.

MILITARY ELECTIONS HELD AT LANSING.

Field Officers Are Chosen for the Three Regiments of the Guard, Promotion by Seniority Governing in Practically All Cases.

Lansing, Mich., Feb. 23.—[Special.]—For the first time in the history of the state the officers of the entire National Guard of the state met here today to elect officers. Hitherto this has been done in stations near the center of the regiment, but the military board figured out that it would be as cheap to have combined with other regiments to give the additional benefit of permitting a school of instruction and letting the men get together for a time. Captains Dorsey and Keith were here and gave interesting technical talks. Both are from the regular army. Captain Dorsey is state inspecting officer.

Anti-Trust Law Sustained.

In an opinion by Justice White, the court upheld the validity of the Arkansas anti-trust law of 1905, which provides a penalty of $200 to $500 for each offense and the forfeiture of the right to do business in the state. The decision was handed down in the case of the Hammond Packing company of Chicago, which it was charged had combined with other packers to fix the price of meats. The case originated in the circuit court of Pulaski county, Ark., where a $10,000 fine was imposed. That verdict was sustained by the Arkansas supreme court, whose finding was today affirmed.

Express Franks Held Illegal.

In an opinion by Justice Day in the various cases of the United States against the express companies of the country the supreme court held that under the Elkins law the express companies could not legally grant franchises for the free transportation of the property of their own employees or of employees of other express or transportation companies. The decision held that to grant this privilege would be to exercise undue preference under the law, which prohibits all transportation companies giving to any one rates which are not included in the public schedule.

Telephone Company Loses.

The supreme court decided the case of the Cumberland Telephone company versus the railroad commission of Louisiana, involving the right of the commission to reduce the company's long distance rates, favorably to the state.

Creditors Score a Point.

The question whether a creditor having an unliquidated debt may file a petition in bankruptcy against the debtor was decided in the affirmative by the court.

CAN'T BE PROSECUTED.

Lack of Iowa Law Wins for Chicago Mail Order House.

Des Moines, Ia., Feb. 23.—Because Sears, Roebuck & Co., of Chicago, is an "unmatured person," a corporation, it cannot be punished by the United States laws of the southern district of Iowa. Judge McPherson handed down this opinion in a mail fraud case here today. The opinion declares that there is no law to compel the defendant to defend itself in Iowa. The case will retain its present status a reasonable time, after which the government may decide to prosecute in Illinois, says Judge McPherson. The firm was charged with advertising one article and filling a prepaid order with inferior goods.

TOO MANY FARMERS AMONG VENTUREMEN

By Action Taken by Judge Anderson in Court at Chicago the Trial of the Oil Trust Case Is Unexpectedly Delayed.

Of 150 Citizens Summoned for Prospective Jury Duty, Only Three Are City Men, Notwithstanding the Big Population of the Metropolis, and Because of the Singularly Large Proportion of Agriculturists the Entire Panel Is Quashed.

Chicago, Feb. 23.—The retrial of the Standard Oil company case was unexpectedly delayed today, when Judge Anderson, in the United States district court, quashed a statement written because of what he considered the singularly large proportion of farmers thereon. It was a so-called farmers' jury which brought in the verdict making the fine of $22,240,000 in the original case possible, and John S. Miller, of the defense, was prompt in calling the court's attention to the fact that the panel presented for the new trial contained but three Chicagoans, although 60 per cent of the population within the jurisdiction of the court is city.

In his comments, the court said, in part: "It so happens that this case is tried in a district composed of an enormous commercial city and several rural counties. The country may have greater air, a higher moral standard and greater intelligence than the city, but that is an open question. However I am not going outside of the issue when I say that if the jury were composed partly of business men who read the commercial and industrial phase of the case a more satisfactory and just verdict may be reached."

Judge Anderson said he would hear the argument tomorrow as to whether the shipments or the settlements of the freight charges constitute the offense. The government will contend that each shipment of oil on which an alleged rebate was paid forms a separate violation of the law. Under this construction of the law, it would be possible to find the defendant, if convicted, a maximum of $100,000. The principal charges are charged, thirty-six settlements of freight charges on these shipments. Accepting this view, a maximum fine of $720,000 is possible.

U. S. Supreme Court Rules That Railroad Must Pay for Rebating.

Washington, Feb. 23.—The verdict of the United States circuit court of New York imposing a fine of $108,000 upon the New York Central Railroad company on the charge of granting rebates to the American Sugar company was today affirmed by the supreme court of the United States.

WOMAN'S HAT BLAZES UP.

Americans Celebrating in Paris Narrowly Escape Serious Injury.

Paris, Feb. 23.—The Mardi Gras was celebrated in the city today with unusual animation. A party of Americans were celebrating the holiday in a restaurant when the accidental ignition of a toy balloon suspended from the table resulted in an explosion that led to narrow escape from serious injury by fire. The hat of Mrs. Florence Clark, of Syracuse, N. Y., blew up and her hair was partly burned before her hat could be torn off by her companions. Two other Americans were slightly burned.

WEDS A SOUTHERN MAN.

Senator McMillan's Granddaughter the Bride of Preston Gibson.

Washington, Feb. 23.—In the presence of many members of the diplomatic corps and prominent society folk of Washington, New York and other cities, Miss Grace McMillan Jarvis, whose mother was the eldest daughter of the late Senator McMillan of Michigan, was today married to Preston Gibson, son of the late Senator Gibson of Louisiana.

Hetty Green's Daughter Marries. Morristown, N. J., Feb. 23.—Miss Sylvia Green, daughter of Mrs. Hetty Green, of New York, was married at St. Peter's Episcopal church today to Matthew Astor Wilks, who is about sixty-five years old, is a great grandson of John Jacob Astor.

POKES AT LAWYER DELMAS.

Kansas City Divine Scathingly Denounces the Unwritten Law. Kansas City, Feb. 23.—Rev. Dr. Cyrus Townsend Brady, at the banquet of the Sons of the Revolution here last night, delivered a scathing denunciation of the "unwritten law" and openly named Delphine M. Delmas, Harry K. Thaw's famous counsel, as "the $100,000 counsel for a degenerate aristocracy, who uttered insults to God and humanity." Mr. Delmas last night delivered the Washington birthday oration to the Kansas City bar association.

NO CABINET PLACE FOR EX-GOV. HERRICK.

Ohio's Former Executive Eliminated at Own Request, MacVeagh Is Considered Most Likely Choice for Treasury Portfolio.

New York, Feb. 23.—Ex-Governor Herrick, of Ohio, will not be secretary of the treasury in the Taft cabinet. This fact is set forth in a statement written by Mr. Taft after a lengthy conference with Mr. Herrick today. The statement shows that Mr. Herrick wrote Mr. Taft as early as December last to say that his business engagements were such as to prevent his acceptance of a place in the cabinet. The elimination of former Governor Herrick at his own request would seem to put Franklin MacVeagh, of Chicago, in the lead for the treasury portfolio, but the only light Mr. Taft would throw on the situation tonight was that it would be several days yet before the matter would be settled.

Disenfranchises the Race Problem.

Tonight Mr. Taft was the principal speaker at a meeting in the interest of Hampton Insitute and held under auspices of the Armstrong association at Carnegie Hall. The place was crowded and the president-elect was given an enthusiastic welcome. The principal speeches were made by Bishop David H. Greer, of the Episcopal diocese of New York, Booker T. Washington and Mr. Taft.

A discussion of the conditions of the colored people in the South as witnessed by himself on his recent trip formed a considerable portion of the president-elect's remarks. He spoke approvingly of the progress made by the colored people since the war, especially in the matter of education, and expressed the hope that the race prejudice so general in the South would be soon overcome.

Mr. Roosevelt Goes to New York.

Washington, Wednesday, Feb. 23.—The train to which the president's car was attached left for New York at 12:30 o'clock this morning. Chairman Frank H. Hitchcock, of the Republican national committee, left on the same train, but did not board the president's car.

TORNADO WRECKS AN ARKANSAS TOWN.

Six Persons Lose Their Lives, a Score Are Injured and Only Two Buildings Are Left Standing in the Stricken Village. Marked Tree, Ark., Feb. 23.—Six persons were killed, more than a score were injured, several seriously, and practically every building in the town of Fishersville was wrecked by a tornado today. Wire communication with the devastated district is completely prostrated and the only information received was by messenger, who stated that in Fishers but two buildings are standing, while the damage in the surrounding country also is great. The dead were J. S. Bass, Wade Reese, Mrs. Stone, two unidentified men and a child. Because of the flooded condition of the intervening territory a relief party which started from Marked Tree this afternoon was forced to abandon the effort for today. Many of the dead and injured, it is said, are buried beneath the wreckage of demolished buildings.

Cyclone Causes Havoc in Indiana.

Evansville, Ind., Feb. 23.—Houses were unroofed, barns demolished and livestock killed in a cyclone which swept over Centre township, four miles north of Evansville, today. The homes of Robert Politt, Cicero Hornby and others were wrecked from their foundations and the sleeping people were forced out into the fury of the hail and rain storm. Cows, horses and hogs were killed by flying wreckage.

Men Freeze to Death in Colorado.

Danvers, Colo., Feb. 23.—During the blizzard yesterday a Mexican sheep herder was frozen to death near Hugo, and another was so badly frozen he will die. B. F. Kirkpatrick, of Fort Morgan, was frozen to death while hunting. Thousands of sheep were killed during the storm.

Train Stalled in Nebraska.

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 23.—A mixed passenger and freight train of the Burlington is fast in a snow drift near Hay Point. The train has five passengers aboard. It has been stalled since last night and cannot be relieved for several hours.

PRICES OF STOCKS CRUMBLE BADLY

Distrust of the Speculative Position Has Rapid Growth in Wall Street and Brings the Fabric of Values Down With a Crash.

Developments in the Steel Trade Exposing the False Assumptions That Have Been Held as to the Rate of Returning Prosperity, Confidence Gives Way to the Gloomiest of Forebodings, a Flood of Selling Ensues and Market Is Demoralized Completely.

New York, Feb. 23.—Suspicion and distrust of the speculative position in the stock market spread with rapid growth in Wall street today and brought the fabric of values down with a crash. The conviction was quick in forming, after the throwing open of the steel market to competition last week, that the stock market position was an artificial one and had been brought about by false assumptions of the trade position. This was not wholly a new view of the market, but the success which the aggressive support of values had met had built up a confidence that the position would be held by the main strength of the powerful capitalists supposed to be back of the movement.

Today saw the quick abandonment of so much of that confidence as was left after the demonstration of weakness last week. London sent heavy selling orders to the New York market for execution as soon as the trading began, and this helped the downward rush of prices which began after the opening. There was a considerable accumulation of selling orders from domestic sources also, some for liquidation on account of the trade outlook and others forced by the failure to make good the margins which had been exhausted by last week's fall in prices. The weak early market which resulted from those conditions was no more than had been expected, and the alert professional element amongst the traders stood ready to take advantage of the decline to take stocks, some to cover short contracts put out last week and some for an upward reaction in view of the considerable extent to which the decline had run. This buying staved the market momentarily, but it proved a technical weakening factor when the decline was renewed and these purchases were pressed for liquidation along with the continued outside selling.

Court Decision Frightens.

A new set of weakening factors came in the inference drawn from the reopening of the supreme court at Washington. Decisions were handed down against the New York Central railroad for rebating, and the speculative element jumped to the conclusion that a later decision would uphold the constitutionality of the commodities clause of the Hepburn law and so constrain the anthracite railroads to get rid of their mining properties.

As to the trade position, the speculative contingent was disposed to take the gloomiest view. Today's discussion had to do with the likelihood of rational tariff until these tariff rates were made the necessity that would follow for a reduction of wages and the danger that would then arise of strikes and disorders. The unsettling effect of the various rumors was great, but as the expression of these sentiments invariably issued in a selling of stocks, the result was simplified into undeviating liquidation.

Jack is home again.

Just one little finishing touch and the Taft cabinet will be as tight and sound
 as anyone could ask.

In fact, Senator Burrows would greatly add to Senator Smith's peace of mind
 if he would announce that he will not be a candidate for another term.

Whether or not Mr. Bryan will run
 for president again all depends, he says,
 on the attitude of the majority in his party. As for himself, he is willing to go on leading for as long as he is pressed into service.

The newspapers of the state are becoming impatient at the slow progress
 being made at Lansing, and are beginning to chide the solons. They hoped for better things, following the new provisions in regard to compensation. They know they must make allowances because of the many new members, but
 with all allowances made they feel that it is about time legislative business began to be dispatched. The murmurs will develop into rasping criticisms if the dust doesn't soon begin to fly at the state capital.

Regarding the reported "triple alliance" to apportion the big prizes in Michigan politics, the Soo News, says:
 "Of course Mr. Osborn counts both Senator Smith and Congressman Townsend
 among his good friends, and is proud to do so, but he has made his position perfectly clear. He will not become a candidate for governor because Smith
 and Townsend or anyone else desires it,
 but only in response to a genuinely popular demand. In other words, he refuses to be the principal in any manufactured boom, no matter who may be the manufacturer. Should he yield to the importunities of his friends and become a candidate for the nomination
 his campaign would stand entirely upon its own feet, and knowing Mr. Osborn as we do we know that the campaign
 would be a dignified one, and would never lose sight of the limitations put upon the candidate for so high and honorable a place."

Record ski jumps and the comfort of
 the spectators are things incompatible.
 The conditions that make it pleasant to watch a ski tournament are the things that assure that the performances will only be average. Thus the weather for the Ishpeming tournament on Monday
 was ideal from the spectators' viewpoint
 and permitted them to enjoy the sport
 without discomfort, but it was such as
 made it impossible to make record
 jumps. The snow was soft and sticky and in consequence the course did not have the speed that it would have possessed had the temperature been down to the freezing point. The show was an excellent one, however, and the attendance was large enough to indicate that there has been no falling off in interest
 in Ishpeming's midwinter skiing carnival.

The census bill, vetoed by President Roosevelt because of its resurrection of the old "spoils" principle, will remain in its present vetoed status throughout the brief period remaining of the Roosevelt administration, and will be an unwell-
 come legacy to the Taft administration.
 Congress and the new president will not have any open difference over it, we are informed. The new president will be approached diplomatically, with the purpose of learning whether he will "stand"
 for the bill in the form in which it was vetoed by Roosevelt. If he can be persuaded into accepting the measure in that form it will be re-enacted—otherwise the law will be framed without the objectionable provisions. Whatever the outcome, we are assured that there will be no friction right at the gateway between the new president and the new congress.

Representative Young writes that W.
 F. Knox, the editor of the Soo News, has,
 throughout the water power controversy, been solicitous to secure the advantage of the city, by paving the way for the greatest possible water power development there. As has been commented, the passage of the Young bill is no small satisfaction for the editor of the News, for it has been endorsed and supported by that paper.

 Newspaper editors always have a crop
 of persistent detractors, and the editor of the News is no exception. His motives have been questioned and he has been the object of much innuendo and some open attacks. To a man on the outside it would seem, however, that what the Soo needs is more men like the editor of the News—men public spirited enough to give of their time and capacity to affairs of moment to the whole community. The present status of the water power situation at the Soo appears to be the most satisfactory it has been these several years,
 and for this condition the News and its editor are entitled to a fair share of the credit.

POLICE AND PUBLICITY.

The police board at Kalamazoo has arrived at the decision that publicity in regard to crimes is one of the best measures for catching criminals and has,
 therefore, decided that the newspapers
 shall be given full information in regard
 to all cases reported to the department.
 This decision, it is said, was reached on
 the conclusion of a trial in which it was found that newspaper publicity greatly aided the police officers in getting results. The police board has also found that in every instance where a case has been given wide publicity there have come in, unsought, many "tips"
 bearing on it, and frequently the work
 of the police department has been greatly facilitated by them.

The Kalamazoo police board is to be congratulated on having arrived at the wise decision noted, and the Kalamazoo newspaper men are likewise fortunate in being assured of the co-operation of the board in carrying on their work. Too often, particularly in the smaller sized cities, the police are firmly persuaded
 of the correctness of the theory that
 the way to catch criminals is not to allow any one to know that a crime has been committed. Their idea seems to be that if the criminals are not reminded by the newspapers that they have transgressed against the law they will forget about it, return to their old haunts
 and walk confidently into the arms of officers who are waiting for them with warrants.

This is a most fallacious way of looking at the matter. The average criminal has no delusions about what has happened after the commission of a crime. He knows that a fine and cry has been raised, and that the police are on his trail. He is usually interested in putting the greatest possible distance between him and the scene of his crime
 in the shortest possible time. His escape is greatly facilitated, nine times
 out of ten, if the police officers keep the "story" away from the newspapers. In that case the criminal has only the police to circumvent. If a recital of his crime is published abroad, together with a description, he has also to guard against the scrutiny of the general public, and it becomes many times harder
 for him to get away.

These are self-evident facts, yet the average country police force is reluctant to give out the details of a crime in which no arrests have been made. Perhaps they feel that if the public is not informed of these crimes it will gain a much higher idea of the value of the police than it would otherwise have.
 There are, of course, some cases in which
 the ends of justice can best be served by secrecy, but they are but a few of the cases in which the police are disposed to demand secrecy. No newspaper man would ever desire to embarrass
 the fight against crime by premature publicity. Their co-operation can always be counted on, provided they are given
 the treatment they are entitled to.

There are in the state dozens of police boards and police chiefs that may well note the action of the Kalamazoo board and profit by it. They are still persisting in the village constable idea that the way to ferret out crime is to look wise and mysterious and as far as possible keep any knowledge of the wrongdoing from the public. It's high time for these benighted guardians of the peace to wake up to a realization that the easiest way to check crime is to enlist the entire public in the detection of criminals, and that the easiest and quickest way to do this is through the medium of full newspaper publicity.

A NOVEL PROPOSAL.

In connection with the proposed primary law for the state of New York
 a suggestion has been made of a compromise plan designed to secure to the people all the advantages of the direct nominations system as it is known in the west and at the same time provide a way to keep the party organizations
 intact and healthy.

It is proposed that the organization
 shall be given power, through caucuses
 and gatherings similar to the present
 conventions, to recommend candidates who shall be voted for in the direct primaries, which, however, shall be open to other candidates as well. The idea
 seems to be that there are many voters
 who, other things being equal, will cast
 their ballots for a candidate recommended by the organization. It is pointed out that the candidate, even if he were an organization man, would owe his nomination directly to the people, and would govern himself accordingly. The principal advantage of the plan is that it would bring about active association
 of party leaders, and would enable them
 to exert influence in the party, if at all, by merit of the excellent candidates
 they proposed. It might be the means of safeguarding effective working party
 organizations, which experience in other states has shown are at times badly impaired by the operation of a direct primary law.

The principal objection to the plan
 here outlined would appear to lie in the fact that it proposes a cumbersome machinery for filling out a ticket. It would add a third step to the preliminary work. Formerly throughout the country we had, first, the convention,
 preceded by the caucuses, and then the election. In states under the primary system we have the direct primaries and then the election. The New York plan would mean that the primaries would be preceded by what is equivalent to a convention and then followed by the election proper. But the fact that it is cumbersome need not put the plan beyond consideration, particularly if it is only
 on such terms that the direct nomination system can obtain a hearing in New York.

Governor Hughes has made direct nominations the question of the hour in New York. The idea is repugnant to the old ruling element in both the Republican and Democratic parties in the state, and the objection most strongly urged is that it would have a tendency
 to make the working forces of the party inharmonious and ineffective. However,
 there are not wanting evidences that Governor Hughes' stand in favor of the proposed new law is meeting with ready response from the people, and that he has embarked on an agitation that is bound sooner or later to bring about the substitution of some new plan for naming candidates for the one new in vogue.

THE OLD MACHINE WOULD SMASH PRIMARY ELECTIONS.

The attacks made on the provision in the primary law that a vote shall be taken on candidates for United States senator come from one quarter only. The old g. o. p. machine is making a desperate attempt to rehabilitate itself. This should not be surprising when it is remembered that the only persons hurt
 by primary nomination of United States senators are those who made up the machine. Through the primary law they have lost their occupation. Now that a senatorial election is due two years
 hence, when the people of Michigan will have their first say on that office, the machine is bestirring itself to overturn
 the law, and so recover its position to dictate the election of a United States senator. Can there be any doubt about it when you scrutinize carefully the pleas being made for the machine's life?
 The most specious arguments are being advanced against this law. Chas.
 Joslyn, corporation lawyer, old-time official and political lieutenant, is contributing his bit. There is considerable "appeal" to the fathers, and a deal of reference to the intent of the constitution—all of which would gain
 in accuracy with a re-reading of history.
 But no argument has yet been advanced to prove that it is contrary to the theory of the American government that it should be the representative of the people. Now, does that sound plausibly or not? It is not, however, when you listen awhile to the heresy that the higher branch of the national legislature represents "the states." The theory of the American government is that every man in public office shall be there by the people's command to do the exact will
 of the people—and that sounds plausibly
 too, but it is not when you hear the heresy that the constituents of a United States senator are the legislators that "elect" him! There are no arguments on the side of the man who believes that the people are not the government. Yet,
 the people on this side are doing the
 most talking.

Who, then, is being harmed by our Michigan primary law providing for the direct nomination of United States senators? The old machine crowd, the Tip Atwoods, the Johnny Bairds, the Arthur Hills, and the water-power, franchise and job grabbers. Also the corporations whose heads are too busy to go to the senate themselves, but who want to be represented there by counsel. The politicians who hold the money bag in a senatorial campaign and the corporations who hold the senator after the campaign—these are also lined up against the law.

Citizens of Michigan must bear in mind that the law permitting them to nominate candidates for the United States senate is now on the books.
 They should remember that there remain two years before it can be tried,
 no election of United States senator
 being held until 1911. In the interval
 more attacks will be made on the law.
 These will come from the same quarter whence issue the present attacks. The people should serve notice on their legislators that the law must stay on the books until it has been tried, that the privilege of having a voice in the make-up of the national government should not be snatched from them ere they have opportunity to use it.

Let the machine lieutenants and the corporations see what it is like to have one senatorial election in Michigan where they do not hold the money bag and buy a senatorial representative.—Detroit News.

The Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York

Organized in New York State 1842. Began Business 1843.
The Record of 1908

The fiscal year ending December 31st, was pre-eminently a prosperous one for the policyholders of this Company. In every material respect their interests have been advanced.

Favorable features of the year may be noted as follows:

The assets are now $539,038,968.13, an increase of $44,861,947.10.
 The total net reserve for outstanding policies and annuities is $433,137,716.00, an increase of $13,042,974.00.
 The reserve held for payment of deferred dividends and other contingencies (so-called "surplus") is $85,844,991.20, an increase of $28,314,221.75.
 The premium income for 1908 was $58,994,653.29, an increase of $2,355,453.09.
 The total income for 1908 was $84,880,026.81, an increase of $3,705,552.96.
 The new insurance paid for (not including revived) was $93,926,992.00, an increase of $45,206,942.00.
 The interest and rents received were $24,300,559.94, an increase of $1,466,453.91.
 On the other hand, the death claims paid during the year were $21,664,819.77, a decrease of $1,629,213.04.

Increased Dividends.

There has been appropriated for dividends to be paid in 1909 the sum of $11,092,282.38.

This sum greatly exceeds the largest amount ever before paid as dividends in a single year by any company. The increase made in the annual dividends of The Mutual Life in recent years, as a result of changes and improvements instituted by the Board of Trustees, is unparalleled.

In Economy of Management the Company Stands Pre-eminent.

The total expense of management (exclusive of taxes) paid in 1908 was $7,123,180.69.

This is but 8.39 per cent. of the total income—a lower ratio of expense than any American company doing a general business has heretofore been able to show. It has sometimes been asserted that the decreasing expenses of various companies in recent years are due merely to a smaller amount of new insurance written. This is not true of The Mutual Life. Although there has been an increase in new-paid-for business in 1908 of $45,206,942.00 over the amount written in 1907, involving an increase of $432,680.83 in first commissions, the other expenses show reduction aggregating $738,799.14, making a net reduction in expense of management of $306,118.31.

A LAUGH OR TWO.

When the Judge Unbent.

"What is your name?" asked the lawyer.
 "Kewayo," answered the witness.
 "Are you a native of this country, Mr. Kewayo?"
 "No, sir."
 "What is your nationality?"
 "My what?"
 "What race do you belong to?"
 "I'm kind o' mixed, I guess."
 "What do you mean by that?"
 "Well, I was born in Honolulu, and—"
 "Then you are a Sandwich Islander?"
 "Why, that's where it comes in, you see. My father's a Sandwich Islander, and he married an African, and so—"
 "Then you are a Ham Sandwich," interrupted the court. "Proceed with the investigation, Mr. Sharpe."

His Patriotic Excuse.

As he appeared to be in a rather jovial mood she looked him over suspiciously.
 "Henry," she said, sternly, "you have taken a drink. Now, own up to it like a man."
 "Well, Helen," he replied, sheepishly, "I did take a cocktail."
 "You drank a cocktail! Whatever tempted you to drink that abominable concoction?"
 "Well, you see, it was this way, my dear. I remembered it was George Washington's birthday and as I thought of the great man I wished I had something to recall him more vividly than the mere remembrance of his name. So I thought of the story about the cherry tree and then I went in and ordered a cocktail just to see the cherry. That is the honest truth."

 After telling him it was a great pity he was not as truthful as George he excused him through patriotism.—New York Herald.

Infernal Check.

"Well, did he pay you?" asked the wife of a dentist who had been to collect a bill for a full set of false teeth that he had made for a man almost a year before.
 "Pay me?" growled the dentist. "Not only did he refuse to pay me, but he actually had the effrontery to gnash at me—with my teeth!"—Everybody's Magazine.

Perhaps That Was It.

In order to play "Rosemary" some years ago, John Drew shaved off his moustache, thereby greatly changing his appearance. Shortly afterward he met Max Beerbohm in the lobby of a London theater, but could not just then recall who the latter was. Mr. Beerbohm's memory was better.
 "Oh, Mr. Drew," he said, "I'm afraid you don't know me without your moustaches."—Everybody's Magazine.

Et Cetera and So On.

He is a poor little neglected boy, whose mamma is so busy with mother's meetings and club conventions and such important matters that she really hasn't time to attend to her children. This little boy was maintaining a casual call-er while his mother was upstairs putting the finishing touches to her toilet.

Said the little boy, whose own toilet was sadly in need of attention:
 "What does e, t, c. mean?"
 "E. t. c.," asked the caller.
 "Yes," said the little boy, "it's a sort of a word. It's in a book I was reading."
 "Oh," said the caller, "E. t. c. is an abbreviation. It is Latin. It stands for et cetera."
 The little boy looked puzzled. "I'm not in Latin yet," he said.
 "Et cetera," explained the caller, "means—well, it means 'and so on.'"
 The little boy was thoughtful for a moment, and then he said:
 "I wish my mamma could find time to e t e t e r a the buttons on my pants!"
 And, taking in his disheveled appearance, the visitor murmured: "Amen!"—New York Times.

The U. S. Government in its "Pure Food Law" does not "indorse" or "guarantee" any preparation, as some manufacturers in their advertisements would make it appear. In the case of medicines the law provides that certain drugs shall be mentioned on the labels, if they are ingredients of the preparations, Ely's Cream Balm, the well-known family remedy for colds in the head, hay fever and nasal catarrh, doesn't contain a single injurious drug, so the makers have simply to print the fact that it complies fully with all the requirements of the law.

Copper Country

BOXERS AT LAKE LINDEN.

Allard and Willets in Ten Round Go There Tomorrow Night.

The center of interest in the copper country sporting world has been switched from Calumet to Lake Linden and it is expected that the Torch Lake town will tomorrow night entertain a big crowd of visitors who will attend the Allard-Willets bout, the first middle-weight event that has been held in the district in many months. The bout is scheduled to go ten rounds and is to take place at the Lake Linden theater. Allard is the favorite, not particularly because he is a local man, though this may have something to do with it, but also he is recognized as a boxer of extraordinary ability. It was he who about two years ago bested Jimmy Duggan, Willets, who is from Muskegon, is reputed to be a fast and husky man.

That the boxing game is popular in Calumet was evidenced Monday night by the crowd that attended the bout between Ole Nelson and Tommy Scully, both amateur weight lifters. The fight went but four rounds, the crowd was fairly well satisfied. The two men fought evenly for the first two rounds, but in the third Scully rushed matters and the balance began to turn in his favor. Scully was killed in the fourth round in the numerous breakaways, landing blow after blow. In the fourth round Nelson started in apparent good shape, but he weakened quickly. Twice he went down for the count of nine, and it should be remarked that Scully played the game most safely, for he gave Nelson every opportunity to get to his feet both times. A left drive to the solar plexus fished times, and when Nelson opened his eyes the crowd was filling out. Present prospects are that Calumet will see some good boxing events, and it is planned to hold a number of big bouts during the convention season.

TOM HAZEL STRIKES.

No More Wolves He Says Will Be Killed Until Bounty Is Increased.

Tom Hazel, the celebrated Baraga hunter and trapper, is dissatisfied with the action taken recently by the Houghton board of supervisors in removing the county bounty on wolves, and he has issued an ultimatum. He has gone on a strike. This strike of Tom Hazel's is not unlike any ordinary strike. It is based upon a demand for a large increase in the bounty on wolves. In the declaration that he has issued he says that his views are shared by the other wolf hunters of the region, and he expresses the matter in this way: "The bunch here wish to state that in the two counties not another wolf will be molested until bounties are raised." Until January Houghton county paid a bounty of $20 upon the pelt of every wolf. This with the state bounty of $25 made a total of $45. Houghton county was the only county in the state that paid any considerable wolf bounty, and so when within a year the treasury paid out something like $2,000 upon wolf pelts a suspicion grew in the minds of certain of the supervisors that wolves from other counties were being brought in. Then they abolished the county bounty.

PAINFUL OPERATION.

George Malfrid, a well-known Calumet business, recently underwent an exceedingly delicate and painful operation and has returned home from Green Bay, where he was being treated. He was afflicted with a goitre and some months ago he had the growth removed. This was the first of two operations, which he submitted and was performed by a specialist at Green Bay. Some weeks after this first operation he discovered another goitre growing in his throat, and he returned to Green Bay for treatment. It was found that there the growth had encircled his windpipe and its peculiar position was such that an anesthetic could not be used in a second operation. Mr. Malfrid was obliged to go to the operating table in a conscious state, and to all of the pain of the operation. He believes that he has now wholly recovered from the affliction.

CROWD GOT EXCITED.

There was a small sized panic at the Calumet postoffice Monday afternoon when a crowd waiting for its mail lost its head by reason of a controversy and a scuffle that occurred at the door. The regular hours for the distribution of mail on holidays is from 1 to 2 o'clock. As the train was somewhat late Monday, the postoffice windows were late in opening and by 2 o'clock the interior of the office was jammed with impatient people. Then the doors were locked and another crowd gathered outside. One of the mail clerks sought to open the door to let a man out and when he did so the crowd outside surged forward. The clerk tried to keep them back and trouble followed. For a time it seemed as though a general free-for-all would result, but this was averted.

NEW BUILDING FOR CALUMET.

It is reported that John Tambellini of Red Jacket intends to build a three-story brick and concrete structure on property he owns on Portland street this summer. The site is between Fifth and Sixth streets and is in the rear of the old Hennes building. The cost of the structure is to be something like $25,000. The work will begin in the spring.

A PROCLAMATION

Whereas, the people of our city have been led to purchase so-called remedies from which they have received no benefit whatever, and having thus wasted so much hard-earned money, it has come to pass that they know not what to believe.

Inasmuch as this unsatisfactory state of affairs exists, KNOW, THEREFORE, ALL PERSONS who are in need of such a medicine that we will supply them with VINOL on a POSITIVE GUARANTEE that if it does not succeed in benefiting them we will refund the entire amount of money paid us for it.

There is no one medicine that will cure everything, but there are some we know to be honest, reliable, and of great curative value. Such is VINOL; it is not a secret medicine,—just peptonate of iron; wine, and all the curative extractives of cod liver oil, combined. We are familiar with every particle of it, and KNOW that it should benefit every one who uses it.

Could any offer be more fair than this? You are ill; we offer you medicine which we believe will help you, and if it does not we will return your money. Is there anyone foolish enough not to accept this offer? You owe it to your family, to your friends, and yourself to try this medicine which we give you our pledge is a genuine cod liver and iron preparation of great merit.

CIRCUIT COURT IN SESSION.

Yesterday Devoted to Naturalization Hearings—White Case Today.

After a recess of two weeks the sessions of the circuit court for the February term were resumed at Houghton yesterday. The entire day was devoted to the hearing of the fifty-odd naturalization cases that remained after the first day's work of the kind. The examinations of applicants and witnesses were conducted by Inspector Fred Becker of Detroit and by Prosecuting Attorney MacDonald. About thirty-five citizens were created, there being a few rejections and a number of continuances. Inspector Becker left for Marquette last night.

Today the trial of the criminal calendar will be resumed. The case on call is that of Thomas White, Jr., of Lake Linden, whose trial has been continued a number of times. The prosecuting witness is Joseph Briere, who charges that White assaulted him with the intention of doing him great bodily harm. He asserts that White used a part of a pump over his head when the men had a fight some months ago.

FAMILY HAS NARROW ESCAPE.

The entire family of G. Lefevre, consisting of husband and wife and a number of children, narrowly escaped death from asphyxiation at their home in Mohawk Monday morning. That they were not killed was due to the chance visit to the house of a relative, who found all the family members in the unconscious state. The door of a stove filled with coal had been left open and the draughts in the pipe were closed. Gas generated from the coal filled the house while the family were asleep and doubtless all of them would have succumbed had they not been carried into the open air. Some of the younger members of the family have not yet wholly recovered from the illness caused from inhaling the poisonous fumes.

FOUR SPILLED OUT OF CUTTER.

While driving in a cutter in East Houghton, A. K. Cox and his six-year-old son and two other young children were overturned and the horse ran away. No one was hurt and the horse after a dash of a half mile made its way to the livery barn without having done any damage to the sleigh or harness. The accident created some little excitement for many people who saw it, but it was a tragedy had occurred. Mr. Cox was driving along the car track when one of the runners caught in the track in such a way that the sleigh was overturned. When the horse leaped forward its jerk righted the sleigh.

LENT BEGINS TODAY.

Today is Ash Wednesday and is the first day of the Lenten season of fast and penitence. In all of the churches of the copper country in which the period is observed special services will be held Sunday and through the week. The Lenten requirements of the Catholic church were announced by Bishop Eis of Marquette and were published yesterday in The Mining Journal. One of the events of the period will be a visit to the Episcopal parishes of the district by His Excellency, Marquette. He will confer a class at the Calumet Episcopal church Sunday, March 28.

FIRE AT MASON.

It was reported yesterday that one of the buildings of the Quiney Mining company at Mason, which is about three miles from Hubbell, had burned early in the morning. The destroyed structure was a tank house from which water is supplied to the mills. It was stated that operations at the mills will not be interrupted.

The six teams of the league have been named for six of the mining companies operating in and about Calumet. The regular V. C. A. team is to play a game with the Michigan College of Mines team tomorrow night.

Houghton friends of Jimmie Duggan, the well-known hockey trainer, are much interested in a report that comes from Montreal that a warrant was issued there recently for his arrest upon a charge of assault. The warrant made no mention of the continuing witness in the case, the Slattery, it is that Duggan became displeased at a remark that Slattery made in reference to the Wanderers' team and forthwith undertook to take Mr. Slattery to pieces.

When the Parker Carnival company was holding its street show in Hancock last summer, four notorious copper country newspaper men accepted a press agent's invitation to take luncheon in the lion's case. Now comes the news from Atlanta, Ga., that one of the four lions made an unexpected attack upon a keeper, who is now being at the point of death from the wounds he received. The injured keeper is Captain Carlo, who is well remembered in Hancock.

James Pascoe of Hancock, district superintendent of the M. E. church, will conduct the second quarterly conference of the Ontonagon M. E. church.

Portage Lake tugmen are generally satisfied with agreements entered into at Detroit lately between the Tug Owners' Protective association and the Tugmen's organization. The new agreement provides that twelve hours constitute a day's work and when men work more than twelve hours they shall be paid fifty cents an hour overtime. A provision of the agreement that was in force last year, and which was displeasing to tugmen and to owners alike in Portage lake, was that no employe could work more than twelve hours any one day. This was maintained keeping crews on tug and prevented the men from working overtime.

MINING NEWS

VICTORIA.

The figure, Bright & Co. of Boston is a smaller stockholder in the Victoria Copper company soliciting proxies in favor of the opposition to the present management of the company. Arthur P. French, counsel for the opposition, has also issued a second circular to Victoria stockholders in which he says: "The present president of the company has been a member of the board of directors ever since the corporation was organized and president thereof for the past two years. This position in the present management of the company is shown by the fact that during all this period he has acquired by gift or purchase, ten shares of its capital stock. There was originally $700,000 paid into this company, and $600,000 has been subsequently raised from the stockholders by assessment. The success with which a corporation is managed is shown somewhat in the price at which its stock sells on the market. If the present status of affairs is satisfactory to you, do not vote your proxy."

SHANNON.

The Shannon Copper company will build its own railroad connecting its mines with its mill and smelter. It is planned to build this road some months ago, but the Arizona Copper company people held it up under a partial promise to make a new and satisfactory freight arrangement which would obviate its construction. The Shannon company of the Arizona Copper company a profit of about $80,000 per annum from the hauling of its ore from its mines to its smelter. The Shannon people have decided to wait no longer for the Arizona company and it has placed an engineer in charge of the road. The Shannon Copper company has recently purchased about twelve claims in the vicinity of its property covering about 200 acres for which it has paid $12,000.

AMALGAMATED.

It is denied by Amalgamated Copper officials that a policy of curtailment is being carried out in it is true, nevertheless, that the number of men at work in the mines is less than it was six months ago. It is evident that production is not being pushed, even if a definite policy of curtailment is not being followed, and a sharp falling off in the output of the Butte mines during February will undoubtedly be seen when the figures are compiled. The hearing in the smoke furnace cases is going on but as the court has refused an injunction against the operation of the smelter, there is a general feeling that the matter will eventually be arranged. The testimony all goes to show that the company has done everything it could to prevent any damage to the surrounding country from the smelter smoke and inasmuch as it stands ready to adopt any device that comes along, it seems only reasonable to suppose that the courts will not interfere with the operation of the smelter, on which so many are dependent for their livelihood.

BOSTON & CORBIN.

The management of the Boston & Corbin company is pushing development work. It is enlarging its two main shafts into a three compartment and is sinking it to the 700-foot level, which point it has nearly reached, where shafts and drifts will be run to open the Bertha vein 200 feet deeper than any previous workings in ore. On the 300 and 500-foot levels the Bertha vein has been developed for 1,500 feet on the strike to the very end lines of the Bertha claim and into Bertha No. 2 ground adjoining which is likewise 1,500 feet in length. The Bertha vein varies in width from four to ten feet and the assays average from four to fifteen ounces of silver and from 2 1/2 to 3 per cent copper. The higher averages being found on the fifth level. There are numerous parallel veins, but development has been largely confined to the main Bertha lode. This lode is expected to be wide and fleeter with depth. It is quite likely that development will develop to build a concentrator in the spring, but a good deal will depend upon the 700-foot level development. New boilers, compressors and hoists have recently been ordered.

CURTAILING COPPER PRODUCTION.

While leading copper interests will not admit that curtailment in output is in prospect, plans are already in progress along these lines and some producers with headquarters in Boston have been asked if they would object to curtailing production 10 per cent. The Phelps-Dodge interests have already curtailed slightly. They are running seven furnaces at their Copper Queen smelter instead of eight as last month, and the Old Dominion at Globe is running four furnaces instead of five. The Greene Cananea will curtail somewhat as will the Grandy in Canada, and Butte reports that the Amalgamated companies there have been quietly laying off men. The Amalgamated interests take the position that curtailment of output is the only proper thing to do, but that they do not intend to "hold this company" and they are apparently curtailing to a limited extent notwithstanding. There is one large producer, which sells through the Guggenheims, which some time ago sold its output through March at fourteen cents and higher. This was maintained keeping at the rate of about 3,000,000 pounds per month.

Judge Hunt's findings dispose of the injunction question and find damages from smelter tailings on the farmer's land of $1726 apportioned among the six companies contributing to the damage.

The annual report of the Mayflower Mining company shows a cash balance on Jan. 1, 1909, of $45,166, compared with $43,000 a year ago. President H. F. Fay says: "There was no development work during the past year, it being deemed advisable to await the result of exploratory work on land to the north and south of the property having similar relation to the eastern sandstone. It is not likely, however, that to guard against accidents, old pits and trenches should be filled and the unused shafts properly fenced, and this work has been done. The annual meeting will be held March 17."

Butte Coalition is carrying on extensive development work, especially in the Minnie lode, and is gradually getting ready for a large increase in its production. It is estimated that by the middle of April Butte Coalition will be ready and able to host fully 3,000 tons of ore a day through the Barus and Franconia shafts. It is not likely that the question of dividends will be considered, while the copper metal market is in its present condition, notwithstanding that the company has a large treasury surplus. There are great possibilities for a big production from Butte Coalition in the future.

The management at the Gironx has stopped all work on the property except that which is being carried on by the drills. The Cole-Ryan interests, who now control the property, believe that its best deposits of sulphide ores will be found at greater depths and expect to locate them by the use of the diamond drill. The present policy of the Gironx is the direct opposite of that of the old management, which was seeking to increase the production and get the mines on a profitable basis. The new policy has been made possible by the proper financing of the company and will lead to the best results in the long run.

LONG COLLECTING MATERIAL.

Vice President Fairbanks to Write a Life of McKinley.

Vice President Charles W. Fairbanks will continue to be an interesting figure after he leaves Washington on the 5th of March. It is known among the intimate friends of Mr. Fairbanks that he long has been collecting material for a history of the "Life and Times of William McKinley," and the preparation of this will consume much of his time in private life. Next to Mark Hanna, Fairbanks was the counselor of the McKinley administration. He was temporary chairman of the first convention which nominated McKinley, in 1896, and to him, therefore, fell the duty of making the "keynote" speech, McKinley advanced Senator Fairbanks in every possible way, and among other honors, made him the American chairman of the joint high commission appointed in 1898 to consider commercial reciprocity and other important questions with the government of the Dominion of Canada. But for the opposition of standard interests in this country, this commission might have made an epoch-making record. Mr. Fairbanks owns a farm not far from Indianapolis, and he has also a fruit ranch in California, at Redlands. It has been said lately that he contemplated making a trip around the world immediately upon his retirement, but this matter has not been settled. He has scores of invitations to address Chautauque audiences, and is giving them some consideration. Of course, he could not devote his time to writing and lecturing and make his world tour also, and he is strongly inclined to travel.

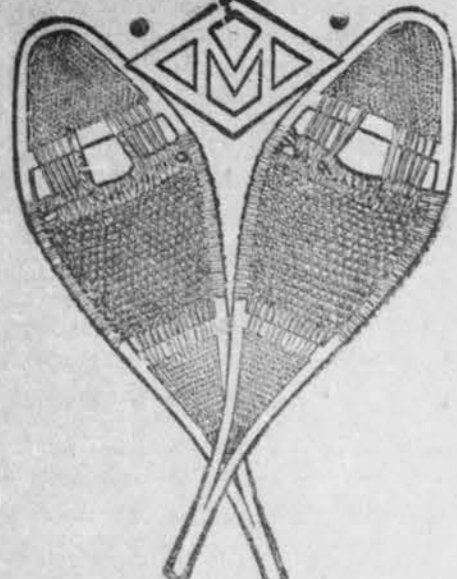

NOTES OF COPPER NEWS.

It is reported that one large foreign copper house has instructed its American representatives to purchase 30,000,000 pounds of copper in this country at 12 1/2 cents, if the price goes to that level. A large proportion of this copper, however, would be produced as a speculation for resale abroad later on.

Judge Hunt of the United States court has decided another smelter damage and injunction suit practically in favor of the Amosmela and other mining and smelting companies. Hugh Maguire, a farmer, sought $20,000 damages and injunctions against the Washoe smelter.

The plaintiff, Davis, maintained that Trombly had not complied with the homestead laws, and a decision showed that he had been unable because of illness to reside on the claim a part of the time required by law, both the register and receiver decided that Trombly's entry should be canceled "as there was no evidence of intention to improve the conditions."

INSURE WITH PETER WHITE & CO. YOUNG LIFE ENDED.

Henry Colby Taylor, Aged Twenty-Two, Succumbs to Tuberculosis.

Like the closing chapter of a book came to an end the life of Henry Colby Taylor, son of Mrs. Della Taylor, Monday night at 11:30 o'clock, after being a patient sufferer with tuberculosis for over four years. Henry was twenty-two years of age and the son of a fond and loving mother. He had everything to live for and 'tis sad to think that one in whom were combined so many excellent traits of character, should be called away in the bloom of life, when the dawn gave promise of such a glorious manhood. His place at home can never be filled, the voice they loved to hear has been stilled, and sacred silence hovers over the vacant chair.

Henry Taylor was possessed of a happy, patient and affectionate disposition. While attending college at St. Thomas, St. Paul, his life was ever an example for his companions, kind, noble and true. He made friends in countless numbers, and by the inevitable decree of the Almighty, a friend who will always be missed from their gatherings has been called away. But as he had won laurels in this life, they will be as nothing compared with the joy which awaits him in the happy hereafter, that land of everlasting sunshine where all is peace and happiness, and sorrow is never known.

His exemplary life should serve as a model for others, remembering that we must all die and when the grim reaper, Death, which has all seasons for its own visits, may we be prepared to leave this world to enter into the joys of the next. Mrs. Taylor, daughter May and Mrs. Taylor's sister, Miss Cooney, are almost prostrated with grief by this sad news.

The funeral will take place at St. Peter's cathedral Thursday morning at 9 o'clock.

PENNSYLVANIA LINE TO ENTER MARQUETTE?

AT LEAST, SUCH A RUMOR IS CURRENT, ACCORDING TO A COPPER COUNTRY EXCHANGE.

According to the Houghton Mining Gazette of recent date, rumor has it that an extension of the Grand Rapids & Indiana railway from Mackinaw City to Duluth is under contemplation, the proposed line to pass through Marquette and perhaps into the copper country. We quote as follows:

"There is a very strong rumor current in railroad circles of the northwest that the Pennsylvania railroad is contemplating running a line through the upper peninsula to the head of the Lake Superior. It is also rumored that the Pennsylvania is also breaking into the copper country. The report is said to come from the headquarters of the Grand Rapids & Indiana railroad at Grand Rapids, a subsidiary line of the Pennsylvania. G. R. & I. officials have been over the route and visited Duluth recently, where they conferred with the heads of several of the lines entering the Zenith city. The Pennsylvania, it is understood, is looking for a big territory in the northwest to draw from and for this reason seeks a terminus in Duluth.

"The projected extension of the Pennsylvania lines from Mackinaw to Duluth would throw the road into competition with the South Shore and it is likely, therefore, that the eastern company would seek an entrance into the copper country as well as the important points of the iron district, including the port of Marquette.

Idea Is Scouted.

"A prominent railroad man who was in the copper country recently scouted the idea of the Pennsylvania seeking a right-of-way through the upper peninsula. He says that undoubtedly it would afford the road a short shipping line from the great northwest to the east but that he believes the whole story is merely "rumor, pure and simple."

"When asked whether or not the South Shore will build an extension from Duluth to Thief River Falls, Minn., for the purpose of cutting down the running distance to Winnipeg, this railroad man said he believed not, although the South Shore has had the right-of-way surveyed out about three years. The Soo line, however, may build to Thief River Falls from Duluth. He remarked, South Shore extend to the westward into the great wheat country but that the road is in debt on account of its lines through the peninsula, he understands, and is unable to do anything further at present.

"This man is also authority for the statement that the railroads, excepting the larger systems, are planning but very little construction work for the present year. He says further that the Canadian roads are away ahead of the American this year on plans for construction work.

"He also believes that the Canadian Pacific will eventually run its great trans-continental trains across northern Michigan from the Soo to Duluth as it means a much better and shorter route than by way of the north shore."

CIVILIZING THE PORTO RICANS.

Proposed Law Forbids the People from Going Barefoot.

Washington, Feb. 23.—Several members of congress have received copies of a bill introduced in the house of delegates of Porto Rico a few days ago to restrain the practice of the people of that island of going about barefoot and appearing on the streets or in offices in their shirt sleeves. This is one of the first steps toward "civilizing" the people of Porto Rico. The bill is to take effect June 1, 1909, and forbids the people from going barefoot over the streets and squares of the towns and the insular roads of Porto Rico. All violations of the provisions of the law shall be punished by a fine of $2 for the first offense, and subsequent offenses shall be punished by a fine of from $2 to $50, or imprisonment of one day for every $2 fine assessed. The same penalty is to be imposed on any person appearing in shirt sleeves.

MARKETS

NEW YORK STOCKS.

Paine, Webber & Co.'s correspondent at New York yesterday telegraphed as follows:

"The market presented the appearance of demoralization throughout the session, with declines recorded in almost every issue. Stop orders were uncovered in volume on the recession and the buying was confined mostly to the demands of the short interest. The bear party have been allowed during the past few sessions to assume control of the market and support has been withdrawn. The price cutting war among the steel interests continues to be the chief topic of discussion, and the metal stocks have been liquidated on a large scale. Foreign selling has also taken place, which has served to aggravate the condition of the market and from the tone of the list at the close serious results will undoubtedly ensue, unless organized support is tendered.

Writing from Boston yesterday, Paine, Webber & Co. had the following to say of the stock market:

"The break in London over Washington's birthday brought in a flood of selling orders all through the list this morning. For the first time our local market was affected and decline was fast and severe in certain cases. North Butte was the weakest feature, breaking under heavy selling to 66 1/2 and closing on the bottom. Calumet & Arizona and Superior & Pittsburg were in sympathy. Past Butte was the strongest

CUTS OFF POWDER SUPPLY.

Senate Amendment to the Naval Bill an Unfortunate Provision.

Washington, Feb. 23.—President Roosevelt has been placed in an "impossible" position by the action of Senator Hale in so amending the naval appropriation bill as to prohibit the purchase of powder from a trust except in case of actual war. About two-thirds of the powder used by the government is bought of the DuPont Powder company and the remainder is made in the government plant at Washington. To encourage the development of the latter, the bill inserted in the naval appropriation bill a clause forbidding the purchase of powder from a trust except in a case of emergency. The senate amended by substituting the word "war". President Roosevelt has instigated a suit, which is now pending, to dissolve the so-called powder trust for alleged violation of the Sherman Act, yet should the naval bill become law with the prohibition stated included in it, the navy would be deprived for a long time of about two-thirds of its powder supply. When this situation was called to the attention of the president by Secretary Newberry, the president at once summoned the members of the house committee on the bill. The president told the committee would use its influence to secure a change in the bill, but the members first insisted that should such change be made it should be stated so plainly that there could be no mistaking it. The president gave satisfactory assurances of his earnestness in the matter, and when the conference committee considers the bill no doubt an agreement will be reached which will avoid an awkward complication. The DuPont company has been very friendly in the matter of powder for the government, but found that two would suffice, with the expected development of the government plant. It gave notice some time ago of its intention to abandon the use of small and to convert another for the manufacture of dynamite.

FEARS LOSS OF REVENUE.

Congress Is Not Inclined to Take Up the Liquor Question.

Washington, Feb. 23.—That congress will hesitate to take a hand in the temperance question has been proved by another test in the house committee on alcoholic liquor traffic. After extended hearings and much deliberation that committee by a vote of 10 to 10 has killed a resolution which provided for a general investigation of the liquor traffic by a select committee of congress. The investigation called for in the resolution would have been far-reaching. Such a committee would inquire into both the moral and economic phases of the subject. Those persons and organizations behind the resolution believed such an investigation by a committee of congress would do much to help along the general cause of temperance in the state.

Helps Government Revenue.

Doubtless one explanation of the unwillingness of leaders in congress to interfere with the present system is that legislation which absolutely cut off the shipment of intoxicants into dry territory from other states would decrease the government's revenue materially. As long as the government is able to gain a good revenue from permits to sell intoxicants in territory which states have declared to be dry the congress is likely to wink at the existing condition of affairs. It is a significant fact that the treasury department is not yet conscious of any effect on the revenue from a result of the extension of prohibition to a large number of states. Up in Maine, for instance, where prohibition is of long standing, the government collects fees on nearly three thousand permits. The courts have held that the holding of a federal retail license is prima facie evidence that liquor is being sold, and the records of such licenses are not available in the prosecution of alleged violations under local laws. It so happens that in all prohibition states a large number of federal licenses are issued, and the government's revenue, instead of suffering, is helped.

ALLEGED SWINDLERS JAILED.

Operations of New Yorkers May Cost Farmers $100,000, It Is Said.

New York, Feb. 23.—The United States postoffice authorities today arrested Max Kausoff and his son Philip, who for more than a year have been conducting a quack commission business here. They are charged with using the mails to defraud farmers in Illinois, Iowa and other states complained that the Kausoffs failed to make proper settlement for goods forwarded them to be sold on commission. The losses to the shippers, according to the postoffice officials, may reach $100,000.

AGED DEFENDANT A WITNESS.

Colonel Cooper Takes the Stand in His Own Behalf at Nashville.

Nashville, Tenn., Feb. 23.—The sixth day of actual testimony in the case of Colonel Duncan B. and Robin J. Cooper and John Sharpe, charged with the murder of former Senator Carmack, closed with the aged defendant, Colonel Cooper, still on the witness stand. His own counsel had taken him over the trouble, commencing four years ago, and brought him down to the start from his son's office to the governor's mansion. It was during this walk that the senator was

CONFLICT OVER LUMBER.

Various Interests in the Business Thoroughly Aroused.

Manufacturers Would Have the Duty Retained—Retailers Have Much to Lose and Nothing to Gain by Free Trade—Americans Have Large Holdings in Canada—Hindu Labor a Factor.

Washington, Feb. 23.—All the materials for a conflict among the lumbermen of the country are now assembled in Washington. The first group, the retailers, have everything to gain and nothing to lose by free trade. The manufacturers, however, allege that their industry may suffer through the removal of the duty; but there is another side to that story—one which, if true, would add another group to the interests now excited over the lumber duty. This last group would be the American consumers.

A Retailer Talks.

"The fact of the case is," said a leading man in the lumber business who is here not for his health, "that all the lumbermen of the American Northwest regard the timberland as their pie. It makes no difference whether it is in the United States or Canada. Seventy-five per cent of the timberland of Canada west of the Great Lakes is now owned by Americans, and the lumbermen figure that they will have it all in another ten years. They calculate that almost 90 per cent of the American supply will have been cut and sold at top-notch prices. Meantime they want the duty retained so they can keep up prices; and when the local supply is gone they will urge the removal of the duty and supply the country with their cut from their land in the Dominion. They would work the duty coming and going—to keep out foreign lumber until they are ready to cut it and bring it in, and then repeal it to let in the Canadian cut. They know very well that they do not need duty for protective purposes, as the country understands them, but they want the additional profit it will give them until they transfer their operations across the border."

Hindus in Canada.

The retailers were very much worked up over the statement also stated a brief to the ways and means committee that if the duty were removed the American market would suffer from the competition of Canadian lumber cut with Oriental labor—Japanese, Chinese and Hindu. They did not know just what the labor situation in Canada was, as they had to pay stiff prices for Canadian lumber, but they realized that the argument was a very plausible one for use at Washington and with the country. So they began an investigation of their own and sent agents to British Columbia to learn the facts.

The disclosures of this investigation proved very interesting. Instead of the 30,000 Orientals represented as working in the forests of British Columbia elsewhere across the line, they found from official sources that only about 25,000 were in the country, of whom only 3,000 comprised the Hindu menace with which the American market was said to be flooded. The rest of these men, unfortunately, were in the employ of the most interesting and pathetic in the history of labor. They are chiefly former soldiers of the British army, and as British subjects—some of them, in fact, in the best of the world, they have been refused admission to Canada when they began their "invasion" of British Columbia about three years ago. They had heard in their own country of the enormous wages paid in the United States and Canada and had come across the sea to try their luck.

A Modern Miracle.

The Scientific World is Amazed at the Wonderful Efficacy and Success of Abbey Syrup, the Famous European Remedy for Asthma and Lung Troubles.

It is astonishing to note how greatly indebted we are from a material point of view to the monasteries. The finest medicines are prepared from formulas, the secret of which is jealously guarded by the monks of some of the old monasteries in the cloister where they are manufactured.

By the death of a relative, Mr. L. I. Akker, of Rotterdam, Holland, became possessed of a legacy of inestimable value, the secret formula of a remedy for Asthma and Lung Troubles, which he covered and compounded over 200 years ago by the Abbot of one of the old monasteries in Spain, had been used among the surrounding population with perfectly marvelous results. Attention in every respect with the original medicine, Abbey Syrup, Clonster Sancto Paulo, is now offered for sale in America.

You need not be told of the discomforts of Asthma and every form of lung and throat trouble, the incessant coughing, pain in the chest, extreme shortness of breath, the labored and heavy breathing which attend the attack, and the heart-tiring and groaning. The duty runs, therefore from $2 a thousand to $3.50; and the last named duty is so heavy as to be practically prohibitive. In this case, of course, the government derives

LOBBY IS WELL ORGANIZED.

The manufacturers have a well organized lobby busily at work in Washington and are surrounding congress on all sides. They have headquarters in the New Willard; and they were the moving spirit in the banquet tendered ostensibly by Remondine, Vice-President of Pennsylvania, to about one hundred congressmen. It was stated that the congressmen were invited to meet the lumbermen, who, in turn, had been asked to town by Chief Forester Gilford Pinchot. Mr. Pinchot, although refusing to be quoted further, denies that he asked the lumbermen to Washington; and it is understood that he is preparing a statement on the lumber question which will appear within a week.

It is a popular impression, by the way, that the duty on "lumber" is only two dollars a thousand feet. That is a duty on rough lumber; but the tariff act of 1897 assesses an additional duty of fifty cents for each side planed and finished, with an additional duty of $1.50 for tonguing and grooving. The duty runs, therefore from $2 a thousand to $3.50; and the last named duty is so heavy as to be practically prohibitive. In this case, of course, the government derives across the line between the two countries, and finally they have accepted in despair such work as they can get in the sawmills of British Columbia. Under the laws of that province, no Oriental may be employed in the logging operations of any of the provincial lands. These lands never are sold by the government, but are leased; and one of the conditions of the lease, whose violation would invalidate it, is that the labor shall be performed by white men only. Moreover, about 90 per cent of the timberlands of British Columbia are owned by the government, hence the field in which foreign labor legally can be employed in the forest lands of the province is relatively very small. The law is as construed, however, that the Orientals are permitted to work in the sawmills, and it is there only that the luckless Hindus are found. Meantime the Indians have sent word home that labor conditions in the United States and Canada are not what they were cracked up to be, and immigration from India has stopped completely. The provincial government, meantime, has these laborers on its hands. An arrangement was made by the government to send the Hindus to Honduras, but they refused to go, and are now dragging out a miserable existence in the Canadian sawmills. It is the general testimony of employers that it takes three Hindus to do the work of one white man; and as the Hindus are paid only about two-thirds of the wages allowed the whites, their competition cannot be regarded as very serious.

YOUNG MEN WANTED.

United States Government Gives Railway Mail Clerks $800 a Year to Start, and Increase to $1,200.

Uncle Sam will hold an examination for Railway Mail Clerks in Marquette on May 15. Many ambitious young men, with only a very ordinary school education, can readily pass. The government wants young men over 18 with common sense, to take examinations for railway mail clerks and carriers, and the Government Postoffice Bureau, at Rochester, N. Y., with its peculiar knowledge of the requirements of the examination, can fit any young man in a few weeks to pass. A government position means steady work, good pay, and a yearly vacation. There is time to prepare for the May 15 examinations, and any reader of The Mining Journal can get full information how to proceed, free of charge, by writing The Government Postoffice Bureau, 202 Powers Block, Rochester, N. Attention Sick Women

If you had positive proof that a certain remedy for female ills had made many remarkable cures, would you not feel like trying it?

If during the last thirty years we have not succeeded in convincing every fair-minded woman that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has cured thousands and thousands of women of the ills peculiar to their sex, then we long for an opportunity to do so by direct correspondence. Meanwhile read the following letters which we guarantee to be genuine and truthful.

Paterson, N. J.—"But for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I would not be alive to-day for I was a miserable sufferer for four or five years. The doctors said it was Change of Life and I suffered untold agonies."

"I had read that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was good for female troubles so started to take it. I found great relief at once, and to-day I am a well woman. I thank Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for it, and gladly recommend it to any woman suffering from Change of Life or female troubles."—Mrs. Wm. Somerville, 195 Hamburg Ave., Paterson, N. J.

Melbourne, Ia.—"I am thankful for the great good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me. I suffered many years from chronic inflammation and bearing down pains and was unable to do my work."

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored me to health after all other means had failed, and to-day I am a living advertisement for it."—Mrs. Clara Watermann, R. D. No. 1, Melbourne, Iowa.

There is absolutely no doubt about the ability of this grand old remedy, made from the roots and herbs of our fields, to cure female diseases. We possess volumes of proof of this fact, enough to convince the most skeptical.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge. Address Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

WANT ADEQUATE INSURANCE RATES

MARQUETTE COUNTY MEMBERS OF KNIGHTS OF MACCABEES SIGN RESOLUTIONS THAT WILL BE PRESENTED AT LANSING.

Practically all of the members of the newly organized tents of the Knights of the Maccabees of the World in this county are signing a petition to be presented to the state legislature, asking that a law be enacted governing the rates of fraternal beneficiary societies in Michigan.

Deputy Supreme Commander A. P. Crocker, who has organized four tents in this county during the past three or four months, is securing the signatures of the members to the petition. Mr. Crocker has given the rate question considerable thought and is convinced that the rates in most of the societies are inadequate and that, unless they are changed, eventually some of the organizations doing business in Michigan will meet the same fate as the Ancient Order of United Workmen.

Copies of the resolution will be sent to the state supreme commander, also other supreme tent officers of the organization for consideration with the suggestion that they use their influence in an effort to bring about the proposed changes. The resolution advocates the following changes:

First—That all rates of fraternal beneficiary societies, lower than the National Fraternal Congress rate, are too low for whole life protection.

Second—More commercialism and less inadequate rates.

Third—A fair and square deal and equal protection for the interests of all societies.

Fourth—Members paying inadequate rates should be placed in a class by themselves, but should be permitted to transfer to the adequate rate class, at attained ages, without expense or medical examination within two years, and the funds of the two classes should be kept separate.

Fifth—That it is only by legislation, forcing such action that all fraternal orders can be induced to collect amounts adequate to furnish the benefits which they promise.

Sixth—More care in the selection of new members.

And whereas, the question involved is the "uniform bill" or minimum rate bill presented for adoption in every state by the National Fraternal Congress and the Associated Fraternities, the bill is still pending and rightfully is entitled to a hearing by the state legislature, so that all members may be put on adequate rates. Therefore be it

Resolved, First—That we appeal to the supreme commander and the supreme tent officers to have enforced in strict compliance to the letter and spirit, the recommendations of the National Fraternal Congress and Associated Fraternities.

Second—That we do approve of the establishment of the uniform bill, or minimum rate bill.

Third—That we wish the proposed law on rates adopted.

Fourth—That it is an honest bill.

Fifth—That we earnestly desire the vigorous co-operation of our local tents and membership, to see that the bill is enacted.

We trust to the fraternal spirit and good judgment of the state legislature for the adoption of these propositions and for the enactment of reasonable, just and practical measures of relief from the hardships imposed by inadequate rates.

"DEVIL'S AUCTION"

Popular Attraction to be Presented Here a Week from Today.

Charles H. Yale's "Devil's Auction" will be the next attraction at Ishpeming theater a week from tonight, March 3. For twenty-eight years past "The Devil's Auction," making Philadelphia its starting point, yearly visits almost every important city, state and territory, including all the Canadian provinces.

In a season's travel it has covered the Pacific coast, the northwest as far as Vancouver, B. C., to Winnipeg, Man.; the middle states to beyond the Maritime provinces, including Halifax and St. John, to Cape Breton, finally ending with a complete tour of New England, and to financial receipts that have become the talk of the theatrical world.

Notwithstanding the yearly opposition of the many new musical comedies and spectacles, imported and otherwise, "The Devil's Auction" has gone on in the eventful of its way, having established apparently a universal clientele who can be depended upon to "wait for the big show" and reward it yearly with remunerative receipts.

As someone has aptly remarked, "there is a reason," and the reason in this case is careful management, liberality in production, and always a clean attraction and timely performance.

In the twenty-eighth edition Manager Yale promises many new scenic, mechanical and electric novelties; a large and splendid company of specially selected artists; new and costly costumes; novel ballets, vaudeville acts and exclusive features.

FINE ENTERTAINMENT.

The sixteenth annual Washington birthday entertainment given at the Swedish Lutheran church Monday evening under auspices of the Young People's society was one of the most successful ever held. Rev. M. J. Forsberg, pastor of the Lutheran church at Calumet, who stopped off in the city on his way to the Illinois conference in Chicago, gave a fine address, and the talks by Rev. G. Fleetwood, the pastor, and Rev. C. L. Adams, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, were also most favorably received.

The program in English, with the exception of the addresses by Revs. Forsberg and Fleetwood, Miss Olga Grund gave a recitation and Miss Hilma Erickson of Neegaunee a piano solo. Refreshments were served at the Young People's hall at the conclusion of the entertainment.

LONG DISTANCE RACES.

Newberry Man Broke Record for Six Mile Run Here Monday.

The long distance ski contests conducted Monday by the Finnish Athletic club of Ishpeming at the Union Park were participated in by seven runners and the finish was close. Ed Savelahiti of Newberry won first prize, $20, covering the six miles in forty-four minutes and forty-four seconds, breaking the record of forty-six minutes and eight one-fifth seconds, made in 1907. S. A. Stenback of Princeton took the $15 prize, finishing one second later than Savelahiti. Victor Laanainen of Ishpeming captured third prize, covering the course in forty-six minutes and eight one-fifth seconds. Ivan Mantilo, also of Ishpeming, was awarded fourth prize, he having made the run in forty-six minutes and thirty seconds. Other contestants were Victor Lahtinen and Robert Paananen of Ishpeming and J. J. Anderson of Neegaunee. The six miles were made in 1906 in forty-eight minutes and forty-two and two-fifths seconds.

REPORT WAS INCORRECT.

Colezaire Lad, Who Rides on Barrel Staves, Did Not Break Collar Bone.

It would seem from the fact that Bert Hansen, the Colezaire lad, who made a sensational jump with barrel staves on Friday a week ago Saturday, is to give an exhibition jump next Sunday at Chester hill in Duluth, that the announcement that he had fractured his collar bone while practicing last Friday, was untrue.

Skipper McLeachon, a young man of Grand Rapids, Minn., sustained what may prove to be fatal injuries Monday in making a jump on the ski hill there. He was injured internally and it is doubtful if he will recover. It is said that if a young man had not fallen he would probably have made a record jump on the Grand Rapids hill.

The members of the Ishpeming club believe that further improvements will have to be made on the hill here if record breaking jumps are to be made. It is generally conceded that the jump is too low and too far back from the incline. It is thought that if the bump had been two feet higher and about ten feet farther forward, jumps of from twelve to thirty feet longer would have been made.

Most of the riders complained on account of the snow being sticky, some of them asserting that the hill was much slower than last year.

EGGS ARE CHEAPER.

Indications Favorable for Lower Prices During the Next Few Weeks.

The wholesale dealers and commission men report that indications are favorable for a reduction in the price of eggs, which have been unusually high for some five or six months past. The comparatively mild weather of the past week or two has had a depressing effect on the price and in many of the city markets they have sold at from seven to ten cents per dozen lower than the two or three weeks ago. It is reported that a greater quantity of eggs is now being received in the city markets than at any previous time this winter. The demand for cold storage eggs is still greater than that for fresh eggs and the quality is fair to good.

While eggs are going down the prices of certain fruits are advancing. Bananas are now bringing more money to the wholesalers than they had received in several weeks, and the oranges are also considerably higher. The prevailing price for bananas in the city markets the past week has been four cents per pound, or one-half cent higher than had been quoted for some time previous. The Ishpeming dealers are not having as good a trade in oranges as they had in the season and only a limited quantity is received here. Fresh supplies are obtainable from two to three times a week through the local commission men, who receive from two to five carloads a week.

"PAID IN FULL" PLEASAS.

A treatise of human nature is "Paid in Full," a powerful drama of every day American life, which delighted a large audience at Ishpeming theater last night.

The play was one of the season's opportunities and it made a deep impression upon the house. There were a number of curtain calls. The power of money as a temptation and the desire of a man to live far beyond his means are the theme of others developed a drama which took rank with the best productions ever seen here. Telling a story that is true to life and portrayed by a company every one of whom is happily cast, "Paid in Full" will be remembered as one of the greatest theatrical events yet given here. The play is elaborately staged and costumed.

"Paid in Full" tells the story of the downfall of a young man who is greatly tempted by a woman, the sister of an American Steamship company, and who steals a large sum of money that he might gratify his own selfish ambitions. Accused of his thefts Brooks the young man about whom the play is built, admits the offense, but claims he had been induced to steal because of his love to give his wife the luxuries to which she had been accustomed before their marriage. Stung to the quick by the knowledge of her husband's unworthiness and his claim that he had stolen that she might benefit the wife consents to his proposal that she should go to his former employer, Captain Williams, and attempt to settle the matter. Captain Williams is a gruff character of apparently base tendencies but whose real goodness is brought to light in the appeal that is made to him by the young wife. After her worthiness has been proved the wife is given a statement relieving her husband from accusation for the thefts; this she gives to him and then, in a powerful climax, she leaves him forever.

Assaulted Boarding Mistress.

Estla Holso will be given a hearing in Judge Adams' court this morning on the charge of assault, with intent to do great bodily harm less than the crime of murder, preferred by his boarding mistress, Mrs. Susie Laouma of East Pearl street. She alleges that Holso struck her on the head, inflicting a wound five inches in length, which had to be sewed up by a surgeon. It is said that Mrs. Laouma's husband was away at the time and that Holso, who had been drinking, undertook to run the house.

The state central committee of the Michigan Sunday School association selected Mr. Montinger in preference to any of the other speakers available to make the upper peninsula tour. A number of Ishpeming people have had the pleasure of hearing him and they say that he is one of the most convincing speakers that they have ever listened to.

FROM MORGAN'S CURB LETTER.

"Eastern markets opened weak and lower, and the decline continued throughout the session. The decision of the supreme court, declaring the New York Central Railway company was guilty of allowing rebates to the American Sugar Refining company, was the excuse for the throwing over of long stocks in the New York market. Bear ticks are rife on Amalgamated and the metal shares in general. The New York metal market quotes prices of 1/2 all around in the bid price, bringing Lake down to 12 1/2 but with the market dull. The higher priced coppers naturally suffered most, but the list as a whole showed marked declines from Saturday's closing figures. Trading in the curbs was less active. Live stock made a new high record of 16 1/2. San Antonio was unchanged at 16. Considerable activity was shown in Giroux and new buying was in evidence around 6 1/2. The Globe issues were strong, due to a probable absorption. Some recoveries were noted in the late trading, but did not hold. The close was extremely weak and unless support is forthcoming lower prices will surely follow at the opening tomorrow. Yesterday's prevailing prices were:

Backache is only a simple thing at first. But when you know 'tis from the kidneys— That serious kidney troubles follow. That diabetes, Bright's disease may be the fatal end. You will gladly profit by the following experience. 'Tis the statement of an Iron Mountain citizen. James Simmons, 317 E. Ingitt St., Iron Mountain, Mich., says: "I had kidney trouble for ten years and suffered greatly from a lame and aching back. At times I could hardly drag myself around and should have been home instead of working. I had to be careful when stooping, as sharp, shooting twinges darted through my body. The kidney secretions were very irregular, and at night I would be obliged to get up five or six times to pass them. I heard so much about Doan's Kidney Pills that I finally decided to try them and procured a box. In a few days my condition was greatly improved and before long the backache was completely removed."

Big Syrian Wedding

At a Syrian wedding celebrated at Alex John's residence, Lawrence street, at Ironwood, Alex John and Miss Mary D. Corey, the latter of Hudsonville, Pa., were married. Nicholas Yannis, a Syrian priest of Kamey, Neb., journeyed to Ironwood to perform the ceremony. Nearly every Syrian on the Gogebic range attended the wedding.

His Injuries Mortal

John Zeren, an old resident of Stephentown, Menominee county, is dead, the result of an accident at the stone quarry at the Grand rapids. He was buried by collapsing ground as the outcome of a dynamite explosion. The deceased was born in Germany in 1846 and was a veteran of the Civil war, throughout which he served in the First Wisconsin Heavy artillery. He leaves a wife and four children.

Head Was Cut Off

F. Michael, an Italian workman at the Bristol mine at Crystal Falls, was instantly killed when descending to work a few days ago. He had ridden to the bottom of the shaft and was getting out of the skip when the latter suddenly started upward, crushing his head between the timbers and the skip and cutting it completely off. The deceased was a single man and had been employed at the Bristol only a few days.

Drank from Wrong Bottle

Mrs. Anton Scherrer is dead at Menominee, aged twenty-nine years. Her demise was due to blood poisoning. Recently, following the birth of her fourth child, she took a large quantity of castor oil, mistaking it for medicine, thinking it was castor oil, and shortly afterwards was seized with violent cramps. Her condition was critical and she was removed to St. Joseph's hospital, where the timorous and the skip and cutting it completely off. The deceased was a single man and had been employed at the Bristol only a few days.

Railroad Franchise Granted

The Ontonagon common council has granted to D. J. Norton that place a franchise to build a railroad in and through the village. The proposed route will connect with the St. Paul road at a point near the round house, will cross main street near J. Vincent's store and from there will be built east as far as Mr. Norton sees fit. The object of the proposed road is to make a way whereby the various lumber companies can get their logs to the village at a reasonable price.

Wakfield Will Be Lively

Wakfield, Gogebic range, likely will experience a little boom the coming summer. The erection of the new $50,000 school building will furnish employment for a large number of men. Thomas A. Grand will commence the erection of his new residence as soon as the weather will permit. The proposed Union church will probably be erected this summer and it is understood that the Catholic congregation propose to erect a new church and school on the south side of Main street. There will also be several residences built.

Narrowly Escaped Death

E. S. Hightower of St. Ignace was walking along State street, in that city, the other day and when in front of the LeClerc Hotel turned to watch the ferry carrying St. Ignace make her dock. He was walking backwards and when he reached the coal dock track did not notice the approach of a switch engine.

Home, When Just Outside the Door

When just outside the door Scott fell, whereupon an employe of the market picked him up and, turning over a tub, told him to sit there for a time. As an afterthought Mr. Swanson remarked that at six o'clock for Scott to go home, and going over to try to awaken him he was shocked to find the man dead. Scott was married and leaves a wife and five children.

Married His Housekeeper

A romance dating back to the days when the bride wore short skirts and her hair in braids had its culmination in George Clark Hanson's office at Menominee when Theodore Klempner, a wealthy Wilson farmer, aged forty-eight, obtained a license to wed Miss Rose Black, twenty-seven years his junior. Ever since she was seven years old, the girl had resided at the home of her fiancé, when the farmer's first wife died three years ago she became his housekeeper. Having no children, the widower assigned the young woman to various farm duties, and it was while she was milking a cow and scolding pants that he fell in love with her. The wedding took place at Escanaba and the couple are now on their honeymoon tour.

Dog Slaughter Still on

"Gunning is still pretty fair," said Chief of Police English of Menominee when asked regarding the campaign against unlicensed dogs in that city. The chief reported that many of the dogs have been killed. "People seem to believe that all they have to do is keep their dogs tied up for a few days and at the end of that time the agitation will have ceased. They are mistaken, however, as the man that I have put on the job will keep up the work for a long time. As the mayor and health officers deem it advisable to keep the dogs muzzled, we have killed several valuable dogs thus far and this morning were forced to dispatch a fine hound, which we knew was valuable but which was running at large without a muzzle."

A Black Hand Scar

Blackstone had a Black Hand scare last week. A household was very much alarmed by the threatening messages which a domestic received. The first in letters of blood, came through the mail and the remainder were placed by the unknown persons around the premises. At last the writer demanded that the recipient should meet him in a secluded spot Saturday evening. A strong cordon of citizens and police surrounded the vicinity, but no one was arrested. The next morning the last note was found written on the girl's tablet, in her room. Fervor and consternation reigned until an amateur detective noticed that all the other communications had been written in the same paper; and public interest lagged so fast as to fall over itself.

Law Disregarded There

Chippewa county officials have been conducting an investigation of affairs at Front Lake as a result of the recent arrest of Fred Price, who is alleged to have been connected with a recent highway robbery in that vicinity. It is said that saloons and gambling rooms have been run there in bold defiance of the law. Unless a change for the better is made at once a number of arrests will be ordered and the guilty parties will be punished. It is understood that the authorities have sworn statements of a highly interesting nature but they may not be made public. During the past few weeks "freezers" have been a nuisance in the vicinity of Front Lake which are alleged to be due primarily to the wide open policy which has created a disrespect for law and order among the rougher element. As most of the men who frequent the lawless establishment favor running things with a view to getting their money.

Death Came Suddenly

William Scott, a miner forty-one years of age, died at Ironwood while sitting on a overboarded tub in Gust Swanson's meat market. Scott had been about the city paying up his accounts, and in the evening entered Swanson's market, where he remained for some time, when a young man attempted to take him

Swift Company Buys Second Freezing Establishment at Buenos Ayres.

Buenos Ayres, Feb. 23.—The Swift company of Chicago has bought the "La Plata" freezing establishment for $7,500,000 gold, which, including the profits of last year's working, should allow for a distribution to shareholders of $140 per $100 share. This is the second of the Argentine "freezers" to be taken over by the Chicago firm, it having acquired the La Plata Cold Storage company about a year and a half ago. The ex-manager of the La Plata company is now at Sandy Point (Chili) studying the possibility of setting up a "freezer" in the far South, also in the interests of the Swift company.

The minister of agriculture has advised diplomatic and consular agents of the Argentine in Europe to make it known that the government is disposed to concede special facilities and assistance to any individual or association willing to erect freezing establishments in Patagonia; on the ground that the setting up of "freezers" in the vicinity of seaports in the far South would materially assist in the development of these regions and should be a paying business. It is announced that a syndicate of German capitalists has been formed with the object of heating a company for erecting a "freezer" in Patagonia with the intention of shipping wool by direct steamer from there to German ports.

VAGARIES OF A COLD.

You can never be quite sure when a cold is going to hit you. In the fall and winter it will settle in the bowels, producing severe pain. In the summer it may give you colic with diarrhoea. In summer complaint. Do not be alarmed nor torment yourself with fears of appendicitis or inflammation of the bowels. At the first sign of the pain or cramp take Perry Davis' Painkiller in warm, sweetened water and relief will come at once. It will be done with Perry Davis' Painkiller. It is now put up in a large 25c size as well as the regular 50c size.

WILL BOOM NEXT SUMMER.

Negaunee Business Man Favorably Impressed With Iron River District.

A Negaunee business man, who is interested in mines, recently spent a few days looking over the properties in the Iron River district, on the Menominee range. He was favorably impressed and from what he learned he is satisfied that Iron River and other nearby towns will boom the coming summer. He was advised that many business men are endeavoring to find locations there, but there can be no particular increase in the number of mercantile establishments at Iron River until more business blocks are erected. Building lots in the business district are held at an unusually high figure.

Much ore is being discovered in and near Iron River and it has now been proved beyond any doubt that ore extends practically the entire fifteen miles between Crystal Falls and that town. There are many diamond drills in operation in Iron River valley, and it is reported that both Bessemer and non-Bessemer ores are being found. Some of the drills have encountered ore a short distance from surface. The Cleveland drill from Campy, which is recently acquired control of the Holley tract, within a few years, be working on a large scale. It already has five drills in operation and two mines have been started. Captain William Tamblin, of the Ashland mine, who was recently appointed general superintendent of the Iron River properties, is expected there within a week or ten days.

There are a greater number of mines in the Iron River valley alone than in Marquette county. Some of the properties are new, but if the development work continues on as large a scale as expected a number of them will be heavy producers within from three to five years. Considerable new equipment is being installed.

AIMS BLOW AT SALOONS.

Wisconsin Bill Bars Garnishee Proceedings for Liquor Debts.

The brewers and liquor dealers will await with interest the disposal made of a bill now before the Wisconsin legislature which attacks the liquor interests. It provides that attachment and garnishment proceedings shall not be available as aids in collecting debts incurred in the purchase of alcoholic liquors.

While the bill has the endorsement of the temperance people, it is being urged most of all by the large corporations that are put to great inconvenience by garnishment proceedings. They claim that fully one-third of all debts which it is sought to collect by such process are for the purchase of liquor. Having this support, it is believed the bill will pass, but it is possible that the various grocers' associations may try to amend it so as to force through their project of making everything above 10 per cent earned by a wageworker or salaried person subject to garnishment. At present the limit is 800 per month, and the retailers claim that this gives the bad creditors too much of an advantage.

HOUSES NOT WANTED.

It is reported from the Mesaba range that Sparta will soon be only a name, and then a huge open pit. Most of the property owners have sold their homes and lots to the Steel corporation and are planning to move over to Gilbert, where the prospects are bright. The Steel corporation's officials have been puzzled as to what to do with the houses. They intended selling them back to the former owners, who could move them over to Gilbert. The prices offered for the houses have been low and in the event they cannot be sold the company will move them to the Geneva location, where they will be used as boarding houses and residences.

JEWELRY STOCK GOING FAST.

The stock of jewelry at J. F. Allison's store is being rapidly disposed of, by auction. The stock has been a decided success, so far as crowds and satisfied purchasers are concerned. H. M. Baskin, the Chicago auctioneer, has charge of the sale and with his ready wit has no trouble in keeping the crowd interested. Mr. Allison announces that the balance of the stock will, easily, be disposed of in the next couple of three days. He advises his friends not to wait until the last day for what they may need.

HOW GERONIMO SURRENDERED.
Recent Death of the Famous Chief Recalls the Indian Wars.

Washington, Feb. 23.—Questions having arisen as to under just what conditions Geronimo, the famous Indian chief, who died recently, and his band, had been taken by General Miles, led the senate. It was recalled here today, to call on the secretary of war in 1887 for all the telegraphic and other correspondence bearing on the subject. This shows that some of the dispatches received at the war department declared that Geronimo, instead of being captured, was, contrary to expectations at Washington, caught by means of conditions and promises. General Miles was asked to report by telegraph sheet, the exact promises, if any, made to them at the time of surrender, and he requested permission to come to Washington, in order that the president might fully understand every circumstance leading up to the surrender. The president refused this permission, however. Failing to obtain the information desired the general gave instructions to General Stanley, commanding at San Antonio, to get what was wanted. The latter examined Geronimo and Natchez, one of the other chiefs, both of whom, he reported, said they never thought of surrender until Lieutenant Grosvenor and others came to them and said the great father wanted them to surrender.

General Miles declared, however, that the Apaches had made overtures of surrender, desired certain terms and were in a mood to surrender as prisoners of war to the troops in the field. "Geronimo was one of the brightest, most resolute, most determined-looking men that I have ever encountered," said General Miles, commenting on incidents connected with his surrender. "He had the clearest, sharpest eye I think I have ever seen, unless it was that of General Sherman, when he was in the prime of life. Every movement indicated power, energy and determination. In everything he did he had a purpose. Of course," continued General Miles, "after being over those desolate Arizona valleys, mountains and dark ravines until he was worn down, he was anxious to make the best terms possible. His greatest anxiety was to know whether we would treat him fairly and without treachery, or as soon as he and his followers were in our hands, order them shot to death as had been the fate of some of his people. I told him that so long as he and his camp were our prisoners just treatment would be given. The Indians were soon sent out of the territory." General Miles said that citizens living in the territory had been terrorized so long by the blood-thirsty Indians that they gathered in large numbers at different stations to see their old enemies pass out forever.

Geronimo was allowed to attend the St. Louis Exposition, and his last public appearance, so far as recalled here, was at President Roosevelt's inauguration, when he rode in the parade with five other Indian chiefs. President Cleveland believed Geronimo deserved hanging, expressing the sentiment in the following telegram which he sent to the secretary of war from New York. "I hope nothing will be done with Geronimo which will prevent us treating him as a prisoner of war, if we cannot hang him, which I would much prefer."

General Leonard Wood, who, together with Lieutenant Lawton, was the actual captor of Geronimo, tells an interesting anecdote of an incident which occurred one afternoon when he was guarding the old chief while Lawton went in search of his command, the location of which he had not soon after the surrender. "About two o'clock in the afternoon the old Indian came to me and asked to see my rifle. It was a Hotchkiss, and he said he had never seen its mechanism. When he asked me for the gun and some ammunition I must confess I felt a little nervous, for I thought it might be a device to get hold of one of our weapons. I made no objection, however, and let him have it, showing him how to use it. He fired at a mark, just missing one of his own men who was passing. This he regarded as a great joke, rolling on the ground and laughing heartily and shouting, 'Good gun!'

WATER PURIFIED BY OZONE TREATMENT

MARQUETTE BOARD INVESTIGATING A NEW SYSTEM INVENTED BY JAMES HOWARD BRIDGE.

THE PLAN AT LINDSAY, ONT.

Recently Described in a Standard Magazine—A Letter from the Superintendent.

The members of the water board are industriously investigating other methods of obtaining a pure municipal water supply, inasmuch as the experimental drilling north of Lighthouse point last week was not attended with especially favorable results.

The following is the letter received by Mr. Kern from the superintendent of the water works plant at Lindsay, Ont., two members of the board acted on their responsibility and wrote to that city for further information.

The letter received spoke highly of the success of the ozone system, saying that it did the work of purifying swamp water thoroughly and that the expense of operation and installation was comparatively small.

The article in The Literary Digest, already referred to, is quoted as follows:

"Although widely known in Europe, the purification of water by ozone has made little headway in this country, on account of the cost of operation. This obstacle has now been largely removed by improvements in the machinery. S. H. Hart tells in The Electrical Review (Chicago, Jan. 9) of a small plant installed in the town of Lindsay, Ont., where 1,500,000 gallons a day are purified at an initial cost of $7,000, with the expenditure of not more than ten horsepower. The ozone, as is customary in all processes of this kind, is produced by the action of a high-tension electric discharge on the oxygen of the air, but the air is handled and compressed to deprive it partially of its moisture entirely by the action of the flowing water itself.

The purpose of the water board at present is to get all the data possible on modern methods of water purification, and perhaps later to engage the services of some expert on the subject, who will come to this city, look over the situation and make a recommendation as to the best system to adopt. It is also likely that members of the board will visit cities where certain kinds of water purification plants are in successful operation.

The process in detail. In the apparatus used at Lindsay, direct or alternating current (usually of 110 volts) is taken from the ordinary electric light circuit and by a transformer is stepped up to about 8,000 volts. This high voltage produces in the ozonizer, a box containing alternate plates of aluminum and mica, a silent electric discharge, converting the ordinary atmospheric air drawn through the ozonizer into ozone.

The water to be treated flows, under its own pressure, from the city mains through the pipe to its highest point, and in descending the water draws the ozone, by means of an aspirator, from the ozonizer, the water and ozone thoroughly commingling. This action is constant during the progress of the water in its downward descent into the glass sterilizer where the ozone ascends in millions of minute bubbles, coming into intimate contact with every particle of the water and completely destroys all the disease-producing bacteria contained in the water. The ozonized water then finds an outlet at the top of the sterilizer and may be conducted into any suitable storage receptacle for future use.

The reason for this destruction of the bacteria by the ozone is very simple. Chemical analysis of the bodies of bacteria show that they are made up of about 84 per cent of water and 16 per cent of solids. Of these solids more than half is made up of carbon. The strong affinity of oxygen for carbon is well known. Ozone, being a concentrated form of oxygen, has an even greater affinity for carbon; and the moment a bacillus comes in a contact with a bubble of ozonized air the body combines with oxygen, and the bacillus is consumed as completely as if it had touched a flame.

The plant treats up to 1,500,000 gallons a day and cost the town $7,250, which price included a reinforced concrete rough filter to strain the suspended matter from the water before it goes through the sterilizing well. It costs to operate 44 cents per million gallons, which is every expense except interest and depreciation. Its operation is entirely satisfactory, the effluent water being bright and sparkling, and free from its original disagreeable swamp taste and smell. It contains absolutely no pathogenic or intentional bacteria, and only a few of the harmless ones, like B. subtilis. It was put in operation six weeks after the contract was signed and runs night and day with no attention other than the switching on of the current.

"I understand the Murphy Ice company of Detroit have had a Howard Bridge apparatus, which has been running night and day for eighteen months at a cost of four cents for 50 tons of water purified.

The letter received by Mr. Palmer from the mayor of Lindsay was accompanied by a comprehensive pamphlet, written by James Howard Bridge, the inventor of the ozone system, in which the principles of the ozone method are much more fully outlined than in the article quoted from The Literary Digest. Mr. Kern has written to the present holders of the patents, regarding the practicability of the system and the members of the water board are endeavoring to make a thorough investigation of its possibilities.

JUDGE STONE HURT BY SEVERE FALL

FRACTURE OF CLAVICLE SUS-TAINED AND COURT HAS BEEN ADJOURNED FOR A WEEK.

Judge J. W. Stone, who according to schedule ought to be in attendance at the circuit court room this week, presiding over the February term, is, instead, confined to his home, corner of Spruce and Ohio streets, suffering from a fall, but not serious, injuries which he received in a fall yesterday morning, about 8 o'clock, immediately on leaving the house on his way down town. He sustained a fracture of the clavicle of his right shoulder, a slight scalp wound and a number of his ribs were bruised. The physicians in attendance expect that Judge Stone will have a quick recovery and they are hopeful that he will be able to attend court next Monday, to which date the business of the term was yesterday adjourned. In the event that it is not wise to have Judge Stone take up his work at that time an effort will be made to secure Judge Cooper, of the Geoghegan circuit, to come here to preside over the court.

Judge Stone's fall yesterday morning was a hard one. He was stepping out briskly from the house, and had only placed his feet on the walk leading from the steps when his feet went out from under him on a slippery spot, and he was thrown backward on the steps. His head, he believes, struck one of the steps, and the clavicle of his right shoulder was broken. Judge Stone was not made unconscious and was able to pick himself up. He found that his right arm was useless and surmised the nature of the injury. Physicians were at once summoned, and the injuries given the necessary attention. While they were not at all serious, they occasioned Judge Stone considerable pain yesterday. The news of Judge Stone's mishap quickly spread about the city and was received with much regret, particularly as some of the first reports were exaggerated and represented his injuries to be much more serious than, fortunately, was the case.

THEATRICAL.

"Paid in Full" Tonight. "Paid in Full" a vital, forceful, vital play of contemporary American life, by Eugene Walter, is to be the attraction at the Opera House tonight. "Paid in Full" is in four acts and critics say that Mr. Walter treats a great proposition in one act. It is a candid and a strength which marks him as one of the truly great writers of the American stage. He has taken for his subject the greatest class of American people and he has built his arguments on the command "Thou Shalt Not Steal" with absolute frankness of treatment. History concerns the fortunes of Joseph Brooks, his wife, Captain Williams, who is president of the Latin American Steamship company, and a mutual friend, Jimmy Smith. Brooks is an egoistic, self-centered, selfish and grasping. He believes the world owes him a living and because it is not presented to him in equal proportions with that given more favored individuals, he sulks, then rebels. His wife has borne with him long and patiently, even though she went out of her station to marry him and when finally he begins to steal, he covers over his source of income with the explanation that Captain Williams has advanced his salary and as a bonus for conscientious work has given him six months back pay, at the new scale. They live in a manner befitting their new income, and as might be expected the demerit is one tragic with the inevitable. There are new turns and twists to this play that have not been seen before in play writing. Do quote one western writer, "It is the play of the age." It is still running in New York and has to its credit a six months' run at the Grand Opera House, Chicago.
