A MORNING PAPER PUBLISHED BY THE MINING JOURNAL CO. (LIMITED.)

Entered as mail matter of the second class in the postoffice at Marquette, Mich.

There will be rival candidates for mayor in Escanaba, as well as rival candidates for other offices.

The Wisconsin legislative investigation committee seems to be devoting the greater part of its sessions to the adjustment of internal differences.

Chicago nominated aldermen and such city officials as are to be chosen the coming spring by the direct method this week.

If Uncle Ike Stephenson had known in advance how odorous the legislature was going to prove he might have questioned whether the game was worth $107,000.

The inaugural souvenir is pointed to as bearing evidence that President Roosevelt still holds President-elect Taft as highly as ever.

The word has gone out that Mr. Taft will take the same position in regard to the census bill that President Roosevelt took.

tendency to make Decoration Day like other holidays, a time for games and frolic.

The prosecution in the case being worked up against Warden Armstrong of the Jackson prison is not escaping criticism.

In the case of Jerry Anderson, of Grand Rapids, a member of the house in the legislature of 1907-08, who was indicted for accepting expenses for a junketing trip which he did not actually take.

The supreme court of Wisconsin refused to grant the injunction sought by Senator Lehr to end the present inquiry by a legislative committee into the manner in which the candidates for United States senator expended their campaign funds.

An unusual sight was presented at the rapids at the Soo the other morning. A strong east wind blew the waters back so much that islands No. 1 and 2, which are usually surrounded by roaring water.

No fake Decoration Day bills for Representative Beeman. Beeman is an old soldier and when Representative Flowers' bill letting down the bars for athletic games on the old soldiers' holiday was brought up Beeman got into the game as only an old soldier would on such an occasion.

Judging from the temper of the house, which was in an undeniably economical mood Wednesday, the president during the next term will enjoy the same salary that has been allowed for the office of late years.

To most people $50,000 will appear as a tremendously large salary. As a matter of fact, it is by no means excessive, and really entails on the president, if he is a man of no particular private income, the necessity of considerable "managing" of his establishment to make things come out even.

The salary proposed by the senate would be none too great a reward for the office. At $100,000 annually the president would be much the smallest paid ruler of any first class power, and his annual salary would be dwarfed beside that of the ruler of many second and third rate countries.

Washington, Feb. 25.—Congress is not likely to act upon Booker Washington's plea of a few days ago to look after the colored republic he founded in Africa many years ago.

Miles Thomas, for several years district manager for the Michigan State Telephone company, with headquarters in Escanaba, has accepted the position as general bookkeeper at the First National bank of Escanaba.

An unusual sight was presented at the rapids at the Soo the other morning. A strong east wind blew the waters back so much that islands No. 1 and 2, which are usually surrounded by roaring water, could be reached easily without wetting one's feet.

Washington, Feb. 25.—Congress is not likely to act upon Booker Washington's plea of a few days ago to look after the colored republic he founded in Africa many years ago.

Roads have been neglected and sickness menaces the country. The inland tribes despise the more civilized people who run the government.

Externally English colonies on the north and French on the south menace the troubled colony. Boundary disputes are frequent.

The little republic is governed by a president, whose cabinet is elective; a senate of nine members and a lower house of thirteen.

FINISHING MATERIAL ARRIVES.

A carload of finishing material for the new high school building, expected several days ago, came in yesterday. Contractor Chausse had planned to put several carpenters to work Tuesday, but on account of the delays in the arrival of the material the full force will not be at work until today. The material has been purchased from the Morgan Lumber company of Siskiyew and includes a number of carloads. The company has promised to send it forward as rapidly as possible and it is not anticipated that there will be any further delay. There will be a full carload of doors in the shipment.

CONTINUE TAILORING BUSINESS.

It has been very generally reported about the city the past few days that the Axel Rasmussen company is soon to retire from the tailoring business, which it has conducted with much success for a number of years. Axel Rasmussen yesterday said that there was absolutely no foundation for the report and that a larger business is now being done than at any previous time. The season's goods had been purchased and are now arriving. The firm will continue to make a specialty of skirts in the ladies' tailoring department.

FREIGHT TRAINS DELAYED.

Storm Caused Tie-Up of Provision Cars Coming North.

The snow storm this week retarded the movement of freight consigned to this district. Practically all of the Northwestern freight trains were cancelled, and, as a result, many cars of freight stood on the side tracks at various points along both systems. The train which brings the meat cars through on the St. Paul line did not reach here yesterday and it was not known just when it would arrive. Gust Beyer, representing Nast & Karger, was advised that his car, due yesterday morning, had been left somewhere near Green Bay, and he was unable to tell just when it would come through.

The storm was much worse in this county than anywhere else along either the Chicago & Northwestern or the St. Paul line. From Milwaukee north to Green Bay there was rain, and the snow storm was not particularly heavy until a point some miles north of the latter city was reached. Some of the engineers reported that the blizzard was so bad that at times they could not see the track, and it was with great difficulty that they got their trains through. The Northwestern passenger arriving yesterday morning came in nearly on time, but one of the engines became partially disabled here, necessitating a slow run to Ishpeming.

The storm was the first of the winter that made it necessary to use the big snow plows on either the St. Paul or Northwestern lines. The plows had been in readiness for several weeks.

The city had a large force of men at work yesterday following the plows passing over the walks. It will be a few days before all of the roads leading to the outlying districts are plowed out. None of them are impassable, but they are in bad condition. By 8 o'clock yesterday practically all of the principal walks had been opened.

The snow on some of the walks on Iron street, particularly on the north side, was from five to six feet in depth, and piles on the outer edges of the walks are now from seven to nine feet high in places. There was a greater quantity of snow on the eastern end of the street than on the western end. A portion of it will be hauled away by the city crew and the street car forces.

LOCAL LACONICS.

Thermometers in the city registered ten below zero yesterday morning at 6 o'clock.

The Mary Charlotte Mining company on Wednesday received three fine notices from the Union Stock yards, Chicago, for use in the train system underground.

H. W. Jackson left Wednesday night for Superior, Wis., to attend the funeral of his brother-in-law, the late Henry E. Erdling, who died from pneumonia after a week's illness.

Sam Lathrop, a well known resident of Sands, is in Negaunee for a few days under treatment of a local physician. He is suffering from a severe cold and attack of the grip.

Ernest Klein, manager of Rosen Bros. & Klein's store, has gone to Chicago and Detroit on a business trip. Isaac Rosen is here from Muskegon, to remain during Mr. Klein's absence.

L. E. Chausse, the contractor, who has been confined to his home the past three or four weeks with an injured foot, caused by stepping on a nail, is now suffering with a severe attack of the grip. On Wednesday it was necessary to lance his foot.

Ben Levine, son of Jacob Levine, the well known merchant of Champion, visited his cousin, Phil Levine, and wife here yesterday. Ben, who is a graduate of the law department of the Michigan university, will soon leave for the West, where he expects to locate permanently.

The Marquette City indoor baseball team, which was scheduled to play the Union at the high school last Wednesday night, did not come up on account of the storm. The Marquette and Ishpeming City nines are to meet tonight at St. Braasstad's hall, Ishpeming. Jim Hogan, who is conceded to be one of the best players in the upper peninsula, will be in the box for the Marquette team and it is expected that Jim Dunlavey will be behind the bat.

The members of the senior class of the Negaunee high school, who are to publish the Negaunesian this year, already have their work well in hand. Several of the leading articles have been written and practically all of the advertising for the publication has been secured. Robert Schneider is business manager and Miss Mildred Andrus is assistant manager. Photographs of the different classes of the high school, from which cuts will be made, have been taken by W. H. Israel.

Albert Bird, the old man who was struck by the Chicago & Northwestern Railway company's oil plow and severely injured during the storm Wednesday, has been engaged in railroad work in this county for the past forty years. Some thirty-five or more years ago he was employed as brakeman on the Marquette, Houghton & Ontonagon line and for more than twenty years past he has been working on the section. He was a North western foreman for several years, with headquarters at Goose Lake. Mr. Bird was reported as getting along fairly well yesterday.

THE OLD MAN AND HIS JOB.

Good Way Sometimes Followed Even in Hustling Days.

He had outlived his days of usefulness, everybody said. Younger, quicker, more progressive men were to be had for the taking by the firm that employed John Watson. The man himself heard the talk that was current in the machine room, and because of his very desire to prove that he was not superannuated, grew nervous, made mistakes, although no one in the shop was a better master of his trade, or knew more about the business in which he had grown old.

Watson did not consider himself disqualified by age to serve the sons of the man whose employ he had entered when he was younger than these "loy" manufacturers were today; but he could not fail to understand the impatience at his slowness manifested by his younger fellow-employees, men whose ability to turn off work he knew was valuable to the firm.

And so every day he grew more and more nervous and clumsy, waiting for the summons to the office, where he would be told that his services were no longer required.

Possibly the sons and successors of the founder of the business noticed the strain under which the old man was seeking to perform his work, for at last the summons came.

A significant look ran round the machine room when the message was delivered; a smile of relief on the part of some, but tinged with pity as the men saw the white aged face become ghastly during the old man's preparation for meeting the "young bosses." But he, perceiving the eyes that were upon him, straightened himself and left the room with quiet dignity.

As he entered the office, the brothers who had sent for him, and in whose hands his future lay, glanced significantly at each other. They had not realized before how old the man was. Then the elder brother spoke:

"Mr. Watson, you have been with the firm a long time, and—"

The old man lifted his head apprehensively, but the other continued: "We know that you are very familiar with the business. We are young men—you used to trot us on your knees. I dare say, if you ever found time to spare from your work—and we have decided to ask you to accept a position where your experience will be of much service to us. We want to give you a desk in the outer office, but you are to feel free to go anywhere in the factory and see what is going on. Then, when any suggestion or idea comes to your mind, you will let it down, and submit it to us in writing. Does the plan meet your approval?"

The old man tried to speak, grew faint and clutched at his throat.

The younger brother poured a glass of water for him.

"One thing my brother did not mention," he said, when the old man's faintness had worn away. "The salary connected with your new work will, of course, be somewhat more than you have been receiving. It's near quitting time now, so you needn't go back to the shop, but you can report at your desk in the morning. We hope you will be able to give us a good many suggestions. Good afternoon, Mr. Watson."

Straight and erect, the old man walked away, his pulse beating high with pride and happiness. The "bosses" considered his years an asset!

For six months the old man gave himself faithfully and enthusiastically to his new task, and although, of course, as he made no suggestions that were revolutionary or absolutely vital, yet, on the whole, he brought to the notice of the young men of the firm a great many things which it was well and profitable for them to know, and which they never would have known but for him.

Then one morning the employers found the desk unoccupied when they came in. The younger brother took a car which carried him to the old man's home. An old lady answered his knock, her eyes bright with unshed tears.

"He went at midnight, sir," she said, diving who her caller was. "He felt so sorry to leave you in the lurch. When he found he was going he didn't have time to say much, only that, but he said he did not doubt you'd get along somehow and he was glad he'd been able to advise you as long as he had. It's a great comfort to know you've been able to help folks."

The young man walked back to the factory. He felt that he did not wish to ride, but rather to be by himself.

At the office he repeated the old wife's story to his brother, and the elder man said, "Well, Hal, it is a comfort to know you've been able to help folks. You did it."—Youth's Companion.

MINING COMPANY BEING ORGANIZED

MARQUETTE WOMAN PROMOTING A SCHEME TO EXPLORE A SECTION FOR IRON.

HALF THE STOCK SUBSCRIBED

Thus Far None but Women Have Been Allowed to Invest in Enterprise, Requiring $10,000 Capital.

A mining company, which so far is composed entirely of women, is being organized in this city for the purpose of carrying on an exploratory drill work for iron on section 16 of township 47-25, six miles south of Marquette.

The property on which the exploratory work is to be done is owned by Amelie Pellissier, of this city, from whom the company has secured an option on 400 acres, eighty acres of which has been bought outright.

Surface Indications Promising. The surface indications of ore are declared to be as promising on this section as in any part of Marquette county, and for this reason the tract has often been spoken of as a good field for drill work.

It is declared that both the doricite foot wall and the "mother-of-iron" veins were found near the test pit sunk years ago, and that there is every indication of ore.

Organization of the Company. The company which is being organized by Mrs. Reinhardt for the development of the Pellissier property is to have a capital stock of $10,000, divided into 100 shares of $100 each.

Although there are no producing mines in the immediate vicinity of the property, it is almost in the direct line of the ore bearing formation running from Republic through the Negaunee group.

Communicated. To the Editor of The Mining Journal: Apropos of the discussion recently in The Mining Journal as to whether it is the duty of public officers to enforce the laws and ordinances, or whether private citizens must make information against offenders, and prosecute the same, I believe we have in this city an ordinance passed by the council requiring property owners or tenants to clear the sidewalks of snow within the required time, or suffer a penalty.

Application Blanks for Guild Hall Membership Have Been Left Down Town.

A MONTH OF STORMS. Such is the Prediction of Rev. Irl R. Hicks for the Coming March.

Rev. Irl R. Hicks, whose annual weather forecasts are probably more generally read than those of any other prognosticator in this country, predicts that the coming month of March will be a season of storms and blizzards.

"A reactionary storm period has its center on the 2nd, 4th and 5th. Don't be surprised if blizzards sweep the north and west not far from the 4th, 5th and 6th.

"A regular storm period extends from the 8th to the 13th, central on the 10th. High barometer gales from the north-west will wind up this period, bringing change to much colder to most parts of the country.

"A reactionary storm period is central on the 15th, 16th and 17th. The storm days will show an excess of storms of rain, thunder and wind or of snow and boreal winds.

ONCE TAME, NOW WILD. Timber Cruiser Says That Domestic Cats Are Roaming the Woods.

According to a timber cruiser, who has lately been working on the north shore of Lake Superior, there are many domestic wild cats, or rather many wild cats of domestic ancestry, down in the territory west and north of the Gooseberry river.

There were too many cats after the rats were gone, and some of them wandered off into the woods and when the camps were broken up a few years ago the animals that still remained were left behind to shift for themselves.

COMPROMISE TICKET WON IN ELECTION

TWO NEW MEMBERS ON THE VICTORIA BOARD OF DIRECTORS ELECTED AT BOSTON MEETING YESTERDAY.

The election of the board of directors of the Victoria Copper company, held in Boston yesterday, resulted in the election of a compromise ticket on which two of the old directors were replaced by representatives of the interests that were opposed to the existing regime.

The vote for the directors of the Victoria Copper company was as follows: Total number of votes cast, 79,382. For Williams, Graves and Hancock, 42,544; for Martin and Barber, 37,038. The compromise ticket was therefore elected. D. A. Barber and W. S. Martin, representing the opposition, succeed Arthur W. Chester and William E. Humphreys.

It is the general belief that the agitation that has resulted in the board of directors being made over will pave the way for a new line of policy in connection with the property that will reflect itself in better values for the stock.

There has been much interest locally, as well as throughout the upper peninsula, in the effort to inject some new blood into the board of directors, and the results that will follow on the election of the compromise ticket will be awaited expectantly by many stockholders in this region.

ST. PAUL ROAD TO CHANGE. Wells, Fargo Express to Replace United States Company, It is Said.

According to a report from the copper country, the United States Express company is to be replaced on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road, all lines, including the extension to the Pacific coast, by the Wells, Fargo company.

There will be several advantages in this exchange of companies, even with the loss of the United States, although the latter company's agencies will still be held by either the Western Express or the Wells, Fargo company.

All arrangements for the change over from the United States company to the Wells, Fargo on the St. Paul road have been made. The officials of the Wells, Fargo company were in Milwaukee this week and held a conference there on the matter of changing the offices in that city and in northern Michigan.

MAY PROVE FATAL. When Will Marquette People Learn the Importance of It?

Backache is only a simple thing at first; But when you know 'tis from the kidneys; That serious kidney troubles follow; That diabetes, Bright's disease may be the fatal end; You will gladly profit by the following experience.

"The statement of an Iron Mountain citizen, James Simmons, 317 E. Haight St., Iron Mountain, Mich., says: 'I had kidney trouble for ten years and suffered greatly from a lame and aching back. At times I could hardly drag myself around and should have been home instead of working. I had to be careful when stooping as sharp, shooting twinges darted through my body. The kidney secretions were very irregular, and at night I would be obliged to get up five or six times to pass them. I heard so much about Doan's Kidney Pills that I finally decided to try them and procured a box. In a few days my condition was greatly improved and before long the backache was completely removed.'
