FACED AWFUL DEATH IN AIR AND ON LAND

Caught in Balloon in a Gale, Then Lost in the Mountains, Captain Miller and His Fellow Aeronautes Are Safe After a Most Harrowing Experience.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 23.—After one of the most harrowing experiences in the history of ballooning, Captain A. F. Mueller and his five companions, who ascended in the Ferris racing balloon America at Pasadena Saturday afternoon and became lost in the Sierra Madre mountains, arrived on foot at Switzer camp, on the slopes of Mount Wilson, today.

The balloon was in the air less than two hours. It was carried by the strong north wind over a mile above the summit of Mount Lowe and swept on across the intervening peaks and canyons to the summit of Mount Gabriel. Here the ballast was thrown out and the balloon soared away toward Strawberry peak, on the third range. Crossing this at a low altitude, the balloon encountered a strong current of cold air which brought it rapidly to the earth.

A successful landing was effected on the north side of Strawberry peak, in what is known as Little Tiguana canyon, at 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon, less than two hours after the ascension at Pasadena. The distance covered was less than fifteen miles in a direct line, but by any possible foot route many times that distance. The aeronautes wandered aimlessly over the mountains until 1:40 o'clock Sunday afternoon, when they unexpectedly came to Colby's ranch, an isolated habitation far from any road and without any communication with the outside world.

THOUSANDS BID ROOSEVELT GOODBY

Waving a Parting Farewell With His Black Slouch Hat, the Nation's Former Chief Departs for the Jungles of East Africa.

With His Smiling Face Beaming in the Sun, He Sails Away from His Native Shores Amid the Cheers of a Multitude of People, the Whistles of Scores of Coastal Craft and the Thunderous Reverberations of the ex-President's Salute of Thirteen Guns.

New York, March 23.—Waving a parting farewell with his black slouch hat, his smiling face beaming in the morning sun as he stood on the captain's bridge of the steamer Hamburg, ex-President Roosevelt sailed away today for his long-planned African expedition.

Beside the happy figure of the former chief magistrate as the big steamship slipped out of her dock stood Kermit Roosevelt, the son of the ex-president, who accompanies his father as the official photographer of the expedition. Father and son remained on the bridge on the trip down the bay and acknowledged with sweeps of their hats the salutes of the vessels. The demonstration was unofficial in character, many high in the affairs of the nation were present.

Message from Taft Touches Him Deeply. One incident of the departure which touched Mr. Roosevelt probably more than any other was the presentation of a message and a gift from President Taft by Captain Archibald Butt, who was chief military aide to President Roosevelt and who at present occupies that position under President Taft.

Friends and political and official associates went aboard the steamship to speed the departing hunter. Only those who were known to Douglas Robinson, brother-in-law of Mr. Roosevelt, were admitted to the suite where Mr. Roosevelt received his friends.

Ship Presents a Pretty Marine Picture. The steamship Hamburg presented a pretty marine picture as she steamed down the river in the rapid sunlight which touched the coverts of her flags that fluttered from the masts as the long Island railroad from Oyster Bay to the final departure of the steamer Hamburg for Gibraltar, its first port of call. There was a burst of cheers as the ferryboat landed at Sixty-fourth street; and as the party whirled through the city streets pedestrians catching a fleeting glimpse of the ex-president, cheerfully took off their hats and waved farewell.

He's off! Teddy. Yes, politics is a fleckle jade.

What does a man get out of the office of mayor? Ask any of the ex-mayors.

Yes, the United States senate is beginning to look like a more attractive place to Mr. La Follette.

The senate tariff tinkers don't propose to let the public know what they are doing while they are doing it.

The first enthusiasm for the movement to change the date of inauguration day appears to have worn off.

It seems that, after all, most of the Jackson prison bindery twine plant machinery is second hand.

Ware the campaign scandal and the campaign scandal monger. The latter ought to be made subject to the penalties generally imposed against persons committing misdemeanors.

With over 1,000 voters out to the caucuses and 200 or more present in each of the five wards it appears that there can be no charge that Marquette people are apathetic about their political affairs.

It is now reported from Negaunee that there will be a candidate in opposition to Mayor Winter, and it is also understood that there will be two tickets at Ishpeming.

The direct nominations bill favored by Governor Hughes has been introduced in the New York legislature.

Rupp, S. L. Lawton, Thos. Whittle, C. A. Wright, Ferd. Wieber.

method was followed where there were contests for nominations for ward offices. The result was that although the caucuses averaged over 200 voters and there was keen rivalry between the opposing forces there were no contesting delegations from any of the precincts, and the convention was a decorous and harmonious body. The fact behind the satisfactory manner in which the Citizens' ticket was put in nomination was the secret ballot. Practically all the trouble experienced in the various precincts in the past, the contesting delegations and the rump conventions, have resulted from denying voters the right to an untrammelled expression of their preferences. It has been this that has been at the root of the evils in the convention system, and it has been this that, more than any other one thing, has brought about the widespread demand for the direct nominations system. The practice of having a secret ballot in the caucuses on every important matter in which there is a division of sentiment, so generally introduced here Monday evening, is a good one, and should be followed in all future years.

DEBATE ON TARIFF BILL.

The public debate over the terms of the new tariff measure has commenced in the house of representatives, with Chairman Payne of the ways and means committee as the first speaker. In the discussion which will follow, both in the house and later in the senate, doubtless every clause and provision of the new tariff bill will come up for more or less attention, and the division of opinion with respect to the various questions involved will by no means be along party lines. Already it is known that many of the Republican members of congress are decidedly opposed to various provisions in the so-called Payne measure, while of course the Democrats will endeavor to the best of their ability to take advantage of these Republican dispositions to make capital for themselves.

In fact there is little likelihood that the tariff bill as reported by the ways and means committee will run the gauntlet of the two houses of congress without change and amendment until the revised measure will bear little resemblance to the original bill.

Quite as many of the provisions of the new tariff bill are being bitterly assailed as others are being strongly commended. And of course this would be certain to be the case, no matter what kind of a measure had been prepared by the committee charged with this part of the work.

For instance, some of the experts in the steel and iron business of the country profess to see a veritable blight for the steel industry if the measure is enacted into law with its contemplated reductions in the tariff on steel and its products. Yet such an authority on the subject of steel manufacture as Andrew Carnegie appeared before the ways and means committee at its preliminary hearings on the tariff question and advocated even larger cuts in the steel schedules than the committee made.

Shoe dealers, or most of the prominent ones, assert that the removal of all duties on hides and a lowering of the duties on boots and shoes will make that industry flourish as it never has before and that cheaper shoes will soon be forthcoming if these features in the bill are enacted into law. On the other hand the people in the cattle raising districts do not look with favor on the proposition of free hides, although they have to admit that cattle are sold by them not primarily for the value of the hides. There is likewise skepticism in some quarters as to whether or not the consumers will derive any benefit from the proposed changes in the wool schedules, and wool wholesalers are doubtful as to whether this detail of the new tariff plan will increase the revenues to any great extent.

And so the story goes. There is plenty of criticism for most every feature of the bill in some quarters and in others there is a corresponding amount of approbation. This has been the case on every occasion when there has been a revision of the tariff. The same conditions will prevail in the future whenever it is found necessary to revise it again. To draw a tariff bill that will please everybody is an impossibility.

In the minds of those who are qualified to judge, however, the revision of the tariff as suggested by the ways and means committee will not only produce the increased revenue that the country needs, but will also work out for the greatest good for the greatest number of people of the country. The really surprising thing about the bill is that the revision is planned on such an adequate and extensive scale. It proves that a lot of unjust criticism was leveled at the head of the members of the ways and means committee during the progress of the tariff hearings, when it was alleged time and time again that these gentlemen were all stand-patters of the first water and that it was unreasonable to suppose that they would recommend a revising of the tariff downward to any great extent.

PAYNE BILL AND COFFEE.

So far the retention of coffee on the free list by the Payne bill has not weakened coffee quotations, spot No. 7 Rio in New York ruling steady at 8 1/4, as for some weeks before the tariff measure was reported to the house, when it was expected a four-cent duty would be laid thereon. Now the failure of prices to fall in the face of the continuation of coffee on the free list is explained by certain New York dealers by the allegation that, as a matter of fact, though nominally on the free list, the great bulk of the coffee entering this country will be subject to duty under the following clause of the Payne bill:

Provided that if any country, dependency, province or colony shall impose an export duty or other export tax or charge of any kind whatsoever, directly or indirectly, upon coffee exported to the United States, a duty equal to such export duty, tax or charge shall be levied, collected and paid thereon.

On the face of it the foregoing provision seems clearly to necessitate the tariffing of all Brazilian coffees, the great bulk of the American supply, as that country imposes an export tax of about 35 per cent ad valorem on all shipments of that product, 20 per cent of which at least that government, under its valorization scheme to keep up the price of coffee, is pledged to maintain until next July.

To abolish this export tax would not only deprive Brazil of large and needed revenues, but would likewise cause such a slump in the price of coffee in the world's markets as would greatly damage Brazilian coffee growers, as well as all holders of the enormous supplies of the "valorized" product, including the Brazilian government itself. For these reasons it is assumed Brazil will not, because it cannot afford to, repeal its export tax on coffee, and that as a consequence Brazilian coffee imports must, under the pending bill, be subjected to corresponding duties.

Two theories have been advanced in explanation of the presence in the bill of the foregoing quoted clause—one that as it was originally drafted coffee was taxed four cents, and in changing it to the free list just before the bill was laid before congress the fact was overlooked that Brazil had a uniform export duty on all coffee, to whatever country shipped; the other being that the intent was that the clause should apply only to such countries as lay export coffee duties discriminating against this country. Neither of these, however, are fully satisfactory.

RUNAWAY COMET.

One of the largest comets of human interest is soon due. It is Halley's comet and will be so conspicuous in the heavens it is sure to attract the superstitions, bringing out all the bodings of war, pestilence and death that such phenomena always do.

So vast is the orbit of Halley's comet that it takes seventy-six years at the rate of many miles a second to go once around the sun. Its tail is millions of miles long and so bright is its light that objects of earth cast shadows at night. This great glory of light will be harmless to the earth and the other planets, but a real danger at the same time will be from a comet invisible to the unaided eye.

This danger will be from Encke's comet. It runs closer to the sun than any other comet has dared and its return happens every three and a half years, though of recent years its return has been a little quicker, showing that its orbit is getting shorter and also it is getting closer to the sun. Such has been the behavior of Encke's comet that apprehension is ever at high tension when this comet comes to perihelion, for then it is possible that it will fall into the sun.

Upper Peninsula Educator to Study Law.

It is announced that C. E. Callen, superintendent of schools of the city of Norway, will resign to take up the study of law. He will be succeeded by George W. Malcolm, principal of the Norway High school, in which capacity he has served for a number of years.

Mouse the Thief.

Clayton DeLong missed a $5 bill out of his cash drawer in the depot at Crystal Falls several months ago and was unable to account for its disappearance until a few days ago, when it was discovered in the nest of a mouse. The owners had been chewed off but Mr. DeLong was able to piece the bill together and sent it in for redemption. A new bill was returned to him through the bank last week.

Missed Only One Word.

The teams of the Crystal Falls and Iron River High schools having tied in a spelling contest, neither side missing a word, they tried conclusions in a second match, which Crystal Falls won. Of the 779 words programmed, only one was spelled incorrectly, an Iron River young man falling down on the word "exaggerate." There were fifteen contestants on each side. In the two matches, 1,529 words were pronounced.

Leg Cut Off at the Knee.

James Murphy, a former wellknown resident of Ironwood, and whose widowed mother lives on McLeod avenue, in that city, was badly injured while working at the Canisus mine at Coleraine, Minn. He was acting as carman, and was with a shovel crew at the bottom of the pit, repairing a broken chain, when a falling chunk of rock caught his leg against the wall and completely amputated it at the knee. He was to have been married on Friday of this week.

Farm House Burned.

Fire in the farm of Charles Mervin in Dorchester township, Schoolcraft county, resulted in the destruction of the dwelling house. The fire had its inception around the kitchen chimney, and owing to the lack of water it was impossible to stay the progress of the flames. Several men engaged in hauling cedar, were passing the house at the time and assisted Mr. Mervin and his sons to save the contents of the house. The building was not insured.

Lively Boxing Bout.

The boxing contest at Smith's Opera House, Staunton, between Barney Cinnamon and Spider Kelley was one of the best and liveliest bouts ever seen on the range. Cinnamon was too much for Kelley, except in the fifth round, when the latter rallied and really had Barney going. The next round he was knocked down three times and the third time down was counted out. It is estimated that between ten and fifteen of these two lightweight will be pulled off some time this week.

Many Changes in Teaching Staff.

There promises to be quite a change in the personnel of teachers in the Newberry schools for the next school year. At a meeting of the board of education only seven of the present corps of teachers made applications and were re-elected for the coming year. Among these are: Principal Hughes, Misses Shepherd, Brown, Potvin, Hammond, Seymour and Mulvaney. There are still six vacancies to be filled by the board, including the position of superintendent. The board has engaged Mr. Ford and Miss Grant as teachers for the range. Cinnamon was too much for Kelley, except in the fifth round, when the latter rallied and really had Barney going. The next round he was knocked down three times and the third time down was counted out. It is estimated that between ten and fifteen of these two lightweight will be pulled off some time this week.

Fought in Franco-Prussian War.

The old man not having been seen for some days, investigation revealed the dead body of Wolfgang Bauer in his cottage at Manistique. The deceased was a native of Germany and had lived at Manistique for the past twenty years. He had no relatives, and was practically a recluse. The deceased was born in Ober Fals, Bavaria, about sixty years ago. He was in the German army during the Franco-Prussian war, and was one of the 200,000 men who were permitted to march into Paris. Chief Rediker found a small amount of money in the house, also some notes. The cause of death is unknown, but it was heretofore decided that it was not necessary to hold an inquest.

With Sherman on March to Sea.

Final taps were sounded for another Civil war veteran, Leonard Davis, a member of Pleasanton post, G. A. R. died at Ironwood. The demise came very suddenly and unexpectedly and was caused by heart disease. Leonard III was born in Leicester, England, March 23, 1841, and came to this country with his parents in his infancy. He settled at Hazel Green, Wis., where he spent his younger days on a farm, enlisting at the age of seventeen years in Company I, Sixteenth regiment, Wisconsin infantry. He served two years and eight months, being honorably discharged at the close of the war. He was married when thirty years of age to Miss Josephine Gardner, of Linden. Soon after his marriage he removed to Iron Mountain, Mich., where he was employed as a foreman at the Ludington mine for seven years. He was married with the earlier pioneers of the city. He is survived by his wife, two daughters—Mrs. W. J. Thompson of Lead City, South Dakota, and Mary Ella Hill, of Ironwood—and four sons—Leonard, Jr., of Chicago, and George, Joseph and William, of Ironwood.

Pitcher Olmstead's Predicament.

Henry Olmstead, a well-known baseball pitcher of Escanaba, is in a quandary. He is being pressed to play this season with three different big teams of the country. He has a contract with Denver but did not care to play at the salary that was offered. The manager of the Denver team, however, has permitted the pitcher to open negotiations with the pitcher and offered the club $1,000 bonus for Olmstead. Des Moines also offered "Hank" a considerable increase in the pay over that received by the pitcher when he was with this team, it immediately offered Denver the same money that Des Moines had offered for the release of Olmstead and telegraphed an offer to Escanaba with a still more liberal salary. Now that the Denver manager sees that other baseball aggregations want the Escanaba man it has come to the conclusion that if Olmstead plays ball this season it will be with Denver. Accordingly it has sent an urgent request to Olmstead to play ball with Denver again this year at a figure that is in excess of any offer that has been made to him heretofore. To make matters more complicated Olmstead has means of substituting his baseball influence should be to the public advantage. Several specifics have been devised to achieve this desideratum, but they have only proved moderately successful: while the primitive methods of water jugs and distributing damp scodod has proved not only expensive but practically useless. One medium, however, which experiments have shown to be unusually efficacious has recently been introduced upon the market under the name of "Groomed." By its use wooden floors can be kept as clean as polished linoleum, while the atmosphere is also kept free from dangerous dust particles with comparatively little trouble and expense.

By its use wooden floors can be kept as clean as polished linoleum, while the atmosphere is also kept free from dangerous dust particles with comparatively little trouble and expense.

The specific is in the form of a liquid, which is sparingly distributed over the floor. Its effect is to weigh all dust particles so that they cannot rise into the air by any means, but roll along the floor when a broom is applied, so that it can be easily collected and removed. As it is not requisite to rub the floor with the medium, application can be effected very quickly, when swept, the boards are left perfectly clean and the atmosphere dustless. It is also a powerful germicide. The liquid is mixed without about 80 per cent of water, and when administered may be left on the floor for four or six weeks, according to the extent of the traffic. Under these circumstances, it is well adapted for use in warehouses, shops, public buildings, theaters, offices and so forth, where the accumulation of dust entails considerable annual expenditure. Groomed is already being extensively used in schools, libraries, etc., while the executive of the Edinburgh exhibition employed it for the treatment of the floors in the machinery and industrial buildings, greatly to the satisfaction of the exhibitors. It has the distinct advantage that it has no injurious effects upon the most delicate materials used for ladies' dresses, should they trail upon the floor.—Scientific American.

Levy of Hancock, administrator of the estate of Sam Sausonsky, who was killed by a street car, is seeking to recover $25,000 from the Houghton County Traction company for the man's death, and has filed suit for that sum in the circuit court. The case will be called for trial at the May term.

SUB-COMMITTEES NAMED.

Active Preparations Now Going Forward for Firemen's Tournament.

At the meeting last night of the executive committee appointed a week ago to make preparations for the tournament of the Upper Peninsula Firemen's association which will be held in Laurium during the coming summer, sub-committees to handle the details were named. While almost as a whole it is to have a number of fraternal society contests, the single big celebration in Laurium will be the firemen's tournament and the business men and citizens generally there propose to make it memorable.

Subscriptions are being asked from all of the merchants and business places of the district. It has not yet been announced what attractions will be brought to Laurium for the occasion. A year ago when the tournament was held in Marquette that department sought to have as one of the chief features the famous Kansas City organization which has toured over the United States and Canada, Hale's Fire Fighters. The amusement committee of the Laurium department is communicating with this attraction, also negotiations are afoot with several carnival companies. A publicity committee to advertise the tournament and the village has also been organized.

FRY FOR STREAMS AND LAKES.

Clubs Are Now Sending in Applications to State Fish Commission.

The various copper country clubs of sportsmen are just now sending in applications to the state fish commission for trout fry for the streams of the district, and it is probable that a large number of fish will be planted this year than in former years. This, however, is dependent upon the fish commission, if the commission is unable to supply all demands, the quantity in each will be reduced. Within the past week the secretaries of the various clubs have received from the fish commission applications upon which requests for fry are made. The commission not only sends out fry to clubs of sportsmen, but any citizen interested in things of the kind may ask for and may receive quantities of fry. The greater part of the planting of the young fish, however, is done by organized clubs.

In Houghton and Hancock the Portage Lake Rod & Gun club is the important sportsmen's organization. The fry that will be sent to this club will be for the most part planted in the streams in the southern portion of the county and particularly in the Pilgrim river. Due largely to the work of the club the Pilgrim, which flows just a little more than a mile south of Houghton, has been kept supplied with trout, it is well known among anglers that one may always catch trout in the Pilgrim, though for the most part the fish are still small. Other Houghton county streams that will probably receive fry this spring are the Salmon Trout and the Gravelot. The former is out of a branch of the lake shore branch of the Copper Range and the other is near Freda Park, both good streams from the angler's and the artist's viewpoint. There are also streams on the main line of the Copper Range and the Gravelot, in which annually quantities of fry are to be planted.

For the most part the sportsmen's organizations of the Calumet district will carry their fry into Keweenaw county. In fact, the bulk of the fry sent to the copper country will probably go into Keweenaw county, as the most of the sportsmen's clubs of the district are located in the Calumet district. It has not been stated whether any of the clubs will plant bass fry this year. Bass have been to be caught in only a few of the more or less distant lakes of the district.

BISHOP WILLIAMS COMING.

Bishop G. Mott Williams of Marquette, head of this diocese of the Episcopal church, is coming to the copper country, the latter portion of this week and will deliver a number of addresses, Friday evening he will preside at a special service at Calumet, where also he will spend Sunday. He will confirm a class of young people at the church Sunday morning and in the afternoon will be the speaker at the weekly meeting of the Y. M. C. A. In the evening, upon this occasion he will speak upon the subject, "The Church and the State." In connection with the meeting a special program of music will be given.

AGAIN SAYS HE WON'T RUN.

Judge Bentley Will Withdraw from Hancock Council at Close of Term.

Probate Judge George C. Bentley has reaffirmed his decision, announced some weeks ago, to withdraw from the Hancock city council. When the announcement was first made it was thought that Judge Bentley would find reason to change his attitude but he has stated definitely that he will not again be a candidate. He has represented the Second ward in the council for the past two years. The names of a number of candidates have been mentioned. A. L. Levy has definitely announced that he will make the race, and it is probable that J. S. Stringer will also run. It is stated that Dr. W. H. Dodge, city health officer, will seek the nomination on the Republican ticket for the office of mayor.

FORGER GETS MINERS' CASH.

The Calumet authorities are making an investigation in connection with two forgeries by means of which Frank Balma and John Bagonia, Wolverine miners, were swindled out of their pay for the past month. The two men left their receipt books in the dry house when they went to work underground, and when they returned to the surface they found the books gone. It was found that the pay checks had been called for at the office and that both checks had been cashed at stores in the district. Each of the checks was for about $65.

CASE CONTINUED AGAIN.

The injunction suit of the Michigan State Telephone company and the city of Hancock has gone over for another term of court, though it had been confidently expected that it would go to trial at the term which is about to close. The suit is to determine whether the telephone company must remove its poles from the streets in accordance with any ordinance enacted nearly three years ago by the city council of Hancock. It has been in court for the past two years. The present term of court will end tomorrow.

INQUEST AT AHMEEK.

The inquest in connection with the death of Joseph Lantz of Calumet, who was killed about a month ago in a collision between two rock trains north of Calumet, was held yesterday in the court of Justice of the Peace Weichert of Ahmeek. The collision occurred during a snow storm in which the engineers of the two trains were unable to see for a distance of more than a few feet. The verdict rendered was in accordance with the facts published at the time of the accident.

HOCKEY SEASON ENDS.

The last game of the hockey season is to be played tomorrow night at the Glaciarium at Mohawk between the Mohawk and Hancock teams. It will mark the close of the copper country's longest hockey season, one that has lasted about a month longer than any former season. Mohawk expects to win tomorrow night's game. The preceding game between the two teams ended in a tie and it is said that Mohawk would have won but for a violation of the rules by two Hancock players.

FUNERAL TOMORROW.

The funeral of Robert Danielson, son of Fred T. Danielson of Calumet, whose death occurred Monday night, will probably be held tomorrow. Mr. Danielson was twenty-four years old and was widely known. His death was due to tuberculosis. Besides the parents, there are a brother, Raymond Danielson, and a sister, Miss Bernice Danielson. Raymond Danielson is in the navy and was on one of the vessels that sailed around the world. He is now in Boston.

WANTS WEEKLY REPORTS.

The board of public improvements of Hancock has issued instructions to the engineer at the pumping station to submit to it reports each week, showing the exact amount of coal used at the station and the exact amount of water pumped. This information is to be used when the question of charging the water rates again comes up for consideration.

TO GIVE ENTERTAINMENTS.

Mining News

THE SITUATION IN COPPER.

The statistics reported by the Copper Producers' association for the month of February are not properly comparable on their face with those for January, because January was a long month and February a short one. Consequently, it is necessary to reduce to a daily basis. Upon such a basis it appears that the production in January averaged 3,417,245 pounds per day; in February, 3,570,000 pounds per day. This was a rather large increase if maintained for a year it would amount to nearly 30,000,000 pounds.

The exports in January were 42,985,600 pounds; in February, 31,104,646 pounds. Deducing these figures from the deliveries reported by the association, it appears that American consumers in January took 47,376,821 pounds, and in February, 43,441,974 pounds. Comparing the figures according to the work-topping days in each month, the deliveries to domestic consumers in January averaged 1,822,185 pounds, and in February 1,888,781 pounds. So far as they go, these figures are encouraging, but they carry the metal only up to the gates of the manufacturers, and we do not know the situation inside of the latter. If we may assume that consumption is actually going on at the rate indicated for January and February, it must be recognized that there is a substantial improvement over the average for the whole of 1908, and that it is to Europe chiefly to which we must look for the great increase in demand to absorb the accumulating stock.

It was not to be supposed that production in February should exhibit a diminishing rate, inasmuch as the refineries are still working upon crude copper produced by the smelteries previous to Jan. 1. During February there was some curtailment by the miners who are unable to produce profitably on a 12 1/2-cent basis, but even so it is doubtful whether their restriction is not more than offset by the increased production of Elv and other places that can produce profitably at a much lower figure. In this connection it is worth while to explain what is meant by cost of production. Sometimes the meaning is "direct operating cost." More conservatively, the meaning is the difference between gross proceeds and dividends to stockholders, which include all expenses for development, new construction, etc. Even so, the ultimate cost is an amount sufficiently large to reimburse the investment of capital. The allowance that should be made on the last account is difficult to determine for a variety of reasons. Moreover, in the curtailment of production there is a running expense on account of overhead charges which may make it cheaper to forego temporarily capital return than to cease production entirely. Formerly these conditions used not to be so carefully considered, but nowadays the talk that copper is cheap at about 12 cents manifests not so much increased cost of production as compared with ten years ago as it does the idea lurking in many minds that the capital invested in the production must receive an adequate return; in other words there is a better understanding of economics. As to the outlook for copper in the immediate future, it is doubtful if the large sales that were made about March 1 help matters materially. Part of them were for speculative account, which does not assist at all; another part, representing the transactions with manufacturers, may not any more than make good the contracts that expired in February. It is quite obvious that there must be either a natural curtailment of production, or an increase in demand from home and abroad. Probably both things will come into play and the market will naturally seek the level where demand and supply will balance.—Engineering & Mining Journal.

NOTES OF COPPER NEWS.

The Lake shaft is bottomed below the third level and in good copper-bearing ground. The plat has been cut for the third level and lateral work begun. The vein at the lowest level gives some indication of being the Baltic, but yet does not offer sufficient proof of being this vein to positively identify it. The company is pushing work vigorously and hopes to have its shaft down at least 500 feet before summer will have passed. Further financing will be necessary by next fall, but there is reason to believe that this will be done without the slightest trouble.

Several directors of the Calumet-Corbin are now in Montana inspecting the late developments at the mine. There has been little change in the work during the past few weeks. The shaft is going down at the rate of almost 100 feet per month. It is hoped to be in a position to do lateral work before the close of April. The formation indicates that the company will reach ore of a paying class. It is the intention of the company to begin shipments as soon as commercial ore is opened up.

A Salt Lake City correspondent says: It now develops that instead of the United States Smelting, Refining & Mining company holding an option upon the Knight smelter and the Colorado mine, it is the Cole-Ryan people who hold this option for the International Smelting company. John D. Ryan will be here within a week to inspect personally the Knight properties. The option price for mine and smelter is reported to be $6,000,000. The Knights claim that the deal will be made with the Cole-Ryan people and that these interests may also take other properties in the Tintic district. Experts are now examining both the mine and the smelter.

RAY CENTRAL COPPER

FOR MORE THAN A YEAR WE HAVE BEEN PUBLISHING OUR SPECIAL COPPER LETTERS, ANALYZING PROPERTIES, DETERMINING SECURITY VALUES, AND DEMONSTRATING THE METAL'S MARKET POSITION; THAT OUR CONCLUSIONS HAVE HAD WEIGHT IS EVIDENCED BY THE FLATTERING RECEPTION ACCORDED THESE REVIEWS, AND THAT IN EACH INSTANCE SEVERAL REPRINTS HAVE BEEN NECESSARY TO FILL INSISTENT AND GROWING DEMANDS.

FROM THE BEGINNING OF OUR SPECIAL ATTENTION TO COPPER WE HAVE SCANNED THE FIELD THOROUGHLY FOR AN OPPORTUNITY TO PLACE BEFORE THE PUBLIC A GREAT COPPER IN ITS INITIAL STAGES:

Ray Central conforms to each of these requisites. The Mining of Copper today is an economic and purely commercial business, dependent for success upon manufacturing costs against selling prices.

Natural advantages, such as water in plenty, ore deposits easily handled and in tremendous volume, transportation facilities unexcelled, electric power, oil as fuel and many other favoring factors exist in Ray Central to sharply contrast it with other properties of a less fortunate environment.

So keen are these commercial factors that great financial strength, strong executives and the best engineers are necessary for the fullest measure of profits in coppers; in any and all of these Ray Central is second to none, and offers, in our judgment, an investment attraction so marked that its future worth will admit of few parallels.

PAYING POULTRY

What's the use of spending your time and energy in trying to make a little money out of hens with natural conditions against you?

There is no more trying or difficult or bothersome work than taking care of poultry—making it pay, yet poultry, exactly the same as with stock—horses or cattle—you must have it in a healthy condition, otherwise you can't make it pay.

INTERNATIONAL POULTRY POWDER is just as effective in keeping your poultry in a healthy, strong, paying condition as nature is in keeping your stock in good condition. Keeping your hens in good condition, so that they will be healthy, and so that you will get the most good out of them is just as important as keeping your stock in good condition. INTERNATIONAL POULTRY POWDER is away ahead of any other poultry powder that we have ever come in contact with. If you have not already tried it, do so at your very earliest opportunity. Use it regularly according to directions, and you will find it is not expensive at all, but productive of the very best results. 25c PACKAGE, 5 PACKAGES FOR $1.00.

Bought Corner Lot—Mayor John Robinson has bought the lot on the southeast corner of Hewitt avenue and High street from William Ford, and expects to build a fine residence thereon within the next few months. The house will be offered for sale when completed.

Mrs. Bishop Dead—A telegram received from Superior yesterday announced the death of Mrs. P. A. Bishop, a former resident of this city, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. M. Sutherland. The remains are to be brought to this city, where the funeral will be held today.

Died in Boston—Word has been received of the death of Mrs. W. W. Manning, a former resident of this city, at her home in Boston last Wednesday. Mrs. Manning moved from this city about ten years ago, having lived on Michigan street, near the Kaufman residence.

Wholesale Grocery—Mrs. P. J. Van Iderstine has rented the store room in the Ida block, on West Washington street, to the National Wholesale Grocery company of Escanaba. It is understood that this company will open a branch office in this city, and they have already moved a part of their stock into the building.

Basketball Game—The Knights of Columbus basketball team will play the Cleveland Cliff's team at Ishpeming at Legion Hall tonight at 8:30 o'clock. The admission will be twenty-five cents for men and fifteen cents for women. The Cleveland Cliff's team has made an excellent record this season and a fast and exciting contest is anticipated tonight.

Basketball Friday—What is believed will be the best basketball game of the season is the match announced for Friday evening between the Marquette City and L'Anse High school teams. The contest will take place at Legion Hall. Klamert's boys' band will furnish music, as will the Peerless orchestra, the latter for the dancing that will follow the game. The L'Anse team is the champion team of the Copper Country interscholastic league.

Ishpeming Masons Pay Visit—A company of more than seventy-five Masons, members of the Ishpeming lodge, were the guests of their Marquette brethren last evening. The visitors made the trip by special train, arriving during the late afternoon and departing for home shortly after midnight. Supper was served at 6:30 o'clock. Work in the third degree followed, after which a musical program was given and brief addresses were made. A quartet and a glee club composed of Ishpeming Masons took part in the entertainment. The occasion was a most happy one, thoroughly enjoyed by guests and hosts alike.

Supervisors Meet Today—The last meeting of the present county board of supervisors will be held at the court house today. One item of business that will come up is a request for a change of the boundary between Wells and Turin townships. It is sought to make the boundary between the two townships the Escanaba river, instead of the government boundary line between ranges 24 and 25, as at present established. As it is now, certain residents of both townships have to cross the river to go to their respective voting places, and, as there are few roads, a circuitous route is often necessary. By making the river the boundary line, it will be more convenient for those living on both sides of the river.

Germans to Meet Tonight—All persons of German descent are invited to attend a meeting of the Carl Schurz local, No. 1, Deutscher American National Bund, to be held at Keough's Hall tonight. The preliminary organization of this society in Marquette was effected a few weeks ago, in response to a wide-spread movement of Germans throughout the country. The objects of the society are to promote good government and to insure personal liberty to the German population of this country. The organization is said to already have a membership of 30,000 in this state and of 3,000,000 in the United States. Its members are likely to take a hand in local, state and national politics. At the meeting tonight the organization of the local society will be perfected and several local speakers will be heard. Casper Burr is president and Wm. Frohling-dorf secretary of the local organization.

Benjamin Franklin's Plan

Benjamin Franklin wanted to leave the cities of Philadelphia and Boston a legacy. He had $10,000 to be divided between them—not a very large sum for municipal improvements. But he directed that each city put out its $5,000 at interest for 100 years, in charge of trustees. At 5 per cent it grew to $655,000. The $600,000 was to be spent in improvements and the $55,000 again put out at 5 per cent. At the end of the second century this $55,000 will amount to $20,305,000, and Franklin's original modest $10,000 will have produced the two cities over $41,000,000.

This is all the growth of interest and nothing else.

MARKETS

NEW YORK STOCKS.

Paine, Webber & Co.'s correspondent at New York yesterday telegraphed as follows:

"Stocks opened higher, and seemed in line to make further advances all around until the announcement of the court's foreclosure proceedings in the Interboro case, causing decided weakness in the indices of that group, which spread through the entire list. Selling was persistent, and the close was near the bottom in most stocks. The market appears very sensitive and susceptible to news, and will no doubt continue in this manner until something definite is known from Washington regarding the tariff revision. Meantime many opportunities will no doubt be presented for scalping operations."

PARSIFAL

No grander spectacle, no more sublime subject, no greater dramatic action, and no more beautiful or interesting story was ever embodied in a play in any period of the world's history than is witnessed in the magnificent world known mystic drama, "Parsifal." The story of "Parsifal," in somewhat varied forms, is more or less familiar to English readers by their acquaintance with Tennyson's "Knights of the Round Table," or Walter Map's Welsh legend of the same subject. German scholars and readers have gained their principal knowledge of the story from the pen of their famous poet, Wolfram von Eschenbach, who wrote his lengthy but wonderful poem before Wagner's time. French readers are similarly acquainted with the sacred theme through the medium of the grand work of Chretien de Troyes. Other writers, poets and philosophers, of all climes and ages, have gloried in showing their genius in prose and poetry through the medium of this astounding legendary story. Artists have vied with each other in perpetuating its glorious scenes upon canvas. In our own land today the famous paintings of Edwin Abbey grace the walls of the Boston Library beautifully illustrating the "Quest of the Holy Grail." It remained, however, for the genius of the immortal Wagner to gather and study the many legends, myths and mystical stories pertaining to the Holy Grail, and with all this acquired knowledge, supplemented and aided by his own poetic nature and artistic temperament, to construct the spectacle of all spectacles, the drama of all dramas, the poem of all poems, now so universally known as "Parsifal." A production of this soul stirring drama, commensurate with the requirements of so demanding a play, will be given at the Ishpeming Theatre, Thursday, April 1.

Correct historical costume, architecture and appointments, as well as scenic investment, will be a special feature of the production. A competent corps of artists will be seen in the principal roles, and a well trained and intelligent corps of auxiliaries will also be used in this spectacular offering. All of the intricate customs will be carried out except the time of commencing, which has been slightly changed. The dividing of the performance into two sections with a two hour dinner intermission has been eliminated. The only intermissions that will be given will be those of five to eight minutes duration between the acts, which are required to set the massive scenic accessories, but owing to its length the performance will begin at 7:45 sharp, and will conclude at 11 o'clock. It is one of the rules of the performance—and the management gives every assurance that the rule will be strictly enforced—that every one must be seated before the house is darkened, which means before the rise of the first curtain. Late comers will not be shown to their seats during the action of the play.

PRICES: Box Seats, $2; lower floor, $1.50 and $1; Balcony, 75c and $1; Gallery, 50c. Seat orders now being received.

DISGUISED AS LUMBERJACK.

Clergyman Who Bought Liquor Here Sunday Is an Old Detective.

Rev. P. A. Hultgren of Kewanee, Ill., who exhibited a bottle of liquor he obtained Sunday morning in an Ishpeming saloon from the pulpit of the Mission church that afternoon, while addressing an audience on the subject of the law, was disguised as a "lumberjack" when he made the purchase. He claims to have entered five saloons between 8 and 9 o'clock and says that all of them were doing business.

The prohibition people who have started the fight for local option expect to be given much valuable assistance by Rev. Hultgren, who has been prominent in the fight against the liquor traffic in Illinois and Iowa for several years past. It is said that he has many times obtained evidence of violations of the law against liquor dealers in both states. No action will be taken against any of the dealers whose places were found open Sunday, as it is not considered that the evidence of one man is sufficient to secure the prosecution of a violator.

Rev. Hultgren is working this week in Dickinson and Iron counties on the Mesonrange. He intends to spend considerable time in this region during the year and it is likely that he will speak in most of the counties where the prohibition movement is being pushed.

A billon movement is being pushed. A member of the local option committee yesterday said that he will probably spend a few weeks in this county next fall.

The local option committee appointed at the meeting held last week in Neganue, met yesterday afternoon in the First Methodist Episcopal church, and plans for the campaign were discussed. An organization to be known as the Marquette County Local Option association is to be formed and committees will be appointed in all of the cities and towns of the county.

BASEBALL CONTROVERSY.

Ishpeming Team Makes Reasonable Proposition to Neganue Unions.

The management of the Ishpeming in-door baseball team has submitted a proposition to the Neganue Unions that will most likely be accepted. The Ishpeming men believe that playing for money would hurt the sport and Manager Johnson yesterday said that under no circumstances would they accept the Neganue team's proposition to play a series for $100 a side. He said that his team will abide strictly by any rules that are formulated for the playing of the game by the parties referred to in the following communication:

To The Mining Journal: While we still maintain that our position relative to playing in-door baseball for money to be the correct one we are not averse to meeting the Unions of Neganue in a series of five games to determine which is the better team, provided there is a suitable guarantee that the contests will be played to a finish and in a gentlemanly manner. To provide against any contingencies that may possibly arise to prevent a satisfactory series we wish to suggest that representatives of the Iron Ore and Mining Journal be given full power to arrange the details of the match, selecting the umpires and defining their powers, fixing the dates of the games and the places where played, naming the forfeit money that each team shall post as a guarantee that the series will be completed and name any other conditions that the representatives of the two papers may impose upon the teams. As we have said before, we do not wish to play for money, because we believe it would be demoralizing to the sport and would in many other ways prove injurious. What we do insist upon is that if a series of games is played that they be fairly and squarely conducted and that the best team be given an opportunity to win. Now, then, Mr. Unions, if you are one-half as anxious to enter an agreement for a series of games as our newspaper articles would suggest, here is your opportunity to come to the center and show the public that you are men and not a lot of kids. We would also suggest that the managers of the teams get together and endeavor to reach an agreement along the lines submitted above.

Believed He Will Be Appointed Solicitor for Steel Corporation.

Although no announcement has yet been made as to who will succeed Joseph B. Cotton as general solicitor of the United States Steel corporation at Duluth, it is generally believed that Frank D. Adams will secure the appointment. It has always been the policy of the Steel corporation to promote men next in line when any vacancy occurs. Mr. Adams, who has been a frequent visitor to this range, and is well and favorably known by the more prominent employees of the company here, has been Mr. Cotton's chief assistant for the last thirteen years.

OFFER IN SOUTHERN LEAGUE.

A. Goulette, one of the pitchers of the Ishpeming outdoor baseball team, yesterday received a telegram from Manager Caston of the Augusta (Ga.) team in the Southern league, requesting him to report there as soon as possible for a trial. The message stated that Goulette had been recommended by Bowerman, catcher of the New York team. Mr. Bowerman is personally acquainted with Goulette, having met him two or three times while hunting in the vicinity of Sidsaw, Goulette's home. He caught a game for the local man two or three years ago at Sidsaw and he recognized his ability as a twirler. Goulette was recently asked to play with the Ironwood team and a good position was offered him there, but he declined it, as he has made up his mind to remain in Ishpeming this year. He will not go to Augusta, as he would be obliged to pay his own transportation expenses and if he failed to make good would be out a considerable sum.

FROM MORGAN'S CURB LETTER.

"Sales to secure profits caused some slight recessions in the market for copper shares today, but the buying is still of an excellent character. At the metal exchange, further strength was shown in the copper, all grades being advanced 1/4 in the bid price. Eighteen million pounds of Lake electrolytic and casting copper were sold in the New York market this morning, the largest Arizona and Mexico producing interest leading in volume of sales, with 8,000,000 pounds of electrolytic and casting for account of domestic consumers. The large Montana interests sold through its affiliated metal selling agencies several million pounds for export on the basis of 12 1/2 cents per pound at New York for delivery in May. It is rumored that W. A. Payne of Boston, Mass., has an option on 1,700,000 shares of common stock of the Pittsburg & Montana Copper company at $2.50. It is known that H. V. Winchell, formerly of Amalgamated, has made a report on the property. It is understood that the company will be merged into East Butte. The Nipissing Mines company declared the regular quarterly dividend of 3 per cent and 2 per cent extra, payable April 20th. The books close March 31st and re-open April 27th. Water has been secured and work has been resumed at the Daly-West company mill plant. The Cactus shaft is down 300 feet, and just entering the sulphide."

"Uncle Joe" Cannon Rules With Kindly Autocracy.

When His Voluntary Retirement Shall Come, the Whole House Machine Must Be Reconstructed—An Interesting Discussion of the Possibilities for the Speaker-ship When the Wonderful Old Man Chooses to Step Out.

Washington, March 22.—Whatever the result of the contest of the Republican insurgents of the house against Speaker Cannon and the rules, the episode marks the beginning of the retirement of Mr. Cannon from public life. Long before the controversy opened it was said for the speaker by some of his friends that he had made up his mind to retire at the close of the Sixty-first congress; and while he would not withdraw "under fire," of course, the shots will all have been fired before the time again to select a candidate for the house from the Danville district. Mr. Cannon entered the house in 1873, and although he suffered the common fate of many Republicans in remaining at home during the Fifty-second congress, following the election of 1890, he has served more terms than any other member. Representative Bingham of Pennsylvania is dean of the house only in point of continuous service (sixteen terms), but he did not enter the house until four years after Mr. Cannon. The speaker was born in 1836, hence he will be seventy-eight years old at the close of his present term; and even if there were no insurgents and the contrary view of the question which, finally, Mr. Cannon might retire gracefully.

ly in view of his age. No man of more than three score and ten ever has lived in body or mind or gave so little the impression of failing; but Mr. Cannon has served his country in Washington long; and he has served it better than many of his critics in congress had fair to serve it themselves.

Cannon's Strength in Himself.

Imagination may run riot a little over the problem of a successor to Cannon, for men and things change rapidly since Roosevelt educated the country to live ten years in one. The strength of the Cannon regime lies in Cannon himself, not in the rules under which he acts or through the men with whom he is surrounded. It would take a motion for the previous question and a vote of the house to secure for some of his lieutenants what he wins with a nod; and when the Cannon regime passes, with the voluntary retirement of the wonderful old man, the whole machine must be reconstructed. The house will turn anarchistic the moment Cannon leaves it, and one man, for a time, will be as good as another. The young insurgents who tipped over the rules last week were powerless to hurt Cannon himself, for some of their stoutest men refused to vote against him. Others did so because their districts had so instructed them, but with private and heartfelt apologies to the speaker.

Mann a Strong Candidate.

James R. Mann of Illinois is good speaker's material, if the house wants a speaker who will work. Mann knows more about the business of congress than any other man in the lower branch; not the mere technicalities of the situation, like the status of bills and the parliamentary rules governing the proceedings, but the actual merits of the questions which come up every day. Although sometimes referred to "the speaker's man on the floor"—which he may be at times—the fact appears to be that Mann investigates things because he cannot help it. It is a natural for him to investigate as it is for a cat, and he never hesitates to make use of his knowledge. He was chairman of the committee which looked into the pulp and paper question during the recess, and he made himself authority on that issue. It was Mann who performed the delicate task of superintending the arrangement and distribution of the rooms of the new office building. The work required judgment of the finest kind and nerve of the highest order; for one task was to dislodge the all-powerful ways and means committee. But Mann did it successfully, and with so little friction that no one is finding fault now.

Tawney Also Prominent.

James A. Tawney, chairman of appropriations, would loom strong as a candidate for speaker if there were a vacancy. He, too, is familiar with legislation and finance, personally is popular and is a man of great force. Tawney has made himself what he is more emphatically than most of his associates, and many would be glad to honor him. His district has been giving him some trouble of late, partly through reflection of Roosevelt sentiment and with no sound reason. It would make a grave mistake in depriving the country of Tawney's services. One danger of the recent shake-up by the insurgents has been the national purse strings would be loosened too much by modification of the rules, and this thought has been a factor in strengthening the regular organization among men who, at a less critical time, might be more inclined to take part in an insurrection. From one point of view it would be almost criminal to "jam through" a tariff bill or any other piece of fiscal legislation, but from another it will be exceedingly dangerous to reorganize the house in a way which affecting national finance. Already the treasury department is making ready for a bond issue.

Hinds Well Equipped.

A stranger solution of the possible speaker-ship might be suggested by Mr. Hinds, long the speaker's clerk and the leading parliamentarian of the United States, will be a candidate for congress to succeed Amos L. Allen of Maine. Senator Hale is grooming one of his own sons for the seat, but Hinds' blood is up, and it is not certain that Hale can control the district against him. Mann says, in fact, that many young men in the Pine Tree state already are entering the Democratic party, so discouraged are they over the prospect of getting any recognition for association with the aged senators; and an appeal by Hinds to vote in the caucus is a sensational result. As a practical politician, proposition of course, the Hinds would be handicapped. The West expects to name the next speaker, and Mr. Hinds has no such following. He represents, however, the type of man to whom the house may turn; one of the highest intelligence and with no marked leaning toward radicalism or conservatism.

Townsend a Possibility.

Judge Walter I. Smith of Iowa would have a backing if contest were to be received, for votes in the caucus and when the whole speaker-ship question was temporarily ripped open last fall, before Taft and Cannon got together, Smith was much in the members' minds as a likely candidate. Townsend of Michigan is another possibility—a man of besonorous dignity and good mental equipment. He had a good many pledges written to him last autumn, but abandoned his candidacy upon reaching Washington and learning of the general sentiment that there he no change.

With the Re-election of Cannon.

the backbone of genuine insurgency in the house was broken upon the real issue before the members. The discussion of technicalities may go on, and the rules may be modified, but if genuine changes in the system of doing things were wanted Cannon should have been defeated. The Democrats began to split the moment the question began to be one of detail. They held together on the one main question, but many of them really believe that the party lost its greatest opportunity in not making the tariff the vital issue of the fight, and raising the Democrats on that. What most disgusts the thinking Democrats is that although the insurgent Republicans were willing enough to come to them for help in the rules fight, the insurgents themselves are, for the most part, standpat on the tariff, and were perfectly willing to let old rules apply to the present session, or until the tariff was out of the way, and then turn to revision. The adoption of the Fitzgerald amendments to the rules liberalizes the rules, but it is an independent rather than a Republican or an insurgent victory. The insurgents demoralized the house, and a clever Democratic politician took advantage of the situation to make a bold play and claim the credit for being a reformer. The Democratic party as such gains little for the fight was made on technicalities and not on principle; and the country will find it hard to understand what the row was all about, and what changes have been made.

BUYING EQUIPMENT FOR NEW SCHOOL

MEMBERS OF BUILDING COMMITTEE OF NEGAUNEE BOARD OF EDUCATION ARE IN CHICAGO, ON A PURCHASING TRIP.

Dr. J. H. Andrus, R. G. Jackson and John W. Elliott, members of the building committee of the board of education, are in Chicago this week, purchasing furniture and other equipment for the new high school building. It is their intention to look over the furniture in the principal schools of Chicago, and to visit the principal wholesale furniture concerns handling school lines, with a view to purchasing the most desirable equipment. Among the furniture to be purchased will be a complete outfit of seats and desks for the auditorium, classrooms, etc. The apparatus for the laboratory, equipment for the manual training department, and the light fixtures are also to be purchased. The committee was provided with a list of things desired, and it is expected that the last of the buying will be finished today or tomorrow. The committee had figures on the cost of practically everything needed before leaving the city, as its secretary has been corresponding with several houses for some weeks past. All of the equipment will be ordered shipped as soon as possible.

Contractor Chaussee should have no difficulty completing the interior work prior to the date on which the commencement exercises are to be held, but it is not expected that the manual training machinery and other equipment to be installed in the basement rooms will be ready before September. Mr. Chaussee spent Monday and yesterday in (Oshkosh) looking over the doors, stair work, and other material to be provided by the Morgan company. Several rooms are now ready for the doors and it is expected that they will be shipped within a few days.

U. R. Dunner's crew has made rapid progress with the tile work in the third floor corridor. The last of the tile on that floor will be laid today, but men will be employed there for several days rubbing down the floor surface, also cementing the joints in the base. Mr. Dunner had charge of the tile and marble work at the First National bank here, also at the Miers' National bank in Ishpeming. His contract at the school, including all of the tile floors, the marble tile for the stairs, will bring him in the neighborhood of $5,500.

WORKING AT BREITUNG HOUSE.

Andrew Lindquist, the contractor, put a crew of men to work yesterday morning tearing up the floors in the Breitung house lobby and the men, in the employ of E. F. Dunner, the Milwaukee contractor, will begin work there this morning. The lumber in the lower floor, which was put down thirty-four years ago, is in a perfect state of preservation. The lumber in both the floor linings and sills is of fine grade.

OVERWORKED

Boston Trained Nurse, Seeing the Good Vinol Did Her Patients, Tried It Herself With Splendid Results.

"I was completely prostrated from overwork. I had no appetite, could not sleep, my kidneys, liver and bowels became inactive, and as I grew weaker I could not retain either medicine or food on my stomach and raised blood. The doctors said my condition was critical. As I had seen Vinol prescribed for my patients with such remarkable results, I decided to try it. After the first bottle I began to improve. I continued its use, and soon began to sleep and eat well; every organ in my body was strengthened and became normal, until it seemed good to be alive and I was restored to perfect health and strength."

I advise all my patients who need strength, rich, red blood, and flesh tissue to take Vinol, as it is so far superior to old-fashioned cod liver oil, emulsions, or other tonics.—Elizabeth M. Cremond, Boston, Mass.

For nine years a nurse in hospital and private cases. The reason that Vinol has such power to heal and strengthen is because it contains, with tonic iron all of the curative medicinal and strength creating elements of cod liver oil.

ICE THAWER WORKS WELL.

Equipment Recently Purchased by the City Given a Test Monday.

"The ice thawer was given a test Monday and it worked splendidly," said Superintendent Willman, of the board of public works yesterday. "We thawed out seven catch basins on First street in less than two hours. We have many times spent several hours at each catch basin, trying to thaw them out with the old 'spartanus.' Every spring since the sewer system was installed the city employees have had trouble on account of frozen catch basins. The ground is frozen several feet below the surface and the pipes are surrounded by frost. The surface water runs away for the first day or two after the thaw begins, but the pipes and basins finally close up. Last week the sewer system was filled to its capacity and at a few of the frozen catch basins the water began to back up. With the new equipment the board will be able to do the work at a cost about 25 per cent less than with the old outfit."

Miss Lucy Kellan, a well-known Negaunee young lady, slipped while entering her home on Peck street Saturday evening and fractured one of her arms. Levine Bros. received one of the latest dress goods show cases yesterday. It contains ninety-four drawers, each of sufficient size to hold several bolts of dry goods. All of the goods can be seen by the customer from the front of the case.

Archie Orr, the jeweler, is suffering from a fractured rib, caused by a fall from a chair at his home Monday evening. He was standing on the chair and just as he was about to sit down, he slipped and fell on the arm of the chair with considerable force. The back of his chair was completely shattered.

The funeral of the late Philip Abbott, who passed away on Monday, was held yesterday afternoon at the Methodist church, and was largely attended. The services were in charge of Rev. W. B. Coombe conducted the services and interment was in the Ishpeming cemetery.

Edward Abbott, son of the late Philip Abbott, whose funeral was held yesterday, has suffered considerably from the shock of his father's death, and was yesterday under the care of a physician. The young man was his father's partner in the mine and would probably have been killed if he had not gone from the mine to secure some tools a few minutes before the blast went off.

Mrs. Josephine Peltola and four children of the Swarney range will leave Negaunee this morning for their old home in Finland, where they intend to reside permanently. Mrs. Peltola's husband was murdered on the range several months ago and his slayer, Talo, was sentenced to imprisonment at the last term of the circuit court. The family formerly resided in Negaunee.

T. C. Yates, cashier of the First National bank, arrived home yesterday morning from Chicago, where he accompanied his son Charles, who on Monday was operated on for appendicitis at Augustana hospital. TWO-CENT FARE BILL HARD ON D., S. S. & A.

GENERAL ATTORNEY GIVES REASONS WHY IT WOULD BE CONSIDERABLE TO CUT RATES.

SIX PER CENT PROFIT MADE

Only a Fair Return on the Company's Investment Possible Under Present Laws—Operating Expenses High.

That the D., S. S. & A. railroad is not now earning more than 6 per cent upon its assessed valuation on the tax roll and that to reduce the present rate of passenger fare would be confiscatory in effect is the contention of the legal representatives of the road, who are doing their utmost to defeat the Fields two-cent fare bill, now pending in the legislature. It is also contended that gross earnings are not a fair basis for determining rates of fare, as the percentage necessary for operating expenses varies with local conditions, and in the case of the South Shore is abnormally high, compared with that of roads in the lower peninsula.

A. B. Eldredge, general attorney for the D., S. S. & A., appeared before the railroad committees at Lansing last week and argued the injustice of the proposed two-cent fare law, backing up his statements by facts and figures. He declared that although the gross earnings of the South Shore were in excess of $2,000 per mile that the road was not making more than a reasonable profit. He stated that the gross earnings of the road in Michigan, $1,742,273.73, less taxes in Michigan, $174,227.33, leaves a net profit for the year of $1,568,046.40, that the operating expenses were $1,715,082.70 and that $174,227.33 was paid out in taxes. This leaves a net profit for the year of $438,807.25, which is $141,692.75 less than 6 per cent on the assessed valuation of the road, $9,675,000, on the tax duplicate. In making up these figures the operating expenses were divided between Michigan and Wisconsin on the basis of the earnings in those two states, which has been decided by Judge McPherson, of Missouri, to be the right method of division.

Dividing the operating expenses according to the percentage of mileage in the two states, the following figures were obtained: Gross earnings, $2,228,117.08; operating expenses in Michigan, $1,571,908; taxes in Michigan, $174,227.33. This leaves a net profit for the year of $582,221.95, which is $1,721.95 more than 6 per cent on the assessed taxable valuation of the road.

Six Per Cent Profit Made.

The inevitable conclusion, based upon these two sets of figures, is that the South Shore road is not making more than 6 per cent on its assessed taxable valuation (which is certainly not an excessive valuation) under the tariffs now in force. It is argued that to cut the rate of passenger fare one-third would mean practically one-third less revenue from this source and that the net earnings of the road would be proportionately decreased.

In support of this point, comparisons of the earnings in 1907, when four cents was the passenger rate, and in 1908, when the three-cent law went into effect, are submitted. The passenger earnings of the road in this state in 1907 were $953,256.32, and under the three-cent law in 1908 were $790,157.90. The number of passengers carried in 1908 was 549,627, or 31,649 more than in 1907, yet the earnings from them were $173,098.42 less than in 1907. This would seem to explode the oft-repeated statement that increased traffic has more than offset the decrease in fare, at least in the case of the South Shore road.

The average earnings of the passenger department in 1907, the last in which four-cent fare was charged, were $1,359 per train mile, leaving a net profit of 47.1 cents per train mile. The next year, under three-cent fare, the earnings per train mile were $1,154, the expenses 89 cents, and the net profit 26.4 cents per train mile. Thus it will be seen that the operating expenses of the passenger department remained practically the same during the two years but that three-cent fare resulted in a decrease of 20.5 cents per train mile in earnings and a like decrease in the net profit derived from the business.

Why Expenses Are High.

In the face of these figures Mr. Eldredge believes that the injustice of forcing the South Shore road to reduce its passenger tariffs to two cents per mile should be evident to any reasonable man. There are a number of reasons, says Mr. Eldredge, why the operating expenses of railroads in the upper peninsula are higher in proportion to the gross earnings than in many other localities. Chief among these is the fact that the railroads here must provide trackage and equipment for their mining business, which is not in use more than six months in the year. Consequently, a large investment is constantly tied up, from which no income is obtained during the winter months.

The longer winters mean additional expense for fuel and maintenance of way, especially in keeping the tracks and switches clear of snow.

The average population for the state of Michigan is forty-two to the square mile. In the lower peninsula the average population is fifty-four per square mile, while in the upper peninsula it is but twelve per square mile. This means that the local traffic must of necessity be much less in the upper peninsula than in the more thickly populated districts. The upper peninsula roads are far more dependent on through traffic than those in many other sections of the country. Many parts of the South Shore road are operated, not for the money there is in it, but simply to enable their patrons to get to a junction point. The trains run from Marquette to connect with the St. Paul road at Champion are operated at an actual loss several months of the year. The same may be said of the Nestoria-Duluth and St. Ignace-Soer divisions.

On some of the roads in the lower peninsula, where the two-cent passenger rate of itself is confiscatory, the loss is offset by a heavy and profitable freight business, and the companies are for that reason able to make a fair return on their investment. The upper peninsula roads have no such profitable freight business to fall back upon, and the enactment of a two-cent law would be disastrous.

SECOND CONVENTION CALLED.

Will Be Held Next Monday Evening—Robertson May Not Run.

A call for a People's convention, to be held next Monday evening, and to be preceded by caucuses in the several wards, was issued yesterday, and it is expected that a complete ticket will be placed in the field. In the First, Second and Fifth wards candidates for both aldermen and supervisor will be nominated, and in the Third, and Fourth wards candidates for alderman. Who will head the ticket is an open question. Mayor Robertson told individuals yesterday that he would probably not be a candidate. Last evening, however, he informed The Mining Journal that he would run unless some candidate who, in his opinion, would put up stronger opposition to Mr. Vaughn came forward. Other possible candidates were discussed yesterday. There was some reference to Charles Schaffer, and it is reported that former Mayor John H. Jacobs would not require much urging to get into the field. A meeting of the Carl Schurz club, a political organization of the German American Citizens called for tonight will, it is reported, develop some discussion along the lines of Mr. Jacobs' chances.

Mr. Vaughn, the candidate of the Citizens' party, was kept busy yesterday receiving the congratulations of friends and with preliminary campaign work. Mr. Vaughn is an aggressive campaigner. He believes that one of the best means of vote getting is personal contact with the individual voter, and is making a personal canvass of the electorate. He expects to put up a vigorous campaign covering the entire city, irrespective of who the opposition candidate is. Yesterday he expressed himself as much gratified at the strong support he received Monday evening and as deeply appreciative of the efforts of his friends. He said that, as far as he was able to observe, the outlook for his candidacy was most favorable.

MAY BE RAISED TO $10.

Bill Before Congress to Increase Fees for Naturalization of Aliens.

The department of commerce and labor of the United States has recommended to congress that the fees for the naturalizations of aliens be increased from $4 as now charged to $10, and that those who have not secured their full citizenship should take immediate action.

In case congress adopts the recommendations of the department all persons who have failed to secure their full citizenship must pay the additional fee of $6 as all persons of foreign birth are required to become full citizens if they desire to vote at any election after the November election in 1912. All declarations of intention issued before Sept. 27, 1906, become void seven years from that date.

The department is endeavoring to bring in regard to citizenship papers in all sections of the country and hundreds of people in Marquette county, who came to this country when under twenty-one years of age think that they are citizens, but in reality are not. These persons are required to take out their papers the same as if they came to this country after they were of age. All persons of foreign birth coming to this country when they are less than twenty-one years of age will be required to take out citizenship papers unless their fathers obtained their full citizenship papers before the children became twenty-one years old, in which case they became citizens at the same time their fathers did.

WOULD HAVE EXPORT TAX.

Detroit Man Wants Duty on Ore Shipped Out of the State.

In a recent issue of the Detroit Journal appears a communication in which the writer advises that the Cleveland Cliffs iron company be compelled to pay a tax on all ore shipped out of the state. The writer, however, apparently has overlooked that provision of the Constitution of the United States which says, "No state shall, without the consent of congress, lay any impost or duties on imports or exports." The communication follows: "Editor The Journal: Your editorial in today's paper concerning C. M. Schwab's remarks on Detroit iron prospects was timely. Where is the drawback to its fulfillment? May it not be due to the fact that the largest producer of iron ore in Michigan—the Cleveland Cliffs iron company—is an Ohio concern almost entirely, and that it is more interested in shipping the raw material to Ohio in order to build up that state at the expense of Michigan? If I were in control of legislation I would pass a bill taxing all iron ore and all other kinds of ore that is shipped out of the state. Compel these foreign corporations to build smelters and mills in our state and thereby help to build up Michigan instead of robbing us of our birthright. The opportunity is open now, as Schwab has indicated. Push it along. Mr. Editor, push it along." "315 Porter street, Detroit, March 19."

ANTI-TUBERCULOSIS STAMP FOR EASTER

MICHIGAN ASSOCIATION WILL USE PROCEEDS FROM ITS SALE TO FIGHT THE GREAT WHITE PLAGUE.

The striking success of the Christmas stamp issued by the American National Red Cross in 1908 suggested the idea of an Easter stamp for the same purpose—the collecting of funds to carry on the war against tuberculosis. At the time of the sale of the Red Cross stamps it was not possible for all the cities and towns of Michigan which wanted them to secure a sufficient number to meet the demand. Dr. Alfred Warthin of Ann Arbor, secretary of the Michigan Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, who was in touch with all the cities and towns interested in tuberculosis relief work, suggested a Christmas stamp to be issued by the association in response to the demand which the Red Cross was not able to meet. This was found to be impossible in the limited time before the close of the Christmas season. However, the suggestion of an Easter stamp for the same purpose was received by the executive committee of the association and Clara Dyer was asked to design an Easter stamp to be ready for approval at the state meeting Feb. 26. The idea expressed in this design and the Easter thought of a new life of hope for those afflicted with a malady so long thought to be hopeless.

The emblem of the Michigan association, the blue star placed in its white circle is the principal motive of the design. This emblem has become identified with a hopeful campaign against the white plague, and since its adoption by the Michigan association last summer, it is becoming known throughout the state as significant of hopeful effort. Beneath the star, to make its meaning definite even to those for whom stars have no special significance is the word, "Hope." On either side rise Easter lilies, the flowers of Resurrection, of new life. This idea has been beautifully carried out in a design made for Miss Dyer by Miss Alice V. Gysel, in which she has shown artistic sense in the placing of the star and flower forms and in the color arrangement. The blue star on its white circle rests in a square of blue and on either side of this square rise the lilies, conventionalized to white, flower and stem and leaf. Around this blue square is a border of white on which is printed in blue on three sides the name of the society issuing the stamp—Michigan Anti-Tuberculosis association, and at the bottom—Easter. There is no date as the stamp is to serve for more than one year.

This design is printed in blue and white, the colors of the association, but for this purpose a lighter and more brilliant blue than that generally used has been chosen. This further increases the resemblance to an Oriental tile, which the stamp suggests, for it is a true Persian hue. The symbolism of stars comes from the Orient. The five-point star in the old astrology is man dominating the lower elements of his being. The Star of Bethlehem traveled over Arabia and Syria and stopped at the manger to herald the return of the Christ to the world. What more fitting emblem than the star, for an effort which aspires to give new life through hope to those afflicted with a dread disease! The color of the star—blue—means the constancy which such an effort requires.

There will be two classes of stamps—one at one cent and the other at five cents, the latter to be embossed. The design has been thought worthy of this more expensive reproduction. The association asks the people of our state to recognize the return of life in tree and grass and flower and commemorate the resurrection of Christ, as their belief and hope to those afflicted with the white plague.

The Easter stamps will be on sale at Stafford's drug store within a short time.
