

PAYNE BILL GOES THROUGH EASILY

At the Close of a Day Replete With Excitement, the House Passes the Tariff Measure by the Vote of 217 to 161.

Only One Republican Breaks from the Control of the Organization, and When the Legislation Is Carried Members on the Majority Side Cheer Lustily, There Is Dancing Up and Down the Aisles and Much Enthusiastic Patting of Backs.

Washington, April 9.—After three weeks' consideration, the Payne tariff bill passed the house tonight, 217 to 161. One Republican—Mr. Austin, of Tennessee—voted against the measure, and four Democrats, all from Louisiana—Messrs. Broussard, Estepinal, Pajo and Wickliffe—voted for it. An attempt by Champ Clark, the minority leader, to recommit the bill with instructions signally failed.

The day was filled with excitement from the moment the session began at noon until the minute of adjournment. The members were keyed up to the highest pitch, and practically the full membership remained on duty throughout.

Majority Held in Line. The final vote demonstrated the capacity of the Republican organization to get together. The situation with respect to lumber was greatly relieved to the Republican leaders when it became manifest that the advocates of the proposition of placing it on the free list were in the minority. Because of that fact Mr. Fitzgerald, of New York, changed a midnight deal had been made last night whereby free lumber was to be moved down and the rates on barley and barley malt increased, and his understanding the denials of Messrs. Mann, of Illinois, and Cushman, of Washington, who offered the barley amendments.

The general public was greatly interested in the proceedings and the galleries were packed. Both the diplomatic and executive reservations likewise were fully occupied. Talk being among those present. When the bill actually was passed the Republicans cheered lustily, some dancing up and down the aisles and patting their fellow members on the back. After the adoption of a resolution that until further ordered sessions shall be held only on Mondays and Thursdays the house, at 8:20 o'clock p. m., adjourned.

Vote on Free Lumber. During the voting on the amendments fifty-five Republicans voted for free lumber and thirty-eight Democrats against it. The Republicans who voted for free lumber were: Anthony, Campbell, Madison, Miller, Murdoch, Cooper and Scott, of Kansas; Cary, Corder, Davidson, Esch, Copp, Lenroot, Nelson and Stafford, of Wisconsin; Davis, Lindberg, Miller, Nyce, Stearnson, Stevens, Tamm and Tamm, of Michigan; Gorman, Taylor and Hanna, of North Dakota; Lowden, McKimney, Mann, Prince, Sterling and Graff, of Illinois; Hinshaw, Kinkaid and Norris, of Nebraska; Howland and Joyce, of Ohio; Lawrence, of Massachusetts; Barnard, of Indiana; Driscoll and Perkins, of New York; Hamilton, of Michigan; Howell, of New Jersey, and Morgan, of Oklahoma.

The Democrats who voted against free lumber were: Adamsom, Bell, Brantley, Edwards, Griggs, Lee and Livingston, of Georgia; Bowers and Dickson, of Mississippi; Hobson and Taylor, of Alabama; Broussard, Estepinal, Pajo, Rans, dall, Watkins and Wickliffe, the entire Louisiana delegation; Clark, Mays and Sparkman, the entire Florida delegation; Glass, Luby, Cassinger, Mark and Saunders, of Virginia; Godwin, Page, Pon, Small, Thomas and Webb, of North Carolina; Gregg and Dese, of Texas; Gordon, Moon and Padgett, of Tennessee; Lever, of South Carolina, and Wilson, of Pennsylvania.

TWO MEN BURN TO DEATH.

Fire at Oil Works Scatters Over Eight Acres of Territory.

Point Richmond, Cal., April 9.—Two men were burned to death and three others were seriously injured, one fatally, as the result of an explosion in one of the oil stills of the Standard Oil company here today. The fire, which was scattered over eight acres of territory, was fought for over an hour by 1,500 men. The damage will reach $50,000.

South America supplies practically 99 per cent of the coffee imported into the United States.

MANY AMENDMENTS MADE IN THE HOUSE

Since the Committee Reported It, and as Finally Sent to the Senate, the Payne Bill Has Undergone Much Transformation.

Important Among the Changes Is the One Placing Petroleum on the Free List—The Tax on Tea and Coffee Has Come Off, and the Countervailing Duty on Lumber Has Been Stricken Out—On Charcoal Iron, the Tariff Has Been Increased.

Washington, April 9.—One of the principal changes effected in the Payne tariff bill (passed by the house tonight) since its introduction was the placing of petroleum on the free list. This involved a more seriously contested fight than any other amendment. Speaker Cannon, during the debate on the amendment to reduce the duty, took the floor in defense of the higher rate. Although the amendment to place oil on the free list was lost, a similar amendment offered by Mr. Payne today was carried.

Among other important amendments made since the bill came from committee were those striking out the provision for a duty on tea and the countervailing duty provision on coffee. The elimination of the maximum duty of 20 per cent on coffee, contained in the maximum and minimum section of the bill, was also significant.

To the free list were added evergreen seedlings, cloves and nut oil, which is used in making varnish. The patent law provision, intended to retaliate for the British patent law, was stricken out, on account of an international convention.

So-called "Joker" Corrected. A so-called "joker" in the cotton cloth schedule, which was claimed would increase the duty of the Dingley bill several hundred per cent, was corrected, the purpose of the match of counting the threads in the cloth being made the same as in the present law.

The section restricting the contents of packages of tobacco was amended to conform with the present law, in order that from such packages a duty of 10 per cent was added so that the law could not be taken advantage of for the purpose of smuggling in grain, and the Philippine free provision was amended so that rice will not be admitted free from the islands.

The countervailing duty on lumber was stricken out, but a strong effort to place lumber on the free list did not succeed. The duties on barley, barley malt, charcoal iron, pineapples in crates, saccharine, medical cotton and satin collars and cuffs, as originally in the bill, were increased.

Retaliation Against Turkey. To retaliate against Turkey, which country prohibits the importation of American filler tobacco, a proviso was included in the tobacco schedule increasing the duty on filler tobacco from any country which prohibits the importation of American tobacco. The internal revenue law also was amended so that the raisers of tobacco need not have to pay the manufacturers' license in order to dispose of their leaf tobacco.

CIVIL SERVICE SYSTEM IS UNDER HOT FIRE.

It Gets a General Denunciation in the United States Senate in Connection With the Census Bill, Wm. Alden Smith and Others Vigorously Assailing It.

Washington, April 9.—During nearly five hours today the bill to provide for the thirteenth and subsequent censuses was under discussion in the senate. The measure had been amended since its original passage by congress in the last session, when it was vetoed by President Roosevelt because of the provisions allowing the senators and representatives practically to select the employees of the census for appointment. These features of the bill called forth a general discussion in the senate on the subject of civil service reform, and the present operation of the law was denounced by several senators. As amended by the committee, the bill placed the appointments in the census under the civil service commission.

A general denunciation of the civil service system of making promotions in the executive departments in Washington characterized the debate. "I know of cases," declared Senator William Alden Smith, of Michigan, "in which women clerks are humiliated and degraded by not being permitted to take liberties with them that they can take with other clerks."

Mr. Smith declared that there was no more contemptible politics anywhere than existed in the civil service of the United States, which, he added, excluded anything in that line ever known during the spoils system in its operation under Andrew Jackson. No man or woman, he said, could get promotion "until he bows down or kowtows to some little petty chief who shields himself behind the law."

Mr. Clapp, of Minnesota, referring to the remarks of Mr. Smith, said that they hinted at matters that could not be publicly debated, and he criticized the general operation of the law. Senators Scott, Bailey, Gallinger and Bacon all joined in a general denunciation of the law and especially criticized the pending bill, which as amended by the committee included messenger boys and charwomen among those who must be examined for appointment for work in the census.

The bill was still under discussion when the senate adjourned. CASTRO TO BE SENT BACK TO EUROPE. Deciding to Put into Immediate Effect Its Order Expelling Him from Martinique, Paris Will See That He Leaves Fort De France Forthwith.

Fort De France, April 9.—Former President Castro of Venezuela appears to be in much better health today than yesterday. He has received no official notification of the determination of the French government to expel him from the island of Martinique. He is awaiting developments with tranquility.

Goes Back by First Steamer. Washington, April 9.—The French minister informed the state department today that the French government had decided to put in immediate effect its decision announced from Paris yesterday to expel former President Castro from Fort De France, Martinique, and to compel him to return to Europe. The program is to put him aboard the first vessel touching at Fort De France. If this program is carried out, Castro will be on his way to Europe in a day or two, unless his physical condition is such that the ocean trip would put his life in jeopardy. The first steamer scheduled to touch at the Martinique port Europe-bound is the French line ship Versailles, due there tomorrow.

State Department Much Gratified. The state department officials are much gratified in the manner in which the French government has acted in the matter, and feels relieved that Castro is to be sent back to Europe, where he will have no immediate influence in the affairs of Venezuela, in which country his personal following is believed to be considerable and might have a tendency to unsettle the peaceful condition of affairs which now pertains there. France, the officials say, has realized the possibilities in the case and has met the wishes of the United States in keeping the former president away from a locality where his presence is undesirable.

Report of Illness Scouted. Some prominent officers of the government are disposed to look on Castro's reported serious setback with suspicion, taking the ground that it may be a clever ruse designed by him to make appear his return to Europe is necessary to surgical aid, when in fact the real purpose is to "save his face." He realizes, they say, that the conditions for him on this side of the Atlantic are against him, and the best course for him to pursue is to go back to Europe and bide his time, hoping for a better opportunity later.

No Action Taken by Denmark. Copenhagen, April 9.—The Danish government has received no information concerning the alleged intention of former President Castro to go from Fort De France to St. Thomas, D. W. I., and therefore has reached no decision regarding what its attitude will be in the event of his landing there. Venezuela has not requested Denmark to forbid Castro disembarking at a Danish West Indies port.

FOREIGNERS IN DIRE PERIL IN A SEAPORT CITY OF PERSIA. London, April 9.—Telegraphing from Tehran, the Times correspondent reports a reign of lawlessness and anarchy at Bushire, a seaport city of Persia. Foreigners, he declares, are endangered and a British cruiser is likely to land bluejackets if the city authorities fail to deal effectively with the situation.

Eat, drink, and be merry today, for tomorrow the bill collector may call.

PRESIDENT TAFT WINS BIG VICTORY

That Each Year 300,000 Tons of Filipino Sugar Shall Be Admitted Duty Free Is Proposition That Will Be Enacted.

Agreement to That Effect Having Been Challenged, It Is Accepted by the Senate Committee When Beet Men's Representative Is Called to Washington and Confirms It—That the Iron Ore Tariff Will Be 20 Cents Is Practically Assured.

Washington, April 9.—President Taft has won a signal victory for the Philippines, in the acceptance by the senate committee on finance, late tonight, of the provision of the Payne bill for the free admission of 300,000 gross tons annually of Filipino sugar. This decision was reached after the subcommittee considering the sugar schedule had taken to the White House Charles B. Warren, general counsel of the Michigan Sugar company, and he had confirmed an agreement between Mr. Taft and Mr. Warren, made in this city last fall.

After the agreement between Mr. Taft and the beet sugar interest had been announced, the right of Mr. Warren to speak for the beet sugar interests was brought into question. The house committee on ways and means accepted it as authoritative, and Jan. 28 adopted the section in the Payne bill relating to the free admission of sugar from the Philippines, with a limitation of 300,000 tons annually on sugar. Within the past week this section has been attacked severely by representatives from the beet sugar states, and it was charged in the debate on the floor of the house that it would be finally rejected.

Mr. Warren had assumed an authority that he did not possess. As a result the question was referred to a sub-committee on finance, consisting of Messrs. Burrows, Smoot and Flint. Beet Sugar Representative Summoned. It was learned by the sub-committee that Mr. Taft had entered into the agreement in good faith, and that it had gone unchallenged for many weeks, until the consideration of the tariff bill had begun by the senate committee.

An amendment to amend the committee Taft should be placed in a false light, the senate sub-committee subpoenaed Mr. Warren from Michigan by telegraph, and he arrived at 8:30 o'clock tonight. Accompanied by the sub-committee, Mr. Warren went to the White House at 10 o'clock and the agreement of last fall was confirmed.

After the conference at the White House, Mr. Warren stated that when he called upon Mr. Taft and made the agreement as to the 300,000 tons of sugar to be imported from the Philippines free of duty, he spoke for the association of beet sugar men. Despite the criticisms of this agreement, Mr. Warren insists that he represents the views of practically all the beet sugar refiners, and that the agreement will prove satisfactory to those interests.

When the senate committee on finance concluded its session tonight, it was with the understanding that all questions in the committee rooms had been closed and that the few sessions to be held prior to the reporting of amendments to the Payne tariff bill would not be hampered by suggestions from the outside. The committee is now prepared to insert the rates on certain important matters. Among the schedules attracting particular attention now are metals and manufactures of metals, lumber, hides, bituminous coal and sugar.

No rates on steel and iron have been inserted as yet, although it is practically settled that iron ore will be taxed twenty cents a ton, and a proportionate rate will be assessed against scrap iron and steel refuse fit only to be remanufactured. The iron interests are concerned chiefly in getting an increase over the proposed rate in the Payne bill on rails and structural iron. The Payne bill cuts the existing rate on steel rails from $7.34 to $3.92, just one-half, and the steel men contend that the Payne rates are too severe a reduction. They have asked that a rate of $5.88 be fixed on rails. It is generally believed that the committee will name about $5 per ton. On structural steel it is likely that the Dingley rates of one-half a cent a pound as fixed by the Payne bill. A number of reductions have been made on other articles under the metal schedule, in order to make the schedule symmetrical.

The Democratic members of the senate committee on finance will get their first view of the tariff rates fixed by the majority of the committee at a special meeting of the full committee to be held Sunday. It is the intention of Senator Aldrich, chairman of the committee, to report the amendments to the rates fixed by the Payne bill some time Monday.

OIL TRUST ATTORNEYS CLOSE. St. Louis, April 9.—The attorneys for the Standard Oil company today completed their argument in defense of the government's suit to have the big corporation dissolved as a Sherman law violation. Attorney Kellogg, for the government, will close tomorrow, when the court will take the case under advisement.

CUBA'S NEW MINISTER RECEIVED BY MR. TAFT. Washington, April 9.—The new Cuban minister, Carlos Gaviria Vizcay, was formally received by President Taft this afternoon. There was a felicitous interchange of friendly greetings.

LIQUOR BUSINESS RESTRICTED IN IOWA.

By the Terms of Newly-Enacted Legislation, City Councils Are Prohibited from Granting Permits for More Than One Saloon to Every 1,000 Inhabitants.

Des Moines, Ia., April 9.—The thirty-third general assembly closed at 9:55 o'clock tonight. Important legislation was enacted, chief of which was the bill giving the executive council the right to remove any appointive state official for cause.

The efforts to bring about prohibition failed, but restrictions are placed on the sale of liquor. Drinking intoxicants on trains is prohibited, and a ban is put on dining cars selling liquor. Breweries are prohibited from owning saloons, city councils cannot issue permits for more than one saloon to every 1,000 inhabitants, and druggists must account for each sale of liquor.

A state educational board of nine members displaces the boards of regents and the trustees of state institutions. The general revenue bill passed tonight fixes the amount of the state taxes for the coming biennial period at $4,600,000, an increase of $50,000 a year.

COAL OPERATORS REJECT MINERS' NEW DEMANDS. After Meetings Extending for Several Days, Philadelphia Conference Adjourns Deadlocked—While Outcome Is Doubtful There Will Be No Strike.

Philadelphia, April 9.—After conferences extending since Wednesday the anthracite coal operators and the officials of the United Mine Workers of America, representing the miners, at which there was discussed the question of the wage agreement to replace that brought about by the anthracite strike commission, the operators today rejected the modified demands of the miners, presented yesterday, and the conference adjourned deadlocked. There will be no strike instituted by the mine workers, however, and the only danger of a suspension of mining in the near future, according to the mine workers' officials, arises from the possibility of the refusal of the operators to permit the miners to work without an agreement.

The modified demands of the miners rejected by the mine workers were recognized as anthracite workers and that the conditions regarding new work by the miners in which wages were involved and which would give increased pay to the miners be improved. Although the entire proposition of the miners as modified was finally rejected, the operators this afternoon gave out a statement in New York, where they went immediately following the conference, in which they claim that they offered to submit a "new work complaint" to the conciliation board created by the anthracite strike commission.

When the attention of President Lewis, of the United Mine Workers, was called to the operators' statement tonight, he refused to make any comment. OUTRAGE EXCITES ATLANTA (GA.) PEOPLE. On an Attachment for $150, Issued in Behalf of a Negro Injured in an Automobile Accident, U. S. Judge Sheppard's Home Is Stripped of Furniture and Wearing Apparel.

Atlanta, Ga., April 9.—There was an unusual outcome for an automobile accident here today when the home of Judge W. B. Sheppard, federal judge for the Northern district of Florida, was stripped of most of its furniture and family wearing apparel on a writ of attachment. Judge Sheppard's automobile recently injured a colored man here, and an attachment was issued when the judge offered to pay the negro $50 in settlement for his injuries, while the negro demanded $150. Judge Sheppard was in court this evening and openly and bitterly denounced the treatment he had received, as not only outrageous, but as an attack upon the dignity of the United States court. The local bar association will meet to make whatever arrangements it can for the invasion of the judge's home and will pass resolutions denouncing the act.

While the constable's assistants were seizing everything in sight, even the children's toys, Mrs. Sheppard, according to her story told later, was pleading with them to wait until her husband returned, but they refused to listen, and she says they were both rough and insolent. Next Mrs. Sheppard telephoned to the lawyer of the negro, but as soon as she explained who she was, she says she abruptly hung up the receiver, saying that he talked business with men only.

McCab's Amendment Defeated. Representative McCabe, of Marquette, tried to amend Mr. Copley's bill providing for the disposition of bodies found unclaimed or sent to pickling vats for other reasons, by providing that the bodies of murderers might be claimed by relatives. Mr. Copley's bill making no such provision. He failed to get votes enough, however.

The Miller bill, cutting the rate for printing tax sales from forty to ten cents per description, passed the house in committee of the whole, Mr. Miller amending it so that the pay will be at the rate of twenty cents. Mr. Maxey, of Ames, fought for the bill, showing that the present system of advertising state lands causes much waste.

There was no session of the senate today. LILLEY GROWING WEAKER. Governor of Connecticut Critically Ill at the Executive Mansion.

Hartford, Conn., April 9.—That Governor Lilley, who is ill at the executive mansion here, is gradually growing weaker, was manifested by the state papers issued during the day and tonight by his physicians. Last yesterday the governor began to grow restless, and the early morning statement showed that he had passed a restless night. During the day his condition was more comfortable, but with no marked improvement.

STATE LEGISLATORS START A FILIBUSTER

Against Delineation in Fight for Majority Rule, the "Insurgents" at Lansing Delay the Proceedings in Every Way Possible.

Out-Voted in the Matter of Their Demand That the Speaker Resign from His Despotism Position and the Constitutional Provision Be Lived Up To, They Insist That Every Bill Shall Be Read in Full, Consequently Much Time Is Wasted.

Lansing, Mich., April 9.—[Special.]—Another determined fight today for the principle that a majority of the house can take a bill away from a committee at any time resulted in a defeat for the "insurgents," but started a filibuster that will lead to the defeat of much legislation unless Speaker Campbell recedes from his position or the house refuses to sustain his rulings.

Much Time Wasted. Every bill passed today had to be read at length, which wasted much time. Also there is a threat that if Speaker Campbell does not recede the same plan will be followed until the end of the session or until the majority of the house permits free expression in the efforts to take bills from committee.

Representative Cranston led the fight today and offered an amendment to the rules, providing that the rules of the house should not conflict with the state constitution. He referred to Section 10 of Article V, which says that "no rule shall be passed to prevent a majority of the members-elect from taking a bill from committee." The amendment was referred to the committee on rules, which will meet Monday night. Mr. Cranston fought this measure, but it was made by the vote of forty-seven to twenty-seven.

Indignant Protests Filed. Messrs. Cranston, Dusebury and Bryant filed protests which will be spread on the journal. Mr. Bryant's protest was most bitter. "I protest, because this ruling is arbitrary, tyrannical and despotic," he said, "it is an open and flagrant violation of the constitution of the state, adopted less than a year ago. It tramples underfoot the sacred law of the land and shows a reckless and contemptuous disregard of the common people who make it." "It is likely to defeat the telegraph and telephone taxation bill, one of the most important measures before the house and one which the Republican party of the state has pledged its sacred word of honor to make a law of the land. I protest against it because it renders the ballot useless in the hands of the common people and places no one except the smiling telegraph and telephone lobby in the gallery."

Speaker Campbell tonight gave out a statement of his position on the telegraph and telephone taxation bill. "I am pledged to carry a bill taxing these companies on the ad valorem basis," he said. "I will do it, not because I think it a scientific way to tax such concerns, but because the party is pledged to it. I feel sure that the committee will report the bill out early next week. I am not doing a thing, either openly or secretly, to prevent its being reported."

Fight Will Be Renewed Monday. The fight over the rules will be renewed Monday, as the "insurgents" say they are determined to establish the principle that a man may move more than once to take a bill from committee. If they are turned down, they will filibuster at every opportunity, insisting that everything be read in full and seeking to delay things by all possible means.

The naval militia bill was reported out from the ways and means committee today. It provides an appropriation of one cent per capita instead of two-thirds of one cent, which will raise the sum available for the brigade from $17,000 to $25,000 and allow of many needed improvements. The military bill carrying $5,000 for armories, not over two to be built each year, also came forth.

McCabe's Amendment Defeated. Representative McCabe, of Marquette, tried to amend Mr. Copley's bill providing for the disposition of bodies found unclaimed or sent to pickling vats for other reasons, by providing that the bodies of murderers might be claimed by relatives. Mr. Copley's bill making no such provision. He failed to get votes enough, however.

The Miller bill, cutting the rate for printing tax sales from forty to ten cents per description, passed the house in committee of the whole, Mr. Miller amending it so that the pay will be at the rate of twenty cents. Mr. Maxey, of Ames, fought for the bill, showing that the present system of advertising state lands causes much waste.

There was no session of the senate today. LILLEY GROWING WEAKER. Governor of Connecticut Critically Ill at the Executive Mansion.

Hartford, Conn., April 9.—That Governor Lilley, who is ill at the executive mansion here, is gradually growing weaker, was manifested by the state papers issued during the day and tonight by his physicians. Last yesterday the governor began to grow restless, and the early morning statement showed that he had passed a restless night. During the day his condition was more comfortable, but with no marked improvement.

TWO NOTED MEN PASS FROM LIFE

Ill for Some Days After Contracting a Severe Cold, Ethan Allen Hitchcock Dies at Washington at the Age of 74.

Was Secretary of the Interior in the Cabinets of Both President McKinley and President Roosevelt—Still in His Very Prime, F. Marion Crawford, the Novelist, Succumbs at Sorrento, in Italy, Where He Had Lived for Many Years.

Washington, April 9.—Ethan Allen Hitchcock, secretary of the interior under Presidents McKinley and Roosevelt, died this morning, aged seventy-four. He had been critically ill for several days. Mr. Hitchcock contracted a severe cold while in the West. His condition became more serious, and he hurried to Washington to place himself in the hands of specialists, who had attended him during his official career here. He suffered from a complication of kidney, heart and pulmonary diseases. Ever since he reached here he had been confined to bed, constantly attended by physicians and trained nurses. With him at the home of his son-in-law, Lieutenant Commander Sims, were his children, Mrs. Sims, Mrs. Sibley and Margaret Hitchcock.

Death of F. Marion Crawford. Sorrento, Italy, April 9.—F. Marion Crawford, the novelist, died here at 7:30 o'clock tonight. He was born at Bagari, Di Luca, Tuscany, Aug. 2, 1834. He studied in the United States, Italy, England and Germany. His first work after graduation was in India, where at Allahabad for two years he edited the Indian Herald. Since 1883 Mr. Crawford had lived at the villa Crawford, near Sorrento. He married Elizabeth Berden, daughter of General Berden, of the United States army, during a visit to Turkey in 1884.

Mr. Crawford's efforts were confined principally to his writing of novels, though he did some work in critical philosophy and philology and wrote one play, "Francesca Da Rimini," which Sarah Bernhardt produced in Paris in 1902. Everywhere tonight in the village of San Angello there is profound mourning. Fishermen and peasants, among whom the author was most popular, on hearing the news that he was dead, wended their way to the villa to express in silence their sorrow.

Mrs. Sampson was trembling perceptibly when the jury announced its verdict, but she recovered her composure immediately and smilingly received the embraces of her father and other relatives, and the congratulations of her friends. She held an impromptu reception in court, thanking and shaking hands with her lawyers and each of the jurors, and also greeting and thanking the representatives of the press. Mrs. Sampson declined to make any statement for publication.

With bated breath the impatient fan is waiting for the umpire to sing out, "Play ball."

Take it all and all, and it appears that Castro would have been appreciably better off had he not conducted himself with such a high hand in his relations with Uncle Sam.

It is reported from Lansing that Speaker Campbell's influence has been somewhat shaken. Well, it won't have to hold out for a much longer time to see the present session through.

Representative Ogg and Warden Fuller are not unequally matched in the art of hurling formidable adjectives. In a contest for supremacy honors would, it appears, lie pretty evenly between them.

The vesselmen of the great lakes appear bent on a strike. The time is not particularly auspicious. The probabilities of a strike succeeding would be much greater in a year when there was going to be a heavier press of business and when there were not so many idle men looking for jobs.

One of the isolated Democratic victories in the state this week occurred in the city of Menominee, where the Dems named nearly all their candidates for ward offices, and also elected the city treasurer. If the Democrats the country over were of the same fighting breed as those found in Menominee county we would have a minority party that would keep the G. O. P. stepping lively both in and between elections.

Now that the election is over the Anti-Saloon forces at Lansing propose to seek legislation that will operate to confine the dealings of druggists in liquors to their legitimate proportions, namely, for medicinal purposes only.

The Colby statewide direct nominations bill has been reported out to the house as a substitute for the Dickinson bill, sent over from the senate, and has been made a special order for Wednesday of next week, when Representative Colby expects that the house will pass it.

The American state department is leaving nothing undone to prevent Castro from establishing himself on Venezuelan soil. There is a new secretary of state at Washington, but the department still remembers the maze of complications, culminating in the withdrawal of the American minister, into which it was plunged by the arbitrary and despotic acts of Castro while he was the dictator at Caracas.

Not a single one of the four measures which Governor Warner advocated in his campaign for re-nomination, and later for re-election, has yet emerged from the legislature in the form of a law.

legislature in the form of a law. A Lansing correspondent describes their status thus: "The house judiciary committee has his anti-lobbying bill tied up and the house committee on general taxation has his ad valorem telephone and telegraph tax measure in the same position. The senate and house are divided on his proposition to revise the primary law and make it more workable. The senate bill would preserve state conventions to nominate a part of the state officers, while the house bill calls for the nomination at primaries of all candidates for state offices. As for the bill to prohibit stock-watering, that seems to have been forgotten almost since the day it was introduced."

The chances are against the proposed record of the votes for alderman in the Third ward making any change in the results. Alderman Asire's announced majority of seven votes is not a large one, but is sufficient to stand in any precinct the size of the Third where the count has been made with ordinary care, and the officials who served in that ward Monday assert that they, realizing that the contest was close, scanned the ballots carefully, arriving at a decision that they are sure will stand.

An early adjournment of the legislature is always desirable, yet in the light of the situation that prevails at Lansing there are few people who will approve of the house resolution fixing the date for ending the session as May 8. There are too many matters of first importance still to be disposed of to warrant the arbitrary setting of a date that allows only twenty working days. It is more important than an early adjournment that the legislature should have all the time necessary for a careful consideration of the measures affecting the people of the entire state.

There is no denying the fact that the assembly of the New York legislature gave Governor Hughes' direct nominations a bad setback by the overwhelming vote with which it decided against taking it away from the judiciary committee. This vote makes it appear that the bill has few friends in the assembly, and would be sufficient to lead any but a most determined man to give up the fight for it.

United States Government Gives Railway Mail Clerks $800 a Year to Start and Increases It to $1,200. Uncle Sam will hold an examination for Railway Mail Clerks in the vicinity of Marquette and throughout the United States on May 15. Many ambitious young men, with only a very ordinary school education, can readily pass. The government wants young men over eighteen, with common sense, to take examinations for railway mail clerks and carriers, and the government positions bureau, of Rochester, N. Y., with its peculiar knowledge of the requirements of the examination, can fit any young man in a short time to pass. A government position means steady work, good pay, and a yearly vacation. There is time to prepare for the May 15 examinations, and any reader of 'The Mining Journal' can get full information how to proceed, free of charge, by writing The Government Positions Bureau, 391 Powers block, Rochester, N. Y. (4-10-14-17-21-24-28)

Mr. F. G. Fritts, Ontonagon, N. Y., writes: "My little girl was greatly benefited by taking Foley's Orino Laxative, and I think it is the best remedy for constipation and liver trouble." Foley's Orino Laxative is best for women and children, as it is mild, pleasant and effective, and is a splendid spring medicine, as it cleanses the system and clears the complexion. Sold by all druggists.

TWENTY CENTS ON ORE.

A Washington dispatch credits Senators Burrows and Smith with winning a point over the advocates of free iron ore, and it is said that when the senate tariff measure is reported out of the committee it will carry a tariff of twenty cents per ton, as against forty cents in the present Dingley bill. Such an adjustment of the matter will be satisfactory to the iron men and the various interests that have been aroused by the proposal of the house committee on ways and means to put iron ore on the free list. It is reported that the attitude of the members of the senate committee was, in the first instance, opposed to putting any tax on ore, but that a compromise between the rate in the Dingley bill and the free ore proposed by the Payne bill, as reported to the house, was gained largely by the insistence of the Michigan senators, who have been hearing in no unmistakable terms from their constituents in northern Michigan. The news of the success of their efforts will be gratefully received in this region, where the developments of the past few weeks have shown that the people, from mine owners to mine workers, regard free ore as a distinct menace.

It is said in well-informed circles that the iron men who appeared before the ways and means committee while the Payne bill was in the course of preparation dealt too frankly with the members of that committee. Instead of telling them that it would be ruinous to the iron regions of Lake Superior to have the Dingley tariff on ore abated a jot, and that the thing that ought to be done was to increase the existing rate, these gentlemen told them frankly that the rate provided for by the Dingley bill could be cut say 50 per cent without any bad consequences following. As a reward for this frankness the committee cut the tariff out altogether. It appears, therefore, that the iron men might have saved themselves some peace of mind if they had competed with other high tariff interests in raising a clamor for the old, or higher, rates. In that event the committee would doubtless have given them the 50 per cent reduction they are able and willing to stand.

As Senators Burrows and Smith have persuaded the senate committee to put twenty cents per ton on ore it is likely that this rate will stand in the completed bill. In the house Representative Young is making a strong fight to build up sentiment favorable to placing a reduced duty on iron, and by the time the tariff measure goes into conference he will doubtless have his colleagues in a frame of mind that will prevent them from registering any serious objections to the senate proposal.

GOOD FRIDAY OBSERVANCE.

Sons of St. George Celebrate at Trimountain, Quincy and Hancock.

According to the old English custom, Good Friday was observed in the copper country as a holiday yesterday. Celebrations were held at Quincy and Trimountain and there was a union religious service in Hancock, while at various places concerts and other evening entertainments were given.

The largest celebration was held at Trimountain, where lodges of the Sons of St. George from all over the copper country gathered. There was a parade in the afternoon and a meeting which was addressed by Rev. R. L. Hewson and Dr. E. T. Abrams. In the evening a musical and literary program was given. A union service of the evangelists was held yesterday morning at the Hancock M. E. church. The Quincy celebration took the form of a parade of the Sons of St. George, an afternoon meeting at the Pewabic M. E. church and an evening entertainment. At some of the churches in the county building, there were no evidences of an unusual day, excepting in the churches. At St. Ignatius and Trinity churches the usual Good Friday services were held throughout the day. The Presbyterian and Methodist churches joined in the union service at the Hancock M. E. church in the morning. At this service, Rev. John M. Linn, pastor of the Houghton Presbyterian church, preached the sermon.

LIQUOR DEALERS BOUND OVER.

Five Men Arrested on Charge of William Kroll Will Be Tried.

Matti Letti, Joseph Shelley, Morris Deaver, Charles Matson and Otto Cross, the five Kenton saloon keepers charged by William Kroll with keeping their saloons open on election day last Monday, were brought to Houghton Thursday night by Deputy Sheriff Vivian and O'Connell and were taken before Justice Brand for examination. They waived hearing and were bound over to the May term of the circuit court. Justice Brand released them under $300 bonds each, and they returned on the late train to Kenton.

This is the first case which Mr. Kroll has taken in the direction of keeping the saloons of Kenton within the strict bounds of the law. It is his intention to compel the saloons of the village to close every night at 9 o'clock and to keep them closed on Sundays. The result is the first case which will be the last if the saloon keepers obey the law, but if they violate it again in the slightest degree they may make another trip to Houghton, as Mr. Kroll does not intend to make complaint in any case before a local justice of the peace.

While the five men were in Houghton they had nothing to say on the subject of their arrest, and the justice court proceedings were very brief.

A SERIOUS SMALL THEFT.

Stealing Weather Bureau Card Holder May Mean Ninety Days.

A little sheet from card holder, used by the United States weather bureau at Houghton to display weather forecast cards, was stolen some time Thursday night from the front of Wortley's photograph studio. When the messenger arrived at that point in his card delivery trip yesterday morning he found that the card holder was missing and reported the fact to Observer Wiesner.

The thing was probably taken by some mischievous boy who could not have realized the seriousness of the theft. The holder is valued at seventy-five cents, but the penalty for stealing it is a fine of $900 or a term of ninety days in jail. Observer Wiesner offers a reward for its return. He has advised the sheriff of his loss and will prosecute the person who took it if he can be found.

Stealing from the United States government is a mighty serious thing and the person who took this trinket, and who undoubtedly can find no use for it, is facing a serious charge because Uncle Sam is very earnest in pursuit of persons who steal government property. This is an instance of the serious consequences to which a small amount of wrong-doing may lead.

BIG BIBLE STUDY CLASS.

The Union Bible Training class has been organized at Calumet with the following officers: President, Rev. D. Stalkner; secretary, P. J. McClelland; treasurer, William C. Kinsman; leader, Rev. James O. Fisher; first assistant leader, William B. Anderson; second assistant leader, W. C. Kinsman. This class is a result of the recent visit of Herbert Moninger to the copper country. It will have a membership of 250 and its purpose will be Bible study and the training of teachers in Sunday school work. A class of 100 members has been organized in Houghton also.

The roller skating season will open in Houghton Easter Monday night, when the Amphidrome will open as a roller rink, having been closed for two weeks to permit of the removal of the ice and the placing of the sectional hardwood floor. The Quincy band will be in attendance Monday night and frequently thereafter. The rink will be open for roller skating every afternoon and evening throughout the season, which will last until the weather becomes too warm for comfort. The Amphidrome has a new boiler house now in course of construction, and in it will be installed six boilers of about 150-horsepower each. The shaft is one of the largest in the camp, being of four compartments besides the pump shaft. This will give three working shafts. The shaft is now down about 1,200 feet, but as no cross-cutting or drifting has yet been done, the extent of the ore bodies is not yet known. The ground has been thoroughly prospected, however, by means of the diamond drill, and that the veins carry rich ore has been determined. The normal capacity of the Boston & Montana properties at the present time is about 3,500 tons daily, but the improvements at the Great Falls smelter are such that within a short time the smelting capacity will be increased to 5,000 tons daily. It is for the purpose of reaching that capacity that the Badger State is being opened up and developed.

In its annual report, President Fay of the Centennial company says: The opening work the past year was confined almost exclusively to sinking No. 2 shaft to a depth approximately that of No. 1 shaft, and extending the lower levels of the mine to the north. The improvement in the lower levels which began to show itself in the latter part of 1907 has steadily increased and for several months as our drifts have penetrated farther into our northerly territory the returns from the mill have shown a satisfactory increase in the number of pounds of refined copper recovered. There was an increase of a little more than a pound of copper per ton of rock treated for 1908 as compared with the previous year, and the first quarter of 1909 shows an increase of about 2 1/2 pounds over the same period in 1908. This result was accomplished notwithstanding a decrease in the percentage of rock discarded from 14.2 per cent in 1907 and 5.6 per cent in 1908. The general conditions at the mine are good, the special feature being the improvement in all the lower levels north of No. 2 shaft, where excellent ground is being opened. This improvement should permit us to take advantage of the increased capacity of the mill, where two new compound heads are being installed. When this work is completed the mill will be able to treat nearly 3,000 tons of rock per day.

The report shows a balance of $18,200, as against a balance of $129,985 a year ago. The production of refined copper was 2,196,377 pounds, or 12.9 pounds per ton of rock treated.

The demand for Mass Consolidated stock has carried the price to a new high record for the year. Incidentally the stock is now selling at nearly double the low price recorded in March of the current year. An interest conversation with the conditions at the property says of recent developments: "The full significance of the richer ground which the Mass Consolidated is now opening may not be apparent until the stamp mill test of this rock is concluded, but the fact is that the Mass has already sent quite a large amount of this rock to the mill and the results are more than satisfactory. The abundance of the formation seems to be geologically a fairly sure thing which is more cause for congratulation. Some of the rock has been received in Boston and it has greatly impressed those who have seen it. It is not of the mass or barrel character but is a kind of epidote, well impregnated with copper, and it would be considered ideal stamp rock by mill men. The Mass is unquestionably handled at the mine with economy and at low operating costs. With the old openings and a 13c copper market, however, the mine has a hard row to hoe, but an improved underground opportunity would give the management the chance it has long hoped for."

For many years Utah Consolidated enjoyed the distinction of being the lowest cost copper producer in this country. Its cost in some years, after gold and silver values were credited to the operating account, has been less than that of any other copper producer. It is from the above 1908 total of $1,729,229 we deduct $601,442, the estimated amount received from gold and silver, there remains $1,127,787 to represent the net cost of producing 10,648,243 pounds of copper, or 10.6 cents per pound.

Considering the continuous betterment in the physical condition of the mine, the heavy liquidation which has been going on in the stock of the North Butte Mining company is somewhat perplexing here, reports a Butte correspondent. Four hundred feet of additional stopping ground in the Edith May vein has been added by the developments on the 2900-foot level. The rock in this vein is in better condition than ever before in its history. While the drift west has not progressed to the point where the great values on the 1800-foot level were found, and the good values have not yet been reached, the formation is certainly rich and there is every evidence that even greater values than are being mined on the 1800-foot level will be mined further west in the drift. On the 2000-foot level some good stopping ground has been opened up, the ore bodies being from three to four feet in width. The extent on this level will be as good as possible be continued to the point of intersection with the Jesse vein, which is now giving up such magnificent values on the 1800-foot level. On the 2200-foot level it developed in cutting the station that the Edith May vein had split into two branches, and that there was what is termed a "horse" between the two. It was found on drifting west on the branch nearer to the shaft that the south branch again joined the main vein about 200 feet to the west. A fine grade of ore was found at the junction, and there is good stopping ground several feet in width. Wherever the vein has been opened up on the 2300 and 2200-foot levels the ore values have been better than at the same spots on the levels above, and consequently the North Butte mine is becoming a richer proposition as depth is attained.

On the 1600-foot level a crosscut is being run into the Berlin ground. At that depth, however, on the Edith May and Jesse veins second class ore has been mined, though in great quantity, and it is not anticipated that the Berlin mill will prove of great value until at least the 1800-foot level shall have been reached. Eventually, however, the Berlin vein will be opened up in an extensive manner, and it is believed that the time is not far distant when the North Butte company will deem it advisable to install an operating plant on the Berlin in order to increase its output.

UTAH CONSOLIDATED.

In its annual report, President Fay of the Centennial company says: The opening work the past year was confined almost exclusively to sinking No. 2 shaft to a depth approximately that of No. 1 shaft, and extending the lower levels of the mine to the north. The improvement in the lower levels which began to show itself in the latter part of 1907 has steadily increased and for several months as our drifts have penetrated farther into our northerly territory the returns from the mill have shown a satisfactory increase in the number of pounds of refined copper recovered. There was an increase of a little more than a pound of copper per ton of rock treated for 1908 as compared with the previous year, and the first quarter of 1909 shows an increase of about 2 1/2 pounds over the same period in 1908. This result was accomplished notwithstanding a decrease in the percentage of rock discarded from 14.2 per cent in 1907 and 5.6 per cent in 1908. The general conditions at the mine are good, the special feature being the improvement in all the lower levels north of No. 2 shaft, where excellent ground is being opened. This improvement should permit us to take advantage of the increased capacity of the mill, where two new compound heads are being installed. When this work is completed the mill will be able to treat nearly 3,000 tons of rock per day.

The report shows a balance of $18,200, as against a balance of $129,985 a year ago. The production of refined copper was 2,196,377 pounds, or 12.9 pounds per ton of rock treated.

The demand for Mass Consolidated stock has carried the price to a new high record for the year. Incidentally the stock is now selling at nearly double the low price recorded in March of the current year. An interest conversation with the conditions at the property says of recent developments: "The full significance of the richer ground which the Mass Consolidated is now opening may not be apparent until the stamp mill test of this rock is concluded, but the fact is that the Mass has already sent quite a large amount of this rock to the mill and the results are more than satisfactory. The abundance of the formation seems to be geologically a fairly sure thing which is more cause for congratulation. Some of the rock has been received in Boston and it has greatly impressed those who have seen it. It is not of the mass or barrel character but is a kind of epidote, well impregnated with copper, and it would be considered ideal stamp rock by mill men. The Mass is unquestionably handled at the mine with economy and at low operating costs. With the old openings and a 13c copper market, however, the mine has a hard row to hoe, but an improved underground opportunity would give the management the chance it has long hoped for."

For many years Utah Consolidated enjoyed the distinction of being the lowest cost copper producer in this country. Its cost in some years, after gold and silver values were credited to the operating account, has been less than that of any other copper producer. It is from the above 1908 total of $1,729,229 we deduct $601,442, the estimated amount received from gold and silver, there remains $1,127,787 to represent the net cost of producing 10,648,243 pounds of copper, or 10.6 cents per pound.

Considering the continuous betterment in the physical condition of the mine, the heavy liquidation which has been going on in the stock of the North Butte Mining company is somewhat perplexing here, reports a Butte correspondent. Four hundred feet of additional stopping ground in the Edith May vein has been added by the developments on the 2900-foot level. The rock in this vein is in better condition than ever before in its history. While the drift west has not progressed to the point where the great values on the 1800-foot level were found, and the good values have not yet been reached, the formation is certainly rich and there is every evidence that even greater values than are being mined on the 1800-foot level will be mined further west in the drift. On the 2000-foot level some good stopping ground has been opened up, the ore bodies being from three to four feet in width. The extent on this level will be as good as possible be continued to the point of intersection with the Jesse vein, which is now giving up such magnificent values on the 1800-foot level. On the 2200-foot level it developed in cutting the station that the Edith May vein had split into two branches, and that there was what is termed a "horse" between the two. It was found on drifting west on the branch nearer to the shaft that the south branch again joined the main vein about 200 feet to the west. A fine grade of ore was found at the junction, and there is good stopping ground several feet in width. Wherever the vein has been opened up on the 2300 and 2200-foot levels the ore values have been better than at the same spots on the levels above, and consequently the North Butte mine is becoming a richer proposition as depth is attained.

On the 1600-foot level a crosscut is being run into the Berlin ground. At that depth, however, on the Edith May and Jesse veins second class ore has been mined, though in great quantity, and it is not anticipated that the Berlin mill will prove of great value until at least the 1800-foot level shall have been reached. Eventually, however, the Berlin vein will be opened up in an extensive manner, and it is believed that the time is not far distant when the North Butte company will deem it advisable to install an operating plant on the Berlin in order to increase its output.

Northern Normal Notes.

Yesterday being Good Friday, there was no school at the Normal.
 Miss Flora Peterson '07, at present teaching at Crystal Falls, was a visitor at the school on Thursday.
 During the week three fine pictures have been received by Ostris Literary society for the society room.
 The Misses Jennie Johnson and Elizabeth Girard have been elected to positions at Iron Mountain for next year.
 Superintendent W. D. Hill of Crystal Falls was a visitor at the Normal school on Thursday. He was searching for teachers for next year.
 The Right Reverend Charles D. Williams, bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Eastern Michigan, has been engaged to deliver the commencement oration in June.
 During the vacation last week Miss Belle K. Middlekauff received the sad news of the death of her mother. She left on Thursday evening for Adeline, Ill., where the interment took place, and returned to Marquette on Tuesday morning for the opening of school.
 The Misses Florence Markham of this city, Mayburr Trevelion of Sault Ste. Marie and Anna McDonald of Negaunee have been elected to positions in the school at Muskegon. Miss Markham will take a place in the kindergarten, Miss Trevelion in the first grade and Miss McDonald in one of the upper grades.
 Ygdrasil Literary society held a meeting this week for the election of officers. The following members were chosen for the spring quarter: Theo. Johnston of Ishpeming; for president, Minnie Parsons of Lake Linden, vice president; Emma Sanders of Hancock, secretary; and Margaret Fitzsimmons, treasurer.
 Simon Anderson, president of the senior class, has been engaged as principal of one of the largest schools at Iron Mountain, at a salary of $75 a month. Persistently comes the call for young men teachers. But three will graduate with this year's class, whereas positions, and good ones, too, are open for large numbers.
 On Thursday, Superintendent L. L. Wright of Ironwood visited the Normal in quest of teachers for next year. Mr. Wright is state superintendent of public instruction as well as superintendent of the schools at Ironwood. He is one of the most generous of all the school men in the peninsula in his patronage of the Northern Normal. He interviewed about fifteen members of the senior class.
 During the vacation, much of the furnishing for the new faculty room was received. The cork carpeting has been covered by a green rug. All of the chairs are in mission style, many of them upholstered in leather. The leather couch, screens, table and desk have not yet arrived. The room will be used on Tuesday next for the first time for the meeting of the Faculty club.
 Dr. Lewis Flint Anderson, head of the department of psychology and education, has for some time been at work upon a book for use in his classes, and it was received from the press in time for this term's work. It is entitled, "The History of Common School Education," and will be used in his classes in the his-tority of education, one of the required courses. A more extended review of the work will be given in these notes later.

A letter was received recently from Miss Sophia Linton, who with her sister, Miss Ida, has been spending about five months in Berlin, Germany. During her stay abroad, Miss Linton has been studying both vocal and instrumental music. According to the letter, the two ladies were to leave Berlin about the first of April and spend the next eight or ten weeks in travel. They will return to this country in time for the opening of the summer term of the Normal, late in June.

On Thursday morning the first Assembly for the term was held and, as usual, President Kaye made the talk, which was appropriate by a reference to holy week and its significance and referred to the memorable Easter sermon by Dean Stanley which had such influence over the life of Tom Brown as denoted in that popular boys' book, "Tom Brown at Oxford," as a result of which the boys made life in which every student ought to share in order to get the best results from his time; among them were the library, the societies, the assemblies and the social intercourse. In conclusion, the president quoted from the sayings of the old Persian sage, Zoroaster, commending the philosophy, "I was in darkness," he said, "but I took three steps and found myself in paradise. The first step was a good thought, the second a good word, and the third a good deed."

APOMATTOX DAY OBSERVED AT CHICAGO.

With Addresses by Secretary of War Dickenson and Senator Borah as the Features, the Hamilton Club Celebrates at a Largely Attended Banquet.

Chicago, April 9.—The celebration of Apomattox Day by the Hamilton club in the Auditorium Annex tonight was made notable by the presence of distinguished speakers whose addresses were of particular interest. General Fred D. Grand spoke briefly upon some personal recollections of Apomattox and Secretary of War Dickenson chose as the subject of his remarks "The Progress of Peace." Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho spoke on "The Integrity of the States."

Senator Borah made a strong appeal in favor of jealous watchfulness to preserve local self-government in its greatest vigor as the surest guarantee for a perpetuity of free institutions. At the same time he emphasized the importance of federal power as provided by the constitution. Describing the pure democracy that existed in Athens, he declared that although that example of popular government had continued for less than one hundred years, more than 2,000 years have not dimmed in the least the lustre of its achievements.

"They understood well the lesson of local self-government," said Mr. Borah, "but the great central and controlling principle of civilization, that is concentrated and harmonious action among separate states or communities on a large scale without destroying or forfeiting self-government, was to them unknown. The representative principle, that system by which independent cities or states retaining full and complete control over domestic affairs with a central and supreme authority for all matters of common interest was yet undiscovered. So amid petty rivalries and constant jealousies, and strife and conflict and perpetual war, this splendid political system perished. There was the fatal defect, a defect which another people was to discover and remedy."

As the antithesis of this wonderful development of the Roman empire and the coincident loss of all local government by communities brought under the sway of Rome, "Instead of expecting to find virtue and progress and prosperity among the people worked out through the thrift and industry and energy of the people," he declared, "they supposed that in some way they should be able to legislate and imperial decrees. They thought that by legislation all things could be cured and that the government must take care of them all. At last this civilization came into conflict with that of the Teutons of the North, a people having among their virtues that of local self-government in their tribal life, a people independent, self-reliant, possessed of courage and initiative. When the conflict came the false and vengeful vengeance of Rome perished."

Tracing Anglo-Saxon civilization, Mr. Borah declared that the principle of the New England town meeting has secured our whole civilization with strength and durability. Without its active presence its living pervading force, there could be no such thing as a truly republican government or federal union. "Our fathers understood this well," said Mr. Borah, "and were wise and cautious in jealousy guarding it when they came to frame the federal system. If they were wise to preserve it their children will be wise to continue to preserve it. It is a remarkably short period from the time when a people cease to be active in the affairs of government until they are incapable of discharging the duties imposed by government and no people incapable of self-government ever long made a class of statesmen who were capable of governing for them. For it is the most lasting anathema on oligarchies that recruits from the walks of the humble and lowly must be had or else follows a universal bankruptcy of intellect and character, a people enervated in body and mind and from whose veins fingers soon fall the reins of government."

With the utmost care, he said, in the formation of our government, there was reserved for the states the control of all matters of domestic concern of local interest, while there was granted to the general government the great and general powers which encompass the welfare of all. "We must not assume," continued the senator, "we must not permit ourselves to believe that the reservation is of less moment or less beneficial to the American people than the grant. I am well aware that the phrase 'state rights' has been discredited in our history. It is associated with unhappy days. It is a kind of intellectual tramp recognized for the last fifty years mainly at the back door of the American statesman. But the abuse of the term should not blind us to the great an inviolate political truth that upon the integrity of the states after all rests the integrity and permanency of the Union, that upon the principle of local self-government rests the perpetuity of republican institutions."

"God pity the government in the hour in which we shall look to Washington for that economy in public expenditures, that comprehension of the common needs, that devotion to the general interests, the power and the willingness to correct abuses and distribute justice, all so essential to a democratic form of government, rather than to enlightened public opinion gathered up and crystallized into law through those agencies of government which reach back and down to the great body of the people—the sovereignty of the people." The makers of the constitution, he said, did not grant to the general government any powers which it is dangerous to exercise to the fullest constitutional limit but while building at the top insisted on keeping sound and safe and sure the foundation of local self-government upon which the whole structure rests.

"For what shall it profit," he continued, "to enact laws, create commissions and unfold the ambitious schemes of men who dream of international prestige and power unless we know what the electorate wants in the field, factory and mine is doing or is willing to do, unless we know the measure of its ability, the worth of its patriotism. Responsibility alone gives strength and initiative to citizenship, contact with government

A HURRY-UP MEDICINE.

Every housekeeper recognizes the need of effective remedies to be used in emergencies—when something must be done right away. Such a remedy is Perry Davis' Painkiller, for sprains and bruises, for strained muscles and for the aches and pains resulting from blows and falls. Burns and cuts are instantly relieved by it and helped to healing. Its mission of mercy began seventy years ago. It is used in all countries and millions of bottles are sold annually. There is but one Painkiller, Perry Davis'. Have you seen the new large size?

fosters public spirit and local rule is the great school in which is reared and trained and equipped the kind of statesmen who take care that no harm comes to the republic. A government from Washington by commission, reduced to its last analysis, is no different from a government by satraps from Rome. And simply because the people of the states do not see fit at any particular time to exercise the powers reserved for them, that is in itself no justification for the general government to exercise those powers. Such doctrines are rank heresy. The wisdom of the people may be as fully manifested in the failure to exercise the powers of the state in a particular way or at a particular time as in the exercise of that power. Action is not always statesmanship. Legislation is not always an evidence of sound judgment. The belief so prevalent that every evil of the body politic can be eradicated by an act of congress, every crime of an augmented age by the creation of a commission is the refined and codified creed of official egotism."

Secretary Dickinson's Address.

Secretary of War Dickenson, responding to the toast, "The Progress of Peace," called attention to the fact that mankind was always hoping for the fulfillment of the prophecy that strong nations "shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruning hooks, nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more."

The secretary said that the time was not far distant "but there has been such development and strengthening of the forces that make for peace that its advocates are boldly aggressive, knowing that they have the potentiality that comes from the quickened, universal consciousness of the nations. At the present status, in the progress of peace, he said, is the product of centuries. International arbitration, which entered upon a new era about 1815, he said, "has progressed in our time that no one can doubt that the most powerful nations are now working upon the nations for the temporal happiness of mankind. International arbitration, as we know it, is no more the product of the last hundred years than was the federal Constitution of 1789 a product of that era."

Secretary Dickenson cited various steps in the progress of arbitration and said "the formation of our federal Constitution, creating for the first time a court with full and final power to settle all controversies between sovereign states, the arbitration of the United States and Great Britain in 1794, he said, which contained provisions for adjusting by arbitration three questions which threatened to involve us in a war with Britain. A general reaction prevailed in all civilized countries, after the overthrow of Napoleon, against barbarous methods of settling disputes. "Peace ideas," he said, "were fostered and promoted in every way. Peace societies and peace congresses constantly stirred the conscience of the world."

Speaking of the various treaties made by the United States declaring this country in favor of arbitrable settlement of international disputes, he said that the treaty of 1848 between the United States and Mexico provided that the two nations would in the future adjust their disagreements by pacific negotiations and by arbitration. The senate committee on foreign relations in a resolution reported to the senate in 1851 declared that it was desirable to secure in this way a provision for arbitration. The years 1854, 1872, 1874 and 1888 found similar resolutions introduced. "The treaty which most profoundly influenced the ideas of the world," continued Mr. Dickenson, "was that of Washington in 1871, which provided for four arbitrations. In 1863, during the preliminary negotiations, Mr. Adams assured Lord Russell that there was 'no fair and equitable form of conventional arbitration' to which America would be willing to submit."

The secretary of war said that Lord Russell was accredited in the beginning as saying that England would not be disgraced forever if a foreign government were left to arbitrate whether an English secretary of state has been diligent or negligent in the discharge of his duties. "Mr. Adams rose again to a great height and saved the treaty by getting his colleagues to make an extra judicial but effective declaration that certain claims ought to be excluded from consideration. Mr. Adams declaring that he would be assuming a great responsibility, but that he did not do so as an arbitrator representing his own country but as representing all nations."

"These long painful but successful negotiations," continued the war secretary, "during which so many irritating questions arose, which resulted in the end of such a great achievement, fully attest the fixed purpose of both nations to use every effort to avoid conflict of arms. The next in importance were the arbitration held in Paris in 1893 in the seal case, and the arbitral tribunal, which decided the Alaskan boundary dispute."

Taking up the declarations that had been made that certain questions cannot be settled by arbitration, he said: "Although it has often been said that questions of national honor cannot be submitted to arbitration, experience has shown that the term 'National Honor' is variable and in some degree shadowy, and that many questions which, under a former code, would have been catalogued under 'National Honor' which have been submitted and settled in this way, even though the outset, as was said by Lord Russell in regard to the Alabama claims, such a submission was thought to be incompatible with national dignity."

of Mexico to submit to The Hague tribunal the Pius fund controversy, the first case brought under its authority. That Japan and Russia, two of the signatory powers, plunged into war without resorting to The Hague tribunal, gives no ground for serious concern as to the future of arbitration. No one but a dreamer ever expected all war to be abolished. It was manifest that there was no place for arbitration between Russia and Japan."

Speaking of The Hague conference of 1907 which was called by the Czar of Russia upon the initiative of President Roosevelt, the secretary of war said it was participated in by 44 sovereigns, and was the first general conference of practically all the powers of the world. At this conference thirteen conventions, four declarations and three wishes were adopted. Mr. Dickenson discussed the recent conventions, one of which was that signed in February, 1909, at London by delegates of ten of the principal maritime powers of the world which was for the regulating of warfare at sea. A distinct triumph for the cause of international arbitration, continued the war secretary, was gained when France and Germany agreed to submit to The Hague the questions arising out of the Casablanca affair. The questions involved were more or less of what is termed "national honor." A special agreement was signed by the United States and Great Britain on January 27, 1909, submitting to arbitration to The Hague the controversy as to the North Atlantic coast (or Northeastern) fisheries.

"There can be no disarmament until the greater powers agree upon a system of concurrent action," said Secretary Dickenson, in concluding. "The tide of public sentiment all over the world is setting strongly in this direction. Looking to the progress in peace measures of the last hundred, and especially the last twenty years, the hope may well be entertained that disarmament will become a reality, and that the people may enjoy not only the blessings of peace, but the blessings of peace without the crushing burden of preparedness for war."

A BILL BOARD SHIP.

Novel Advertising Scheme Adopted, Which May Become Popular.
 With the arrival of the steamer Isabella J. Boyce and consort, the barge Iron Cliff, at Cleveland Sunday, a new feature was developed in lake marine life—a bill board ship. Some enterprising agent of a salt company has paid from fore to aft on the sides of the Iron Cliff a giant sign advertising the salt. The letters reach from the deck to the water line and extend aft to about midship. The sign can be read distinctly for a quarter of a mile, and the whole appearance of the boat is one of a gigantic floating bill board.

"It is the first time in the sixty years that I have sailed the lakes that I ever conveyed a floating advertisement," chuckled Captain Pringle. "I bet that before the season is over every company that seeks to exploit its wares will be following the example set by the salt company. The surface of the lakes to pleasure seekers will resemble a trip by trolley car through the busy section of a big city. They will see ships from water line up to rail bearing advertising for some firm. If a cargo of pills or plaster is enroute they will find those things exploited. In fact I think that a better simile would be to compare the surface of the lakes hereafter with the interior of a street car where placards along the different sides of the car. It is probable that if the cargo is mixt the side of the cargo laden vessel will be decorated with the signs of different classes of goods on board."

"Trust men, and they'll be true to you," says Emerson; but you can't make the grocer believe it.
 If a druggist isn't given a golden harp and crown when he dies, will he be satisfied with "something just as good?" Street sweepers of Chicago and Boston carry a tiny electric lamp on their caps to keep from being run over Portrait for High School—The board of education has received a life size photograph of the late Peter White, which has been framed and will be hung in the high school building. Mr. White was a member of the board of education continuously for fifty-one years.

Scenery Received—The scenery for the Guild Hall stage arrived yesterday and will be in place within a few days. New Secretary Elected—Conrad Wellman has resigned as secretary of the Central Labor union, and at a special meeting Thursday night, R. J. Darrow was elected to fill the vacancy. Mr. Wellman has accepted a position with a confectionery and stationery house in Milwaukee and will go to that city Monday. His family will remain here for the present.

A Costly Building—South Shore ticket agents have received a circular describing the new Northwestern passenger station, now being erected in Chicago. The circular declares that it will be one of the finest monuments ever erected to the commercial life and spirit of the West. It is expected to cost more than $20,000,000, and will have capacity for handling a quarter of a million patrons daily. Work on the new station is proceeding with all the rapidity that skill and liberal expenditure can command.

Enlarged Window Space—The furniture firm of Tonella & Johnson are to make extensive improvements in their store building, beginning Monday. The north entrance, which has been closed up for some time, is to be taken out altogether and a fine plate glass window put in its place. Bowling Notes—Manager Bell, of the Marquette bowling alleys had this to say last evening: "The first start was made this afternoon in the race for the Jenks cup, and a good one at that. Messrs. Stafford Ford, Allen and Miller were the contestants, with Miller in the lead, and from this out the games will come thick and fast until the finish." The scores made yesterday were as follows: Stafford, 159, 154, 158, total 471; Ford, 128, 165, total 293; Allen, 157, 158, 102, total 508; Miller, 190, 221, 168, total 579.

Storm Signals from New On—Storm signals will be displayed at the Marquette weather station and all along the Great Lakes, beginning today. The government has adopted a new feature regarding the lights, which will undoubtedly be new to the mariners. Instead of having the red light beneath the white, the position of the lights has been changed and the red light will now be on top. The red light is considered the harder to see and for this reason will be given the best position. During a high wind the combination lights will be lit, except in the case of easterly winds, when red lights will be burned.

Picture of New Building—In the center of the page advertisement of Hager Bros., in another part of this paper is shown a cut of their new building now in process of construction on Washington street. The Hager Bros.' building when completed will be the largest and most up-to-date retail furniture house in the upper peninsula. The contractors have promised that the building will be ready for occupancy by July 15. In order that no old stock need be moved into the new building, Hager Bros. will inaugurate a clearance sale April 21, which will continue until the stock is sold. The firm has determined to close out every piece of the stock now on hand and promises to put prices behind the goods that will make them go.

PRISON BILL KILLED.

Measure Favored by Marquette Police Commission Turned Down.

That the bill relating to paroled and discharged convicts, drawn by City Attorney Brown at the request of the Marquette police commission, has been consigned to the waste basket by the senate judiciary committee, was the statement made by Warden Russell yesterday, who had just returned from Lansing.

Wardens Russell and Fuller and Frank Bell, of Ishpeming, appeared before the committee several days ago, the two prison officials opposing the Marquette bill, while Mr. Bell argued in its favor. Warden Fuller has been declared by the framers of the bill to favor it, but he was outspoken in its condemnation before the committee. The principal objection made to the Marquette bill was that its operation would soon fill the prisons of the state to overflowing.

After this bill had been discarded, a bill was drawn by Mr. Bell and Senator Wetmore along much the same lines as the present law. The new bill provides that first friends of prisoners may be from the prisoner's home county or from any other county at the option of the pardon board; that county sheriffs may act as first friends, and that the state shall not interfere with the movement of convicts upon their discharge from the prison, but leave them free to go wherever they please. The wardens sought to have provision made for a state officer, whose duty would be to secure first friends for worthy convicts, but the committee was opposed to creating any new state officers.

At the suggestion of Warden Russell, a separate bill was drawn making prisoners serving their third terms eligible to parole. Under the present law, such is not the case, and the minimum sentence imposed by the court is meaningless, as "third timers" must serve the maximum penalty.

WOULD IT SUIT MARQUETTE?

City Attorney Discusses Good and Bad Points in Home Rule Bill.

"Is the Hally home rule bill, now before the legislature, suitable and desirable for the city of Marquette?" was asked of City Attorney Brown yesterday.

"Although I have not seen anything but newspaper reports," replied the city attorney, "the bill appears to be on the whole a pretty good one, although there are several features that I consider undesirable.

"I notice that it provides for the initiative, referendum and recall. I have my doubts as to the wisdom of the right to recall officers and ordinances by public vote. The council might pass an ordinance which would arouse a temporary wave of disfavor, which later would be found to be a good law. Such a law might easily be repealed before its good intent became realized by the public. The same thing is true of any city official. They have the recall privilege in Los Angeles, but I do not believe it would be wise to adopt it in this state.

"The provision to legalize Sunday theaters and Sunday baseball does not appeal to me to be just the right thing. I believe this should be a matter for state legislation, rather than for every city to decide for itself. Where the ball grounds are centrally located Sunday games are attended by many citizens and they should not be compelled to tolerate them. Where the games are played away from the residence district, as in this city, I see no harm in the sport.

"I have seen conflicting reports regarding the rights of a city to issue bonds, one that to carry a bonding proposition requires a majority of all the electors, another a majority of those voting. The latter seems to me to be all right, the former objectionable.

"Although I have given the Hally bill no careful study, it seems to me to be a desirable measure, with the exceptions already stated."

VACUUM CLEANING WAGON.

Wonderful House Renovating Apparatus in Use in This City.

The Sanitary Vacuum Cleaning company, of this city, has installed a Twentieth Century vacuum wagon. It is similar in appearance to a covered delivery wagon. The sides are light yellow with lettering of red and green. The lower part of the wagon is a rich dark green, the wheels being bright red, making it very attractive. A five horsepower gasoline engine is installed in the center of the wagon. One hundred and fifty feet of hose is in connection with it, also several brushes for cleaning side walls and ceilings, carpet sweepers of various sizes, several instruments for renovating upholstered furniture, mattresses, curtains, pillows, box springs, pianos, rugs, etc. All dust and dirt are removed from the house through the hose to the tank in the wagon.

An entire house can be cleaned and renovated with pure air; every particle of dust, foul gases and disease germs can be drawn from the heaviest carpets, leaving them clean and sanitary. The vacuum wagon has already renovated several homes and many other orders are looked ahead. The demonstrating glass on the carpet sweeper shows the dust being drawn from the articles cleaned, and passing through the hose into the tank in the wagon.

Style, a good figure, poise and health, should come first in consideration when you buy a corset.

Think of price afterwards. But judging from a standpoint of simple money-saving, the Gossard is the corset for you, Madam.

One $5.00 Gossard Corset will outwear three ordinary $2.00 corsets—you are, therefore, really money ahead.

And think of the superior style, snap—the luxurious support—how it rests and beautifies the back—the marked improvement it will make even in the most beautiful figure. There is a Gossard model for every figure. For the woman who is stout, there is a model which molds her form into perfect symmetry, while it reveals the long, slender, hipless lines of the prevailing fashion.

For the slender figure, there are corrective models with softened lines which by inducing proper standing position, impart poise, compel deep breathing and straight shoulders.

THE Gossard CORSETS
"They Lace In Front"

The Gossard Corset is the Americanized development of "L'Inextensible," the original front-lacing corset—designed by Madame Constance Fonde de Grasse and created for her by Madame Margaine La Croix. It is the only corset which insures and absolutely fixes the shapely fashionable habit back. It is the only corset perfectly adapted to wear with the new gowns because it molds the figure into the coveted long-waisted, flat hip effect so fashionable today.

"GO ASK ALDRICH."

Rhode Island Senator Again "Oh Top of the Heap."

The General Manager of the United States More Strongly Intrenched Than Ever—Holds the Business Interests in the Hollow of His Hand—How He Won Taft's Confidence—His Great Ambition Is to Make a National Currency System.

New York, April 9.—The Brooklyn Eagle publishes the following special correspondence from Washington: A couple of years ago it looked as though Nelson W. Aldrich's strange hold on the United States senate would be broken. The Muckrakers, encouraged by the White House, were hot on his trail. He was exploited in the "Treason of the Senate" series and the yellow magazines dwelt at length upon the iniquitous influence he was supposed to exert in the halls of congress.

"Aldrich is done for" was the comment that was frequently heard during those days, full of trouble for trust magnates, captains and other so-called foes of the common people. It was predicted that henceforth the eighty-nine other senators would have a say in drafting laws and that the Aldriches, Hales and Wilkines would have about as much influence in the senate as a reformer in a Tammany meeting. What has happened? Simply this, Muckraking is no longer a popular pastime, conservatism reigns at the White House and Aldrich is on top of the heap. He is more strongly entrenched in power today than ever before. The White House door swings open for him with all the alacrity and welcome with which it formerly yielded to the most aggressive radical. A tariff law is to be enacted and practically everybody here consents that Aldrich will write it. Figuratively speaking, he holds the business interests of the country in the hollow of his hand, for the tariff law will come closer to the manufacturer and merchant than the rate bill, the pure food bill or any other of the measures of the Roosevelt administration.

Just now, the house is all worked up with uncertainty about pig iron, lumber, hides, coal and wool. Nobody from Uncle Joe down to Pablo Campo De Leon, the Philippine delegate, knows what these schedules will look like when the house gets through voting on the Payne bill. Some free lumber men from Iowa were quarrelling with some free hides men from New England. They were showing all the heat of a religious discussion and were making about as much headway as the public service commission with the Fourth avenue subway.

The Man Who Knows.

"Do you want to know how the hides schedule and lumber schedule will be fixed up?" asked a wise looking individual.

"Yes," replied the disputants in a breath.

"Go ask Aldrich."

That's it. Go ask Aldrich. Those three words supply the answer to nearly all the tariff puzzles of the present day. The corridors and lobbies of the house are filled every day with tired-looking men who are buttonholing congressmen and telling them of the outrages which the Payne bill will perpetrate. Those who know the ropes pay no attention to the woody, noisy house. They take their briefs to the little room on the main floor of the Capitol, next to the senator's private elevator. This is the private room of the senator from Rhode Island. A word spoken to him there, under favorable circumstances, is worth more than a three-hour speech on the floor of the house or the senate.

Nobody has given a satisfactory explanation of Aldrich's remarkable mastery over the senate when emergency tariff are up. He exerts some mysterious influence over the other senators beyond doubt. Men of acknowledged ability and leadership in other issues for some strange reason bow to the superior will of the senator.

domination of Aldrich when the subject of schedules and rates is mentioned.

A well-known senator gave this explanation the other day: "I hate to admit it, but it's the truth," he said, "that Aldrich knows more about the tariff than all the rest of us put together. We don't oppose him because we don't know enough about the subject to argue with him. We raise a question and he comes back with a string of statistics of imports, exports, manufacturing values, wages, foreign rates and other detailed knowledge that makes us look foolish by comparison. Rather than be shown up we stay in our seats."

There is a great deal of truth in this statement. Everybody admits that Aldrich is without a peer in congress in the matter of tariff knowledge. He has been in congress for thirty years. He knows all about every tariff bill that has been enacted in that period. He can tell you offhand the rates in every important schedule in all the tariff laws of the past quarter of a century. Further, he can tell you how each important schedule has worked out in the matter of furnishing revenues and protection.

The feeling of helplessness before Aldrich when tariff is debated cropped out the other day. The Democrats were all "hot up" because Aldrich, Hale and the other Republicans of the finance committee were examining witnesses without admitting Democratic mistakes. Bacon protested against the violation of constitutional privileges; Raynor thundered against the throttling of public liberty and the venerable Daniel lost his temper. In the language of the street the Democrats "ran around in circles" giving vent to the rage, and all the time Aldrich sat smiling, calm and unperturbed. Finally Senator Daniel let the cat out of the bag, when, rising and shaking his fist at Aldrich, he cried out in a hopeless way:

"You are the only one who knows what is going on."

No Orator, But He Can Talk.

Senator Aldrich is one of the simplest men in congress. The popular idea that he is a senatorial "high-brow" with so much dignity that it hurts, given to still the one senator who never wears a frock coat. He looks more like a keen, wide awake, successful broker than a United States senator. He has a tall, well built athletic figure. What little hair he has is dark gray. His mustache is white. The Aldrich eyes are the color of steel and as clear and direct as a hawk's.

As an orator, Senator Aldrich would rank at the foot of the senate list. When he rises he talks. There is no attempt at rhetorical flights, no fancy figures of speech and no questions or other tricks of the orator.

Is a Good Mixer.

Aldrich talks directly at his listeners, and his words count. His simple addresses carry more weight than all the florid speeches of Beveridge, Dooliver and other real orators put together. Aldrich believes in concentration. The tariff and currency are his specialties, and he has edged about them that he can. A Democratic senator said recently that he believed Aldrich had read more on these two subjects than any other man in the United States. He not only intimately knows the currency and tariff laws of the United States, but is acquainted with the same kind of laws in practically all the civilized nations. When a new work by a financial authority is published, he buys it and reads it. He talked a veteran correspondent into a severe headache one afternoon when he was asked to give his views upon the reorganization of the national banking act.

The Rhode Island wizard is regarded generally as an aristocrat, yet he is one of the best mixers in the senate. He has mastered the knack of controlling men. He knows the subtle art of persuading your opponent to vote with you.

"That man Aldrich spends more time on the Democratic side than in his own seat," remarked an observant gallery attendant a week or so ago.

It is the Aldrich habit to hold hands with Bailey, Rayner, Bacon, Tillman and the others of the minority whenever important legislation is pending. He flits from Democrat to Democrat, telling them informally what is being done and getting them to agree to his program. Unlike Champ Clark, he believes in compromise and reconciliation. Senator Allison said of Aldrich:

"Not once in all the years of our association has there been anything like a jar in our relations; not once has there

WHO WILL BE THE NEW CITY MARSHAL?

QUESTION AS TO WHO WILL SUCCEED THOMAS GRIBBLE NOW BEING DISCUSSED IN NEGAUNEE—WILL OFFICER GRIBBLE BE HIS OWN SUCCESSOR?

There is much speculation locally as to who will be the next city marshal. Several aspirants for the office are working quietly and it is believed that the light will be an interesting one. The appointment will be made next Thursday. It has not yet been decided whether the meeting will be held in the afternoon or evening, but it is likely that there will be an afternoon session.

It would not be a surprise if Thomas Gribble was reappointed marshal, though it is generally expected that he will retire and spend the greater part of his time in the treasurer's office at Marquette. Mr. Gribble has arranged to rent a dwelling here, and it is believed that he will be fully made up his mind to give up the marshalship, though the thought has occurred to many that he might be asked by his friends on the council to retain the office. There is much difference of opinion as to who should be given the office if he retires and the names of the not less than a half dozen persons have been mentioned in the connection. The position is a fairly good one, as besides the salary and living quarters the marshal also receives fees for arrests, as well as allowances for meals served prisoners in the jail.

Candidates for other offices in the gift of the council are coming forward. Among those who are now busy soliciting the support of the aldermen is William Walters, an old and well-known resident, who desires to secure the position of city marshal. Walters has lived in Negaunee for the past thirty years. Twenty-six years of this time, until he retired, he was employed steadily at the Lillie property. He was one of the first men to work there when the mine was opened and is now a well-to-do and fashionable citizen of the city who worked in the old open pit. One of the men who worked with him was Felix Chabot, the West Iron street grocer. Mr. Walters was a resident of Ontonagon at the time the town was wiped out by fire, following the fire he moved to Negaunee, where he worked for one year, going from there to Ishpeming, spending four years there and then coming to Negaunee. He is a taxpayer and he believes that he is entitled to the position he seeks.

Some of the present officers who are expected to be reappointed are on the exact seat, as some of them are not certain that they will win out. It is said that there are more aspirants for positions than usual this year and for this reason there may be more changes than there have been last year or the previous year. All of the members of the police force expect to be retained.

ROBERTS' PECULIAR POSITION.

Plays on Home Team in Summer and Ishpeming Team in Winter.

There is perhaps no ball player in Ishpeming or Negaunee who receives as much attention from the fans as Jim Roberts, one of the best players on the summer Jim plays with the Negaunee nine, but for several winters past he has played with the Ishpeming indoor team. When Jim is on the outdoor diamond with his home nine the Ishpeming fans take every opportunity to roast him and when he holds down his position on the Ishpeming team the Negaunee fans who applaud him during the summer contests are hot on his trail.

In spite of the fact that Jim is playing against Negaunee men he never can be accused of not entering the game with the proper spirit and playing for all there is in him. Many of the Negaunee fans who tried to rattle him Thursday night were forced to admire him for the manner in which he conducted himself. He carried off the honors of both teams without a hitch and the contest that he was not in the game. Mr. Roberts holds a position in the Oliver Iron Mining company's office at Ishpeming, and he has been playing indoor ball with the team there ever since it was organized.

ENTERTAINMENT DREW WELL.

The annual entertainment of English Oak lodge, Sons of St. George, given last evening at McDonald's Opera House, attracted an unusually large attendance. All of the seats were filled and much of the standing room was occupied. The entertainment was a splendid one. "Diamonds and Hearts," presented by local talent, was most favorably received, as were also the specialties between the acts and the selections by the Negaunee band. The lady relatives of members of the society served supper to some 200 people and the hall prior to the entertainment.

How to Prevent It. Let Kodol Do the Stomach's Work While It Rests.

A weak stomach will not properly digest food. This food, then, occasions all sorts of disagreeable symptoms. Among these are: sour stomach, belching of gas and bitterish, "heartburn," headaches, etc.—all caused by indigestion. But it isn't of much benefit, to know what causes the trouble, if we do not know how to prevent it—and make use of our knowledge. Nearly everyone knows that Kodol digests all food, and is an excellent preparation for any digestive trouble. Actual figures show that a table spoonful of Kodol digests 2 1/2 pounds of food—not one kind of food at a time, but every kind of food, in any mixture or combination—and Kodol digests it in an easy, natural way—just as an ordinary, healthy stomach does. That is why Kodol helps the weak stomach get strong—it does the stomach's work. Our guarantee—Get a dollar bottle of Kodol. If you are not benefited the druggist will return your money. Don't hesitate; any druggist will sell you Kodol on these terms. The dollar bottle contains 2 1/2 times as much as the 50c. bottle. Kodol is prepared in the laboratories of E. C. ### CELEBRATED SILVER WEDDING.

Mr. and Mrs. John Parala Entertained Over 100 Friends Tuesday Night.

John Parala and wife, who are among the oldest Finnish residents in the county, celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage Tuesday evening at their home on Case street. The affair was one of the most enjoyable functions that the Finnish people of Negaunee have ever attended. Over 100 guests were present and many of the visitors remained all night and part of the next day.

The guests were accompanied by an orchestra and a male choir and the musical program was an entertaining feature. Soon after the guests had assembled one of them addressed Mr. and Mrs. Parala, presenting them with a handsome silver set, also extending the best wishes of the party. Mr. Parala responded briefly to the speech, expressing his appreciation of the honor conferred on himself and wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Parala were married in this city. He located here thirty years ago and during the greater part of this time has been engaged in business. He and Mrs. Parala have the second Finnish couple to celebrate their silver wedding anniversary in this city. They are to spend a few days in Montana, visiting Mrs. Shea's brother, George Alshbach, who is located some miles from Butte. Mr. Alshbach is to meet them at Butte and the party is to remain in that city for a few days. From there they will go to Salt Lake, Utah, where they will spend ten days, leaving there for their home. They will reach Negaunee in about three weeks. Both Mr. and Mrs. Shea were delighted with the Western trip and it would not surprise their friends here if they should locate permanently in California.

TRACED BY TORN LETTER.

Alleged New York Murderer Taken in Buenos Ayres and Brought Back.

New York, April 9.—A torn letter carelessly thrown aside in flight led to the arrest in Buenos Ayres of Vito Damiano, an Italian dealer in real estate, who is charged with the murder of Antonio Lombardo in this city on Feb. 4, 1907. The man went to South America. When he was found there he made a nine months' fight against extradition. He was brought here yesterday by Police Lieutenant Rocco Cayone, a prisoner. Lombardo was shot to death before 224 East One Hundred and Seventh street. Damiano was the lessee of the building at that address. On the ground floor Lombardo kept a grocery store. Damiano disappeared. Lieutenant Petrossino, then in charge of the Italian squad of detectives, assigned Cayone on the case. In searching the missing man's room the detective found a letter from Damiano's brother, Garrado, who lives in Argentina. The letter was dated some year ago, and had been torn to pieces.

Late in June, 1908, Lieutenant Petrossino received word that Damiano had been arrested at the home of Garrado Damiano, his brother, 1496 Lieres street, Buenos Ayres. He was peddling clothing about the streets of Buenos Ayres.

Detective Cayone sailed from here to bring the prisoner home on July 3. When he reached Buenos Ayres he found the man willing to waive extradition and return to New York. When Damiano was brought before Juan Lorete, judge of a minor court, Lorete refused to allow the man to be taken from the country unless the United States authorities would guarantee that the prisoner, if released to the New York detective, would not be sentenced to death for his crime. This Charge d'Affaires Wilson and Detective Cayone would not discuss, and the prisoner, encouraged by the arrival of his wife, announced that he would fight the attempt to bring him back to New York.

Mrs. Damiano went about among the foreign residents of Buenos Ayres and collected a fund to conduct her husband's fight against extradition. A resistance that lasted for months was made, and it was not until the case was taken to a court of superior jurisdiction that Cayone secured authority to bring the man back to New York for trial.

TWENTY CENTS A TON DUTY ON IRON ORE

COMPROMISE IS MADE WITH MEMBERS WHO HAVE BEEN FIGHTING FREE ORE—WILL HELP PASSAGE OF THE TARIFF BILL.

Yesterday's press dispatches indicated that the United States senate will, in all probability, put a duty of twenty cents a ton on iron ore, as a compromise, Congressman Young and Senators Burrows and Smith, together with several other members of both houses, put up such a strong fight against the removal of the forty cents a ton duty that it became evident that if a compromise was not effected, the passage of the tariff bill would be delayed.

It has been conceded that the recommendations of the senate committee on finance with reference to the duty on iron ore will pass the senate without amendment. It is thought that a duty of twenty cents will be quite satisfactory to the mine operators and people of the Lake Superior district. It is reported that the decision of the senate committee for a twenty cent duty on ore was brought about largely by the fastidiousness of Senators Burrows and Smith and Congressman Young.

Iron ore is one of the products which has given the house and senate committees much trouble. While some of the ore producers admitted frankly to the house committee that they could stand their share of the reduction if there was to be a general revision of the tariff downward, few of them were willing to admit that they could stand for free ore. It is said that the strongest protests against the removal of the duty came from the Michigan and Minnesota iron districts. Until Thursday it was believed the senate committee would agree to free ore and it is asserted that a majority of the members of the committee still believe that the industry would not suffer materially if the duty were entirely taken off.

Letters received by a number of Marquette county men from Congressman Young and Senators Burrows and Smith in reply to their protests against the removal of the duty on ore indicate that the officials were much pleased to receive the individual letters and petitions containing protests from this section. They expressed the belief that such protests would have an influence upon members of the senate committee on finance.

HAM LIKES SANITARIUM.

Ishpeming Man Writes About Modern Woodmen's New Institution.

James A. Ham, who is a patient at the Modern Woodmen's tuberculosis sanitarium, near Colorado Springs, Colo., advises his family and friends here that he is well pleased with the place, and believes that his condition will improve here. The sanitarium limits a patient's stay at the institution to eight months, but it is anticipated that those who can be cured will leave there in good condition within three or four months after entering. Dr. White, the directing physician, informed Mr. Ham that he was the strongest patient that had yet been received at the sanitarium. While Mr. Ham had been in poor health for two years, he worked most of the time up to the day before his departure for Colorado Springs.

The patients, according to Mr. Ham, are being treated by the physicians and care takers. All are called about seven o'clock in the morning and they have their breakfast at 8 o'clock. At 10 o'clock they are given milk and dinner is served at 12. At 3 o'clock, also shortly before retiring, they again have milk, while their supper hour is 6 o'clock. Their food consists principally of eggs and milk. Between 7 and 8 o'clock in the evening a concert program is rendered at the institution. Religious services are held every Sunday.

Mr. Samuel Charles Perry, of Lockport, N. Y., who is 92 years old and a bachelor, retains all his faculties to a remarkable degree.

For many years Mr. Perry has been prominent in business and politics.

In his old age he finds Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey indispensable, and the only medicine to which his vigor is due; he says that it has no equal.

Mr. Perry writes: "The vitality and usefulness of my powers, which I have preserved through a long life up to the age of ninety-two, I attribute partly to moderation in all things, partly to an indisposition to worry and partly to my natural abhorrence of all kinds of drugs."

"In my extreme old age I am exercising the same discretion, with but the one exception that I find Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey an indispensable medicine. As a tonic and general preserver of health in old age I believe that it has no equal."

Every testimonial is guaranteed genuine and is published in good faith with full consent.

Mr. Perry's case is similar to that of thousands of others, both aged men and women, who have been kept hale, hearty and vigorous by the constant use of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey as a medicine.

Dry's Victory Looked For

Louis Leisen, president of the McMoninee River Brewing company, in discussing the license and non-license elections, said that the liquor men expected the heavy vote for no-license in lower Michigan, although they expected to carry not less than ten of the counties.

The loss of Jackson county to the drys he said was entirely unexpected. Commenting on the fact that Sturgeon Bay, Wis., has gone dry, Mr. Leisen said that the Sturgeon Bay brewery was outside of the city limits and he said that he did not believe that Sturgeon Bay people would have any difficulty in securing all the liquor desired.

Former Cashier Dies—Word has been received of the death at Pittsburg, Pa., of E. P. Sutherland, formerly cashier of the State Savings bank of Escanaba. The deceased went to Escanaba in November, 1904, to take the position of cashier of the bank now known as the State Savings. Years of service with the Merchants' Loan and Trust company of Chicago made Mr. Sutherland a valuable man for his position at Escanaba and the bank with which he had connected himself enjoyed an increase in business under his management.

Ordered to the Philippines—The itinerary of the battalion of the Seventh Infantry stationed at Fort Brady, Sault Ste. Marie, for the Philippine trip has been received at the post. S. & A. tracks to Superior, Wis., whence the Great Northern will transport the soldiers to Spokane and from that point they will go to Portland. The Southern Pacific will then be taken to San Francisco. The Golden Gate city will be reached early in the morning of May 5. Embarking will be proceeded with immediately and the transport will probably sail shortly after noon.

TORPEDO SUPPLY CUT OFF.

Due to Restrictions Imposed by Congress, the Navy Now Faces a Serious Situation.

Washington, April 9.—A serious situation has come to pass in the navy in the matter of torpedoes. In consequence of legislation that kept into the past naval appropriation act it would at first sight appear that the government has been cut off entirely from the opportunity to buy torpedoes. In view of the gravity of the situation, Secretary Meyer has appointed Commander William B. Fletcher of the Naval War college, Lieutenant Commander Hinkley L. Com and Lieutenants Commander Frederic N. Freeman, commanding the Preble, as a special board to consider the comparative merits and advantages of the different types of torpedoes and to make a complete report on the subject to the secretary.

PUZZLED ABOUT DR. ELIOT.

His Denial That He Declined Embassy Seems to Contradict Knox.

Washington, April 9.—The reported interview with Dr. Charles W. Eliot, from Cambridge, in which he denies that he has declined President Taft's offer of the ambassadorship to London, seems to open up a political mystery. Positive statements were made here several days ago by Secretary of State Knox and also by Dr. Eliot, that Dr. Eliot would not accept. President Taft recently said he expected Dr. Eliot would decline, but he qualified this with the statement that Dr. Eliot still had the matter under advisement. The president added that he would not feel at liberty to offer the place to any one else until he heard further from Dr. Eliot.
