

AMERICANS SEND APPEAL FOR AID

City of Hadjin Besieged by Moslem Tribesmen Who Are Expected to Attack Momentarily, a Further Massacre Threatens.

Five Missionaries from This Country Are in Peril—Surrounding Villages Are in Flames and All the Roads Are Closed—Sultan Yields Unconditionally to the Young Turks, but Whether He Will Be Permitted to Reign Is Still a Question.

Constantinople, April 22.—Further advice received here today confirm the statement that ten thousand Armenians have been massacred at Adana and vicinity. A dispatch from Mersina says that Hadjin is beleaguered by Moslem tribesmen.

Americans in Dire Peril. Beirut, April 22.—Five American women missionaries are in danger at Hadjin, a village in the mountains of Syria, surrounded by Moslem tribesmen. Hadjin itself is invested by nomad tribes. One of the missionaries—Miss Lambert—has sent an appeal to the coast for immediate help. At Tartus, one hundred persons have been killed and hundreds of houses burned. Five thousand people there are homeless.

Constantinople, April 22.—Miss Lambert, an American missionary, has sent the following dispatch from Hadjin, dated April 22: "The city has been surrounded for weeks by villagers, who are waiting an opportunity to storm the place. All the roads are closed and shots are being fired into the town irregularly. Dwellings on the outskirts have been burned. The authorities at Adana have been appealed to for aid, which has not been sent. A rumor from outside says that an assault will be made on this place tonight."

Adana's Reign of Terror. Adana, April 22.—The immediate pretext for the disorders here was the shooting by an Armenian of three Turks, one of whom died, on April 20. The following evening a Moslem crowd beat an Armenian to death. The morning of the 14th the situation became critical, and at noon Moslem crowds armed with clubs filled the market places and streets and soon a massacre began with the looting and burning of shops and houses. The afternoon of April 16, troops were sent out to patrol the streets, and guards were posted.

Sultan Yields Unconditionally. Constantinople, April 22.—The Young Turks have won another victory over Sultan Abdul Hamid, but whether the sultan will remain as sovereign of the empire is yet to be decided. Although he has offered to place the affairs of the government entirely in the hands of ministers responsible to the parliament, Tewfik Pasha, grand vizier, has arranged a compromise with the chief constitutionalists, and this has been confirmed by the sultan personally to several constitutionalists who with the utmost privacy were introduced into the Yildiz Kiosk today. In addition to promising to withdraw himself from administrative activities, the sultan agreed to a change in the personnel of the troops guarding the palace and the replacing of the Constantinople garrison by troops from the corps which has practically been investing the city for four days.

Fears the Revision Is Upward. "While it may be," said Mr. Dolliver, evidently referring to the statement by Chairman Aldrich, "that there are only a few increases and quite a large number of reductions, I venture to say that before we get through it will be so like the Dingley law that many men will wonder what was the extraordinary occasion that called us here. The session was not called to increase the schedules of the Dingley law."

The fleet sailed this afternoon for the Mediterranean, ostensibly for maneuvers, but in reality as a guarantee that the investing army would meet with no opposition from the navy.

The sultan, or those acting in his behalf, have supplied the constitutionalists with a list of the principal members of the palace guard who brought about the events of last week. It is understood that there will be no reprisals, except that the palace officials implicated are to be dismissed.

The cabinet today offered to resign, but upon the advice of the grand vizier, Tewfik Pasha, decided to remain in office for the present. The cabinet is practically a Young Turk cabinet, because the ministers who were appointed since April 13 are in no way disposed to do anything in opposition to the wishes of the committee of union and progress.

The Galata has published what purports to be a telegram from Monastir, saying that the provincial caliph has obtained from the highest ecclesiastical court of his jurisdiction a decision to the effect that the sultan is no longer capable of reigning over the faithful.

MR. FAIRBANKS IN HONOLULU. Honolulu, April 22.—Former Vice President Fairbanks arrived today on board the Japanese liner Chiyu Maru, and was warmly welcomed.

TARIFF BILL GETS A SEVERE FLAYING

Not Only from the Democratic Side, but from the Republican Ranks as Well, Is It Assailed in the Senate.

Both Nelson of Minnesota and Dolliver of Iowa Attack Various Schedules and Sharply Antagonize the Committee on Finance, Their Criticism Precipitating a Lively Debate in Which Aldrich and Gallinger Rally to the Defense of the Measure.

Washington, April 22.—Republican criticism of the pending tariff bill, on the ground the rates were too high, was prominent in the senate today. Mr. Nelson, of Minnesota, and Mr. Dolliver, of Iowa, attacked various schedules. Under the guise of discussing gas retorts, a general debate on the tariff was indulged in by Democratic senators, Mr. Bailey, of Texas, taking occasion to say that the bill was discriminatory against the South. Fifty of the 362 pages of the bill were read today. At 6:14 o'clock the senate adjourned until tomorrow.

Nelson Denounces the Measure. Both Mr. Nelson and Mr. Dolliver sharply antagonized the senate committee on finance. Mr. Nelson denounced the tariff bill, declaring that the cotton, glass and woolen schedules were too high. He said that placing the duties on woolen manufactured goods 50 per cent higher than the duty on raw wool was unjust. He believed the schedule would stand a material reduction.

Mr. Gallinger, interrupting, referred to the closing of the woolen mills of New Hampshire by the low rates of the Wilson tariff bill. Mr. Nelson energetically declared that that was the same spirit that had actuated New England in its criticism of any effort to reduce the high rates that had prevailed upon her products. He declared that the hard times of the '90's had come largely from the panic of 1893, and added: "All the stagnation from 1894 to 1907 was not owing to the Wilson tariff law. I would no more think of charging the Dingley tariff with the blame of 1907 than I would charge the panic of 1893 to the Wilson bill."

Dolliver Provokes a Lively Debate. Senator Dolliver's severe criticism of the bill precipitated a lively debate. He declared that not only were the duties imposed by the Payne-Aldrich measure too high, but that they were so worded as to result in a large increase of rates without definite indication of such increases in the schedules. He said that he proposed to have a full explanation of the schedules and to give the senators an opportunity to vote to lower some of the rates.

"The woolen schedules," he said, "ought to be reduced. I undertake to say that this schedule has been a bad advertisement for the Republican party. I intend to vote to adhere as far as possible to every reduction in the Dingley law that was made by the finance committee and every reduction made by the senate committee. Wherever I find a rate in this bill above the Dingley rate I reserve the right to inquire into the question whether, after forty years of prosperity, with every industry rapidly cutting its output and increasing its capacity—whether after twelve such years of industrial progress, it might be possible to scale some of these duties."

Mr. Dolliver asserted that by the system of rating cotton goods higher on account of the presence of a small percentage of wool there had been obtained a very greatly increased protection, which was not apparent to the ordinary person who might read the law. Mr. Aldrich interjected that there was no such result in the pending bill, and that when the woolen schedules are before the senate he would undertake to clearly demonstrate that such criticism was unwarranted.

Mr. Dolliver replied that he had been told that this system of classifying cotton goods had been put into the Wilson bill by the cotton manufacturers themselves, and that when the Dingley law was framed in 1897, it was perpetuated. Mr. Aldrich interjected that there was no such result in the pending bill, and that when the woolen schedules are before the senate he would undertake to clearly demonstrate that such criticism was unwarranted.

Mr. Aldrich asserted that no manufacturer had been before the committee on finance in regard to this schedule. He added that every change had been upon the suggestion of a government expert, and was not only defensible, but would be fully defended at the proper time. Mr. Aldrich asked the Iowa senator whether he had criticized the Dingley bill because of the faults he now found in it, when he was a member of the house says and means committee, which framed the bill.

Democrats too Powerful. Mr. Dolliver replied he had not and, leaving his voice in addressing the Republican side, said that he had voted for the bill just as many others had done, because to insure the passage of the bill at the time it was necessary to accept many figures that were not endorsed. It was not fashionable to file a minority report, while the house had a majority of only four or five Republicans with which to transact business, he said. Replying to Senator Hale, Mr. Dolliver said he had defended the Dingley law in every state of the Union; but, he added, "my audiences were growing weary. The people are tired of having these duties raised from 100 to 150 per cent for the clothes they wear upon their backs."

"The senator is now indulging in the criticism that was heard from every Democratic member of the house and senate when the Dingley bill was under consideration," said Mr. Aldrich. Mr. Dolliver retorted that his conviction that "the protective tariff system could be perpetuated only by making the duties more reasonable" had been one of long standing.

Allison's Views in Controversy. Mr. Aldrich referring to the late Senator Allison, of Iowa, as having been foremost in the consideration and approval of the schedules criticized by Mr. Dolliver, the latter replied that he would not discuss the views of his late colleague, but would undertake to say that for the last twenty years he was compelled to co-operate in a certain way in these tariff schedules. He knew, he said, that the opinion of the late Senator Allison was that "they had managed to get the duties on woolen clothes too high."

"I'll put my information on that subject," said Mr. Aldrich, with considerable feeling, "against that of the senator from Iowa. I was associated with Mr. Allison for twenty years as a member of the finance committee of this body, and no exigency in Iowa ever caused him to change his opinion on this question." Mr. Dolliver remarked that even if Mr. Allison had approved these rates, that circumstance could not vindicate his conscience, as he had his own views and convictions on the subject.

Mr. Dolliver declared that putting hides on the free list would benefit the manufacturer, while the farmer would suffer. Aldrich Promises a Tariff. Mr. Aldrich assumed the responsibility for the duty on hides as placed in the Dingley law, and asserted that he believed the same rate—15 per cent—would be offered by the finance committee as a substitute for the free hides provision of the tariff bill as it passed the house. "I'm not certain that the farmer of the West is as able to protect himself against the beef trust," said Mr. Dolliver, "as the shoe manufacturer of New England."

Mr. Gallinger, of New Hampshire, took exception to Mr. Dolliver's rebuke of the discriminating attitude of the New Englanders, but Mr. Dolliver said that the senator from New Hampshire was well known for his fidelity to the entire protective tariff system. This provoked laughter on the Democratic side, which was renewed when Mr. Dolliver, referring to Mr. Aldrich, said: "The senator is not even suspected of fidelity."

House Holds Brief Session. Washington, April 22.—The house was in session forty minutes today, taking no action on the census bill, the only important business which it had before it for consideration. Mr. Crumpacker, of Indiana, chairman of the census committee, endeavored to bring the house further upon its disagreement with the senate amendments, but the absence of a quorum prevented such action. For the same reason no conference was appointed. The house adjourned until Monday.

POKES AT SPEAKER CANNON. Uncle Joe "Never Right in His Life," Says Major J. C. Hemphill.

New York, April 22.—Editors and publishers of this country to the number of six hundred tonight attended the joint banquet of the Associated Press and American Newspaper Publishers' association. German Ambassador Bernstorff and Joseph H. Choate, former ambassador of the United States to Great Britain, were the guests of honor and delivered speeches appreciative of the work of the press. Major John C. Hemphill, of the Charleston News and Courier, was toastmaster.

In explaining the absence of Speaker Cannon, Major Hemphill said that the speaker could not be present on account of the pressure of business. "If I will do no harm, however," said the toastmaster, "to say behind his back what would have been said to his face; that he was never right in his life; that he made a bad start. He was born in North Carolina, the home of the Mecklenburg revolution, which is a great honor. I celebrate next month, I am sorry to say. But as it was not a sufficient handicap, he emigrated before he had reached the years of discretion, which, by the way, he has not yet attained."

Choate Lauds the Associated Press. Mr. Choate evoked applause and laughter by taking the manager of the Associated Press to task for neglecting to have a correspondent in the wilds of Africa to inform the anxious world of the result of that first encounter when great lions quail before the great lion hunter. Adopting a more serious tone, he reviewed the changes which he himself has witnessed in the manner and method of gathering and transmitting news and paid a glowing tribute to the present system in general and to the Associated Press in particular.

"Today," said he, "every schoolboy, before he goes to school in the morning, has taken a voyage all around the world and knows what has been going on in the last twenty-four hours in all the countries of the world. That is what the Associated Press has done and is doing every day in enlightening and educating the American people. It has been the great force for peace, civilization and peace, and, what is more, it has brought the corners of the globe together. It has created an international sympathy in which we stand closely and warmly related to all the nations of the earth."

Mount Vernon, Ills., April 22.—David Meyer, aged eighty-two, whose fortune of $53,000 became known when it disappeared from a strong box during a family reunion, was fined $250 today for making false returns of his personal property in failing to report this money for taxation. Meyer was indicted by the grand jury, after the money had been recovered. His son found $18,000 of it buried on a family farm. The remainder was traced by detectives, but where it was found the Meyers have refused to reveal.

McShane, whose decomposed body was yesterday found in a secluded spot near the Bouie street bridge in Leaf River swamp. She admitted that she had been intimate with McShane. She said her husband had intercepted correspondence between McShane and herself and by threat of death she disobeyed had forced her to assist in decoying McShane into the swamp. When McShane kept the appointment his greeting was interrupted by the order of the husband, emerging from a clump of bushes, to throw his hands up. Mrs. Crosby says that her husband then leveled the gun upon McShane and compelled her to pull the trigger.

Lansing, Mich., April 22.—Governor Warner today sent to the legislature a special message urging its members to sink their differences of opinion on the subject and pass some measure in the interest of the protection, development and preservation of Michigan forests.

HOUSE CONSIDERS THE PRIMARY BILL.

Lansing, Mich., April 22.—[Special].—The primary election bill emerged from the house cave of the winds today, after a debate lasting all day over various provisions of the measure. As a result of today's proceedings few knew tonight just what the bill contained, and Mr. Flower's motion to put the measure on immediate passage was voted down. Instead, it will be reprinted and probably will come before the house for passage Monday or Tuesday. The following is a summary of the principal points in the bill as it now stands:

United States senators—Left in the bill; no roll call taken. Minor state officers—Not put in the bill including governor and lieutenant governor only of the state officers. Circuit judges—Mandatory provision stricken out, but providing that there must be a referendum to the people of every district in the spring of 1910, without petition.

Method of entry—Committee plan knocked out by vote of 38 to 41, thus making the filing of a petition the only way of getting a name on the primary ballot. Enrollment—All persons now enrolled to remain enrolled unless they have changed their precinct. Cities and counties—All parties in all cities and counties must nominate their officers direct, unless they vote on a petition to withdraw from the provisions of the act.

Mandatory—On United States senator, lieutenant governor, all legislators and all congressmen. Further course—The bill goes to the printer, where it will be given precedence over other bills. It will probably be back in the house and be placed on its third reading Monday night or Tuesday. There was no roll call on the proposition of taking out United States senators or putting the minor state officers in the bill. The latter will be tried on the third reading by a two-thirds vote. It is needed it is not apt to prevail.

HOME RULE BILL IS SENATE TOPIC.

The home rule bill was debated in the senate this afternoon. The principal debate was over the limitation of bond issues to 3 per cent, with special assessment bonds to 5 per cent of the assessed valuation. The Saginaw and Bay City representatives said that this would stop the wheels of progress there, as they were already at the bonding limit. No action was taken, the bill being held over until Tuesday.

TECHNICAL STORY OF THE DAYS' MARKET.

Chicago, April 22.—Further sensation all declines ranging from three to four cents today marked what is considered by many traders as the wind-up of the famous bull campaign engineered by James A. Patten and a coterie of his followers. From the opening until the close, long wheat was dumped into the pit, and the decline was so precipitate at times that commission houses were considered fortunate if they succeeded in executing stop-loss orders within three-fourths of a cent of the limit. At the low price of the day, the July recorded a loss of 4 1/4 to 4 3/4 cents from yesterday's final quotations, and the May a drop of 4 1/2 cents. This was a break of 9 1/2 cents for the July compared with the highest point touched during the campaign, and a decline of 8 1/2 for the May. Three or four commission houses were credited with sales during the day aggregating between five and seven million bushels.

The reports during the day seemed to contradict the claims of the bulls of a scarcity of wheat. The wheat producing countries of the southern hemisphere which have been in extremely short of the cereal were comparatively heavy shippers during the last week, according to the semi-official estimate made today. At the same time the country told of generally favorable conditions for the rapid growth of the fall sown crop.

The market closed near the bottom the May and the July showing a net loss of four cents each. The May opened at 124 1/2, sold at 124 1/2, went down to 120 1/2 and set off at 121.

JAS. A. PATTEN IN COLORADO.

Trinidad, Colo., April 22.—James A. Patten, Chicago's "wheat king," arrived here today and left soon afterwards for Terico, Colo., near the New Mexico line, from Terico Mr. Patten will drive twenty-five miles to reach the Bartlett ranch. The roads are in dangerous condition because of the recent unprecedented snowfall. Mr. Patten said he was not making an investigation of the wheat fields, but was fleeing from newspaper publicity.

ACTOR DUSTIN FARNUM ADMITS HOBOENING WITH MRS. HOWARD GOULD.

Chicago, April 22.—Dustin Farnum, the actor, was today examined before a commissioner appointed by the New York supreme court to take his deposition covering the allegation of Howard Gould that his wife, Katherine Clemons Gould, had miscondemned herself at divers times and places, with Farnum. The actor admitted making the trip with a number of times at different cities; also that he frequently dined with her. He denied the charges made against him, and Mrs. Gould, declaring that she was always the lady, and that he could not remember ever seeing her take a drink of intoxicating liquor. His summary of Gould's allegation was that "this whole thing is trivial and assume on Mr. Gould's part."

STOCK MARKET MORE CHERFUL.

Activity Is Subdued, Because of Firmer Money, But Values Move Upwards.

New York, April 22.—The speculative mood in the stock market today took on more cheerful hue, although in somewhat subdued fashion. Stocks which were sold yesterday were purchased today, and the upward movement became more uniform and consistent than the irregular decline of yesterday.

The subdued tone of the speculation may be justly attributable to the firmer tone of the market for call loans, the rates for that form of credit ranging above 2 per cent again today. The situation is distinctly altered from the recent plethora of funds seeking employment and experiencing difficulty in finding lodgement. The loan account con-

SENSATIONAL DAY IN THE WHEAT PIT

After Having Dropped Six Cents During the Two Preceding Sessions, the May and the July Go Down Four Cents More.

Patten Reported to Have Disposed of His Heavy Holdings, the Market Has No Support Whatever, and Under a Stream of Liquidation the Prices Give Way Without a Halt and Many Is Converted Into a Deficit.

Chicago, April 22.—That James A. Patten, hailed throughout the country as the "wheat king," has withdrawn from the market after disposing of his heavy holdings of May and July wheat, was asserted in many quarters here today. But for all that, the session of the board of trade was a sensational one today.

The bulls had expected that after the six-cent recovery of the two previous sessions a deconvy would ensue. This expectation was based largely upon Patten's assertion of a short wheat crop. But the first quotations were a startling disappointment to the bulls. From nearly every point came reports of normal or even better crop prospects. The Liverpool prices were down and the shipments from foreign countries were said to be greater than usual at this time of the year.

In the pit wheat was poured forth in a stream. The longs liquidated all along the line, and the execution of stop-loss orders added to the confusion. Frequently it was impossible to make a sale with in three-quarters of a cent of the price designated by the customer to his broker. It was a tremendous liquidating market, and Patten might have been buying secretly through others rather than covering himself. He called May wheat cheap at $1.29 and, if he still thinks so, it is pointed out that the same option at $1.21 today was an excellent investment. The same was said of the July at $1.06 1/2. These prices are approximately nine cents under the high price of last Friday.

Many a fortune has been wiped out by the decline this week, and many a man who had a handsome profit on paper, but still hung on for more, now confronts a deficit.

ALWAYS THE LADY, HE SAYS.

Actor Dustin Farnum Admits Hoboboning With Mrs. Howard Gould. Mombasa, April 22.—Colonel Roosevelt and his party left here on a special train this afternoon for the Kapiti plains station, whence they will be conveyed to the ranch of Sir Alfred Pease for their first shooting trip. The party will remain at the ranch for a week.

BOYLE ATTEMPTS TO CHEAT JUSTICE

Kidnapper of Willie Whitla Is Found Writting in Convulsions in His Cell and Is Suspected of Having Tried to Kill Himself.

Subsequently a Desperate Effort to Liberate the Prisoner Is Frustrated Only Because the Man Has Been Removed to the Jail Hospital—Alarmed at These and Other Peculiar Developments, the Sheriff Puts Extra Guards on Duty.

Mercer, Pa., April 22.—The Mercer county authorities are greatly worried tonight over an alleged attempt by James H. Boyle, the Willie kidnapper, to commit suicide and a later well-planned attempt on the part of supposed friends on the outside to liberate the prisoner from jail. While both affairs were frustrated, their successful conclusion seems to have been averted by the narrowest margin.

Late this afternoon it was learned that early yesterday morning Boyle suddenly became ill. He was found lying upon the floor of his cell, in the agony of convulsions. Doctors were hurriedly summoned and worked with him until late last night, when his condition improved. Tonight Boyle is a very sick man, but no danger of serious consequences is feared. Excepting that his illness was such as would have resulted from some powerful drug, nothing can be learned.

A few minutes after last midnight an attempt to liberate Boyle failed on account of the instant of the prisoner's illness. At that hour guards found a ladder in position at the window in Boyle's cell. The position is that the men who were to free Boyle climbed this ladder, and then found his cell empty, the prisoner being in the jail hospital because of his illness. That Boyle is making every effort to escape is indicated by a letter found on his person, addressed to Sharon, Pa., in which he described to parties not generally known the best way to effect his escape. It is alleged that Boyle wrote this letter some time ago, but could find no way to mail it. The authorities are investigating, and developments are expected at Sharon.

At nearly every turn the sheriff is said to uncover suspicious traces of attempts to escape on the part of Boyle, and for this reason extra guards are now on duty.

Illness to expand. Yesterday's payment of the installment of the subscriptions on the Southern Pacific convertible bonds is given credit for some absorption of the available credits which is influencing the call loan money market. The intention to refund the high interest bearing bonds of the Burlington was announced today.

The improved financial position of many railroad companies as a result of loans already placed makes a strong sustaining influence for values. Another substantial support to confidence is found in the subsidence of the apprehension over the grain crop outlook. This is partly due to the deflation of the speculative element in the price of wheat, which was continued today. Cheering advice of the condition of the growing winter crop and of the spring wheat seedling were added to this symptom.

The improved reports pointing to the rising scale of consumption are said to give promise of overtaking the rate of production during the present month. Expectation was expressed of an early agreement on the wage settlement between the anthracite miners and operators growing out of the financial district that the earnings of the United States Steel corporation for the first quarter, which are to be reported next Tuesday, would be found much better than has been estimated in the current gossip. DAILY MINING JOURNAL

A MORNING PAPER PUBLISHED BY THE MINING JOURNAL CO. (LIMITED.)

Colonel Roosevelt is at last in Darkest Africa.

It was generally expected that Senator Stephenson would find himself too busy to again appear before the legislative investigating committee at Madison.

The elevation of Judge Kendrick to the circuit court of Saginaw county leaves open a position on the board of pardons for some lower Michigan patriot.

The public will now be interested to learn which one of those $5,000 positions former Highway Commissioner Earle has decided to accept.

The senate will not pass the house resolution for an adjournment of the legislature on May 6. It is felt that it would be a mistake to fix any date of adjournment until the way is seen clear to dispose of the various important measures which have not yet been passed on.

A Lansing correspondent comments that there are no orators among the upper peninsula delegation in the state legislature. That may be true, but the upper peninsula delegation is having, notwithstanding, no difficulty exercising much influence in the disposal made of legislative matters.

Speaking of Governor Johnson's action in vetoing the tonnage tax bill, the Minneapolis Evening Tribune says, in part: "Not since Hughes vetoed the two-cent fare bill has it been given to a governor to serve his state so well. Whatever the academic virtues of the tonnage tax bill had become so involved with lower considerations that its enactment would have been a public calamity. The governor has saved the state from a fiscal crisis with millions of revenue tied up in the courts. The state of New York has hung up forty millions of dollars under the franchise tax Roosevelt jammed through. Moreover, Governor Johnson has saved the state from a sectional division more bitter at the beginning than that which separated North and South before the Civil war. If this isn't getting out of a hole we don't know what would be."

According to the latest advice from Lansing, the plan to include all the minor state offices among the number to be filled by direct nominations will be defeated, if not in the house in the senate, and the state convention will be left with more than nominal duties to perform. The plan may be approved by a bare majority in the house, but in that event the senate will kill it, as the majority of the senators believe that it would work out badly to take from the state convention practically all reason for its existence. They feel that the party organization would suffer seriously, and throughout the state there are many people who approve of the principle of direct nominations who agree with them that it is well to leave the minor nominations to the convention. While there will be some dissent if this feature is embodied in the revised law, it will not be very serious or give rise to any disaffection to speak of.

Representative Straight paid his respects to Representative Ogg in no uncertain manner in the house at Lansing this week. In a discussion of the township unit bill Ogg argued against the measure, saying that he saw the fine Italian hand of the book trust in it. Straight came back with the charge that while Ogg posed as the school boy and school girl's friend he was, in fact, on the terms of intimacy with the agents of the very "trust" he saw fit to denounce in public. "I can't understand," said Straight, "how a representative who is carrying in his pocket a bill on the text book question drawn and endorsed by the school book trust can be crying against trust methods." The bill in question, he said, Ogg had tried in every way to introduce in the text book investigating committee. A duplicate bill was introduced by Senator Tuttle in the upper house, and Tuttle admitted that a school publisher had aided in its preparation. Ogg, in explanation, asserted that the measure he sought to introduce had been copied from a bill introduced in the Illinois legislature.

Former Warden Armstrong, of the Jackson prison, is reported to have admitted to the grand jury that he received $1,500 for conniving at the installation of second hand machinery, instead of new, when the binder twine plant was put in. The University of Michigan expert, who superintended its installation, was deceived by this machinery, and, if this was the case, the question arises why could it not have passed muster with Armstrong, without the company that was palming it off being under the necessity of bribing him. Armstrong has been on the stand the past two days and is answering frankly all questions put to him. He is the first witness that the Jackson county grand jury has gotten much out of in the several weeks of its sessions. The reward for his testimony is to be, it is stated, some special consideration in fixing the punishment for his crime, if not absolute immunity.

The Soo News quotes President Morrow, of the Anti-Saloon league, as saying that the league will, during the present year, begin the circulation of petitions asking for a vote on county prohibition in the counties of Chippewa, Luce, Mackinac, Marquette and Schoolcraft in the upper peninsula. Already the board of supervisors in Dickinson county has reversed its first decision that the petitions turned in by the Anti-Saloon forces were not sufficient, and has decided that the voters of the county shall pass on the question next spring. At the Soo the project of decreasing the number of saloons, which is now but little short of eighty, as one means of heading off the possible success of the prohibition movement, is being discussed, and the word has gone out that the law is to be rigidly enforced. Speaking editorially, the News says that it does not set out to pass on the conflicting claims as to the existing sentiment in regard to county prohibition, but, it goes on, "we do say this, that the continuance for another year of the conditions which have prevailed in saloon circles is certain to increase the sentiment for a 'dry' county." As a means of satisfactory regulation of the business it suggests careful scrutiny of bonds and the acceptance of only those which are sufficient and good; the insistence by county and city officials on absolute law observance and the passing of a restrictive ordinance covering saloon districts and other related matters.

THE STEEL TRUST'S STRENGTH. Chairman Gary of the United States Steel corporation may be excused for infusing a tone of pride into his communication to his stockholders this week. The great corporation of which he is the chief has gone through one of the sharpest business depressions ever known, and now that things are on the up-grade again is warranted in calling attention to certain facts. First, during the extremity of the crisis, it was a source of strength and not of weakness. At one juncture, by its ample resources and the credit it commanded, it, more than any other agency, saved the situation and prevented the spread of insolvency. Second, during the long drag after the acuteness of the panic it exercised a persistent influence for stability and for a return of confidence. It did not cut wages, thus calming the wage-working masses; it did not cut dividends, thus encouraging investors; it did not, until the last, cut prices, thus standing for the sturdiness that modern business absolutely demands. The steel trust has been fiercely arraigned as an enemy of the public and the republic. In some of its aspects it may be. Certainly, if old-fashioned notions are correct, it's dangerous to have power so vast concentrated in hands so few. Nevertheless, it must be conceded by the fair-minded of all classes that within the last eighteen months this power has been used conservatively and on the whole wisely. Instead of finding the huge trust a creator of alarm it has been a tower of strength. The last word has been by no means said on the trust question, but it is obvious that hereafter it will be necessary to qualify one line of criticism.

A PRETTY GOOD BILL. At last as the result of persistent agitation on the part of primary reformers the state seems to be in a fair way to obtain a very good law. The bill as reported from the house committee by Chairman Miller is not the extreme measure the more enthusiastic reformers have been demanding, but it is a good bill, and in some matters of detail is better than the one which the out and out reformers endorsed. Practically the bill provides for primary nominations for offices, state and local, except those on the general state ticket below lieutenant governor. United States senators and congressmen are also included. The nominations for state offices below that of lieutenant governor are to be made by conventions, as now, but the delegates to the county conventions are to be chosen at a primary election. The ultra reformers would eliminate the state convention altogether, but in a government by parties such as we have in this country some kind of a convention seems to be essential. There must be conferences for the purpose of ascertaining and formulating the party's position on the various questions of public importance and there must be party organization. The parties, it is true, divide on national issues and these are very seldom involved in a state election, yet state organizations are necessary and about the only practicable way to keep them alive and in working condition is through the convention system. A convention which arouses human interest through contests for office brings out all elements and is more likely to result in a platform representing the ideas of the rank and file. There is therefore a strong argument in favor of a convention such as this bill provides for and this is supplemented by the fact that large numbers of voters are as a rule unacquainted with the aspirants for the minor positions on the state ticket and have difficulty in making a choice. With only minor officers to be elected by the convention there is very little danger of machine rule. Until some better plan can be devised it is possible that the plan now proposed is the best for meeting existing conditions. One feature of the bill is to be especially commended. The law will apply to all communities and all offices unless the community expressly votes that it shall not. This puts the burden of action where it ought to be.—Grand Rapids Press.

Upper Peninsula Tannery Being Improved.—A force of twenty men is at work making alterations in the plant of the Munising Leather company at Munising. The plant is to be converted into a dry hide sole leather tannery. The men are constructing concrete sweat boxes, which will be a very substantial improvement. When the changes are completed, and the plant is running to its full capacity, it will be able to turn out 800 sides daily, making it one of the largest sole leather tanneries in the country. F. J. Eaton, for the past two years superintendent of the tannery at Manistee, Mich., has been promoted to the position of manager of this tannery plant. Each tannery will have its own superintendent.

New Brick-Making Industry.—St. Ignace will have a brick yard in operation this year. The industry will be a valuable one from a financial standpoint. The company which will operate the plant has been organized by some of the most substantial business men of the copper country. The capitalization is $50,000, of which one-half is paid in. The plant is to be held to be sold later if necessary. There are stock holdings in St. Ignace, Marquette, the Soo and other places in the peninsula. The directors of the company are M. Van Orden, James J. Evers, W. A. Bateman, G. E. LeCompte, E. A. Blevins, W. J. Reynolds and W. H. Harris. Of these the officers are: President, M. Van Orden; Houghton; vice president, James J. Byers; Houghton; secretary, W. A. Bateman; Calumet; treasurer, C. E. L. Thomas; Calumet; managing director, E. A. Blevins; Houghton. The company owns forty acres of land three miles northwest of St. Ignace, on which there is a sufficient amount of clay to keep up operations for nearly a century. The initial capacity of the plant will be 25,000 bricks per day of ten hours. The machinery has been ordered.

Fine Street-Building Plant.—Due to the energy of the board of public works, the city of Iron Mountain has one of the best road construction plants in the state, if not in the west. The plant includes a large deposit of rock suitable for paving purposes, a large stationary stone crushing outfit, a powerful steam roller, a steam road locomotive, a train of rock cars, sprinklers, graders, etc. The stone quarry is located about one mile to the south of the city, near the Nemadji river. The deposit is practically inexhaustible and the rock, largely trap, is well suited for the construction of highways. The crusher plant has been erected at the quarry and will soon be in shape for operation. The machine is a No. 4 Gates. It is guaranteed to crush from twenty to fifty tons of rock per hour, depending upon the size of material. The steam road locomotive is of fifty horse power capacity. It is of double cylinder construction. On a level road the engine is guaranteed to haul from seventy to eighty tons from 50 to 60 per cent cheaper than horses. The engine has a speed of about three miles an hour with four loaded cars. It will require two men—engineer and fireman—to operate the engine and the daily expense is about $10. The road wheels are seventy-eight inches in diameter, twenty-four inches face, with heavy steel tires fitted at the edges. The engine is reinforced with steel water tank of 500 gallons capacity and a steel fuel box capable of carrying 750 pounds of coal. The cost of the engine was $3,500 on the cars at Buffalo. A train of six roller-bearing dump cars has been purchased at a cost of $287. The car weighs about one ton each and have a capacity of five tons of crushed rock. They are provided with a speeder drop. It is expected that between $10,000 and $15,000 will be expended in street improvements, not including cement walks, during the season, and with the above equipment the city will be in shape to do the work much better, more expeditiously and cheaper than heretofore.

Copper Country BAD FIRE AT ALLOUEZ. $5,000 Loss in Destruction of Abramson Bros' Store. MARRIED IN NEW YORK. Miss Helen Dunstan Now Mrs. Wright—Staples-Turner Wedding.

The store of Abramson Bros., occupying the building owned by William Nordstrom, at Allouez, has been destroyed by a fire of unknown origin. A barn in close proximity also was lapped up by the flames and it was only the persistent efforts of men with pails of water that prevented the fire consuming a number of dwellings across the street. The damage is estimated at $5,000. It was fully covered by insurance. No attempt was made to save the store or barn, there being no adequate water supply to make it possible to cope with the fire. KEWEENAW PIONEER NO MORE. Judge Thomas Jackson Dies at Allouez at Age of Seventy-Seven.

Judge Thomas Jackson, up to Jan. 1 for many years judge of probate of Keweenaw county, died at an early hour yesterday morning at the home of his son at Allouez at the age of seventy-seven. He was the oldest resident of Keweenaw county in point of years and residence, having lived there sixty-two years. Judge Jackson had been county clerk, sheriff, county treasurer and judge of probate successively and retired Jan. 1, last, only because of the increasing infirmities of old age. The deceased leaves numerous descendants all over the copper country. His children are: Mrs. Gilley of Butte, Mrs. Lemere of Laurium, Charles, assistant clerk at the Wolverine; Will, present sheriff of Keweenaw county; James, of Mohawk; Andrew, master mechanic of the Mohawk and Wolverine stamp mills at Calumet, manager of Peterman's store at Allouez. Judge and Mrs. Jackson celebrated their golden wedding three years ago. The wife survives.

CALUMET'S HOMECOMING. Returns Are Coming in from Various Quarters—Butte Plans. Secretary Hungerford of the Calumet homecoming committee, which is arranging for a grand reunion to take place during the June and July conventions is receiving returns from many quarters in response to the invitations to old-timers. Calumet is probably represented as largely in the Montana mining camps as anywhere, and the returns from that region will be big. Some former residents, now of the Butte mining camp, are coming "home." These former residents have launched at Butte a Calumet club. This club was organized just before Christmas, last year, and has considerably more than 200 members, who are paying into the club's treasury $5 each per month. This money is to be used for the hire of special cars and for the expenses of the journey to Calumet and return. It is a long way to Calumet from Butte, but the expenses will run high. The club will spend several thousand dollars on the trip and will bring with it a big "wild west" celebration all their own.

CROATIAN CONVENTION. Arrangements in Progress for Big Gathering in September. The Calumet sub-branches of the Croatian national organization, three in number, have started active preparations for the biennial convention of the order which is to be held in Calumet the last few days of September and the first few days of October, this year. President Paul Hajdich, who resides in Butte, is expected to come to Calumet during the time of depression in business throughout the country a year or more ago. Most of these, however, are expected to come back. There are 306 sub-branches in this country and Mexico. The Calumet sub-branch are among the strongest in the order and have a total membership of 510 or more than half the membership of all the Croatian lodges in the copper country. There are lodges at Quincy, 125 members; Hurontown, fifty members; Trumountain, 190 members, and Painesdale, seventy-five members. The total membership of the organization in this country is about 1,600. There are five other lodges in Michigan, including one at Detroit and one or two in the iron country.

LIFE SAVERS HAVE REPORTED. Captain McCormick and the members of the life saving crew at the canal have reported for duty. The crew is the same this year as last, its personnel being as follows: John Macdonald, Archie Davidson, Paul Leitlitz, Colon W. Sharp, Fred Solman, C. A. Tucker, John C. Alfson and Ed. Mersey. The men are now ready to render assistance to any vessels in trouble near the canal.

AID TO ARMY MARKSMANSHIP. Washington, April 21.—Proficiency in marksmanship on the part of the enlisted men of the army is sought by the military authorities, and to this end, after a thorough test made by the board of ordnance and fortification of the war department it has been decided to use the sub-target gun machine and recording rifle and outfit in the training of soldiers in marksmanship. Major General J. Franklin Bell, chief of staff, has issued a circular to the service stating that the ordnance department will issue on requisition one sub-target gun machine to each squadron of cavalry and battalion of infantry, and not to exceed ten recording rifle outfits for small arms sighting and aiming instruction to each troop of cavalry and to each company of infantry, coast artillery, engineers and signal corps. About $40,000 has been spent by the department for this apparatus. With the sub-target rifle machine, soldiers may practice shooting indoors without a rifle range and without the use of shells. The machine may be described as a rifle with a captive bullet, the course of which from rifle to target is visible. The objective target is located sixty feet from the marksman. The gunholder is constructed that it is impossible to secure a point of rest with which to steady the gun in aiming. The rifle is held, aimed and discharged in the ordinary way. No ammunition is used, and all danger from accident is eliminated. A needle pierces a small sub-target in the exact spot aimed at on the objective target.

THEATRICAL

"The Royal Venes Band"

The Royal Venes Artillery Regiment band of Sweden was enthusiastically received by a large audience at the opera house last night. The members of the organization acquitted themselves with great credit and their concert was generally declared to have been equal to the best musical entertainment that has been given in this city this season. Although the numbers were of especial interest to those of Swedish descent, of whom the audience was largely composed, the program was a delight to all lovers of good music.

The Royal Venes band is a real brass band, no reeds at all being used, except in the part of the program rendered on stringed instruments. The absence of saxophones, clarinets, bassoons, etc., which are commonly used in all professional and military bands in this country, was a radical departure from the American trained musical ear, but one to which one soon became accustomed. The program was predominantly of a martial nature and, although it is said to represent the modern music of Sweden, is tinged with the rugged and well-souled spirit of the old Norsemen and Vikings to a marked degree.

The rendition of the various numbers was very fine. They play in excellent time and the shading, from pianissimo to forte passages, shows careful training and much individual practice. The program was almost entirely from the works of Scandinavian composers, which appealed strongly to the large number of Swedish and Norwegian people in the audience, but was no less enjoyable to all others who were fortunate enough to hear the concert.

The program was in three parts, one of which was rendered on stringed and wooden instruments. It was in this part that the soprano soloist, Miss Hilma Mattson, appeared and took her audience by storm. She sang several numbers in Swedish that were very beautiful, after each of which she was compelled to respond to a hearty encore. She has a rich, lyric soprano voice, which she has under perfect control, and sings with captivating naturalness, grace and ease. Although a decided success in all her numbers, she was at her best in the Swedish ballads and folk songs.

That the band and orchestra can play other than Swedish music was proven when they struck up "The Stars and Stripes Forever" as an encore, in regular Sousa style, and again when "The Star Spangled Banner" was rendered, following one of the Swedish national melodies.

The director, John Ekblad, appears to be eminently qualified for his position, being an intelligent and energetic conductor, and under his direction the band gives a very expressive interpretation of the numbers on the program.

The band is touring this country by special permission of his majesty, King Gustav V, and will return to Sweden to resume its military duties some time next month.

Upper Peninsula

Will Build $5,000 School—The growth of the village and township of Germfask, Schoolcraft county, having necessitated more adequate school facilities, the question of bonding the district for the purpose was submitted to the people and was carried by a large majority. It is proposed to erect a $5,000 building.

Praise for Congressman—The iron country as well as the upper peninsula is under an everlasting debt of gratitude to Congressman Young for his efficient work in behalf of the retention of the duty on iron ore. In this as in everything else he has proved loyal to the best interests of his constituents. —Manistique Pioneer-Tribune.

Prosperous Year for Manistique—Evidence that the work of improving the harbor at Manistique will be pushed this season is seen in the fact that a government inspector is there and will remain until the work is completed. This means that Manistique will have a busy and prosperous year, as one of the local industries are in full operation and the money expended on the harbor work will be "valvet."

Indian Buys a Tug—A deal has been consummated at L'Anse whereby John Neveuix, an Indian of Olanai, Wisconsin, became the possessor of the tug Alfrington, formerly owned by Chas. Behard & Sons, of Pennington. Mr. Neveuix expects to give the tug a thorough overhauling and will leave L'Anse with it about the 15th of May for Olanai, where it will be used for towing purposes on the Bad river.

Bull Dog Kills Boy's Pet—Evert Larson was the saddest little boy in Crystal Falls last week owing to the violent death of his pet dog, Snip. The youngster had the dog at the high school building, leading it by a chain, when a bull dog, owned by Ed. Sosdissa, attacked the smaller canine. The bull got a hold on the dog's throat. The boy pulled both canines to A. J. Conolly's residence, where water was thrown on the bull dog and he let go his hold, but the little dog was dead. The bull dog was sent to Menominee the following day.

No Dark Brown Taste For Mine

The person who begins the week with the knowledge that the past week's salary is gone, and with a mortgage on the coming one, has little incentive to work, and, as a rule, does not give value received to his employer. On the other hand, the man who has a snug savings account, and is constantly adding to it, finds enjoyment in his work and is a valued employe. The moral is plain: open a savings account with this bank and the 3 per cent interest which we pay will help the growth of the fund.

TO PRESS CONGRESS FOR PACIFIC FLEET

Secretary Meyer Is Following Mr. Taft's Lead in Advocating a Big Force of Battleships for the West Coast—Round-the-World Ships to Stay in the East.

Washington, April 22.—Secretary of the Navy Meyer has just announced himself in favor of a fleet of battleships on the Pacific. This comes entirely with the view of President Taft. It means the influence of the administration program to that end. It means that the navy yards at Bremerton and Mare Island must be further enlarged and improved, even with the expeditions construction of the big new naval station at Pearl Harbor. For the navy yards at Mare Island and Pearl Harbor must become as familiar to the country in a navy connection as Portsmouth and Charlestown and Brooklyn.

North Butte.

Boston, April 22.—The Boston News Bureau today publishes the following: Liquidation, stop orders and anxiety concerning the underground situation explains the decline in North Butte this morning. A figure which represents a decline of twenty-five points from high price this year, recorded Jan. 2. The bears have given vigorous assistance in seeking to mark down the price of this stock and manipulation has at times been very apparent in the purchase to make the quotations. It cannot be denied that there is ground for some apprehension concerning North Butte ore bodies on the 2,000 and 2,200-foot levels. The company's very low cost and a production of 4,000,000 pounds of copper per month from one shaft, have been made possible by a very wide and very rich vein of smelting ore on the 1,800 and 1,900-foot levels. This ore body in the 1,800-foot level has never had its equal for size and richness combined in the history of the Butte camp. Of course it was necessary to sink the shaft deeper and explore the interests in the property that this rich ore would continue in depth in undiminished width and length that they bought to stock in large volume above $110 per share and even as high as $120. Yuma Copper.

Houghton, Mich., April 22.—The Yuma Copper company is in receipt of advices from Dr. E. A. Haggart, the consulting engineer, who is temporarily in charge of operation at the property, pending permanent plans to be put into effect next month, to the effect that a twenty-foot shaft has opened a ten-foot vein of ore of smelting grade, ranging from 6 to 15 per cent in copper tenor. The average assays of samples forwarded to the company at Houghton gave better than 11 per cent copper.

Superior & Pittsburg.

Bisbee, Ariz., April 22.—The most important strike made in the Bisbee district during the past few years was made on the 1,200-foot level of the Junction mine of the Superior & Pittsburg yesterday, when fifteen feet of oxide ore and native copper was encountered. The assays have run as high as 40 per cent. Another important strike was made at this Superior & Pittsburg property a few days ago, when rich oxides overlying the sulphides were encountered on the 1,400-foot level. Good grades of commercial ores are encountered more frequently in the Junction mine than in any other property in the district, and with the discovery of oxides at low depths it is certain that the Junction will not only be a rich but a deep mine. The Junction is now shipping two carloads of ore daily to the smelter.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKETS.

Chicago, April 22.—After advancing to a new high record for the May—72 cents—the corn market weakened today, in sympathy with the severe slump in wheat. There was considerable profit-taking in the May. The market closed weak, 3/4 to 1 1/2 lower. The May opened at 71 3/4 to 71 1/2; highest, 72; lowest, 70 1/2; closing, 70 1/2 @ 70 3/4. On the wheat market, the decline of 1/4 to 1/2 in the price of cash grain and more favorable weather for farm work caused heavy selling of oats. The close was weak, 1/2 @ 1/4 to 1/2 lower. The May opened at 50 1/4 to 1/2; highest, 50 1/2; lowest, 50; closing, 50 1/4.

Paine, Webber & Co.'s Wheat Summary.

Concerning the wheat market, Paine Webber & Co.'s Chicago correspondent had the following to say: "There was selling pressure from first to last, although the market had a good rally at two or three different times. The first prices showed declines of 1/4 to 1 1/2 cents. After a moderate rally the second week turn put July off to 111. It rallied to 112 and a third period of weakness put it to 110 1/2, followed by a rally of one cent before the final break. On the whole, the wheat market came on the market, as a result of stop loss orders. There is little doubt that important sales were made whenever the market would take them from the lines of the recognized bull leaders in this market. See such wheat could not come from any other source, in the opinion of pit traders. The bright weather here and improved conditions over the whole winter wheat belt, as well as over Europe, added to the bearishness for the day. The receipts were small in all quarters, with cash prices at fancy figures. The northwest messages told of improved floor sales, because of the decline in wheat prices. Adverse crop reports continue to come from our own representatives and others in the southwest. These influences are not sufficient to stem the tide of wheat which comes on the market at each fresh decline. Cash people think there is merit in the market around this level somewhere, and surely there is no promise of safety for short for the time being. The wheat market is a market on which the savings are great for the present and the rebound may be as prompt as the unusual break of today."

skilled workmen will be required for the new station at Pearl Harbor. They cannot be supplied in Hawaii, and therefore must come from the mainland. The declared intention of organizing a big Pacific fleet, as soon as is feasible, signifies the intention of the administration to press in congress for the continued construction of Dreadnoughts, however much curtailment there may be in expenditures in other directions.

BALLOTS ARE CAST.

Daughters of the Revolution Await the Report of the Tellers.

Washington, April 22.—All was suspense tonight among the Daughters of the American Revolution, over the result of the election of president general and the other officers today. The balloting began late in the afternoon, and tonight the tellers were engaged in the task of counting the votes. The possibilities are that they will not be able to submit their report until morning.

The day was one of intense excitement for the daughters. Every delegate was present and all the galleries were packed to overflowing. The bare emotion of the night cleared the air, and the hands, waving their handkerchiefs and in other ways displayed their partisanship.

The nominating speeches were replete and gave every evidence that the contest was a battle royal. There was no sign of defeat in the air, and the respective candidates being put forward entirely on their merits.

Pay Visit to the White House.

The fury of the struggle of the opposing factions was somewhat broken when in the afternoon the daughters proceeded in a body to the White House to pay their respects to President and Mrs. Taft.

There were but two candidates put forward for vice president general in charge of the chapters—Mrs. Amos J. Draper, the administration candidate, and Mrs. Miranda B. Tulloch, the "insurgent" or story candidate. There are ten retiring vice presidents.

Washington, Friday, April 23.—At 10 o'clock this morning Mrs. McLean, the retiring president general, was in the room where the ballots were being counted, and said that about two-thirds of the votes still remained to be examined. Both sides are claiming the victory.

In recognition of the services of president general, the society last night presented Mrs. McLean with a magnificent large silver set, consisting of a stand, bowl and flower vase.

German Ambassador Bernstorff Speaks at Newspaper Men's Banquet.

New York, April 22.—The German ambassador, Count Bernstorff, was given an enthusiastic reception when he rose to speak tonight at the joint banquet of the Associated Press and American Newspaper Publishers' association. He said, in part: "We have learned to look to the newspapers not only the quickest, but on the whole the most accurate source of intelligence in all matters of public interest. It would be idle to deny that we diplomats sometimes find the press much too quick and that we at other times consider it necessary to correct the information which our respective governments and nations receive through the newspapers. In general, however, one can say that the press has relieved us of the duty of reporting facts. We now have the habit of friendship with Bismarck and Moltke. The political situation of Europe was such that Bismarck regarded the unitarian tendencies in both countries as correlating. In one letter he writes: 'The inhabitants of Germany are thoroughly friendly to us. And well they may be. But for the triumph of the Union in America, it could not have succeeded in Germany.' Again and again Bismarck states that Bismarck and the king were true to the Union during the Civil war and were to any recognition of the independence of the Southern Confederacy, whenever such proposals were put forward from other quarters."

It is a great pleasure to read the exceedingly interesting letters he wrote from Berlin, the most significant of which were published not long ago. His attitude assured him a cordial acceptance in Berlin; he was received into the inner circles of scholarly, social and political life, and formed habits of friendship with Bismarck and Moltke. MARKED FOR THE REAPER

About three years ago Mrs. L. Hetkes of 819 Kirkham street, Oakland, Cal., called at our office with a girl thirteen years old, the latter weak and listless. She stated that she had lost a daughter through kidney disease and the doctors told her this one was in the same fix and that she could live but a short while.

The mother was nearly distracted. We told her that kidney disease was really inflammation of the kidneys and that it was in fact incurable under the old remedies, but that an emollient for kidney inflammation had been discovered and that the child would probably recover. The mother took the treatment with her.

We skip three years.

A few months ago Mrs. Hetkes called with a beautiful young girl, who was the very picture of health. She introduced her as the dying patient of three years ago, and told us to refer anybody in the world to her. She stated the recovery was complete about the eleventh week.

For the only emollient for inflammation ask for Fulton's Remedy Compound. Literature mailed free.

I should like to read more Berlin telegrams of the Associated Press. There can never be too much of a good thing. "I need not have any apprehension of such telegrams, for as the president of the United States a few weeks ago wrote to the editor of a German newspaper of this city: 'It is gratifying to know that the relations between the United States and the German Fatherland have never been more cordial and full of mutual sympathy than today.' When we look back on the history of these relations we generally recall the memory of the great days of Frederick the Great, George Washington and Steuben. But the relations were just as friendly much later, in the equally memorable years between 1860-70, when the unity of the American and of the German nation were re-established and forever assured."

I AM AFRAID OF ENCROACHING ON YOUR PATIENCE.

I am afraid of encroaching on your patience, so I will sit down after having read a few lines from the most significant letter in which Bancroft writes the following words to the secretary of state: "Bismarck has always desired to cultivate particularly friendly political relations between Germany and the United States. Our foreign political interests almost always run parallel with those of Germany. Germany wishes to follow the East Asiatic policy of the United States. Germany adopts from the federative system. If we need the solid, trusty good will of any government in Europe, we can have it best with Germany. Germany's institutions and our most nearly resemble each other; and because many millions of Germans have become our countrymen. This war will leave Germany the most powerful state in Europe, and the most free; its friendship, is, therefore, most important to us; and has its foundations in history and in nature."

OFFICIAL WASHINGTON IS MUCH ALARMED

Sees Prospects of Work in the Summer Months Under the Taft Regime.

Washington, April 22.—The completion of President Taft's plans for his summer vacation has filled the brains of hundreds of Washington officials with burning inquiries as to what the summer has in store for them. President Roosevelt did not expect much of his official subordinates during the heated term. The moment he hurried away to Sagamore Hill, his cabinet officers went scurrying for their hats and umbrellas, and the city was left to its own devices.

EMERSON HUGH IS VERY FOND OF OUTDOOR LIFE

Emerson Hugh is very fond of outdoor life, and many is the good story which he tells around the campfires at night. While camping out in the Adirondacks with a party of friends, the conversation turned on echoes and how easily they might be heard. Many good stories were told, but the following statement by Mr. Hugh is acknowledged the best. "Out in the Rocky mountains it takes eight hours to hear the echo of your voice. When I camp out there and just before I pull the blanket around me for the night, I shout out, 'Time to get up!' and—do you believe it?—the echo wakes me up next morning!"

S.S.S. CURES SKIN DISEASES

The cause of all skin diseases can be traced to some humor or acid in the blood; the cuticle is always healthy where the circulation is free from impurities. When the blood is infected with acid or unhealthy matter it cannot perform its natural work of nourishing the skin, regulating its temperature and preserving its normal softness, pliability and healthfulness. Instead it irritates and inflames the delicate fibres and tissues around the pores and glands and produces some of the many forms of skin disease. The itching and stinging so often accompanying skin affections are produced by the deposit from the blood of the acid humors with which it is filled, into the sensitive membranous flesh lying just beneath the outer covering, and surrounding the countless nerves, pores and glands. This explains why scratching the outer skin affords no relief from the itching and burning. S.S.S. cures Skin Diseases of every character by purifying the blood. It goes down into the circulation and removes the humors or acids which are causing the trouble, builds up the weak, acid blood, and permanently cures every variety of skin affection. Local applications can only soothe; they never cure because they do not reach the blood. S.S.S. goes right into the circulation, reaches the trouble and cures it by removing the cause. Book on Skin Diseases and any medical advice free to all who write.

PROTEST AGAINST TATE SIEBENTHAL

MINERS HAVE CLOSE CALL.

Two Cleveland-Cliffs Company Workmen Fall One Hundred Feet.

John Backman and Arthur Hannula, trammers employed at the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company, from down near the mine, were victims of a peculiar accident Wednesday evening. They were pushing a tram car along a trestle in the eighth level, when the timbers gave way, precipitating them a distance of 100 feet. The car and its contents also went down. It is considered a marvelous feat that either man escaped alive, as their fall was almost perpendicular and, besides, they were struck by the car and falling timbers.

Hannula was quite badly crushed and his death if he will recover, though Backman escaped with only slight injuries. The latter is at his home on Zoberlin street. Hannula is being cared for at the Ishpeming hospital. Both are single men.

FAMOUS BAND TONIGHT.

Organization From Swedish Army Will Be Greeted by Big House.

The Royal Vendes Artillery band of the Swedish army, under the direction of Professor John Eklblad, will be greeted by a large audience this evening at the Ishpeming theatre. The band will arrive this morning from Marquette. The Ishpeming band will escort the musicians from the hotel this evening at 7:30 o'clock, and will render one or two selections in front of the theatre. The Swedish band is composed of twenty-seven members. Miss Hilma Mattson, the soprano soloist, from the Grand Opera House of Stockholm, is making the tour with it.

The band is being greeted by unusually large audiences everywhere it appears and its two months tour in America will be a greater success than the management anticipated. The program being presented is a varied one. Toward the close of the entertainment the band will render American national airs. The entertainment will commence at 8:20.

Rules for Mailing Post Cards.

The sending of post cards to friends has become a general custom and the following rules governing their mailing should be observed:

"One third of the address side of post and postal cards may be used on postage to write your message, but it must be on the left hand end and separated from the address by a vertical line. If more than this of the address side is used, it subjects your card to letter postage and should bear a two-cent stamp.

"Illuminated cards, or cards to which adhere particles of glass or other substances which liable to rub off and injure persons handling same are unacceptable except when enclosed in envelopes and prepaid at letter rate—two cents an ounce.

"Cards mailed in transparent envelopes and bearing writing other than the address are subject to the letter rate—two cents each—and stamp should be affixed to the envelope instead of the card, otherwise it will be returned to you or sent to the dead letter office.

Hints to Patrons.

In the publication Messrs. Martin and Vlik give the patrons of the postoffice the following hints:

"Don't come running to the postoffice with mail when the postmaster has his mail tied in their respective packages and get mad because he won't tear open half a dozen packages to put your mail in the right one. A postmaster is reported by the mail clerk on a train if he happens to tie a letter in the wrong package and it is generally the fault of some patron of the office wanting to get his mail off in a hurry.

"Don't smoke in the postoffice. If you come to the office with a cigar or pipe in your mouth you need not throw it away, simply don't puff at it while waiting for your mail. No gentleman will smoke a cigarette in a postoffice.

"When you are waiting in the lobby for your mail abstain from loud talking and laughing. It annoys the clerks and takes them longer to change the mail than if you were quiet.

"Don't ask the carrier to 'wait just a minute' while you write a postal or address a letter.

"Don't allow horses to stand tied in front of your box; we cannot deliver mail if you do.

"Don't ask for mail along the road.

"Be sure your name is plainly printed on your box."

FROM MORGAN'S CURB LETTER.

"The extreme weakness in North Butte had the effect of weakening almost the entire copper list, and has created something of a bearish sentiment. We are of the opinion, however, that the North Butte liquidation has been quite thorough, for the present at least, and believe that it and the balance of the list is not to be better from now on. The sharp decline in the above named issue today was due to rumors that the dividend will be cut and also to unfavorable reports regarding the condition of the mine at the lower level. It is also stated that on the basis of present copper metal reserves, North Butte is showing earnings of about $200,000 a year below the dividend requirements at $4 a share. More than enough East Butte proxies have already been received to ratify the agreement with the Pittsburgh-Montana company. The Calumet-Cobden shaft is now down 200 feet, and crosscutting to the vein has been begun. Chief Consolidated was heavily traded in, and was the feature of the curb, large blocks changing hands at as high as 15%. It promises to do better. On light trading, Calumet reacted to 3 1/2, but this is only natural, after the recent sharp advance. We believe it should be bought on this reaction. The pool stock in Montana-Clinton was escrowed yesterday, and the price should do better from now on."

GREAT DEMONSTRATION.

Ishpeming Man Home from Duluth Tells of Celebration There.

"The demonstration in Duluth Tuesday night, as a result of Governor Johnson's veto of the tonnage tax bill, was the greatest thing of its kind that I have ever witnessed," said an Ishpeming man, who was in Duluth at the time. "I have seen many celebrations following exciting elections, but all of them were tame compared with the Duluth demonstration. Practically all business was suspended and it seemed from the masses of humanity crowded into the principal streets, that all classes, old and young, were rejoicing because the governor had killed the bill.

"It took me fully fifteen minutes to walk a block. There was several standing room anywhere for several blocks on the principal streets, where the citizens had congregated. Whistles were blown and bells rung and bands were playing, while from one to a dozen men standing on the edge of the sidewalks were addressing the crowd. If Governor Johnson had been in Duluth I believe that he would have been given the greatest ovation that any man ever received in this country. I am surprised that there were not many people injured, as many heavy fire works were exploded and for a time it looked to me that many might be trampled upon before the crowd dispersed.

"The people of Duluth and the Minnesota iron ranges have reason for rejoicing, as the tonnage tax law would have worked them great injury. It was told that the people of the Western States, where many former Ishpeming families are located, would suffer more than those in other parts of the district, on account of the high waste there will be as a result of the washing process to which the ore will be subjected."

PLAY IS INSTRUCTIVE.

Golden-voiced Al. H. Wilson, the man who sang his way into the hearts of people, will bring his latest play, "When Old New York Was Dutch," to Ishpeming theatre next Wednesday evening. The plot of "When Old New York Was Dutch" is well constructed. The author has not permitted a morbid sentiment or unwholesome suggestive word to enter into it. Built upon the early history of New York, it is instructive, its refined comedy is mirth provoking and the sweet love scenes and Wilson's melodious voice win the sympathies of even the most cynical. In short, it is one of the class of productions that the theater-going public will appreciate.

OPERATE ON BABY'S SKULL.

Effort to Save a Microcephalous Child Seems to Be Successful.

New York, April 22.—An operation performed in the Cumberland Street hospital in Brooklyn a few weeks ago on a microcephalous infant has had gratifying results. The baby was born with no "soft spots" in its skull, which had undergone prenatal ossification. It was explained to the parents that such children usually died young or remained idiots, and the parents readily consented to an operation. Heretofore the custom has been to wait, if the child lived, until it was eight or nine years old, and then to take out from the skull two strips, or ribbons, of bone from the upper sides of the skull to give the brain a chance to develop. The custom has not been successful. In the present case the operation was performed on the infant, and the progress of the child to date has been highly satisfactory. The child has recovered from the severe operation and has been taken home by its mother, and it appears to be in the way of normal development, both of body and brain.

EXHIBIT AND PROGRAM AT THE HIGH SCHOOL

SAMPLES OF WORK IN THE VARIOUS DEPARTMENTS WILL BE ON VIEW TODAY AND SCHOOL PATRONS ARE URGED TO EXAMINE THEM.

A pleasing program will be given this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the assembly room of the high school, in connection with the exhibit of grade work. The program, which contains thirteen numbers, will last about one hour, and children from several of the public schools will take part.

The exhibit will be hung in the two rooms opposite the assembly room, on the second floor, and in the hall between these two rooms. From it visitors may get a good understanding of what is being accomplished in the schools. There will be exhibits of nearly all the subjects taught—writing, spelling, arithmetic, history, grammar, composition, illustrated language also, a complete exhibit of the drawing and industrial work.

The exhibit will be on inspection both forenoon and afternoon. Visitors may enter the building at any time during the day after 8 o'clock this morning. It is sincerely hoped that a large number of parents will be present. To prepare and hang the exhibit required much care and effort, and both children and teachers will be greatly disappointed if the attendance is not excellent.

The program for this afternoon will be as follows:

- Music—Sixth Grade, Park St. School; Miss Nellie McLaughlin, teacher.
- Reading—First Grade, Case St. School; Miss Anna Ryan, teacher.

KILLED IN NEVADA.

Former Wellknown Negaunee Man Victim of Mine Accident.

A telegram has been received here, announcing the death at Tonopah, Nev., of Paul Murton, a former Negaunee man. Murton was struck on the head by the cage in the mine where he was working. He was standing at the entrance to a level and was looking into the shaft at the time of the accident. The deceased was a son of John Murton, who left here for Nevada four years ago. He spent practically all of his life in Negaunee. After leaving school he was employed at the Regent mine, giving up his position two years ago to go to Iron Belt, Wis., where he remained until shortly before the first of this year. He wrote a letter to a friend here about ten days ago, stating that he intended to return to Negaunee this summer to locate permanently, as he did not like the West. His brother Albert, who also left here with his parents, died at Tonopah four months ago. Samuel Murton was twenty-four years of age.

TALK OF CRICKET LEAGUE.

Negaunee men interested in cricket are asked to meet in the Guild hall of St. John's Episcopal church Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock, when an organization will be perfected and matters pertaining to the sport will be discussed. The cricket players have decided to organize but one team, as all now realize that there is only material enough for one organization. The Negaunee men favor the forming of a league, to comprise teams of the iron and copper districts. It is thought that a good team can be organized at Ishpeming and there are a half dozen or more fast teams in the copper country. Some of the Negaunee men have been advised by friends in the copper country that the teams up there favor a league, and it is possible that a meeting of representatives of the two sections will be arranged.

PATTEN A FIGHTER AND PHILANTHROPIST

Man Who Has Put Up the Price of Wheat Got His Start by Becoming a Grain Inspector at $1000 a Year—Recently He Gave $150,000 to the Northwestern University.

Chicago, April 22.—James A. Patten, who is making thousands of deals in wheat, is a man of winning personality. No one would ever look him in the face, talk to him five minutes and go away with the idea that he has no heart. He loves a market fight and challenges the opposition of men as strong financially as himself. To such men he gives no quarter and asks none. He especially likes to measure swords with Wall Street men.

One of the things contributing to the success of Mr. Patten is that he was born and reared in Illinois. He knows the story of wheat from the time it is put in the ground until it is distributed to the world in the shape of flour. He was born in De Kalb county, and on the 15th day of next month he will be thirty-seven years old. His father, Alexander Patten, was the proprietor of a general store in Jo Daviess county, on an old stage road. He had a good trade and was thrifty, but when the Burlington railroad came alongside his little country plant things changed and he took his family to Sandwich, Ill. Here the boy "Jim" had his early schooling; later he entered Northwestern academy at Evanston and remained in that institution two years. While in Evanston he had lived at the home of his uncle, Governor Beveridge, who helped him on the way with his books. After that it was the great school of practical experience for the young man.

Young Patten hired out to a storekeeper at Sandwich at $25 a month. In the year he saved a few dollars and changed his job for a new one worth $43 a month. That year he saved $100. In 1874, by appointment of his uncle, he became a state grain inspector and continued at the post for several years. While thus engaged he supplemented his boyhood knowledge of wheat as a farm production with an expert knowledge of wheat as a commercial proposition. The subject interested him so greatly that he gave up a $1,000 place for one in a board of trade firm that paid him $7 a week.

Later he became associated with his brother George, and the firm did a shipping business to the eastern trade. George Patten became ill and the partnership was dissolved. James becoming sole owner and manager at the same time of an elevator concern. In 1902 he joined the firm of Bartlett, Frazier & Carrington, possibly the most extensive grain commission concern in the country. Last July the firm became Bartlett & Patten.

Patten is one of the prophets who are honored at home. Evanston has enlisted his services as city councilman two terms and twice put him in the mayor's chair, where he made a fine record. He had the capacity to look after the city's affairs and to keep track of the grain markets at the same time. It was while he was mayor that he earned fame as a dealer in oats.

Last spring, after he had "made a killing" in corn, he promptly donated $150,000 to build a gymnasium for Northwestern University, a Methodist institution of learning where many a young man gets his training for the ministry. Patten is a Presbyterian, but he has enough pride in his home town to wish the Methodist University to be one of the greatest of its kind, and he supports it liberally, as he does other worthy charitable, religious and educational institutions near home. In the Presbyterian church he passes the collection plate with as much appearance of "at homeness" as when he walks into his office with a huge cigar in his mouth.

He believes in recreation, and when the humor strikes him he goes fishing or hunting, or possibly travelling abroad. The woods of northern Wisconsin have a fascination for him, and frequently he responds to this call of the wild. Of course, he owns a touring car and runs about, but for downright pleasure he would rather get on a favorite horse and take a center up along the lake shore.

The Patten home, in Evanston, is a handsome stone pile, which cost something like $250,000. Here he has a fine and well selected library. Instead of sleeping in the roomy chambers of his mansion, it is said he prefers winter and summer to sleep in a canvas tent in the open air, where he can find mental and physical refreshment. He is married and the father of three children, and is a devoted husband.

In his office he is serenely personified, and seems rattle-proof in all he does. He never drinks, disposes or gambles. He eats well, sleeps well, and his mind is always clear. He never talks about his business affairs at home.

The "wheat king" is little given to talking of himself or his business. He says he is firmly of the opinion that a man must be thoroughly honest and above-board to win real success; that he must abide invariably by his promise and deal justly with his fellows in business.

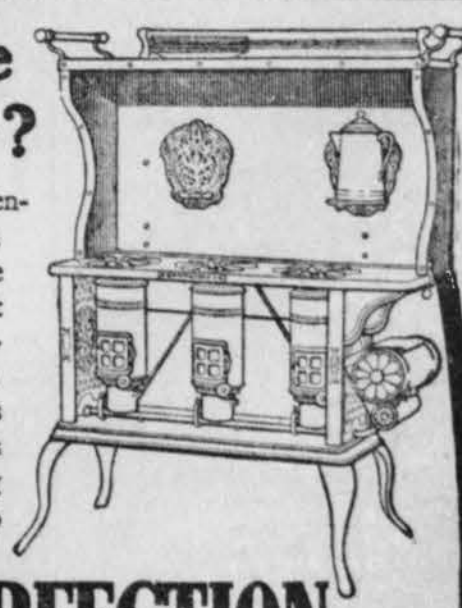

Mrs. Patten does not care for society, as it is understood from the newspaper columns. She is a member of the Evanston Woman's club and is specially interested in the doings and welfare of Northwestern University. Once a year the Patten mansion is thrown open for a reception to the students.

The Patten story would not be complete without mention of George Patten, first teacher, who is a part of the Patten household in Evanston. George Patten is quite as shrewd a student of grain situations as his more fully discussed brother. He helps map out the line of action and his counsel is invariably sought at crucial times. He has rendered great service to the present business deal by figuring out means of preventing a runaway market, and such prices as would make Chicago the target for the wheat of the nation.

Some women seem to think that if every woman would just brace up and be a man the world would be all right. A serene life always has storms in its past curriculum.

RECEPTION TO SWEDISH BAND.

Local Societies Entertain Visitors from Scandinavia at Legion Hall.

The Royal Venues Artillery Regiment band arrived in Marquette early yesterday morning and most of the members of the organization spent the day getting acquainted with those of the Swedish nationality in the city. Although none of the musicians have former acquaintances or relatives in this city, the fact that they have recently come from their native land made them welcome visitors to the local Swedish population, and by questioning them many of the Marquette Swedes learned of their friends and relatives in the Norseland. None of the members of the band speak English. The leader, John Ekblad, is said to speak German passably well.

Following the concert at the opera house last night, the members of the band and the soloist, Miss Mattson, were given a delightful reception at Legion Hall by the three Swedish societies of the city.

FORMER MARQUETTE MAN TAKES BRIDE AT 96

WENT WEST TO GROW UP WITH THE COUNTRY AND SELECTS WYOMING WIDOW AND FARM.

Last Sunday's St. Louis Post-Dispatch contains an interesting article concerning one Peter S. Morrison, who is said to have formerly lived in and near Marquette. Several of the older residents faintly remember Mr. Morrison's having lived in this city, but he left here many years ago. The Post-Dispatch says: "On his ninety-sixth birthday, Peter S. Morrison arrived in Sheridan, Wyo., from Michigan, married the widow Stewart of that city, took up a 100-acre homestead out in the Basin, and settled down to raise a family and grow up with the country. Mr. Morrison is the oldest homesteader who ever took up land in Wyoming—and he is also the oldest bridegroom this state ever commissioned. 'Yes, I've just got married and filed on a 100-acre homestead and I'm going in to raise a crop of irrigated wheat and alfalfa,' said the old man. 'Unless it sounds rather funny to hear a man who was born during the war of 1812 talking about raising a family and growing up with the country, but that's just what I'm going to do.' Two years ago Mr. Morrison came out to Sheridan on a visit to his nephew who lives near here, and while in Sheridan, became acquainted with Mrs. Rachel J. Stewart, a widow just one half his age. The result was the marriage of the two.

Old Men Know the Women.
"Guess I showed these Wyoming men a trick by beating them all out and marrying the widow," grinned Mr. Morrison. "We old young men are hard to beat when it comes to the women. We know 'em better than the boys do." "Mr. Morrison looks and acts about like a very young man for sixty; his eyes are strong and clear and he walks an average of ten miles every day—'just for exercise,' he says.

"The secret of my youth is the motto upon which I have acted all my life," he says. "This is it, Don't worry. I never permit anything to worry me. That's the whole story."

"Do I expect to live to be 100 years old? Of course I do. I expect to be at least 125 years old when I die. And I expect my new homestead to be a fine farm, well stocked with everything—including children, long before I die."

Veteran of Two Wars.
"Mr. Morrison was born in no country. His parents left Scotland in 1813 with eleven children, enroute to the United States. When they landed in Boston there were twelve children, Peter having been born when they were twenty days out from Edinburgh. He was two months old when the ship arrived on American shores.

"The family emigrated to Ohio and Mr. Morrison enlisted in the First Ohio regiment and served with that regiment through the Mexican war. He participated in a number of the great battles around the City of Mexico.

"Returning home when the war was over, he moved to Marquette, Mich., and when the Civil war broke out, enlisted in the Twenty-second Michigan, serving through the entire war with that regiment.

"Since the war, Mr. Morrison has lived near Marquette, where he raised blooded horses. He has arranged to bring his brood mares to his new homestead and will continue to raise fine stock on his homestead here."

SUNLIGHT AND AIR NEEDED.
State Inspector Tells Why Milk Is Not Always Pure and Sanitary.

F. A. Haven, inspector of the state dairy and food department, has been in the copper country for the past two weeks investigating the milk supply.

"The principal trouble with some of the upper peninsula dairymen," said Mr. Haven, "is an apparent fear that sun light and fresh air will injure the cows. As a rule, the cows are in good flesh and fairly clean, but some of the stables are very small, dark and poorly ventilated. The cold winter here requires warm stables, but where a number of cows are kept in a small barn some system of ventilation is needed to keep them from becoming foul and unhealthy. In many of the stables, any opening that might admit pure air, or let the impure air escape, is carefully stopped up, and the windows are either boarded up or never put in, from an erroneous idea that light and air cannot be supplied without making the barn cold.

"The state law says that when it is determined by the dairy and food commissioner, his deputy or inspector, that unsanitary conditions exist, the owner shall be notified and warned to place such dairy in a suitable condition within a reasonable length of time. Failure to comply with said notice may be followed by fine or imprisonment."

"Unsanitary conditions mean unclean cows, stables, milk dishes or handling milk in an unclean manner. Stables which have no windows, no openings where foul and impure air can escape, where no bedding is used and where the stable is not whitewashed at least once each year, are considered to be unsanitary."

TOURNAMENT IN FULL BLAST.

Bowlers from Four Towns Will Roll on the Alleys Today.

The bowling tournament was in full blast yesterday and the ability of the Marquette alleys to handle a large number of games was demonstrated. In the morning and early afternoon the Lake Linden players had possession and later the Millerites, one of Marquette's five-men teams, rolled the high score so far made in Class "A." In the evening a large and enthusiastic delegation from Ishpeming, representing the Cleveland-Cliffs club and the Banks street alleys, came to town and had undisputed possession of the alleys. The Marquette and Negaunee bowlers will finish their events today and the Iron Mountain and Hancock men will be on hand this evening.

W. V. Thompson of Chicago, manager of the bowling department of Brunswick, Balke-Collender company, and one of the star bowlers of the country, has been invited to be present at the meeting Saturday evening to assist in perfecting the organization of the Upper Peninsula Bowling association, and there is a prospect that he will come. Mr. Thompson, in a pair contest at Pittsburgh recently, made the phenomenal average of 218 for fifteen games. O. W. Neels, Jr., the newly appointed local representative of the Brunswick-Balke-Collender company, is in attendance at the tournament and is doing much to promote its success.
