

DUTY ON IRON ORE WINS IN SENATE

Action Comes After an Entire Day's Debate, Enlivened by Mr. Bailey's Demand the Steel Trust Officials Be Sent to Prison, and Party Lines Are Ignored, 17 Democrats Voting With the Republicans and 12 Republicans With the Democrats

Washington, May 13.—After a day devoted to discussing the duty on iron ore, the senate, just before adjournment this evening, adopted, 61 to 24, the recommendation of the finance committee for a duty of twenty-five cents a ton. The house had placed that commodity on the free list, while the present law levies a duty of forty cents a ton.

Senator Bailey's Sentiments. Referring directly to the United States steel corporation, and charging that organization with violating the anti-trust laws of the country, Mr. Bailey declared that if the officers of the law do their duty the steel trust will be dissolved, and he said that he expected eventually to see this done.

CHANGES ARE MADE IN PRIMRY BILL

Conferees at Lansing Make Report—Favor the Extension of the Plan of Nominating Political Candidates by Direct Vote.

While the Revised Measure That Has Been Drafted Provides That the System as It Concerns County Officers and Circuit Judges Shall Not Be Mandatory, the Question of Its Adoption Must Be Submitted to the People at the Spring Election Next Year.

Lansing, Mich., May 13.—[Special.]—The primary election bill conferees today ended their report today. The principal change from the bill as it passed is that the mandatory primary for all counties is cut out. However the question of primaries must be submitted in all counties in the spring of 1910.

The home rule conferees are tied in a knot over an amendment offered by Senator Scott for Henry M. Campbell, a member of the constitutional convention and a big Detroit lawyer. Mr. Campbell would have municipal ownership to be based on bonds issued on the credit of the utility taken, and not on the city's general credit. It looks as if this might go in the committee, but Representative Guy Miller of Detroit will fight it on the floor.

Primary School Fund.

The effort to care for the deficit at the expense of the primary fund lost the governor used every influence in his power to pass the bill, which was Mr. Kline's and provided for the distribution of the primary money in May instead of November. This meant that next spring, and all the school districts that have figured on primary money this fall would be left out in the cold. In the city of Grand Rapids alone this meant that $125,000 would have to be borrowed or raised by an extra tax.

Chicago, May 13.—A bill was slipped into the bill in committee today, empowering the treasurer, in emergencies, to use the primary money in the general fund. The attorney general holds this plan unconstitutional, but nevertheless a desperate effort was made to pass it.

Total Appropriations $10,153,340. The house ways and means committee finished its work today. Its total of appropriations is $10,153,340, against $9,143,175 two years ago, a million dollars being carried to the general purposes bill for the deficit.

FRENCH DEPUTIES UPHOLD CABINET

Turbulent Session of the Lower House of the Parliament Ends in Another Signal Victory for Prime Minister Clemenceau.

Uproar Becomes So Fierce That It Is Necessary to Suspend the Sitting for a Time, but in the End the Policy of the Government With Regard to the Strike of the Postal Employees Is Emphatically Endorsed by the Vote of 454 to 59.

Paris, May 13.—A turbulent session of the chamber of deputies today ended in another signal victory for Premier Clemenceau, when the government's policy with regard to the postal strike was emphatically endorsed by the vote of 454 to 59, including also the government's insistence that the postal employees and other functionaries have no right to strike.

The strikers received the chamber's rebuke with the declaration that it only served to bind closer their forces, which would soon startle the country by the rapid extension of a general strike. On the hand, it is estimated that the government has other plans in view to offset any serious growth of the strike. Up to midnight there was no change in the situation. If anything, it was in the direction of a weakening of the strike sentiment. M. Barthou, minister for public works, posts and telegraphs, asserted during the debate that only 2,367 out of the 24,205 postal employees in Paris and the department of the Seine were out, and that the conditions in the provinces were even better.

Wild Scenes in the Chamber.

There were wild scenes in the chamber. The stand taken by the postmen had many warm supporters. The uproar became so fierce that M. Brisson, president of the chamber, clapped his hat on his head as a sign that the session was closed. The tumult, however, continued both inside and out of the chamber. After an hour's intermission the session was resumed, but the socialists were soon on the verge of fistfights with the radicals and the sergeant-at-arms was forced to intervene. Afterwards came the vote of confidence, as stated. The authorities are estimating that the strike will be over in a few days. The mail and telegraph services are normal at some places, notably Bordeaux, where the telegraphers who went out yesterday have returned to work.

Threaten a Massacre. Soldiers at Erzeroum Refuse to Obey the Young Turk Officers. Cologne, May 13.—The Koelnische Zeitung today publishes a dispatch from Saloniki saying that the Young Turk officers at Erzeroum, Asiatic Turkey, have sent a telegram to the local officers, declaring that their soldiers are refusing obedience, demanding the restoration of the shariat and threatening a general massacre.

MARQUETTE, MICH., MAY 14.
Entered as mail matter of the second class in the postoffice at Marquette, Mich.

Well, this weather ought to take the kinks out of the legs, and arms, of the baseball artists.

The opinion of a state inspector that the milk sold in Marquette is very fair should not be allowed to stand in the way of adequate steps to make it better.

The heat of the senate debate over the tariff appears to have subsided somewhat; perhaps it is only a lull before another storm.

Senator Smith celebrated his fiftieth birthday this week. If he remains in congress as long as his colleague, Senator Burrows, has he will serve at least four terms in the upper house.

As for John Fitzgibbon and the Detroit News, both will be doing business at the old stand when every member of the present legislature will long since have retired to private life and the record of the body long since forgotten.

The logic of the situation suggests that Pat Kelley should get an upper peninsula man to be his running mate, as a candidate for lieutenant governor, and that Chase Osborn should get a lower Michigan candidate to share his fortunes with him. However, we don't know where Mr. Kelley can find a possibility who already has not sworn allegiance to the cause of the upper peninsula candidate.

The senate this week passed bills appropriating $6,000 for the West Michigan fair at Grand Rapids, and $10,000 for the state fair at Detroit. They have been transmitted to the house, where it is said they will probably be passed. If they are reported out from the committee. It is said it has leaked out from the attorney general's office that in the event they become a law the attorney general will contest the proposed appropriations, on the ground that there is no warrant for them in the law.
Their supporters, however, are willing to take a chance on this.

Representative Cooper, of Wisconsin, was chairman of the committee on insurlar affairs during the last session, but it is the general impression at Washington that he will not fill this important place when the assignments for the new congress are made. Representative Cooper got in wrong in the fight that attended the opening of the special session; he didn't track the way Uncle Joe wanted him to. The speaker has so many friends to reward that there is small chance of the members who broke away being treated with any great consideration. The whole Wisconsin delegation, it may be said, is rather without the pale of Uncle Joe's favor. It furnished more strength to the insurgent movement than any other delegation in congress; and now it will have to pay the fiduciar.

The game law bill favored by the house appears to limit hunters to but one deer each season. The Wisconsin legislature is considering a similar provision. The necessity for better protection of the game is being seen in both states. Limiting the kill allowed each hunter to one deer would largely decrease the annual fall slaughter. It would also doubtless tend to reduce the number of lower state and outside hunters who come to the upper peninsula.
Many of them will hold that it is hardly worth while to take the long trip to kill but a single deer. There is much difference of opinion in regard to this provision in the upper peninsula region, many people contending that the hunters should be permitted to kill two deers each fall, as long as they last.

The legislature has tolled the bell for the Flower forest reserve bill, a not unlooked for outcome, considering the storm of opposition the measure met with in interested quarters. There is still much opposition to all conservation projects, and much room for education of the popular mind before they will have general support. The demise of the Flower measure means, in effect, that the legislature will adjourn without enacting any laws along the lines suggested by the special commission of inquiry into state tax land problems and the special house committee which supplemented that report by giving the results of an exhaustive inquiry. There was much good work along this line that might have been done that is, unfortunately, passed along to some subsequent legislature.

Speaker Campbell is incensed because the scandal involving Representative Curtiss leaked out. But why, pray, should not the full light of publicity be let in on the peccadilloes of members of the legislature, as well as on those of ordinary mortals? Would not immunity from one of the bitter fruits of wrongdoing operate as an encouragement of wrongdoing? Fear of publicity is a wholesome fear that keeps many feet that would otherwise stray in the proper path. It strikes us that Speaker Campbell has no right to be incensed over the publicity given the Curtiss-Hall affair. When Curtiss turned gallant he did so in his personal, rather than his legislative, capacity. Where does Speaker Campbell get into the game? Why should any attempt be made to discipline a newspaper because it saw fit to deal with a purely personal episode in the eventful life of one of the legislators?
Speaker Campbell will find that he has embarked on an extensive task if he sets out to censor the work of the press correspondents at the state capitol.

The senate amendments to the Warner-Cramton liquor bill are of minor importance, and there is no doubt that the house will be willing to agree to them.
The clause of the house bill referring to druggists is unnecessary, for the reason that the same ground is covered by other legislation. The senate also rejected the house provision giving the commiss of cities the power to extend the closing hour until 12 o'clock, with the exception of cities of over 40,000 inhabitants. This means that the Warner-Cramton bill will presently be placed before the governor for his signature, which he will promptly affix to it. With the principal provisions of this bill the public is familiar, because of frequent comment in regard to them. They provide for reducing the saloons to the ratio of 1 to 500 population, and also that a second conviction for a violation of the liquor law shall forfeit the right of the person convicted to renew his license. This latter provision will be a potent weapon in the hands of the anti-saloon forces in securing an absolute enforcement of the law. As the Warner-Cramton bill stands, it appears to meet with the favor of both the liquor interests and the anti-saloon forces, and it is, perhaps, the first bill on the subject ever passed in the state of Michigan of which as much can be said.

The charge is made in Washington that the surety companies have since January 1 tripled their rates on bonds above $1,000 for government employes, and Representative Tawney has secured a clause in the census appropriation bill which prohibits the acceptance by the United States of a bond for any officer which shall cost in excess of the premiums charged prior to 1909. Another clause, providing that hereafter employes shall pay the cost of their own bonds, will probably also tend to curb the demands of the surety companies.
The government is rich, and so long as it footed the bond insurance bills the companies saw no reason why they should not exact all they could get. If the employes had been "paying the freight," it is wholly improbable that any such exorbitant raise in surety bond rates would have been attempted by the companies. Is there a combination among these companies to enforce triple rates all over the country, or is it confined only to the employes of the national government? This is a question of interest not only to state and municipal officials and other fiduciary employes, but likewise to such municipalities as, to a greater or less extent, pay the bond premiums of officials.

The declaration of William Livingston, president of the Lake Carriers' association, that he will not meet with the interstate board of mediation to consider ways and means of ending the existing labor troubles indicates clearly that the members of that association have determined to make no compromise with the unions as unions, but intend to make a firm stand for the "open shop" on the lakes. This would seem to pres-age a stubborn and protracted fight between the warring forces, for the lake seamen are no less decided in the position they have taken. So far the strike has not been accompanied by serious disturbances. To date the shipowners have not appeared to have had much difficulty in keeping their boats moving, though as yet some fleets have not gone into commission. When the movement of the shipping is more general, however, it is not unlikely that it will prove difficult to man all the boats, and the struggle will likely be attended by more serious disturbances. The outcome is hard to predict, but many well informed observers hazard the opinion that it will be the establishment of the "open shop" on fresh water, they basing this opinion largely on the success the shipowners have met with in keeping their boats moving up to this time, despite the opposition of the union men.

REV. I. W. WILLIAMSON'S LETTER.

I used Foley's Kidney Remedy for nerv-

TROUBLE IN PORTO RICO.
The message sent by President Taft to congress this week, dealing with the administrative deadlock that exists in Porto Rico, calls attention to a situation in that island that has passed comparatively unnoticed by the people of this country for some little time. For nearly a year friction has been developing between the lower branch of the Porto Rico legislature, which is elective, and the upper branch, which is appointive.
The lower branch reflects the wishes of native politicians who want to increase their power in the island's affairs.
The upper branch is controlled by the executive officers appointed by the president, who have resisted what they consider attempted coercion by the elective house. These disagreements have been minimized here because it was thought that only personal issues were involved.
But when the lower house at its session refused to make appropriations with which to carry on the government the situation became serious, because it apparently arrayed the executive branch against the legislative branch and gave the local politicians a chance to raise the issue of native autonomy against American sovereignty.

Under American administration Porto Rico has advanced to a condition of material prosperity and political freedom far greater, in both respects, than would ever have been possible under a continuation of Spanish rule. But its people have been misled into exaggerating and abusing the power entrusted to them under the Foraker law. They have not been willing to make progress slowly and surely, and have failed to show a proper spirit of cooperation with the insular administration. They have, as President Taft says, been somewhat forgetful of the generosity shown them, and their leaders in the lower branch of the legislature have proved that they are "too irresponsible" to exercise the power entrusted to them of initiating appropriation measures. The president recommends that the Foraker law be amended so as to make the appropriations for one year continuing in case of failure to appropriate for the following year. Such a step will prevent further attempts to starve the insular administration if it does not agree to other legislation in which the native politicians are interested.

The Porto Ricans will learn gradually that autonomy cannot be obtained at once and can never be obtained by methods of force. They can reach their goal by showing self-restraint, capacity and an intelligent appreciation of the good will of the United States. This country has no desire whatever to oppress the island or retard its political and commercial development. But the United States must insist that federalism and bad temper be put aside and that the people of the island do their part in helping to promote good order and good government.

149,566 POOR BURIED IN POTTERS' FIELD IN NEW YORK CITY
New York, May 12.—Few people give consideration to the poor of the city who die in the tenements or in the various free wards of the hospitals of the city, and their final disposition is a matter of only passing moment. There is hardly a day that some unidentified body is not taken from the waters adjacent to the city while others are picked up in the streets and sent to the morgue to await the identification that in many instances is never made.

For these people the city provides a burying ground on Harts Island in the East river. The graves are dug by prisoners who are serving time for offenses against the laws of the city. A recent report of the department of charities and corrections shows that since 1869 the city has buried in its various burying grounds, some of which are now extinct, 149,566 bodies of persons whose families have been unable to provide a final resting place for them. During the last fiscal year there were 5,370 burials on Harts Island.

It sometimes happens that friends of dead persons find the means later to have the bodies disinterred and buried elsewhere, and in the last year sixty bodies were so taken up and removed to other places. There are also several philanthropic undertakers who maintain lots in the city cemeteries so that those who only have the price of a modest funeral by be kept from burial grounds are generally known.

The cost to the city of burying the bodies lies practically in the cost of the coffin alone. Up to a few years ago this coffin was of rough white pine and cost about $1.50. It has become the practice of late, however, to paint and line it, which brings the cost up to $1.75.

A few New Yorkers can recall when Washington Square, Madison Square and Bryant Park were used as public burying grounds. The bodies buried in these places were taken up and removed to less expensive grounds and the parks created as the necessity for them arose.

According to Consul D. R. Birch, of Alexandria, the final authentic estimate fixes the size of the Egyptian cotton crop, now being marketed, at from 625,000,000 to 650,000,000 pounds.

other country.

STRICT LAWS ARE PASSED.

Homes Must Be Surrounded With Proper Conditions—Emperor's Fund Helps Movement.

Washington, May 12.—Progress made in Austria in providing better homes for the poor is shown in a report by Consul Charles B. Harris, at Reichenberg. He says in part:
"In this place it is aimed to decentralize houses, so that they may be erected as far as possible from crowded or manufacturing centers. Next it is desired to establish factories in the country and build nearby good houses for the workmen. New building laws are planned establishing different requirements for houses erected near manufacturing than resident centers. It is now fully recognized that while formerly attention had been given to the mode of living, at present few regulations exist as to proper living."
"Finally it is aimed by social reformers in Austria to reduce the taxation on houses and offer special advantages to those erecting small dwellings for the working people. It is also proposed to amend the law, passed by the Austrian parliament in July, 1902, encouraging the building of cheap dwellings. The law provides that all those erecting such buildings are exempt from certain forms of taxation, provided that such structures are built on empty lots, or on lots upon which houses have been torn down and sold for fuel to workmen, or if the rent is included in their wages."
"The same privilege is accorded to dwellings (family houses) sold to workmen under a system of partial payments; but the purchasing price, or at least half of the same, must be paid for in fifteen annuities, regardless whether or not the ownership in the building passes at once or later on into possession of the workmen. This law considers all such 'workmen' who are employed in agriculture, and commercial pursuits, and earning the following amounts: (a) Single persons earning $243.00; (b) families consisting of two to five heads, $365.40; (c) families of five and more, $487.20.

"The workmen of Vienna are also included in the law, even if earning amounts one-fourth higher than the above sums. The same privilege is accorded to the workmen in towns having over 50,000 inhabitants, with or without suburbs; connected industrial places, having together more than 50,000 people; or houses with whole or single parts devoted to putting up, repairing, containing wash, dining, reading rooms and libraries. Apprentices are treated like regular workmen."
"The capital invested in these workmen's dwellings shall not yield more than one-half of 1 per cent above the amount produced by mortgages or similar securities. Buildings accorded the advantages of this law enjoy the same rights for a period of fifty years, and the builder is required within such time to keep the structure in condition according to requirements. All lots upon which workmen's dwellings are erected must be dry or artificially drained of water, and not located in places inundated, in the neighborhood of swamps or polluted by decaying and rotten substances, endangering the public health."
"Wherever local conditions make it possible, and where the location permits, the workmen's houses shall be provided with an open front, and the various buildings shall be apart. The eellars of the houses must be built six to ten feet above subsoil water, and where such do exist the underground must be 5.24 feet above the level of the street. The cellars shall have a height of not less than four feet, and the walls shall be prohibited."
"The floors of houses must be constructed of firm wood, 'syllite' or similar material, and in southern regions of merits must have a height of not less than four feet, and the walls shall be prohibited."

Mayor Buys Automobile—Mayor Augustus Spies of Menominee has joined the ranks of the auto enthusiasts and has ordered a fine car to be delivered at once. The machine will cost $5,000 and will be fitted with all of the latest devices for the comfort and convenience of its passengers.
Among the other Menominee men purchasing cars this spring are Fred Hagerson, James Leisen, Albie Bond and Henry Myers. It is estimated that not less than twenty new cars will be seen on Menominee streets this year.

Kick Is Worth $600 A kick worth sixty dollars was made by John Sine, a White Rapids Indian, when he booted open a hollow log with six wolf whelps in it. Sine was walking through the woods on the Menominee side of the river without a weapon of any kind. Going through the undergrowth he kicked a log and a wolf ran out of the end of it. He noticed that the log was hollow and with a vigorous kick knocked it in pieces.
The six whelps were only a month old and he speedily dispatched them with a stick. The pelts were taken to the county clerk's office in Menominee and bounty of $60 was collected.

Theater Is Made Safe— Ben's theater at Escanaba has been made one of the safest play houses in the upper peninsula. This has been accomplished by the erection of a most modern system of fire escapes. The work has been completed under plans prepared by John D. Chubb, of Chicago and Marquette, and who also was the architect of the building itself. The theater is now provided with seven extraordinary fire escapes, and according to Mr. Chubb's professional opinion it will take but one and a half minutes to empty the building.
He also says that the fire escapes will easily sustain a weight of 185 pounds to the square foot, while the law requires only ninety-five pounds. Mr. Salinsky has leased the theater to the New Bijou Amusement company (Mrs. Constance C. Campbell, manager), which now presents vaudeville performances with an entire change of acts on Monday and Thursday of every week.

Otto Fowle the Council's Choice—
An attempt on the part of Jeremiah Moher, alderman from the First ward, to defeat Senator Otto Fowle for re-election for library commissioner at last night's meeting of the common council was without result, says the Soo News.
Mr. Moher started a little boom for John W. Shine, but it died a-borning.
The matter was brought to the attention of the council in a letter from Secretary Wiley of the library commission, in which he said that Mr. Fowle's term will expire this year and owing to his excellent work in behalf of that institution the board thought it would be a wise move on the part of the council to reappoint him. Alderman Moher claimed he had no criticism to make as to Mr.
Fowle's record. He claimed he wanted the council represented on the board.
He did not enlighten the council as to how Shine would be a more representative man from his standpoint than Fowle. When the matter came to a vote only Moher and Patrick McEvoy voted for Shine.

Works on the Big Ditch— Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Moore and two children, former residents of the Soo, but for the past three years at Panama, are visiting at the home of Mrs. Moore's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John McKay, at Sault Ste. Marie. Mr. Moore entered the employ of the government at Panama three years ago, since which time he has been in charge of one of the mammoth steam shovels and on the finishing line all the time. According to government regulations, Mr. Moore has earned a vacation with pay of 105 days and most of such time as remains will be spent in the Soo. "The work is progressing well at present," said Mr.

Moore; "in fact better progress is being made now than at any time since the work was started. The government is taking care of its employes as well as it can and there is comparatively little sickness in the zone. I expect to return to my work as soon as my vacation is ended, but whether or not I shall stick there until the canal is finished is a question that I cannot answer. Any old men are soon to receive medals which were promised them two years ago by President Roosevelt when he visited the work. Colonel Roosevelt gave the laboringmen credit for the work they were doing on the ditch as well as those who sat in the offices and he is a favorite with the men." Mr. and Mrs. Moore have a daughter six months old who was born in Panama.

Married to Two Men— Because she committed the indiscretion of having two husbands Mrs. Mary Mikelson Johnson Broman, formerly of Brantford, Conn., and recently the blissing bride of John Broman of Escanaba, occupies a cell at the Delta county jail, charged with bigamy and unable to furnish bail of $300. The work in Judge O. V. Linden's court room when she was bound over to the circuit court for trial, in the presence of her two husbands, was dramatic in the extreme.
Pleading first with husband No. 1 and then the second man that she had sworn to love, honor and obey to save her from the fate decreed by the court, the sobbing woman refused to be led from the court room when all help was denied her. Because of her actions it was finally necessary for Chief George Rowe to summon a carriage, and with the assistance of the woman's attorney she was carried down the stairs and placed in the back for the trip to the jail, where she is confined in the woman's ward.

The story of the woman's downfall and arrest sounds like a page torn from the most extreme work of fiction. Becoming disaffected with her first husband, William Johnson, and the home that he had provided for her at Branford, Conn., she advertised in the matrimonial column of the Finnish American of Brooklyn for a husband. Her advertisement was answered by John Broman of Escanaba and after a correspondence extending over two weeks Broman sent her a ticket and under the name of Mary Mikelson she arrived in Escanaba.
The couple were married on March 18
of this year and until a few days ago they had lived happily together. On that day on returning from his work Broman found a stranger in his house and was told that the man was the real husband of the woman he supposed to be his wife. Investigation showed that exactly one year before the date that Mrs. Johnson had married Broman, she was married to William Johnson at Brantford, Conn., by the Rev. Donaldson of that city. Broman sought the advice of the authorities, with the result that his erstwhile wife was charged with bigamy and has been held for trial at the next court term. Broman and Johnson have now become fast friends and after their wife had been committed to jail were seen constantly about the streets together.

S.S.S. PURELY S.S.S. VEGETABLE

The absolute vegetable purity of S.S.S. has always been one of the strongest points in its favor, and is one of the principal reasons why it is the most widely known and universally used of all blood medicines. A great many of the so-called blood purifiers are really nothing more than strong mineral mixtures which act so unpleasantly and disastrously on the delicate membranes and tissues of the stomach and bowels, that even if such treatment purified the blood, the condition in which the digestive system is left would often be more damaging to the health than the original trouble. Not so with S.S.S.—it is the greatest of all blood purifiers, and at the same time is an absolutely safe and harmless remedy. It is made entirely of the healing and cleansing extracts and juices of roots, herbs and barks, each of which is in daily use in some form by physicians and their practice. Years of work and research have proven S.S.S. to contain everything necessary to purify the blood and at the same time supply the system with the purest and best tonic effects. S.S.S. cures Rheumatism, Catarrh, Sores and Ulcers, Skin Diseases, Scrofula, Contagious Blood Poison and all other blood troubles, and it leaves the system in perfect condition when it has purified the blood. Book containing much valuable information on the blood and any medical advice desired sent free to all who write.

sworn to love, honor and obey to save
her from the fate decreed by the court,
the sobbing woman refused to be led
from the court room when all help was denied her. Because of her actions it was finally necessary for Chief George Rowe to summon a carriage, and with the assistance of the woman's attorney
she was carried down the stairs and placed in the back for the trip to the jail, where she is confined in the woman's ward.

the most extreme work of fiction. Becoming disaffected with her first husband, William Johnson, and the home
that he had provided for her at Branford, Conn., she advertised in the matrimonial column of the Finnish American
of Brooklyn for a husband. Her advertisement was answered by John Broman
of Escanaba and after a correspondence
extending over two weeks Broman sent
her a ticket and under the name of Mary Mikelson she arrived in Escanaba.
The couple were married on March 18
of this year and until a few days ago
they had lived happily together. On that day on returning from his work Broman found a stranger in his house
and was told that the man was the real
husband of the woman he supposed to be his wife. Investigation showed that
exactly one year before the date that
Mrs. Johnson had married Broman, she was married to William Johnson at Brantford, Conn., by the Rev. Donaldson of that city. Broman sought the

NYAL'S HOT SPRINGS BLOOD REMEDY PURIFIES THE BLOOD.

Do you feel worn out? Feel as though you could hardly go? These are symptoms of sluggish blood; blood that is not circulating right. Are you pale and anemic? This is caused by the blood not properly nourishing the cells of the body. Have you pimples or boils? They are the result of the blood failing to do its duty of carrying away waste material from the cells. If you have any of the above complaints do not suffer. COME TO US. We will recommend to you a bottle of Nyal's Hot Springs Blood Remedy. We know what it will do. We have seen the results. If you suffer from eczema, tetter, scrofula or any other skin disease, take a course treatment (not less than six bottles) and we will be greatly surprised if you are not cured. It is not a specific, but it is the nearest specific we know of, for skin and blood diseases. A dollar buys a large bottle.

Elevator Not Running—The elevator at the Savings Bank building is out of commission, while one of the cables is being replaced with a new one. A More Finished Performance—The Knights of Pythias gave a second performance of their minstrel show at the opera house last evening, to a small audience. The numbers went off with more dash and vim than at the first night performance and a decidedly more finished production was the result. The show was produced only after a great deal of hard work, and the slim patronage given it was a keen disappointment.
Concrete Walks Laid—The city began the summer's work of building concrete sidewalks Wednesday, when twelve men started to work on Hewitt avenue. Men are also at work in the quarry, but the crusher has not yet been started, as there is sufficient crushed rock left over from last year to supply the sidewalk crew for some time. There are now 125 applications for concrete walks on file at the office of the park, cemetery and street commission.

Owing to this death, the junior party, which was to have been given at the Normal this evening, has been postponed until Monday.

Motor Dray in Service—Flanigan Bros. motor dray was seen on the streets yesterday for the first time and attracted no little attention. During the forenoon the machine was given a thorough test in hill climbing, and proved more than equal to all that was claimed for it. It was run to the high school building, where a load of children were taken on and driven about town. Later the Normal was visited and a party of students were taken on a sight-seeing trip. In the afternoon two tons of paper were hauled from the station with ease. The machine presents a handsome appearance and can be equipped with seats for sixteen passengers. The owners are now ready to accept engagements for any and all automobile parties, and as well to promptly handle freight.

FIFTEEN WOLVES CAPTURED.

Homesteaders Have Harrowing Experience With Enraged Mother.
Henry Haver and Thomas Gallagher, homesteaders living near the Huron Mountain club grounds, appeared at the county clerk's office yesterday afternoon with fifteen wolf pelts, two of which were from full grown females and the remainder of the hides of their young. Ten of the smaller ones were from animals about five months old, and the remaining three were from little wolves less than a week old.
The two men told an interesting story of the capture of the younger litter, which might have been attended with fatal results, had not Mr. Haver brought his Colt's 38-caliber revolver into play and killed the enraged mother in the nick of time.
Mr. Haver and Mr. Gallagher have spent most of the winter hunting and trapping wolves with indifferent success, until their recent haul. One of the full grown animals brought to Marquette yesterday was trapped near her den and came found about a week ago in a hollow log. As there was no sign of the mother being about, Mr. Gallagher crawled into the log and had thrown one of the yelping babies out on the ground, when Mr. Haver, who was standing guard, saw the furious mother, not twenty feet away, rushing toward her young with half-standing straight up and jaws distended.
Realizing the danger of his companion inside the log, Mr. Haver opened fire with the revolver in his hand and did not stop until the nine shots had been discharged. The wolf fell dead just at the end of the log and it was found that three of the shots had taken effect. It is needless to say that Mr. Gallagher got out of the log as quickly as possible on hearing the shots, and does not care to repeat his experience. The remaining cubs, one of which is being nursed by the homestead, were caught by chopping a hole in the log.
For a single wolf to attack a man, as she did in this instance, is a very unusual occurrence, but it shows what chances the female will take when her young are in danger.

TWO TIMELY ORDINANCES.
Public Reminded of City Laws That May Have Been Forgotten.
In looking over the city ordinances yesterday, City Attorney Brown found two of timely interest, which may have been forgotten by the general public. One of the two refers to the letting of city work, and was passed in June, 1907. It provides that in hiring men the city should give preference to residents of the city who are citizens and if enough of this class are not to be had, choice shall be made from non-resident citizens, and that aliens are to be hired only as a last resort. Contractors taking municipal work are commanded to follow out the provisions of this ordinance, and if they fail to do so, the common council is empowered to annul their contracts.
The other ordinance applies to brush and limbs of trees extending over a street or sidewalk, and is as follows: "It is hereby made the duty of the owners and occupants of all the premises in the city abutting upon any public street or way, to cause the limbs and branches of all trees and shrubs on such premises, when the same project over the sidewalk or roadway, to be cut and kept trimmed to a height of at least ten feet above such sidewalk or roadway. No person shall assist any animal to enter trees, shrub or plant, or any fence, railing, fountain, statue or like structure, or injure or destroy the same in or upon any public street or way, or public ground or place in the city." This ordinance was passed in 1902.

NOTE ON STATE OFFICERS.

The average pluralities for members of the state board of agriculture are about the same as for the remainder of the Republican nominees.

BABY SHOW WINNERS.
The baby show at the Bijou came to a close Wednesday evening. For more than a week the theatre had been well filled nightly by those anxious to see and express an opinion as to which of the forty-two youngsters whose photographs were displayed on the screen was the prettiest. Wednesday night in particular the excitement ran high. A committee composed of W. O. Johnson and S. E. Rose counted the ballots yesterday with the result that the winners were found to be as follows:
First—No. 18 (Harold, eight-months-old son of Charles Christian); 512 votes.
Second—No. 22 (Lowell, son of Wm. Rivers, Jr.); 509 votes.
Third—No. 14 (Clyde, son of Robert Steele); 348 votes.
No. 5 received 303 votes; No. 4, 299; No. 11, 235; No. 30, 136. The lowest number of votes cast was twenty-eight.

MARINE NOTES.

The steamer Mariska, owned by the Pittsburg Steamship company, which unloaded a cargo of coal at the Pickands & Co. docks, cleared last yesterday afternoon with a cargo of ore, for delivery at Lake Erie ports.

A coroner's jury at Superior, Wis., has brought in a verdict that James O'Rourke, who was killed in a strike riot, was shot to death by persons unknown.

Captain Perry, the new captain of the revenue cutter Tuscarora, of Milwaukee, is convinced that Lake Superior needs a cutter, for he believes there must be much smuggling across the border along the Lake Superior coast.

The American Shipbuilding company announced some time ago, that it had contracts for three 10,000-ton steamers. As to who they were for was kept dark for a time, but it has just been announced that one of the boats is for M. A. Hanna & Co., one for A. T. McKimney of Cleveland, and the third for J. J. H. Brown of Buffalo.

Vessel Passages at the Soo. Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., May 13.—The boats whose names are here appended have passed the canal for the past twenty-four hours, bound for ports on the Lake Superior: Christie, Interlaken, 9:30 last night; Vahl, 11; Mataafa, 11:30; A. WANTS VIRGINIA TO RETURN LAND President Taft Seeks to Recover Section Ceded to State in 1846. Washington, May 13.—Following President Taft's suggestion that agitation be started for the recovery of the thirty square miles of the District of Columbia retroceded to Virginia in 1846, half a dozen movements will be under way before the week is out.

"I have never been able to satisfy myself that that retrocession was within the power of congress to make. They ought to attempt to settle it once in the supreme court of the United States, but the supreme court has a facility in avoiding the main question, born of long practice."

"It might be possible by agitating the question in a legal way to induce another settlement, by which we should get the only part of it that we would really like to have, the part that we now own in fee the 1,100 acres of the Arlington estate, and a great deal that is unoccupied, leaving Alexandria Falls Church out, and taking in only that which is in heretofore, so that we may have it under our foot-riding control, where we can build roads and make the district still more beautiful."

MARKETS

NEW YORK STOCKS.

Paine, Webber & Co.'s correspondent at New York yesterday, telegraphed as follows: "Early irregularities were followed by a recovery. Bullish tendencies and pool operations in specialties, particularly the coalers, were again in evidence. The undercurrent during the session was good, although it was noted in some quarters that the professional elements were endeavoring to force a substantial reaction, but the demand from outside sources has increased considerably during the past few weeks, and the absorbing power has been of a character which seems to indicate that public confidence in prevailing levels has greatly increased. Numerous reports are being circulated in regard to the most active issues, most of which have no basis in fact, but the same source the purpose of creating enthusiasm among traders. The action of the market at this time seems to indicate that a sharp recession is not unlikely at almost any time, but in good quarters it is still felt that higher levels will be witnessed ultimately."

THE NUMBER OF SHARES SOLD DURING THE DAY WERE AS FOLLOWS:

Writing from Boston yesterday, Paine, Webber & Co. had the following to say of the stock market: "The whole market lapsed into dullness again today, with no feature of particular interest. North Butte ranged between 60 1/2 and 61 1/2, trading very much scattered. East Butte held firmly around 13 1/2, with rights selling freely at 65 cents. We consider East Butte very cheap at the present prices, and advise all holders to keep their rights and subscribe on them, and if possible, buy more rights at the present prices and take up the stock at 10. Paine says: 'East Butte, record May 13, has rights to subscribe for one new share for four old at $10 per share; expires June 1. Books close May 19, open June 2.' Butte Coalition was sold on New York orders, but we do not think the liquidation has any significance. Keep long of the good copper for a good advance."

ACCUSED OF BEATING BOY.

Two Iowa Teachers Are Arrested and Arraigned in Police Court. Des Moines, Ia., May 13.—The Misses Maud Ewin and Ida May Tilden, teachers in the Longfellow school here, were arrested this afternoon, charged with having beaten nine-year-old David Kaplan. Tonight at a trial before Police Judge Stewart behind closed doors, the teachers pleaded not guilty. Their trial was set for May 22. The teachers accuse the boy of stealing a $5 bill from Miss Tilden. When he denied the charge, he says, they beat him.

COURT REFUSES TO DISMISS.

Private Klein to Be Tried for the Killing of Earl Nelson. Kankakee, Ills., May 13.—Judge Harris this afternoon overruled a motion to dismiss the murder charge against Private Joseph B. Klein, of Company A, First regiment, Illinois National Guard, of Chicago, for the death of Earl Nelson of Kankakee, who he is accused of fatally stabbing last September while the regiment was passing through the city to aid in checking the Springfield riots. The judge held that the legislature gives no statutory authority for trial jurisdiction. An exception was immediately taken by the defense, who moved to quash the indictment, on the ground that the civil courts have no jurisdiction. The motion was overruled. Judge Harris will hear the case some time in June.

HER SENTENCE IS ONE YEAR.

Marion Gray, Matrimonial Agent, at Chicago, Is Denied a Rehearing. Chicago, May 13.—The United States court of appeals today denied the petition for a rehearing in the case of Marion Gray, convicted of using the mails to defraud by means of a matrimonial agency. It is said that the federal prosecutors will ask for an order committing the woman to the Bridewell within a few days. She was sentenced to one year in that institution.

FIVE YEARS AT HARD LABOR.

LIABILITY LAW FOR ALL.

Held to Apply Regardless of the Extent of the Railroad. The Explanation of the Suit Against the New Haven—Government Intervenes to Protect the Act—Local Lines Have Direct Connection With Interstate Tracks—Under Wickersham's Opinion the Law Includes All Steam Roads in the Country. Washington, May 13.—By the intervention of the federal government in the suit of Edgar G. Monou versus the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad company, filed recently in the state of Connecticut, one of the broadest assertions of Federal power ever made is in part the issue. The case is brought in a state court, the supreme court of a state court, the supreme court of a state court, New London county, second judicial district of Connecticut, under the railroad employers' liability act, which passed Congress April 22, 1906. The intervention of the attorney general of the United States in a state court is anomalous, but is a part of recognized procedure. By like permission of the court also, the government has intervened in a suit soon to be tried in the supreme court of the state of Arkansas, involving certain questions under the safety appliance act.

STICKS TO CEDAR RAPIDS.

Order of Railroad Conductors Refuses to Move to Indianapolis. Boston, May 13.—Cedar Rapids, Ia., will continue to be the headquarters of the grand division of the Order of Railway Conductors. Although W. T. Taylor, formerly attorney general of Indiana, and Charles A. Bookwalter, of Indianapolis, made strong pleas at today's session of the grand division in favor of the Indiana city, they could not induce the convention to move the general offices. James H. Trewin, chairman of the Iowa board of education, and J. H. Grimm, of Cedar Rapids, upheld the interests of that place. No other business was transacted, the delegates for the coming year of the order being the guests of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen.

legally be used. No doubt a decision of such import, whether for or against the contention of the Government, would be carried to the highest court in the land.

Apparently it is a part of the policy of the Administration to guard the constitutional questions involved in State litigation of this kind as far as this can be legally and properly done. It is said that the tendency of judicial decisions in the various courts of the country is toward the affirmation of the great powers involved in the Connecticut suit. The case for the government probably will be argued by O.E. Harrison of the Department of Justice.

MAINE MAN FOUNDED COLLEGE IN TURKEY. American Institution at Constantinople Which Did Much to Stir Up the Spirit of Liberty Was Started by Dr. Cyrus Hamlin, a Man Who Won the Sultan's Regard by His Inventive Genius. Portland, Me., May 13.—The seed sown by a Maine Yankee has borne fruit in Turkey, and a constitution is now in force there. The people of Maine who recall Dr. Cyrus Hamlin, and who know something of his struggles and his work at Constantinople now realize, perhaps for the first time, what a mighty labor the Maine man undertook three-score years ago when, in a small way, he founded Robert College in the Turkish capital. It was in 1863 that Cyrus Hamlin, then twenty-seven years old, journeyed to Constantinople with his newly wedded wife to take up his life work. He was in the employ of the American board of commissioners for foreign missions.

He did not know the Turkish language or the Turkish methods, but he soon became familiar with both. He went about establishing a school, secular as well as religious in its character, in the face of the opposition of the Sheikh-ul-Islam, the head of the Mahomedan faith. With him labored other American missionaries, not only of our own country, but of other countries. Robert College, had it recognized by his own government and placed under its protection, and there for nineteen years he served as the preceptor of young Turks.

Came of Noted Family. Cyrus Hamlin was born in Waterford, forty miles from Portland. He was a cousin of Hannibal Hamlin, Lincoln's running mate on the electoral ticket of 1860, and Vice-President of the United States. The father of Cyrus, afterward the missionary, and of Hannibal, later Vice-President, were also named Cyrus and Hannibal. Their father was a revolutionary soldier. The General Court of Massachusetts gave him a township of land in the district of Maine. Mr. Hamlin came to Maine, then a wilderness a little way back from the coast, and looked at the professed township. "It is now supporting a numerous population of bears," he wrote. "I do not care to dispute the title to the rocky hillsides with them." Massachusetts meant well by Maj. Hamlin, however, and gave his four sons a farm each in Waterford, where Cyrus Hamlin was born in 1811.

"Cyrus Hamlin went to work in his brother-in-law's silversmith and jewelry shop," said an old resident in recalling the youth of the great missionary. "He was so bashful that he blushed like a girl if any one spoke to him. In those days silver spoons were made by hand, not by machinery, and when the country boy learned that he could hammer out a passable silver spoon as well as the other men in the shop, his pride knew no bounds. Early in his experience in Portland he became connected with the Congregational Church of which Edward Payson was the pastor. There he decided to go into the ministry, and not having sufficient means to attain an education, the church pledged itself for $1,000 to assist him.

Inventor and Missionary. Hamlin went to Bridgton Academy, of which the Rev. Charles Soule was then the principal. He entered Bowdoin in the class of 1834 and later was graduated from the Bangor Theological school.

"Two things I think I can claim to have done," Dr. Hamlin once said in an address delivered here many years ago. "I made and ran the first steam engine ever constructed in the state, and I made the first speech in favor of prohibition which was ever made in this state."

The steam engine was made in the laboratory at Bowdoin College. The engine was set up by Hamlin, and ran. It was a crude affair, but the young man travelled all over Maine for a little while delivering lectures upon it, and made considerable money to help him on with his college course. Before he was ordained in the old Second Parish Church in Portland in 1838, he had determined to go abroad as a missionary.

Time again he was with other missionaries, were warned to leave Constantinople. When the academy at Belk was founded in 1840 it had to be closed several times because of the hostility of the Turkish officials. Commo-re Porter, then in command in the Mediterranean station, was appealed to for protection by the American missionaries. He refused to protect them and said that they remained in Turkey at their own risk.

One thing which helped was the fact that Hamlin had known Prof. Morse, who invented the telegraph. When the Sultan, Abdul Medjid, heard of the wires which could talk he sent for Dr. Hamlin to come and explain how it was done. The Yankee, an inventor himself of no mean ability, explained the instruments to the Sultan and won his friendly regard. Only for this his friends claim, he would never have been allowed to continue his work in Turkey for the period covering the years in which the persecution of the Christians continued.

Christopher B. Robert of New York endowed the college which bears his name. It took years to secure a site and establish this college. Many Turks who came under Dr. Hamlin's personal influence were later influential government officials.

On his return to the United States in 1877 Dr. Hamlin was connected with the Bangor Theological school for three years and then went to the college at Middleburg, Vt. He died in Portland Aug. 5, 1900, having been in attendance at the centennial anniversary of the church in which he was ordained as a minister and at the house of his nephew, Cyrus Farley, son of the man in whose house he had passed his first night away from his mother's home.

A curious story comes from Seville. On Sunday night the local executioner died, his death being due to remorse. For several years he had not carried out any executions, but recently he was summoned to execute the last criminal condemned in Seville, and the sentence will have to be carried out by the Madrid executioner.

There are very few cities in the country with a population the size of Ishpeming that have a greater number of fraternal societies. There are now thirty-nine here, with a prospect that the number will soon be increased to forty-two. W. J. Hebbard, district deputy of the Woodmen of the World, will organize a camp here some evening next week, and a little later he plans to start a Finnish camp of the society. Mrs. Sunday, an organizer of tents for the Lady Maccabees of the World, is also working in the city, and she expects to put in a branch within a few weeks. The Maccabees of the World now have three lodges in the upper peninsula, at the Soo, Manistique and Marquette.

Mr. Hebbard said yesterday that he anticipates increasing the membership of the Ishpeming camp to 100 before the close of the summer. A uniform rank will be established in connection with the lodge. The order is eighteen years old and has the largest cash surplus of any fraternal society in the country, having over $9,000,000 in an emergency fund. It is also credited with being the largest order of its age in the world. It has over 700,000 members in the United States and Canada, and is second in size to the Modern Woodmen of America.

Mr. Hebbard, who a short time ago took up organization work, expects to continue in it, as he is meeting with good success. He believes that he will have little trouble securing members. The increase in membership last year was 115,946 and 1,337 camps were instituted. There are now over 9,000 camps.

The society erects a $100 monument over the grave of every deceased member. Three monuments have already been erected in Park cemetery, Marquette, where the camp was instituted seventeen years ago. Last year 2,960 monuments were unveiled. The society pays old age benefits at seventy years, paying one-tenth each year until the face of the policy has been covered.

"MONTANA" PRAISED.

Theatre Manager Says It is the Best Attraction Played This Season.

R. Hubble, manager of the Gladstone theatre, yesterday wired the manager of the Ishpeming theatre as follows: "Montana last night. Best show here this season. Great cast."

"Montana" will be the offering at the Ishpeming theatre tomorrow evening. The play has a strong and consistent plot, and so great is its success that the company is playing return engagements in many places. Henry D. Carey, author of the play, spent some years in Montana and he has given a true atmosphere to his drama. The advance sale of seats will open this morning. ADOPTED RECOMMENDATION.

United States Senate Voted Favorably on Iron Ore Tariff Schedule.

Congressman H. O. Young last evening introduced W. H. Johnston and others in the city that the senate had adopted the committee's recommendation of twenty-five cents per ton duty on iron ore. The vote was sixty-one to twenty-four. While this result was anticipated the people of this section will be pleased at the committee's recommendation was favorably acted on by the senate. It is the general opinion of mining men here that the bill will be passed without any further change in the iron ore duty.

The announcement in Wednesday's issue that the gymnasium at the Young Men's Christian association is to be opened during a few hours each Sunday, was erroneous. The gymnasium will be closed all day Sunday.

The fair to be conducted by the ladies of St. Joseph's church will open on Saturday, Sept. 18, and close the following Saturday, the 25th. The ladies are now soliciting articles for the fair and are meeting with excellent success.

The members of the junior class of the Ishpeming High school expect to entertain an unusually large number of their friends this evening at Braastad's Hall, when their annual reception to the seniors is to take place. The hall is being very attractively decorated and the function promises to be a most enjoyable one.

Lee Garrison, a scenic artist and sign writer, has been engaged to paint new scenery for the Bijou theatre in this city and Negauence. C. A. WORK WEAKENS THE KIDNEYS.

Doan's Kidney Pills Have Done Great Service for People Who Work in Marquette.

Most Marquette people work every day in some strained, unnatural position—bending constantly over a desk—riding on jolting wagons or cars—doing laborious housework; lifting, reaching or pulling, or trying the back in a hundred and one other ways. All these strains tend to wear, weaken and injure the kidneys until they fall behind in their work of filtering the poisons from the blood. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys, put new strength in bad backs. Marquette cures prove it.

David Carr, Marquette, Mich., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills did me more good than any other remedy I ever used. I had a constant, dull pain across the small of my back and was so weak at times that I was helpless. If I sat in a chair for any length of time, my back became so lame that I could not arise without catching hold of something for support. On several occasions I was so bad that I had to lay off from work. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills highly advertised, I decided to give them a trial and procured a box at the Stafford Drug Co. They helped me from the first and in a short time I grew stronger and the pains left my back. My health has been good ever since and I give Doan's Kidney Pills the credit."

MEN BARGAIN HUNTERS.

F. Braastad & Co. created a furry of excitement Wednesday by placing on sale several hundred men's and boys' hats of various sizes, styles, shapes and qualities, for ten cents each. There was a rush such as had never before been experienced at any store in Ishpeming, in many feet of the counters where the hats were being sold. Hundreds of school children rushed in and many men bought hats by the dozen and half dozen. Some of the hats at one time retailed at $2 to $3 each, and others had brought from $4 to $5.

The news spread through the city rapidly and as a result hundreds of men and boys who did not get around Wednesday called yesterday, but the hats had all been cleaned out.

There was another rush yesterday, when men's and boys' socks were offered at five cents a pair, or six pairs for twenty-five cents. Many women who were at the store Wednesday and yesterday were greatly amused at the actions of the men, who at times were almost falling over each other.

WANT TRIALS ON RANGE

Companies Operating on Mesaba Anvied by Personal Injury Cases.

The mining corporations operating properties on the Mesaba range have decided to make an effort to have as many of their personal injury cases as possible tried in the district where the plaintiff is injured, instead of at Duluth. The companies have been put to much inconvenience and extra expense during the past few years on account of litigation instituted by former employees who have sustained injuries at the mines. It is said that hundreds of the personal injury cases would not have been instituted were it not for the fact that certain Duluth lawyers are continually working them up. Besides being put to the expense of sending their representatives and lawyers to Duluth to attend the trials, the mining superintendents, physicians and others who are usually called as witnesses are losing time that could be spent to good advantage at the mines.

The personal injury lawyers and the mining companies have clashed on this question a number of times. The suits filed against the corporations are now in the hands of the court for a decision as to where they shall be tried. The mining companies demand trial at the range, and the plaintiffs object.

It is held on the Mesaba that not many personal injury cases instituted against the companies are started without good grounds. One workman, who had a finger injured, losing the nail, recently began suit for $6,000 damages.

It is said that the lawyers who are pushing the cases have representatives at the depot in Duluth watching the trains coming from the range. They go after every man who looks as though he had been injured.

FROM MORGAN'S CURB LETTER.

"Today's trading in coppers was less active than for some days past, and price changes as a rule were unimportant, showing small declines in most instances. Case Butte was fractionally lower on selling by tired holders, but pointers are out to pick it up around 13. Pressure is again off Greene Cananea, and it appeals to us as about the safest purchase on the list. Butte Copper is getting cheap again, also Shamrock. At times it should prove an excellent investment. On the curb, Ray-Cent is still the feature, although the volume of transactions is somewhat diminished. San Antonio is in urgent request and sold at 14 1/2, the high point on this movement. Their last weekly report is most interesting, showing 64 feet of lead was cut in No. 1 tunnel last week. The mine in No. 3 tunnel has attained a depth of 24 feet, and is still in high grade ore. All offerings of Chiet Consolidated at 1 1/2 have been cleaned up, and we are told shipments will begin next week. Some important news will be announced shortly, which should add greatly to the attractiveness of this stock. Live Oak and Cactus were quiet. The New York list has developed into a market of specialties, and appears a little top-heavy. A sharp break there would be reflected in coppers, but we would not expect the latter on all breaks. The metal market remains unchanged."

EXPECT BETTER PRICES FOR TIMBER PRODUCTS

PROMINENT DEALER SAYS THAT OPERATORS IN THE DISTRICT SOUTH OF HERE HAVE LEARNED A GOOD LESSON THROUGH LULL IN BUSINESS.

The timber dealers of this district expect better prices for their products than they received last season. A Negaunee man yesterday said that the prices on several kinds of timber have advanced during the past few weeks and he expects at least a 10 per cent further increase by fall. Cedar poles and posts, which sold down to low prices a year ago this spring, have had an advance of about 10 per cent since February. Cedar ties are now selling at forty cents and hemlock ties at thirty cents. The high price on cedar ties during the boom period of two years ago was fifty cents, and the high price for hemlock ties thirty-eight cents.

There has also been an advance in the price of pulp wood, which is now selling at $2.50 per cord. The demand for pulp wood was slack all winter, and as a result, the jobbers in the district south of here did not get out their usual surplus. The price of pulp may increase to $6.50 by fall, as the stock on hand at the paper mills in Wisconsin is said to be much lower than usual. On this account the demand for pulp wood should be excellent when work is again resumed at the camps. The highest price paid for pulp wood in this region during the boom times was $7 per cord, delivered on the cars.

Some of the jobbers, who had not closed contracts for the sale of their timber last fall, did not find a ready market for it during the season, but most of them have succeeded in disposing of nearly everything they have cut. There is little timber either in the woods or on the sidings, as cars were plentiful during the last few months of the season, and the jobbers had no particular difficulty getting out their timber.

"I think the lull in the timber market during the last year and a half will prove a mighty good thing for the industry," said the dealer. "Prior to the slump the jobbers, and particularly the smaller ones, did not know where they were at. Most of them were holding their timber for exorbitant prices and the ones who did sell seemed to be suspicious of the buyers. They imagined that they were getting the worst of the deal, no matter what price they received. It was a mighty difficult, and at times unpleasant, task to do business with them, as they were unreasonable in their demands. The fall in the prices and the poor demand for practically all grades of timber has opened the eyes of many of the jobbers, who have learned a good lesson.

"Most of the jobbers who are capable of conducting their business economically will make as much money on present prices as they did two years ago, as there will be less extravagance. During the boom times the jobbers had much trouble keeping men, but they had no difficulty in that respect during the season recently closed. Men were plentiful and were not independent. I know of many lumbermen who wet into camps in the fall and did not come out until spring. For several years previous these same men seldom remained at a camp more than a month, when they drew their money and left for another place where they thought they would get better wages."

Many saw mills have been started up during the past three or four weeks, and practically every plant in this region is now working, though some of them are not running up to capacity. Many operators have small mills and are cutting their timber. It is said that they can get better prices for the timber than for the logs.

TO IMPROVE CHURCH.

Member of St. Paul's Congregation Offers Contribution.

At both masses at St. Paul's church last Sunday Rev. Charles Langner, the pastor, read a letter he had received from a woman member of the congregation, offering $250 to be used for the improvement of the entrance to the church. The name was withheld, but she proposed to give this amount, if other members of the congregation would contribute a like sum. She thought that with $500 the church could be provided with new steps, a new sidewalk, new doors and that the vestibule could be enlarged. The present doors are six feet in width, and it is proposed that they be made two feet wider. The vestibule also will be increased in size.

Father Langner was favorably impressed with the offer, he expressed the hope that the $250 to be raised among the parishioners be collected without delay. L. E. Chausse, the contractor, is preparing a sketch for the improvements, and it is expected that the trustees will decide to have the work done.

FISH FRY COMING MONDAY.

W. H. Mitchell, secretary of the Negaunee Gun and Rod club, received notice yesterday from the management of the fish hatchery at the Soo, advising him that 28,000 brook trout fry will be received in Negaunee, via the South Shore train, next Monday morning at 7:45. The officers of the club some time ago made application for fish for the streams and lakes in this vicinity. A meeting of the club has been called for this evening at 7:30 o'clock at No. 1 hose house, for the appointment of committees to look after the distribution of the fry.

MAY AGAIN LOCATE HERE.

Joseph Simoni, who spent the past several days in the city, visiting relatives and friends, left Wednesday night for his home in Chicago. He recently disposed of his saloon business there and it is possible that he will return to Negaunee. His family will visit their old home in Italy during the summer and it is more than likely that they will come to Negaunee upon their return. Mr. Simoni did fairly well in Chicago, but his family prefers to live in Negaunee.

IMAGINED HE WAS MAYOR.

Negaunee Business Man Examined Yesterday as to His Sanity.

Friends of John Simoni, who conducts a confectionery store in the Caples building on Iron street, have been watching him very closely for several days, and yesterday he was taken to Marquette by Alex Hill and John Wentzella, in the former's automobile, for an examination as to his sanity. Simoni has imagined for some days that he was mayor of Negaunee and has given police officers and others all sorts of orders. Monday he imagined that one of the policemen was not carrying out instructions and he told him that his services were no longer required. He told nearly everyone with whom he came in contact that he had put the liquor dealers out of business, and that Negaunee was a "dry" town. He stopped a young lady riding a bicycle Wednesday and started to give her a lecture on the prohibition subject, insisting that he had closed the saloons and that prohibition would prevail from this time on. Simoni, who is well thought of, is a prohibition worker. His health has been failing, and about four months ago he started to take iron. He has been John Till, the pastor here, of Alameda, Wis. He visited Till twice, the last time about four weeks ago. It was some days ago evident that his mind was affected and that he was gradually getting worse. He has been doing a fine business and is popular with his countrymen. Simoni has a wife and two small children. His brother-in-law will look after his business during his absence.

LOCAL LACONICS.

G. C. Carlson, of Duluth, was a business visitor to Negaunee yesterday.

D. B. McDonald, the diamond drill contractor, is here from the Mesaba range.

The memorial services under auspices of Charles H. Towne post of the Grand Army are to take place on Monday, the 31st, instead of on the previous Sunday, as at first planned. Orders to conduct the exercises on Monday were recently received from Washington.

The paydays for the month start today, when the Cleveland-Cliffs employes will receive their checks. The Rolling Mill men will be paid tomorrow and those at the Hartford Tuesday. The men at the Regent group will receive their checks Wednesday and those at the Mary Charlotte Thursday.

The members of the Junior class of the Negaunee High school have made extensive preparations for the reception and hop to be tendered the Seniors tonight in the gymnasium of the new school building. The room has been artistically decorated with the colors of the classes and dainty refreshments are to be served. The function promises to be the event of the season.

The Nellie Kennedy Stock company, which opened a three nights' engagement last evening at McDonald's opera house, gave excellent satisfaction and it is expected that it will receive good patronage during the remainder of the engagement. There will be a change of bill and specialties tonight and tomorrow night, also tomorrow afternoon. The matinee prices will be ten and twenty cents.

The funeral of late Mrs. Chris Messner, held Wednesday morning from St. Paul's Church, was attended by several relatives from the copper country. Among them were James Messner, wife and two daughters, Mrs. William G. Wall, Mrs. U. Messner, John Messner and Mrs. J. Morgan, all of whom returned home yesterday. Mrs. Messner and Mrs. Morgan are sisters of the deceased. John Messner and Mrs. G. Wall are brother and sister, respectively, of Chris Messner and Mrs. H. Messner is his mother.

The Marquette County Gas & Electric company has a large crew of men putting in new ties on the street car line this week. The track on Cyr street, where the cars have left the rails frequently during the past two or three years, is being rebuilt from the intersection of Iron to the diamond crossing. The company will on Monday begin putting in gas service. A crew will be employed in each city. It has been impossible to start the work earlier on account of the frost in the ground. The company has a large number of prospective customers and it is expected that men will be employed on this work all summer.

Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

Weak and unhealthy kidneys are responsible for much sickness and suffering, therefore, if kidney trouble is permitted to continue, serious results are most likely to follow. Your other organs may need attention, but your kidneys most, because they do most and should have attention first. Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a trial will convince you of its great merit.

The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root, the great kidney and bladder remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest because its remarkable health restoring properties have been proven in thousands of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, and don't let a dealer sell you something in place of Swamp-Root—if you do you will be disappointed.

MAKING DYNAMITE DANGEROUS WORK

Men Who Manufacture Explosives Are Well Paid Employes.

ACCIDENTS INFREQUENT.

Greatest Precautions Taken to Prevent Disaster—How the Work Is Done.

New York, May 13.—The value of dynamite and kindred explosives in the eyes of peace is so great that instead of being regarded as destructive they are prized among the constructive forces in industry. It is estimated that 30 per cent of the industrial development of the United States is dependent upon high power explosives. Without these products nearly every line of industry would be paralyzed. When it is considered that these mightiest of forces are essential to mining, tunneling canal digging, bridge construction and railroad and skyscraper building, their importance is realized.

Dynamite in the making is deceptive in that there is little in appearance to indicate that frightful forces are in the process of creation; for the surface of things is peaceful enough. In the mixing building nitroglycerin is being mixed in thousands of gallons, rippling down leaden gutters into great tanks. It is driven by cold air through lead coils, piped off, drawn off, poured off and agitated through one stage of preparation to another; yet a teaspoonful of this same liquid could make a cyclone blanch. In other houses which are separated by uniform distances and connected by narrow gauge tracks men are working nitroglycerin and pulp cotton into dynamite and blasting gelatine.

In perfecting nitroglycerin the greatest care is used. While it is being tused with nitric and sulphuric acids in great caddis holding hundreds of gallons an expert keeps sending a cooling stream through coils in order to keep the temperature below eighty degrees. It must also constantly be kept agitated while in the mixing process. Should the temperature exceed eighty degrees or should the liquid cease to stir a destructive explosion might instantly take place.

Accidents Are Few.

Most of the explosions in mixing houses are credited to overheating and impaired agitation, though as a matter of fact exceedingly few men who have knowledge of its cause ever have lived to tell it. For this reason it is said that even the most expert workers are unable to say when an explosion is about to occur, and, after it has taken place, can only guess at the cause. Accidents in dynamite and powder mills are exceedingly infrequent, indeed out of all proportion to the risk. Many safety appliances are used—safety walls, exit doors and the like. Buildings are lighted electrically, there being no wiring at all in the dangerous houses, which are lighted from the outside. Besides this every article used in and about the machinery is made with special care. All persons entering the grounds of a dynamite plant are thoroughly searched, matches, knives and all metallic substances which would produce a spark are carefully excluded.

CHILD LABOR IN ENGLAND.

Federal Bureau Makes a Report on Conditions Abroad.

Darkest Spots No Worse Than Some in America—Overtime for the Young Is Hardly Known—Beneficial Effect of the Factory Laws Is Very Evident.

Washington, May 13.—Many of the conditions surrounding woman and child workers in Great Britain are very bad, and seem to casual observation to be worse than those of similar workers in most parts of America. But the darkest spots in the older country are probably no darker than some which may be found in America. This is the opinion of Dr. Victor S. Clark, expressed in an article on "Woman and child workers in Great Britain," published in Bulletin No. 80 of the Bureau of Labor, Department of Commerce and Labor. The article is a study of the factory laws of Great Britain relating to the employment of women and children, and a discussion of their effect upon the social and economic condition of these classes of workers. A child may begin working in a factory or above ground at a mine when twelve years of age, but must attend school regularly half time; at thirteen years of age he may begin working full time under certain restrictions. From fourteen to seventeen years of age, inclusive, he is a young person in the eyes of the law. In textile factories young persons may work from 6 or 7 A. M. to 6 or 7 P. M., but not more than 33 1/2 hours weekly, and in other factories either the same hours or from 8 A. M. to 8 P. M., but not more than sixty hours a week. Women are in most cases subject to the same regulations as young persons, but in certain industries they may work a limited amount of overtime. For children and young persons overtime hardly exists in Great Britain.

The number of children working half time in Great Britain has decreased materially in recent years, and this is said to have been due mainly to restrictive legislation. Employers no longer consider youthful labor the most profitable; the sentiment of parents is changing, and working people are better able to get along without the wages of their children. The law places general restrictions upon the employment of children outside of school and gives authority to local governing bodies to increase these restrictions. The general experience is that licensing not only lessens the number of children trading on the street, but diminishes from year to year the number even of licensed children and helps to prevent juvenile crime. It is now sought to establish the principle of the minimum wage for home workers by means of wage boards similar to those adopted by most of the Australian States. Regarding their economic effects the factory laws have been a potent cause in shortening and making regular the working day of women and children, without interrupting the progressive improvement in wages. There has been a decrease in the proportion of the female population working in industrial occupations and a concentration in larger manufacturing establishments of much female labor until recently distributed among the homes; there has also been a decrease in the employment of children. The health and morals of operatives have been helped by improved factory accommodations, better sanitation, separation of the sexes during labor, and the guarding of dangerous machinery and processes. Educational requirements for children have helped to enforce compulsory education and the necessity for certificates of fitness for employment has made parents more solicitous for the health of their children. The value of a study of British conditions, according to Dr. Clark, lies in the more vivid appreciation that it gives of the possible evil tendencies of even regulated industrialism upon workers. Broader and more generous remedies must be discovered for these evils before it is too late. Such remedies are being experimented with in England. There must be improvement of conditions in the homes of the workers, in the intimate affairs of domestic life, and this can be brought about only by gradually introducing higher efficiency, higher earnings, and a more intelligent distribution of home expenditures. Panama is to have an international exposition in 1918. The project was instituted and is still in private hands.

AIMED TO PREVENT DISASTROUS FIRES

CLEVELAND CLIFFS EMPLOYEES MUST MAKE REPORT OF EVERY BLAZE, HOWEVER SMALL.

IMPROVEMENTS ON RAILROAD

Unique Engineering Project Under Way at Rainy Creek—A Gasoline Section Car to Be Tried Out.

Without waiting for possible legislative enactment, the Cleveland Cliffs Iron Company is already taking the same stringent precautions to prevent forest fires along its railway lines, mining and other property that were observed last year and fire report blanks are now being sent out to all section foremen, conductors and engineers and the superintendents of the mining and land departments.

The purpose of these blanks is to secure a complete report of every fire, however small, that occurs on or near any of the company's property. When ever a fire is noticed by any of the company's employees, a report is made out and promptly sent in to the head office of the department.

Among the questions that must be answered are: Date and time of day of fire, direction and distance from nearest building, direction and velocity of wind, grass or brush fire, who was at place of fire first, what caused it, what was done toward putting it out, is fire out or still burning, property destroyed and by whom owned, present conditions of woods, whether dry or wet, and any other special facts regarding it.

To Conductors and Engineers.

The following general instructions to conductors and engineers are printed on the back of the blank:

"With the increased amount of cleared lands and changing the question of forest fires is a serious one, both from the standpoint of loss of property to others as well as a loss of business to the railroad.

"If engineers have reason to think their engine is starting fires, report every case to your headquarters so that investigation can be made.

"On portions of road like Big Bay line and on East branch, where trains run only one round trip a day and small fires are discovered on right of way or near the right of way, stop and put them out, if it is possible to do so, and conductors report the occurrence to train despatcher from first telegraph office.

"In all cases of fires noticed on right of way or near there, conductors will wire train despatcher the location and particulars so that word can be sent to section men.

"Ordinarily section men should only attend to fires on their own section but if another section gang is the first one reached after discovering a fire and the conditions in your mind warrant it, notify the adjoining section gang to go to the fire.

"Report cases and locations of campers and others who start fires on right of way or near there and who leave without putting out the fire.

"Bear in mind that if a fire is put out as soon as it starts, there will be no damage."

Directions to Section Foremen.

Section foremen are instructed as follows:

"You will report on this blank all fires on right of way or near right of way along your sections, whether any damage has been done or not, or whether fires start on right of way or come on to right of way from elsewhere; the object being to gather information of how fires start and how often they occur, so that everything can be done to prevent fires spreading and causing damage to timber and other property.

"Do all you can to find out what started the fire and if started by campers or persons walking on the track, try to get their names and address, also try and find out as near as possible the exact time the fire started.

"Put out any fire you discover along right of way or near right of way so that wind will not spread it and be particular about this in dry weather.

"Make reports on the day you know of the fire so that engines can be examined and investigations made at once.

"Train and engine men have instructions to report to train despatcher any fire they see and when you get notice of such fire go to it and put it out.

"Ordinarily section men should only attend to fires on their own section, but conductors and engineers have instructions to watch for fires and if conditions warrant it, to notify first section crew they reach to go to a fire on another section and you will do so if receiving such a notice.

"Bear in mind that if small fires are put out as soon as they are found, it may prevent loss of property of others as well as your own.

"Turn no ties or rubbish on right of way unless notified by chief engineer or roadmaster to do so.

"Stop campers or others from building fires on right of way and report to chief engineer any cases where fires are started by campers or others and not put out.

"The greatest care must be used by everyone to prevent fires, especially in dry weather."

The Cleveland Cliffs are believed to be the only railway companies in the country taking such stringent precautions against fires, or requiring a similar report from their employees.

Concrete Box Culvert.

A unique and interesting engineering work now under construction on the L. S. & I. railway is a box concrete culvert 287 feet long under a ninety-five foot fill, where the road crosses Rainy creek.

This work was made necessary by the breaking of the iron water pipe that carried the water of the stream across the right of way. As this is a sand fill, a tunnel was first driven through, which had to be heavily timbered. The tunnel is now finished and the concrete work on the culvert has been begun.

When completed, the water aperture will be three feet square.

This method of concrete culvert construction is original with Chief Engineer R. S. Young, and, so far as is known, is in practice by no other railroad in the country. This is the third structure of the kind that has been constructed under Mr. Young's direction, one having been built near Dead river siding and another near the one now under construction, about two years ago.

The Rainy creek culvert will be longer than either of the others, and under a much larger fill.

Gasoline Section Car.

Another innovation that will be tried out by the Cleveland Cliffs roads this summer is a gasoline car for section men, one of which has been ordered from the Duntley Manufacturing Company, of Chicago. Gasoline section cars are in use on the Chicago-Omaha division of the C. M. & St. Paul road, and it was there that Mr. Young saw them in operation. As the car can be speeded up to twenty-five miles an hour, much longer stretches of track can be looked after by a section crew than with the hand-propelled car. It is thought that these cars will be especially convenient on parts of the Cleveland Cliffs lines, where few trains are operated and the sections are necessarily long, yet the track must be inspected every day.

Completion Postponed.

The completion of the new line of the L. S. & I. between Marquette and Ishpeming, known as the Maas mine cut-off, is not likely to be accomplished this summer, owing to the gloomy outlook for the iron business. Most of the grading was done last summer and the road could be put into operation within a few months, but there will be no haste in the completion of the work, until business prospects are brighter. This line was built chiefly for use when the present right-of-way became undermined at places, so that it would be unsafe at the present rate of mining this situation will not confront the L. S. & I. for several years.

RARE COLLECTION OF VALUABLE PAINTINGS

LOUIS VIERLING'S SALOON A VERITABLE ART GALLERY, BEING VALUED AT $20,000.

What is without doubt the most valuable and extensive collection of art paintings ever shown in Marquette, and probably in the upper peninsula, adorns the walls of Louis Vierling's saloon, at the corner of Front and Main streets, which was opened for business Wednesday.

Mr. Vierling has been making a collection of rare paintings during his residence in Detroit, and was added in his quest by a close friendship with the late Robert Hopkins, one of the greatest marine artists that ever lived, who passed from life about six weeks ago. Mr. Vierling values the collection hanging in his saloon at $20,000.

As might be expected the most noticeable feature of Mr. Vierling's art gallery, for such it may well be termed, is the ten or twelve Hopkins studies, all of which are ocean scenes. One of these, representing a ship in a storm, is valued at $900. Other particularly noticeable studies from Mr. Hopkins' brush are "Sunrise on Cape Rath" and "Fixing the Net."

Perhaps the most valuable picture of the lot is H. M. Morris's "Sunday Morning in Zealand," representing the artist's three children on their way to church. This study took medals at Amsterdam in 1902 and again at Brussels a year later. Mr. Vierling purchased this study of James Hanna, a Detroit art dealer, who bought it in New York.

Among the many other beautiful works of art on exhibition are "A Zeeland Home," by B. Laglund, a Dutch artist; a landscape scene with three cows in the foreground, by Hugo Fisher; two pictures of monks, by Bindu; "Chess Game," by Orsi; "On Guard," by John Hilder; "Tired," showing a poor old woman coming home from an unsuccessful day's labor, by Myron Barlow; "The Artist," by Petric; and "A Load of Grass," by E. Burchard.

Mr. Vierling's taste in selecting his collection is to be complimented in that there are no nude figures among the number, each and every one of the studies being such that any woman or child can look on them without embarrassment and with unalloyed admiration.

FEW BODIES RECOVERED.

Theory Advanced as to Why Superior Does Not Give Up Its Dead.

It is the belief in marine circles that the bodies of the men lost with the steamer Adella Shores, supposed to have foundered in deep water some twenty miles off Grand Island will never be recovered. Lake Superior rarely gives up its dead. The fact that few bodies even come to the surface is often a matter of comment, but this non-recovery is due to natural causes. Lake Superior is not only the deepest of the Great Lakes, but it has the greatest average depth. Depth means pressure. The pressure of water means about one pound to the square inch for every twenty-nine inches in depth. At the depth of 206 feet it is approximately sixty-nine pounds to the square inch, in addition to the atmospheric pressure. At 430 feet the external pressure upon a drowned body is about 150 pounds to the square inch. Lake Superior's greatest depth is 1,008 feet; its greatest length is 250 miles and its greatest width 100 miles. It is 600 feet above the sea and twenty-one feet above Lake Huron, with which it is connected by the St. Mary's river. None of the bodies of the sailors drowned when the schooner George Newer went to pieces on Huron island have been recovered and none are expected to be found.

The South Shore passenger department have announced low rates to Detroit, Mich., and return via St. Ignace and Mackinaw City for the meeting of the F. & A. M., Grand Lodge of Michigan, in session May 25th and 29th, 1909. (5-14-18-20)
