MARQUETTE, MICH., JUNE 7.

Entered as mail matter of the second class in the postoffice at Marquette, Mich.

Senator La Follette intimated that if the proprietors permitted him to tell what Senator Penrose did in his leisure hours he would have an interesting tale to relate.

One avenue of escape for Harry K. Thaw has been finally cut off through the action of the supreme court of New York in sustaining the lower court's dismissal of his attorneys' application for a writ of habeas corpus.

Speaking of the report from the German government on costs of production in Germany, an Associated Press dispatch said Saturday: "The abstract is now ready and the whole report will be printed as soon as it can be translated from the German text."

As a complement to the banquet given President Angell, of the University of Michigan, who retires from office with the conclusion of the college year, by the students, he was the guest of honor last week at a similar function tendered him by the university senate.

The offense for which William Darragh, a New York chauffeur, was given from seven to twenty years in prison, was a particularly aggravated one.

An assemblyman has introduced in the Wisconsin legislature a resolution calling on the faculty of the University of Wisconsin to investigate the situation existing at Madison in regard to the fraternities and sororities.

next session of the legislature. The resolution sets up that the fraternities and sororities have the tendency, wherever they exist, to build up cliques and social classes, and are anti-Democratic in their tendencies.

The Soo News says that it is not enough to enforce the law relative to the saloon business in that city, and urges the necessity of the council enacting some ordinance that will provide for the restriction of the number of saloons.

Two or three short years ago the railroad companies of this country were wrestling with the problem of securing enough freight cars to handle the immense transportation traffic which was thrust upon them.

Yet while there may be some appreciable loss to the railroads through a considerable number of idle freight cars just at the present time, this is a condition that cannot always be avoided.

It would therefore seem that on the whole the railroads are worrying themselves unnecessarily about the large number of idle cars.

SAD CASE OF WARNEPHOBIA. To the Editor:—I note this comment on the result of the investigation made by the board of control of the branch prison and other officials at the meeting held here May 19-20, as set forth in their report to the governor.

"Whether or not Warden Russell is to be congratulated on the character of the report on the Marquette prison made by Secretary Murray, of the pardon board, Mr. Murray himself is certainly to be congratulated.

"If the warden has been a victim of politicians, as Mr. Murray says, he has been vindicated by politicians and the thing is evened up.

As a matter of fact, I was appointed warden of the branch prison in September, 1902, when the late Governor Bliss was serving his first term.

Charles Doane, the veteran floodwood lumberman, has completed his contract for driving the logs in the Michigan river and has paid off his crew.

Edward Gaynor has instituted suit in the circuit court for Delta county against the city of Escanaba, claiming $1,000 damages.

I have been investigated so much that I am getting to like it. And even if I didn't I would be willing to submit to some annoyance if by so doing I could restore the despairing old Free Press to something approximating its former satisfaction with the people of Michigan.

CRIMINAL CASES CLOSED.

Circuit Court Is Through With That Branch of the Calendar.

The criminal cases booked for the present term of the Houghton county circuit court were all cleared up on Saturday, and Judge Streeter sentenced a portion of the men convicted.

William Blight of Calumet, convicted of a similar offense, was dealt with leniently because the court considered him mentally deficient and not entirely aware of the facts of his case.

John Karppinen, convicted of larceny from the person, was sentenced to Marquette for three to fifteen years, with a recommended maximum of five years.

Alvin Mikkola was convicted of stealing $50 from the pocket of Matt Oinas at Calumet.

Judge Streeter explained to the court officers and the press, after passing sentence at Blight and Sam, that the maximum of fifteen years was made to show the probable sentence which they would have received had they been men capable of fully understanding the nature of the offense.

John Karppinen, convicted of larceny from the person, was sentenced to Marquette for a term of eighteen months to five years, with eighteen months recommended as the maximum.

Joseph Strimling, forger, was sentenced for one year to fourteen years, with one year recommended as the maximum.

CALUMET WINS TRACK MEET. Copper Country Athletes Set Four New Upper Peninsula Records.

Calumet won the major portion of points in Saturday's interscholastic track meet at Calumet. Four upper peninsula records were broken.

The total points for the meet were as follows: Calumet, 45 1/2; Houghton, 25 1/2; Ansook, 21; Hancock, 13 1/2; Dollar Bay, 11 1/2.

THEATRICAL.

"Lillian Russell."

Lillian Russell, the famous stage beauty, took her capacity audience at the opera house by storm Saturday evening, in her racing comedy "Wildfire," which proved to be without question to be the most delightful original and refreshing production of its kind that has been seen here this season. Miss Russell was supported by an exceptionally strong cast and the audience took to their efforts enthusiastically from the first. At the end of the second act, the applause would not be still until the curtain had been raised again and again, and every member of the cast had made his or her bow.

Miss Russell came up to all that had been claimed for her in the advance notices, and her unfeigned beauty was a matter of general comment after the performance. In spite of her many years on the stage, she appears to have lost none of her pristine vivacity or attractiveness of face, figure and manner. Her impassioned instructions to the jockey who was to drive her favorite mare "Wildfire" in the race that meant everything to her was one of the most finished pieces of histrionic work that has been seen on the local stage in many a day. Her magnificent gowns and jewels were of great interest to the feminine portion of the audience.

Next to Miss Russell, the member of the cast who received the most enthusiastic applause from Marquette theatergoers was Will Archie, who played as "Dad," the stable boy. Made up as an athletic youngster who was a real "sport" in spite of his youth, with his swaggering manner and race track slang, beneath whose unimpressive exterior beat a heart that was "on the level," Mr. Archie's work played no small part in producing the realistic atmosphere so necessary to the success of the performance.

The part of Chappie Raster, the famed colored jockey, who gloried in his reputation and load clothes, but who "never threw a race in his life" was splendidly taken by Ernest Truce. Matt Donovan, the trainer of the Duffy stables (formerly owned by Miss Russell), was the role successfully essayed by Simon Wittsie. His unrestrained laugh and whole-souled Irish wit will be remembered for months to come.

Thurston Hall and Sydney Booth, who played as the lovers of Miss Russell, were eminently satisfactory. After a fair and friendly fight, Mr. Hall won the coveted prize, the automobile enthusiast going down to defeat before the champion of good lines.

Franklin Roberts, as John Duffy, an unscrupulous gambler and trifle with women, was a success, and the same may be said of Adolphe Lestina, as Dr. Woodhurst, the enthusiastic but impractical reformer. Gilbert Douglas creditably took the part of an English "Chappie" of title without much brains.

The three minor women in the cast carried their respective roles satisfactorily, although they were not especially exacting. Annie Buckley, as the colored maid, found especial favor with her audience.

MIDDIES MUST WAIT.

New Order Forbids Their Marrying Till Course is Finished.

Washington, June 6.—President Taft has issued an order that midshipmen must not marry until they have completed the full academy course of six years—that is, four years at Annapolis and two years more sea. Heretofore, midshipmen have sometimes been permitted to marry after graduation from the academy and before finishing the practice cruise. The navy department holds that a midshipman just out of the academy cannot be said to get married, and besides, that the government is not through educating him.

BIDS WANTED.

Sealed bids will be received by the Board of Public Works, of the City of Norway, Michigan, up to 2 o'clock p. m. Tuesday, June 8th, 1909, at the City Hall, in said city, for furnishing certain materials and constructing certain additions to the water works, necessary to use the Lake Fumee supply.

The work to be done includes the laying of about five (5) miles of 12-inch iron water pipe, about 5 per cent of which is from 10 to 20 feet cut; also a water inlet, screening chamber, valves, valve boxes, air valves, water meter and other appurtenances to the pipe line.

It is also intended to construct a water tank, 35 feet in diameter by 41 feet high; all above ground. Bids will be received upon reinforced concrete for this purpose, and also upon a tank constructed of steel plates. Bids will be received on the whole or any part of said work.

The board reserves unto itself the right to accept or reject any particular bid.

Plans may be examined on or after the 24th day of May, at the City Hall in said City of Norway, Michigan, or at the office of John W. Alvord & Chas. B. Burdick, 1212 Hartford Bldg., Chicago, Ill.

RECEPTION AND DANCE—The visiting delegates to the state convention of Catholic Order of Foresters will be entertained at a reception and dance at Legion Hall tonight, which the members of St. Agnes, Lady of Victory and St. Cecilia courts, and all wives of Foresters are invited to attend. The ladies are asked to be at the hall at 8:30 o'clock. All members of Balcon Vertin court, No. 809, are requested to meet at Baraga auditorium at 8 o'clock tonight to meet the state officers. Everything is in readiness for the convention Tuesday and Wednesday and a most enjoyable and successful session is anticipated.

Spent Sunday Here—Lillian Russell and supporting company spent yesterday in this city and left at 6 o'clock last night for Green Bay, where she will play this evening. Miss Russell, and six of her company, live in her private car and their wants are attended to by four negro servants. This car is a Pullman of the latest approved pattern and is a twelve fitted up for Miss Russell's use. While here, the batteries supplying electric light were charged, for the first time since the company left Seattle nearly a month ago. Miss Russell carries with her a handsome and valuable lap dog, which was an object of admiration to all who chanced to see it.

GOOD MEN FOR OFFICES.

President Taft Depends Largely on His Own Judgment.

Many Appointments Made Without Consultation With Friction, and Yet He Has No Friction With Congress—He Avoids Politics in the Diplomatic and Consular Service—Why the Rank of Lieutenant General Has Been Abolished—Wood Now the Ranking Officer of the Army.

Washington, June 6.—No president has ever gone as far as President Taft is going in appointing men to office without consulting senators and representatives, or rather without depending solely on the recommendations of senators and representatives; and yet he is not having any friction with the legislative branch of the government. Senators appear to be shocked when they hear he has made appointments in which they are especially interested without consulting them. Every appointment he has made so far, which called for confirmation, has been confirmed. Under the preceding administration there was always a long list of "hold up" appointments in the senate.

As nearly as senators can understand the president's policy with reference to patronage, it is that in making certain appointments he will depend on the recommendations of senators and representatives. For instance, Republican senators or representatives will be permitted to select men for such offices as United States district attorneys, marshals, collectors of internal revenue, collectors of customs, and they will be permitted to recommend postmasters. As the legislators understand it, the president will not be bound by recommendations made for these offices, but, generally speaking, he will depend on senators and representatives for names.

The president does not regard the consular and diplomatic service in the same light. He and his secretary of state intend to choose men for this service without consulting senators and representatives unless they see fit to do so; they will not feel bound to consult. The diplomatic and consular changes so far made were decided upon without consultation with senators who might be interested. The only question has been and is: "Is he the sort of man we want for the place?"

The promotion of John L. Griffiths to be consular general at London is an example. Not a member of the Indiana delegation in congress knew he was to go to London. The administration holds, and of course, rightly, that diplomatic and consular services are outside the pale of party politics.

What an advance this is from the policy that prevailed in the old days when senators and representatives haunted the state department looking for berths for political henchmen. The president is also exercising unusual independence in filling places of importance in the executive departments. The appointment of E. Don Durand to be chief of the census bureau is a good example of this policy that is being followed. The senators from Massachusetts who were banking on S. D. North were not notified that Dr. North was expected to resign, and not a member of congress knew that Mr. Durand was to be appointed head of the great bureau. Likewise, the president is not consulting senators or representatives in retaining men in office. Still holding important places are men who came in under the McKinley administration. Senators who have come to the front since these appointments were made would like to put their own men in the places, but the president does not listen to them.

The president has made it plain that in the appointment of judges he intends to rely largely on his own judgment. This does not mean that he will not consult senators and representatives freely for his advice, but it does mean that after he has taken advice he will take the responsibility for the appointment. Public men say he has said to them that he feels that he knows the American bar and is therefore qualified to exercise judgment in filling judicial places. The president has impressed favorably on the politicians another thing. He will not permit himself to be "used" to the advantage of any faction of his party in any state in the making of appointments. It is apparently his belief that he will not hesitate to appoint members of his party who are not in congress in trying to find good men for office.

Rank of Lieutenant General Dies.

The rank of lieutenant general of the United States army has gone out of existence. It has disappeared with the retirement of Lieutenant General Arthur MacArthur, who has reached the age of sixty-four. In January, 1907, congress passed a law providing that the title of lieutenant general should cease to exist with the retirement of General MacArthur. Thereby hangs a tale. If the title had not been abolished, Major General Leonard Wood would have inherited the title of lieutenant general. Congress felt that it could not permit the title to pass to General Wood without doing a grave injustice to older officers who had not been so fortunate as General MacArthur in obtaining promotions and so it cut off the title. By the retirement of General MacArthur, Major General Wood becomes the ranking officer of the army, but he must be content with the rank of major general.

Many public men have felt all along that while the policy of promoting by selection had something to commend it, it frequently worked injustice to worthy officers. Many men in the army and more outside of it have never been quite respected to the rapid advancement of General Wood. It was this feeling of resentment, undoubtedly, which led congress to abolish the title of lieutenant general. When Mr. Wood entered the regular army as an assistant surgeon in 1868 MacArthur had seen four years service in the volunteer army during the

Negaunee Department

FIREMEN'S MEMORIAL SERVICES YESTERDAY

REV. R. T. T. HICKS, RECTOR OF ST. JOHN'S CHURCH, PREACHED TO THE NEGAUNEE DEPARTMENT ON THE THEME "GOD IS LOVE."

The members of the Negaunee Fire department, in common with many other organizations affiliated with the Upper Peninsula Firemen's association, observed Memorial Sunday yesterday by attending divine services at St. John's Episcopal church and decorating the graves of deceased members. The turnout was a creditable one and included a majority of the active members of the department. A number of the honorary members also attended the services. The department was accompanied to the church and, at the conclusion of the services, to the cemeteries by the Negaunee City band.

After extending a welcome to the firemen, Rev. R. T. T. Hicks, the rector, preached a sermon on the theme, "God Is Love." He said in part: "The words 'God is Love' contain the crowning revelation vouchsafed to us concerning the nature and character of God." After a description of love as defined by St. Paul in his first epistle to the Corinthians, the speaker continued: "Love is that which springs from God; where every being is loved, God is love and love is God. The conception that some people have of God is quite different to this. They rarely, if ever, think of him as being a God of love. Their idea of Him is quite the opposite of this and some have emphasized the justice of God at the expense of His love. He is just, it is true, but his love balances his justice. Had it not been for the love of God what would become of us? In the redemption of the world is the justice of love emphasized? No; God so loved the world, we are told, that he gave his only begotten son that the world through him might be saved. Love is the great cause in all his works. Whatever he does out of love is for our good. If he chastises us it is because he loves us, and we should not rebel at his chastisement, but rather submit to it patiently and ourselves to his blessed will."

"It is hard to make some people believe what God does is for their good, because they attribute everything to God and hold Him responsible for things that he had nothing to do with, and they look upon these things as a sad reflection upon his love. God, my friends, is not responsible for all the misery and suffering in this world. Much of it is brought about as a result of our own or someone else's carelessness. Take the Holling Hill mine disaster, which happened a little over a year ago. Would you hold God responsible? Take again the earthquake in Italy some few months back. Many said it was the judgment of God upon the victims because of their wickedness. This may be true, but personally I must differ with those who hold such an opinion."

"Yet out of these things God will bring good. He is continually bringing good out of evil and all things shall work together for good to them that love God, if not for our immediate good for the good of those who come after us. Through the revelation of Christ and the gifts of the Holy Spirit we are able to understand in a measure the love of the faith and God desires that we should be rooted and grounded in love for him and comprehend with all saints what is the breadth, length, depth and height, and that we should be filled with the fullness of his love. To know it and be filled with the fullness of God we must cherish love toward one another. The second and great commandment is: Thou shalt love Thy Neighbor As Thy Self. This may seem a hard commandment to some, but it is not hard when we understand it. Some time we hear people say, 'I hate such and such a person.' Now, my friends, do they really hate the person as they say, or the thing that that person has done? God hates sin and all wrong doing, but he loves the sinner and wrong doer and stands ready to forgive them as they turn from the error of their way. If God can love us, the least we should do is to love one another. He that loveth God loveth his brother also; and this, said Christ, is my commandment, that ye love one another as I have loved you."

"Let us, my friends, strive to cultivate this love which as it approaches perfection drives away our fears. There is no fear in love. Who ever heard of a person fearing a person they love? He that feareth is not made perfect in love."

"Think always of God as love, and endeavor to love Him, and one another, as

ANOTHER WOMAN CURED

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Gardiner, Maine.—"I have been a great sufferer from organic troubles and a severe female weakness. A doctor said I would have to go to the hospital for an operation, but I could not bear to think of it. I decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Salative Wash—and was entirely cured after three months' use of them."—Mrs. S. A. WILLIAMS, R. F. D. No. 14, Box 29, Gardiner, Me.

No woman should submit to a surgical operation, which may mean death, until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made exclusively from roots and herbs, a fair trial.

This famous medicine for women has for thirty years proved to be the most valuable tonic and renewer of the female organism. Women residing in almost every city and town in the United States bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It cures female ills, and creates radiant, buoyant female health. If you are ill, for your own sake as well as those you love, give it a trial.

Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

PRISON MANAGEMENT UPHELD ON ALL THE MOOTED POINTS

Text of Statements by Board of Control and Other Officials Who Looked Into Whalen-Ogg Committee's Report.

FALSEHOOD AND MISREPRESENTATION.

These Are Shown to Be Principal Constituents of That Document—Character of Convicts Examined Was of the Worst and Even Their Testimony Was Garbled and Distorted—Political Enmity Behind Legislators' Strange Performance.

The branch prison at Marquette has, during recent years, been one of the most frequently investigated of the Michigan state institutions. It was the subject of an investigation by a joint commission of the senate and house when George W. Freeman was warden, the ultimate result of which was his retirement from the wardenship. Since Warden Russell has been in charge of the prison there have been four investigations into its conduct of the institution.

Resolved, by the board of control of the state house of correction and branch of the state prison in the upper peninsula that such report and the whole of it be condemned as contemptible, and that state and all fair-minded citizens of this state be and are hereby respectfully invited to see for themselves and learn the truth.

REPORT OF COMMISSIONER MOWRY.

Statement to the governor of Dr. H. P. Mowry, chairman of the state board of corrections and charities. Michigan Board of Corrections and Charities Lansing.

STATEMENT OF JUDGE STONE.

Marquette, Mich., May 21, 1909. Judge 25th Judicial Circuit, Hon. Fred M. Watron, Lansing, Michigan.

My Dear Governor:—I have the honor to reply to your favor of the 17th inst. There were two reasons why I did not attend the meeting of the board of control of the Marquette prison on the 18th and 20th inst. First, I was very busy in court with a jury in attendance, and second, there being some clamor here for a grand jury it was thought best that I should refrain from taking any part in the proceedings.

REPORT OF EXECUTIVE CLERK MURRAY.

Resume of results of investigation into Whalen-Ogg committee's charges prepared for the governor. Lansing, Michigan, May 28, 1909. Governor Fred M. Warner.

REPORT OF BOARD OF CONTROL.

Action taken at a meeting held at the branch prison, Marquette, May 19-20, present Members O. C. Davidson, E. C. Anthony and Ira Carley.

bring in when you go out?" It might be said incidentally to Myers, to show the character of witnesses examined, that he served—In the Reform school, Missouri; Jackson seven years for burglary; Ionia three years for burglary; Marquette seven and one-half to fifteen years for burglary, (sentence he is now serving), and his conduct in Marquette has been such that he has been deprived of privileges.

A humorous side of the investigation is revealed in the testimony of this witness, who was asked the question: "Is the contract system here as it worked out of any particular benefit to free labor?"

The testimony of convicts was taken and no effort whatever was made to verify it by the officers or records of the institution.

The admission of the chairman in a letter to the warden under date of May 15th, after the report had been submitted to the board of control, is so full of misstatements as to constitute a disgrace to the committee.

GENERAL FINDINGS.

An analysis of officials of some of the work of the Whalen-Ogg committee. IN RE CHARLES H. JOHNSON, ALIAS JOHN NELSON, ALIAS FRANK METZ.

"In the matter of convict, Charles H. Johnson, who is singled out at this time simply because the committee believes, are directly traceable to the fact that on the first visit of the legislative committee to Marquette he had given said committee some information in reference to the workings of the prison.

"After you got him down, what happened?" "A. There was two or three occurrences during the night that the man called for assistance, and wanted me to get him down, and I told him that I had to obey orders. I did not have the key given to me, and when I took him down, he fell to the floor. Whether he was in a faint or not I do not know."

"Now, as to his ability to go on this task after this punishment. Is it true that a man is laid up for several days afterwards?" "A. I do not think so. To my personal knowledge I have never known of a case where the chaining up of a man has disabled him."

"Would it require a hospital treatment?" "It would not require a hospital treatment." "The report hung up to a cell door in the Marquette prison means that the hands are cuffed to the bars of a cell door or that the man in the cell is chained to the bars of the cell door." "The report states that 'later he was placed under the physician's care and up to the time of our visit had been unable to perform any labor whatever.'"

Leslie made an examination, found no piles, but put Johnson's name on the list to see the doctor, and upon Dr. Hornbogen's arrival, a complete and thorough examination was made. No indications of piles were found by the doctor. For that reason, an operation was not performed. Johnson led the committee to believe that he was not getting a fair deal in this respect.

"You attention is called to these statements in full. Recorder's Court of Detroit. The People vs. Charles H. Johnson. This defendant was charged with the crime of forgery, to which, upon the day set for his trial, he pleaded guilty. The defendant in the matter disclose a very clever scheme, and investigation shows this man to be a very dangerous and habitual forger. In this instance he went to the firm of Owen & Co., furniture dealers, and presented a check for $75.25 in payment for a sofa, and received $25 in cash. The check purported to be signed by H. L. Damsel, and was drawn on a bank in Monroe, Mich. '2d payment horse and buggy.'"

IN MATTER OF EXTRA COMPENSATION.

"While the testimony shows that in some instances extra money was received by persons connected with the prison, yet there was nothing definite as to its coming from the contractor, and the committee is of the opinion that the hand of the contractor is seen in this instance to get so much work out of the convicts."—Whalen-Ogg Committee's Report.

"The testimony shows that extra money is received by one person, and that testimony is direct and complete. It indicates clearly that the money does not come from the contractor, but from the warden to his brother, who shares the responsibility with him. The report is correct in this: 'There was nothing definite as to its coming from the contractor.' On the contrary all the testimony contained in the transcript with reference to this insinuation is direct and positive against it.

IN RE F. L. VAN GORDER.

"In the case of William Van Gorder, sentenced for manslaughter from Iron Mountain for from five to fifteen years, and paroled at the expiration of his minimum sentence, the committee believes that unusual liberties and courtesies were extended to this man while in prison, so much so that he became the talk of the prison population as well as the men about town in Marquette. He came to the prison with $3,000 in money."

"The following is taken from the transcript: 'Testimony of William Russell: Q. Mr. Russell, what is your salary? A. Nine hundred dollars. Q. That is seventy dollars a month? A. Yes, sir. Q. Did Shafer Bros. ever make and presents to you in the shape of money? A. No. Q. Do you know of their giving anything to anybody in connection with the overall shop? A. Not that I know of. Q. The warden has seen fit, for your services, to pay you an additional sum of six hundred dollars? A. Yes, sir. Q. The warden or the contractor? A. The warden. Q. This comes out of the individual money of the warden? A. Yes, sir. Q. Testimony of James Russell: Q. You speak of the salary of William Russell. What is his salary? A. The state is paying him nine hundred dollars now. Q. Do you pay him any money? A. Six hundred dollars a year. Q. That is fifty dollars a month. That is your own personal donation? A. Yes, sir. Q. The warden stated to the committee: 'I had a good many men here who were not any good, and I had to have somebody whom I could trust. I do not think I could have gotten that man if it were not for me. He is the most valuable of my officers.'"

"The report of the committee in regard to the purchase of a team of horses indicates the disposition on the part of the author of the report to purposely misstate the facts. The report alleges that the price paid for the team was $300, which was exorbitant, and recommended that the amount be paid back to the state."

"The receipt is as follows: 'Marquette, Mich., Feb. 18, 1909. Received of James Russell, Warden, Two Hundred & Fifteen Dollars. Dollars, Jewelry, Stock Certificates and all other property, being in full settlement of my account. F. L. VAN GORDER. (Copy)'"

The following is taken from a letter addressed to you by Judge John W. Stone, under date of May 21, 1909: "I might add that in so far as the home report dealt with the case of Van Gorder in the money matters, to my own knowledge, there was no foundation for the report. I had personal knowledge of Van Gorder's financial condition, and I am sure Mr. Russell's action in regard to Van Gorder's money matters was beyond suspicion."

IN RE INMATE STEVENS, ALIAS WALTER SHEPARD.

"In the padding or lashing of convicts, which is a common occurrence in the prison, your committee is of the opinion that corporal punishment should be inflicted only in extreme cases and with less severity. Cases came before us where absolutely no discretion was used in the punishment of the men. Here is a quotation from the prison testimony of a convict who got into an argument with another inmate, and the warder, upon being asked about the nature of his punishment he replied: 'They fogged me and the next day they put me in my cell. They fogged me until I became unconscious. They put me in my cell, and I understood that they were to fog me again next day, and rather than stand a fogging again I would take my life. So I cut my wrist, the artery, and I had almost bled to death, but they discovered me before I was dead and took me to the hospital. The doctor came and they put me in the hospital, and they expected me to die, I believe. They chained me in bed. I was chained to the bed for four weeks. The board of control came and they said that they would see that I got a square deal; but they put me out to work again on the sewing machine. My conduct previous to the time had always been amenable to discipline. In fact I was choir master and was manager of the organ and my position in the shop was always regarded as a most responsible position. I may have been padded twenty-five times and it may have been 125, as I was not conscious. I don't know how many times I was fogged.' Cruelty of this kind deserves the strongest condemnation and illustrates how little judgment is exercised in the punishment of convicts. When the committee were in Marquette and they put me in the hospital, who makes this statement was seen in the hospital as stated."—Whalen-Ogg Committee's Report.

"Extract of testimony taken by legislative committee. Q. Have you ever been punished? A. No, sir. Q. Haven't you ever been punished for any reason? A. Well, yes. Q. Please tell the committee what it was. The convict then related the particulars of a fight with another inmate, for which he admitted he had been chained to the door of his cell for probably two days. He then related the story printed in the report above in regard to his fogging."

"The manner in which this matter was handled by the committee (printing a particular paragraph of the convict's testimony) is most unfair and misleading. It is the recital of most inhuman treatment inflicted upon an inmate who had for the first time an outlet by a fraction of the prison rules. It is contrary to the testimony taken by the legislative committee and the prison records, which it is alleged, in another part of the report, were examined by them. They permit to stand without comment this making an outlet by a fraction of the prison rules. It is contrary to the testimony taken by the legislative committee and the prison records, which it is alleged, in another part of the report, were examined by them. They permit to stand without comment this making an outlet by a fraction of the prison rules. It is contrary to the testimony taken by the legislative committee and the prison records, which it is alleged, in another part of the report, were examined by them. They permit to stand without comment this making an outlet by a fraction of the prison rules."—Whalen-Ogg Committee's Report.

"Jan. 12, 1909—For causing a disturbance in the overall shop—assaulting 1619, Sears, so that he had to have medical treatment, and called him a G. D. liar—taken to the east end and given 26 blows with a paddle, across the buttocks, which were covered with a sheet. Copies of each of the eight different reports in detail are on file. The following shows punishment in each instance: For the first, he was reprimanded. For the second, deprived of yard privileges after noon. For the third, handcuffed to gate. For the fourth, deprived of yard. For the fifth, ball and chain. For the sixth, reprimanded; on the promise to do better, let off. For the seventh, strung up to gate for two days. For the eighth, padded twenty-six strokes."—Whalen-Ogg Committee's Report.

"The committee singled out a paragraph of the testimony of this man, who, when asked by the committee if he had ever been punished, answered: 'No.' The committee then printed a paragraph of the report without further comment. Not a single officer of the institution was called in by the legislative committee and interviewed with reference to this man's conduct in prison or the punishment he received."

"Dr. Hornbogen, the prison physician, who is required by statute to be present during the administration of corporal punishment, and who has authority to stop the punishment at any time, states that Stevens was not unconscious, and that as soon as his hands were released he got up and stood upon his feet without assistance. Hall Master Sales, who was present, corroborates the doctor's statement, and says: 'We put him over a bar'..."

INTERURBAN AUTO SERVICE STARTED

CARS RAN BETWEEN MARQUETTE, ISHPENDING AND NEGAUNEE YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

SCHEDULES AND FARES

Trips Will Be Made Up and Down the Line Every Two Hours and Fifty Cents Will Be Charged.

Interurban automobile passenger service between Marquette, Ishpeming and Negaunee has been inaugurated by the Pioneer Motor company.

On Saturday the cars were unloaded and were put in running order without difficulty by Superintendent E. E. McIntosh and the four chauffeurs that have been employed.

The trip to Ishpeming was made in an hour and twenty minutes by Mr. Jopling and he returned home in just a hour.

The four cars are each capable of seating comfortably fifteen persons, besides the driver, there being four seats the entire width of the body, each of which will seat four people.

Although the details of operation have not been fully decided upon, the fare for the present, from Marquette to Ishpeming or Negaunee will be fifty cents and the same rate will prevail going the opposite direction.

It is probable that a two-hour schedule will be arranged between Marquette and the iron towns, and two of the cars will be used in this run.

LILLIAN RUSSELL'S REMARKABLE CAREER BEFORE THE FOOTLIGHTS BRIEFLY TOLD.

The former "Queen of Comic Opera," and still "The American Beauty," namely Miss Lillian Russell, who appeared at the opera house Saturday night in the rack-track comedy, "Wildfire," demonstrates that womanly suffrage principles don't impede the development of lovely woman at her loveliest.

Her long career of golden popularity as a singer centered about the New York Casino, where she first was heard in 1884, and where, season after season, she gained equal approval for her exquisite blonde beauty and her brilliant liquid soprano.

In 1897-98 she toured the country in a noted tri-star combination with Della Fox and Jefferson De Angelis. Their medium was "The Wedding Day."

Miss Russell used to be very fond of husbands, and displayed a critical taste in addition. In her catalogue may be mentioned Harry Graham, a musical director, whom she wedded when she was eighteen, and divorced five years later.

WHAT ABOUT THE LICE? Are your young chickens dying off mysteriously, from apparently no cause? It is two to one they are being killed by hen lice. Do your setting hens fret and leave their nests? Then they have lice, too. Why not exterminate them and improve your flock? I have just received my second large order of Greiders' famous Germicide, the only safe insect powder for young chicks, and only sure remedy for the old ones. One pound box, 25 cents, enough for a flock of fifty birds or over, or any number of young chicks. Walter C. Hornstead, 1025 North Front street. Thoroughbred Buff Orpingtons a specialty.

MR. HARRY FETTERS, With Harvey Slock Co., at the Marquette Opera House, one week, commencing Monday, June 7th.
