RUSSIANS FIRE ON BRITISH SHIP

Approaching too Close to the Bay Where Czar Awaits the Kaiser, English Merchantman Is Shelled by a Torpedo Boat.

Aim of the Gunners Good, the Steamer Is Hit and Damaged and the Engineer of the Craft Is Wounded in the Leg—Emperors Meet as Scheduled, and Show Great Cordiality as They Exchange Visits on Board the Two Imperial Yachts.

Viborg, Finland, June 17.—The British steamer Northburg was fired upon last night by a Russian torpedo boat for approaching too close to the bay on the Finnish coast where Emperor Nicholas and Emperor William met today. The projectile from the torpedo boat pierced a steampipe, and one member of the crew of the Northburg was wounded. The incident shows extreme nervousness for the safety of the emperor, even at sea.

London, June 17.—No report has yet reached the foreign office of a British steamer having been fired on by a Russian torpedo boat in the vicinity of Viborg. No such steamer as the Northburg appears on the British shipping registers.

Steamer Woodburn the Target.

Stockholm, June 17.—Despatches from Helsingfors confirm the news that a British steamer was fired upon by a vessel of the Russian squadron in Pikkis bay, the rendezvous of Emperor Nicholas and Emperor William. The steamer was the Woodburn, of Newcastle, however, and not the Northburg, as first reported. The first was a blank charge, but this was followed a few seconds later by two shells. Portions of the shells penetrated the bulkheads and boiler of the Woodburn. The engineer of the steamer was wounded in the leg and was taken aboard the Russian cruiser Asa, where his wounds were dressed. Later the injured man was conveyed to a hospital at Viborg. After making repairs the Woodburn sailed tonight for her home port.

Monarchs Exchange Visits.

Helsingfors, June 17.—The German imperial yacht Hohenzollern, with Emperor William on board, joined the Russian squadron, conveying Emperor Nicholas, on board the imperial yacht Standard, at 10 o'clock this morning. Emperor Nicholas immediately went on board the Hohenzollern and welcomed Emperor William.

Frederikshavn, June 17.—Upon the Hohenzollern's arrival, Emperor Nicholas immediately ordered a boat lowered and proceeded to the German imperial yacht, the ships firing a salute. Emperor William met Emperor Nicholas at the gang way. The monarchs kissed and shook hands heartily, the band playing the Russian national hymn. The visit lasted half an hour, and the German emperor shortly returned the visit on board the Standard, where he was greeted by the band playing "Die Waech Am Rhein."

CONSPIRACY IS CHARGED.

New Indictments Returned Against Japanese Strikers in Hawaii.

Honolulu, June 17.—Following the indictments of the Japanese strikers leaders last Friday, the grand jury returned several additional indictments today against the leaders, charging conspiracy. In addition to these, thirteen striking Japanese at the Waipahu plantation were indicted for attacking a police officer and rioting. The revolver still brought to recover the papers seized in the office of the Jiji by Sheriff Henry was dismissed. Japanese Consul Uyeno is investigating the alleged destruction of the safe of Editor Soga of that newspaper, which was broken open by the authorities.

CASTRO'S DECREE ANNULLLED.

Salt and Match Monopoly Concessions Restored to British Syndicate.

Caracas, June 17.—The high federal court has given a decision declaring unconstitutional former President Castro's decrees which annulled the salt and match monopoly concessions. The decision restores to the Ethelburg syndicate, limited, of London, all its rights.

READY TO INVESTIGATE.

British Government Will Probe Mrs. Ruiz's Death if Furnished the Facts.

London, June 17.—Home Secretary Gladstone promised in the house of commons this afternoon to investigate the inquiry into the death of Mrs. Mary Agnes Ruiz in this city last May, if furnished with the facts.

OUTRAGE BY RUSSIAN BANDITS.

Kiev, Russia, June 17.—A band of armed men today visited the estate of a local land holder and demanded a large sum of money. This was refused, and the bandits thereupon shot the land owner, his mother and three peasants. One servant escaped.

The Ohio State university has just opened a class for the study of wireless telegraphy.

WANT INCOME TAX IMPOSED AT ONCE

Democratic Senators Decide to Stand by Their Previous Declaration in Favor of Enacting the Law at This Session.

They Believe the President's Proposition Designed to Prevent the Amendment from Reaching a Direct Vote, and They Will Strenuously Oppose Sidetracking the Issue—Fight Will Come Today When Mr. Aldrich Will Move for Postponement.

Washington, June 17.—When the income tax question comes up in the senate tomorrow, Mr. Aldrich will again move that action be deferred until after the schedules in the tariff bill shall have been completed. This motion will carry with it President Taft's program for the enactment of a law taxing the net earnings of corporations and the adoption of a resolution submitting the question of amending the constitution so as to permit congress to levy and collect a tax on incomes without regard to apportionment among the states. Senator Aldrich will make the statement that he believes that consideration of the schedules may be finished by Monday, and will suggest the postponement of the income tax and corporation tax measures until that time.

At a caucus of the Democratic senators today it was decided that the minority shall stand by their previous declaration in favor of the enactment of an income tax law at the present session. There were speeches by Senators Bailey, Shively, Culberson, Money and Rainey and brief remarks by a number of others, in which the opinion was expressed that the administration movement in favor of placing a tax on the earnings of corporations designed to prevent the income tax amendment from reaching a direct vote. All these senators did not denounce the plan of the president for taxing corporations. Many Democrats believe in that plan, but they are opposed to sidetracking the income tax issue.

Previously to the caucus there was a discussion of the president's program in the Democratic cloak room. It was suggested that Senator Bailey withdraw his amendment until after Mr. Aldrich presents the amendment for a tax on the earnings of corporations. The purpose of that move would be to avoid the president's plan being offered as a substitute for the income tax amendment. The Bailey amendment then could be offered after the corporation tax amendment was before the senate and only a motion to table or refer to committee could displace it. Thus, a direct vote on the amendment, it was argued, could not be prevented.

Attorney General Wickersham presented to Senator Aldrich last night a draft of the amendment which Mr. Taft desires to have adopted, placing a tax on the net earnings of corporations. This draft was submitted to the Republican members of the finance committee today, but no action was taken regarding it. It was not made public, and the members of the committee declined to discuss its provisions.

Battle for Free Paper and Pulp.

Washington, June 17.—The battle to place wood pulp and print paper upon the free list was opened up in the senate today, under the leadership of Mr. Brown, of Nebraska. Going over to that portion of the chamber in which Senators Aldrich, Hale, Frye, Lodge, Gallinger, Smead and other leaders have their seats, the Nebraskaan stood in the midst of the opposing forces and with good nature banded the thrusts that came to him from all quarters as he delivered his address in behalf of the cause he had espoused.

Showing familiarity with all the available information on the wood pulp and paper schedule, Senator Brown frequently quoted from various authorities, and his speech in connection with the pulp and print paper are both produced in the United States with cheaper labor and cheaper materials, resulting in a cheaper product, than can be obtained in Canada. Citing the rates of wages in this country and Canada, he undertook to show that the United States had an advantage in that respect. Turning to his Republican colleagues, he asked them how, in view of that fact, they could justify a duty on these products for the "protection of labor."

Without divulging the source of their information in any definite manner, Senators Aldrich and Hale flatly contradicted these statements in reference to wages and cost of production. They insisted that the Mann committee of the house, from the report of which Mr. Brown had quoted, was lacking in accurate testimony, and contended that, even accepting that report, it could not be maintained that the United States had an advantage in the production.

This dispute ran along for two hours. There was a large attendance of Democrats, who for the most part remained silent throughout the debate. Senator Tillman was an exception. With characteristic brusqueness, he asked how it was that newspapers advocating a protective tariff desired free trade in the material they use. Then, looking over the senate with a frown, and stamping his foot upon the carpet, the South Carolina declared, "They are humbugs."

Senator Bailey was also heard briefly. In a facetious manner, he suggested that an amendment should be drawn, giving the benefit of free paper to free traders papers and levying a duty on the paper used by protective tariff journals. Senator Brown still held the floor when the senate adjourned earlier than usual

TO PERMIT A DEMOCRATIC CAUCUS.

He will resume the consideration of his amendment for free paper tomorrow.

House Wrangles, Then Adjourns.

Washington, June 17.—After a wrangle of over an hour the Democrats in the house failed today to obtain the passage of a resolution calling upon the state department for the transmission to the house of information concerning foreign wages and the cost of production in foreign countries, except Germany. Representative Hull, of Tennessee, the author of the resolution, made a point of no quorum. The house then adjourned, after the roll call, until Monday. The president's special message on corporation and income taxes was read at the beginning of the session.

MR. TAFT WILL TAKE PART.

Chaplain Tercentenary Celebration to Be Held Early Next Month.

Plattsburg, N. Y., June 17.—The official program for the Chaplain tercentenary celebration, which will begin at Crown Point July 5, was announced today. The speakers on July 5 will include Judge C. Barnes, of the superior court of Chicago. The July 6 exercises will be held at Fort Totten, the speakers there including President Taft, Vice President Sherman, Senator Elliot Root, Speaker Cannon, Ambassadors Bryce and Jusserand and Governors Hughes of New York and Prouty of Vermont. The celebration will end at Plattsburg July 7 with a reception to President Taft by the Indian pagoda, a luncheon to the president and a military parade which will be reviewed by the president at Plattsburg barracks. A number of addresses will be delivered.

SUPPORT IS WITHDRAWN; STOCK MARKET SLUMPS.

With a Suddenness and a Violence Entirely Unexpected in Spite of the Recent Expressions of Distrust, Wall Street Prices Crumble as Much as Five Points, Then Rally but Feebly.

New York, June 17.—Speculative deflation which took on symptoms of collapse was effective in the stock market today. The suddenness and the violence of the break in prices came as surprise in spite of the expressions of distrust, lately heard as to the high level of prices, and the extent to which borrowed money was being used to carry stocks on margin.

The bear party in the speculation which undertook operations on the short side, based on a situation, long in opposition so often in the hope of powerful support of the market that the ability to hold prices or to advance them had come to be relied on. The withdrawal of that support undoubtedly was a very important factor in the weakness which swept over the market today. The open selling, in fact, was well absorbed and an effective rally was occasioned. At that point stocks began to come out again, and the prices fell away. As the prices crashed, margins were uncovered, and soon after midday the market was demoralized.

Developments in the copper trade in the last few days have impressed sentiment very unfavorably, owing to the earnings which have been reported by the market. The open selling, in fact, was well absorbed and an effective rally was occasioned. At that point stocks began to come out again, and the prices fell away. As the prices crashed, margins were uncovered, and soon after midday the market was demoralized.

Developments in the copper trade in the last few days have impressed sentiment very unfavorably, owing to the earnings which have been reported by the market. The open selling, in fact, was well absorbed and an effective rally was occasioned. At that point stocks began to come out again, and the prices fell away. As the prices crashed, margins were uncovered, and soon after midday the market was demoralized.

The simple declaration of the 2 per cent semi-annual dividend on Reading yesterday contrasted so vividly with the rumors which have induced the recent advance in the stock to near 100 that realization was awakened of the large part that pure speculation, helped by manipulation, has played in the extension of the prolonged advance in prices. This realization applied to the stock market as a whole, had much more to do with the day's heavy liquidation than any fresh incident in the news. One such incident mentioned by traders as a reason for unloading stocks was the reported firing on a British ship by a Russian government vessel.

An extensive covering by shorts in the process of realizing their profits retrieved a substantial part of the extreme declines, which had run to three and one-half and nearly five points for the stocks most acutely affected. The closing tone of the market was unsettled again, however.

BIG QUARRY IN STRAITS.

Frankfort, Mo., June 17.—By the consent of all the parties, former Governor Wm. T. Cobb today was appointed receiver for the Mount Walden granite quarries, one of the largest plants in the country, owned by John Pierce and his brother, of New York.

THE WEATHER.

Washington, June 17.—The following is the weather bureau's forecast for Upper Michigan: Fair and warmer, Friday and Saturday; moderate south winds.

MANY CASUALTIES AT BOSTON.

Celebration of Bunker Hill Day a Strenuous Affair.

Boston, June 17.—The list of maimed and injured in the Bunker Hill celebration today rivalled that of the actual battle of 134 years ago. Sixty-five persons were treated at hospitals for injuries caused by fireworks and pistols, and many more were attended by physicians and others at their homes. There were no serious casualties, however. Charles town's great day closed tonight with an electrical pageant. The display was emblematic of the "gods of the world," the floats representing the brilliancy and lustre of the diamond and kindred precious stones.

YACHT WINS LONG CRUISE.

New York, June 17.—The power yacht Ilys finished the return race from Bermuda at 5 p. m. today, winning the cup offered by the Crescent Athletic club of Brooklyn. The time was seventy-five hours. The record for the run is sixty-five hours and forty-five minutes.

AUTHOR BRANDENBERG RETAINS HIS NERVE.

Stenographer to Whom He Is Alleged to Have Dictated the Fake Grover Cleveland Article Tells of Transcribing His Notes, Yet He Shows Little Concern.

New York, June 17.—Broughton Brandenberg showed little concern today as the state continued its attempt to prove that the article published over the New York Times for $800 as Grover Cleveland's and widely published over the country was a forgery, and that Brandenberg knew it when he sold the story.

Life this afternoon the state began to introduce witnesses in rapid succession, first to identify the typewriter on which the article is said to have been written and the stenographer to whom it was delivered; then, the typewritten sheets of the article itself and their correspondence, with the published text. By this testimony the prosecution hopes to prove that the article was dictated in part from notes and in part written in longhand by Brandenberg and passed over by him to a stenographer to transcribe on Aug. 10, 1908, more than a month after Grover Cleveland had died.

WIFE'S ORDEAL CONTINUES.

Miss Lillian Bacon, who said she took Brandenberg's dictation of part of the article in question, told how Brandenberg looked over the sheets at her table when they were done, and said, "It's good, saleable stuff," adding that it was Grover Cleveland's style or something like that. Court adjourned before Miss Bacon could be led further.

WIFE'S ORDEAL CONTINUES.

More witnesses for Howard Gould substantiate his charges.

New York, June 17.—The ordeal to which Mrs. Howard Gould has been subjected the past several days continued today with unabated vigor. The procession of servants testifying in Mr. Gould's behalf continued all day, and the burden of their testimony was the same—the infatuation and overbearing manner of Mrs. Gould and the patience of her husband.

Only once was there a break in the monotonous testimony, and that was when Mr. Nicol, counsel for Mr. Gould, called Milton E. Chapman, a broker who was a guest of the Goulds on their yacht, the Niagara, during several cruises in the year 1905. His testimony was in the same general trend as that of the other witnesses—that he saw Mrs. Gould intoxicated, but in an effort to discredit this witness, Mr. Shearn drew the ugly word "blackmail" from Mr. Nicol and became so much agitated at its application to his own conduct of the case that for some moments he was unable to continue his cross-examination.

PUBLIC FOOTS THE BILL.

Miners and Operators Share in Increased Profits on Coal.

New York, June 17.—W. W. Ruly, a statistician of the anthracite companies, was a witness today in the government's suit charging the coal roads with maintaining an illegal combination. He was questioned as to the working of the agreement, following the settlement of the strike of 1902 through the intervention of President Roosevelt, by which the miners were to receive a one per cent increase in wages for every five-cent advance above $4.50 a ton made by the mine owners.

BYONETTED A BOY.

Private Klein of the Illinois Militia on Trial for Murder.

Paxton, Ill., June 17.—The introduction of testimony began today in the trial of Joseph B. Klein, of Chicago, a member of the First regiment of Illinois National Guard, for the murder of Earl Nelson, sixteen years old, who was stabbed to death at Kankakee, Ill., with a bowie knife, while on board a special train in which the troops were going from Chicago to Springfield, Ill., to quell race riots.

THAW CASE POSTPONED.

Not Until July 6 Will the Court Consider the Application for Release.

White Plains, N. Y., June 17.—Harry K. Thaw will have to wait in the Matteawan asylum until July 6 for his hearing to determine whether he is now sane and in a condition to be released from the asylum. The case came up before Justice Mills here today on a writ of habeas corpus obtained by Thaw. The case was postponed until that date, in order to give District Attorney Jerome Donovan opportunity to attend to other business. When the justice announced his decision to delay the hearing, Harry's mother collapsed, but soon recovered.

FRANTIC PARENTS FIGHT THE POLICE

Noise of Passing Fire Engines Is Responsible for a Queer Train of Circumstances in New York's Tenement House District.

Panics Are Caused in Two Big School Buildings, and Then When It Is Rumored That a Third Structure Has Been Blown Up by the Black Hand, There Is No Holding the Excited People—Fighting Is Desperate and It Is Long Before Order Is Restored.

New York, June 17.—The noise of a passing fire engine caused a panic in a school building that housed 2,300 pupils in the tenement district of the East side this afternoon. The hallways were filled with a mob of shrieking and fighting boys and girls, while panic-stricken mothers from nearby tenements were clapping and kicking at the outside of the street doors.

ITALIANS ROUNDED UP.

Postal Inspectors at Cincinnati Arrest More Blackhand Suspects.

Cincinnati, June 17.—In a raid made by postoffice inspectors and city detectives, a patrol wagon full of Italians were rounded up tonight and taken before Federal Commissioner Loveland. The party arrested comprised an even dozen men, and two of that number—Vicenzo Arrigo, a fruit dealer, and Frank Spadaro, a saloon keeper—were held over on warrants charging them with conspiracy in connection with an alleged attempt to extort money from John Amiconi of Columbus, O., by means of a kidnapping. The remaining ten were allowed to go, though it is said that some of them are to be kept under surveillance and will be called as witnesses. In the raid a large amount of literature was captured which the inspectors declare has important bearing on the cases of the blackhand suspects recently arrested at Marion, Columbus and other Ohio points.

GUN FIGHT FATAL TO TWO.

Railroad Detective and Switchman Battle to Death at Louisville.

Louisville, Ky., June 17.—Frank Shigbers, a railroad detective employed by the Kentucky & Indiana company, and W. T. Charles, a switchman for the Illinois Central, engaged in a pistol duel this afternoon, which resulted in the death of both. Early in the day Charles had quarreled with an employe of the Kentucky & Indiana company, and when Charles engaged in an altercation which ended when they drew pistols and shot each other to death.

BLOODY BRAWL IN ILLINOIS.

Fairfield, Ill., June 17.—As the result of a battle last night between a number of young men of this city and members of the band of a theatrical company playing here, Dr. Charles L. Leinger, secretary of the Wayne County Fair association, is dead. Frank McCullough is dying, Richard Sloan, is in a serious condition, and Herbert Orton, Pinnick, aged eighteen, of French Lick Springs, Ind., is in jail. The fight resulted from the jealousy of local men over the attentions paid young ladies of Fairfield by the visitors. Three men attacked Pinnick on the street, and he opened fire. Afterwards Pinnick telephoned the sheriff to come and arrest him.

OPPOSES WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE.

Ennettsburg, Md., June 17.—In an address to the girl graduates of St. Joseph's college and academy today, Cardinal Gibbons declared against woman suffrage, saying, in part: "I am entirely opposed to woman's suffrage, not because I hate the women, but I love them and want them to fulfill the mission for which God intended them. If you play in the arena of politics, you will be covered with its dust. If you grasp too much, you will lose everything. Nowhere is woman so honored as in the United States. This is largely due to the chivalry and courtesy of the men, and if you are protected by the male sex, what more do you want? I want to remind you that woman has a great mission in life. You should therefore have a deep sense of your responsibility in the domestic walks of life. You cannot hope to preach in church, but you can preach in your homes and reach those with whom you come in contact in your daily lives. Preach to your fathers and brothers. Woe be to society if it had to depend upon the male sex alone—it would certainly go to the devil."

ONE MORE "DRY" COUNTY.

Boonville, Ind., June 17.—Warrick county voted dry by a majority of 237 in a local option election today. The city of Boonville voted wet by a majority of forty-seven.

PROUD OCCASION FOR THE WRIGHTS

City in Which a Few Years Ago They Began in Obscurity Their First Experiments Is the Scene of a Big Celebration.

Characteristic of Them, the Aviators Receive the Homage of Their Townspeople Modestly, but With Business Suspended Except for the Sale of Souvenirs Symbolic of Their Triumphs, Dayton Leaves Nothing Undone to Honor Distinguished Sons.

Dayton, O., June 17.—In the city in which a few years ago they began in obscurity their first experiments with flying machines, Orville and Wilbur Wright, the aviators, today received the homage of their townspeople.

Esorted by brass bands, led beneath triumphant arches, through streets decorated with models of their aeroplanes, and praised in public speeches, the Wright brothers appeared the least conscious of that anything unusual was going on. When that part of the program was reached which read, "Responses by the Wrights," Wilbur and Orville each arose and said, "Thank you, gentlemen."

All day long the celebration continued, and even into the night, the final incident being a pyrotechnic display on the river front in which the Wright brothers saw their own portraits eighty feet high and entwined in an American flag. When the fireworks were over, Wilbur turned to Orville, and said, "Let a hurdy hurdy; you know we have to get up early."

Fluttering in banners and gay decorations, Dayton left nothing undone to honor the aviators. Business was suspended except for the sale of toy aeroplanes and postcards illustrative of the Wrights' home and their efforts at the building and successful operation of aeroplanes.

HISTORIC PAGEANT PRESENTED.

After a salute of cannon, a ringing of bells and a blowing of whistles, with which the day began, the opening ceremony was held in the park. "Jonathan Dayton," representing the founder of the city, and dressed in a colonial costume and a wig, with a cast of character, presented a pageant. The crowd was so great that people viewed the spectacle from fences, trees and housetops.

Casting his eyes skyward, Jonathan Dayton said: "Methinks I see two great objects like gigantic birds coming from the eastward as if riding on the wings of the morning. What manner of birds can these be?"

"They," interposed another character, "are none other than two of Dayton's illustrious sons coming home from foreign triumph with the great invention of the age. Let us welcome them."

It was after receiving this welcome that Wilbur and Orville Wright, sitting as spectators on the platform, arose and said, "Thank you gentlemen." A few minutes after the ceremony the Wrights were back in their workshop, where the windows were covered with canvas to keep out the gaze of the curious.

BOARD OF INQUIRY MEETS.

Former Meat Inspector Harms' Charge Now Being Looked Into.

East St. Louis, Ill., June 17.—Secretary of Agriculture Wilson's board of inquiry, appointed to investigate the charges of former Inspector J. E. Harms that the government's inspection system in the packing houses is faulty, held a closed session this afternoon. Harms, after being denied an open investigation, withdrew from the room.

The board is composed of Dr. A. B. Melvin, chief of the bureau of animal industry; George P. McCabe, solicitor for the department of agriculture; Dr. E. A. Lohm, assistant inspector of the bureau; Dr. H. P. Steedon, chief of the inspection division of the bureau; and George Dietz, traveling inspector. Dr. Melvin issued a statement which said that every man on the meat inspection force who is in a position to have any knowledge about the alleged occurrences will be a witness. The board heard the testimony of fourteen witnesses today. Eighty witnesses are yet to be examined. The testimony will not be made public, but it is probable that the findings of the board will be announced here.

GOMPERS STILL DEFIANT.

New York, June 17.—Samuel Gompers, who sails Saturday to Europe as an envoy to the labor organizations there and as a student of conditions affecting immigration to this country and foreign competition with home industries, reiterated tonight at a bon voyage dinner given by the executive council of the American Federation of Labor his determination to uphold his constitutional rights in defiance, if need be, of court injunctions.

We imagine that what the Illinois legislature does in regard to the next proposed direct nomination bill will depend largely on what Senator-elect Billy Lorimer happens to want it to do.

The Grand Rapids Press is aiming searching questions at Senator Smith. It wants to know of its distinguished townsman why he is tied so tight to Aldrich, Hale & Co., and never by any chance happens to vote with the western progressives.

A notice has been posted in the auditor general's office at Lansing forbidding visiting with the clerks during business hours. The clerks are also to be required to make out daily reports showing what they have done.

The latest report of the commissioner of education proves that the attendance in the common schools of the county is showing a decrease. The percentage of attendance to the total of school population was 89.61 in 1907, compared with 72.43 in 1908.

The local optimists have fired their first gun in the Chippewa county campaign. A peculiar condition exists in Chippewa county. The "wets" at the Soo say it would be ruinous to shut up the saloons, for, they assert, the population would then spend most of its time on the Canadian side, via the ferry boats.

The owners of the Hotel Pontchartrain in Detroit have let a contract for the improvement of that already admirable hotel by the erection of five additional stories, which will give it a height of fifteen stories, or one more than was originally planned for.

For a third time the supreme court of Illinois has declared a direct nomination law unconstitutional. This time it is the state-wide law enacted two years ago, and under which nominations were made throughout Illinois last fall, that is made null and void.

5% DEBENTURES. Running one to five years secured by first mortgages on improved real estate worth more than double outstanding debentures. Superior Trust Company HANCOCK, MICH.

If they have not the power to head off all legislation along these lines they will at least be alert for opportunities to load down the bill with a "joker" or two sufficiently vicious to insure that the supreme court will again declare the law unconstitutional.

The class of 1909 that is to be graduated from the Ishpeming high school this week numbers over sixty members; the class that is being graduated from the Marquette school has but a trifle over twenty members. This difference is all out of proportion to the difference in population in the two cities, and it is difficult to understand why it should exist in such a marked degree.

The trial of John E. Gibson in the federal court at Marquette this week was, in many respects, a notable one. Rarely in a court proceeding of equal importance is there found equal agreement as to the facts. The witnesses differed in their stories in no essential particulars, and even Gibson's story of the killing of McManus tallied with the others.

The owners of the Hotel Pontchartrain in Detroit have let a contract for the improvement of that already admirable hotel by the erection of five additional stories, which will give it a height of fifteen stories, or one more than was originally planned for. Provision will be made for a huge hall for convention or banquet purposes, a smaller hall, many private dining rooms and other features of a modern hotel that are not found in the present structure.

A serious strike is just in the offing. The Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin workers has voted to take up the gage of battle thrown to it by the American Sheet & Tin Plate company—a subsidiary of the U. S. Steel corporation—when it announced that after July 1 its officers would no longer treat with the organization in regard to the wage schedules, and on the 30th of this month 10,000 members of the Amalgamated Association will quit work in 132 mills capacity in the tin trade and fifty-one mills in the sheet steel trade.

By the same token, the members of the organization are pretty well equipped to maintain a stubborn strike. Their union is strong, and the individual members are well able to stand a lockout, for some months at least. There is little doubt that the fight will be one to a finish. The officers of the American Sheet & Tin Plate company issued their "open shop" order with a full realization of what it meant and knowing full well that there was little chance that it would be received peacefully by the men affected.

The American Sheet & Tin Plate company is one of the most important subsidiaries of the U. S. Steel corporation that has not already established the principle of the open shop. The Steel corporation believes firmly in that principle. It is established in all of its mines, now bids fair to be established on its boats, and already obtains in most of its manufacturing industries. When it is extended to the American Sheet & Tin Plate company, if that is the outcome of the coming struggle, it will be well nigh universal in the Steel corporation's widely scattered interests.

It is worthy of comment that the Steel corporation has given no sign that its desire to put the unions out of its calculations has birth in a desire to deal unfairly by its men. On the contrary, the Steel corporation is a fair and just employer, and the relations between it and its employes are usually excellent. Its aversion to unions appears, therefore, to lie in the belief that such a gigantic enterprise can be conducted to the best advantage only when the men in charge have full control over all its concerns.

As just an illustration, the last time I looked up the figures, the United Fruit company, an American corporation, sailed thirty-five ships, and only four under our own flag. All the bananas we eat in Marquette come into Mobile or Gulfport under the Norwegian flag. That is one reason why we can afford to eat them. There seems to me to be no reason why our people should consider themselves bound to take part in any losing business. If Norway can carry our trade cheaper than we can, let Norway do it.

The only ocean where we are really suffering is perhaps the Pacific, where it is very doubtful if we ought to allow the trans-Pacific trade to fall into the hands of the Japanese. But it is also doubtful if we alone can settle the questions involved. There are too many parties to the situation. And the American flag is not the only thing that makes an American ship. To have the full idea of an American ship you need an American crew as well.

The decision to strike, following a special convention of the Amalgamated Association held at Pittsburgh, has occasioned little surprise, as it was regarded as inevitable when it became known that the American Sheet & Tin Plate company had issued an "open shop" order. The Amalgamated Association includes in its membership some of the most skilled and highly paid workmen engaged in American industry, and it was certain that they would make a fight to preserve their organization.

KNIGHTS OF KHORASSAN. Calumet Preparing for the Big Pythian Gathering Next Week.

There will be "doings" in Calumet next week. The biggest of these will be Thursday night, for on that night will occur the initiation of half a hundred of more tyros into the dark mysteries of the mighty clan, the Knights of Khorassan.

The imperial palace has decreed that all the faithful shall scramble to Calumet on this day, Thursday, June 24, for at this time will Mokanna flout his banner of authority and shall annex the desert of Michigan and henceforth that desert shall be ruled by him. Know ye that whereas there will be many scores of braves at Calumet at the meeting of the upper peninsula league, Knights of Pythias, and whereas, beauty is but skin deep, ugly to the bone, therefore we want brains. Moral—A Pythian who doesn't pin the D. O. K. K. is lacking in something if he doesn't lack beauty.

"Al-Sirat temple, No. 135, will meet in Calumet, June 24, 1909, under special decree of the imperial navy, and use of the desire to beat the sands at that time will have an opportunity and should make the necessary arrangements at once. The caravan will move on time and will glide swiftly. You will have to be alive or you will muff it."

The above is, in part, the announcement and greeting of Al-Sirat temple, Dramatic Order of the Knights of Khorassan, in reference to the ceremonial session to be held in Calumet next week. Posters have been spread all over the upper peninsula, announcing the session to be held by the temple and the initiation ceremonies will be attended, it is expected, by every D. O. K. K. in the peninsula as well as about forty from Duluth. A number of Knights of Pythias will also come down from Duluth with the temple members and will take the initiation.

ELKS IN PARADE. Big Feature of the Calumet Convention Yesterday Afternoon.

The big feature of the Elks' convention at Calumet was the parade yesterday afternoon. It lined up as follows: Marshal, Dr. D. MacNaughton; aides, Russell Smith, Charles McIntyre, J. R. Ryan and Cesar Barge; Frank Sody, in auto, with bank of flowers and carrying massive elk's head; Traverse City band; Traverse City lodge, B. P. O. E.; Detroit Elks; Tamarack band; Kalamazoo Elks; Marquette county herd, Marquette, Ishpeming and Negaunee Elks; Red Jacket band; Sault Ste. Marie lodge; Iron Mountain lodge; Quincy band; Hancock lodge; C. & H. band; young Elks; Calumet lodge; extra delegates; "Big" Lydia; "Big" John Evarsti; grand automobile parade.

All that can be said of the convention is that everybody having a good time. All the visitors think this is the greatest country on earth.

The election of officers was held last night, Harry Scott of Calumet was chosen state president.

A GOOD WILL FARM INSTANCE. Institution Has Many Difficulties With Parents and Children.

Mrs. G. M. Walker, superintendent of Good Will Farm, tells a story that serves to illustrate some of the trying conditions under which the institution works on behalf of children whose parents are either incapable of or unwilling to support them. This instance concerns a father who was arrested for a particularly bad form of disorderly conduct and a mother who was arrested as a plain drunk and disorderly. They had five children. Judge Bentley, in his capacity as juvenile court judge, believed the children should be given in the care of the father, and he and Mrs. Walker attempted to secure a release of the children. The mother was willing, but the father was not. However, on the mother's release, the children were taken to the farm and later it was learned that the father had been committed to Newberry as an insane. That appeared to settle the matter.

The children were well cared for at the farm, probably had more to eat than ever in their former little lives. It was, however, the charity here at Calumet sent food to this family, the mother, who is not very fairly or very energetic, fed it to them raw. Raw oatmeal and water was one dish eaten. The youngest child of the quintet was cared for by a family far away. The other four were about to be placed when the plot thickened.

One day there walked to the door of Good Will Farm the father and mother of the children. He was discharged from jail; she was discharged from the asylum. They wanted their children back. One is already adopted into a good family. The other four are available. These parents love their children dearly, but in their way, but the farm authorities fear "Bill" will "take" them and neglect the youngsters again. Still, they are their children and they are entitled to them if they can support them. Good Will Farm has many problems such as this. Just what is the right thing to do in a case like this? This particular case is still unsettled.

Colored McCaughy of the Third Regiment Visits Copperdom.

The Houghton Light Infantry, Company C, Third regiment, Michigan National Guard, was inspected Wednesday night by Colonel McCaughy of Owosso, commander of the regiment. Accompanying and assisting the commander were Colonel Cox, assistant adjutant general; Colonel W. H. Thielman of Calumet, assistant inspector general; and Major E. G. Heckel of Mohawk, commanding the upper peninsula battalion.

This is the first inspection which Colonel McCaughy has given the company since assuming command of the regiment, to which he succeeded Wednesday afternoon. The latter assumed command of the National Guard. Colonel McCaughy and Colonel Cox both spoke highly of the Houghton company yesterday, admitting that the organization had suffered in the past but was progressing well under command of Captain Martin Foley. Colonel Cox was asked regarding the status of the charges against General Bates, but he refused to say anything on the subject.

RAIN MUCH WELCOMED. The rain Wednesday may have dampened the order of the visiting Elks in the county somewhat, but it was received with a joyous welcome by many none the less.

The spring has thus far been very dry and farmers have been complaining of the conditions. The rain Wednesday was of the drenching variety which the thirsty ground lapped up like a convention delegate. The precipitation was general over the upper peninsula, and was timely, because it put out a number of forest fires which were threatening to do a deal of injury to timber sections.

WILL BUILD FINE HIGHWAY. Portage Township Will Extend the Douglas-Shelden Road East.

The Portage board has begun a campaign for good roads in the township. A special meeting was held during the week, and the policy of the board was outlined. That policy favors good roads in the township wherever possible. The first step in this direction will be the construction of a road from the Lake Royale mill east about three miles to the township line. The board appreciates the improvement which the Shelden-Douglas interests are making by the construction of the tarvia road along the lake shore to the Isle Royale mill. This will give the people of Houghton a magnificent drive some four miles in length, including College avenue.

TERRIBLE LIFE FOR GIRL. Little Olga Martino, daughter of Zerk Martino, who is now doing ninety days in the Keweenaw county jail at Eagle River after being convicted of larceny, has been sent to the Good Will Farm at Houghton, where she will be cared for until her case can be taken up in probate court.

The authorities claim the little girl has been living in surroundings that were immoral, disgusting and terrible. She has not had sufficient clothes that she might go to school, has been half fed and has had to look out for herself to a great extent. She was brought before Justice Jackson on a charge of truancy. The child's mother was recently in court, charged with being a disorderly person, and another complaint has been made out for her arrest for the same charge. Both parents, the authorities say, are incompetent. It is intended to send the girl to some state institution, where she can be properly reared and cared for.

GARAGE NEARS COMPLETION. The exterior work on the garage being erected for the Twin City Motor company at the foot of Reservation street, Hancock, has been completed.

The building is fireproof in every detail. The walls are of stone and brick and the roof of steel. The company will repair all automobiles brought to the garage. The manager of the mechanical department is D. W. Sweet of Detroit, who has had many years of experience in his line of work. The company continues its regular trips between Houghton and Hancock, Hancock and Lake Linden, and Hancock and the golf grounds. These trips have proved popular with Portage Lake people and the cars are being well patronized.

MORE CITIZENSHIP PAPERS. Applications for naturalization continuing to pour into the county clerk's office and with the list for the September term of court closed there are already fifty applicants for the November term. The latest petitions filed are those of the following: John Henich, formerly of Austria, now of Calumet, and who landed at Baltimore July 1, 1895; Joseph Supanich, Austrian, of Calumet, arrived at Baltimore Aug. 25, 1899; John Uries, Austrian, of Calumet, landed at Baltimore Dec. 26, 1894; Ignatz Herbst, Austrian, of Calumet, reached New York March 19, 1902.

COPPERDOM BREVITIES. J. H. Hamblitzer of Houghton is in Hancock, Minn., on business.

Marriage licenses have been issued to Joseph Stetin and Barbara Verani of Painesdale, and John Tamblin and Minnie Gies of Quincy.

W. F. Miller and Robert H. Shields of Houghton entertained Lieutenant Governor Patrick H. Kelley and Mrs. Kelley with an automobile tour of the county, Wednesday. The visitors were entertained at dinner Wednesday evening by Mr. and Mrs. John A. Doelle of Houghton.

Secretary McNamara of the Copper Country Fair has begun to arrange his premium list for the coming fall exhibition. From now on Mr. McNamara and his assistants will be busily engaged in fair matters, what with advertising, corresponding with attractions, arranging MINING NEWS. NEW MINING COMPANY. Will Take Over Success-Meeker Group of Claims Near Central City, Colo.

The Calumet & Colorado Mining company has been organized to take over the Success-Meeker group of claims, located near Central City, Gilpin county, Colorado. The company has a capitalization of $500,000 shares of a par value of $1 per share. Of this amount 150,000 shares will be offered and 200,000 shares will remain in the treasury for the future use of the company, which will be a valuable asset.

There are two shafts sunk on the Success-Meeker vein on the company's property, one to the depth of 485 feet, and the other 290, from which has been produced about $50,000 in gold, silver and copper. The company has in its possession records of thirty-two shipments from these shafts averaging $42.04 to the ton.

Their nearest neighbor, the Pittsburg mine, which is working within 150 feet of the Success-Meeker side lines, and the vein of which is positively known to extend into the Success-Meeker ground, is a big dividend payer to its stockholders.

The fact that the property is located just one mile from the railroad and quartz stamp mills is considered a big item in the estimation of the organization.

Superintendent S. R. Smith, of the Ahmeek copper mines, Calumet, Mich., together with John C. Fleschitz, an expert engineer on western mines, were in Calumet, Mich., J. C. Shields, superintendent of Houghton county, Houghton, Mich., S. Russell Smith, superintendent Ahmeek copper mines, Calumet, Mich.; M. C. Getchell, cashier Superior National Bank, Hancock, Mich.; W. M. Harris, chief clerk Tamarack Mining company, Calumet, Mich.; J. C. Shields, superintendent of Keweenaw Central railroad, Phoenix, Mich., and John Crago, expert miner, Central City, Colo.

LAKE SUPERIOR & ARIZONA. An auction sale of Lake Superior & Arizona stock upon which assessments are delinquent was held at the home office of the company in Calumet during the week.

This property is about twenty-eight miles west of Globe, Ariz., and seven or eight years ago was one of the most popular curls, selling up to $28 per share. It developed copper, gold and silver ore in the carbonate and oxide zones, and the management was then, and is yet, content that at depth large bodies of sulphide copper ores will be developed. Thus far the water has been an almost insurmountable obstacle. This apparently has now been overcome by excavating the bottom of Queen creek for 500 feet where the water flows across the vein. The proximity of the vein material allowed the water from the creek to keep the underground saturated but since cementing the creek bed the flow underground has been materially diminished and sinking is progressing steadily below the 900-foot level. Secretary A. E. Petermann of the Lake Superior & Arizona has received from Superintendent Fred W. Hoar the annual report of operations. Supt. Hoar expresses confidence in his report that Lake Superior & Arizona will develop sulphide copper ore of high grade at depth, and that these sulphides will be very large quantities. He states that in the development of the property it will be necessary to sink enough to get through the altered zone to the zone of secondary enrichment that will make of this property a large producer.

MASS. Powerful headlights on locomotives have been made compulsory by the legislature of South Dakota, but before compiling the railroads will take advantage of the law which permits them to submit the matter to a public vote at the next election.

The proposed bridge across the Snake river canyon below the great Shoshone falls, 700 feet above the water, will be the highest bridge in the world.

MAY IRWIN. is not the only professional woman who can boast of her success as a cook.

Myrtle Reed, the famous novelist, is just as famous for her culinary achievements as for her literary success, and Edna Kenton, for whom Richard Watson Gilder predicts great success in American fiction, is a wonderful cook. Mary Roberts Rinehart and Anne Warner Lynch are others in the long list of literary ladies who also shine at the cook stove as well as at the desk.

While it may be the reaction to the simple life that attracts them to cookery, the stars themselves explain their interest by the declaration that cooking is just as much of an art as writing. They say that it is a matter of brain work as well as of manual skill. And every woman who has made a success of cooking, whether or not she has of writing or of acting, knows that this is the case.

First: Cook from the entire loaf without the mill without sorting. It is customary in all the Michigan copper mines to leave barren portions of the loaf unmined for others or supports, and to discard waste or low grade loaf matter. In the "New Lode" so far as opened, the barren portions form but a small percentage of the loaf. About 150 tons of the 607 tons of rock sent to the mill were from one of these barren portions which in a loaf with greater openings would not have been broken down. The result was that practically all the copper recovered came from about 450 tons of rock.

Second: The mill as at present adjusted is not adapted to make a close saving of the copper in the rock from the "New Lode" and losses in the millings were excessively heavy. It requires a little time and experimenting to adjust a mill to obtain satisfactory results. In usual Michigan milling practice 80 per cent or thereabouts of the copper contents is saved in the mills, but the returns thus far received indicate that in this test run only about 65 per cent was saved. There is no reason why our mill should not save when properly adjusted, 80 per cent of the copper in the rock from this "New Lode."

We propose to begin experiments at once with rock from the "New Lode" with a view of adapting one lead of the mill to this rock and we will in a short time have a more extensive mill run making no improper selection, but merely discarding barren rock, as is done in every copper mine in Michigan. Judging from the test already made we may reasonably expect to obtain from twenty to twenty-five pounds of mineral to the ton.

The two crosscuts on the fifteenth level and on the thirteenth level have cut the "New Lode" and found it similar in width and character to the seventeenth level, thus establishing its permanency. Drifting from all points will be pushed as rapidly as possible. The general manager reports that this "New Lode" can be very cheaply mined and milled, and we believe it will prove to be what the Mass company has heretofore lacked, namely: A lode from which equipment can be produced at a cost that will show a good profit.

PEAT TO DIM COAL PERIL. Undeveloped Bogs May Supply Towns With Light and Heat.

Washington, June 17.—Peat bogs may supply a number of cities and towns in the United States with their light, heat and power in the near future, according to statements of federal experts. These men, from the geological survey, assert that millions of dollars' worth of fuel lies undeveloped in the swamps and bogs of the country awaiting only the genius and business ability of the American before it drives the wheels of progress. Its value on a basis of $3 a ton, roughly guessed at by experts who have been studying the peat deposits for some time, is more than $3,000,000,000, more money than is represented in all the property stock, implements and buildings owned by the farmers of the United States.

With the coal supply being used at a tremendous rate, peat is expected to become a most important auxiliary fuel and one that will prolong the life of the coal itself. An important fact which leads the experts to believe that peat will soon become a question of general use in certain parts of the country is that it is as a rule found in quantities in regions far removed from the coal fields, so far that the cost of the shipment of the coal amounts to several times the cost of the fuel itself at the mines.

The states containing the greatest amount of peat are the eastern Dakotas, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, Northern Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, New York, the New England States, New Jersey, portions of Virginia, North and South Carolina, Georgia and Florida.

A thorough investigation of the peat resources is now being undertaken by the Geological Survey, not only as to the amount of peat and its location, but also as to its use. Prof. Charles A. Davis of the technology branch has general charge of the investigations, while Prof. Robert H. Fernald, consulting engineer in Chicago gas power tests, is endeavoring to find the value of peat as a fuel for heating and power purposes. The latter but recently returned from a trip to Europe, where he investigated the uses of peat, and found the older countries much farther advanced along this line than the United States. Prof. Fernald returns with the belief that peat will soon be extensively used in the United States. In Ireland he found that peat was being used generally for domestic purposes, but not by the manufacturing establishments.

TAPESTRY INDUSTRY DYING. Famous Gobelin Manufacture Dilapidated—Workmen Are Leaving.

Paris, June 17.—Every lover of the beautiful in art will regret to hear that the future of the Gobelin tapestry manufacture is endangered. Owned by the government for centuries, its products have been sought by connoisseurs the world over. During the last century more than 4,000 masterpieces have come from its studios.

Unfortunately, year by year the skilled workmen have been decreasing in numbers. In Louis XIV's time there were 250 employed; now there are only fifty-one. These have worked in the Gobelin factory since childhood, as their parents did before them. The state pays only $320 a year after ten years' service and $480 after twenty years. The refusal of the state to increase salaries is the cause of the exodus. The building also is in a dilapidated condition, and it is estimated that $80,000 is needed for its reconstruction.

ROW WITH CANADA FEARED. Demand for Naval Training Ships Interferes With Treaty.

Washington, June 17.—The United States government is facing serious embarrassment with the Colonial government of Canada because of the insistence of lake cities that they be given training ships for their naval reserves.

The state department has called into play all its diplomacy to avoid difficulty with Canada over naval armament on the Great Lakes. Not once the famous victory of Commodore Perry has there been an armed fleet on the Great Lakes.

Just at present, however, the lake cities are after the navy department for modern ships for their naval militia. The navy department is perfectly willing, but there is an existing treaty between the United States and Canada, made through the British foreign office, providing that neither country shall have a fighting force on the lakes, and that neither shall have more than five vessels for training purposes.

Recently, through the persuasive overtures of the state department, however, the Canadian government consented to let the first-class gunboat Nashville on the lakes, as the training ship of the Illinois naval reserves. The Nashville carries her full armament.

New Toledo wants a light boat, but the state department has wakened grown cold in its efforts and has called a halt. Secretary Knox has informed the navy department that one of the vessels now on the lakes, probably the Dorsetha or the Hawk, will have to come off to make room for the Nashville, because of the objection of Canada.

HER PHYSICIAN ADVISED

Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Columbus, Ohio.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound during change of life. My doctor told me it was good, and since making it I feel so much better that I can do all my work again. I think Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fine remedy for all women's troubles, and I never forget to tell my friends what it has done for me."

—Mrs. E. HAYSON, 304 East Long St., Columbus, Ohio.

Another Woman Helped. Anville, Vt.—"I was passing through the Change of Life and suffering from nervousness and other annoying symptoms. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored my health and strength, and proved worth mountains of gold to me. For the sake of other suffering women I am willing you should publish my letter."

—Mrs. CHARLES BARCLAY, R.F.D., Graniteville, Vt.

Women who are passing through this critical period or who are suffering from any of those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of the fact that for thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills. In almost every community you will find women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

S.S.S. DRIVES OUT RHEUMATISM

Rheumatism is due to an excess of uric acid, an irritating, inflammatory accumulation, which gets into the circulation because of weak kidneys, constipation, indigestion, and other physical irregularities which are usually considered of little importance. Nothing applied externally can ever reach the seat of this trouble; the most such treatment can do is soothe the pains temporarily; while potash and other mineral medicines really add to the acidity of the blood, and this fluid therefore continually grows more acid and vitiated. Then instead of nourishing the different muscles and joints, keeping them in a normally supple and elastic condition, it gradually hardens and stiffens them by drying up the natural oils and fluids. Rheumatism can never be cured until the blood is purified. S. S. S. thoroughly cleanses and renovates the circulation by neutralizing the acids and driving the cause from the system. It strengthens and invigorates the blood so that instead of a sour, weak stream, depositing acid and painful corrosive matter in the muscles, joints and bones, it nourishes the entire body with pure, rich blood and permanently cures Rheumatism. S. S. S. contains no potash, alkali or other harmful mineral, but is made entirely of roots, herbs and barks of great purifying and tonic properties. Book on Rheumatism and any medical advice free to all who write.

THE SUPERIOR LUMBER COMPANY

Unique Art Work—August J. Pleyte, of the Marquette Decorating company, has just completed a handsome banner for the St. Jean Baptiste society, which is believed to be the first work of the kind ever turned out in the upper peninsula. The banner, which is a massive and magnificent affair, is done in hand painting on silk. The central figure on one side is a likeness of John the Baptist, and on the other a beaver. There is an abundance of fancy art work and lettering on both sides, much of which is done in gold. The new banner is an exact copy of the one formerly used by the society, for which $350 was paid. The new banner will be carried by the Marquette society on Midsummer day.

Yesterday Suicide Day—Yesterday June 17, is known as suicide day among the statisticians. Statistics show that June is pre-eminently the suicide month, and that as a rule more people slay themselves on June 17 than on any other day in the year.

Time of Masses Changed—The hour of the services at St. Luke's hospital, after a brief illness, Private General services will be held at the house of Fred G. Truscott, 315 Ridge street, tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. Interment will be in Park cemetery.

Waived an Examination—John Lewis and Philip Anglehart, the two Marquette hotel keepers who are charged with having violated the liquor laws last Sunday, appeared before Justice Byrne yesterday forenoon, waived preliminary examination, and were bound over to the September term of circuit court.

Looted Porch Boxes—S. S. Ormsbee would appreciate any information that would lead to the arrest of the persons who have been emptying the porch boxes at his residence on Ridge street of plants as he would like to have the pleasure of prosecuting them. Numerous articles have been stolen from his premises, he reports, and he may yet have to use a set gun.

Saloon Keeper in Trouble—On the charge of having filled the "bill" and transacting business "after hours" last night, it is stated that Leander Winkaka, a saloon keeper, will be arrested this morning. Winkaka's stand is in the Flynn building on West Washington street. It is alleged that he dispensed liquor in a back room until midnight, or until Officers Carlson and King appeared upon the scene. The policemen are the complainants in the case.

Heater Being Tested—The feed water heater, which has recently been installed on South Shore locomotive No. 408, is now being given a practical test. The engine is being used on a regular freight run for two days, equipped with the heater, and today the heater will be taken off and the same run made. In this manner the saving in fuel and otherwise can be computed. Local railway men are confident of the success of the new device invented by John Currie, of Minneapolis.

Moved Into New Block—Fred Donckers moved his tobacco and confectionery store into his new block yesterday afternoon. The move was made in a very short time, and business went on as usual while the moving was being done, the counters and cases being carried from one room to the other without removing their contents. The new store room is much larger and more pleasant than the old, and will enable Mr. Donckers to better look after the wants of his patrons. The second floor of Mr. Donckers' new block is not completely finished, and the Knights of Columbus will not move into their new quarters for several weeks.

LIKED THE AZTECS' LAND.

G. W. Hibbard Speaks Glowingly of Mexico, Its People and Prospects.

George W. Hibbard, for many years general passenger agent of the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic railway, is in the city visiting his old-time railroad and personal friends at the head of the lakes. Says the Duluth News-Tribune: "Four years ago Mr. Hibbard resigned his position with the South Shore to become general passenger agent of the Mexican National lines, with headquarters at the City of Mexico. Three months ago he returned to the United States and will take up his residence again in this country."

Mr. Hibbard, who has been visiting at his former home at Marquette, Mich., came to Duluth as the guest of W. E. Fitch, president, and general manager of the South Shore. They will remain here for a day or two, when they expect to visit the Michigan copper country before Mr. Hibbard returns to Chicago, where he is now making his headquarters.

"I was delighted with Mexico as a place of residence, especially so on account of the climatic conditions," said Mr. Hibbard. "The thermometer varies but a few points during the entire year. Both myself and Mrs. Hibbard enjoyed every day that we were in that country, and we regretted leaving there, but a consolidation of the various lines in that territory changed our plans. My work in the railway service there was also of the most pleasant character."

"Mexico is progressing as rapidly as any country in the world. Capital from the United States is entering the industrial world, and it is welcomed with open arms by the Mexican people, and the Mexican government is extending every inducement for people from this country to locate there."

"Much of the manufacturing enterprise and most of the mining operations are conducted by Americans, and thousands of substantial men from the United States are now located there. Their presence there has had a wonderful effect upon the people of Mexico. The American school system is rapidly gaining a foothold in the land of the Aztecs, and the Mexicans who a few years ago were none too constituted the middle class and are greatly interested in the education of their children, anxious that they shall have the advantages of which they were deprived."

Last evening Mr. Hibbard was the guest of honor at a dinner at the Spalding given by Mart Adson, Mr. Hibbard's successor as general passenger agent of the South Shore. The guests included W. F. Fitch, A. J. Perrin, Dr. W. H. Sawyer, C. H. Marshall, James Mauey and A. O. Jopling of Marquette.

Mr. Hibbard was the originator of the Copper and Iron circuit of theaters which includes Duluth, Superior, Hibbing, Hancock, Calumet, Lake Linden, Marquette, Ishpeming, Escanaba, Ironwood, Bessemer and Ashland.

MARKETS

NEW YORK STOCKS.

Paine, Webber & Co.'s correspondent of New York yesterday telegraphed as follows: "The selling of stocks today was quite extensive and a withdrawal of the recent good support was noted, with the result that declines were sufficient to extend to disclose long stock in quantity. The news was not of a character to cause urgent liquidation, but the element in favor of lower prices were prone to exaggerate the reports in regard to the listing of the Steel stocks on the Paris bourse. Talk of gold exports and considerable calling of loans, together with a slightly firmer tendency in money circles, created the belief that the market operations are likely to be curtailed temporarily, at least until the July adjustment have been made. Late in the session support was tendered, which served to steady prices, and a substantial rally ensued, but the tone of the market was rather unsteady. Sentiment is somewhat divided, but in good quarters it is thought that the chances should be made on the recessions, as there are not as yet any indications of an abandonment of the plan for higher prices."

Copper Metal Prices.

New York, June 17.—The very sharp opening decline in the London copper market today was partly recovered, the close being 12 1/2d lower, with spot quoted at 55s. 7s. 6d and futures at 55s. 3s. Locally the market was weak and rather unsettled, with Lake unchanged, at 13.77% @ 13.62%, and the other grades slightly lower, at 11% to 13.25 for electrolytic and 12.50 to 13 for casting.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKETS.

Chicago, June 17.—The declining tendency of wheat was halted today, and a fair recovery was made, owing to buying by shorts. Considerable nervousness was manifested, and the prices fluctuated over a range of 1/4 to 1/2 for the active months. At the opening, fear of a harvest in the Southeast and the relatively firm markets abroad imparted some strength, but the firmness was soon dispelled or selling based on a further break in the Northwestern markets. The sentiment late in the session became decidedly bullish. The market was due largely to the oversold condition of the market, rather than to any definite news of bullish nature, although some reports were received telling of small yields in northwestern Kansas and damage by rains in Northwestern states. The market closed near the highest point of the day, with the prices 1/4 lower to 3/4 higher. The July opened at 114 1/4; highest, 115 1/4; lowest, 113 1/4; closing, 115 1/4.

Corn—An advance of 1/4 in the July was the feature of the trading. The return in the July imparted considerable strength to the more deferred months, and the prices at the close showed net gains of 1/4 to 1/2. The bulge in the July was due to active covering by shorts, based on a brisk demand for cash gain by Eastern shippers. The July opened at 71 1/4 to 71 1/2; highest, 72 1/2; lowest, 71 1/4; closing, 72 1/2.

Oats—This market also shared in the general rally, and closed at net gains of 1/4 to 1/2. The closing late in the day was of an indubitable character, with cash interest leading. The July opened at 50 1/2 to 50 3/4; highest, 51 1/4; lowest, 50 1/4; closing, 51 1/4.

Paine, Webber & Co.'s Wheat Summary.
Paine, Webber & Co.'s Chicago correspondent said yesterday concerning the wheat market:

"The developments in wheat before the close today were in line with the suggestions made in the early advices and several times during the session to the effect that the selling had been continuous for several days, that it was overdone and that conditions suggested at least a good temporary recovery in prices. The trade gave little attention to foreign news. Broomfield called that the shipments from India and Russia will be smaller this week. His agents also report that rains needed in Argentina. The advices in regard to the Kansas probable wheat yields are still very conflicting. The people who appear to know most about the state from actual individualism is left absolutely uncontrolled as a modern business condition, the result would follow that all power of individual achievement and individual effort in the average man will be crushed out just as effectively as is the state took absolute control of everything. On this line Mr. Roosevelt continues as follows:

"Those who advocate total lack of regulation, those who would have the business world themselves give the strongest impulse to what I believe would be the deadening movement towards state socialism."

"There must be law to control the big man, and therefore especially the big corporations, in the industrial world, in the interest of our industrial democracy of today. This law must be efficient, and therefore it must be administered by executive officers, and not by lawsuits in the courts. If this is not done, the agitation to increase out of all measure the share of the government in this work will receive an enormous impetus. The movement for government control of the great business corporations is no more a movement against liberty than a movement to stop to violence is a movement against liberty. The huge responsible corporation which demands liberty from the supervision of government agents stands on the same ground as the less dangerous criminal of the streets who wishes liberty from police interference."

The ex-president closes with a direct reference to newspapers. "Yet another thing," he says. "No movement ever has done or ever will go good in this country where assault is made not upon the innocent, but simply upon evil as it happens to be found in a particular class. The big newspaper, owned or controlled in Wall Street, which is everlastingly preaching about the iniquity of laboring men, which is quite willing to hoodlum politicians for their misdeeds, but which with raving fury defends all the malefactors of great wealth, stands on an exact level with and neither above nor below that other newspaper whose whole attack is upon men of wealth, which declines to condemn, or even to mention, the petty and wholly inefficient man, outrages committed by labor. This latter is the kind of paper which by torrents of foul abuse seeks to stir up a bitter class hatred against every man of means simply because it is a man of means, against every man of wealth, whether he is an honest man who by industry and ability has honorably won his wealth, and who honorably spends it, or a man whose wealth represents robbery and his life represents profligacy, at least an idle, baseless and tasteless extravagance. This country cannot afford to let its conscience grow wrapped and twisted, as it must grow if it takes either one of those two positions. We must draw the line, not on wealth, not on power, but on conduct. We must stand for the good citizen because he is a good citizen. Whether he be rich or whether he be poor, and must be mercilessly attacks the man who does evil, wholly without regard to whether the evil is done in high or low places, whether it takes form of homicidal violence among members of a federation of miners, or of unscrupulous craft and greed in the head of some great Wall Street corporation."

ROOSEVELT'S VIEWS.

With "The Thraldom of Names" for His Subject, He Makes Use of Vigorous Language in Discussing the Political Problems Arising from the Growth of the Power of Great Corporations.

New York, June 17.—Discussion of the political problems confronting the country through the development of power by large corporations is made in vigorous language by ex-President Roosevelt in his article in this week's Outlook. Talking for his subject, "The Thraldom of Names," Mr. Roosevelt says it behooves one people never to be misled by designing people who appeal to the reverence for or antipathy toward a given name in order to achieve some selfish purpose. "The rule of a mob, he declares, may be as tyrannical and oppressive as the rule of a single individual, and the rule of an oligarchy, whether its oligarchy is a plutocracy or a bureaucracy may be as sordid and bloodthirsty as that of a mob; and the mob, he says, usually state that all that they are doing is necessary in order to advance the cause of 'liberty,' while the dictator and oligarchy are usually defended upon the ground that the courts they follow is absolutely necessary so as to secure 'order.'"

"Many excellent people are taken in by the use of the word 'liberty' at the one time," says the ex-president, "and the use of the word 'order' at the other and ignore the simple fact that despotism is despotism, tyranny is tyranny, oppression oppression, whether committed by an individual or by many individuals, by a state or by a private corporation. All forms of tyranny and cruelty must alike be condemned by honest men."

"We in this country have been very fortunate. Thanks to the teaching and the practice of the men whom we most revere as leaders, of the men like Washington and Lincoln, we have hitherto escaped the twin gulfs of despotism and mob rule, and we have never been in any danger from the worst forms of religious bitterness. But we should therefore be all the more careful, as we deal with industrial and social problems, not to fall into mistakes similar to those which have brought lasting disaster on less fortunately situated peoples."

"First and foremost we must stand firmly on a basis of good sound ethics. We intend to do what is right for the ample and sufficient reason that it is right. If business is hurt by the stern efforts to punish the crooked men, their business must be hurt, even though good men are involved in the hurting, until it so adjusts itself that it is possible to prosecute wrongdoing without causing the business community into a terror-struck defense of the wrongdoers and an angry assault upon those who have exposed them. On the other hand, we must beware, above all things, of being misled by wicked or foolish men who would endeavor to deal with violence and aggression for the dynamite and the assassin because, forsooth, they choose to take the ground that crime is no crime if the wicked man happens also to have been a shrewd and unscrupulous lawyer. It is essential that we should wrest the control of the government out of the hands of rich men who use it for unhealthy purposes, and should keep it out of their hands; and to this end the first requisite is to provide means adequately to deal with corporations, which are essential to modern business, without the decisions of the courts, and because of the shortsightedness of the public have become the chief factors in political and business delinquency. But it would be just as bad to put the control of the government into the hands of demagogues and visionaries who seek to pander to ignorance and prejudice by penalizing thrift and business enterprise, and ruining all men of means, with an attendant result, the ruin of the entire community."

Mr. Roosevelt quotes an article by Stevens, an English journalist, on conditions in the United States written in 1890, in which it was declared that if

For that purpose the country was divided into ten districts. The recommendation of Sovereign Commander Root to change the by-laws so that members taking out additional insurance would have to pay for both the old and new insurance premium, based upon their age at the time of the issuance of the additional insurance and the rates then in force, was overwhelmingly defeated.

SEVENTEEN CARS ENTERED.

Big Crowds Gather for the Western Vanderbilt Automobile Races.

Crown Point, Ind., June 17.—With the promise of fair weather for the first "Western Vanderbilt" race over the Crown Point-Lowell circuit tomorrow, throngs of people began to arrive to-night. Excursion trains from every direction brought their thousands, as did a constant stream of motor cars. This town, as well as Lowell, is fairly smothered under the avalanche of humanity, and many late arrivals found it impossible to secure sleeping quarters and were obliged to sleep in their machines. A number gave up all idea of slumber and wended their way to the course, there to stamp their feet against the cold earth until morning. Lieutenant Colonel Eddy brought the First regiment on an excursion train from Chicago. Colonel Sanborn and a detail had preceded them, and they found the headquarters tents pitched when they arrived. Tomorrow the soldiers will be detailed in squads along the entire course and will keep it clear at all hazards. The practice this afternoon differed little from that of the preceding days, and unusually fast time was made. Up to today it was expected that there would be eighteen cars in the race, but the withdrawal of the Ford has reduced the number to seventeen. The Ford never found it impossible to get their car here in time, it is said, owing to unforeseen difficulties.

New Record for Twenty-Five Miles.

Readyville, Mass., June 17.—The world's automobile record for twenty-five miles was broken at the Readyville track today by Ralph Palma. His time was twenty-three minutes and thirty-five seconds. Barney Oldfield's old record of twenty-three minutes and thirty-eight seconds was broken by Palma made at Fresno, Cal., Dec. 13, 1904.

INSURGENTS AWAIT COMING OF LEADER

Indications Among the Progressive Republicans in the Senate of an Approaching Trial for the Title—In a Degree, the Mantle Has Fallen Upon LaFollette.

Washington, June 17.—If western progressivism is destined to win or even to make a decided influence in Republican councils, there will be a big trial for title to leadership one of these days. Signs appear that such a trial is approaching in the senate, where the tariff debate is dragging its weary way along. The outcome of the trial may determine whether a president before a considerable number of years have rolled around.

The towering figures among the senate progressives are young men. Cummins of Iowa, who has rapidly been forging some recognition of his leadership, is the oldest of the group. He is fifty-one, Bristol forty-four, Beveridge forty-seven, Borah forty-four and LaFollette fifty-four. All, however, are old in political experience and in political campaigning, as the very fact of their presence in the senate demonstrates.

Senator Aldrich, more in decision than by way of compliment, addressed Senator Beveridge of Indiana the other day as the leader of the Republican insurgent forces. The westerners refuse to accept him in that role, although his selection of states and his ten years of service, in which he is the senior of all the insurgents, give him some standing in their factional deliberations. Thus far they have had no real leader, but out of their numerous plans, which have been brought forward more frequently by the press, the one that has been taken, they are realizing their entry as a group and the necessity for closer organization.

Washington, June 17.—Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin, who spoke with some vigour in a recent debate during a recent debate because the Republican senators co-operating with him were now nine or ten, was the pioneer insurgent in the upper legislative branch. The mantle of insurgent leadership has fallen upon him to a degree, although here, again, one could hardly say that the other insurgents are any more disposed to follow him than they are to follow Senator Beveridge.

If the elections next year in the West result favorably for the progressives, they may find themselves sufficiently numerous in the senate to hold the balance of power. They are now ten or eleven. When they are sixteen or seventeen—if they ever grow to that strength—there can be no question about their potency in shaping legislation. They have gained strength and lost strength in the extra session, and Crawford and his South Dakota colleague, Gamble, appear to have gone over to Senator Crane's Macedonian phalanx and the progressives are whispering their fears about Senator Borah. At least all three of those erstwhile progressives have opened book accounts with the finance committee, to borrow a phrase which Senator Hale used not long ago of Senator Beveridge, voting part of the time with the committee and part of the time against the committee.

Senator Cummins and Senator LaFollette have asserted themselves much toward establishing a leadership over the little band. They have hit hard and deliberately in debate and have persisted. It would probably be conceded that they stand as the two most qualified Republican reformers inside the senate. Cummins is not as strong a debater as Dolliver, is not gifted with the same torrential eloquence, but he has qualities of mind that commend him to the senate generally, is a good mixer with the Republicans as a whole and is not so likely to be overlooked—and thus far has commanded the respect of his opponents without arousing their animosities.

Senator LaFollette, while as forceful in his crusades for reform legislation as any one, remains the most cordially hated man on either side of the chamber. This is not on account of any personal characteristics, but because of his unrestrained language in debate. He has voted with the Democrats very constantly ever since he entered the senate which would alone make him hated by the Republicans does not hesitate to speak in unmeasured denunciation of the senate leaders of his own party.

The movement which these senators have guided is not confined to tariff. Of course they have given revision downward great prominence in the senate debates, and emphasized it tremendously before the country. Probably they have already vitalized it as an issue in the congressional elections next year. But they will not subside when the tariff bill has been enacted into law. They have definite ideas about corporate financial legislation with which the next session of congress is expected to grapple. They will be fully equipped to harass the regular Republican organization when it comes to amending the Sherman anti-trust law and modifying the currency system after the finance commission has made report.

The house has a similar and very lively insurgent problem, and at the session next winter history will be repeated. The dangers of an alliance between Democrats and westerners will be ever before the speaker. Once he is able to gather a majority for or in the senate, the senate leaders will again be confronted by a bi-party opposition. Its effect, of course, is demoralizing upon any political organization, and inevitably becomes a handicap in a national election.

Will Be Ordained a Minister—
Gunnar Vinberg, a Monocle young man, will be ordained a minister of the gospel at the Swedish Baptist church in his home city Sunday evening. Mr. Vinberg has been a student at the Swedish Theological seminary at Morgan Park, Ill., for the past four years, his graduation taking place May 11. Following his ordination he will become pastor of the Swedish Baptist church.

May Have a Paid Department—
Whether the Sault Ste. Marie fire department is to continue as a volunteer organization or be more thoroughly organized under a paid system will be decided by the common council in the near future. The public will be invited to attend the city hall next Monday night and air its views on the matter. At the council meeting this week the fire committee reported in favor of a paid department or limiting the number of men to fifteen, under rules to be fixed by ordinance. It is claimed that a paid department can be maintained for about $800 more than the city is now expending for fire fighting.

Orangemen to Celebrate—
Orangemen in Chippewa county are anticipating with pleasure the coming of a celebration which is to be held at Piskford, July 12, the two hundred and nineteenth anniversary of the battle of the Foynes. Meetings by the various lodges throughout the county are being held and preparation for attending the celebration are being made.

Shooting and Himself—
An attempted murder and a suicide occurred at La Pointe, Madeline island when Charles Hallman shot his wife three times with thirty-eight caliber revolver, reports an Ashland (Wis.) correspondent. The first shot Hallman fired struck his wife in the arm, the second grazed her breast and the third hit the forehead, ranging downward into his throat. She is badly wounded but may live. He then placed the muzzle of his revolver to his temple and blew his brains out, dying instantly. Mrs. Hallman was brought to Ashland on the steamer Skater and is at the Rinehart hospital. Hallman and wife are said to have come from Crystal Falls, Michigan. They resided at Ashland all winter and about a month ago went to Bayfield where he has been playing the violin for dances, in saloons and other places. The shooting followed a quarrel.

Voting Machine Contract Upheld—
In addition to transacting a great amount of routine business at its meeting this week, the Escanaba city council showed that action formerly taken to repudiate the contract held with the Abbott Voting Machine company may be annulled and the terms of the contract carried out. Aldermen Gallagher, Powers and Garrity declared themselves as unopposedly in favor of the annulment of the honor of Escanaba in a deal that was squarely entered into by both parties and the matter was referred to the finance committee until the next meeting when the city attorney will present a legal opinion on the matter. The discussion was started when the notice given, varies somewhat, according to the importance of the function—that is to say, whether it is to be a smart wedding or quiet. In the first instance, the regulation notice is for three weeks to a fortnight; in the second, a fortnight or even less is not unusual, says the New York Sun.

The invitations to smart weddings are issued in notes printed in ink, not in silver, while to quiet weddings written notes often take the place of printed.

The form of the invitation is as follows: "Mr. and Mrs. A— request the pleasure of Mr. and Mrs. B—'s company at the wedding of their daughter Blanche with Mr. Cecil C—, at St. Mary's church, Hattield, on Wednesday, Feb. 17, at 2:30 o'clock, and afterward at the Cedars, R. S. V. P."

When the bride is a stepdaughter of Mr. A— she is referred to in the invitation as Mrs. A—'s daughter, Miss Blanche Blank; but if she is a stepdaughter of Mrs. A—, the words "their daughter Blanche" are usually allowed to stand.

If the reception is given by the uncle and aunt of the bride, "their niece, Miss Blanche Blank," is substituted for the words "their daughter," and again if the reception is given by the married sister of the bride and her husband, the words "their sister" are substituted for "their daughter," and in every case the invitations are issued in the names of husband and wife, and the answers should be directed to the mother or other relative of the bride.

Occasionally guests are merely asked to witness the ceremony of the church in the event of a quiet wedding being intended, in which case "no reception" is put upon the invitations, which means that friends and acquaintances are only expected to attend at the church, but relatives will meet at the house subsequently.

We have been frequently asked, says the Queen, whether a clerical service should be held at this style of wedding, and whether floral decorations in the church are in good taste under the circumstances. The answer to both questions is in the affirmative, always supposing that the wedding does not follow close upon a bereavement, in which case flowers and music would be rather out of place.

Some brides wear white on these occasions, but it is white cloth or some similar material, and not what is known as bridal attire with its accompanying train. Whether the bride wears white or gray a toque takes the place of a veil, and she invariably carries a sheaf of lilies in lieu of bouquet, while some times she carries a prayer book and not the flowers. It is very rarely that bridal attire is worn by a bride when no reception is to follow the ceremony. There are, of course, exceptions to this, but the accepted rule is not to do so.

RELIGIOUS RANCHER WITH AN APPETITE.
Before he reached his years of affliction Philip Bolger, the insurance broker, was one time a range rider in Trinity county. Bolger tells the San Francisco Call a story of a rancher of that district who was noted for both his piety and for his voracious appetite. This man was never late at meal time and always led the charge into the dining room. Once in his chair at the head of the table it mattered little to him whether or not the others were seated. Having his mind in pious invocation he would rattle off some such like this: "We thank thee for what has been put before us. Sharpen our appetites to the spiritual food, as well as to the material things of life, for the Lord's sake. Pass the meat."

COMMENCEMENT HELD LAST EVENING

SIXTY-FIVE BOYS AND GIRLS RECEIVED DIPLOMAS AT THE CONCLUSION OF THE PROGRAM.

The annual commencement exercises of the Ishpeming High school, held last night in the Ishpeming theater, took an original and unique form. The class gave a representation of a session of the United States senate, convened for a discussion of the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill. The program was naturally difficult of presentation and the fact that the evening's exercises were a complete success is only another indication of the untiring energy which is characteristic of the class. The plan for the evening's program was the idea of Superintendent Scribner, and to him and to the members of the high school teaching force is due much credit for the success of the entertainment.

The theater presented a pleasing spectacle when the audience had assembled and the curtain arose upon the graduating class. The nature of the playfully decorated with white and yellow roses by the junior class, who attended in a body. At the left of the stage was the desk of the president. Around it were grouped the members of the class, the faculty and school board. Above the stage the class motto, "Diligentia Omnia Vincit."

As the curtain rose the high school orchestra played a selection from the "Grand Mogul." After invocation by the Rev. W. J. Meade, Miss Lola Nesbitt gave the class salutatory. She began by explaining the origin of the tariff and the workings of a tariff bill. Then, in her pleasing manner, she welcomed the host of friends who had come to see the class receive their diplomas.

The senate was then called to order by Heman Allen, who presided with ease and skill. When order had been secured Edgerton Cooley was recognized as the senator from Rhode Island. He gave a general discussion of the whole tariff bill, with a dash and confidence that might have been envied by Senator Aldrich, whom he represented. His effort was greeted with hearty applause from the audience and his fellow senators.

Then Irma Altschwager was recognized as the senator from Massachusetts. She made a vigorous onslaught upon the tariff on housing and attacking it with the vigor of a Boston suffragette. Her fellow senators made several attempts to side-track her until finally she was compelled to refuse to yield the floor for further questions.

Following this Charles Carlson spoke in behalf of the consumers of Ohio for a lower tariff on lumber. His efficient handling of the cost of production and the rates on "saw logs" and rough and finished lumber showed his close familiarity with the subject.

After his speech a motion was made that the senate adjourn to listen to music by the Girls' Glee club of the Ishpeming High school. The selection rendered was the Waltz song from Gounod's "Faust."

When the meeting was again called to order Gide Larson secured recognition as the senator from Kansas. She made an eloquent appeal for the independent oil producer, showing that the small producer would be crushed if the rate on oil were reduced in order to check the oppression of the Standard Oil company.

One of the most interesting speeches of the evening followed, when Larue Verran delivered her speech on iron. Her thorough familiarity with every phase of the schedule indicated a close and careful study of the question.

Here again the senate was adjourned, this time to music by the Boys' Glee club. "The Jolly Blacksmith's Lay," by Geibel, was very pleasingly rendered.

Upon the reconvening of the senate an interesting discussion of the income tax was given. Emily Smith advocated the adoption of this tax as a means of raising additional revenue. She was answered by Rose Werner, who successfully refuted the arguments of her fellow senator.

Next Will Quinlan, as senator from Illinois, attacked the rate on hides with the characteristic vigor of a Republican insurgent. His speech was answered by his fellow senators very skillfully, and closed the evening's debate in a masterful manner.

The senate then adjourned. Moderator Burt assumed control and called upon Miss Selma Hoyeth, the class valedictorian. Her speech formed a very fitting climax to the evening's program. She gave to the audience the prospective and retrospective view of the high school graduate about to face the battle of life. The world today, she said, calls for men and women who are self-reliant, and this quality of self-reliance is the one most developed by our public school system. She closed her speech with a few well chosen words of grateful appreciation to the superintendent, principal, board of education and high school faculty. She also made a pleasing reference to the services of the former principal, Miss McKirick, and closed with a direct farewell to the class.

Her speech was followed by the presentation of diplomas to the class. The evening's program was closed by beautiful rendition of "Dough and Error," by Miss Angela Schumacher, assisted by the Girls' Glee club.

The program was a complete success, and speaks volumes for the ability of the class. The class of 1909 is the largest that has ever graduated from the Ishpeming High school. Sixty-six students received diplomas last night and the citizens of Ishpeming felt highly grateful that so large a percentage of those who entered four years ago were able to finish the four years' course.

Following are the members of the class: Walter Clayton Sterne, president; Mayme Pauline Bigger, Jane Brewer; Thomas Marriott Bargh, treasurer; Gvda Josephine Olson, secretary; Heman Allen, Irma Altschwager, Loraine Barnaby, Marjery Barney, Agnes Bergman, Myrtle Bigger, James Brewer, Albert Brown, Loreta Burke, Charles Carlson, Lily Carlson, Ethel Collick, Will Cooley, Edgerton Cooley, Emily Cox, Catherine Devan, Herbert Devine, Jane Drew, Dorothy Eger, Ida Eggan, Hulda Flack, Lydia Gill, Hilmer Gellin, Booth Goodman, Gerda Hedstrom, Minnie Hegdahl, Selma Hoyeth, Clifford Jaedeck, Ingeborg Johnson, Ethel John-

NEW BUILDINGS AT NORTH LAKE MINE

J. WAHLMAN & SON HAVE BEEN AWARDED A CONTRACT FOR THE ERECTION OF A COMBINATION WAREHOUSE AND OFFICE.

In all probability the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company will do considerable building at its North Lake mine during the present year. A contract has been awarded to J. Wahlman & Son for the erection of a combination office and warehouse. The building will be fifty by seventy feet in size and will contain several rooms in the office department. One large room will be used for the mine supplies. It will be equipped with shower baths and other conveniences, and will be substantially built on a concrete foundation. The contract for this building has been awarded to William Treblelock. A crew will begin work on the foundation today, and it is expected that it will be completed within a week. J. A. Blackney has the plumbing contract.

A superintendent's dwelling is also to be erected. Bids have been called for and the contract will be awarded within a few days, as soon as J. S. Mennie, the company's chief architect, returns from Milwaukee. The dwelling will be a duplicate of W. W. Graf's house on Carola street.

The concrete shaft being put down by the Foundation company of New York will soon be turned over to the company. The concrete reached the ledge about two weeks ago and is now being extended a few feet into the rock. The Foundation company made satisfactory progress on this job, as the work was not started until late in the winter. It will be some months before the mine will be a producer, as there is a considerable distance between the ledge and the ore body.

The North Lake district in time will be a very pleasant locality in which to live. The company has a boarding house there and the workmen are comfortably cared for. The Foundation company's men are living in tents, but practically all of the Cleveland-Cliffs employees who do not live in Ishpeming have quarters at the boarding house. Most of the diamond drill men working in that section drive to and from the city every day. Dennis Maloney, who has been in the employ of the company for a number of years as steam shovel operator, recently took charge of the stripping there.

Y. M. C. A. CAMP.

Junior and Intermediate Classes Will Spend Week at Lake Independence.

The boys holding membership in the junior and intermediate classes of the Young Men's Christian association will spend a week in camp at Lake Independence, starting July 29. Although there are some twenty members in each class, it is not expected that more than twenty will take the outing. The expense for the week, including transportation, will be about $5. Officers of the association recently visited Lake Independence and selected an attractive camp site at a point where there is good beach with shallow water. R. J. Wise, the secretary, yesterday said that the surroundings are attractive. There is excellent fishing at Lake Independence. The camp will be under supervision of one of the officers and it will be supplied with all equipment necessary for the boys' enjoyment and comfort.

A senior camp will be organized later and the older boys will be taken on a trip. It is possible that they will also go to Lake Independence.

A membership of nearly 200 is now enrolled and new applications are coming in satisfactorily to the officers. There are over forty members in the senior class and about twenty-five in the boys' class and about twenty in the boys' class. The boys' class, which held its first meeting Monday evening. Under the present arrangement the class will meet on Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons between 5 and 6 o'clock, but the arrangements are temporary, and a change will be made later.

LOST AN ARM.

Oscar Bankson, whose home is on Cleveland avenue, lost an arm at the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company's Mine Wednesday evening. He was riding on a cage passing from the lower to the upper level of the mine. In some unaccountable manner he got his arm caught between the platform and the cage. The space in which it was caught was so small that the arm was taken off completely just below the elbow. It was removed to the Ishpeming hospital. The arm was so badly shattered that it was necessary to amputate the stub above the elbow.

DRUGGISTS' SYNDICATE.

Private Car of Big Concern Was in Ishpeming Yesterday.

Several representatives of the American Druggists' syndicate were here yesterday in the company's private car. The object of the excursion, which is to include a visit to practically all of the principal points in the upper peninsula, is to exhibit to the local druggists the samples of goods handled by the concern, also to solicit their membership in the company. The line of samples carried in the car is not only complete, but very attractive, and they were examined with much interest by the Ishpeming druggists. Up to this time only one Ishpeming druggist has held stock in the company, but all of the others joined yesterday as associate members. The dividend paying stock, which two years ago sold at $20 a share, is now quoted at $50. Associate membership costs $20. The latter are granted the same privileges with reference to the purchase of goods from the company as are the dividend stockholders, though they do not participate in the dividends, which last year aggregated $3.13 per cent.

The company now has 14,000 retail druggists associated as members, while two years ago there were only 3,000 enrolled.

ing date last year. A total of 140 births has been recorded compared with 182 at this time a year ago.

The newly organized Finnish camp of the Woodmen of the World will install its officers tonight. W. J. Hebar, who represents the society in this section, will leave today for Calumet, where he expects to organize a camp.

The meeting called for Wednesday evening for the purpose of deciding whether a celebration shall be held here on July 3rd was postponed until this evening, on account of the class-day exercises in the auditorium of the high school.

The one-year-old son of Nathaniel Hendra, 125 Vine street, died Wednesday. The funeral will be held this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock from the home, Rev. C. L. Adams, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, will officiate.

Victor Carlson, who had charge of J. Wahlman & Son's work on the Swanzy range, is now doing concrete work there on his own account. He is making a specialty of foundations and will also put in sidewalks as soon as this work is started.

Captain John McEneaney and family will leave tomorrow for Detroit, Cleveland and other points. The captain expects to spend the greater part of the summer in New York, but Mrs. McEneaney and the children will return in about three weeks.

Mrs. Edward Hickey of Lake street has gone to Milwaukee to see her son Michael, who is receiving treatment in a hospital there. She will be joined in the city by Mrs. Hanora Page, formerly of this city, and both will spend some days in Milwaukee visiting friends.

Jerry Shney left yesterday for Denver, Colo., where he will visit his sister, Mrs. Michael Ahorn. From there he will go to Arizona, where he plans to remain permanently. His brother Patrick is in Arizona and it is reported that he is playing excellent ball with one of the fast teams there. He is holding down second base.

Herman Sippala of Marquette and Mrs. Ethel L. Johnson of this city were married Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Johnson, 310 East Empire street. Rev. C. L. Adams, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, performed the ceremony.

The advance sale of reserved seat tickets for Shakespeare's comedy "Twelfth Night," to be produced at the Ishpeming theater tomorrow evening by the senior class of the Northern Normal, will open this morning. A large number of orders have been received. In the neighborhood of fifty people will take part in the production, and a splendid entertainment is assured.

Junior and Intermediate Classes Will Spend Week at Lake Independence.

The boys holding membership in the junior and intermediate classes of the Young Men's Christian association will spend a week in camp at Lake Independence, starting July 29. Although there are some twenty members in each class, it is not expected that more than twenty will take the outing. The expense for the week, including transportation, will be about $5. Officers of the association recently visited Lake Independence and selected an attractive camp site at a point where there is good beach with shallow water. R. J. Wise, the secretary, yesterday said that the surroundings are attractive. There is excellent fishing at Lake Independence. The camp will be under supervision of one of the officers and it will be supplied with all equipment necessary for the boys' enjoyment and comfort.

A senior camp will be organized later and the older boys will be taken on a trip. It is possible that they will also go to Lake Independence.

A membership of nearly 200 is now enrolled and new applications are coming in satisfactorily to the officers. There are over forty members in the senior class and about twenty-five in the boys' class and about twenty in the boys' class. The boys' class, which held its first meeting Monday evening. Under the present arrangement the class will meet on Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons between 5 and 6 o'clock, but the arrangements are temporary, and a change will be made later.

LOST AN ARM.

Oscar Bankson, whose home is on Cleveland avenue, lost an arm at the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company's Mine Wednesday evening. He was riding on a cage passing from the lower to the upper level of the mine. In some unaccountable manner he got his arm caught between the platform and the cage. The space in which it was caught was so small that the arm was taken off completely just below the elbow. It was removed to the Ishpeming hospital. The arm was so badly shattered that it was necessary to amputate the stub above the elbow.

BITS OF TARIFF TALK.

Some of the Lighter Side of the Senatorial Debate.

Mr. Bradley Promises to Be Good if He Secures a Tariff on Jute—'Awful Lot of Lying Going On,' Says Tillman—Mr. Dolliver Believes There Have Been Protests Against the Bill.

Washington, June 17.—Verbatim pick-ups from the great tariff debate: Mr. Bradley, I appeal to the senate for justice in this matter. It is true I come from the State of Kentucky, but I am not ashamed of that. There is no better state on this earth than Kentucky. Kentucky is like a man's wife was when she said that never was a better woman on earth than she was as long as her husband would let her have her own way. Why should we not have this protection? What is the reason why we should not have it? Are we a part of this country or not? We pay more internal revenue than any state in this union except two.

The Vice President. Will the senator suspend until the chair suggests to the occupants of the galleries that they are all guests of the senate, and that the decorum of the senate does not permit demonstrations of either approval or disapproval by such guests. The senator from Kentucky will proceed.

Mr. Bradley, Mr. President, I hope that the occupants of the galleries will be in order. I surely do not desire to be the innocent cause of any trouble in the senate, for I have heard enough of this trouble lately, and I am glad I am out of it. I have not been anybody mad this session, I have not been mad either. I am not going to be mad unless the senate refuses to give me a tariff on jute. Then I reserve the right to myself to get mad and to stay mad during the remainder of the session.

More Lying Every Day. Mr. Aldrich, I have to be here. My duties are on this floor. This bill has been reported with the action of the committee upon it. I cannot undertake to read all the material sent to us every day.

Mr. Tillman. That is well understood. Mr. Aldrich, the paper has gone to the state department for translation. We will ask the state department to hurry up the translation.

Mr. Tillman. And bring in the abstract, too.

Mr. Aldrich. The abstract was not furnished by the state department. Mr. Tillman. We want to see why the senator has been so angry about it.

Mr. Aldrich. I have not been angry. Mr. Tillman (continuing). Bordering upon the line of discourtesy and lack of respect to the German government.

Mr. Aldrich. I thought the senator from South Carolina had known me long enough to know that.

Mr. Tillman. But the senator from Rhode Island is set in his purpose.

Mr. Aldrich. I am not set in my purpose.

Mr. Tillman (continuing). To pass this bill a certain way, and he has certain figures presented by his lieutenants which, I think, are contradicted by the facts. I cannot conceive of American labor getting four times as much as German labor.

Mr. Aldrich. There have been statistics by the hundreds and thousands of pages.

Mr. Tillman. I have gotten so I do not believe what they say. My belief in the statement of the senator from Maryland (Mr. Rayner), that there is an awful lot of lying going on, is growing stronger every day.

CAN'T EMPTY THE OCEAN

Andrew Larsen of Sorensen & Larsen, merchant tailors of Salt Lake City, was in bed and death was looked for almost daily. The treatment was changed. He began to mend. His partner phoned the doctor he was slightly better. The doctor replied, 'It makes no difference. It is as impossible for him to recover as it is to empty the ocean.'

The progress was so slow that the patient would get discouraged and read one book for a week. He says he thinks he had it a hundred times. But the day he finished the third dozen he was back to business. Wonder what his physician thinks about emptying the ocean.

Physicians call kidney trouble Nephritis. This means inflammation of the kidneys. The old diuretics (kidney medicines) are kidney excitants. No wonder the kidney deaths have doubled.

Fulton's Renal Compound is the first successful kidney emollient, thus reducing kidney inflammation and controlling kidney troubles that have resisted all known treatment as in the above Salt Lake case. Literature mailed free.

senator from West Virginia (Mr. Elkins), if there is anything on earth I do not like it is a spotted protectionist. This doctrine is right, or it is wrong. If protection is right upon one article, it is right upon all where that article needs protection in order to foster the industry. I have seen a great many spots of politics since I have been in the senate. Mr. President—a great many strange things that I do not understand, being a young man from the country, not acquainted with the arts and sciences of Kentucky. I have been a lot of things up here that I do not understand. And tariff, tariff, tariff has been ringing in my ears until I feel a good deal like the man who killed another down in Kentucky. When he was arraigned and asked to tell his story, he said: 'I killed him in self-defence.' 'Well,' said the lawyer, 'did he try to kill you?' 'No, he did not.' 'Did he draw a weapon on you?' 'No, he did not.' 'Did he insult your wife or your daughter?' 'No, he did not.' 'Then, what did you kill him for?' 'Because he came to my home, when I was behaving myself like a gentleman and not interrupting anybody, and said he had come down there to talk tariff to me. That is the reason why I killed him.'

Debate Not Effective. Mr. Nelson, Mr. President, I am aware that anything that may be said on this subject relating to the cotton schedule and the increase of duties will be of little effect in this chamber. I am also aware that, notwithstanding what may be pointed out as to the action of the finance committee in this matter, still, right or wrong, the rule of the finance committee will prevail. Yesterday we had from the senator from Massachusetts (Mr. Lodge) a long discussion as to the meaning and import of the Republican platform adopted at Chicago last summer in respect to the question of a revision of the tariff. I am not questioning what the New England idea may have been of that platform. In the West, of the Mississippi Valley, and not beyond. With us that platform was understood to mean a revision downward. If all that was intended by the revision of the tariff was to correct inequities, all that was needed to do was to provide an additional revenue and have the Dingley act intact.

I do not think it was the common understanding of the people of this country that that tariff needed a revision simply to adjust certain inequities. I am one of those who believe that the popular mind had for years been bent on a revision of that tariff on a downward basis.

Mr. La Follette. Oh, it will probably be voted through. The votes upon all senate amendments from the beginning of the session to the end of this bill have demonstrated that this bill was, in fact, passed. Let me say to the senate, when the senator from Rhode Island was clothed with authority at the beginning of this session to appoint the committee on the tariff, for the Republican membership of the senate.

Dolliver Vs. Aldrich. Mr. Dolliver. I am as anxious to honor the senator from Rhode Island as any man in this chamber. Thirty years ago, in Rhode Island and everywhere, I carried in my satchel his speeches upon the tariff question and recited his statistics with a certain confidence, which, I confess without any fault of my own, has gradually slipped away from my mind.

I hope the senator from Rhode Island will remain here for a few minutes.

Mr. Aldrich. I am engaged elsewhere.

Mr. Dolliver. I want to engage you here.

Mr. Aldrich. All right.

Mr. Dolliver (continuing). Or make it understood that you propose to assault not only the criticisms made here by me and a few associated with me without giving me the opportunity to which I am entitled in debate. The senator will not turn his back upon what I have to say here without taking the moral consequences, which would naturally arise in the mind of a man anxious to get at the facts in this case.

I understood the senator from Rhode Island to say that nobody in the United States had protested against this bill except a few New York importers.

Mr. Aldrich. Against the amendments of the committee.

Mr. Dolliver. Against the amendments of the committee.

Mr. Aldrich. If they have, they have failed to reach my ears.

Mr. Dolliver. Very well. I will say that they were introduced in the senate and referred to your committee, though I do not pretend to say, and I do not accuse the senator of negligence of duty, that he has read them; but he ought to hire a clerk to find out before he tells great audiences in this chamber, before he tells the senate, that no protests had been made against it.

Mr. Aldrich. Mr. President, it is not for me to say what the position of the Southern senators shall be upon this question, which so vitally interests their constituents, but I say to those senators that the stake of the South in this question is vastly greater than that of the North. Today they have practically one-half of the cotton manufacturing of the United States. When the next tariff bill is constructed (and I am willing to stake my reputation as an intelligent man and as a prophet upon that statement) they will have more than three-quarters of the entire cotton manufacturing of this country. It is inevitable. What industry is there in the South that can take the place of the manufacturing of cotton? You have been an agricultural people, a great agricultural people, the greatest in the world, considering the value of your product, but you have not developed manufactures.

Mr. Dolliver. Now, Mr. President, a few general remarks and I will not further disturb the convenience of the senate. I read a good deal in the newspapers and every now and then I hear of somebody who thinks that I am trying to tear down the tariff laws of the United States. I do not intend to spend a great deal of time explaining what I am trying to do; but I do not mind stating it once for all. I am trying to preserve the tariff laws of the United States. I am trying to put them in such a position that the American public opinion will be friendly to them, North and South. It has grieved me more than anything in my public life that I have felt it my duty to protest against unwarranted repeal of the Dingley cotton schedules.

WASHINGTON CHAT. Fight of the Lemon and the Olive Over Tariff Preference.

Washington, June 17.—The fat and pulchritudinous lemon and the meek and lowly olive are glaring savagely across a tariff chasm. This state of affairs has alienated the Republican solidarity of the California delegation. The olive and the lemon are at each other's throats, and there has been treachery in the camp.

It clears the situation some to know that the California lemon is in politics. The olive is not, and that makes a world of difference, at least in California. The lemon before house wars and means, in one California faction says, duties were levied. The lemon rose from a cent to a cent and a quarter a pound. The olive got twenty cents the gallon, in five-gallon tubs.

In the senate there was a different deal. The lemon, represented by a powerful and well organized association in politics, was boosted from a cent and a quarter to a cent and a half. The olive, the product of a scattered industry, was reduced to fifteen cents. And the olive champions say it was a case of a weak California brother striking a strong California brother, when he ought to have known better.

The controversy will be settled, of course. Some of those wise politicians now trying to allay popular alarm by belatedly about revision downward in conference, suggest that 'the olive duty was struck down for a purpose, to wit—'

To furnish the pulchritudinous lemon a better chance for the cent and a half protection, by assenting to twenty cents a tub on olives.

William Alden Smith, the boyish-looking senator from Michigan, and one of the beson friends of Mr. McCull of Massachusetts, is a student. He is a student in many fields, in art, in literature, in politics, in human nature. When he goes abroad he keeps his eyes open. The other day in the course of the tariff debate, he referred to the dikes of 'safely appliances' capacity to the protective tariff in this country.

He had travelled in the lowlands, he said, and he wondered what the young queen of Holland would say if some inquisitive person should ask permission to bore holes in the dikes on the plea that the tide had not risen above the walls for many years. It was one of the most realistic comparisons heard in the course of the debate.

A good simile or metaphor is a valuable asset in debate. The man of persuasive language usually makes a 'hit' when he goes abroad. He keeps his eyes open. The other day in the course of the tariff debate, he referred to the dikes of 'safely appliances' capacity to the protective tariff in this country.

He had travelled in the lowlands, he said, and he wondered what the young queen of Holland would say if some inquisitive person should ask permission to bore holes in the dikes on the plea that the tide had not risen above the walls for many years. PIONEER DAYS IN UPPER MICHIGAN

FORMER NEGAUNEE MAN, NOW VISITING IN THE CITY, WAS ONE OF THE ENGINEERS WHO SEARCHED FOR THE CALUMET CONGLOMERATE LORE IN 1864.

By A. Clark, a former resident, who here from Chicago, yesterday recalled the time in September, 1864, when he and several other civil engineers, in the employ of the Soo Canal Land company, camped at the place where the first work at the Calumet & Hecla property was begun. The engineers spent a week or more in effort to locate the conglomerate lode, but they were not successful. The lode was found the following year, when operations were started on the Calumet & Hecla mine. At the time Mr. Clark was in the copper country, there was only one mine, the Algonquin, working in the Calumet district. It had a shaft down forty-five feet. The Soo Canal Land company owned a considerable acreage in the copper district, also in this county. The greater part of its land here was purchased by the Pioneer Mining company, which in the early days operated the Pioneer furnace. After completing his work at Calumet, Mr. Clark was delegated to make the survey for the village of La Crosse. This was in 1865. The Mendota mine had been discovered a short time before at La Crosse and was producing a copper ore similar in many respects to that being mined at Arizona.

Mr. Clark was engaged on the village survey when he received an offer of a position from the late Dr. L. V. Cyr in Negaunee, and returned to this city in the fall of 1865. Prior to going to the copper country he helped to survey the Chicago & Northwestern Railway company's line from Escanaba to Negaunee, it having been completed in 1864. The Soo Canal Land company had done considerable surveying in the copper and iron districts prior to that time, the work being in charge of Henry F. O'Donnell.

"Few people in this county at the present time know that the Jackson mine was at first called the Sharon," said Mr. Clark. "It is generally thought that the Sharon was named at some other point, but the Jackson was known by that name until 1861, or a little later, when the name was changed in honor of the city of Jackson, in the lower peninsula. The property was given its original name in honor of Sharon, Pa., one of the company's stockholders, having lived in that city. While I was working for Dr. Cyr the telegraph line between Escanaba and Negaunee was completed, and the office was located in the doctor's building, across the street from the present city block. It was a one-story structure, and was for some years occupied by the Iron Herald, which was established over thirty years ago by C. G. Griffey. A short time later the Chicago & Northwestern Railway company completed its line to Negaunee, the station and telegraph office having been located near the site of the present union depot."

Some time after leaving Dr. Cyr's employ, Mr. Clark was employed as a clerk in the 'Lumber and Building' store, situated on the site of the former brick houses on Pioneer avenue. The store was at that time supplying nearly all of the provisions that were used in Negaunee and besides was sending a considerable quantity of merchandise to Ishpeming.

L. B. Case was operating the Pioneer furnace under contract, and all of the ore smelted at the plant during his management was obtained from what is known as the Pioneer pit at the Jackson property, the company having held a lease on this particular part of the mine. E. J. Hayden had a general supervision of the Iron Cliffs company's operations and he was succeeded later in the seventies by Alexander Maitland. Mr. Clark succeeded Mr. Maitland as chief engineer.

Mr. Clark yesterday referred to two former residents of Negaunee, who are now located in Chicago. One is Bill Calloun, who is remembered by a number of the older residents. He is living with his daughter, who was formerly Mrs. J. F. Stebbins, who the latter owns eighty acres of land in the Swartzes district, about two miles southwest of the Austin mine, and she recently refused a good offer for it. Both Mr. Calloun and his daughter are of the opinion that an ore body will be located on the tract.

NEGATIVE'S ASSESSMENT ROLL NEARLY $75,000 IN EXCESS OF LAST YEAR.

The common council, sitting as a board of review this week, did not make many changes in the roll as prepared by Assessor John Shea. There are a number of increases in the valuations as compared with the valuations of last year, but none of them are large. The increases in the valuations total less than $75,000. Most of the mining company's increases are on present property, due principally to the fact that there was more ore in stock at the mines when the roll was made, up than at a corresponding time last year. The changes in the valuations of the properties of individuals are not of any great consequence, and the price of this fact it is not expected that there will be many requests for reductions at the board's public sessions, to be held next week, commencing Monday morning. With only a slight increase in the total valuations the taxes this year should be about the same as they were last year.

CEMETERY SITE. Some of the Aldermen Would Like the McDonald Farm Property.

There is a possibility that the McDonald farm, in the eastern part of the city, will be secured for cemetery purposes. The owners have been approached, but it is said that the price asked is more than the city than the lot site offered by the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company or the city will agree to pay. The Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company must furnish a suitable site for cemetery purposes.

A member of the council yesterday said that McDonald is asking $1,000 per acre for the tract. There are forty acres on the farm. The location is a desirable one, and it is not thought that either water or boulders would be encountered above six feet from the surface. The land lies close to the main highway and is nearer the city than the lot site offered by the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company, immediately west of Eagle Mills.

DECORATE FOR MIDSUMMER DAY. Committees representing the French and Scandinavian societies have waited on Mayor Winter and asked him to aid them in inducing the business people and others to decorate for Midsommer day. The mayor assured the committees that he would do his best to have the city present a holiday appearance. The French and Scandinavian societies are assured that there will be many visitors in the city.

LOCAL LACONICS. Clement Shea is visiting relatives in the copper country.

G. R. Brundage and wife, of Detroit, were Negaunee visitors yesterday.

Walter Maas left Tuesday evening for Salt Lake, Utah, after a ten days' visit with relatives here.

F. H. VanLeeuwen, J. M. Miller and H. O. Brotherton of Escanaba looked after business in Negaunee Tuesday.

The steam road roller was brought out yesterday for the first time this season. It is being used on the highway between here and Ishpeming, where a crew has been working for over a week past.

Mrs. H. J. Peterson left Tuesday night for Los Angeles, Cal., on a visit of three or four months to relatives. Her husband accompanied her as far as Chicago. Mr. Peterson is expected home tomorrow.

Father Raymond, a former assistant to Rev. C. Laugier at St. Paul's church, who is now located in the copper country, stopped off here Tuesday to visit friends on his way home from Rome, where he spent the past two or three months.

The members of the Scandinavian society, who planned to decorate the graves of the deceased members in the Negaunee cemetery last Sunday, but postponed doing it on account of the unfavorable weather, will turn out next Sunday afternoon, leaving their hall at 2 o'clock.

Rev. G. E. Wood, pastor of the Swedish Lutheran church at Ishpeming, will conduct services and preach Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Swedish Lutheran church here. The trustees of the local congregation have not yet secured a pastor to succeed Rev. Bergdahl, who resigned a few weeks ago.

CONFIRMED PROOF. Residents of Marquette Cannot Doubt What Has Been Twice Proved.

In gratitude for complete relief from aches and pains of bad back—from distressing kidney ills—thousands have publicly recommended Doan's Kidney Pills. Residents of Marquette, who so testified years ago, now say their cure is permanent. This testimony doubly proves the worth of Doan's Kidney Pills to Marquette kidney sufferers.

Mrs. Leonard Kidney, 407 Rock St., Marquette, Mich., says: "My little daughter was afflicted with a kidney weakness and I was much alarmed about her condition. She had little control over the kidney secretions and bed wetting was frequent. I tried many remedies in her case but nothing helped her until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at the Stafford Drug Co. This remedy stopped the annoyance and greatly improved her health."

The above statement was given on Feb. 15, 1905 and was confirmed by Mrs. Kidney on Nov. 6, 1905. She said: "Doan's Kidney Pills in my family during the past five years and they have always given satisfactory results."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. (Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.)

TWENTY-TWO LEAVE HIGH SCHOOL BEHIND

LARGE CROWD LISTENS TO GRADUATING EXERCISES OF THE CLASS OF 1909.

FOUR ADDRESSES WERE GIVEN

Excellent Program Carried Out by the Graduates, No Outside Speaker Having Been Engaged.

Thirteen young men and nine young women formally completed their high school course at the opera house last evening, and received diplomas signifying that the four years' course of study prescribed by the board of education had been satisfactorily accomplished.

The whole high school occupied seats on the stage, the seniors in the two front rows of chairs. The stage was set with a wood scene representing a large American flag, all presenting a handsome effect and an imposing appearance.

The members of the graduating class were: Hjalmar P. E. Beckman, Peter Aloysius Belan, George Almerin Brotherton, Frank Vincent Burrows, Hans J. Christensen, Warren Elliott, Clayton P. Frie, Harold Tyler Hayes, Edward John Lawrence, George Madigan, James Gray McCarthy, Mathilde Edmondson McCormick, Edith Lois Mitchell, Mary Charlotte Nelson, Allison Louise Patterson, Claudius Grant Pendill, Hazel May Price, Mary Florence Rublein, Anna Victoria Sweder, Katharine Howard Watson, Leonard Wisconsin, Edward Elmer Young.

"Conservation of Resources." "Conservation of Natural Resources" was the subject chosen by Hjalmar P. E. Beckman for his salutatory oration. Mr. Beckman declared this to be the greatest problem now before the nation. Although only a century has passed, our supposed inexhaustible natural resources are half gone, and at the present rate of consumption, they will have been exhausted, he declared.

Freedom Necessary to Progress. Edith Lois Mitchell was the next speaker, who elected to speak on the subject "Freedom of Thought Necessary to Progress." She began by comparing the restraint that had ever been placed on the inhabitants of China, and the consequent failure of progress of the Chinese people.

Anna Sweder declared that it was the point of view that makes the man. Whether his life is a success or a failure depends upon his manner of viewing life. The point of view is determined by nature and by environment, the latter being the one over which a person has control.

Mathilde McCormick, the valedictorian of the class, spoke on "The Greatest Statesman of the Nineteenth Century," and accorded that distinction to William Everett Gladstone. This great English statesman's long and successful career was due, she said, to his consistent and persistent care of his body, preserving his faculties until late in life; to his extraordinary intellectual power; to his capacity of utilization of that power by
