MARKETS

NEW YORK STOCKS.

Paine, Webber & Co's correspondent of New York yesterday telegraphed as follows: A higher range of London prices, together with an abundance of pressure noted during the past sessions, induced a better tone to prevail throughout the list today and recoveries were general. There was nothing in the news to account for the change in sentiment, but good support was noticeable on recent drives, and the liquidation was not on a scale of sufficient proportion to encourage the element in favor of lower prices to persist in their attacks. The most unfavorable feature was the comparatively amount of short trading and the dullness on the advance, but irregularity will undoubtedly be a feature until money conditions are more settled as there is a general fear of a slight hardening in rates within the next week, together with probable gold exports.

STOCK MARKET IS INACTIVE.

Paines Tend Upward, However, and Some Striking Gains Are Secured.
New York, June 23.—The intense dullness of today's stock market served to obscure the importance of the price movements, which were remarkable in several cases. The general firmness of the market was influenced by sympathy with the notable strength in these special stocks, but more distinctly by the technical factors in the position. The principal of these was the building up of a short interest which proved to possess little determination in maintaining their position with the signs of resistance to a downward course of prices. The market closed weak, 3/4% to 1% lower. The July opened at 7 1/4%; highest, 7 1/2%; lowest, 7%; closing, 7 1/4%.

OLD HOUSE LEADER RESIGNS POLITICAL ARENA FOR PENEUCHE.

Colonel Bill Morrison, at Eighty-Four, Finds Solace in Cards.
St. Louis, Mo., June 23.—William B. Morrison, former congressman from the Eighteenth Illinois Congressional district, and one time Democratic leader in the national house of Representatives, at the age of eighty-four years, is still in good physical health at Waterloo, Ill., but, owing to defective eyesight, is obliged to play pounce three or four hours a day as his only amusement.
Colonel Morrison, in the long period he served as congressman, was defeated only twice, and then by the same man, John Baker of Belleville. His district was for years known as the Morrison district. Mr. Morrison, in speaking of an Altair friend, said that, while his eyesight forbids him reading, he can still see the spots on the cards. He is known in Waterloo as an expert pounce player.
Colonel Morrison has had little to do with politics since his retirement from the interstate commerce commission, to which he was appointed after his defeat last time by John Baker, and has dropped completely out of the arena.

BREAD FROM COTTON SEED.

Texas Travels Over Oklahoma Showing Result of Experiments.

He said he had a loaf of this bread for breakfast recently used as toast and that he had never eaten a more palatable or nutritious bread. The loaf is made in the mold used by the bakers for the round five cent loaf and is nicely browned and has a fine flavor.

Chicago, June 23.—Mrs. A. Toppervien, the only woman shooting in the preliminary series of the Grand American handicap at the Chicago Club club, made the high professional average today, with a score of seventy-nine out of a possible eighty. Including yesterday's score Mrs. Toppervien is tied with Fred Gilbert of Spirit Lake, Ia., with ninety-six out of 100. H. I. Hess of Nantico, Pa., created some thing of a sensation at the close of the day's events by breaking sixty straight targets in the doubles. This is the best

UNCLE SAM GOOD TO CANAL WORKERS.

He Is Kind Hearted and Thoughtful to Americans in the Isthmian Zone.

PROVIDES HOMES AND FUEL.

Government Makes It Pleasant for the Newly-Weds and There Is No Chance to Spend Money.

Colon, Panama, June 23.—To the Americans in the canal zone their Uncle Sam is very much of a reality. He is benevolent entity, the embodiment of everything that a kind-hearted, thoughtful, open-handed, rich uncle should be to his nieces and nephews. It has to be so. Otherwise, trouble.
If Uncle Sam were disposed as a crabbed, miserly, cheese-paring old Scrooge of an uncle, there would be all manner of dissatisfaction with him, with cumulative rebellion and fulminations arising from zealous nursed grievances. Inevitably would come discontent and a lessening of the efficiency of the canal organization.

Why Jobs Are Scarce.

One quickly understands, after looking around here a bit, why jobs on the isthmus are at a premium. In the first place, wages are high. Counting in everything that the American soldier in the army of the canal gets for nothing. I believe that it ranges from 50 to 75 per cent than he could command at home for doing the same class of work, whether it be mechanical or clerical. If he is married he has supplied him—it is in reality part of his wages and so provided by law—according to his compensation, a partly furnished one-family house, or part of two, or a four-family house; light, water and fuel. His house is kept in repair, his ashes and refuse are carted away and the grass is cut. He is obliged to draw upon his own resources only for food and clothing. Medical and dental attendance are available at low rates, fixed by the commission. He and his family are protected from fever and tropical ills with all the resources and power of the health department. A millionaire could obtain no more in that direction than a stenographer, or a mechanic on the gold roll of the I. C. C.

Pleasant for the Newly Weds.

It is a great chance for the Newly Weds. Mr. Bridgeman and his bride may step into a made-to-order home of their own day by their arrival, furnished with all but the lighter, less expensive and more personal items which go to make up the menage of an American home.

Recent comparison of the charges for food by the commissary with those for the same articles in New York.

showed that on seven items the commissary prices were lower, on 19 slightly higher, and on eight they were the same. The average was about 2-1/3 cents lower in favor of the commissary on the isthmus. When the families began to come down, bringing the children with them, schools had to be provided. We have gone into this thoroughly, as we have everything else connected with the well-being of the personnel. This problem presented difficulties, chiefly arising from the obstacles in the way of grading.

Little Chance to Spend Money.

Aside from food and clothing there is little opportunity, in the lack of theaters, or out of door places of diversion for one to spend money in the zone. One can hardly find saving money. There is nothing to spend it for. This is manifestly a material advantage, although the lack of amusements is really a serious problem. It is less grave than it was, so far as the women are concerned, since the organization of women's clubs in all the zone towns. The clubs have membership in the Zone Federation of Women's clubs, which has its meetings at intervals in the Tivoli hotel in Ancon. These clubs are the nuclei around which cluster the social life of the zone. They have been useful in discouraging the rearing of barriers of social caste, and promoting a spirit of democracy which is wholesome and to be commended. There is an elasticity in social lines in the zone, which goes to disprove some of the stories one hears to the contrary. The social units in this little American community in the tropics gravitate into grades, as they do in any small city or town in the states. Each seeks his own kind. Salary has nothing to do with it. If a $1,500 a year clerk and his wife possess the germ of social grace; if a $1,200 a year singer is presentable, well bred, able to play, talk or converse a hand of bridge, lead, he and she are eligible for membership to the "best society" if there is any, that the zone affords.

Middleweight Champion Pugilist Settles Breach of Promise Case.

Grand Rapids, Mich., June 23.—Those who expected that Stanley Ketchel, world's champion middleweight pugilist, would contest the breach of promise suit started against him by Elizabeth Houman of this city, will be doomed to disappointment. From attorneys in the case it is learned that a satisfactory settlement has been reached between the parties concerned and the case will not come to trial. The terms of the compromise are not known. Stanley is in California, where he will meet Billy Papke, July 5.

DEER DESTROY CROPS.

Herd of 400 Roams in Iowa—Farmers Can't Kill Them.

Omaha, Neb., 23.—Farmers living along the Nishna river in Western Iowa, a short distance east of Omaha, and between the towns of Avoca and Western, are worried because their crops are being eaten up and trampled into the ground, and they are powerless to prevent the wholesale destruction, because the laws of the state step in and refuse to permit this section of country to be added of a pest. A herd of nearly 400 deer are roving about the country, eating the young and tender grain, and tramping into the ground what they do not eat.
The late Colonel Cuddy of Avoca had a hobby, and for several years prior to his death some five years ago, he concerted with the state to get rid of the deer. At the time of his death there were about fifty in the herd. He had over 2,000 acres of the woodland, brush and hills enclosed by a high wire fence, and in this pasture were the deer. Upon the death of Cuddy, the administrator of the estate was at a loss to know what to do with the deer. The land was sold and all of the personal property with the exception of the deer disposed of. The administrator wrote to Attorney General Byers and asked him if he could not kill the animals and offer them for sale. Best came the word that the laws of the state absolutely prohibited the slaughter of the deer or any one of them. The men who had bought the land, removed the fences and the deer were released to range over the country. During the past year a Cuddy deer have been a pest to the farmers. The farmers are becoming desperate. They are now talking of bringing suit against the state for the destruction of their property, contending that if the law is such that they are not permitted to kill the deer, the great state of Iowa must stand good for the damage done by the deer, their position being that if the state is protecting the deer, the deer are the property of the state.
