DAILY MINING JOURNAL

A MORNING PAPER PUBLISHED BY THE MINING JOURNAL CO. (LIMITED).

Entered as mail matter of the second class in the postoffice at Marquette, Mich.

Why in h-1 should I pay any attention to Fowler? says Speaker Cannon.

Hardly a day passes but some new record is made in aerial navigation, and the honors appear to be pretty evenly divided.

Of course if Representative Fowler had never been deposed from anything by Speaker Cannon his laying-out of Uncle Joe might carry a little more weight.

It now appears to be established beyond any question of doubt that the officers of the regular army and the state troops got along very well together at that Ludington encampment.

What Uncle Joe had to say for the public about Representative Fowler was decorous enough, but his expression of opinion for the personal consumption of his friends is said to have been a bit too strong for sewing society circles.

James J. Hill and other rival railroad magnates should take full advantage of the physicians' interference with Mr. Harriman's activities to strengthen their positions, for when Mr. Harriman is again able to sit down to a meal of railroad he will be a very hungry man.

Tuesday's grade crossing automobile wreck occurred at Peoria, Ill., where a well-known physician was killed, when his machine was struck by a Northwestern train, and his father, aged seventy, was fatally injured.

The Escanaba Press got out a "pink" sheet this week. It wasn't a sporting edition, either, but a sixteen-page issue devoted to the business interests of the city, and published because of the Escanaba homecoming, Delta county fair and farmers' picnic this week.

As the Milwaukee Sentinel says: "If Fowler knew that Cannon was up to all this deviltry, was indignantly betraying the house and the Payne bill, why didn't he speak out at the time?"

Whiteley Ried, ambassador to Great Britain, is in this country, and will pay his respects to President Taft tomorrow.

One effect of Representative Fowler's attack on Speaker Cannon, it is predicted, will be to increase the difficulty of getting favorable action on the monetary commission's report, which is being prepared under the eye of Senator Aldrich.

District Attorney Jerome of New York will be a candidate for re-election. It is his intention to at once begin the circulation of petitions placing him in nomination.

Marquette will be honored by a visit of the Lake Superior Mining Institute today. It will be regretted that the schedule of the institute is so crowded that its members will not be able to pay Marquette a visit the length of which would permit of its entertainment in some formal way by the people of the city, but there are so many points of interest for the institute to visit on the Marquette range that its stay at any one place is of necessity brief.

State Game Warden Pierce's report shows that 1,329 investigations were made in 1897 and 1,649 in 1908. There were 525 prosecutions in 1907 and 714 in 1908, the amount of fines collected being $7,591.87 and $10,374.97, respectively.

The Chicago Tribune voices this week. It says that although Senator Lorimer's election to his present office was the result of Democratic votes, and although he does not represent the choice of a Republican majority in the recent session of the legislature, this will be forgotten if Lorimer applies himself to the task of representing the whole state, and refrains from machinations to establish himself as a political boss whose word shall be final within the Republican organization in Illinois.

Of course President Taft will talk tariff on his western trip. It would be an absurd and anomalous condition, in the light of the fact that the tariff has been the biggest thing with which the country has been engaged during the past year, if the president avoided the subject.

It has been suggested to the president, it is said, that in defending the Aldrich-Payne bill in certain western states he will run counter to the tide of popular opinion, which is reported to be firmly set against that measure.

It is also suggested that President Taft cannot vigorously defend the Aldrich-Payne law in the western states that furnished the "insurgents" without, tacitly at least, questioning the wisdom of those states, of the representatives and senators who voted against it.

As a matter of fact, President Taft and the insurgents stood for substantially the same thing—the carrying out of the platform promise for substantial downward revision.

TROUBLE FOR LORIMER. William Lorimer may have been successful in getting himself elected senator from Illinois by a coalition of Republicans and Democrats, but that doesn't mean that he is going to be able to establish his sole proprietorship to the Republican party in Illinois.

Speaker Cannon may now consider himself blown into smithereens, morally and politically. At least, that is the way Charles Newell Fowler regards it.

Ever since he was very properly deposed from the house-banking and currency committee chairmanship, Charles has been telling the country that he was fixing up an explosive of great smell and potency that would surely blow the old man from Danville to kingdom come.

Stripped of billingsgate, Fowler's "proclivities" amount to this: Cannon took a leading part in killing Fowler's bill providing for "about $250,000,000 of credit currency," he has shown himself determinedly opposed to such currency; he once said to Fowler, "I don't take any stock in you—asset currency."

F., which is being held in the office of the secretary, Eusebe Bertrand, Felix Gatinneau, of Southbridge, Mass., president of the U. N. S. C. F., Jean Baptiste d'Amerique, is here as the guest of the officers. The officers of the society were the guests of A. E. Archambeau at luncheon last evening.

Baseball at the Fair—The fair directors have as yet made no arrangements with the league managers for baseball games at the fair. A meeting was set for last Sunday, but they failed to get together. Judging from the talk of the Negaunee and Marquette managers, a purse of at least $500 will have to be put up by the fair management, before the league teams will consent to play. Last year a purse of $300 was put up, but the teams are said to be getting heavier receipts at the regular games than last year, and expenses have increased, so that they cannot afford to play for less than $500.

Large Passenger List—Sixteen persons left Marquette on the Northwest last evening for points down the lakes, as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Deland, of Clinton, Ia., for the Soo; Chester Trothwey and R. Chartier, of Norway, for Detroit; Misses I. Knettle and A. Moran, of Grand Rapids, for Mackinac Island; Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Stewart, of Adrian, for Detroit; Misses R. and M. Rothchilds, of St. Louis, Mo., for Mackinac Island; Miss T. Carlson, of Jamestown, N. Y., for Buffalo; J. W. Dawes, of Ottumwa, Ia., for Mackinac Island; Mr. and Mrs. Grafton and son, who have been visiting at Gad Smith's, for Buffalo, and W. C. Brunett, for the Soo. The North West had a large passenger list last night, and the same has been true of several previous trips. Next Wednesday night she will go down the lakes for the last time this season.

NEW FISH LAW IN EFFECT NEXT MONTH

FISHERMEN GIVEN TWO YEARS IN WHICH TO PREPARE TO COMPLY WITH IT—SOME OF ITS FEATURES.

Beginning next month, when the new fish and game laws become effective in Michigan, commercial fishing interests will undergo a complete revolution. The new law changes the size of net mesh and provides for several innovations in equipment not carried by the commercial fishers today.

Because the change in equipment is sweeping the law gives the fisherman two years in which to use up their old nets. At the expiration of that period every net will have to be in accordance with specifications of the statute.

While the new law puts something of a hardship on the fishing interests and gives the game warden's department of the state better facilities for enforcing the law and detecting its violators, the fishermen are not entering any objection. The new law clears up some difficulties encountered by the fishermen in conflicting sections of the statute.

Law Is Compromise.

The law is a compromise of the demands of the fishermen and the game warden's department. The commercial fishers of the Great Lakes are awakening to the necessity of preserving the fish and are making less objection to the strict enforcement of fair laws. There was little difficulty getting them to agree with the demands of the game warden at the last session of the legislature and the new law was the means of getting these constitutional enemies together for the first time in the history of the state.

The principal change provided by the law cuts for an increase in the legal size of the mesh of nets. This is reduced from four and three-fourths to four and one-half inches. In the existing law the sections relating to the legal size of fish taken and the legal size of mesh used, are somewhat confusing. A legal net would capture great quantities of undersized fish. The fishermen wanted the new law to provide that all fish taken in legal nets might be marketed, but this, the game warden pointed out, would defeat the whole purpose of the law. So a compromise was agreed upon by which the mesh is made larger. The size of legal fish taken has been changed from one and three-fourths pounds, dressed for whitefish and one and one-fourth pound, dressed, for lake trout, to one and one-half pounds in the round for trout and two pounds in the round for whitefish. This change was in accordance with the demands of the commercial fishing interests.

Each fishing vessel is obliged to hold a state license under the new law and each of its nets must be marked by buoys bearing the license number of its owner or the fishing vessel. This, obviously, is to facilitate identification of nets. It simplifies the work of the game warden and makes it an easy matter to identify and prosecute the owner of any net of illegal size or illegally set. That the fishermen readily agreed to this feature of the law is in itself evidence that they are determined to lend their efforts to the perpetuation of fish in the lakes.

The new law cuts down the closed season. Under the present statute, fish may not be taken between Oct. 31 and Dec. 15. Under the new law the closed season will be only from Nov. 18 to Dec. 15. But during the spawning season, each fishing vessel will be obliged to carry an extra man, whose work it shall be to strip and fence the spawning fish come in. This will be turned over to the state and will do away with a lot of the expense attached to the work of propagation under the present law. It will give the fishermen more opportunity to market fish at a season of the year when they are comparatively scarce and command good market prices. All spawn not needed by the state will have to be deposited on the natural spawning beds of the fish in the lakes.

Chief Deputy Game Warden Charles Hoyt is perhaps one of the best authorities on commercial fishing in western Michigan. He says, while the new law will work something of a temporary hardship upon the fishermen, it will react to their benefit in the long run. He has found no criticisms of the new law among the fishers and is inclined to the belief that everyone concerned will be benefited by the new statute in spite of its revolutionary dictation.

A WIDE DIFFERENCE.

A long-winded proxy counsellor was arguing a technical case recently before one of the judges of the superior court. He had drifted along in such a glib, glib way that it was hard to keep track of what he was trying to present, and the judge had just vented a very suggestive yawn. "I sincerely trust that I am not unduly trespassing on the time of this court," said the lawyer, with a suspicion of sarcasm in his voice. "There is some difference," the judge quickly observed, "between trespassing on time and encroaching on eternity."—New York Times.

MANY EXCELLENT ADDRESSES.

What Transpired at Baptist Meeting Yesterday—Today's Program.

The second session of the Marquette Baptist association opened yesterday morning with the reading of church letters, which showed remarkable benevolence on the part of the Baptists of the upper peninsula. Rev. Dr. W. R. Schoemaker of Manistique delivered an earnest sermon on "Twentieth Century Sowing." Rev. F. W. Amble, of Escanaba, presented the duty of the local church to evangelize the community. Rev. Ira Smith, of Sault Ste. Marie, urged consecration and devotion on the part of the church to meet the needs of the day. Two of the best addresses of the sessions were delivered by Rev. Joshua Roberts, of Michigan, and Rev. Dr. Frank Peterson, of Minnesota, on the respective claims of Home and Foreign Missions.

In the evening delightful music was rendered by the choir, after which, before a large audience, Dr. Tupper delivered an address on "An Optimistic Survey of Twentieth Century Christianity," emphasizing specially the church's present numerical strength, its impression upon the life of the nation, its missionary activity, its triumphs in the colleges of the land and its sociological studies and activities.

Today closes the association, with the following program:

ASTRONOMERS SEEK TRACE OF THE COMET

Halley's Discovery Nears Earth at a Million-Miles-a-Day Rate.

WAS LAST SEEN IN 1835

Observatories the World Over Prepare to Get a Series of Telescopic Photos of the Solar Traveler.

Washington, Aug. 25.—"If you live until next spring you will witness one of the most magnificent sights the heavens have ever disclosed," said one of the well-known members of the astronomical force at the United States Naval observatory today. "Halley's comet comes only once in a lifetime, and many are born, live and die without ever catching a glimpse of it in its dash across the sky. It was last seen in 1835, and few persons now alive can say they have seen it."

The astronomer explained that the entire astronomical world is now on the qui vive and that huge refracting telescopes, as well as reflecting ones, are being trained upon the heavens from the most important strategic point of observation in an effort to locate the comet, which is approaching the earth at a rate that would make the swiftest express train look like a snail.

With every advantage as the result of the past three-quarters of a century of development in astronomical science, and under the command of all the leading observatories are engaged now in friendly rivalry to see which will be the first to sight the comet. The moment this is done the news will travel as fast as cable and wireless can carry the announcement, and the following day the telescopes in the five continents will be trained like big guns toward the domain of the new comer in the heavens.

Travels Million Miles a Day.

"The coming of this comet will be by far the most important astronomical event of recent years. We have calculated that Halley's comet is now within the orbit of the planet Jupiter," said the astronomer, "and is rushing toward the orbit of the earth at the rate of a million miles a day. As a faint nebulous object in the constellation Orion it will no doubt be sighted in a few weeks. In fact celestial photography has it already located in limited space far beyond the vision of the most delicate telescopic research."

"As the comet enters into the orbit of our solar system it will grow brighter every day until it becomes visible to the naked eye. Aside from this it has an interesting place in classical, as well as astronomical literature. When it was last seen it was a year before the birth of Simon Newcomb, the great American astronomer, who has just died, but whose splendid mathematical mind had long since located its whereabouts in the far away realms of infinite space."

Mars Coming Closer.

With this red letter event of the skies coming and Mars already getting within close touch every night with mother earth, the astronomers are entering upon their busiest season. At the naval observatory the big 26-inch equatorial telescope is being turned every night toward the eastern heavens for nocturnal peeps at Mars. Mars is now on the eastern horizon about 11 o'clock every night at a point a little to the north of east, and about 12 o'clock becomes quite brilliant. Its size and red color render it easily discernible to the naked eye and it will grow brighter until about the last of September, the 4th of that month being the date at which the best astronomical observations will start. Then it will grow dimmer until it gets back to normal, about the early part of November.

The big 26-inch telescope has been for several nights past turned on Mars and held there until dawn. The observations being made have double interest at the observatory because it was through this same 26-inch equatorial, then the largest lens in the world, that the late Professor Asaph Hall, in 1877, discovered the two Jovian satellites of Mars. Professor Asaph Hall, Jr., son of the man who discovered the Martian satellites, is now on duty at the observatory and is looking through the same 26-inch equatorial telescope at the midwinters which his father was the first to find. These satellites are very small. One is seven miles in diameter, the other fourteen miles through its center and the smaller of the two is a chip little fellow who does considerable marionetteing on his own hook as he travels around Mars once every seven hours and thirty minutes. Some of the scientists have an idea that the Martians are queer little individuals of the Brownie type with cross eyes. Other scientists with a sense of humor say this may be true, as the swift and continuous circuits made by the smaller of the two satellites must keep the Martians spinning around like tops and knock the spots out of their eyes.

"You can say that astronomical societies and observatories in Europe and America are making special arrangements for Halley's comet observations," continued the astronomer. "The telegraph is a facility not available in 1835 and there were at that time nothing like the great telescopic lenses of today or the great 40-inch refractive telescope which Mr. Yerkes of Chicago gave to the great observatory of his name in Wisconsin, about sixty miles northwest of Chicago."

"With all these facilities astronomers will this time work in absolute harmony with each other, and a committee was some time ago formed for the purpose of reporting a plan for observing Halley's comet. This committee reported at the final session of the Astronomical and Astrophysical Society of America at the Yerkes observatory, on Lake Geneva, near William Bay, Wis. The president of that society, Professor Edward C. Pickering of Harvard College observatory, was chairman of the committee, other members being Prof. G. Comstock of the University of Wisconsin and Prof. Bernard of the Yerkes observatory."

"Arrangements have been made for co-operative observations between the great observatories of the world, by which a series of telescopic photos will be taken at the Lick, Yerkes, Naval and other observatories, and all of the large observatories abroad, including those at Berlin, Vienna, Paris and Greenwich. We want to get a long series of actual telescopic photos of this comet."

NO ALARM IN MEXICO.

Minister Says No Danger of Revolution—The Whole Country Will Sustain Diaz for Presidency

Washington, Aug. 25.—"There never has been any fear of a revolution in Mexico," declares Senator Mariscal, the Mexican minister of foreign affairs, in a dispatch received at the Mexican embassy.

The Mexican ambassador, Senor de la Barra, said he felt that he ought to dispel the rumors which had been current of late indicating the probability of an uprising in his country as a result of the approaching presidential campaign. The ambassador declared that the whole country will firmly sustain the candidacy of Diaz for the presidency for the next electoral term, and that the patriotism of the people is such that they will not brook any interruption of the progress on which Mexico has entered.

Because of his position Senor de la Barra said he did not feel at liberty to enter into a discussion of the merits and qualifications of the Mexican citizens whose names have been mentioned as candidates for the vice presidency, whose campaign for that office appears to be really paramount to the presidential candidacy because of the possibility of a succession to the latter office in event of President Diaz's death.

When asked for his views on the situation in Mexico, Ambassador de la Barra consented to explain in a general way why, in his opinion, there was no danger of a revolutionary movement, because the sentiment of the people was opposed to such a step.

The actual conditions, he said, had been very much exaggerated. Diaz, he continued, would be supported in his candidacy because of his honest, patriotic and wise administration of the presidency, which had gained for him the respect of people both at home and abroad. The political agitation over the vice presidency would not by any means produce any disturbance of the public peace of the country, he predicted.

"The fear expressed in some quarters that the conflicts appearing at Guadalajara and other places were symptoms of a coming revolution," added the ambassador, "are without foundation. Those conflicts are simply political manifestations incidental to any campaign."

FATALITY YESTERDAY AT THE MAAS MINE

ITALIAN MINER, WELLKNOWN IN THE CITY, MEETS DEATH WHILE CLIMBING A LADDER LEADING TO A SUB-LEVEL.

Dominick Giorgioni, an old Italian resident of Negaunee, was instantly killed yesterday morning shortly after 7 o'clock at the Maas mine. He was going up a ladder into a sub-level to work, when a small quantity of dirt fell from the hanging and struck him on the head. The night shift men had glanced near the point from which the loose ground fell, just before quitting work when they left off work and they thought that the hanging was perfectly safe.

The remains were removed to Undertaker Dave's morgue and Coroner Print was notified. A jury was impaneled and after view of the scene an inquest was taken until later in the week when the inquest will be held.

The deceased was about thirty-five years of age and was wellknown among his countrymen in Negaunee, as he had lived here a number of years. He is survived by his widow and four children. The family home is near the Marquette County Gas & Electric company's power house. Two brothers also reside in Negaunee.

Men Remain at Work.

The men employed at the Maas and the other mines in the neighborhood operated by the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company, do not leave their work when a fatality occurs as was formerly the practice. An agreement was entered into between the management and the miners' union some four years ago whereby the latter continue work following a fatality, but, as a rule, they take a day, or half day, off to attend the funeral. The company gives to the widow, if the victim is married, or to the heirs in the event of the death of a single man, the wages that the man in the mine would earn in a half day. This same rule applies at the Maas.

There are now in the neighborhood of 400 men employed at the Negaunee and nearby 200 at the Maas, so that the company's gift to the widow or heirs of a victim is a good-sized sum. In the event of a fatality at the Negaunee mine it would perhaps amount to $500 in money, and in addition to the sum received by the widow or heirs from the mining club. The management of the club's affairs was recently transferred from the men to the company, and the allowance in case of death by accident was raised from $250 to $500.

Several attempts to make some such arrangement as this have been made during the past ten years or more at other mines in the county, but without success. The plan's satisfactory to the miners, but not to the management, and practically all of them agreed to it before it was adopted. There had been instances when the workmen have lost four or five shifts following the death of a fellow employe, in some cases the funeral have called on them awaiting the arrival of relatives from distant points.

The new arrangement is greatly appreciated by the widows and heirs of men losing their lives in the mines, and they are glad to see the company's office to express their thanks for the aid given them. The workmen's loss consists solely of their earnings while they are idle.

A mining man yesterday said that he would be glad to see a law for the workmen at other properties where this plan is not in vogue to agree to adopt it. He said: "I know that many of the workmen who have been made idle on account of fatalities have suffered on account of the loss in wages. Many of them have large families and they want to get in as much time as possible. When the mines close on account of a fatality it sometimes results in delays in the movement of the coal, and in some cases the road men and others dependent upon the movement of the coal."

BLOOMER GIRLS TODAY.

Negaunee Bushwhackers Will Meet Traveling Aggregation.

Hopkins' Bloomer Girls baseball team will meet the "Bushwhackers" name of Negaunee this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Union park grounds. The Negaunee team will be composed largely of former members of the league nine and McCroy and LaFave, of the present league team, will be the battery. The admission will be the same as that charged for the league games.

The Bloomer Girls have a male battery. They played in Duluth a few days ago and the papers said that the play of the girls surprised many of the fans who journeyed out to the park with the idea of seeing a bit of the great national game.

Commenting on the playing of the girls in Sunday's game, the Duluth Herald said: "The way some of the girls threw the ball around the diamond and ran the bases brought enthusiastic applause from the stands and bleachers. Carrie Nation, bringing a strenuousness like that possessed by her famous namesake into the game, was one of the stars of the feminine team. Both games were close and exciting and proved that at least some girls can really learn to play baseball."

NATIVE VICE GOVERNOR?

Suggestion That Interests the Philippines—Might Mean Step Toward Ultimate Independence.

Washington, Aug. 23.—The question of whether the Philippines are to have a vice governor who is a native of the islands is one that the Filipinos themselves are discussing with a great deal of seriousness and one which President Taft will no doubt have to decide before many months.

If the president should determine to give the islands a vice governor from among the peoples of the islands, it would unquestionably be hailed by the Filipinos generally as a strong assurance that the country is bent on granting the Philippines the largest measure of self-government which is now feasible and that it really means to give them ultimate independence.

The question has arisen just at this time on account of the fact that Governor General James F. Smith has been given leave of absence. He has come to this country. His leave will not expire for several months, but it is pretty well understood he will not go back. In that event W. Cameron Forbes, who is now acting governor, will doubtless become the governor general. Then will arise the question of who shall be vice governor. The Filipinos perceive this situation is coming and are already doing much talking among themselves. In fact, the Philippines resident commissioners have asked the President to name a Filipino to be vice governor. Charles M. Magdon is one of the men whose names have been mentioned for the place in case an American is selected.

Some interesting propositions are raised by the efforts of the Filipinos to have a vice governor of their own nationality. It is a good deal of a problem for President Taft to say just how fast the United States ought to let the islands go on the route to self-government. Officials here who are most familiar with the conditions in the islands and with what is likely to be done with regard to them do not believe the President will name a Filipino for vice governor. They say there are some objections to such action. One is that in the absence of the governor general, the head of the government would be a Filipino, not an American. At the same time, it is admitted that the commissioners would have the power of vetoing any such appointment or action which the vice governor as acting governor might decide on.

Another reason given is that if it was decided to name a Filipino as vice governor and this for any reason was found not to work well, it would be found impossible to depart from the system without arousing much clamor. The safer plan, the one sure of avoiding trouble, leading officials think, is to continue to have an American vice governor. It is pointed out that the Filipinos are far from being without representation in the government now. They have three of the seven judges on the supreme court of the islands and four of the nine commissioners.

PILGRIM MONUMENT BUILT.

Only Interior Work Is To Be Completed.

Provincetown, Aug. 23.—Except for interior fittings the Cape Cod Pilgrim's Memorial Monument on Town Hill stands completed. The last stone of the mammoth pile, towering 250 feet above ground level or 350 feet above the level of the sea, which it overlooks for miles, has been laid. There was but one day over two years between the date of the laying of the corner stone by President Roosevelt in 1907 and the date of the placing of the last of the component stones. These stones were contributed by 125 towns in Massachusetts, by a number of towns in England and by many patriotic societies and other organizations. Each bears the name and date of its donor. The total cost of the monument will be $100,000, of which the state $50,000. Nothing remains to be done except to install the inside fittings. An inclined plane of concrete construction giving access to the lofty summit is the chief of these. All will be finished by Nov. 1, it is expected, although the contractors have until Dec. 1 to complete their work. The monument will probably be dedicated during the summer of 1910, upon the 100th anniversary of the sailing of the Pilgrim company from Southampton, England. At the latter place a movement has been in progress for some time to raise funds for the construction of a similar monument there. It is expected that President Taft will be present to dedicate the monument, thus completing the work begun by his predecessor, President Roosevelt.

The monument to the Pilgrim's Memorial can soil, their six weeks' exploration in search of an abiding place and the drawing up of their historic pact in the cabin of the Mayflower. The great tower will serve as a day beacon to the mariners around it, an assistant such as the little shallop Mayflower had during the winds and storms of the early winter of 1620. The erection of the monument at Provincetown was the outcome of a long controversy between Provincetown and Plymouth over the question as to which place had prior claim to the Pilgrim fathers.

BUSINESS COLLEGE TO OPEN SEPT. 6

J. A. FERGUSON'S SCHOOL ABOUT TO ENTER UPON ITS THIRD YEAR OF PROSPERITY.

LARGE ENROLLMENT EXPECTED

Institution Has Won Envious Reputation and Its Students Have Secured Good Positions.

The Ferguson Business college will enter upon the third year of its existence in this city at the opening of the fall term Monday, Sept. 6. Ever since Mr. Ferguson took hold of the college two years ago, it has enjoyed a steady growth and increasing prosperity, and its students have been peculiarly fortunate in securing good positions. The college has established a high reputation under his management and is now not only a credit to the city but a benefit to all who attend. At the beginning of Mr. Ferguson's regime, there were not more than ten students attending the college; last year there were at one time thirty-nine attending the day school and forty attending the night school. Besides, prosperous schools have been established at Iron Mountain and Ironwood, and the attendance at all three institutions promises to be larger this fall than ever before.

The first day of the term will be devoted to enrollment and registration of students, and the regular work will begin on Tuesday, Sept. 7. The school will enter the term with new and additional equipment and improved courses. Courses will be offered in shorthand and typewriting, bookkeeping and in the English branches. An ordinarily bright student can complete the prescribed course in about a year, but most of those attending in the past have secured positions before they received their diplomas. Miss Mabel Denny, of this city, has been engaged as an instructor at the college the coming year. Miss Denny is a graduate of the school and for the last six months has been giving her attention to shorthand with the idea of teaching the subject. She is considered especially well fitted for the position, being a rapid writer and particularly accurate in the underlying principles of shorthand.

New Principal at Ironwood.
The school at Ironwood will be in charge of S. E. Thompson, of Kansas City, Mo., this year, L. D. Heckman, who was in charge last year having secured a better position with a business college at Park. Two years, some months ago, Mr. Heckman obtained his business training at the night school in Marquette, and his advance has been remarkably rapid. Mr. Thompson is considered equally well fitted to take up the work at Ironwood, as he has had ten years' experience in teaching, during the last three of which he has been in charge of a college on the Pacific coast. The school at Iron Mountain will again be in charge of W. J. Stock, by whom it was successfully managed last year. Among the students of the Ferguson business college who are now holding good positions, may be mentioned the following, most of whom were students last year:

Winnifred Fitzgerald, with Jacob Rose.
Della Cleary, with Northwestern Collection Agency.
Nulla Gamme, with Powell & Mitchell.
Margaret Kern, with Gammon Grocery company.
Anna McCarthy, with First National bank.
Jennie Turcott, with D. S. S. & A. offices.
Carl Meeske, with Upper Peninsula Brewing company.
George Schmeltzer, with Kelly Hardware company.
Moritz Fahlstedt, with Consolidated Fuel & Lumber company.
Anna McKinnon, with Walter S. Prickett, Sibley, Mich.
Lucy Gorman, with Oliver Mining company, Chisholm, Minn.
Sara Thomlinson, with Oliver Type-writer company, Chicago.
Frances Grant, with Attorney A. L. Ruggles, Hurley, Wis.
Leslie Haring, with Lake Independence Lumber company, Big Bay, Mich.
Lottie Fagan, with Cameron Sewing Machine company.
Lydia Lauzon, with Marquette Steam Laundry.
Bernie Paulson, with Lake Shore Engine Works.
Bada Smith, with Bassett Furniture company, Duluth, Minn.
Ella Tinknell, with Probate Judge W. T. Potter.

RECITAL FRIDAY NIGHT.

Patrons of high class dramatic and literary entertainments are promised an unusual treat at the opera house Friday night, when Mrs. Harriett R. Labadie of Philadelphia, will present "The Secret in the House," the proceeds from which will go into the St. Luke's hospital building fund. Mrs. Labadie is well known among the literary people of the East where she has given many entertainments similar to the one to be given here. She recently appeared in Washington with Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt. Mrs. Charles Fairbanks, Mrs. Chamney M. Dewey and many others of equal note, as patronesses. Carter's Monthly Magazine says of Mrs. Labadie: "She gives interpretations of life in dramatic representation in parlors, before clubs and organizations of students and artists. Mrs. Labadie has achieved a highly gratifying success as a dramatic artist of the most refined type. She has appeared before assemblies critical to a degree in culture of the art and in the portrayals of situations and character that tend to intellectual elevation. Personally, Mrs. Labadie is fascinating. Her numbers are dignified without a touch of stiffness, graceful without affectation in pose or movement. She is withal a woman who takes on spirit and emotion in finest spirit while engaged in professional work, while socially and at home she lives in accord with her sweet and gentle nature."

MINING MEN WILL VISIT CITY TODAY

FURNACE AND ENGINE WORKS TO BE VISITED, AND WHITE-FISH DINNER WILL BE SERVED THE GUESTS.

These in attendance at the Lake Superior Mining institute, which convened in Ishpeming yesterday, will arrive in Marquette today at 10:30 this morning, on a special train over the L. S. & L. consisting of sixteen coaches, most of which are sleepers or private cars. The institute is made up of mining men from the iron and copper districts of Michigan and Minnesota, and it is expected that about 300 will be in the party.
The train will not run to the passenger station, but will stop at the Pioneer furnace, which will be inspected by the mining men, especially with reference to the New Gayley dry air plant, which has recently been installed.
At 11:15 the party is due to arrive at the Lake Shore Engine works. After inspecting this plant, a whitefish dinner will be served to the party by the management on the beach just east of the manufactory. Tables have been arranged in the grove along the beach, and the dinner will be cooked at the prison, under the same arrangement as was made at the Bankers' convention a year ago.
After dinner, the train will move to Sponser's dock, where the steamer Minnie M. will be waiting to convey the party to Munising. The Minnie M. is the handsome passenger boat which is in commission between the Soo and Grand Island. While the party is enjoying the lake trip, the train will be moved to Munising, where supper is to be served in the dining cars at 6 o'clock. A business session will be held in the Alger county court house this evening at 8 o'clock.
Friday morning, launches will be provided for those wishing to visit Grand Island and time will be allowed to visit the factories and other points of interest in Munising. At 11 o'clock the Mining Institute special will leave for Princeton, and dinner will be served in the dining car en route. The new Cleveland-City properties on the Swanzy range will be visited, consisting of the Austin, Princeton and Stephenson mines operating, and the Smith mine, developing. The concrete shaft at the Kidder will also be inspected. This will close this year's institute, and most of those attending will probably leave for their homes Friday night or Saturday morning.
