

SAYS REFORM WORK MUST GO FORWARD

Speaking With Great Earnestness to a Big Mass Meeting in Chicago, President Taft Points to the Need of Remedial Laws.

Of All the Questions Before the People He Regards None More Important Than the Improvement of the Administration of Justice—He Advocates, too, the Extension of Roosevelt's Policy and He Urges Legislation in Behalf of the Workingman.

Chicago, Sept. 16.—Speaking with great earnestness to a mass meeting in "Roberts Hall" tonight, President Taft declared for the reformation of the administration of justice and announced his intention of recommending the appointment of a congressional commission to take up the question of the law's delays in the federal courts.

Chicago, Sept. 16.—President Taft said he had not forgotten his campaign promises to the workingmen, made on the spot a year ago. The speech was frequently interrupted by cheers.

Governor Bennett said he could extend only an official welcome to the president, because everybody had already extended welcome during the day. The governor predicted that the Western people, during the great journey just begun, will interpret to the president the spirit of the West.

President Taft's Address. Mr. Taft recalled his speech to the railroad labor organizations made in the same hall a year ago, wherein he argued that there was nothing in his decision as judge in labor injunction cases which ought to cause them to vote against him, and he added that the assumption he would lose a large part of the labor vote had proved incorrect, as both union and non-union labor men declared to be delivered as he had to any day.

One Notable Defect. The effect of organized labor upon child labor, exposure to undue risk and the continuation of the unimpaired occupations of employers from liability for accidents has been direct, immediate and useful. One notable defect has been the disposition of the majority members of labor unions to reduce the compensation of all men engaged in a particular trade to a level.

GOVERNOR JOHNSON SUFFERS GREAT PAIN

However, He Passes a Fairly Easy Day, the Gravity of His Illness Considered, and This Morning His Condition Is Reported Decidedly Improved.

Rochester, Minn., Friday, Sept. 17.—Governor Johnson's condition early this morning is decidedly improved. A bulletin issued at midnight said: "The governor has been asleep almost continuously since 10:45. His general condition is excellent. He has taken no opiates tonight, nor last night, except a sixth of a grain of morphine three hours after the operation. That has been the only stimulant administered. His pulse is 110; his temperature stationary at 98.4."

Rochester, Minn., Sept. 16.—Governor Johnson spent a fairly easy day, considering his condition, but tonight he is more restless and is suffering greatly. All the doctors expect the crucial time to come before dawn. Should he pass this, there is definite hope he will recover.

WALL STREET TRADING IS OF BIG PROPORTIONS

Though Money Supplies dwindle and Rates are Firmer, the Speculation in Stocks is on an Enormous Scale and the Prices Show Remarkable Strength.

New York, Sept. 16.—There was a renewed outburst of speculative demand for stocks today, and another striking demonstration of strength. The movement converged on the favorites—Steel, Union Pacific and Reading. Blocks of as much as 10,000 shares of Reading changed hands, and the aggregate dealings in Steel were larger than in Reading.

So full is the president's schedule that we are told that there isn't a single golf game in it for the entire 13,000 miles.

If it wasn't for the necessity of helping their cabinet officers out of their troubles our presidents would be able to have a pretty comfortable time of it.

The directors of the Houghton fair have not yet particularized as to just what airship they will exhibit.

Judge Montgomery at Grand Rapids this week made formal announcement of his candidacy for governor.

The managers in our scrappy little league have decided to withdraw all protests, to let bygones be bygones.

The press dispatches tell us that at U'ia Vice President Sherman hopped aboard President Taft's car with a box of candy for a birthday gift.

Representative Townsend would like to have Senator Smith's support in his campaign for the senate, and both the Grand Rapids candidates for governor would also like to be favored with it.

Dr. Trueman says that every dollar that has been paid over to players on the Munising team has been put up by Munising men, or received at the gate in games in which Munising played.

District Attorney Jerome has opened headquarters as an independent candidate for re-election in New York.

At Grand Rapids Representative Townsend expressed great confidence that he would be elected senator in 1910, and almost equal confidence that some representative other than Uncle Joe will be the next speaker.

The organizers of the recent Saratoga conference are planning to extend the movement into other states, in the hope that it will lead to a national rehabilitation of the Democratic party.

There is a conflict between the statements in regard to Commander Peary's plans for the future. At one time we are assured that he is through with exploration, and again that he and Captain Bartlett are already arranging for a south pole expedition.

The status of the high school fraternity in Michigan bids fair to be established by the outcome of a case that has been started at Adrian.

There's no doubt that the west would be pleased to have Senator Aldrich swing around the circle, to explain the central bank plan and to help in a general campaign of education on the financial question of which he is, perhaps, the most thorough student in congress.

The Michigan courts in this case follow the ruling in nearly all similar cases, the school board and superintendent will be upheld, for the courts have generally taken the stand that the men in charge of public school systems have a full right to suppress, even by extreme measures, fraternities and societies that they judge, after careful study of the matter, to be a source of interference with the work for which schools are opened and maintained.

Now those Cookites who have been reflecting on Commander Peary for the thought for the main chance that he displayed in copying the newspaper story of his finding of the north pole, with the result that it was retailed as so much merchandise to the limited number of papers that could make arrangements to get it, will have to back water, for Dr. Cook has followed his rival's example, and the first installment of his recital, copyrighted by the New York Herald company, is being printed by the chosen few papers. It's a long installment, too, and the story promises to take up much more space than was used by Commander Peary, so that on the basis of mere bulk Dr. Cook appears to be even more commercial than Peary.

The address of George M. Reynolds, president of the American Bankers' association, urging the central bank as a solution of our banking problem, had one striking statement illustrative of the inadequacy of the present system to permit of flexible employment of our money resources.

The capital of the proposed bank must, he said, be at least $100,000,000, and whether its stock is taken by the public or by national banks is a matter of detail, though President Reynolds personally favors the former alternative, for obvious reasons. The bank is to be the fiscal agent of the government, and its branches would replace the sub-treasuries. In addition to government funds the bank would receive the deposits of the banks in the three central reserve cities, acting as a reserve depository for the banks in those cities, just as they act as reserve depositories for the banks in the regular reserve cities.

Secretary Ballinger has been given an absolute vindication by President Taft, who assures the country that the secretary is a loyal conservationist.

There is a conflict between the statements in regard to Commander Peary's plans for the future. At one time we are assured that he is through with exploration, and again that he and Captain Bartlett are already arranging for a south pole expedition.

Understanding on both sides. Senator Aldrich would greatly like to frame the measure that will give his country a modern currency system, and as he sees that one of the things he has to overcome is the district of the west he is perhaps regretful that he has not heretofore cultivated it, in a spirit of sincere friendship.

The central bank. In his address to the American Bankers' association George M. Reynolds, the president, gave a detailed description of a central bank which he believes would make our currency system elastic enough to meet all demands upon it, and he is said to, in a large measure, have outlined the views held by President Taft and Senator Aldrich.

MAP ON HEN'S EGG.

Told Just Where Treasure Buried Years Ago Could Be Found.

Erza Burt, who lives about a mile east of the Corners, has a hen which no amount of money will buy, the New York World says. It is a scrappy, ill-appearing fowl, with bedraggled feathers and a comb that is as small as a pin. It has laid only one egg in its entire two years' existence. Still, old Erza, as the hen is called, has a niche in Erza's heart and gets the very best grain the farm affords.

The secret of all this is that the one egg Betsy laid contained on its shell a raised water-line map of the spot where old Jeremiah Burt, Erza's great-grandfather, buried his gold at the time of the revolutionary war, and with the aid of this map Erza recovered the treasure. Just how much this was no one has been able to find out, but it is known that the mortgage on the farm has been paid off and the Burt family is living in comfort.

The Burt's gave up hunting for the secret wealth forty years ago, after they had searched and dug until they were tired out. They knew that the paternal Burt sunk his gold somewhere in the earth and went off to war without telling his family where he had placed it. Further than that it was on the farm. Last summer a gypsy came along selling leads and laces, and offered to go into a trance and solve the treasure riddle. Erza bought a dollar's worth of the wares. Burt took up the offer, and in her trance the woman said that some day an old scrawny hen would lay an egg on which would be found a map. If this were followed the treasure would be found, Erza thought he was "stung," but he paid the dollar.

Nothing more happened until a month ago, when Betsy was found in the wood-box behind the kitchen stove. Horrified at the idea of leaving a hen in her kitchen, Mrs. Burt shot her out, and was surprised to find an egg nesting in the shavings. The egg had peculiar raised lines on the shell, and Erza was called. He remembered the prophecy of the gypsy, and carefully studied the shell. Sure enough, there was a map, with a little star at the base of an old maple tree in the sugar orchard.

With a pick and shovel, Burt set forth, and an hour later returned with a discolored copper-seal kettle, heavy with gold. The family kept the secret until the mortgage was paid, when it became common property. All efforts to get Erza to tell how much money he found in the kettle have failed.

THE WAR ON OPIUM SMOKING.

One of the most significant evidences of the awakening of China is the war now being waged against the use of opium. While opium smoking has for centuries been a favorite vice of the Chinese, there has always been a sentiment against it among the more enlightened classes there, and this is not the first attempt on the part of the authorities to suppress its use. It was such an attempt, it will be remembered, that brought on a war with England, which country saw the poppy planters of India losing a market and went to war to compel the Chinese government to abandon the policy of forbidding the importation of opium. England has always worried about the wrongdoings of other nations—when it would not affect English interests to have abuses corrected. Now, however, China feels itself strong enough to begin a new campaign against the opium evil, and England has been forced to agree to reduce shipments of opium to China until they cease entirely; China in return agrees to suppress the native production. An international conference is soon to be held to settle some of the trade questions arising.

But it is not enough to prohibit the importation and production of the drug; the authorities are trying to make its use impossible. Associations and leagues are forming to aid the government; planters are carefully watched; mandarin run the risk of dismissal if they do not correct their bad habits, and several have already suffered. Among the confirmed smokers who were known to give up the habit there are at least a number of deaths; the drug has become so indispensible that they have paid with their lives their submission to the orders of the emperor. Nothing in China can be done without a public display, in some provinces the anti-opium societies have organized elaborate ceremonies to catch the popular imagination, such as burning in public with much pomp the pipes and other utensils seized from or abandoned by the smokers.—Boston Globe.

THE INCORRIGIBLE KID.

Israel W. Durham, the Philadelphia less, owed part of his success to the fine way he kept his followers submissive and obedient without hurting their pride.

It was a Pennsylvania legislator who was discussing the dead Pennsylvania leader. He continued:

"Mr. Durham could call you to order without offending you. Once, for example, he called me to order. He said 'I was incorrigible. He said, with a laugh, that I was as hard to manage as a little boy in a downtown school."

This youth's teacher told him he must add without counting on his fingers. Then she gave him several mental sums. He solved them, but from the way he kept looking down at his hands, she knew he wasn't minding her. So she made him put his hands behind his back, and then she gave him another sum. He answered it, too, correctly.

"Good!" she said. "You didn't count on your fingers that time, did you?"

"No'm; on my toes," said he.

A WOMAN ON A MAN'S "JOB."

The work of an Indian agent is not exactly "a soft snap." It reaches all the way from disciplining drunken Indians to serving out rations, reading matter and counsel to a group of persons so varied as to include college students and men who are yet clothed in blankets and longing for the scalps of their enemies.

The task of civilizing and controlling the most incorrigible of these Indians is generally done by the methods of the policeman or of the soldier; but Commissioner Leupp has recently substituted, in at least one case, the method of the teacher and the sociologist. When he appointed Miss Clara True, agent of the Mission reservation in California, it was because he had seen her managing an Indian school in New Mexico. The clean faces of the dirt-loving children in that school suggested to him that this woman had power to clean up more than faces. So he sent her to a reservation ravaged by disease, poverty stricken because of laziness and enslaved by whiskey.

She was threatened and resisted in every effort for better conditions. Once, when she was away for a night from her usual sleeping room, her pillow was torn to pieces by bullets. She was shot at from ambush, approached with bribes by liquor sellers and vilified by land thieves and cattle thieves.

Miss True is a little woman, but she is a good fighter and a loyal friend, and has succeeded in her fight for decency and progress. The Mission reservation, from being the worst spot in our Indian possessions, is rapidly becoming the model of the Indian office. The Indians living on it have discovered, thanks to the woman who is doing a man's work, that justice and good order may be enforced, even in the most lawless community; and they have learned also that the enforcement may be so aided and reinforced by humanity and sympathy that the law itself shall demonstrate the power of love.—Youth's Companion.

NO SHORTAGE THIS FALL

Northern Pacific Official Says His Road Will Be Able to Handle Rush.

Many of the railroad men of the country have been predicting a shortage in rolling stock during the fall. The agents on many of the lines, and particularly those in the smaller towns, have received orders from headquarters advising them to keep all cars moving and to report any congestions that might occur in their vicinity.

E. C. Blanchard, formerly superintendent of the Lake Superior division of the Northern Pacific, but now holding the position of general superintendent of the eastern division of the same railway system, has been recently appointed at the head of the lakes. He said that the Northern Pacific is in excellent condition to handle the immense traffic that will develop between now and the first of the year. He said that he did not expect a car shortage on the Northern Pacific system, but that the management will be hard pressed to deliver cars during the grain movement. The Northern Pacific has added some 3,000 cars to its equipment this year and the management feels confident that it will be able to successfully handle all of the freight business offered it.

Mr. Blanchard expressed the belief that the wheat movement will be one of the heaviest that this country has ever seen. He found that the terminals at the head of the lakes are in excellent condition to receive the grain. The locks are holding much coal, but it is said that the tonnage is no larger than it was at this time last year.

THE DOLL WOMAN.

One of the great charms of the Early Victorian heroine in the eyes of her admirers was the knowledge that she was worth a million.

It was such a simple, ingenious little thing that she always thought that coin of the realm grew in the pockets of her male relatives, who, of course, always had plenty of money, and unless they were very old crumple-heads, were always ready to pay for "that duck or a bonnet," and at most give her cheeks a roguish pinch for her extravagance.

The pose of the woman of those days was that of a spoiled child; if she wanted a thing she cried for it. If she was young and pretty she got it; if she was the other thing she went without.—Sketch.

BUSY BUILDING SEASON AT GWINN

SEVERAL NEW STRUCTURES ARE ABOUT COMPLETED, AND OTHERS ARE BEING STARTED.

Building operations at Gwinn, on the Swaney range, which have been conducted on a fairly large scale this summer, will probably not be brought to a close until the fall season. The Foster Construction company, of Milwaukee, which is doing the greater part of the building there this year, has been awarded a contract by Richard Quayle for the erection of a solid brick warehouse. The company will also employ a good sized force this winter for the new Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company's chibhouse. The workmen are now working on the first story of this building, which is to be of solid brick. It is expected that the structure will be enclosed within four or five weeks.

The Quaker warehouse will be one-story, with basement, and will be 100 feet in length by twenty-seven in width. It will be located about 100 yards from the site of the Marquette & Southeastern Railway company's proposed freight depot. The freight depot will be on the west side of Pine street, between passenger depot is to be on the east side. The Foster company expects to have the warehouse ready for use within thirty days.

William Jory's livery barn, located on Elm street, a short distance back of the Gwinn hotel, will be completed within a week or ten days. It is a solid brick structure, with fifteen stalls and one box stall, and is being erected by the Foster company. Mr. Jory intends to conduct a general livery and teaming business, and will move his entire outfit from Princeton.

Work has been started on a church building for the Methodist congregation on the corner opposite the hospital. The building will be a brick structure, and will be built by the Foster company. The seating capacity will be 225. The contractors expect to have the building ready for use in about two months.

The churches being erected by the Mission and Finnish congregations are about finished. They are located on attractive sites near the hospital. The Mission church will be dedicated next Sunday, and the Finnish church the following Sunday.

The Pabst Brewing company's brick building has been completed. It is located on Pine street, on a lot directly back of the one occupied by the Gwinn bank. Charles Johnson, of this city, has already opened his saloon there, under the management of his brother, Oscar. The latter's family will occupy rooms on the second floor. This will perhaps be the only saloon in Gwinn. It is Mr. Johnson's intention to continue his Princeton business. There are now seven saloons on the range, there being four in the new town of Swaney, and Joseph P. Larochele has one, a short distance from the Princeton mine.

It is reported that the liquor dealers are conducting their places in strict accordance with the law, and that they close their doors promptly at 9 o'clock.

Charles Arntsen, one of the bosses at the Stenhammer mine, has just finished a dwelling on Flint street.

Victor Carlson has had a crew employed laying concrete walks, and the greater part of the business streets have already been paved with them. The walks extend about two blocks on Pine street, from the corners of the bank and Quayle buildings, also in front of the hotel and bank buildings on Elm street.

ALL PROTESTS WITHDRAWN.

Baseball Teams Have Straightened Out Their Difficulties.

Those interested in baseball will be pleased to learn that the management of the Ishpeming and Marquette teams have withdrawn their protests on last Sunday's game between the Negaunee and Marquette nines. The Negaunee management has also withdrawn its protest of the last game played with Ishpeming.

The managers realized that baseball would receive a black eye if something was not done to stop the wrangling, and decided that the best thing to do was to withdraw the protests. The entering of the protest by Ishpeming created much bad feeling here, and Negaunee people will be pleased that it has been withdrawn. The patrons of the game would regret to see the league series end unsatisfactorily.

In view of the lateness of the date many express doubt that the series will be completed, unless the postponed games are played on week days. At this time last year the league series had ended and extra games were being played. The weather was unusually fine during September and it was also possible to play early in October. The Ishpeming management will endeavor to play its postponed game with Munising next week, and it is expected that two games will be played when the team makes its final trip to Munising.

There has been so much baseball talk this week that it is predicted that the attendance at Sunday's game between Ishpeming and Negaunee will be the largest of the season. It will be the final meeting of the nines.

GOING TO THE COAST.

Herbert A. Gribble, former leader of the Negaunee City band, who is now musical director with the Yankee Doodle Stock company, has advised relatives here that he expects to go to the coast and back this winter with the company. Mr. Gribble is now giving a piano specialty at each performance, in addition to his other work. He writes that he is meeting with much success in the sale of his selections, especially the "Lake Superior" two-step, and the "Voice of Autumn." He reports that the Yankee Doodle company is doing a fine business, and he believes that the management will make money on the proposed coast tour.

INSTITUTION OVERRUN.

Mrs. P. J. Miller arrived home Wednesday from Menominee, Wis., where she accompanied her daughter, Clara, who is to take a course in domestic science at the Normal Institute. Mrs. Miller reports that there were at least 140 more students at the school than could be accommodated in the dormitory. The latter was enlarged during the vacation period but in spite of this fact the number mentioned were turned away. Students who had not secured rooms in advance could not find places in the town, and had to return home.

LOCAL LACONICS.

Lawrence Curley is here on a visit to his parents.

Thomas Pascoe and bride arrived home Wednesday afternoon from their wedding trip.

Rev. W. B. Coombe and his son, Philip, left yesterday morning for the Falls of Pigeon, where the young man is to take a course at the Alliance college.

All of the steel towers between the Maas mine and the Cleveland Park transmission electric line have been raised.

J. M. Perkins has installed one of the National Cash Register company's latest improved registers in his drug store. It adds all sales, also shows credit and cash payments.

Ralph Kains, who had planned to leave here Wednesday for college, has decided not to go until Monday, and will hold down his place at third base against Ishpeming Sunday afternoon.

Contractor Spaulding, who is erecting Negaunee's new fire hall, is having difficulty in securing laborers, in spite of the fact that he is offering good wages. He has four masons employed on the foundation and could use several more if he could secure helpers for them.

J. H. Bice who spent a month here and in the copper country visiting relatives, left Wednesday for Marquette, where he will spend a few days with friends. He will go from there to Bay City and then to Chicago, spending a week or more in both cities, before leaving for Globe, Ariz., where he has been located for the past few years.

The Tigers football team will reorganize within a few days for the coming season. The team played six games last season, winning three, losing one and tying in two. They tied with the Red Stars of Marquette, by a score of six to six, and with the North Ends of Marquette, by a score of six to six. The team of Ishpeming gave the Tigers their only defeat, the score being six to five.

Why We Are Stronger.

The old Greeks and Romans were great admirers of health and strength; their pictures and statues made the muscles of the men stand out like cords.

As a matter of fact we have athletes and strong men—men fed on Quaker Oats—that would win in any contest with the old Roman or Greek champions.

It's a matter of food. The finest food for making strength of bone, muscle and nerve is fine oatmeal, Quaker Oats is the best because it is pure, no husks or stems or black specks. Farmers' wives are finding that by feeding the farm hands plentifully on Quaker Oats they get the best results in work and economy. If you are convenient to the store, buy the regular size packages; if not near the store buy the large size family package.

COST OF MAIL SERVICE.
Postmaster General Calls Upon Railroads for Information.
WILL BE GIVEN 30 DAYS.
Recommendations to Be Made to Congress Based on the Facts Obtained from Carriers.

Washington, Sept. 16.—Postmaster General Hitchcock has taken steps to obtain from all railroad companies carrying the mails data during the month of November relating to the cost of performing the service in order that the department may be in possession of the important information and may be able to report the facts to Congress with such recommendations, if any, as may be advisable. This action is in accordance with the direction of law, which has been practically a dead letter heretofore. The companies will be given thirty days in which to prepare for securing the data. Very careful study has been given the subject in the department by the second assistant postmaster general and expert officials, and the forms and inquiries have been completed and will be sent to the companies in the next few days. These call for detailed information as to car space devoted to the mails, as to mail station service, station and terminal facilities and the cost of his inquiry will be very instructive and important.

Required by Law of 1879.
It will constitute the only comprehensive information the department has thus far obtained. The law of 1879 requires the postmaster general to obtain the information shortly after its passage; in fact, an attempt was made, but it was then impracticable to secure the information. Further efforts were superseded by the action of congress in the appointment of various commissions of inquiry. The postmaster general thinks that the information should now be secured by the department, and along lines that will show the actual service rendered and its cost to the companies, as near as it is possible to obtain it.

Five years' experience as to whether the government is paying too much or too little for the carriage of the mails on the railroads has been discussed in congress and out, but although several commissions have investigated the subject, the results have been inconclusive. As to those who claim that the rates for the statutory rates was fixed many years ago; that rates for other public service have been reduced in the meantime, and that the companies are receiving too much for this service. On the other hand, the companies claim that the conditions of the service are more exacting and onerous, and that the requirements are greater now than when the rates were fixed, and that a careful consideration of all the facts will show that, especially since the material reductions by congress and the effect of the new discovery, they are more poorly paid for this than for other classes of service.

The department pays the companies not less than $50,000,000 for this service. The postmaster general wants to know the facts, and to be fair to the companies as well as to conserve the public interests. It is for this that he is making this inquiry, which, when completed, will give the department and congress very important data.

We Seek the Advertisers Who Want Light

We seek mail order advertisers who are anxious for a way to reduce their selling costs.

We seek general advertisers who want to find ways to get more results for their money.

We seek the wise men—the good business men—the men who want actual proofs.

We will tell these men how, with absolute certainty, to pick out the agent who can outsell the rest.

We appeal for good business methods in advertising—such as you apply outside.

Employ salesmen-in-print on just the same basis as you employ salesmen-in-person.

Accept no unproved boasts. Sign no contracts. Put it up to the men to make good.

That is the only way to place men on their mettle—to keep them at constant white heat. Cling to them as long as no other men can outsell them. But always leave room to give the better man a show.

Advertising has not been largely done on that basis.

The advertising agent has demanded a contract, binding the advertiser for from one to three years.

The contract was blindly made—made before the agent had started to show results.

Then, if the agent fell down, the advertiser found himself tied to a failure. There was nothing to do but quit.

We have abandoned contracts.

No client of ours binds himself to remain with us. None states how much he will spend.

We abide by results.

If any agent can prove the power to outsell us, our client is free to go.

But we urge the demanding of actual proofs. Any agent who can outsell another can prove it beyond any question.

He can prove it without asking you for any commitment. He can prove it, if you wish, while most of your advertising still goes through other channels.

We shall welcome the time when advertisers in general awake to this fact, and employ it.

There is a way to prove if your advertising can bring better results than now.

There is a way to know if any agent can outsell the one you employ.

The way is easy, and the result sometimes has proved to be worth a fortune.

If you are interested, simply write us! "Please explain the way."

ONE HUNDRED PUPILS IN FRESHMAN CLASS

ENROLLMENT IN THE HIGH SCHOOL THIS YEAR IS MUCH LARGER THAN USUAL.

FEW HAVE DROPPED OUT

Nearly All of Those Completing the Eighth Grade Work Have Continued Their Studies.

The enrollment of the Marquette public schools at the end of the second week of the year is 1,854 pupils, an increase of twenty-four over the same day a year ago. The comparative figures show that the increased enrollment is entirely in the high school, and that, in fact, there are ten less pupils in the grades than at this time last year.

As to sex, the figures compiled by Superintendent G. W. Gehrand show that there are 897 boys and 957 girls enrolled to date. In the high school the girls outnumber the boys nearly two to one, while in the grades the boys are slightly in the majority.

This condition, which is not an unusual one, is due to many boys going to work after finishing the sixth, seventh or eighth grades and so not entering the high school.

In the high school, there are 274 pupils enrolled, ninety-nine boys and 175 girls, which is an exceptionally large enrollment. As there are but 247 seats in the assembly room, it has been necessary to assign two pupils to one seat in some instances.

Efforts of Superintendent. In the past the large number of pupils who left school after having completed the eighth grade work, or during their high school course, has been a matter of no little concern to the teachers and others who are particularly interested in the welfare of the public schools.

Among the parents and the public there exists a view that foreign languages and facts are about all that is taught in the high school, says Mr. Gehrand, and a special effort has been made to disabuse people of that erroneous impression.

Are Languages Being Avoided? Superintendent Gehrand is now compiling data to ascertain the popularity of the different subjects taught in the high school, with the special purpose of finding out the extent to which the foreign languages, manual training and domestic science are being studied.

R. F. D. SERVICE POSSIBLE.

Postoffice Inspector Will Recommend Route Out of Marquette. In response to a petition signed by over 100 residents of the country southwest of Marquette, asking for rural free delivery mail service out of this city, Postoffice Inspector George E. Fox looked over the country that would be affected yesterday, and stated last evening that he would recommend that a rural route be established, as requested. The petition will go to the office of the postmaster general for final disposition.

SALOON KEEPERS WERE FOUND NOT GUILTY

JURY DECIDED THAT NORTH MARQUETTE DEALERS HAD NOT VIOLATED SUNDAY LAWS—OTHER CRIMINAL CASES.

"Not guilty" was the verdict of the jury in the cases of the People against Martin Rustoploven, John Beck and Gus Matson, who were charged with having violated the liquor laws, in that the screens were not removed from their saloons on Sunday, Jan. 17, because of which the bar could not be seen from the street.

In the case of Leander Winkka, who was charged with having violated the 11 o'clock closing law, the defendant was found guilty by Judge Stone and given the minimum fine, $20 and costs. This case was not submitted to a jury as both the prosecution and the defendant agreed to the facts, which were that Winkka's bartender went into the saloon about 11:30 p. m. to write a letter and remained there for a short time.

In the case of the People vs. Walter Pasanen, the defendant was allowed to plead guilty to assault and battery, for which he was fined the costs, amounting to $50. Pasanen was accused of having attacked a neighbor at Princeton, for which he was bound over to district court on the charge of assault with intent to do great bodily harm.

Vandenberg, the secretary of the organization for this county, has received assurances that lecturers will be sent to Marquette to conduct the program. It is planned to hold a two days' institute, instead of one day, as was the case last year, and a new feature that is expected to arouse interest will be a display of agricultural products for which premiums will be offered.

HIT BY LOCOMOTIVE.

James Connolly Seriously Injured on Trestle Near Nestora.

Mr. Connolly, a well-known real estate dealer of this city, was seriously injured yesterday forenoon by being hit by a locomotive while crossing a railroad trestle near Nestora, and is now at L'Anse in a critical condition. Mr. Connolly went to Nestora yesterday morning to look at some land. As the engine went over the bridge, the man, who proved to be Mr. Connolly, was struck by the steps and thrown over the side to the ground below.

Mr. Connolly fell but a few feet, but when picked up by the train crew, his head was found to be in several places and his back injured. As he is eighty-three years of age, it is feared that the injuries will go hard with him. He was taken on board the train and carried to L'Anse, where he received medical treatment.

Mr. Connolly is an unmarried man and resides with his nieces at 801 Pine street.

FALL & WINTER

We Announce the First Arrival of Fall and Winter Clothes for Men and Young Men

HERE is the beginning of a series of somewhat out-of-the-ordinary talks designed to promote our better acquaintance.

About good clothes and good values, of course. But they'll be two-sided enough to be of mutual help and profit, you may depend upon it.

If we can only get into these talks some of the real spirit and service of this store—the desire to build our success upon your satisfaction, not at your expense—our aim will be rewarded.

This is the store of Better Things—not only better merchandise, but better service, better accomplishment, better values as every season goes by.

Along this line we're uncommonly glad to announce the first arrival of Fall and Winter Better Things in Men's and Young Men's clothes from

The House of Kuppenheimer

You'll find them in strict keeping with our policy of the highest-grade merchandise in every line. The styles are correct; in advance; the weaves are unusual in worth; the workmanship loyal and right.

Better come look them over if for no other reason than to set yourself right on the correct styles and fabrics for Fall and Winter.
