Commandant Peary's statement in attack on Dr. Cook's claims is completed. But is it copyrighted?

The New York historical pageant was a very fancy affair. It ought to have been, for it cost $300,000.

Albany and Troy, 'tother end of the Hudson, will next week get what New York has left of the big celebration.

The University of Michigan has a new professor of law. But what has that got to do with the progress of the varsity football team?

The status of former Police Commissioner Bingham in the forthcoming New York election has been determined. He is to be an innocent bystander.

How much money has the Detroit baseball team made this season? Well, at least enough to make President Navin unwilling to consider any offers for his stock.

District Attorney Jerome may not approve, but it appears to be Tammany's present purpose to ask "that most abhorrent product, a political judge" to run for mayor on its ticket.

We sympathize with Mr. Whitney's disinclination to mix up in the polar row. But he's a hapless victim of circumstances. He won't be kept out of it.

The first step in the plans for the next league baseball season hereabouts ought to be consigning to the oblivion of forgetfulness many of the happenings of the season now closing.

From the way District Attorney Jerome is lacing out at Justice Gaynor we gather that he must have given up any hope he may have entertained of securing the Tammany endorsement.

It remains to be seen whether President Taft's course in telling Secretary Ballinger and Forester Pinchot that they are both desirable citizens will induce them to shake hands on the proposition.

Dr. Cook may look like the kaiser, according to his latest photograph, but he doesn't act like him. Imagine the kaiser exhibiting Cook's patience and restraint under such provocation as has been given by Commandant Peary.

In order to prevent controversy it will be just as well if General Grant, the next time he rides at the head of a prohibition parade, leaves his uniform off. He must know that, in any event, the uniform does not make the man.

Senator Bailey and Mr. Bryan are quarreling over the tariff down Texas way. There is talk of a joint debate between them. If a debate would give any promise of helping determine where the Democratic party stands on the tariff question it certainly ought to be held.

The Northern Normal enrollment is much larger than it has been on a corresponding date in any previous year. The institution is experiencing a steady and gratifying growth. It will instruct more upper peninsula young men and women the ensuing terms than at any previous time.

The New York Highlanders are accused in a story going the rounds of the press—and it bears the earmarks of authenticity—of going back some years in the disreputable tactics of the game and adopting the trick of having a concealed agent wigwag the signals regulating the kind of ball the pitcher is to throw to the man at bat. The trick was uncovered by Detroiters during the series just ended. It has provoked a storm of criticism from the other teams and all friends of clean sport, and has received so much publicity that the matter should not be allowed to drop until full inquiry has been made. If the New York team has been guilty as charged it should be disciplined to the full extent permitted by the league by-laws. In the event there is no by-law that will fit the offense one should be provided instantly.

The old forestry commission, put out of business by the new public domain commission, apparently had a delightfully careless way of doing business. It failed to file all the deeds for the state reserve in Crawford and Roscommon counties, and part of the land has been sold for taxes. The new commission must now hunt out the tax title sharks and come to terms with them. And one Mr. Mershen, of Saginaw, a member of the former commission, claims the seedlings growing on the state lands, on the ground that he furnished the seed. The state will stand behind the new commission if it tells Mr. Mershen to go to thunder, by gum.

The Chicago council, despairing that the railroads will ever get around to it except under the spur, will pass an ordinance compelling the electrification of all railroad approaches into the city. The railroads will buck mightily, but the council claims to have all sorts of authority. Chicago will be a better city to live and work in when the railroads' share of its galling smoke nuisance is abated. It will be a comparatively easy matter to curb the minor offenders. In its proposed form the ordinance will require that the substitution be completed before Jan. 1, 1912. Here's a project that in time ought to help out the copper market a little.

The Escanaba council has decided to fight the efforts of the Abbott Voting Machine company to collect for a set of machines sold the city some few years ago. Mayor Greenhook, who appears to have taken a violent dislike to voting machines, says they are no good. The task of proving as much will devolve on the city attorney. Failing to do it, Escanaba will have to pay up for the face of its notes and settle for the interest and costs. The litigation will have more than a local bearing and its outcome will be observed with attention by all other communities in the upper peninsula that have bought voting machines, or have thought about doing so.

A magazine writer recently charged that the general delivery departments of all metropolitan postoffices were largely used for illegitimate business, principally to arrange meetings between men and their innamoratas. The Chicago postmaster indignantly denied the charge, but that there was a considerable measure of truth in it is shown by the fact that he has ordered that general delivery mail shall be given out only when the identity of the person receiving it is established. The order has been received with a vigor of protest by the frequenters of the general delivery windows in Chicago, mostly women, that convinces that much of the correspondence handled in this way has been clandestine, and that its recipients resorted to the general delivery department as a means of keeping it from the knowledge of their families or other relatives. Obviously the mails are not maintained for any such purpose and any order that will diminish this abuse is a good order, and should be rigidly enforced. The magazine writer who first turned attention to the matter may have gone, and probably did, further in his strictures than the facts warranted, but evidently good is to flow from his inquiry.

TAFT ON CONSERVATION. President Taft's address on conservation, which was put off so that Spokane could first hear it, has been awaited with popular interest throughout the west. Like his Winona address on the tariff, it was such an address as, under the existing circumstances, might have been confidently expected from him.

It is made clear that, with reference to conservation, the president is a strict constructionist. That is, he favors going only so far with various government projects as the law explicitly provides he shall go; this in comparison with the policy followed by the previous administration of assuming that what the law did not prohibit might properly be undertaken.

The president, however, conceives it to be his duty to urge on congress the enactment of all laws necessary to secure the safeguarding of the people's interest in the public lands. He favors the conservation and proper administration of the federal forests, the development of water powers by private capital under government supervision, and such disposal of mineral lands as will assure that they are not exploited for the few against the many. In short, President Taft believes sincerely in all the ends that his predecessor had in mind, and pledges a sincere effort to attain them.

The difference between the attitude of the present and the preceding administration toward the policies grouped under the general head of "conservation" is, as has frequently been remarked, solely one of methods. Under Taft congress will play a more vital part in the work than it did previously. The president will call on it for active co-operation in doing the things he conceives ought to be done. If it proves to be necessary, he is doubtless prepared to use pressure to see that they are done. The results will, we do not question, be satisfactory, and there will be assurance that every step gained, having full warrant of the law, will be gained beyond any danger of nullification.

MORE PINKHAM CURES

Added to the Long List due to This Famous Remedy.

Camden, N.J.—"It is with pleasure that I add my testimonial to your already long list—hoping that it may avail themselves of this valuable medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I suffered from terrible headaches, pain in my back and right side, was tired and nervous, and so weak I could hardly stand. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored me to health and made me feel like a new person, and it still always has my praise."—Mrs. W. P. VALENTINE, 902 Lincoln Avenue, Camden, N. J.

"I was a great sufferer from a female disease. The doctor said I would have to go to the hospital for an operation, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound completely cured me in three months."—Mrs. S. A. WILLIAMS, R. F. D. No. 14, Box 39, Gardiner, Me.

Because your case is a difficult one, doctors having done you no good, do not continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It surely has cured many cases of female ills, such as inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, indigestion, dizziness, and nervous prostration. It costs but a trifle to try it, and the result is worth millions to many suffering women.

on which former President Roosevelt was the pioneer. PRUSSIAN FORESTS. The federal forest service has sent out some data in regard to the Prussian national forests, 7,900,000 acres in extent, that illustrates what a great source of national wealth properly farmed forests can be made.

Prussia, like the other continental nations, was compelled to turn to scientific forest management by a realization that otherwise the country would be, within a few generations, practically denuded of forests, and that such timber as was needed would have to be imported at ruinous prices.

When Prussia adopted its advanced system of forest administration its forests had been seriously impaired by reckless and wasteful lumbering. The basic principle of the Prussian system was that the forests should be farmed, as agricultural lands are farmed, i. e., that each year's cut should be restricted to the estimated forest growth for the year. Thus there was to be no attack on the forest principal.

FROM L. M. STODDARD. Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Sept. 28, 1909. To the Editor of the Daily Mining Journal, Marquette, Mich. Dear Sir:—In your paper of the 27th I noticed a scathing article on the abilities of the lake pilots as navigators, headed "Are Better Pilots Than Navigators." We feel highly complimented to be called "the best pilots in the world" by your "well informed marine man," who says we can only get through the lakes when the weather is bright and clear and land is in sight. I would like to ask him how he accounts for the hundreds of thousands of ships that passed through all the lakes and connecting waters during August and September, 1908, when the smoke from forest fires hung over the lakes so thick that at hardly any time were objects visible over one mile and often only a few feet? Did that require any knowledge of navigation? I would refer him to the U. S. steamboat laws, which require three years of apprenticeship before one is eligible for an examination as pilot, and our farmer boys are not allowed to take charge of a lake ship without having a U. S. pilot's license.

It is with the greatest of pride and pleasure that we concede to your "well informed marine man," that a great variation in the difference between the true north and magnetic north. But I suppose such mere trifles as this are of no consequence to your deep sea navigator.

A well known attorney of this city had a client whose case presented a mass of technicalities, of which his lawyer took every possible advantage. Before the final argument and handing down of opinion, however, the client was forced to take a journey of some hundreds of miles and was compelled to be absent for several weeks. He arranged with his attorney to flash him by telegraph the result of the trial of his case, but told him to do so word his telegram that the address alone would comprehend its import.

The Duke of Sutherland, at a dinner in New York, praised ardently the icy and delicious watermelon. "I better understand, now," he said, "a story that I heard on the voyage over. 'This story was told me by an interesting southerner. He said a colored preacher in his town cried vehemently one August Sunday in the course of his sermon: 'Breddern an' sistern, ah warn yo' against de heinous sin o' shootin' craps! Ah charges yo' against de brack rascal o' Bittin' pullets! But above all else, breddern an' sistern, ah admonishes yo' at dislyer season against de crime o' melon stealin!'"

Four old Scotchmen, the remnants of a club formed some fifty years ago, were seated around the table in the club room. It was 5 a. m., and Donald looked across at Donald and said in a thick, sleepy voice: "Donald, d'ye notice what an awful peculiar expression there is on Jock's face?" "Aye," says Donald, "I notice that; he's dead!" He's been dead these four hours."

A LAUGH OR TWO A Wag's Answer. A sentry while on duty was bitten by a valuable retriever, and drove his bayonet into the dog. Its owner sued him in the country court for its value, and the evidence showed that the soldier had not been bitten after all. "Why did you not knock the dog with the butt end of your rifle?" asked the judge. The court roared with laughter when the sentry replied: "Why didn't he bite me with his tail?"—London Daily Justice.

FACES A MURDER CHARGE.

Chas. Leinonen Accused of Complicity in Death of Mattson.

Charles Leinonen, who was held under a tentative charge as a witness in the case against Emil Karvaka, charged with causing the death of Herman Mattson in Calumet a few weeks ago, has been re-arrested on the charge of murder. It is alleged that Leinonen was partially responsible for Mattson's death.

BIG MATCH IS OFF.

Ziehr Is Injured in Training and Cannot Meet Farrington.

The Cornish wrestling match scheduled between Joe Ziehr of Calumet and Tim Farrington of Butte, Mont., for Oct. 9 at the Calumet theater is off. While Ziehr was working with his trainer, Oison, a ligament in his right shoulder was torn. Dr. M. M. Kerr says the injury is a bad one. It may be that Ziehr will never be able to go into heavy matches again.

NEW REFEREE IN BANKRUPTCY.

R. T. Looney Appointed for Upper Peninsula by Judge Knappen.

R. T. Looney of Houghton has received notice of his appointment as referee in bankruptcy for the Western district of Michigan, Northern division, by Judge Royal E. Knappen of the United States circuit court. Mr. Looney's appointment becomes effective at once.

FOR COLUMBUS DAY.

Hancock Council, Knights of Columbus, Makes Elaborate Plans.

The Hancock council of the Knights of Columbus has about completed arrangements for the observance of Columbus Day, Oct. 12. Two big meetings will be held that day. The first will be in the Kaath hall, in the afternoon, when about twenty candidates will receive the second degree, and the other will be in Germania Hall in the evening.

CHALLENGE TO ALL BOWLERS.

The Copper City bowling team, which has one of the finest alleys in Houghton county, comes out with a sweeping challenge, claiming to be willing to meet one and all bowling aggregations. There are some good bowlers at Copper City and they will do a great deal towards enlivening the game all through the county.

FRANK VOITH RESIGNS.

Frank J. Voith of Houghton has tendered to the directors of the Park Brewing company his resignation as secretary and assistant manager, to take effect Oct. 1. The resignation has been accepted. William H. McCann, treasurer of the company, will take the position of secretary and in the future will be both secretary and treasurer.

COPPER RANGE ANNIVERSARY.

Will Be Ten Years Jan. 1 Since Road Was First Operated.

The tenth anniversary of the opening of the Copper Range railroad will fall on Jan. 1. One of the officials of the road was in a reminiscent mood yesterday, and he referred to this fact and that the decade has been the greatest in Houghton's history.

GRAPES NOW COMING IN.

Copper Country Wine Makers Commencing to Receive Shipments.

Large consignments of grapes are now being received in the copper country. Most of the fruit is taken by Austrians and Italians, and is for use in making wine. The grapes are from New York and Ohio. Dozens of wine presses will soon be in commission and as soon as one lot of grapes has been run through another will be waiting.

THINKS THE PIRATES STRONGER.

Dr. G. F. Berg of Pittsburg, Pa., suzerain physician of the National Croquetists' society, has returned home, after being in attendance several days at the meetings of the convention in session in Calumet. Dr. Berg is physician and surgeon for the National league ball team at Pittsburg, hence his short stay in Calumet. He is very confident that the Pirates will trim the Detroit Americans easily in the fight for the world's championship.

George Bush, being held on the charge of setting fire to and burning the Manistique brewery, waived preliminary examination in Justice John Creighton's court, Hiawatha township last week and was bound over to the circuit court.

Married by Bride's Brother.

In the presence only of a few relatives and friends Miss Carrie Barth, one of the popular young women of Escanaba, was married at Stephenson yesterday morning to Harvey Barnard of Green Bay. The ceremony was unique in that it was performed by a brother of the bride, the Rev. F. X. Barth, of Stephenson. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Barth and formerly lived at Marquette. The groom is in the insurance business at Green Bay.

Enterprise at Iron River.

The Business Men's association of Iron River held a meeting in the office of Secretary Byers, the other evening and among other things decided to put the strip of land lying between the North-western track and Iron river into village lots, and at once put them on the market. These lots are all unusually located and are expected to attract the attention of buyers.

Ohio Copper.

The statement in Butte some time ago that F. A. Heinze had no longer any material interests in the Ohio Copper company receives official confirmation from Mr. Heinze himself, who says that neither the United Copper company nor he himself has control of the Ohio mine. The 350,000 shares of stock which he passed to a syndicate some time ago have been distributed, and that is taken to mean that Mr. Heinze has little or no interest in the mine. He says he does not, however, confirm the other feature of the Butte story that the Cole-Ryan interests have succeeded him in the ownership of the controlling share in the Ohio Copper company. But neither does he deny it. There are men in close contact with Mr. Heinze, who say they look for an announcement, sooner or later, of his retirement from Davis-Daly also, although Butte generally would be glad to see him retain his interest in the company and return to Montana where his energy and knowledge in the mining business are well known to good profit and account. He would probably find the new management of the Amalgamated interests presenting an attitude of friendship and good will.

North Butte.

James A. Murray, owner of the fractional Ticon claim, situated in the placer group of claims, makes the announcement now that he will not bring an action against the North Butte company over the apex of the Edith May vein, and that he has contemplated no such action. This being contrary to statements by his engineers and other statements made by Mr. Murray himself, the Davis-Daly of Murray, and who has reached of the controversy or has been convinced that his claim of the Edith May apex is without foundation. The impression in Butte is that the North Butte will soon be announced the owner of the Ticon, which it has probably inherited in purchase for a comparatively small sum, notwithstanding the story of possible claims for many millions by Mr. Murray, for ore mined from what he claimed to be his vein by the North Butte and Anaconda companies. The suit brought by the Ticon owners has been abandoned.

Butte & New York.

Eastern stockholders of the Butte & New York and Butte-Milwaukee company, of whom there are a large number, will be interested in the announcement that work is about to be resumed at the property of the companies in the North Butte section of the Butte district. The Butte-Milwaukee is the owner of the Colonel Sellers and Pollock group of claims, and there has been much and persistent misrepresentation made to the public relative to the condition of the company and its property. An immense sum of money has been spent in exploration and development work, but the company hasn't a single producing vein, one that will pay the cost of mining, outside of the Colorado mine, and the Colorado claim contains but an acre of surface ground. It is a very narrow lot of ground and the veins discovered cross it, so that the mining area is extremely limited within the rights of the Colorado claim.

Today's weather: Fair; stationary temperature.
Yesterday's temperatures: Seven a.
m., 47 degrees; noon, 46; 7 p. m., 48;
maximum, 48; minimum, 46.

Fred J. Schulthis left for Marquette last evening on business.

Mrs. Samuel Byrne is spending a few days with friends in Chicago.

C. T. Harvey, who has been visiting old friends in Marquette, left for Chicago last evening.

It was reported from Presque Isle yesterday that the heaviest sea of the summer was running.

The Marquette Tigers and the Ishpening Setters will clash on the fair grounds diamond Sunday forenoon.

M. J. Griffin leaves today for Texas and other states in the interest of the Illinois Importing company.

Dr. F. Mel, Harkin has suffered an other attack of appendicitis trouble, and is now at St. Mary's hospital.

Mrs. Rushmore will take part in the Farm-McKinnis concert to be given in Ishpening opera house tonight.

M. E. Beckmeyer, of Milwaukee, will be at the Marquette Millinery company Thursday and Friday with an exceptional fine line of furs.

Mrs. May D. McCormick, of North Third street, has returned from Wilkes-barre, Pa., where she attended the national convention of the National Protective Legion.

The dancing party which was to have been given by the ladies of St. Agnes court, No. 70, at Keough's Hall last evening, has been postponed until Monday evening, Oct. 11.

All persons interested in the organization of a city football team are requested to meet in front of the Savings Bank building at 7:45 o'clock this evening. At this meeting it is expected to perfect such an organization and arrange for team practice.

At a meeting of the Marquette Lodge of Odd Fellows, held last evening, it was decided to arrange for a special train to Ishpening Friday night, when the Ishpening lodge will dedicate their new lodge rooms. All Marquette Odd Fellows are urged to attend the dedication, and the special will leave Marquette about 7 o'clock.

A. W. Shilling Promoted—A. W. Shilling, assistant observer at the Marquette weather station, has been promoted to the position of assistant observer at Baltimore, Md. The change will be made Oct. 15. The Marquette position left vacant by Mr. Shilling's promotion will be taken by a Mr. Pew, of St. Louis, Mo.

Special Saturday Matinee—Next Saturday afternoon, the Grand will give the first special prize matinee for school children. Mr. Woodworth, the new manager intends to use the Grand as a pleasant place for children to spend Saturday afternoon, and will endeavor to show pictures on these days of special interest to children. The general admission on Saturday afternoon will be five cents.

Order for Rails Placed—General Manager Harris, of the Cleveland C&St. roads, has placed an order for 1,450 tons of eighty pound rails with the Lackawanna Steel company, which are to be delivered early in October. The rails will be used for renewals and as an emergency stock.
Four of the large engines recently purchased by the company are to be delivered in the month of December.

Will Push Case—J. L. Hoffman, the solicitor for the complainant in the case of J. B. Knowles vs. the Chippewa Development company and others, says that the complainant is not out of court, despite the order of Judge Stone sustaining the demurrer of the defendants' attorney. The complainant has twenty days in which to amend the bill on payment of ten dollars, and it is the intention to pursue the litigation further.

One Car Doing Well—The Clark ore
car, now being tested on the L. S. & L.
railway, continues to show up well from a quick dumping standpoint. Yesterday the car was loaded with what is considered the most sticky ore handled by the road. It was dumped in two minutes, and twenty seconds, with the assistance of four men pounding on the sides, while a regulation steel car, similarly loaded, required nine minutes and ten seconds to unload, with four men working on top.

Transferred to Washington—Miss Edith Berwick, who has been stenographer at the government land office in Marquette for three years and a half, left for Washington, D. C., last evening, where she will take a similar position in the department of commerce and labor. Her place in Marquette has been taken by Clyde A. Wood, who formerly held the position Miss Berwick is taking. The change was made by mutual agreement of the parties concerned.

Football Saturday—The football season will be inaugurated Saturday afternoon at the fair grounds, when eleven representing the Negaunee and Marquette High schools will struggle with the pigskin. The Negaunee and Ishpening elevens played a tie game last Saturday, which makes it look as though Marquette will have to play the game
if they win from the up the road team.
The game will be called at 2:30 p. m.
and a car will leave Front street for the fair grounds at 1:30.

Double Header Sunday—The Marquette-Alger county baseball league season will close Sunday with Marquette playing at Negaunee and Ishpening playing two games with Munising at Marquette. The games here will be started promptly at 1:30 o'clock and it is intended that both shall go the full nine innings. Provided Negaunee wins from Marquette, Ishpening must win both the Sunday games with Munising and a third to be played during the week, in order to stand at the top of the percentage column. If Ishpening wins but two of the three games, the team will be tied with Negaunee, that is, provided Negaunee defeats Marquette Sunday.

"The Great Divide."
William Vaughn Moody's play, "The Great Divide," which has its first presentation to a Marquette audience last evening and the well filled house was impressed both with the absorbing strength of the drama and the excellence of its presentation by the company headed by Miss Mabel Browning and Edwin Mordant. The high compliment of breathless interest, unmarred by any untimely outbreak of applause or unseasonable laughter, was accorded the unfolding of the story and the fall of the curtain on each act brought demands for the principal players.

The part of Stephen Ghent was taken by Mr. Mordant in a satisfying manner.
The first scene, where he is introduced as the swaggering plainsman whose life is to be so unusually yoked with that of Ruth Jordan, he plays with a fine sense of dramatic feeling, and avoids overemphasis with a nice discretion. The regeneration of Ghent is indicated by Mr. Mordant with a sure artistic perception, and his scenes are played both with strength and dignity.

Miss Browning meets the considerable demands of the part of Ruth Jordan credibly. She admirably assists Mr.
Mordant in getting the full value of the rarely dramatic moments of the first act, and depicts the frenzied terror of the overwrought woman with fine success. Her characterization is consistent and adequate in the succeeding acts, and she and Mr. Mordant make their scenes powerful with strength and feeling.

After Ghent and Ruth Jordan all the characters fall back to comparatively minor importance, so much of the interest and actual lines do these two take to themselves. Duteh and Pedro, Ghent's roistering companions in the first act, are two bits of playing well done by John Seaman and George Kingston, respectively. J. L. Clark made the brief part of Lou stand out distinctly. Dr.
Newbury was well played by Frank Willard. Virginia Berry took the role of Polly Jordan, and made that whimsical young lady attractive and likable.

The scenic setting of the play followed closely the original production. The first act shows the interior of Philip Jordan's Arizona ranch, the second a plateau, with a wide expanse of horizon and Stephen Ghent's house, in the Cordellora mountains, and the third the sitting room of the Jordan home in Massachusetts. The scenes are well mounted, and supply the requisite atmosphere.

As a whole, the offering was a worthy production of an admirable play, a combination not so common in these days of musical comedy and extravaganza that it can be lightly passed by.

"A Doll's House."
Henrik Ibsen in "A Doll's House" tears away the veils which hide men and women's souls and mercilessly lays bare the sham and selfishness of conventional life.
Nora Helmer is a role which taxes the highest powers of an actress, but Miss Nielsen is equal to the task and has received universal praise for her strong and vivid delineation of the most difficult as well as fascinating of characters.
Amy Leslie of the Chicago Daily News says, "Miss Nielsen's exceptional ability is paving a road for the great masters which no other woman has been able to travel." Miss Nielsen comes to the opera house Monday night with an excellent support, her cast including Norval MacGregor, an actor of international repute.

"THE GREAT DIVIDE"

The opening in New York was notably higher and held firm on brisk trading during the first hour. After this the market softened, stocks selling off slightly on trading of considerable volume. Shortly after the opening Steel common touched 96 1/2, a new record, while Union Pacific sold up to 208 3/4. Anaconda declared the regular quarterly dividend of fifty cents.

The Boston market still continues dull. There is little life in any issue, with most fractionally lower and no indication of aggressive buying in any quarter. Traders are awaiting further developments in the metal situation, and while apparently satisfied to retain present holdings are disinclined to make further purchases for the present. There is little news and none of special interest. The carb stocks were fairly active, and several made fractional advances. Among these were Cumberland, Ely, Dav-

Not Sisters

Now and again you see two women passing down the street who look like sisters. You are astonished to learn that they are mother and daughter, and you realize that a woman at forty or forty-five ought to be at her finest and fairest. Why isn't it so?

The general health of woman is so intimately associated with the local health of the essentially feminine organs that there can be no red cheeks and round form where there is female weakness.

Women who have suffered from this trouble have found prompt relief and cure in the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It gives vigor and vitality to the organs of womanhood. It clears the complexion, brightens the eyes and reddens the cheeks.

No alcohol, or habit-forming drugs is contained in "Favorite Prescription." Any sick woman may consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. Every letter is held as sacredly confidential, and answered in a plain envelope. Address: World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, Pres., Buffalo, N. Y.

TALK TO STUDENTS ON IBSEN'S WORKS

MISS HORTENSE NIELSEN, PLAYING "A DOLL'S HOUSE," GAVE DELIGHTFUL DESCRIPTION OF THE FAMOUS NORWEGIAN POET AND DRAMATIST.

Miss Hortense Nielsen spoke on Ibsen's works to some 600 students at the Ishpeming High school yesterday afternoon. Her lecture was a rare treat, and at its conclusion Superintendent Scribner complimented Miss Nielsen very highly, stating that it was one of the best descriptions of Ibsen and his works that he had ever heard. He referred to Miss Nielsen as a perfect example of the Ibsen student. Miss Nielsen met Ibsen personally in Norway and she studied the part of Nora Helmer for three years before appearing in the play.

The talk to the students was very pleasing. Miss Nielsen has a highly cultivated voice and every word she uttered could be heard distinctly in all parts of the auditorium. She spoke principally on the life of the great Norwegian poet and dramatist, declaring that he knew human nature and went deeper into the human soul than any other writer that ever lived. He understood people, their faults and their weaknesses more than any of the ancient or modern writers. The speaker commended Ibsen's call to the women of the stage with that of the call of Peary and Cook to the north pole, so difficult are they to interpret. Ibsen, she declared, gave his works to the world. He was a socialist and he lived and died a poor man. His royalties from his works were very small.

"The Doll's House" was first produced in Germany. It was received by a storm of enthusiasm from the women, but the critics condemned it at first because it did not appeal to the men. The Kaiser declared that Ibsen should have written a fourth act, in order to bring Nora, the doll wife (which is conceded to be the greatest female character ever conceived by Ibsen) back to her husband and children. Ibsen refused.

A small but well pleased audience greeted Miss Nielsen with an excellent company last evening at Ishpeming theater. All of the roles were in good hands, while the two principal characters assumed by Miss Nielsen and Norval McGregor were given masterly presentation, such as are seldom seen on the Ishpeming stage. From an artistic standpoint, Miss Nielsen's production of "A Doll's House" is a complete success.

DAY OF BIG LUMBER CAMP IS PASSING

LARGER CITIES OF THE UPPER PENINSULA NO LONGER THE HEADQUARTERS OF THE AVERAGE "LUMBERJACK"

"The day of the big lumber camp, such as used to be in this region from fifteen to twenty-five years ago, is rapidly passing," said a prominent lumberman yesterday. "Groups of the big camps, in each of which are housed from seventy-five to 100 men, are now few and far between in the upper peninsula. I remember the time when such camps were numerous not far from principal cities, but of late years there are not many people who have a correct idea of how the lumberjacks live and how they conducted their operations.

"The methods of removing the timber from the forests have been simplified in recent years by the introduction of larger and more modern sawing equipment than was available a few years ago, also by the introduction of motor power sledges. The sprinklers used in making ice roads have also aided in reducing the cost of getting out the timber. Some twenty or thirty years ago the lumbermen could not conduct their operations in the best advantage unless there was from one to three feet of snow on the ground, but now the less snow there is the better they like it.

"I do not believe the present generation will see the time when there will be no more timber left in the upper peninsula, but there is still a great quantity standing but most of it is distant from the railroads and streams. As the years pass, the number of men employed in the lumber camps is gradually decreasing, but I believe that there will be timber for as many years as are now employed for some years to come. Few of the larger cities of the upper peninsula where the lumberjacks formerly made their headquarters will in future years receive any material benefit from the lumber operations, as the work is being conducted at too great a distance from them.

"About the best camps I know of at this time are those owned by the J. Stephenson company south of here, between the two branches of the company's railroad, which extends between Wells and Channing, was recently extended to section 8, town 45, range 20, near these camps, so that the haul to the loading station is considerably reduced. The company has some fine timber there at the present cutting principally pine. Logging operations are now in full swing and the company will get out many million feet of timber between now and spring."

ISHPEMING IN BRIEF.

Poll's directory men are here gathering data for the county directory, which is soon to be published.

E. A. Barnstead, business manager of the Daugherty stock company, which is held at the boards at the Ishpeming theatre all next week, is in the city.

J. A. Rehkopf, a moving picture operator from Petoskey, Mich., succeeds J. C. Woodworth at the Bijou theatre. The Bijou is now using non-flammable films.

A man who came in from the district south of here yesterday reported that a bear that will probably weigh as much as 300 pounds had been killed by a number of woodsmen.

W. J. Loehner, manager of the Cadillac Piano company's Ishpeming branch, yesterday said that the company has not yet decided to open a store in Marquette after closing up its business here.

James Wall, passenger conductor on the Northwestern road between Ishpeming and Green Bay, has resumed his work after a three weeks' absence. He suffered from a severe attack of bronchitis.

Gordon Thoney, who received an injury to his knee in the football game between the Ishpeming and Negaunee high school teams last Saturday morning, has been confined to his home ever since.

Miss Helga Fredine, nurse, fell over a screen that was put up in front of a new concrete walk on Third street Sunday evening and injured her foot so badly that she has since been confined to her bed.

George Platto, only son of Superintendent Frank Platto of the American mine, who has been critically ill with pneumonia the past few days, was reported considerably improved yesterday. He is twelve years of age.

The ladies of Mrs. Raisky's division of the Presbyterian church, under whose auspices the Farm-McKinnie concert will be given this evening, will sell homemade candy during the intermissions and before the entertainment. There has been a good sale of seats and the concert promises to be a big social as well as a financial success.

Miss Eva Morin, who won the diamond ring at the fair conducted last week by the ladies of St. Joseph's church congregation, wishes her friends to know that she most heartily appreciates the assistance given her. Miss Morin received 4,190 votes while her opponent, Miss Louise Trombly, received 1,780.

The business men's classes of the Young Men's Christian association promise to be popular. A number of men have signified their intention of taking up the work. The meetings are scheduled for Tuesday and Thursday afternoons, between 5 and 6 o'clock, and Wednesday and Friday evenings, between 7:30 and 8:30.

GREAT SUCCESS

Miss Louise Goggin Meets and Interests the Women of Ishpeming.

Miss Goggin, the lecturer and illustrator at the free baking school in the vacant store in the Dundon building, certainly did take the women of Ishpeming by surprise. Her success was instantaneous, judging by the enthusiastic interest of the large number of women present. There is no mistake about Miss Goggin being an expert in her work; she is simply wonderful. The baking school is sure to be popular with the housewives of Ishpeming, as there is so much that is practical and useful in every day baking taught by this expert. Everything she does in her work is explained in an understandable way. As each recipe is put together, the consistency of the dough, as it should be, is shown, and you are told how to control the temperature of your oven, to secure results that are untiring and satisfactory. It is noted in all the work of this expert that she has no failures in baking. She serves what she bakes to the ladies present as it comes from the oven. The K.C. baking powder used by Miss Goggin in her work certainly gives astounding results, if the food baked with it is any criterion to go by. Women who have tried this modern, never-failing powder, are generous in their praise of it, and are advising their neighbors and those they are interested in, to order a 25-cent can from their grocer, and insist on him sending it to them at once. The "Cook's Book," which goes free to the users of this powder, is the largest, most complete and most practical and most valuable ever written by Mrs. Hill, our greatest authority on culinary art. If you want to make someone happy, give them a "Cook's Book" for a present. One dollar is more than its value.

Special subjects for Thursday's class: White cake with lemon filling, gold cake, one-egg muffins, Dutch apple. These will be found to be very delicious.

BAN ON BEEF LIFTED.

New Inspection System Will Add Millions to American Packers' Trade.

The retail meat dealers of the country believe that the raising of the ban on United States beef by the German government will mean a further scarcity of meat products in this country as it is now expected that a greater part of the German trade will be supplied by the American packers. Rutledge Rutherford, editor of the National Food Magazine, who has been investigating food products and their control in Europe for some time past, has concluded his work in Berlin, Hamburg, Bremen and other German cities. He reports that the American government certificate of inspection is now recognized and that Chicago packing house products are now being shipped to Germany for the first time in several years. This may mean the opening up of the German market to the Chicago packers and the adding of millions of dollars annually to the American export trade.

Germany's change of ground is said to be due to the clause in the American law, which prohibits the use of chemical preservatives. The Germans are unalterably opposed to the use of drugs in food and especially to the use of benzoate of soda. It is thought that if the agitation that has been on in this country for some little time past in favor of permitting a return to American products is successful, it will probably result in the perpetual barring out of American foods from Germany.

It is a well known fact that no other nation is so strict in the matter of pure foods as Germany, and in spite of its antiquated methods, it is recognized as the model country of the world in that respect. It is thought, however, that its system is too cumbersome and complex. Its main purpose now seems to be to give employment to an army of chemists, veterinarians and lawyers. All cattle and livestock must be inspected before they leave the farm. They

ODD FELLOWS DEDICATION.

Amnec lodge of the Odd Fellows will dedicate its new hall on the second floor of its block, corner of Main and Pearl streets, tomorrow evening. The decorations have been completed their work. The Odd Fellows societies of the county and of L'Anse are invited to attend the dedication and it is expected that the gathering will be an exceptionally large one. The lodges that have rented quarters in the new hall are Court Pride, Independent Order of Foresters, Sir Humphrey Davy lodge Sons of St. George, and the Modern Maccabees.

If I were you, I would not worry. Just make up your mind to do better when you get another chance, and be content with that.

Have your piano tuned now. M. J. Olson, the piano tuner, will remain in this city during the summer months. Orders taken at Wm. Leininger's store. (6-28-19)

VISITED ORIGINAL SCHWEITZER MILL SITE

OLD LADY WHO CAME HERE IN 1851, WHEN A BRIDE, RECOGNIZED THE PLACE, AFTER AN ABSENCE OF FORTY-FIVE YEARS.

Mrs. Louis Schweitzer, one of the oldest residents of Marquette county, who, with her late husband, lived in Negaunee for a number of years, recently visited the site of the old Schweitzer mill, northwest of Morgan, where she, as a bride, eighteen years of age, located with her husband in 1851. She was driven to the old mill site by George J. Haupt, whose parents were life long friends of the Schweitzer family. Although Mrs. Schweitzer left the old mill site in 1854 and had not visited it since then, she found the surroundings familiar, and pointed out to Mr. Haupt the location of the road, site of the mill buildings, and their home. The buildings were removed, or destroyed, soon after logging operations were suspended, and there is nothing left to mark the site of the house except the cellar. Mr. Haupt unearthed pieces of the stove that Mrs. Schweitzer had used in her kitchen. The old dam, built by her husband, is still intact, but the road is hardly visible, although completely covered with shrubbery. Mrs. Schweitzer found apple trees that she had planted in 1861, but they have not borne fruit for many years. Current bushes that she had planted were also found.

Mrs. Schweitzer located in this county in 1849, and after purchasing some land and timber where he built the mill returned to Cleveland, where he was married. The mill plant was operated by water power and a considerable quantity of timber was cut and sawed. The plant, together with the lands and stumpage, was finally sold to Whetstone Smith for $8,500. Some years later Mr. Schweitzer erected another plant south of Palmer.

Discussing the incident yesterday, Mr. Haupt said that few Negaunee people are familiar with the location of the original mill site, as the road leading to it is in such poor condition that it is almost impossible to drive over it. He knows of but few people who have visited the place in recent years. Mr. Haupt's mother, who is still living and enjoying good health, is a Negaunee's oldest resident, she and her late husband having located here in 1856. They first settled at Bagdad in 1855, remaining there a short time, when they went to Eagle Mills and then came to Negaunee. Their first place of residence was on West Iron street, opposite the Laughlin block. Mr. Haupt was for many years engaged in the bakery business, occupying the stand where John Hogberg in later years conducted his business.

Mr. Haupt recalls a time in the early fifties when his father went to the Laughlin block. LOCAL LACONICS.

D. G. McDonald, the diamond drill contractor, is here from the Mesabi range.

Mr. and Mrs. D. G. DeWilde of Sheboygan, Mich., were visitors in Negaunee yesterday.

The flags on the school buildings of the city were at half mast yesterday in honor of the memory of the late Nicholas Laughlin, who was a member of the board of education.

Mrs. T. M. Wells and daughter, Cora Lee, left Tuesday night for Chicago, where the latter will enter the Chicago University. Mrs. Wells will spend ten days or so in the city before returning.

Prosecuting Attorney F. A. Bell arrived home yesterday from Lawton, Mich., accompanied by Mrs. Bell and their youngest son. Mrs. Bell and son had been visiting relatives at Lawton the past few weeks.

A large number of Negaunee people will attend the Farm-McKinzie concert this evening at Ishpeming theatre for the benefit of the Presbyterian church of that city. Mrs. Rushmore of Marquette will take part in the program.

Andrew Neme, who has been in the employ of Peter Aimo as a clerk, is preparing to engage in the confectionary business at 122 First street. Ishpeming are before entering Mr. Aimo's employ, Mr. Neme clerked for John Shea, and he is well known to the Finnish people of both cities.

The members of the Negaunee Light Infantry expect to entertain a large crowd at the first of their fall and winter series of hops, to be given Saturday evening at their armory in the Kirkwood block. Lundahl's orchestra of Ishpeming will furnish the music. The admission will be fifty cents per couple.

The members of Iron Mountain Lodge of the Odd Fellows of this city have been invited to attend the dedication of the new Odd Fellows hall in Ishpeming tomorrow evening. It is expected that a large party from here will be present, and a delegation is also coming up from Marquette.

WOMEN ARE VICTIMS.

Indoor Life and Lack of Exercise Causes Piles.

More women than men have piles. It is because they take so little outdoor exercise and are so often constipated. There is a stagnation of blood in the lower bowel, and no amount of cutting or treatment with ointments and suppositories will remove this cause.

Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Roid, an infernal, tablet medicine, will permanently cure any case of piles, removing the cause. Price, $1 at The People's Drug Store, Marquette, Mich., City Drug Store, Ishpeming. Fully guaranteed. Dr. Leonhardt Co., Station B, Buffalo, N. Y. Write for booklet.

THE LAUGHLIN FUNERAL.

Business Will Be Suspended In Negaunee While Services Are Being Held.

The time of the funeral of the late Nicholas Laughlin, which is to be held this morning from St. Paul's church, has been changed from 9 until 10 o'clock. All of the business men yesterday agreed to close their stores from 9:30 until 12 and it is expected that the funeral will be one of the largest ever held in the city. Both the public and parochial schools will be closed and the members of the board of education and teachers of the public schools will attend the funeral in a body.

LARGE ENROLLMENT.

Nearly 1,500 Pupils Are Attending the Public Schools.

The enrollment in the public schools is satisfactory. There are now a larger number of children in attendance at the regular sessions than at any previous time. The enrollment at the high school up to yesterday was 175, about twenty-five more than attended at any time last year. The Park street school has 378 enrolled; the Jackson, 290; Case, 486; and the enrollment of the Queen, Cambria and Rolling Mill schools is 130, making a total of 1,454. In the Park street building there are seventy-eight children in the first grade and it has been necessary to hold half-day sessions. A second room is ready to be opened, but Superintendent Schurtz said yesterday that he has not yet been able to secure a teacher.

The enrollment at the parochial school is also larger than usual, though none of the rooms are overcrowded. Thirty-seven of the parochial school boys and forty-three of the girls have started to take instruction in manual training and domestic science, respectively, at the new high school. There are 230 girls taking domestic science work and 237 boys in the manual training department. Of this number, sixty-seven girls and forty-five boys are students in the high school. Instructions are given in these departments to pupils from the fifth grade up through the high school.

The three rooms to be used for the new building will not be ready for occupancy until next Monday, and a vacant room on the opposite side of the hall is being used temporarily. The school is especially large and of fine material. Twenty-four tables have been secured for the sewing department and a class of twenty-four will be able to cook at one time. The kitchen is equipped with twenty-four gas stoves and each student will have separate drawers for material. The instructor will have a large table, also a gas stove, in the center.

The manual training equipment consists of a planer, hand and rip saws and three lathes, all of which are operated by an electric motor. The drawing room is provided with twenty-four individual tables. In the room between the mechanical and drawing departments, cupboards, with large drawers for the work turned out by each class, are provided. Professor Roehl, in charge of the manual training department, yesterday said that the students were thus far making satisfactory progress.

MAY PLAY SERIES OF GAMES.

It is possible that the Negaunee and Ishpeming league baseball teams will play a series of games next week. The players of both teams favor the plan, and it is thought if the weather were favorable the crowds would be large. In the event that Ishpeming and Negaunee are tied in the league race the proposed series would be highly interesting, as the winners would claim the championship of the two counties.

INTERFERRED WITH WORK.

Practically all of the men working in the city on outside building jobs were obliged to lay off yesterday, on account of the wet weather. It is expected that there will be frequent interruptions in the outside work from now on, as it is likely that there will be rain every few days, at least until winter sets in. The Jackson and Lindquist crew finished up the concrete walk in front of the Parabe block Tuesday, and foundations have been prepared for the walks to be extended from there to a point near the front of the old bank building.

CENTRAL BANK IDEA GROWS

National Banks Not Much Opposed to the Proposition.

Good Progress Made on the Plans to Reform the Currency—However It Is Difficult to Avoid Wall Street Control—Cannon's Position Causes No Surprise.

Washington, Sept. 29.—That the prejudice against the idea of a central bank of issue is growing less and less is the opinion expressed by Deputy Comptroller of the Currency Thomas P. Kane, one of the best-informed men in the treasury department on currency matters. Mr. Kane believes the efforts that have thus far been made to promote the idea of a central bank of issue have had considerable effect and have materially strengthened the support for that reform in the banking and currency system.

In discussing the question of a central bank of issue Mr. Kane said he had little doubt the country would come to such a plan ultimately. At the same time, he foresees the likelihood of strong opposition to a central bank. He does not think much of this will proceed from the national banks themselves. He does believe, however, that the country has not recovered from the opposition to the government bank of Jackson's day and that the prejudices then aroused will be felt materially in the consideration of the central bank question. He also looks for opposition based on the idea that this country ought not to depart from a bond-secured circulation.

In view of the fact that the national banks will lose their right to issue circulation under the central bank of issue plan, Mr. Kane was asked whether opposition might not be expected from the national banks. He replied that he did not think so, for the reason that in the long run there is little profit in the circulation put out by a national bank. He thought the banks would take the position that they would be as well off if deprived of the power to issue circulating notes. One of the objections that will be urged strongly against the central bank of issue is that the control of it would rest in the East. In other words, a great deal of talk is certain to be heard in and out of congress that the proposed central bank would be controlled by the money powers of Wall street. Mr. Kane thinks it will not be difficult to prevent this. The proposed bank would, of course, be controlled by a directorate and this could be made up geographically so that each section of the country would be fairly represented and the control could not be said to belong to any section.

A great many details of the plan for a central bank of issue are, of course, not yet supplied. Probably they will not be until the report of the monetary commission is out. It is the intention that the bank shall be purely a bank of issue. It will have nothing to do with deposits or with discounts. The stock in it will be held by the various national banks. The profits of the bank of issue will be limited and the excess of profits over the amount of dividend allowed will go into the treasury as a guarantee fund. The circulation of the central bank will not be based on bonds but on the credit of all the banks which will stand back of the central bank. In a sense, this will be asset currency, but it is pointed out by the supporters of the plan that it will not be asset currency in the sense understood when asset currency issued by an individual bank is spoken of. It will be argued which is needed in the currency system. One feature of the central bank plan as it will be recommended by the monetary commission which will be scrutinized most closely will be the provision made for the government bonds which will be no longer usable as security for circulation. It is assumed by treasury officials, who have not seen let into the inside of the plans for the central bank, that the interest rate on the bonds that are at two per cent will have to be increased to three per cent and perhaps four. An interesting question that will arise is whether banks will have to pay a part of their capital as they do now in government bonds, on deposit with the treasury.

No great surprise is caused here by the fact that Speaker Cannon has come out against the central bank plan. He has always been opposed to radical changes in the banking and currency system. But in view of the fact that he is appointed Representative Vreeland of New York chairman of the committee on banking and currency, a man known to favor a central bank, it was thought the speaker had been won over to the plan. In fact, Mr. Cannon's pronouncement against the central bank can hardly be reconciled with his selection of Mr. Vreeland. It is taken here to indicate that while the speaker may not relish the idea of a central bank, he is not going to be found really fighting it when it comes up in the house.

ST. MARY'S HOSPITAL A BOON TO SICK

ONE OF THE BEST EQUIPPED INSTITUTIONS OF ITS KIND IN THE UPPER PENINSULA.

DESCRIPTIVE BOOKLET ISSUED

Fine Building, Strong Medical Staff and Has Every Facility for Giving Patients Good Care and Treatment.

St. Mary's hospital has recently issued a handsome, illustrated booklet, descriptive of the institution, which will be distributed throughout those parts of the upper peninsula where there are not first class public hospital facilities. The illustrations are from photographs and by themselves give a good idea of the size and equipment of the hospital. The booklet also contains a large amount of well-written descriptive matter, setting forth the beauties of location, the arrangement and equipment, the method of administration and the history of the institution.

This hospital is splendidly equipped for taking care of practically all kinds of diseases and surgical cases. On the medical staff are six Marquette physicians, two from Ishpeming, two from Munising, and one each from Negaunee, Michigamme, Champion, Grand Marais, Kenton, Birch, Tremont and Baraga. The charge for caring for patients is reasonable and the institution should be a source of pride to Marquette people. The many advantages it affords to the sick of Marquette county and other parts of the upper peninsula, where there are not adequate hospital facilities, can scarcely be overestimated.

Arrangement of Building.

The hospital building is a fireproof stone and brick structure, of four stories, and is constructed from top to bottom in the most sanitary and up-to-date fashion, containing an equipment that is second to no hospital in the country, except in point of size. On each of the four floors of the hospital patients are cared for. On the first floor are located the kitchen, heating plant and fuel rooms, and also rooms for observation and emergency cases. On the second floor are located the reception room of the hospital, several specially equipped rooms for patients, dressing rooms, and an emergency operating room. This operating room is located immediately opposite the front entrance of the building, and so as to permit the utmost promptness of treatment. In connection with this operating room is the hospital dispensary, in which is kept a complete stock of all of the medicines known to pharmacopoeia and used by physicians throughout the world. On the second floor of the hospital, on the southern side, is the surgical ward, a large, airy room, 20 by 45 feet in dimensions, and accommodating from twelve to fourteen beds.

8,000 Patients in Twenty Years.

St. Mary's hospital has been located in Marquette for almost twenty years, and has proved a veritable city of refuge for the large population centering about and tributary to the city of Marquette. During this period of time some 8,000 patients have been admitted to the hospital for treatment.

The construction and equipment of the hospital building have all been done with a view to making it such a surgical hospital as could meet all the demands of up-to-date surgical and scientific work, and to afford to the people of this region the very greatest advantage and the most perfect opportunity for recovery possible. Every aid for the preservation of life, the most precious gift of mankind, is here afforded. The capacity of the hospital is rated at 100 beds.

Great care has been exercised in the construction and equipment of the surgical room in all of its appointments, and for this reason a large number of surgical cases occurring in this region are attended at St. Mary's.

The hospital fees range from $7 to $25 per week, according to room and location. General ward cases are taken on as $7 per week; private ward at $8 per week. Private rooms range from $8 and $10 to $25, which covers board and nursing. The professional fee of the physician or surgeon employed must be arranged separately, and it is assured that his orders will be carefully carried out. A private nurse will be furnished by special arrangement at an extra expense of from $15 to $20 per week.

Institution Open to All.

While the hospital is owned, managed and controlled by a Roman Catholic order, known as the Sisters of the Third Order of St. Francis, it is open to all, without distinction of race, color or creed. Patients are always at liberty to call for the ministrations of clergymen of their own church, who are freely admitted at all times. In the chapel on the second floor, the regular religious service of the Catholic church is held, conducted by the chaplain of the hospital. Any patients who may desire to attend are very welcome. Reference to the hospital records will show that the number of patients admitted for treatment during the year, belonging to other religious denominations, are far in excess of those of the Roman Catholic faith.

Eight other hospitals have been built and are now owned and managed by the Order of St. Francis, which is incorporated under the laws of the states in which the hospitals are located. These eight hospitals are located at Bloomington, Ill.; Burlington, Iowa; Escanaba, Mich.; Keokuk, Iowa; Menominee, Mich.; Peoria, Ill.; Rockford, Ill., and Pontiac, Ill. The hospital at Marquette was built by Mother Thekla, who is now in charge of the institution, at the suggestion of Bishop Verling, and with the request and co-operation of Dr. A. K. Thiel.

SIGNS OF FALL.

Marquette Stores Have Undergone Transformation Within Two Weeks.

Nowhere is the coming of the fall and winter season more evidently foreshadowed than in Marquette stores. As one walks along the business streets he is struck by the marked transformation that the store windows have undergone during the past two weeks. Summer clearance sales are a thing of the past and the merchants are now without exception displaying new lines of fall and winter goods.

In the dr. goods stores the tulle-like fabrics and garments of summer have been relegated to the basement and in their places are fall and winter dress goods of warmer if not more beautiful texture. In the millinery stores, straw hats are no more in evidence and their places have been taken by the beautiful new fall creations. In the clothing stores, instead of summer shirts, suits and furnishings, are now seen suits of heavier weight and darker patterns, and thick, heavy overcoats, that make one think of snow drifts and zero weather. In the grocery stores vegetables have largely taken the place of fruit and even the furniture stores portend the approach of cold weather.

PONTIAC SUNK AT DETROIT.

Cleveland Cliffs Vessel, Well Known Here, Damaged in Collision.

The steamer Pontiac, of the Cleveland Cliffs fleet, which has made regular trips to Marquette this summer, dropping anchor in the St. Clair river at St. Clair Monday night, intending to come to a stop to await the raising of a heavy log, swung around and hit the electric boat Uranus, already lying at anchor. The Pontiac began to fill and was leached to prevent sinking. Several plates on the starboard bow are damaged.

The Uranus passed Detroit at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning, minus an anchor chain, but apparently undamaged. From all accounts, the accident was a very quietly conducted affair. Proprietor James L. Stone of the Sumnerville house, slept undisturbed through the night and arose at the usual hour this morning. Pulling up the curtain on the front window he was surprised to find a big steel steamer reposing almost on his lawn. Few knew of the occurrence until the fog lifted. The accident happened shortly after midnight.

STATE LACKS CLEAR TITLE TO BIG RESERVE

FORESTRY COMMISSION FAILED TO HAVE DEEDS PLACED ON RECORD—ASSESSED FOR TAXES.

After about $800,000 has been expended in establishing and maintaining a state reforestation reserve in Crawford and Rosconant counties, it develops that through the failure of the defunct forestry commission to have deeds to the reserve placed on record the state has a weak title to part of the land and the new public domain commission faces the task of settling with tax title speculators to procure a clear title. Records in the office of the auditor general show that because of the failure of the forestry commission to have the deeds recorded taxes have been spread against part of the reserve, the taxes thereof have been unpaid and the tax titles have been bought by various ones. Auditor General Fuller says that one man holding a tax title has turned over his claim to the state, but others have not been so generous.

Deeds Not Filed.

When Secretary Carton, of the public domain commission, was asked about the matter, he produced a batch of deeds which show no record of having been filed, and stated that he was making a careful investigation of the titles to the reserve in order to make a report to the public domain commission when it meets next week. With the assistance of the auditor general's department he has checked up each description and will inform the commissioners just how many tax titles there have been issued.

There are other unsettled problems before reforestation can be said to be well under way in this state, as the public domain commission has not agreed upon terms with W. B. Mershon of Saginaw, a member of the forestry commission which the public domain commission superseded, relative to the title to the thousands of pine seedlings on the reserve. Mr. Mershon furnished the seed for these miniature trees and claims title to them, which the commission disputes on the ground that the seeds were planted on state land by state employes. An offer has been made to pay Mr. Mershon for the seed, but this he has refused, stating that he wants the seedlings.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to take this means of expressing our most sincere and heartfelt thanks to the friends and neighbors who so kindly assisted us during the sickness and after the death of our dear son and brother; also for the many beautiful floral tributes from friends, and the employees of The Mining Journal and Stenglin Bindery. Their kindness shall always be remembered.

RURAL MAIL ROUTE OUT OF MARQUETTE

CHOCOLAY AND GREEN GARDEN FARMERS LIKELY TO GET DAILY SERVICE BEFORE SPRING.

Postmaster Mangum has received a letter from Inspector George Fox stating that he has recommended the establishment of a rural free delivery mail route out of Marquette through the Chocology and Green Garden farming district. It is understood that the postoffice department at Washington almost always acts favorably on such recommendations of the inspectors, which makes it practically certain that the farming interests southeast of Marquette will get the free delivery service. It may be several months before the government orders the route to be established, not before the first of next year, it is thought.

The recommendation has come as the result of a petition signed by nearly all those who would be benefited by the mail route, following the presentation of which Inspector Fox drove over the proposed route a few weeks ago. He found that about 135 families could be served in a route of twenty-three miles, fifteen miles of which will be over unincorporated roads by the close of next summer. The route will pass through the towns of Harvey and Green Garden and these postoffices will in all probability be discontinued. As all of the patrons of the Harvey office have signed the petition for rural delivery, there is not likely to be opposition to the discontinuation of the office.

The mail wagon would leave Marquette after the arrival of the Northwestern train, which would be about 9 o'clock every morning, and would be back in the city before the departure of the 5:55 evening mail. In this manner the residents along the rural route would receive nearly as good mail service as those living in Marquette.

Once the route is ordered from the postoffice general, a civil service examination will be called which must be taken by all applicants for the position of rural carrier. The examination is similar to that required of city carriers. The government pays rural carriers $920 per year, out of which the carrier must furnish and maintain his horse and wagon. In the states farther south, where the expense of keeping up a horse and wagon is not so great as in the upper peninsula, there are usually a number of applicants for rural carrier positions, but it remains to be seen whether the Marquette job will be as eagerly sought after.

GENERAL DELIVERY ABUSED.

Postoffice Officials Seeking to Prevent Secret Correspondence.

The so-called general delivery evil is a problem which is facing officials of the postoffice department for solution. Possible remedies and means to curtail the abuse of the privileges of the general delivery by persons carrying on clandestine and illegal correspondence were discussed at length at the annual meeting of the postoffice general, which last month but seven on the matter was deferred until the most efficacious method to deal with the problem could be determined upon. The suggestion which met with the most general approval was that residents of the city be denied the privilege of calling for their mail at the general delivery window, and that newcomers or transients be extended that courtesy for a period of not more than thirty days, after which time they would be required to give the postoffice their residence address.

While the nuisance as it is considered in other cities is not so great in Marquette, yet it has assumed a proportion which will bear being watched pretty carefully. It is estimated that nearly 10 per cent of the mail in the general delivery department is clandestine correspondence and illegal or at least questionable.

The general delivery was intended by Uncle Sam as a place where transients could get their mail. It was a special privilege, but one that has been abused and is now used by all the crooks in the country, who do not care to have their addresses known and who wish to get their mail under a fictitious name.

The general delivery has also become a social plague for through it are sent letters by both men and women who have no business to receive mail in that manner and under an assumed name. In many cities children of fifteen and sixteen employ this method to carry on some puppy love affair. Marquette has very little of this latter kind of correspondence, however, as such mentally unbalanced youngsters are kept pretty close tabs on, and frequently the father and mother are notified and the business is stopped.
