

MADE MR. TAFT FEEL HOMESICK

'I'd Give Anything if I Was Going With Them,' He Says in Bidding Adieu to Soldiers Sailing for the Philippines.

He Visits Berkeley and Oakland and on Arriving at San Francisco Is Greeted by a Great Throng Gathered Along Three Miles of Streets—He Lays Another Y. M. C. A. Cornerstone, Attends a Banquet and Is Entertained at the Press Club.

San Francisco, Oct. 5.—After passing the forenoon in Oakland and Berkeley, across the bay, President Taft was welcomed to San Francisco this afternoon by a great throng along a line of march extending over three miles of the principal streets.

As the president crossed from Oakland to San Francisco, the army transport Thomas was just sailing for the Philippines. By the president's request, the revenue cutter McCullough, on which he was a passenger, went alongside the big vessel, the sides of which were lined with soldiers and the families of officers.

Mr. Taft shouted across the water to the khaki-clad soldiers, "Goodbye, boys; I wish you a pleasant voyage." Answering cheers came back, the transport's propeller churned the water and the vessel gained headway, the president looking wistfully toward the Golden Gate.

Does it make you feel homesick, Mr. President? asked a member of the party. "Indeed it does," replied Mr. Taft. "I'd give anything if I was going with them."

Referring to his own experience in Manila, in one address today Mr. Taft said: "You may not know what the future is going to bring about. It seemed a long way to the White House to go out ten thousand miles in the tropics, but that is where it landed me."

Berkeley had the honor of being the first city overlooking the bay to welcome the president. He was driven to the great theater of the University of California, where he declared that the ideals of popular government were splendid to cultivate, but that the man at the helm must be content with compromise.

Lays Y. M. C. A. Cornerstone. After the San Francisco ride the president reviewed neatly all the public and parochial school children in the city.

In his banquet speech the president aroused great enthusiasm by his declaration that he will urge the passage of ship subsidy legislation as one of the principal subjects of his forthcoming message to congress, and he added that the extension of the Pacific trade is one of the objects of his administration.

MARQUETTE, MICH., OCT. 6.

Entered as mail matter of the second class in the postoffice at Marquette, Mich.

This expert picks the Tigers; that one the Pirates. And one man's guess is just as good as another's.

At Sacramento President Taft was shown that there is such a thing as a noisy welcome being too noisy.

There are many baseball fans in this and Alger county who know just what is the matter with the league, and can tell how to remedy it.

But, Speaker Cannon, Parsons doesn't want to fight. All he wants is to defeat Tammany. There's no chip on his shoulder, at least where you are concerned.

Wilbur Wright may speak of the circus aspect of aviation slightly, but there's money in it. The price for his flights at New York is said to have been $10,000.

The president, it is said, has completed that part of his speechmaking that will outline new work for congress. The well. He has already mapped out a program that cannot be completed during his entire first administration.

President Kilgo of Dublin college told the students that he was surprised at the social sin and political immorality he found existing in the shadow of the University of Chicago. President Kilgo must have been in Chicago at the time of the McCann trial.

Having had an unrivaled opportunity to stretch their necks at Wilbur Wright's airship, as it made one of the most successful trips it has yet negotiated, the New Yorkers have now set about forgetting their celebration and settling down to the word-a-day routine.

By all signs the interest in the world's championship baseball series, expressed in attendance, is going to surpass all previous records. The Pittsburg grounds would be none too large to accommodate the crowds that will see the games were they twice their present size, and it is said that $100,000 of money orders and checks sent in for reservations will have to be returned. There will be a similar demand for tickets for the games to be played in Detroit. It's a hazy-making time for both the magnates and the players who will be in on the big show.

Mr. Hearst's adherents are besieging him with requests to run for mayor this fall, but Mr. Hearst frowns on the suggestion. In the first place Tammany has copped off his Independence league, and if he were nominated at all it would have to be by petition. That would be an expensive kind of nomination. It is suggested that Mr. Hearst prefers to husband his resources for the next gubernatorial campaign. Also he is credited with a belief that he wouldn't have a chance in New York this fall, in which belief he is doubtless correct. Altogether there seem to be many excellent reasons why Mr. Hearst ought not to run for mayor. It is not unlikely that many of those who are urging the contrary course on him want another "burr" opened, as much as anything else.

Now comes Dr. Cook saying that the public has a wrong impression, that he has no idea of asking the University of Copenhagen to waive his promise that its scientists shall first inspect his data, but only has in mind requesting the university to withhold announcement in regard to them until other scientific bodies have also had opportunity to pass on them. In other words, we stand with reference to the proofs of Dr. Cook's feat just where we are before. But the excitement over the polar voyages is beginning to subside. When we get our minds on that world's championship series we will be able to wait without impatience while both Dr. Cook and Commander Peary take their own time about letting the world into their confidence.

Really it's a matter of comparative indifference whether the camel or the light and power commission builds the new bridge over Dead river, at the power house. In either case the people's money will be used. But as a matter of fact the expense should properly be defrayed by the council. Not only is the highway a public one, but it is largely used. It affords the shortest and most convenient way of reaching Forestville and the dozens of camps northwest of the city. And the drive by way of this road and Forestville and east to Bancroft, to the county road, is one of the most attractive to be found near the city. Its attractiveness would be greatly enhanced by the repair of the road leading to the city power plant. This is an improvement that has too long been put off and that might well be planned for in conjunction with the proposed new bridge.

Speaker Cannon is quoted at some length in regard to Herbert Parsons' charge that the bill for strengthening the election fraud law was defeated by upstate Republicans in New York in return for support of the Cannon regime in the house by Tammany congressmen, but a careful reading of what he has to say fails to disclose anything to the point. Speaker Cannon shows wrath at Parsons, intimates that if he wants a fight he can have it, and fires a few shots at the men who made him trouble at the opening of the special session, but evidently is not in a position to talk advisedly in regard to Chairman Parsons' charges, for he says: "I do not know anything about their affairs in New York, and if there was any such deal I know nothing about it. I've got troubles of my own right here in my own district, trying to take care of my things, without trying to take a hand in things in New York. I don't believe I ever heard of this legislation about signature registration until now." Chairman Parsons, it may be noted, did not charge that Speaker Cannon knew anything of the deal. If made, as Mr. Parsons alleges, it was doubtless framed up by some of the speaker's New York friends. Perhaps former Congressman Littauer had a finger in it.

The Michigan Central railway tunnel under the Detroit river, which is expected to be open for traffic Jan. 1, is not only a triumph but an entirely new departure in engineering. It is not a tunnel in the ordinary sense of that word. Its construction did not burrow under the great straits, called a river, that joins the lakes St. Clair and Erie, but instead a great ditch at the bottom thereof was dredged from Detroit across to the Canada shore. In this was sunk, section by section, twin tubes of steel twenty-three feet in diameter and three-eighths of an inch thick, each 260-foot section being incased as deposited with a 4-foot jacket of hydraulic concrete, the same being poured over them from great sews through chutes leading to the tunnel trench seventy-five feet below. These sectional tubes, cast at a shipyard fifty miles away, were floated down the river, their ends being plugged with wood, and sunk into position by the opening of valves filling them with water, the sections, ten in number, being riveted together by divers. When completed—and the last of these sections is already in place—the water will be pumped out and the lower part bedded with concrete for the reception of two rails. Though no engineering work of the kind has ever before been anywhere attempted, the complete success of the great undertaking, begun three years ago, is considered to be assured beyond doubt. The trains will be moved by electric locomotives.

Governor Hughes has well defined doubts about the legality of "oral betting" and of the status of the "memory brokers," and proposes to settle these points once and for all. Under the stimulus of the "memory brokers" the conditions surrounding racing in New York have of late months come to closely resemble those that existed before Governor Hughes secured the passage of the anti-betting law. The new system proved to answer nearly all the purposes of the former open bookmaking. The crowds, which remained away from the track while betting was shut off, began to return to them once the "memory brokers" had perfected their arrangements for handling wagers, and seemingly bore out the contention of many observers of racetrack psychology that it's the bet, not the race, that is the thing. Governor Hughes, however, did not conduct his crusade against the form that the bookmakers' operations took, but against the operations themselves. He was not opposed to one system of betting in favor of another, but he conceives that the anti-betting law is amply strong enough in its provisions to make all subterfuges vain. The indictment of the officers of both the Coney Island and Brooklyn Jockey clubs, a number of police officers and a whole string of "memory brokers," will afford a certain means of determining whether Governor Hughes is correct in his view. Meanwhile, until it is settled how the courts will rule, even oral betting will likely be abandoned.

No false pretense has marked the career of Ely Cream Balm. Being entirely harmless, it is not responsible like the catarrh snuffs and powders, for minds shattered by cocaine. The great virtue of Ely's Cream Balm is that it speedily and completely overcomes nasal catarrh and hay fever. Back of this statement is the testimony of thousands and a reputation of many years' success. All druggists, 50c., or mailed by Ely Bros., 56 Warren street, New York.

HANDS CRACKED RAW AND SCALY

Itched and Burned Terribly—Arms Affected, Too—Could Not Move Thumbs Without Flesh Cracking—Sleep and Work Often Impossible—Was Fairly Worn Out.

CUTICURA SOON CURED HIS FEARFUL ECZEMA

"About a year ago an itching humor began to appear around the back of my hand. I started in to scratch, and pretty soon it covered both my hands and got up over my wrists and even up to the elbows. The itching and burning were terrible. My hands got all scaly and when I scratched, as I was doing a good part of the time, the surface would be covered with blisters and then get raw. The eczema got so bad in around the pit of my thumbs that I could not move the thumbs without deep cracks appearing. I went to my doctor, but his medicine could only stop the itching and did not seem to head my hands up at all. At night I suffered so fearfully that I could not sleep, often lying awake until well toward morning, then waking up still tired. I am a chemist and I had to give up my place, as my hands were so terrible to look at that they did not like to have me around about the food. I could not bear to touch them with water, but when I positively had to get my hands clean I would rub them with oil.

"This sort of business went on for three months and I kept trying zinc and tar ointments and such remedies with no particular benefit. I did not know what to do, for I was fairly worn out. For a long time several friends kept asking me why I didn't use Cuticura and at last I thought I would. First I got the Cuticura Soap, then Cuticura Ointment and at last Cuticura Resolvent. I put the Cuticura Ointment on at night, covering my hands with light cotton gloves. In the morning the inside of the gloves would be lined with scales, sometimes hair as long as your finger, leaving nice healed places where the scales had been. In a month I was cured and have kept so now for nine months. My hands and arms are perfectly clear of all traces of eczema and I think I am well rid of it. Walter H. Cox, 16 Somerset St., Boston, Mass., Sept. 25, 1908."

GRANT ON THE CANTEEN.

General Fred D. Grant, U. S. A., is a little god for the Prohibitionists. He has been suggested as the very man for the Prohibitionist nomination for president. Recently he headed a "good government" parade in Chicago, in which the Prohibitionists had the largest share, and if the attempt to have him re-nominated because he had appeared in uniform had succeeded he would have at once been elevated to the role of a Prohibitionist martyr.

There can be no quarrel with the Prohibitionists for taking pride in such a distinguished laborer in their cause as General Grant. He is a man who bears a renowned name, one of ability and personal strength, and an officer high in rank in the army. The Prohibitionists ought to be proud that he identifies himself so clearly with their contention as to what would be good public policy. At the same time, they ought to attach considerable importance to his views, particularly in regard to the thing that he has made his life's work, the army.

This brings us to General Grant's views on the army canteen. They are diametrically opposed to those of the Prohibitionists. General Grant believes that liquor makes more mischief in the army than any other one thing, and we have no doubt he is right. He has said, if we remember correctly, that 90 per cent of the offenses in the army are due, in their last analysis, to the use of liquor. But at the same time General Grant believes that the abolition of the canteen was a serious mistake and aggravated, instead of diminished, the trouble in the army attributable to liquor.

It would reflect much credit on our Prohibitionist friends if they would be willing to allow General Grant's views to influence theirs in this ever important matter. They have abundant reason to have confidence in him as a Prohibitionist, and ought to have confidence in him as an army officer. When he tells them one thing is bad for the army and another is good his words should have a little weight.

The abolition of the army canteen, where beer and light wines—no heavy liquors—were sold has not decreased drinking in the army but has driven the

Upper Peninsula

Ended His Life by Shooting—Nick Anelock is dead at Wakefield, Gogebic county, the result of shooting himself, with suicidal intent. He was aged sixty and had lived at Wakefield many years.

Ironwood Girl to Wed—An announcement is made that the wedding of Miss Polly Nelson, of Ironwood, and Lieutenant Chester Shepherd, of Fort Snelling, Minn., will take place this evening at the home of the bride's parents on Gogebic street. Miss Nelson is the youngest daughter of E. D. Nelson, former president of the First National bank of Ironwood.

Smallpox in Luce County—Harvey Everett is ill at Soo Junction with what the physicians declare is a pronounced case of smallpox. This is the first appearance of the disease in Luce county since the epidemic which swept that district several years ago. The Everett home is under strict quarantine.

Took Carbolic Acid—Through mistake, Mrs. Robert Watson of Seaberry took a dose of carbolic acid, but fortunately did not swallow enough of the poison to cause serious results. Mrs. Watson says that a small bottle of brandy and the carbolic acid were standing on the same shelf and that she did not realize her mistake until she had taken the stuff. Her mouth and throat were badly lacerated.

Marriage Kept Secret—The announcement of the marriage of Miss Anna Hunt and Fred Young, which occurred at the Canadian Soo nearly a year ago, has caused a mild sensation among the friends of the contracting parties. The young couple were married last November, but have kept the affair a profound secret until now.

The bride is the daughter of John Hunt and is a charming young lady, an accomplished musician and is highly respected and beloved by all her associates. Mr. Young is a Newberry boy who is highly thought of. He holds a position as baggage-man on the South Shore. The young couple will make their home at the Soo.

Failed to Find Bliss—The wedding day of Mrs. Henry Groulx of Gladstone was tragic in many respects. Married the afternoon of August 30, Mrs. Groulx, who is a girl of but seventeen, narrowly escaped death shortly after the ceremony, and now the bride of a month has departed before Judge O. V. Linden, who performed the wedding ceremony, and complained that her husband had left for parts unknown. Her venture into the matrimonial field was not launched auspiciously. After the simple ceremony at the justice's office at Escanaba when the couple were driving to Gladstone in the Wells crossing a locomotive pulling a lone engine struck their horse, killing it instantly. Neither the bride nor groom was hurt, but their escape was narrow.

Trap-Setter Escapes Easily—It cost David Harwick, of Maple Ridge, Delta county, just $26.60 to take a chance at getting a deer. Charges brought against him by William Maynard, who narrowly escaped springing the death trap which Harwick had constructed in the accused in Justice Linden's court at Escanaba. In the beginning the prisoner stoutly declined to admit that he was in any way implicated in the setting of the Winchester rifle which was found hidden near a turnip patch with a string attached to a set trigger, but after the court had informed him that it would be better to plead guilty than to be convicted after a plea of not guilty, he admitted his crime and took his sentence.

The costs in the case were $26.60 and as several Menominee citizens asked the court to be lenient as possible, Harwick was released upon payment of the costs, a fine of $10 being suspended.

Stop Women And Consider

This Fact—that in addressing Mrs. Pinkham you are confiding your private ills to a woman—a woman whose experience with women's diseases covers twenty-five years.

The present Mrs. Pinkham, daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, was for years under her direction, and has ever since her decease continued to advise women.

Many women suffer in silence and drift along from bad to worse, knowing well that they ought to have immediate assistance, but a natural modesty causes them to shrink from exposing themselves to the questions and probable examinations of even their family physician. Such questioning and examination is unnecessary. Without cost you can consult a woman whose knowledge from actual experience is great.

MRS. PINKHAM'S STANDING INVITATION:

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established this confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women of America which has never been broken. Never has she published a testimonial or used a letter without the written consent of the writer, and never has the company allowed these confidential letters to get out of their possession, as the hundreds of thousands of them in their files will attest.

Out of the vast volume of experience which Mrs. Pinkham has to draw from, it is more than possible that she has gained the very knowledge needed in your case. She asks nothing in return except your good will, and her advice has helped thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, should be glad to take advantage of this generous offer of assistance. Address Mrs. Pinkham, care of Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

Marble is entirely out of date. Granite soon gets moss-grown, discolored, requires constant expense and care and eventually crumbles back to Mother Earth. Besides, it is very expensive. WHITE BRONZE is strictly everlasting. It cannot crumble with the action of frost. Moss growth is an impossibility. It is more artistic than any stone. The why not investigate it? It has been adopted for one or two hundred public monuments, and by thousands of delighted customers in all parts of the country. It has been on the market over 25 years and is an established success. Many granite dealers have bought White Bronze for their own burial plots. I have hundreds of beautiful designs of all grades of work, and want to have you see them if you are interested in a monument, headstone, marker or grave cover. On receipt of a postal card will be pleased to call with designs and samples of White Bronze.

John Symons, of 416 West Crescent street, was given a surprise party by a company of his friends last evening. The occasion was a most happy one.
Mr. McIlheny, representing the Wooltex tailored garment, is advertised to be at J. H. Foster Co.'s store today. He will have a full line on exhibition.

Will Marshall, business manager for DuCheno's Italian band, which will appear at the opera house next week Thursday night, was in the city yesterday.
Mrs. Henry Russell successfully underwent an operation at St. Luke's hospital yesterday, and was resting easily last evening.
Mrs. J. M. Longyear returned to Brookline, Mass., yesterday, after having spent some time with her daughter, Mrs. A. T. Roberts.
Mrs. F. W. Mahon and sons Edward and Elwood, of Bluff street, left this morning for a three weeks' visit in southern Michigan.

Labor Trouble Quickly Settled—The employees at the L. S. & L. dock knocked off work yesterday, pending an adjustment of certain demands they made of the management. The difference was quickly adjusted and the crew was at work last night. The delay in operations at the dock was immaterial.

Not Candidate for Governor—Fred W. Corbett, the prohibitionist lecturer who is now making a tour of the upper peninsula, says there is no ground for the idea that he has gotten abroad that he is a possible candidate for governor on the prohibition ticket. He has no intention of even seeking the nomination. He has no personal ambition he is seeking to serve by his field work.

Normal vs. High School—There will be a football game at the Guild Hall field at 4:30 this afternoon between the Normal and high school eleven. The Normal team will line up as follows: Center, Finlay; guards, Windoff, Madaly and Liberty; tackles, Stewart and McKerrigan; ends, Pendill and Wheeler; quarter, Frazier or McCarthy; halves, Houghens, Richardson and Brotherton; fullback, Rogers.

Will See the Big Games—Gene Sullivan, son of landlord Dan Sullivan of the Clifton, will leave for the East this afternoon, bound for Pittsburg and Detroit to see the championship baseball games. He is a dyed-in-the-wool fan, and this will be the third year that he has witnessed the world's series. He will attend every game that is played. Hub Weiser, of the Marquette ball team, will accompany Mr. Sullivan.

Captain Barry Transferred—Captain George Barry, of the Marquette Naval Army, has received word that he is to be transferred to another field, and will leave for Minneapolis Friday to attend the annual fall congress of the army. He does not yet know where he will be sent or who his successor in this city will be. A farewell will be held at the barracks this evening, to which the public is invited; admission, ten cents.

Joseph Donckers Hurt—Joseph Donckers, son of Mrs. Louis Donckers, of this city, was seriously injured at Green Bay yesterday and is now at a hospital in that city in a critical condition. Donckers was firing on a locomotive, and while sticking his head out of the cab was struck by a box car on a siding. His mother and Fred Donckers left for Green Bay last evening. The unfortunate young man lived in Marquette up to about a year ago.

May Be Postponed—The investigation of Supervisor Libby's administration of the affairs of West Branch township, which has been ordered by Governor Warner, and the date of which has been set for today, may be adjourned for a few days. The hearing will be held at 9 o'clock this morning before Circuit Court Commissioner George P. Brown, but it is rumored that Mr. Libby's attorneys will ask that the investigation be postponed for a short time.

Funeral Largely Attended—The funeral of Gad Smith, held at his late Arch street residence at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, was largely attended and the floral tributes were profuse and beautiful. The members of the G. A. R. attended the funeral in a body, as did the Marquette city bar. The service at the house was a simple one, the Rev. J. M. Rogers officiating. Interment was at Park cemetery. The following being active pall bearers: W. W. Osburn, E. W. MacPherson, W. S. Hill, R. W. Boyer, H. R. Harris, Geo. P. McLaughlin, J. D. Mangum and H. C. Davis. The honorary pall bearers were M. M. Duncanson, D. W. Powell, Alex. Maitland, F. A. Bell, Charles Schaefer, Captain C. D.

Manhard, R. C. Flannigan, W. A. Jellicoe, F. M. Moore, A. B. Eldredge, Judge Easley, Thomas Wells, W. H. Johnston, James Russell and S. S. Ormsbee.

Sailors Get More Pay—Since the first of the month, those handling the hundreds of steamers on the Great Lakes are receiving higher wages. The scale of the Lake Carriers association is followed by all the vessel owners. The advance in the scale ranges from $2.50 to $15 per month. The firemen, stokers, water-tenders, wheelmen and lookouts, who have been getting $50 per month are now getting $65. The ordinary seaman gets $40 per month instead of $30. The wages of second cooks and waiters advanced from $34 to $37.50 per month. Porters who have been getting $28 will be paid at the rate of $35 per month. Able bodied seamen on wages get an advance of $15 per month and they will receive $65 from Oct. 1 until the close of navigation. The wages of all other men on the boats are fixed for the autumn season and no change has been made.

INSURE WITH PETER WHITE & CO. WELL KEPT SHIPS.

Special Attention to Cleanliness and Order on C. C. I. Vessels.

The steamers Ishpeming and Angelina, of the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company's fleet, arrived in Cleveland Sunday with cargoes of ore. There are probably no ships on the great lakes that are kept cleaner and better than those of the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company, says the Cleveland Leader. Special attention is paid to cleanliness and order aboard these boats. The officers of the company make frequent trips of inspection to the boats on their arrival here to look them over.

Captain C. A. Anderson, of the Ishpeming, who is justly proud of his ship, took the marine editor of the Leader through her recently. It was really surprising to note the extreme cleanliness of everything aboard this ship. The interior had the appearance of a boat that had been recently painted and renovated. There was a noticeable absence of rust, and everything aboard bore that polished and scrubbed appearance characteristic of Uncle Sam's battleships.

"How do you account for this absence of rust, captain?" was asked.
"We simply dare not let anything rust aboard the ships of this fleet, for Mr. Sheedle is liable to come down here any time and raise the 'old Ned' if he finds any rust around," replied Captain Anderson. "He is a stickler for having everything neat and clean, and knowing this we all make it a point to keep things so."

The quarters for officers and men aboard the Ishpeming are arranged with a view to comfort and convenience. The smallest details in the matter of accommodations are not overlooked in the ship's equipment. All the ships of the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company carry anchor buoys, which are put out to mark the spot where the anchor is caught, so that there can be no danger of losing an anchor. The buoys are painted red. The "Cliffs" boats also hoist a private signal on entering port, and this facilitates the locating of the company's ships by persons connected with the company who wish to go aboard them.

DIED FROM ACUTE ALCOHOLISM.
The body of the man found in the woods near the Methodist parsonage at Tenney, Alger county, it was determined by Dr. T. W. Scholtes, coroner, was that of Wm. Whitehans, who died from acute alcoholism. The unfortunate victim of his insatiable appetite was about 40 years of age. On the day he died he had been drinking heavily. Before the evening service at the M. E. church a number of men heard a person groaning back of the parsonage, but believing some one was there getting rid of a jug they paid no further attention to the occurrence until after church, when they found the body. Whitehans is spoken of by his neighbors as a hard working man. A wife and three children survive him. At the home of a man named Karapoun, about two miles from Clatham, the dead body of Kustaa Klusia was found in bed. For about a week before his death the man had not been drinking, but had been on a spree the week before that. He had gone to Karapoun's and asked a night's lodging. He was about forty years old and leaves a family in Finland.

This Should Interest You

It is told that a merchant in New York city advertised for a young man to fill a certain position. The next morning he found six applicants in waiting. The merchant asked:

"How many of you young men have savings bank accounts?" Only one replied that he had. "I'll take you," said the merchant.

His bank account was a recommendation. It suggested at once to the merchant, the possession of qualifications he desired in his service.

You can start an account with this bank with $1.00, $5.00 or any other amount. We allow 3 per cent interest on deposits in our savings department.

A STRONGER BATTLE FLEET.

New Vessels to Replace Four of the Present Ships Next Spring.

Washington, Oct. 5.—Plans have been formed at the navy department for a reorganization of the battleship fleet next spring, by which the Wisconsin, the Ohio, the New Jersey and the Missouri will be detached and replaced by the new battleships the North Dakota, the Michigan, the South Carolina and the Delaware. The efficiency of the fleet will be considerably improved by the presence of the four latest type vessels, and there is renewed talk in naval circles of another long cruise when the ships come from the navy yards after their record target practice near Guantanamo early next year.

Rear Admiral Sinton Schroeder, commander in chief of the fleet, will be at the navy department soon to talk over the fleet's program with Rear Admiral Potter, chief of the bureau of navigation, and Mr. Meyer, secretary of the navy. The Wisconsin, the Ohio, the New Jersey and the Missouri are to be detached because they are the oldest type of vessels in the fleet, and partly because their boilers and engines are not in as fit condition as those of the other vessels.

The new battleships, the North Dakota, the Michigan, the South Carolina and the Delaware, will be ready for service with the fleet early next spring. Present plans are to have the Michigan replace the Ohio Jan. 1, five days before the fleet leaves for the southern waters. The South Carolina has had her trial trip and will have had the finishing touches put on her by Feb. 1, so that she can replace the Missouri on that date. The Delaware and the North Dakota are being rapidly pushed to completion and will replace the New Jersey and the Wisconsin April 1.

The Michigan will be the first all big gun ship to join the fleet, this vessel having eight 12-inch guns in pairs in two turrets forward, one at a higher elevation than the other, and two turrets aft, similarly placed, all on central line. The South Carolina is a sister ship to the Michigan. The Delaware and the North Dakota have ten 12-inch guns in pairs in five turrets, all on central line placed thus: Two on the foremast, the second firing over the first; two aft on the main deck on the same level, and one amidships, firing over the two after turrets.

The Ohio and the Missouri have four 12-inch guns, model 1890. The New Jersey has only four 12-inch guns, and the four 13-inch rifles of the Wisconsin have not always proved as effective at long range as the 12-inch.

POTASH WAR COMING?

This Foreshadowed, It Is Said, by Disruption of the Syndicate Agreement.

New York, Oct. 5.—Official notification of the disruption of the famous potash syndicate, which for the past twenty years has enjoyed a monopoly of the potash-producing industry of the world, has been received in this city by the German Kali Works, the agents of the syndicate for the United States. The break in the syndicate is caused by the elimination of the Sulzfeld and Aueverden mines, controlled by the German interests and the Emigkott mine controlled by the Virginia-Carolina Chemical company, an American concern. It is charged against the managers of these three properties that a few minutes after midnight of June 29 last, at which time the syndicate agreement for 1905 expired, they made a number of sales of their product to American consumers. That this move foreshadows a rate war and the wholesale cutting of prices was made evident by the issuance today of a circular in which A. Vogel, general manager, to the trade that the new syndicate "will offer very low prices for the shipment of 1910."

HUSBAND FINDS WIFE DEAD.

New York, Oct. 5.—Max Slovich of Lansing, Mich., in response to a message that his wife was dangerously ill, arrived today, only to find that Mrs. Slovich's body had just been found at the foot of a bluff overlooking East river. It is believed that the woman got out of bed in a delirium of fever, and walked over the bluff to her death.

MARKETS

NEW YORK STOCKS.

Paine, Webber & Co's correspondent at New York yesterday telegraphed as follows:

"The stock list was unsettled throughout today's session. A well organized bear market attacked prices shortly after the opening, causing a severe decline, with quite a few stop orders being uncovered, and the pressure continued throughout the session. The advance in call money rates to six per cent frightened the holders and induced liquidation, and at the close the sentiment was bearish, with the feeling general that the list would suffer further attacks. We would continue to advise caution until the money market is more settled."

Writing from Boston yesterday, Paine, Webber & Co. had the following to say of the stock market:

"All kinds of rumors regarding Steel common were floating around today. Some reports stated that the company has purchased one million shares of the stock and would retire it. Others reported a bond issue on the Gary plant, with valuable rights for the stockholders. The market for the stock was nervous all day, and toward the close it is a subject about which many who do business in the financial districts are discussing with even greater interest than the movement in the securities market. It is believed that we are to have high prices for food products and high prices for cotton goods, then another of the paradoxes which have been so frequent in our modern business conditions, or another of the many recent ignorings of precedents well established in our business career, will have to be recorded."

There are two aspects of the situation in the market where cotton is dealt in, which are just now of especial interest. One is the personality of some of those who have recently ventured into this market. The other is the relation of the cotton harvest and the marketing of it to our general business situation and especially to our international financing. It is interesting to observe the curious hesitating way in which the advent of Mr. Patten into the New York cotton market is spoken of. The speculative side of the market appears still to have vivid recollections of the violent disturbances caused by the Sally campaign five years ago. The consequences of that disaster have not yet been entirely overcome. The wonder is whether the present exciting upward movement may not culminate, as did the attempt of Mr. Sully to do with cotton what Mr. Keene, Mr. Leiter and one or two others had earlier done with wheat.

The best judges, since they are the men of the greatest experience as estimators and merchants, are of the opinion that neither cotton, nor any of the other important American staple commodities, will be monopolized or brought completely under one control. Therefore, it is presumed that much of the speculation now under way is based upon sincere judgment on the one hand that there is a short cotton crop, and that there are to be high prices, and on the other hand that there is to be no great shortage, and that prices are even now much higher than they should be. Upon this issue men are willing to wager money, their success or defeat to be determined by prices that obtain hereafter. For the American people as a whole a question of greater importance is the relation of the cotton crop to general business, and to the foreign exchange market. Some of the experts now figure that the alleged shortage of 2,000,000 bales represents only two months' consumption of cotton at the most. We are to discover in the course of a few weeks whether there is to be a shortage of anything like that figure, or whether the cotton plantations are to yield this year between 12,000,000 and 13,000,000 bales. It is observed that among those who are not persuaded that we are to have a great shortage of cotton is the secretary of agriculture, Mr. Wilson, whereas others, who in the past have been fairly good authorities, do not agree with the secretary of agriculture.

For the farmers of the South, and therefore ultimately for general business conditions, the prospect of receiving 12 cents or 13 or 14 cents for their cotton, is of course, alluring. The experts figure that it costs on the average about eight cents a pound to harvest the cotton, and if that figure be approximately correct, then it is easy to see that if present prices are maintained, or are hereafter increased, the planters of the South are to share with the grain harvesters of the West in unusual prosperity and in the receipt of many millions of dollars paid for the harvest of the year. Of course, there is the question the spinners are confronting. They appear to be in some perplexity, and beyond that arises the doubtful issue, namely, whether the high price of finished cotton goods may not lead to serious curtailment of the demand for them. On the other hand, if the present wave of prosperity is to assume proportions, the people may be less disposed to economy than would have been the case a year ago.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKETS.

Chicago, Oct. 5.—An active milling demand for cash grain had strengthening effect on wheat here today, the closing quotations showing net gains of 3/64% to 1 1/2%. The sales of cash wheat here were reported at 90,000 bushels, mostly in small lots, and the premiums paid were sufficiently high to prompt liberal covering by shorts in the December. Leading cash interest also were firm bidders for that delivery. The market also was bulishly affected by a reported breaking out of cholera in northwestern Russia, and the improved foreign demand for Manitoba wheat was ascribed to that cause. The sensational increase in the world's visible supply, amounting to 17,250,000 bushels, as outlined in Bradstreet's weekly statement, was the principal bearish factor, but it had little effect. The December opened at 99 1/2% to 100; highest, 101 1/4%; lowest, 99 1/2%; closing, 100.

Corn—A light weakness at the close gave way to a much firmer feeling, which prevailed the greater part of the day. The increased demand for cash grain by Eastern shippers was largely responsible for the strength manifested. The close was firm, 1 1/2% to 3/4% higher. The December opened at 56 1/2% to 57; highest, 57 1/2%; lowest, 56 1/4%; closing, 57 1/2%.

Oats—This market was weak the greater part of the day, owing to selling by influential cash interests. The bulge in wheat brought out some covering by shorts later, which resulted in the recovery of all the earlier loss. At the close the prices were 1/4% to 1/2% above yes-

HIGH COTTON MAY UPSET OLD PRECEDENT

It is Generally Low When Food is Up, but Conditions Appear About to be Reversed This Time—New Trader's Personality Has a Bearing on the Market.

New York, Oct. 5.—It is one of the proverbs, or aphorisms, to which those who each year gain their incomes, or add to their fortunes, by the harvesting of a subject about which many who do business in the financial districts are discussing with even greater interest than the movement in the securities market. It is believed that we are to have high prices for food products and high prices for cotton goods, then another of the paradoxes which have been so frequent in our modern business conditions, or another of the many recent ignorings of precedents well established in our business career, will have to be recorded.

Of course, there is the question the spinners are confronting. They appear to be in some perplexity, and beyond that arises the doubtful issue, namely, whether the high price of finished cotton goods may not lead to serious curtailment of the demand for them. On the other hand, if the present wave of prosperity is to assume proportions, the people may be less disposed to economy than would have been the case a year ago.

In all probability in the course of a year or two an economic factor of almost inconceivable importance will appear in the harvesting of cotton. Apparatus has been perfected, so it is claimed by those who know of it, and today this was admitted by some of the greater men of science who have seen it to be very probable, which may reduce the cost of harvesting cotton, possibly, by as much as $200,000,000. This apparatus is not to be promoted, nor are the securities representing it to be offered to the public. It is held within the control of a very close group, some members of which are men of financial authority. It is an apparatus which, like many of the greater inventions of these times, is all the more marvelous because of its simplicity. The mechanical principle upon which it operates is far simpler than that involving the harvesting machine, and if it does what those who control it believe it will do, a single machine will be able to pick 7,000 pounds of ripe cotton a day, thereby doing the work of thirty-five negro hands, assuming that these negroes be plantation hands worked to the best of their capacity.

THE BEST JUDGES ARE OF THE OPINION THAT

THE WHEAT SUPPLY AS WELL AS IMPROVED PRINCIPLES OTHER THAN THE SCARCITY OF AVAILABLE WHEAT LANDS ENTER INTO OUR WHEAT PRODUCTION, AS FOR INSTANCE, THE AMERICAN FARMERS HAVE DISCOVERED THAT THERE IS FOR THEM GREATER PROFIT IN CORN AT 30 OR 60 CENTS A BUSHEL THAN IN WHEAT AT A DOLLAR A BUSHEL. IF, THEREFORE, ANY CONSIDERABLE NUMBER OF FARMERS DEVOTE LARGE ACRES TO CORN UPON WHICH HERETOFORE WHEAT HAS BEEN GROWN, THAT OF ITSELF WILL LEAD TO SUCH DIMINUTION OF THE WHEAT SUPPLY AS WILL IMPEL FARMERS IN THE SUCCEEDING YEAR TO TURN AGAIN TO WHEAT. MOREOVER, COMPETENT JUDGES ARE OF THE OPINION THAT IF PRESIDENT TAFT PERSUADES CONGRESS TO FINANCE TO THE EXTENT OF $10,000,000 THE RECLAMATION OF ARID LANDS, THAT CONVERSION FROM STERILITY TO FERTILITY WILL OF ITSELF SOLVE THE PROBLEM OF OUR WHEAT SUPPLY FOR MANY YEARS.

ILLEGAL HUNTING.

Ishpeming Man Says Many Deer and Partridge Are Being Killed.

"Deer, partridge and other game that is supposed to be protected is being slaughtered in this county right along," said J. G. Johnson, the automobile man yesterday. "The game warden, who is covering several counties, is not particularly to blame. The board of supervisors is at fault, and I am surprised that its members do not take some steps to protect the game.

"I have just returned, in company with Charles O. Wallenstine and Axel Nord, from a four days' hunting expedition in the Flatrock district, south of here. We found unmistakable evidence of illegal killing of both deer and partridge that has been going on, apparently, all summer. We found many portions of deer carcasses and empty gun shells in the places where deer and birds are to be found. We met foreigners who did not deny having killed deer out of season.

"There are a number of men living in flats in that district. Most of them are working for the J. Stephenson Lumber company, and I dare say that it is these men who evidently thought it was the game warden, ran away when they saw he had a rifle on his back and called to him to stop, but he rushed through the brush as fast as he could.

"Partridge are few in that vicinity, but deer are plentiful. During the four days we were out we traveled over some thirty miles of territory and shot but sixteen birds. Last season we got forty-two in about the same length of time. The leaves are thick and it is hard to hunt partridge, though very few that we saw got away. We saw a number of deer and could easily have shot them. During the night we could hear the deer pounding around outside the camp."

There are only a few Ishpeming sportsmen who go as far south as the Flatrock to hunt. Messrs. Johnson, Nord and Wallenstine have visited that region every season some years past. The district south of here is not the only one where illegal hunting is being done, as reports of a similar nature have come from other districts.

FROM MORGAN'S CURB LETTER.

"In New York the trading through confined to the leading stocks, was heavy, the transactions being mostly in large blocks. Steel common advanced during the first hour; then a sharp break occurred, in which it lost 3 1/2 points before the market was given which enabled it to rapidly regain the greater part of the loss. Near the close it again sold off, in sympathy with the entire list. The closing prices were the lowest for the day. The Boston list was generally flat, with most issues a trifle weaker. Lake and Green-Canaan were exceptions, the former being very active and higher on the report that it had found the lode on the fifth level, with the rock as rich as that on the upper levels. Green-Canaan sold up to 10 1/2, on heavy buying in the East. The market was rather weak the close. Trading in the curbs is still restricted to a few issues and of no great volume in these. Chief was in demand, at 1 1/2. Cumberland Ely was weaker. Tuolumne is 3 11-16 bid. Shattuck is quiet and a bargain at quoted prices. Ray Central is also cheap.

WILL TALK TO BOYS.

State Officer of Y. M. C. A. to Speak at Rally Next Sunday.

The officers of the Ishpeming branch of the Young Men's Christian association will conduct a boys' rally next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Ishpeming theatre. All of the boys in the city over twelve and under twenty-one years of age are invited to attend. J. A. Van Dis, state secretary of the boys' department of the Young Men's Christian association, will be the speaker. Dr. Van Dis, whose home is at Ann Arbor, is thoroughly familiar with all branches of the association work and is closely in touch with everything that is going on in the boys' department. Secretary R. J. Wise yesterday said that he is a fine speaker and that he will not only interest, but will also amuse the boys. Mr. Van Dis will arrive in the city Saturday morning and will hold a conference with the officers of the Ishpeming organization during the day.

The night school, which opened Monday evening in the association's building, promises to be the biggest kind of a success. The attendance was larger than expected. Among the applicants were a number of foreigners, some of them recent arrivals in the city, who are anxious to learn to speak, read and write English. There were about twenty in the class to which English will be taught. Sample instructions will be given at the start and after the students learn to talk, primary school work will be taken up, with a view to teaching them how to read and write. Donald Hayden is the instructor in the department.

Some exceptionally fine potatoes are on sale at the Negaunee greenhouses. Send your orders direct to the greenhouses and they will be filled promptly. (10-5-09)

TO REMODEL CHURCH.

Rev. A. Savala and family have moved from the rooms at the rear of the church to the congregation's new parsonage on North Maple street, which has been extensively remodeled since the property was purchased from the Oliver estate some months ago. The rooms formerly occupied by the pastor and his family are to be converted into the auditorium, which is too small to properly accommodate the congregation. If improvement work will be started, but it will probably be completed within the next few months.

MOTOR CAR OVER EMBANKMENT.

Three Ishpeming people, who were passengers on one of the Pioneer Motor company's cars going to Marquette Saturday evening, consider themselves mighty fortunate as the car went over the embankment east of the Negaunee cemetery. The fog was so dense at the time that the motorcar could not see the road ahead of him and as the road is narrow at that point, the accident was unavoidable. The car was not very badly damaged and two of the passengers escaped unhurt. The other one merely had his face scratched.

RAILROAD HELPING FARMER

Experimental Agriculture by the Pennsylvania Company.

Unused Land Along Its Route to be Reclaimed—The Object, of Course, Is to Benefit Traffic—A Model Farm to be Established at Bacon, Delaware.

New York, Oct. 5.—Following the tour that R. F. Yeakum of the Frisco road has been making with a party of Western farmers in the interest of the good roads movement, interest attaches to the announcement that the Pennsylvania railroad, in order to encourage agriculture along its lines, has purchased a farm of fifty acres at Bacon, Del., on the Delaware railroad, which it controls. It is proposed at this farm to operate an experimental agricultural station for the benefit of farmers in the Maryland, Delaware and Virginia peninsula, with the idea that thereby the advantages of the section from an agricultural point of view will be exploited throughout the country.

The inception of the present undertaking goes back to the fall of 1908, James McCrea, now president of the Pennsylvania road, made a trip over the lines in the territory which the experimental farm is intended to serve. He saw thousands of acres in one of the richest agricultural districts in the world idle, and this despite the fact that farms adjoining the abandoned ones were flourishing, with their products in demand in many markets. It appears that two years earlier the Long Island railroad, which the Pennsylvania controls, had undertaken the experiment of establishing two farms along its lines in districts where the natives said that farming was out of the question, and the success attained at these places encouraged Mr. McCrea to think that something might be done on the Pennsylvania.

Accordingly a committee of the Pennsylvania railroad's board of directors was appointed to look into the matter and to report on the practicability of having the railroad enter the farming business. The report was so favorable that it was determined to go ahead, and fifty acres were bought as a starter. To indicate the extent of the opportunity for agricultural development in this peninsula one need only consult the census, which shows that according to the latest figures there are 3,916,800 acres of land in the peninsula, of which only 2, 038,299 are under cultivation.

All told, 28,355 farms occupy the acres in use, giving a total population of about 200,000 people on the farms and in the villages and towns.

The Pennsylvania railroad's committee believed that if the matter were properly taken up farmers could be attracted to take up a good part of the 1,838,501 acres of idle land, and eventually develop traffic for the road. The co-operation of the farmers already in the peninsula has been secured to this end, as well as that of the state agricultural college and of various agricultural boards and societies. In fact the project has met with an enthusiastic response, for many points on this peninsula are as near to the markets of Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington as a good part of the Long Island and New Jersey farms are to the markets of New York city.

The Pennsylvania road is making special efforts to provide the best traffic facilities for the whole territory; deliveries are made in one day in Central Maryland and in the eastern end of Pennsylvania, and a preference freight train service for fruits and perishable vegetables has opened to the farmers of the territory practically all the territory along the Pennsylvania's lines east of the Mississippi. The railroad has had trouble in keeping up with the demand thus far created by the installation of this service—a fact which in itself provides a lesson of the commercial value of good service to the railroad undertaking to render it.

The railroad's farm will be under the superintendence of H. S. Lippincott, a graduate of the agricultural college at Cornell University, who has had practical experience in scientific farming in Burlington county, his home, in New Jersey, and also in North Carolina. He will not only run the farm itself, but will personally visit the ranges and farmer institutes from Wilmington to Cape Charles, and will be prepared to make speeches and exhibit the products of his farm at state fairs and other similar gatherings. It is planned that the demonstration which the farm will undertake shall include the growing of fruits, the improvement of different varieties now raised in the peninsula; the growing of grasses of different kinds; the growing of ordinary garden truck and the growing of plants under glass.

Here comes one of the most interesting things about the whole experiment. The farm land that has been purchased is of the kind that is ordinarily called "worked out." That is to say that it has deteriorated under the cultivation of many seasons to a point at which its productive energy is far below the normal. It was selected for precisely this reason. The belief was that its productivity could be restored, and that this fact would in itself be the best advertisement for the farm, and the best invitation to farmers to re-settle the uncultivated acres of the peninsula.

In this particular the Pennsylvania road had before it the example of its subsidiary, the Long Island, for when its two farms were established soon after the purchase of the Long Island stock, and as a part of the great development plan conceived by the late A. J. Cassatt, waste land was chosen for the experiment. The farms were established on what are popularly known as "pine barren" and "salt ponds." Little dreary wastes of sand bearing little vegetation except an undergrowth of briars, topped by scraggy, dwarfed pines, and the other hardly less desolate strips of semi marsh land surrounding inlets from the Great South bay. The idea was sooted at first, but as the land under treatment began to yield, and the farms produced vegetables and fruits that compared favorably with the product of the best truck farms on the island, ideas were changed. Now the Long Island railroad farms are producing over three hundred varieties of plants and fruits each year, including cauliflower, corn, radishes, asparagus, tomatoes, cantaloupes water melons, alfalfa, beans, and the inevitable island potato.

These two Long Island railroad farms are producing over three hundred varieties of plants and fruits each year, including cauliflower, corn, radishes, asparagus, tomatoes, cantaloupes water melons, alfalfa, beans, and the inevitable island potato. These two Long Island railroad farms are producing over three hundred varieties of plants and fruits each year, including cauliflower, corn, radishes, asparagus, tomatoes, cantaloupes water melons, alfalfa, beans, and the inevitable island potato.

It is needless to say that these activities are not engaged in merely because the officials of the Pennsylvania road have a scientific interest in agriculture. Their object—frankly expressed by the officials—is to develop traffic for the Pennsylvania lines and at the same time to make the patrons of the road feel that it takes a real interest in their welfare, because if they are prosperous the lines will do good business. It is the application of that much abused phrase, "enlightened self-interest," as it has not been applied by many of those who have fallen back on it to justify one vagary or another of corporation management. The results will be of interest to witness.

It's difficult to tell what a woman really thinks by what she doesn't say. You are very bright, but you don't tell how many toes a cat has without looking.

Indispensable.—There are some simple remedies indispensable in every family. Among these, the experience of years assures us, should be recorded Perry Davis' Painkiller. ### TEAL LAKE WATER IN POOR CONDITION

PROFESSOR VAUGHAN, OF ANN ARBOR, SAYS THAT WHILE CITY SUPPLY MAY NOT BE UNSAFE IT IS NOT DESIRABLE FOR DRINKING PURPOSES.

Following the discovery of cases of typhoid fever in the city, Dr. N. K. Robbins, the health officer, sent a sample of Teal Lake water to Dr. V. W. Vaughan, director of the Michigan state laboratory of hygiene, at Ann Arbor, for analysis. The report has been received by Dr. Robbins, and he says that it does not contain any disease germs, the water is held to be unfit for drinking purposes. His conclusions are:

"This water contains no toxicogenic bacteria, but it is contaminated on account of the large number of saprophytic bacteria. It is a dirty water, and while it may not cause disease it is not a desirable drinking water."

Dr. Robbins yesterday said that there is a considerable quantity of decayed vegetable matter in the lake and his advice is that the water be boiled before it is used for drinking purposes or for cooking, especially for making tea and coffee. The lake level is now considerably below normal, and it is thought that the heavy drain from it on account of the mining work to the south and east will continue.

It is thought that a considerable quantity of the water being pumped from the Maas mine finds its way back into the lake, and that this is at least partially responsible for its dirty condition, though Dr. Robbins says that there is enough dead organic matter in the lake to cause the water to be unfit for use. The drain on the lake has been heavy this summer, though for some few years before meters were generally installed in the city more water was consumed and wasted than is now being pumped. The lower water level is not entirely due to the quantity passing through the city mains, but the opinion has been expressed that some of the springs are drying up. It is expected that the lake level will be even lower than it is now before winter sets in. It usually reaches its highest point in the spring and from that time until fall it gradually gets lower.

A Negaunee mining man, yesterday expressed the opinion that the water being pumped from the Cambria and Eljine mines on the south shore of the lake is not coming from the lake, as the formation between the mines and the lake is such that there is no leakage. He said, however, that he believed that at least some of the water pumped from the Maas mine on the east side is being drained from the lake.

During the past few weeks Dr. Robbins has compelled a number of property owners to clean up their premises, and he says that at the present time the city is, on the whole, cleaner than it has been in some years.

Italians Making Wine. Negaunee Dealers in Fruit Selling Grapes in Large Quantities.

Many of the Italian residents of Negaunee and the Swanzy range are buying large quantities of grapes with which to make wine. J. E. Sness, of Winter's Grocery and Produce, says that nearly two carloads of Concord grapes have been used for wine in this city, and several hundred baskets have also been shipped to Princeton. Monday 400 baskets were shipped to a few of the families at the same time, and a similar quantity was shipped to Princeton.

Safe Only on Railroad. Veteran Pennsylvania Conductor Found Ordinary Life Full of Dangers.

Bellefonte, Pa., Oct. 5.—The sailor who in a violent storm at sea expressed pity for the people ashore and in great danger has a prototype in Allison Haupt, who, after almost a half-century of service as a Pennsylvania railroad conductor, is to be placed upon the retired list. One of his chief regrets is that the change will increase his dangers.

Haupt feels safe only when aboard a train. When the Bald Eagle Valley railroad was started in the early sixties, he went to work as a laborer. About the time the line was completed from Tyrone to Bellefonte he was made a conductor and given a regular run when the road was run through to Lock Haven. This post he held until seven or eight years ago, when he decided to quit on his own hook. He had never had a serious wound or been injured, and decided he did not want to tempt the fates too far.

Haupt went into the grocery business as a good, safe proposition. One day a sugar barrel fell on him and broke a leg. He was laid up for several months. When he recovered he decided that he was tired of dangerous occupations and asked for his old, safe job as conductor back again. He has been on the road ever since, and has now reached the age limit. Haupt intimates that, while he is not as spry as he used to be, he expects to avoid danger by keeping on the job all the time, and that if things get too risky he will take a long railroad trip.

The fellow who sells wilted vegetables is the green goods man; the authorities should look after.

PECULIAR ACCIDENT.

Young Lady Seriously Injured Sunday by Breaking of a Swing.

Mary Torriano, sister-in-law of Joseph Torriano, the Case street liquor dealer, was injured Sunday afternoon. An old swing near the Rolling Mill location, on which she was sitting, broke and she fell, ring attached to the upper beam struck her in the forehead, causing a fracture of the skull. She was unconscious for a time and suffered much pain. She felt well Monday, but she was restless Monday night. Miss Torriano is twenty-one years of age and is very well known in the city.

JOBBERS STARTING WORK.

The timber jobbers in the district south of here along the Chicago & Northwestern railway system are preparing to begin work in the woods. Some of them have already started to cut ties and spruce, and others will open their camps before the close of this month. A number of the jobbers who own farms in the district are still busy harvesting their crops, and as soon as this work is completed they will turn their attention to their timber operations. It is expected that about the usual number of men will be employed in that district the coming winter as the prices for timber are satisfactory, being slightly better than they were a year ago.

CONNORS ON SCHOOL BOARD.

Thomas Connors has been appointed by the board of education to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late Nicholas Laughlin. Although Mr. Laughlin was elected for three years at the annual meeting held in July, Mr. Connors cannot, under the law, fill out the entire term without being re-elected next year. The selection of Mr. Connors will meet the approval of the school patrons, as he is in every way qualified to discharge the duties of the office.

Some exceptionally fine potatoes are on sale at the Negaunee greenhouses. Send your orders direct to the greenhouses and they will be filled promptly. (10-5-1f)

LOCAL LAONICS.

Ben Wallace has returned to Ann Arbor to resume his studies in the engineering department of the university.

Mrs. J. Zulliger, who was stricken with apoplexy a few weeks ago, is improving and has been able to sit up the last two or three days.

Miss Elsie Rigg, daughter of Robert Rigg, has been quite ill since Saturday, though her condition was reported somewhat improved yesterday.

Mrs. Gollagher, who spent the past couple of weeks in the city, visiting her cousin, Mrs. C. V. R. Townsend, left for her home in Saginaw yesterday.

The foundation for the dwelling being erected by William Record on Health street, in the Cyr addition, has been completed. The building will be of good size and will be provided with modern conveniences.

Paul and John Swartzler, who have been in Chicago working at their trade as bricklayers, have returned to Negaunee, and are working at the new fire hall, being erected by Contractor Spaulding of Menominee.

Thermometers in the city yesterday morning at 6 o'clock registered from forty eight to fifty degrees above zero. The temperature was several degrees higher than it had been on any previous day at that time of the morning in two weeks.

National Bank Examiner Lute was in the city yesterday. He conferred with Leo Meilleur, who is at the head of the Negaunee National Bank to be opened here soon. The charter has not yet been received, but it is expected in a few days.

Several Negaunee sportsmen who have been out partridge hunting since the season opened report that the birds are not any too plentiful, although a number have had fairly good luck Sunday. The majority of the Negaunee hunters spent the day in the Palmer district.

John Meehan, a former resident of the upper peninsula, died Sunday at Hingham, where he resided several years ago. Mr. Meehan was one of the largest property owners in the city, having purchased lands there when he first settled in the Mesaba. He was forty-nine years of age and is survived by his widow and two children.

The heirs of the late Moses Yell are endeavoring to dispose of the Garfield house property, which Mr. Yell purchased some years ago from Mrs. Mary Gaffney for $2,000. The deceased paid $1,700 down, and the balance is still due. The heirs are now offering the property for $4,600. The amount due Mrs. Gaffney is $4,325. A Marquette man, who had partially arranged to purchase the house, and took possession of the building a few days ago, moved out the next day, when he found that he could not raise the funds necessary to buy the property outright.

An eight-track swing bridge across the main channel of the Chicago drainage canal, near Thirty-first street, will be operated by electricity.

STREET WORK FOR YEAR NEARLY DONE

PORTIONS OF SEVERAL STREETS HAVE BEEN REBUILT WITH TAR-BOUND MACADAM.

CONSIDERABLE REPAIR WORK

General Condition of City's Thoroughfares Much Better Than in the Spring—Concrete Gang Busy.

Practically all the street work laid out by the park, cemetery and street commission to be done this season has been completed, but there is still a large amount of work to be done by the concrete gang and concrete walks will be laid as long as the weather permits. Compared with the previous year, no great amount of street improvement work has been done this summer. However, considering the relatively small appropriation made the commission by the council last spring, the commission and the street superintendent are well satisfied with what has been accomplished. Practically all the work has been short stretches of very bad street, patching, if it is desired so to term it, which, taken altogether, has put the thoroughfares of the city in much better condition than last spring.

Generally speaking, all the macadam built this year has been covered with furnace tar binding, which, it is believed, will prevent the fine rock washing away and make the pavement much more durable. Various tar preparations were experimented with a year ago, but the furnace product was found to be, on the whole, the most satisfactory. The use of furnace tar this summer seems to have been attended with good results, though there has been some difficulty in getting tar of uniform consistency and when it was needed. The use of tar as a binding material on trap macadam is still in the experimental stage, but from the tests already made in Marquette, it appears probable that it will be a success.

Parts of Streets Rebuilt. In addition to completing the Washington street extension, the north end of Presque Isle avenue and Harrison street, which were left unfinished over last winter, the following portions of streets have been rebuilt this summer: Genesee street, between Altamont and Adams; Jackson street, east from Champion street to the D. S. S. & A. tracks; Baraga avenue, between Front and Lake; Pine street, between Prospect and Park; Front street, from Crescent to Hematite; Seventh street, between Washington and Bluff. It is noticeable that much of the work has been done on hills, which were badly washed, and will afford an excellent opportunity to test the efficacy of tar as a binding material. In addition to the parts of streets wholly rebuilt, extensive repairs have been made on Lake street, the Lake Shore boulevard and the Sands road. On Lake street, the holes were filled in and a large amount of rock was laid, from Baraga avenue north to the water works. This street has more heavy travel than any other thoroughfare in the city, and its repair has been a great benefit to teamsters and draymen. On the Lake Shore boulevard, the sandy stretch between Dead river and the L. S. & I. dock has been macadamized and one of the bridges across the river has been filled in. The commission was allowed but $400 for repairs on the Sands road, between the county house and the city limits, and this amount has been expended in getting the road in passable condition. This has been done in compliance with a petition signed by a large number of Sands township farmers, who asked for a road from their farms to Marquette.

SMOKER AT GOLF CLUB.

First of Series of "House Nights" to Be Given Friday Night.

The first of a series of informal social events to be given at the Golf clubhouse this fall and winter will take place Friday evening. The affair will be in the nature of a smoker or house night, and the dinner to be served at 6:30 will be one of the features. All members of the Golf club are invited to attend and bring friends, if they choose to do so. The dinner will be served by Mr. and Mrs. Fred King and will cost seventy-five cents. No effort will be spared to give all who attend a royal good time.

The smoker Friday night is the first of a series of social events that will take place at the clubhouse this fall and winter. It is planned to give smokers for the men at least as often as once a month, house nights, at which both ladies and gentlemen will be welcome, will also be given every month or oftener. The women members of the club are planning a series of teas to be given during the next few months.

There will be no formality at the smoker Friday night, and at this as well as succeeding functions it is expected to make a feature of the dinner, which will be served on one long table in the pleasant dining room.

The regular Wednesday night hop given by the Modern Brotherhood of America will be held at Legion Hall tonight. Music by Peckless orchestra. 25c. (10-6-11)

BOWLING SEASON OPENS.

All Six Alleys in the Bacon Block in Commission Last Night.

There was an auspicious opening of the bowling season at the Marquette alleys in the Bacon building last evening. The formal opening had been set for today, but as the alleys were in readiness a day ahead of time the doors were thrown open and in a short time the six alleys were in full blast. A number of special games have already been arranged for this afternoon and evening, and the feeling among the bowlers is that the season is to be an unusually successful one.

A strong five-men team will soon be selected to represent Marquette in a series of matches with Negaunee and Ishpeming, and the local bowlers are already beginning to think about capturing their fair share of prizes at the upper peninsula tournament to be held at Houghton toward the close of the season. A series of friendly matches between the Guild Hall and the down town alleys is also in prospect.

The management has not yet decided as to any particular kind of league contests, and is considering the advisability of a new departure by dividing all the patrons of the alleys into three classes according to bowling ability and letting each bowler rise to a higher class or drop into a lower class, according to his record each month. This is a plan that has been tried with success in other places.

WERE TWO DROWNED?

The Mining Journal has received a letter from Gus Donette, of Au Train, stating that he found a corked pop bottle in Lake Superior, one mile west of Rock river, Sept. 30, in which was enclosed the following note, written on a sheet torn from a pocket memorandum book: "To whoever finds this: Was out in a sixteen-foot yawl and was wrecked. Goodbye."

"DAN McKINNON, 'F. W. PHILLIPS.'" It was stated in last week's Mining News that a row boat had been found in the lake near that village, but no men answering to those names are known to be missing.

NEW HEATING DEVICE

Without the Use of Coal or Wood. A fire which can be touched off with a match, gives as much or as little heat as you want, can be turned off or on at will, and is free from odor, dust or ashes; in fact, a fire which possesses all the advantages necessary for the perfect heating of any kind of cook or other stoves and furnaces, is worthy of consideration of all citizens interested in the problem of cheaper and better fuel. This new method can be seen in operation for a few days in Hager's old furniture store, 118 S. Front St. (10-6-11)
