

SAYS PRESIDENT WAS DECEIVED

Mr. Taft Apparently Led Into a Serious Blunder, According to the Head of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association.

Designing Men Who Induced Him to Change His Attitude on the Print Paper Schedule of the Tariff Bill Held Accountable for a Situation Which Bids Fair to Involve the Country in a Disastrous Trade War With the Dominion of Canada.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—President Taft apparently was led into a serious blunder when he changed his attitude on the print paper schedule, according to an open letter signed by Herman Ridder, president of the American Newspaper Publishers' association.

The tariff committee found after ten months' investigation, marked by unusual thoroughness, and reported that a rate of two dollars would cover the difference in the cost of production at home and abroad.

The country is now in a fair way for a trade war with Canada, because of your apparent failure to correctly read the Mann committee's recommendations.

WOULD BE BAD FOR FRANCE.

Washington Not Appreciative That Paris Will Declare Trade War.

Washington, Oct. 19.—The government officials are not disposed to regard the action of France in assessing the maximum duties against all imports from the United States as evidence of her intention to wage a tariff war against the United States.

Aug. 7 President Taft, in pursuance to the new tariff act, notified France, Switzerland and Bulgaria that would be terminated Oct. 31.

France, more than any other country in Europe, has discriminated against American products.

The effect of having to pay our maximum rate undoubtedly would give France a tremendous disadvantage as compared with other European nations in handling American goods.

France's best market for brandies and wines. It is expected that she will seriously consider whether she can afford to pay a rate considerably higher, and also an increase of 25 per cent over this.

It is reported that preservatives are used in French champagnes which might come under the ban of the pure food regulations.

Here's hoping the early frosts will not spoil the canned-tomato crop.

YORKTOWN, VA., CELEBRATES THE ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY-EIGHTH ANNIVERSARY OF THE CASTING OFF OF THE BRITISH YOKE.

On the Ground Where on Oct. 19, 1781, Lord Cornwallis Sealed the Doom of England's Rule Over What is Now Part of the United States, the Surrender of the Forces of King George to General George Washington is Given a Fitting Observance.

Yorktown, Va., Oct. 19.—On the historic ground where Cornwallis sealed the doom of Britain's rule over what is now part of the United States on this date one hundred and twenty-eight years ago, patriotic Americans gathered today to celebrate the anniversary of that surrender.

The exercises were held under auspices of descendants of the signers of the Declaration of Independence. Yorktown Historical society and citizens of York county. Four companies of coast artillery from Fort Monroe and a detachment from the Atlantic torpedo flotilla participated in the celebration.

This little town of two hundred people has suffered such slight change after the lapse of the 128 years that it is possible to see the field over which the British troops marched to stack their arms and to surrender. The British entrenchments are here, and Lafayette's march with his light division to storm the works of the enemy can be traced in detail, as can the course traversed by Alexander Hamilton in making his famous bayonet attack. The house in which the terms of capitulation were signed is also here, with no important change, and is the center of attraction on the part of the pilgrims.

In front of the famous home of Thomas Nelson, Jr., a signer of the Declaration of Independence and governor of Virginia during the Revolutionary period, a stage had been erected from which many of the famous historic spots can be seen. It was here that the extensive program for the celebration of these events was carried out today.

Henry Morris, president of the descendants of the signers, called the assemblage to order and delivered an address. Colonel William H. Highman, of Maryland, first vice president of the Yorktown Historical society and president of the American Society of Cincinnati, read the correspondence between Lord Cornwallis and general Washington relating to the capitulation of Yorktown and the surrender of the British forces. Representative J. Hampton Moore, of Philadelphia, president of the Atlantic Deep Waterways association, delivered an oration.

Among the picturesque features of the occasion was the singing of "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean" by the school children of York county. These children also strewed flowers upon the grave of Thomas Nelson, Jr. Tonight the town is illuminated with various colored fires.

His subject will be one of general interest to Marquette citizens. The club will give a smoker in connection with the address, and those in charge expect a large attendance.

There will be games for amusement and refreshments will be served. The girls assure that those who attend will be royally entertained. An admission of ten cents will be charged.

John George Bay, who has been transferred to Benoit, Minn. Ensign McKay has just returned from an army camp appointment was made. The officer is well acquainted in the city and should be able to carry on the work to the satisfaction of all concerned.

Hay High in Price—Dairy-men and farmers in this locality are complaining of the high price being asked for hay this fall. As the hay crop in this vicinity was almost a total failure this year because of the ravages of grasshoppers, many of the farmers will have to buy from outside in order to carry their stock through the winter. Dealers are now asking $15 per ton for hay in carload lots, while last season it could be bought for about $11 at this time. Most of the hay bought in Marquette comes from Wisconsin or Sault Ste. Marie.
Lists of State Tax Lands—County treasurers are being furnished by the state land department with lists of all state tax lands within their respective counties in order that prospective purchasers of such lands may secure the necessary information at the county seats instead of making a trip to Lansing. Information relative to homestead lands will also be furnished and the lists will be corrected each month. This innovation in the handling of state lands is the result of legislation enacted at the last session intended to increase opportunities for citizens to purchase this class of lands by allowing them to arrange for their purchase at the county seats.

BIG SHOW IN NEW YORK.

Municipal Campaign Described as Much Like a Circus.

Various Exhibits Intended as Object Lessons—One Star Former Is Wm. M. Ivins—Hearst and Gaynor Are Very Active.
New York, Oct. 19.—With the "Chamber of Horrors" maintained by the committee of one hundred on one corner in Union square, and the rival exhibit of the "Order of Acorns," a "non-partisan" organization deriving its inspiration from Tammany's war bags, on the next corner; with the remarkable plaster statue of the city outraged, defying its blasphemers, up in Times square; with William M. Ivins making picturesque verbal sketches of Judge Gaynor nightly while the Judge and his Tammany friends reply "Down with our detractors, Shame upon them, Shame," this town is getting all the political diversion that the most exacting could ask for at this stage of the campaign. The interesting question is what effect all this sort of thing is going to have upon the voters.
If it were a mimic warfare and unprejudiced referees were to render a decision on the merits of the strife aside from all considerations of partisanship or personal favor, the advantage thus far would be entirely with the attacking party. The serious charges against Judge Gaynor—that he was a party to a conspiracy against the anti-race track gambling laws—have gone unanswered, and what is more, the judge, contrary to the custom of Tammany candidates, says that he is not going to answer them. "Let them judge by my record," he declares, whereupon Mr. Ivins holds up again with a chapter of the judge's history in which he took sides with a sheriff of Brooklyn removed from office for political malfeasance, and was severely set upon by the then governor, Mr. Odell, and the Court of Appeals. Mr. Ivins, with perhaps, doubtful wisdom, also taunts the judge with his divorce case and with the fact that he left the order of Christian Brothers in his youth without proper dispensation.
These latter collateral attacks the referees might well disregard. Personal abuse of this nature seldom helps, unless it betrays so gross a character as to disgust all decent people. An ordinary or even a more less extraordinary divorce is hardly something to shock New York. Nor do religious issues cut a great figure in a campaign where the primary need is for a man who can administer the city's affairs ably and honestly. But on the main attack it must be confessed that the advantage is with Mr. Ivins and the fusion allies. It is vital that the next mayor be honest, and not one who would strike hands with gamblers, lobbyists and corrupt politicians in a conspiracy to overthrow a just law. Judge Gaynor has allowed entirely to meet the charge, he has rather retreated and left his adversaries in possession of the ground so gained, planning where they shall strike him next.
But what is the impression upon the minds of the voters? It has frequently been said that the result of a campaign of personalities cannot be told until a couple of days before the votes are cast; that violent attack of this kind, under whatever name it be called, make more friends than enemies for the individual against whom it is directed. That to some extent is no doubt true, and will be a factor in the present campaign. But it is also true that in no other way than through bitter personal attack could Judge Gaynor be beaten. The argument that Gaynor, surrounded by a Tammany Board of Estimate, would be impotent to safeguard the city's interests against a strongly organized and intelligent appreciation of municipal affairs, but the citizens who have this understanding, or, possessing it, are willing to apply it to their choice in elections, are too few to be depended on to carry an election. If Gaynor is to be defeated he must do so by another method. He must be so discredited before the voters that they will not believe in his sincere intention to work with a single eye to the city's welfare if elected. That is the task to which Mr. Ivins has addressed himself, with apparently an abundance of material. One goal is as good as another whether he will be successful until the approach of election day itself develops the temper of the voters toward the candidates.
Signs, however, are not lacking that Tammany is feeling the blows struck at its record in the handling of the city for the last six years. When the "Chamber of Horrors" was first opened, people were disposed to laugh at the scheme of education that prompted its establishment. A paper macle effigy of a cow, with rubber tubes leading from the appropriate section of her anatomy to various tables around the hall, where statistics of Tammany waste show the way in which the municipal cow is milked, appeals to the average person as a rather cheap, if not vulgar way of marking a lesson that might be better brought home to the voters through other means. But for some reason or other, the voters have looked to this "Chamber of Horrors," ten and twenty thousand in a day, by actual count on the turnstiles. The fake "Chamber of Horrors" opened by the Acorns nearby has not served to lessen the attendance at the original exhibition. The meetings held there are large and enthusiastic.
At first Tammany laughed. The Acorn's exhibit was intended to make a joke out of the other. It seemed to fail of its purpose, and now Tammany, instead of laughing at the "Chamber of Horrors," is denouncing those who are conducting it and through the entire fusion company as detractors of the city. Only the other night Judge Gaynor, speaking in Carnegie Hall incited his audience to go down in a body and cry down the speakers with "Shame, Shame, Shut up, Detractors." At least, the "Chamber" is no longer a joke, Tammany is behaving as it does when something hurts—a good deal as it behaved in the campaign four years ago when the strength of the Hearst movement became apparent. We may gather, then from Tammany's own attitude—and no one knows better than Tammany how the thought of the voters trends from one stage to another in a campaign—that substantial sentiment is being created which the leaders look upon with alarm.
Judge Gaynor's own difficulties in getting material for his speeches also indicate the embarrassment to which the Tammany cause is being subjected. He announces himself the mighty reformer, with a life spent in public service of this kind. Very well—what is Judge

HOW BEES FIND HIVES.

Guided Not by Sight or Smell, but by a Sense of Direction.

The sense of direction which is possessed by bees is the object of researches made by M. Gaston Bonnier, Paris, and he seems to prove that bees possess a special sense like that of carrier pigeons. Bees can fly for two miles from the hive, and are then able to return after gathering their supply of honey.

Besides, when the organs of smell (antennae) are removed entirely the bees will return to the hive. M. Bonnier makes the following experiment. At 900 feet from the hive he places a supply of syrup, and the bees soon begin proceeding to and fro to the hive. Such bees he marks with green colored powder. He then places a second supply of syrup at the same distance from the hive, but spaced at 20 feet from the former. Other bees are now engaged in the flight and movement to the hive, but these are not the same individuals as the green marked bees, who are still working on the first supply, and he marks these in red.

A SOUL MATE DEPORTED.

English Girl Who Came to Wed Married Man Sent Back Home.

An unusual romance planned in England, to marry Miss Susan Cotterell, an English girl, was spoiled by the government driving the intended bride out of the country as an undesirable alien. Miss Cotterell left her home in Preston, England, without her parents' consent, and came here to marry Angar, who the immigration officials found, had a wife in Wilmington, Del., who promptly protested against her husband's action. After an investigation it was decided to deport the girl, and she was sent back to England.

The case is an unusual one, as, after the girl was made aware of the fact that Angar was a married man, and could under no circumstances marry her, it is said she replied that it made no difference, as it was a man's right to marry the woman he loved best, despite all previous vows. She was gotten on the vessel by a rise, being told that Angar would be permitted to accompany her home, but he knew nothing of her deportation until after the vessel had left her wharf. Angar hurried to the wharf, but it was too late. When last seen on the ship, the girl said she had not decided which to do, jump overboard at sea or return to her lover via another port under a fictitious name. Angar, who is about thirty five years old, met Miss Cotterell in England while on a visit there last year and promised to bring her here to become his wife. She arrived on the steamship Haverford on July 25, Angar waited until the vessel docked, and when Miss Cotterell, beaming with smiles, ran down the gangway she was gathered into his arms. At the examination required to pass aliens Angar stated that he was single and intended to marry the girl, after which she was released and nothing was heard from them until the government located both living at Trenton. They were brought back to Philadelphia, and the girl sent to her home.

NEW YORK STOCKS.

Paine, Webber & Co's correspondent at New York yesterday telegraphed as follows:

"A concerted effort on the part of the room traders to unsettle the list in the last half hour resulted in sharp declines, with considerable commission houses selling on the recession. The attack was centered on Steel and Reading, with no apparent reason for the assault. It is expected that the quarterly report of the Steel company will fulfill expectations, particularly in regard to the unfilled orders, and record earnings are expected. An increase in the dividend is considered probable, with a minimum rate of 4 per cent suggested. Careful observation reveals a substantial increase in the short interest, which should be reckoned as a barrier against drastic declines at this time, in view of the well organized support which has been noted during sharp declines."

Writing from Boston yesterday, Paine, Webber & Co. had the following to say of the stock market:

"The local market showed several active stocks today. Boston Cotton and Greene were again heavily accumulated, both stocks making new high prices and closing at the top. North Butte was steady around 58, after an initial drop of a point on the sales of 1000 shares. The transactions around 58 were comparatively heavy, but all selling seemed to be well taken by investment orders, the buying being all in small lots and widely scattered. We understand the Steel report to be issued next week will be better than expected and the interest in unfilled orders should do much to help the copper metal market. We advise buying of all coppers on any reaction."

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKETS.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—Wheat was lower today, closing 3/4 below yesterday. The downward pull was stubbornly resisted, the prices fluctuating 1/4 to 1/2 either way through the early hours. The bearish movement increased in strength from noon on and steadily forced the prices lower until five minutes before the close, when the low point was touched. The increase in Bradstreet's survey of visible supply from 7,564,000 bushels to 10,800,000 bushels was a big item. The European visible supply jumped from 1,700,000 bushels last year to 2,414,000 bushels today.

to 2,414,000 bushels today. The bears were also aided by the almost total cessation of the milling demand here for cash wheat and the lowering premiums in the other cash markets. Another depressing factor was the report of the Russian minister for agriculture, covering incompletely the year's crop, estimating it at 500,000,000 bushels, which is 150,000,000 bushels less than the year's returns. The December opened at 105 1/2 to 105 3/4; highest, 105 3/4; lowest, 103 1/2; closing, 104.

Corn.—This market ruled steady until the break in wheat became pronounced. Fine weather and the prospect of an increased run next week were bullish factors. The close was weak, with the December 5/8 and the May 5/8 lower. The December opened at 50 1/2 to 50 3/4; highest, 50 3/4; lowest, 49 1/2; closing, 49 1/2.

Cotton Market. Paine, Webber & Co. had this to say of yesterday's cotton market: "Liverpool did better than looked for, and the initial prices in our market were higher than expected. The education, attention and environment of the professional element proved a stabilizing block to new high levels. Speculative forces in cotton have been tempted into profit taking so often that the fundamental forces are left and we can see no liquidation ahead of the market that would do more than make it hesitate. Short selling will prove unprofitable for many weeks yet."

Three I Baseball League Consists Now of Only Seven Clubs.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—The Three "I" league met today with an eight-club circuit, and only seven teams were present. The National Association of Professional Baseball Players announced that he would not serve again. Cedar Rapids gave up its franchise. The Cedar club was shifted to Danville. No city will be chosen in place of Cedar Rapids and no president will be elected until after the meeting of the National Association of Minor Leagues at Memphis Nov. 9.

FRICITION IN NAVY YARDS.

Washington, Oct. 19.—The inspection of the two navy yards on the Pacific coast and the new naval base at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, made by members of the house naval affairs committee, has been completed, and an informal report made to Secretary of the Navy Meyer. The committee was displeased with the friction they found at Mare Island, Cal., and which they believed was the result of a lack of discipline which some of them believe should be corrected by the navy department authorities.

DETROIT'S PROSPERITY.

All Her Lines of Trade are Rapidly Extending. Detroit's Municipal Manual for the current and coming year estimates the capital value in manufacturing in the State metropolis at $130,000,000, giving work to 90,000 employees, who are paid $32,000,000 in wages. The value of the product is placed at $180,000,000. In the making of automobiles Detroit now leads the world, manufacturing 55 per cent of all the automobiles made in the United States. This industry employs about 15,000 persons in Detroit, and it is figured that this year it will turn out 45,000 cars, valued at nearly 250,000,000. This is only one of several industries in which Detroit leads every other city in the country.

LABOR UNIONS AT ODDS.

Washington, Oct. 19.—President Hayes, of the Glass Bottle Blowers' association, protested to the executive council of the American Federation of Labor today against the Illinois Federation of Labor recognizing the Flint Glass Workers' union, whereupon a telegram was sent to President Wright, of the Illinois branch, stating that the Flint Glass Workers' organization, having without cause seceded from the American Federation, is not entitled to recognition until it has complied with the decisions

RUSTIC METEOROLOGY.

Men of science tell us that in some cases what are characterized old women's stories are practically correct; for instance, counting numbers from the lightning flash to the sound of thunder locates in miles the seat of the disturbance. The approach of rain is signaled, so say the observant country folk, in many ways, and these are enumerated in a French journal. The swifts and the swallows skim close to the ground. The cat scratches his face, and the chaffinch has a sad and plaintive note. The farmyard goose runs about and shows general restlessness. The peacock utters frequent cries. The woodpecker moans or sighs. The parrot chatters; the guinea fowl perches; the frog remains silent. The toad walks about; flowers have a stronger odor and many among them close up. There are also other signs none the less sure, so say the same people, for prognosticating the weather—the birds twittering; the red-throat sings on the top of the highest tree; the swallow flies in the clouds; the lark rises from the ground and mounts into the air singing; the cricket makes his cry heard; the tree frog climbs the trees, and the flowers open.

THE LAKE THAT CAME BACK.

Flooding, difficult in fresh water and something of an art in the sea, becomes in the Great Salt Lake a condition impossible to avoid. Lie down and you will be half way above the surface; get up and you will be half way below it. A friend was complaining the other day to Captain Barber, port captain of the state pilots, about the crowded condition of the steamboat on which he recently made a trip, says the San Francisco Call: "Four in a room" replied Barber. "That's nothing. You should have traveled in the days of the gold rush to California. I remember one trip out of New York we carried more than 1,000 passengers, and if you put five on that ship today there'd be a boiler that would reach Washington and make trouble for somebody. To show you how crowded it was and what 'crowded' really means three days out from New York a ship walked up to the old man and said: 'Captain, you really must find me a place to sleep.' 'Where in thimble have you been sleeping until now?' asked the old man. 'Well, in the fellow, 'you see' it's this way. I've been sleeping on a sack man, but he's getting better now and won't stand for it much longer.'"

MANUFACTURING IN SIBERIA.

In Siberia we have what is practically a new country, larger than all Europe put together, watered everywhere by immense rivers and crossed through its center by a line of railways, with mineral riches untold, with large and thriving towns at intervals from one end to the other, many of them with populations of more than 100,000, and with an immigration of more than 300,000 souls a year. It is a land with a soil of wonderful fertility, exporting millions of tons of food. It has, however, no manufactures to speak of, considering its size; a few spinning mills and weaving sheds, and hardly any engineering works, shipbuilding yards, leather works, etc., worthy of the name, and but few of its mines are worked in an up-to-date manner.

U. F. E. A. RESOLUTIONS.

The following resolutions were adopted by the Upper Peninsula Educational association at the conclusion of its sessions last week:

"Whereas, the state should not only offer school training to all children, but should also see that all children avail themselves of this training; and whereas, there are many boys and girls in the upper peninsula who do not and can not owing to home environment, receive this training; and whereas, owing to the crowded condition of our state industrial school, these unfortunate children cannot be cared for there; therefore be it resolved that this association repeats its endorsement of, and urges the building of a state industrial school in the upper peninsula, to which incorrigible and children with vicious home influences may be committed.

"We recognize the fact that the purpose of the school is to prepare for life. An essential of good life is the earning of a living. We express the hope that the school may everywhere train its pupils to work with hand as well as with brain. That industrial training everywhere may be encouraged, we favor the extension of manual training and technical schools and of schools of domestic science and agriculture.

"We most heartily endorse all movements that have for their object the preservation of our natural resources, and pledge ourselves to study this subject and do what we can to develop and mould public sentiment in its behalf.

"To Superintendent Scribner, our retiring president, for the success of this splendid inspiration meeting, to all officers of the association who have aided him in making it the success it has been, to the various speakers of all general and sectional meetings who have so well entertained, instructed and inspired us, to the press of Ishpeming and of the entire upper peninsula, which has given publicity to our meetings and so ably reported them, and last but not least, to the citizens of Ishpeming who have so hospitably thrown open their homes to our entertainment, we wish to extend our sincere and hearty thanks.

"Supt. F. S. MONICAL,
"Supt. A. V. BIESMAN,
"PRIN. J. F. REED,
"MISS LYDIA E. STEPLE."

"If success doesn't turn the average man's head it's because he has a stiff neck.

CANDLE IS CAUSE OF SERIOUS BLAZE

HEAVY CONTRACTS.

Rush of Business for the Steel Concerns Still Continues.

Reports from the east bring news of heavy transactions in the steel and iron trade. Some of the largest independent steel concerns, as well as those of the market for billets, as well as for pig iron. One Eastern Pennsylvania steel company, and one on the lakes, have purchased from 10,000 to 15,000 tons each of billets. There is also reports that some consumers have gone abroad for material and some soft German steel is to be imported.

Recent contracts for steel making iron have been heavy, aggregating 110,000 tons, about one-third being standard Bessemer and two-thirds basic. The public company has secured 20,000 tons of Bessemer at $19 in the central valleys and other heavy sales have been made at the same price. The sales of basic have been largely in the Buffalo district in lots of 10,000 tons each, aggregating 40,000 tons at $18 to $18.25 delivered. Other sales of basic have been made for delivery to steel foundries in Chicago and St. Louis and to bridge shops and steel works in the East, including Alabama, Virginia and some northern iron for distribution in the Chicago territory as well as in the eastern district. It is estimated that within the last two weeks about 60,000 tons of such metal has been marketed. The steel corporation taking 4,000 tons of such sales. Steels at Eastern Pennsylvania furnaces since Oct. 1, have been reduced heavily. Business is now pending in the East for about 60,000 tons of the metal including low phosphorus, heavy duty and large grades. No further sales of foreign iron have been made but there are still negotiations.

Fire that broke out in the first floor of the Lee flats yesterday noon did considerable damage and for a time threatened the destruction of the building. The blaze started in a closet in the corner apartment, occupied by J. D. Spitzer, and had gained considerable headway before it was discovered by Mrs. Spitzer, who was at work in the kitchen. Her attention was attracted by the smoke in the rooms.

A candle that Mrs. Spitzer had been using while cleaning out the closet a short time before started the fire. The candle was in a cup and it is thought that the heat caused the cup to break and the shelf on which it was standing ignited, the blaze soon spreading to the clothing. When Mrs. Spitzer reached the closet the flames enveloped in flames and volumes of smoke were spreading through the rooms. By the time the fire department arrived the smoke had reached the upper apartments and the occupants were driven out without having very much time to gather up any of their belongings.

It was necessary to use a great deal of water in extinguishing the blaze and as a result the rooms occupied by the Spitzer family were badly soaked and practically all of the furniture and other effects were damaged. Mrs. Spitzer's dresses and other articles in the closet were destroyed. The piano was considerably damaged and the rugs are a complete loss.

In fighting the blaze the firemen found it necessary to cut into some of the walls on the first floor, as the fire had commenced to spread between the joists. None of the windows in the building were damaged. Practically all of the rooms in the flats will have to be redecorated, all of them being discolored by the smoke. Mr. Spitzer's household effects are insured, as is the building.

ZINC REACHES HIGH MARK.

Spelter Sells at Highest Price Received in Three Years.

Upper peninsula men interested in Wisconsin lead and zinc properties have reason to feel pleased with the present condition of the lead and zinc markets. Experts in the Wisconsin field some few months ago predicted that spelter would reach six cents a pound before the first of next year. The upward movement has been more rapid than they anticipated, as spelter sold at that figure last week and the market conditions are such that a still greater advance in the price seems certain.

In spite of the upward movement in the price of spelter, zinc ore has not increased proportionately, although the latter is now selling at a higher price than has been received at any previous time the past two years. Zinc ore has been steadily accumulating in both of the great producing fields of the country for several months past, but it is claimed that the producers have the situation in hand, and for this reason it is thought that the price will remain satisfactory. The large consumers have been running on slender inventories and it is expected that there will be a heavy movement of material eastward before long. Lead ore of 80 per cent quality is selling at $55 per ton.

The presence of such strong competitive forces in the Wisconsin field as the United States steel corporation, the Coughlin, the Standard Oil and the New Jersey Zinc company has given rise to the belief that all mining lands of merit yet undeveloped and mining properties equipped with machinery will eventually pass into the control of one or more of the big concerns. Representatives of the New Jersey Zinc company have been particularly active in Wisconsin for some weeks past and recently they closed a deal for the purchase of 2,000 acres of mineralized lands in Lafayette county. In all of the mineral districts the lands are being sought by representatives of one or more of the large interests mentioned, and it is becoming more and more apparent that the time is not far distant when both lead and zinc ore will be under control of the big concerns. When this time arrives it will mean much to the Wisconsin field in general, as it will result in operations being conducted on a larger scale than at present.

CHARBONNEAU-NAULT.

Maurice Charbonneau and Miss Rose Nault, well known and popular young Ishpeming people, were united in marriage yesterday morning at 6 o'clock at St. Joseph's church, Rev. E. P. Jordan, the pastor, performed the ceremony in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends of the bride and groom. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Olga Nault, and Octave Lemay supported the groom. Following the marriage a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arson Nault, at Frenchtown. Mr. and Mrs. Charbonneau departed on the Northwestern train at 8:45 o'clock on a wedding trip, to be absent a week or ten days. The groom has a home already prepared for his bride and they will begin housekeeping as soon as they return.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, the sound vibrations cannot pass to the eardrum and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by any of the Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

SCRAMBLE FOR DOCK SPACE.

It is reported from Cleveland that in all probability some of the furnaces will run short of Bessemer ore before navigation opens next season. The demand for all grades of ore has been so active that stockpiles that have been on hand for a number of years and could not be sold even during the boom time of 1907, on account of being of low grade have been disposed of. There is a scramble for dock space. The mines in most of the districts in the Lake Superior region have for more than two months past been mining ore more rapidly than it can be cared for by the railroads. It is now thought that some shipments of ore for early spring delivery will be made in December.

WHY RUSSIAN MEN LEAVE HOME.

All the courting is done by the ladies of Ukraine, Russia. When a girl falls in love with a man she goes to his house and tells him the state of her feelings. If her affections are reciprocated, a marriage is arranged. If, however, Barzik is not willing, she remains in the house, hoping to coax him into regarding her suit with favor. The poor fellow cannot treat her with discourtesy or turn her out, for her friends would be sure to avenge the insult. If he is really determined that he won't have her, his best plan is to leave his home and stay away as long as she remains in it. Thus a man may be turned out of house and home.—Chicago Journal.

HEATERS OF QUALITY

It is time that quality in heating stoves had an inning instead of price. Does it not stand to reason that a heater at a ridiculously low price has had something done to it to turn it out so very cheap?

You can bet it has, always. We don't believe anybody wants a cheap, lightweight, flimsy heating stove. We don't believe you would ever buy one if you thoroughly examine the stove first.

Our line of heating stoves comprises all that is best in hard and soft coal burners. Stoves that will heat more space to higher degree of heat in less time with less fuel, hold fire longer, are more sightly, longer lived than any other stove on the market.

Take the time when passing our store to look at the different heaters we are showing. We have them from the smallest up to great big, dignified fellows. The prices are from $10.00 up, and you can pay for them a little at a time in small weekly or monthly payments.

LONDON'S SUBWAY SYSTEM.

London is underlain by a network of subways, or tubes to use the British name for an underground line. These roads have been constructed and are still owned and operated by wholly or partly independent companies. Thus, there is the Metropolitan line (the old Underground), seventy-one miles in length, the Metropolitan District line, twenty-eight miles in length; the Great Northern and Piccadilly line, nine and one-half miles in length, which is a double tunnel worked by electric motor power; the Baker Street and Waterloo line nine and one-half miles in length; which was originally one of Whitaker Wright's enterprises; the Charing Cross, Euston and Hampstead line, about eight miles in length; the Central London line, six and one-half miles in length, which consists of two separate parallel tunnels worked by electric motor power on the multiple unit system; the Waterloo and

City line, about two miles in length; the Great Northern and City line, from Finsbury Park to Moorgate street, about three and one-half miles in length, and the City and South London line, from Clapham Common to the north end of City road, Islington, with an authorized mileage of twelve and one-half miles, something over half of which is in operation. These lines cross and intersect at various points, making it possible to transfer to go almost anywhere underground. The total mileage—constructed, authorized and projected—is 145 1/2 miles, and the total authorized capital of the nine existing companies is $291,563,996—Moody's Magazine.

MAAS MINE SURFACE CONDITIONS ARE IDEAL

TREES, FLOWERS AND SHRUBBERY IN THE LAWN SURROUNDING DRY, OFFICE AND SHOPS BUILDINGS ADD TO ATTRACTIVENESS.

In laying out the building and grounds at the Maas mine, the management of the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Company provided what might be termed ideal surface conditions. It is doubtful if there is another mining property in the entire Lake Superior region with a better looking surface equipment. The location is attractive, being only a few hundred feet south of a range of wooded hills, and surrounded by a large acreage of level ground. The office, dry and shops buildings are surrounded by a lawn seeded with grass, and trees, flowers and shrubbery have been planted. On the lawn on the north side of the dry building benches have been provided, and the workmen find much comfort there during the warm days. There is a fine view of the surrounding country and of Teal Lake.

The Maas mine was one of the first properties in the Lake Superior iron district provided with a modern dry building, constructed of brick and steel. The management has since adopted this as its standard dry and all change houses erected in the future will be of similar construction. The building will accommodate 500 men, though there are now only about 300 employed at the property. All of the clothes lockers are steel, as are also the baths and wash tubs, which are provided with both hot and cold water. There are twelve shower baths. The plan of the office building has also been followed by the company in the construction of similar structures at other properties. The new warehouse building and office at the company's North Lake property, recently completed, is similar in plan to the one at the Maas. The office is solid brick, as is also the shops building. The latter has three compartments, one each for the blacksmiths, machinists and carpenters. The repair work for both the Maas and Negaunee mines is done in the machine shop, and all of the heavier work goes to the company's main shop at Ishpeming.

New Construction Work. A fire is now employed on new work at the property. A concrete cooling tower, seventy feet in length, by twenty feet wide, has been completed, and work on the superstructure will soon be started. The tower will be similar to the one at the company's Cleveland Lake mine, and will be ready for use about the time the electric transmission system is operating. All of the condensed water will be returned to the tower, to be used over and over again. The system will save many millions of gallons of water annually. Part of the water pumped from the mine will be used.

The Maas mine has one of the best equipment of boilers to be found at any of the mines in the district. Three Sterling boilers, each 350 horse power, are in use, and the foundation has been prepared for another one of similar size. Two boilers furnish all of the power needed at present, but three will be used after the new electric machinery goes into commission, leaving one in reserve. The boilers are provided with Murphy stokers and an electric fuel use to induce draft. The fuel is handled automatically, and only one man is necessary in the boiler room on each shift.

The two 1,500 kilowatt turbines to be used in generating electrical power are to be installed in the places formerly occupied by the old dynamo and steam engine, between the boiler house and the main engine room. The concrete foundations for the turbines were completed yesterday. Work on the transformer house, immediately east of the boiler house, being erected by the Foster Construction company, has been suspended until the steel trusses arrive. The brick walls have practically been completed. All of the equipment for the plant has been received and the turbines will be in position in less than thirty days. The management does not figure on putting them in commission until about the first of the year.

The Sullivan compressor, which furnishes air for both the Maas and Negaunee mine, is a fine plant. It can furnish 5,000 cubic feet of air per minute when operated at the rate of seventy-five revolutions. In the neighborhood of forty drills are used in the two mines, and from ten to twenty more could be operated without difficulty.

The engine house is also equipped with a complete outfit, which can be used to advantage in case fire breaks out in any of the buildings. A hose house, provided with a cart and other equipment necessary for fire fighting, has been built.

The Maas mine has an exceptionally large area for the stacking of ore, framing of timber, etc. All of the Bessemer ore mined last winter has been shipped, and only a small tonnage of non-Bessemer remains.

New Concrete Shaft. Work is progressing satisfactorily at the new shaft in the Negaunee field, between the Maas and Negaunee mines. A raise was recently completed from the first level to the surface through 700 feet of ground.

The shaft will be the second one of its kind in the Lake Superior iron district. The first one was put down at the Penn Iron company's Briar Hill mine, at Norway, on the Menominee range, to a depth of 800 feet. The copper country has concrete shafts constructed in a similar way, but they are of rectangular shape. The Maas shaft will be of circular shape, and will be seventeen feet in diameter. The Briar Hill shaft is but fourteen. The concrete will be about eighteen inches in thickness.

In putting the raise through an opening about nine feet was made, so that it will be necessary to stop down many thousand tons of rock to make room for the concrete frames. Workmen are now employed preparing the surface near the shaft for the chute, mixer and other equipment to be used in making the concrete. The gravel for the concrete will be obtained near the shaft.

Superintendent S. R. Elliott yesterday said that he expects to have everything ready to begin making concrete within two weeks or so, but it is expected that it will take the greater part of a year to get the shaft ready for use. The concrete will be put down in sections and it is expected that it will be possible to make some of the sections forty feet in height. That will depend, however, entirely upon the condition of the ground, as great care will be necessary to avoid accidents. Mr. Elliott is proud of the feat of the workmen in putting the raise through to the surface without one of them receiving the slightest injury.

The shaft, which will have four compartments, including two skips, cage, and ladder ways, will be equipped with steel, and there will also be a steel shaft house, of about the same dimensions as the one at the Maas mine.

The hoisting machinery at the new shaft will be operated by the new electric plant, being installed at the Maas, and will also be the other plants at the company's mines in the city. The hoisting machinery at the Maas was formerly used at the Cleveland Lake mine, where a larger plant was installed a few years ago. The engine does fine work, and it is not anticipated that it will be necessary to install larger hoisting equipment at the mine for some years to come.

WORKMEN DISCHARGED.

Men Who Laid Off at Regent Mines Saturday Noon Lost Their Jobs.

All of the men at the Oliver Iron Mining company's Regent mines, who quit work Saturday noon without notifying their bosses, were discharged Monday evening when they reported to begin the work on the night shift. Those discharged included miners, trammers, pumpmen and all others who laid down their tools in response to the call issued by the miners' committee.

It is generally commented that the workmen were ill-advised in their half holiday movement, and it is thought that there will be no further attempt made to force the companies to allow the men to lay off on Saturday afternoon. Most of the men expected that in the event the half holiday was granted they would be paid for the full day. Many of the miners are of the opinion that if the matter was properly put before the officials an agreement that would be to the advantage of the workmen might be arrived at. The strong argument for the half holiday is the fact that during the winter months the men on the day shift see daylight only on Sunday.

It is not anticipated that the men laid off will have any difficulty finding other jobs, as both miners and laborers have been in demand here for several weeks past. The management of the Empire mine, on the Cascade range, is at present looking for additional men and it is reported that some of the other properties could also use more underground men than are now employed. The Empire management recently received instructions to get out 100,000 tons of ore before the season closes, and in order to do this it will be necessary to about double the present force.

TO STRING WIRES.

The crews that have been employed for several weeks past raising the towers for the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company's electric transmission lines, will soon finish the work, and it is expected that the stringing of the wire can be started within a week or so. The last of the towers between the Maas mine and the North Lake property was raised Monday, when two on the Teal Lake bluff were in position. It was necessary to drill holes into the formation in order to secure one of them. The first carload of wire has been received and is stored at the Maas mine.

BURNING "BLUE GAS."

"Blue gas" is the name of a new illuminant introduced in Germany. It is described as follows: "The gas is delivered in liquid form in such shape that it may be used in closed rooms in hanging burners, giving them from 50 to 1,000 candle-power. To use the gas, all that is necessary is to pour the liquid from the steel cylinders in which it is delivered, into the gasometer. This is almost as convenient as having one's own gas plant, for one can protect himself against accidents at the factory or delay in transit by always having on hand several filled cylinders. A cylinder contains twenty-two pounds of the gas, and costs about $2.86. This quantity will supply a 50-candle-power burner for 480 hours, so that this illuminant appears to be cheaper than petroleum. "This blue gas" can, of course, be used for heating and cooking, as well as for industrial processes. It is a hydrocarbon compound, free from carbon monoxide, and is not poisonous; its heating effect is three and one-half times that of ordinary coal gas.

"Almost any apparatus that is arranged to burn ordinary coal gas or acetylene gas can be altered without much difficulty to burn this, and in such cases all that is necessary is to make the connection between the cylinder and the house pipes through a reducing valve."—Chicago News.

FLINGING GOOD MONEY AFTER BAD.

Of the late Samuel Sloan, the noted railroad man, a New York broker said the other day:

"Mr. Sloan owed a great deal of his success to his prudence. He was never reckless, he never threw good money after bad, but once he perceived that an investment had a hopeless look, he abandoned it coolly and turned his attention to something more promising.

"Most of us are different. We lose our heads over some trifling loss. We waste a dollar's worth of time and energy trying to recover a penny. In short, we are like the man who lost the copper, and "There was a man who dropped a penny down a crack in a board walk. With a wire and a stick he tried to recover the penny for a long time. Then, shaking his head sadly, he went home. "But the next morning he returned early to the spot, and he was bending over the crack with a quarter in his hand when a friend happened along and said: "Hello, Joe, what are you doing there?" "Well, I'll tell you," said the other. "Yesterday I dropped a penny down this crack. Now, I reasoned that it wasn't worth my while to pull up four or five boards to find a penny, but last night I had an idea struck me, and I'm going to drop a quarter down to make it worth my while."

LIBBY HEARING COMES TO CLOSE

STORIES OF BOTH SIDES TO BE SENT TO THE GOVERNOR AS SOON AS POSSIBLE.

OTHER SIDE OF QUARREL

Supervisor Explains His Official Acts and Declares He Has Worked for Interests of Township.

The taking of testimony in the investigation by Supervisor Libby's administration of the affairs of West Branch township was completed late yesterday afternoon, and as soon as the papers can be prepared, a complete transcript of the testimony together with an opinion on the same from Circuit Court Commissioner George P. Brown will be sent to Governor Warner for his perusal. If the governor decides that the alleged misdoings of Supervisor Libby, as stated in the petition of Robert Shaw and others, have been borne out by the testimony, Libby will in all probability be ousted from office. There is a strong sentiment in the township, however, in favor of an all around new deal, as soon as opportunity offers. This class would put in a set of officers who are members of neither the Shaw nor Libby factions, which it is claimed, is the only solution of the otherwise never-ending political warfare. The great difficulty in carrying out this plan is to find one man, let alone a number of men, who are allied with neither of the opposing factions. Altogether, it looks as if political peace and quiet would reign in West Branch township about as soon as the Peary-Cook polar controversy is settled and no sooner.

WRECK AT MICHIGAMME.

Two South Shore Engines Collided Near Water Tank Last Evening.

A light switch engine backing up and an engine pulling a string of ore cars backwards collided near the water tank on the South Shore road at Michigamme about 6 o'clock last evening, both locomotives being badly damaged and the brakeman and engineer of the light engine, Ed Eines of Michigamme and Samuel Devine of Marquette, being injured, the former quite seriously. The brakeman's left foot was so badly crushed that it was amputated last night and he was also quite badly scalded. Engineer Devine was burned quite badly but no serious results are anticipated. The passenger train from the copper country, due here at 7:45 last night, did not arrive until after 10 o'clock, because of the wreck.

THEATRICAL.

"The Girl Question" Tonight.

Dashing action, ginger and "something doing" every minute, sudden transitions from grave to gay, a song here, a dance there, a bit of plot which grips one's heartstrings with a sudden throbb and then a funny situation which makes one's sides split with laughter are the heterogeneous conglomerations which are said to make up that delightful evening's entertainment, "The Girl Question," the musical comedy which comes to the opera house tonight under the management of H. H. Frazee. This play is expected to be as popular here as were its predecessors, "The Time and the Place" and the "Honey-moon Trail," for it is by the same author with all the freshness and vigor of a new creation. The musical comedy which comes to the opera house tonight under the management of H. H. Frazee. This play is expected to be as popular here as were its predecessors, "The Time and the Place" and the "Honey-moon Trail," for it is by the same author with all the freshness and vigor of a new creation.

LIBBY'S STORY AND DEFENSE.

The following witnesses were called to testify in Libby's behalf, at the conclusion of the Shaw side of the investigation: George C. Hibbee, J. T. Gillette, Adrian Brunel, Joseph Specker, Wallace Story, Demman Robinson, Carl A. Beckman and Mr. Libby himself. From his own testimony and that of those just named, Libby set up in substance the following defense to the charges preferred against him. Libby was elected supervisor in the spring of 1908, but was counted out in the fall of 1908, when, by decree of Judge Stone, Libby took charge of the township's affairs. He went to Shaw's house to get the books and papers belonging to the township supervisor, but was unable to get any pertaining to the current business of the township. Libby asked Clerk Donahue to call a township board meeting in December, but this the clerk did not do, and Libby himself called a meeting late in February. As Clerk Donahue and other members of the board did not attend his meetings, Libby called in another justice, his son, Forest Libby, to sit on the board to make a quorum. Forest Libby sat as a member of the board at eight of the next eleven meetings. The Shaw party claims that as Forest Libby was the junior justice, he had no right to a seat on the board. By reason of an unintentional mistake, Martin Johnson was not notified of a board meeting held on April 3. At subsequent meetings Johnson refused to serve on the board, and as Clerk Donahue and Justice Heidtmann also were usually absent, Forest Libby was appointed on the board to make a quorum. Forest Libby acted as clerk at some of these meetings.

TROUBLE OVER HIGHWAYS.

In explanation of the trouble over the road work, Libby said that on Oct. 23 he found the road commissioner and his employees working on the highway with a grader, it being so cold that the men spent much of their time telling stories around a fire. He told the highway commissioner that it was too late to work on the roads, but no attention was paid to him by the men. Later, he sent writ-

MEETING OF BOWLERS WAS ENTHUSIASTIC

COMPANY RE-ORGANIZED. THE PURPOSE BEING TO DISTRIBUTE THE STOCK MORE WIDELY.—PLANS FOR WINTER.

A representative number of the patrons of the Marquette bowling alleys attended a meeting at the Marquette club last evening, at which re-organization of the company was effected and plans outlined for the season just begun. Much enthusiasm in the winter's program was manifested at the meeting and interest in bowling promises to be at high water mark for the next few months.

It was voted last evening to increase the capital stock of the Marquette-Bowling company, limited, from $600 to $1,500, and to make the par value of the stock $5 per share instead of $12.50. The increased capitalization is said to be not more than half the investment represented by the alleys and bowling equipment.

An effort is to be made to get each regular patron of the alleys to take at least one share of stock, as it has been found that interest in the stock, however small, stimulates interest in the alleys on the part of the bowlers. A majority of the stock was subscribed at the meeting last night and a committee was appointed to solicit subscriptions from the bowlers who were unable to be present. Indications are that the shares will be rapidly taken up.

A plan for stimulating interest in the sport that has been tried on, which marked success in other cities has been adopted for the winter, in place of the league contests featured last winter. The bowlers are to be divided into three classes, known as A, B and C. The scores of those bowling on the alleys between now and Nov. 1 will be placed on record, and those whose average is over 160 will be listed in Class A; those whose average is between 150 and 160 as Class B, and those averaging below 150 as Class C. At the end of every month the bowlers will be reclassified, those whose average has improved being transferred to a higher and those who have fallen down transferred to the next lower class. Prizes will be awarded monthly to the high man in each class.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE.

Will Be Held Nov. 17-18 and Three State Speakers Will Be Present.

The dates for the Marquette county farmers' institute have been definitely set for Nov. 17 and 18. The institute will be held in the Marquette city hall. Three state speakers are expected to be in attendance: W. F. Taylor of Shelby, L. M. Geismar of the state experiment station at Chatham, and Mrs. Louise Peterson of Stephenson in the county. A woman speaker at an institute in this county will be an innovation, and it is probable that a part of the meeting will be devoted especially to the farmers' wives. Mrs. Peterson is said to be a farmer's wife and her experience should interest every woman in the county. Mr. Geismar is well known throughout the county as a wonderfully interesting talker, and Mr. Taylor is said to be no less competent and interesting.

MICHIGAN CLAIMS WAGNER.

Pirates' Star Once Played With Team in Wolverine State League.

Adrain, Mich., Oct. 19.—While Pittsburgh was battling Detroit for the championship of the world, last week, with John H. Wagner, formerly of "Honus" or "Hans," the mighty German who is the whole Pittsburgh team, playing at short for the Pirate crew, the thoughts of Adrain fans turned to the time when Wagner made his real debut in league ball, wearing an Adrain uniform and playing second base for the team that twice won the pennant in the old Michigan state league. Wagner had been playing with Mansfield in an Ohio circuit in 1895, and that city was the home town of Bollo L. Taylor, the manager of the Adrain club at the same year. The Ohio team went to pieces and Taylor set for Wagner to join the Adrain club, which he did, being furnished the money to come to Adrain by Taylor's father, one of the Mansfield team's backers. The husky German had won favor in Adrain by his playing, and stood out high with the fans. It is said that it was while he was wearing an Adrain uniform that he received his famous nickname, being dubbed "Hans" by Paul Kraft, then a local player, but now deceased.
