

TAMMANY TAKES UP A GLOOMY WORK

As a Result of the Election, It Finds It Must Set Its House in Order for Four Years of Hostile City Government.

Not Only Is the Tiger's Majority on the Board of Aldermen Cut Down from Thirty-One to a Doubtful Single Vote, but Its Foes in Its Own Party, Chosen on the Fusion Ticket, Will Be in Absolute Control of the Municipal Purse.

New York, Nov. 3.—Battle-scarred Tammany, which yesterday elected the mayor but lost the city, took up today the gloomy work of setting its house in order for four years of anti-Tammany government.

An analysis shows that the election, which resulted in the defeat by the Fusion forces of every important Tammany-Democratic candidate below mayor, was more of a victory for the anti-Tammany Democrats who had allied with the Republicans under the Fusion banner than for the Republicans.

Anti-Tammany Democrats elected on the Fusion ticket will be in absolute control of the city's purse. They will have a clear majority of the board of estimate and apportionment. The board includes, besides Mayor-elect Gaynor, who in the past has been a strong anti-machine man, five anti-Tammany Democrats and two Republicans.

Chicago, Nov. 3.—Chairman Jones, of the national prohibition committee, said today: "The most important feature of yesterday's elections was not the series of anti-license victories in Illinois and elsewhere, but the startling defeat of the reform forces in Buffalo, Cincinnati, San Francisco and other large cities."

"In almost every case there was evident a strong public sentiment for the election of clean men, but the liquor interests and their allied forces of graft and vice, put on guard by the rising sentiment against them, had been strengthening their already compact political power, and through one or the other of the dominant political organizations have easily won a temporary reprieve from the doom marked for them by public opinion."

RACIAL DISPUTE IS FOR THE COURTS

That the Attitude of the State Department on the Question of Granting Naturalization to Subjects of Turkey.

It Declines to Accept the View of Bureau Chief Campbell That the Syrians Are Not Entitled to Citizenship, and Particularly Since Experts of the Smithsonian Institution Declare the People Wholly Unconnected With the Mongol Race.

Washington, Nov. 3.—The question of granting naturalization to Turkish subjects is for the determination of the courts. This attitude of the state department was defined in a statement issued today, which is taken to indicate that the department will not accept without question the conclusion of the bureau of naturalization that Turkish subjects are not entitled to naturalization. The recent ruling of Chief Campbell, of the bureau of naturalization, that Syrians and their racial kindred who are Turkish subjects are yellow and not white, and are barred therefore from naturalization, called forth a protest from the Turkish charge d'affaires. The state department's statement follows:

"For a quarter of a century the United States has sought and continues to seek the negotiation with Turkey of a national convention to provide for the recognition by that government of the expatriation of Turkish subjects naturalized as American citizens. This well illustrates the fact that there has been no change in the policy or the views of this department on the subject of the naturalization of Turkish subjects. The basis of the recent press reports upon this question have only recently come to the notice of the state department. Such reports are without effect upon the above policy or upon the question of granting naturalization, a question which now, as in the past, is for the determination of the courts."

According to the race experts of the Smithsonian Institution, the Syrians, a large portion of the Armenians and the Arabs, Semites and other dwellers of northern Africa, notwithstanding that the hot sun has tanned their skins, are as much of the white race as any blonde white man and are wholly unconnected with the Mongol race.

IS MUCH WORSE THAN THE HOOKWORM DISEASE

That the Deadly Pellagra Threatens the Country With a National Scourge Is the Alarming View Expressed at Conference of Doctors and Scientists at Columbia, S. C.

Columbia, S. C., Nov. 2.—"While we regard Mr. Rickert's princely gift for the eradication of the hookworm at its true value, we say that a million dollars for the battle against pellagra would be far more valuable," declared Colonel Watson, South Carolina's commissioner of agriculture, in an address on pellagra before the first national conference on pellagra, which opened here today with an attendance of three hundred prominent physicians and scientists, representing more than one-third of the states and the federal government. Colonel Watson declared for a rigorous inspection of corn and corn products, impurities in which are believed to cause the disease.

Superintendent Zeller, of the state hospital for the insane at Peoria, Ill., believed the country threatened with a national scourge. His discovery of pellagra in the Peoria hospital was made Aug. 7, since when 130 cases have been diagnosed as pellagra and forty-five patients have died. Dr. Zeller is confident that patients have died from pellagra previously at this institution, without the disease having been rightly diagnosed.

DAILY MINING JOURNAL
 MORNING PAPER PUBLISHED BY THE MINING JOURNAL CO. (LIMITED).
 Entered as second class matter of the second class in the postoffice at Marquette, Mich.

A short time ago Mayor Johnson of Cleveland informed the world that he was down and out financially. Now he has gone into liquidation as a politician.

Mayor Tom Johnson announces that in spite of his defeat he will be a candidate again two years hence. Even Mr. Bryan could not come back stronger in an hour of gloom.

Mayor-elect McCarthy entertains the theory that while law and order and the reign of morality may be all very well in some places, San Francisco should be the clearing house for pleasure for the Pacific coast. Frisco has, apparently, gotten back where it was when Schmitz was mayor and Ruel the real governing power. As Heney was rejected by the voters, there will be nothing to restrain McCarthy in carrying out his ultra-liberal ideas of civic government.

A lieutenant of Senator Burrows smiles at the stories that the senator is planning to enter into a combination with this or that candidate for governor. He says the senator has always played a lone hand, and that he is too mature a statesman to set out to learn new tricks. Senator Burrows, he says, will go it alone, without dealing with any candidate for other office.

The Illinois election failed to show any subsidence in the wave of anti-saloon sentiment. The local option elections resulted, in all but the exceptional cases, favorably to the dry forces. The largest city that voted on the question was Jacksonville, which decided to continue dry after an eighteen months' experience without saloons. The dry majority in the previous election was somewhat reduced but still remained of substantial proportions. The victories of the wets were isolated. By token of the Illinois election results the extreme prohibition campaign has by no means run its course.

The state of Maryland has again refused, by a considerable majority, to disfranchise the negroes by adopting qualifications for the ballot that would discriminate unjustly against them. The amendment was fought hard by the Republican organization and the Democrats, re-enforced by many liberal Democrats, managed to outvote it by a majority which is sufficiently large to bring the Democrats from again raising the issue, at least for some years to come. The proposed amendment was vicious and un-American and its defeat, even in the face of the attempt to carry it through on a race issue, reflects the greatest credit on the electorate of Maryland.

We are now going to have an opportunity to learn whether Judge Gaynor is as indifferent a man as he has been pictured, particularly by Mr. Hearst. The first of the year he will be inaugurated into the great office of mayor of New York. His place among public men will be determined by what he does in that office. It will not take long to determine whether he has, as his enemies have asserted, struck a bargain with Tammany, or whether he is, as he himself has claimed, independent and free to govern himself accordingly as he sees the best interests of the city he has been called on to serve. The office to which he has been elected has vast possibilities for good or evil, despite the fact that the other branches of the city government will be in the hands of the Fusionists. Through it he will have control of the police department and other important city departments. During the campaign Judge Gaynor steadfastly kept away from Tammany. It will be hoped that this attitude was not merely a blind. His utterances on the stump, his manner of campaign and his patchwork record as a judge give no reason for any great expectations from the new mayor-elect, but there will be, at least until it is contradicted by facts, a hope that he will not turn out the sort of a mayor there is every reason to believe he will make.

against them, for the district court of appeals has upheld the decision of the supreme court of the District of Columbia. It is now the plan of the defendants to appeal their case to the federal supreme court, and they are on bail, pending the disposal of this phase of the matter. The right of appeal is in controversy. The district court of appeals held that the fundamental issue was whether the constitutional agencies of government should be obeyed or defied. The mere fact that the defendants were the officers of organized labor in America, said the court, lent importance to the cause, and added to the gravity of the situation, but it could not be permitted to influence the result. "If an organization of citizens, however large," the court held, "may disobey the mandates of the court, the same reasoning would render them subject to individual defiance. Both are subject to the law, and neither is above it. If a citizen, though he may honestly believe that his rights have been invaded, may elect when and to what extent he will obey the mandates of the court and the requirements of the laws as interpreted by the court, instead of pursuing the orderly course of appeal, not only the courts but government itself would become powerless and society would be reduced to a state of anarchy."

Some students of Speaker Cannon's utterances regarding the improvement of the Mississippi profess to believe that he is gradually working around to a liberal attitude in regard to the project. Perhaps he is, but he has yet, apparently, not abated his opposition to any proposal to issue bonds for waterway improvements. And it is hard to see how, without the issuance of bonds, it will be possible to take up any adequate waterway program. The last congress appropriated over $1,000,000,000. President Taft is making serious efforts to so reduce the demands from various quarters that the next budget will show a reduction from these figures, but it is difficult to find places where savings can be made to advantage. The last budget carried no extraordinary items for river and harbor work, the appropriations for harbors and waterways being only such money as was absolutely necessary to prevent deterioration of established work. Where, then, is congress going to be able to find say from $30,000,000 to $50,000,000 annually for application on a comprehensive project of waterway improvements? Any adequate plan must call for very large expenditures annually. We are so far behind in this work that if only a few odd millions are applied annually to it several generations would have to pass before we could see any adequate results. The idea of issuing bonds for the work is not one that is contemplated by anyone with pleasure, but if it's the only alternative to allowing the waterways to remain unutilized it will have to be resorted to. If Speaker Cannon can point to any way in which congress can secure steady work on a sufficiently large scale on the projects now in favor without issuing bonds there is no doubt that his plan will have a wide support. But between bonds and obstruction the country is certain to prefer the former.

IN THE ACUTE STAGE.
 The question of inland waterway improvement is now in its acute stage. Like all great public questions involving the expenditure of money from the national treasury the principal object in view had been overlooked in the discussion of the question of cost. Today, thanks to an awakened public sentiment in and among public officials, no less than in the great body of citizenship, the question of cost has become secondary because of the demonstration of the benefits that would ensue to all classes of trade and commerce and, inevitably, to the great body of consumers.

If there has been delay in the awakening of public sentiment on the question of inland waterway improvement, and if there has been delay in the awakening of the official mind, it is none the less true that when the American people finally decide on the doing of any great work, the work is as good as done. The recent trip of President Taft down the Mississippi showed, as no other object lesson could show, the determination to formulate a policy and to pursue that policy without halting—with the pork barrel for all time eliminated and with projects determined on their merits, and not on extraneous influences, and carried on to completion for the public good and the advancement of the trade and commerce of the whole country. That feature of the new policy, which has grown to proportions of active life and perfect strength through the activity and persistence of the national rivers and harbors congress, was made plain by the president in his address at St. Louis. It is a policy in which all who favor inland waterway improvement for the general good will unite with the utmost heartiness.

Another showing of the demand for improvement of the inland waterways of the country is in a recent exceedingly well timed editorial in the Memphis Commercial Appeal in which that paper, from the banks of the Mississippi, demands the improvement of the Ohio river to a nine-foot stage not for the benefit of the people of the Ohio Valley states alone but for the tremendous impetus it would give to the development of the great Mississippi valley. The Commercial Appeal took a broad view of the question. In the improvement of the Ohio would be the improvement of all trade and commerce, with the benefits not confined to one section but extending throughout the country. "The people want this improvement," said the Commercial Appeal, "not because of the money the government will spend but because it will be a tremendous benefit." It gave comprehensive endorsement to the platform of the national rivers and harbors congress—a policy; not a project under which alone the policy outlined by President Taft and demanded by the whole people can be carried out. There is no further doubt of the demand. The need is to impress it on the congress to the point of action.

TIGER'S CLAWS TRIMMED.
 The New York election had the outcome that was expected by most disinterested observers of the progress of the campaign. The election of Judge Gaynor to be mayor was the thing that it was seen was most likely to happen. Yet in spite of this Tammany has not won a victory. It has not even gotten a draw. An impartial referee must award the decision to the Fusionists.

By electing the controller, president of the council and part of the borough presidents the Fusionists have assured that the control of the billion of dollars that will be expended under the direction of the board of estimates and apportionment during the four years of Gaynor's administration will be distributed by men elected on the anti-Tammany issue and pledged to an honest outlay of the money. Tammany has the executive, but the successful candidates on the Fusion ticket will hold the purse strings.

To make this bad matter worse, Tammany failed to elect the two officers who have to do with the enforcement of the law in New York county, the district attorney and the sheriff. For the former office Charles S. Whitman was elected over Battle, the Tammany candidate. Whitman is a distinguished New York lawyer, with some experience on the bench. He has been identified with legal reforms obtained in New York, principally the establishment of the night court, and is a man of the highest character, of force and of excellent ability. Under his direction the district attorney's office ought to become a greater power for good in New York than it has ever been before. Sullivan, the Tammany candidate for sheriff, was a typical machine candidate, to whom Shea, the Fusionist nominee, is infinitely preferable.

New York would doubtless be able to look forward to a much better administration during the four years to come if Mr. Bannard, rather than Judge Gaynor, had been elected mayor, yet Tammany's power in other directions has been so greatly curbed that the result of the election is a net gain for the anti-Tammany elements, rather than a loss, and they can well view the results with pleasure, even if it is tinged with regret that the electorate failed to prefer to Gaynor as promising a candidate as Mr. Bannard.

In contemplating the as a whole satisfactory results of the election the New Yorkers who believe that the best interests of the city demand the curbing of Tammany at every opportunity cannot fail to realize their indebtedness to one William Randolph Hearst. It is to him, more than to anyone else, that the reverses suffered by Tammany can be attributed. His candidacy for mayor, and his support of the Fusion candidates on the Republican ticket, was the thing which made possible the wresting of the control of the board of estimates and apportionment from the Tammany organization. No one who has followed the course of the campaign and who observes the vote can have any reasonable doubt that had not Mr. Hearst entered the fight the Democrats would have been able to keep their grasp on the money bags.

We have an idea that it was more with the belief that he would be able to effect that purpose than with any expectation that he would be elected mayor of New York that Mr. Hearst entered the campaign. His actual motive is hidden within himself. It may have been one of disinterested service to the people of the city; it may have been a desire to even up the score with Tammany because Tammany cut him when he was a candidate for governor. But whatever the motive the work was good, and for once the people of New York have occasion to thank of Hearst with gratitude.

A LITTLE BIT ABOUT EVERYTHING.
 Grant Under Fire.
 For the information of those who have never been in battle, let me say, without seeming didactic, that the command general or his corps, commanders are rarely where the artists have depicted them, on rearing horses, leading or directing amid a sheet of fire. There are times, however, when the artist is true to life, as when Sheridan seeing Ayres and regulars receding for a moment under terrific fire at Five Forks dashed in, and there and then with those flashing eyes he might have been painted; Warren that same day seized the colors and broken his lines at Gettysburg. But, as a rule, the corps commander chooses a position where he can see all the field and his troops as they engage. The test of his genius is in choosing the critical moment when he will join them. Suppose McClellan had shown himself and ridden his lines at Gettysburg, or Bragg at Chickamauga, the outcome might have been different. Owing to the character of the Wilderness, Grant had few chances to seize opportunities of that kind. At Spottsylvania, the night upon was making his assault and breaking their lines temporarily, he was close up, and I sat my horse not far from him. He was mounted on Egypt. There were two or three lines of battle within thirty or forty paces of each other and of him. The fire that reached us was considerable; an orderly carrying the headquarters standard was killed and a solid shot struck an oak five or six inches through squarely, not thirty feet from us, shivering it into brown shivers; but through it all Grant wore the same imperturbable but somewhat pleading face.—Morris Schaff, in the November Atlantic.

A LAUGH OR TWO
 What She'd Take.
 An elderly lady who was suing a railroad company for slight injuries sustained in an accident, went to her lawyer's office to learn of the progress of the case. The lawyer had notified the company of the action, and the latter agreed to compromise if the plaintiff would meet them half way.
 When the lady sent her name into the lawyer the office boy returned with the question:
 "Mr. Brief wants to know what you'll take."
 "That's very considerate of Mr. Brief," replied the lady. "And if it's all the same to him I'll take a small glass of sherry."
 Took Her at Her Word.
 A woman came into the general store with a jar of butter. She desired to exchange it for another jar of butter. In changing her butter she had discovered a mouse in the churn.
 "It didn't injure the butter," she said to the storekeeper, "and to any one who did not know the circumstances it would taste all right!"
 Taking the woman at her word, the merchant carried her jar into the back room, transferred her butter to another jar, and the gratified customer took back her mouse butter with a thousands thanks for the accommodation.

ILLITERACY IN THE SOUTH.
 The general assembly of Georgia has adjourned, abandoning a measure for improving the compulsory education law enacted last year. That such a bill should have been shabbily treated now that the initial step has been taken is cause for surprise. Despite a strong appeal in committee neither house showed any interest to take up the matter. Compared to legislation of this nature in the north the bill was moderate, only three months' attendance at school in a year being required, the exemption age being 14. It is estimated that there are 200,000 adult illiterates in the state, but the condition is tolerable to those Georgians who profess to fear evil consequences from the spread of education among the black people. In neighboring Alabama there is a similar conflict between advanced thought and the purposes of politicians as influenced by public sentiment respecting the color line. Recent statistics show that only about one-half of the children attend school. Nor is the lack of a compulsory law prejudicial to the to the blacks alone. Tens of thousands of white children in Alabama are growing up without learning to read and write.—Providence Journal.

INDOOR BASEBALL AT HANCOCK.

Hibernians and Light Infantry Win in the League Initiative.

The indoor baseball season in Hancock opened Tuesday evening at Germania Hall with games between the A. O. H. and K. of C. and the Naval Reserve and Light Infantry.

The Hibernians won the first game by shutting out the Knights of Columbus by the score of 9 to 0. The contest started out well, but in the fourth inning the green-sweatered men landed on Maier for seven runs. Maier started out in fine form and struck out seven men in the first three innings. Carnes pitched for the A. O. H. team, and although he did not have any practice played a great game. Following is the summary:

R. H. E.
A. O. H. 000710010—9 17 1
K. of C. 000000000—0 5 5
Batteries: Carnes and Stack; Maier and Funke; Umpires: Reutenbach and Bakken. Struck out by Carnes, 17; by Maier, 10. Base on balls, of Maier, 1. Two-base hits, J. Flynn, two.

The team of the Houghton Light Infantry, dubbed "The Light Infantry," made its debut in the indoor league and administered to the naval reserve team a defeat which will never be forgotten. It was one of these games of hit and run, and the score at the end of the crucial story of the slaughter. Barnes pitched for the militia and worked well. Clavin, the surprise of the naval reserves, occupied the box for the sailors. He was not accorded the best of support and as the military team is made up of a bunch of sluggers he was hit hard. Two-baggers were very common. The score at the end of the game was 25 to 2. The runs were made as follows:

H. L. I. 000000000—310146137—25
Reserves 100010000—2
Runs and hits and strikeouts followed each other in such rapid succession that even the official scorer was unable to keep count of them. However, Barnes pitched a fine game and had many strikeouts in his credit. Croze was the best hitter and never missed. The military team is a corner and the others in the league will have to go some to keep ahead of this aggregation.

IS COMING TO HANCOCK.

Lieutenant Hutchinson of United States Navy Visits Lake Superior.

A Duluth dispatch says: Lieutenant Commander Benjamin F. Hutchinson of the United States navy department with headquarters at Washington, D. C., is in Duluth. He is distinctively a salt water man. He came up on the steamer Houghton and was much interested in lake navigation. He says that the trip has been a great revelation to him. The way the large ore vessels are handled by the captains, he says, is little short of wonderful. The lieutenant says that the lake navigators have it on the salt water men, and that he is sure but few salt water sailors could safely bring a vessel all the way up the lakes. He says, however, that on the ocean when land is left far out of sight, he thinks the lake men could be taught something about navigation.

Commander Hutchinson is in Duluth to confer with the officers of the naval militia and with vessel masters and owners with a view to holding schools of instruction at various points on the lakes during the winter months. He wishes to stimulate more interest in the schools established by the department. Captain Swenson of the local hydrographic office will again have charge of the school.

Lieutenant Commander Hutchinson was on the battleship Wisconsin on his trip around the world. He served as executive officer of the department at Milwaukee and Chicago before returning East.

HANCOCK RAILROAD FATALITY.

Details of Shocking Accident in Which Mrs. Raappana Met Death.

The accident in Hancock Tuesday afternoon in which Mrs. Selma Raappana, sixty years of age, met death was one of the most horrid fatalities in years. The woman was literally torn into pieces by a Mineral Range engine. Mrs. Raappana had been to the store of F. Elicka & Co. and on her way home. Engine No. 190, with a train of coal cars, with Conductor Reutenbach and Engineer McLaughlin in charge, was approaching from Hancock. The woman was warned by John Bogan, the flagman, not to cross the track, she ignored his warning. She was struck by the train and her body was mangled and strewn along the track.

As soon as possible after the accident an undertaker was called and the pieces of the body were picked up and taken to Andrew Petaja's morgue. Mrs. Raappana was a widow and lived with her daughter, Mrs. Herman Niemela, on Franklin street.

J. T. Conroy, son of Sheriff Conroy of Alger county, arrived in Houghton yesterday morning, looking for Alfred Houghton, who is wanted for larceny at Munising. Houghton was located at South Range yesterday morning by Deputy Sheriff Carroll of Sheriff Byers' staff and brought into Houghton Conroy left with his man yesterday afternoon.

GEORGE ROSS BOUND OVER.

Watchman at the Quincy Must Stand Trial in the Circuit Court.

The examination of George Ross, the Quincy nightwatchman charged with assault with intent to kill and murder, was completed before Justice Olivier in Hancock Tuesday. The testimony had been transcribed and was signed by the witnesses. Attorney John B. Kerr of Calumet appeared for the prosecution and Attorney S. L. Lawton represented the defendant.

Upon the conclusion of the examination Justice Olivier bound Ross over to the next term of circuit court and fixed the bonds at $10,000. The bonds were furnished.

NEW GAME LAW WRINKLES.

Copper Country Hunters Are Reminded of Some of the New Features.

Just to remind hunters and fishermen who have not read the new game laws, the following pointers are published: Act No. 183 of 1909 provides a closed season for bear from the first day of April to Oct. 31 of each year.

The closed season for whitefish and trout, commercial fishing, is from Nov. 20 to Dec. 15. All commercial fishermen catching whitefish and trout in the spawning season must strip these fish, properly impregnate the eggs and turn them over to the state game and fish warden for planting.

Act No. 239 of 1907 provides that it is unlawful to take snags, mullet, dogfish and lawyers in December, January, February, March and April from the Sturgeon river, Houghton county, by means of nets or in any other manner that might be destructive to other fish during these months.

Any person, firm or corporation owning or using any dam across any stream or river in the state must provide a fish chute or ladder for the free passage of fish across the dam. The game warden may, however, give permission to do away with such a chute in order that it may not interfere with water power.

WIRELESS PHONES PLANNED.

Representative of Radio Telephone Company Is in Calumet.

The Radio Telephone company, which has a monopoly in the wireless telephone field and which uses the Lee DeForest wireless system exclusively, is planning to install a service of wireless telephone and wireless telegraph in the copper country as far as the Great Lakes system. To this end Frank W. Packer of Toledo, O. agent and expert for the Radio company and the DeForest people, is in Calumet and will remain there about three months, gathering data and looking over the field, getting into touch with the business people of the copper country and preparing for the installation of wireless telephone and wireless telegraph plants, both at Calumet and Houghton. The first wireless telegraph message from Calumet to Duluth was transmitted Tuesday and the system worked satisfactorily.

TANGLED DOMESTIC LITIGATION.

Mrs. Leonie Riel Sues for Separate Maintenance—Cross Bill Filed.

In the circuit court in chancery yesterday morning there opened a case which tells of a tangled domestic situation. It is the "all of Mrs. Leonie Riel of Hancock for separate maintenance from her husband, Gear Riel, an employee of the Hancock Mining company. The parties have been married since 1902, but separated last June. In July Mrs. Riel had her husband arrested for non-support and he was convicted in justice Brand's court, Houghton. He appealed this case to the circuit court and it is now pending. Riel lays his troubles to August Gauthier, a Hancock contractor, and in the November term of the circuit court will be tried a suit brought by Riel against Gauthier for trespass, apparently growing out of the present difficulty.

Riel declares that he and his family were living in Gauthier's house in Hancock, Gauthier being with them, that Mrs. Riel and Gauthier became unduly intimate and when he reentered the house, Mrs. Gauthier sought separate maintenance on the ground that her husband is a violent, cruel and of low and vulgar instincts. In his cross bill he alleges that Gauthier is responsible for all the trouble.

MEAN MAN.

The newest "mean man" story: In a western county of Kansas the dead body of an unknown man was recently discovered. In his pockets they found $100 in bank notes and a big revolver.

"What about it?" asked the innocent one. "You would expect that they'd have used that hundred in finding his relatives, or falling in that, have given him a decent burial, now, wouldn't you?"

"Sure." "Well, they didn't" is the answer. They arranged his dead body, before a justice of the peace for carrying concealed weapons and fined him $100 and buried him in the potter's field.—Kansas City Journal.

DISCUSSES SCHOOL LAW.

State Superintendent Wright Meets Officers of Two Counties.

About sixty school officers of Houghton and Baraga counties, including superintendents, county commissioners and members of the boards of education, met in the kindergarten room of the Central school yesterday to hear a discussion of the new school laws by Hon. Luther L. Wright of Ironwood, state superintendent of public instruction. The meeting opened at 9:30 o'clock yesterday morning. It was the original intention to have Deputy Superintendent Keeler of Laumet, Houghton, and the schools of the district here, but he was prevented from keeping the engagement and Mr. Wright conducted the meeting alone.

The meeting yesterday morning was an informal discussion of recent school legislation. Mr. Wright first addressed the gathering. He said the schools of the upper peninsula and particularly the copper country many complaints and he also paid a high tribute to Hon. A. D. Edwards of Atlantic, representative from this district, who as chairman of the committee on education in the house of representatives, had introduced the bill bringing about much beneficial school legislation.

The new qualifications for a high school were discussed at some length. A high school in Michigan now must be a school of at least ten grades, with 100 members, two teachers and five members of the school board. The law makes it obligatory on a school district which has no high school to appropriate at least $20 per year for each pupil who desires a high school education, this to be paid in full to the high school in another district which they will attend. The $20 will probably not pay all the tuition and in that event the district must pay the additional cost.

Mr. Wright said that in some districts the taxpayers had the idea that they were paying the tuition, while the fact is that each boy and girl brings into the district his or her per capita of the primary school appropriation. This continues for fifteen years. If the boy or girl completes the grammar school and his still seven years of school ahead, they will have the seven years of primary school money coming on their account to their district. This will be a portion of the tuition which they will pay.

"The fact is," said Mr. Wright, "in a large way of looking at it, morally so to speak, the primary school fund does not belong to the school district, but to the boy or girl. The state of Michigan owes that boy and girl an education and that they do not get it they have been robbed of something that belongs to them."

The law directs that the school districts may use an excess of primary money for the payment of tuition. Herebefore the primary money could not be used for anything but the payment of the salaries of teachers employed in the district. Now the excess above their schooling of advanced pupils in the high schools of other districts.

The question of who is a voter at a school meeting came up. Mr. Wright divided these voters into two classes—those who can vote on any question, who must be citizens, taxpayers and residents of the districts for three months, and those who are parents or guardians, who must be citizens and have resided in the district three months and can vote on all questions but those relating to the raising of money. A young man who is a voter but not a taxpayer, nor parent or guardian cannot vote at a school election.

An adjourned regular meeting of the Hancock city council was held Tuesday afternoon. It was decided to sell to

TO COMPLETE TRINITY CHURCH.

Houghton Episcopal Parish Will Seek Ten Thousand Dollar Fund.

A meeting of Trinity church parish, Houghton, has been called for Nov. 15 for the purpose of adopting steps and means for raising about $10,000 required for the completion of the church edifice. It has been decided by Rev. Curzon and the board to proceed with the work at once, impelled by the desire of the congregation to occupy the entire building.

The new Trinity church was begun three years ago and the basement had been completed for use temporarily a year ago last February. It has been in use as the church ever since. The structure is entirely completed with the exception of the interior finish of the main floor, the pews and the stained glass windows. A magnificent altar has been donated by Mrs. Carlos B. Sheldon of Houghton and her daughter, Mrs. John B. Ryan of Butte, and this will be installed as soon as the interior of the church is completed.

Rev. Curzon said yesterday that a few days ago a member of the church said: "Why do we not complete the main floor? I'd donate $200 toward it." Another, overhearing the remark, promptly subscribed $500 more, and still another the same amount, and the pastor was encouraged to proceed. Now without any special effort on his part he has received promises of $2,250 and is going to work early and late for the balance of the required amount.

Trinity church, when completed, will be one of the finest small church edifices in the upper peninsula. It is one of the products of architectural beauty of Houghton.

MINNEAPOLIS ELKS TO COME.

Hundreds of Visitors on Occasion of Dedicating Calumet Temple.

Not only will members of the order from Hancock, Marquette, Negaunee, Ishpeming, Iron Mountain, Duluth and Soo be in attendance on the occasion of the dedication of the temple of the Calumet Elks, but a good-sized delegation of Minneapolis and St. Paul Elks will be present in the copper metropolis for that event. Calumet Elks, who visited Duluth to attend the dedication of the temple in that city were given as surprises by the Elks of Duluth and the twin cities that large delegations from all three of the Minnesota towns would assist in dedicating the Calumet temple. Special arrangements will be made by the Calumet Elks to care for and entertain the large bodies of visitors looked for. It is expected that several local Michigan lodges will be represented and that officers of the Michigan Elks' association will also be present.

DEMONSTRATION OF ENGINE.

Hundreds See New Chemical at Work on Fire in Hancock.

Two or three hundred people gathered near the Kerridge boiler, Hancock Tuesday afternoon, to witness the demonstration of the new chemical fire engine, recently purchased by the city. Among those present were the members of the city council and board of public works, members of the Houghton department and village council. President Schumaker of Red Jacket and his fire department and representatives of other fire departments.

A huge pile of timbers covered with staves from the barrels, with a large amount of slivings and paper, was well saturated with about half a barrel of kerosene oil. The torch was applied

AND A FEW SECONDS THE PILE WAS A MASS OF BURNING DISKS.

The pile was scalded and the city team came down Quincy street on the gallop with the new engine. In scarcely any time the machine was playing its chemical compound on the blaze with a pressure of 120 pounds. The heat from the blaze was such that no one could get near it, and in a way the demonstration was a failure. The tar and oil in the fire made it most difficult to fight. Both exchangers of the engine were worked, but the fire was not put out. It was shown, however, that the chemical engine is valuable for use in fighting small fires where there is no water supply. The big bon fire was so large and the heat so intense that it was not extinguished. That the engine is entirely satisfactory was shown by its acceptance by the city council.

NEVADA CONSOLIDATED.

At the annual meeting of Nevada Consolidated company, held at Portland, Mo., the stockholders voted to increase the capital stock to 300,000 shares, which brings the total up to 2,000,000. There were 267,000 shares represented at the meeting, and every share was voted in favor of the increase. The new stock will be used to acquire the stock of the Cumberland Fly company on the basis of one share of Nevada Consolidated for three and one-quarter shares of Cumberland Fly. Murray Guggenheim was elected to the board of directors to succeed John K. McGowan, President Phillips said: "During the fiscal year the Nevada Consolidated produced 34,227,324 pounds of refined copper. For October the actual shipments exceeded five million pounds and by January, 1910, there is every reason to expect that the monthly production of refined copper will reach six million pounds."

Mr. Phillips referred to the proposition to acquire the Cumberland Fly as follows: "The purpose is to secure to Nevada Consolidated absolute individual ownership of the Steptoe smelter, control and practical ownership of the Nevada Fly administration, with a consequent reduction in operating costs. It appeared to the board that Nevada Consolidated had outgrown the arrangement which in its infancy it had entered into with the Cumberland Fly to share the smelter jointly, and sound judgment dictated the formulation of the proposition to the stock company to absorb it upon an equitable basis such as agreed upon. A comparatively small area of this territory is now being developed. The extraordinary ore body aggregating 8,000,000 tons of a copper tenor of about 2 1/2 per cent blocked out on a single claim—the Ruth—constitutes in itself a mine. The Nevada Northern railway has continued to improve its equipment and efficiency. The average percentage of the extraction of copper and precious metals from the concentrate and the smelter is gradually improving and the installation of the new recuperators and converters has secured increased economy in the cost of production, while the completion of the new construction, in January, next, will effect a further saving of expenses. During the last quarter the production was 14,265,788 pounds. While the operations in the quarter were still less than normal, the earnings were on a basis of considerably over $5,000,000 per annum."

An Eastern dispatch of yesterday's date quotes a New York party close to copper mining corporations as saying: "The Cole-Ryan people are at work upon the problem of combining North Butte and Butte with Amalgamated. Neither North Butte or Butte has any smelter, but each has very valuable ground and many questions may arise in the future concerning their independent operation by the managers of Amalgamated. Therefore it is considered the part of wisdom to see if they can be absorbed by Amalgamated at the present time. The Cole-Ryan interests would very much like to put in the Greene Cananea and possibly the Giroux at the same time."

A rumor is current in the Boston financial district to the effect that a compromise may be effected in the litigation of the Old Dominion company against A. S. Bigelow, and consequently the "receipts" have been in better demand. A Bigelow interest says: "I do not know from whom the offer came, but overtures have been made looking to a compromise. It is almost needless for me to state that these overtures have not come from Mr. Bigelow and he proposes to fight the matter through to the end. He will not listen to anything but a wired back."

The Butte Colliery company is producing at the rate of over forty million pounds of copper per annum. This is more than double that of 1908. The present cost of the company's copper is about ten cents per pound. The directors say that if the extraordinary exploration work were suspended, the cost could easily be reduced to nine cents a pound.

Once more it is safe for the police of Bayonne, N. J., to patrol their beats, catwalk a big, ugly, great, that spent part of his time battering in drug store windows and eating sponges and hot water bags, and other hours eating brass buttons off the uniforms of policemen and then butting his despoiled victims about the street, is dead. He was shot 12 times in police headquarters by Patrolman Harris.

The policeman had survived an attack by Catapult, says the New York Press, but he had been compelled to bury his gunner because of its deathly odor. Therefore, it was with a feeling of supreme satisfaction that he sent bullet after bullet into the offender. Even in his death throes Catapult lived up to his reputation. He gave one last butt, upset the policeman, three chairs and a spittoon, and as he died he uttered a muffled out of the police blotter and swallowed it. He died as heroically as he had lived.

Catapult made one mistake. He had been content after he had smashed in a drug store window in Eighteenth street and eaten six sponges and four hot water bags he would have been all right. The feat made him proud. He was just looking the taste of rubber off his lips when he saw Patrolman Barney McCarthy, the biggest man on the police force, coming toward him. Barney weighs 300 pounds, and when he needs a uniform the tailor orders a bolt of the goods and a peck of buttons.

Catapult decided he wanted a few lines written for dessert. He waited until McCarthy had passed. Then he snaked up behind the policeman and had pulled four buttons off the tails of the coat before he was discovered. McCarthy hit him with his club, Catapult backed off a few feet, lunged forward and hit the 300-pound policeman. McCarthy went up in the air and came down in the street with such a thud that the pears on a tree in Henry Sheldon's back yard were shaken from the limbs. McCarthy yelled for help. Patrolman Harris was a long distance off, but he heard him. Harris rushed to the rescue and the goat rushed to Harris. The second bullet, too, went to the dust. The two policemen regained their feet and after a desperate struggle dragged the goat to the police station, where sentence of death was passed by Recorder Mara and executed by Harris.

A PAJAMA ONE.

"The late Col. A. K. McClure was a brilliant raconteur," said a veteran Cloyer club man. "I'll never forget his pajama story."

"Colonel McClure told this story at a Cleveland dinner in the old Bellevue of Philadelphia. It was a story about the Spanish war."

"There was a regiment, it seems, recruited from Conshohocken, Cinnaminson, Wawa and Mahanika Chunk and the ladies of those Pennsylvania towns got together after the regiment's departure and made a lot of pajamas for the soldiers. Pajamas were a new thing in those days; smart, exclusive, and so forth; the ordinary man wore a night-shirt."

"Well, these pajamas, in a half dozen big packing cases, went duly Cahawards, but no word of their arrival ever came back. The ladies waited about a month. They wired to the colonel, a general, whole-souled Conshohocken."

"Anxious to know if you got the pajamas last month?"

"The colonel had never heard of pajamas. He wired back."

"Story is a lie out of whole cloth, probably fabricated by enemies to ruin me politically. Admit am not total abstainer, but never had pajamas last month or any other time."—Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

Cured of severe compound cold and cough by

Vinol

"From Dec. 20, '08, to March 1, '09, I had three bad colds, one on top of the other. I got so weak I could hardly get around. Nothing seemed to help me until I began to take Vinol. The change was made. Three bottles completely fixed that compound cold and stopped the terrible cough—and what surprised me most, at the same time it cured me of a severe stomach trouble that has bothered me for 20 years."

Vinol is certainly a wonderful medicine.

Mr. Toppan is one of Lynn's most prominent and highly respected merchants, whose word is as good as his bond.

The reason Vinol is so successful in such cases is because it contains the two most world-famed tonics—the medicinal, strengthening, body-building elements of Cod Liver Oil and Tonic Iron.

D. Fred Charlton, the architect, left for Milwaukee on business last evening.

L. M. Hatch, superintendent at Ives Lake farm, was in Marquette last evening.

Mrs. Elizabeth Lohr and Mrs. W. R. Buras of Munising spent yesterday in Marquette.

The next ceremonial session of the Ancient Order of Nobles of the Mystic Shrine will be held in Marquette Dec. 8.

At the county clerk's office yesterday, a marriage license was issued to Wm. S. Voorhis and Mrs. Cora Gibbs, both of whom are residents of Granite Falls, Wash.

The Skandia Grange will give a supper and dance at F. Johnson & Son's hall at Skandia on the evening of Nov. 20. Admission will be fifty cents per couple. First class music is promised and everybody is invited.

Andy J. Perrin, city agent for the South Shore railway in Duluth, has wired friends in this city not to miss "The Gentleman from Mississippi" at the opera house Friday night, which he declares to be one of the best, if not the best attraction of the year.

Last evening a farewell party was given by the members of the Delta Alpha society at the home of Miss Jessie M. Strong, 362 West Park street, in honor of Miss Cassie McNeil, who is going to make her home at Iron River, Wis. The evening was spent with games and music. Dainty refreshments were served.

Dance by Our Boys' Band—Our Boys' band will give a dance at Legion Hall tomorrow night, tickets for which will be twenty-five cents. The boys still have $25 to raise in order to pay for the tuba horn which was purchased a short time ago. Former parties given by the band have been enjoyable occasions and the dance tomorrow night deserves a good attendance.

A. W. Shilling Goes East—A. W. Shilling, assistant weather observer in Marquette for some years past, left last evening with his family for Baltimore, Md., where Mr. Shilling will accept a position of weather service, carrying with it increased responsibilities. Mr. Shilling's former position here will be filled by Mr. Pugh of St. Louis, Mo.

Grading Contracts Let—At the meeting of the park, cemetery and street commission held yesterday afternoon, Wm. Parson was awarded the contract for grading Fifth avenue from Waldo to Norwood street, 1,435 feet, at thirty-four cents a lineal foot, and Norwood street, from Presque Isle to Longyear avenue, 406 feet, for thirty cents a lineal foot. Nothing else except routine business was done at the meeting.

Traction Men in Town—W. J. Barber of Milwaukee and W. B. Chapman of Chicago, both experienced traction line promoters, were in the city yesterday. For several years Mr. Barber has had under consideration the construction of an interurban railway from Marquette to Ishpeming, and the visit was largely for the purpose of giving Mr. Chapman a first hand idea of the scheme and its possibilities.

At the Bowling Alleys—Two league matches were bowled at the downtown alleys last evening. The Huskies were defeated by the Vikings, two out of three, and the Vikings took three straight games from the Guild Hall A team. Tonight will be a busy time at the alleys and it is expected there will be a big turnout of rooters. On alley five and six team No. 4 and the Finches will have a regular league game on alley one and two the Old Reliabilities and Ishpeming No. 2, and on three and four the Ringers and Ishpeming No. 1 team.

Special Hunters Train—Beginning yesterday and continuing until Nov. 19, Sunday excepted, the South Shore railway will run a special train to Marquette City for the accommodation of deer hunters who are now coming into this country in large numbers from the lower peninsula. The train arrived in Marquette last night about 9 o'clock. Both lines of down state hunters came into the upper peninsula and still larger numbers are expected each day until the opening of the season.

Army Gun for $3—It is not often that one has the privilege of buying a $30 gun for $3, but it may be had at A. E. Archambault's store as long as the consignment lasts. About two weeks ago, Mr. Archambault bought fifty discarded army rifles from a firm that has purchased a large supply. The guns arrived yesterday and are now on sale. The guns are just as they were used in the army, in good and all, and cost the government $30 each. They are forty-three caliber and either a shot or bullet cartridge can be used. The gun weighs a little over nine pounds.

Sent to Asylum—The unidentified man in the county jail, who has been an enigma to the officers since his incarceration a few weeks ago, was yesterday given the name of John Doe and sent to the insane asylum at Newberry. Ever since he has been in this city he has been violently insane at times and has been unable to tell his name or anything about himself. As he could not talk or drink, he was taken to the hospital, but because of his violent demeanor, he was returned to the jail Sunday. His case has been a most peculiar one. Sheriff Lehman took him to the asylum yesterday afternoon.

Exciting Runaway—A horse owned by M. A. Quinn, hitched to a wagon load of cabbages, made his way out on Baraga avenue for a few moments yesterday afternoon. The horse was standing at the corner of Third and Baraga, when he became frightened at a boy with an express wagon and started to run down Baraga toward the lake, heads of cabbage in the street marking the path taken. Opposite the city market, the wagon upset and the remaining cabbages were spilled out, but the horse kept on going. He turned on Lake street toward Cheesday, but in going under the trestle, the wagon caught on the trestle work and the animal was caught. No one was hurt and the only damage was the loss of a few heads of cabbage and a broken wagon.

Basketball—Last night there was a meeting of the city basketball team at E. W. Weber's office on Spring street. Those present were: Hub Weiser, C. C. Drake, A. Catlin, Jean Sullivan, F. Reinhardt, K. Richardson, Elmer Jeanson and Sidney Webb. The name "Marquette Basketball team" was adopted, and O. Bell was elected manager. A meeting is called for Saturday evening at the bowling alleys, when a captain will be chosen and positions assigned. Active training will begin at once. Manager Bell is in favor of a league of the various teams organized in the city and would like to have the managers of the different teams get together and discuss the subject.

INSURE WITH PETER WHITE & CO.

ARE THE SENATORS AT SIXES AND SEVENS?

DETROIT VIEW OF COLLECTORSHIP CONTEST REPRESENTS THEM AS WORKING AT CROSS PURPOSES.

The Detroit News this week printed an interesting review of the contest over the office of collector of customs for the Superior district. It was printed under a Marquette date line, but it wasn't written in Marquette. A guess that it was from the pen of John Fitzgibbon, the News' chief political dispatcher, is probably not far out of the way. It is here reproduced:

"The vacancy in the Marquette collectorship, in the opinion of politicians in this section, seems likely to determine the question whether Senator Julius Caesar Burrows shall play second fiddle to Senator William Alden Smith, or whether Julius Caesar will saw the big fiddle and William Alden the little one. When Collector G. S. Smith, who always sided with Burrows, died several weeks ago, William Alden's lusty Ishpeming lieutenant, Charles J. Byrns, believed he had a walkover for the vacant office.

"William Alden said: 'In with you, Charles, to the finish.' Julius Caesar blinched innocently. Later he took to blinking ominously, whenever the Marquette collectorship was mentioned, and now William Alden and his candidate are feeling very serious.

"In fact they look at the situation so seriously that Byrns has a friend soliciting reinforcements for him from as far off as Detroit. This friend has been asking Detroit members of the legislature to endorse Byrns. One of these members sought advice. He was told that the term of Customs Collector John Whelan, in his own city, has not very much longer to run, that John wants to succeed himself, that one or more others want to succeed John, and that the Wayne legislators may be asked any week to endorse John or one of his rivals. Therefore, the Detroit legislator is wise who refrains from putting into the Marquette fight.

"Since William Alden was elected senator three years ago, appointments have been made but only to really important federal offices in Michigan, which are senators' perquisites. One was Mahobin J. McLeod for revenue collector at Detroit, the other John T. Rich, for customs collector at Port Huron. McLeod was Burrows' particular selection, although he was not objectionable to William Alden. Rich was equally acceptable to both senators. Both McLeod and Rich are depended on to do all they can to try and re-elect Burrows.

"While G. S. Smith was collector, Burrows was always sure of the support of the entire Lake Superior customs district, which is no small factor. With a senatorial campaign coming on Burrows and his managers don't want anybody put on guard at the Marquette custom house who won't promise to whomp it up for Burrows, insofar as the treasury department rules and regulations permit a customs collector to whomp it up for any sort of a candidate.

"Of course if William Alden and his candidate had, right away after Collector Smith's death, proclaimed that they were for Julius Caesar's re-election, the latter, it is believed here, would have acquiesced in Byrns' appointment. But, instead, William Alden gave notice that he wanted Byrns appointed, and having said so stood pat.

"The matter has now gone so far that folk hereabout are remarking that if William Alden and Byrns would now say that they are willing to climb into the Burrows bandwagon it would look like a surrender, not for a principle, but for an office. And an impression would surely develop that if William Alden yields in the present case it will mean that Burrows has secured possession of the first fiddle, and will play it, while William Alden plays second fiddle as long as the two are Michigan's representatives in the senate. So, it's up to William Alden to stay standing pat for Byrns, as he said he would, or take the small fiddle.

"It is gossiped here that Julius Caesar's managers have been telling him to fight for the first fiddle, in substance like this: 'Old man, we know you weren't one, two, six when Roosevelt was in the White House. But it's different now, we hope. Taft has O.K.'d Aldrich, and you voted on practically all the tariff schedules, at the late special session, the same as Aldrich. So, as one of Aldrich's senators, we feel that you have, inferentially, been O.K.'d also. Maybe it isn't so, but you know, old man, that before the votes are counted claim everything in sight. We want to retain the Marquette customs patronage for you, instead of letting it pass to William Alden. You'll need it next year.'

"It is not expected that a new collector will be appointed until both Julius Caesar and William Alden have made their arguments to the president. The result is awaited here with far more interest than the mere appointing of a new collector would ordinarily arouse."

MARKETS

NEW YORK STOCKS.

Paine, Webber & Co's correspondent at New York yesterday telegraphed as follows: "The market today was dull but firm. In conservative quarters the view was expressed that the trading remained quiet during the next couple of weeks the money situation would practically cease to be a factor and the way would then be open for a really important bull movement. It is estimated that since the United Metal Selling company cut the price of copper last week, sales aggregating a total of between twenty-five to fifty million pounds were made. We understand that the large producers are now pretty well sold up into the latter part of the current year. As stated in our morning letter, the trade is taking a much more cheerful view of the copper situation, which is evident in the strength of the copper shares of late. Some talk around the street of a hitch in the financial plans of New York Central brought about some liquidation and selling in that issue, but it resulted in only a small decline. We still advise purchases on all moderate reactions."

which will make all the stocks look cheap. We most strongly advise buying copper before the advance comes, and believe this should be done right away, as we believe the end of the week will see much higher prices. Copper Range will be one of the first to follow the rise in Amalgamated, and should have a quick jump of 8 or 9 points. A large part of the floating stock of East Butte was picked up today, and that stock is in position for a considerable further advance. Advices from the mine received are of a most favorable nature."

Copper Metal Prices.

New York, Nov. 3.—The market for standard copper in the New York Metal exchange closed steady today, with spot and the November and the December quoted at 12.50/12.55, the January at 12.60/12.80 and the February 12.70/12.85. The London market was easy with spot quoted at 457.15 and futures at 458.175, 6d. The sales reported in the English market were 300 tons of spot and 1,900 tons of futures. There were no sales on the local exchange. New York dealers quote Lake copper at 12.87 1/2/13, electrolytic at 12.50/12.57 1/2 and casting at 12.37 1/2/12.75.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKETS.

Chicago, Nov. 3.—Wheat suffered severely today, owing to general liquidation based on the weakness of the cash situation in this country and the favorable outlook for the Argentine crop. The news regarding the cash situation was the chief reason for a general run of long lines of wheat here. Advices from Minneapolis claimed that owing to the continued liberal receipts the milling and spring demand was insufficient to absorb all the wheat, and the Northwestern grain centers will soon be on an elevator basis. Heavy profit-taking in the December was the feature, and that option declined 2 1/2% from the high point of the day. At the close the price showed a net loss of 1 1/2 to 2 1/2%.

Cotton Market.

Paine, Webber & Co's Chicago correspondent had this to say concerning the yesterday's wheat market: "The market having declined for two or three days, many pit traders took the buying side at the early month of the first hour, on the theory that the market might have a quick upturn. The trade was badly fooled. A leading interest started in to sell a line of December wheat while buying some May. At the same time, private Argentine cables were received giving a fine crop outlook in that country and predicting a larger exportable surplus than last year. At the same time, Kansas City dispatches told of a drop of 1 to 1 1/2 cents in cash wheat prices there, and the Minneapolis advices were bullish in tone, indicating a slow demand for cash wheat. The situation is one which promises to continue weak, unless wheat rises in the northwest and the southwest stop selling at the lower prices."

Income From $25,000 Set Aside For Christmas Dinners to the Poor. Brockton, Mass., Nov. 3.—Known as "the good angel of the poor" because of numerous deeds of charity during her life, Mrs. Clara Snow, perpetuated her memory by bequests of $75,000 to the poor of Brockton. Mrs. Snow was the richest woman in this city and its heaviest woman tax payer. Her husband was George G. Snow, for many years one of the leading shoe manufacturers here. She died October 5.

She was never, even after growing up, told who her people were, although she knew that she wore a name coined by the lawyers in question. When she finished school, the sum of $200,000 was placed in trust, the income to go to her so long as she lived. She was informed that the money would be

A BIG SOCIAL FACTOR. Program for the Winter at the White House to Be Made Out After the President Returns—It Is Hoped to Establish Cordial Relations With Congress. Washington, Nov. 3.—Mrs. Taft has made no definite plans for the coming social season at the White House and does not expect to make any before the president returns next month from the west. While she has recovered from her illness of last spring, to the gratification of her family and friends as well as of the public, it is doubtful that she could undertake an onerous program. She is greatly cheered by the president's letters, which show that despite the demands on his time and strength he is standing the trip remarkably well.

Washington, Nov. 3.—The decision of the bureau of naturalization that Asiatics are not free white persons and therefore may not become citizens of the United States, is stirring up all sorts of trouble in the diplomatic corps. The view of the federal authorities first came to public notice through instructions sent to the clerks of the courts of Laporte and Michigan City, Ind., to the effect that they must not issue first papers to Turks. Investigation revealed that the bureau of naturalization had laid down the rigid rule that no Asiatic comes within the scope of the definition "Free white person."

Mysterious Occurrence Near Joplin Explained by Discovery of a Cavern. Joplin, Mo., Nov. 3.—Following the draining of water from drifts of the Lincoln mine at Duenweg, east of Joplin, which was flooded mysteriously a week ago, a marvelous beautiful calcareous cave, of inestimable dimensions, has been discovered, a round of shots in the face of one of the drifts having broken a passageway through into the cavern and permitted a vertiginous tidal wave to sweep through the mine workings. The blasts had been put off at the time of closing work for the day, and the next morning the property was found to be filled with water. Its origin remained a puzzle until lowered sufficiently to permit of an investigation being made, the result being the discovery of the cavern. Woman's Power Over Man

Woman's most glorious endowment is the power to awaken and hold the pure and honest love of a worthy man. When she loses it and still loves on, no one in the wide world can know the heart agony she endures. The woman who suffers from weakness and derangement of her special womanly organism soon loses the power to sway the heart of a man. Her general health suffers and she loses her good looks, her attractiveness, her amiability and her power and prestige as a woman. Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., with the assistance of his staff of able physicians, has prescribed for and cured many thousands of women. He has devised a successful remedy for woman's ailments. It is known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a positive specific for the weaknesses and disorders peculiar to women. It purifies, regulates, strengthens and heals. Medicine dealers sell it. No honest dealer will advise you to accept a substitute in order to make a little larger profit.

REGISTRY FEE HAS BEEN INCREASED

UNCLE SAM WILL GET TWO CENTS MORE THAN FORMERLY ON EACH REGISTERED LETTER HANDLED AT THE POSTOFFICES

The new registry fee went into effect in all the postoffices of the United States on Monday. The fee was formerly eight cents, but is now ten. During the fiscal year, ending the 30th of last June, the Ishpeming office registered 6,571 letters, bringing a revenue of $53.08, exclusive of the postage charges.

Most of the registered letters received here come from the banks and brokerage offices. Many times the letters are of such size that they require a postage of from ten to twenty cents, in addition to the registration fee. The year ending June 30th, 1907, was the best that the Ishpeming office ever had in the registry department. This was true of many other offices in the country where brokerage offices are conducted, as practically all stock certificates are being registered mail. The employees of the Ishpeming postoffice expect to handle in excess of 7,000 registered letters during the present fiscal year.

In addition to handling the letters registered locally, the Ishpeming office also makes a record of all the registered mail going to and coming from the copper country. The Ishpeming office has been the transfer point for many years. Every mail train arriving in the city brings a package of letters, which are recorded and forwarded on the following train.

A perpetual record is kept of every letter received at every postoffice in the United States. A letter mailed here for Duluth passes through several hands before reaching the person to whom it is addressed. The local registrar clerk makes a record of it and turns it over to the railway mail clerk. The latter gives a receipt to the postoffice and when he delivers it to another mail clerk or postoffice he receives a receipt, which is returned to the point from which the letter is sent, together with a card containing the signature of the person to whom it is delivered. These are kept on file for an indefinite time. A record of the first registered letter is still on file here.

Number of Postoffices Decreasing.
Since the rural mail system became established the number of postoffices in the United States is being materially decreased. In 1903 there were 74,169 postoffices. At the present time there are 60,144. There are 308 first class offices, 1,207 second class, 5,000 third class, and 32,942 fourth class. There are only thirteen first class offices in Michigan, and none of these are in the upper peninsula.

The Calumet office has for a few years past been credited with a larger volume of business than any other in the upper peninsula and it is expected that within a few years it will go into the first class. The Ishpeming office did its largest business in the stamp department in 1907, when the receipts exceeded $21,000. Last year the receipts were about $20,000 and it is expected that they will go above $21,000 this year. The salary of the postmaster is based on the amount of stamps sold. The Ishpeming postmaster is at present paid $2,000 a year. The salary of the postmasters at Calumet, Marquette and Sault Ste. Marie is $2,800.

Foreign Postage Reduced.
The reduction in the foreign postage has caused a considerable falling off in the revenue in that department. It was formerly ten cents for a letter, and now only five cents for a half ounce or each additional fraction thereof. The present rate is five cents for the first ounce and three cents for each additional half ounce. All first class mail to Great Britain and Ireland is now going at the domestic rate of two cents, at a similar rate in effect for letters to Germany, provided they go over the indirect route. If they go over the direct five-cent stamp is necessary. By the direct route the mail to points in Germany will leave New York on the first boat out, while by the indirect route it will leave on the first boat sailing for German ports only.

The foreign business of the Ishpeming office has been much lighter the past eighteen months than it was for two or three years previous. This is accounted for from the fact that there are not as many foreigners in the city now as there were prior to the panic of 1907. Under the new registry law the indemnity on lost letters has been raised from $25 to $50.

The Ishpeming and Negaunee High school teams will play the first game, and they will be followed by the Ishpeming Y. M. C. A. and Marquette Guild Hall eleven. Since the last game a week ago Saturday between the two latter teams the Ishpeming boys have put in considerable time practicing, and they expect to give the visitors a harder game than they did at Marquette. The line-up will be as follows: Left end, Bill Johns; left tackle, W. E. Hawthorne; left guard, Dave Lind; center, Martin Patisno; right guard, Oscar Nicholls; right tackle, Harry Peterson; right end, V. Gunville; quarterback, Ted Butler; left halfback, "Hub" Johnson; fullback, Ed Hoglund; right halfback, Ed Johnson. The new men in the line will be Nicholls, Peterson and Gunville. ENTHUSIASTIC ON AMERICA.

Burr McIntosh Is a Talented Lecturer, as Well as a Fine Actor.

Burr McIntosh, who was seen at Ishpeming theater in "A Gentleman from Mississippi" Tuesday evening, gave an interesting curtain speech before the opening of the play.

Mr. McIntosh was a member of the Class of 1884 at Princeton university, and had a varied and interesting career. In every day life he is far from being the easy-going Southerner he depicts on the stage, but much more closely resembles an energy tank. He still has an interest in the monthly magazine which bears his name, he conducts his studio in New York city, and besides lectures extensively. Mr. McIntosh was official photographer with the Taft expedition in the Philippines, and he spent three months with Mr. Taft, who was then secretary of war.

Mr. McIntosh believes from what he has learned in a large part of the North-west that Mr. Taft is not particularly popular, but he declares that he is one of the biggest men that the voters of this country have ever placed in the presidential chair. The president, he asserts, says what he means and does what he thinks is best for the country, and on that point he predicts that before his term is up he will show great results.

Mr. McIntosh said that the people of the United States know very little about their country, and they don't seem to give a "hoorah." They have their eyes turned to their own little spots of land, and he called attention to some of the defects in the Payne bill.

Mr. McIntosh's speech was greatly enjoyed. At the conclusion of the third act Mr. McIntosh and Will Deming were formerly on the stage, and finally the former responded with an other talk, lasting about five minutes. The audience would not cease applauding until Mr. Deming spoke. His speech was brief; he simply said, "I wrote the speech you just heard." Mr. McIntosh presented a bouquet of ten flowers that was standing on a mantle piece.

three hours late Tuesday, and it was also late yesterday afternoon. Many hunters came up both days and got off at practically every station between Sault Ste. Marie and Marquette. A number also traveled through to Houghton, Baraga and Ontonagon counties, but a majority of the lower peninsula men will hunt east of Marquette. Many of them have considerable baggage and it is expected that the trains the next ten days or two weeks will need extra baggage cars and coaches for their accommodation.

Many Ishpeming men are preparing to go into the woods during the next few days. If the weather is fine Sunday large delegations will go out. Those who have been in the woods the past week or so report that the deer are moving at a lively rate and that there are signs of activity among the hunters, in spite of the fact that the season is not yet open. An Ishpeming man who was in the north district last Sunday said that he could hear gun reports in all directions, but he was not certain whether the hunters were firing at deer or partridge.

FROM MORGAN'S CURB LETTER.

The New York market was strong and higher today. Amalgamated was the feature, heavy buying by traders advancing it 3/4 points. The trading was quite heavy, but was confined to the leaders.

The Rio-Cole stocks were again the feature in a strong and fairly active Boston market. Rio-Cole sold up to 2 1/2, Greene was readily taken at 1 1/2, North Butte was up to 3/4, and Superior & Pittsburg sold at 1 1/2. The Lake coppers were relatively quiet. Nevada Consolidated and Miami were active. Boston reports that sentiment is very bullish on Great Northern.

On the curb, a number of stocks were higher, with the Ely issues commanding most attention. A telegram received this morning from General Manager Fitch says that Chief is now earning $500 per day net. The good low priced cobbles are much more in demand, and any improvement in the actual situation will help them immensely. Casius, Chief, Denn, Ohio Copper, Shattuck and Ray Central can be safely bought, as can Colorado and Grand Central.

YOUNG MAN BADLY INJURED.

As the result of a peculiar accident yesterday afternoon, Daniel McQuigan came with a narrow margin of missing death. At 10 o'clock he was seriously injured. The young man, who is a deliveryman for T. Hughes & Son, was standing in his wagon and when the wheels struck some obstruction he was pitched forward, under the front of the horses. The team started down Division street at a rapid trot, and for two blocks McQuigan was dragged under the wagon and over the hard surface of the highway. He was unconscious when picked up near the Carpenter-Cook company's wholesale house, and a hospital was suffering from a number of bad cuts and bruises, almost all the skin being torn from his back. He was taken to the hospital. While his injuries are serious and very painful, it is believed he will make rapid recovery.

with the usual motion of the toes and feet. Riveted upright to this steel sole are sharp spikes, placed in such a position that they will enter the perforations of the leather sole, but kept from ordinarily doing so by crossbars with a series of steel springs on either side.

The whole contrivance is fastened to the prisoner's foot by means of metal straps, held secure by a padlock. With the crossbars in the position the prisoner can walk in the shoes as in ordinary times, but once he is placed on a train or other conveyance the officer releases the crossbars and locks them in such position that they cannot be replaced between the spikes and perforations without a key. The only thing that keeps the spikes from entering the perforations and going into the criminal's foot is the springs. These are of sufficient strength to protect him from harm as long as he is seated, but if he stands up and attempts to walk, the weight of his body compresses them enough to make it impossible for him to stand the anguish of more than a step or two.

Hand Is Sawed Off—

While working on a band saw machine at the Goodville plant at Manistiquette, Joseph Bruckelmeier had the misfortune to lose his left hand at the wrist. It appears that he was not watching what he was doing and allowed his hand to be gripped by the rollers and before an employe standing near by could stop the machinery the saw had accomplished their fearful work.

Fine Farm Residence—

A Soo firm of builders has completed the erection of a $6,000 residence on the farm of Harris T. Dunbar at the mouth of the Charlotte river. Mr. Dunbar now has the finest and most up-to-date farm residence in Chippewa county and with out-buildings to correspond. He owns several hundred acres of land, a portion of which is included in his offer to the county for an agricultural college and farm.

Some Big Potatoes—

A half bushel of potatoes raised on the Jacob Edwards farm in Doyle township has been attracting much attention in a display window at Manistiquette. There are twenty potatoes in the lot, and their combined weight is thirty pounds. They are of the Mills Prize and Early Rose varieties.

Mother Loses Damage Suit—

After hearing the evidence in the case, Judge Cooper, presiding in circuit court at Escanaba, directed a verdict for the defendant in the case brought by Mrs. Nellie Snow, administratrix for Harry Snow, against the Escanaba Power company. Harry Snow was drowned by being carried over the dam at the company's plant and it was held by the mother that his death was caused through the negligence of the corporation in failing to provide proper safeguards. It was held by the court that the deceased had been guilty of contributory negligence as defined by the law and he directed a verdict, taking the case from the jury. Attorney J. H. Clancy appeared for the plaintiff, while Attorney I. C. Jennings and Attorney W. P. Holden of Ishpeming appeared for the power company.

Will Log Heavily—

The Woodworth Land & Lumber company, operating at the West Neeshich, out from the Soo, has closed its plant for the season. General Manager T. S. Critchfield says that the season has been an unusually successful one, the cut amounting to over 6,000,000 feet of lumber, an average of 52,000 feet a day for the time the mill was in operation. The company will lumber heavily this winter, and expects to take out about 8,000,000 feet of timber, which will be sawed at the West Neeshich plant, next year. About 2,000,000 feet of lumber remains on the docks, but will be shipped out before the close of navigation. The shingle and planing of Crimian & McGowan, located at Algoum, has also closed for the season. This firm will take out a larger amount of timber than usual during the season and expects to purchase a considerable amount from jobbers, sufficient to keep the plant in continuous operation from early spring until late in the fall.

Escanaba's Death Rate High—

During October, last, Escanaba attained the highest death rate reached since the month of March, twenty-eight deaths being reported by physicians and undertakers for the thirty-one days. In March the mortality was thirty-two. Although there were several sudden deaths last month, these were not as numerous as they were during the summer months and therefore the increase cannot be laid to unusual accidents. There were six less births than deaths, the number being twenty-two. The number of infants which have failed to survive during the first few months of their struggle for existence has undoubtedly had much to do with the heavy death rate, says the Mirror. The records for the past month prove the contentions of various physicians to the effect that Escanaba is entering upon a winter in which death will reap a larger harvest than during any similar period in the history of the city, unless extraordinary efforts are made to guard against disease.

Sawmill Operated by Electricity—

The new sawmill of the Stegath Lumber company, which has just gone into commission at Escanaba, has a capacity of 25,000 feet daily. It is probably the only electrically operated sawmill in the state, and other mill owners are watching the result with much interest. The planing mill is also operated by electricity, and Mr. Stegath says that results already prove that the current is more economical than steam would be. The success of these electrically operated mills will doubtless mean much for the future of Escanaba. The current is produced by the Escanaba Power company, which already has one power dam on the Escanaba river and is planning to build more of them as soon as there is any market for the power which will be developed. The Stegath Lumber company is now equipped for cutting logs into lumber, instead of shipping the lumber to the city from surrounding towns. The company owns over 2,500 acres of virgin timber lands in Maple Ridge, Baldwin and Escanaba townships, in Delta county, and is gradually increasing its holdings. However it does not intend to touch this timber so long as a sufficient supply can be purchased to keep the plant in operation. Timber is increasing in value each year, and the company intends to conserve its holdings.

The great trouble with a good many people who act accordingly to their lights is the lack of illumination.

AFTER SUFFERING ONE YEAR

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Milwaukee, Wis. — "Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has made me a well woman, and I would like to tell the whole world of it. I suffered from female trouble and fearful pains in my back. I had the best doctors and they all decided that I had a tumor in addition to my female trouble, and advised an operation. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made me a well woman and I have no more backache. I hope I can help others by telling them what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me." — Mrs. Emma Imse, 833 First St., Milwaukee, Wis.

The above is only one of the thousands of grateful letters which are constantly being received by the Pinkham Medicine Company of Lynn, Mass., which prove beyond a doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, actually does cure these obstinate diseases of women after all other means have failed, and that every such suffering woman owes it to herself to at least give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial before submitting to an operation, or giving up hope of recovery. Mrs. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health and her advice is free.

BELGIAN LANGUAGES.

Two years ago a parliamentary commission was appointed in Belgium to inquire into the subject of languages in Belgium. A great deal of trouble has been caused by the fact that two languages are officially recognized in Belgium, French and Flemish, and that the Flemings wish to force their tongue on the Walloons, who insist upon speaking French. The commission now proposes that in a few districts one or the other suggested language shall be admitted to the examinations in arts, law, mathematics, physics or engineering who has not passed a preliminary examination in French or German in any of the districts. The civil government could not be carried on under such condition, and the suggestions of the committee would only increase the present divisions. It is absurd to put a potato which is only spoken in a few districts on the same footing as a language like French. The only sensible thing to do is to make French the sole official language.—London Globe.

A WORD FOR THE AUTO.

The automobile should be a beneficent invention. Properly used, it is safer than a horse-drawn vehicle. It can be guided more accurately and stopped more quickly. It knows neither fright nor fatigue. Of proper weight and speed and when unprovided with spikes or chains, it does not destroy the roads. For tracking, for use as a farm wagon, for omnibus work and as a pleasure vehicle the automobile should be invaluable. Such use of it already is made; but the speed-maniacs who destroy the roads who try to kill bridge-tenders and policemen and who in so many cases kill themselves and others have badly hurt a great industry.—New York World.

FORCED INTO EXILE.

Wm. Epshurof, of Glen Oak, Okla., was an exile from home. Mountain air, he thought, would cure a frightful lung-racking cough that had defied all remedies for two years. After six months he returned, death dogging his steps. "Then I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery," he writes, "and after taking six bottles I am as well as ever." It saves thousands yearly from desperate lung diseases. Infalible for Coughs and Colds, it dispels Hoarseness and Sore Throat, Cures Grip, Bronchitis, Hemorrhages, Asthma, Croup Whooping Cough, etc. and $1.00, trial bottle free, guaranteed by The Stafford Drug Co.

STRAWBOARD WILL BE GENERALLY USED

MANY WHOLESALE CONCERNS NOW EMPLOYING THIS MATERIAL WITH MUCH SUCCESS IN SHIPPING MERCHANDISE.

"During the past year or so straw board for the manufacture of merchandise shipping boxes has come largely into use and I believe that the time is not far distant when 75 per cent of the merchandise shipped from the manufacturing centers will be packed in this material instead of in wood," said a business man yesterday. "Lumber has become so expensive that the outlay for box material is now a big item to the wholesalers and jobbers. I understand that straw board boxes are being provided at about one-third the cost of wooden boxes, and they have been found practicable for shipping purposes, especially for light packages. The manufacturers of crackers, confectionery, and other articles are using a great quantity of straw board boxes. Ordinary cracker boxes that formerly cost from eight to ten cents a piece are now worth from twenty-five to thirty cents. The straw board cracker box can be placed in the hands of the shippers for twelve or thirteen cents.

"As the cost of the box material enters into the cost of the goods purchased, it is to the interest of the retailer to have their goods come in these packages, provided they can be delivered in as good condition as in the more substantial boxes. The freight men have to use a little more care in handling them."

F. F. Graves, a prominent real estate man of Minot, N. D., is at the head of a movement for a more general use of straw board. The use of this material in the construction of railway passenger coaches has been recommended by J. J. Hill of the Great Northern system. The Pennsylvania Railway system is using straw board almost exclusively in its car ceilings.

O. G. Gardner of New York is said to have spent the past two years and $100,000 perfecting the manufacture of straw board. He has the only factory of its kind in the country. He is turning out an article that, when it is highly polished, resembles hardwood.

This promising industry will result in much benefit to the farmers. Mr. Gardner recently gave a lecture to a large number of farmers in North Dakota on the advantages of the straw board. He said that he could afford to pay the farmers $5 a ton for their straw and that he could manufacture the board at a cost of from $15 to $20 per 1,000 feet. He estimated that one ton of straw will make 2,000 feet of quarter-inch lumber, such as would be used in building and framing. A plant which would manufacture 75,000 feet per day would cost from $250,000 to $300,000.

Lumber at the present time is retailing in New York at an average of about $90 per 1,000 feet. Mr. Gardner maintains that a big profit could be obtained on straw board manufactured under his process at not to exceed $20 per 1,000.

BIG PULP CONTRACT.

Minnesota Concern Will Get Out 300,000 Cords of Spruce This Winter.

One of the largest pulp wood contracts ever given in this country was recently awarded to Henry & Marvin, a Minnesota contracting firm, by Backus & Brooks, owners of the pulp mill at Fort Frances. It calls for the delivery of 300,000 cords of spruce, all of which is to be delivered at Fort Frances by the first of May. The size of this contract can be appreciated when it is stated that it will keep 500 men busy during the entire winter and will require a shipment each day from Dec. 1 to April 20 of twenty cars or 2,100 cars in all. Roberts & Martin have already established a number of camps and the movement of the timber will be started soon. The firm proposes to buy a considerable quantity of pulp from the farmers and other settlers in the district where they are to operate.

The pulp wood industry of the upper peninsula is a big aid to the farmers in many places. Many of the farmers own spruce and they, as a rule, put in the greater part of their winters getting it out. In places where the hauls to the railroads are short the farmers make good money on their timber. According to one of the timber jobbers operating along the line of the Northwestern, about 90 per cent of the farmers in that region who have spruce on their lands, have been cutting it for several winters past.

WILL BE PRETTY BUILDING.

As the work on Negaunee's new fire hall building progresses the citizens are beginning to realize that it will be a fine structure. The brick is different in color from any formerly seen here, and the white stone trimmings match it nicely. Contractor Spaulding is rushing the work, and he is in hopes that he will have the building enclosed by the first of next month. He is now working a larger force than at any previous time since starting the job. E. Fred Charlton, the architect, who drew the plans for the building, was in the city yesterday looking over the work.

KILLS HER FOE OF 20 YEARS.

"The most merciless enemy I had for 20 years" declares Mrs. James Dunan of Haynesville, Me., "was Dyspepsia. I suffered intensely after getting on my feet and could scarcely sleep. After many remedies had failed and several doctors gave me up I tried Electric Bitters, which cured me completely. Now I can eat anything. I am 70 years old and am enjoying the best of health and strength back again." For Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, Kidney Trouble, Lame Back, Female Complaints, it's unequalled. STEAMER CHOCTAW HAD CLOSE CALL

BREAKING OF HATCH COVERS PLACED VESSEL IN SERIOUS DANGER OF SINKING.

SAVED BY CAPTAIN'S COURAGE

At the Imminent Risk of Being Washed Overboard, Three Officers Enable the Ship to Reach Port of Refuge.

The Cleveland-Cliffs steamer Choctaw, which arrived in Marquette yesterday afternoon, had an accident when about twenty-five miles east of Grand Island Tuesday, that, had it happened at night instead of at 9:30 in the morning, would in all probability have resulted in the vessel now being at the bottom of Lake Superior with her crew of seventeen men, three of whom are residents of Marquette.

The Choctaw was enroute from Cleveland to Marquette with a cargo of coal on board. Until about opposite Grand Marais no rough weather had been encountered on the trip, but at that point the wind suddenly shifted to the north-west and in a short time a regular old-time Lake Superior sea was rolling. The Choctaw was headed nearly due west and the waves were striking hard against the bow on the starboard side. As the vessel is of the whaleback type, the swells rolled over the hatches and at times a good part of the ship was submerged.

Suddenly, one of the officers noticed that the forward hatch had parted and that water was pouring into the hold. Captain P. A. Anderson was notified and called Carl Rydholm of Marquette, the second mate, to take charge of the vessel while he made an investigation. By that time another hatch cover had broken, making a large hole through which the water would pour into the hold and soon sink the boat if something was not speedily done.

Ship Saved by Brave Act.

Overboard the risk of being washed overboard, Captain Anderson, the first mate and the wheelman secured themselves with lifelines and did what they could to repair the breaks and prevent the sinking of the vessel. While they were working, the waves were constantly breaking over the vessel amidships and the wonder is that one or all of them were not drowned. It was an act of courage which won the admiration of every member of the crew and as the result of their labors, it was possible to steer the Choctaw past Grand Island so that she could get into Munising for refuge without riding in the trough of the sea.

It is thought that the weight and force of the waves breaking over the bow on the hatches caused them to break and, had they parted in the night time, the chances are that the boat would not have been noticed until the ship had become water logged and was about to sink to the bottom. Had this occurred, the Choctaw disaster would have gone down in history with the Clemons and other vessels that have gone to Davy Jones without leaving anyone alive to tell the story. Members of the Choctaw crew believe that their experience was identical with that of the crew of the Clemons, except that the ending was more fortunate, owing to the break having occurred in the daytime instead of in the dark of night.

Vessel Seriously Damaged.

At Munising, an inspection of the vessel showed the damage to be much more serious than was at first thought. Three hatch covers were broken, leaving a hole twelve by eighteen feet in the forward deck; nine of the "strong backs," or heavy wooden props which support the hatches were broken; the ventilator was badly damaged, and the rail rack and fire buckets in the forward part of the vessel had been washed away.

It was found that the repairs could not be made at Munising and when the sea quieted yesterday, the Choctaw made for Marquette, arriving in the afternoon. The Lakeside Iron works at once took charge of the repair work and last evening the new hatches had been made. It will be several days before the vessel can be fully repaired and put in a sea-worthy condition.

Marquette men who are members of the crew of the Choctaw are: Carl Rydholm, second mate; Frank Nelson, second engineer, and Leonard Haskins, watchman.

MILLIONAIRE TRAMP TO WED.

Dr. Ben Ridder, Who Was Here Recently, Is to Marry St. Paul Miss.

Dr. Ben Ridder, the noted socialist orator, who styles himself the "millionaire tramp" and brags about his success in getting into jail instead of his ability to keep out of the law's clutches, says he is about to become a benefactor. A few weeks ago Ridder tramped through the upper peninsula and one evening he addressed a small crowd on the street in this city. At Duluth this week, he said:

"I like Duluth and have decided to make this city my home. My wanderings are nearly at an end. I shall be married here the latter part of this week, and then go into business of some kind. Yes, I am engaged to be married. I have been dubbed a 'woman-hater,' but cupid has set me and I acknowledge his power. Her name? Eden Christianson of St. Paul. She is the daughter of a merchant there. When her folks learned that she was engaged to marry me they were enraged and so her adrift with two trunks. I was at the Ryan hotel and she called me up and told me of her plight. I gave her $65, all the money I had. She was identified with some church societies and they have discarded her because I do not look good to them. We shall be married in Duluth about next Friday or Saturday. She wants to be married by a minister but I am an agnostic and free thinker and I prefer a justice of the peace. That point has not been settled yet. Miss Christianson is a Protestant. After we are married I shall shut out this traveling and lecturing."

BODY WAS RECOVERED.

Coroner's Jury Finds That Clish Girl Succeeded While Insane.

The body of Miss Christine Clish, who committed suicide by jumping into Lake Superior off Picnic rocks Tuesday afternoon, was recovered by the United States life saving crew early yesterday morning in about sixteen feet of water. A coroner's jury was impaneled and after viewing the body and hearing the testimony of several witnesses, a verdict of suicide while laboring under a fit of temporary insanity was returned to Coroner Cary.

At the inquest, Mrs. Randolph Wakeford, a sister of the Clish girl who was walking with her along the beach prior to the tragedy, stated that she struggled with the girl for a full half hour in an attempt to prevent her from throwing herself in the water, and that, when completely exhausted, she went to the Lake Shore Engine Works nearby for help. While she was gone, the girl accomplished her mad purpose.

FAVORS TUBERCULIN TEST.

Dr. Deadman Discusses Action of Council on the Milk Ordinance.

To The Mining Journal:

Kindly permit me the space to explain my position on the milk question and to correct the wrong impression created by the distinguished statesman from the second ward in the common chamber Monday night. In the first place, I have never been an aspirant for the position of milk or dairy inspector, and could not attend to the duties of such an office without neglecting my practice. There are several veterinarians in the county—and more coming—who could look after that work. I did suggest to the first committee, however, that the cattle should be tested by regularly registered veterinarians who have the necessary technical knowledge, and not by every "Dink and Harry." I had nothing to do with framing the ordinance offered Monday night. That ordinance was framed by the city attorney, as directed by the council some weeks ago. It was a very good one, and if it had gone through would have saved the lives of many children. It is very easy to see in whose short sighted financial interest the alderman from the second ward was working.

I enlisted my services with others to secure a clean, wholesome milk supply from healthy cows for the children of Marquette. Aside from that I have no interest in the matter. I do not care to test cattle. It takes a great deal of time and some people are not willing to pay for that. If there are any families owning cows who want them tested, and are too poor to pay for the service, I will gladly test them gratis. There are about twenty places, large and small, in this city where milk is sold. Only five have had their cattle tested, and tuberculosis was found in three of the five herds. Not having the legal power to kill the diseased animals, I advised the owners to do so, or have them removed. Upon the promise of the owners that they would kill the affected cattle, I issued a good health statement for the rest of the stock. I personally saw some of the cows killed and was given every assurance that all the diseased cows would be killed. I have since seen some of these cows alive, and milk is being sold from them. People who are doing that kind of business are guilty of a crime little less than murder, and are no better.

One of our progressive dairy men remarked in Stafford's Drug Store not long since that the people were going "nearly crazy about tuberculosis." Well, if they are, it is because of the graves in the cemeteries prematurely filled by that disease. It seems high time for the physicians to act. What of the fifteen untested herds? The practice of my profession calls me among them. Some of the cows have died of tuberculosis. I see many evidences of the disease that should be stamped out. Modern pathologists agree that tuberculosis is communicable to mankind through milk from infected cows and that it will not be stamped out until it is made a crime to sell milk from cows that have not been shown to be healthy by the tuberculosis test. I would advise all mothers to give their children as little milk as possible unless they are sure that it comes from healthy cows, until we can get an ordinance that provides for the testing of all cows, and against the sale of milk from all diseased animals.

Yours for the health of our citizens old and young.

DECKHAND USES AXE ON FELLOW WORKMAN

ARREST MADE LAST EVENING AS RESULT OF ROW ON STEAMER DURSTON—MANY BAD MEN ON BOATS NOW.

A deckhand employed on the steamer Durston, which was in Marquette yesterday, is in the city lock up waiting a hearing on the charge of having assaulted a fellow-workman with an axe. It is stated that the two deckhands got into an altercation early yesterday forenoon regarding which was doing the more work, which ended in the man now in custody striking at the other with an axe, and cutting a gash in his knee. Several hours later, catching his victim unawares, the same fellow seized the axe again and struck him a stunning blow in the back with the blunt end. The local police were then sent for and Marshal Manning arrested the one who was using the axe so recklessly. The other man was badly injured but was kept on the boat, which cleared last evening.

The police state that the general character of the deckhands and other workmen on the boats this fall is worse than for years before. Many of them are simply the riff raff of the lower lake ports. The officers have come to expect some kind of a row whenever certain vessels come into port.

Several reasons are ascribed for this condition. The marine strike probably has a good deal to do with it. Many of the experienced men are not working and the large number of boats in commission makes it necessary for the captains to pick up anyone they can get to fill out the crews. Again, labor is in greater demand than for the two years past, which makes good men hard to find.

The deckhands and workmen on some of the older boats, which are not furnished with up-to-date sleeping and dining compartments, are said to usually cause the most trouble, as the better class of men will not work on those vessels. Rows are said to be a frequent occurrence on some of the boats and the captains and mates are kept in hot water a good part of the time.

Furthermore, owing to the incompetency of the rank and file of the crews, many of the captains and officers are forced to put in long hours on watch and at the wheel, and the unusually large number of accidents this season may possibly in some measure be due to the first officers being overworked and tired out.
