Negaunee Department

WORK TO BE RESUMED AT NORTHWESTERN

DISPUTE AS TO OWNERSHIP OF TITLE TO A FORTY-ACRE TRACT ON THE SWANZEY RANGE HAS BEEN SETTLED.

In view of a settlement, effected on Friday, of the litigation between the Chicago & Northwestern railway, the Cleveland-Cliffs iron company and Louis Corbett, John R. Gordon and Dr. R. E. Drake, relative to the southwest quarter of section 27, in township 45 north, range 25 west, in the Swanzev district, operations are to be resumed by the Cleveland-Cliffs iron company at what is known as the Northwestern mine.

The foundation company of New York started a concrete shaft on the forty adjoining the forty, the title of which was in dispute over a year ago, but operations were suspended when the shaft had reached a depth of thirty-eight or forty feet. It is expected that the foundation company will now renew its work and it is likely that the shaft will be completed to the ledge, a distance of in the neighborhood of 100 feet, early next spring.

This land that was in dispute originally involved in the litigation, the company's land grant. About thirty years ago the railway sold the surface to Isaac Johnson of Negaunee, who cut the timber and sawed it in his mill at Little Lake. Johnson moved his mill to Negaunee in 1881 and from that time the land was abandoned by him and was sold for taxes for many years.

Messrs. Corbett, Gordon and Drake acquired the tax titles based upon the tax sales for several years. In 1903 the railway company gave the Cleveland-Cliffs iron company an option to explore a considerable amount of land in the Swanzev district, including this property, and that company subsequently drilled the large shaft and ascertained that some ore was discovered.

The railway company gave the Cleveland-Cliffs iron company a lease on eighty acres of land which included one forty in dispute and an adjoining forty even at this date. The Cleveland-Cliffs iron company started to sink a shaft and erect buildings on the forty not in dispute, intending to mine the ore from that land and from the forty affected by the tax titles, when a dispute arose over the validity of the tax titles.

Suits were brought by the Chicago & Northwestern railway company and the Cleveland-Cliffs iron company to set aside these tax titles which suits have been pending for about a year.

The settlement which has been made, as shown by the papers recorded in the office of the register of deeds, Messrs. Corbett, Gordon and Drake accept their interest in this land to the Chicago & Northwestern railway company and will receive in return a royalty of ten cents a ton on all the ore mined from the land covered by their tax titles.

They received an advance payment of $3000 in cash, which will apply upon the royalty for the first year, as it is mined. After January 1, 1913, they will receive a minimum royalty of $8,000 per year as long as mining operations continue on the land covered by the settlement. Under the agreement Mr. Corbett is to receive nine-sixteenths of the cash payments, also of the royalty payments to follow; Mr. Gordon will receive five-sixteenths of the different payments and Dr. Drake is to receive two-sixteenths.

Under agreement between the parties is contained numerous clauses protecting the different parties under the varying circumstances which may arise.

MINING AT OPEN PIT. Cargo of Silicious Ore to Be Shipped from the Rolling Mill

The Jones & Laughlin company which is operating the Rolling Mill mine, has started to load a cargo of ore from the old open pit. The order calls for 2400 tons, and the management expects to finish within a few days. This is the first ore mined from the open pit in four years. The last shipment from there consisted of 2400 tons.

In view of the increasing demand for silicious ores, which are produced at the Rolling Mill open pit, the management of a considerable tonnage will be mined there next season, and it is possible that one or two more engines, in addition to the one now being hauled, will be called for this year.

Considerable ore was mined from this pit before the Jones & Laughlin company obtained control of the property, but the deposit is far from being exhausted.

In order to reduce the cost of loading, as much as possible the company is having a chute extended to the pit. It will be about 2000 feet in length. In the event that a large tonnage of this ore is desired next season other improvements will be made, with a view to reducing the cost of the mining and loading.

MODEL TUBERCULOSIS HOUSES.

Soon to Be Built in New York by W. K. Vanderbilt.

New York, Nov. 7.—Four model six-story tenements, for the special accommodation of tuberculous sufferers, are soon to be erected on the upper East Side at a cost of $600,000 not including cost of sites, by William K. Vanderbilt. Plans for the buildings have been filed. Roof gardens, open-air balconies and other features designed to combat the white plague will make the tenements distinctive and only moderate rent will be charged. Skilled physicians will have supervision over the title edifices.

These tenements, which will be five-story, will be built on a site covering eighteen city lots adjoining the playground of Public School 158, on Avenue A, between Seventy-Seventh and Seventy-Eighth streets and lying between Third and the New York City Park. This is a philanthropic enterprise in which Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt and her husband have been interested for some years. It is to be carried out upon a business basis under the supervision of Dr. Henry L. Shady of the Vanderbilt clinic of the Presbyterian hospital.

The buildings will each have a depth of 89.2 feet. Two of them will have frontages of 117 feet and the others frontages of 108 feet, two being on Seventy-seventh street and two on Seventy-eighth street. They will be of a modern renaissance type, with ornamental facades of brick finished with limestone and terra cotta trimmings. Each will have sixteen suites for small families on each floor of two, three, four and five rooms to the suite, offered at moderate rents and arranged to accommodate from 250 to 375 families. They will be only a short distance from the site of the new Presbyterian hospital.

The novel feature will be the series of open staircases leading from the central open courts, giving to the occupants facilities of entering the separate apartments directly from out of doors. Each building will have four of these staircases, and they are designed as a special protection against the spread of disease. There will be no common hallways, no dark corridors and no place for dirt and dust to accumulate.

A second novelty of construction will be the open air wards on each floor, offering the manner of some of the city hospitals, corresponding to what are now called day camps for open-air treatment of tuberculosis. There will be small roof gardens, steeper chairs and separate toilet chambers for men, women and children. The idea of the owners and architect being to encourage to the full extent outdoor living for the tenants.

The third novel departure from the ordinary type of model tenement will be the series of balconies on each house so that the tenants may eat and sleep in the open air. The windows opening up on these balconies will be in three sections, capable of opening from floor and telling, and thus making the balconies actually part of the regular sleeping quarters.

The buildings being fireproof throughout.

MARTIAN CANAL DEVELOPMENT.

Great Changes Noted by Professor Lowell.—Report of Cataclysm Denied.

New York, Nov. 7.—Telegraphing from Flagstaff, Ariz., Professor Lowell reports that the recent sensational statements, both negative and positive, about Mars, have no basis in fact. The planet has been assiduously observed since April 8, he says. The South polar snows had then just begun to melt, and the whole process of their disintegration and the effects have since been carefully kept under observation. In June and July the great evaporation caused a general dimming of the planet's features, due undoubtedly to the excessive spring haze. No local obscuration was at any time visible anywhere, so that the presence of cloud of cataclysm is precluded.

This haze corroborates the spectroscopic detection here of water vapor in the atmosphere of Mars. The report of this has been published, and is so evident that it can readily be seen by everybody, even in the reproduction of the plates. It was secured by winter observations, it being well known to meteorologists that summer observations are the highest altitudes, and most trustworthy, owing to the moisture in the earth's atmosphere being then at its maximum, and swamping the contrast upon which the determination depends.

The only points of special interest in this connection beyond the corroboration of theory thus afforded have been the great amount of Martian haze and the apparent lateness this year of the Martian season. Visual observations and photographs agree in this. No true projections have yet been detected, and those so far observed and the only one reported from abroad are clearly due to irradiation only of bright regions between dark ones on the sunrise limb.

One set of observations, however, have been pregnant. Canals never before seen have appeared, notably to the east of the Syrtes, conspicuous and persistent. These also have been photographed. This very important detection shows that what we see as canals is undergoing construction or adaptation at the present moment.

RISE AND FALL OF THE WAIST LINE.

Time was when woman had a waist line, and that was all there was about it. There was nothing and purpose to her equator and there was no thought of its gallivanting up and down her major axis like a ring on a fickle's case at a county fair. There was no wince-wool-wool and now-you-don't-business-at-all. If a woman was dressed for company there was a general scheme about her clothes that indicated very plainly where the zero line in latitude lay.

If you surprised her in the morning putting on her hat and putting on her hat, she would be embarrassed as if she had mislaid her switch or had been caught without her false teeth.

In these good old days the feminine form was dictated with loop skirts, and later by a bustle that took as much room to turn in as a hook and ladder trunk. But there was no trifling with the waist line.

But, after the dressmakers had joggled with lively women's outlines by increasing the diameter and making her first the center of a circle and then the focus of an ellipse, the happy idea occurred to Worth or Poonin that, by scooting the waist line up and down, another startling effect could be produced.

Therefore, the midwinterness was hoisted up under the wearer's arms until it nearly lifted her off her feet, and just now has been dropped to her knees, where it dangles like the ring about a light-wire performer.

But the diet has now come forth that the waist line is to be slipped back into place, and it won't be very long, 'tis said, until a woman can stoop to pick up a pin without cracking all the varnish off a 540 gown, and crinkling it up like an elbow of a stovepipe.—Ottawa Republic.

HAMMERLISS GUNS. Hammerliiss guns are not so modern as you think. They were known nearly 500 years ago. The advantage of having no complicated mechanism or entraining hooks upon the exterior, having been fully appreciated even at that period. Several hammerliiss guns are found in Continental museums. A Mr. W. W. Greener of Birmingham, England, described one of them in great detail. When the gun was cocked and in position no protrusion whatever was visible. The system, notwithstanding its manifest advantages, was allowed for some reason to lie dormant until the latter part of the last century, since which time there have been numerous patents for hammerliiss guns.—Chicago Examiner.

UNUSUAL INTEREST IN HANDICAP CONTEST

FIRST WEEK'S PLAY INDICATES THAT BOWLING SERIES WILL BE A PRONOUNCED SUCCESS.

That the five-men handicap bowling contest at the Marquette Bowling Company alleys is to be a pronounced success was clearly indicated by the first week's play. All the scheduled matches were bowled, except one which was postponed until next week...

Three of the four matches played were quite one-sided. The Square Deats, Vikings and Finmas each took three straight and are tied for first place. The opinion was freely expressed that the handicapping was just the thing needed to give everybody a fair chance...

It will probably turn out that some of the teams are over-handicapped; but that can easily be adjusted at the end of the first round, by which time it will be possible to get a line on the relative strength of the teams. The handicapping committee, however, believe that the teams with their present handicaps will prove quite evenly matched...

The standing of the teams is as follows:

Table with columns: Team, W., L., P.C., Ave. Square Deats: 3, 0, 1000, 875; Finmas: 3, 0, 1000, 861; Vikings: 3, 0, 1000, 853; Square Deats: 2, 2, 336, 792; Bismarcks: 2, 2, 335, 785; No. 4: 0, 3, 000, 861; Guild Hall A: 0, 3, 000, 791; Bankers: 0, 3, 000, 761

Individual averages over 100 are as follows: Jonsson, 193; Parkilla and E. Fri, 182; Wheeler, 181; Macrote and Fox, 182; J. Inala, 178; L. Drake, 175; E. Reau and Davis, 174; Zeriel, 173; Waterbury, 170; Williams and Marki, 169; Webb, 168; Jarvi, 153; Gooding, 164; Ford, P. B. Spear and L. Shaughnessy, 163; Drummey and Peterson, 162; Bell and A. Anderson, 161.

Bowling Notes. There are sixty-two members in the ten five-men teams, besides a waiting list of ten. A handicap single contest is in prospect at the Guild Hall alleys and will commence about Nov. 15.

The regular schedule for the five-men contest will run through the winter, present month regardless of the deer hunting season. There will be no difficulty in obtaining substitutes for those who take to the woods.

GRANGE ACTIVE IN POLITICS. Official Organ Has Mapped Out Program for Next Year's Campaign.

If the Michigan Patron, the official organ of the state Grange, has its way, the Grange is going to play an active part in politics next year. "Owing to the Grange having become more strongly entrenched in the upper peninsula than ever before by the organization of a large number of local Granges in the agricultural districts during the past summer, the organization is liable to exert more influence north of the straits than in the past. The state Grange meets at Traverse City within a few weeks for its annual session and various state matters will be taken up. Several propositions to be discussed are matters on which the Grange has already gone on record, but the Patron is urging the organization to go much further in the future..."
