

TROUBLE AHEAD FOR RAILROADS

Demand for Wage Increase and Uniform Schedules to Be Made by the Conductors and Trainmen of Many Systems.

All Lines East of Chicago Are Involved, as Are 125,000 Employees—Firemen in the West Are Preparing to Take Similar Action, and Yardmen and Switchmen in the Same Territory Have Already Asked a Substantial Boost in Pay.

Chicago, Nov. 8.—Demands for a 12 per cent wage increase and uniform schedules will be made by the conductors and trainmen of every railroad system east of Chicago, it was reported today. The demands, it is reported, involve 125,000 men employed by the railroads east of the Illinois Central's main Southern line and north of the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad.

It is announced that the switchmen and yardmen in Chicago, controlled by the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, already have served demands on the eighteen railroads terminating in Chicago for a wage advance of five cents an hour. The switchmen and yardmen at St. Paul and Minneapolis, who are controlled by the Switchmen's union, have filed a demand for an increase of six cents an hour and have asked a conference with the railroad managers Nov. 15.

STOCKS CLOSE EASY.

With Short Contracts Covered, the Market Is Dull and Neglected.

New York, Nov. 8.—The initial upward impetus to stocks today came from professional buying to cover short contracts and was based on the decision of the Federal Bank of Germany to leave its discount rate unchanged. With the satisfaction of the demand from the shorts, the market fell into sluggish neglect, restrained apparently by uncertainty over the international money situation.

The closing was easy. London's contract of New York's gold was reentered in the resumption of the outgo of gold to South America, engagements to the amount of over a million being announced for that destination Wednesday. The Bank of England also borrowed from the London open market. This and contemplation of the complexity of Saturday's bank statement published here was corrective of any danger of over-confidence over the clearing of the financial outlook.

The influence of the cotton speculation upon international exchanges became perceptible today in connection with the violent slump in the prices of cotton. Cable remittance by foreigners to replenish margins on cotton holdings caused a decline in several points in the cables on London, while other maturities are unaffected yet. The exports of grain are running heavy and making exchange.

A notably strong feature of today's market was Amalgamated Copper. The cause was the news that rumors about the progress toward a working agreement between the various important copper producing interests. The London price of copper metal rose despite the expectation that the October statistics of the Copper Producers' association will show a further addition to the surplus stocks.

The late rise of call loans to 5 per cent was against the market. New York exchange at Chicago fell to forty-five cents discount per $1,000.

BUMPER CROP OF CORN.

Potatoes show a quality of 88.9 per cent against 87.6 a year ago. The total yield per acre is 106.5 bushels against 85.7 in 1908, or an indicated total production of 367,473,000 bushels against 278,985,000 bushels last year.

WRECKED AUTOMOBILE IS DRAGGED FROM RIVER

Bodies of the Victims of the Accident at Jackson Boulevard Drawbridge in Chicago Are Not Recovered, However, and the Identity of the Drowned Is Not Yet Established.

Chicago, Nov. 8.—With no bodies recovered tonight of the victims of the plunging of an automobile into the river at the Jackson boulevard drawbridge Sunday night, the identity of the victims is still unknown. Ernest Camp, a chauffeur, is believed to be one of the dead.

Camp was employed by J. W. Schreffler, and the wrecked automobile, dragged from the river today, proved to be his machine. Camp is believed to have taken on a party of men and women from Van Buren street and Washburn avenue last night, with directions to drive them somewhere on the West side. He had an engagement to meet a party of women at the theater later, but never appeared.

The police ceased dragging the river this evening. As the current is six miles an hour toward the drainage canal it is expected the bodies will be found in the canal later.

Tonight relatives reported the disappearance of Max Cohen, a cigar dealer, of West Burn street, and Miss Beatrice Shapiro, who lived on the West side. The two are believed to have been together Sunday night.

IRON-BARRED WINDOWS PREVENT THEIR ESCAPE

Eight Men Perish Miserably in a Fire That Destroys a Comb Factory at Brooklyn, and Five Others Who Succeed in Reaching the Street Are Probably Fatally Injured.

New York, Nov. 8.—Iron-barred windows prevented the escape from death by fire of eight workers in Robert Morrison & Sons' comb factory in Brooklyn today. Five other men were probably fatally injured in escaping from the building. Wm. Morrison, one of the owners, perished while trying to reach the safe and close its doors. His father is among the injured. Luckily, there were only forty employees in the factory when the fire started. The spread of flames was rapid, in the inflammable comb material. Many men jumped from third floor windows and were injured. Those who rushed to the rear found the windows barred, and there met their doom. Nearly all of the victims were Italians.

Scholz, wife of a wealthy rancher, and her daughter Betty. Novikow then fired a bullet through his own head and died within an hour. No cause for the shooting was learned. The girl was a member of a mission's union.

San Francisco, Nov. 8.—It developed tonight that Novikow was a son-in-law of Mrs. Scholz. He was angered because she and her unmarried daughter opposed his efforts to obtain money from his father-in-law.

DEAD MAN A VICTIM OF KENTUCKY FEUDISTS?

R. D. Gannon, a Member of the Famous Hargis Jury and the Only One Who Held Out for Conviction, Is Found Murdered on Top of a Ten-Story Building in Oklahoma City.

Oklahoma City, Nov. 8.—Although the police believe the robbery was the motive for the murder of R. D. Gannon, whose body was found on the roof of a ten-story building Sunday, interest was added to the case today by a report from Lexington, Ky., that Gannon was a member of the Hargis jury and the only member to hold out for conviction. Friends of Gannon assert that he left Fort Springs, Ark., on account of fear of assassination by Kentucky enemies. Gannon slept with a rifle beside his bed.

Omaha, Nov. 8.—The government rested this afternoon in the trial of Mathews, Woods, Turgeson, Grigware and Golden, the men charged with holding up and robbing the mail car of the Union Pacific's "Overland Limited" in the suburbs of Omaha May 22. The attorneys for the defense announced that they would establish an alibi for each prisoner; that the defendants would testify themselves, and that this would be supported by a dozen or more witnesses.

Parker said that Cleminson told him that the burglar and chloroform stories which he told the police the night of his wife's death were false.

ORGANIZED LABOR STANDS BY LEADERS

Gompers, Mitchell and Morrison Will Have Aid in Their Fight to Evade the Jail Sentences Imposed on Them.

Attitude of the Delegates Assembled at Toronto, Ont., for the Annual Convention of the American Federation Is Such That There Is No Question the Big Organization Will Carry the Case to the Supreme Court of the United States.

Toronto, Ont., Nov. 8.—That the American Federation of Labor intends to stand by President Gompers, Vice President Mitchell and Secretary Morrison in their fight to evade the jail sentences imposed at Washington for contempt of court is indicated by the attitude of the delegates to the twenty-ninth annual convention, which convened here today.

It is apparent, according to many delegates, that the committee on the president's report will recommend that the case be carried to the supreme court of the United States. The delegates today vigorously applauded the salient points summarizing the Buck Stove and Range injunction case and the contempt proceedings which followed. President Gompers' report discussed a wide range of labor issues, and those of Secretary Morrison and Treasurer Lennon showed that organized labor has made substantial gains the past year, with the condition of the federation treasury on a high tide.

The convention's attitude toward the factional strife among the members of the Brotherhood of Electrical Workers was shown when the credentials committee reported in favor of the faction headed by E. J. McNally and declined to seat James J. Reid, of the rival central labor union, president of the insurgents, and other delegates from organizations in Ohio, Iowa, Alabama and Michigan whose charters have been revoked by the federation. President Lewis, of the United Mine Workers, objected to the adoption of the committee's report as a whole, and at his suggestion the delegates against whom there was no protest were seated, the convention taking up the others for separate action.

President Gompers ruled that only organizations in good standing were entitled to representation in the convention, and the delegates voted promptly against seating the representatives of organizations whose charters have been revoked for admitting members of the seceding electrical workers. James P. Egan, of Toledo, one of the rejected delegates, tried to speak, but President Gompers declared that "Egan has no seat in this convention." The electrical workers contend that their charters were revoked before they had opportunity to appeal to the convention. President Gompers said that these appeals would form a part of the report of the executive council tomorrow, and that the appeals would be heard by committees.

WILL AVOID PRYING EYES.

Dr. Cook to Work Upon His Arctic Data in Some Secluded Place.

New York, Nov. 8.—A statement issued tonight by Dr. Cook's lawyer says: "Dr. Cook's time has been so invaluable and he is under such surveillance by persons seemingly interested in his movements that he has decided to continue his work upon his data for Copenhagen in a quiet place away from New York. When this work is completed, Dr. Cook will resume his usual activities."

EXPLORES REPRES TO CHESTER.

New York, Nov. 8.—Dr. Cook through a friend tonight visited Admiral Chester, who is in a lecture at Washington discrediting the explorer. He said: "This is the unbiased gentleman who is so anxious to pass upon my records and who now desires to go to Copenhagen as an unprejudiced witness. The admiral's only point is the suggestion of the erroneous location of the midnight sun. The sight of the midnight sun April 7 is no evidence of our position. The skies had not been clear at night for many days previous. A haze obscured the horizon, and the sun sank into this. We did not use the sun at night for observations."

"The original data which I will send to Copenhagen Nov. 25 by special messenger will be accompanied by an analysis I am preparing and which will make it unnecessary for me to explain the questions which may arise upon the original records of my observations. My unaltered original field notes and instruments, when I return, will be available for examination by the Geographic society upon the condition that Peary agree to submit his original data and instruments to the University of Copenhagen."

ADMIRAL NOT ON THE COMMITTEE.

Washington, Nov. 8.—The board of managers of the National Geographic society today appointed the following committee to pass on the question whether the pole was discovered before 1909 (meaning by Dr. Cook): J. Howard Gore, formerly professor of mathematics at George Washington University; Rear Admiral Pillsbury, of the navy; and Dr. Hayes, chief geologist of the Geological survey.

Commander Perry arrived in Washington today and proceeded to the navy department, where he met Assistant Secretary Winthrop and a number of his fellow officers. It was his first visit to the department since his return from the Arctic.

PRESIDENT TAFT IN FLORENCE, S. C.

He Is Introduced to the Famous "Pine Bark Stew," and He Is Welcomed by a Crowd That Includes More Confederates Than in the Rest of Dixie-Land Put Together.

Florence, S. C., Nov. 8.—President Taft started from Augusta this afternoon and was welcomed here for three hours by a community of ten thousand as demonstratively as he has been received in much larger cities. In the throng lining the streets and which listened to Mr. Taft's address there were more Confederates than in the rest of the South put together. The president was introduced here to the famous "pine bark stew," a fish chowder stewed over a pine bark fire sufficiently long to absorb some of the pine flavor.

Before leaving Augusta the president assisted in opening the Georgia Carolina fair and had his address interrupted by the passing of an airship or dirigible balloon immediately over the grandstand. The president was talking of the ship subsidy. After he had paused to watch the balloon, he exclaimed: "I hesitate to occupy your time discussing the old method of transporting goods when before your eyes is the newest one invented. Yet I venture to think that it will be some time before that method of transportation will be followed in moving cotton bales." In his speech in the open air at Florence tonight Mr. Taft warned the people not to let progress be hindered by sectional jealousies, but to remember and demand in all business affairs the standard of integrity and morality outlined by Theodore Roosevelt.

Augusta, Ga., Nov. 8.—President Taft today opened the Georgia Carolina fair. He rode through Augusta and the cheers of his "fellow citizens," and then proceeded to Florence, S. C. The keynote of the fair address was that the national board of health should accomplish for the nation itself what the nation has accomplished for others in Cuba, Panama and the Philippines. "It is necessary," he said, "that the towns and states devote their attention and money to making better bodies of citizens as well as minds. I expect to recommend to congress that there be a union of all the experimental departments of the government for the discovery of the lines of health and the study of disease."

FROM TEN TO FIVE CENTS.

Farmers' Convention Wants Congressional Mileage Allowance Reduced.

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 8.—The reduction of the mileage allowance of members of congress from ten cents to five cents a mile is sought in a resolution adopted here today by the Farmers' National Congress, legislation to establish national highways, to amend the "Pacific" strengthening the "pole" law, prohibiting the railroads from charging a full trip mileage rate in excess of the rates of the states through which the trip extends, the establishment of postal banks and increasing the franking privilege of the post office. The congress also recorded itself in favor of enacting a law modernizing the parcels post system, the national congress to appropriate money for donated alcohol distilleries at selected agricultural experiment stations, and favoring government aid in the construction of public roads.

PRINCELY PRIZE FOR FISTIC BOUT

F. S. Williams of Bellingham, Washington, Offers a Purse of $125,000 for the Jeffries-Johnson Championship Fight.

Speeding His Racing Car and Running Down a Japanese Laundryman, Ketchel Is Again Arrested at San Francisco—Packey McFarland Outboxes Cyclone Johnny Thompson—Freddie Welch Defeats Summers in Battle for English Title.

New York, Nov. 8.—A telegram from F. S. Williams of Bellingham, Washington, states that he will offer $125,000 for the Jeffries-Johnson fight if it is given his town. Sam Berger, manager for Jeffries, says that he does not know, but that this bid will have an equal chance with all the others providing Mr. Williams deposits $5,000 with his official proposal.

Governor Haskell's Attitude.

Guthrie, Okla., Nov. 8.—Governor Haskell, when asked today whether he would permit the Jeffries-Johnson fight in Oklahoma, replied: "I don't know just what enactments cover the case, but the laws will be enforced as long as I am governor. It is humorous to ask me what I would do in case of an exhibition in violation of the statutes. We have a habit of meeting contingencies as they arise."

Ketchel in Trouble Again.

San Francisco, Nov. 8.—Stanley Ketchel, the champion middleweight, who has been arrested a number of times for speeding the big racing car he acquired the day after his fight with Jack Johnson, appeared in court today again charged with running down the wagon of a Japanese laundryman, who was severely injured and whose horse was killed. Ketchel was captured after a long chase by two policemen. A continuance was granted until Thursday.

Packey McFarland Defeats Thompson.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 8.—Packey McFarland, of Chicago, was given the decision over "Cyclone Johnny" Thompson, of Syracuse, Ill., in a whirlwind ten-round fistic battle here tonight. The fight was that of a scientific boxer who was able to hit and get away against a man whose main asset was slugging and who could not get near enough to his opponent to land. In but one round, the second, was Thompson able to send home enough telling blows to make it appear that his strength would carry the fight home to him. But with Packey hanging on, and making the most of his footwork, the Cyclone could not get near enough to land that round there was little doubt of the outcome, although Thompson braced up the last three rounds and did some good work.

A mighty shout of approval arose when, at the end of the tenth round, the referee, Joe Coffey, of Chicago, raised Packey's right hand, signifying that he had won. A few of Thompson's friends clamored for a draw, but the decision was popular. Wearing by the terrific pace, McFarland did not realize that he had won. Two minutes after the decision was rendered he hurried across the ring to the press box and asked, "Did I win?" When assured that he was the victor, he smiled broadly and gaily danced back to his corner saying: "I have gotten rid of the last man who blocked my path to a fight with Nelson." Thompson thought that he could have defeated McFarland in a longer fight. The general opinion that neither was in condition to stand a long and grueling battle. The receipts were about $6,000. Sixty per cent went to the fighters, who divided it sixty and forty.

HORSE RACING SEASON ENDS.

New York, Nov. 8.—Horse racing ended in the East today, a week earlier than usual. The cancellation of the usual fall meeting at the Empire City track was met with the proposal to prolong the meeting at the Aqueduct until the 15th, but on account of the debilitated condition of racing under the anti-betting law, the Aqueduct authorities refused to accept the additional dates.

ALDRICH MAKES GOOD IMPRESSION

Business Men of St. Louis, Mo., Like His Attitude Relative to the Proposed Reformation of the Financial System.

He Has No Plan to Offer, He Says, and Speaking for the Monetary Commission He Asks Advice and Co-Operation—Wants of All the People Must Be Considered, and the Views of Men of Practical Experience Are Earnestly Solicited.

St. Louis, Nov. 8.—With an emphasis even stronger than used in his Chicago speech, Senator Aldrich made it evident to the business men of St. Louis tonight that he is not a devotee of himself for the present, and with especial single-mindedness, to the work of reforming the national monetary system. He spoke briefly today before the bankers of the city at the Monday club, and more extensively tonight at a banquet at the Commercial club. That the business men of St. Louis are prepared to consider currency reform with open minds was testified by the many present at both meetings. Mr. Aldrich used no manuscript tonight, and there was no effort at oratory embellishment.

Has No Plan to Present.

"I come with no plan of monetary reform," he said. "If I were delegated today to prepare a new system of finance for the country, I would be at a loss how to proceed, and I would not undertake to formulate anything without much more study than I have been able to give the subject. Even in that event I should want your advice and co-operation, and ask your aid, just as I am asking it now for the commission. "Our work cannot be done by any one man nor set of men. It cannot be done by any one party. It must result in a joint action. It cannot be done by the commission or by the congress, without aid of the country. Our plan must consider the wants of town and country as well as the city. We cannot afford to and shall not attempt to legislate alone for New York or San Francisco; we must also legislate for St. Louis, Chicago, Louisville, Springfield, and Peoria. "Our system must satisfy the people of New England, the Mississippi valley, the Rocky mountains, the Pacific coast. The results must depend, not alone upon our wisdom, but upon the assembled good judgment of the leading banking and commercial men of the entire nation."

Cranks and Demagogues Barred.

"The commissioners will soon begin to call upon the people throughout the country to testify to their views. We especially desire suggestions from men of practical experience. Enough we have already by way of contribution from cranks and demagogues. Our work is one of the most serious ever undertaken in the country; it must result in practical suggestion rather than theoretical dissertation. "On the subject of bank issues, Senator Aldrich again mentioned the fact that the European countries maintain central banks for the issuance of bank paper. He stated, however, that it was not to be expected that any European banking system could be transplanted in its entirety to this country. Whatever system is adopted, he said, must look to a gradual change and have due regard to vested interests and sectional usage. "Looks for No More Panics. The senator expressed the decided opinion that with proper safeguards the country need not again suffer a general panic like that of 1907, precipitated with so little reason in business conditions. He is confident that with a sufficiently elastic and sufficiently sensitive credit system, such conditions as arose previous to that disaster could be averted, or so restricted as to affect only a few "plungers" and their immediate associates. "At the conclusion of the senator's speech there was a general manifestation of approval.

TARIFF BOARD ENDORSED.

Indianapolis Committee Considers It a Long Step Forward.

New York, Nov. 8.—The executive committee of the committee of one hundred appointed at the convention at Indianapolis to promote the creation of a tariff commission met here today and endorsed the present tariff board. "Instead of grieving that we failed to secure a full-fledged tariff commission," the resolution adopted recites, "we rejoice that we have accomplished so much in so short a time. What we believe is the most important work immediately before us is to make sure that congress does not undo what has thus far been accomplished, by putting restraints on the present board, which we consider a long step towards a permanent commission."

DR. ELIOT SEES DANGER.

Fears Monopolistic Control of the Sources of Power.

New York, Oct. 8.—Dr. Charles W. Eliot, president of the National Conservation association, and former president of Harvard University, today authorized a statement on the danger of monopolistic control of the sources of power in this country, which is declared to be urgent. The statement is in the form of an appeal to the American people and deals especially with the Alaskan coal fields.

DAILY MINING JOURNAL

MORNING PAPER PUBLISHED BY THE MINING JOURNAL CO. (LIMITED).

Entered as mail matter of the second class in the postoffice at Marquette, Mich.

There was no better foundation for the story that Colonel Roosevelt had been killed than a desire to give the American public a genuine shock.

Michigan plays the University of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia Saturday next. Coach Yost has a busy week ahead of him, trying to find the "form" that was unaccountably lost with the victory over Syracuse.

Mayor-elect Gaynor is being discussed as a presidential possibility in 1912. What Gaynor will be in 1912 will depend largely on the kind of a mayor he makes, and on this basis there are a lot of people who are not very sanguine about his future.

The attendance at the Michigan-Notre Dame game Saturday was not large. Notre Dame not being held particularly high as an opponent. However, there will be enough spectators on hand next year to strike a fair average for the two games.

The Ishpeming High school has the football championship of Marquette county. Is it going after other honors? Time was, and not so long ago either, when the Ishpeming High school football team was able to sweep victoriously through the entire state.

Perhaps the stiffest of the football games to be played in the middle west this season will be the Thanksgiving day meeting between Notre Dame and Marquette universities. Notre Dame has defeated Michigan and Marquette obtained practically a tie. The teams are composed of daring and brilliant athletes, and they play much the same style of game. Notre Dame apparently has a considerably stronger eleven than Marquette, but the game the Milwaukee team put up against the Wolverines showed that it will have to be reckoned with by any opponent that meets it.

The Ishpeming Iron Ore speaks by the card in the following paragraph: A live game warden could do a wagon load of business any day in this county at the camps where they have been "getting ready" for the past three weeks. It is a burning shame that these law breakers are not brought up with a sharp turn. They laugh at the law and kill the deer we have so long been protecting, doing this weeks before the open season, and doing it openly at that. If "Jack" Rowett were sent into this district for a few days he would do us a great kindness. Jack being one of the boys who hasn't any chicken in his liver, and who would bring in any violator he went out after. The law, with Jack enforcing it, would be something worth noticing.

The estimate of the engineer retained by the committee of fifty to appraise the property of the Detroit United Railways and the appraisal of the management of the D. U. R. fail by 150 per cent to agree with one another. The former appraisal puts the value of the plant at $10,000,000, whereas the company's own figure is $24,708,375. The modest difference is $14,208,375. It is of the utmost importance to a community which is about to seriously consider the terms on which it is to give over further rights on its streets for traction purposes. The wide difference between the appraisals indicates, in a general way, the wide divergence of opinion between the opposing interests as to what they are entitled to, and suggests the seriousness of the problem with which Detroit is shortly to be brought face to face.

The Houghton Gazette is of the opinion that the tonnage tax issue should be frankly met and discussed. "It has got to be fought out in this state of Michigan," the Gazette says, "and the mining interests can gain nothing by avoiding publicity in regard to the subject. If the newspapers of the mining districts are afraid to discuss it, they acknowledge a weakness on their side of the question, and when the issue is up in front of the legislature it may be too late to do any good. You can't fight the tonnage tax by playing the ostrich act and hiding your head in the sand. If the mining interests of the upper peninsula think that sort of a game is going to beat the tonnage tax sentiment among the farmers of this state, they are mightily mistaken and the sooner they realize their mistake the better it will be for them. If any of the mining people doubt that this tonnage tax is going to be an issue in the next campaign let them read some of the lower Michigan newspapers with farmer clientele. For our part we believe the way to treat this issue is to meet it frankly and fairly in the press and on the platform, just as Osborn is meeting it."

When Senator Aldrich was asked if he would answer Senator Cummins' Chicago speech he shook his head. Senator Aldrich is generally considered a man of excellent judgment. He didn't come west to mix up in brawls within the party. His mission is to secure the cooperation of all parts of the country in the work of revamping the currency and banking system. Violent debate over that or any other question would seriously interfere with the success of his endeavor. Besides Senator Aldrich is not one of the men who have set themselves up as final arbiters of the Republicanism of others. He has no great regard for the insurgents, but has evidently realized that there is nothing to be gained in pursuing the fight on them in and out of season. He has voiced no criticisms of their course since congress adjourned, nor has he attempted to metamorphose them into Democrats. He has been eminently more discreet than Uncle Joe, and his avoidance of debate even when Senator Cummins so cordially invite him to come on is commendable. He, at least, sees that the party should be given a chance to heal instead of being further irritated. If his opinion on the subject were available we believe he would seriously question the wisdom of Uncle Joe's course in accepting, instead of trying to reduce, the measure of disharmony already existing in the ranks of the party.

Detroit Saturday night, which has shown a disposition to take up the advocacy of a tonnage tax, has evidently been impressed with the objection that a flat tonnage tax would not do, for the reason that it would press inequitably even on the mines, because of different costs at different properties. It, therefore, suggests a plan all of its own for discussion, saying: "We have an idea or two on the subject of mine valuation. First, establish a system of uniform accounting for mining properties; second, find the net profits of each mine and capitalize them at a fair rate; third, accept the value as capitalized as the assessed valuation of the mine. If there be no net profits, then the valuation of the mine cannot be too small, for it will not be operated long. When it does operate there will be no escape, except by punishable fraud, from the payment of an adequate share of the tax. If this method is unsatisfactory then let Regent Osborn and the other candidates for governor of the state suggest a system that is satisfactory. At present we have no system at all, and Wayne county and every growing industrial county of the state is getting tired of it." The tonnage tax proposition, apparently so simple on its face, is found, on investigation, to be not simple at all. Many people who may honestly believe in it on the basis of limited knowledge will amend their views as they become better informed in relation to the subject, and better appreciate the almost insurmountable obstacle in the way of framing a practicable law along those lines.

BACKWOODS PEERS. The approach of the final debate in the lords on the Liberal budget is bringing into prominence the points of difference between the lords and any other legislative body in Christendom. The difference most significant in the present crisis is the fact that in no other legislative body in existence does so small a part of the membership ordinarily transact the business to be done. There are 629 peers entitled to seats and votes in the house of lords. Ordinarily not more than fifty or sixty peers are in attendance and it requires a question of the highest importance to gain the attention of an even 100. This means, in effect, that when an epoch-making issue like the question of the disposal of the land made of the Liberal budget comes up for consideration, there is a pilgrimage to London of scores of backwoods lords who may have almost forgotten the way to the parliament house, so long is it since their last appearance there. They are, for the most part, men sadly out of touch with the problems of the day, and but little amenable either to public sentiment or to the organized leadership of the small minority that ordinarily transacts the business of the lords. In many cases they are men of narrow prejudices and meager intellectual equipment. Personal interest, however, makes these backwoods peers a unit in one thing, namely, a hostile attitude toward the Liberal budget. Their first disposition will be to cast their votes in accordance with their real sentiments, and not to allow any question of expediency to lead them to ballot against their conviction that their privileges shall endure indefinitely. Whether the farsighted peers who conceive it the part of wisdom to put off a constitutional crisis even at the cost of accepting the budget can sway them to this way of thinking is doubtful, for as the Boston Herald well says: "These hayseed peers have never been amenable to party discipline. They represent only themselves; and when their own personal interests are concerned they have always voted as these interests dictate. Lord Lansdowne can hope to exercise little or no authority over these kindergartners at legislation, whose passions have been inflamed by the Chamberlain letter and by the appeal of the Tory and Tariff Reform press. "If the budget is thrown out, and the greatest political upheaval in England since 1688 ensues, the responsibility, it would now seem, will lie with these backwoods statesmen, who after working this damage on the country will quit London immediately, and will be out among the pheasants or with the foxhounds, while the cabinet is wrestling with the problem of how to carry on the king's government without money."

NEGRO BARS G. O. P. Senator Cullom, of Illinois, has given utterance to some interesting views on the political status of the south and the relation that the negro vote has to the continued Democratic dominance in that region. "President Taft is showing wisdom in his southern tour," he says. "He is a big, good natured, whole-souled, patriotic and generous statesman to whom the south or any other section may well and implicitly trust its absolute destiny. Mr. Taft is just now mingling with the southern people in order that he may get better acquainted with them and they with him. They will find that he is the right man for the place. "Of course, the president doesn't intend to surrender any principle, but at the same time he is willing to make concessions to the southern people, commensurate with any fair sense of justice. And likewise does he intend to eradicate the Mason and Dixon line. In my opinion he is just the man for that task, and if he doesn't accomplish it to a certain degree at least, I shall be sadly mistaken. "That line must be wiped out at some time or other; that much is a certainty, and I cannot see any logical reason why the proper action should not come right now. There are several states in the south simply ripe for falling into the Republican column. "Eliminate the negro from politics in the south—give that section of the south an exclusively white ballot or a franchise which shall mean an absolute and unequivocal white supremacy in the management of its whole affairs and there is not a state below the Mason and Dixon line which will not be found in the Republican column of the electoral college. "The whole truth of the situation is that the south believes in and really needs the enforcement of the Republican doctrine of a protective tariff. Therefore the people of that section would like to vote in behalf of candidates—congressional, national and state—who would support such a policy. But they are held in leash, so to speak, by the fear of negro domination; the fear of colored men in office, both of the elective class and those appointed at Washington. "How can you blame communities like South Carolina and Mississippi, for instance, for voting the Democratic ticket. In some sections the proportion of colored population is ten blacks to one white. It is in communities like these that the white people are afraid. "I don't necessarily mean that I favor the total disfranchisement of the negro. In Illinois, for instance, we have a large negro vote, just as in Ohio, Indiana, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York. But up in these communities it is a different proposition. There appears to be a distinction somewhere between the two sections in this respect, and the Republican colored man uses his ballot with wisdom and fairness. We are satisfied with him, but it is notorious, of course, that the south is not."

MICHIGAN POLITICS

[Detroit Correspondence.] A solution of the tonnage tax bogey that will be met with mingled tears and cheers in the upper peninsula is offered by Editor Nimmo of Detroit Saturday Night in this week's issue of his paper.

Others because it does not by any means contemplate lowering the taxes of the mining corporations or even leaving them as they are. Cheers because for the time being it must end in leaving the matter in abeyance and there is nothing the mining barons desire more than to be let alone.

His plan is, in short, an income tax, but it is based on net instead of gross earnings. Its adoption would involve the creation of a new state department to oversee some scheme of uniform accounting on the mines. With positive knowledge as to the absolute sum of production and the absolute cost, the net earnings would be easily arrived at. Then an equitable share of these earnings—say the average share paid by other property of the state—could be taken and miner and farmer alike could rest easy in the consciousness that the miner had met his fair share of the tax burden.

In 1907 the copper mines of Houghton county are said to have paid $15,000,000 in dividends, capitalizing this at 6 per cent—not an unreasonable rate—and it appears that the copper mines of Houghton county are worth $250,000,000. There is much other property of course in that rich and prosperous county, but for purposes of state taxation, the county is now equalized by the state board of equalization at $140,000,000 and pays still taxes on that sum. If these figures are correct then there would seem to be something in the general idea of holding south of the straits that the mines are not paying their fair share of the taxes.

All of the Wayne house delegation with the possible exception of Guy A. Miller and D. Z. Curtiss will be candidates for reelection to the house. Mr. Miller will probably take a sly at the Third senatorial district seat now held by John D. Mackay, with whom he is on very friendly terms. Acquaintances Curtiss says he will not be in the field.

"Stories that Judge Montgomery will not be in the field to the end of the race are utterly without foundation," said former Judge W. L. Carpenter yesterday. "I cannot say that he will be in the field, but I think the other gentlemen in the field, but he will certainly be in as long. I believe he will be nominated for governor."

Labor Commissioner Fletcher was in the city yesterday. Is Mr. Fletcher's lieutenant, support of Lieut. Governor Kelley for secretary of Well, not to a noticeable extent. By the way, in this connection it may be said that some one in Mr. Fletcher's office has found a way to get around the primary law limiting the size of pictures candidates may post to an undesirable minimum. They have issued a neat little picture of Mr. Kelley with the words beneath it, "Present lieutenant governor." The first word is in a much larger type to make it conspicuous. That's not advertising, eh?

There are rocks ahead in Wayne for the state campaign managers when they come to pick out campaign managers for this county and to make campaign managers' names post to an undesirable minimum. They have issued a neat little picture of Mr. Kelley with the words beneath it, "Present lieutenant governor." The first word is in a much larger type to make it conspicuous. That's not advertising, eh?

Why? Because Breathitt county is not more profane of blood feud than is Wayne of political vendettas, and it will need to be a delicate hand that can safely balance the scales to a safe harbor without embarrassing his candidate. Just, for instance, let attention be focussed on the following fights that have from time to time engrossed the attention of political warriors in this county and even in the state:

McMinn vs. Newberry vendetta. Tom Saven Arthur Holmes' blood feud. Milt Oakman-Arthur Holmes' skin mishap. Star-Newberry fights. The McMinns and the Newberrys, but the ramifications of the splits between the clans mentioned may be found way down the line and must be guarded against.

SENATOR CUMMINS' SPEECH. Any disreputable person who will compare Senator Cummins' address before the Marquette club with Speaker Cannon's recent utterances regarding the insurgents cannot be impressed by the dignity and moderation which characterized the remarks of the one in distinction from the spleen which marked those of the other while attempting to read out of the party those members whose consciences forbade their voting for a bill which they felt did not carry the party pledge.

It would seem that the insurgents are fighting for a principle, and the speaker, as the spokesman for the several white haired madams who are joined with him in talking for an organization, is the central of legislation in both houses at Washington.

For Illinois it is a matter not of interest only but of real significance and inspiration to find a man of the standing of William J. Calhoun, who led the fight in this state for William McKinley of tariff reform—William McKinley, who died while his words in advocacy of a more liberal tariff policy were not forgotten in the Illinois delegation in congress, their right to follow the course of action their consciences bid them take. Mr. Calhoun would be a political factor of consequence in Illinois if it were not that his modesty has too often prevented his services being known to the attention which his ability, independence, and courage deserve.

No man, no group of men, can read out of the party the so-called insurgents, who by conviction have followed the course which they believe to be representative of the opinion of the body of the party. Such an attempt, if persisted in, might lead to party disruption, than which nothing more unfortunate could happen to the country. If the disposition to make the strength of Republican insurgents which has characterized the attitude of some of the leaders among their opponents shall continue, no man can guess what the issue at the polls next November will be. But it is fine evidence of the strength of Republican independence in the protectionist state of Massachusetts that it voted last week so emphatic a protest if not

Copper Country

BOOMING OSBORN'S CAMPAIGN.

W. E. Knox of the Soo Visits Houghton to Talk Politics.

W. E. Knox of the Soo, which town is the home of Chase S. Osborn, upper peninsula candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, arrived in Houghton yesterday. Mr. Knox is editor of the Soo News and his paper is in the front rank of the Osborn forces. He says that he is here to talk Osborn to copper country people.

The Soo editor says that things look good for Osborn. That candidate looks for a solid upper peninsula vote in the primaries, strong support in the Saginaw valley, something of the same kind in Wayne county and Detroit and a seat of voting vote or two in other parts of the state. The important factor in his strength will be a solid, unified, concrete expression of confidence from the upper peninsula.

"The upper peninsula must impress its confidence in Osborn very strongly on the lower peninsula, if Osborn is to win," said Mr. Knox yesterday. "The upper peninsula counties must absolutely convince the lower peninsula that they are for the Soo man first, last and all the time. This sentiment is bound to act in his favor below the straits."

Mr. Knox says that an upper peninsula Osborn committee is shortly to be organized to take charge of Osborn's campaign. Similar organizations are forming in other portions of the state. Mr. Osborn's emissary, if such Mr. Knox may be called, says that the Lock City candidate has come out strongly and unhesitatingly against the tonnage tax idea. He wishes a strong and united front to be made against it all over the upper peninsula as the only means of successfully combating the doctrine. His plank on this question is that all property should be taxed alike.

Mr. Knox spent all day yesterday in Houghton and will leave for home this morning.

FARMERS PLAN ORGANIZATION.

Growers of Crops Want to Co-Operate With Shippers.

It is stated that there is a movement on foot at Calumet to organize an association of farmers and shippers for the purpose of restoring shipments of copper country products and getting better freight rates. One of the best arguments is that, even now, the farmers are raising more potatoes and other root crops, cabbage, etc., than can be disposed of in some markets. By increasing the crop, prices for the consumer will be lowered and the agriculturists of the district will be able to place in outside markets and at excellent prices very large shipments of their produce. It is proposed, therefore, to organize the farmers, along the lines of such co-operative organizations in southern Wisconsin and in Minnesota.

If such an organization is perfected in this district, there is assurance that export dealers will meet dealers at several points throughout the territory for receiving the goods and for shipping them out. Already this export business has been started, for only last week a large consignment of copper country grown cabbage was shipped from Calumet to Denver and other Colorado points and sold at good prices, for in Colorado such root crops cannot be raised as can be grown in the fertile fields of the Michigan copper region.

Copper country products class better than those raised in other parts of the country. The same can be said of all other root crops indigenous to the northern clime. Berry crops, especially raspberries, and even domesticated Houghton country in large quantities and they compare equally well with those of Ontonagon county, a great demand for which has sprung up in Milwaukee, Duluth, Chicago and others of the largest markets of the central west. The best have grown in America, vastly better than that which is shipped into this part of the country, is grown right here in the copper district.

NOVEMBER TERM OPENS.

Houghton County Circuit Court Commences in Houghton.

The circuit court for the county of Houghton convened its November term yesterday morning with Hon. Albert T. Steeter, circuit judge, presiding and with almost the entire county bar represented. The sessions of the opening day were devoted to arranging the calendar and hearing the pleas of prisoners.

There will be no session of the court today, as the supervisors will be in session in the court room this morning and the jury is not ordered to report until tomorrow morning, when the case of Charles Leimonen charged with murder, will open. The criminal department of the calendar was arranged yesterday morning with the following result:

Charles Leimonen pleaded not guilty to murder and his trial was set for tomorrow morning.
Lute Gorgie, charged with assault with intent to murder, pleaded not guilty, as did George Ross, charged with assault with intent to murder; Peter Jurich, mayhem; Alfred Michaelson, embezzlement, four counts; Archibald Hall, abandonment of family; Oscar Riid, non-support, appeal, and Oscar Pekola, assault with intent to murder.

Alfred Bishop, charged with non-payment of liquor tax, and William Adams, charged with larceny, pleaded guilty. The cases of Gorgie and Jurich were continued.
Leimonen is charged with complicity in the murder of Herman Matson, for which crime Ellis Karvaka is now being tried in the Michigan prison, having pleaded guilty to manslaughter. The crime was committed in Calumet during the summer.

REPORT OF THE STATISTICIAN.

James L. Nankervis Issues His Report for the Year 1908-09.

James L. Nankervis of Calumet, former commissioner of mineral statistics, is distributing copies of his annual report for the year ending March 31, 1909. The report is one of the most complete ever issued from the office. It gives a resume, not only of the copper and iron but also of the coal, salt and other mineral industries of the state. Mr. Nankervis says: "The year 1909 will likely be much more prosperous than 1908, while 1910 promises to be a bumper." He continues in his introductory remarks: "From the most important metal produced and copper is next. Since the presidential election, larger orders which had been held back, have been placed for iron and steel products and also for copper in bars, ingots and other forms. The outlook for these economic products is full of promise and there is the best of reasons for believing a heavy demand will spring up for them during the next few months, with prices satisfactory. As to copper, the outlook for this metal is very satisfactory indeed."

MOTOR BOATMAN AROUSED.

Portage Lake Motor Boat Club Will Prosecute Lake Pirates.

The case now pending in Justice Brand's court in which James R. Doe charges James W. Cleaver of Hancock with stealing the hull of a motor boat has stirred up the members of the Portage Lake Motor Boat club and they will increase their vigilance in the future. This is of course without reference to Mr. Cleaver's guilt or innocence, as that case has not been decided.
The motor boatmen have not suffered from petty piracy as much this summer as in the past because the members of the club have kept a strict lookout and have acted as guards over each other's property. But there has been some law-breaking, such as breaking into boat-houses, stealing tools, unwarranted use of motor boats and the like. President Ruhl of the club said yesterday that the organization will continue to keep its eyes out for marauders and any future depredators will be prosecuted vigorously.

LOOK FOR GREAT GOLF YEAR.

Prospect of Calverley Cup Games Keeps Up the Enthusiasm.

Next year is going to be a great golf year for Houghton. The prospect of the Portage Lake Duluth games for the Calverley cup has renewed the enthusiasm and all of the Houghton golfers will be on their metal next spring. In fact they are keeping at it this fall and the links are being kept busy for there are enough sincere golf cranks in Houghton to keep the game alive until the snow on the course is too deep for play.
The Calverley cup will probably create a Houghton-Duluth rivalry which will continue for years. Mr. Calverley makes no conditions regarding the rules of the game except that it is to be a trophy for play between the golfers of the two towns. The club will settle the conditions and it will probably result in making the cup a perpetual trophy to be played for annually, the holding club being required to defend at any and all times.

AN OCTOGONARIAN PASSES.

Mrs. Emerance Normand Dies at Houghton at the Age of 86.

Mrs. Emerance Normand, mother of Charles Normand, of Houghton, died Sunday afternoon at the home of her son. She was born in Canada in April, 1824, and was thus nearly eighty-six years of age. She came here nineteen years ago, on the death of her husband. Mrs. Normand is survived by five children, two of whom, Charles and Mrs. Phylomene Colombe, live in Houghton. The others live in Washington, Quebec and Montreal. Mrs. Normand lived to see the fourth generation in her family, the little son of Jos. Colombe being her great grandson.
The funeral will be held this morning from St. Ignatius' church, with interment at Forest Hill cemetery.

BETRAYED BY A BUTTON.

Laurium Burglar Lost One While at Work and Is Now Doing Time.

Because he failed to have a shirt button firmly attached to his shirt, the night he entered the Reynolds meat market in Laurium through a cellar window, Pat Sheehan is now languishing in the Houghton county lock up and will be there for the next three months. While gaining entrance to the market, Sheehan was forced to work so hard that he lost a shirt button, a pain another of pearl button. This was placed in the hands of Officer Willis, who kept it for twenty days. For several days County Clerk Richardson has been issuing deer licenses by the hundred, and the prospect is that the usual number of hunters will get into the woods after the most sought big game this region.

HANCOCK M. E. ANNIVERSARY.

Seventh Year of Church to be Celebrated for Entire Week.

This is an anniversary week for the Hancock M. E. church, which was dedicated in November, 1903. It is to be observed by a series of meetings. The first was held last night at the home of Mrs. White, the annual thank offering meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary society. Women's society will conduct its annual bazaar and turkey supper, Friday evening, Dr. D. D. Martin, of Albion college, will deliver a lecture on "The Seventh Anniversary." The anniversary exercises will close Sunday, Nov. 14. Dr. Martin will preach, and special music will be rendered by the choir.

AIR BLASTS CONTINUE.

Another Subterranean Disturbance in Quincy Sunday Night.

The air blasts in the Quincy mine, which continued through the latter part of last week, were felt Sunday night again. The miners are reported in a state of panic and it is only under persuasion, it is said, that they will go to work. As far as can be learned no further damage has been done by the blasts since the closing of No. 2 shaft. In this shaft a large quantity of rock fell on the skip track at the 480-foot level and blocked the skipway so that the skip could neither be lowered or hoisted. Work in this shaft has been discontinued until the rock has been removed.

NEW BLOCK AT CALUMET.

Work on the building being erected by Matt Beach and George Lucas on Seventh street, Calumet, is almost completed and the seven large flats and store and saloon rooms will be occupied within a few days. The fixtures for the saloon, which is to be conducted by the owners of the building, were received yesterday. The property on which the building stands cost $4,000. The construction will cost about $11,000. This building is one of the largest frame structures in the copper country.

LIGHT INFANTRY TEAM WON.

The Houghton Light Infantry football team defeated the Hancock Light Infantry team Sunday afternoon at Hancock park with a score of 6 to 0. It is reported to have been good football and the infantries are consequently very jubilant. The game was preceded by a parade in the infantry appeared in the new olive drab uniform, making a very brave front. The company's own band accompanied the team to the field. The martial music essential to the occasion.

ACCIDENT TO SMALL BOY.

A seven-year-old boy named Hockett suffered a serious injury yesterday morning at his home near Anthony's farm, west of Hancock. The little fellow found a dynamite cap which he exploded by hitting it on a rock. The explosion blew off his left thumb and one of the fingers of that hand and badly shattered the index finger.

ELEPHANT SAUSAGE.

There is something unpleasant about the thought of eating whale meat, but it is said that the reality is very palatable. Japan has quite a trade in canned, and salted whale meat, and there is to be seen in the market a German people to like it. Some whaling companies have distributed from their headquarters samples of canned whale meat, and those who have eaten it describe it as tenderer than beef and much like a piece of lean steak. It is said to be a good food for the Eskimo people to like it. It is said to be a good food for the Eskimo people to like it.

TWO-STORY WAREHOUSE.

The warehouse to be erected next spring by the Keckoni Hardware company in the yard of the Copper Range railroad at Red Jacket will be one of the most modern structures of the kind in the copper country. The building will be of two stories and will probably be 50 by 80 feet in ground dimensions. Its construction will be of steel and brick, with stone and concrete foundations. The building will probably be equipped with an electric elevator service and other modern warehouse conveniences.

SUPERIOR LUMBER COMPANY

Marquette, Negaunee, Ishpeming.

City Brevities

John R. Gordon has returned from an extended business trip to Milwaukee.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Dan B. Bilkey at Ishpeming last evening.

The Daughters of the Revolution will meet at Brooks Hall this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The funeral of the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Crusteadt, who died Saturday, was held yesterday afternoon from the family residence, 329 Converse street.

The Modern Brotherhood of America will give another of their popular Wednesday night dances this week in Fraternity Hall, with the usual good music by the Peerless orchestra.

The Guild Hall B and Bismarcks bowling teams will play Wednesday night instead of Friday as was previously announced. Players please report at bowling alley at 8 o'clock sharp.

High School Party—The senior class of the Marquette High school will give an informal hop at Legion Hall Friday evening, invitations for which are out. Those on the arrangements committee are Margaret McConis, Viola Richardson and Elsworth Gibson.

Board of Pardons Here—The board of pardons is expected here today for a two or three days' sitting at the Marquette prison, where the cases of a large number of convicts are listed for a hearing. It is expected that between ten and twenty paroles will be granted.

Masons to Ishpeming—Marquette Masons will go to Ishpeming this evening to be the guests of the Ishpeming Lodge at a ceremonial session. The party will make the trip on a special train which leaves the South Shore station at 5-15 p. m. It is expected that a large delegation of Marquette Masons will make the trip.

Lost Her Anchor—The steamer Centurion lost her anchor while coming into the L. S. & I. dock yesterday, when about 400 feet east and north of the dock. The steamer cleared last evening with the intention of replacing the missing anchor at the Soo. The local life savers will make an attempt to fish it out of the harbor.

Married Ishpeming Girl—E. J. Pelissier, a well-known conductor on the L. S. & I. railway, married Miss Eliza Routhier of Ishpeming in that city yesterday morning. The couple were attended by Joseph Dushane and Miss Della Perrault, both of Ishpeming. They will spend a few days on the groom's farm below Chocoma, and after Nov. 14 will be at home at 124 Rock street, Marquette.

Hayward in the City—C. E. Hayward, of Lathrop, was in the city yesterday. He has been hired by a party of hunters to guide them during the deer season, and expects to spend most of the month in the woods. Mr. Hayward was one of the most effective deputy game wardens in the upper peninsula prior to his suspension for some reason that has never been clearly explained, and there are many hunters who, observing the freedom with which the laws are now being violated in this region, would like to see him back on the job.

Water Turned On—On Saturday the water was turned into the new mains which have been laid this summer, in the vicinity of East Hewitt avenue. The new mains will give water service to about twenty customers and the number is expected to be considerably increased within the next year. The new mains consist of a six-inch pipe on Hewitt avenue from Spruce street to the Marquette & Southeastern railroad tracks, a four-inch pipe on Cedar street from Hewitt to Ohio, and a two-inch pipe on Cedar Place between Ohio and Michigan streets. The last was built by Asire & Palmer.

Hotel Business Light—Local hotel men state that business in their line usually runs behind their schedules and that they expect it to be so until the close of the deer season. A traveling man stated yesterday that many knights of the grip made it a point to keep out of the upper peninsula during the deer season. In the first place, the trains there is danger of being delayed, and besides many of the commercial men's customers are in the woods and cannot be seen. Another reason given by some traveling men for avoiding the north entry at this season is the danger of getting shot by a stray bullet.

First Hunting Accident—The first hunting accident of the season is reported from Ironwood, the victim being Dr. J. R. Moore, chief surgeon for the United States Steel corporation on the Gogebic range. Dr. Moore and a party of friends had gone to Sans Souci, his camp in the woods near Clark lake, to prepare for the deer season. The manner in which he was wounded is not known, but the ball passed through his abdomen, and his condition is serious. A special train was ordered for him from Ironwood, and he was taken to the hospital at Ironwood of which he is one of the surgeons. The telegram announcing the accident said he might not recover.

Lost His Gun—Axel Strom returned to Marquette from Skandia yesterday in anything but an amiable frame of mind. He left Saturday evening for Skandia, taking a gun along with the intention of hunting partridges. After the train had passed Yalmar, he discovered that someone had appropriated the gun and left the train. Most of Sunday was spent searching for the gun, but it was not located until yesterday morning, when, on the way home, it was handed him by an acquaintance at Detroit, who said that it had been taken by a friend of his by mistake. Strom is not inclined to take this explanation at its face value and is of the opinion that someone took his gun for sportwork.

Hunter Is Shot—Suffering from a bullet wound under the right arm, a man named Manguson, and who is believed to live at Chatham, was brought in from An Train last night by the late train on the South Shore road and was taken to St. Luke's hospital. His condition is serious. Manguson is a victim of the hunting season. The details have not yet been learned, however. The man staggered from the woods into a group of section hands near An Train at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and said that he had been shot accidentally. Whether he himself had inflicted the wound or whether he had been shot by a companion was not stated. The section men dressed the wound as well as they could, and at night flagged the No.

passenger train and sent Manguson to Marquette.

Commercial Club Meeting—Owing to the attendance at the meeting of the Commercial club last evening being rather small, the address which was to have been given by George Tucker was postponed. Among those present was Mr. Reantjena, a Milwaukee merchant, who gave an interesting and helpful talk on what might be accomplished by the club. The report that the Skandia Creamery company had been unable to market their product in this city and were shipping it to New York was brought up, and steps were taken to learn what was the cause of that state of affairs. Joseph Brickman stated to the club that he would like to build a permanent skating rink in the city and asked for assistance in getting a site. He stated that he intended to erect a concrete building, which would be used for an ice rink in the winter and a roller rink in the summer.

INSURE WITH PETER WHITE & CO.

TURIN SUPERVISOR HAS FIRE LOSS

CUT OF LUMBER DESTROYED YESTERDAY MORNING—BURNED OUT THREE TIMES IN FOUR YEARS.

If familiarity breeds contempt, and the old saying assures us that it does, the fire brand has mighty little standing with F. C. Keupper, the supervisor of Turin township, for he has been burned out three times in the past four years. Things are breaking a little better for him, however. Yesterday morning he only lost his cut of lumber. On the occasions of the two previous fires it is said that the mill went, too.

It was only by the greatest exertions on the part of the neighbors who gathered at Keupper's place that the mill and his house was saved, for the fire in the lumber burned fiercely and threatened for a time to make a clean sweep. It was, however, prevented from spreading, and the loss was confined to the cut of about 400,000 feet of pine and hemlock lumber. The loss is said to be in the neighborhood of $5,000. It is not known whether there was any insurance, but it is believed there was not, as the rate is high for such risks, because of lack of fire protection. The cause of the fire could not be learned yesterday.

TWO LAND DECISIONS OF LOCAL INTEREST

RULINGS OF MARQUETTE OFFICE IN BOTH INSTANCES UPHELD BY THE GENERAL OFFICE AT WASHINGTON.

Two decisions of the Marquette land office involving lands in this county have been affirmed by the general land office at Washington, though they are still subject to appeal to the secretary of the interior.

One of these cases is that of Henry Lukkarinen against John Perala, the plaintiff alleging that Perala had not established a residence on a homestead located in the southeast corner of Richmond township. Both the Marquette and the Washington land offices have upheld the plaintiff and recommended the cancellation of Perala's entry. It was brought out in the testimony that Perala, who resides in Neenah, Wis., had built a cabin, barn and made other improvements to the value of over $2000 shortly after making the entry on the land, but that he had not lived on the property, having paid but occasional visits there. The material facts in the allegation were admitted by Perala, who put in as a defense that climatic conditions were such as to make it impossible for himself and family to live on the land. The land department admitted that, under certain circumstances, climatic conditions might constitute failure to establish residence, but held that Perala's case did not come under that class and recommended the cancellation of the entry.

The second case involves title to a tract of land near Big Bay, which has been in litigation for the last four years. In the beginning, Charles E. Daily took out a homestead entry on the land. The entry was later contested by Henry E. Kellan, on the ground that Daily had not established residence according to law. Kellan's contention was upheld and Daily's entry was cancelled. Shortly after, Kellan took over the same land under the timber and stone act. Daily contested on the ground that the land was adapted to agriculture and was not of such a character as to come under the timber and stone act. The land department decided that the land could not be made adaptable to agricultural pursuits without the expenditure of large sums of money and that it was properly timber and stone land, and consequently dismissed the second suit.

DIABETES

It was not easy for us to believe that Diabetes is curable, but the first case we came in personal touch with was astonishingly convincing.

We were considering the purchase of Fulton's Compound and were looking for cases to try them on. One of our number knew Charles A. Newton, the yardmaster of the S. P. R. Co. at Sauerstown—a very worthy man. He also knew that Newton had Diabetes, and was in a hospital in the Capital City, and that his recovery seemed impossible when he last heard from him. A letter was written to Newton that Fulton claimed his Diabetes Compound cured Diabetes and that we wanted to know from our friends if this was so, and that if he (Newton) would take it that we would send him a supply of it. Newton replied to the effect that some four or five months before we wrote him he had heard about the compound, had taken it, and that the sugar was nearly out and he was almost well. His complete recovery followed, and he told an S. T. engineer who had Diabetes and he recovered.

We also saw Gen. Theo. Reichert of San Francisco go on this treatment, and get a complete recovery after physicians had declared that the case was hopeless. Gen. Reichert is a 35th degree Mason and is one of San Francisco's most widely and favorably known citizens.

We have seen hundreds recover since and there is no longer any question about Diabetes in people of middle age and over being curable.

For free literature, address John J. Fulton Co., San Francisco, Cal. Fulton's Diabetes Compound can be had of our agent in your city, The Stafford Drug Co. We desire all patients to write us who are not noting the usual improvement by the third week.

VESSEL OWNERS WILL APPEAL.

Judge Cooper's Decision on Sailors' Contracts to Be Contested.

The suit brought by Attorney Clyde Hayden of Escanaba against the Chicago Navigation company, and which was decided by Judge Cooper in favor of the plaintiff, will be appealed to the supreme court of the state, and with its decision there will be established an important precedent.

Attorney Ryall, representing the defendant corporation, has been instructed to fight the case to the bitter end, cost what it may. Although less than $10 is involved in this particular judgment, the decision will inevitably mean thousands of dollars to the employees of boat companies, as well as to the companies themselves.

Attorney Hayden became plaintiff in the action because Wilbert Smith, formerly of the steamer Connant, signed over his wage claim to partly pay the sailing business into a state of chaos. He is extremely probable the great marine unions in Milwaukee and Chicago and perhaps elsewhere will defy the expenses of the supreme court hearing. Mr. Hayden's interest in the case is too slight to cause him to defray the expense merely for securing a precedent to enforce a marine law.

By Judge Cooper's decision a marine man has a perfect right to sign for a trip and after making a portion of that trip demand his pay, for the work he performed, whether he completes his voyage or not. The judge held that admiralty law could not be brought into a circuit court trial.

The defendant company and similar companies declare that such a decision from a circuit judge would show their slipping business into a state of chaos. They claim that it would be impossible to be assured help and that in order to maintain their sailors, they would be forced to continually add to their wages.

MARKETS

NEW YORK STOCKS.

Paine, Webber & Co's correspondent at New York yesterday telegraphed as follows: "The market showed considerable strength today, which was mainly due to the failure of the Bank of Germany to increase its rate to 6 per cent, as was feared in the latter half of last week. This, however, does not seem to eliminate the uncertainty on this side in regard to the foreign money market. There is still a great deal of apprehension manifested, but if a firmer under-tone should set in we believe it would but temporarily affect values, and we still feel that the money will be easier after the first of January."

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKETS.

Chicago, Nov. 8.—The continuance of enormous movement of wheat in this country had a weakening effect on the wheat market here today and resulted in final losses of 1/2 to 3/4 cent compared with Saturday's close. Heaviness and inactivity characterized the trading throughout the session. There was a little firmness at the start, owing to a bulge at Liverpool, but the prices soon eased off. In the final hour, following the publication of the government report, which made a bullish showing on the new crop of corn, the sellers became more aggressive, but the market failed to display any great amount of animation. Primary receipts aggregating 1,811,000 bushels compared with 1,100,000 bushels on the corresponding day a year ago told the story of the downward trend of the prices. The December opened at 102 1/2 to 103 1/4; highest, 103 1/4; lowest, 101 3/4; closing, 102 1/2. weakness after the publication of the government crop report, which placed the new crop of corn at about 100,000,000 bushels, an excess of 177,000,000 bushels over the 1897-98 total yield. The close was weak, 1/2 to 3/4 cent lower. The December opened at 98 1/2; highest, 98 3/4; lowest, 97 1/4; closing, 97 3/4.

Cottons—This market was quiet all day, with a downward tendency. The close was easy, 1/2 to 3/4 cent lower. The December opened at 39 1/2; highest, 39 1/4; lowest, 38 3/4; closing, 38 3/4.

Paine, Webber & Co's Wheat Summary.

Paine, Webber & Co's Chicago correspondent had this to say concerning the yesterday's wheat market: "Wheat closed strong during the morning, as there was a continuation of the Saturday's covering, because of very strong cables. There appeared to be little in the situation to give the market support after this short interest was eliminated. If the country were to sell wheat freely and the primary movement runs half a million bushels a day over last year, the market is likely to be forced lower by hedging sales."

Cotton Market.

Paine, Webber & Co. had this to say of yesterday's cotton market: "Today's cotton market figures were about as expected, and although the market made a tremendous downward swing, the responsibility for such a decline cannot be lodged in these figures. They showed a dipping to date of 7 1/2 to 8 cents, against 8 1/2 to 9 cents to date last year. Liverpool proved to be a buyer in this market throughout the day. The shorts covered considerable cotton, but the southern spot situation is as full of fear and uncertainty as the contract market and at the moment we cannot advise our friends to buy cotton, despite the fact that it is $5 per bale cheaper than it was last week."

Boston Stock Quotations.

Writing from Boston yesterday, Paine, Webber & Co. had the following to say of the stock market: "The pronounced strength in Amalgamated gave a better tone to the entire capital list. One by one the different specialties became active, and towards the close the whole market was boiling. Insiders were buying. Labor, pushing the price up to 28. We understand that a test will be made of the rock at the Franklin mill and there is every indication that the result will be most gratifying. People in close touch with the Superior state that the monthly reports show that a good profit is being earned net over and above expenses with the present shipment, which only amounts to 300 tons a day. The return is claimed to be 28 pounds to the ton, and it is this that is considerably increased by reducing the loss in the tailings. The other stocks with Calumet & Hecla affiliations responded to the strength in Superior. Groux and Butte Coalitions were both active and strong. The busy season in Butte Coalition is apparently the same accumulation which took 30,000 shares out of the market a week or ten days ago. Beta were made today that Amalgamated will sell at 100 before it does at 85."

The closing prices at Boston were:

New York, Nov. 8.—The loss to the Big Four railroad through the alleged defalcations of C. L. Warriner, its local treasurer at Cincinnati, will ultimately amount to about $650,000, according to the statement of Vice President Harris of the New York Central lines. The statement says that the defalcation is $649,000, that Warriner has turned over property amounting to more than $100,000 and that there will be received from the surety company on its bond $50,000.

INDIANA WITH BEVERAGE.

Senator Is Stronger as a Result of the Election—State Generally Favors His Tariff Attitude.

Indianapolis, Nov. 8.—That the results of the city elections in Indiana and particularly in Indianapolis should be very encouraging to United States Senator Albert C. Beveridge and his friends cannot be denied. Senator Beveridge is much stronger in Indiana than he was before Nov. 2. Republicans declare that their party is stronger and that the election in Indianapolis has contributed to their strength. This may be true or may not be, but however it is, Senator Beveridge is stronger.

One of the great closing events of the campaign was a speech by Senator Beveridge before an audience of five thousand. The senator pleased his audience and his constituents by speaking of general problems and discussing local issues together. He directed bitter remarks at the Indiana brewers, who were said to be behind the Democratic ticket, and incidentally took occasion to indorse Law, Shank, the Republican candidate for governor of Indiana, and the entire Republican ticket. Republicans were greatly pleased with this attitude on the part of the senator, and what pleased the Republicans was that he discussed local conditions without dodging anything.

There are twelve members of the legislature to be elected from the county, the largest number from any county in the state, and it is a foregone conclusion that the Republican organization will exert every effort to elect men who will work vigorously to re-elect Beveridge to the United States Senate. In forty-four cities, Democratic party condition on the state now is pretty fair. His attitude on the tariff showed that he was in line with the sentiment of most of the out-state people. Without saying anything one way or the other about the Republican party or its chances, it is pretty safe to predict that the party will have the full support of his party in the election next year, and that old party differences will be forgotten.

On the other hand the Democrats are taking great encouragement from the results of the city elections over the state. In forty-four cities, Democratic members were elected, and in thirty Republican executives were chosen. The cities whose Democratic mayors were chosen included many of the larger cities of the state. The Democrats declare that these results out in the state are encouraging, and that the defeat in Indianapolis will only add to cement the party thoroughly together here.

MAKES LODGE SIGN TO JURY.

Philadelphia Who Admits Giving Distress Signal Is Sent to Jail.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 8.—Adolph Moskowitz, "threw" the Oddfellows' sign of distress to a jury in Judge Kinsey's court and went to prison in contempt of court.

Moskowitz sued his former employer, Morris Keen, to recover money deposited as security for the faithful performance of his agreement when he entered Keen's employ on April 10, 1907, as superintendent of his musical instrument business at 4250 Main street, Manayunk. Nine months later, Moskowitz, according to Keen, was discharged for dishonesty.

It was testified that the plaintiff, Moskowitz, repeatedly failed to turn in the full amount he received for different musical instruments, and had appropriated the proceeds his own use. He was "trapped," according to the defense, by marked money and amateur detectives, and his alleged thefts, the defense urged, amount to more than the sum of

THE DEPOSIT MONEY UNDER HIS AGREEMENT.

Moskowitz denied these charges.

During the course of the trial Court Officer Lyne and Attorney Arthur S. Arnold, counsel for the Keen interests, noticed Moskowitz making peculiar gestures toward the jury. They reported the incident to Judge Kinsey, who called the plaintiff to the bar and asked: "What is that button you have on your coat? What secret order does that represent?"

"The Oddfellows," replied Moskowitz. "What was that sign you were making?"

"The Oddfellows? If a man gets in trouble he can make that sign." "That was a sign of distress, and trouble that you were making to the jury—do you mean that?" "Yes, sir."

"And you signaled this jury so that if there was one of your society members there he would help you?" "Yes."

After this startling admission Judge Kinsey ordered Moskowitz to remain in court, and when the jury returned a verdict of $175 in his favor Moskowitz was again called forward and committed to prison for contempt.

UNITE IN CONDEMNING THE DRINKING HABIT

It Is Dangerous to Health and Morals and Subversive of National Greatness, Say the United States Delegates to the Twelfth International Congress on Alcoholism.

Washington, Nov. 8.—Alcohol and alcoholism are two of the real and substantial enemies of moral, artistic and commercial progress of the human race, according to the report of the United States delegates to the twelfth international congress on alcoholism, made public by the state department today. The delegates were appointed by Secretary Knox as one of his first official acts. The congress was held last July in London, and twenty-five governments were represented, the delegates of each concurring in the general finding that alcohol not only was unnecessary to human life and comfort, but was inimical to both.

Three departments of the United States government were represented by delegates, the state, navy and treasury. Twelve representatives went abroad, and all of them unanimously signed the report made public today, the finding on which is summarized by Secretary Knox as one of his first official acts. The congress was held last July in London, and twenty-five governments were represented, the delegates of each concurring in the general finding that alcohol not only was unnecessary to human life and comfort, but was inimical to both.

While the congress urged the necessity of imposing the most rigorous restrictions on the sale and traffic in alcoholic beverages, it also urged the necessity of the need of educating the younger generation to a true knowledge of what alcohol is and what its effects upon the human system are. The delegates believe that the numerous recent discoveries as to the harmfulness of drunkardism, and the need of "moderate" drinking, also should be set before children in order that they may see the danger of the practice.

While acknowledgement is made that the organization of associations of abstemious abstainers is useful, it is declared, the chief reliance should be placed on scientific temperance education in the public schools as a means of ridding the public mind of errors about the effects of alcohol and substituting the facts that science is declared to have evolved about the use of the beverage, even when taken in small doses.

These stereotyped pictures, the report goes on to show, were largely reproductions of municipal posters that are being issued by the city councils of about 100 British boroughs. The posters deal in a popular way with the deleterious effects of alcohol on the human system, and are posted by order of the regular officials of towns in which the sale of intoxicants is licensed. This fact, however, does not prevent the officials from warning the public against the use of alcohol.

Following the example of Great Britain, the city and district officials of both France and Australia likewise have adopted the "public warning" method of advising the people against indulgence. The report deprecates the fact that the same method has not yet found a foothold in the United States, although such a plan has been noted in certain cities, whose public warning executives were chosen. The cities whose Democratic mayors were chosen included many of the larger cities of the state. The Democrats declare that these results out in the state are encouraging, and that the defeat in Indianapolis will only add to cement the party thoroughly together here.

ALCOHOL'S RELATION TO CRIME.

"The relations of drunkenness to crime" was a subject that received much attention at the congress. The chief justice of England, Lord Alverstone, announced that in his belief 90 per cent of the crimes passing under his observation were due to drink. Judge W. P. Pollard, of St. Louis, Mo., who presides at the Second district police court in that city, declared that of the cases

TREE RAISING WINS.

Efforts in Crawford County Succeeded—Praise for Roth.

Washington, Nov. 9.—Liberal commendation for Michigan's tree planting is the result of the inspection by a federal expert, E. O. Sienko, who has just returned to the Washington office of the forest service, says that the four hundred or five hundred acres of trees which had been set out in Crawford county are doing well, and that the cost of planting them has been unusually low. This is quite a feather in the cap of Professor Filibert Roth, formerly state forester, who until recently had charge of the planting.

"The cost of planting trees in the Michigan forest reserve has been 80 per cent," said Mr. Sienko. "This includes the cost of growing the trees from the seed and the labor of the final planting. Michigan's expense in starting its plantation has been fully as low and probably even lower than similar work in other states. The experience of the forest service is that its successful planting has cost more than that done by Professor Roth, but the federal planting has been done under very unfavorable conditions.

Proves Planting a Success.

"If there ever was doubt whether trees could be made to grow well on the small barren, rocky hillsides which exist in Crawford county it is sufficient to settle it once for all. It is true of course that fires have eaten up the greater part of the vegetable matter of the soil, but there is still sufficient abundant to enable the trees to make an average growth. Some of the best trees of those planted in 1904, when state planting began, have attained a height of eight feet and are yearly adding two feet to their stature.

"In the Michigan planting the trees are set out at intervals held to be proper in the best forestry practice, and they give every promise of affording ultimately a fine stand of merchantable timber. Michigan deserves no little credit, too, because it is one of the first states to undertake planting on a considerable scale.

Why Seed Sowing Fails.

"At the request of the forest service Professor Roth carried on two very interesting experiments in broadcast sowing. There has always been some question whether the seeds of pine trees might not be economically and successfully sown broadcast upon unprepared ground just as nature sows them. So the forest service sent Professor Roth a liberal consignment of pine seeds and asked him to try it.

"Forty acres of typical pine barrens were seeded in this way. The result of this sowing is a stand of about five or ten trees to the acre, and that is all. Professor Roth attributes the failure to the depredations of birds and rodents. The experiment demonstrates that for foresters not having millions of seeds to waste cannot sow in nature's way under conditions such as existed in the Michigan forest reserve and with no protection against pests. They must be content to plant the seed in nurseries and to transplant the little trees on the acres where they are expected to make their final growth.

Nursery Growing Pays Better.

"There was some evidence of mismanagement in Michigan regarding this

ORE MOVEMENT CONTINUES HEAVY

SHIPMENTS HAVE SLACKENED OFF IN THE MENOMINEE DISTRICT, AND CARS HAVE BEEN TRANSFERRED TO THIS RANGE.

"The ore movement is just as heavy now as it was two months ago," said the superintendent of one of the Ishpeming railroad yards, yesterday. "The companies still want as many cars as we can give them, and there is no indication that the rush will let up for several days at least. The boats are coming in regularly and they are being loaded as promptly as they were at any previous time during the season. The fine weather of the past few weeks has made it possible to reduce the stockpiles at a number of the mines.

"The shipments have slackened off considerably on the Menominee range the past week or so, and many of the Chicago & Northwestern Railway company's cars have been transferred to this range. The shipments of ore to Escanaba from the mines here are as heavy now as at any previous time this year.

"None of the railway companies have yet reduced their switching crews. On Sunday last the South Shore had seven switching crews at work and the North western had three. Most of the Lake Superior & Ishpeming company's men were also kept busy all day.

"The Salsbury stockpile is the only one of any consequence that will not be moved this fall. The Cliff shaft pile will likely be cleaned out this week and the big piles at the Cleveland Lake property are nearly exhausted. The Oliver Iron Mining company has moved much ore during the past month and big holes have been made in their piles. The Lake Angeline has not been shipping as heavily from the stockpiles the past month as formerly, but the slow movement has been largely due to the lack of cars. The Lake Angeline pile is comparatively small and it could be cleaned out in less than a week, if cars were available."

The bridge will be paid for jointly by the county road commissions of Dickinson and Marquette counties and the successful bidder will be required to enter into a joint contract with the said commissions for construction of the bridge and to give satisfactory bonds aggregating the sum of $2,000.00 for faithful performance of contract and for payment of material and labor claims. Bridge to be completed and opened to traffic not later than July 1st, 1910.

The right is expressly reserved to reject any or all bids and to accept any bid that the said boards may deem for the best interest of the two counties.

"A higher opening at New York was met by considerable realizing and the market, until the last hour, sold off lightly. In the last hour, good buying in a number of issues appeared, and the losses were generally recovered for the time. The close was lower. Amalgamated was exceptionally strong, and sold up to 89 1/2 toward the close.

Trading in Boston is confined to the Cole-Ryan and Guggenheim stocks, with superior Copper, Miami and Lake in addition. The Cole-Ryan issues maintain their strength and show fractional gains, as does Miami while Lake advanced over a point and Superior Copper 4 points.

Trading in the ends was fairly active, though the prices suffered more or less in most instances. There was heavy selling of the low priced Elys. The Shain stocks were fractionally higher. Shain reports a new strike of 15 per cent ore on the 500-foot level.

The Oliver Iron Mining company plans to take out ore from its properties at Gilbert, Mesler-range, by the milling system, instead of through the open pits, which are now of considerable depth. This will eliminate the necessity of stripping the overburden, which is heavy and expensive to handle. The company has mined and shipped from its Gilbert pits approximately 1,000,000 tons this season. With the milling system, underground mining will be started. The ore deposits run to a good depth.

ENGLISH A NOVELTY IN ONE TEXAS SPOT

Closed Search of Wide Area Required to Find One American.

Isolated District Found in the Extreme Southern Portion of the Lone Star State.

Cuevas, Starr County, Tex., Nov. 7.—The ranch life of the people of the extreme southern part of Texas, extending back from the Rio Grande for seventy-five miles, is different in most respects from that of any part of the United States. This statement applies to the Mexican inhabitants. As a matter of fact there is a scope of ranch territory extending around Cuevas for 35 to 100 miles in which hardly one American can be found in a day's ride. It is a region of romance, and contains many picturesque settings, that territory that might well belong to some remote part of Spain or some Asiatic country where the inhabitants still lead that simple and primitive life that is described in biblical history.

With a soil of almost unequalled natural richness and a climate that is pleasant and health-giving the whole year through, the territory around Cuevas is as isolated and unknown to the outside world as if it was in the remotest part of Africa. It is a good forty miles from Cuevas to the nearest railroad point. It is off the main roads of travel and it is only occasionally that some American ranchman happens through on his way to some border point. It is one of the few parts of this country that has not been invaded by the ever-restless homeseeker and land speculator. Many of these ranches have been held by the same family of Mexicans for more than a century. They are able to show title direct from the crown of Spain through the land grant made to their forefathers, perhaps. During the long period that Spain was in possession of Mexico the vast areas of unoccupied land in the domain of Texas, and in all parts of Mexico, for that matter, were considered practically worthless. If an officer of the army or some other public official performed a service of unusual bravery or benefit he was rewarded with a big grant of land. Those were times when thrilling adventures were not hard to seek. Along the coasts were pirates who were open to battle at almost any time. The interior of the country was infested with hostile Indians and bands of brigands, and a lively fight could be had with them whenever the military guardians of the little settlements saw fit to venture forth and make the attack.

Spanish Grants. One of the largest and most valuable land grants in the lower Rio Grande border region was awarded by the king of Spain a century or more ago to the military commander of a frontier garrison of troops for his acts of bravery in saving a number of people from drowning during a great flood in the Rio Grande. When such acts were given official recognition the proposed beneficiary was usually permitted to make his own selection of land. This accounts for the fact that the old Spanish grants contain the choicest land. Some of these estates were almost feudal in their extent and the method of their management. The cattle and goat raising industry has been carried on longer in the lower Rio Grande border territory than in any other part of the United States. It was an established industry here long before the great West was opened up for settlement. A number of stone and adobe ranch buildings scattered through this remote region were erected upward of a century ago. Some of them were abandoned long ago, but their crumbling ruins still stand. Others are in a comparatively good state of preservation. The simple-hearted descendants of the original occupants of these lands are still living thereon. These Mexicans live close to nature. Their wants are few, and they are contented to go through life in the same peaceful, easy-going way that has ever been typical of the inhabitants of this section.

No English Spoken. These Mexican ranch people have traveled but little. Few of them have ever seen a railroad train or any of the modern improvements and inventions of the last quarter of a century. Whole families of men, women and children are found upon the ranches not one of whom can understand or speak a word of English. It is only on rare occasions that they see an American. Upon some of the ranches private schools are conducted for the benefit of the Mexican children, but even in these schools English is not taught. Notwithstanding the fact that the soil is rich and that an abundant supply of water for irrigation purposes may be obtained in most localities by putting down wells, but little effort is made by the Mexicans to grow crops. Each family is usually contented to grow a small patch of corn from which sufficient grain is obtained to supply its members with tortillas from one season to the other. It is seldom that any attempt is made to grow vegetables. A few fields of cotton may be seen, and it nearly always gives a good yield even without irrigation.

Practically all of the wide stretch of range territory lying between Cuevas and the Rio Grande is still unfenced. In this respect it is also different from any other part of the cattle-grazing region of this country. The prospects are favorable for the building of a railroad which will split this remote and little-known region squarely in two. When this is done it will not be long until the rich and cheap lands attract the attention of the investors and homeseekers, and the existing conditions which are now so picturesque and remarkable in many respects will have soon passed away. The Mexican inhabitants have no knowledge or appreciation of the wonderful richness of the soil and the possibilities of wealth which it has in store for them. They are content to live as their forefathers, and let each day take care of itself.

GLAD TO HAVE THE MILLION.

Federal Doctors Will Raid the Dreaded Hookworm.

Rockefeller Fund to Be Distributed in Five Installments Will Enable Them, the Treasury Department Believes, to Stamp Out the Disease Completely.

Washington, Nov. 8.—John D. Rockefeller's million-dollar gift for the "eradication" of the hookworm disease is just what it pretends to be, in the judgment of the medical authorities of the United States Public Health and Marine Hospital service. They are delighted with the character of the great benefaction, and the terms under which the money is to be used. Said a prominent official of the treasury department today:

"The country has every reason to be glad that Mr. Rockefeller has chosen to allot his money in annual installments of $200,000 each, and not tied it up in a million-dollar fund, of which only the increment could be used. The intention is to stamp out the disease completely, and we believe this is wholly possible and practicable. Too many public benefactions are so hedged about with restrictions, often in perpetuity, that the world gets only a small share of the benefits which the giver intended. The treatment of the disease has been found comparatively simple. One of the first duties of the Rockefeller commission will be to educate the medical profession to deal with the disease scientifically and then a plan of administering the treatment can be devised that will bring wholesale results. Our experience is that the average cost of treatment is sixty-seven cents. Perhaps this may be reduced by the medical profession. If the cost could be made fifty cents, a million dollars would reach all the two million cases of hookworm disease which are now said to exist in the country. Such a magnificent result almost staggers the imagination. Theoretically it would seem to be possible and practically I believe the disease can be wiped out in five years. This is the grandest object lesson in the relief of suffering the world has ever seen."

The government is immensely relieved by the Rockefeller gift. The able surgeon in charge of the medical service, under Dr. Charles Wardwell Stiles, who appears to be the accredited discoverer of the hookworm disease in its American manifestations, have done wonders in pointing out conditions and suggesting remedies for their cure, but when it came to the matter of something in a broad way, it was found that appropriations were available. Then Mr. Rockefeller, who had long been in consultation with Dr. Stiles, stepped in, and the thing was done.

Mrs. Sage and Carnegie May Donate. The government is looking for some slight opposition from some of the Southern states to any efforts at wholesale cure, on the ridiculous theory suggested the other day by Bishop Candler, that the Rockefeller gift is a reflection on the community. That this will disappear when the plans of the Rockefeller board have matured is not doubted by the government. North Carolina has set the example of encouraging all scientific attempts to eradicate the hookworm, and the other states are expected to fall into line.

The story is current in Washington that Mrs. Russell Sage, soon will announce a million-dollar gift for the cure of tuberculosis; and the government officials think it not improbable that Andrew Carnegie may see his way clear to complete a noble triumvirate and make a third princely gift to be used against pellagra.

TO BE HANGED IN 1921.

Convicted Murderer's Appeal Denied; Will Labor Till Execution.

Montpelier, Vt., Nov. 8.—After denying the appeal of Elroy Kent from his conviction in the county court for the murder of Delia Congdon at Wallingford on July 22, 1908, the supreme court sentenced Kent to be hanged at the state prison Jan. 13, 1911. The court ordered that Kent be employed at hard labor in the state prison until Oct. 13, 1910, and from then until the date of his execution kept in solitary confinement.

Previous to the murder Kent had been confined in the state insane hospital at Waterbury. He escaped, and a few days afterward Miss Congdon was found dead, with her head battered in. After a long search, Kent was located in Pittsfield and captured without resistance. An attempt by his counsel to have him proceed insane at the time of his trial failed.

CONCRETE STRUCTURE IS NOW COMPLETED

ROAD UNDER LAKE SUPERIOR & ISHPEMING RAILWAY AT THE FOOT OF CARP HILL IS NOW SIXTY FEET WIDE.

George Sherman, who has had a crew employed for the past two months putting in the concrete work for the span on the Lake Superior & Ishpeiming railway above the highway, at a point below the Negaunee cemetery, has completed the job. The contract was the largest concrete job ever done in the county, as it required about 2,000 cubic yards of concrete for the walls and abutments.

The Lake Superior & Ishpeiming Railway company ordered the steel girders some time ago, but they have not yet arrived. They can be put in place within a short time, as all the preliminary work has been completed. The span has been widened from less than twenty-five feet to about sixty feet, and in the future automobiles and carriages will have no difficulty passing each other under it. The road is now wider at that point than at many other places on the highway between Negaunee and Marquette.

The railway crossing above the road is found at the foot of Carp hill, where the grade is considerable. Formerly drivers on one side of the railway sub-bankment could not see carriages or automobiles on the other side until they were almost directly under the span. The improvement will cost in the neighborhood of $15,000.

The Lake Superior & Ishpeiming Railway company, which is doing the grading for the Duluth, south shore & Atlantic Railway company's new line between Negaunee and Eagle Mills, is making good headway with the work. It is planned to work a crew all winter, and it is expected that the line will be ready for use early in the spring. Some fifty men are employed and a steam shovel is being used in the grading. There are several heavy fills between the Negaunee mine and Eagle Mills. The crew is now working on the heavy fill of them, which is several hundred feet west of the Negaunee property. The average fill there, for a distance of several hundred feet, will be about thirty-five feet. The sand is being panned from the Negaunee mill, at a point not far from where the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company is preparing to sink a shaft.

PEDDLERS MUST SETTLE.

City Officials Enforce Provisions of the New Ordinance.

Marshal Rough has lately had his hands full keeping track of peddlers who are doing business in the city. A number of outsiders have come in here to sell fruit and vegetables. The marshal yesterday held up two men who were peddling vegetables and fruit from house to house for the license fee. They appealed to Mayor Winter, but the latter ruled against them, and that they must fulfill the provisions of the ordinance.

The ordinance was adopted in September. It provides that no person shall follow the business or occupation of hawking or peddling within the limits of the city without a license from the recorder. The fee for the peddling privilege is $2 for the first day and $1 for each subsequent day; for peddling from hand carts and stands in the city streets the charge is $3 for the first day and $1 for each subsequent day; for peddling from a conveyance drawn by one horse or other animal the fee is $5 for the first day and $2 for each subsequent day; for peddling from a conveyance drawn by two or more horses or other animals, $10 for the first day and $5 for each subsequent day.

No license can be used for a longer period than thirty days and each renewal shall be considered a new license.

The ordinance also provides that the peddlers must show a license from any time they are demanded by the marshal, mayor, attorney or other city official. The ordinance also prohibits the use of horns or other noise-making devices.

Violators of the provisions of the ordinance may be fined not to exceed $100 for any offense, or may be given sixty days in the county jail, or both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court.

MARY CHARLOTTE SCHOOL.

New Building Will Not Be Opened Until the First of the Year.

The board of education has practically decided not to open the new school building erected in the Mary Charlotte district until the commencement of the winter term, immediately after New Year's. Erickson & Lehman, who are erecting the building, expect to complete it about the 20th of this month.

The board has given Erickson & Lehman a contract to crib a spring on the hill about 300 feet distant from the building. A three-quarter inch pipe is to be extended to the school and the gravity pressure will be sufficient to permit the use of a garden hose, which can be used on the lawn during the summer, and also for fire purposes, if necessary. The water from the spring is of exceptionally fine quality.

Miss Lyla Carroll has been engaged to teach the new school, which will have from thirty-five to forty pupils at the start. Miss Carroll taught in Negaunee for some time prior to a year or so ago, when she gave up the position with a view to engaging in other work. Mrs. Andrew Jacobson will be the janitress at the building.

DEER HUNTERS LEAVING.

A large number of Negaunee men who will hunt deer during the first week of the season have already gone to the woods. Several more parties will leave today and will take up the chase for deer early tomorrow morning. The Negaunee men who are issuing licenses supplied a greater number yesterday than on any previous day this season. It is expected that the demand for licenses will continue good until the end of the week. The conditions are not now favorable for hunting.

The Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company will pay the employees of the Maas, Jackson and Negaunee mines a week from tomorrow, the 17th.

C. E. Hayward, of Lathrop, who, since giving up the position of deputy game warden, has devoted most of his time to land looking, was in the city yesterday.

He says that five or six lanterns have been stolen within the past week or ten days.

Hugo Muck, who recently closed out his retail meat business, will be in his old store from now until the 25th, to receive former customers. The building has been rented. The floor is to be raised, and the ice box and partitions are to be removed, so that it is not likely that the stand is to be used for a meat market.

$100 REWARD. $100 The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical profession. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure acts internally, acting directly upon the system, and giving the patient strength by blood and mucous surfaces of the system, building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing her work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative power, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

HARD TO RAISE MONEY NOW

Believed That to Get Majority of All Voters in City to Vote for Extension of Intake Would Be Very Difficult.

A committee from the water board called at City Attorney Brown's office yesterday afternoon and discussed the proposition of bonding the city for the proposed extension of the water works intake. After going over the matter at some length, the city attorney was instructed to prepare an amendment to the city charter, which will make a majority vote of those voting sufficient to carry a bonding proposition, instead of a majority vote of all the electors in the city, as the charter now in force reads.

When this amendment to the charter is drawn, it will first be submitted to the common council for adoption or rejection. In case the council adopts the amendment, it must next be sent to the governor for his approval. If the amendment is satisfactory to the governor, it may then be submitted to the people at a regular or special election. No difficulty is anticipated in getting the amendment through the council or in obtaining permission from the governor to put it to a popular vote. It has been suggested that a good time to vote on the amendment would be at the local option election that will probably be held next spring. A majority of those voting would be sufficient to carry an amendment to the charter.

Once the charter is amended so that the city may be bonded for an extension of the water works intake by a majority vote of those voting, it will then be up to the water board to arrange for such an election. Such an election could be held at the city hall at almost any time without entailing any great expense, and the water board has such a plan in mind to be carried out as soon as the charter is amended. With the charter as it is now, requiring that a majority of all the electors in the city vote in favor of an additional bond issue before any issue can be legally made, the consensus of opinion of the board is that a bonding scheme would fail to carry, because of the large number who would not vote at all.

How It All Happened.

The law governing the water board until it was first amended in 1901, said that "the commissioners shall have power to borrow from time to time a sum of money not exceeding $100,000, and shall have authority to issue bonds for the payment of the principal and interest of said bonds, provided that no such bonds shall be issued until the amount proposed to be raised shall have been submitted to the legal voters and shall have been approved by a majority vote by ballot of all the electors at an annual election."

When this law was amended in 1901 it was altered so that two important changes were made. They were that instead of being limited to $100,000, bonds amounting to $125,000 might be issued by a majority vote, not of the total electors of the city, but a majority vote of those who voted upon the question.

Another amendment to the law was made in 1905. This second amendment again changed the amount that bonds might be issued for and placed it at $200,000, but in the second amendment it was not provided that a majority of those voting was sufficient to carry a bond issue and the result is that the original law is now practically effective.

Under this original law, to issue bonds of any sort for any cause, there must be a majority vote by ballot of all the electors at an annual election and not by a majority only of those who vote upon the question.

To those familiar with the Marquette vote, it is apparent that a majority vote of all the electors could not easily be obtained upon any bonding proposition. Under the law as it now stands, for the water board to be authorized to issue any bonds by popular vote, it would require that at least 1991 votes be cast for a bonding proposition, estimating the voting strength of the city at 2,000.

It has been repeatedly demonstrated here and elsewhere that when a bonding proposition has a place on a ballot, a large number of voters ignore it. As the situation now stands, failure to vote upon a water board bonding proposition, practically is a vote against the proposition and so it was at a former election when some eight hundred votes were cast for a proposition to issue $75,000 worth of bonds and about three hundred votes were cast against it. About seven hundred ignored the proposition.

The proposition carried by a majority of those who voted upon it, but not by a majority of the electors of the city as the law now provides, and therefore the bond issue was not authorized and the board has not the power to issue the bonds. It is a flaw of the law which should be remedied for as it stands, the water board is practically powerless to issue bonds, now or at a future time unless a majority vote of the electors of the city can be obtained.

NEW STORE BUILDING.

F. LaBonte to Put Up Brick Block on North Third Street.

F. LaBonte has begun excavation for a two-story brick block at the corner of Third and Prospect streets, immediately south of his present grocery store. Mr. LaBonte is as yet undecided as to whether he will complete the building at once or leave the brick work until next spring, but at any rate the excavating and foundation work will be rushed as rapidly as possible.

The building will be fifty by thirty-four feet in size and will consist of two stories, with a stone foundation and a brick superstructure. The first floor and basement will be used by Mr. LaBonte for a grocery store while the second story will be fitted up into living rooms. The contract for the building has not been let and Mr. LaBonte may decide to have it built by day work, under his personal supervision. The excavation for the foundation is already well under way and several men and teams are being employed. As soon as possible, a force of masons will be set to work on the foundation, which it is hoped, may be completed before bad weather sets in.

EXCELLENT LECTURE COURSE PROMISED

GUILD HALL BOARD HAS ARRANGED TO PRESENT FOUR HIGH CLASS ENTERTAINMENTS, THE FIRST ON NOV. 24.

Those who enjoyed the highly successful lecture and entertainment course given last winter for the benefit of the St. Luke's hospital building fund will be pleased to know that a similar course is promised for the coming season. This time it will be for the benefit of the Guild Hall building fund, and will be under the management of the Guild Hall board, assisted by a committee of representative women. The course will consist of two lectures and two musical numbers and the price of season tickets has been fixed at $2. The names of the attractions and the dates fixed are as follows:

Parland Newhall company, Nov. 24.
L. B. Wikstrom, Dec. 17.
Andrew Gillies, Jan. 12.
Vassar Girls, April 9.
The Parland Newhall company has been well and favorably known for years as one of the leading musical attractions of the country. It consists of J. Lincoln Smith, first tenor and cornet; Stewart A. Smith, second tenor and French horn; John F. McCarthy, first bass and violin soloist; and Ralph H. Parland, second bass and trombone. This company makes a specialty of bell-ringing, and has raised it from a novelty to a musical feature of great artistic merit. The work of the brass quartet is also of a very high order, and the solos of John F. McCarthy are a notable feature. The male quartet numbers are the result of years of coaching and rehearsing and add a finishing touch to an ideal program.

L. B. Wikstrom has attained enviable favor on the American lecture platform, and has captivated his audiences in all parts of the country. He is a man of great natural endowments, magnetic, brilliant, sympathetic and humorous. His lectures are strikingly original, and gain an added charm from his rich, musical voice and dramatic delivery. His mastery of ideas, control of language and self-possession are marvelous, and he is regarded by many as one of the strongest men on the lecture platform today.

Rev. Andrew Gillies of Minneapolis is one of the great preachers of the Northwest. The local committee has been informed by a member of his congregation that his church is filled to overflowing each Sunday and that Marquette will be fortunate to have an opportunity to hear Mr. Gillies, as the demands upon his time at home and in that vicinity are so great that he can rarely be engaged for a lecture at this distance from his home. He is said to be a preacher of great eloquence, wit and originality.

Last but not least on the program will be the eight Vassar Girls. This company is the outgrowth of an ideal. About ten years ago a gentleman with ample means selected eight girls of superior character and musical ability and furnished the means to complete their literary and musical education. After years of training the original eight appeared in concert in an eastern city, and their success was instantaneous. So great has been the success that practically all their time for five years has been taken up by return dates in twenty or thirty leading cities through which they made their first tour. The company includes a sextette of saxophones, quartets of brass and wood wind instruments, quartets of clarinets and wood wind instruments, trios and duets in various combinations of instruments, and solos on flute, clarinet, trombone, saxophone, alto, and bassoon. They are accompanied by a vocal soloist. They are dainty, pretty and charming; and, clad in the academic gowns and mortar board caps, they present a most attractive appearance. They are most versatile and brilliant performers on many different and difficult instruments, and have won unstinted praise from critics in the largest cities.

Season tickets will be placed on sale immediately and a canvass will be made at once by the members of the women's committee among the people who appreciate high class entertainment. Purchasers of season tickets will be entitled to a reserved seat at each entertainment. The two musical numbers will be given at the opera house, and the two lectures at the Guild Hall.

The Marquette league will be a branch of the Marquette County Art League.

TAKEN ON NEW WARRANT.

Earl Brownell Will Be Given Additional Sentence for His Escape.

Deputy Warden Catlin left yesterday for Kokomo, Ind., where he will get Earl Brownell, the convict who escaped from the Marquette prison Sept. 8. He carried with him a warrant for Brownell's arrest sworn out under a state statute which makes it possible to give the man an additional sentence for jail-breaking, and on his being returned to Marquette he will be prosecuted for his offense and will probably be given two or three years additional time. The Kokomo authorities agreed to release Brownell to the Marquette prison officials on the payment of the nominal expenses that had been incurred in his case. It is expected that when Brownell finishes his time at the Marquette prison the Kokomo authorities will be waiting for him on the threshold.

DEFENSE MAKING PICTURES.

Attorneys for Higgins Take Views of Postoffice Interior.

"Night owls on Portage avenue Thursday evening were attracted by an unusual scene at the postoffice at midnight and conjectures of all kinds were heard from the spectators on the opposite curbstone," says the Soo Times. "Some seemed to be under the impression that the department had moved into the new federal building and that its old quarters were occupied by a picture show. It developed, however, that Attorneys Owen and Shine of the defense in the Higgins case were having a number of photographs taken of the desk and safe, with Ross Eckhardt posing in the position presumed to have been that of Frank Higgins on the night of the alleged robbery. The photos will be used by the defense to offset testimony given in the trial to the effect that the safe doors barred a view of the desk and its occupant from the front window."

"Attorney M. M. Larnmouth, who visited Grand Rapids during the week, was informed that the time of Judge Knapp had been so taken up with other matters that he had had no time to go into the merits of the Higgins case but that he would take it up in the near future."
