

CHERRY COLLIERY A RAGING FURNACE

Fire in the St. Paul Mine Is More Intense Than When the 300 or More Men Were Entrapped by Saturday's Disaster.

To Unseal the Opening May Be Impossible for Days, and It May Even Be Necessary to Sink a New Shaft to Recover the Dead—To Prevent Untoward Demonstration When Bodies Are Taken Out, Governor Deen Is Asked for Troops.

Cherry, Ill., Nov. 16.—Troops have been called for to prevent any untoward demonstration when the bodies of the three hundred miners entombed in the St. Paul colliery are brought to the surface. Sheriff Skoglund telegraphed to Springfield late today asking Governor Deen to send several companies of militia. No violence has been displayed, and State's Attorney Eckhart hopes by the presence of a small guard to prevent any ill-considered move by the miners whose feelings are wrought up by the loss of their comrades. "We want troops at once. We will take no chances," declared Mr. Eckhart.

Fire in the Mine Is Intense. When the bodies will be brought up is doubtful. None of the officials believe that any of the men are alive. The fire in the mine today was more intense than when the men were entrapped. No efforts were made to enter. Fire Chief Horan, of Chicago, arrived today with hose and chemical extinguishers. Later a fire engine and crew were sent from Chicago. The seal over the mouth of the shaft was perforated. It was intended to force water and chemicals down through pipes. Thermometers plunged into the sand covering the seal showed a temperature of 110 degrees, indicating that the heat in the interior of the mine was intense.

Chief Horan said that to lift the lid today would mean that the whole mine would blaze up, and that there would be no possibility of recovering even the bodies. If coal deposits take fire, the timber supports will crumble and it is terrible to picture what would happen. Perhaps another shaft will have to be dug to recover the bodies.

New-Born Baby in Saddened Home. District President McDonald, of the Mine Workers, in making the rounds today discovered that a new baby had arrived at a home which has been father and son. The mother was kept ignorant of the disaster. Eighty-six homes visited were, with the exception of children, without male members.

Only the most frantic of the women who have lost husbands ventured to visit the shaft. These ladies have anxiously taken back. Frequently a puff of smoke issued from the shaft covering, evidence that fire was raging within. If the bodies are found near the shaft, it was declared that it will indicate the men perished in fire. If they are found in distant galleries, suffocation will be held to have been the cause. The repeated sealing of the mine, it is held, has been sufficient to generate enough gas to kill men in any part of the workings. The location of the bodies will also indicate about when the men died, for the gases were not fatally dense until after the first fire was considerably subdued.

Two hundred and fifty pine boxes in which the bodies will be buried when the remains are recovered arrived today and were stored near the mine, although the fact was kept from the afflicted families.

Men All Dead Within an Hour. Manager Taylor said: "Every man in the mine was put to sleep the day of the fire. There is no reason to arouse false hope. There is no ground for hoping that a single soul could have been found alive an hour after the fire."

"It is a mistaken idea that the miners could have fainted far out in the galleries and found oxygen enough to keep them alive for a day. These men showed that on the day of the fire the air current had a velocity of six hundred feet a minute. The longest gallery is three-quarters of a mile. The fire was intense and smoke and white dust were whirled to every corner of the mine. The entombed men all breathed the gas. Caught like rats in a trap, they went to sleep about as a person would in taking ether. It is not a painful death. I was twice overcome by gas, but was rescued and recovered."

"We knew that all the men were dead, but we risked our own lives to satisfy the agonized relatives. The exploration has been a dangerous business. We don't want to lose any more lives. Yesterday I thought I was done. I had been feeling about in the second vein two hundred and fifty feet from the shaft, breathing the oxygen in the apparatus on my back, and on returning toward the cage discovered flames."

Thought His End Had Come. "My first thought was that the cage had stuck, owing to warping from the heat. I thought my end had come, but when I reached the cage and gave the signal, my light heightened as it shot upward through the smoke to the free air."

It is a mistake to think that sealing the shaft cuts off the circulation of the air. Our anemometers have shown all along a good circulation of air in the shaft, but the fatal damage was done before the mine was sealed the first time.

We will do everything possible to recover the bodies because we believe it essential that the sufferers bury their dead. They will feel much better for a chance to clasp their dead in their arms."

President Earling of the St. Paul railway is much agitated by the obstacles to clearing the mine. He spent the entire day at the scene.

A pipe was laid today from the reservoir to the entrance of the shaft and a long lead of hose was dropped from it down the shaft. Two hundred thousand gallons of water brought in car tanks were emptied into the reservoir as needed. A fire engine from La Salle forced the water through the pipe line into the shaft.

Relief Supplies Urgently Needed. "Shoes, under clothing and women and children's garments are urgently needed for the families of the victims; also money necessary to take care of these people during the winter," declared E. B. Bicknell, of Washington, director of the National Red Cross society, today after a conference with charity workers here. Appeals were telegraphed to various cities in surrounding states, and soon responses came that supplies would quickly be enroute.

Honorary committees were established from which the charity will be distributed systematically. A corps of helpers was enlisted and started on a canvass of the miners' homes. Each widow is required to state her circumstances. A typical report reads: "Name, Marie Bohay; victims of her disaster, husband and son; nativity, Austrian; number of children, four, aged eight months and three, five and seven years, respectively; economic condition, without funds, needs clothing and household supplies; plans for the future, would like to return to Austria (does not speak English)."

Exact Death Roll Unknown. Tonight the workers have not completed their task, and no exact list of the number of men entombed was obtained. Assisting Mr. Bicknell are President McDonald, of the Mine Workers; Manager Taylor, Mayor Connolly of Cherry, President Haney, of the local miners; Superintendent Kingsley of the United Charities of Chicago, and Patrick Carr, of the state miners' executive board.

A pathetic incident was the paying today of the heirs of the dead miners. Mayor Connolly stood behind the open casket and questioned the list of women who, on being identified, were given the time checks and were paid.

Troops at the Scene. Cherry, Ill., Nov. 16.—Two companies of militia from Galesburg and one from Keosauqua, under the command of Major E. B. Bicknell, are enroute here. They are expected to arrive at midnight.

Despite the sheriff's assurance that no apprehension prompted the call for troops, rumors are circulated that a crowd from points outside had determined to carry out the rescue of the bodies, and that a plot had been formed to blow up a number of private cars here, one of them the car of President Earling of the St. Paul railway. The rumors are branded as absurd by the officials.

For a few hours tonight the saloons were opened, by permission of the authorities. The state's attorney told the saloon keepers that if any trouble was caused as a result of the men drinking, he would "put the saloons out of business."

Despite this, a number of men were worse for liquor and the talk in some groups showed an agitated tone. The sheriff had a telephone conversation with Governor Deen, at Chicago, during the evening. The governor is anxious that the mine be reopened and every effort exerted to recover the bodies.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 16.—Companies "C" of Galesburg and "K" of Keosauqua, both of the Sixth infantry, were dispatched on a special train to Cherry tonight.

Second Greatest Disaster. Washington, Nov. 16.—According to the records of the geological department in the United States, until 1908, no disaster ranked the second greatest in this country. Only that at Monongah, W. Va., in which 350 miners lost their lives, furnished a greater death list.

It was stated at the department today that the death rate of the miners in the United States had, until 1908, increased faster than the production of coal. During 1907, thirty-two hundred men perished in mine disasters. That year congress appropriated $150,000 for the educational experiment working among the miners, and after a year's work along these lines the fatalities in 1908 were 2,450.

Twenty-Two Weighers Involved. Washington, Nov. 16.—Twenty-two assistant weighers of the New York customs house are known to have been implicated, or are under positive suspicion, in the so-called sugar trust frauds. This was stated tonight by Chairman Black and Messrs. Melhenny and Washburn, of the civil service commission, in answer to charges to the effect that the appointments and removals at the New York customs house were at the dictum of the trust.

The statement given out by the commission is largely argumentative and designed to show the care taken in the preparation of the examination papers; how under the methods in vogue it is practically impossible for the commission examiners in Washington to show favoritism in the rating, the authority given the appointing officers to examine thoroughly into the antecedents of eligibles and their power of removals if they believed they had grounds therefor. The information regarding the twenty-two assistant weighers came from the New York customs house. Two of the assistants were appointed without certification by the commission and the remainder were appointed by certification from 1883 to 1907.

There are now employed at New York 126 assistant weighers. The examinations by which they were chosen were prepared and rated at Washington. The examinations themselves were conducted by the local boards at New York and elsewhere. The commission sets forth, however, that questions concerning the personal character of the applicants and their previous careers having been satisfactorily answered, eligible lists were prepared and certifications were made from those, to secure consideration in the order in which they had qualified. The appointing officers were authorized to file objections to eligibles and make any investigation desired. Then the selection was made, and at the end of a probationary period of six months the appointees to the services were continued or discontinued, according to their worthiness.

The commission concluded: "The commission desires to emphasize that it used not only all the precautions possible in the selection of eligibles, but left in the department's unimpaired power the sifting of such appointments and the exercising of the power of removal whenever the interests of the service required."

WANT NATURAL WEALTH CONSERVED FOR PEOPLE Addressing a Convention at Cincinnati, O., Former Secretary James A. Garfield and President Emeritus Eliot of Harvard Plead for the Government Regulation of Monopolies.

Cincinnati, Nov. 16.—Plans for the government regulation of monopolies were voiced tonight before the convention of the National Municipal League and American Civic Association by former Secretary of the Interior Garfield and former President Eliot of Harvard. Mr. Garfield asserted that the country's natural resources were in imminent danger of exhaustion, and the interests which develop this source of natural wealth must be regulated upon the same lines already adopted in respect to the railroads. He said: "Just as the railroads are regulated because they are public utilities, so must the interests that develop natural resources be regulated, because they deal with public interests. Unfair use or monopolization are equally intolerable. The people have reached a positive conviction, and they mean to have conservation. It is the experience of the American people that when a monopoly establishes itself, whether of labor or capital, it is time for government regulation. Many monopolies are inevitable; they demand, and they will see that they demand, is headed that the great policy of conservation be carried on in the interest of the public welfare."

Dr. Eliot said: "The sentiment of conserving our natural resources has gone like wildfire throughout the country. The people have reached a positive conviction, and they mean to have conservation. It is the experience of the American people that when a monopoly establishes itself, whether of labor or capital, it is time for government regulation. Many monopolies are inevitable; they demand, and they will see that they demand, is headed that the great policy of conservation be carried on in the interest of the public welfare."

PROPOSED LAW OPPOSED. Railway Commissioners' Convention Has an Acrimonious Discussion.

Washington, Nov. 16.—The contention of many members that an attempt was being made to limit the power of the state railway commissioners caused an acrimonious discussion at the opening of the convention of the National Association of Railway Commissioners here today. It arose over the recommendation that the convention endorse the idea of a federal law giving the interstate commerce commission authority to prescribe uniformity in classification of interstate traffic, and urging the state commissioners to make exceptions sparingly. Commissioner Gethlin, of Ohio, and others contended that those who voted for the report bound themselves to maintain the classification fixed by the commission. Interstate Commissioner Clark, of the interstate commission, declared the Ohio unfair in placing such an interpretation upon the recommendation. Mr. Gethlin wanted the convention to reject the recommendation. His motion was adopted.

LIKES CENTRAL BANK PLAN. Geo. E. Roberts, Financier, of Chicago, Gives It Strong Endorsement.

Kansas City, Nov. 16.—George E. Roberts, president of the Commercial National bank of Chicago, addressing a meeting of bankers here today, declared himself in favor of the proposed central bank plan, which he said offers a more comprehensive treatment of the currency problem than any other plan; provides abundant elasticity under responsible control; provides a fiscal agency for the government through which its concerns are handled; and the least disturbance to the money market, and gives a unity and cohesion and elasticity to the entire banking system which can be given in no other way.

SAYS HE EXPOSED THE SUGAR FRAUDS

As Compensation Therefor, Edwin Anderson of New York Files Claims for Rewards Footing Up Approximately a Million Dollars

In the Employ of the Trust for Thirty-Two Years, the Company's Former Superintendent of Docks Asserts That He Was Discharged Because He Knew too Much—Government Robbed of at Least $500,000 a Year at a Single Refinery, He States.

New York, Nov. 16.—Edwin Anderson, former superintendent of docks for the American Sugar Refining company and a close friend of the late Theodore Havemeyer, announced tonight that he is the man referred to by former Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Reynolds as the one who gave the department the first information concerning the trusts. Anderson has filed claims for compensation therefor, which he estimates should reach $1,000,000. For two years, he says, he has been furnishing evidence, and it is through him that Richard Parr gained his information. Anderson declares that Mr. Reynolds was enthusiastically for the prosecution.

Anderson says that the American Sugar Refining company requested his resignation after Mr. Havemeyer's death, on the theory that he knew too much. He then had been in the company's employ thirty-two years. As a result of his investigations, he says, he found the government being defrauded of at least $500,000 a year at the single refinery where he had been employed.

Parr Also Wants Compensation. Washington, Nov. 16.—No official notice has been taken by the treasury department of the controversy between former Assistant Secretary Reynolds, now a member of the tariff board, and Richard Parr, deputy surveyor at New York. The means of the controversy appears to be the desire of Parr to obtain the moiety of the fine imposed upon the sugar trust for the alleged tariff frauds. Parr last spring laid claim to such amount as the treasury would allow him for the discovery of the frauds, out of the $1,000,000 fine imposed upon the trust, amounting to $2,000,000. Secretary MacVeagh was unprepared to say today what action would be taken on the claim. According to the treasury officials there has been no change in the sugar investigations the last few weeks.

CABINET HOLDS MEETING. Much of Its Time Devoted to Discussing the Sugar Trust Situation.

Washington, Nov. 16.—The first cabinet meeting since the adjournment of the special session of congress was held today, and during the greater part of the time the president's official family was gathered about the executive council table to discuss the "sugar trust" situation. It was said that the attorney general and Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh are entrusted with the work of investigation and prosecution, and it was stated that the situation was being handled to the satisfaction of Mr. Taft.

From remarks of congressional callers at the White House there is little doubt that a congressional committee will investigate the whole subject of sugar frauds and customs house corruption.

BELL PEOPLE BUY THE WESTERN UNION

Billion-Dollar Merger Becomes a Reality When the Gould Family Parts With Its Holdings of Telegraph Company Stock.

Quietly in Progress for Months, a Long Stride Toward the Control by a Single Corporation of All the Wire Communication in the United States Is Taken When the American Telephone Interests Absorb One of Their Two Biggest Rivals.

Boston, Nov. 16.—A long stride toward the control by one corporation of all the wire communication in the United States was made today in the acquisition of the American Telegraph & Telephone company of control of the Western Union. The incorporation of a new billion dollar company, it is said, will be necessary to include the $392,475,400 of bonds and stock of the Telephone company, known as the Bell company, and the outstanding $155,000,000 of bonds and stock of the Western Union. The acquisition of the stock of the Western Union by the Bell company has been quietly in progress for six months. Only a sufficient amount to insure control, said to be 51 per cent, is taken over.

The officers of the Bell company regard the step as one of economy solely. Since the telephone has been a factor it has had to compete with the telegraph. Lines have been paralleled and there has been an immense amount of duplication. The officers believe that the merger will save the company $7,000,000 in new construction, and will also enable the utilization of the wires for both telegraphing and telephoning.

The history of the Western Union antedates the Civil war. The Bell company is of comparatively recent origin. Both have pursued the usual method of absorbing smaller companies. Those acquired by the Western Union are lost in oblivion. The majority of the stock of a dozen large telephonic corporations and many smaller ones, pests in the treasury of the parent concern.

The telephone system annually transmits 5,356,800,000 messages; the Western Union handles 68,533,000. The telephone system has $9,098,675 miles of wire; the Western Union has 1,382,500. The total property value of the telephone company is $345,945,600, and that of the Western Union $124,986,920.

Gould Stock Taken Over. New York, Nov. 16.—It is announced in Boston and confirmed in New York that another billion-dollar merger became a reality today, with the practical absorption of the Western Union Telegraph company by the American Telephone & Telegraph company. The Western Union was one of the best properties of Jay Gould, had been in the Gould family for a generation and by the sale of the Gould stock today the merger was accomplished.

George J. Gould, chairman of the executive committee of the Western Union, said tonight: "It is a fact that we have sold a large part of our holdings of the Western Union to the Telephone company. I believe that this will inure to the benefit of both the public and the business of both companies can be handled so that they will form a complement to one another, thus giving to the fullest extent prompt satisfaction. They should be worked in harmony, which will be to the great advantage of the public as well as to the mutual interest of both companies."

While the report is current that the Mackay companies, controlling the Postal Telegraph company, ultimately will be included in the re-organization, no confirmation of this is obtained. Officers of the Postal emphatically stated today that the company would remain independent.

POSTAL BRANCHING OUT? Important Purchases of Telephone Stock Believed to Be in Its Interest.

Columbus, O., Nov. 16.—The announcement that the Bell Telephone company has obtained control of the Western Union makes it certain to the minds of local independent telephone men that it is the Postal Telegraph company for which James S. Brailey purchased the United States Telephone company, Cuyahoga Telephone company and New Long Distance Telephone company of Indiana.

As the Bell company announces that a holding company will be formed to merge the telegraph and telephone companies, it is believed here that a similar announcement will be made by the Postal officers. The purchase of the independent long distance companies gives the Postal thousands of miles of new lines in Ohio and Indiana and makes it as formidable a competitor of the Bell in the telephone as in the telegraph field.

Rival Concern Euphrated. Toledo, Nov. 16.—Judge Manton today withheld for a week his decision in the case of Herman C. Stifel against the Toledo Home Telephone company, to enable the complainant to prove the urgency of the order permitting him to inspect the company's books. It was for the purpose of determining the truth of a rumor of consolidation that Stifel entered suits against various independent telephone companies whereof he is a stockholder to obtain access to their books, litigation which James S. Brailey yesterday swore was started in the interests of Stifel and his associates of the Continental Telephone & Telegraph company, a rival concern.

It is known that Stifel and his as-

BUDGET IS SURE TO BE REJECTED

Liberal Government of the United Kingdom Has Only Forty Supporters Among the Membership of the House of Lords.

Lansdowne Will Move That the Bill Be Not Considered Until It Is Submitted to the Judgment of the Country, and It Is Expected That 300 Peers Will Uphold the Motion—General Elections Are Certain to Be Held in January.

London, Nov. 16.—Lord Lansdowne announced today that his motion for the rejection of the budget next Monday would be expressed as follows: "I move that the house of lords is not justified in consenting to this bill until it is submitted to the judgment of the country." The Unionists anticipate that 300 peers will support Lord Lansdowne. There are only forty supporters of the Liberal government in the house of lords.

On the rejection of the budget, Premier Asquith will move in the house of commons a resolution condemning the peers' action, affirming the sole right of commons to deal with such matters and declaring the peers' attempt to force dissolution to be unconstitutional. It is unlikely that the exclusive privilege of the house of commons, there being no argument, the rejected budget is a double invasion by the house of lords, both of the royal prerogative and of commons' privilege.

Answer This Question

When a remedy has lived for over thirty years, steadily growing in popularity and influence, and thousands upon thousands of women declare they owe their very lives to it, is it not reasonable to believe that it is an article of great merit?

We challenge the world to show any other one remedy for a special class of disease which has attained such an enormous demand and maintained it for so many years as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the famous woman's remedy for woman's ills.

Melbourne, Iowa: "I suffered for many years with female troubles, inflammation, and bearing-down pains, so that I was unable to do my work.

When a woman like Mrs. Watermann is generous enough to write such a letter as the above for publication, she should at least be given credit for a sincere desire to help other suffering women.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine.

Red Snow. The completion of rafting operations on the Penobscot river for the season shows that nearly 120,000,000 feet of logs have come down to the boom from the east and west branches of the river and its tributaries.

England's Lords. The house of lords is becoming the refuge of the panic-stricken classes, holding titles or lands, or breweries, or financial and industrial concerns.

BURNING ECZEMA QUICKLY SPREAD

Started Like Ringworm on Hand—Hand Swelled and Then Humor Spread to Arms, Legs and Face—It Was Something Terrible.

PRESCRIPTIONS FAILED; CUTICURA CURED HIM

"I have used the Cuticura Remedies for a very bad case of eczema with complete success. About fifteen or eighteen years ago the disease developed in the shape of a large pimple on top of my hand. It burned and itched so much that I was compelled to show it to a doctor. He pronounced it eczema and made very light of it. He gave me a wash and told me to apply it before going to bed and all would be over in the morning. But the next morning my hand was all swollen up and I poulticed it. When the doctor came to his office I showed him the hand and to my surprise he told me that he had never experienced such a case in his practice and said it was well I poulticed it. After trying his different remedies the disease increased and went up my arms and finally to my thighs and legs generally and finally on my face. The burning was something terrible. After I had tried this doctor, as I thought, long enough, I went to another doctor who had the reputation of being the best in town. He told me that he had a bad case of eczema and that it would take quite a while to cure it. His medicine checked the advance of the disease but no further.

"I finally concluded to try the Cuticura Remedies. I bought a cake of Cuticura Soap, a box of Cuticura Ointment and a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent and found relief in the first trial. I continued until I was completely free from the disease and I have not been troubled with another attack since. I still use the Cuticura Ointment in my family as it is one of the best remedies to heal sores or other injury rapidly. I can freely and truthfully say that the Cuticura Remedies are the best so far as my experience went with them and I am still recommending them, feeling sure I am not making a mistake. C. Burkhardt, 230 W. Market St., Chambersburg, Pa., Sept. 19, 1908."

A LAUGH OR TWO

An Easy Duty. "The late Governor Johnson was a witty as well as a wise man," said a resident of Minneapolis.

"Once, at a dinner, a New York millionaire said about his axes: "I've got a little piece of property that brings me in a fair rental, and the tax gatherers haven't spotted it yet. I don't know whether I ought to tell them or not. What would you do Governor Johnson?"

"The governor's eyes winked. "It's the duty of every man," he said, "to live unspotted. Still, if I were you I'd pay up."

Cynic on Love. Mrs. Florence Kelley, new vice president of the National Suffrage association, said in a recent address in New York.

"Too many men take the pessimistic view of woman suffrage that a young cynic at a bridge party took of marriage. "Are you lucky at cards?" a lady asked him.

"Oh, very lucky. I always win," said he. "How about love?" she went on acidly. "Just as lucky," he replied, "I always lose."

Dreadful Error. Among the quaint serap-books of the late Clyde Fitch, all of which are now to be sold at auction, there was one devoted entirely to typographical errors.

One of these appeared in a criticism of Ellen Terry. The reviewer wrote, "Her love of Portia made acting easy," but the sentence appeared in the paper as, "Her love of porter made acting easy."

A LITTLE BIT ABOUT EVERYTHING.

Lawyer in Many Roles. A Maritime barrister has established a singular record by figuring as prisoner, magistrate and advocate within the space of five hours.

HE COULD GO. At the death of the Duke of Wellington the whole diplomatic corps was invited to the funeral at St. Paul's. The French ambassador on receiving his invitation was very much upset. He hurried off to his colleague of Russia, Baron Brunow, and confided to him the difficulty in which he was placed.

"The queen," he said, "expects us to go to St. Paul's for the funeral of the Duke of Wellington. How can I go considering the injuries which the duke inflicted on my country? What shall I do?"

Baron Brunow listened gravely to his colleague's exposition and then replied, "As the duke is dead," he said, "I think you can safely go to the funeral. If you were asked to attend his resurrection I should say refuse the invitation."

City Brevities

Yesterday's temperatures: Seven a. m. 41 degrees; noon 37; 7 p. m. 31. Maximum 41; minimum 27.

Today's forecast: Partly cloudy Wednesday, stationary temperature.

C. D. Mason of Gladstone was a business visitor here yesterday.

Professor Mills of the Normal school left last evening for Lansing on business.

The G. I. A. to the B. of L. E. will meet at Keough's Hall at 2:30 this afternoon.

The Ladies' auxiliary to the A. O. H. will hold their regular meeting this evening. A large attendance is desired.

J. E. Bertrand of this city has accepted a position as bookkeeper with the St. James Cedar company at Newberry.

Walter Beland, a fireman on the St. Paul between Marquette and Green Bay, was recently married to Miss Susie Vandenburg of Menominee.

Dr. W. A. von Zellen, who has been taking care of his brother's practice in this city for the past ten days, returned to his home in L'Anse Tuesday.

The committee which has in charge the arrangements for the firemen's annual to be held at Fraternity Hall Thanksgiving eve will hold a meeting at the house today evening.

Erisk, a former Marquette pitcher who was with Detroit for a time, batted 307 in the Northwestern league the past season, placing him second on the list. He is now playing in the outfield.

The funeral of the late George W. Hager will be held at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning from St. Peter's cathedral, the Rev. Father Pinton officiating. Interment will be in Holy Cross cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Stewart of Sidnaw have come to Marquette to make their home until spring with their son, who is attending the Normal. Mr. Stewart was once a resident of this city but has been the proprietor of the Houghton House at Sidnaw for fourteen years.

Pictures of Sweden—Visitors at the Bijou today will have the rare privilege of taking a trip to Sweden, and viewing the beautiful city of Stockholm and the scenery along Götta canal. The scene showing slips looking through the canal is especially interesting.

Engineer Coming Soon—R. C. Young of the water board has received a letter from the Duluth Engineering company, stating that Mr. McElvany of that firm would shortly come to this city to make an estimate on the cost of extending the water works intake. At the last meeting of the water board it was voted to employ the Duluth firm make such an estimate.

Institute Opens Today—The county farmers' institute opens at 9:45 today for a two days' session. Three good speakers have been secured and there is reason to believe that the institute will be the most successful ever held in the county. An interesting feature will be the exhibit of fruits, grains and vegetables, a part of which was placed yesterday.

Family Poisoned—Samuel Hayden and family were very ill Monday night from eating headcheese, but they were believed to be out of danger yesterday. It is said that Mr. Hayden was taken ill while down town Monday evening and had to be taken home. One member of the family ate some of the headcheese and was not ill. The Haydens live on Bleumier avenue.

Found Lost Man—A Georgia hunter who was in the woods near Duke's siding is mighty glad that Martin Foard of this city also elected to hunt in that locality. When Foard shot at a deer, he was surprised to hear some one call him a long distance off. He answered and after some time a man made his appearance, who stated that he had been lost for twenty-four hours. Foard saw the man safely to a nearby camp, where his hunger was appeased and, thanks to Foard's shot, he will probably be better off for the rest of his life.

Unknown Steamer at Anchor—A rumor that a steamer had stranded on the bay shore during yesterday's violent gale sent Captain Cleary of the United States life-saving crew on an investigating tour from which he did not return until 2:30 o'clock this morning. The captain reported that no boat had gone ashore and that some unknown vessel, presumably a large steamer, was lying at anchor some two miles off the beach at Chocoma. The craft did not appear to be dragging any, and it was believed she would weather out the storm without mishap.

Another Hunter Shot—Albert Peckham, who lives in lower Michigan near Detroit, was accidentally shot in the left arm at a hunting camp near Chatham yesterday forenoon and was brought to St. Mary's hospital last evening. His companion states that Peckham left the camp first yesterday morning and that another member of the party immediately following slipped, with the result that the man was discharged, the ball striking Peckham in the elbow and shattering one bone. He did not think it would be necessary to amputate the arm, Peckham has hunted every season for many years and this is the first time he has ever suffered any accident.

Lecture on Burns—The public school teachers have arranged for a Scottish evening at the Baptist church Monday evening, the proceeds of which will go toward the Extension Lecture course fund. The principal feature of the evening will be a lecture by Dr. Tupper on "Robert Burns." Mrs. Rushmore will give a reading and there will be musical numbers by Misses Urtman and Bergh. Tupper once delivered this lecture before the Bay View, Mich., chautauqua, where it was characterized as "photographic, keen and discriminating; in language chaste and classic and delivered in the graphic and entertaining manner which has given Dr. Tupper a reputation that is quite nation-wide."

Undertow Very Strong—There was an unusually strong undertow in the harbor yesterday and at the L. S. & L. dock it was impossible to load any boats, as they could not tie up at the dock. At the South Shore docks little was done, owing to the undertow and rough weather, and the men were sent home early in the afternoon. The J. C. Gilchrist and the Choctaw came in during the day, both vessels having had a rough time of it and experienced considerable difficulty in entering the harbor in the blinding snow storm. The captain of the Gilchrist reported that the Luzon, due in Marquette early yesterday morning, had left Whitefish with him, but that he had seen nothing of the vessel since then. One of the officers of the Choctaw reports that the Gramman followed them within a short distance of the break water, but the vessel had not entered the harbor up to last evening. The Carlton, a Canadian boat bound for Fort William with coal, is in the harbor for shelter.

Home Destroyed by Fire—
Geo. D. Renwick's home in Schoolcraft county has been destroyed by fire. Mr. Renwick was absent, but reached the spot in time to save two overcoats. All of his books, furniture and clothing were destroyed and he says that his loss will exceed $500. The property was located in Doyle township.

Kept Their Marriage Secret—
Miss Charlotte Donovan of Escanaba and W. B. Bowen of Oshkosh were married at St. Patrick's church in Escanaba Sept. 2, and the news has just leaked out. Rev. Father Langan performed the ceremony in the presence of relatives of the couple and a few close personal friends. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Donovan, of 601 South Jennie street, Escanaba. She had signed a contract to teach in the public schools during the year and the marriage was kept a secret to allow the board of education time to secure another teacher to take her place. Mr. Bowen is a prominent man of Oshkosh and the couple will make their home in that city.

Bills Left Unpaid—
The firm of Prendergast & Fallon, who had the contract for the water works extension and the construction of a concrete tank at Naway, gave up the job last week and left town leaving over $3,000 of unpaid bills for material and labor, says the Iron Mountain Press. The original contract called for the construction of a concrete tank for $4,908 and the laying of the water pipe for $36,170.62. Out of that amount the firm has drawn $3,994.19 on estimates for work performed and now it is up to the bondsmen, the National Surety company of New York, to step in and complete the contract or let the city take charge of the work and the Surety company foot the bills.

The Jury Acquitted Him—
John Loose, of Manistique, who it is claimed has been practicing veterinary surgery in Schoolcraft county without having gone through the formality of complying with the state laws governing such matters, was tried in Judge Knox's court the other day and acquitted of the charge. Secretary Waldron of the state veterinary board was present at the trial and testified that Loose did not comply with the requirements of the law. Loose demanded a jury trial and after hearing the testimony and the arguments of the attorneys, the jury brought in a verdict of not guilty. It is stated that the matter will not be dropped by the state authorities, but will be taken to the court of last resort for final disposition.

Ice Cream Causes Death—
Mrs. Richard Garland, one of the oldest residents of the city, is dead at Ironwood. The deceased had been ill for a few days previous to her death from an ailment which the physicians pronounced as poisoning as the result of eating ice cream. She was continuously recovering from this attack, however, and had been able to sit up. Subsequently she was taken with a fainting spell, and the physicians, being hastily summoned, found her in a dying condition. Strenuous efforts were made to revive her, but without avail. Mrs. Garland was born in England, Oct. 15, 1850, and came to this country with her parents when a child. She was married at Bruce Mines, Ontario, to Richard Garland Dec. 21, 1865. She went to Ironwood with her family twenty-one years ago, and had lived there continuously ever since, her husband dying two years ago. She is survived by seven sons—William of Duluth, Richard of Iron River, Joseph of Escal, Washington, and Charles Bert, Ray, and John of Ironwood.

Belated Blast Kills Miner—
Earnest Peterson is dead at Stambaugh, the result of an accident at the Fogarty mine. He and his partner were working in a stope on the second level. He was loosening the ground with a pick. A few minutes before the accident his partner left him to go to another part of the stope. Captain Thomas, the shift boss, was entering the stope when an explosion occurred. Hearing a man coming, he made an investigation and found Peterson lying on the ground. The man was conscious and asked to be taken home. On the arrival of the ambulance he was moved to Mercy hospital, where it was found that his face and head were fatally lacerated, his eyes being entirely blown out. Shortly after reaching the hospital, he died. As the men were not blasting it is supposed that his pick must have struck a missed hole and the explosion

Deer Hunter Is Lost—
Harry Brownell, a lower Michigan hunter, is lost in the county south and east of Newberry, and although searching parties have been scouring the woods no trace of him has been found. It is feared that he has fallen a victim of a stray bullet or been mistaken for a deer by some careless hunter. Brownell and his chum, Jesse Crowley, were camped near what is known as the old trestle about six miles south-east of Newberry. According to the story told by Crowley, the two were hunting together until they separated with the intention of working their way back to camp by different routes. Crowley reached camp all right and after waiting until after dark for his companion to come in, gave the alarm and appealed to neighboring settlers for aid in searching for the missing man. Guns were fired at intervals all night with the hope of attracting his attention, but no answer was received. Experienced woodsmen who are well acquainted with the locality say that although the country is very rough it would be impossible to travel for any great length of time in any direction before a person would come to a road that would take him to some settlement. This adds to the belief that he has been killed. The weather has been mild and a man in good health would not suffer greatly from the exposure. Brownell is a young man, aged twenty-three years, and has been married only eight months. His home is at St. Charles, Mich.

Dr. Bacon's Tragic Death—
To the fact that his companions did not carry out his instructions is attributed the death of Dr. H. L. Bacon of New London, Wis., who was shot while hunting in the territory between Ironwood, Mich., and Mercer, Wis., by a member of his party who mistook him for a deer. The physician and a companion named Yauschek had separated and Dr. Bacon was emerging from a thick clump of bushes when Yauschek fired at him, the bullet shattering his right arm and severing the main artery at the elbow. It is stated that Dr. Bacon had also drawn a bead on Yauschek, each man having mistaken the other for a deer, but Yauschek had been a little quicker on the trigger. As soon as the accident occurred Yauschek rushed to the doctor's assistance and tied a rough tourniquet above the wound in an attempt to stop the flow of blood, but was unable to do so. The other members of the party were notified and the doctor was carried to the railroad track. Dr. Stebbins of Hurley, went to the place on the night train but found that the party who mistook him for a deer had suffered so great a loss of blood that there was no hope for his recovery. The injured doctor was placed on the train and started for his home but he died shortly after the train had left Rhineland. It is said that Dr. Bacon's life might have been saved had the members of the party followed his instructions. He told them to give him sufficient morphine to put him to sleep and then tie the tourniquet tight enough to stop the flow of blood, but they were afraid to do this for fear they would give him an overdose of the drug, and kill him. The accident occurred at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and the doctor died continuously from that time until he died.

How Interest Money Piles Up—
Opposing the proposition of issuing bonds for county highway construction, the Escanaba Journal says: Escanaba has a fine city hall. If the question is asked: "How much did it cost to build it?" the reply will invariably be, "$25,000." But let us do a few simple sums in arithmetic, and see how this figures out. To build the city hall, the city issued thirty-year, four and one-half per cent bonds for $25,000, dated October 1, 1901. The yearly interest on these bonds is $1,250, and for thirty years the interest will aggregate $37,500, or $8,750 more than the amount of the bonds. Now, how much will the city hall cost? Just add together $25,000 and $37,500, and you have sum of $62,500. Are the figures correct? If so, do you think it is a good proposition for the city to issue such long-term bonds? If the

CONFIRMED PROOF.

Residents of Marquette Cannot Doubt What Has Been Twice Proved.

In gratitude for complete relief from aches and pains of bad backs—from distressing kidney troubles—thousands have publicly recommended Doan's Kidney Pills. Residents of Marquette, who so testified years ago, now say their cures were permanent. This testimony doubly proves the worth of Doan's Kidney Pills to Marquette kidney sufferers. Mrs. Leonard Richer, 407 Rock St., Marquette, Mich., says: "My little daughter was afflicted with a kidney weakness and I was much alarmed about her condition. She had little control over the kidney secretions and bed wetting was frequent. I tried many remedies in her case but nothing helped her until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at The Stafford Drug Co. This remedy stopped the annoyance and greatly improved her health."

The above statement was given on Feb. 15, 1909, and was confirmed by Mrs. Richer on Nov. 6, 1908. She said: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills in my family during the past five years and they have always given satisfactory results."

LABOR LEADERS ARE AFTER STEEL TRUST

AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR WILL ATTEMPT TO ORGANIZE UNITED STATES STEEL CORPORATION EMPLOYEES.

The officers and delegates in attendance at the convention of the American Federation of Labor, being held at Toronto, Ont., mapped out a big program for the members of the organization, when on Monday they adopted resolutions declaring in favor of a fight against the United States Steel corporation. President J. P. McArthur of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel & Tin Workers of North America took the lead in the discussion against the steel corporation and introduced a resolution declaring that the steel trust is the most formidable and aggressive enemy with which the organized labor movement has to contend. The resolution recommended that during the convention a meeting of the executive officers of all organizations represented, together with the president and secretary of the Federation of Labor, be held to outline a campaign for the organization among the employees of the steel corporation, and to devise ways and means to make the fight against the big company more effective. It is not anticipated that this movement on the part of the American Federation of Labor will cause much uneasiness among the steel officials, as it is very generally admitted that the concern is well able to handle any labor problem that may be presented. If the employees of all of the subsidiary companies of the steel corporation are as well satisfied with conditions as are the Marquette range workmen, the federation people will have no little difficulty getting the men organized as they would like to have them banded together. The workers here have no particular grievance and it is a question if many of them could be induced to join the federation, though it is generally known that quite a few of the workmen, especially those employed underground, now hold membership in the local branch. The United States Steel corporation has a splendid record in this section for the manner in which it treats its employees, and it is doubtful if there is another company operating mines in the Lake Superior district that has a more loyal or trustworthy lot of workmen. Prominent officers of the Federation of Labor at Monday's session of the convention also led a vigorous attack upon the saloons of the country. Vice President John Mitchell and Treasurer John D. Lennon of the American Federation, and President Thomas F. Lewis of the United Mine Workers, were most prominent in the attack. As a result of their utterances, the temperance question was very generally discussed by the delegates. A rousing temperance meeting was held that evening and although it was not conducted under auspices of the federation, it was very largely attended by the delegates and was presided over by Rev. Charles Stelze, a fraternal delegate from the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America. The meeting advocating temperance reform is said to have stirred up the representatives of the brewery workers, bartenders and cigar makers present, and it is expected that these union men will have something to say before the convention adjourns. Circulars favorable to the prohibition movement for workingmen and declaring that a workingmen's total abstinence union was a most needed organization, were distributed in the convention hall. The committee on organization reported in favor of the organization of federal unions among the farm employees and unskilled workmen in smaller towns, these unions to be chartered under the American Federation of Labor.

A PAIR OF SPONGES.

Two Bostonians Who Know How to Work Their Friends for Meals.

The most barefaced rogues in all Christendom dwell in Boston. These chaps are not porch climbers, nor are they malefactors of great wealth, although their performances partake of the most evil qualities of both. The twin of which I speak are nominally and ostensibly, even ostentatiously, members of good society, and are not usually recognized as the frauds they are. All the greater shall be their reward—when it comes.

The particular episode into which all the malevolent venom of these parasites was quiescent occurred just the other day. Here is the story stripped of all obscuring and foggy covering. These two are tennis talkers. As to their skill—let that pass. By much talking on the subject they enlisted the attention of an unsuspecting companion one day at the lunch table. This person lives outside Boston of course. Otherwise he would not have been ensnared. Hearing their talk and being himself a genuine lover of the game, he was thoughtlessly generous enough to invite this couple to spend an afternoon at his tennis club about forty or fifty miles from the Hub. Their acceptance was instantaneous and correspondingly greedy. Yet the countryman did not suspect.

The day came. The pair were promptly on hand and ate their host's luncheon with enthusiasm. Then all three, together with an obliging club member, went out upon the tennis court and started the game. "A pleasant time was had," suddenly alleges one of the guilty pair, the sun went down and, lo! to their consternation, they discovered it was 7 o'clock. Mine host, who had probably made several double faults watching that sun's decline, was "game," and, ignoring the fact that his guests were invited for the afternoon, and not the evening, insisted that they take dinner with him. "Loud were their protestations. Oh, no, they would go to town at once, they would by no means pocket themselves upon him, etc. In fact, their protestations took up a good thirty minutes. Later dinner was served followed by other things, of course. These Boston spongers exerted themselves to please and amuse the man who was paying the bill. One of them actually tried to sing. Meanwhile the clock kept ticking away, until at last when, talked dry, they rose to go, they were informed that the last train for Boston had gone. Again their host was game. He saw he was sold, his pockets rifled and his good will marketed, but he did not whimper. "Stay all night at the club, of course," of course.

Next morning about 10 o'clock two young men, upon whose countenances the plain impress of guilt still lingered, might have been seen alighting from a train at the station in Boston. And in the memorandum book of each the police might have found carefully checked off, "Ang. Luncheon, dinner, lodging and breakfast, $30.00."—Boston Transcript.

RECORD-BREAKING DAY.

A Total of 418 Books Was Drawn from the Library Monday.

A new high record in the number of books drawn from the Carnegie library for home reading was established Monday, when 418 were given out. From present indications a new record for a single month this year will be established this month as more than 4,900 have already been drawn. March had a larger circulation than any other month of the year thus far, the total number taken out being 7,760. There has not been a day this month when the circulation has fallen below 200, and there are several days when it went above 300. The attendance in the reading rooms at the library has been larger this month than at any previous time in its history. Practically every seat in both the adults' and children's reading rooms is occupied from 7 o'clock each evening until the library closes, and the rooms are also well filled between 4 and 6 o'clock. There are forty-eight chairs in the adults' reading room and fifty-one in the children's room. Several times during the past few weeks many of the children have been obliged to either stand or sit on the floor. If the attendance continues to grow, additional seats will be provided, especially in the children's room.

ORIGINAL "SPOTLESS TOWN"

In Wiesbaden the Streets Are Scrubbed Every Night.

Fancy a city of 150,000 people where the streets are scrubbed every night and where servant girls employed by the residents are fined when they fail to sweep the sidewalks in front of their houses before 7 o'clock in the morning. Such is Wiesbaden, Germany, according to Mrs. Rosa Johnson, a native of New Orleans, who has spent a great part of her life abroad. Mr. Johnson is accompanied to Washington by her daughter and a trained nurse, Sister Elizabeth Frederick of Wiesbaden.

"Although I was born in New Orleans and love America because it is my native country, I must say I prefer Europe," said Mrs. Johnson at the Raleigh. "I have lived abroad for many years and have crossed the ocean thirty times. Wiesbaden to my mind is the most wonderful place in the world, the original 'spotless town.' There is no other city in the world that is so clean. It has been called a city of loving houses and so it is. During the season, from June to September, there are more visitors than residents and almost every house is appropriated to the entertainment of guests. In the large gardens it is the custom to sit at a table in the evening sipping coffee or tea, the men smoking and the women knitting. There are fourteen hot springs, all of high temperature and there are numerous bathing houses. The spring of highest temperature registers 156 degrees Fahrenheit.

"The fact is that in Europe the people have learned how to live. Money is not the whole thing there, as it is in America. Why, you can get the best hotel accommodation in Wiesbaden for $5 a day—the very best—equal to any house in Washington or New York. Where is there a place in this country that two thousand people can sit in the evening and enjoy classical music, where not a sound can be heard except the strains of the instruments? That is the case in Wiesbaden. In the season Wiesbaden is the garden spot of the world. Atlantic City cannot be compared with it. And it is the most orderly city I have ever seen. I am sorry to say it, but I love Wiesbaden better than I do my own home of New Orleans or any other city in this country."—Washington Post.

TO WRITE NEW SONG.

Prima Donna With D'Urban's Band Honored by Wisconsin Militia.

Miss Lillian Berry Reid, prima donna with D'Urban's band, which filled a three days' engagement at the Ishpeeming theater a few weeks ago, has been engaged to write a song for the Milwaukee troops. For some time past "Tim Tulan," which was the only regimental song in the Wisconsin National Guard. Miss Reid's composition will be a marching song and will be dedicated to the Second Infantry.

Miss Reid was heard in one of her own compositions recently, and it made such a hit with the soldiers that they requested her to write the marching song. This she has consented to. It is expected that her soprano voice will be heard on the Wisconsin military reservation next summer, with the Second regiment band playing the accompaniment.

"Tim Tulan," which was set to music by Joseph Clauder, proved an unusually popular song for the Wisconsin soldiers. It was handed down to the First regiment from the old Fourth and it is declared that it will always remain with the organization, and especially with the Milwaukee battalion. Officers of the Wisconsin National Guard declare that an army march is indispensable. It was found in 1908 that there was nothing better to keep up the spirit of the march on a hike, and as a rule every man in the regiment sings as he moves along.

FROM MORGAN'S CURB LETTER.

The New York opening was strong and at about the same as yesterday's close, and during the first half of the session prices held firm on very light trading. About noon the entire list sold off slightly. Wire service was poor on account of the storm, and there was little news.

In Boston, the market was a continuation of yesterday's bullish activity. Greene Cananea was the feature, closely followed by Gironx and North Butte. Trading was again well distributed, that in Butte Coalition, Superior & Pittsburg, Miami, and Nevada Consolidated being heavy, and more or less so in every stock on the list. Greene Cananea sold up 14%, North Butte to 64%, Butte Coalition 33%, Gironx 11%, Superior & Pittsburg 17%. All the listed coppers were strong until the last hour, when a slight decline, due to profit-taking, occurred. The market looks strong, and higher prices are predicted. The leading copper interests are in conference today, and while no news of progress is given out, the consummation of the deal is regarded by Eastern authorities as assured.

On the curb, trading was confined to a few stocks; among them Indiana, Ohio Copper, Tuolumne, Davis Daly and Corbin Copper were most conspicuous. Activity in each case resulted in higher prices, as but few stocks are to be had at this juncture, holders preferring to await developments of the copper combination. There are a number of these issues selling far below their actual value and any improvement in the price of metal will help them immensely. They should be bought before the advance takes place.

Yesterday's prevailing prices were:

Mrs. A. B. Miner entertained a few lady friends yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. V. H. Vandewater entertained the members of the Luncheon club yesterday.

Mrs. W. P. Belden will entertain the members of the Bridge Whist club this afternoon.

Daniel Sullivan, who has been absent on his honeymoon for several months past, has returned to the city.

Miss Flora Ellstrom entertained a number of her young friends last evening at her home on North Fourth street.

The twelve teachers of the Ridge street school were served with a very nice banquet yesterday afternoon at Prince's restaurant.

Mrs. Jeffrey of Green Bay was called to the city Monday on account of the illness of her son, F. E. Jeffrey, who is suffering from appendicitis.

A number of Ishpeeming ladies will on Friday afternoon attend the reception to be given in Saginaw by Mesdames L. L. Drake and Louis Corbit.

The one-year and seven-months-old son of Alex Niemi, 417 South Third street, died Monday of typhoid fever. The funeral will be held this afternoon.

James McGee, the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic Railway company's master mechanic here, has been called to California on account of the critical illness of his brother.

N. E. Skud, who submitted to a surgical operation in a Chicago hospital Saturday, was in a precarious condition Monday, but a more encouraging report was received yesterday.

Eggleston and Smith, doing a singing and violin playing act, will open a three days' engagement tomorrow evening at the Bijou theater. Riffner and Cook will close their engagement tonight.

The Ishpeeming band will give its annual concert this evening on New Year's night at the Ishpeeming theater. Special selections are now being rehearsed and the management will endeavor to make the entertainment the best the band has ever given.

A service of song, entitled "Poor Mike, the Wolf," will be given on Thanksgiving night, the 25th, commencing at 7:30 o'clock at the Sylvatic Army hall. Fifty-five different illustrations will be shown, and the entertainment promises to be very interesting. The admission will be twenty-five cents.

Ishpeeming people are invited to attend the meeting to be held this evening in the assembly room of the Carnegie library for the purpose of organizing a branch of the Marquette County Art League. J. W. Young, the Chicago artist, who is at the head of the movement, will be present to outline the plans for the proposed organization.

Local holders of copper shares are keeping close tabs on the market these days. The advance in the prices of Superior & Pittsburg, Greene Cananea and Gironx were very pleasing to many here, though very few of the local holders of these stocks are ready to sell, as the majority of them purchased when the prices were considerably higher than at present quoted.

The City football team of South St. Joseph, Mo., will play with the Young Men's Christian association's team on Thanksgiving Day. In the event a game is arranged the Soo boys promise to give the Y. M. C. A.'s basketball team a trip to their city. The Soo is to have a strong basketball team this year, and a local organization also expects to have a fast lineup, though the team has not yet been organized.

The funeral of Thomas J. Russell, who died last Thursday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. I. Floyd, on West Superior street was held Sunday afternoon from the First Methodist Episcopal church, and was largely attended.

Among those present were a number of old friends from Champion, where the deceased lived for a good many years, and was well-known and highly esteemed. Five of the pallbearers were Champion men, they were Messrs. William Trevalle, Charles a hampton, William Stevens, Samuel Davey and Richard Stevens. Joseph Billings of this city was the other pallbearer.

"A MAN IS AS OLD AS HE FEELS" is an old saying, but nevertheless true. When the arteries begin to harden by the deposit of mineral matter from the blood, the resiliency of the blood vessels is destroyed and the circulation becomes poor and sluggish.

Keep the blood rich and pure and the circulation good by supplying it with iron and other necessary elements in the form of Vinol. If aged people in this vicinity only realize the Vinol remedy, we store their strength and vitality we would be unable to supply the demand. The Stafford Drug Co., Marquette, Mich.

When a cold becomes settled in the system, it will take several days' treatment to cure it, and the best remedy to use is Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It will cure quicker than any other, and also leaves the system in a natural and healthy condition. Sold by The People's Drug Store.

TAFT'S NEW OFFICES.

They Are the Best Ever Provided for a President.

He Will Have More Room and More Privacy, and Accommodations for Visitors Are Much Improved—New Addition Is Built Over Roosevelt's Famous Tennis Court—Cabinet Has a New Room and Some Good High-Backed, Leather Covered Chairs.

Washington, Nov. 16.—President Taft occupied for the first time today the most spacious executive offices yet provided for a chief executive of the United States. The day he left Washington for his summer vacation the old executive offices were turned over to workmen, who have put on a new addition, which will give the president and his staff twice the amount of room they formerly had. The new addition will also give the president more privacy, and, at the same time, serve to expedite the business of callers.

As late as the first Roosevelt administration the executive offices were in the White House proper, in which building the president and his family also resided. Following the Spanish-American war the business of the government so increased in volume that its effect was felt at the White House, and it became necessary for the convenience and dignity of the chief executive to find new office quarters. After many suggestions had been considered the low lying east and west wings of the White House were built, and President Roosevelt toward the end of his first administration took possession of the western end of the west wing for his executive offices.

New Plan Much Needed.

From the outset it was plain that the office space was not only too small, but that the arrangement of the offices was about as bad as could be devised. The general reception room immediately inside the main entrance afforded practically the only means of ingress and egress. The room was small and drafty, poorly furnished and wholly inadequate for the purpose to which it was put.

The waiting room for persons having appointments with the president was a small compartment immediately outside the president's door, which had a seating capacity of about ten persons. Under the circumstances the president was compelled from the first to use the cabinet room for the reception of large numbers, including congressmen and their friends. On cabinet days the members of the cabinet had to stand around and cool their heels until the president had emptied the cabinet room of visitors. Persons sitting in the cabinet room could readily overhear private conversations going on in the president's office. The whole arrangement was unsatisfactory and unimproved.

Every caller at the White House today remarked the great improvement in the general arrangement. The new addition, built on the southeast corner, historic by the Roosevelt tennis court. The court lay just outside the old presidential offices and it was here that President Roosevelt and his so-called "tennis cabinet" composed of the younger members of the Roosevelt administration, took their exercise and worked off their surplus energy. President Taft, not being a tennis player, will not miss this presidential playground, but the convenience of the new office building which now stands upon it will more than offset its departure.

More Convenient for Members.

The new cabinet room is in the extreme southeast corner of the new building and to the left of the president's private office. It is looking toward this office from the front of the building. This room is to be used exclusively by the president and his cabinet. Members of the cabinet may go direct to the room on cabinet days, and confer until the president is to be seen with them. This room overlooks the Colonnade gardens just west of the White House proper, and the view is one of the finest to be had from any of the White House rooms. Between the cabinet room and the president's private office is a small room which is to be used as a waiting room by the president when he wishes to talk privately with a caller, and finds his regular office filled with people.

To the right of the president's office is the office of his secretary, Fred W. Carpenter. This office, like the cabinet room, connects directly with that of the president by a private entrance. Mr. Carpenter and his assistants, Messrs. Foster and Latta, will have ample space in which to do their work and will at the same time enjoy a reasonable amount of privacy. Immediately in front of the entrance to Mr. Carpenter's office a corridor leads off from the main corridor and connects with the general reception hall. Immediately to the north of Mr. Carpenter's office is the executive telegraph office and the offices of the executive clerks. In the extreme north end of the building, just to the right of the main entrance, is a room set aside for the use of newspaper men.

"Now, Tommie," said the teacher, "you may give me an example of a coincidence." "Why, er," said Tommie, with some hesitation—"why, er, why—me fadder and me mudder was both married on de same day."—Harper's Weekly.

THE TRADE CENTER.

Michigan Dealers Find in Detroit Everything They Require.

The importance of Detroit as a great commercial, manufacturing and financial center is becoming known to a wider circle of retail dealers month by month. That it is not necessary to go elsewhere to buy stocks of goods has been demonstrated to the satisfaction of interior merchants and manufacturers in fast increasing numbers.

For the approaching holiday trade, which promises to be unusually heavy, Michigan dealers can supply themselves to best advantage in every respect from the varied and replenished stocks of Detroit's wholesale merchants. Whether the goods required be strictly of practical utility, whether they combine use and ornament, or whether the line of the dealer comprises articles of ornament and fancy alone, in Detroit any and all of these may be found in the proximity of the State Metropolis, affording that quick shipment so necessary at this season, and the experience and knowledge of Detroit's business firms concerning the needs and tastes of Michigan people, are advantages offered our dealers nowhere else in the world. It should not need argument to support the advice, "Buy all your goods in Detroit."

The wholesale merchants, manufacturers and financial institutions of Detroit which are represented by their cards in our columns today are leaders in their lines.

grounds on the east side. The president's office is a little west of the center of the building. His outlook is on the White House grounds and towards the Washington Monument to the south. His new room is elliptical in shape, with high ceiling, and lighted by windows which extend almost from floor to ceiling. The wall color scheme is a light cream, while the draperies are of light greens to match the carpet. The furniture is mahogany and the upholstery covered with a green tinged pigskin. A picture of Alphonso Taft, father of the president, which was found about a year ago in an old store room in the capitol, adorns one of the walls. The cabinet in this room, as well as in the president's room, occupies a solid wood chair, of extra width, built especially for him. The chairs of the cabinet members are all high-back and covered with leather, but Mr. Taft prefers a heavy mahogany chair which swings on a swivel.

An innovation has been made in the entrances to the president's room. Two entrances have been provided, about twenty feet apart. Double doors have been installed at each entrance, and between these double doors is a sort of wedge-shaped passageway in the corners of which the secret service men can stand when the president is receiving the general public. The arrangement is such that the president may now hold the daily public reception in the north end of his private office, the pathway of the callers lying along the north wall. Under the old arrangement receptions of this sort had to be held in the cabinet room.

BYRON AND THE BALLOON.

Feet Predicted Airships With Steering Gear.

Those who have read the fiction of Edgar Allan Poe, says the Indianapolis News, will recall his wonderful story of the balloon with a propelling rudder, which crossing the Atlantic from Europe in three days, landed on the coast of South Carolina. This story was published in 1838, preceding the flight of Blarion from Calais to Dover more than seventy years later. And now it is remarked that as early as 1822 sixteen years before Poe, Byron foretold the motor.

It was in 1822 that Byron lived at Pisa, Italy, where he had rented for a year the Lafranchini palace, and it was there that he entertained a Captain Medwin who, on his return to London, published his "Conversations with Lord Byron." One of these conversations is to this effect: "Who can but regret," said Byron, "that he has been born 200 or 300 years too soon. Here is a letter from a savant of Bologna who claims to have discovered the secret of guiding balloons by means of a rudder, and who assures me that he is ready to disclose this secret to the government. I imagine that we are soon to make journeys through the air instead of sea voyages, at least so and a way to go to the moon despite the lack of atmosphere that Fontanelle has discovered there. There is not as much madness in this idea as one may suppose. The sciences are now in their infancy."

was near the close of that year that Byron published the latter parts of his "Don Juan," in which the poet shows that he had been inspired by the discovery of the Bologna savant. See the second stanza of the tenth canto: "Man fell with apples, and with apples rose. If this be true; for we must deem the mode In which Sir Isaac Newton could disclose Through the then unpeeped stars the turnpike road. A thing to counterbalance human woes; For ever since immortal man hath gazed With all kinds of mechanics and toil Steam engines will conduct him to this moon."

Byron's "Don Juan" was translated into French by Audeci Pinhot in 1825, but during as was that translator he did not venture to put "Don Juan" into rhyme and today the foregoing stanza, done in French prose, is supposed to be a prediction of aviation by motor, though Byron's suggestion goes on further than steam.

INCOMPLETE PREDICTIONS.

Tom Taggart says that Governor Marshall of Indiana will be the next Democratic nominee for the presidency, with Governor Harmon of Ohio for the vice presidency. The trouble with Taggart's predictions is that they last only until Mr. Bryan names the members of the credentials committee when the national convention starts business.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

YESTERDAY'S SNOW IMPEDED TRAFFIC

STORM THAT RAGED YESTERDAY WAS ONE OF THE WORST EVER SEEN HERE IN NOVEMBER.

That winter has arrived was an opinion freely expressed yesterday. The snow storm which started in Monday night followed within forty-eight hours the worst rain storm of the year. It was of sudden severity and in places most of the men employed on outdoor jobs to give up their work at noon. The snow was wet and heavy, and fell rapidly. About eight hours after the storm started there were fully six inches on the ground. Sleighs will be in use today.

The street cars were kept in operation yesterday afternoon with much difficulty. They lost time in climbing the grades, their progress being especially slow on the hill west of the power house and on High street in Ishpeming. The rails were covered by several inches of snow. The plow is ready for operation, and will be used today, if necessary, to open up the line.

The Chicago & Northwestern passenger train was nearly two hours late, although the storm was not as bad at points down the line as it was here. The railroad men found it impossible to move their trains on time, as the locomotives would not steam properly. Practically all of the railroads in this section are now prepared to fight storms on short notice, as the snows have been ready for use for more than a week past.

The storm will have a bad effect on the ore movement from this region, which had been conducted thus far this month under most favorable conditions. If the weather that prevailed during the past two weeks had continued until the first of the month, a record never before equaled in November would have been established. It was reported from the railroad offices yesterday that the storm extended over a considerable portion of the lake region and that many boats had been tied up temporarily.

The temperature yesterday morning was only a few degrees lower than the previous morning. The lowest temperature recorded was sixteen degrees above zero, and on Monday morning it was twenty above. It was reported from the copper country and Duluth that several inches of snow had fallen. The snow will be welcomed by the deer hunters, but it is possible that a number of them may have difficulty getting back to town with their weapons. A number of Negaunee hunters who have returned during the past few days did not even get a shot at a deer.

INTEREST IN FOREIGN IRON.

Furnace Operators in the East Are Purchasing an Occasional Cargo.

It is reported from New York that unusual interest has developed in foreign iron. Two cargoes of iron ore from an eastern concern, and Pennsylvania furnaces have placed contracts for 150,000 tons of Spanish ore. It is not anticipated, however, that ores brought in from foreign countries will have any particular effect upon the industry in this region. Lake Superior ores will continue to hold first place for many years to come.

The iron and steel review for last week says that although there was an absence of any large transactions in foundry iron during the last week, there has been a fair run of small orders averaging from 5,000 to 6,000 tons a day. Toward the close of the week some large inquiries were developed, not only for shipment up to next April in lots of 10,000 tons, but for even larger tonnages for shipment over the balance of the year. An inquiry has been received in foundry grades and some concessions have been made especially in the offerings of speculative lots of Southern metal. The only sale of importance of steel-making iron was one of 20,000 tons of Bessemer in the Pittsburg district, but in the Eastern district several thousand tons of basic sold for early delivery at $19 delivered. Thousand-ton lots of low phosphorus have sold at $22 at Lehigh valley furnaces for interior shipment.

Great activity continued in most branches of semi-finished and fully finished steel. Sheets and timbers have taken first place in the new buying orders being enormous.

Wire products have been a close second, new business since the first of November running at the rate of 11,000 tons per day with the American Steel Wire company. There are still many rumors in regard to the advance in prices of wire products, but conservatism is still a prominent feature and advances are not expected until the turn of the year. A sharper advance is expected to be made in sheets and timbers.

BB's have been active, with sales of about 60,000 tons. Other important contracts are pending. Rail contracts reported have aggregated about 250,000 tons, but about half of this tonnage was due to specifications on previous contracts. The new business includes 40,000 tons for the Great Northern, 20,000 tons for the Illinois Central, 20,000 tons for the Erie and 14,000 tons for the Pittsburg, Lake Erie & Western. Business for about 50,000 tons is pending. Orders have also been placed for 20,000 wheels, with 40,000 more pending. Railroad equipment orders included about 3,500 cars. Locomotive orders have aggregated 135.

Contracts for four lake steamers have been placed and orders for four more are pending. Structural contracts have been closed for about 100,000 tons and about 100,000 tons more are pending. All the good qualities of Ely's Cream Balm, solid are found in Liquid Cream Balm, which is intended for use in atomizers. That it is a wonderful remedy for Nasal Catarrh is proved by an ever-increasing mass of testimony. It does not dry out nor rasp the tender air-passages. It allays the inflammation and goes straight to the root of the disease. Obsolete old cases have yielded in a few weeks. All druggists, 75c., including spraying-tube, or mailed by Ely Bros., 56 Warren Street, New York.

ALL MINES WORKING.

Republic Iron & Steel Company Has No Idle Properties.

Charles T. Fairburn, former manager of the Republic Iron & Steel company mines on the Mesaba, Marquette and Menominee ranges, but who is now general manager of the company's entire interests, with headquarters at Pittsburg, was in Duluth Monday, after a visit to the company's mines on the Mesaba. All of the company's mines are now being operated at their full capacity.

The Republic Iron & Steel company has, during the past year, more than doubled the working forces at some of its Mesaba range properties, but no particular increase has been made at its Cambria and Lillie mines in this city. It is expected, however, that the coming year will be one of the best in the history of the Negaunee mines. Preparations are now being made for the sinking of a new shaft at a point between the main shafts of the Cambria and Lillie properties, and it is expected that will be completed before the next shipping season is far advanced.

HAD HARD LUCK.

Charles Kirkpatrick, William Chelley and John Kunz have returned from their deer hunting expedition in the Flat Rock district, where they spent more than a week. They saw a few deer, and Mr. Kirkpatrick was the only one who got near enough to one to shoot at it. He wounded the animal, but after tracing it for several miles lost track of it. Postmaster Thomas Connors, County Treasurer Thomas Gribble, James Gaffney and C. L. Sporley arrived home Monday from their hunting trip near Murphy's Sliding, west of Michigamme. Mr. Gribble was the only one who shot a deer, he having secured a good-sized doe.

PAST COMMANDERS TO MEET.

E. C. Anthony and wife left yesterday for Detroit, where they will spend three or four weeks visiting their daughter, Mrs. H. Fenner. Tomorrow evening they will be present at the annual banquet of the past commanders of the Grand Army of Michigan. Mr. Anthony has not missed any of those functions in a number of years, and he looks forward to the event with much interest, as he has many staunch friends among the past commanders. Mr. Anthony entertained the commanders and their wives in this city two years ago.

Mrs. W. H. Sheldon will entertain with cards Saturday afternoon at her home on Main street.

Michael Curley left yesterday for Even to attend the funeral of the late James Norton, to whom he was related. Mrs. Bennetts, whose home is in Calumet, arrived here Monday on a visit to her son Al. She will remain a month or so.

El Kappanen and a friend returned from the woods south of here Monday with two deer, each having shot one. Mr. Kappanen's deer was a good-sized buck.

The Negaunee meat dealers expect to be able to supply their patrons with Thanksgiving poultry at prices a little lower than they were charging last year. Some of the dealers expect to have turkeys next Saturday.

The Chicago & Northwestern railroad company has a crew of thirty-five men laying new rails on the line between here and Ishpeming. Eighty-pound steel is being put down in place of the sixty-pound rails. It will take several weeks to complete the job. The work is being done under the supervision of Dennis Mooney, who has the general charge of all of the Northwestern yards in this section.

The Negaunee holders of copper shares have shown unusual interest in the market the last few days, since some of the leading issues have advanced in price. There are a number here who hold Greene-Cambria, which, together with Amalgamated, is a leading feature in the upward movement. Many Negaunee people traded their Greene-Cambria for Groux at the time the latter was taken over by the Cole-Ryan interests.

LINCOLN'S DREAM.

Inquiry had been made as to army news on the first meeting of the cabinet, and especially if any information had been received from Sherman. None of the members had heard anything and Stanton, who makes it a point to be late, and who has the telegraph in his department, had not arrived. Gen. Grant, who was present, said he was hourly expecting word. The president remarked it would, no doubt, come soon, and come favorable, for he had last night the usual dream which he had preceding nearly every great and important event of the war. Generally the news had been favorable which succeeded this dream, and the dream itself was always the same. I inquired what this remarkable dream could be. He said it related to your (my) element—the water—that he seemed to be in some regular indescribable vessel, and that he was moving with great rapidity toward an indefinite shore. That he had this dream preceding Sumter, Bull Run, Antietam, Gettysburg, Stone river, Vicksburg, Wilmington, etc. Gen. Grant said Stone river was certainly no victory, and he knew of no good results which followed from it. The president said (that) however that might be, his dream preceded that fight.

"I had," the president remarked, "this strange dream again last night, and we shall, judging from the past, have great news very soon. I think it must be from Sherman. My thoughts are in that direction as are most of yours."

"I write this conversation three days after it occurred in consequence of what took place Friday night, and but for which the mention of this dream would have never been noted. Great events did indeed follow, for within a few hours the good and gentle, as well as truly great man who narrated his dream, closed forever his earthly career. —From the Diary of Gideon Welles, in the November Atlantic.

LAKE ORE TRADE AND ITS GROWTH

STARTING WITH 1,449 TONS IN 1855, IT HAS BECOME OF PARAMOUNT IMPORTANCE.

PRICES AT WIDE VARIANCE

Iron Market and Rail Vessel Rates Have Fluctuated Greatly During Fifty-four Years.

Much interesting statistical information showing the growth and development of the iron ore trade on the great lakes has recently been compiled by the Fenton company of Cleveland, which is tabulated in the current issue of the Marine Review. Tables have been prepared showing the shipments by ranges since iron ore was discovered in the Lake Superior region, the rail rates from the mines to the shipping docks, the vessel freight rate, the price of ore delivered at the lower lake ports and the average price of pig iron annually. The figures have both historical and commercial value, in that they show the growth of the ore trade, which is now the dominant trade of the lakes, and judged as a single item, the largest trade in the world.

Iron ore was discovered in the Lake Superior country in 1844, but it was not until 1855, when the ship canal at Sault Ste. Marie was finished that shipments were commercially practicable. Prior to that time about 3,000 tons of ore had been consumed at forges in the peninsula and in the small blast furnaces of Pennsylvania and Ohio. This ore was hauled in sleighs to the shore of the lake and portaged around the falls at the Soo, a most tedious and expensive process.

The first ore from the Lake Superior mines was shipped from Marquette in 1855 and ore has been shipped from this port every year since. Escanaba became an ore shipping port in 1866, Duluth in 1884, and Ashland in 1885. The first year's shipment from Marquette totaled 1,449 tons, less than the average cargoes of two vessels of the present day. The shipment in 1856 was 30,343 tons, in 1858 it dropped off to 15,876 tons, in 1860 it reached 114,401 tons, the following year dropping to 49,909 tons, after which the annual shipment steadily increased until 1873, when the total was 1,102,458 tons. Owing to hard times the years immediately following 1873, as much as 1,000,000 tons was not shipped any succeeding year until 1877. From that date, the shipments from this port steadily increased until 1893, then they dropped 800,000 tons, but recovered the following year and increased until 1907, when 4,388,073 tons were shipped. Shipments last year were less than any year since 1895, but this season they promise to nearly equal the 1907 record.

High Transportation Charges.

In 1855, both bessemer and non-bessemer ores sold at Lake Erie ports at $10 per ton, the transportation charge from the mines to Marquette was $3 per ton and the vessel carrying charge $3 per ton. Pig iron sold at $27.75 per ton. The following year the rail freight charge was reduced to $1.27 and the price of ore to $8, but the vessel rate remained the same. The railway which had been projected from Marquette to the Jackson and Cleveland mines was not quite finished when the canal was opened in 1855, so that all the ore shipped that year was hauled to Marquette in sleighs, all being shipped by the old Cleveland Iron Mining company, now the Cleveland-Ciffs Iron company.

Ore has been sold at more than $10 per ton three times in the history of the trade, in 1866, 1867 and 1873, the highest price having been $12 in 1873. The highest vessel freight rates prevailed in 1866, when the price averaged $4.17 per ton and several cargoes were moved at $6 per ton. The sixty cent rate, which prevails this year, is as low a vessel charge as has ever been received and only in 1897, 1898 and 1908 has the rate been at that figure. The rail rate from the Marquette range underwent a steady reduction until 1894, when it was established at thirty-two cents. It has been held at this figure continuously since with the exception of the years from 1890 to 1904, when it was reduced to twenty-five cents. Pig iron prices were highest in the concluding years of the Civil war. As high as $75 was paid for pig iron in 1864, the average for the year being $39.25. The lowest average was in 1897, following a period of four years' depression, when it fell to $8.35 a ton.

Since the ranges were discovered 477,050,116 gross tons have been shipped from the mines, of which enormous tonnage, the Mesabi, which was only developed in 1892, has contributed 167,527,145 tons; Marquette, the oldest of the ranges, 87,647,819 tons; Menominee, 66,337,570 tons; Gogebie, 55,732,446 tons; Vermilion, 28,017,170 tons, with unclassified shipments of 797,868 tons.

NEW MERCHANDISE DOCK.

Powell & Mitchell Have Contract for Structure at Presque Isle.

The Lake Superior & Ishpeming Railway company has contracted with Powell & Mitchell for the construction of a new merchandise dock, to take the place of the present dock, just north of the ore dock at Presque Isle. This dock, which is chiefly used for handling pig iron, has been in use a long term of years and is practically worn out. The new structure will be what is known as a sheet piling dock, that is, the two rows of piles will be boarded up and the space between filled with sand. This will make the top of the dock just as solid as the earth, which in fact it will be. The specifications call for a dock 600 feet long and sixty feet wide, the present dock being the same width and something over 600 feet long. The new structure will be built a little to the north of the present dock, so as to make the slip between the ore and merchandise docks 200 instead of 150 feet wide.

Some of the piling for the new dock is already on the ground and work is to begin at once. It is hoped to have the structure ready for use very early in the shipping season of 1910.

RARE EXHIBITS IN FASCINATING VARIETY

DAUGHTERS OF AMERICAN REVOLUTION HAVE SECURED MANY INTERESTING ANTIQUES FOR EXHIBITION, OPENING TODAY.

The Loan exhibit given by the Daughters of the American Revolution will open this morning at 11 o'clock in the Opera House block, upstairs. There is a fascinating variety in the exhibits, and in the collections of historical relics and curios, are grouped so many things worthy to be singled out as special attractions, that it would take columns of space to enumerate them.

But besides a really wonderful display of old china, which includes both a cup and a plate that came over in the Mayflower, and many rare and curious wares dear to collectors, there is a marvellous exhibit of old needlework and embroideries, samplers, wedding shawls, old fashion plates, a waist made from a gown worn by Queen Victoria, a sword that was used at Waterloo, and a curiously interesting picture of the battle of Hedgesburg, made of bits of straw, by German prisoners-of-war, in one of the prisons of Luxembourg. The bits of straw are so tiny and the workmanship so good that the picture has the effect of an oil tapestry. Then there are quaint teapots, handwrought, that came from Holland two and three hundred years ago, and many other treasures that thrifty colonial wives refused to leave behind when they crossed the ocean to their new home.

On the walls hang twenty-five paintings, all by artists of international reputation, making a collection of great value and interest. The kind generosity of the various owners, in loaning these valuable pictures, permits the public to have a rare artistic treat.

The exhibition will be open from 11 o'clock through the rest of the day and evening, and it is hoped that through the noon hour many business men will take advantage of the opportunity.

HIGH CLASS CONCERT.

Mr. and Mrs. McKinnie Made Good Impression Last Evening.

In spite of the inclement weather, the Swedish Lutheran church was well filled last evening to hear the concert given by Mr. and Mrs. McKinnie, assisted by the choir. The audience was enthusiastic in the reception of all the members and there was a satisfying completeness in the program as a whole. It was Mr. McKinnie's first appearance in Marquette and he made a very favorable impression. He has a good vocal presence and a lustrous voice of fairly wide range, which is especially appealing in the more subdued passages. The number most enthusiastically received was his rendition of Cantor's "Oh, Fair, Oh Sweet and Holy," but his strongest selection was really the "Brigid King" in which he developed dramatic intensity, his voice was well placed and he sang with taste and good interpretation.

Mrs. McKinnie proved herself the "Lekla Farm" of old, and still holds her exalted position in the hearts of the musicians of the upper peninsula. She sang two groups of leader songs, among which were a number of folk songs. Selections from d'Hardolot and Cowles were effectively rendered. Her most exciting number was the aria from Verdi's "Traviata," which served to illustrate the wonderful flexibility of her voice. The local talent numbers on the program were one and all creditably rendered. Miss Ross made an especially favorable impression as accompanist, her work last evening revealing remarkable talent in this difficult piano part. The orchestra, consisting of Peter Behan, O. G. Anderson, Hjalmar Beckman, Clarence Gylling and Miss Tillie Sweder, accompanist, rendered some fine numbers, and the solos by Mr. Behan, Mr. Anderson, and Miss Sweder were of a high order.

The Modern Brotherhood of America will hold their weekly dance at Fraternity Hall tonight. (11-3)

FATHER AND TWO SONS SHOT IN THE WOODS?

STRANGER TOLD HARROWING TALE LAST EVENING, WHICH, HOWEVER, IS GIVEN LITTLE CREDENCE BY THE OFFICERS.

Declaring that his father and two brothers had been shot and killed in the woods near Channing Monday, a young man who said his name was Walter Dods of Watertown, N. Y., drew a large crowd of interested listeners on Front street last evening. His story was exceedingly sensational, but as some points were found not to be borne out by the facts, the police are now inclined to give little credence to the story.

Dods related that himself, his father and brothers were members of a party of thirteen, all from Watertown, N. Y., who were camped near Channing, having gone there to be home, and that the owner of the land in that vicinity. He stated that the party had gone out Monday morning but that his father, John Dods, and two brothers did not return. Search was instituted by the rest of the party and late in the afternoon the bodies of the three were found, all having been shot. The bodies, he said, were found miles from camp, and separated from each other, the father being at least a mile from his sons.

He stated that he had come to Marquette to telegraph for money with which to send the bodies home, and that the rest of the party were in camp with their dead comrades. He said that he expected to return to Channing on the morning train. Inquiry at the telegraph office revealed that no messages had been sent to Watertown, but by the time this had been learned, Dods had disappeared.

The St. Paul train crew report that two men got on at Channing, one of whom came through to Marquette. Both appeared to be greatly agitated, but whether from nervous excitement or some other cause, they did not care to say. However, they said nothing about any men having been killed. Dods acted very queerly while telling his story and gave the impression of one in a highly nervous condition or partially intoxicated, but, nevertheless, he told essentially the same story, in spite of the numerous questions asked him. He declared that he was sure none of the party had shot his father and brothers, but that he believed it had been done by some one who had a grudge against them, although he could not guess who the murderers might be.

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION.

Annual Day for Expression of Gratitude Formally Set Apart.

Although Governor Warner is down in Yucatan, the observance of Thanksgiving day is not to be overlooked in this state, the annual proclamation having been issued Monday from the executive office. It reads as follows: "To the people of the state of Michigan: "In obedience to the long established custom providing for the setting apart of a day for the purpose of expressing our gratitude unto a beneficent Creator for favors bestowed upon us, I hereby designate Thursday, Nov. 25, as a day of thanksgiving.

"The people of Michigan live in a state favored of God and the duty of taking account of our blessings and mercies and rendering thanksgiving and praise to the Giver thereof should be observed by every citizen. Our fertile farms and bountiful crops, our factories bringing wealth to our state from every country, our treasure stored mines, all these have contributed to our marvelous material growth and advancement, made glad by deeds of kindness. The wars of the state and the counties should have a share in the festivities of the day and a day of good cheer and happiness should be granted those whose liberty is restrained for our protection. "Let us upon this day assemble in our houses of worship and with faith renewed and strengthened thank our fathers' God and ours for what He has done for us during the year that has gone."
