

LEGISLATIVE MILL IS GRINDING AGAIN

First Regular Session of the Sixty-First Congress Is Convened; but the Day's Proceedings Are Largely of Social Nature.

Except for the Introduction of Innumerable Bills, Practically No Business Is Done, the Sitting of the Senate Lasting Only 13 Minutes and That of the House Two-Thirds of an Hour—Today There Will Be Received the President's Annual Message

Washington, Dec. 6.—Congress convened today for the first regular session of the Sixty-first congress, but the day's proceedings were largely of social nature. Practically no business was transacted.

The senate's thirteen-minute session was continued by an unnecessary report of Mr. Bailey to defeat the adoption of the usual resolution that the sessions begin at noon, suggesting that the senate convene, instead, at 2 o'clock. Mr. Bailey said he would like to see the senate hold night sessions, in order that the senators could devote the day to individual business. No objection was offered when a similar resolution was introduced in the house.

A joint committee was named by both houses to inform the president that congress was ready for any business he might wish to lay before it. The president's response constituted his annual message, the reading of which will consume practically all of tomorrow's session.

Mary Bills Introduced.

The house session continued forty minutes. Most of the session was occupied by the roll call. Although only 541 members responded to their names, almost the full membership appeared on the floor, nearly all with bills to offer.

These bills included one by Mr. Garner, of Pennsylvania, for an investigation of the entire customs service, particularly in regard to the sugar trade; one by Mr. Hitchcock, of Nebraska, for the establishment of postal savings banks; one by Mr. Mann, of Illinois, for the federal regulation of the "white slave trade"; and also one for the free admission of wool pulp; and one by Mr. Hamilton, of Michigan, for statehood for New Mexico and Arizona.

The customary crowds were in the galleries and the usual scenes were enacted on the floor. The leaders of the majority conversed amiably together.

Resolutions of respect to the memory of Senator Johnson, of North Dakota, and Representative Thurmond and Lister, who died during the recess, were adopted. As a further mark of respect, both houses adjourned.

TRANSPORT DIXIE SAILS.

With 700 Marines on Board, She Heads for Central America.

Philadelphia, Dec. 6.—The transport Dixie, with seven hundred marines and all the equipment transferred from the stranded auxiliary cruiser Prairie, passed out to sea early today, on her way to Central America.

Sulzer Demands Vigorous Action.

Washington, Dec. 6.—Representative Sulzer of New York, introduced a resolution today directing the president of the United States to use the army and navy to restore order, maintain peace and protect life and property in Nicaragua. The resolution recites that the United States demands the arrest and trial, also the punishment, of President Zelaya for the willful murder of American citizens, and an ample apology and reparation from Nicaragua.

A message from the United States consulate at Managua, Nicaragua, dated the 4th inst., to the effect it is reported there that President Zelaya is sending the troops and artillery eastward from the rumors are renewed, his intention to leave Nicaragua, has been received at the state department.

The statement is authoritatively made that Mexico is in full accord with the United States with respect to Nicaragua.

FIND HE HAS NOT RESIGNED.

Democratic Senators Postpone Election of Chairman Culberson a Successor.

Washington, Dec. 6.—The Democratic senators met in caucus today to elect a successor to Mr. Culberson, of Texas, who has determined to resign as chairman of the caucus, because of ill-health. A tentative program had been arranged by which Mr. Money, vice chairman, was to be elevated to the leadership and to decline on account of ill-health. Mr. Bacon, of Georgia, was then to be selected as chairman. But when Mr. Culberson's letter was read to the assembly, it was discovered that he had not resigned the chairmanship, but had merely stated his purpose of resigning. Further action was postponed, awaiting definite action by the Texas senator.

The caucus elected Thomas W. Keller, of West Virginia, assistant doorkeeper, which position is equivalent to Democratic representative of the sergeant-at-arms on the floor of the senate. Mr. Keller has been in the employ of the senate thirty years.

ELIMINATES THE COMMISSION.

Proposed Legislation Makes a Director General Supreme in Panama.

PRUNING KNIFE APPLIED.

Mr. MacVeagh's Estimates of Appropriations Shows a Heavy Cut.

Washington, Dec. 6.—Secretary of the Treasury, MacVeagh, in his estimates of appropriations for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1911, as shown by figures submitted to the house today, calls for a grand total of $732,223,075. This is $163,370,363 less than the appropriations for the current fiscal year, and $123,066,493 under the estimate of a year ago for 1910. A general cut has been made wherever possible and new work authorized only where regarded as absolutely necessary.

CONFERS WITH WICKERSHAM.

Mr. Taft Preparing a Special Message on the Interstate Commerce Law.

Washington, Dec. 6.—President Taft had an extended conference this afternoon with Attorney General Wickersham and Secretary Nagel regarding a special message he is preparing on amendments to the interstate commerce law. The message will be sent to congress within ten days. The anti-trust law will be mentioned only in a general way, as the president has decided that he is not ready yet to suggest specific changes of the Sherman law.

NEW MOVE PLANNED

BY LABOR LEADERS.

United States Supreme Court Will Be Asked Today to Dismiss the Original Anti-Boycott Injunction in the Bucks Stove & Range Company Case.

Washington, Dec. 6.—Before the supreme court of the United States tomorrow the attorneys for the American Federation of Labor will demand the dismissal of the original anti-boycott injunction issued by Judge Gould in the now famous Bucks Stove & Range company case. Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell and Frank Morrison, the federation's attorneys, today announced their intention to ask the court to set aside the injunction, which was issued by Judge Gould in the now famous Bucks Stove & Range company case. Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell and Frank Morrison, the federation's attorneys, today announced their intention to ask the court to set aside the injunction, which was issued by Judge Gould in the now famous Bucks Stove & Range company case.

This move puts it up to the supreme court to decide whether the federation's boycott of the Bucks company in its official organ, The Federationist, was a violation of the injunction. The court of appeals of the District of Columbia held that it was not, and with some modifications sustained Judge Gould's injunction.

The Bucks Stove & Range company already has filed an appeal to the supreme court of the United States against the modifications, claiming that the original injunction has been so altered as to be practically inoperative. The Federation of Labor in its appeal will argue that no injunction should have been issued in the first court, and asks for a complete dismissal.

PROVIDES DRASTIC PENALTIES.

Mr. Mann's Bill for the Suppression of the White Slave Traffic.

Washington, Dec. 6.—The suppression of the so-called "white slave" traffic, a movement to which President Taft has given much encouragement, is aimed at by Representative Mann, of Illinois, in the re-introduction today of his bill prescribing drastic penalties for guilty persons.

The bill declares it a crime to aid, abet or force any female to go from one state to another for immoral purposes, with or without her consent, with a penalty of five years' imprisonment or a fine of $5,000. If a girl under eighteen, the penalty is ten years' imprisonment or $10,000 fine.

The bill also seeks to carry out with foreign nations a "white slave traffic arrangement" whereunder the keepers of immoral resorts will be required to make complete reports to the commissioner of immigration. That official is required to collect information concerning alien women of this class.

CALIFORNIA CITIES RIVAL.

Frisco and San Diego Both Would Celebrate Opening of the Canal.

Washington, Dec. 6.—The contest between San Francisco and San Diego for the honor of holding an international exposition to celebrate the opening of the Panama canal reached the capital today. EXPRESS COMPANIES HIT.

Are Held Liable for the Full Value of Goods Lost in Transit.

Chicago, Dec. 6.—The appellate court for the first district announced a decision here today holding an express company liable for the full value of goods destroyed in transit through the negligence of the carrier, rather than the arbitrary value of $50 placed on all express packages where the value is not specifically stated by the shipper when the consignment is made.

THINKS ITS SURPLUS IS MUCH IMPAIRED

State Superintendent Hotchkiss of New York Unearths a Scandal as a Result of Investigating the Phoenix Insurance Company.

That the President of the Fire Concern Has Overdrawn His Salary, Unloaded Doubtful Securities on the Corporation and Used Its Assets as Collateral to Secure His Own Speculative Accounts Are Sensational Charges Made in the Connection.

New York, Dec. 6.—The Phoenix Insurance company, of Brooklyn, is under investigation for irregularities which are believed to have impaired its surplus at least $1,000,000 and resulted in conditions which Superintendent Hotchkiss, of the state insurance department, laid before the district attorney today for possible criminal action.

It is charged that the president, George H. Sheldon, has overdrawn his salary, unloaded doubtful securities on the company and used the company's assets as collateral to secure his own personal speculative accounts. In a formal statement tonight Superintendent Hotchkiss says that he does not believe the capital of the company is impaired, and that its securities are not intact, but he adds that the investigation is not completed. Sheldon has been president of the Phoenix since 1887.

Annual Reports Falsified. It is charged that the annual reports of the company to the insurance department during at least the last ten years, and probably longer, have been falsified in more than one particular.

Superintendent Hotchkiss says that the Phoenix, which is a fire concern, has not been examined in nearly twenty-two years. The insurance department alleges that questionable securities originally sold to the company by Sheldon have annually passed through "wash sales" and thus have been concealed.

Speculative accounts have been maintained by President Sheldon, according to Mr. Hotchkiss, in at least one brokerage house, and assets of the Phoenix have been used as collateral for the operations. It is charged that the president's salary is now paid to October, 1910.

Insurance Examiners B'iled.

During the last seven years, it is alleged, members of the state insurance department whose duty it was to supervise the company have accepted collateral loans from it, and made by Sheldon, at amounts varying from $10,000 to $100,000.

Superintendent Hotchkiss says that the directors, who permit President Sheldon to do as he has done, are equally responsible to the public for the acts committed. It might be said that the Phoenix company was really Sheldon's, and that the directors seemingly never objected to his operations?

It was announced tonight that the directors of the company had today removed Sheldon from office and had elected E. W. T. Gray, formerly auditor of the Continental Insurance company, president.

Accused Man Critically Ill.

Greenwich, Conn., Dec. 6.—George P. Sheldon, president of the Phoenix Insurance company, of Brooklyn, is critically ill at his home here, and it is feared he may not recover. He is suffering from heart trouble.

BANK CASHIER ARRESTED.

Robert D. Muir of New Haven, Conn., Accused of Embezzlement.

New Haven, Conn., Dec. 6.—Charged with the embezzlement of $25,000 of the funds of the People's Bank & Trust company, Robert D. Muir, cashier of the bank, was arrested tonight. Muir is alleged to have taken $115,000, but the officials of the bank have obtained securities from him valued at $83,000. Muir's early training was at the Lincoln (Neb.) National bank. While in Nebraska he was appointed assistant national bank examiner. The alleged defalcations were discovered while Muir was on a vacation. He was induced to return, and the shortage was made good by the directors. The arrest tonight was at the instigation of the state banking commissioners.

BUSINESS MEN INVOLVED.

Two More Indictments in the Mineral Point Bank Case.

La Crosse, Wis., Dec. 6.—The federal grand jury tonight returned two more indictments in the case of the First National bank of Mineral Point, which was wrecked recently. The federal officials refuse to divulge the names of the defendants until the men are arrested. It is said that a conspiracy between Vice President Philip Allen, who pleaded guilty and received a ten-year sentence, and two prominent business men of southern Wisconsin are alleged in the complaint. The indictments are based upon Allen's testimony.

ALLEGED SWINDLERS LOSE.

San Francisco, Dec. 6.—The federal court today denied the petition of E. C. Moore, R. D. Harriman and W. D. Brown for a writ of habeas corpus to prevent their removal to Omaha for trial in connection with the Maybank alleged swindler. They will appeal to the supreme court.

THE WEATHER.

Washington, Dec. 6.—The following is the weather bureau's forecast for Upper Michigan: Generally fair, Tuesday and Wednesday; moderate west winds.

ASKS A NEW TRIAL ON FLIMSAY GROUNDS.

Jurors Who Convicted Him Were Not Properly Guarded, and Some of Them Indulged in Intoxicants, Says Former Banker Chas. W. Morse of New York.

New York, Dec. 6.—All the hope apparently left Chas. W. Morse for escaping the serving of his fifteen-year sentence in the federal prison at Atlanta is that the notice of a motion for a new trial, which was filed today, will lead to his having another day in court. Notice of this motion was filed upon the receipt of the decision of the supreme court of the United States, denying Morse's application for a writ of certiorari. Ten days remain wherein counsel may seek final adjudication in pursuance of the notice of the motion filed today. In the meantime, Morse remains in the Tombs prison.

The motion for a new trial is based on the ground that the jurors who convicted Morse were not properly guarded during the trial, and that some of them indulged in intoxicants. Morse was convicted of the misapplication of funds of the National Bank of North America.

BOXER ABE ATTELL HAS MIGHTY CLOSE CALL.

Featherweight Champion Is Forced to Extend Himself to the Limit to Gain the Victory Over Charlie White, and at That the Decision Is Hooted.

Memphis, Dec. 6.—Abe Attell, champion featherweight of the world, was forced to extend himself to the limit to secure a decision over Charlie White, of Chicago, in an exciting contest staged before the Phoenix Athletic club here tonight. The decision was unpopular.

At long range, White had all the better of the fighting, landing his right and left almost at will to the champion's head and body; but his blows seemed to lack steam, and only once did he stagger Attell. Attell forced the fighting throughout to clinches, and punished White severely with short arm jabs to the wind and head. White proved himself a worthy opponent, dancing away from the rushes and taking little punishment.

Attell was the first to show blood, a right uppercut landing flush on his mouth. Not until the last round did he draw blood from White's nose and mouth. The eighth round was the fastest, both fighting throughout, hammer and tongue.

It was on Attell's Barry in-fighting that Referee Superior based his decision, which was hooted by many in the crowd.

BIG TIM TAKES THE MONEY.

New York Politician the Stakeholder for the Jeffries-Johnson Match.

Rodney City, Cal., Dec. 6.—A petition to revoke the fight permit of James W. Coffroth, who conducts an arena just over the line from San Francisco, came up today before the board of supervisors of San Mateo county. As Mr. Coffroth is in New York, the hearing went over until the 20th. The arena in question probably will be the scene of the Jeffries-Johnson battle, unless Coffroth's permit is revoked.

SHIRLEY FALLS BEHIND.

Indication in Diet Costs Six-Day Bicyclist Seven More Laps.

New York, Dec. 6.—Indication in diet cost Shirley, of the British-French team, seven more laps tonight in the six-day bicycle race. He came on heavy from a hearty meal at the same time as Vanoni, who led the pace so rapidly, the other riders following him, that he lapped Shirley repeatedly. Root and Folger were given oxygen by their trainers at each interval of relief, both stimulating and agreeing with both. At 11 o'clock the score was a tie, at 491-5, miles, between fourteen teams, with Shirley and the German sixteen laps ahead of the old record, of 492-5.

TRAINMEN DENY THEY MEAN TO QUIT

Brotherhood President Lee Wires to Mr. Taft, Asserting That a Strike East of Chicago Is Not Contemplated Just Now.

Such Reports Are Absurd and Without Foundation, He Says, and He Adds That the Demands for Increased Pay Cannot Take Proper Form Before the Early Part of 1910—General Managers Declare Switchmen Are Losing Ground Steadily

Chicago, Dec. 6.—President Lee, of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, tonight sent the following telegram to President Taft: "In order that you and the public may know the truth, I deem it necessary to state that the press reports indicating that a strike of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and other affiliated organizations is threatened at this time as a result of demands for increased pay in the territory east of Chicago are absolutely without foundation.

"Whatever action is taken by the organization I represent will depend entirely upon the individual expression of the members through the general committee for the railways in the territory, and will be handled in the usual manner. The demands of the train employees in the train and service east of Chicago cannot take proper form, even for deliberate consideration between the railway officials and the employees, before the early part of 1910. All this talk about a strike of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and affiliated organizations is absolutely without foundation. The membership of the organization fully realize it."

New York, Dec. 6.—"The rumors of an impending strike," said Vice President Murdoch, of the Brotherhood of Trainmen, here tonight, "are premature. We believe they have been put out to influence the roads of the Northwest in granting the demands of the switchmen's union. We have nothing to do with that, and have troubles enough of our own. Our proposals have not yet been submitted to the Eastern railroads, and we have no reason to suppose that they will be refused."

In well-informed quarters it was said tonight that as the railroads had said they contemplated an increase of their own rates, they are not in a position to treat too brusquely a request for an increase of wages.

Switchmen Losing Ground.

Chicago, Dec. 6.—The General Managers' association issued the following tonight: "At the close of the sixth day of the switchmen's strike, we have shown greater progress than any day since the strike was called. That we feel little concern about our ability to move Christmas merchandise and livestock and perishable freight is evidenced by the fact that all lines continue to accept all traffic to and from all points without restriction.

"The railroads at no time have been apprehensive of any controversy in dealing with the other organizations, and the labor leaders, themselves, to be met in the future, undoubtedly have the same attitude toward the railroads. The time is at an end when labor organizations pursuing fair and business-like methods cannot sit with the higher officers of the railroads and discuss in common their differences." The railroad conference commission is now obtaining authority from the various lines involved to meet a committee from the switchmen's union.

St. Paul, Dec. 6.—President Shepherd, of the order of Railway Conductors, after a conference with the other national officers here, has ordered out the members of the conductors' organization who, though recent promotions by the Northern Pacific and Great Northern, have been acting as train masters in charge of the non-union switchmen.

ALL QUIET AT BRIDGEPORT.

Six Hundred Soldiers Go Home, Leaving a Like Number on Duty.

Bridgeport, O., Dec. 6.—Orders came tonight for the removal of half of the militia from the strike zone. Six hundred soldiers are starting homeward, leaving a similar number to guard the property of the American Sheet & Tinplate company. Today passed without a sign of disorder. It is believed that further rioting will not occur.

West Virginia Authorities Co-Operate.

Charleston, W. Va., Dec. 6.—Governor Harmon, of Ohio, telegraphed Governor Glasscock this evening, stating that he has been informed that some of the strikers and sympathizers at Bridgeport had planned to congregate on Upper Wheeling island, on the West Virginia side of the Ohio river from there, and open fire on the Ohio militia stationed at Bridgeport. Governor Glasscock directed Sheriff Clemens, at Wheeling, to make an investigation. The commandant of the First and Second West Virginia infantry have been ordered to keep in touch with their companies and be ready to move. Permission has been granted the Ohio troops to travel on the West Virginia side when convenient.

Charleston, W. Va., Dec. 6.—Sheriff Clemens wired the governor late tonight that all was quiet and there was no danger of an outbreak.

WILL TRY COMMISSION PLAN.

Oklahoma City, Dec. 6.—Delegates were elected today to a city convention to draft a charter for a commission form of government.

USES COMMON TWINE TO REPAIR A BREAK.

Consequently Antonio Fernandez, an Amateur Aviator, Is Killed at Nice, France, When His Aeroplane Tips Over—Was a Fashionable Ladies' Tailor.

Nice, France, Dec. 6.—Antonio Fernandez, an aviator, was killed today while flying for the first time in an aeroplane of his own invention. The accident appeared due to inexperience and recklessness.

The aviator, unheeding the expostulations of his mechanic that the machine was defective, tried to remedy it by binding it with common twine. The aeroplane sailed off gracefully, but when Fernandez attempted to turn sharply the machine tipped over. Fernandez was hurled headlong, striking the ground with terrific force, the aeroplane landing on top of him. His head was driven into the soft earth. The victim was a fashionable ladies' tailor here.

Thomas, of Logansport, chief oculist of the Pennsylvania railroad, was driving a car which he proposed to buy on Michigan avenue this afternoon when the steering gear became unmanageable and the car struck the curb and overturned. Mrs. Doxey, the alleged wife of William Erder, to whom she is accused of giving arsenic, was reported by the jail physician tonight as so ill that her attorney was not permitted to see her. A formal statement by Dr. Doxey today denied that his wife had married Erder, but admitted that Mrs. Doxey was in St. Louis at that time.

JURY IS COMPLETED.

Night Riders on Trial for the Alleged Murder of Captain Rankin.

Union City, Tenn., Dec. 6.—The jury in the case of Garrett Johnson and Arthur Clear, the alleged leaders of the Redfoot Lake "night riders," charged with the murder of Captain Quentin Rankin, was completed late today. The defense challenged the entire jury, averring that the court had summoned veniremen from only certain districts in the county, in violation of the defendants' constitutional rights. The motion was overruled.

RESCUE WORK DELAYED.

Cherry Mine Officials Are Put in Very Bad Light.

Cherry, Ills., Dec. 6.—Today's testimony at the coroner's inquest was directed mainly to showing that the officers of the mine had not made early efforts to rescue the miners, and that the protection of the lives of the miners was not maintained by the company. Mrs. George Jones, the widow of one of the victims, testified that she saw coal hoisted out two hours after the fire was discovered.

George Jones, a carpenter, testified that the hoisting cage supposedly attached to the bottom of the main cage to ascend to the level of the mine in case of fire was not attached. The alleged failure to keep that cage in working order was said to have been responsible for the deaths of the miners employed in the lower vein.

Charles Connelly, cashier of the Cherry bank, testified that twice since the disappearance of Rowenjak, the missing witness, he had advanced money to him through Fred H. Buck, an employee of the coal company.

INJUNCTION IS ASKED.

Telegraph Companies Want Broker Forbidden to Use Grain Quotations.

Chicago, Dec. 6.—The telegraph companies today petitioned the federal court to enjoin the Capital Investment company, organized by Sidmon, McElfie, from acquiring or using the quotations of the Chicago Board of Trade. Judge Kolbann ordered McElfie and fourteen officers of his company to appear Friday and show cause why the injunction should not be issued. Branch offices of the Capital company are scattered over the Middle West. The company has no contract with the telegraph companies whereby they are to furnish it with the Board of Trade quotations. McElfie, who is not a member of the board, has operated extensively as a broker for ten years.

BURSTING BOILER WRECKS BUILDING

Explosion in the Basement of a Six-Story Block in the Business District of Kansas City Has Disastrous Results.

Working Within the Structure, the Two Lower Floors of Which Collapse, Two Men Meet Death and Three Others Are Seriously Injured, While in the Street a Driver Is Instantly Killed While Passing the Place on His Express Wagon.

Kansas City, Dec. 6.—James Foley, a steam fitter; James Cox, a driver, and Essie Williams, a negro janitor, were instantly killed and Andrew Meyers, a plumber, was fatally and two other workmen were seriously injured as the result of the explosion of a boiler in the basement of the six-story building at 910 Broadway here today. A MORNING PAPER PUBLISHED BY THE MINING JOURNAL CO. (LIMITED).

Entered as mail matter of the second class
in the postoffice at Marquette, Mich.

All Washington is waiting on Mr.
Tatt.

When the board of supervisors holds its adjourned session our Marquette county people will forget that congress is in session.

The question that is bothering Tammany just now is, "if Murphy won't see Mayor-elect Gaynor, who will see him?"
He must be seen.

It is a matter of indifference to the public whether Johnson and Jeffries split their pot 75-25 or 50-50, so long as they fight hard and fight honest.

And we had been congratulating ourselves that we were not going to be worried next spring by any election that amounted to anything. Hard luck, Marquette.

Senator Smith's latest news about the Marquette collectorship is that there is no news; that everyone and everything stands just as they have for some weeks past.

The Pullman company is perfecting
plans for the erection of a $500,000 car plant at Detroit. Despite the expansion of its automobile industry Detroit still has many choice sites for other enterprises.

Collier's takes a fall out of Senator
Burrows in its current issue. However,
Collier's has been so prodigal in visiting its displeasure of late months that its influence is not as potent as it would be if it was more sparing in its resort to the big stick.

Walt Wellman has gone back on his old job of Washington correspondent for the Chicago Record-Herald. He cuts a much better figure at it than he does at polar exploration, even though his political prognostications do frequently go wide of the mark.

The chief advantage of the "pay as you enter" street cars from the companies' standpoint is that they save 16 per cent in fares that were formerly either uncollected or went to the conductors.
As for the public it likes 'em, too, when it learns to use 'em.

"We are living under a system of false
balances and loaded dice," said Premier Asquith in the British house of commons
the other day, in the course of his arraignment of the house of lords for refusal to approve the budget. The senatorial insurgents in this country say about the same thing of the system that has hitherto prevailed in the congress of the United States through the hampering effect of the house rules as applied by Speaker Cannon. Nevertheless, both Great Britain and our own country
seem to be getting along quite comfortably, notwithstanding the intolerable conditions alleged to exist in their systems of government. Those oratorical chaps have a too fervid way of stating things when their feelings are over-wrought.

The fact that Iron Mountain has been dangling attractive baseball bait before the eyes of Hap Scholts, the mainstay of the Marquette baseball team last season, should impress the Marquette fans that the present is none too soon to perfect an organization for next season.
There is some sentiment here for a board of managers in which the patrons of the game will be more largely represented than they have been in the management of the past two seasons.
If that plan is going to be carried out it should be gotten under way immediately.
Whoever is going to look after the destinies
of the team ought to get on the job.
Scholts ought to be as valuable a man
for Marquette as for Iron Mountain.
The team, if it is going to hold its end up, will have to have two good pitchers from somewhere, and Scholts might as well be one of them. The activity of our Iron Mountain friends carries plain warning to the followers of the sport in this city that it is high time for them to be up and doing.

It took a jury in the federal court in Chicago but thirty minutes, and one ballot, to find Wallace H. Hopkins, who got his start in the brokerage business at Ishpeming, guilty of using the United States mails to defraud. His conviction makes him liable to a prison sentence of several years, and a heavy fine in addition. Hopkins is not without friends and funds, as his retention of former U. S. Senator Mason and other distinguished counsel shows, and a determined effort will be made to secure a new trial for him. The case was tried before Judge Landis and there is no doubt that all precautions were taken to keep it free of error. The probabilities are against the granting of a new trial.

If one is refused, however, there will doubtless be further legal sparring, in an effort to avoid the final reckoning. But the tide has turned against Hopkins, and there is, in fact, little possibility that he will avoid paying the penalty fixed in Judge Landis' court. His is but one of dozens of similar cases that have developed in the past few years. His original start in the brokerage business was humble enough, but he made money rapidly.
His capacity for spending it increased at even a greater rate, however, and the ease with which he acquired distroyed any small store of conservatism
that he may have had at the start.
There was a period of crazy expansion in which his office opened branches in several cities, and finally the development of his plan for syndicating the lead and zinc companies. This ambitious project was the beginning of the end and the immediate cause of the final crash. The underlying cause was the intoxication caused in poorly balanced men like Hopkins by easy money in undigestible quantities. It weakened his mental and moral fibre, and wrought
his speedy demoralization. Hopkins' career would not have been as spectacular
if he had stuck to the telegraph key,
but if he had done that he would today
be an infinitely better and happier man than he is. Many men working humbly at the key don't by any means realize how very well off they are.

NOT THE THING NEEDED.
Judge Peter S. Grossep of Chicago has an article in the current number of the North American Review advocating the creation of a new political party in this country based on the principle that the fruits of the labor of all toilers should be equitably divided between them.

The proposition has a taking sound,
but it is imaginable that there would be some difficulty about formulating a scheme to apply it in practice. Brains and brawn work in unison to produce wealth, and there are infinite gradations
in the methods of their co-operation. It would be a task beyond the power of man to establish a system of distribution of the product of their combined effort that would give an equitable division of that product.

Just at present it is indisputable that labor is not getting a fair share of what it helps produce, but conditions in that respect are growing better, and will continue to be better as labor becomes more accurately informed as to its rights and its duties. The man of brains and the man of brawn both need something they are now lacking, the one a truer conscience and the other a more highly trained intelligence. To give them these attributes they will deal justly by each other, and the result that Judge Grossep would vainly seek to have us reach through the agency of a political party will come easily as the fruit of a higher civilization, having for its groundwork the fundamental principles of Christianity.

Meanwhile crude thinkers will keep on proposing schemes to improve the condition of the man of brawn, but they will fall of the desired result while greed actuates the employer and the efforts of the employed are hampered by misconception of his rightful place and function in the social system of which he forms a part, and an important one.
There should be no antagonism between the man who thinks out the problems of life and he who does the manual labor in achieving their solution. There would be none if each were taught the necessity of giving the other his just share of the product of their common effort.
We may never reach the perfect consummation of such a scheme of co-operation between them, but we can approximate
it. But that will not come through the agency of a political party. We have quite too many of these now.

AN ILLADVISED STEP.
The pending prosecution of Austin Yar-rell, superintendent of the Pioneer furnace in North Marquette, under the terms
of an ordinance prohibiting the discharge, between the breakwater in the lower harbor and the breakwater at Presque Isle, of matter polluting the lake, passed in 1905, when the council was considerably heated up over the water question, is, under the existing circumstances, an illadvised procedure, and The Mining Journal believes that the course being pursued by Mr. Pendill does not meet with the approval of any considerable part of the people of the city.

At no time in the past half dozen years could the prosecution have been more unfeeling. During the period of service of the "do nothing" water board
there might have been some sympathy with the course of any private citizen who sought to hasten developments by resort to the drastic ordinance of 1905,
but it is difficult to understand why this step has been taken when a systematic and energetic effort is being made to once and for all solve the city's water problem.

The Mining Journal has, of late

weeks, reported from time to time steps taken by the board to give the city satisfactory water. The board has had the advice of experts and has lately ordered estimates on alternative plans for getting better water. It has also taken steps to have the limit for which the city may be bonded for improving the water system raised. Every sign indicates that the board has a firm purpose to move rapidly and effectively along the lines that inquiry shows may best be followed. Why then this prosecution, which if successful would result in seriously harassing one of the city's leading industries?

The present is not the time for individual citizens to butt into the plans being matured for dealing with the present unsatisfactory water supply. That time, if the step was ever advisable, was three or four years ago, when the water board as it was then constituted was apparently wholly unresponsive to the general demand that it do some constructive work in the matter, or was unable to see what steps should be taking. Now, when everything is moving along satisfactorily to a solution of the vexing problem, nothing but mischief
can result from such a poorly advised step as the one taken by Mr. Pendill.
What shall be done is a matter that should be left to the bodies that are representative of the organized wisdom of the city, the council, the water board
and the Commercial club.

The people of the city, particularly the business men, are not unappreciative of the advantage that has been reaped
through the location of the Pioneer furnace here. They are not in sympathy with any plan that proposes to needlessly interfere with it, or hamper its successful operation. They know that what Marquette needs today is more pollution of the lake water by employing industries and more smoke to overhang
the town.

The prosecution undertaken by Mr.
Pendill, without the endorsement of any considerable body of citizens and without the approval of any of the city officials, or of the council or Commercial club, should be nipped in the bud. If he cannot be prevailed on to drop it, the council should take the ground from under his feet by repealing the ordinance
under which it is based, pending a definite decision in regard to the plans that the water board now has in hand. If the necessity ever arises, there need be no great difficulty about re-enacting it. At present it is a dangerous ploying for irresponsible folk and might easily become the means of greatly embarrassing
the water board in carrying out its purpose of giving the city safe and palatable water.

Jaacoh Schroll, 432 South St., Danville, der trouble. During the whole time was eral different kidney pills. Seven weeks

JAILS ARE WRETCHED.

Marl T. Murray, the recently appointed secretary of the board of corrections and charities, will present at a meeting of the board, to be held at Saginaw this week, a report setting forth the result of his investigation into jail and almshouse
conditions in thirty-five counties,
mostly in the northern part of the state.
Judging from advance comment on its contents, it will not make pleasant reading either for the board of corrections and charities or for the people of the state. It shows that many counties have unsanitary jails that are administered with little care to prevent them from becoming schools for crime, that in many counties youthful offenders are permitted to herd with hardened criminals awaiting trial, that in some cases there is not proper segregation of the sexes and that the abuse of allowing whiskey to be furnished prisoners is found in some of the jails. Violations of the law by county officials sworn to uphold it have been numerous, and some boards of supervisors have woefully failed to adequately discharge their responsibilities.

A few references will indicate in a general way what Secretary Murray found in the jails that he criticises. In Roscommon county six empty whiskey bottles were found, one in each cell, and in one room there are four openings through which more whiskey, or any other package, can be handed through to prisoners. The sheriff, however, put a little better light on things by explaining that he never knew of more than two quarts of whiskey being furnished the prisoners in one night. In this jail the fare was unsanitary and there was no separate place for the detention of juvenile prisoners. The condition of county buildings in other counties is so bad that it will be called to the attention of the local boards of health. In one county the juvenile prison law has been absolutely ignored. Some of the things Mr.
Murray saw at the county houses will not bear repeating, it is said, and he is quoted thus: "The manner in which children of a delicate age are handled in some counties is an outrage and little short of a disgrace to the county and the state."

Mr. Murray's wellknown conservatism and care in statement carry a guarantee that he has not overcolored anything and that he is to make as drastic a report as is indicated it is because he has encountered drastically bad conditions that have caused his gorge to rise.
That he speaks out so vigorously and plainly will confirm the impression that was general among his friends when his appointment was announced that he is admirably equipped for the important position he was chosen to fill. In this county, which has a model almshouse and where the supervisors have been careful to see that the jail conditions are what they ought to be, there is little conception of how bad these places are in some of the counties that Mr.

Murray is holding up to the public's eye.
There is a sufficiently large expenditure of money, no doubt. If part of the excessive compensation the sheriffs receive through the operation of the fee
system was applied where it was needed to put the jails in good order, they could all be made models within a year or two.
Aside from this, the people never stint
money when it is necessary to secure proper conditions in places of detention or in poorhouses. The responsibility for the conditions that Mr. Murray complains of lies with the boards of supervisors and the sheriffs. It will be a cause for general pleasure that Mr. Murray gives evidence of so definite a purpose to call them to an accounting wherever they have been delinquent.

A LAUGH OR TWO

Grave Mistake.
J. W. Holman, the government's official poisoner, has destroyed 750,000
prairie dogs in the last eight months.
Mr. Holman, generally discussing that lootcase in Washington, said:
"Work like mine is best done by an expert. The farmer who poisons his own prairie dogs may get into trouble.
Chemicals are serious things for the average man to fool with.
"Would I think of my fooling with chemicals," he said, "I think involuntarily of Hiram Holzman of Grandy. It was a wet, cold, misty December day like this one, and Hiram, coughing and chivering, stood before a druggist's window. In this window, between two enormous jars, one filled with beautiful clear blue liquid, the other with a beautiful clear red one, Hiram's eye
rested on a sign that said:
"Two More Colds.
"No more Colds.
"25c a Bottle."
"Hiram entered the shop, the druggist
said he could guarantee the anti-cold remedy, and the young man bought a bottle.
"Two days later he returned again
through mire and sleet.
" 'I've drunk that mixture,' he gasp'd, and it seems to have plugged up my throat. I can hardly breathe.'
"The druggist started.
" 'You drank it?' he cried. 'Why,
man, it's an India rubber solution to put on the soles of your shoes!'"

A Mild Densure.

The late Joseph Dorcey of San Jose, the famous detective whose best feat was the capture of Canon Beaudry
after a chase from Alaska to Cape Horn, used to impute his success to his knowledge of men.
" 'A detective,' he would say, 'should know the habits of every class. Then no disguise can deceive him.
" 'All men, even the most methodical, have their habits. Even the tramp has his.
" 'You great big lazy leafer,' I said to a tramp one December day, 'you ought to be in jail!'
" 'Yes, Algie,' the tramp replied, 'as he pretended to fix a monocle in his eye. 'Yes, I know it's the correct thing for our set at this season. Algie; but denuce take it, it's such a mild winter,
don't you know?'"

The Hopping Prince.

Senator Tillman, at a Washington dinner party, was talking about the duties of an ambassador.
" 'They are important duties,' said he,
'really good ambassadors should know
all about the country he is sent to.
Then he wouldn't make the mistake

committed by an American in Afghanistan.
" 'This American entertained the Shah-zada for three days, giving him a very handsome suite of rooms in his house.
" 'The morning of the Shahzada's arrival, the American host invited him in his apartment, and was amazed to see the royal guest and his entire staff hopping about the floor in the oddest way.
They conversed politely and gravely,
but, instead of walking, they hopped,
taking great leaps of eight or nine feet.
" 'The host ventured to ask the reason of this hopping. The Shahzada politely replied:
" 'You see, this carpet is green, with pink roses here and there. Green is a sacred color with us, so we are obliged to hop from rose to rose. It is a great exercise, but rather fatiguing. I confess.'"

Mrs. Appleton's New Machine.
" 'I have a new machine,' said Mrs.
Lysander John Appleton recently, while sitting at a table of swell elegants whom she had never met before. "How nice they exclaimed, 'can you run it yourself?'" Mrs. Lysander John smiled with pride and said that she could,
that she ran it every Monday morning
without assistance. "Don't you run it other days?" said one of the S-E ladies.
"NO," said Mrs. Lysander John, reaching for the finger bowl and preparing to leave the table; "it is a washing machine and I wash only on Mondays."

Telling Him Politely.

It was at the Gilt Dwellers, Chicago's literary club, and one of the members had just made a terrible irremediable mistake about another-made it in his presence and that of several other members.
" 'What ought I to do now?' asked the breakmaker, much embarrassed.
" 'If I were you,' suggested Fred Richardson, the artist, who had heard the whole proceeding, 'I should go out and wriggle my ears and cut another tangle.'"

Copper Country

BODY IS BROUGHT TO HOUGHTON.

Remains of Joseph N. Brady, Victim of Street Railway Accident.

The remains of Joseph N. Brady, victim of the street railway accident at Osceola Sunday afternoon, were conveyed to Portage Lake yesterday morning and taken to his home in West Houghton. The body was brought by a delegation of Calumet Elks and the casket was adorned with a wreath of flowers presented by the Calumet lodge.

Mr. Brady was born in Syria, thirty-three years ago and had been in the United States some sixteen years. He lived in Iron Mountain previously to coming to the copper country six years ago. He came as a peddler, an occupation in which many of his countrymen are engaged. He was successful, and he established a wholesale business for the accommodation of peddlers. For the last three years or more he had devoted most of his time to trading in the stock market and was a familiar figure in the Houghton office.

Rev. J. E. Curzon and Walter Bloomfield, the Houghton men injured in the wreck of the Elks' special street car, are not seriously hurt. Mr. Bloomfield's injuries being very slight. Mr. Curzon's back and hip are badly bruised and one of his ribs was displaced, but it is believed that he will be able to be around in a few days. He is now confined to his bed. Reports from John Harris and Alex Stevenson of Hancock are favorable.

LOGGING ON THE PILGRIM.

Pine Near Mouth of the River to Be Cut Over During Winter.

For probably the last time in its history the Pilgrim river is a factor in logging operations. When this winter ends the last of its pine will have fallen under the woodman's axe. Within two miles of Houghton a logging camp is in full blast and operations are being carried on in the picturesque manner of the "Blazed Trail." The land being cut over is the property of C. C. Douglas and the work is being done under the direction of Angus Campbell. The district marked for cutting consists of three or four tracts on the lower part of the river and is for the most part heavily wooded with pine running into hardwood further up stream. Three skidways have been erected below what is known as the big dam. A force of sixteen men is at work and this will probably be increased as soon as things are well under way. At present only the pine is being taken out, but later everything will be cut as Mr. Douglas expects to turn the district into a big farm next year.

The logs are cut, hauled to the river by team, placed on skids, maneuvered by the scaler and then floated down the river to the boom. A visit to the camp is well worth while, for it has all the freshness of the pines, and to hear the warning shout of the lumberjack and see the crashing fall of these giants of the forest take one back to the early days of Michigan lumbering. With the cutting of this tract the last of the forest primeval close to Houghton will have vanished. For the last few years this district has been a good hunting ground and this year a number of deer have been shot close to the camp. A strip of land parallel to the Pilgrim road and overlooking the river has been reserved from cutting and Mr. Douglas intends to erect a beautiful residence there next summer.

NOT IN THE BANANA BELT.

The summer weather which has prevailed in the copper country for the past three weeks has gone. It was forced out by a rain storm Sunday night and now winter is here. The big ice rinks are being flooded and it is believed there will be ice skating tomorrow night.

The installation of Zorayb temple, Dramatic Order Knights of Khorassan, the first lodge of the Knights of Pythians, took place last night under the auspices of the Duluth temple of the order. A large number of Pythians from every part of the copper country took the ride over the "oriental wastes" and all report a real warm time. In spite of wintry weather conditions. This is the first temple of the "Dokays" to be organized in the upper peninsula.

Copper Country Members of Ahmed Temple Going to Marquette.

The midwinter meeting of Ahmed temple, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, will be held at Marquette tomorrow and a large number of copper country members, including Charles D. Hancock, potentate of Ahmed, are going to attend. There will be about fifty in the party.

This meeting is the annual meeting for the election of officers, and while there is nothing being said regarding the politics of the temple it is believed that Mr. Hanchette will be retained as potentate for another year, if that is his desire.

CHIEF HARRINGTON'S FUNERAL.

Remains of Hubbell Fireman Interred at Forest Hill Sunday.

The remains of the late Michael Harrington, chief of the Hubbell fire department, who died last week, were interred at Forest Hill cemetery, Houghton, Sunday afternoon, after services at Hubbell. The pall bearers were six chiefs of fire departments—John N. Mitchell of Hancock, Charles Cosky of Houghton, Jacob Stiles of Lake Linden, Gus Press of Laurium and Joseph Trudell of Red Jacket. The chiefs sent a magnificent floral arrangement as a mark of their esteem for Chief Harrington and sorrow for his death. The dead chief was a native of Houghton, but had lived at Hubbell for many years.

PORTAGE LAKE COMMERCE.

Superintendent Banks Issues His Report of Traffic for November.

George H. Banks, superintendent of the Portage Lake waterway and canals, yesterday gave out his statistical report of the month of November. The principal tables follow:

Tonnage and class of vessels passing through the canals—

Table with columns: Bound Down, Steam, Tow barges, Totals, Bound Up, Steam, Tow barges, Totals. Includes data for November.

Freight and passengers carried—

Table with columns: Bound Down, Coal, soft, tons; Copper, tons; Iron ore, tons; Pig iron, tons; Stamp sand, tons; Wheat, bushels; Flax, bushels; Lumber, M.; Shingles, M.; Pulp wood, cords; Railroad ties, number; Miscellaneous merchandise, tons; Total cargo, tons; Passengers, number. Includes data for November.

Chief Engineer's Report.

Superintendent Banks yesterday received a copy of the report of Major Graham D. Fitch of Duluth, chief engineer of the district, for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1909. This shows that through commerce on Portage Lake for the year had a total value of $45,972,212 and the local commerce, goods and commodities received and shipped at Portage lake ports totalled $32,251,686. Major Fitch computes a saving of $1.94 per ton, as compared with railroad charges, on the freight passing through Portage lake or received or delivered at Portage lake ports. He commends Lily pond as a harbor of refuge and reports that as many as forty-six vessels at one time have been accommodated in that harbor.

From the report the following figures showing the cost to the government in Portage lake and the canals since the purchase in 1890, are taken: Purchase and improvements, 1890-92, $365,128.70; Improvements since purchase, 1,340,237.68; Operating and care, 210,207.64.

The report shows that there were 36 expenditures for improvements on Portage lake during the year covered by the report. Such repairs as were made were done under operating and care expense.

Major Fitch recommends the construction of the harbor of refuge in Portage lake. He again recommends the straightening of the channel of Portage river by cutting through Princess point.

He recommends the deepening of the stilling basin, within the breakwater piers, at the upper canal, which improvement would be a measure of safety for vessels entering the breakwater during a storm.

BRIDGE IS FROZEN STIFF.

Portage Lake Draw Would Not Work—Accident Is Averted.

An accident to the Portage lake draw-bridge was narrowly averted yesterday morning, the draw being frozen stiff. The captain of the tugboat Niagara, the steamer came down the lake about 8:30 o'clock and blew for the draw. As she approached the bridge the captain noticed that there was no movement of the structure, and he reversed his engines. Even then he saw that he could not reduce his headway before the draw was reached, and he immediately ordered a small boat lowered. The boat's crew took a line from the steamer to the Ross and Leiden dock, and with this the steamer was held. She was compelled to tie up at the dock pending the opening of the draw.

It was found that the working gear of the bridge, the cog which cause it to revolve on the turntable, were coated heavily with ice and the engines could not get the bridge in motion. It required several hours of treatment with steam and salt to get the bridge into turning order again.

FIREMEN ELECT OFFICERS.

At the annual meeting of the Red Jacket fire department, Chief Joseph Trudell was re-elected to serve his eighth successive year as chief. Angelo Curto, secretary of the department, tendered his resignation because of the press of his other business, and it was accepted, although not willingly. Other officers elected are as follows: First assistant chief, Lefore Demarais; second assistant, John J. Ellis, Jr.; secretary, Patrick Ryan; treasurer, Frank Kinnaman.

Mining News

KEWEENAW COPPER.

Keeweenaw has funds sufficient to continue the present campaign and exploratory work for another year, without the necessity of asking shareholders for any more money, says J. A. Minnear & Co. of Laurium. The company is working a force of about twenty men regularly and will increase this as developments progress. A diamond drilling outfit has been rigged up at the bottom of the Melora shaft. The management proposes to run the drill horizontally north until the greenstone is reached, which is estimated to be within 300 feet. This will take but ten days or two weeks at the most, to get the desired data. The drill will then be turned to the south of the shaft to explore the Calumet conglomerate, Osceola amygdaloid and such other veins as are found between the shaft and the vein of the Calumet conglomerate at a depth of approximately 3,200 feet on the strike of the vein and about 4,000 feet on the Osceola lode.

When these holes were cut in drilling from surface it was found that they both were badly shattered so that no conclusive results could be obtained. At the depths above indicated the veins should be found more regular, and will determine positively whether or not the Keeweenaw can expect to operate on them profitably. Much interest is attached to this present campaign of diamond drilling. It will explore veins as a rule.

Silence!

The instinct of modesty natural to every woman is often a great hindrance to the cure of womanly diseases. Women shrink from the personal questions of the local physician which seem indelicate. The thought of examination is abhorrent to them, and so they endure in silence a condition of disease which surely progresses from bad to worse.

It has been Dr. Pierce's privilege to cure a great many women who have refused to see a doctor until they offer of FREE consultation by letter. All correspondence is held as sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

OHIO COPPER.

The Ohio Copper company has at last entered the copper-producing ranks, and before the year 1910 has advanced very far it is expected that the entire first half of the mill—four units each having 750 tons daily capacity—will be in operation and treating 3,000 tons of ore a day. One unit was started last week, and the second should commence in a few days, giving a daily treatment of 1,500 tons of ore. The company has not tied itself up with a selling contract, and for the present will not do so. The careful smelter will care for the output of the Ohio company's mill, and the company may then use its option of selling its own copper or allowing the Guggenheims to do it. It is likely that until a definite selling contract has been signed the latter way will be adopted. The $1,000,000 bonds in the Ohio treasury will be issued just as soon as work actually starts on the second half of the mill, which will double the capacity from 3,000 to 6,000 tons a day when completed. This work will be started immediately upon the finishing of the first four units and placing them in commission.

NOTES OF COPPER NEWS.

There has been little of importance developed at the Superior & Gleds during the past few weeks. This shaft is being sunk as rapidly as possible to reach the water level, when lateral work will be undertaken. It is hoped that this will be before the first of the coming year. The company has funds sufficient to carry on its work for at least another year.

The following telegram has been received at Houghton from the president of the Yuma company, who is now on the ground in Arizona: "Vicksburg, Ariz.—Arrived last evening. Visited mine this morning. Much pleased with what I have seen. Mine will show steady and remarkable improvement as depth is attained. All indications confirm Maggett's message of Nov. 30th (Signed) Samuel Brady."

There is no mystery in the fact that the Lake Copper company directors have recently sold some treasury stock. Months ago when the stock was selling around 20, the stockholders authorized the directors to sell such amounts of treasury stock at not less than $25 per share as was in their judgment necessary to meet the company's financial requirements. Within the past two or three weeks, therefore, the directors have taken advantage of stock market conditions and have sold 3,000 shares—2,000 at 41 and 1,000 at around 55. No deliveries of stock have been made on these contracts, but when the 3,000 additional shares have been listed, the outstanding capital will be brought up to $2,500,000.

Negotiations are progressing favorably for an extension of the option on the Arizona & Michigan property. If successfully consummated it will make it possible for the company to continue work for some months longer without the necessity of making the payment due Feb. 1. In this event it will not be necessary to ask shareholders for any more money for the present. It is hoped in the event of the negotiations being brought to a head successfully, that more money will not be required until the company demonstrates conclusively that it has a property worth the further development. As yet the Tetrahedron shaft has not broken into ore, but the management is quite confident of results in due time at this point.

Miner's Tragic Death.

Napale Ragini, employed at the Tradlers mine, is dead at Iron Mountain as the result of an accident. Ragini and two other miners were riding on the skip and when they reached the surface his companions jumped, but Ragini remained on the cage until it reached the top of the skip-way, thirty feet from the ground, and then fell back down the shaft, a distance of 100 feet. He crushed his skull and broke his right leg and died in a few minutes. Ragini was a single man, thirty-nine years of age and a native of Italy.

Concrete Walk Becoming Popular.

During the past season nearly one and one-half miles of concrete walk was laid in Escanaba, according to records kept by City Engineer D. A. Brotherton. The total number of lineal feet was 6,959, or 1.32 miles. With the coming years the amount of concrete walk laid will be increased as a majority of all the walks in the city are now of the modern type and the city's sidewalk ordinance prohibits the repair or rebuilding of plank walks. The disappearance of the old board walks on Ludington street, the most thoroughfare, is most noticeable, a heavy cut being made into them this season, and within another year nearly all will be replaced by cement.

School Affairs Tangled.

Two school franchises have been brought to the attention of the Chippewa county school commissioner, who will be obliged to take legal action to straighten out the tangles, if not soon otherwise adjusted. At Trout Lake, it is alleged, the president of the school board refuses to sign the orders in opposition to the other members and the teachers' salaries are being held up in consequence. In the Van Luyck settlement, east of Rosedale, trouble has arisen over the alleged fact that the teacher, Miss Savoy, has refused to give instruction to a pupil from an adjoining district, and that some members of the board refuse to accept the authority of others in the matter.

Thinks City Needs to Clean House.

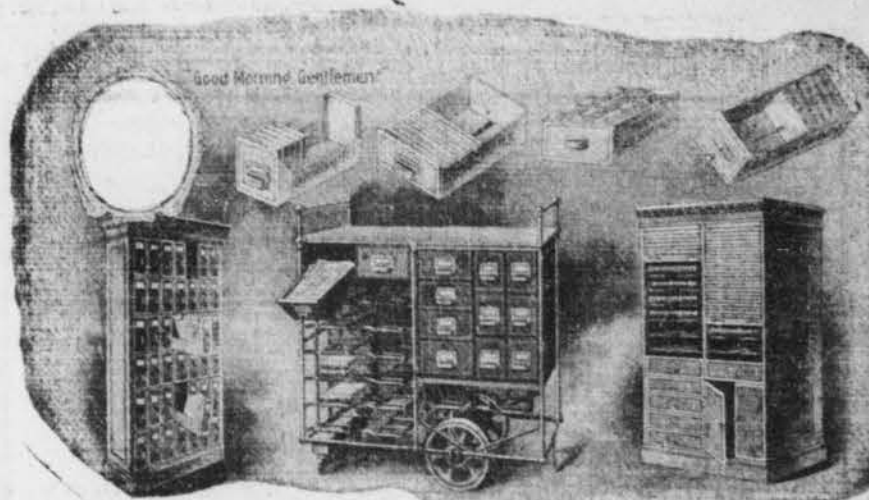

L. P. Peterson, overseer of the Grange at Fayette, Delta county, writes the Escanaba Journal as follows: "You advise sending some good wire pullers to Traverse City to secure the 1910 meeting of the State Grange. I, as a Granger, will ask what Escanaba has to offer that we farmers should go or send our sons and daughters to a city of 13,000 population and ninety saloons flourishing? And in the same issue of your paper you say there are eleven houses of ill fame. I believe the people and the Business Men's association, knowing the existence of these houses, should do a little housecleaning before they ask farmers to send their families to Escanaba."

Many theaters are operated under old leases made when the theater itself was the factor, and the rentals of these are usually very low. The renewals always see a big advance. For instance, the Broadway theater, which is at Forty-first street, in New York, was leased for ten years at a rental of $40,000. This year the new lessees are paying $70,000 a year. The Empire theater, which is almost across the street, was leased for $35,000 until recently, when the rental was bumped to $50,000 a year. The New York theater rents for $60,000 and the Criterion for $35,000 a year, both being under one roof but under different management. Recently $7,000,000 was refused for the site, which cost considerably more than a million dollars. There are hundreds of theaters in New York which still rent for as little as $30,000 but under old leases. In Chicago, the Colonial theater rents for $35,000, and the Forrest theater in Philadelphia commands the same amount. In Boston the range is from $30,000 to $45,000. In Cincinnati, Detroit and St. Louis from $20,000 to $40,000 a year—and so it goes. Everybody's Magazine. Foley's Honey and Tar is the best and safest cough remedy for children. The choir of the M. E. church will meet tonight for their first rehearsal with vestments. Miss Oltman will be in charge.

Mrs. James F. Bennett, a relative of the New York Herald, is visiting at A. O. Jopling's home.

At 7 o'clock last night the official weather bureau thermometer registered 18 degrees above zero which is the lowest temperature recorded this winter.

Charles Lawrence reports having picked a spiny arctidus Sunday. After yesterday, however, there was not likely to be any more to be found.

Train No. 1, due in Marquette from St. Ignace at 3:20 p. m., was six hours late last night, on account of the Mackinac City-St. Ignace ferry going on the beach in the fog and rough weather.

At 8 o'clock tonight Dr. Kerr Boyce Tupper delivers at the Presbyterian church his lecture on "How the World Grows Better." No admission fee will be charged but a silver amount will be made by the audience in the interest of the Visiting Nurse association. This will be Dr. Tupper's last address in Marquette, as he leaves tomorrow for Philadelphia.

Christian Science Lecture—Announcement has been made by the First Church of Christ, Scientist, of this city, of a lecture to be given on Christian Science by Frank H. Leonard, C. S. D., at the opera house Saturday evening, Dec. 11. Mr. Leonard is a member of the Christian Science board of lecturership of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Boston, Mass.

Fraternity Party—Invitations are out for the first of a series of dancing parties to be given by the members of the Kappa Alpha Pi fraternity, which will be held in Fraternity Hall, this week Friday night. Last year's parties given by the members of this fraternity were among the most enjoyable of the functions in which the young people participated and there is no doubt that this year's parties will be equally popular.

Continued Until Jan. 3—Jan. 3 has been set as the date for the hearing of the case of James Pundill against Austin Farrell, Pundill charging the defendant with having dumped cressets from the furnace into the lake in violation of a city ordinance. At the preliminary hearing before Justice Cray yesterday afternoon, the defendant's attorney, W. P. Belden, asked for a jury trial and further action was put off until next month.

Shriners' Committee Meeting—The Shriners' reception and entertainment committee will hold a meeting today at 10 o'clock at the Marquette club rooms to devise ways and means for the entertainment of visiting Shriners tomorrow. This meeting was to have been held in the evening at Masonic Hall, but it being inconvenient for some of the committee, it was decided to change the time and place as above announced.

Adrift in Lake—Attention of the life-saving crew was called late yesterday afternoon to some vessel, about six miles out in the lake, firing rockets which was recognized as a distress signal. Captain Cleary engaged the Anderson fishing Columbia to go to the boat's relief. It was found to be Ludwig Swanson's gasoline fishing boat, the engine in which had broken down and left him unable to get to shore. Swanson anchored his boat and patiently waited until the steam tug and Captain Cleary came to his rescue, all reaching shore about 10 o'clock last evening.

Star in Daytime—The absolutely clear sky yesterday afternoon gave Marquette an opportunity to see a star, at first due south and low in the heavens in broad daylight and sometime before the sun went down. The star is Venus which is very bright just now. The phenomenon is very unusual and attracted considerable attention. Professor Mills of the Normal reports having seen a few nights ago a peculiar light pass across the sky, which had the appearance of the path of a comet. Halley's comet is soon due to be visible to the naked eye, and if half we read proves to be true, we may expect all kinds of astronomical phenomena during the next few months.

Many Kids on Hand—The announcement that the J. H. Foster company would give away soap bubbles yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock brought many youngsters to the front of the store long before that hour and when the doors were opened there were several hundred boys and girls crowding and pushing each other to get their gift first. The store for a time looked as if a mob had taken possession of it and all the clerks and Officer Hogan were put to it to keep anything that resembled order among the youngsters.

As it was, a show case was broken and some of the smaller children came near being trampled on. In due time, however, each youngster received, not only a bubble but a tin horn as well, and from that time until dark the noise on the streets made one think it was election night and everybody was celebrating.

BIRD STORY A FAKE; PIERCE THE FAKER?

DEPUTY HARRINGTON AND HIS COFFIN FULL OF PARTRIDGES GET MUCH NEWS-PAPER SPACE.

For some days the yarn of how Deputy Game Warden Harrington's pointer "dawg" pointed 500 partridges stored in a casket for illegal shipment, with the result that the deputy seized the entire lot, has been going the rounds of the press. In the upper peninsula is has been hailed as a bald fake. To the initiated it read like an iridescent dream story, and as such it has been generally laughed at by the newspapers in this region. The identity of the fakir is naturally a matter of some interest.

Perhaps the following article from the Lansing Evening Journal, date Nov. 27, will throw some light on this interesting question:

PESKY HUNTERS TRY CLEVER SCHEME BUT DOG FOILED THE PLAN.

Attempt Made to Ship Out Birds in a Coffin.

THE ANIMAL DISCOVERED THEM.

Story from the Upper Peninsula Comes in an Official Report to Warden.

Almost every sort of a ruse has been attempted by market hunters to elude the vigilance of deputy game wardens and exceed the limit to the hunter as to the number of quail and partridge which may be killed in one day, but it remained for some Wisconsin aimless to turn a trick, which if it had succeeded would have been about the cleverest stunt which was ever pulled off within the boundaries of the great lakes.

In former years hunters who have made a business of killing birds for market have attempted to ship their game home secreted in the bottom of trunks, but until Thursday no one has ever tried to stuff a casket full of partridges and ship them out of the state.

This was tried at Floodwood, a little town in Dickinson county in the northern peninsula, located on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad, and had it not been for the keen scent of "Fluff," a valuable bird dog owned by Deputy Harrington the partridges would doubtless have crossed the border in safety.

This year Dickinson county has been a favorite place for hunters as quail and partridges have been found in abundance and the deer have been more plentiful than usual. Frequent violations have been reported and recently the deputies have kept an especial watch at all the railroad stations to see that more game was not being shipped out than the law allowed.

Man accidents have occurred in Dickinson county and a number of those who have met death while hunting have been returned to their homes in the crude caskets secured at Floodwood. This doubtless inspired the Wisconsin hunters with the idea that a casket in closed in a roughbox, and filled with birds could, by a little clever work, be sent out of the state without the game wardens being any the wiser.

According to a report received by State Game Warden Pierce, Deputy Harrington happened to be at the train last Thursday morning when a roughbox, supposed to contain a dead body was brought to the depot and placed on the platform. The man in charge of the "body" did not display the least sign of nervousness as he walked up to the baggage agent and displayed a certificate of death bearing the signature of a well-known physician.

He stated that he was unable to locate the county clerk to secure a permit to remove the body of his friend to his home in Milwaukee, and inquired whether upon payment of a double fee he would be allowed to take the remains on the train.

While he was conversing with the station agent the dog owned by the deputy was seen to come to a point and was focusing his gaze on the box supposed to contain the dead body of a hunter. Greeting impatient he ran up and began sniffing at the cover and then commenced to paw vigorously at the pine box. The deputy attempted to call the dog away, but he would not be quieted. He knew the scent of birds and was not willing to leave the spot.

At length the suspicions of the deputy became aroused and he looked for the individual who had brought the "body" to the station, but he had quietly disappeared. Deciding that immediate action was necessary the deputy loosened the cover and opened the casket, and instead of gazing on the face of a dead man he found the casket closely packed with partridges. The state law requires that a hunter shall not have more than fifty in his possession at one time, but there were at least 500 concealed in the coffin.

The birds were confiscated and sent to one of the northern institutions. No further trace of the man who attempted to ship them has been found. The dog will be commissioned as a regular deputy by Game Warden Pierce.

NO CRIMINAL TRIALS AT DECEMBER TERM

LARGE NUMBER OF CASES DISPOSED OF BY JUDGE COOPER YESTERDAY—APPLICATIONS FOR CITIZENSHIP TODAY.

Circuit court opened yesterday according to schedule with Judge Cooper of Ironwood on the bench and a large proportion of the cases on the calendar were disposed of during the day. Pleas were received from all the parties accused of crimes and misdemeanors and it now appears that there will not be a single criminal trial this term. Of the cases in which Marquette people figured, the larceny charge against Walter Lattrell was dropped on the recommendation of the prosecution, who thought the evidence insufficient to convict; Walter Mullen, the ex-restaurant keeper on Baraga avenue who was charged with having violated the liquor laws pleaded guilty and was fined; Charles R. Carey, against whom a charge of rape had been made, pleaded guilty to saving taken improper liberties with his thirteen-year-old sister-in-law but not guilty to the more serious charge, which plea was accepted. Carey was later sentenced to from one to ten years in the Marquette prison, with three years recommended. The complaint against Archie Godin, the Little Laine saloon keeper, was dismissed on recommendation of the prosecuting attorney, who stated that he was convinced Godin's saloon had been opened on Sunday by the bartender against the orders of the proprietor. The bartender was fined $25 and costs. The following entries were made by the court on the calendar: The People vs. Walter Lattrell; nolle prosequi. The People vs. Felix Mayotte; violation of liquor law. Plead guilty; fined $25 and $11 costs. The People vs. Archie Godin; violation of liquor law; nolle as to Godin. The People vs. Jacob Salmi; violation of liquor law. Plead guilty; fined $25 and $7.50 costs. The People vs. Walter Mullen; violation of liquor law. Plead guilty; fined $25 and $7.50 costs. The People vs. Ed. Hillman; embezzlement; pleaded guilty; appointed. The People vs. C. R. Carey; rape; pleaded not guilty as to first and guilty as to second count of indictment. Lucy P. Baell vs. in re estate of Silas Adams, deceased; assumpsit, count amended. Samuel Hosking vs. Cleveland Iron Mining company; trespass on the case; trial. James Pendill vs. John W. ### SPECIAL SESSION CALLED.

Governor Deneen Maps Out Much Work for the Illinois Legislators.

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 6.—Governor Deneen tonight issued a call for a special session of the legislature Dec. 14. Two hundred and thirty bills are included in the call. The most important enactments suggested by the governor are: A primary election law; a corrupt practices act governing candidates and primaries; amending the act in relation to the election of boards and the appointment of judges and clerks; amendments with reference to registration for special elections; legislation concerning the construction of deep waterways, the development of the water power between Lockport and Utica and the issue of bonds in payment thereof; an appropriation to cover the expense of appealing the case against the Economy Light & Power company to the supreme court of the United States; action upon the proposed amendment to the constitution of the United States with reference to the income tax; authorization to cities and villages to adopt the "commission form of government"; provision for suitable fire equipment at or in all coal mines; to provide that all stables be above ground, or made fireproof; re-appointing a designated area about of re-appointing all coal mine shafts to be made fireproof and safe for miners who may be entrapped, and that stops and drifts be properly protected; an appropriation for the relief of the Cherry sufferers; the appointment of a commission to revise the procedure of courts of record and an appropriation for an investigation regarding the fairness of the charges by express companies.

NEW IDEA IN SUBMARINES.

Vessels Fast Enough to Cruise With Battleships Is the Russian Proposition.

Washington, Dec. 6.—There is much interest in the announcement that Russia is planning two submarines, which will be so speed to enable them to cruise and maneuver in company with a battleship fleet. If the two vessels come up to expectations certain naval experts who hold that submarines can be used only for harbor defense will be compelled to revise their opinion. The Russian builders' specifications call for boats of 613 tons, an over-all length of 166 feet 6 inches and guaranteed speeds of 17 1/2 knots on the surface and 11 1/2 knots completely submerged. This speed will enable them to keep company with all types of the older types at all speeds, and with those of the "Dreadnought" class, except when the latter are steaming under forced draught usual only when actually engaged. Hitherto naval experts have believed fifteen knots the maximum speed which could be developed in submarines, owing to the absence of a satisfactory type of engine for both surface and submerged propulsion, and the results of the trials will be awaited with interest. In this connection it may be well to remember that the American submarine, as embodied in the Octopus, is of 200 tons displacement and about 100 feet long.

SMALL FRY ARE WARY.

New York, Dec. 6.—Hesitation and constraint were apparent in the stock speculation again today. The explanation at some of the points was that the market was felt over facts on which great confidence was expressed last week, but deeper significance was attached to the personality of some of the operators on a large scale in the trading. From this it was suspected that a process of distribution of stocks under cover might be going on for the account of some of the most important financial interests. Opinion on this point was confused by the appearance of almost equally important operations, in appearance, appearance of things was designedly confused was taken for granted, and the abundant resources displayed in the work of forming this appearance made the smaller following of habitual traders very wary. The dullness into which the market fell at stock and were due to the reduction of the outstanding short interest by the covering operations responsible for the buoyant rise of prices Saturday. The assembling of congress had the usual restraining effect on the speculative spirit. The lack of support for American Sugar was regarded suggestive, but the aggressive demand for other particular stocks had neutralizing effect and kept the market irregular and unsettled. Sales of Rock Island preferred at 90 made a new record for that stock and were due to reiterated reports that it would soon go on a 5 per cent dividend basis. The question of wage readjustments had little disturbing effect. It was assumed that the railroads were ready to make concessions to the demands for increased wages, and it was the oblivious hope that higher wages and higher freight rates would come simultaneously.

the room, with apologies and excuses, none of them trace of which he was perfectly conscious, and also of the fact that his hot and restless knew that they were not. Wherever he was there would be a circle listening to him, and his ringing laugh would be heard all over the room as he sent his shafts right and left into the joints of the armor of those who were attacking him. It was a great surprise, and almost a shock, when he appeared as a benedict.

BOWLING SCORES.

The Fannias defeated Lafayette at the bowling alleys last evening. The following were the scores: Lafayette—164 169 191 524 E. Beau—220 166 172 559 Follen—170 181 157 508 LaFave—140 163 147 450 Marotte—155 155 150 468 Totals—849 834 824 2567 Fannias—176 199 202 577 Jarvi—164 245 174 583 Parkkila—195 177 204 576 Maki—183 179 138 500 Drummeij (sub)—144 150 155 449 Totals—862 950 873 2685 The Fannias won three straight. Tonight's bowling will be down with two first class teams. The teams will bowl as follows: Hematites, J. N. Olson, T. Dyer, L. Schilling, J. Fitzpatrick and J. Roberts; Millrites, H. O. Bell, J. H. Cowan, M. H. Ford, E. W. Allen and A. E. Miller. These teams will bowl on alleys five and six. Ishpeming, J. Haust, J. Hanson, J. Grummett, J. Gray, J. It is expected that these matches will be among the most spiritedly contested struggles ever witnessed on the alleys.

PUMPKIN THAT REVIVED A NOTE.

A Sturgeon banker has two pumpkins in a glass case he values at $2,000. Thirteen years ago the banker said he lent a farmer $1,000 with which to buy stock. The farmer had a horse, gave his note. The borrower lost on the stock deal and had hard luck generally, so he couldn't pay the note. Later he went West, and after many years he made good again and returned to Sturgeon. The banker tried to collect his note, but it was outlawed by a judge of thirteen years. One day the banker stopped at the man's farm and admired his fine pumpkins. The farmer made him a present of two large ones. "I'll just credit these pumpkins on your old note," the banker said. "All right," the farmer said, "at whatever price." That revived the obligation. The banker brought suit and recovered in full for the note and interest.—Kansas City Star.

ROMANCE.

If you find the characters in an historical romance doing curious things pray consider how necessary, in the exigencies of art, that may be. For instance, these characters in their originals are not seldom persons so wishful to keep their purposes secret as to render obscure, in real life, much that need be plain as a pikestaff in the story. Where a public finds itself unable to read and chew gum and think all at once, a few choice spirits will cut out a line of gum, but the majority of mankind will prefer to chew a piece of gum, no matter how unpalatable, than to see the exacts of them any consecutive thinking. Therefore, it is that we have Miltiades telling the chambermaid at his hotel precisely how he intends to whip the Persians at Marathon, and Scipio unloading his plans for the destruction of Carthage to the travelling man in the berth across the aisle.—Puck.

MADE STRANGE MACHINE.

Inventor Broke it up Before Death; Said to Be Perpetual Motion.

That Isaac N. Perry, known as the "Sage of Slate Cut," where he died two years ago at the age of 98, had discovered the secret of perpetual motion, was the firm belief of many of his neighbors while others regarded him as a harmless crank. The machine was broken up by Mr. Perry shortly before his death, nothing being left upon which any one could work. Some years before he died Mr. Perry made the assertion that his machine would grind coffee, and George W. Bottorff, a farmer-lawyer residing near the Perry home some miles from Jeffersonville, Ind., testified in a case in court a few days ago in which Perry's sanity was involved that he saw the machine run and that it certainly kept going till Perry stopped it. Mr. Bottorff appears to be the best posted man upon the machine, on which Perry worked for 50 years or more, and he says that it was run by weights. When a pin was drawn out by the inventor a quantity of buckshot, he said, fell into the machine from a hopper and these were again and again returned to the place whence they started. The machine was stopped by Perry replacing the pin. Perry also claims that if he had the money he could build a machine on a much larger scale of 120-horsepower to run the big mill at Speeds, where natural and Portland cement are made a few miles from the old man's home. He was confident of this, but was never able to persuade anybody who had money to take it up, although as a matter of fact, he made little effort in that direction.—St. Louis Post Dispatch.

Last year's parties given by the members of this fraternity were among the most enjoyable of the functions in which the young people participated and there is no doubt that this year's parties will be equally popular.

Continued Until Jan. 3—Jan. 3 has been set as the date for the hearing of the case of James Pendill against Austin Farrell, Pendill charging the defendant with having dumped creosote from the furnace into the lake in violation of city ordinance. At the preliminary hearing before Justice Cray yesterday afternoon, the defendant's attorney, W. P. Belden, asked for a jury trial and further action was put off until next month.

Shriners' Committee Meeting—The Shriners' reception and entertainment committee will hold a meeting today at 1:30 o'clock at the Marquette club rooms to devise ways and means for the entertainment of visiting Shriners tomorrow. This meeting was to have been held in the evening at Masonic Hall, but it being inconvenient for some of the committee, it was decided to change the time and place as above announced.

Adrift in Lake—Attention of the life saving crew was called late yesterday afternoon to some vessel, about six miles out in the lake, firing rockets, which was recognized as a distress signal. Captain Cleary engaged the Anderson fishing Columbia to go to the boat's relief. It was found to be Ludwig Swanson's gasoline fishing boat, the engine in which had broken down and left him unable to get to shore. Swanson anchored his boat and patiently waited until the steam tug and Captain Cleary came to his rescue, all reaching shore about 10 o'clock last evening.

Star in Daytime—The absolutely clear sky yesterday afternoon gave Marquette people an opportunity to see a star, almost due south and low in the heavens, in broad daylight and sometime before the sun went down. The star is Venus which is very bright just now. The phenomenon is very unusual and attracted considerable attention. Professor Mills of the Normal reports having seen a few nights ago a peculiar light pass across the sky, which had the appearance of the path of a comet. Halley's comet is soon due to be visible to the naked eye, and if half we read proves to be true, we may expect all kinds of astronomical phenomena during the next few months.

Many Kids on Hand—The announcement that the J. H. Foster company would give away soap bubble yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock brought many youngsters to the front of the store long before that hour and when the doors were opened there were several hundred boys and girls crowding and pushing each other to get their gift first. The store for a time looked as if a mob had taken possession of it and all the clerks and Officer Hogan were put to it to keep anything that resembled order among the youngsters. As it was, a slow case was broken and some of the smaller children came near being trampled on. In due time, however, each youngster received, not only a bubble but a tin horn as well, and from that time until dark the noise on the streets made one think it was election night and everybody was celebrating.

BIRD STORY A FAKE; PIERCE THE FAKER?

For some days the yarn of how Deputy Game Warden Harrington's pointer "dave" pointed 500 partridges stored in a casket for illegal shipment, with the result that the deputy seized the entire lot, has been going the rounds of the press. In the upper peninsula is has been hailed as a bald fake. To the initiated it read like an iridescent dream story, and as such it has been generally laughed at by the newspapers in this region. The identity of the fakir is naturally a matter of some interest. Perhaps the following article from the Lansing Evening Journal, date Nov. 27, will throw some light on this interesting question:

PESKY HUNTERS TRY CLEVER SCHEME BUT DOG FOILED THE PLAN.

Attempt Made to Ship Out Birds in a Coffin.

THE ANIMAL DISCOVERED THEM.

Story from the Upper Peninsula Comes in an Official Report to Warden.

Almost every sort of a ruse has been attempted by market hunters to elude the vigilance of deputy game wardens and exceed the limit to the hunter as to the number of quail and partridge which may be killed in one day, but it remained for some Wisconsin aimers to turn a trick, which if it had succeeded would have been about the cleverest stunt which was ever pulled off within the boundaries of the great lakes.

In former years hunters who have made a business of killing birds for market have attempted to ship their game home secreted in the bottom of trunks, but until Thursday no one has ever tried to stuff a casket full of partridges and ship them out of the state. This was tried at Floodwood, a little town in Dickinson county in the northern peninsula, located on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad, and had it not been for the keen scent of "Fluff," a valuable bird dog owned by Deputy Harrington the partridges would doubtless have crossed the border in safety.

This year Dickinson county has been a favorite place for hunters as quail and partridges have been found in abundance and the deer have been more plentiful than usual. Frequent violations have been reported and recently the deputies have kept an especial watch at all the railroad stations to see that more game was not being shipped out than the law allowed.

Many accidents have occurred in Dickinson county and a number of those who have met death while hunting have been returned to their homes in the crude caskets secured at Floodwood. This doubtless inspired the Wisconsin hunters with the idea that a casket inclosed in a roughbox and filled with birds could, by a little clever work, be sent out of the state without the game wardens being any the wiser.

According to a report received by State Game Warden Pierce, Deputy Harrington happened to be at the train late Thursday morning when a roughbox, supposed to contain a dead body was brought to the depot and placed on the platform. The man in charge of the "body" did not display the least sign of nervousness as he walked up to the baggage agent and displayed a certificate of death bearing the signature of a well-known physician.

He stated that he was unable to locate the county clerk to secure a permit to remove the body of his friend to his home in Milwaukee, and inquired whether upon payment of a double fee if he would be allowed to take the remains on the train.

While he was conversing with the station agent the dog owned by the deputy was seen to come to a point and was focusing his gaze on the box supposed to contain the dead body of a hunter. Growing impatient he ran up and began sniffing at the cover and then commenced to paw vigorously at the pine box. The deputy attempted to call the dog away, but he would not be quieted. He knew the scent of birds and was not willing to leave the spot.

At length the suspicions of the deputy became aroused and he looked for the individual who had brought the "body" to the station, but he had quietly disappeared. Deciding that immediate action was necessary the deputy loosened the cover and opened the casket, and instead of gazing on the face of a dead man he found the casket closely packed with partridges. The state law requires that a hunter shall not have more than fifty in his possession at one time, but there were at least 500 concealed in the coffin.

The birds were confiscated and sent to one of the northern institutions. No further trace of the man who attempted to ship them has been found. The dog will be commissioned as a regular deputy by Game Warden Pierce.

Pleas were received from all the parties accused of crimes and misdemeanors and it now appears that there will not be a single criminal trial this term. Carey, against whom a charge of rape had been made, pleaded guilty to having taken improper liberties with his thirteen-year-old sister-in-law but not guilty to the more serious charge, which plea was accepted. Carey was later sentenced to from one to ten years in the Marquette prison, with three years recommended. ### SMALL FRY ARE WARY.

New York, Dec. 6.—Hesitation and constraint were apparent in the stock speculation again today. The explanation is somewhat obscure. Some doubts were felt over facts on which great confidence was expressed last week, but deeper significance was attached to the personality of some of the operators on a large scale in the trading. From this it was suspected that a process of distribution of stocks under cover might be going on for the account of some of the most important financial interests. Opinion on this point was confused by the appearance of almost equally important operations, in appearance, on both sides of the market. That the appearance of things was designedly confused was taken for granted, and the abundant resources displayed in the work of forming this appearance made the smaller following of habitual traders very wary.

The dullness into which the market fell at times was due partly to the large reduction in the outstanding short interest by the covering operations responsible for the buoyant rise of prices Saturday. The assembling of congress had the usual restraining effect on the speculative spirit. The lack of support of American Sugar was regarded suggestively but the aggressive demand for other particular stocks had neutralizing effect and kept the market irregular and unsettled. Sales of Rock Island preferred at 90 made a new record for that stock and were due to reiterated reports that it would soon go up 5 per cent dividend basis. The question of wage readjustments had little disturbing effect. It was assumed that the railroads were ready to make concessions to the demands for increased wages, and it was the obvious hope that higher wages and higher freight rates would come simultaneously.

SPECIAL SESSION CALLED.

Governor Deneen Maps Out Much Work for the Illinois Legislators.

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 6.—Governor Deneen tonight issued a call for a special session of the legislature Dec. 14. Twenty-four subjects are included in the call. The most important enactments suggested by the governor are: A primary election law; a corrupt practices act governing caucuses and primaries; amending the act in relation to the election of boards and the appointments of judges and clerks; also amendments with reference to registration for special elections; legislation concerning the construction of deep waterways, the development of the water power between Lockport and Utica and the issue of bonds in payment thereof; an appropriation to cover the expense of appealing the case against the Economy Light & Power company to the supreme court of the United States; action upon the proposed amendment to the constitution of the United States with reference to the income tax; authorization to cities and villages to adopt the "commission form of government"; provision for snuff by the governor and in all coal mines; to provide that all stables be above ground, or made fireproof; requiring a designated area about the bottom of all coal mine shafts to be made fireproof and safe for miners who may be employed in the shaft; and that no fire be properly protected; an appropriation for the relief of the Cherry sufferers; the appointment of a commission to revise the procedure of courts of record, and an appropriation for an investigation regarding the fairness of the charges by express companies.

NEW IDEA IN SUBMARINES.

Vessels Fast Enough to Cruise With Battleships Is the Russian Proposition.

Washington, Dec. 6.—There is much interest in the announcement that Russia is planning two submarines which will be of a speed to enable them to cruise and manoeuvre in company with a battleship fleet. If the two vessels are built up to expectations certain naval experts who hold that submarines can be used only for harbor defence will be compelled to revise their opinions of the value of the under-water ships. The Russian builders' specifications call for boats of 613 tons, an overall length of 196 feet 6 inches and a guaranteed speed of 17 1/2 knots on the surface and 11 1/2 knots completely submerged. This speed would enable them to keep company with battleships of the older types at all speeds, and with those of the "Dreadnought" class, except when the latter are steaming under forced draught used only when actually engaged. Hitherto naval experts have believed fifteen knots the maximum speed which could be developed in submarines, owing to the absence of a satisfactory type of engine for both surface and submerged propulsion, and the results of the trials will be awaited with interest. In this connection it may be well to remember that the American submarine, as embodied in the Octopus, is of 200 tons displacement and about 100 feet long.

RAILROAD OFFICIALS NAMED.

Rock Island Company Announces Its New Vice Presidents.

Chicago, Dec. 6.—The Rock Island today announced the following new vice presidents: James E. Gorman, formerly first vice president, in charge of freight traffic, succeeding W. B. Biddle; F. O. Melcher, second vice president, in charge of operations, succeeding H. U. Mudge; John Sebastian, third vice president, in charge of passenger traffic; E. S. Moore, fourth vice president, in charge of purchases. It is understood that W. S. Fineman, manager of the Choctaw and Southern districts, will succeed M. Melcher as general manager. W. H. Moore, one of the owners of the Rock Island, said: "The deal whereby I and some of my friends have become interested in the Lehigh has no significance for the Rock Island. We have no interest in the Wabash, and the Lehigh is not going to lease it as far as I know."

THAT GENIUS WHISTLER.

Of Whistler Lady St. Heller writes thus: "He was a genius, and had all the defects and qualities of one. To him everything was a joke, the subject of a bon mot; the lightest and daintiest of perflage was what he excelled in, and one never had a dull moment in his company. He was always late for dinner, arranging the immortal lock of gray hair in its proper place as he came into the room, with apologies and excuses, none of them true—of which he was perfectly conscious, and also of the fact that his host and hostess knew that they were not. Wherever he was there would be a circle listening to him, and his ringing laugh would be heard all over the room as he sent his shafts right and left into the joints of the armour of those who were attacking him. It was a great surprise, and almost a shock, when he appeared as a benedict."

BOWLING SCORES.

The Finias won three straight. It is expected that these matches will be among the most spiritedly contested struggles ever witnessed on the alleys.

PUMPKIN THAT REVIVED A NOTE.

A Sturgeon banker has two pumpkins in a glass case he values at $2,000. Thirteen years ago the banker said he lent a farmer $1,000 with which to buy stock. The farmer of course gave him the good and had hard luck generally, and couldn't pay the note. Later he went West, and after many years he made good again and returned to Sturgeon. The banker tried to collect his note, but it was outlawed by a lapse of thirteen years. One day the banker stopped at the farmer's farm and admired his fine pumpkins. The farmer made him a present of two large ones. "I'll just credit these pumpkins on your old note," the banker said. "All right," the farmer said. That revived the obligation. The banker brought suit and recovered in full for the note and interest.—Kansas City Star.

ROMANCE.

If you find the characters in a historical romance doing curious things pray consider how necessary, in the exigencies of art, that may be. For instance, these characters in their originals are not seldom persons so wishful to keep their purposes to themselves as to render obscure, in real life, much that needs to be plain as a plank in the story. When a public finds itself unable to read and chew gum and think all at once, a few choice spirits will cut out the gum, but the majority of mankind will prefer to revolt at whatsoever exacts of them any consecutive thinking. Therefore, it is that we have Mitliades telling the chambermaid at his hotel precisely how he intends to whip the Persians at Marathon, and Scipio unfolding his plans for the destruction of Carthage to the travelling man in the berth across the aisle.—Puck.

MADE STRANGE MACHINE.

Inventor Broke it up Before Death; Said to Be Perpetual Motion.

That Isaac N. Perry, known as the "Sage of Slate Cut," where he died two years ago at the age of 88, had discovered the secret of perpetual motion, was the firm belief of many of his neighbors while others regarded him as a harmless crank. The machine was broken up by Mr. Perry shortly before his death, nothing being left upon which any one could work.

Some years before he died Mr. Perry made the assertion that his machine would grind coffee, and George W. Bottorff, a farmer-lawyer residing near the Perry home some miles from Jeffersonville, Ind., testified in a case in court a few days ago in which Perry's sanity was involved that he saw the machine run and that it certainly kept going till Perry stopped it. Mr. Bottorff appears to be the best posted man upon the machine, on which Perry worked for 50 years or more, and he says that it was run by weights. When a pin was drawn out by the inventor a quantity of buckshot, he said, fell into the machine from a hopper and these were again and again returned to the place whence they started. The machine was stopped by Perry replacing the pin. Perry also claims that if he had the money he could build a machine on a much larger scale of 120-horsepower to run the big mill at Speeds, where natural and Portland cement are made a few miles from the old man's home. He was confident of this, but was never able to persuade anybody who had money to take it up, although as a matter of fact, he made little effort in that direction.—St. Louis Post Dispatch.

NEW POSITION IMPORTANT ONE

ISHPeming MAN TO HAVE GENERAL SUPERVISION OF A NEW PROPERTY ON THE VERMILION.

George A. St. Clair, formerly of this city, and his associates, are said to be showing up an immense body of ore on Section 30, about four miles from the city of Ely, on the Vermilion range. This is the property that Will R. St. Clair, who recently tendered his resignation to the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company, in this city, is to have charge of. Mr. St. Clair will be general manager of his uncle's properties in that district. The development work will be pushed with all possible speed in the hope of putting the property in the producing class early next season.

The Ely Miner has the following reference to the St. Clair property and to the work being done in that immediate vicinity:

"The news from Section 30, where Geo. A. St. Clair and associates are showing up an immense body of ore, is certainly the most encouraging that has happened for some time on the old Vermilion. The ore being shown up there will prove an influence that will cause the dormant properties on this range to take on renewed energy and vulgarly speaking, to 'go some'."

"It is now an assured fact that a mine exists on Section 30. The past few weeks has shown some wonderful developments. The fact that a week ago it was known that ore shown on this property was sufficient to establish it as a mine, developments this week have demonstrated it a large mine with a deposit similar to the Pioneer ore and sufficient as one man placed it to ship 100,000 tons next year."

"Saturday, the drift had penetrated fifty-eight feet of ore and the drift has been in ore ever since. Another drift, on the next level 100 feet below has encountered the same lead. Another drift has passed into sixty-eight feet of ore. So plain is the showing that several who have been skeptical of the outcome have conceded that Section 30 has gone beyond the prospective stage and is an assured fact."

"On the strength of this, many properties in this vicinity are being explored with increased activity and many others will be worked. Several deals are pending whereby much development work will follow on the Vermilion."

"The Cole & McDonald Exploration company of Virginia is running a diamond drill on section 19, adjoining 30 on the north on what is known as the Whiteside lands. It is also reported that drills will be put in on Section 25."

WILL BE MARRIED TODAY.

"Millionaire Tramp." Here a Few Weeks Ago, Is to Become a Bendict.

Dr. Ben Ridder, the "millionaire tramp," who spent some days in this county a few weeks ago, giving lectures on the street corners in the three cities, is to be married today to Miss Ellen Christianson of Minneapolis, the wedding taking place in Duluth, where the bride-to-be has been employed in a department store.

According to the Duluth papers, Dr. Ridder delivered his last socialistic lecture in that city last evening. He has roamed extensively throughout the country since giving up the practice of medicine in New York, and takes great pride in telling his auditors that he has traveled through practically every state in the union without paying railroad fare. When he was coming north, he was ejected from trains at several points in Wisconsin. He was found riding the humpers on the Northwestern train running between Green Bay and Ishpeming.

Dr. Ridder is one of the most picturesque characters that ever visited the upper peninsula. He seemed to greatly overestimate the importance of his mission, and in many places he became provoked when the newspapers refused to write him up extensively. One of the first things he did on reaching a city was to hunt up reporters and give them an interview on socialism. His interviews were in line with his talks on the street corners. When he was here he wore army leggings, fur cap, heavy blue army coat, with red lining, and a khaki shirt, but a few days ago he cast aside this outfit and adopted ordinary citizen's garments.

MAY ABSORB BIG FUEL CONCERN

UNITED STATES STEEL CORPORATION INTERESTS ARE SAID TO BE PICKING UP THE STOCK OF THE PITTSBURG COAL CO.

It is rumored in mining circles that in all probability the United States Steel corporation will absorb the Pittsburgh Coal company, a $22,000,000 corporation, which has its northwestern headquarters in Duluth, where it also maintains docks. Large blocks of the common stock of the company have changed hands during the past few days. It is reported from New York that J. R. Keene & Co. are buying most of the stock for the steel corporation.

It is said that small stockholders in the Pittsburgh company have demanded of the president the identity of the interests who are purchasing control. They were told that the executive officers of the company do not know. The Pennsylvania railroad, New York Central, Baltimore & Ohio, and other corporations, have been suggested as possible purchasers, but the activity of the Keene company is leading many to believe that the United States Steel corporation is behind the deal. Mr. Keene has executed several similar coups for the corporation during his many years as a manipulator of the market.

The stockholders fear that if the United States Steel corporation obtains control of the fuel concern it will withdraw the vast coal products of the Pittsburgh Coal company from the market, reserving the coal for its own mills.

This, if accomplished, might force the price of coal for general consumption to a higher figure than it now sells for.

The capital stock of the Pittsburgh Coal company is $64,000,000, divided into $22,000,000 preferred and $42,000,000 common. Some of the stock has not been issued. The company has 49,283 shares of the preferred and 38,954 shares of the common stock in the treasury of a par value of $2,625,000. The company also has outstanding $19,000,000 of bonds. The company has this year reduced its bonded debt $50,000 and has practically wiped out its floating indebtedness.

The value of the Pittsburgh Coal company's property as set forth in the last annual report, is $70,580,844,650. The average of unmined coal on Jan. 1, was 193,309. The total acres under lease in the Pittsburgh and Hoboken districts amount to 23,437, giving the company a grand total of 217,566 acres owned and leased. The company's report for 1908 showed that its total output of coal approximated 14,382,181 tons. The company owns and leases seventy-six mining plants. It has not paid a dividend on the preferred stock since May 1, 1905.

The company has a contract with the United States Steel corporation, running twenty-one years yet, to supply it with coal, a minimum of 8,000,000 tons yearly being taken.

Officials of the Pittsburgh Coal company at the head of the lakes say they are not informed as to the probable purchase of the company by the steel corporation. The Pittsburgh Coal company has begun work on a new million dollar dock in Duluth.

"GRAUSTARK" A STRONG PLAY.

Critic Speaks Well of Production to Be Seen Here Friday Night.

The Perry, N. Y., Record said in part of "Graustark," which will be offering at Ishpeming theater next Friday evening:

"It is really refreshing to be able to enjoy the privilege of witnessing such a splendid production as was given by the Graustark company at the Auditorium last night, before an audience that taxed the capacity of the house.

"Several hours before the doors were open the seats had all been sold and there was a lively demand for standing room. And those who expected to witness a fine production were not in the least disappointed. In acting, costuming and stage setting it left little to be desired. It was distinctly high class, careful attention being given to all of the details which contribute to a finished production.

"Naturally, Miss Gertrude Perry, as 'Princess Yette,' came in for the larger share of honors, but she divided them particularly with Miss Mimie Wayne, William Wagner, Howard Walsh, L. P. Hicks, Frank Howson, Sam Godfrey and Ernest Fisher.

"Miss Perry's ability was shown by the artistic manner in which she portrayed the light-hearted girl in love with the dashing American, and yet the dignity of her position as a princess and a ruler, as she realized the seriousness of her responsibilities and the necessity for meeting them. The struggle between love and duty gave her opportunity to display her talent as an emotional actress, and her work was splendid. In the last act she was every inch the princess as she made her petition and gave her commands from the throne.

"Mr. Wagner, as 'Grenlat Lorry,' was an ideal American who won the admiration and sympathy of all by his manly portrayal of his part as the persistent lover and courageous defender of the princess.

"The other members of the company were well fitted for their respective parts."

IMPROVING PROPERTY.

J. J. Loeffler is making extensive improvements at his property on the northwest corner of Division and Lake streets, opposite his business block. When he acquired this property some years ago he reconstructed its main building, but he has now practically rebuilt the wing on the west side, with the exception of the roof, which he plans to alter in the spring. A new stone wall has been placed under the entire structure and a ten-foot basement has just been completed. The entrance to the latter is at the rear, extending back of the structure, and will be used in by a stone wall, with concrete steps. The main floor is supported with iron pillars. Mr. Loeffler plans to enlarge his business in the spring and will take possession of the building about the first of May. The place is now occupied as a saloon. It will be heated by steam from the plant in his present business block and as soon as the rooms on the first and second floor are vacated they will be altered to meet Mr. Loeffler's requirements.

ISHPEMING IN BRIEF.

Ed. Girzi has returned from Chicago, where he spent a few days.

Will Gill, wife and child are here from South Dakota on a visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gill of East Pearl street.

J. M. Vivian arrived here yesterday from Calumet, having been called home on account of the critical illness of his sister, Miss Ellen Vivian.

Birtis recorded in the city yesterday were a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. John Salomon, 1212 1/2 Michigan street, and a son to Mr. and Mrs. Mike Tasson, 659 South Pine street.

The passenger trains on both the Northwestern and South Shore lines were late yesterday afternoon. The Northwestern was about three hours behind time and the South Shore about five hours.

The rush of holiday business has started at the Ishpeming postoffice. There has been a steady increase in the incoming mail for several days past, and some of the carriers were yesterday obliged to make extra trips over their routes in order to get it all out.

Charles Fersberg, Jr., and family are visiting his parents at 529 North Lake street, for a few days. Mr. Fersberg is firing on the South Shore passenger train running between Calumet and Neshota, having been transferred from the Duluth-Thompson run a few months ago.

The change in the weather Sunday night, resulting in a drop of thirty degrees or more in the temperature, has stimulated business considerably in the dry goods and clothing lines. Trade in these lines had been unusually quiet during the two weeks of fine weather, though all of the business houses enjoyed a good patronage following the storm about four weeks ago.

FROM MORGAN'S CURB LETTER.

The opening in New York was firm, but stocks were offered after the first few minutes, and the market declined steadily until the losses averaged nearly a point. The weakness was said to be due to a report that the tobacco trust had been broken up, and also some anxiety as to the effect of the president's message.

Lake was again the feature in Boston, opening higher and on heavy trading advancing two points. In the last few minutes it weakened, and closed with a net gain of 1/2. The disclosure of the remarkably high-grade rock in the new lode is given as the reason for this advance. Boston Consolidated, North Butte, Miami, Greene Cananea and Giroux were all active. All opened higher and against a rather heavy volume of selling held very firm. It is generally believed by well-informed mining men that Greene Cananea will be taken into the merger at 20 or over, and Giroux at a considerable advance over present figures. It was said that the price on Superior & Pittsburg was satisfactory, and that a satisfactory price to Superior & Pittsburg stockholders would necessarily be much higher than the present figure, as little outstanding stock was brought under twenty dollars. A mining man who recently visited Greene Cananea says this company could now produce at the rate of 75,000,000 pounds of copper a year if market conditions warranted. The East advises buying the good copper for much higher prices.

The curb issues were more in evidence today, though the price changes were insignificant. Live Oak was strong, advancing to 14 1/2. Chief Consolidated and Cactus, Indiana, South Lake, Boston Ely, Davis Daly and Ohio Copper were all in good demand, but were unable to advance against the bearish attitude of the New York and Boston markets. We would like all good copper and buy more where possible at this level.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKETS.

Chicago, Dec. 6.—Reports of frost in Argentina caused a sharp advance in wheat here today, the final quotations showing net gains of 1 to 1 1/2. The crop scare from Argentina injected a vast amount of bullish enthusiasm into the trading about the middle of the session, although the market earlier in the day had displayed moderate firmness. The reports from the South American republic, however, were not of very satisfactory character. Although part of the crop already has been harvested in the northern sections and other portions of it are now beyond the damage stage, a vast amount of it, it was claimed, is still subject to serious injury by cold weather. The liberality of the world's shipments—the movement for the week being about 2,000,000 bushels in excess of the figures for the corresponding week a year ago—had a tendency to hold buyers in check. The December opened at 106 to 106 1/2; highest, 107 1/2; lowest, 106; closing, 107 1/2.

Corn—The market displayed remarkable strength over the drop in temperature in the corn belt. Despite increased receipts here, cash houses and shorts were active bidders and the sentiment in the pit was bullish from start to finish. The close was strong 1/2 to 3/4 higher. The December opened at 37 1/2 to 37 1/2; highest, 38; lowest, 37 1/2; closing, 38.

Oats—Cash interests were active bidders for the December, and that strengthened the entire list. The close was 1/4 to 1/2 higher. The December opened at 47 1/2; highest, 48; lowest, 47 1/2; closing, 48.

New York Cotton Market.

Paine, Webber & Co. had this to say of yesterday's cotton market:

"Liverpool is beginning to realize her own stupidity in their large crop ideas, as shown in the better prices in that market this morning. The ginning report which will be issued Wednesday morning at the expense of Michael Dunphy, who until a few weeks ago was a bellhop at the Argonaut in this city. Last February Mrs. M. M. Potter of Salem, Mass., arrived at the Argonaut, and being ill and nervous was the bane of the 'bellhops' of the hotel. Soon after her arrival 'Mike' Dunphy, a green lad, was given a job on the bench, and his apparent greenness invited all of the difficult tasks of the bellhops' routine. Among other tasks that of waiting upon the querulous guest was shifted to 'Mike.'

"He accepted the work gracefully and performed his duties in an exceptional manner, and when the guests left in the early part of June he was the recipient of many eulogical lines from the rest of the boys on account of his willingness to oblige a non-tipping guest. He had his chance to laugh, however, when early in July he received a check for $100 from Mrs. Potter.

"About two weeks ago Assistant Manager George Dixon of the Argonaut received a letter from Brown & Carlyle, a firm of lawyers in Boston, saying that Mrs. Potter had died, leaving a bequest of $2,500 for the faithful bellhop. A check for that amount was enclosed, cashed by Dixon and the money given to the lad, who immediately made arrangements for the purchase of a lot in the Richmond district and contracted for the construction of a house on the lot. What he had left over he took his agent parents on a pleasure trip to Denver, where he now is.

"His good luck did not end there. Yesterday brought another letter from the law firm, stating that, on receiving his report of the lad's disposition of the $2,500, they were ready to carry out a further provision of Mrs. Potter's will, to the effect that if the boy disposed of his check wisely he was to have a bal-

NEW YORK STOCKS.

"Although the news of the day was not of a character to adversely affect sentiment, still the stock market displayed an irregular tone throughout the day's session, and prices at the close, with a few exceptions, were below those of Saturday's closing. The New York transactions were the exceptions, and were strongly absorbed on reports to the effect that the friction between the various traction interests would be adjusted in the near future. Reading was quite strong, but lost the greater part of its advance in the last hour. A great many purchases were made on the recent decline in anticipation of a conservative message from the president, and should the tone of the same be about as expected, a selling movement will undoubtedly ensue, as the reaction in favor of lower prices are quite aggressive.

Provision for Revocation of Licenses Does Not Invalidate It.

Laper, Mich., Dec. 6.—Representative Louis C. Cramton, leader of the "Key" forces and author of the Warner-Cramton liquor law, has issued the following statement in reply to the announced intention of certain saloonkeepers to try and have the law declared unconstitutional because of a decision rendered a number of years ago, under the old law, when the liquor traffic, being regulated under a tax system, the supreme court declared that a revocation of the right to do business after the tax had been paid was unconstitutional.

"The provision as to revocation of licenses on second conviction is certainly the most important change made by the new liquor law," said Representative Cramton. "I am entirely confident of its validity and an attack by the liquor dealers will only serve to make enforcement. They should note Justice Shreve's remarks in the case on which they rely—'The talons of the criminal law are seldom found resting heavily upon the innocent.'

"While it is true that the revocation provision in the old law was declared invalid in 1888 Mich., the new provision is radically different. In that case the dealer paid an annual tax and it was held that to take away the business on which the tax had been paid would be unconstitutional. The money now paid by the dealer is paid as a fee for a license and the provision uniformly held that a license can be revoked for cause. Furthermore, when the license is applied for the application must contain an agreement that in the event of the issuance of a license to such applicant such a license shall be revocable as provided in this act. Can it be possible that it is unconstitutional to hold a liquor dealer to his contract with the state to obey the law?"

"An existing license granted under the old law cannot be revoked on two convictions. The dealer will simply be questioned as to a dealer who has been granted a license since September 1, 1909, and has been twice convicted of violation of the law."

A PIG TALE.

The Southern Negro who is not possessed of a pig considers himself poor indeed. This is well known to the white people, so that when an ancient dorky approached a white neighbor with the request that he "give him or half a dollar ter help buy er pig," 'cuse dat vuther pig Ah had is done daid,' the desired amount was promptly forthcoming. A few days later the white man met the old Negro and inquired:

"Did you get another pig, uncle?"

"Deed Ah did, sah, an' bit an' fine shoat, an' Ah sho'ly am much obliged to you for helpin' me, Mars Tom."

"Well, tatter better care of this one," Mars Tom suggested. "By the way," he added, idly, "what did the other pig die of—cholera?"

The old man pulled his forelock and smiled deprecatingly.

"Now, Mars Tom, whut-for you'll watter ax dat?" he said. "Foh a yoter er fac', dat vuther pig died 'cuse Ah hit him on er head wid er axe—'he bin fat an' de-wedder jest right, an' me bein' 'longry for fresh meat!"—New York Times.

San Francisco, Dec. 6.—That Dame Fortune has not ceased to bestow her gifts on those who deserve them, is shown by the experience of Michael Dunphy, who until a few weeks ago was a bellhop at the Argonaut in this city. Last February Mrs. M. M. Potter of Salem, Mass., arrived at the Argonaut, and being ill and nervous was the bane of the "bellhops" of the hotel. Soon after her arrival "Mike" Dunphy, a green lad, was given a job on the bench, and his apparent greenness invited all of the difficult tasks of the bellhops' routine. Among other tasks that of waiting upon the querulous guest was shifted to "Mike." "He accepted the work gracefully and performed his duties in an exceptional manner, and when the guests left in the early part of June he was the recipient of many eulogical lines from the rest of the boys on account of his willingness to oblige a non-tipping guest. He had his chance to laugh, however, when early in July he received a check for $100 from Mrs. Potter. "About two weeks ago Assistant Manager George Dixon of the Argonaut received a letter from Brown & Carlyle, a firm of lawyers in Boston, saying that Mrs. Potter had died, leaving a bequest of $2,500 for the faithful bellhop. A check for that amount was enclosed, cashed by Dixon and the money given to the lad, who immediately made arrangements for the purchase of a lot in the Richmond district and contracted for the construction of a house on the lot. What he had left over he took his agent parents on a pleasure trip to Denver, where he now is. "His good luck did not end there. Yesterday brought another letter from the law firm, stating that, on receiving his report of the lad's disposition of the $2,500, they were ready to carry out a further provision of Mrs. Potter's will, to the effect that if the boy disposed of his check wisely he was to have a bal-

Upper Peninsula

Doe Had Antlers—

Dudley Thompson, formerly of Munising, now of Rudyard, Chippewa county, writes from that place as follows: "There is something I think might be of interest to some of the hunters. Ed, Loomis, of the Hayward & Loomis Lumber company, shot a doe with horns. She weighed 175 pounds and had a fine set of antlers."

How Coffins Are Filled—

We read a fable about Deputy Game Warden Harrington's dog "pointing" a coffin filled with five hundred particles of bloodwood, this peninsula, comments the Ishpeming Iron Ore. If it were true it would be well to put the dog on the job, but it isn't. The coffins being sent out of the woods of this peninsula this hunting season have been filled with men shot by tools with guns.

Deer Slaughter Light—

The records of the express and freight offices at that village show that upwards of three hundred deer were shipped from Newberry this season. This is away below the number killed by hunters last year, when over five hundred were shipped from that point. The absence of snow is largely accountable for the lack of success upon the part of the hunters, many of whom went home without a single trophy of the chase.

Railroads Going at Auction—

Next Thursday in Menominee the state authorities will conduct the sale of the Wisconsin & Michigan road to the highest bidder. The sale will be made to recover back taxes which it is claimed are due the state. A rumor is current that mining interests will make a strong bid for it. The Manistique & Northern will be sold at the same time, at Manistique. This is one of the first times in the history of the upper peninsula that railroads have been sold for taxes.

Is a Big Vessel—

Built entirely of steel and carrying one and one-half million feet of lumber, there is a wide difference between the steamer Charles F. Neff, now lying at Wells, Delta county, and the old wooden schooner which carried lumber only a few years ago. The big craft is at Wells to take on a full cargo of birch lumber. The Neff is of the latest construction and the most modern ideas are embodied in her throughout. She is the forerunner of the new fleet of lumber carriers which will replace the old.

Woman Badly Burned—

One of the saddest accidents that has ever happened at West Metropolitan, Dickinson county, took place last week at the home of Mrs. Johnson, who was in the dining room, and was about to extinguish a hanging lamp in the dining room. As she was in the act of pulling the lamp down, it exploded above her head, setting her clothing on fire. She screamed for help and her oldest daughter, Esther, who was upstairs in bed, ran to her mother's assistance, wrapped her in a carpet and extinguished the flames. Mrs. Johnson, however, was badly burned about the chest, face and head and she is in a precarious condition.

Wounded Hunter Will Live—

John Dalzell, the man who was so terribly shot in the face while hunting deer in Mackinac county, is said to be progressing favorably in a Traverse City hospital and his recovery is considered practically certain. Dr. Sheek of St. Ignace, who attended the man, says that where the upper part of the nose was torn away, he took eye into the sufferer's throat. Both eyes were torn out and gone. The mutilation was horrible. When his friends came to him in the woods Dalzell said he did not know how the shooting happened; he did not know whether he shot Esther, or whether he had been hit by a bullet from some unknown rifle. His friends believe, however, that he shot himself.

Was a Pioneer Logger—

Joseph Miron, Sr., of Wetsmore, Alger county, who died at a Marquette hospital last week as a result of injuries received when struck by a runaway team of horses, was born about seventy-six years ago in the province of Quebec, Canada. He was one of the oldest loggers in what is now known as Alger county, being engaged in getting out square timber there about forty years ago. Until a little over two years ago, when he sold his farm to Harry Simmons, then of Munising, the deceased was engaged in agriculture for many years. His death by accident recalls the death a year or two ago of his daughter, the late Mrs. Swenor, who was accidentally shot and killed by her little

NO THIRD TERM FOR T. R.

His Shadow Not Hovering Over the National Capital.

All Such Talk Is Without the ex-President's Endorsement—In Taft He Has the Most Complete Confidence—He Fully Understands His Successor's Methods and Temperament.

Washington, Dec. 6.—Roosevelt and a third term—to read some of the newspapers published in the country, one would get the idea that this is the chief issue which interests Washington at the present time. Undoubtedly some personality of the mighty colonel is yet potent here and elsewhere, while the membership of the Back-from-Elba club is growing larger, rather than smaller; but evidence exists to indicate that the alleged movement to force upon Roosevelt the unprecedented honor of a third term in the presidency would meet with nothing but sincere discouragement from the gentleman himself.

Roosevelt had many newspaper intimates while in the White House, attracted to them by causes as far apart as the poles and often of very considerable wholly remote from journalism. One of the most noteworthy of this little family was Edward B. Clark, Washington correspondent of the Chicago Evening Post, of whom the press gallery speak with affection and respect as the "bird sharp." Clark knows more about birds than any other man in Washington, outside the government professors, and it was his familiarity with the feathered tribe, their lives and habits, that made him one of the most delightful companions a president could select when he set out on one of those wonderful rambles that roused everybody else in a footrace. Mr. Clark has written charmingly of the "Birds of the White House," describing the little songsters and nest-makers that flit about the beautiful park; and his bird lecture, which he often gives for the amusement of instruction of local audiences, is delightfully entertaining.

The confidences of such rambles as those of Roosevelt and his friends never have been violated, but when, of late, Mr. Clark began to read in the papers stories which he believed to be some injustice to the absent Roosevelt, he felt it only a plain duty to set forth a few thoughts upon the subject of a third term with which he often had been favored by the then president of the United States. Writing for publication in the Post today, Mr. Clark says:

"It is to be wondered if the gentlemen in New York and in Washington who already see the shadow of Theodore Roosevelt on the threshold of the nation's capital realize fully how the mighty hunter, now in quest of the kob and the impala, views the question of a third term. It seems to be taken for granted by those who sent conspiracies and who see a return from Elba that Colonel Roosevelt will assent to have a plea made to the people on his behalf."

"It is inconceivable that Theodore Roosevelt if he were in close touch today with affairs of state would give assent to the views of the hasty ones who insist that President Taft is treading a path that leads away from the goal of his promises. If excuse is necessary it is offered for presuming to tell a little something of what I know personally of the original Roosevelt attitude toward a third term, or if you will, a second elective term. It may not be out of place also from the implicit confidence that Mr. Roosevelt had and doubtless still has in Mr. Taft, even though the tales of reactionary tendencies have reached the heart of Africa."

"On four different occasions I talked with the former president on the general subject of a third term and on the specific subject of a second elective term for himself. What he said could not be used at the time for reasons that will be clear when it is said that the conversations occurred some weeks prior to the time when it was practically assured that Mr. Taft would be the Republican party's nominee."

"It was just as plain as words could make it that Mr. Roosevelt held strongly to the belief that no matter what the politicians might say or what the press might publish, the people of the United States were intrinsically and inherently opposed to a third term and that I can go so far as to say that the impression made upon me by the former president's words were that no matter what the acclaim of a convention might be, the people at the polls would rebuke Mr. Taft's attempt to put any man for the third term in the White House."

"When Mr. Roosevelt, shortly after it was known that Mr. Taft was to become an active candidate for the nomination, issued his statement to the effect that under no circumstances would he become a candidate for reelection, he told me that I might publish a story of a conversation which I had had with him some time before, and in the course of which he had said, in speaking of a third term: 'The American people won't like it.' On the occasion of that interview Mr. Roosevelt had shown me a cartoon of which a farmer was the central figure. He said that the farmer represented the great American people and that as representative of the masses, "the farmer would not like it."

"It is perfectly true that Mr. Roosevelt never said directly that he was personally opposed to the idea of a third term. It may be possible that with an overwhelming demand made by the people and made so unmistakable that no man could be deceived by it, he might accept another nomination, but in view of what he said and how he said it I do not believe for an instant that any concentration of circumstances ever will induce Theodore Roosevelt to be a candidate again for the presidency of the United States."

"There are men in Washington and elsewhere today who are saying constantly that Theodore Roosevelt was mistaken in his judgment of William Howard Taft. I do not believe them, and excuse must be offered again for interposing personal judgment. Mr. Roosevelt knew that Mr. Taft's methods were not as his methods. He knew all about the 'judicial temperament' of the man whom he hoped to see succeed him in office. He knew that where he was quick to speak, Mr. Taft would be slow to speak. He knew that where he was quick to act, Mr. Taft would be slow to act. He knew also from long experience that the secretary of war was a man who believed in the beauty and the strength of the text from which he later preached, 'A soft answer turneth away wrath.'"

"If one may judge by what the former president said again and again, he believed that while methods and manner of accomplishment would be different, William Howard Taft if ever he became president, finally would reach the end that he desired and Mr. Roosevelt believed that Mr. Taft's goal would be the people's goal."

"The shadow of Theodore Roosevelt is being conjured over Washington and it is here, it has come in full force and in full view without the former president's permission. It will be time enough to talk of Roosevelt possibilities and of other possibilities at the end of the coming session of congress. Mr. Taft will have to stand or fall by the nature of his record in congress and by the results that he reaches. Mr. Roosevelt, as he has said a great many times, believes in a square deal. The men who at this early stage of the present administration's endeavors, are prophesying a 'return from Elba' are not only unjust to William Howard Taft, but worse than unjust to Theodore Roosevelt."

"There is one man in the United States probably who knows just how Theodore Roosevelt feels about the whole miserable business of the attacks on the present administration. That man is William Louis Howard Taft, who has been in New York city. The rest of us can only judge by what Mr. Roosevelt said before he left the White House. There seems to be no sane reason why belief should be given to stories to the effect that all that has to be done to bring the former president back to the White House three years hence is to arrange a plan of procedure and to take it for granted that the African hunter, the staunch friend of William H. Taft, will give his consent. These men, in my judgment, do not know Theodore Roosevelt."

HARD ROAD TO ECONOMY.

Too Many Committees Handle the Federal Appropriations.

Many Millions Provided Without Any Considering by Mr. Taft's Watchdogs—Congress Has a Way All Its Own of Spending Money.

Washington, Dec. 6.—President Taft will find it exceedingly hard to hold congress down to a retrenchment basis with all the study his cabinet has given to the question. Probably no set of estimates ever compiled will have been so far from the mark as the estimates of the White House. The president called for a reduction of $50,000,000 and probably the figures will recommend about that saving; but congress has a way of spending money all its own and the most economical president could not make it. The committee on appropriations James A. Tawney of Minnesota, a man of much determination and a student of the government's needs. Mr. Tawney has been committed to the retrenchment policy ever since he was chairman of this committee. He is a man of great determination and is in favor of retrenchment there may be in congress is due largely to Mr. Tawney's frequent warnings.

One trouble with the system in the certain is the divided responsibility for the appropriation bills. In the old days these bills were all prepared by the committee on appropriations. As the responsibilities of that committee increased by reason of the growth of the government machine, the preparation of certain bills was entrusted to other committees. This "farthing out" of the work of the committee went on until today some of the largest bills are prepared without any advice from the committee on appropriations. There is the bill making appropriations for the post-office department, which now carries annually something like $225,000,000 prepared by the committee on post-offices and post roads; the bill making appropriations for the military establishment, carrying more than one hundred million dollars annually, prepared by the committee on military affairs; the bill for the navy, prepared by the committee on naval affairs, and carrying about $120,000,000; bill for the military academy, prepared by the committee on military affairs; bill for the diplomatic and consular service, prepared by the committee on foreign relations; bill making appropriations for pensions, prepared by the committee on pensions; bill appropriating for the Indian service prepared by the committee on Indian affairs; and the bill making appropriations for the rural mail delivery, prepared by the committee on agriculture.

The suggestion has been made at the approaching session consideration be given to the advisability of returning to the old system, under which the appropriations committee was supreme. Certainly there is an opportunity for reform. Everybody must admit that there are too many channels through which money may be taken out of the public treasury.

Over in the senate, a step toward securing a condition similar to that which exists in the house has been taken by the creation of the committee on public expenditures. This new committee is made up of the chairmen of important committees, along with thirteen other senators. This new committee has been fixed to a board of controllers. Every appropriation bill on arrival from the house will be referred to this committee on expenditures, whose duty it will be to examine the bill carefully with a view of ascertaining whether the appropriations are necessary, and if necessary, whether the most economical way of making such an outlay of money at the time. One can readily see that if this committee does its work with thoroughness it will be a valuable check on expenditures.

The committee also, through ex-Senator Henryway and other employees, has undertaken to discover whether or not there is waste of money in the permanent annual appropriations. These so-called permanent annual appropriations run through a term of years, or until cut off by action of congress. For instance, when the most general feeling was passed the department of agriculture said it would require $3,000,000 a year to enforce the legislation. That amount was named in the last inspection law, and became a permanent annual appropriation. These permanent annual appropriations aggregate $160,000,000. One hundred and twenty-eight millions of this amount goes to meet fixed annual charges in the treasury department. Soon after congress meets the committee on public expenditures, and, last, the senate committee on appropriations, will be advised by the experts as to how much of a reduction may safely be made in these permanent annual appropriations.

If the wishes of the administration are carried out, congress will not attempt to reach the appropriation bills at the coming session. The general feeling is that the utmost care should be devoted to the preparation of the supply bills. Some of the far-seeing public men say that unless the party in power does make good its promise to reduce federal expenditures, the economy issue is likely to be a live one in the congressional election next year, and possibly in the presidential election in 1912.

WIFE'S TEN COMMANDMENTS.

Modern Decalogue Drawn Up by the Queen of Roumania.

1. Thou shalt not cause the first quarrel, but, if unavoidable, fight it through bravely. To be victor in the first domestic quarrel may have a tendency to elevate thee in thy husband's mind for all future.
2. Thou shalt not forget that thou hast married a man, not a god. Therefore be not surprised by his frailties.
3. Thou shalt not always talk money to thine husband. Rather try to get along on the allowance he maketh thee.
4. If thou considerest thine husband heartless, remember that, verily, he hath a stomach. By persistently appealing to his stomach with well cooked meals thou mayst, after all, touch his heart.
5. Once in a great while, but not too often, thou shalt let him have the last word. It ticketh him and witt not thee thy yarn.
6. Thou shalt read the whole newspaper and magazine, not merely the stories dealing with scandal and society. Thine husband will be pleasantly surprised to find thee in such a way that he can talk on general topics and even on politics with his wife.
7. Thou shalt not be rude even when quarrelling with thy husband. Forget not that at one time in the life thou didst consider him little short of a demigod.
8. Thou shalt, from time to time, allow thine husband to know a little more than thyself, admitting that thou art not infallible all through.
9. If thine husband is a smart man thou shalt be his friend; if he is not, thou shalt be both counselor and friend to him.
10. Thou shalt esteem thy husband's relatives, especially his mother. Remember that she loved him long before thou didst.

COLE-RYAN CROWD IN MEXICAN MINE

PROPERTIES OF THE SIERRA CONSOLIDATED MINES COMPANY HAVE PRODUCED OVER FIFTY MILLION DOLLARS IN GOLD.

It was recently announced that the Cole-Ryan interests were acquiring properties in Mexico, and that they had obtained control of the Sierra Consolidated Mines Company.

The Sierra Consolidated Mines Company owns all the stock of the Sierra Mining Company. The mines of the latter company are located close to the town of Ocampo in the state of Chihuahua, Mex. Ocampo is about three days' ride on mule-back from the railway at Temascaltepec. The new company formed by Dr. Pearson, which has taken over the Sierra Made Lumber Company, owns this railway and has just let the contract for building the 110 miles necessary to connect Temascaltepec direct with El Paso.

The company owns all the famous mines of Ocampo, which have produced during the last 100 years over $30,000,000 (gold) in the form of gold and silver bullion extracted from quartz ores by old fashioned methods. The former operators were hampered by difficult transportation, there being neither railroad nor wagon road until recently.

The veins are tremendous fracture planes from five to a hundred feet wide, in which the ore bodies occur as masses of quartz carrying gold and silver, but practically no other metals. In the old days the ore bodies had a width of from ten to thirty feet and were occasionally left to assist the mining operations. The ore bodies seem usually to have been a hundred feet or more in length horizontally and rather more than ten feet vertically. Even time shows evidence of several such ore bodies having been worked and the history of the camp records the alternate fat and lean times for the owners, according to whether they were in "bonanza" or "hungry" years.

One of the mines was worked by Americans systematically to a depth of 1,100 feet below the surface, but none of the others have reached as great a depth, either actually or relatively, as this one, and in this fact lies the future hope of the owners.

There are ore reserves in the Matulera mine, and a crew of men have been started getting the mine into shape for sampling and stopping. The former owners had run a small crosscut tunnel and the same vein at a point 500 feet deeper, but had never gone any further on it. The second crew was started at cleaning out and straightening the tunnel, and drifting is now under way. The ore of the camp have in the past run from $10 to $30 gold generally, although many of the old records show much higher grades.

Robert Linton, the general superintendent, is now on the ground, and busily engaged completing his organization and making plans to develop the property rapidly.

On the lands of the company, which cover about 40,000 acres, there is an immense amount of pine of fine quality. There is also a considerable amount of lumber of inferior quality, which can be used for fuel. The company also controls an immense amount of water power, which will be utilized as soon as the necessary equipment can be installed.

For the present, work will be confined to the rapid opening of the Matulera mine with crosscuts to the nearby Candeleria, San Roman and Estancia-cross veins.

Work of putting the mill in shape will begin at once.

There is telegraphic service in excellent order and daily mail to Chihuahua. The camp is about 5,000 feet above sea level, and is famous for its excellent climate. Many men are bringing their wives and families.

PROPERTIES OF THE SIERRA CONSOLIDATED MINES COMPANY HAVE PRODUCED OVER FIFTY MILLION DOLLARS IN GOLD.

It was recently announced that the Cole-Ryan interests were acquiring properties in Mexico, and that they had obtained control of the Sierra Consolidated Mines Company.

The Sierra Consolidated Mines Company owns all the stock of the Sierra Mining Company. The mines of the latter company are located close to the town of Ocampo in the state of Chihuahua, Mex. Ocampo is about three days' ride on mule-back from the railway at Temascaltepec. The new company formed by Dr. Pearson, which has taken over the Sierra Made Lumber Company, owns this railway and has just let the contract for building the 110 miles necessary to connect Temascaltepec direct with El Paso.

The company owns all the famous mines of Ocampo, which have produced during the last 100 years over $30,000,000 (gold) in the form of gold and silver bullion extracted from quartz ores by old fashioned methods. The former operators were hampered by difficult transportation, there being neither railroad nor wagon road until recently.

The veins are tremendous fracture planes from five to a hundred feet wide, in which the ore bodies occur as masses of quartz carrying gold and silver, but practically no other metals. In the old days the ore bodies had a width of from ten to thirty feet and were occasionally left to assist the mining operations. The ore bodies seem usually to have been a hundred feet or more in length horizontally and rather more than ten feet vertically. Even time shows evidence of several such ore bodies having been worked and the history of the camp records the alternate fat and lean times for the owners, according to whether they were in "bonanza" or "hungry" years.

One of the mines was worked by Americans systematically to a depth of 1,100 feet below the surface, but none of the others have reached as great a depth, either actually or relatively, as this one, and in this fact lies the future hope of the owners.

There are ore reserves in the Matulera mine, and a crew of men have been started getting the mine into shape for sampling and stopping. The former owners had run a small crosscut tunnel and the same vein at a point 500 feet deeper, but had never gone any further on it. The second crew was started at cleaning out and straightening the tunnel, and drifting is now under way. The ore of the camp have in the past run from $10 to $30 gold generally, although many of the old records show much higher grades.

Robert Linton, the general superintendent, is now on the ground, and busily engaged completing his organization and making plans to develop the property rapidly.

On the lands of the company, which cover about 40,000 acres, there is an immense amount of pine of fine quality. There is also a considerable amount of lumber of inferior quality, which can be used for fuel. The company also controls an immense amount of water power, which will be utilized as soon as the necessary equipment can be installed.

For the present, work will be confined to the rapid opening of the Matulera mine with crosscuts to the nearby Candeleria, San Roman and Estancia-cross veins.

Work of putting the mill in shape will begin at once.

There is telegraphic service in excellent order and daily mail to Chihuahua. The camp is about 5,000 feet above sea level, and is famous for its excellent climate. Many men are bringing their wives and families.

LINE TO NEW MINE WILL BE FINISHED SOON

SILICIOUS ORES, OF WHICH THERE IS AN ENORMOUS TONNAGE ON THE CASCADE RANGE, WERE NEVER IN BETTER DEMAND.

The Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic Railway company has put a gravel train at work on the spur being constructed to the mine to be opened a short distance from Palmer by the Volunteer Ore company. The construction work was started some three or four weeks ago at a point not far from the halfway house. The spur will be over two miles in length and, as there are several good sized fills, the gravel crew will not finish its work for perhaps a week or more. The gravel is being obtained from a bank near the Standard Oil company's warehouse between here and Ishpeming.

TO MAINTAIN OPEN SHOP.

Management of Homestake Mine Proposes to Resume Operations.

It is reported from Lead, S. D. where several former residents of Negaunee are located, that the management of the Homestake mine, which was closed down about two weeks ago because of the threatened strike of the workmen, will soon resume operations. In the neighborhood of 2,800 were formerly on the payroll, but several hundred have left the field. It is said to be a question whether a sufficient number of men to handle the mine and plants, even on a small scale, can be induced to remain with the company.

Saturday the management issued an order that no union men would be employed in any department after Jan. 1. All employees have a chance to register their intention of returning to work by the 15th inst. The company expects to secure enough union men who will renounce affiliation with the Western Federation and other men from nearby camps to resume operations. It is likely that the union will call a general strike against the company.

The Homestake produces over 4,000 tons of ore daily. The "open shop" rule always been in force there until the recent efforts of the Western Federation of Miners to make Lead a closed camp. Superintendent Grier let it be understood that he would not oppose district or local unions, provided affiliation with the Western Federation was dropped, but his offer does not meet with favor by the employees.

The company has pending in the United States circuit court, a $10,000 damage suit against the local union, based on the charges that the union used force to intimidate the non-union men and injure the working efficiency of the employees.

The Empire mine, also located on the Cascade range, which passed into new hands a few years ago and has been operated almost continuously since the change in ownership, promises to be a splendid mine. It is in the silicious class, and is quite close to the land owned by the Volunteer Ore company. The latter has a big exposure of silicious ore near the Empire and it is possible that some mining work will be done at that point during the coming season. The Empire is operated by Oglebay, Norton & Co., and is the only property in this county in which that corporation is interested. The firm has operated mines on the Menominee range for several years past and is one of the important producers there. The Empire is very favorably situated for open pit mining as well as for underground work. The ore from the open pit is carried downward about 100 feet, from which point it is hoisted to surface, going direct to the crusher, from which the material is carried by endless belts to cars or stockpiles, as desired. The Empire ore averages about 42 per cent in iron and 380 per cent phosphorus, and it contains very little moisture.

It is expected that in time the Volunteer Ore company will be a producer of both Bessemer and non-Bessemer ores on the range, as the mine to be opened up near Palmer will produce a high grade ore, while there are several other points on the company's lands where non-Bessemer ore can be secured.

COUNCIL RUSHED BUSINESS THROUGH

AMENDMENT TO CHARTER ASKED BY WATER BOARD APPROVED WITHOUT OPPOSITION.

MILK ORDINANCE DEFLERRED

Dairymen to Be Given a Hearing Before the Committee on the Measure—What Else Was Done.

The pipe of peace must have been passed around before last night's council meeting, for all the business went through at lightning speed without opposition and no oratory whatever was wasted upon the ambient air. Considerable business of importance was transacted, too, chief of which was the passage of the ordinance wanted by the water board, which provides for raising the bonding limit for water and fire purposes from a flat $200,000 to 3 1/2 per cent of the assessed valuation of city property, and makes a majority of those voting sufficient to carry a proposition to increase the bonded indebtedness of the city. This ordinance will now have to go to the governor for his approval, after which it will be voted on by the people of the city, probably in the near future. It is the opinion of the water board that there is no use trying to raise money for the betterment of the water works and the water supply until these amendments are made to the charter.

Two milk ordinances were offered by the ordinance committee, but they were referred back to the committee until the next regular meeting, so that the public and the milkmen, especially, might have an opportunity to express their opinion of the measure. The dairymen were asked to meet with the committee at an early date. Neither of these ordinances compels milkmen to employ the tuberculin test on their cows, but each does provide that no milk shall be sold from animals known to be affected with the disease or the tuberculin test. One of the ordinances requires the milkmen to take out a license and keep same in a conspicuous place on their wagons; the other does not. In other respects, the two are identically the same. The ordinance requires that milk be pure, produced under prescribed sanitary conditions and sold only in glass or paper bottles.

Miscellaneous Business.

In response to a petition, it was voted to place an arc light at the corner of Fourth and Fisher streets. Furthermore, the light at the corner of Fourth and Mather streets is to be moved midway between Third and Fourth streets on Mather street.

The report of the committee on litigation and claims, recommending that Mrs. Julia Vaughan be paid $250 for an injury received from a bad sidewalk, was granted. The Clark family, who own the property abutting the bad walk, having offered to pay $100 of the amount.

William O'Meara asked permission to move the house between Foster street and Hager Bros' block to the corner of Rock and Fifth streets, which was granted.

A petition from Armour & Co., to be allowed to connect their branch house on Lake street with the city sewer, was granted.

A petition of residents of North Marquette asking for a sewer on Second and Third streets, Fair and Presque Isle avenues, was referred to the street committee.

The street commission was instructed to advertise for bids for a sewer on Front street, between Michigan and Ohio streets, the roll for which improvement was approved at the last meeting.

On motion of Alderman Downey he was voted to advertise for the construction of a wooden bridge across Dead river at the electric light station, the cost of which shall not exceed $700. This bridge has been the bone of no little contention, but last night the above motion went through with but one dissenting vote, that of Alderman Hennessy.

The claim of William Trebbleck of Ishpeming for $100 for alleged damage to his automobile while driving on Pine street last night was dismissed, for the reason that it appeared he was exceeding the speed limit when the accident occurred.

The health committee reported that they had consulted with Superintendent Farrell of the Pioneer furnace with reference to the operation of the refuse filter, as the result of which the filter was now in operation and Mr. Farrell has promised that he would continue to operate it.

The council then adjourned until Dec. 20.

A PUBLIC NUISANCE.

A Demand That the Rendering of Tallow in City Be Prohibited.

All afternoon yesterday people inquired at The Mining Journal office whether something could not be done to do away with the nauseating stench that came from A. Mantheil's meat market, corner Washington and Third streets, where beef fat was being rendered into tallow in the basement. The odor resulting from the process is most sickening and yesterday, with a westerly wind, was offensive as far as the corner of Front and Washington streets. During the afternoon, only those with the strongest stomachs could walk along Washington street between Third and Front without being unpleasantly affected by the vile smell. Last week Monday the same conditions prevailed, only the wind was in the south, and those living or having business on Third street between the railroad tracks and Ridge street were the ones to suffer. Another meat dealer stated yesterday that the other butchers took their beef fats out into the country and rendered them into tallow where no one was nearby to be troubled by the stench, and expressed himself forcibly that Mr. Mantheil should be compelled to do the same thing. There is a general demand on the part of the public that the health officer or other competent authority should declare the tallow-making in the city a nuisance, and see to it that there is no recurrence of the disgusting stench, which was the subject of universal unfavorable comment yesterday.

SIXTY-TWO LIVES LOST ON LAKES

TWENTY-FIVE VESSELS, VALUED AT $1,143,000, WENT TO MARINE GRAVEYARD IN NAVIGATION SEASON OF 1909.

At 12 o'clock Sunday night, navigation on the Great Lakes, for the year 1909, officially closed, and within a few days the immense amount of tonnage that has traversed the inland waterways since early spring, will have sought shelter in the various lake ports. With the end of the season comes the reckoning.

Twenty-five vessels, with a total tonnage of 30,116 and valued at $1,143,000, have passed out of lake history, and of those who operated these boats, sixty-two have perished. Twenty of the boats were steamers, thus adding to the monetary loss. Of the lives lost, fifty-nine drowned and three were killed in an explosion.

Chief among the causes of the many losses of the last season have been fog and collisions, the combination of which has led to many a disaster. Twenty-four collisions are recorded, and at least 50 per cent of these were caused by fog. Fire, wind and waves exacted their usual toll of money and life.

The month of November, added materially to the list of losses on the lakes, eight vessels being destroyed during that time. Every type of boats is included among the vessels lost in 1909. Steel, wooden and iron steamers and schooners that were built and were towed, went to make up the list.

The greatest loss of life on any one vessel occurred when the steamer John B. Cowle was rammed and sunk by the steamer Isaac M. Scott, near Whitefish Point in Lake Superior, on July 12. Fourteen men were drowned. Other argal losses of life were: Steamer Adella Shore, thirteen drowned; steamer Eber Ward, five drowned; tug Floss, seven drowned; barge George Nestor, seven drowned; steamer George Stone, six drowned.

List of Vessel Losses.

Following is a list of the vessel losses this season, together with their tonnage and value: Steamer Star Ward, 1,542 tons, $25,000; barge George Nestor, 100 tons, $12,000; steamer Russia, 1,501 tons, $45,000; steamer Adella Shore, 734 tons, $28,000; steamer Auraria, 3,218 tons, $175,000; steamer Iron Age, 1,114 tons, $25,000; steamer W. P. Tew, 207 tons, $8,000; steamer Tempest No. 2, 309 tons, $10,000; schooner John Schutte, 269 tons, $2,500; steamer John B. Cowle, 4,731 tons, $200,000; steamer E. B. Lah, 1,454 tons, $50,000; schooner E. B. Maxwell, 327 tons, $5,000; steamer John Pringle, Jr., 1,173 tons, $15,000; steamer Sauson, 1,906 tons, $10,000; steamer Montague, 1,276 tons, $55,000; schooner Van Straubenzie, 317 tons, $5,000; steamer George Stone, 1,841 tons, $50,000; steamer Falsen, 845 tons, $20,000; steamer John B. Last year's record was: Sixteen vessels lost valued at $31,000 with a total tonnage of 26,250; total loss of life, thirty-three.

SCHOOL AND HOME FOR GIRLS NEEDED

AT LARGE MEETING YESTERDAY, PROJECT TO BUY HOTEL SUPERIOR WAS DISCUSSED.

ORGANIZATION IS EFFECTED

Local Women to Solicit Subscriptions and Miss Walz Will Present Plan to Women's Societies of State.

A large and representative delegation of Marquette women gathered in the assembly room of the city hall yesterday afternoon and took the first steps toward organizing for the purpose of purchasing the Hotel Superior and transforming it into a home and school for foreign and friendless girls, a home for aged women and a sanitarium. Miss Maggie Walz of Calumet, the well-known social settlement worker and the originator of the project, was present and spoke on the great need and possibilities of such an institution, after which a large proportion of the women present asked questions, made suggestions or expressed themselves enthusiastically in its favor.

At the close of the meeting, the following officers were elected to promote the scheme: President, Mrs. Charles Schaffer; vice president, Mrs. George Higbee; secretary, Mrs. H. O. Bell; assistant secretary, Mrs. D. Keough; treasurer, Mrs. Catlin. Mrs. Schaffer has since declined to act as president. These officers form an executive board which is to hold a meeting within a few days and appoint working committees to raise the necessary funds.

Miss Walz stated in her address that she had been offered the hotel and twenty-two acres of land for $80,000, one-third cash and the balance on long time payments. She stated that most of the furniture was still in the hotel and that she believed that the repairs and changes necessary to make the building suitable for its proposed use would not cost more than $5,000. As to maintenance when the one in operation, she believed that the institution ought to be run at a cost of not to exceed $2,500 a year at the start and that in a few years it would become self-supporting.

State Organizations May Help.

Miss Walz left yesterday afternoon for Grand Rapids, where she is a delegate to the State Woman's Suffrage convention, before which body of women she will submit the Marquette project and solicit financial support. Later, she expects to ask assistance from the state W. C. T. U., the state Federation of Women's clubs and several other women's societies. She anticipates that the project will receive financial support from the charities inclined throughout this part of the United States and that it would be a good plan to ask contributions from Andrew Carnegie and other philanthropists of national renown. She states that wealthy Chicago women and others living outside of the upper peninsula have promised substantial contributions to the project, once the Marquette people show that they are willing and ready to make the first move.

In speaking of the need for and possibilities of the proposed institution, Miss Walz spoke enthusiastically and with much feeling. She emphasized particularly the need of a school where foreign girls coming to this country, who knew nothing of the American language or American ways of doing things, could go and be taught domestic science and the English language. She stated that numbers of such girls in the copper country came to her and that even now she knew of fifteen or twenty that she would like to place in such a school. Under present conditions, these girls often either fall into the hands of life slave agents or marry someone for whom they have no love, simply to get a home. Her work among the Finnish people has convinced her that a large proportion of the unhappy marriages are the result of this condition, which is helping to fill the jails, prisons and insane asylums.

Taught to Do Housework.

By a few months' training in such an institution as is proposed for Marquette, these girls could be taught how to wash, clean, cook and do housework so that they could accept places as domestics and give satisfactory service. She suggested having agents of the institution at the trains and bringing them to the school before they had an opportunity to fall into evil hands. Such a work would not only be a great benefit to the girls themselves but would be of great assistance to those employing servants, many of whom would contribute to the support of such an institution.

Time forbade much discussion as to the old ladies' home and sanitarium features of the plan, but it is understood that these departments would be so managed as to reduce the expense of carrying on the work for the friendless girls. The project is one in which the women of Marquette seem to be intensely interested and in which they will do their part toward carrying to a successful consummation.

Miss Walz states without reservation that she has no motive in urging the establishment of the home, other than her desire to help the less fortunate girls, and that she does not care to have any active part in its management, though she is willing to do everything in her power to help it along.
