

CAUCUS CHOOSES HOUSE COMMITTEE

Meeting of the Republican Congressmen Is a Bitter Affair but Rather More Peaceful Than Most Observers Expected.

Rejection of One of the Two Democratic Selections for Membership on the Ballinger-Pinchot Investigating Body Is One Stirring Incident, and the Bolt of Six 'Insurgents' Under the Lead of Mr. Cooper of Wisconsin Is Another One.

Washington, Jan. 19.—A caucus of the Republican members of the house tonight named the house side of the Ballinger-Pinchot investigating committee and rejected Mr. Rainey of Illinois, one of the two Democrats selected by the Democratic caucus last Saturday night as the house minority representatives.

The six men include three "regular" Republicans, McCall, of Massachusetts; O'Leary, of Pennsylvania; and Denison, of Michigan; one "insurgent" Republican, Madison, of Kansas; and two Democrats, James, of Kentucky, and Lloyd, of Missouri, the latter in the place of Rainey.

The caucus while bitter, was more peaceful than most expected. There was a bolt of six insurgents, led by Mr. Cooper, of Wisconsin, the other bolters being Lenroot, Nelson and Carey, of Wisconsin, and Davis and Landberg, of Minnesota. The matter probably will come up before the house tomorrow and it is expected that the Democrats will vote to repudiate the Republican caucus action.

Mr. Cooper declared that he was authorized by a number of his colleagues to say that they were opposed to the Republican caucus naming the Democratic members of the committee.

Mr. Cooper constantly caused laughter by his repeated allusions to Ollie James as "Jesse" James.

STATUE ADORNED WITH FLOWERS. Gen. Lee's Memory Honored in Unprecedented Manner at Washington.

Washington, Jan. 19.—In unprecedented manner was the memory of Robert E. Lee honored at the Capitol today, despite the opposition which developed in the senate yesterday against any action by the United States government looking toward honoring the Confederate general.

The members of congress saw the extraordinary addition to the Lee statue in Statuary Hall of a huge bouquet of flowers. Attachments of the Capitol declared that the placing of flowers on a statue in the hall of fame in honor of the birthday thus commemorated marked a precedent.

New York, Jan. 19.—General Robert E. Lee was lauded tonight as an ideal of American citizenship by the speakers at the annual dinner of the Confederate Veteran camp of New York. A resolution was adopted endorsing the movement to found a permanent memorial of George Washington at Washington to be the home of the Confederate and other national organizations.

GERMANY'S TARIFF POLICY. American Goods Will Likely Pay the Very Highest Rates.

Berlin, Jan. 19.—The government has decided that in the event an agreement upon reciprocal tariffs between the United States and Germany is not reached by Feb. 7, when the present tariff expires, Germany's general tariff rates must under the law be applied to the American imports at present coming in under the conventional tariff.

Washington, Jan. 19.—To make clear the reasons that influenced the president in recommending the minimum tariff rates under the Payne-Aldrich act to the six countries named in the proclamation issued yesterday, the state department today made public a concise review of the trade relations between those countries and the United States. This shows the enormous volume of trade between these countries and America and makes apparent the fact that in no case has any of them sought to deprive the United States of that equality of trade which is accorded by the European countries toward one another.

New York, Jan. 19.—With Colonel Robert C. Clowry, president of the Western Union Telegraph company, on the witness stand, and with the name of William J. Corners, of Buffalo, chairman of the Democratic state committee, complete with an alleged $2,000,000 stock transfer, the proceedings of the state legislative committee which is trying to determine the advisability of placing the telegraph and telephone lines under the jurisdiction of the public service commission were brightened today.

In a letter addressed to the chairman of the commission, State Senator George A. Davis, James E. O'Grady, of Rochester, N. Y., wants to know why Corners' right and a half cent, have not had experience in this line, but I would not object to reasonable control or regulation. The principle seems correct, so far as our business is concerned." Colonel Clowry replied when asked his opinion as to governmental control.

Colonel Clowry testified that his company had made an average profit of only three and a half cents a message last year. The average price paid, he testified, was thirty-two cents, and the average cost to the company was twenty-eight and a half cents. He has not had experience in this line, but I would not object to reasonable control or regulation. The principle seems correct, so far as our business is concerned." Colonel Clowry replied when asked his opinion as to governmental control.

HEARST SOARS ALOFT WITH LOUIS PAULHAN. New York Publisher One of a Number of Passengers That the French Aviator Takes Up With Him in a Series of Flights at Los Angeles—One Trip Is Made Over the Ocean.

Los Angeles, Jan. 19.—By carrying one passenger in a biplane on a twenty-two-mile cross-country trip to a point half a mile out over the ocean, by taking another passenger on a twelve-mile flight and by taking three other passengers, one at a time, on short flights, Louis Paulhan today established a new aeroplane record.

The passenger-carrying record is held by Orville Wright, who flew with Captain Englehart one hour and thirty-five minutes at Berlin last fall. Paulhan was gone thirty-three minutes on his twenty-two mile trip. He had as his passenger his wife. The twelve-mile trip was made with Clifford B. Harmon, of New York. Another passenger he took up was Wm. Randolph Hearst, the newspaper publisher.

Lieutenant Beck, on one trip with Paulhan, took up a number of dummy dynamite bombs in an attempt to throw them to a marked place on the ground. While not successful in placing the bombs in the square, he demonstrated that the aeroplane could be used for such purpose.

Charles K. Hamilton made three unsuccessful starts in an attempt to lower Paulhan's altitude record. Glenn H. Curtiss made two short flights. Tomorrow is the last day of the meet.

UPHOLDS STATES RIGHTS. Governors in Session at Washington Advise to Federal Control.

Washington, Jan. 19.—"States rights" was the burden of most of the addresses at the conference of the governors today, with particular reference to the conservation of resources and the regulation of public service corporations. The interchange of views showed a unanimity of opinion as to the necessity for state action.

Ambassador Bryce, of Great Britain, believed the conference would place the importance of the government, and that the chief executive of each state was coming more and more to be looked upon as the personal representative of the people of his state.

Governor Eberhart, of Minnesota, introduced a resolution defining the jurisdiction of the state and federal courts in matters involving interstate commerce. Two sessions today were followed by a dinner at the White House tonight.

Governor Wilson, of Kentucky, declared that the states should have control over water power and the federal government did not have a scintilla of right to it.

Gray of the trust company insists that the requirements of the will be carried out. Dr. White may enter court in an attempt to prevent what he calls desecration.

WALL STREET GETS ANOTHER BAD SCORE

Two Business Failures and Wide Declines in the Value of Stocks Follow the Collapse of a Market Pool.

Columbus & Hocking Coal & Iron Shares Are Unloaded Regardless of Price When the Banks Refuse to Make Further Loans With the Securities as Collateral, Whereupon There Is Produced a Demoralization That Shakes the District.

New York, Jan. 19.—With a break of more than sixty points today, the so-called Columbus & Hocking Coal & Iron pool went to pieces, two stock exchange houses were forced to suspend and the market generally underwent severe declines, involving the heaviest trading since the day that Edward H. Harriman died. The total sales were 1,634,500 shares. An inquiry by the governors of the New York Stock exchange probably will be the aftermath. The firms involved are J. M. Fiske & Co. and Lathrop, Haskins & Co. Their failures were caused by the collapse of the pool, and involuntary petitions in bankruptcy were filed against both. In addition to the two firms mentioned, it was reported tonight that two other stock exchange concerns will be forced to suspend tomorrow.

In the case of J. M. Fiske & Co., the liabilities of the firm are placed by the creditors at $750,000, with assets of $600,000. In the case of Lathrop, Haskins & Co., however, estimated liabilities at $2,500,000 at the close of business Tuesday afternoon, with assets of $2,900,000. He did not estimate the firm's resources after today's developments. The assets and liabilities are not stated in the petition against Lathrop, Haskins & Co., though it is alleged that the claims of the creditors on stock accounts aggregate $16,200.

The collapse of the pool was brought about primarily by the refusal of the banks to make further advances on the stock as collateral and the failure of those who were long of the stock to make good impaired margins. In all 45,000 shares of Columbus & Hocking changed hands at a range of from 88 1/2 to 25. The stock closed at 33, a net loss of 54 1/2 points. The entire market closed weak. There were reports of an investigation by the stock exchange authorities into the operations of the pool, but this was denied. According to the common belief James R. Keene was active in the market movement of Columbus & Hocking. Some of his associates said, however, that Mr. Keene's interest in that stock had been withdrawn.

Whole Market Acutely Affected. Those concerned in the stock market had their attention diverted today from the general causes affecting values to those having to do with speculative causes. The collapse of Columbus & Hocking and the episode of Dec. 27 and gave rise to the question whether an investigation might follow.

The activities of the market pool in Hocking stock have been notorious for months, in the course of which counterfeits in bear traders have attempted to profit by the evidence of the inflation of the price of the stock by short sales. So perfect has been the control of the stock by the pool, however, that its promoters have been able to mete out punishment to the bear and at the same time further project an advancing market for their holdings. Today the banks called in the loans from the holders of the stock and left them obliged to market their stock for what it would bring.

The price of the last price yesterday and 87 1/2 for the last price yesterday and 92 1/2 last week, represents the rare suddenness of the deflation. The sympathy affect was severe on stocks open to suspicion of having been treated in a similar way. The violence of the fall in prices in itself gave rise to many rumors. The announcement of two stock exchange failures, due to the collapse of the Hocking pool, naturally stimulated the spread of such rumors. The course of events encouraged the bear party to extend their operations and made them bold in their raising tactics.

The opening of the market gave promise of advancing prices, helped by foreign buying induced by the better feeling created in English financial circles by the news from the elections. The stocks of the standard railroad companies for a time showed resistance to the weakness, but were the special object of a drive against prices in the final hour. The prices closed above the lowest and with an active rally in progress.

RAILROAD CHARGES THAT IT HAS BEEN PLUNDERED.

By Reason of an Alleged Conspiracy Worked by Its Former President and Others, the Chicago & Western Indiana Company Declares, It Is Out at Least $850,000.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—Charges that Benjamin Thomas, former president of the Chicago & Western Indiana railroad; Charles R. Kappes, former real estate dealer for the road; and John C. Fetzner have obtained at least $850,000 from the railroad through a real estate conspiracy are made in a bill for an accounting filed in the circuit court here today. The bill was filed by the Chicago & Western Indiana Railroad company.

When the railroad wished to acquire property, the bill says, Thomas would refer the matter to Kappes. Then Fetzner, who was in the real estate business, would be directed to make the purchase and the money would be turned over to him. It is charged in the bill that in his report to the railroad company Fetzner would give a greater amount than he had paid. Then he would divide the difference between the price reported to the railroad and the real price with Thomas and Kappes. The bill was sworn to by E. B. Fryer, president of the railroad.

Governor Eberhart, of Minnesota, was an unexpected speaker at the afternoon session. "So long as food is necessary to human life," the governor said, "agriculture must remain the most vital industry of the state. The conservation movement extends to the elimination of wasteful methods, such as continual single-cropping, robbing the soil of its nutrients, and expensive methods of transportation."

The establishment of a legislative reference bureau to bring greater uniformity in legislation was urged by Chas. E. McCarthy, of Wisconsin.

E. W. M'PHERSON,
Secretary.

There's more action in the cotton market just now than anywhere else in the country.

In short Secretary Ballinger has no more intention of resigning than has our Uncle Joe.

This organized boycott of high priced meats is all very well in its way, but can the boycotters tell us where they can get equivalent food values at any cheaper prices?

Representative Hitchcock's attack on Secretary Ballinger is doubtless part of the Democrat's campaign to gain a supply of ammunition for the congressional elections.

From the way the Democrats are turning their fire on Colonel Roosevelt one would almost get the idea that they expect him to be a candidate for president again in 1912. Are they taking the "Return from Elba" talk too seriously?

Tay Pay O'Connor was returned to parliament with 500 more majority than he had in 1906, despite the fact that he spent most of the time when the canvass was in progress in America, collecting funds for the "home rule" cause. Evidently Tay Pay has a strong grip on his constituency.

On the face of the latest returns, it appears that the majority that the government will be able to command in the house of commons, when the British elections are finished, will have as many discordant elements in it as the Republican majority in the house of representatives, and will require equally delicate handling.

Governor Hughes has made a statement this week that will immensely please the old machine leaders, namely, that it is his unalterable purpose to retire from politics at the close of his present term and once more resume the practice of law. He intimates that this will be his course, irrespective of the status at the close of his present term of the measures in which he is particularly interested. It will be surprising if knowledge that Governor Hughes is to quit will not stiffen the opposition to these measures, particularly his primary nominations bill. Fear that Hughes might be a candidate again has had a restraining influence on the illiberal members of the legislature, but they will take his word of his intention to step out of the governor's office as final, for they have found that his word can be implicitly relied on.

SIMPLE REMEDY FOR LAGRIFFE.

LaGrippe coughs are dangerous as they frequently develop into pneumonia. Foley's Honey and Tar not only stops the cough, but heals and strengthens the lungs so that no serious results need be feared. The genuine Foley's Honey and Tar contains no harmful drugs and is in a yellow package. Sold by all druggists.

A LOVELY TANGLE.

The action of Judge Chetlain in Chicago in setting aside the decree of divorce obtained by Willis Counselman, which brings to a conclusion a case celebre in that city, causes a sweet tangle for Counselman and Mrs. Counselman No. 2, in which, however, they are wholly undeserving of sympathy, for it is apparent that both are involved in the fraud that was perpetrated against the court.

When Counselman sued for divorce his attorneys represented in his behalf, and he bore their representations out by his testimony, that his first wife had deserted him, and had paid no heed to his requests that she return to him. The facts of the case are that Mrs. Counselman was a patient in an asylum for the insane at the time, a thing that Counselman concealed from the court, and he had knowledge that he could not obtain a decree of divorce from an insane woman.

On the basis of this misrepresentation he obtained the decree he sought, qualified by the requirement that he should not remarry within a year, Judge Chetlain holds that it was proved that Mrs. Counselman No. 2, formerly Miss Clara French, had knowledge of this qualification when she became the wife of Counselman in Indiana five days after the divorce was secured, and considers that her conduct made her a party to the fraud against the court.

The annulment of the decree makes Counselman the legal husband of Mrs. Counselman No. 1, makes Mrs. Counselman No. 2 Miss Clara French again, and leaves the interesting question of just who and what she was in the interval between the hasty marriage following the obtaining of the fraudulent decree and its annulment a matter for Mother Grundy and her former social associates to decide.

The proceedings carry a certain warning to twentieth century Americans eager to get off with the old love and on with the new. It is dangerous business to try and job the courts. They, at least, should be dealt frankly and honestly with. Not to do so is to sow a crop of trouble almost certain to fruit in a rich harvest. Counselman and the erstwhile Mrs. Counselman No. 2, now Miss Clara French, cut sorry figures in the light of Judge Chetlain's decision and opinion, and the worst of their plight is the general opinion that their predicament could be even a sadder one and still not be unmerited.

WALSH FOLLOWS MORSE.

Two years elapsed between the time when John R. Walsh was sentenced to serve five years in the federal prison at Fort Leavenworth and the time when he was finally taken to that institution. The intervening months were given over to attempts by his able attorneys to secure a new trial. Over a year elapsed before the decision of the court of appeals on the demand for a new hearing was handed down. As it was adverse to the defendant, the attorneys turned themselves to other ways of attacking the sentence of the court. They were driven to the last ditch when they appealed to the federal supreme court for a writ of certiorari, which was refused this week. This action by the supreme court made it certain that Walsh would go to Fort Leavenworth. In the final attempt before the lower court to clear a rehearing, the allegations set up were substantially the same as were made the ground for the first appeal for a new trial, and it was a foregone conclusion that the court would hold them of sufficient weight to warrant a review of the case as originally submitted.

The spectacle of Walsh incarcerated in prison at the age of seventy-two years, after a life time of success and triumphs, is a pitiable one, but there can be no doubt of the justice of his sentence. His proved violations of the banking laws were of the most flagrant character, and of the kind that must be discouraged by severe penalties, if bankers are to be certain that violation of their trusts will be visited by condign punishment. Walsh, like Morse, sought every court to which an appeal could be taken in an endeavor to stave off his prison sentence. He, like Morse, had the service of the ablest counsel that could be secured. No technical point that could be turned to his advantage was overlooked. But the courts consistently ruled against him, and the record of the case shows that all of them concur in holding that he was properly convicted and properly sentenced.

The cases of Morse and Walsh show that while the resource of ample money may enable a convicted man to stave off, for the time being, the beginning of a sentence properly reached in the trial court, it is not powerful to ultimately defeat the ends of justice. The just sentences of the courts must finally be entered on, by wealthy and poor criminals alike. The infrequent exceptions simply prove the rule.

There is some talk of a pardon for Walsh. President Taft will not grant such a pardon hastily. The only ground on which it can properly be asked is that incarceration is dissipating Walsh's strength, already sapped by old age, and that to keep him in prison is to condemn him to death. But it will take some months to show how Walsh stands imprisonment. If his health continues good he should serve the last day of his sentence, less good time, as should Morse at the Atlanta prison. Neither of these men should be extended special consideration. Crime should be a great leveler, and no distinction of caste or purse should be permitted to penetrate into prison walls.

Upper Peninsula

Ore Taken from Miner's Eye.
A piece of ore twice the size of a pin-head has been removed from the eye of George Gorman, a miner, of Anasa, Iron county. It had been in the eye ever since the man was injured in an explosion sixteen months ago.

His Roosters Famous Fighters.
J. A. Poiron of Daggett, Menominee county, claims for his roosters the cock-fighting championship of the state. His "Red Diggers" have taken part in many dozen fights the past few years, and have won them all. He expects now to enter his birds in a tournament at Lansing Feb. 1 for a purse of $300.

Burns to Break the Hoodoo?
In the Schoolcraft representative district every member that has served one term has always been anxious for a re-nomination, but somehow he has always been shelved. The present member, Hon. W. R. Burns, of Munising, is a candidate to succeed himself and politicians are wondering if he will break the hoodoo that has hovered about a re-nomination for that particular office. No opposition has developed this far.

St. Ignace Claims the Palm.
St. Ignace is coming to the front rapidly in the struggle for higher education. A few years ago it was a rare event for a young man or woman of that place to attend college. This year the city town claims the palm for being represented at various seats of learning by more students than any town in the state for its size. Twenty young people from there are enrolled at different colleges in Michigan and St. Ignace has but 2,500 inhabitants.

Kept Store Closed Saturdays.
Fred Cota, a well-known Menominee groceryman, is dead from Bright's disease, with which he had suffered for several years. Mrs. Cota is confined to her bed with a bad attack of quincy and is expected to die. She was forty-five years old. He had lived in Menominee twenty-four years. Aside from his wife, he is survived by five children. He joined the Seventh Day Adventist church some years ago and since that time has never had his store open for business on a Saturday.

Old Residents Not Citizens.
As a result of investigations that have been conducted by representatives of the United States Immigration department, a large number of Escanaba residents, who have thought themselves citizens of the United States for years, have learned that they have been laboring under a false belief. A number of such cases have developed in circuit court this week. Among these instances was that of James H. Elliott, a former circuit member and for several years prominent in the city's affairs, who discovered that he was not a full fledged citizen of the United States because of a discrepancy in his papers. He has now taken the formal oath of allegiance.

Doctors Put Prices Up.
After Feb. 1 it will cost more to be ill in Menominee and Marquette. The physicians, believing that they have not been receiving sufficient money for their services, have formulated a set of fees which they will all adhere to. In most cases they are above the amount now being charged, but they are on a par with what the physicians throughout the region generally are receiving. Day calls hereafter will be $1.50. This is fifty cents higher than the present charge. Night calls, from 10 p. m. to 7 a. m., will be $2.50, office consultation $1 and professional advice over the telephone $1. In addition to this the extra fixed fees for surgical and hospital attendance.

Child Dies from Burns.
As the result of shocking burns, the three-year-old son of Justin Richards is dead at Iron Mountain. The mother had stepped into the back yard for a few minutes. Upon her return the first sight her eyes gazed upon was the motionless form of her little son lying prostrate in front of the kitchen stove. Investigation disclosed that he was dead. The child wore a night gown and a fleeced lined underwear, and it is presumed that as he played with the fire in the stove a spark alighted upon his clothing. It was only a year ago that the boy, while playing with matches, set fire to the curtain, and then but narrowly escaped an untimely death. James D. Cudlip, who chanced to be passing, rushed to the assistance and extinguished the flames before any injury was done.

Man Found Frozen.
Henry Oberdorfer, roadmaster of the Peninsula division of the Northwestern while standing in the rear of the Anasa passenger train near Balsam, Iron county, noticed a man lying in the snow off to the side of the track. He reported the fact to the authorities and they went to the scene. The man was identified as Ugho Callanen, an Italian farmer who lived about one mile east of Balsam. The corpse lay about three-quarters of a mile south of the Balsam station at a place where there is a big fill. The unfortunate man evidently got down off the track and could not get back again. The snow was tramped down around the body and marks on the bank showed that he had made desperate efforts to get back on the track. Callanen had been to Crystal Falls to get provisions for his family and it is believed that on his way home he was taken violently ill. The weather was bitterly cold, and the man froze to death. A wife and two children survive him.

SAVED AT DEATH'S DOOR.

The door of death seemed ready to open for Murray W. Ayers, of Transit Bridge, N. Y., when his life was wonderfully saved. "I was in a dreadful condition," he writes, "my skin was almost yellow; eyes sunken; tongue coated; emaciated from losing forty pounds, growing weaker daily. Virulent liver trouble was pulling me down to death in spite of the best of doctors. Then I met a medicine—Electric Bitters—cured me. I regained the forty pounds lost and now am well and strong." For all stomach, liver and kidney troubles they're supreme. 50c. at The Stafford Drug Co.

A LAUGH OR TWO.

Taking Precautions.
A young "briefless" was perambulating the courts with an air of scarcely being able to find time to do anything—when his boy tracked him down in one of the corridors.
"Oh, sir!" said the boy, "there is a man at your office with a brief, sir."
"What a brief! Great heavens!"
And the young fellow began to run through the passages as fast as he could for fear the prey should escape him.
"Stop, sir, stop!" cried the boy, who could scarcely keep pace. "You needn't hurry, sir; I've locked him in!"—M. A. P.

Toothpicks as a Diet.

A well-known sculptor tells the following story:
"Whenever I see a toothpick I think of a dinner that was given in Rome in honor of Turkish noblemen.
"I sat beside the younger of the noblemen. He glittered with gold embroidery and great diamonds, but nevertheless I gazed at him sincerely, for he was strange to our table manners, and some of his errors were both ludicrous and painful.
"Toward the dinner's end a servant extended to the young man a plate of toothpicks. He waved the plate away, saying in a low and bitter voice:
"No thank you, I have already eaten two of the accursed things, and I want no more."—Independent.

In Dryest Maine.

Professor Ira Remsen, president of the Johns Hopkins university and head of the National Academy of Sciences, spends all his vacations in Maine. It is a matter of recent history that Maine is dry, but Dr. Remsen had reason one day to suspect that if he had to get a drink of whisky some day to save his life he would never be in danger of death in Maine.
The doctor was bicycling and his pedal broke. He required the way to the nearest blacksmith shop, and following the directions arrived at a ramshackle place, the door of which was closed, but not locked. He opened the door, and pushing his bicycle ahead was surprised to see a crowd of men sitting around an improvised tray, on which were a bottle and some glasses.
Somewhat abashed the doctor said: "I wonder if I am in the right place?"
"Yes," said the blacksmith, "What'll you have, rye or Scotch?"—New York Sun.

One on the Doctor.

The American Druggist credits Dr. Arthur Holbrook with the following:
A man by the name of Evans died, and went to heaven. When he arrived at the pearly gates he said to St. Peter:
"St. Peter asked his name, 'John Evans,' was the reply.
St. Peter looked through the book and shook his head.
"You don't belong here," he said.
"But I am sure I belong here," said the man.
"Wait a minute," said Peter. He looked again, and in the back part of the book found the name.
"Sure," said the guardian of the gate, "you belong here, but you weren't expected for twenty years. Who's your doctor?"

Book learning, strictly speaking—that is, learning from books—leads one into many a hole. In "The Balkan Trail" Frederick Moore tells the story of an Italian official of the Ottoman bank who had taught himself English and was enraptured at the chance to practice it on English people.
It was with much pride that he addressed us at supper, but we did not recognize the language he spoke and expressed in French our unfortunate ignorance of foreign tongues.
"That is your own tongue," said the Italian, but even of this statement we understood not a word.
He drew a pencil from his pocket and on the back of a letter wrote:
"I am speaking English."
We were astounded.
"Perhaps I do not pronounce correctly," he wrote next. "I have learned the noble language from books."
The hilarious Englishman in our party gave the unhappy Italian his first real lesson at once. He took the pencil and wrote:
"Always pronounce English as it is not spelt. Spell as it is not pronounced."

HOUGHTON VILLAGE COUNCIL.

Important Matters Taken Up at Tuesday's Extra Session.

The Houghton council took one action at the meeting Tuesday night which is of utmost importance to the village. This was a decision to purchase more land surrounding the village water supply. At first glance the action may not appear to be of great moment, but when it is understood that the water supply of Houghton depends on springs and the watershed from the hills south of the village, its importance may be realized.

The matter was called to the attention of the village committee by one of the young men, who is just about twenty-one. It was rumored that some one was cutting trees from the lands surrounding the water supply. The committee investigated and found that some trees had been cut through error, but not enough to do any damage. Then the council came to a realization of the danger to the water supply through the building up of the immediate district, the cutting of trees on surrounding lands and the natural danger of contamination in the circumstances. It was decided to purchase more land in order to obviate this danger and Tuesday night the committee was empowered by the council to survey the required area. The lands to be purchased are the property of the Dakotah Hecla company and the old South Side Mining company. After the survey is made the council will open negotiations for purchase.

Electrical Inspection.

Another matter taken up was the electrical inspection ordinance. The council had passed a copy of the Laurium ordinance and it was referred to Village Attorney Hamblitz, who will combine its best features with those of the existing ordinance and then a notice will be sent to the owners of buildings that are wired. If defects are found he will notify the owner to stop using current and he will notify the electric company to stop furnishing it. The owner of the building must pay fees for the inspection, based on a sliding scale. No electrical work may be begun without first notifying the inspector that it is contemplated.

New Fire Ordinance.

The village attorney was also entrusted with the duty of framing a new fire ordinance. The limits will extend from Franklin street west to Southalong Sheldon street and including everything from 100 feet north of Montezuma street. All buildings in this district must be of brick, stone or concrete and no buildings covered with corrugated iron or other sheeting, or veneered buildings, will be permitted. Persons desiring to make repairs to existing buildings or additions to the same must apply to the council.

Paving for Side Streets.

A resolution was passed instructing the street committee to engage an engineer to prepare plans and specifications for the paving of one block on Dakotah, Quincy, Powable, and Portage streets, south from Sheldon, and two blocks of Dodge and Huron streets, to Alliance, to accommodate the traffic to the county building. The pavement will be of sandstone. It will be laid on a sand cushion and no concrete foundation will be used. There will be curb and gutter and space left for a grass plot on both sides of the streets.

NOTABLE HANCOCK WEDDING.

Miss Lucy Gartner becomes the bride of Hugo Field.

Miss Lucy Gartner, daughter of Jacob Gartner of Hancock, was married Tuesday evening at the home of the bride's father, recently of Moorhead, Minn. Dr. Levokovitz of Duluth performed the ceremony in the presence of a large number of invited guests, who later sat down to an elaborate dinner.

The nuptial party entered the parlor at the Calumet & Hecla orchestra played Lohengrin's wedding march. The bride and groom stood under a pretty bowery of smilax and white roses during the ceremony. Miss Gartner was attended by Miss Mamie Stern and Miss Ella Stern, cousins of the groom, and the groom was supported by Samuel Field, his brother, and Isador Gartner, brother of the bride. Mrs. E. H. Wolfstein, a sister of the bride, was matron of honor.

Mrs. Field is the youngest daughter of Jacob Gartner, Hancock's most prominent merchant. Mr. Field is a rising young businessman of Moorhead, Minn., where he is junior partner of the firm of Stern & Field, clothing. This firm has taken over the clothing department of the big Gartner department store at Hancock and will conduct both establishments.

Mr. and Mrs. Field left Tuesday evening for Duluth and other Western cities, where they will spend their honeymoon. They will return in about four weeks and will be at home in their handsome residence in East Hancock.

Danderine

GROWS HAIR and we can PROVE IT!

A lady from Minnesota writes:
"As a result of using Danderine, my hair is close to five feet in length."

Beautiful Hair At Small Cost
Hair troubles, like many other diseases, have been wrongly diagnosed and altogether misunderstood. The hair itself is not the thing to be treated, for the reason that it is simply a product of the scalp and is wholly dependent upon its action. The scalp is the very soil in which the hair is produced, nurtured and grown, and it alone should receive the attention if results are to be expected. It would do no earthly good to treat the stem of a plant with a view of making it grow and become more beautiful, if the soil in which the plant grows must be attended to. Therefore the scalp, in which the hair grows must receive the attention if you are to expect it to grow and become more beautiful. Loss of hair is caused by the scalp drying up or losing its supply of moisture or nutriment; when baldness occurs the scalp has simply lost all its nutriment, leaving nothing but the hair to feed upon (a plant or even a tree would die under similar conditions).

The natural thing to do in either case, is to feed and replenish the soil or scalp as the case may be and your hair will grow and multiply as nature intended it should.

Knott's Danderine has a most wonderful effect upon the scalp. It is the only remedy for the hair ever discovered that is similar to the natural hair foods or liquids of the scalp.

It penetrates the pores quickly and the hair soon shows the effects of its wonderfully exhilarating and life-producing qualities.

One 25-cent bottle is enough to convince you of its great worth as a hair growing and hair beautifying remedy. It is sold by all druggists.

NOW at all druggists in three sizes, 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle.

JUMPED DOWN A MINE SHAFT.

Alfredo Felipi, Young Miner, First Shot Woman and Himself.

Alfredo Felipi, a young miner employed at the Quincy, is under arrest at the county jail. He will probably be charged with assault with intent to murder, but the most striking feature of his case is the manner in which he attempted to escape after the alleged assault.

Felipi called at the house of Mrs. Pahoni, West Hancock, about 11 o'clock Tuesday night and asked for lodging. She refused the accommodation and the youth, who is just about twenty-one, in his rage, pulled a revolver and fired at her. He wounded her in the arm, then jumped out of the window and got away. The woman's injury was not serious.

Later in the night Felipi was found at a depth of 140 feet in a Quincy shaft and it is believed that he jumped into the shaft in trying to escape. His clothing was all mud and badly torn and he was dazed but uninjured from the fall. There was a bullet hole in his right cheek.

Mrs. Pahoni later stated that when Felipi fired one shot at her she struck his arm and she believed that the second shot struck him. This caused the wound in his face. Dr. Jackson, county physician, extracted the bullet yesterday afternoon.

It is believed Felipi is insane. He will be held at the jail for a time until his actions may be observed and on this observation will depend his arraignment.

PUTS IT UP TO SUPERVISORS.

Houghton County Anti-Tuberculosis Society Wants Sanatorium.

The Houghton County Anti-Tuberculosis society is preparing for a clash with the Houghton county board of supervisors. The society has concluded the consumptives must be isolated in just the same manner as small-pox patients, diphtheria patients and others suffering with dangerous communicable diseases and it believes that the county must provide for their care.

A general meeting of the society will be held next Tuesday night for the purpose of discussing the matter. The meeting was called by the directors, who passed a resolution to the effect that the society should appropriate a certain amount of present and subsequent funds for the establishment of a tuberculosis sanatorium. But the society has no funds, at least not a sufficient fund to carry out this plan, and it is going to be put up to the supervisors.

Christmas Stamp Receipts.
The office of the anti-tuberculosis society announces that the receipts from the sale of Christmas stamps totalled $1,134. Some credit is given a group of schoolboys who sold stamps during Christmas week, realizing $13.50 for the society. These boys were Norman Jones, Hugh and Walter McNair, Taylor Sewber, Raymond Speer and George Owens. The boys were to receive a commission for their work, but they very generously donated their commissions to the society.

A NEW ATHLETIC FIELD. ELABORATE PROGRAM PREPARED.

Champion Mining Company of Painesdale Favors Sports.

The Champion Mining company of Painesdale has just completed the work of clearing a twelve-acre tract in "B" location which later will be turned into an athletic park. The great size of the site will make possible the playing of all outdoor games. Ever since the organization of cricket and baseball teams at this location there has been need of athletic grounds, and the action of the company is much appreciated.

The timber from this acreage has been cut into logs and fuel. The logs number close to 1,000 and will be used as mine timber at the Champion property. Close to 800 cords of wood have been cut from the other timber.

FIVE INSANE COMMITTED.
A delegation of sheriff's officers left Houghton yesterday morning in charge of five insane patients, three men and two women. One man goes to the home for the feeble minded at Lapeer and the other four to the upper peninsula hospital for the insane at Newberry. This is the largest number of insane patients taken out of Houghton county for some time.

A new ruling of the department of state compels the probate judges of the counties to make monthly reports of the number of insane committed from their counties. The probate judge of Houghton will be the first to report from Houghton county. The first report from Houghton county will be made out Feb. 10 and will probably show a large number, judging from the five sent yesterday and others already sent during the month.

THREE MEN AND TWO WOMEN TAKEN TO STATE INSTITUTIONS YESTERDAY.

A delegation of sheriff's officers left Houghton yesterday morning in charge of five insane patients, three men and two women. One man goes to the home for the feeble minded at Lapeer and the other four to the upper peninsula hospital for the insane at Newberry. This is the largest number of insane patients taken out of Houghton county for some time.

A NEW VISITING NURSE.

The society announces that the services of Miss Caroline Ehlert of Chicago have been engaged. Miss Ehlert will be the visiting nurse and will take up the practical work of the society. She has gained her experience in the Chicago Tuberculosis institute and comes highly recommended. Miss Ehlert will take up her duties here Feb. 1.

ORGANIZING OSBORN CLUBS.

W. R. Oates Active in the Campaign for the Soo Candidate.

Osborn clubs are to be organized in the Calumet district and later in every town in Houghton county. The work is in charge of William R. Oates of Laurium, president of the Osborn club of northern Michigan. Mr. Oates has recently returned from the Soo, where he spent two days in conference with Mr. Osborn, the upper peninsula's candidate for gubernatorial honors. Before returning home Mr. Oates visited Schoolcraft and Alger counties and other portions of the peninsula and superintended the organization of several Osborn clubs. He says he has yet to meet a voter in northern Michigan who is not strong for Mr. Osborn, and he expects that the Soo man will have nearly every vote cast in the upper peninsula primaries next fall. Osborn clubs are to be organized all over the peninsula.

POLICE CLUB WITH HISTORY.

Martin Foley Has a Billy Which His Father Used When Sheriff.

Martin Foley, superintendent of public works at Houghton, has in his office in the village hall a policeman's billy with a history. It is the rosewood handle of an old billiard cue, with a rawhide thong thrust through a hole in one end. The billiard cue was a gift to Foley when he appears from its weight and the feel of its grip that it could do considerable execution in the hands of an energetic officer.

Michael Foley, father of the present possessor of the billiardcue, was sheriff of Houghton county as far back as 1860. When occasion warranted he made use of this club and when he went out of office he presented it to G. Hartman, who was a deputy sheriff. Mr. Hartman made occasional use of it and for many years kept it at home as a relic of stirring times when the history of Houghton was in the making. He gave it recently to Mr. Foley, who values it very highly.

COLONEL MARSHALL COMING.

Prominent Salvation Army Man Will Make First Visit to District.

Colonel S. Marshall of Minneapolis, one of the best known Salvation Army leaders in the Northwestern states, will be in Calumet Sunday and will conduct special services. This will be the first visit to this district of the colonel. He will be accompanied by Major Morton of Milwaukee, head of the Salvation Army work in the Lake Superior region.

Colonel Marshall will be at Houghton Saturday, arriving in that city at noon, and will be met there by members of the Calumet corps, who will go to the Portage Lake town by special electric car. The entire party will go to Calumet at the conclusion of a special evening service at Houghton.

ANNUAL BALL OF THE MASONS.

Montrose commandery Knights Templar of Calumet, will hold an informal dancing party tomorrow evening at the Calumet Light guard armory which will be attended only by Masons and their ladies. Invitation were issued some days ago. Many Masons and their ladies are expected from the Portage Lake, Torch Lake, south range and Keeweenaw county towns, as well as from Calumet, Laurium and vicinity. The Calumet & Hecla band will play for the dancing. The Knights Templar will participate in the grand march in full uniform.

Adjutant and Mrs. Parkhouse, in charge of the work of the Salvation Army in Calumet the past two years, who were recently notified that they are to be the next officers of the corps, have not yet learned where they are to be sent or who is to be their successor. The Laurium Singers will give the adjutant and Mrs. Parkhouse a farewell concert a week from Saturday evening. They will leave Calumet shortly after the first of next month.

A WRETCHED MISTAKE.

To endure the itching, painful distress of Piles, there's no need to Listen: "I suffered much from Piles," writes Will A. Marsh, of Silver City, N. C. "Will I get a box of Buckley's Arnica Salve, and was soon cured." Burns, Boils, Ulcers, Fever Sores, Eczema, Cuts, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, vanish before it. 25c. at The Stafford Drug Co.

CORPORATION TAX ON MINING COMPANIES.

It is reported from Boston, on apparently good authority, that some of the Lake Superior copper companies are taking steps to contest the validity of the new federal corporation-tax law, says the Engineering & Mining Journal. The test point will be on the constitutionality of the law, and the arguments will probably be based on the limitations of the taxing power of congress, under which the supreme court declared unconstitutional the income-tax law. Whether the provisions of the law itself will be brought into question is not stated.

Under the law no special provision is made for mining companies, and they are classed with the manufacturing companies. The tax is imposed on net earnings, and under the interpretation of the treasury department, recently issued, these would be the difference between the cost of production and the actual selling price of the article made. In the case of an ordinary manufacturing company there would be usually no great difficulty in determining costs, but with a mining company the questions arising are much more complex. In making copper, for instance, most of the Lake companies publish yearly reports showing the cost of mining, treatment, etc., and giving the cost per pound of copper produced at the mine. Presumably the difference between this and the selling price would be assumed as the net earnings, but the cost of transportation and selling are legitimate charges and would, we believe, be allowed under the law.

The questions most likely to arise in the enforcement of the law are connected with the provision for a "reasonable" allowance for depreciation. Probably in the case of an ordinary factory this could be determined within moderate limits. In the case of a mine the actual depreciation of the machinery and equipment can also be determined. But the production of the mine each year diminishes its resources and consequently its value. No provision is made in the law for this progressive depreciation or for amortization in any form; though it would seem only just to include some charge in the expenses of the year. Friction and litigation are pretty sure to arise on this point, should the law be held valid.

The same point holds with all mining companies. The extraction of 1,000,000 tons of ore from one of the great iron mines of the Mesaba range, for instance, leaves the mine worth so much less. The value of the iron ore in the ground, in this case, would be a fair addition to the expenses of the year; but we do not see any provision of the law which would allow such a charge. The difference between actual cost of mining and the selling price, minus a "reasonable" allowance for depreciation of equipment, seems to be the basis on which the tax is to be calculated.

It is quite possible that the determination of such questions may be postponed until the courts pass on the general constitutionality of the law. The Lake copper companies, probably, will not be the only ones to raise this question.

ST. MARY'S MINERAL LAND.

The advance in St. Mary's Mineral Land stock reflects the sharp appreciation in the value of its treasury holdings in shares of such companies as Hancock, North Lake and La Salle. Another factor attracting attention to St. Mary's is its ownership of 160 acres adjoining the Indiana property. The securities which the company holds in its treasury, on which there is a market, have a value of $1,279,317 compared with $723,198 on Aug. 5 last and $434,250 on Dec. 31, 1908. In a little over a year the value of its treasury holdings, having a market, has increased over 200 per cent. These holdings are:

Companies.	Shares
Hancock	20,000
La Salle	20,145
North Lake	9,000
Mayflower	25,000
Ojibwa	2,000
Copper Range	208
Winona	842
Old Colony	80
Total	77,995

The other securities owned by the St. Mary's company have an estimated value of between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000 and are as follows: Fifty thousand shares of Champion Copper company, 20,000 shares of Copper and ten Amphitronite company, Houghton.

The company's large land holdings comprising 94,923 acres, beside mineral rights in 14,098 additional acres are of inestimable value. The policy of the directors is to sell property to operating companies in exchange for shares, and the wisdom of this course is evidenced recently from its ownership in Hancock and North Lake stock.

There is in process of organization at the present time another new company which will take over about 120 acres of land from the St. Mary's Mineral Land and about forty acres from the Edwards estate located at the north of the Superior property. The St. Mary's company will receive a large block of the shares of the new company, which will be known as the Houghton Copper company. It has not as yet been definitely determined whether any of the shares of the new company will be offered for public subscription.

Within the past three months St. Mary's Mineral Land shares, of which there are 100,000 outstanding, have advanced twenty-two points. At $100 per share the value would be $10,000,000. Detaching treasury assets this is less than $10,000,000 for more than 100,000 acres or less than $100 per acre.

STEVE KASUN PAYS A FINE.

Steve Kasun, accused of assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than the crime of murder, pleaded guilty before Justice William Fisher at Calumet to the charge of assault and battery and was fined $10 and the costs, which he paid. The complaining witness was Javo Jovanich, who claimed that Kasun struck him on the head with a bottle in Kasun's place of business, fracturing the skull. Jovanich was taken to a hospital, where it was found necessary to operate to remove the pressure of a broken bone on the brain. For some days it was not known whether or not the injured man would survive, but he is now well on the road to recovery. It was not proved conclusively that Kasun struck Jovanich the knockout blow, and for that reason the charge was charged.

HANCOCK ELKS' MINSTRELS.

Rehearsals are in progress for the Hancock Elks' annual minstrel performance. Director Grubbs is in charge. Mr. Grubbs acts an interlocutor. For men the following have been selected: Ira Wright, Leo P. Cook, Paul Ruppel, H. Langley, Joe Kelly, Major Donahue, James Lucas and Ed. Pinten. Each of the end men will sing a song and have other numbers. Songs will also be sung by Will Hall and Albert Graustadt. There will be a dress rehearsal, with orchestra, Sunday afternoon. Then all will be ready for the curtain to rise Monday night. A Calumet & Hecla orchestra of nine pieces will furnish the music.

NOTES OF COPPER NEWS.

The new hoist house at the Star Point shaft of the Nevada Consolidated was completed during the past week. It now remains only to connect the electric hoist with the power line from Merrill and the shaft can be put into commission if an auxiliary ore supply should be found necessary for the smelter.

The Franklin has a promising prospect on the so-called Hancock lode. A diamond drill has been set up to pierce the lode, and if the core, provided the lode is located, contains copper in considerable quantity, the Franklin will have another mine on this lode, just as the Hancock has a mine on the Hancock lode and expects to have another on the Pezores, Ezema, Cuts, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, vanish before it. 25c. at The Stafford Drug Co.

The Boston Financial News says of the diamond drill core on the Indiana, has opened possibilities at Lake Superior which have been dreamed of for forty years, or since Calumet & Hecla developed its great richness and consolidated to make the greatest copper mine in the world. Today there are ten cities interested in copper stocks in this country where twenty years ago there was only Boston, not only New York, but Washington, Pittsburg, Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago, St. Paul, Milwaukee, Houghton and Duluth are points of copper share interest having connections with the Boston market. If Lake and Indiana continue their developments without material diminution of richness, there will be such a tearing up of copper ground at Lake Superior as no other copper camp ever saw.

The Boston Financial News says of the diamond drill core on the Indiana, has opened possibilities at Lake Superior which have been dreamed of for forty years, or since Calumet & Hecla developed its great richness and consolidated to make the greatest copper mine in the world. Today there are ten cities interested in copper stocks in this country where twenty years ago there was only Boston, not only New York, but Washington, Pittsburg, Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago, St. Paul, Milwaukee, Houghton and Duluth are points of copper share interest having connections with the Boston market. If Lake and Indiana continue their developments without material diminution of richness, there will be such a tearing up of copper ground at Lake Superior as no other copper camp ever saw.

The developments at the Arizona Commercial, both in the shaft and in the ground until the price of the metal finally proves, for the company has sufficient capital to continue the underground work until the time comes for producing copper. The mill which is being built jointly with the King Philip will be completed in eight months, at which time the mining of copper will be commenced. There have been several private examinations made of the Winona and everybody who has gone down in the mine has reported favorably on the conditions. With copper at fifteen cents there is no doubt that Winona would enter the dividend class. Both No. 3 and No. 4 shafts are equipped with steel shaft rock guards of the latest design, and when the mill is finished Winona's equipment will be about complete and ideal for economical operations. The No. 4 shaft is 1,200 feet deep and No. 3 shaft 1,200 feet. There are twelve stopes ready for stopping and shipping tributary to No. 3 shaft. The exploratory drifts have been widened and timbered with chutes in place. In short, Winona has been prepared for extensive operations and the upwards of $2,000,000 which had been put into the property will in the not distant future begin to show results to the stockholders.

A Boston publication says: No man can measure the extent of the excitement which is now opening in Lake Superior coppers. The development of the Lake lode sixty feet wide and sixty pounds of copper to the ton in mill runs, upwards of $2,000,000 which had been put into the property will in the not distant future begin to show results to the stockholders.

F. J. Johnson of Skandia, who attended the supervisors' meeting yesterday, reports that the Skandia creamery is turning out butter steadily, though the supply of cream is limited during the winter months.

Trombly's orchestra will furnish music for the dance following the basketball game between the Ferguson Business college and Ishpeming Y. M. C. A. at Legion Hall Friday night. Admission will be twenty-five cents.

Deputy Supreme Commander Cora E. Sunday will be present at the meeting of the Ladies of the Macabees of the World to be held at Siegel's Hall at 8 o'clock tonight. It is hoped that every member of the hive will be present.

Walter Fitch, president and general manager of the Chief Consolidated Mining company's property, is the guest of J. R. Van Evera today. Mr. Fitch was formerly in the mining business at Champion and later in the copper country, and is well known all over the upper peninsula.

McFarland-Smith Wedding—At 3 o'clock yesterday Miss Bessie McFarland, formerly of this city, was married to Irving Smith, an employe of the Queen City restaurant, the nuptial knot being tied by Justice Samuel Byrne in his office in the Harlow block.

Victory for Rivals—The indoor baseball game between the Rivals and the Ferguson Business college at Armory Hall last night resulted in a victory for the Rivals by the score of 18 to 15. Frei, for the Rivals, had sixteen strike-outs to his credit, and Bennett, for the Business college, pitched five. Features of the game were Boyer's batting, Frei's difficult catches and McCarthy's work behind the bat. The Rivals will probably play the Traveling men Saturday night.

Colorless Verdict Returned—The coroner's jury impanelled the day following the Chesholm furnace tragedy, in which Charles Delezel, George Nowak and John Trudeau were killed, met in Coroner Cray's office yesterday and returned their verdict, which was in substance that the three men came to death by inhaling gas, before and during the explosion of the gas. The return of the verdict has been delayed thus long in hope that John Dasey would recover sufficiently to tell his story of the accident, but he is getting along very slowly and he may not be able to talk about it rationally for some time.

Judicial Conventions—Ward conventions for the nomination of delegates to the county convention to nominate delegates to the judicial district convention, at which a candidate for the office of circuit judge will be chosen, will be held in this city Friday evening. Marquette is entitled to eighteen delegates, three each from the First, Second and Fifth wards, four from the Third and five from the Fourth. The Republican county convention will be held at the court house at 11 a. m. Saturday; the Democratic county convention at the same place at 1 p. m. Saturday, and the district convention at the Marquette county court house at 2 o'clock the same day. It is expected that Richard Flannigan of Norway will be the unanimous choice of both parties for the judgeship.

Hotel Superior Project—All interested in the so-called "Hotel Superior Project" are cordially requested to attend a meeting to be held at the city hall at 2:30 Saturday afternoon. Miss Maggie Walz, the noted settlement worker and newspaper woman, will be one of the speakers and it is hoped that some definite plan for purchasing the hotel and transforming it into a home and sanitarium for friendless and aged women may be agreed upon. Miss Walz has been broaching the idea to women's societies and club women throughout the state during the past few weeks, and she is said to have been assured of moral and financial support for the Marquette enterprise. It is especially desired that all the delegates from the various women's societies of the city be present at the meeting Saturday.

January Sales On—In the opinion of local clothing and dry goods merchants, Marquette people will not have an opportunity to buy woolen and cotton goods at as low prices as they are now offered for many a day. Nearly all of the local stores have inaugurated their annual January sales, when fall and winter goods are disposed of at from 10 to 25 per cent less than the prices asked earlier in the season. Progressive merchants all over the country find it advantageous to dispose of their surplus winter stock at cut prices, rather than carry it over into the next year, when much of it will be out of date. Before next fall, a material advance is expected in the price of cotton and woolen goods, because of which, as one merchant stated yesterday, those who buy now will save from 35 to 50 per cent, compared with the prices that will be asked for the same articles next fall.

PRESCUE ISLE MOSQUITO SWAMP.

To the Public:—The public cannot comprehend all the advantage it will be to the city to have the swamp dredged out. It will add $100,000 to the beauty of Presque Isle. One man said the city ought to fill in the swamp. We will concede that, but it would cost $30,000 to fill four feet as it should be. Then you would have a sand flat where nothing would grow, until $5,000 more was spent for manure, and $5,000 more a year to keep it up. I offer to dredge it out and put in ponds, leaving a space about seventy-five feet between the ponds, filled with sand and rich mud; so any thing will grow in the soil.

I have heard it stated that Spear wants to monopolize all the undertaking, also profits, and make it a private park. I intend to make everything free (except that you will need a permit to fish). The public can skate, bathe and swim in all the ponds, and also boat in them. The public can also invest with me in the undertaking if they choose, and I will guarantee their investment.

In four years I will guarantee to pay their money and 50 per cent added, if they choose to take it. In seven years I agree to pay back all their money and 100 per cent added. I will accept no amount over $500 or less than twenty-five dollars. Neither will I accept over $8,000 total, as I want the balance of the investment myself. All those that put in money to help dredge the swamp, also their families, can fish for three-fourths the price the public pays, up to the amount they put in, and it will be charged to their account. I am not going to ask anybody to invest, but have decided to give the public a chance. They can come to me, or send me word and I will call on them.

I will make money the same as a farmer does when he buys pigs, calves, or chickens. He feeds them for two years then sells them for ten cents a pound. I will get 75 cents for all the fish I can raise. I will plant this year fifty thousand speckled trout, which will cost me about one cent each. In two years they will be over eight inches long, and the public will pay me about twenty-five cents for each fish for fishing. The next year I will have enough pond room to plant one hundred thousand, etc. I have a license to catch and sell them any time of year or ship them anywhere in the United States, which is worth a fortune. I think all I raise will be fished out by the public.

If any educated or smart man, that knows more about it than I do after two years of study will show why the plan is not going to be a success, I will pay him for the advice. I will have a pump out the shores of Lake Superior to give the fish all the fresh water required. I intend planting bass and wall eyed pike in two ponds. I want the public to understand that the grounds are to be public and everything else, even the investment, although I am prepared to swing it all myself. The amount you subscribe will be credited to you on the books of the Marquette Speckled Trout company, one-half the amount subscribed to be paid now and the balance when dredge is shipped in April. A subscriber can draw out 7 per cent interest on account every year. A subscriber will probably be entitled to more profits than I have agreed to pay.

GLADSTONE A THRIFTY BOY.

It is said that William Egwert Gladstone, the great English statesman whose centenary has just been celebrated, was a thrifty lad and was fond of saving his pennies. Once he had accumulated quite a sum, and his three older brothers had decided among themselves that it was high time this fund should be expended. So they took William and his money to the nearest hardware shop and invested the amount in four knives. Relating the incident in later years, Gladstone used to say, with a smile, "And they took the precaution to break the points of the blades in my knife, in order that I should not cut myself."

EXPERTS TALKS OF BUTTERINE TRADE

SAYS THAT PRODUCTION OF CREAMERY AND RENOVATED BUTTER DECREASES, WHILE BUTTERINE OUTPUT INCREASES AT AN ENORMOUS RATE.

H. H. Woodland, one of several men in the employ of Swift & Co. who develop all their time to making known to the company's representatives and retail dealers the favorable qualities of Swift's premium butterine, is in the city, and will spend a few days among the dealers here.

The butterine question has received considerable attention on the part of the government officials and others during the past few years and in spite of the fact that the manufacturers of this article are closely watched, deception is still being practiced. Last week two manufacturers in Pittsburg were sentenced in the federal court to two and a half years in Leavenworth penitentiary with a fine of $2,500 for violation of the law governing the sale of butterine.

Mr. Woodland stated yesterday that the federal authorities have driven a good many Eastern manufacturers of oleomargarine out of business during the past few months and the "moonshiners," as he called them, are now moving Westward, where the laws relative to the manufacture of this product are less stringent. He said that quite a number of them have located in Chicago and other Western cities but the federal authorities are watching them closely and it is a question if they will be able to operate as extensively as they did in the Eastern cities.

Mr. Woodland expressed the belief that the time is not far distant when there will be a greater quantity of butterine consumed in the United States than creamery and renovated butters combined. Creamery butter, the manufacture of which has for several years been in the hands of a trust, is so expensive that the poorer classes cannot afford to use it, while many of the wealthier people have also stopped buying it. Renovated butter, he said, will, within a few years, be a thing of the past as much of this product is of very inferior grade.

The Swift company, Mr. Woodland stated, has an enormous demand for its premium butterine. The company now has four plants manufacturing it, the last one to go into commission being located at South St. Paul. The other three are in Chicago, Kansas City and Fort Worth, Texas.

The St. Paul plant has a capacity of 60,000 pounds a day, while the capacity of each of the other three is considerably larger. All are being operated with full forces and the company is having all it can do to meet the increased demand.

Six months ago the consumption of butterine in the upper peninsula was comparatively light, but the product is now being quite extensively used in every city and town of this section. In the neighborhood of 10,000 pounds are being consumed weekly in Marquette county alone. Mr. Woodland stated that the retail dealers tell him that many of their customers, who a few months ago could not be induced to use butterine, are now buying it regularly and they have no complaints to offer regarding it.

TAKES ANOTHER MINE.

Interstate Iron Co. Soon to Resume Work at Hector Mine in Minnesota.

The Interstate Iron company, of which Captain Thomas Walters of this city is general manager, recently secured control of the Hector mine, at Biwabik, Minn., and is now preparing to resume operations. The lease for the property was secured from the St. Clair interest who operated it for some years until two years ago last fall. Quite a large territory had been accumulated at the time operations were suspended, but the last of it was shipped last fall.

The Interstate company had added several properties to its holdings in Minnesota during the past year and the output from the various mines will be considerably larger this year than last. All of the mines in that district are being operated under supervision of Mark Edliott, former clerk of Marquette county, who makes his headquarters at Virginia.

The company opened its first mine at a fairly large scale, but it is still operating on a small scale.

Another property at Biwabik that is soon to go into commission is the Cass mine which was closed during the financial panic in the fall of 1907. Several months ago it was recently begun putting the machinery and buildings in condition and the pumping is to be started within a few days. The Cass is located just east of the big Biwabik mine.

TEN TEAMS BOWLING.

Names of Teams in Handicap Contest Have Been Chosen.

The list of teams in the handicap bowling contest, started last week at the Bank street alleys, was this week increased from eight to ten. Manager Gray is endeavoring to organize two more teams, as twelve can bowl to better advantage than ten. All of the teams have adopted the names of wellknown copper stocks instead of using the names of individual members.

In the match Tuesday evening between the Lakes and North Lakes the former won two of the three games. The scores were as follows:

FROM MORGAN'S CURB LETTER.

The Boston market was characterized by feverish activity, with severe declines in some and considerable gains in other stocks. Cabnet & Arizona opened at 91 1/2, declined to 81 and closed at 81 1/2 bid. North Butte advanced from 43 1/2 at the opening to 48 1/2, later receding to 44 1/2. Giron, Greene Cananea, Superior & Pittsburg and Butte Coalitions were all weak and lower. North Lake sold down to 16 1/4 from a high point of 19 1/4. The entire market was active, but appeared to be under liquidation. North Butte is said to have discovered 6 1/2 per cent ore in the bottom levels of the Jesse claim.

Indiana continued its spectacular performance on the curb. It opened at 35, rapidly advanced to 38, declined to 32, sold up to 36 1/2 and then went down to 30, on very heavy trading. As we said yesterday, the market position of Indiana is weak and it looks like a good sale. Cactus was in demand and was steady around 5 1/2 to 6 1/4. Chief was weaker, selling at 2 1/4. South Lake and Cortez were active and slightly lower. We think this weakness only temporary, and would buy the stocks mentioned in our letter of yesterday before the rally, which is generally expected. The metal situation is excellent and daily improving. This must affect favorably the sound stocks which have had little advance.

Yesterday's prevailing prices were:

	Bid.	Asked.
Almeek	$218.00	$220.00
American Saginaw	1.87 1/2	2.00
Arizona & Mich.	.90	.95

Calumet & Cornish	1.00	1.25
Calumet & Sonora	16.25	16.50

A SHREWD CANDIDATE.

A political office in a small town in Iowa was vacant, says Lippincott's. The office paid $250 a year, and there was keen competition for it. The Democratic candidate, Ezekiel Hicks, was a shrewd old fellow, and a neat campaign fund was turned over to him. To the astonishment of all, however, he was defeated.

"I can't account for it," said one of the Democratic leaders, gloomily. "With that money we should have won. How did you lay it out, Ezekiel?"

"Well," said Ezekiel slowly, pulling his whiskers, "yer see, that office only pays $250 a year salary, and I didn't see no sense in payin' $900 out to get the office, so I just bought me a little truck farm instead."

STOMACH LIVER LUNGS

Each of the chief organs of the body is a link in the Chain of Life. A chain is no stronger than its weakest link, the body no stronger than its weakest organ. If there is weakness of stomach, liver or lungs, there is a weak link in the chain of life which may snap at any time. Often this so-called "weakness" is caused by lack of nutrition, the result of weakness or disease of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. Diseases and weaknesses of the stomach and its allied organs are cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. When the weak or diseased stomach is cured, diseases of other organs which were remote from the stomach but which have their origin in a diseased condition of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, are cured also.

The strong man has a strong stomach. The weak man has a weak stomach. The abandoned "Discoverer" and you may have a strong stomach and a strong body.

JAPAN'S NAVAL PROGRESS.

Oriental Empire Is Carrying Out a Great Building Programme—There Is Some Mystery in Her Plans for New Construction, but Already Her Fleet Is a Mighty One.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Ever since the Russo-Japanese war it has been well-nigh impossible to form a clear idea of what steps are in progress with regard to the expansion and maintenance of the Japanese navy. In the year before the outbreak of the conflict, namely, 1903, a programme of expansion was approved by the diet. It involved the building of three battleships, three armored cruisers, and two second-class cruisers; that is to say, eight fighting vessels, displacing 100,000 tons approximately. The cost was set down as $50,000,000, and the programme was to have been spread over a period of eleven years, ending in 1913. Subsequently, however, owing to financial expediency, the time of completion was extended, first to 1915, and thereafter to 1916, so that six years still remain. Knowing this and observing carefully what ships were laid down from time to time, one should have been, it will appear, no difficulty in forming a clear perception of the actual conditions at any moment. But naturally the war produced a radical change in the plans of the Japanese admiralty. It became necessary at once to adopt special measures for resources for the losses suffered in battle, as well as for renewing armaments. Of course, the general public was not taken into official confidence in such matters, and some time elapsed before the people became vaguely conscious that not one building programme was in the ultimate, but taken in hand. Occasionally announcements were made of the launch of such-and-such a battleship or the laying down of such-and-such a cruiser, but as to which vessel belonged to which programme, and what dimensions the several programmes were, the ultimate, to take nothing into consideration, the shipbuilding programme was not clearly ascertained. Now, at length, this obscurity has been removed. It is seen that two of the programmes were undertaken with funds included in the war expenditures, and that, therefore, the nation is not required to make any further provision of money on these accounts. These programmes are, first, an emergency programme, carried out with what is called an "implementing fund," and, secondly, an emergency programme carried out with an "adjustment fund." Under the first programme, respectively, the following vessels have been bought, built, or are building:

Tons.
Katori, battleship	15,950
Kashima	16,400
Ihuki, armored cruiser	14,600
Aki, battleship	19,150
Satsuna, armored cruiser	13,750
Ikoma	13,750
Kurama	14,600
Tone, cruiser	4,400
Yodo, despatch boat	1,250
Mogami	1,350
Kawachi, battleship	21,000
Settsu	21,000

There is here a total of thirteen ships displacing 176,000 tons, approximately, and to these have to be added twenty-two destroyers built under the "emergency implementing programme." As for the vessels which have still to be built, but which have not yet been laid down, they are as follows:

Battleship, 1 (tons)	16,600
Armored cruisers, 2 (tons each)	11,000
Cruisers, 2 (tons each)	5,000
Armored cruisers, 1 (tons)	14,600
Cruisers, 2 (tons each)	4,100
Destroyers, several (tons each)	375
Torpedo-boats, 6 (tons each)	120

These eight vessels, exclusive of torpedo craft, aggregate over 70,000 tons, and if the two lists be combined, we get a total of twenty-one ships displacing 247,000 tons, approximately, apart from about thirty-five destroyers and six torpedo-boats. There is reason to think, however, that the above lists do not represent the whole measure of Japan's activity in naval construction. The vague item, "several destroyers," which occurs in the unbuild section of the emergency implementing programme, seems to have taken the form of at least one monster destroyer of the British Swift class, with a displacement of 1,200 tons, a speed of 35 knots, and an armament of one 4.7-inch and four 4-inch guns. She was launched in October last, and will be called the Kaitu (sea wind). It may be mentioned that in

TROUBLES OF DR. WILEY.

He May Be Forced to Leave Service of the Government.

His Case Similar to That of Pinchot, Excepting That the Chemist Does Not Talk—People Are With Him Also, and He Is Regarded as the Friend of Good Health and Foe of Impure Food.

Washington, Jan. 19.—The famous Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, chief of the bureau of chemistry in the department of agriculture, may remain in the government service and may not. Gifford Pinchot occupied just such an uncomfortable position for several months, and then fled himself off the pay roll. Dr. Wiley may be found giving a perfect imitation of the Pinchot performance, except in point of loquacity. The doctor has ideas of his own which run counter to those of his superiors, but he has kept his criticisms to himself and certainly cannot be discharged for insubordination. As in the case of Pinchot, too, the people are "with" Dr. Wiley. They regard him as the friend of good health and the foe of impure food. As the father of the pure food law, the originator of the "poison squad" and the name of Wiley will go down into governmental history like unto that of Gifford Pinchot in its relation to the saving of the forests. Just what step the administration can take to rid itself of this useful public servant without losing too many votes is a question of great interest in Washington.

Dr. Wiley's Troubles.

Dr. Wiley's troubles run back into the last administration. He took the ground that the use of certain preservatives in foods such as benzoate of soda, sulphur dioxide, and sulphate of copper are injurious to health. He also maintained that saccharin, a food product turned out by the sugar trust, it is understood, is an adulteration. He fought the use of these preservatives with all the vigor at his command, and was in a fair way to win his fight when President Roosevelt, at the suggestion of the food manufacturers interested took the whole controversy out of the department of agriculture and turned it over to what he designated as a reference board of consulting scientific experts. This board is composed of Ira Remsen, president of Johns Hopkins University; Russell H. Chittenden, director of the Sheffield Scientific School, Yale University; Alonzo E. Taylor, University of California; A. C. Herter, College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York; and John H. Long, Northwestern University, Chicago. This board has been at work for more than a year, or rather it has been in existence for more than a year, and up to this time has decided only one question. It has held that the use of benzoate of soda as a preservative is not harmful. This decision was a direct slap at Dr. Wiley. Some of his friends thought it would result in his retiring from the department immediately, but he has held his tongue, and continued his work at the head of the bureau of chemistry.

Another "Poison Squad."

This reference board is now about ready to turn in its decision on the question of sulphurizing fruit. Dr. Wiley has maintained right along that the sulphur in preserving fruits for shipment was harmful, and naturally he is keenly interested in the forthcoming decision of the board. Under the direction of Alonzo E. Taylor, of the University of California, experiments have been conducted in a series of laboratories to determine the effect on the human body of sulphurized fruits as a diet. For some months a so-called "poison squad" has been conducted at the University of California. Unofficial reports have reached the department of agriculture that the experiment has convinced the members of the reference board that the sulphurizing of fruits is not harmful to health. The Pacific coast has insisted ever since this question came up that if her fruit growers were not permitted to preserve fruits in sulphur the industry would be practically ruined. Under the circumstances some of the real friends of the pure food law—persons who would like to see the use of preservatives restricted, if not stopped absolutely, feel that it was not quite the thing to have these experiments conducted in a section of the country that is loud in demanding the right to use sulphur as a preservative.

Wiley May Be Overhauled Again.

So far the board has given no indication as to what progress, if any, it is making on the other questions that have been referred to it. Somehow there is a general feeling among Wiley adherents that this reference board is likely to overlook Dr. Wiley on every important question at issue. Naturally Mr. Wiley's friends are disposed to say that he will hardly care to remain in his present position if he is to be short of all authority. And there is also the feeling that the administration would not care to have him stay on if he showed the slightest disposition to assert himself.

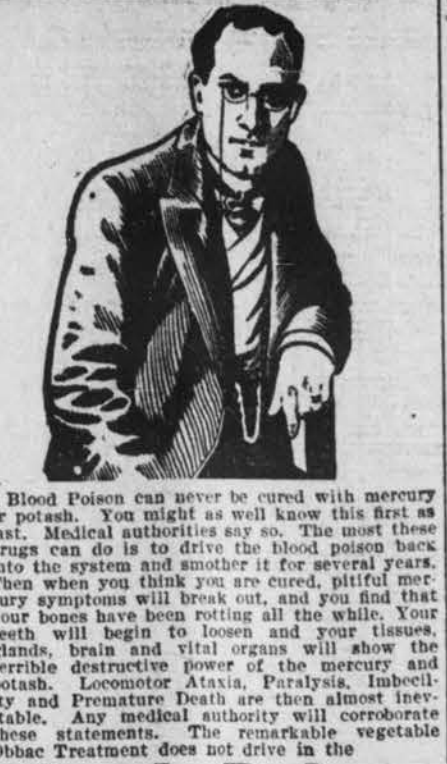

Courts Might Vindicate Wiley.

The Wiley partisans have felt rather confident all along that in the end the courts would vindicate the stand Dr. Wiley has taken. The keener sort of interest is displayed here in the benzoate of soda case pending in the United States District Court at Indianapolis. The bureau of chemistry, under the direction of Dr. Wiley, and at the risk of being hauled up for insubordination, has rendered the State of Indiana a good deal of service in the way of assisting in obtaining testimony designed to show that benzoate of soda is harmful when used as a preservative. Of course if the decision in this Indiana case should be that this preservative is harmful the decision of the reference board of consulting scientific experts would be relegated to the rear. The decision of that board is pointed out, really has no standing in law, except as it is given standing through an order issued by the secretary of agriculture, the secretary of the treasury, and the secretary of commerce and labor, the cabinet officers who compose the commission on the federal pure food law. The fact would seem to be that Dr. Wiley is sort of biding his time, hoping, if not expecting, that the courts will in due time sustain his side of the contention over the use of preservatives.

Pinchot Case Disturbing.

A good many well-informed persons here are inclined to believe that the dismissal of Forester Pinchot will have the effect of making some of the other aggressive bureau chiefs timid. For several years Mr. Pinchot was given free

The most effective drug can do is to drive the blood poison back into the system and smother it several years. Then when you think you are cured, pitiful merciful symptoms will break out, and you find that your blood has been poisoned all over again. You will begin to loosen and your tissues, glands, brain and vitals will all show the terrible destructive power of the mercury and potash. Locomotor Ataxia, Paralysis, Impediment, and Premature Death are then almost inevitable. Any medical authority will corroborate this statement. The remarkable vegetable Obbaec Treatment does not drive in the blood but drives it out. It positively contains no mercury or potash. It is a natural product of the earth and is safe for all ages. rein as chief of the forestry bureau. If he consulted the secretary of agriculture at all the act was only a formality. For a good many years up until the enactment of the pure food law, and before nearly ten years after that law was enacted, Dr. Wiley ran the bureau of chemistry to suit himself. It was during those days of freedom that he accomplished his great work in behalf of purer foods and drugs. With the appointment of the reference board, by President Roosevelt, the freedom ceased to be an aggressive factor in the fight. It is true that a large number of cases of violations of the law have been referred to the department of justice, and that many convictions have been obtained, but generally speaking the cause has not stood still ever since President Taft succeeded to the wishes of the manufacturers by appointing the reference board. President Taft has taken no action that would tend to indicate unfriendliness toward the pure-food law. Nor has he done anything tending affirmatively to identify him as a supporter of the pure-food legislation. The unprejudiced view here is that Dr. Wiley should either be permitted to stand up for his own rights and thought, or should be removed from the position he occupies.

THE FATE OF THE ONEIDA.

One of the most extraordinary catastrophes that have befallen vessels of the United States destroyed the sloop of war Oneida in 1869. She was bound homeward with a jolly ship's company, eager to see wives and sweethearts and native land once more, when far out of port she was struck by the British steamer Bombay coming in. The stern of the Bombay cut off the stern of the Oneida. The ship was sinking rapidly, and guns of distress were immediately fired, but the Bombay steamed on her way and left the vessel to her doom. She went down, and all but one or two of her crew were drowned. The captain of the Bombay gave no other reason for his conduct than that he had Lady Eyre, the wife of a distinguished British satrap, on board and did not wish to disturb her nerves with scenes of shipwreck. It was maddening when he reached Yokohama, dismissed from his service, socially tabooed from that time on and died in disgrace a year or two later.

HE WOULD BE SENATOR.

Tom Taggart Claims Reward from Indiana Democrats.

Other Leaders of the Party Have Had Their Opportunity, While He, Who Really Brought the Victory for Marshall, Has Been Overlooked.

Indianapolis, Jan. 19.—Speculation as to who may be the next Republican State chairman since it seems that Jay Wood Wilson is no longer in the race, brings forward the name of Henry W. Bennett of Indianapolis. It is said Mr. Bennett stands a better show than either Harry S. New or Charles E. Remy, even though New would accept the place if he could get it. All Republicans are agreed on the fact that the next state chairman, if there is to be success, must be an able man and a man in whom the rank and file have great confidence. Those who have been circulating the Bennett talk declare that he is just kind of a man. He is president of the state life insurance company, and was postmaster at Indianapolis for a time. Bennett is not a stranger to state politics, for several years he has been treasurer of the state committee and has given satisfaction. While there has been much talk of former Governor Durbin, the argument is used against him that he is expected to be successful for governor, and would not be so satisfactory as a man who had no political ambitions.

Mayor Becker of Hammond in a speech at Lafayette discontinued the boom of Governor Marshall for president, indicating that he would prefer either Senator Shively or Governor Harmon of Ohio, but many of the other speakers boomed the governor as presidential timber. Gossip says the brewers are opposing the Marshall boom. It was pointed out that the brewers were behind Shively when he was elected to the United States Senate and that the administration of Governor Marshall shall have not been satisfactory to the brewers, and even now his attitude is said to be unsatisfactory to the brewers.

It is understood to be the desire of the governor that no reference to the liquor question shall go into the next Democratic state platform. This is not in line with the desires of the brewers who would like to see the party declare for the repeal of the county option law. Conservative Democrats deplore the fact that any opposing to the liquor question shall go into the next Democratic state platform. They see that there is no chance for either Shively or Marshall to be nominated for president if the delegation from Indiana is split. The weight of the feeling is with the governor.

Since the election of U. S. Jackson as Democratic state chairman on January 8 a boom has been started for Thomas Taggart for United States senator. Taggart was really the man who was in charge of the campaign which elected Thomas R. Marshall governor. U. S. Jackson was at the head of the state committee but Mr. Jackson is Taggart product and it was Taggart who brought the committee through in financial and other ways. And then after Marshall had been elected and the legislature was Democratic everybody thought Taggart would be asked to be United States senator. But Taggart stood back and let John E. Lamb, B. F. Shively, L. E. Erick, Frank Congressman Menzie, John W. Kern and others make a race of it. Now that all of these men have had their chance Mr. Taggart, it is said, is preparing to make a claim and his claim will be the United States senatorship. The fact is Taggart seems to have everything his way. John W. Kern, by his recent public statements to the effect that he had been cheated out of the senatorship by the brewers, has put himself out of the running. In fact it is said Mr. Kern has his some senatorship friends that he will not be a candidate for any office. This leaves John E. Lamb as about the only opponent of Mr. Taggart for the senatorship. It is probable that the liquor question in Indiana will not be mentioned by either of the parties when they draft their state platforms next spring.

OF SUCH THINGS ARE DREAMS.

A Case That Illustrates How Time Is Annihilated During Sleep.

Perhaps the best instance of the incredibly great amount of material that may be crowded in a dream of brief duration is afforded by the authenticated case of "the man and the vase." The circumstances, as presented by the Philadelphia Record, were as follows: The man saw before him some drowsily musing. A draft blowing across the room set a large photograph on the mantel above the fireplace to swaying. A slender vase stood in front of the photograph, and the man remembered wondering in a mood of whimsical indifference, whether the picture would be blown forward and send the vase to the floor.

Finally a sudden gust of wind did topple the photograph, and it struck the vase. The man remembered having been curiously relieved in his somnolent state that the old thing was going to fall and be done with it. Precisely, however, he was in the midst of a complicated business transaction in a mining center a couple of thousand miles away. All the details of a new and attractive scheme were coming from a man's lips, and a board of directors were listening with grave attention. The scene prospered. The mining center grew to be a large city. The man moved his family west. Bits of the details of his journey thither came to mind, and even circumstances connected with the construction of a fine house he had erected were brought vividly before him.

Finally a crash woke him. The vase had struck the floor. He had dreamed an unlife-like covering years, and all in the time it took for the vase, which he had seen toppling before he fell asleep, to fall five feet and break.

PROFIT IN TURKEY RAISING.
There is no other kind of live stock that will return so large a profit to the raiser as turkeys. They are profitable and waste no grain, and are profitable than turkeys when handled properly. The fact that turkeys will from the time that they are six weeks old till winter sets in gain the greater part of their living from bugs, grasshoppers and waste grain, makes them up in their wanderings over the range assures their existence through this period at little or no cost to the grower. They may be termed self-sustaining foragers where they have sufficient range. The chance for profit in the production of turkeys is gradually improving as a result of a more general use of the flesh. They are now used not only for roasting, but to an increasing extent as cold cuts for sandwiches and for salads, and a large number of pounds are used for broilers. Late hatch points do not pay as well as early hatch, and while they cannot be much opportunity for growing pullets to maturity when they are hatched late in the season, they may be sold for broilers at a good profit. No dish is more valued in the large cities at the present time than so-called poultry.

Turkeys that are hatched early in the spring would grow to weigh from fourteen to twenty pounds by Thanksgiving week. These weights are often exceeded by the best growers, but as they are the most popular and the most readily produced, they are suggested as the most advisable. The average yield of turkey hens is from eighteen to thirty eggs, each of which can usually be counted on to produce a living pullet. The question of profit from keeping turkeys simply resolves itself into the ability of the owner to bring them to market at a profitable price. This can readily be done if care and attention is given to all the requirements of success.

Six standard varieties are more or less grown in this country, viz.: Bronze, Narragansett, Buff, State, White and Black. The main differences are in size and color of plumage. The Bronze and the Narragansett are the largest, the Buff and State are the medium and the Black and White the smallest. Of late so much improvement in size has been made in the Whites that they have moved up to contend for third position, so that of those having passed the twenty pound mark, the same statement may soon be made of the Blacks, as they have greatly improved during the past few years. In addition to the foregoing there is a non-standard variety known as the Bourbon Reds. They might well claim the position now held by the Buff turkeys, being quite like them and more largely grown for market than are the Bufts.

Signal Corps Is Installing Instruments in the Capital.

SYSTEM BEST FOR THE ARMY

If the Experiments Prove a Success It Will Furnish Easy Means of Communication in War.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Within a month the first wireless telephone to enter the capital of the United States will be in operation in Washington.

The wireless telephone is now being constructed by the Signal Corps of the army, under the supervision of Gen. Allen, chief signal officer.

Two Methods Now Known.

So far, it is said, two methods have been employed with more or less success for generating sustained electrical oscillations, such as are deemed necessary to transmit the articulate speech through the ether without the use of wires.

One of the high-frequency generators required by the second method of transmission has just arrived at the quarters of the Signal Corps, and many of the experiments will be conducted with it.

veloping wireless telephony, "yet such progress has been made that it is possible at present to produce a two-kilowatt generator giving the frequency oscillations of 100,000 per second.

It is hoped by the officials of the war department that the generator just procured will meet the requirements recognized as necessary for the transmission of speech.

Catching a monster fish and the line becoming hooked to the boat underneath, where he could not reach it, Felipe Gumpo, a fisherman of Salina Cruz, Mex., was dragged out to sea and was missing two days before he could get back.

FAT REDUCTION IS NO SIN

The purpose of beauty is to refine the native uncouthness of human nature. We all bow to its power. It is the only ancestry that has no nihilist shadow.

Thousands of fat women are beautiful of face. But they lag behind in the race for preference—because a too ponderous outline dashes the favor their face has gained them.

Now, pretty fat women can reduce that fat (not the good pure-lined flesh) in a very simple way. No exercise—no dieting is necessary.

The less a man understands girls the more they make him think he does. Widespread scandal always sounds like a stage whisper.

LOWER STATE NOTES.

RIVERDALE—Frank Wiltshire, son of a farmer, and Herbert Evans, a village lad, were hunting near here when a gun held by Evans fell from his hands and was discharged.

PORT HURON—The supervisors met to consider the local option question, but they found that no decision by the supreme court had been made in the case of Kern, the local brewer, against the board and therefore adjourned.

TRAVERSE CITY—It is probable that the Western Michigan Development Bureau in the near future will engage in magazine publishing. It is believed that a first-class magazine of this kind would have a large circulation and do the country in the bureau much good.

PORT HURON—As the result of a rather severe accident which occurred at the Reid drydock Chris Sewaldorski, 3599 Gillette street, nearly lost the end of his tongue. A man working with him swinging a heavy sledge hammer, slipped and the hammer struck Sewaldorski in the mouth.

IONIA—There is a strenuous campaign on here for the appointment as postmaster, nine men, including K. R. Smith, the present incumbent, keeping very busy fixing things so their cases will appeal to Representative Diekmann.

KALAMAZOO—A bold robber who impersonated a ghost to carry on his work and prevent recognition failed to get away with the loot of Melvin D. Springer because that gentleman, instead of being frightened senseless at the sight of the supposed apparition, sat up in bed to get a better view.

DETROIT—Alton Thompson, convicted of breaking and entering a house in the daylight, was sentenced by Judge Coe to two years and a half at Folsom. Thompson, after his arrest, told a unique story of how he became "interested" in burglary.

PROMISING CASCADE RANGE PROPERTY

OFFICERS OF CONSOLIDATED MINING COMPANY BELIEVE ORE BODY WILL BE DEVELOPED ON SECTION EAST OF THE MOORE.

The Consolidated Mining company, composed of Marquette county men, offers for lease its property on the Cascade range, where it is thought an ore body exists.

The Consolidated Mining company acquired the property some seven or eight years ago, when Mesaba friends of the company were nearby in operation.

It is generally admitted by the mining men that the Cascade range will be generally explored during the next few years. It is thought that the market for the average grade of ore found there will continue to improve, and that mining operations can be conducted profitably at all of the low grade properties.

During the past few weeks both the Chicago & Northwestern and Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway companies have placed orders for new cars and locomotives, some of which will be used in this region.

The Chicago & Northwestern's latest order will be for cars, including thirty-eight coaches. No sleepers are included.

The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway company, which will put on practically all of these cars, has ordered an immense amount of new equipment.

Cheap notoriously often turns out to be an expensive luxury.

Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Company to Abandon Operations at Geogebic Property.

The Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company's Iron Belt property, on the Wisconsin side of the Montreal river, some nine miles from Ironwood, will probably be closed down within a few weeks.

About a half mile distant from the Iron Belt the Oliver Iron Mining company is operating the Atlantic mine, which is developing into a very fair property.

The Consolidated Fuel & Lumber company will soon begin the erection of a saw mill in this city. The plant is to be a hardwood floor mill and will be provided with the latest equipment for turning out maple flooring.

TO TEST WIRELESS PHONE.

Signal Corps Is Installing Instruments in the Capital.

SYSTEM BEST FOR THE ARMY

If the Experiments Prove a Success It Will Furnish Easy Means of Communication in War.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Within a month the first wireless telephone to enter the capital of the United States will be in operation in Washington. As was the case with the first telegraph line to the capital, so, in the instance of the wireless telephone, the government will stand sponsor for the movement.

The wireless telephone is now being constructed by the Signal Corps of the army, under the supervision of Gen. Allen, chief signal officer. One terminus will be in the quarters of the corps on Pennsylvania avenue, near Seventeenth street, northwest, and the other will be in the bureau of standards on Pierce Mill road, slightly over three miles away. The corps has taken up the subject of wireless telephony with a view of equipping the army with the most modern means of communication in time of war. Every apparatus for the transmission of articulate speech directly through the medium of ether, without intervening wires, that has been placed on the market has been purchased by Gen. Allen. It is for the purpose of testing these and possibly for the development of a new apparatus that the experiments will be undertaken. The antenna at the city end will be that used for the operation of a wireless telegraph station on the top of the Mills Building.

Two Methods Now Known.

So far, it is said, two methods have been employed with more or less success for generating sustained electrical oscillations, such as are deemed necessary to transmit the articulate speech through the ether without the use of wires. One of these methods involves what is known as the "singing arc," and the other method calls for a specially constructed dynamo.

One of the high-frequency generators required by the second method of transmission has just arrived at the quarters of the Signal Corps, and many of the experiments will be conducted with it. "The mechanical difficulties in constructing high-frequency generators are great," said Gen. Allen, in discussing the various problems to be solved in developing wireless telephony, "yet such progress has been made that it is possible at present to produce a two-kilowatt generator giving the frequency oscillations of 100,000 per second. The attainment of this result involves the use of a motor of about 1 foot in diameter, operated at a speed of 333 revolutions per second. This means that the peripheral speed of the motor is 1046 feet per second, or 714 miles per hour; in other words, this disk would roll across the United States to Europe in four hours. Such a frequency generates a wave length of 1.86 miles, which is suitable for wireless telephony."

It is hoped by the officials of the department that the generator just purchased will meet the requirements recognized as necessary for the transmission of speech.

Catching a monster fish and the line becoming hooked to the boat underneath, where he could not reach it, Felipe Ocampo, a fisherman of Salina Cruz, Mex., was dragged out to sea and was missing two days before he could get back. Friends thought his boat had been swamped.

FAT REDUCTION IS NO SIN

The purpose of beauty is to refine the native unsmoothness of human nature. As all love to its power. It is the only antiseptic that has no nihilist shadow. Alas! this means the fat woman must serve instead of rule, for beauty in woman is a composite of both line and feature.

Thousands of fat women are beautiful of face. But they lag behind in the race for preference—because a too ponderous outline dashes the favor their face has gained them.

Now, pretty fat women can reduce that fat (not the good pure-lined flesh) in a very simple way. No exercise—no dieting is necessary. Let them take one Marmola Prescription Tablet after each meal and at bedtime for a month. The fat will simply fade. No wrinkles or patches of skin will form, but the loss will be uniform. The fat will go as steadily as it came; fade away. The health will improve, the eye grow more brilliant, the wit sprightlier. Marmola Tablets are a boon—and harmless (being made from the famous fashionable prescription, 1/2 oz. Marmola, 1/2 oz. Fl. Ex. Cascara Aromatic, 3/4 oz. Peppermint Water), and are likewise cheap, a large case of the druggist or the Marmola Co., 479 Farmer Bldg., Detroit, Mich., costing only seventy-five cents.

LOWER STATE NOTES.

RIVERDALE—Frank Wiltshire, son of a farmer, and Herbert Evans, a village lad, were hunting near here when a gun led by Evans fell from his hands and was discharged. The shot struck young Wiltshire in the left lung, causing death. The dead boy was twelve years old and one of several children of the family. Evans is fifteen years old.

PORT HURON—The supervisors met to consider the local option question, but they found that no decision by the supreme court had been made in the case of C. Kern, the local brewer, against the board and therefore adjourned. This action means that the dregs will have to issue a mandamus to compel the board to take action if they wish the proposition to come before the people this spring.

TRAVELERS CITY—It is probable that the Western Michigan development. The result in the near future will engage in magazine publishing. It is believed that a first-class magazine of this kind would have a large circulation and do the counties in the bureau much good. The details have not been worked out, but the publication would be of standard magazine size and in addition to statistical and other matter pertaining to the lands of the region would contain matter of general interest.

PORT HURON—As the result of a rather severe accident which occurred at the field street, nearly the end of his tongue. A man working with him swinging a heavy sledge hammer, slipped and the hammer struck Sewald's in the mouth. His tongue was so badly cut that the end of it hung down and would have fallen off had Dr. Morris not responded quickly to a call and performed a delicate operation in sewing the end of the tongue on again.

IONIA—There is a strenuous campaign on here for the appointment as postmaster, Mr. Smith, including K. R. Smith, the present incumbent, keeping very busy fixing things so their cases will appeal to Representative Dickema. The argument used against Smith's reappointment is that his family has had the office long enough. Smith has been in twelve years, a brother had it four years before that, and for eight years previous to the brother's incumbency his father was postmaster.

KALAMAZOO—A bold robber who impersonated a ghost to carry on his work and prevent recognition failed to get away with the booty at the home of Melvin O. Springer because that gentleman, instead of being frightened senseless at the sight of the supposed apparition, sat up in bed to get a better view. The "ghost" pointed a revolver at Springer, backed to a door and beat a retreat. An investigation later showed that he had gained entrance through the cellar. Nothing was disturbed in the house. The officers are looking for a man about five feet five inches tall and carrying a bed sheet.

DETROIT—Alton Thompson, convicted of breaking and entering a house in the daytime, was sentenced by Judge Connelly to two years and a half at Folsom. Thompson, after his arrest, told a unique story of how he became "interested" in burglary. "One day I was going by an alley," he said, "and I saw a friend sitting on a box eating something. I asked him what it was and he told me 'sausage' and I got it from the house over there. He gave me some and it was mighty good. Then he showed me a lot of silver and other things which he had taken out of the same house. After that I tried it several times myself, and this time I got caught."

The less a man understands girls the more they make him think he does. Widespread scandal always sounds like a stage whisper.

PROMISING CASCADE RANGE PROPERTY

OFFICERS OF CONSOLIDATED MINING COMPANY BELIEVE ORE BODY WILL BE DEVELOPED ON SECTION EAST OF THE MOORE.

The Consolidated Mining company, composed of Marquette county men, offers for lease its property on the Cascade range, where it is thought an ore body exists. The company owns both the surface and mineral rights of the southeast quarter of Section 26, Township 27, Range 26, in Richmond township. The tract is located one and one-half miles east of the Moore mine, owned and operated by the Oliver Iron Mining company.

The Consolidated Mining company acquired the property some seven or eight years ago, when the "Mesaba Friend" which is nearly familiar in operation. While no exploratory work has been done on the tract, the officers of the company believe that they have an excellent chance of finding ore of even better grade than that produced at the Moore and other nearby properties. The officers of the company will put a drill in operation during the present year. The officers believe that if ore is found it will be of a Bessemer grade.

It is generally admitted by the mining men that the Cascade range will be generally explored during the next few years. It is thought that the market for the average grade of ore found there will continue to improve, and that mining operations can be conducted profitably at all of the low grade properties. A number of Negaunee people are interested in lands in that district and several of them have located low grade ore bodies on their tracts. The Cascade range can within a short period, be made a large producer, as the ore lies close to the surface. It is thought that the coming season will be the best that the range has had in many years.

NEW RAILWAY EQUIPMENT.
Northwestern Company Has Ordered New Cars and Locomotives.
During the past few weeks both the Chicago & Northwestern and Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway companies have placed orders for new cars and locomotives, some of which will be used in this region. Neither of these companies were able to meet the demands of the mining companies last summer, and next season the demand for both cars and locomotives on the iron ranges may be greater than ever before. While the heaviest outlay for equipment will be for cars and locomotives for the passenger service, it is understood that a considerable number of steel ore cars are also to be provided. The Chicago & Northwestern's latest order was for 18 cars, including thirty-eight coaches. No sleepers are included. Practically every car ordered for this year's delivery is to be constructed entirely of steel.

The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway company, which will put on the road the most powerful engine of the year, has ordered an immense amount of new equipment. Its latest order consisted of eighty-six coaches, fifty-eight sleepers, eighteen tourist cars, diners and parlor cars, all of which are to be constructed of steel. It is said that prices for these cars will be used on the coast line. It is reported that the Chicago & Northwestern will have fifty new locomotives in commission before the summer is far advanced, and the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul is to have 150, a number of which are being built in its own shops.

Cheap notoriety often turns out to be an expensive luxury.

IRON BELT MINE TO CLOSE.

Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Company to Abandon Operations at Geogebic Property.

The Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company's Iron Belt property, on the Wisconsin side of the Montreal river, some nine miles from Ironwood, will probably be closed down within a few weeks. The mine is being operated under lease, and has been pretty well explored. No new ore bodies have been found, and the old one is pretty well exhausted. During the last season the company mined only about 40,000 tons. The property has not been much better than a "scram" for some time, although the corporation has expended a goodly sum there, in an effort to locate a paying ore body.

About a half mile distant from the Iron Belt the Oliver Iron Mining company is operating the Atlantic mine, which is developing into a very fair property. The Oliver company is working more than 200 men at the Atlantic, while the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company has never had more than 150 on its payroll at the Iron Belt. The Atlantic promises to be a producer for many years, as important finds have been made there.

TO ERECT MILL.

The Consolidated Fuel & Lumber company will soon begin the erection of a saw mill in this city. The plant is to be a hardwood floor mill and will be provided with the latest equipment for turning out maple flooring. It will be located in the eastern end of the yards, near the Pioneer furnace. The company does an extensive business in hardwood flooring.

John Shea, who left here a few months ago for Los Angeles, Cal., has sent a number of his friends here copies of a publication pertaining to Los Angeles, its industries, growth, etc. The city has had a wonderful growth during the past thirty years. In 1880, there were only 3400 children attending the schools, while today there are over 30,000. The city spent over $3,000,000 last year on street improvements, while a similar sum was expended for other municipal improvements. The water system is to be increased by the extension of mains a distance of 240 miles, at an estimated cost of over $20,000,000. Mr. Shea, who was injured in a street car wreck New Year's day, is getting along nicely.

THE EARTH AS A MOON.

If we could be transported to the planet Venus a peculiar set of views could be obtained of our earth which would enable us to see ourselves, to some extent at least, as others see us. Venus is about the same size as the earth, is somewhat closer to the sun and has more atmosphere than the earth. When the earth and Venus are nearest together they are, of course, on the same side of the sun, and in consequence of this the earth does not seem more than a very small part of the earth illuminated, but Venus, on the other hand, sees all of one side of the earth illuminated and consequently is able to claim she has something that takes the place of a moon anyhow, for the earth to Venus at this time looks very large and bright, almost as much so as our moon does to us.

If we could see all the illuminated surface of Venus on these occasions we should have quite a distinct second moon. When we do see all of her illuminated surface she is on the opposite side of the sun from us and consequently at an enormous distance, yet she is so brilliant as to keep us from seeing her surface distinctly.

But to our own moon we appear in the best light as a moon. A full earth as seen from the moon, according to Professor Todd and other astronomers, is a very inspiring sight on the moon's surface. It can at once be seen why this is necessarily true. The earth is several times larger than the moon and would appear in the heavens as a disk about fourteen times the size of the moon. It would shine with probably as a very variable light, due to the shifting clouds on the earth, though the light, of course, is reflected from the sun, and the reflecting is done in part by the upper surfaces of the clouds. The outlines of the continents of the earth appear very clearly to the moon as if they were formed of paper maché on a globe. Cities of comparatively large size could be made out with ease in case people were there to make them out. The intensity of reflected earth light would be as much as fourteen moons and would enable the Selenites, if such they are, to read or work in comparative daylight.—St. Louis Republic.

LOCATION PROVES STUMBLING BLOCK

ACTION ON PROPOSED TUBERCULOSIS HOSPITAL DEFERRED UNTIL FEB. 23.

ARGUMENTS PRO AND CON

Building Should Be at High Altitude and Away from Large Body of Water, Says Michigan Physician.

At the meeting of the county board of supervisors yesterday, a difference of opinion arose as to the advisability of at this time specifying the location of the proposed tuberculosis hospital, in consequence of which the resolution to submit the issuance of $15,000 in bonds for that purpose to the electors of the county at the April election, was referred back to the special committee until the next meeting, which will be held Feb. 23. The resolution submitted by the special committee, of which W. S. Ewing is chairman, declares it to be the sense of the board that a tuberculosis hospital be constructed in the city of Marquette and that the county borrow $15,000 to pay for the construction of the same, same to be obtained by an issue of bonds, subject to the approval of the qualified electors of the county at the election to be held the first Monday in April.

Judging from the discussion following the presentation of this resolution and the motion for its adoption, there is little if any objection among the members of the board to the construction of the proposed hospital and the submission of the bonding proposition to the voters in the spring. However, it was brought out that $15,000 would do no more than to build and possibly equip the building, leaving nothing for emergencies or the expense of operation. It was suggested that the $2,000 spread on the tax roll last fall, and a like amount that could be so levied every year, could be used for the maintenance of the institution. To provide for all contingencies, however, there was considerable sentiment in favor of issuing bonds to the amount of $20,000, instead of $15,000.

Question of Location.

But what proved to be at least the temporary stumbling block to the passage of the resolution was the clause requiring that the hospital be located in Marquette, it being the idea of the committee to build it on the hill back of the county house, though this was not specifically stated in the resolution. Captain John Trebilcock opined that it would be better to make no reference to the location in the resolution, as there were certain objections to the county house site and there might be other places in the county better adapted for the purpose.

Supervisor Ewing spoke in favor of designating Marquette as the location, inasmuch as much of the food that would be used by the tubercular patients could be produced on the county farm, the county house and hospital could be placed under the same administration, all of which would greatly reduce the cost of maintenance. If the institution were located in some other part of the county, he thought that it would be necessary to maintain what amounted to two county farms instead of one.

Dr. L. L. Goodnow spoke at some length in favor of not designating the site of the institution in the resolution. He declared that an ideal tuberculosis sanitarium should be situated at as high an altitude as possible and away from any large body of water. The Marquette site was open to objection on both these grounds, and furthermore, he understood that it was foggy here at times, which would be bad for the patients. On the other hand, Dr. Goodnow was of the opinion that the hospital could be conducted at less cost in connection with the county farm, than if separately maintained. Furthermore, the doctor was of the opinion that knowledge that the institution was to be located in Marquette would stir up opposition to the issuance of bonds in the western part of the county. He stated that he most desired that nothing should be done to jeopardize the speedy construction of the hospital, and that its location was far less important than the hospital itself, for which there was a crying need in the county.

This view met with the approval of the board, and it was voted to lay the whole question over until the next meeting. Meantime, the physicians of the county and members of the board as well will make a more careful study of the question of location, the result of which will be reported before final action is taken.

County Clerk Jenks read a letter from the executive committee of the state association of supervisors, which organization will hold their annual meeting at Lansing Feb. 1. The letter extended a cordial invitation to the Marquette county board to send at least one representative to the meeting, but the members did not see fit to accept the invitation and the communication was placed on file. Two years ago, Captain Trebilcock attended this meeting as a delegate from the Marquette county board, and his impressions of the gathering were not particularly favorable, as the attendance was small and the addresses not especially helpful or of practical value. Since that time, no Marquette supervisor has attended.

The bonds filed by the three banks designated as the depositories of the county money were reported technically correct by the prosecuting attorney, and were approved by the board.

In order to answer questions that were being put to him by his constituents, Supervisor Williams asked by what authority the policeman in the employ of the Oliver Mining company were invested with police and deputy sheriff powers. Prosecuting Attorney Bell informed him that these men had been deputized by Sheriff Lehman and that police powers could be conferred by the cities in which they had jurisdiction, but that he did not know whether or not such powers had as yet been conferred.

There will be something doing at the Saturday night hop at Fraternity Hall next Saturday evening. (1-17-10)

MEETING AT DETROIT.

Lake Carriers' Association Threshing Out Problems of Local Interest.

Local marine men are watching the meeting of the Lake Carriers' association, now in session at Detroit, with more than ordinary interest. In fact, three meetings of interest to marine men are being held in Detroit this week. Because of the serious losses suffered on the lakes this year, the meeting of the Great Lakes Protective association held Tuesday, was of importance. This organization has to do with the insuring of vessels and in 1909, vessels in the Lake Carriers' association alone were insured for $80,000,000. Under the operation of the Protective association, vessel owners in this association carry 5 per cent of the total risk.

Members as a whole are reported to be well satisfied with the plan that requires captains to load only to a certain depth, governed by lake levels received from day to day at every port. There have been fewer strandings this year in proportion to the number of boats in operation than last year—that is among boats in the association. According to this plan, if a vessel is to go through the Soo canal or the Limestone channel the captain is informed as to the safe depth of the water in these channels and loading of the water in these channels and depth are done away with to a large extent.

It is expected that the Lake Carriers' association, which meets today, will vote to continue the present open shop policy, which the officers claim proved very satisfactory, in spite of the marine strike, of which the officers refuse to recognize the existence. It is likely that a discussion of the Welfare plan will also have a part in the meeting.

At the meeting of the Lumber Carriers' association held in Detroit yesterday, nothing more than routine business was expected to come up.

LAKE MICHIGAMME THE FAVORED SPOT

MAJORITY OF PHYSICIANS WOULD HAVE TUBERCULOSIS HOSPITAL LOCATED THERE—INTERESTING MEETING LAST NIGHT.

One of the most largely attended and interesting meetings of the Marquette County Medical association yet held took place in the offices of Drs. Cunningham and Hornum last evening. A discussion of tetanus and the most effective method of treatment and the proposed county tuberculosis hospital were the chief topics considered by the physicians.

At the close of the discussion regarding the tuberculosis hospital, an informal ballot was taken to learn the sentiment of those present as to the best location for the institution. A majority favored the shore of Lake Michigamme. The superior advantages claimed for this location are excellent water, high altitude, distance from Lake Superior and the beautiful natural scenery. There seemed to be quite a strong sentiment against the plan of erecting the hospital on the county house grounds, as that location would keep many patients away, who might otherwise elect to enjoy its privileges and be willing to pay a reasonable amount therefor. It was argued that there would be a general aversion to going to a hospital on the county house farm, which could be construed as an evidence of pauperism.

The discussion of tetanus was brought about largely by the fact that there have been three cases in Marquette within the past year, one of which was fatal. The physicians were agreed that the injection of serum or anti-toxin was the most effective treatment for the disease, which was the treatment used in all of the Marquette cases. It was advised that the serum be injected on the very first suspicion of the disease, and if taken in time, it was thought that the treatment would result in a cure in the majority of cases.

Following the meeting, the physicians enjoyed a lunch at the Marquette club. Those present from out of town were: Drs. Moll of Kenon; Goodnow of Michigamme; Floreny of Tenary; Barnett, Felch and Peotie of Ishpeming; Larson of Negaunee, and Loveland of Republic.

LOCAL OPTION IN CANADA.

Law in Dominion Similar to That in State of Michigan.

In reply to certain questions propounded by "Inquirer" in yesterday's Mining Journal regarding the workings of the prohibition law in force at Owen Sound, Canada, John Robertson stated yesterday that the law there was very similar to that in effect in the "dry" districts of this state. As he understands it, there is no such thing as "breach of the liquor license act" in our understanding of that term, but it is the expression commonly used for violations of the liquor laws, most logging, operating blind pigs, etc. The sale of liquor in hotels and restaurants is forbidden and there are no legitimate saloons. The many drunks and disorderlies who are arrested, says Mr. Robertson, in most cases secure their liquor in nearby "wet" towns, on which trips they take on a big enough load to last awhile, and often bring back a supply to give or sell their friends.

PEOPLE CARELESS IN ADDRESSING LETTERS

POSTOFFICE DEPARTMENT WANTS ENVELOPES ADDRESSED JUST SO, BUT PUBLIC DOES NOT HEED ADVICE GIVEN.

Though everyone nowadays writes letters, it is remarkable how few know how to address an envelope in the proper way, say those in the employ of Uncle Sam's postal service. The department desires that everyone should address envelopes correctly and in exactly the same way, in order that letters may reach their destination properly and that the postal clerks may be relieved of much inconvenience.

In the first place, on every envelope should be the name and address of the sender in the upper left hand corner, with the stamp in the upper right hand corner. In the center of the envelope:

1. The name, below it slantingly—
2. The street number; then—
3. The city; and lastly—
4. The state. Thus:—

Mr. Frank B. Jones,
2416 Oak Street,
Oswego,
Ohio.

Every address should be written precisely that way and no other. It should be noted particularly that the street and number should go below the name, and not down in the lower left hand corner where it is frequently placed. The street and number in that position causes an instant's delay in sorting the letters into the different boxes, which in handling a large mail means much loss of time.

Neither does Uncle Sam like the haphazard style of some typewriters in lining up the address in this manner: Mr. Frank B. Jones,
2416 Oak Street,
Oswego,
Ohio.

Uncle Sam calls the first style given above his "model form" and asks that school children be instructed to address mail matter in that precise manner. In the latter part of 1908, postmasters all over the country were directed to cooperate with the school authorities in giving instruction to pupils, especially in the proper addressing of mail matter, but in this locality at least, postmasters have not been keen to take up that duty. Writing an address with a pencil is also considered objectionable. Ink only should be used in addressing mail matter. Since more than 3,000,000 pieces of mail matter were sent to the dead letter office last year, a large proportion of which could not be delivered because of carelessness in writing addresses, it is not surprising that the attention of the public should be called to this matter by the postoffice department.

Volunteer Firemen Save Burning Railroad Cars in Novel Manner.

Trenton, Mo., Jan. 19.—Colonel W. B. Carpenter here received a letter from Superintendent F. J. When the wreckage was burning fiercely and Carpenter persuaded bystanders to throw snow on the flames to quench them. He afterward made a list of those who assisted and sent it to the company, suggesting that the snowballers be paid.
