

TURN FOR BETTER COMES AT PARIS

Flood Situation Is Materially Improved This Morning and the Government Officials Are Convinced That the End Is in Sight.

They Expect That the Waters Will Now Begin to Recede—All Yesterday and During the Night, However, the Tide Had Continued Its Steady Rise and Hourly the Seething Seas Had Spread Over New Areas, to the Great Consternation of People.

Paris, Saturday, Jan. 29.—The situation is greatly improved this morning, partly because the weather has suddenly cleared, the temperature has dropped and the wind has veered to the east.

New Areas Invaded. Paris, Jan. 28.—An agonizing cry goes up from the people of Paris tonight.

The water has begun to fall in all the alluvial basins above Paris, but the passage through the city is clogged by bridges and an immense accumulation of drift and the seething waters are hourly spreading above new areas.

Weird Spectacle Presented. Tonight the city presents a weird spectacle. Soldiers, sailors, firemen and police are hastily constructing temporary walls by the light of camp fires and torches, in an endeavor to keep out the invading floods.

Issues Plea to American People. Washington, Jan. 28.—The American Red Cross society having been notified by Robert Bacon, American ambassador at Paris, that contributions to the aid of the flood sufferers in France would be acceptable, tonight issued an appeal to the American public for funds.

Floods in Italy Receding. Rome, Jan. 28.—Splendid weather returned today. The floods throughout Italy are receding.

PNEUMONIA CURE WORKS WELL. Tufts Medical School Method Used with Great Success in Lowell.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 28.—The report of the success of the vaccine treatment for pneumonia at Lowell is received with great satisfaction at the Tufts Medical School, where the cure had its inception and first trials. The records and charts of the Lowell cases have not yet been received by the Tufts experts, but it has been known at the Medical school that the patients were "coming along well."

They Are Pirates of Flying Machines, Declares Paulhan's Attorney. New York, Jan. 28.—The Wright brothers are not inventors, but pirates of flying machines invented by others, according to counsel for Louis Paulhan.

IS REVIVED BY BERNIER. Territorial Possession of the Pole a Live Question Again.

New York, Jan. 28.—The question of who has territorial possession of the North pole has been revived again by Captain Joseph Bernier, of Canada, who will ask Sir Wilfrid Laurier, premier of Canada, to request all maritime nations bordering on the Arctic sea to designate representatives to accompany him on his forthcoming Polar expedition.

WANTS THE GAME MODIFIED. Wm. Allen White Urges That Football Be Made Less Dangerous.

Lawrence, Kas., Jan. 28.—Wm. Allen White, editor of the Emporia Gazette and regent of the University of Kansas, launched a movement at a meeting of the board today for the abolition of football until the Missouri Valley conference makes changes in the rules.

WRIGHTS NOT INVENTORS. They Are Pirates of Flying Machines, Declares Paulhan's Attorney.

Bradstreet's Review of Trade. New York, Jan. 28.—Bradstreet's will tomorrow say: Measured by such tests as bank clearings and railroad earnings, there is no visible diminution in the volume of the industrial and mercantile transactions, and yet with such reactions as the Paris flood, the agitation over the high prices and the violent stock market it would be strange if various trades did not feel the effect of these disturbances.

FRANCIS RIDDLE DEAD. Chicago, Jan. 28.—Francis A. Riddle, a well-known attorney, former member of the Illinois legislature and Civil War veteran, died here today, after a five years' illness.

MINERS' MEETING IS A STORMY ONE

President Lewis Declares His Belief That There Is an Organized Effort to Break Up the Indianapolis Convention.

Charge Is Made That It Was by Reason of a "Private Understanding" With the Operators That a Strike Was Called Off, With the Result 10,000 Men Had Their Wages Pared, and This Brings About Exceedingly Tumultuous Proceedings.

Indianapolis, Jan. 28.—"I am informed that there is an organized effort to break up this convention," declared Thomas L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, at the close of today's session.

STOCK MARKET IMPROVES. Price Movement Is Upward, on a Narrower Volume of Trading.

New York, Jan. 28.—The fever which has kept the stock market disturbed this week was reduced today. The dealings contracted and the fluctuations narrowed.

"REGULARS" WANT TAFT'S HELP BADLY

Representative Dwight, the Republican Whip, and His Two Chief Lieutenants Make a Call at the Executive Mansion.

They Ask Assistance in Stemming the Tide of Insurgency, but They Find the President Reluctant to Take a Hand in the Strife—He Makes It Clear That His Main Purpose Is to Secure the Enactment of Laws to Which the Party Is Pledged.

Washington, Jan. 28.—Representative Dwight, of New York, the Republican whip of the house of representatives, Representative Dalzell, of Pennsylvania, and Representative Boutell, of Illinois, called at the White House today to see what assistance the president would lend in stemming the tide of insurgency which it is said now threatens the existence of the committee on rules.

Glavis Further Accuses Ballinger. Washington, Jan. 28.—The proceedings in the Ballinger-Pinchot inquiry, which up to this time have consisted largely of reading into the record of the inquiry various letters, telegrams, etc., which heretofore have been made public in a message to the senate by President Taft, took on a livelier aspect this afternoon when Louis R. Glavis, continuing his testimony against Mr. Ballinger, told of various interviews he had had with the secretary of the interior.

THINKS THE PACKERS ARE MUCH MALIGNED.

An Investigator at New York Comes Out With Figures Tending to Show That in That City at Least It's the Retail Dealer Who Reaps the Big Profits.

New York, Jan. 28.—The family trade in meats continues to dwindle here and the prices continue to fall in consequence. The resentment against the increase in the cost of living has thus far mainly centered upon the packer, but an independent investigator came out with figures today which tend to show that, in the better class of trade at least, the retailer absorbs the larger profits, leaving the packer only what he can make on the sale of the by-products.

Richmond Unions Boycott Meat. Richmond, Va., Jan. 28.—By unanimous vote tonight forty unions, representing every branch of organized labor in the city, agreed to refrain from the use of meat for thirty days.

Farmers Plan a "Strike." Nevada, Mo., Jan. 28.—A movement has been inaugurated by the farmers of this region to stop selling farm produce for sixty days, as a protest against the allegation of the packers that the farmers and stockmen are responsible for the high prices. The aim is to make the movement nationwide.

OPERATING WITHOUT LICENSE. Trouble Ahead in Kentucky for Two Life Insurance Companies.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 28.—Insurance Commissioner Charles W. Bell this afternoon held a conference with the presidents of life insurance companies which have been losers in the swindling schemes practiced in Louisville by insurance solicitors, and as a result the state of Kentucky may take action for operating in Kentucky without license against the Indiana Life Insurance company, of Indianapolis, and the Commercial Life Insurance company, of Indianapolis.

WADE ELLIS PRAISES WHITE HOUSE POLICY

Assistant to the Attorney General and Old Neighbor of Taft Explains the Viewpoint of the Administration Man.

He Applauds the President's Refusal to Take Sides With the Republican Factions and His Stand for the Performance of Party Pledges, and He Declares the Majority of the Leaders Now Getting Into Line With Him.

Cleveland, Jan. 28.—Wade H. Ellis, assistant to the attorney general and an old neighbor of the president when the latter lived in Cincinnati, tonight at the banquet of the Tippecanoe club explained the viewpoint of an administration man on the administration policies.

After declaring that the majority of the leaders in congress were rallying to the president Mr. Ellis explained how Mr. Taft was carrying out all the Roosevelt policies. He defended the president's attitude toward the tariff bill and criticized the Democrats for offering no bill of their own.

HOUSE COMMITTEE RESENTS INFERENCE OF "ROBBERY" AND "GRAFT." Washington, Jan. 28.—"The American republic cannot stand forever with this sort of thing being run in the people's ears—these anarchistic statements," angrily declared Representative Smith, of California, today, addressing Herbert Myrick, representative of the Agricultural Press league, a witness before the house committee on postoffices and post-roads at the hearing on the subject of increasing the postal rate for second-class mail matter.

City Brevities

Today's weather: Partly cloudy; stationary temperature.

Yesterday's temperatures: Seven a. m., 22 degrees; noon, 27; 7 p. m., 21. Maximum, 28 degrees; minimum, 20.

Miss Hattie Steele of Spokane, Wash., is visiting relatives in the city.

The Finnish band will give a masquerade dancing party at Keough's Hall this evening.

There will be a meeting of the Musical club this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of A. B. Eldredge, High street.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Genesee and Eugene O'Leary of Escanaba, have returned home after attending the funeral of John R. Deasy.

Mrs. Wm. Cannon of Marinette, who attended the funeral of her brother-in-law, John R. Deasy, will remain with her sister for a few days.

J. A. Dresser who has been examining the county officers' books has completed the work and left for Iron River last evening. Mr. Dresser is employed by the supervisors to audit the county books annually.

Miss Myrtle Schrandt, chief operator at the Marquette office of the Michigan Telephone company, will spend a two-weeks' vacation in Negaunee and Birch. Miss Archibald of Powers will take her place at the office.

The card party given Thursday evening at Joan of Arc Hall by the ladies of the French church was well patronized. Cards were played at eighty-two tables and a good time was had. During the evening the "Boys' band" appeared in the vestibule and gave a pleasant musical surprise.

Game to Be Private—High school authorities wish it to be well understood that the girls' basketball game which is to take place tonight in Legion Hall is strictly private. No tickets will be on sale for the public.

A Delightful Party—A social dancing party was given at the Golf club last night by the Misses Lizze Anthony and Edna Peterson. It was a delightful event, thoroughly enjoyed by the thirty couples present. At 12 o'clock Mr. and Mrs. King served an elaborate lunch.

Ishpeming High Swamped—The Ishpeming High school basketball team was literally swamped in the game with Marquette high, played at Legion Hall last evening, the final score being Marquette, 41; Ishpeming, 2. A very large crowd was present and participated in the dancing that followed. Marquette and Negaunee will play here next Friday evening.

County Drug Association—The annual meeting of the Marquette County Drug association was held in this city yesterday afternoon. Matters of mutual interest were discussed and the following officers were elected: President, S. B. Jones; vice president, Louis Penhill; secretary and treasurer, J. H. O'Donohue. The eight members of the association were all in attendance. The county organization is affiliated with the National Drug association.

Roads Are Splendid—Many farmers are taking advantage of the fine roads that have been paved into the city, and there is a good demand. It is said that the sleighing thus far this season has been about as good as could be hoped for, a decided improvement over last winter, when much of the time the roads were badly drifted or so soft that it was either to be avoided or wheeled. The ground is evenly covered with about two feet of snow, which, it is believed, will protect the meadows and result in a good hay crop the coming summer, if conditions are at all favorable in the spring.

Order Tickets Today—Members of the Commercial club who have not yet obtained tickets to the annual banquet to be held the evening of Wednesday next, and who desire them, are requested to notify G. A. Carlson, at the Savings bank block, today. There are several Marquette men who have not been members of the association, but who desire to join and attend the banquet, and it is proposed to issue the tickets after the wants of all the members of long standing are supplied. The number of places at the banquet is to be limited to somewhat less than 100, and most of them have already been disposed of.

Apathy in Baseball Circles—It is difficult to understand the apparent apathy that pervades Marquette baseball circles and enthusiasts this winter. In other cities throughout the upper peninsula, meetings have already been held, players are being secured and active work for the success of the coming season is in progress. In Marquette, however, there is nothing doing as yet, and there is no baseball talk which presages any immediate action. Regret was expressed yesterday that "Boys" Dixon, the crack pitcher, had been permitted to get away from the city without signing a contract to play with the local team. It was reported yesterday that he has agreed to play with Ishpeming the coming summer.

INSURE WITH PETER WHITE & CO. MUSICAL CLUB MEETING TODAY. Study of the Works of Von Weber Will Be Concluded.

The Saturday Musical club will meet this afternoon with Miss Edith Eldredge, 317 High street. The study of the works of Von Weber will be concluded at this meeting, chiefly the opera "Der Freischutz." Miss Eldredge will give the description, Mrs. Jopling and Mrs. Burt will play the overture, Mrs. Roberts will sing the Aria and Miss Oltman the Romance, and Miss D'Ooge and Miss Oltman will sing the prayer. In addition to these Der Freischutz numbers, Miss Barnes and Miss Mathews will play the Oberon and Zulu overtures and Miss Mathews will play Weber's best known piano composition—"Invitation to the Dance." Mrs. Boyer will act as accompanist and will also play the Enzyanthe overture, with Mrs. Davis. Chorus practice will follow, under Miss Oltman's direction.

BACK FROM AUTO SHOW.
E. E. McIntosh Reports Enjoyable and Profitable Week in Detroit.

E. E. McIntosh, superintendent of the Pioneer Motor company, returned yesterday from Detroit, where he has attended the automobile show. He reports that the show was a great success, with fully 300 cars on exhibition and large crowds in attendance, both day times and evenings. He was impressed by the large number of medium grade and moderately priced cars on exhibition, which seem to be the kind of automobiles that most of the manufacturers are chiefly devoting their attention to.

According to Mr. McIntosh, the E. M. F. and Chalmers-Detroit cars were the favorites with the public, judging from the amount of attention the exhibits of these two companies received. The first two days of the show, agents for these cars also made the largest number of sales. Another car which Mr. McIntosh was favorably impressed with was the $550 runabout manufactured by the DeMott Motor company, which is of special interest to Marquette people, as two former residents, John Craig and George Homeier, have high positions with the company that manufactures the DeMott car. This car is designed to run on level ground and to compete with the electric runabouts, but would hardly be a success in a hilly country like Marquette county.

A. H. GRIFFITH.

Sketch of Man Who Will Lecture on Art Here Feb. 1.

A. H. Griffith in more than twenty visits to Europe, some of them lasting over a year, has had rare opportunities to see and study the art of the old world. While he has enjoyed the work of the great masters in paint and stone, his greatest delight has always been in the countries themselves and their people, and his keenest memories are of the beautiful, out-of-the-way places not thronged by the ordinary crowd of tourists.

When he took charge of the Detroit Museum of Art twenty years ago he was given, and has always retained, the warm support of a large number of Detroit's wealthiest and most refined men and women.

In the panicky days of the nineties he told them he needed much more room for his work and in a few weeks the large addition was started, giving him the present magnificent building extending through the entire block from Jefferson avenue to Woodbridge street.

His Sunday afternoon lectures had then been started and one of the main ideas of the new addition was to provide a lecture room large enough to hold all who wanted to attend, but today it doesn't begin to hold all who try to get into each week. As Mr. Griffith says, "I do not understand it, but I try to give them the best that is in me." The city council now appreciates the worth of the institution and each year votes a substantial appropriation towards the support of its work. In his lectures he seldom talks of great pictures, statues and the men who made them but of those greater beauties of form and color which are all about us and not made by human hands. He wants to help the people see and appreciate these pleasures which too often pass unnoticed and then they will be ready to more fully enjoy the work of man in art.

THEATRICAL.

"The Fox."

Daniel Ryan and company, who presented "The Fox" at the opera house last evening, were not greeted by a large house, but they made a very favorable impression and deserve large audiences at today's afternoon and evening performances. Mr. Ryan is an exceptionally clever actor, at his best in serious and tragical parts, whom we imagine might be able to interpret Shakespeare intelligently. Besides Mr. Ryan there are three men and one woman in the company, all of whom are strong and handle their respective parts with distinction. E. B. Deugee was particularly good in the role of a French-Canadian youth.

As a curtain raiser to the play of the evening, Messrs. Ryan, Frank and Deugee presented a powerful one-act play entitled, "The Arm of the Law," dramatized by Mr. Ryan from a short story published in the January number of Ainslee's magazine. Though somewhat gruesome, the story is a powerful portrayal of the natural and inevitable consequences of "sowing wild oats."

"The Fox" is a remarkable play in many respects. The scene is laid in a habitant's hut, about sixty miles from Ottawa. An American hunting in the vicinity loses his way "in the bush" and applies for shelter at the home of the habitant. He is cordially received and wins the love of the daughter of the house by his attractive personality and stories of life in the big city of New York. In the throes of his passion, he induces her to elope, but later casts her off and she returns to her father's home in shame. Twenty years later, during which the old man's one ambition has been to revenge the wrong done his daughter, a man who has every resemblance of the destroyer of his home, knocks at the door and asks for shelter. After housing and feeding him, preparing to torture him before killing him, there is enacted an intensely dramatic scene, which supplies a fitting climax and end for the play.

"The Fox" will be repeated at the matinee this afternoon, and this evening "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" will be presented. The Ryan company gives one of the best popular priced shows put on here in many a day.

CANDIDATES TALK ON PRISON PROBLEM

OSBORN FAVORS EMPLOYMENT OF CONVICTS ON ROADS—KELLEY DOES NOT BELIEVE THE PLAN FEASIBLE.

At the St. Johns banquet of the Clinton County Republican club this week, two of the candidates for governor, Chase S. Osborn and Lieutenant Governor Kelley, made reference to the employment of convicts. Mr. Osborn alluded to the subject briefly, and advocated their employment on road building work. Mr. Kelley does not consider this practicable, but believes it might be feasible to quarry and ship rock for road work from the Marquette prison. He is quoted at length on the subject of convict employment, as follows:

"The management of our prisons and the proper employment of convicts in healthful, remunerative labor will be one of the problems to be solved by the next state administration. That convicts should be so employed admits of no dispute. Every consideration of humanity, health, morals and reform demands suitable employment for those confined in our prisons and reformatories.

"There enters into the solution of this question three important considerations, viz: (a) the reformation of the convict, (b) the cost to the taxpayer, (c) reasonable protection of free labor within the state from competition with convict labor.

"In determining the kind of employment for our penal institutions we cannot forget that the highest consideration from the standpoint of the public good must be the reformation of the convict. Penal institutions are not maintained by the state for vengeance or retribution but for reformation and the public safety. The average length of time served by men in our penal institutions is said not to exceed six years, after which they are released and must again take up the threads of life in the outside world. Fortunate indeed, will it be for society if the state has given its convicts such care, training and employment as will fit them to be come useful and law abiding citizens upon their release.

"The proper employment of our convicts is important also from the standpoint of cost to the taxpayers of the state. Last year the Jackson prison with seven hundred forty-five inmates, the Ionia reformatory with five hundred seventy-five inmates, and the Marquette prison with three hundred ninety-nine inmates required an expenditure of $215,665.08, in addition to the earnings of the convicts, to meet the needs of these institutions. Of this amount there were expended for current expenses at the Jackson prison $68,000.00, at the Ionia reformatory $26,000.00, and at the Marquette prison $40,000.00. With a prison population therefore of sixteen hundred thirty-nine, the great majority of whom are in excellent health and in the prime of life, we seem unable to market their labor at a price sufficient to pay the cost of their maintenance and are obliged to supplement their earnings with a tax of nearly a quarter of a million dollars annually.

Not as Road Builders. "Having in mind the settled policy of our state to protect the free labor of Michigan from contract labor in all reasonable ways, I fully realize the difficulties experienced by our wardens and boards of control in finding suitable remunerative employment for our convicts. A few states, however, seem to have solved the problem of making their prisons self-supporting. What other states have done ought not to be impossible for Michigan.

"The last session of the legislature authorized the appointment of a commission to investigate the whole question of prison labor and the management and control of our penal institutions. It was the duty of this legislature that this commission should make a thorough examination of the conditions in Michigan and in other states and report their findings to the legislature at its next session. The commission will undoubtedly thoroughly labor in such states as Minnesota, where, through the manufacture of binding twine and farm machinery they have been able not only to maintain their prisons without cost to the taxpayers, but also to realize from the labor of their convicts a handsome profit for the state.

"I trust that the commission will also thoroughly consider the suggestion so often made that a portion of our convicts be employed in crushing the stone to be used in the various municipalities engaged in constructing highways. This experiment could be tried with but slight expense at the Marquette prison, where an almost unlimited supply of an excellent quality of trap rock lies under the very walls of the prison. With favorable rates of transportation probably one-half the convicts at Marquette could be set to work in a stone quarry with profit to the state and the various municipalities.

"The proposition to employ at least a portion of our convicts upon the highways has been put forward by many students of this question as at least a partial solution of the problem of prison labor. This proposition should be thoroughly investigated by the commission, but to my mind it does not hold out much promise of relief. The climatic conditions in our latitude are such as to make the plan a doubtful one for Michigan. During the winter season, late in the fall and early in the spring, work upon the highways could be carried on in our state only under the greatest of difficulties and generally speaking would have to be suspended altogether during a period of four or five months. What to do with the convicts during the portion of the year when work upon the highways would be impracticable would indeed be a serious problem. I am frank to confess, too, that in common with our people generally, as I believe, I entertain a slight predisposition against employing convicts on the highways. In spite of all I can do I find myself rebelling against the idea of setting convicts at work under armed guards in the public gaze, to be taunted and mocked and jeered at by every thoughtless passer-by. To do so, I am afraid, would destroy every hope of reformation or regeneration and would forever confirm them in their hatred for law and organized society.

"I sincerely hope that the work of the commission appointed to investigate this question will be thorough, systematic and scientific, and that the next legislature may be able to take up the solution of the problem of convict labor with all the data obtainable in its possession and that whatever plan may be evolved will be economical, humane and permanent."

Northern Normal Notes.

Last week Friday and Saturday evenings Dr. and Mrs. R. Downing entertained the students taking work in the department of natural science.

Miss Lottie B. Turner, former assistant in the department of drawing, has been elected to a position as supervisor of drawing in the schools of New York city.

President J. H. Kaye went to Lansing to attend a meeting of the Normal council on Friday and to Detroit on Saturday, to attend a meeting of the state board of education.

Assembly for next week will be in the hands of Miss Spalding and Miss Maxwell. Miss Spalding was to have spoken on Thursday of this week but her program was postponed till Tuesday next.

Twelve students have entered the contest for the Kaufman oratorical prize. The contestants must hand in their exercises by the 25th of February. Preliminary will be held during the quarter and the final contest will come early in the spring term.

Many students and all members of the faculty are much interested in the work of the Art League recently begun in Marquette and are anticipating a treat in the lecture to be given next Tuesday evening, under the auspices of the league, by Mr. Griffith of Detroit.

President J. H. Kaye will give a talk next Monday afternoon at 2:15 in the Assembly on the subject of England and the characteristics of the English people. The talk will be primarily for the members of the geography classes but everyone will be welcome.

Three of the students who completed their course last quarter, have been elected to positions in Hancock where they will begin work on Monday morning. They are Misses Catherine Fox, Emily Gustafson and Edna Willard, the two last named being residents of Marquette. Miss Anna McClintock is teaching in Ironwood and Bertha Johnston in Chassell. Viola Pearce had expected to enter the university with the second class, but, instead, started on Thursday evening on her journey around the world. Edith Keightley of St. Ignace is spending the rest of the year at home.

On Monday afternoon Mr. Parker, of the department of Latin, talked before the geography classes on his trip through France. He went there last year to study the battle grounds of Caesar's campaign in that country. He spoke of the larger rivers, he described at length the interesting subjects of sardine and snail fisheries.

At the last meeting of Osiris, the following program was given:

- Musie Normal School Orchestra—Kenneth Pellow, cornet; H. R. S. Stewart, clarinet; Alex Findley, violin; Kenneth Richardson, trombone; Miss Des Rosiers, piano.
- "The Annual"—A talk by Miss Rankin, Editor in Chief.
- Musie Normal School Orchestra.
- Reading Eva Watt.
- Report of Critics Dr. G. C. Fraeker.

At the meeting of Ygdrasil on Monday evening last, the program consisted entirely of talks by various members on current events. Claude Pendlig gave a ten-minute discussion of the monorail cars. Howard McKereghan discussed the much talked of water way between Lake Michigan and the Gulf of Mexico. Arthur Hessel talked of the probability of an alliance between Russia and Japan, according to accounts of conditions given by travelers in both countries. Walter Hornstein discussed the increased cost of living. The program closed with a piano duet by the Misses Grace Doetsch and Merle Gibson.

Tuesday morning assembly was in charge of Dr. E. D. Downing. He spoke on the subject of tuberculosis of the lungs, or as it is so often called now, the white plague. He made the statement that 10,000 persons die annually in Michigan from that dreaded disease and 150,000 die in the whole United States, also that these deaths are largely unpreventable. Taking the average productive power of each person in dollars and cents, the speaker said that through this disease, the nation loses each year at the rate of $5,000,000 from what should be added to her resources. Tuberculosis is due to a tiny microbe, similar in structure and action to the fungus of which the yeast by which bread is leavened, or the one by which substances are caused to decay. They grow with remarkable rapidity by the process of dividing. It is estimated that in perfect conditions, that is, with the right substance to feed upon, and with no obstructions by which their operations would be prevented, a single parent would increase in one week to a mass as large in volume as the earth, though each individual is of most infinitesimal proportions. The substance of course upon which the animals thrive is the tissues of the body, especially the lung tissue. The disease is pronounced by the medical profession today as not hereditary, but contagious. In spite of the latter fact, no one ever thinks of treating a tubercular patient as we do one suffering with scarlet fever. In the latter case every member of the family is kept away from contact or from the neighborhood of the sufferer, and this should be done strictly with consumptive patients. Michigan has recently passed a law placing this disease on the list with contagious diseases, so that every house in which a tubercular patient dies must now be thoroughly disinfected, but this is only the first step, many more must be taken. Middle life is the period when people are most liable to be stricken with consumption. The speaker declared that according to averages at least one-fourth of those in the room were likely to die of the disease. Consumption is so slow and insidious in its workings that it does not inspire the terror caused by other contagious diseases which are even less deadly in their effects; we must fight it generally without seeing it. It is contracted usually through the sputum thrown off by persons infected. For that reason we now find notices such as "Do not spit on the sidewalk" and in public buildings and conveyances "Do not spit on the floor." These precautions are taken because the sputum quickly dries, leaving the microbes free to be blown about by every draft of air and, consequently, to be inhaled by other people. The perfectly healthy person never takes the disease, but, unfortunately, few of us are perfectly healthy. The one who is in a "run down condition" or who has a flat or sunken chest, or one with worn out tissues, is dangerously liable to contract it. The best way to fight the enemy is to prevent it, and this is effected by pleated or fluted masks. Most of us use only one-third of our lungs in breathing; some use two-thirds and the rare individual all. The unused part is the seat of the disease; the microbes find easy working ground there and are less likely to be disturbed. As a sure preventive we should use every part of the lungs. Walking, tramping, snow-shoeing, dancing are among the best means of compelling every one to do this. Another is to practice breathing exercises. Physicians say that if we would breathe deeply, three times in succession while out of doors, or when the air is pure, and do this ten times every day, we should never have consumption. Fresh air and sunlight are the best germicides, consequently patients are now kept out of doors all day and all night where possible, and school rooms for children in the winter are being built open on several sides to these curative agents of nature.

The Faculty club held its first meeting of the quarter last Tuesday afternoon from half-past three o'clock until five. The subject for the day was "Physiological Conditions Fundamental to a Proper Graded School Course." The paper presented by Dr. Downing, who has made a study of this matter, and who gives a course in his department on the special physiology of childhood. It is a fact that cases of contagious disease increase materially with the opening of school, and that physical dangers are incurred in school rooms for crowded, light, improper positions, insufficient ventilation and the ununiform teacher. Children are not little men and little women and there is a pressing need of a knowledge of the physical structure of the child's body, and the difference between it and that of the adult. The child is easily fatigued but recovers rapidly, hence the need of short and frequent vacations, short recitations and frequent rest periods. The school program should be based upon the well known fatigue curve, which shows that approximately the child's powers for concentrated effort are greatest between 10 and 11 o'clock in the morning, very low between 12 and 2 in the afternoon, and greatest at about 3, with sharp decline to 4. The subjects taught in school, when arranged in the order of their difficulty, as estimated by the fatigue curve, should be: Gymnastics, foreign language, native language, mathematics, history, literature, geography, nature study, music, drawing and manual training. There should be an alternative easy and difficult subjects. Cases in which children become easily fatigued should have special investigation for the cause, as to malnutrition, inadequate sleep, poor ventilation (particularly at night), improper clothing, nervousness, etc. Dr. Downing offered the following as a course of study for the Seventh grade:

- 8:30-8:40—Opening, current events, etc.
- 8:40-9:00—History and civics.
- 9:00-9:05—Breathing exercises.
- 9:05-9:25—Reading (literature).
- 9:25-9:40—Study arithmetic.

Contractor Buys Railroad—

The Michigan holdings of the Wisconsin & Michigan railroad, consisting of a right of way and thirty-five miles of track, beginning at Menominee and terminating near Iron Mountain, with about eight spurs of considerable length have been sold to Charles A. Olin of Chicago for unpaid specific taxes for three years, amounting to $76,152.81. The consideration was $67,900.08. Although much secrecy was preserved regarding the purchaser, it is learned that Olin was acting for John Marsh, a former Iron Mountain man, who is now one of the largest railroad contractors in the world. It was Marsh who built the road at the outset of his career. He suffered a financial loss in its construction. The Wisconsin & Michigan road had its inception at Peshigo Harbor, six miles outside of Peshigo, and runs through the timber district of Marquette county and through Menominee and Dickinson counties in Michigan, having its terminus at Iron Mountain. It has always been a profitable road, carrying much timber and ore and having a considerable passenger traffic. It was acquired by John R. Walsh some years ago and became involved in difficulties with the rest of the banker's effects. The first sale was advertised for Dec. 27, but there were two postponements, to Jan. 11 and later to Jan. 26. Both postponements were at the plea of the creditors. When Walsh turned over his effects to the creditors' committee the railroad figured with a valuation of $1,500,000.

ALASKAN GOLD CLAIM LOOKS PROMISING

YOUNG ISHPEMING MAN, LOCATED AT NOME FOR FIVE YEARS PAST, HAS GOOD CHANCE OF MAKING A STAKE.

August Swanson, the Cleveland avenue furniture dealer, received a telegram from his son, Emil, yesterday that for a time mystified him, as part of it was written in the Western Union code. After it was translated, Mr. Swanson was delighted with its contents, as it referred to a gold claim at Nome, Alaska, in which his son is financially interested. While Mr. Swanson does not care to give the translation, he has no objection to the publication of the original, which was:

"Grobbechel fitfulness gebrout for-feechea, convessita." Emil Swanson left Ishpeming for Nome five years ago next summer, following his graduation from the high school. He assured his folks that he would not return until he made a stake. He went to Alaska without any positive assurance that he would be able to secure employment. His first job was with the Pioneer Mining company, of which John Brynteson, formerly of this city, is one of the promoters and principal stockholders. He did prospecting in the country in the summer time, and was employed at the company's workings during the winter. He saved his money and invested in claims some distance from Nome. While he has not given his father much information concerning his operations, it is thought that his prospects for making a big clear-up are now good, as he is working in a district where some big finds have been made.

Mr. Swanson does not expect to return to the states for some time. He is interested in his prospecting work, and has met with such encouragement during the past few months that he is now determined to thoroughly explore his lands. The Pioneer Mining company, whose principal stockholders were the original discoverers of gold in the Nome district, has greatly increased its holdings of mineral lands during the past few years, and its explorations now extend over an area many miles distant from Nome.

The enterprise has been the biggest kind of a success and the company has paid dividends ever since shortly after the organization was perfected. John Brynteson still retains his interest in the corporation, but he has spent little time at Nome during the past four or five years, as he is directing extensive farm and lumber operations at his old home in Sweden. His interests at Nome are being looked after by former Ishpeming men, who have been in his employ ever since a short time after he made his first big stake.

ONCE FAMOUS BALL PLAYER.

Daniel Ryan, who was the principal performer in "The Fox," produced by his company at the Ishpeming theater Thursday evening, was at one time a famous pitcher in the National league. During the days that he twirled for the Boston Nationals, he was considered one of the strongest pitchers in America, and he was generally known to the fans of the country as "Cyclone" Ryan. Mr. Ryan quit playing baseball about twelve years ago, after throwing out his arm. He is a clever actor, and has made a success of stage work. At the time he was pitching he was one of the highest salaried men in the league.

CAPTAIN PLATTO'S SUCCESSOR.

Former Ishpeming Man to Have Charge of Operations at the American Mine.

Captain John Clemens, late of the Newport mine, at Ironwood, will succeed Captain Frank Platto as underground superintendent of the American mine. Mr. Clemens has already arrived at the mine, and will assume charge of the first of next month, when Captain Platto's resignation becomes effective. Captain Clemens obtained his early training in mining on this range. He worked at different properties in both Ishpeming and Negaunee before going to the Gogebic range some years ago. He worked under J. R. Thompson, manager of the American mine, during the time that Mr. Thompson was in charge of the Newport for Ferdinand Schlessinger of Milwaukee.

A part of the new hoisting machinery that is to be installed at the American has arrived and preparations are now being made to put it in position. The new plant will be much larger than the present one, and the management expects to have it in operation within thirty or forty days, provided the machinery to arrive is not delayed in transit.

"PAID IN FULL" COMING.

Wagenhals & Kemper New York Production Will Be Seen Here.

"Paid in Full." Eugene Walter's graphic play of present day America, will be seen at the Ishpeming theater a week from next Tuesday, Feb. 8, when the Wagenhals & Kemper company will offer it with a New York cast and production. Beyond all question "Paid in Full" is one of the strongest and most entertaining dramas of the day. The company coming here has appeared in "Paid in Full" in New York. All last season, and this year as well, four companies, in addition to the original New York cast, covered the country. "Paid in Full" The New York run lasted two years. Still it was not sufficient to satisfy New York's demand for the play. Consequently, from time to time, all the other companies were taken into the "Greater City" and in this way each won the title of New York company.

Negaunee Department

STRANGER HAS NO CHANCE AT BUTTE

NEGAUNEE MAN BACK FROM MONTANA CITY SAYS THAT INDUSTRIAL CONDITIONS ARE VERY UNSETTLED THERE NOW.

John Jewell, a well-known Negaunee miner who left here four months ago for Butte, Mont., with the intention of remaining there permanently, arrived in the city yesterday. He did not find industrial conditions at Butte as favorable as he expected, and the only position that he could secure was working with a section gang on a railway, where he has been since.

Mr. Jewell said yesterday that it was impossible for a miner who went to Butte without friends to secure employment for him to get a job there, as there are now many men idle in the camp who are given the preference when jobs are open. There was continuous trouble of one kind or another during the time he was there because of differences over union affairs. During the first three weeks he was in the city many engineers were idle because of differences that arose with the Western Federation officials.

The union engineers quit work again last Wednesday on account of another disagreement with the Federation officials. The latter have imposed a tax of $2.50 a member on the engineers, to help support the miners at the Homestake property at Lead City, who have been idle for nearly two months past. The engineers have been paying assessments for two years to support other strikers, and they have positively refused to help out the Lead strikers to the extent proposed by the Federation. The mining officials are in sympathy with the engineers on this proposition, and it has been announced that they will not recognize the Federation in the mechanical department. This policy will not discriminate against union men, provided they remain in the labor organizations, but they will not stand for any further dictation on the part of the Federation officers. The miners in the Butte camp have been assessed on account of the Lead strike.

The Negaunee man expressed the belief that the industrial situation in Butte will not settle down to a pacific basis for some time, as there is a determination on the part of many of the strong Federation men to oppose the stand taken by the engineers, whom they consider should pay the assessment the same as the members of other unions affiliated with the organization. The opinion has been expressed by many Butte people that the engineers will get the better of the controversy, as most of them desire to remain at work. There are several thousand engineers in the camp and practically all of them are members of the union. Mr. Jewell says that Butte is a good place for miners to stay away from at this time.

FURNACE DOING WELL.

An excellent record has been made at the Newberry furnace since it was put into blast some thirty or more days ago. Not the slightest hitch has occurred. The output has been steadily increasing from day to day, and at present upwards of seventy-five to eighty tons are being manufactured daily. It is expected that by the first of next month the output will be increased to between ninety and 100 tons daily.

Blast Causes Damage.—A terrific blast at the scene of the canal widening job at the Soo did considerable damage, and gave one man a very close call for his life. About 10 o'clock shots were fired in the thirty feet drills made for tearing out of the north pier, and conformation followed. One rock estimated at about eighteen inches in diameter was hurled a considerable distance into the air and dropped through the roof of the office of the contractors, the Great Lakes Dredge & Dock company. The huge piece went pell mell through roof, ceiling, desk and floor and smashed an office stool enroute. Paul Dickinson, an engineer, had left the desk just before the accident happened and was but a few feet away from the path of the rock, which would have done terrible things if it had struck him. The big blast succeeded in puncturing holes in the roof of the compressor house, and tore down some of the Edison company's wires. As a result of the damage to the wires the tannery was put out of business for about an hour.

SAVED AT DEATH'S DOOR.—The door of death seemed ready to open for Murray W. Ayers, of Transit Bridge, N. Y., when his life was wonderfully saved. "I was in a dreadful condition," he writes, "my skin was almost yellow; eyes sunken; tongue coated; emaciated; losing forty pounds, growing weaker daily. Violent liver trouble was pulling me down to death in spite of doctors. Then that matchless medicine—Electric Bitters—cured me. I regained the forty pounds lost and now am well and strong." For all stomach, liver and kidney troubles they're supreme. 50c. at The Stafford Drug Co.

LADIES SURPRISED.

Mrs. C. V. R. Townsend and Mrs. Al Willman Presented With Cut Glass.

At the meeting of the members of the Ladies' guild of St. John's Episcopal church, held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles Tyler, on Cherry street, Mrs. C. V. R. Townsend and Mrs. Al Willman were presented with handsome pieces of cut glass. Mrs. Townsend is president of the organization and Mrs. Willman is secretary and treasurer, both having held their respective offices since 1905. Mrs. Townsend was presented with a beautiful bowl and Mrs. Willman received pretty creamer and sugar pieces.

The presentation was a surprise to both ladies. Several of the members present spoke briefly, expressing their appreciation of the work done by the ladies during the four years they have been at the head of the organization. The Ladies' guild is one of the most active societies in connection with the church, and it has done valuable service ever since it was organized. It has been instrumental in raising funds that have been used to excellent advantage in church work, and it has also helped to provide new furniture and fixtures for the edifice.

The union engineers quit work again last Wednesday on account of another disagreement with the Federation officials. The latter have imposed a tax of $2.50 a member on the engineers, to help support the miners at the Homestake property at Lead City, who have been idle for nearly two months past. Germs in Her System

Every Woman Should Read this Advice and the Generous Offer that Goes With It. The number of diseases peculiar to women is such that we believe this space would hardly contain a mere mention of their names, and it is a fact that most of these diseases are of a catarrhal nature. A woman cannot be well if there is a trace of catarrh in her system. Some women think there is no help for them. We positively declare this to be a mistaken idea. We are so sure of this that we offer to supply medicine absolutely free of all cost in every instance where it fails to give satisfaction, or does not substantiate our claims. With this understanding, no woman should hesitate to believe our honesty of purpose, or hesitate to put our claims to a test. There is only one way to overcome catarrh. That way is through the blood. You may use all the snuffs, douches, or like remedies for years without getting more than temporary relief at best. Catarrh in general is a diseased condition of the system that shows locally most frequently in discharge from mucous membranes. Local treatment should be assisted by internal treatment for the general diseased condition if a complete cure is to be reached. That internal treatment should be scientifically devised and faithfully administered. Rexall Muc-Tone is scientifically prepared from the prescription of an eminent physician who for thirty years made catarrh his specialty. This remedy is admirably adapted to the treatment of the catarrhal ailments of women. It purifies and enriches the blood, tends to stop mucous discharges, aids in removing impurities from the system, soothes, heals and strengthens the mucous tissues and brings about a feeling of health and strength. We want you to try Rexall Muc-Tone on our guarantee. If you are not benefited, or for any reason not satisfied, simply tell us and we will hand back your money. Rexall Muc-Tone comes in two sizes, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in Marquette only at our store—The Rexall Store, The Stafford Drug Co., the teams here, which will be borne

SYSTEM NEEDS REVISION

Ex-Postmaster General Meyer's Plan for Parcels Post in This Country—Would Benefit Farmers.

Now that the postal savings bank law seems to be in a fair way for passage at this session of Congress, a local citizen expressed himself yesterday as of the opinion that the next most important postal question for our national lawmakers to take up is that of a parcels post. One of the most ardent advocates of the parcels post is Ex-Postmaster General Meyer, who during his administration submitted to congress what is generally considered a most feasible system for its operation, and upon which he has elaborated in lectures subsequently given. Mr. Meyer's case, presented to congress a year ago may be summed up as follows:

"Uncle Sam meets his folks face to face at the postoffice. There are a few of his folks who meet him at the treasury department, and another few who meet him at the war, navy, executive or other departments, but at the postoffice he meets all of his folks, rich or poor, high or low, regardless of station, color or creed, and all on the same footing. The fact that all of Uncle Sam's folks do business with him and are interested in the postal service is the very reason why all the people should thoroughly inform themselves as to the regulations governing the service, and keep themselves well informed on any and all proposed or contemplated changes in the method of doing business in that department of government, to the end that they may be prepared to advocate and urge the enactment of any laws or regulations looking to the betterment of that service, or protest to any backward step being taken.

"The proposition to establish a parcels post, or rather to revise the present regulations governing the sending of parcels or merchandise through the mails is held up awaiting adequate expression from the people. The people by reason of lack of information on the subject are unable to advise their congressmen as to the merits or demerits of the proposition, who, up to the present time, have only heard from the opponents of the measure, that is, the express and railroad companies, who are untrusting in their efforts to defeat it.

Present System Incongruous.

"Under the present regulations a parcel of merchandise weighing not to exceed four pounds may be sent to any point in the United States at sixteen cents per pound, but if the parcel is addressed to any of the twenty odd foreign countries with whom we have parcel post relations, the parcel will go for twelve cents per pound. To illustrate: Mr. A. comes to the postoffice with two parcels, each weighing four pounds, one addressed to a friend at Negaunee, on which he pays sixteen cents per pound or sixty-four cents postage; the other is addressed to a friend in France or Germany, and he is charged twelve cents per pound, or forty-eight cents. Another incongruity is illustrated in the fact that if Mr. A. parcels should weigh four and one-half pounds each the one addressed to Negaunee could not be sent by mail at any price, while the parcel addressed to the foreign country would be forwarded promptly at twelve cents per pound, even though it should weigh as much as eleven pounds, that being the weight limit of the parcels post in most foreign countries.

"If there is anything just or equitable in exacting four cents per pound more for parcels addressed to points in the United States than if addressed to European offices? Does it seem fair that Uncle Sam should refuse to carry by mail a parcel weighing four pounds and one ounce (or any weight above four pounds), when addressed to an office in the United States, and at the same time receive and dispatch with extra care a parcel weighing as high as eleven pounds, if it is addressed to a foreign country?"

"It was to remedy such incongruities and discriminations that Mr. Meyer placed before congress a bill calling for a uniform rate of twelve cents per pound and raising the limit of weight to eleven pounds on all parcels, whether foreign or domestic. In connection with the system he also asked that a special parcels post system be established on rural mail routes, which, it is claimed, if enacted would be a long step in the direction of bringing the farmer in closer relation with local business men and at the same time tend to build up the country merchant.

Plan for Rural Routes.

"With the 40,000 rural routes now in operation in this country, emanating as they do from nearly every city and village, bringing to the farmer his daily paper and mail, he is no longer isolated, ignorant of current events, or out of touch with the business world. In fact, it is claimed that the reverse is true, and that he is, generally speaking, better posted on current events and the markets of the world than his city brother. It is claimed for the rural parcels post that it would build up the local merchant just as the city merchants have found that they could build up their business by delivering goods at the door. At the same time, it would save the farmer his time and that of his team in going to town to purchase a few small but necessary articles.

"The proposition is this: To establish a local parcels post whereby the rural carriers shall deliver to their patrons parcels of merchandise purchased from the merchants located on their routes or at the village or city from which the route emanates, at a rate of five cents for the first pound and two cents for each additional pound or fraction thereof, up to eleven pounds, thus making a parcel weighing eleven pounds cost twenty-five cents for delivery to the farmer at his door. The goods must be purchased from the local merchant. A Chicago or New York dealer could not mail an eleven-pound parcel to a customer on a rural route in northern Michigan, any more than he can now. This provision, it is claimed, would practically shut out the mail order houses of the big city and tend to throw the trade to the local merchant.

NEW BRICK BUILDING.

Fred Bureau About to Put Up Fine Block on South Third Street.

Fred Bureau, the South Third street grocerman, has decided to erect a two-story brick block between his present store and A. Paris' saloon, and workmen are now engaged tearing down the wooden building, formerly occupied by Chas. Dorais' meat market, which was badly damaged by fire a few weeks ago. Work on the new building will be begun as soon as the wrecking of the old is accomplished, and it is hoped to have the structure completed early in the summer.

Mr. Bureau stated yesterday that he intended to put up a building covering the entire space between his grocery on the corner and the Paris saloon. The first floor will be divided into three compartments. Fourteen feet on the south side will be utilized to increase the capacity of the grocery store, the present building being inadequate to conveniently handle the large business. The north side will be occupied by the Dorais meat market, which has been moved to Baraga avenue until the building is ready for occupancy. The third compartment will be used for a storehouse and warehouse.

The second floor of the building, including that above the grocery store, will be arranged for a dance or lodge hall, and will be fitted up with all conveniences for that purpose. The main hall will be about fifty feet square and should be a popular place for holding parties, lodge meetings and entertainments, as there is no public hall south of the South Shore railroad tracks.

"Isn't it a pleasure to attend a sale where they do as they advertise."

This remark was overheard by one of our clerks; it was uttered by a customer to her friend as they both walked out of here after buying one of our Suits for $10.75.

That lady is a neighbor of yours, she lives next door to where you do. You, too, will make the same remark after you have come to see the prices marked on the red tags.

There are no disappointments in store for you here. Whenever there's a chance of a difference, that difference is in your favor. At most sales there's rush and riot for a day or two and then enthusiasm is dead. But this is the sale that is daily growing—the reason is plain,

WE DO AS WE ADVERTISE.

We are glad to give you the big values. We are selling stylish garments at half price, and we are gaining favor with the trade.

We Have Come to Marquette to Stay

WE KNOW the sort of prices you expect at this time of the year. This twenty thousand dollar sale of garments is the very event you have been looking for. We could hardly do so well for you, were it not because of our desire to introduce ourselves and our merchandise in the shortest possible space of time.

THIS IS GOING TO BE A BUSY DAY HERE. HERE ARE TWO EXTRA LOTS FOR TODAY. WHEN WE SAY EXTRA IT HAS UNUSUAL MEANING. THESE TWO POWERFUL PRICE CONCESSIONS ARE APT TO BRING BIG CROWDS. WE ADVISE PROMPT ATTENTION.

FOR 2 O'CLOCK IN THE AFTERNOON

At precisely two o'clock this afternoon we open sale on a lot of which we have taken from among the highest grades that sold as high as $20.00. A few of the 40 or more Suits in this lot have sold for $12.50, but the average run of them are of the silk lined models that represent a full $15.00 worth. The colors are black, blue, tan and wine, plum, brown, goblin blue, reseda and herring bone fancies. There are nearly all sizes, and with slight alteration most any one can easily be fitted. The price we are putting on the red tags for this afternoon is intended to sell this lot of stylish suits out before the supper hour, and there being so great a difference in today's price of this lot to what the suits are actually worth that if once an enthusiastic crowd gets at so choice a bargain they are apt to sell out even faster than we expect. The price we have marked on the red tags which are attached to these suits is uniform on every one of them. They are going to sell for

LADIES' FINE TAILORED SUITS

$7.45

Seven Dollars and Forty-Five Cents.
