Black or Silver Fox Wanted—Postmaster Mangum has received a letter from James A. Kane, 372 Fifth street, Brooklyn, N. Y., in which the writer offers to pay $25 above fair value for any black, silver or cross fox, caught alive and not badly hurt. He is not particular whether the specimen is full grown or a puppy.

Federal Court Tuesday—Local officials of the federal court have received notice that District Attorney Covell and Judge Arthur Dennison would be in Marquette next Tuesday to draw the jury for the May term and dispose of other matters that demand immediate attention. It is thought probable that Frank Higgins, who has been convicted of embezzling from the Soo postoffice, will be sentenced at that time.

Osis vs. Ydrasil—A basketball game played at the Normal gymnasium last night between Osis and Ydrasil. Ydrasil won by the score of 13 to 10. The teams lined up as follows: Osis—Windsor, center; Stewart and Liberty, guards; Mullaly and Richardson, forwards. Ydrasil—Pendill, center; McKeegan and Finlay, guards; Belding and Von Zellen, forwards.

Porter Is Released—R. W. Blackwell, the Pullman sleeping porter who has been in the county jail for some time awaiting a hearing on the charge of having taken a jeweled case, valued at several hundred dollars, from the drawing room occupied by Mrs. E. N. Breitung, has been discharged from custody. After carefully investigating the evidence against Blackwell, prosecuting Attorney Bell decided that there was not sufficient evidence against him to warrant taking the case to circuit court.

Munising Defeated K. C.'s—The basketball game at Munising last night between the Marquette K. C.'s and the Munising Y. M. C. A. resulted in a victory for the Y. M. C. A. by the score of 38 to 35. The game was quite close, though a number of fouls were called on both sides. A large crowd was in attendance. Munising has won all its games so far, having defeated the K. A. team, and three bowling teams, two from the downtown alleys and one from the Guild Hall, will play against Ishpeming teams. It is expected that a large delegation of local bowlers and basketball enthusiasts will accompany the teams.

Water Reported Very Bad—Water Works Superintendent John Kern has received the report on the sample of city water taken Feb. 23, which was analyzed by the state bacteriologist at Lansing. The report is one of the worst ever received during the winter months and declares the water to be contaminated with sewage to such an extent as to make it unsafe for drinking. The report says: "The bacteriological findings in this sample of water indicate the same to be dangerously contaminated and unsafe in its present condition. A considerable number of coliform bacteria were present, indicating that the contamination is of sewage origin." In view of the report, the water board recommends that the water be boiled before using.

Many Have Not Filed—Approximately one-third of the corporations in this internal revenue district have not filed their income report with the collector at Grand Rapids, as the laws provides they should have done so not later than March 1. A Grand Rapids exchange says: "For the last few days the office of the internal revenue collector at the federal building has been the scene of more than usual activity while the returns of the corporations of the western district of Michigan concerning their annual net incomes were being filed. According to the law March 1 was the last day when the returns could be filed without incurring the penalty of from $1,000 to $10,000. The return is made in Washington so that the government can assess the tax of 1 per cent on corporations provided for in the act of congress of Aug. 5, 1909. It was stated at the office here that nearly two-thirds of the corporations in the district had complied with the law. It is said that approximately there are 3,350 corporations in the district which were expected to make returns."

PHOTOGRAPH THE COMET?
Pamphlet Issued Telling Amateurs How to Do It Next May.

Amateur photographers in Marquette will doubtless make an attempt to secure pictures of Halley's comet on its appearance in May. The astronomer in charge of the Washburn observatory at Madison, Wis., are interested in having photographers secure good photographs of the comet.

Pamphlets are being sent out from Washburn observatory, several being received in this city, containing instructions as to the apparatus and methods necessary to secure good views of the celestial visitor. These instructions are so simple that any amateur can get into the game.

The camera with a six inch focus, a tripod placed in such a manner as the camera can be directed toward the comet and can be moved in a circle in order to follow the comet upon its orbit, a field glass or telescope adjusted to the camera in order that the operator may follow the head of the comet as it moves across the sky are all that are necessary.

The operation will require about an hour's time in order to get sufficient exposure. It is important that the plate be treated on the back beforehand so as to insure nonhalation. A nonhalation plate does not permit the spread of light along the edges or beyond the proper boundaries.

Halley's comet will be nearest the earth on the night of May 18, when it will be 12,000,000 miles away. A brilliant shower of meteors is looked for when the earth passes through the tail of the comet at that date.

ORANGES POLISHED.
How Fruit Is Prepared So That It Will Look Attractive to Buyers.

"Did you ever know that the best oranges are polished before they get to market?" asked a local grocery clerk as he took the paper wrapper from one of the golden luscious fruit and inspected it critically. "Well, they are."

"See the specks around that?" he asked. "Well, when the orange comes from the tree, it is pretty well covered with that sort of thing, in some cases. Others of the fruit are comparatively free from it. It is simply the marks of the growth of the orange of course. The best of the oranges come from the young growth and are those grown quickly. It is the same with apples. The poorest quality, like the poorest lemons, have the thickest skins and are those grown most slowly—the kind that grows on old trees whose vitality is more exhausted.

"The grower takes his oranges and places them in a tub. Here they are thrown against a mop like arrangements which rub off the dirt, the whole thing going on under water. Then each orange is taken out and wrapped in its own separate sheet of paper with care and packed in a box. It is a fine art."

Before I used Foley's Kidney Pills I was subjected to severe backache and pains in my kidneys with suppression and oftentimes a cloudy voiding. While upon arising in the morning I would get dull headaches. Now I have taken three bottles of Foley's Kidney Pills and feel 100 per cent better. I am never bothered with my kidneys or bladder and once more feel like my own self. All this I owe solely to Foley's Kidney Pills and always recommend them to my fellow sufferers. MARKETS

WALL STREET STOCKS.

New York, March 4.—Paine, Webber & Co. say of today's stock market: "The greater part of the activity during the day's session was centered in specialties. The copper metal issues were quite strong, particularly Utah Copper, which is not causing as much apprehension as heretofore, and it was asserted that even should the decision be adverse to the company, some means would be provided for turning towards a continuance of its corporate existence and not necessitating dissolution. We are inclined to look for irregularity tomorrow, induced by the usual week-end veering up of accounts, together with the fears of supreme court decisions on Monday of an adverse character, although we do not look for any decision at the moment."

Table of stock prices including columns for stock names (e.g., Adm., Amal., Anaconda) and their corresponding prices.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKETS.

Chicago, March 4.—Wheat closed firm, 1/4 to 3/4 higher, today. The market displayed considerable weakness early, owing to general selling, based on more favorable crop reports from the winter wheat belt. The report of a St. Louis trade journal which claimed that statistics from the eleven principal wheat-growing states failed to confirm any extensive damage was the principal factor early in the session. In the final hour the shorts became active bidders for the more distant futures, which resulted in the complete recovery of the early loss. The close was near the high points of the day. The May opened at 112 3/4, closing 113 1/4; highest, 113 1/2; lowest, 112 1/2.

Chicago, March 4.—There was a much steadier feeling in the wheat trade on the whole for the day. Part of the buying on the rally today was profit-taking by shorts. Some of the strongest interests in the trade bought also on the early dip. We have it from good people in the southwest that the farmers are preparing to plow wheat extensively in Missouri and Kansas. We regard today as a healthy one and feel that the people buying it today indicate good buying, and that they will take hold on every decline, or on any advance, if there is indication of serious crop damages as soon as the weather reveals the real condition of the crop.

Boston, March 4.—Today's stock market at Webster is summarized by Paine, Webber & Co. as follows: "The stock market today was spotty and intensely dull most of the time. The New York market, Amalgamated and Anaconda were both very strong and closed at the top. The buying of Amalgamated is certainly accumulation, no attempt being made to lift the price and no encouragement being given to outsiders to buy the stock. In the local market the excitement in the financial markets, the industrial and trade situation shows improvement and the outlook for the spring season is promising. It is easy to pick flaws in the situation, certain aspects of which are being pointed out. It may be mentioned the decreasing excess of exports over the imports, the balance of trade in favor of this country during the current fiscal year being the smallest since 1896; and but for the foreign purchases of American securities during the recent decline, there would probably be heavy exports of gold. The bond market is unfavorable for large flotations, and this retards extensive works of construction. The heavy liabilities of the defaulting concerns during February, due, however, chiefly to four large failures, is not a pleasant incident. A slight tendency to a reduction in building operations is noted. There is also considerable disposition to wait for the congressional legislation and court decisions before entering upon large business commitments. But in spite of all these things, the fact remains that a big volume of business, at least closely approximating the normal, is carried on.

WITH THE "WETS" AND THE "DRYS."

The Atlanta, Ga., Constitution, in a recent issue, in a tabulated statement from the police records of that city for the year 1909, shows that there were over 3,000 arrests for drunkenness during that year, under prohibition, an increase of more than 1,000 over the preceding year.

The following dispatch from Chattanooga, Tenn., is under date of Feb. 25: "State Revenue agent J. Frank White and his local attorney, S. M. Chambliss, have arrived at an agreement with the local locker clubs and saloons in settlement of privilege license. Although the Nashville authorities have not seen fit to announce the terms of settlement, there, the local officials have given it out here that the settlement in Chattanooga is on the same terms as in Nashville, and further state that the basis is the payment of $100 each for state county and city license for one year, plus $45 penalty, or $145 each. The penalty, of course, goes to Messrs. White and Chambliss.

"Distress warrants will not be issued in Chattanooga, except in such cases as the dealers or club men may hold out against the agreement. In such cases the warrant will call for collection of only double the full amount of state and county licenses.

"County Clerk W. P. Hays holds that he has no authority to compromise such collections and is not a party to the agreement. His opinion that the clubs were not liable to the tax was recently reversed by the state board of equalization on advice of General Cates. He still adheres to his opinion and is letting the revenue agents do the collecting of license. An opinion expressed in the clerk's office today was that distress warrants against the clubs would not net the costs of the proceeding.

"An investigation has found that the average club is without property of any description, even the furnishings being found in many instances in the property of private parties. Liquor is sold at a conference today, were united in an expression of satisfaction at the settlement. The result will be about 150 saloons and forty clubs licensed to sell liquor at a price one-fifth the former price. They will upon the payment as the price of immunity."

CLOSING "PORKBARREL."

More Care in Authorizing New Public Buildings. Chairman of the Senate Committee Will Demand a Complete Statement on Conditions Before Allowing a Bill to Escape—How Many Little Towns Have Been Favored.

Washington, March 4.—The south side of "The Avenue" is doomed, if congress follows the advice of the senate committee on public buildings and appropriates $10,000,000 to buy all the land now owned by the government between the Mall, extending between the Capitol and the treasury building, Senator Wetmore's bill appropriating several millions to clear the land between the Capitol and the Union station has been ordered favorably reported, and the south of the avenue bill has been reported.

The government already has bought the square in front of the New York land extending from Pennsylvania avenue to B street, and it will take about $1,000,000 more to erect there three more government buildings. One will be for the state department, one for the department of justice and the third and largest for the department of commerce and labor. With another $3,000,000 or more added for a new municipal post office building just west of the Union station, congress will be called upon to appropriate more than $30,000,000 in one lump to bring about a scheme of public buildings and grounds which would not cost the government a cent above the actual expense of construction had congress had enough artistic sense, years and years ago, to provide in advance for just such an arrangement. Washington is quoted as being one of the most beautiful cities in the world, and it is, in many respects, but it is one of the worst assembled in the placing of its public buildings. Two of its nine departments have no buildings at all of their own, while the state department today occupies only sixty per cent of the space originally provided for it thirty years ago.

Congressional Selfishness Blamed. Several causes, if not reasons, exist why the government houses, its employees in such a siphoned manner. The chief cause is that congress runs riot every year or two with enormous appropriations for buildings which congressmen want in their districts to help elect them, and neglect the needs there. The treasury department so far this year has reported to congress on no less than $180,000,000 of such political projects. The individual bills aggregate about $76,000,000, while one statesman has asked for a new building in every county seat in the country which is without one now—a proposition which would cost the government $105,000,000 for construction.

As an example of the lengths to which members of congress will go, one southern senator has asked for a public building in his home town. Investigation shows that the town has less than fifteen hundred population, and no doubt the government could secure ample postal facilities there for $200 or $300 a year, including light and heat, where the care of a government building might cost $1,200. Senator Warren of Washington has asked for a new building for his state that they are said to be placed even at the cross roads. One such post office is said to handle not more than a peck of mail a month. Senator Du Pont has asked for a building in a little town in Delaware which has a population of only 1,000. The building has shrunk about six hundred in population in the last ten years. When Charles H. Grosvenor of Ohio left congress, after twenty-four years of service, both branches united in voting him a $20,000 building for his little town of Columbus, which has a population of only 1,000.

Senator Scott Wearing War Paint. Senator Nathan B. Scott of West Virginia is sounding war cries over the riot in federal buildings and will propose any bill this year except one providing for the improvements in the District of Columbia already noted. Two congressmen have been making an investigation of the local building situation, and now apparently congress is just getting around, under pressure of public opinion, to try to put the government houses where they ought to go. An ideal arrangement would have been to make the White House the center of a group of department buildings and to place the new one on either side of Lafayette square, thus facing the northern series on the square and the southern on the White House lot. It is too late for that now, although the three new structures to be erected next undoubtedly will be placed facing across Fifteenth street toward the White House lot. Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Charles D. Hilles is taking special interest in the artistic arrangement of the buildings and grounds which congress has authorized. Persons familiar with Pennsylvania avenue will remember that the office building of the Southern railway, just west of the post office and the new municipal building, are not on the line of Pennsylvania avenue but follow the street lines. Mr. Hilles suggests parking the lot between the Regent Hotel, Chase's Theatre, etc., now stand and setting the state building on a line with the district building, with the two others south of that. This plan would give an open vista from the corner of the avenue at the treasury past the Sherman statue and straight over the open field to the Washington Monument. The acquisition of this tract of land will result in eliminating Washington's "red light" district.

Private Projects Must Wait. As a result of his interest in the artistic improvement of the city and his disgust over some of the congressional propositions that have come to him as chairman of the committee on public buildings and grounds Senator Scott is taking an opposite general public building bill this year, and favor only one appropriating money for the new building in the District of Columbia, including the Wetmore Capital Park scheme. The senator has also started to reform the treasury habit of omitting important details in applying with his requests for information relative to individual building projects. When a congressman puts in a bill appropriating $80,000 for a post office Senator Scott is not half as anxious to learn how the supervising architect can spend that $80,000 as he is to be informed what the population of the town is and what its postal receipts are. He has demanded that henceforth the department tell him everything necessary to enable him to judge whether the erection of the proposed building would be a business proposition. With the government now spending $465,000 a year for rents in its own city, Senator Scott thinks it would be well to call a halt for a while on outside projects and fix up things at home.

Muddled Brains

Root's Complaint. The plight in which the high government officials sometimes find themselves through lack of room often is amusing. Blaine Root, while secretary of state complained bitterly of the crowded condition of his department. Even his private secretary was in a room a long distance away, while the secretary himself had no private room of his own. As much of the business of the state department is necessarily secret, Mr. Root thought he ought to have a place to talk things over with his callers without being overheard. When the men who were to attend the Rio Janeiro conference assembled in the state department the secretary was obliged to give them a diplomatic ante-room, and make special arrangements to have foreign diplomats remain in their embassies and not visit him until after these gentlemen were through with their work. At another time the sanitary congress under a resolution passed by second Pan-American Conference, at Mexico, came here, and the only thing that he could do was to secure rooms at the Willard Hotel. The same procedure was followed in the case of commissioners from China. At another time the arbitrators of the Salvador Commercial company's claim against the government of Salvador met here. The arbitrators needed space for only a few department, none of the desirable rooms in the better office buildings could be taken for less than six months, so the state department was compelled to be content with securing rooms in a second-rate building, and even those were hard to find. As a final example, the Anglo-American Joint High Commission was forced to meet in the ordinary of the Arlington Hotel.

Senator Scott urges a bond issue to finance these great improvement schemes. "The truth is," he says, "that the government is paying at the rate of ten to seventeen per cent annually on the cost of buildings needed. In rents alone this is ridiculous as a business proposition, for the government can borrow money at two per cent and get a premium."

INSURGENTS ARE WILLING.

Only American Intervention, It Is Said, Can Stop Nicaragua's War.

Bluefields, March 4.—After three days of secret conferences there is today reason to believe that General Estrada, the leader of the revolutionists, and his advisers reluctantly have acquiesced in the demand of the American residents that a receptive ear be turned to any proposal of American intervention which will guarantee to them the rights, the denial of which caused the revolution. The original demands of the revolutionists included the overthrow of President Zelaya and the restoration to the people of the constitutional and common rights of citizens which it was alleged had been taken from them under Zelaya.

While Generals Estrada, Diaz and Rivera and the other conferees are silent concerning the matter, their frequent calls on Thos. P. Moffat, the American consul, who has declined to talk, give support to this view. General Chamorro's defeat has not altered the views of the people on the east coast as to the guarantees that are necessary to peace. Undoubtedly they demand the fulfillment of every principle for which the armies have fought, as President Madriz frequently has admitted the justice of them. Nothing except intervention now can stop the war.

San Juan Del Sur, March 4.—The flight of the remnants of the revolutionary army led by Generals Mena and Chamorro continues rapidly eastward. General Vasquez, commander of the government forces, reports that many more insurgent officers and men have surrendered and that the trail followed by the revolutionists is strewn with camp equipment, rifles and cartridges.

G. A. R. POSTS OBJECT TO LEE.

Senator Lodge Informed of Opposition to the Statue at the Capitol.

Washington, March 4.—Protests from forty-two Grand Army posts in Massachusetts against the acceptance of General Robert E. Lee by congress for Statuary Hall have been received by Senator Lodge. A letter from Major John L. Parker of Lynn, department commander for Massachusetts, informs Senator Lodge that the other Grand Army posts in the state will join in the protest.

The Grand Army organizations of Illinois have entered similar protests and more are expected from other states. If these continue, senators say, it is very doubtful whether the Lee statue, already in position in Statuary Hall, will be accepted by congress. In that event it may be withdrawn by Virginia, but no such move has been made yet by the Virginia authorities. A statue of John C. Calhoun of South Carolina has recently been placed in position and will be accepted by the senate March 12. Senator Tillman has asked Senator Lodge to be one of the speakers on that occasion. Mr. Lodge is preparing an extended address in which he will deal with the events of the historic period during which South Carolina and Massachusetts occupied antagonistic extremes and when Webster and Calhoun were leading personalities in the contest.

POWER OF A VOTE.

Champ Clark of Missouri Makes Interesting Investigation.

He Shows the Important Effect It Has Had in Many Cases—He Incidentally Expects the Democrats to Carry Congress and Elect Him Speaker—He Outlines Some of His Discoveries.

Washington, March 4.—Champ Clark, minority leader of the house, has been studying the curious effects of the "power of a vote" as a result of that study he has come to the conclusion that one vote has been a powerful factor on more than one occasion in shaping the destiny of the nation. For the present Mr. Clark is content in predicting that the next house will be Democratic and living in the hope that he will be the speaker. After his long career in the house has been rewarded by that office he will retire to private life and devote himself to history. Mr. Clark states a few instances in the following statement of the effects of it: "Several years ago," said he, "I made up my mind that I was going to make a specialty, if not a hobby, of studying the history of the United States, and that surely is a large enough stunt in a literary line for nearly any one man. After a while I drifted into hunting and exceptional things in American history, Isaac Disraeli, the father of Benjamin Disraeli, the Earl of Beaconsfield, wrote a book which he entitled 'The Curiosities of Literature.' I have frequently thought that a man might write a very interesting book and call it 'The Curiosities of History,' and if my life is lengthened after I retire to private life I think I shall try my hand at it. For instance, it has become the common law in the United States that a man shall have only two terms in the White House. There have never been but four men who could have got more than two. Washington held two and refused a third, and as good luck would have it John Adams could not get two. Jefferson got two, and continued Washington's example. Andrew Jackson got two and did the same, and Theodore Roosevelt got two and confirmed that example. I make the prediction that no man will ever sit three terms in the White House until this republic is on its last legs. But let us suppose a case. Suppose that Washington had been ever persuaded and had taken the third term, and had when he did die, what would have been the precedent in the case? It would have been re-election for life.

Pig Caused War of 1812.

"There is another thing that a man might very well write a book about and that is the effect of one vote. It is a strange historical fact, but it is absolutely true, that one vote determined whether we should have a war in 1812, and the strangest part about that is that that one vote came from the accident of a pig getting its head caught in a fence up in Rhode Island. "Now here is the tale of the pig and the War of 1812. They are having an election for members of the legislature in Rhode Island. One thirty Federalist farmer put off going to the polls until late, leaving himself just time enough to get there before the polls were closed. Just as he started to vote a pig squeaked and he looked around and saw that the pig had his head rammed into one of these old Virginia worm fences, and anybody who knows anything about hogs knows that the hogs would eat that pig up if he did not get the pig out. Therefore, he stopped to get the pig out, and when he got to the polls they were closed, and he could not vote. A Democratic member of the Legislature was elected by one vote. He would not have been elected had this Federalist reached the polls in time to vote. In the legislature a Democratic United States senator was elected by one vote, and that Democratic member voted for him. In the United States Senate they voted for the war of 1812 by one majority, and that Rhode Island Democratic senator who secured his election in that way voted for the War of 1812.

History Changed By Ringing Doorbell.

"Let us take another case of what one vote will do. Kentucky came into the Union as a slave state by one vote in the Constitutional Convention. Clay and old Humphrey Marshall fought a duel about it and shot each other through the calf of the leg. Missouri before the beginning of the Civil war was nothing but a Kentucky colony. If Kentucky had been in as a free state, Missouri would have been a free state, and my judgment is there never would have been any Civil war in that event to vex and bedevil the people of the United States. "So, when I get time, after I have served my period in congress—or any other position that I may hold—when I retire to the shades of private life, if I live long enough, I intend to write a book entitled 'The Curiosities of American History and What One Vote Will Do.'"

Veteran of Afton (La.) Gets Warrant of $13 for War Service.

Theodore Shunk, of Afton, La., an old Civil war veteran, has received a reminder of "old days in the sixth of which he is a little bit proud, and which is a tardy recognition for service during the dark days of the war. Mr. Shunk has recently received from the state auditor of Ohio, a state warrant for the sum of $13 for service rendered that state in 1862, when in company with about 42,000 men and boys who were too young to enlist, or too old to go to the front, were called upon to form an organization to defend the state, and they were placed under the command of General Lee Wallace, an event known as the "squirrel hunters." They saw a month's service in all. At one time they were stationed near Cincinnati, and another time near Covington, Ky. When Kirby Smith was headed off by federal authorities, the scare of an invasion was over, and the regiment was disbanded. For this none of the men and boys received any pay and it was only at the last session of the legislature that arrangements were made to cancel this obligation. A large number of those who served at that time are now dead, but it is evident the state of Ohio intends to hunt those who are living and reward them.

CLEANLINESS IN PERSIA.

The Persian spends hours in the "Hammams" (Turkish baths), which are very handsome buildings, decorated with tiles and embellished with numerous exhortations as to the value of cleanliness. "Hammams" are bathing is almost a religious function. When the hot room and massage are finished, the Persian is shaved, and the whole top of his head is also shaved, though the hair over the ears is left and allowed to grow down to the neck. This strange coiffure has a religious meaning, for the two locks on each side of the head are meant for the Angel of Death to hold when he carries the believer to Paradise. All Persians dye the hair with a mixture of henna and voshm, and the hair dyeing is the last part of the bath, but tea and smoking are indulged in afterward, and the frequenters of the "Hammams" find them very pleasant lounging places.

STRICT RULES TO GOVERN BALL TEAM

PLAYERS HOLDING PLACES ON THE ISHPEMING NINE WILL NOT RECEIVE FINAL SETTLEMENT UNTIL END OF THE SEASON.

The board of directors of the Ishpeming league baseball team has adopted rules and regulations that should insure the very best service that the players are capable of giving. The rules were carefully considered by the board Thursday afternoon. The more important are as follows:

All players will be required to appear on the field with uniforms reasonably clean and neat; no wrangling, boisterous or obscene language will be allowed on the field; all disputes on the ball field will be settled by the captain.

Any player who shall present himself on the field (whether in active play or as extra man) under the influence of liquor will at once be requested to leave the grounds and will not be allowed to take part in any more games, and will then and there cease to be a member of the team.

The players and manager will receive $10 twice a month, of the first and 15th of each month, with the exception of one share, which will be retained as treasury account for uniforms, etc. The working battery will each get $2.50 in addition to the amount paid to the other players. The balance of the net gate receipts will be kept in the hands of the treasurer until the end of the season and then will be equally divided between the manager and players in good standing.

Any player let out for cause of his own making will lose all claims to any of the money then in the hands of the treasurer; if any player is not able to fill his position, and is let go, he will be entitled to his share of whatever money is in the hands of the treasurer at the time of his release.

The players will play one game (probably Labor Day) without remuneration, and the receipts will be used for putting the grounds and fence of the park in good condition.

It is understood by the members of the board of managers, as well as all of the players who have negotiated for a place on the team, that the only money to be paid the players for their services will be that obtained from the gate receipts and the returns of a ball to be given after Easter, after all other expenses are taken care of.

No player will receive a stated salary and all will be obliged to sign the rules and regulations before the opening of the season.

The committee appointed some time ago to take charge of the ball has not yet decided on a date, but it is understood that it will take place under Easter.

REV. O. W. CARLSON CANDIDATE FOR MAYOR

PASTOR OF SWEDISH METHODIST CHURCH WOULD ACCEPT NOMINATION IF TENDERED IT BY THE REPUBLICAN PARTY.

Rev. O. W. Carlson, pastor of the Swedish Methodist church, is a receptive candidate for the office of mayor, and given the nomination on the Republican ticket he will accept it.

It was reported yesterday that Mr. Carlson had consented to accept the nomination on the Labor ticket, but he informed The Mining Journal representative that this was not true. He said that he has always been a supporter of the Republican party and its candidates, in the national, state and municipal elections, and that he could not, under any circumstances, accept the nomination on any other ticket. A number of his friends have asked him to enter the race for the nomination. He will accept it in the event it is given to him without the opposition of some other good man whom the party leaders might desire. He said that in the event Mayor Keese is a candidate he will not be in the field, as he thinks Mr. Keese has made a good executive officer.

Mr. Carlson further said that in the event he is nominated by the Republican party, he wishes it understood that he will favor local option. He said that he could not accept the nomination for the office under any other circumstances. Mr. Carlson has always taken a great interest in political affairs and on several occasions has worked hard for Republican candidates for municipal office.

There has been little talk in Ishpeming relative to the candidates for municipal offices, but the local option question is being generally discussed. In a number of the wards some of the supporters of the "dry" movement have made a canvass to ascertain the sentiment. One man yesterday said that he found the voters pretty well divided.

It is expected that Mayor David S. Rose of Milwaukee will be greeted by an unusually large audience tomorrow evening at the Ishpeming theater. The committee in charge of the meeting extends a special invitation to the ladies to attend.

LOCAL OPTION DEBATE.

At the Sunday afternoon meeting at the Y. M. C. A. at 3:30 tomorrow the following subject will be debated: "Resolved, That Absolute Prohibition by the Federal Government is Preferable to Local Option as a Means of Solving the Liquor Question." The debaters will be: Albert Bashaw and Donald Hayden for the affirmative and Russel Finch and Louis Emmuth for the negative. All men are cordially invited.

PLAY WITH MUSIC.

"The Time, the Place and the Girl" Has Interesting Plot to Carry Music.

Quite the best thing that that indefatigable trio, Rough, Adams, and Howard, have done is the musical play, "The Time, the Place and the Girl," which will be offered at Ishpeming theater next Wednesday evening. The scene is laid in a sanitarium in Virginia, where Johnny Hicks and his pal, Tom Cunningham, are forced to flee, having gotten into trouble the night before in a Boston gambling house, where Cunningham, while in an argument, struck one of the inmates on the head with a wine bottle. The police are after them. They manage to reach the sanitarium ahead of the police, and before the officers can make an arrest the sanitarium is placed under quarantine for smallpox.

Tom Cunningham, a rich man's son, wants to marry Margaret Simpson, "The Girl" of the title, a farmer's daughter who is also at the sanitarium with her father and brothers and others. After the smallpox quarantine is declared, the servants of the hotel and sanitarium desert and the guests are forced to look after their own wants. Cunningham being chosen dictator of the place, assigns a certain task to each of the guests. The fun grows fast and furious when Johnny Hicks, the slangy young gambler, is made head cook and Margaret Simpson, who has quarreled with Cunningham and rejected his suit, is ordered to do scrubbing. She refuses and her meals are summarily cut off. The guests go on a strike and refuse to work. Cunningham breaks the strike by jerking off his coat and offering to meet them one at a time. Hicks falls in love with Molly Kelly, the head nurse.

The "Dixie" number is a real surprise and is the creation of Arthur Evans. Altogether "The Time, the Place and the Girl" is one of the best, snappiest and wildest productions that will be seen here this season.

MINES WILL HAVE RECORD OUTPUT

THERE WILL BE MANY LARGE STOCKPILES AT MARQUETTE RANGE PROPERTIES WHEN NAVIGATION OPENS.

If there is no serious interruption of mining operations between now and the opening of navigation, there will be a larger tonnage of ore stocked at the various mines of the Marquette range than at any previous time. All of the mines have been producing steadily since winter set in and the stockpiles at the larger properties are growing rapidly.

The predictions that the year 1910 would establish a new shipping record from the Marquette range will be made good, as the companies will be better prepared than ever before to send out an increased tonnage, provided the railway companies are able to furnish the cars. There will be a greater number of cars available next year than last summer, as several orders for new cars have been placed. There were times last summer when several hundred additional cars could have been used to excellent advantage on the Marquette and Menominee ranges alone, to say nothing of the shortages that existed in other districts. Practically every railway system handling the ore traffic in the Lake Superior district was short of cars, and some of them were also short of locomotives. The three railway companies handling the ore traffic on the Marquette and Swanzey ranges had over 1,200 cars in commission last year, but it is contemplated that 1,600 or more can be used to good advantage during the busy months of the coming season.

Kloman a Disappointment.

Splendid results have been attained by most of the companies that are exploring lands on this range, and there was but one real disappointment. That was the failure of the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company to find ore at the Kloman mine in Republic, where drilling operations were conducted in a small way for nearly a year. Republic people, especially the older residents who worked in the Kloman mine when it was operated more than twenty-five years ago, were not satisfied that the test given it by the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company was sufficient to establish the property's merits, as only a few holes were bored.

When the mine was last operated, ore was being taken from six pits, the deepest of which was only 240 feet. The mining work was crudely done, small buckets being used for hoisting, and when periodical depressions overtook the iron trade, the Kloman fell by the wayside. Diamond drilling was subsequently conducted, but many of the miners who were familiar with the formation contend that the boring was done too close to the hanging wall and not to sufficient depth to determine the extent of the deposits upon which the former operators had been working. The deepest hole was put down less than 1,000 feet, whereas the adjoining Republic mine, operated by the Cambria Steel company, has found its best ore bodies below that depth. Mining is now in progress at a depth below 2,000 feet, and it is claimed that the ore bodies are larger than were found near the surface. The fact that the Republic ore dips toward the Kloman convinces many Republic people that the Kloman will some day be found to contain large bodies of marketable ore. The Kingsted pit of the Republic mine, which was worked up to the Kloman line, contains a vein that will probably be found to extend some distance into the Kloman lands.

Favorable Drilling Operations.

Continued favorable developments are resulting from the extensive drill work that is being carried on in the territory west of Ishpeming. A number of the well informed mining men here believe that before this territory is completely explored, ore will be found in many places where borings have not yet been made, not only along the range upon which the North Lake and American mines are located, but also farther to the west and southwest, between Champion and Republic. There are many who believe that the old Riverside mine, a few miles northwest of the Kloman, is also worthy of serious attention. Operations at the Riverside were hampered on account of its close proximity to the Michigan river. While the veins in the property are narrow, the ore is of fine quality. The original operators suspended work at a time when the ore market was depressed and there was practically no demand for the mineral. Mining operations were expensive, on account of the inadequacy of the machinery and the great quantity of water to be handled. The Oliver Iron Mining company, which operated the Riverside for a short time some ten or twelve years ago, also had difficulty handling the water, and the option was thrown up largely on that account. The company expended a considerable sum in the installation of machinery, erection of a boarding house and other buildings, repairing shafts, etc.

JAMES J. HILL ON FRUGALITY.

St. Paul, Minn., March 4.—In an address before the Minnesota Hardware association, James J. Hill told his ideas of frugality. He said: "I don't believe in hoarding money. It has its uses for doing good, but I do not believe it is respectable for people to squander money that other people have earned for them. For the present year 400,000 automobiles have been ordered for the people of the United States. At an average of $1,000 an automobile, this would amount to $400,000,000. Not one cent of this four hundred million is invested in anything that will produce one bushel of grain. In the past twenty years the American people have at least learned how to spend money with a free hand. There are proportionately a far greater number of people living in the cities of the United States today as compared with the population of the rural districts than ever before. In 1868 but twenty per cent of our people lived in the cities. Today the percentage is over forty per cent of city dwellers with the remainder tillers of the soil."

GREAT BENEFIT TO CRYSTAL FALLS

OLIVER IRON MINING COMPANY GRANTS THE CITY FLOWAGE RIGHTS ON ITS LANDS ON THE BANKS OF PAINT RIVER.

The Oliver Iron Mining company, which owns lands along the banks of the Paint river, within the limits of the city of Crystal Falls, has granted that city flowage rights, which it has been seeking for some years past. Other interests owning lands in the vicinity have also been asked to grant the same privilege, and now that the Oliver company has been so liberal, it is thought that they will be reasonable in their demands. Commenting on the Oliver company's liberality the Crystal Falls Diamond Drill says:

"If the city of Crystal Falls is as considerably treated by all the interests that it has to contend with in its efforts to acquire flowage rights along the bank of the Paint river as it has been by the Oliver Mining company it will not take much of the cash in the public till to acquire all the rights it wants.

"Judge Flannigan informed City Attorney Abbott last Monday that the Oliver company has decided to deed to the city flowage rights for the municipal sum of $1. Mr. Abbott didn't think it necessary to confer with the council in order to accept the offer so the deal was consummated on the spot and the city will get a deed just as soon as the attorneys can get the papers drawn and Robert Munnis can be induced to slip a dollar out of the bank balance to pay for it.

"The Oliver Mining company owns a half interest in the lots on the east side of the river commonly spoken of as the Breiting property. The company has fifteen acres of land which is affected by the flowage of the water.

"The reason that the city finds itself in the predicament it is in over the flowage rights along the Paint river is that the engineer, Sturtyvant, who was engaged by the city at the time the power dam was built, misinformed the council," says a city official. Sturtyvant was employed to survey the river and find out how much of the adjoining land would be affected by the dam. He reported to the council that no land above the center of section 29 would be subject to the flowage. The council, acting upon his advice, purchased the land up to the center of said section 29 and supposed that it was secure until the recent survey, which showed that land fully a mile beyond that point is affected.

"Had the city had a competent engineer at that time all of the land which is now in contest could have been bought for a song.

"That man, Sturtyvant, was pretty much of a gold brick to the city. He put the entire works on the hump; built the dam in the wrong place; put the power house in the wrong place and did everything else wrong. These things can be appreciated now that the results of his miscalculations are met with.

"There is left only the Breiting interests and the Kimball-Campbell people to settle with. This action of the Oliver Iron Mining company will have considerable bearing upon the price which those who refuse to settle will get. The Oliver people have fifteen acres submerged, acres just as valuable as is Kimball's. While it is not expected or asked that Kimball should be as lenient as the Oliver people, yet the fact that they do not consider the land which they are deeding valuable will have its bearing upon the adjoining land."

FROM MORGAN'S CURB LETTER.

Amalgamated, Steel common and Smelters were the features today in an otherwise dull but firm market. These stocks were heavily bought on glowing reports of the outlook for all metal industries this year. Reading and Union Pacific were most active in the rails. The rails were quiet and nearly all higher. A quiet firm market is expected until Monday noon, when the pending supreme court decisions may be handed down or deferred for at least another week.

The Boston market was strong on talk that the present tremendous demand for copper metal would certainly result within a day or two in an advance in price. Large purchases of metal at 14 cents by European interests are reported today. The Lake stocks were again most active with the entire list strong and advanced generally, ranging from a fraction to 3 points. La Salle lost a fraction on rumors that the mill test now being made indicated that the results would show lower copper contents of rock than anticipated. The most conservative houses are now advising the purchase of stocks in all the profitably producing copper companies for a quick advance, based on the promising outlook for metal.

CAMBRIDGE BANK THE EXCEPTION

How the Defunct Institution's Affairs Are Regarded at Washington.

Washington, March 4.—The suspension of National Bank Examiner Ellis S. Pepper and the despatch of Examiner Samuel N. Hann of Baltimore to Cambridge, with instructions to report whether previous examinations of the National City bank had been thorough and pains-taking, illustrate the vigor with which the new system of bank examination is being carried out by the comptroller of the currency. The suspension of Mr. Pepper is significant, although not necessarily indicative of suspicion that he or other bank examiners have failed in their duty in the past.

The inside truth is that the directors of the bank can hardly avoid their share of criticism because the bank has suffered so heavily by the defalcation of George W. Coleman. A year or more ago Comptroller of the Currency Lawson O. Murray, shortly after he assumed office actively, started the bank directors of the country with a set of questions which made them sit up and take notice. These questions were designed for the express purpose of compelling directors to attend to what duties and thus prevent just such losses as the Cambridge bank has suffered.

While the documentary evidence in the case happens to be at this moment in Massachusetts, it may be that the replies to these questions written by the directors of the National City bank of Cambridge indicated a serious measure of carelessness. The questions are simple but very searching. One of the most interesting exhibits that can be made, at the proper time, will be that of how these questions were answered by the directors of the Cambridge bank.

DR. MCCRACKEN TO RETIRE.
Chancellor of New York City Will Leave on Seventieth Birthday.

New York, March 4.—The venerable Henry Mitchell MacCracken, one of the best known educators in the country, will retire as chancellor of New York University on his seventieth birthday, Sept. 28 next. At the same time he will resign as professor of philosophy.

After serving the university for more than a quarter of a century, Dr. MacCracken made known his intent to retire in a letter read at the quarterly meeting of the university council. "I deem it wise," he says, "to turn while I still enjoy unbroken health, away from proscribed labor, defined by contract to voluntary effort in such forms as may seem best suited to me. Throughout the faculties, the student body and a corporation there prevails a marked unity of spirit and effort. It is every way a fitting time for me to lay down the office."

The chancellor's letter was referred to a special committee.

NATIONAL BOWLING TOURNEY.

Fourth Annual Competition to Be Held in Baltimore April 7 to 30.

Baltimore, March 4.—Interest in the fourth annual tournament of the National Bowling Association to be held in Baltimore, April 7 to 30, inclusive, grows as the time for the start of the national affair draws near. Every big city in the country will be represented by fully a score of its best individual bowlers. A great deal of enthusiasm, however, centres in the team matches. New York will send at least seventy-five teams to match their skill against the best teams that can be gathered in Baltimore, Philadelphia, Washington, Boston, Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Columbus, Indianapolis and numerous other cities. New Jersey expects to have a larger representation in the Baltimore tournament than ever before.

Elimination contests are now being conducted in some cities to choose teams to represent them in the Baltimore event. To insure keen competition, the Baltimore Bowling Tournament company, which will conduct the tourney, will offer handsome prizes, in addition to the regular awards to teams from fraternal orders and teams from commercial houses participating.

A slight change in one of the rules of the National Bowling Association, which regards the size and weight of the ball to be used during the coming tournament, will be welcomed by all bowlers. The rule has been altered to read as follows: "The ball shall not exceed twenty-seven inches in circumference nor exceed sixteen pounds in weight." This really means that anything in the shape of a ball which will pass through a hole in a twenty-seven-inch ring and weigh not more than sixteen pounds is permissible. The bowlers are, therefore, permitted to use balls of their own construction as long as they comply with these requirements.

Despair and Despondency

No one but a woman can tell the story of the suffering, the despair, and the despondency endured by women who carry a daily burden of ill-health and pain because of disorders and derangement of the delicate and important organs that are distinctly feminine. The tortures so bravely endured completely upset the nerves if long continued.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a positive cure for weakness and disease of the feminine organism.

IT MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG, SICK WOMEN WELL.

It allays inflammation, heals ulceration and soothes pain. It tones and builds up the nerves. It fits for wifehood and motherhood. Honest medicine dealers sell it, and have nothing to urge upon you as "just as good." It is non-secret, non-alcoholic and has a record of forty years of cures. Ask Your Neighbors. They probably know of some of its many cures. If you want a book that tells all about women's diseases, and how to cure them at home, send 21 one-cent stamps to Dr. Pierce to pay cost of mailing only, and he will send you a free copy of his great thousand-page illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser—revised, up-to-date edition, in paper covers. In handsome cloth-binding, 31 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

TREATMENT FOR CANCER.

A Cautious Statement Made by Dr. Eugene Hodenpyi of New York Regarding His Use of Body Fluids of a Recovered Case.

New York, March 4.—So many "cures for cancer" are constantly being announced that even the public has grown weary, while the doctors smile or swear. Of an altogether different sort is the statement informed in the Medical Record of New York in this week's number by Dr. Eugene Hodenpyi, pathologist to the Roosevelt Hospital, and one of the most reliable and able of New York's research physicians. Up to this time he has been averse to making public any news of the work he has been doing in treating cancer, but he has at last given out this statement, which he carefully announces as "a preliminary communication," in order that physicians may know the work in which he is engaged, and may be drawn to keep themselves informed as its progress. Following is his article, which may mean very much to the future of this dread disease.

About four years ago the writer became interested in a case of carcinoma of the breast in a woman then thirty-six years of age. The clinical history and the morphology of the tumor were typical of a rapidly growing malignant cancer. In spite of a radical operation, multiple recurrences appeared in the neck and in the primary scar. After the thorough removal of these secondary growths appeared which were morphologically typical of rapidly growing carcinoma. Still other tumors developed in the neck and breast, which, owing to local complications and the debilitated condition of the patient, were not removed. Later large tumors developed in the liver which nearly filled the abdominal cavity, followed by the occurrence of excessive chyliform ascites. The prognosis was unqualifiedly bad and the patient's death seemed imminent.

But, nevertheless, the tumors in the neck and breast gradually dwindled and disappeared. The abdominal tumors gradually grew smaller and became imperceptible, while the liver became smoother and smaller. At length about four years after the first operation the liver is approximately normal in size and position. With the exception of the scars and decreasing emaciation, and extreme chyliform ascites, requiring frequent tapping, there is now no indication of the original disorder.

In his deliberations upon this rare case of recovery from extensive carcinoma, with residual chyliform ascites, the writer was led to weigh the possibility, so often discussed, especially in connection with experimental tumors in mice, of the development by the patient of some sort of anti-body inimical to the progressive growth and persistence of the tumor cells. The alternative hypothesis, which seemed plausible, was that in the processes of tumor-tissue formation in the abdomen, some organic or physiological disturbance of organic or internal secretions might have occurred, leading to the accumulation or formation of substances antagonistic to tumor cell growth or existence.

The ascitic fluid having been freely placed at the writer's disposal to test these theoretical conceptions, a series of mice, which had developed tumors after the implanting of some of the well-known strains of mouse cancer cells, were injected with varying amounts of the ascitic fluid. These injections were made near the tumors, into the tumors, and into the body at large. The effect of these injections, in brief, was to lead to marked necrosis of the tumors, to a noteworthy diminution in their size, or to their complete disappearance.

After experimental tests of the harmfulness of the fluid, first in animals, then in human beings, injections of the fluid in cases of carcinoma of various types in man were undertaken. These injections have been made in small quantities, near or directly into the tumors, or in large quantities into the veins. The general effects of these injections in man has been nearly uniformly to induce a temporary local redness, tenderness, and swelling about the tumors, which soon subside. Then occur softening and necrosis of the tumor tissue, which is now absorbed or discharged externally, with the subsequent formation of more or less connective tissue. In all cases the tumors have grown smaller; in some they have disappeared altogether. In no instance has any tissue in the body, other than the tumor, shown the least reaction after the injections, nor have any systematic effects been manifest even after large venous infusions.

The greater number of the forty-seven cases thus far treated were distinctly unfavorable, many of them hopeless and inoperable. Many of the cases are still under observation by the writer or by other physicians in and out of New York. The records of the cases treated, the technique employed, and the results obtained will be placed at the service of the medical profession as soon as time permits, together with the results of various obvious control experiments which are now in hand under the direction of with the concurrence of the writer. In the meantime this preliminary communication is made, first, in order that the attention of the profession may be called to the possible significance of body fluids from the rare cases of those who have recovered or are recovering from carcinoma; second, to correct the false impressions which may have been conveyed by the premature and unauthorized news items in the daily press; and, finally, to secure an opportunity to remind physicians practically interested in this study that the urgency for this treatment, of hopeless inoperable cases, is hardly just, either to these patients themselves or to a method from which it is hoped to secure new resources and new light through deliberate and reasonable tests.

It is not my purpose to announce at this time a new cure for cancer, but to call attention to the remarkable, selective necrotizing effects upon carcinoma cells of the ascitic fluid from a recovered case of carcinoma, wherever in the body of the patient this fluid is introduced. The nature and significance and the practical importance of the substances contained in this fluid and the ultimate value of this method of treatment of carcinoma are to be finally determined only by a continuance and completion of the various correlated series of investigations, chemical and biological, now under way, or by such tests as other observers may undertake.

Negaunee Department

CLOCK FOR TOWER OF NEW FIRE HALL

MAYOR WINTER, COMMITTEE ON FIRE DEPARTMENT AND BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS TO PURCHASE TIME PIECE, WHICH WILL COST $805.

The council decided Thursday evening to purchase a clock for the tower of the new fire hall. Mayor Winter, the committee on fire department and the board of public works were instructed to act in the matter. The mayor said that the clock could be installed for $805. It was decided to place the fire bell on the outside of the tower. It is likely that the bell in No. 2 hose house will be used at the new building.

The council decided to extend the water main 600 feet, from a point near the Cambria school house to the Cambria mine engine house. When the so-called Cambria extension was put in a few years ago, at an expense of about $8,000, the management of the Republic Iron & Steel company assured the members of the committee on water works and board of public works that, in time, they would use city water at their mines. Alderman Deacon, who has charge of the company's properties here, advised the council at its meeting Thursday evening that the company is now prepared to take the water. The board was instructed to put in the extension as soon as the weather will permit. A four-inch pipe will be laid.

On recommendation of the board of public works, the city attorney was instructed to notify all property owners having buildings on the ground platted as an alley on Jackson street, extending from Cyr to Tobin street, to remove them.

The board of public works was authorized to erect a coal trestle of not less than 2,000 tons capacity at the power station.

A petition from residents of Merry street, asking for an extension of the sewer along that thoroughfare, was referred to the sewer committee, with instructions to report at the next meeting.

The board of public works was empowered to grant Matthew Malloney permission to remove the former Montreal house building from its present site to his lot on Jackson street.

People living along the right-of-way of the Marquette & Western railway, in the Harvey unrecorded plat, petitioned the council for an extension of the water mains to their homes. The petition was referred to the committee on water works and board of public works, with instructions to secure an estimate of the cost of the improvement.

The Negaunee City band asked the council for a donation to help purchase new uniforms. The request was referred to the mayor and the street and highway committee.

Charles Dahlstrom, who last year claimed that his attic had been damaged because a smallpox patient was confined in a building located on the tract, was allowed $250 by the council. Mr. Dahlstrom's claim was for $27,500, but the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company, which owns the land, allowed him $25 of this amount some time ago.

John Nelson was granted a rebate of taxes charged through error against his Ridge street property.

The committee on streets and highways reported that $347 was expended in February. The cost of removing snow from the streets and sidewalks, walks and roads was $379.70, but the Marquette County Gas & Electric company paid $32.50, representing one-half of the cost of removing snow from Iron street.

ROSE HERE TOMORROW.

Mayor David S. Rose, of Milwaukee, will be the first speaker in the prohibition campaign to visit Negaunee. He will be at McDonald's opera house tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock and will discuss the various phases of the licensed saloon question. The ladies are especially invited to attend.

LOCAL LACONICS.

Lloyd Smith and wife are here on a visit to relatives.

Robert Daly of St. Ignace was a Negaunee visitor yesterday.

The Negaunee High school team defeated the Ishpeming five at basketball here last night by the score of 39 to 19.

John Curtis was sentenced to thirty days in the county jail by Judge Veran Thursday, having been arrested on complaint of his wife.

Miss Maud Burge, of this city, who is in the employ of Mrs. A. M. Adams, the Marquette milliner, has gone to Chicago, where she will spend a few weeks looking up the late styles and purchasing new goods.

The Carl W. Cook Stock company will close its engagement at McDonald's opera house today. "Rip Van Winkle" will be the offering tonight. Manager McDonald has secured the company for a return engagement on next Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings.

Matthew Malloney, who recently purchased the Montreal house, intends to move the building through Charles Johnson's lot instead of taking it around by Pioneer avenue. By this arrangement Mr. Malloney will effect a big saving in the cost of moving the structure and Iron street will be blocked for a shorter time than from the latter thoroughfare to Jackson street.

The indoor baseball game between the Ishpeming Y. M. C. A. team and the Negaunee Union, played here last evening, ended in a victory for Negaunee. The score was 10 to 1. Kirkpatrick, for Negaunee, struck out twenty-two and Hawthorne and Erickson, for Ishpeming, fanned nine men. Negaunee had twelve clean hits, and Ishpeming five. The next game of the series will be played at Ishpeming Tuesday.

The superfluous snow has been removed from Iron street during the past few days, and it is expected that the Marquette County Gas and Electric company will soon resume running its cars to Pioneer avenue instead of stopping at the Iron street crossing. The city paid for the removal of the snow on the east end of the street, and the traction company did the work on the west end.

A NEW MARCHING KITCHEN.

Army Subsistence Officers Making Some Important Experiments.

Washington, March 4.—The army subsistence officers are conducting important experiments on the Pacific coast with a new marching kitchen which has just been designed by an officer—and which promises to be of use in providing hot food to soldiers in the field. There is such an equipment in use in foreign armies, and a vehicle of this type was some time ago purchased through our military attaches and brought to this country. It was found much too heavy for use with the troop train, in addition to which the commissary general of the army believed it was unwise to add to army transportation, in view of the existing facilities for cooking and issuing provisions to troops separated from their garrisons.

The object of the marching kitchen is to provide food for soldiers on the march or to have it ready for issue at mealtimes when a camp is temporarily established. The arrangement is in reality a kitchen mounted on wheels, and it becomes a question whether this extra equipment added to the column is of sufficient advantage to offset the increase of military impediments. The policy is to reduce as far as possible the wagons and to adopt articles which will take the least possible space and weight. This principle has been carried out to the extent of having packages and the equipment which are carried in wagons of such dimensions as will enable their convenient stowage.

Fears Sister Is a Victim—

John Barley, a Menominee man, is greatly concerned regarding the probable fate of his sister, Mrs. Martin Schuller, of Maec, Idaho, recently overwhelmed by an avalanche. Mrs. Schuller was born and received her education in Menominee. After her marriage she removed to Maec and has resided there since. Mr. Barley has telegraphed her attorneys and received no word in return. He is afraid that she has met with either injury or death.

Osborn Club Organized—

At a meeting held in Judge of Prostate Ashford's office in the court house at Manistique, an Osborn club was organized with officers as follows: President, W. B. Thomas; secretary, Edmund Ashford; treasurer, V. L. Hinson. The club will work hard to increase the enrollment of Republican electors in Schoolcraft county, confident that practically every one of them will vote for nomination of Upper Michigan's gubernatorial candidate.

Prohibition Issue in Schoolcraft—

The Schoolcraft county board has decided to submit to the people at the spring election the question of abolishing the saloons. This action was taken by unanimous vote and is contrary to the procedure adopted at the October session, since which time, however, the state supreme court has so interpreted the law as to make the acceptance of the petition of the "drys" practically compulsory. There were 1,777 votes cast at the last election for state officers. The petition of the "drys" contained 639 names.

Bride Gave Police the Clue—

Talon Alberts, charged with having passed worthless checks on several Escanaba firms before escaping from that city last week, outwitted Chief of Police George Rowe at Green Bay when that officer went after him. The chief ascertained where the fellow was stopping, but neglected to guard the rear entrance, and when he entered the front door Alberts went through the rear door and made good his escape. It was learned that Alberts was married to an Escanaba girl but ten days ago. The license was secured in Escanaba and the couple went to Gladstone where they were arrested by Justice Frederick Huber. They returned to the city, remaining a few days while the groom is alleged to have passed several forged checks, and then went to Green Bay. It was while in that city that the bride learned of the alleged wrong-doing of her newly made husband and she at once returned to Escanaba and gave information to the police as to his whereabouts.

Matches in Pocket Cause Fire—

Five at Escanaba completely gutted the tailor shop of W. E. Lahey at Ludington street and Harrison avenue, entailing a loss estimated at $500 and which is partially covered by insurance. Mr. Lahey was engaged in cleaning a vest belonging to a patron with gasoline and after finishing the cleaning operation he was pressing the garment. When the hot iron passed over one of the pockets where a few matches were hidden the matches were ignited. Instantly there was a flash and the entire garment was afire. Mr. Lahey attempted to throw the burning vest into the street, but it landed directly in the door and set fire to a quantity of cloth in one of the windows. After trying to extinguish the blaze alone and seeing that it was rapidly gaining in volume Mr. Lahey sent in a fire alarm. The flames ran through the stock of cloth in the store, quickly causing a complete loss to the stock. Mr. Lahey carried insurance to the amount of $575 on his store and which will partially cover his loss.

PROHIBITION IS A WRONG SOLUTION

MAYOR ROSE OF MILWAUKEE AD-DRESSED AN IMMENSE AUDIENCE AT OPERA HOUSE.

DRY STATES ARE NOT DRY

Noted "Wet" Orator Declares Outlawed Saloon Results in Much Worse Conditions Than Now Exist.

That prohibition wherever tried has proven a failure and that the only reasonable and effective solution of the liquor question lies in the properly conducted and well regulated saloon were the arguments advanced at the opera house last night by Mayor David S. Rose of Milwaukee, as reasons why Marquette county should vote to retain the saloons. One of the largest audiences ever assembled in the opera house listened to the noted orator's discourse with careful and respectful attention, and he was frequently interrupted with applause. Mayor Rose was introduced by James Russell, who emphasized the necessity in a campaign like this of all exercising a tolerant spirit toward one another, and of avoiding personal and heated arguments which might result in lasting hard feeling. Mayor Rose said in part:

"The liquor question now agitating the people of the United States is the most important question ever before the American people. In making this statement, I do not except the liquor question, which involves the personal liberty of a few million slaves, while the question I am to discuss tonight involves the personal liberty of 80,000,000 of white people.

Temperance vs. Prohibition.
"At the outset, let me not confuse temperance and prohibition. Every man in his right senses is a believer in temperance. I consider myself a temperance man both in theory and practice, though I occasionally indulge in the moderate use of liquors. It is because I favor temperance that I oppose prohibition. My experience with prohibitionists has led me to believe that they are the most intemperate people I have ever met. I have faced audiences of prohibitionists where I was hissed and booed before I had said a word.

"This government is by constitutional right a government of the people and it is what we make it. Under the constitution every man has equal rights with every other man, but the trouble is that the average voter is indifferent to these rights. He stays away from the primaries and so permits men to be elected who are not fit to hold office. The constitution guarantees every man liberty of thought and action as long as it does not interfere with the same rights of any other man. The average man lacks the courage of his convictions in political matters, and so does not take the part in civic questions that he should.

"I have opposed to prohibition because everywhere it has been tried, it has been an utter failure; because it strikes down property without giving the owner thereof any compensation in return; because it engenders hypocrisy and hatred; because it narrows the field of labor; because it admits the market of the farmer, and most of all because it strikes at the root of the principles of American government.

"Prohibition is not an issue of recent years. Fifty years ago, this country was on the crest of a prohibition wave similar to that in which we are now engaged. At that time seventeen states were dry, but most of them, including Michigan and Wisconsin, found it a failure and returned to local option.

Prohibition in Maine.
"Maine is the state to which prohibitionists are apt to point with pride as an example of the success of prohibition. Maine has been dry for sixty years. Yet in prohibition Maine, the state is engaged in perhaps the most colossal liquor business carried on in the United States. In turn, cities are allowed to carry on liquor business under authority of the state and purchasing goods from the state. My visit to Maine disclosed that prohibition in that state is a farce and that a condition of most flagrant hypocrisy exists. Prohibition in Maine sells whiskey, maintains whiskey cures, and drunkards' farms, and I saw more drunks in Portland than I ever saw in Milwaukee.

"Census statistics for 1907 show that the number of arrests in prohibition states, taking the largest cities as examples, are larger in proportion to population than in Milwaukee, which is probably the wettest city in the country. In Kansas City there was one arrest to every fifty population, in Topeka one to every thirty-six, in Wichita one to every twenty-two, in Portland, Me., one to every thirty-six. In 1908, in Milwaukee there was one arrest to every 123 population, in Savannah, Ga., one to every eighteen, in Columbus, Ga., one to every twenty-three, in Wilmington, S. C., one to every twenty-two, in Portland, Me., one to every twenty-one. In 1909, in Milwaukee there was one arrest to every 140 population, while in Fargo, N. D., in a prohibition state, there was one arrest to every five population.

"As to the effect of one saloon on the home, the best evidence is to be found in the records of the divorce courts. There is a larger proportion of divorces and a smaller percentage of bank deposits in Maine than in any other New England state. Divorce records indicate that there are more divorces caused by drunkenness in Maine than in Kentucky. The same condition is revealed by contrasting Kansas with Nebraska, or North Dakota with South Dakota. In every instance, the non-prohibition state has the better record.

A Failure in Georgia.
"During the first year that prohibition was in effect in Georgia, there were 1,394 more government liquor licenses taken out than in any previous year in the history of the state. Mayor Joiner of Atlanta, who voted for prohibition and is one of the most respected men in the state, says that prohibition in Georgia is a failure, and that he would give anything to have the saloons back. Prohibition is the father of the boot-legger, the kitchen saloon and the blind pig. When Worcester, Mass., was dry the mayor of the city estimates that there were 1,350 places in the city where liquor was sold illegally. Iowa was dry from 1884 to 1889, but the state has returned to the saloon, as it was found where sentiment was not strongly in favor of it. You cannot whip a strong minority in matters touching personal rights.

"Then let us look at this question from a purely selfish standpoint, that is, take the business view of it without reverence for sentiment. The government derived last year in revenue from the liquor traffic $200,000,000. If you take this income away from the government, with what are you going to make it up? The same question can be asked with reference to your city. The revenue obtained from the liquor traffic by the cities of the United States amounts to $84,000,000 annually. In return for the loss of this immense sum, you get the bootlegger and the blind pig, with just as much drunkenness and disorder, and more, than before. You get all the evils of an abused liquor traffic with no other return.

Percentage of Drunkards.
"We are often told that hundreds of thousands of men and women go down to drunkards graves every year. Census statistics show that there are 64 deaths in every 100,000 in the United States, while in every 100,000 are caused by whooping cough, and twenty by consumption. Sales of patent medicines containing large percentages of alcohol increase when states go dry, and the patent medicine dealers are among the heaviest contributors to the Anti-Saloon league. But mothers say, out with the saloons for the sake of our boys. What foolishness! When you take away the saloon you put a prop around the boy to shield him from temptation, which in time must fall when he goes out into the world. Then he will have no knowledge of temptations and evils of excessive use of intoxicants, and will be far more apt to fall than if taught from childhood that drunkenness spells ruin.

"Prohibition destroys property which it has taken out of honest labor to accumulate. The manufacturers have been permitted to invest in buildings and machinery, until their value represents all their life savings, yet the prohibitionists would wipe it out with a stroke of the pen and ruin the owners thereof. "That present conditions need a remedy is without doubt true. The liquor traffic is unquestionably abused, but prohibition will not help matters any. History has shown this, and history repeats itself. There are a great many men in the saloon business who should be taken out of it. Pennsylvania seems to me to have adopted the best solution of the problem. In that state, courts of record pass on saloon licenses. Notice of application must be posted and any citizen has the right to file objection to any license being granted, either because of the character of the applicant or because of the location of the proposed saloon. Upon conviction of violation of law, the court again may impose a heavy fine or revoke the license, and on second offense, the license must be revoked."

DEATH OF MRS. RULE.

Wellknown Resident Died Very Suddenly Early Yesterday Morning.

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Rule, wife of George W. Rule, passed away very suddenly about 3 o'clock yesterday morning from apoplexy. Mrs. Rule had been a sufferer from heart trouble for some time but her condition was not thought to be especially serious, and she retired feeling as well as usual Thursday night. Toward morning she got up and while in another room, her husband and daughter heard her fall and ran to her assistance to find her lying lifeless on the floor.

Northern Normal Notes.

The Normal Saturday Morning Music club will meet in the assembly hall this morning at half past ten.

Tuesday morning Miss Hill continued the talk on her visit to Tangiers, Africa. Among other interesting facts, she told of her entertainment in a real Moorish home, her experiences in shopping, described the Tangiers market, the people and their wares, and gave an excellent description and explanation of the royal palace. The numerous stereopticon illustrations aided greatly in giving a clear picture of Tangiers and its life.

On Wednesday afternoon the assembly room was crowded to its utmost capacity for the social given by Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Roberts. Of Mrs. Davis' numbers, the Grieg sonata, Opus 7, showed great strength and breadth, as well as beauty of technique. In the Lorely perhaps she was at her best. She seemed in perfect sympathy with the composer and brought out the wonderful beauties of the selection. By the time she had finished the Kameinai-Ostrov number she had won the complete sympathy of her audience. Mrs. Roberts' numbers were chosen with variety of theme. The Schjelderup number, typical of Norse song, told in quaint and weird melody, the story of the lover's bonnet to his lady. The Sinding number brought out the strength and power as well as the sweetness of her voice. The Ave Maria was sung with remarkable pathos, bringing many in the audience to tears, while the frivolous "Bell Ringers' Daughter," an encore, was such a delight to the audience that she was restored to its wonted buoyancy. It was a program long to be remembered in its complete enjoyment by those who were fortunate enough to hear it.
