

TAKES STEPS TO STOP BIG PRIZE FIGHT

Governor Gillett of California Issues Orders to the Attorney General, Instructing Him to Prevent the Proposed Bout Between Jeffries and Johnson.

Promoters Rickard and Gleason Are Taken Completely by Surprise and All Their Plans Are Up in the Air—They May Go to Nevada or Utah.

San Francisco, June 15.—Stirred to action by insistent protests from all parts of the state, Governor Gillett today took steps to prevent the championship fight between James J. Jeffries and Jack Johnson July 4.

In a letter to Attorney General Webb, the governor expressed his disapproval of prize fighting in unmeasured terms, directs that the aid of the courts be invoked in preventing the match and concludes with the positive order that in case a plea for a restraining order is not granted, and the fight is held, the attorney general shall proceed to gather evidence and prosecute the principals and those interested in the fight for violation of the penal code of the state.

Deems the Game in California. The governor's letter declares that the supreme court of California has never defined a prize fight, and it suggests that opportunity be given it to do so. This is taken to indicate the governor's intention to press his opposition to the bout, and, while the status of the fight is in an unsettled condition tonight, the sporting fraternity is much cast down.

It is generally believed that the death knell of prize fighting in California—the "Mecca of prize fighters," according to the governor's letter—has been sounded. This is borne out by the fact that the governor telegraphed Attorney General Webb later in the day to take similar action in the fight between Sam Langford and Al Kaufmann, scheduled for next Saturday.

The governor in his letter declares the toleration of prize fighting in California a disgrace to the state. When word of the governor's order was received by Jeffries, he refused to believe it. The camp was thrown into an uproar. "I don't care where the fight takes place," declared Johnson tonight, "I am willing to go any place."

All Plans Up in the Air. Promoters Rickard and Gleason were taken completely by surprise. They had heard no whisper of the governor's intended action. After a conference with Attorney General Webb, Rickard said he believed the fight would be held in San Francisco on the advertised date, despite the governor's orders. He would not say positively what his course of action will be until Mr. Webb has handed down his opinion, yet Rickard has no intention of abandoning the effort to hold the fight here.

Mr. Taft referred briefly to the new railroad bill, saying that it had been enacted not to attack the railroads but to secure justice from them and to do justice to all interests. "What I plead for," Mr. Taft concluded, amid cheers, "is a square deal for all interests."

PERMITS JUSTICE MOODY TO RETIRE ON FULL PAY.

Washington, June 15.—Senator Lodge today introduced a bill permitting Associate Justice Moody to retire on full pay. His health is given as the reason. It is learned that the suggestion that Moody be retired came from the justice himself. His determination to leave the bench was reached as a result of some comment made recently that certain big corporation cases assigned for reargument would have been decided by the supreme court had the court not been so evenly divided.

Washington, June 15.—The next big fight in the house of representatives is brewing rapidly. All parties and all factions of parties were occupied today with consideration of the proposition. The leaders of both the Republican and Democratic parties, as well as the "independents," were engrossed with it. The question has resolved itself as to what the house shall do to provide means by which a member may recall a bill or a resolution from a standing committee after the committee has failed to report. It short, the end sought is how to prevent legislation being "smothered" in committee.

BILL URGED BY TAFT IS PASSED BY THE SENATE

Carrying an Appropriation of $30,000,000 for Irrigation, the Measure Authorizing the Withdrawal of Public Lands Is Adopted With Little Opposition.

An Amendment Specifically Excluding the Alaskan Coal Areas from Entry Is Killed, as Are Other Suggested Provisions, and These Are Debated Lengthily.

Washington, June 15.—With $30,000,000 appropriated for irrigation projects, and various other amendments, the house bill authorizing the withdrawal of public lands by the president passed the senate today. It was one of the measures advocated in Mr. Taft's legislative program.

A number of other amendments were presented, but none of importance were adopted. Among the more important provisions rejected was an amendment by Senator Beveridge specifically withdrawing from entry coal lands of Alaska and another by Senator Gore to bring the friar lands of the Philippines within the operation of the general land laws of those islands. There was no roll call on the final passage of the bill.

The public land withdrawal bill was taken up soon after the senate convened today and a vote was immediately ordered on the Carter amendment authorizing the issuance of $20,000,000 worth of certificates of indebtedness for irrigation. There was no debate, and the amendment was accepted with practical unanimity.

Conservation Commission Proposed. Senator Dixon presented an amendment authorizing the appointment of a conservation commission of fifteen men and spoke in support of it. Mr. Heyburn sought to have the amendment so changed as to provide that all the members of the commission be selected from west of the 100th meridian. He said that the East was not interested in the subject of conservation and that Eastern members were not familiar with the subject.

"In my prophetic mind, I see Gifford Pinchot at the head of the commission," he said. "We want no such commission, no such masters." He said he was opposed to the proposed commission and the general principles and complained that it was intended to "make places for some people and give the commission an air of exclusion and imperial power." Senator Gallinger agreed with Mr. Heyburn in this latter sentiment. Mr. Taft, Messrs. Gallinger, Overman, Clark of Wyoming and Lodge opposed the Heyburn amendment as sectional, and it was withdrawn. "There is no meridian in my Americanism," said Senator Lodge. After a sharp discussion the amendment so changed as to provide that all the members of the commission be selected from west of the 100th meridian. He said that the East was not interested in the subject of conservation and that Eastern members were not familiar with the subject.

Gore's Amendment Rejected. The amendment by Mr. Gore extending the public land laws of the Philippines to the friar lands of those islands was voted down, but not until the senate had spent two hours discussing a point of order. The point was made against the provision that, a vote being taken, the division resulted in a poll of twenty-four to thirteen. When the chair held it carried, Senator Stone raised the point that as a quorum had not voted, the vote was not effective. The senate finding itself unable to do the point, Mr. Gore was permitted to reintroduce his amendment and an eye and no vote was ordered.

In the course of a speech in support of his amendment, Senator Gore criticized in sharp language the decision of the attorney general authorizing the acquisition of more of the Philippine lands than of other lands. He declared that the tendency would be to give the sugar interests a monopoly in the Philippines. Senator Beveridge presented an amendment authorizing the withdrawal of the coal lands in Alaska and providing for their lease. In the course of a colloquy with Mr. Beveridge, Senator Borah charged that the policy was to close up the Western coal mines in the interest of the Eastern mines.

Taking up Mr. Borah's contention, Senator Carter declared that coal was now being shipped from West Virginia to Alaska, and when just as good coal could be had within gunshot. "This," he exclaimed, "is not conservation; it is waste; criminal waste."

Michigan Forests Slaughtered. Senator Beveridge declared that the forests of Michigan had been "ruthlessly slaughtered to put more money into the already bulging pockets of private owners." He contended that the general public should have some benefit of this return on their own property. "It is a matter of deep regret that the senate did not appear before the public lands committee and tell it what to do," said Mr. Nelson.

Apparently that is what I should have done," retorted the Indiana senator. Replying to Mr. Beveridge, Senator Nelson declared that the leasing provision of the bill had been drawn by some one utterly ignorant of the conditions in Alaska. Senator Beveridge replied that the bill was a mere abbreviation of an earlier bill introduced by Mr. Nelson himself. The amendment was voted down. The bill was then passed.

Robbery is believed to be the motive.

DEMOCRATS OF PENNSYLVANIA PUT UP TICKET

Assembled in Convention at Allentown, They Name Candidates for State Office—Senator Webster Grim Is Nominated for Governor on the First Ballot.

Platform Denounces the Tariff Law, Condemns the Administration and Says Ballinger's Retention 'Affronts the Honesty and Moral Sense of the Nation.'

Allentown, Pa., June 15.—Representatives of the Democratic party of Pennsylvania, assembled in convention here today, nominated the following state ticket.

Governor—Webster Grim, of Bucks county. Lieutenant Governor—Samuel B. Price, of Lackawanna county. Secretary of Internal Affairs—John I. Blakeslee, of Carbon.

Secretary of State—Samuel B. Philson, of Somerset. The refusal of C. Larnie Munson of Williamsport to run for governor and the certainty that State Senator Grim would get the nomination robbed the proceedings of much of their interest.

While the balloting for the gubernatorial nomination was in progress late in the afternoon, there was more or less excitement, but when it was announced that Grim had defeated his opponent, William H. Berry, by the vote of 191 to 109, there was a scurrying of the delegates to leave and the subsequent proceedings did not excite much interest.

The final minutes of the session were enlivened by an effort to force Berry on the ticket as the candidate for state treasurer, but the protest of the Delaware county delegation was so strong that the chair felt compelled to intervene in the interest of fair play and insist that the wishes of Berry and his friends be respected.

Tariff Law Denounced. The platform was adopted as follows: "Recognizing that a wise and frugal government is one which restrains men from injuring one another, which leaves them otherwise free to regulate their own pursuits of industry and improvement, and which does not take from the mouth of labor the bread it has earned, we, the representatives of the Pennsylvania Democracy, in convention assembled, do hereby declare for the following principles:

"Under the mask of protection for American labor, the Republican party has taxed the necessities of life for the benefit of the corporate trusts. It has used the tariff, not with the object of raising revenue, but that the trusts may increase their profits and enlarge their dividends. By its unlawful abuse of the tariff laws it has increased the cost of living and has laid an oppressive and cruel burden upon the mass of the people, to whose cries for relief the present Republican congress has turned a deaf ear."

"We charge that the Republican party is exploiting the taxing power of the government for the benefit of special classes and special interests, its political allies, to the obstruction of private enterprise and the oppression of the people. Tenets of the Democrats. "The Democratic party therefore declares that reform in our revenue law is the first and most urgent duty of congress, and that in the levying of a revenue tax the following principles should be strictly observed: "Free raw materials. "The lightest possible tax on the necessities of life. "Luxuries should bear the greatest burden."

"The products of monopolies and oppressive trusts should be made to face the free competition of the markets of the world, that the people may not be subjected to arbitrary exactions. "No special privileges. "The needs of the consumer and the comforts of the many to be considered before the profits of the few. "We demand the strictest economy in every department of the national and state government and insist that such methods of public accounting be established and enforced as to put them on a business-like footing and secure unmistakable individual responsibility on the part of every officer entrusted with authority. "The public lands, the forests, the waterpower, the mineral resources of the territories of the United States which have not passed out of governmental control must be safeguarded by thorough legislation from exploitation of any kind that will render them private property and take them out of the control of the government or involve their use without full payment for the privilege into the public treasury. "National Administration Condemned. "The present national administration has been convicted in the eyes of the world of being in league with favored corporations of capitalists who seek selfishly to use the rich natural resources of our distant possessions in order that they may increase their already swollen and dangerous wealth and tighten their control upon the comforts and the living of the people. The scandal in the Philippines and in the disposition of mineral wealth in Alaska is a national disgrace for which the Republican administration is directly responsible. The retention by the president of his incalculable secretary of the interior is an affront to the honesty and moral sense of the nation. "We favor an income tax as a part of our revenue system and declare for a proposed constitutional amendment au-

BITTER CLASH MARKS TRIAL OF BROWNE

Defense Objects to the Testimony of Representatives Meyers, Beckemeyer and Link, and the Day Closes With the Mooted Point Still Being Argued.

Cross-Examined, Legislator White, Who Claims to Have Been Paid $1,000 for Voting for Lorimer, Says He Would as Readily Have Accepted $5 or $10.

Chicago, June 15.—A bitter controversy as to the admissibility of the testimony of Representatives Meyers of Paris, Ills., Beckemeyer of Carlisle, Ills., and Link of Mitchell, Ills., was in progress when the trial of Joe O'Neil Browne, the legislative minority leader charged with bribery in connection with the election of United States Senator Lorimer, adjourned today. The jury was excluded from the room while the arguments took place. It is probable that the mooted point will not be settled before noon tomorrow. State's Attorney Wayman insists that the testimony of Meyers, Beckemeyer and Link is material to the point at issue, while the defense declares that the evidence is not admissible against Browne.

During the day former Representative White, who precipitated the bribery scandal by "confessing" that he had been paid $1,000 by Browne for his vote for Lorimer, admitted under cross-examination that he would as readily have accepted $5 or $10 for his vote. The names of Agnes Wood, Edith Wood and Catherine Wood of St. Louis, were brought into the case today. The defense charges that the girls, at White's request, altered railroad passes for him. The defense accused White of boasting to Catherine Wood that he "had something" on Lorimer and that he would get money out of the senator or his friends. White stoutly denied the boasts. White testified that before going to "The Tribune with his confession" he offered the money to the Ridgeway Publishing company and W. D. Page & Co., both of New York, and the McClurg Publishing company of Chicago.

At the conclusion of White's cross-examination, George W. Myers took the witness stand. It was at this juncture that the defense objected to the testimony of Myers, Link and Beckemeyer, and Myers was not permitted to testify. It was asserted by the defense that the evidence of these three state representatives, as far as known, will not show crime, and that the payment of money after the perpetration of an official act is not bribery and not a crime.

LEISHMAN HIRES DIVERS TO SEARCH LAKE COMO. Washington, June 15.—Divers have been ordered by Ambassador Leishman to begin a search in Lake Como in an effort to find the body of young Charlton in case he has been murdered. His body thrown into the lake, or any other tangible evidence of crime connected with the murder of his wife, whose body was recovered some days ago. This information reached the state department today.

Como, Italy, June 15.—The police are convinced that Porter Charlton is alive. They claim to have indisputable evidence that he was seen the evening of the day the body of Mrs. Mary Scott Castle Charlton was found in Lake Como. That would eliminate the possibility of a London murder and the police do not believe that Charlton committed suicide.

COSTLY FIRE AT THE SOO. Firemen working waist deep in hot water, being suffocated in the dense smoke and as soon as recovered returning to their work, were features of a fire in the Kellier block at the Soo. The fire was first noticed by a man strolling down Ashmun street about 9 o'clock at night. He rang in the alarm and when the fire department arrived the basement and first story of the building were enveloped in smoke. The firemen turned several streams into the basement where the fire seemed to be the greatest, but the real seat was not found until the fire had been blazing for about an hour. Mr. and Mrs. H. Blackburn, living on the second floor, having retired, were awakened when the alarm was turned in to find their apartments filled with smoke. They hurriedly dressed, but found they could not get through the front door. Returning carrying their three children, they ran through the blinding smoke down the back way. The damage is estimated at between $20,000 and $24,000 to the stock of the several companies, the building and the residents of the upper floors. It is probable that the loss of the Lipsett Brothers company alone will reach $20,000 mark. A. J. Jean's jewelry stock was badly smoked, but Simon Schiff, the tailor, managed to get most of his stock out with but little damage. Dr. Dickinson, who has his office and parlors on the second floor, lost considerable of his furniture and fixtures through smoke and heat. H. Blackburn, who with his family made up a narrow escape, lost some house furniture by the fire and smoke. The stock insurance is divided among fifteen companies, and the Kellier block, owned by the Kellier estate, was insured for $10,000 among six companies. The cause of the fire is unknown to the investigators.

MARQUETTE, MICH., JUNE 16.

Entered as mail matter of the second class in the postoffice at Marquette, Mich.

The aviators are, apparently, in the midst of their busy season.

The Chicago trade expansionists surely left their impress on the town.

Both Lieutenant Governor Kelley and Senator Burrows are to deliver keynote addresses this week.

For a crooked legislator it appears that Representative White told an unusually straight story in Judge McSureley's court this week.

We are told that congress will "get down to business this week." And as congress has now been in session for about six months it is surely time for it to "get down to business."

It takes a past master in the fine art of politics to deliver an address that has met with the approval of both the Liberals and Conservatives, as Mr. Roosevelt did in London, if Sir Edward Grey and Mr. Balfour are to be believed.

We are told from Washington that the Republican leaders of congress have no thought or intention of again revising the tariff. Of course not. Are not the protected interests satisfied, even if the people are inclined to grumble?

A St. Louis man worth more than $3,000,000 has deeded his entire fortune to the trustees of a trades school in that city, for the purpose of enlarging and improving that institution. Perhaps sometime the idea of "dying poor" will become really fashionable.

Before recalling Ambassador Reid from his post at London, however, it will be necessary to first find a man who is willing to take the office, and who is also able to stand the financial strain. And this latter requirement is often the stumbling block in securing good men for such positions.

There is no distinct community of interest between any pair of the gubernatorial and senatorial candidates in the pending campaign. Some newspapers are playing the Osborn-Townsend combination, others are going in for Osborn and Burrows. Some of Lieutenant Governor Kelley's staunchest support is coming from the most ardent Townsend sheets. The situation as affecting these points is different in nearly every county in the state, and every candidate is out to get all the votes he can, irrespective of the other fellow. In short it is a beautifully mixed and variegated state of affairs.

The Soo News is of the opinion that Mr. Osborn's leadership in the gubernatorial race is thoroughly established, and it says: "Chase Osborn will never be headed and will finish going more strongly. The real campaign is now on. Up to now, there has been a good deal of jockeying for position. With but twelve weeks of campaigning left, the race is on and Osborn heads the bunch. His ability as a campaigner, his attractiveness as a political candidate, his quality as a platform speaker and his courage to say just what he thinks are the qualifications which will bring Chase Osborn under the wire an easy winner when the finish comes next September."

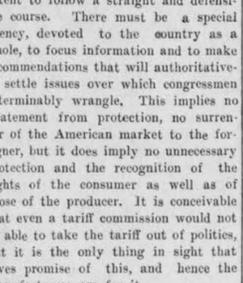

HOW TO END DISCUSSION.

The National Tariff Commission association, composed of manufacturers and those connected with their interests, is most anxious to have the tariff question taken out of politics. The members of the association believe it can be, but they do not believe that the way is to say that the Payne-Aldrich law is the best tariff ever enacted and thus attempt to chloroform discussion. They are persuaded that this method is the one of all most likely to keep the tariff question open, and thus breed the uncertainty that the manufacturer and business man doesn't want.

The manufacturers see but one way to stop the discussion of whether the Payne-Aldrich law is three quarters right and one-quarter wrong or three-quarters wrong and one-quarter right. This one way is to give the existing tariff board the powers that President Taft has asked for it and the appropriation for its enlarged work that he has requested. If the facts are as asserted by the defenders of the Payne-Aldrich law, then present schedules are not to be disturbed. But if the facts are as its critics assert, then it will be conceded by all that its schedules should be changed. Everything thus depends on the facts, and what are the facts no one knows. The truth is, the country seems to have outgrown the old method of tariff revision by trading and dickering among congressmen. It wants more intelligent and consistent action—greater consideration of national interests and less of local interests. It does not believe that congress, unassisted by experts, is competent to follow a straight and defensible course. There must be a special agency, devoted to the country as a whole, to focus information and to make recommendations that will authoritatively settle issues over which congressmen interminably wrangle. This implies no abatement from protection, no surrender of the American market to the foreigner, but it does imply no unnecessary protection and the recognition of the rights of the consumer as well as of those of the producer. It is conceivable that even a tariff commission would not be able to take the tariff out of politics, but it is the only thing in sight that gives promise of this, and hence the manufacturers are for it.

1,000 ANTI-TRUST SUITS.

If the threat of the attorney general of Illinois holds good Chicago will soon be given a taste of that ever impending but seldom achieved experience—wholesale prosecution under a statute imposing penalties for failures to make required reports to state officers. The statute in question—under which the attorney general has authorized suits against 1,000 firms and corporations—has the added interest of being an anti-trust statute. The provisions on which these suits will be based require that the firms and corporations affected shall file by Sept. 1 of each year affidavits stating that they are not affiliated in any pool, trust, or other combination or agreement to fix prices.

Usually it is enough for the public office to which reports must be made to remind the corporations or others concerned of their duty to report. On such reminder reports as a rule are at once forthcoming. Why, then, has there been such general delinquency in Illinois? Why has it become necessary to carry so many cases into court? Have the state authorities hitherto been lax in their administration of his law? Have they experienced a sudden access of virtue? Or is it desired simply to "stir the animals up" and give them a reminder that the law means that it says.

If it is political drama that the Illinois authorities are seeking to play by bringing these thousand suits for failure to make reports it is to be feared that they are not experienced political showmen. Unless these thousand suits for failure to make reports are intimated to be mere curtain raisers—preliminary to some hundreds of suits for breach of anti-trust laws—they are poor judges of what interests the public. The public will not get very excited over suits—even a thousand of them—for failure to make reports no matter what the subject of the reports may be. If the attorney general of Illinois is really intent on "starting something" he will have to go much further.

PICK-UPS FOR CONGRESSMEN.

It has long been customary to supply members of congress, at public expense, with a variety of articles which would require a terrific stretch of the imagination to connect in any manner with the real business of law making. Of course one can readily understand that a public representative, engaged in transacting business for the people in general, has a right to draw on the public treasury for certain things that are essential in the transaction of public business. For instance no one would think of questioning the propriety of furnishing congressional members with anything in the line of "stationery" which they might require in the performance of their official duties. But what do you think—what must anyone think, in fact—of the public funds being expended to supply members of congress with articles and trinkets, such as are included in the following list:

Playing cards (including whist and bridge sets), poker chips, pocketbooks and purses, shears and scissors, hand bags, suit cases, souvenir bags, vanity bags, pass cases, nail clips, files and brushes, manicure sets, safety razors (and extra blades), matches, wedding announcement cards, post card albums, photograph envelopes, hunting knife, button box, glove stretcher, hand box, sewing box, shopping bag, cigar lighter, jewel case, ash tray, opera bags, quinine pills, listerin, peroxide of hydrogen, pepsin, trional, soda tablets, witch hazel, smelling salts, ammonia, cough drops, antiskamnia, Jamaica ginger, vaseline, olive oil, court plaster, rose extract, brilliantine, scidiltz powders and bromo-seltzer.

Yet these things are actually furnished to the members of congress, for this list was taken from the official records of requisitions filed for various members of the national body of law makers. And one of the curious facts about this system is the fact that all these articles purchased for congressmen or senators are included in the general expense item of "stationery." Which is an indication that the officials themselves are ashamed of this petty graft and would like to hide it from the knowledge of their constituents and the general public.

Truly it is time for reform in this matter, and for a little more conscientious honesty on the part of members of congress, who are supposed to be as careful and economical in the expenditure of the people's money as they would be of their own. Not all of

The congressmen participate in this petty graft, of course, and it is also true that the total thus spent is only a bagatelle in the whole expense of government. But if members of congress will be careless and wasteful of the people's money in these little matters, is it not presumable they may be just as careless and wasteful in many of the larger expenditures? To say the least it is a bad system and needs correction.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

A CORPORATION'S COLOR.

There are few more subtle refinements of law than that which makes of the corporation "An artificial being, invisible, intangible, and existing only in contemplation of law." In a case decided recently in West Virginia the defendant had sold the plaintiff a small building lot, one of a group which he owned. The sale had been made with a stipulation that no land in the division should be sold to a colored person, so the buyer was highly incensed when shortly afterward the remaining lots were all sold to a corporation made up entirely of negroes.

Markets

WALL STREET STOCKS.

New York, June 15.—Paine, Webber & Co. say of today's stock market: "Trading was at a slightly higher range of prices up to noon, but the list later responded on pressure attributed to prominent room traders. There was nothing in the news to stimulate activity either way and the reports from Washington were meagre. The selling movement may be carried somewhat farther, but we do not think the recessions will be material and are inclined to favor purchases on declines."

Table of stock prices including Amal, Alameda, Anaconda, and others.

Boston Stock Quotations.

Boston, June 15.—Today's stock market at Boston is summarized by Paine, Webber & Co. as follows: "Every few minutes different opinions were sent out regarding the market from New York, but the consensus of them all was that we were in for a period of dullness, with professional traders making the prices. The technical position of the Boston market is good and the feeling is much more optimistic, although the quotations do not show it. We have seldom seen such an absence of liquidation and unless something unforeseen happens, this dullness must be followed by rising prices. North Lake was the only specialty to show action today and its advance was due to the filling of a fair-sized buying order and had no effect on the rest of the list. The most encouraging thing that can be said about the market is that it is easier to sell stocks than it is to buy them."

actly last night's figures. New wheat from Oklahoma began to be sold here today, and is under contract to be delivered in this city in the first half of July. The effect was prompt, lowering the relative value of the nearby options and at the same time causing improvement in the quotations for the months more deferred. The premium for the December or the September widened one cent against half a cent last night. The official forecast of clear weather for the Northwest was coupled with denials that there had been rain, which was heavy enough to be of material benefit to spring wheat, and this gave the market here considerable strength the last half of the day. The independent strength of the coast grains formed an additional bullish factor. The September opened at 89 1/2 @ 90 1/2; highest, 90 1/4; lowest, 89 1/2 @ 90; closed, 90. The July closed at 92 1/2.

Firemen Begin Training.—The Iron River having secured sufficient funds to pay the expenses of a running team to the tournament at the Soo in August, they have organized by electing Claude Brown captain. Practice already has been started. The Iron River firemen have made good showing in the last few tournaments, having taken a number of the best prizes, and they are out for the premier honors this year.

Commencement at Norway.—At the commencement exercises of the Norway High School Dr. Jenken Lloyd Jones of Chicago delivered an address on "The Three R's, or a Plea for Better Education." The following is a list of the graduates: Olof Anderson, Colin Blomgren, Edward Boltho, Clarence Bunt, John Cooke, Boda Erickson, Oscar Hellberg, Henning Janson, Maude Larson, Charles Martin, Catherine Molignon, William Oliver, Agnes Rosendale and Anna Stanchina.

Takes Steamship Command.—Captain Ben Lewis, who has been in the passenger service of different lines on the Soo-Grand Marais route off and on for the past sixteen years, who is a skilled navigator and in every way a most successful steamboat man, has accepted the command of the steamer Pelee, Marquette of the Chicago & Duluth line. This company does a passenger and freight business between Chicago and Lake Superior ports, the passenger service opening June 17.

Sleepskins for Seventeen.—Seventeen students, members of the senior class of the high school, will receive their diplomas at "Bessener" this evening. The commencement address will be delivered by Professor H. I. Willet of the University of Chicago. The graduates are: Annie Bjork, Anna Jones, M. Leona, Luveiel, Clara Morse, Anna Rud, Emma Vornestek, Ethel Walters, Elizabeth Wozniak, Olga Johnson, Hilda Linstrom, Margaret Miska, Minnie Paise, Mary Thors, Bessie Walters, Alice Walters, Mary Wrobleksi, Elvira Kosky.

Raise Money for County Fair.—P. E. Coatsworth, of Norway, A. W. Thompson, of Vulcan, and John E. Quarrington, of Iron Mountain, made a trip around Dickinson county in Mr. Thompson's automobile a few days ago in the interest of the County Agricultural Society and secured pledges for $2,400 worth of stock. Thompson and Coatsworth afterwards secured pledges for $1,200 more. The total amount has since been raised to $3,600, which is more than the estimated cost of putting the fair grounds and race track in condition for the annual fair.

Gladstone's School Census.—The school census shows a population between the ages of five and eighteen in Gladstone of 1,303. One hundred and twenty of these became five years old during the past year; forty-seven will become nineteen before the next census. The increase is 105 over last year's figures which were 1,198. It is evident, therefore, that between thirty and forty children was the net increase, as a result of families moving in and out of town. This means nearly ten thousand dollars of primary school money next year.

Memorable Range Business Change.—The Iron Mountain Co-operative society has been succeeded by the Iron Mountain Mercantile company, Limited. The latter company assumes the business and liabilities of the society. The organization of the Mercantile company has been perfected with the following officers: President, Adolph Anderson; secretary, John H. Holland; treasurer, John H. Hilderson. The board of managers is composed of the above named officials and William E. Jayne and Henry Trepanier. The capital stock is $30,000. James W. Thompson will continue as manager of the business of the stores.

Grangers Building a Hall.—Baraga grange, No. 1418, is erecting a hall on Martin Cunningham's farm in the Girard settlement. The structure will cost about $2,500. The building will be two stories high with the first floor floor built on a side hill, and will be of concrete; the first floor will contain a reception room, a kitchen and dining room. The second floor will be used by the grangers as a meeting place. The grange has about one hundred members and is making good progress in its growth. The following constitute the building committee: Robert Price, Charles Darcy, Hoken Lundip, Charles Walker, Andrew G. Giddings, Edward Mitchell, Peter Girard, Andrew Anderson, Charles H. Anderson and O. C. Olson.

Is a Candidate for Sheriff.—Nick Frank, chief of the police force of the city of Ironwood, is a candidate for the nomination for sheriff on the Republican ticket at the coming primary election in September. Chief Frank was born in Oklahoma, Wis., Dec. 25, 1862. He went to Geopole county twenty-four years ago and secured employment as a teamster for the Newport Mining company, taking up his residence in what is now the Eighth ward of Ironwood, where he has lived continuously ever since. He was appointed as a patrolman on the police force by Mayor Will L. Winslow in the spring of 1885, and served in that capacity for three years. He was re-appointed to the position by Mayor D. E. Sutherland in 1902, and four years ago was promoted to the position of chief. In his eleven years of police service in Ironwood, Mr. Frank has been one of the best officers that the city has ever had.

Little Child's Narrow Escape.—While playing about the street car tracks in North Menominee, Gladstone, a two-year-old child of Fred Collins, Saxon avenue, narrowly escaped meeting a tragic death beneath the wheels of a trolley car. The little one started across the street in front of a car in charge of Motorgrain Barrett and would have been ground to pieces if the trolley had not caught her up. Barrett, realizing the child's danger, put on the emergency brakes, and brought the car to a stop just as the fender snatched up the babe. As the child was not heavy enough to weigh down the fender it rolled from the fender under the front of the car, where it was picked up by the motor-man. Luckily it escaped with only a few slight bruises.

Babe Falls from Car Window.—While riding on a street car on Lullington street, Escanaba, the little daughter of C. W. Molin of Wells fell from the window and although toppling heavily to the pavement escaped without a single injury. Mr. and Mrs. Molin, after visiting with friends in the city, the babe was standing in the seat at the side of Mrs. Molin when the child suddenly jumped and before the mother could catch her had fallen through the window. The car was moving at a fair rate of speed and the little one landed on the pavement between the adjoining tracks and although she cried lustily and the parents hastened back it was found that she was not injured in the least.

Wounded Former Soldier Dies.—Edward Winters, the former soldier who was shot twice at the Soo by Corporal Thomas Collins, Fort Brady, has passed away from his wounds. He remained unconscious until the last and realized that he was dying. He stated that the shooting was deliberate and was done by Collins. The decedent was a large man, stand six feet four inches in height, stocky feet and weighed 175 pounds. Winters' home was in Indiana, he enlisted in the Seventh United States Infantry about four and a half years ago and served one term, receiving an honorable discharge when his company was sent to the Philippines about eight months ago. It is likely that Collins will be charged with first degree murder.

Garbage Ordinance Adopted.—On the recommendation of Health Officer Newkirk, the common council of Iron Mountain has adopted an important sanitary ordinance. This provides for the disposal of garbage and refuse matter and for the licensing of one or more garbage masters. Section 1 declares that it shall be unlawful for any person to deposit, throw or place any garbage, offal, dead animals, manure, paper, straw, dirt, ashes, still stagnant or filthy water, putrid or unwholesome meat, glassware, bottles, wire or any rubbish or refuse matter whether offensive or not, to the public health in any lane, street, avenue, alley or public place in the city of Iron Mountain, nor upon any private property whether owned by said person or not unless the garbage shall be enclosed in a proper vessel, can, tank or boxes to be perfectly water-tight, having tightly fitting covers, to be kept in the rear of the house, basement or alley, to be delivered promptly to the collector when called for, the same to be returned by him. The ordinance is not to apply to persons who create or otherwise deposit such garbage. The owners of domestic animals are permitted to use stable refuse in garden, lawn or field cultivation, if such refuse is stored in water-tight receptacles subject to the inspection and written permission of the health officer, such permits to remain in force from the first day of June following its date.

Section 2 closes defines the word "garbage," which includes about everything. Section 3 empowers the council to enter into a contract, to be let by bids, for the collection and removal of garbage. Section 4 provides that the person or persons so licensed shall be known as garbage masters and compensation shall be paid from the contingent fund. Section 5 provides that the collectors shall use water-tight vehicles in making top, and having attached a sign bearing the name of the garbage master. Section 6 provides for a punishment by not less than $1 nor more than $25 for each and every violation of the provisions of the ordinance, for imprisonment for a period of not less than five days nor more than ninety days in the county jail.

In a few days, Mr. and Mrs. Eichen will leave for Two River, where the groom is in the employ of the life saving service.

Grand Jurors Dismissed—The federal grand jury completed its work at noon yesterday and was dismissed from further service by Judge Denison. The findings of the jurors have not been made public, but their deliberations occupied only a day and a half, and it is generally supposed that no indictments were returned, except those generally expected.

Died in the East—Word was received yesterday of the death of Mrs. C. H. Morse, widow of the late Dr. Morse, formerly of this city, which occurred at Woodstock, New Brunswick. Mrs. Morse was the mother of Dr. W. H. Morse, of this city, and until a few months ago had made her home in Marquette. Her son was called to her bedside several days ago.

Seemingly Hard to Suit—A week or two ago everyone was complaining of the wretched, nasty cold weather, and wishing that it would get warmer. Now that really warm weather has come there seem to be just as many complaints about its being too hot. Marquette people, apparently, are just as hard to suit in respect to the weather as human-kind generally, and this in spite of the fact that this city enjoys one of the most delightful climates to be found anywhere in the country, both summer and winter. Some of the strangers in attendance at the term of federal court were very much surprised to find it so warm here, and the same is true of some of those with the Chicago party here yesterday, who wore heavy clothes, anticipating that it would be much cooler here than Chicago.

CHICAGOANS LIKE CITY, AND SAY SO

Statements from Representative Men of Party on Impressions of Marquette.

On the high bluffs overlooking the limpid waters of Lake Superior, Marquette, with its well paved streets (they are all paved), lined with splendid maples, and the many beautiful homes of the rich Lake Superior sandstone, may well be called "The Beautiful." But not alone does its attraction consist in this evidence of its culture, enterprise and civic improvements, for back of all this, or, more properly, I should say, before this, lies the splendid generosity of its people.

The Chicago Association of Commerce delegation, fifty strong, representing its organization of 4,000 members in all lines of industry, came to call—not to barter, not to buy or sell, but to get better acquainted and promote a closer commercial and personal relation between the Greater Central Market and the merchants of this beautiful city.

We find the spirit of the intrepid explorer Marquette permeating the city. Everywhere as we met by generous hospitality without stint. Well may the citizen of Marquette be proud of his city, not only for its manifold beauties, but because of its substantial business enterprises as well.

Its large shipping interests, its engine works, the Pioneer Iron company's furnace, with its complete chemical plant for utilizing the by-products, are significant of its commercial enterprise. Besides this it is a most important point for the distribution of groceries, meats, coal and other commodities.

Its banking interests, with deposits of over $4,000,000, daily newspapers, its own electric lighting plant—furnishing the citizens with light at the least cost—justly give to Marquette a commercial standing of no small importance.

This last year's census would be incomplete without some mention of the splendid public school and educational system. The beauty of its school buildings is a tribute to the quiet elegance of its taste as shown in the beautiful homes.

Perhaps the broadest spirit of these people is best typified in their treatment of the unfortunate in their prison, reformatory as it might be more properly termed. Each prisoner is given an opportunity to do some thing useful for himself, to cultivate a lower bed, to make any article that his ability and leisure time will permit. How much more helpful, how much more humane than the usual prison management. It is the Marquette way and could be copied by larger and older communities with profit to themselves and mankind.

Marquette and your merchants, you honor us by your hospitality. The late string of Chicago is not only on the outside for you, but the door itself is open.

We are glad that you are so near us and hope that you may be yet nearer, so close, indeed, that your pulse may beat in unison with the heart beats of the country's greatest commercial center. Such is the united wish of the delegation from the Chicago Association of Commerce to whom you have opened your homes and hearts.

W. M. HOPKINS, Traffic Manager, Chicago Board of Trade.

The stranger entering the water gate of the city of Marquette, is immediately impressed with the beautiful situation of this prosperous city. As he drives over her magnificently paved streets, sees the beauty of her homes, the impressive air of her public buildings, the general air of progressiveness and prosperity, he fully realizes the aptness of the title "Queen City of the Lakes."

JAMES W. PRINDIVILLE, Chicago & Duluth Transportation Co.

Herbert F. Miller, manager of the Chicago delegation, who was asked by a representative of The Mining Journal for his impressions of Marquette, said: "The old experienced campaigners among the delegates, who have accompanied many previous trade extension tours of the association of commerce, to all parts of the country, are unanimously of the opinion that the unique features of the present tour have resulted in the most successful crusade of acquaintance ever inaugurated and one which marks the climax of all previous efforts. The territory reached by this delegation is undoubtedly the richest in natural resources and the most prolific from a trade standpoint of any territory covered by other tours of a similar nature.

"We have seen much and learned much of this section in the few short hours we were able to spend here. Our only regret is that the limitations of time made it necessary to give only one day to this important trade center. We would have liked to spend another day in Marquette and an equal amount of time in Ishpeming and Negaunee, both of which are important centers of Chicago's commercial connections. No city in the United States where we have traveled has better streets or better roads than Marquette. The boulevard connecting Marquette with her sister cities is certainly the finest roadway we have ever seen.

"It is the theory and policy of the association of commerce that the best and surest way to increase Chicago's commercial importance is to assist in the upbuilding of neighboring cities and while Marquette has amply demonstrated her ability to stand alone, even greater prosperity is bound to come with a better understanding and closer commercial relations between Marquette and Chicago.

"The untold wealth of this district makes Marquette a port of first importance on the Great Lakes and insures its healthy growth and continued prosperity. Marquette is on the threshold of her coming importance as a producing, manufacturing and distributing center."

The entire peninsula country has been a surprise to the members of the Chicago delegation, as much so to those who have visited it before as to those viewing it for the first time. The commercial interests of Chicago are more impressed than ever with its growing importance. The cordial welcome given the visiting delegation by Marquette's business men is a courtesy long to be remembered. Nowhere in the states are there roads to compare with those about Marquette. Its paved streets, public buildings, churches and schools are unequalled in cities many times larger. Chicago's delegation's visit to Marquette is one not soon to be forgotten.

E. W. HOUSER, Barnes-Crosby Company.

We expected much of Marquette and our expectations have been more than realized. We did not have to visit you to know that this is a thriving city. For years Marquette has been demanding goods better and better in quality and in greater quantities until now the consumption of high class merchandise here is not surpassed by any city of its size in the country.

We were therefore partially but not wholly prepared for the high standard of your mercantile establishments and the enterprising spirit of your citizens. Marquette is to be congratulated, not only for what she is, but for what the future holds for her.

GEO. C. EBELING, Gage Bros. & Co.

A beautiful and unique shore line, immense iron ore docks and furnaces, blending to make a picture for the artisan or artist; the same general color scheme of the many beautiful public buildings, constructed from native stone, with a tint at once harmonious and restful to the eye; the sweet odors from the quiet virgin forest of Presque Isle park, reached by the best of roads, combined with the grace and beauty of her women and the uniform courtesy and energy of her men, impress us as qualities to make Marquette Queen City of Superior, a place of prosperity and peace.

W. O. CLARK, Morrison, Plummer & Co.

Historic, picturesque Marquette! It has done my heart good to visit you again. Substantial, beautiful, there is a distinctive air about Marquette which marks it out from other cities of the prosperous upper peninsula. Really, Marquette is not only an ideal spot for making money, but for enjoying it when made. Indeed, Chicago people might well spend their summers in this pleasant city, with its ozone-laden atmosphere and beautiful environments. Whenever I come here, I hate to leave. And then the planked white fish—least for the gods.

INSURE WITH PETER WHITE & CO. HAS WIRELESS SERVICE.

Steamer Roosevelt Also Has Long Distance Connections in Each Port.

The steamer Theodore Roosevelt, in which the Chicago trade delegates are traveling, is well equipped for keeping its passengers in touch with their business interests. It is equipped with the wireless service of the Great Lakes Radio Telephone company. The wireless office is served by two operators, and the service is being used largely. Last night The Mining Journal sent its copper country representative a message, and had a reply from Houghton in less than half an hour. The operator had no more trouble getting Houghton than a person has telephoning to some one in the next block. The wireless office was one of the magnets to draw the curious on the steamer last evening, and it was constantly surrounded by a large crowd.

The first thing done after the steamer ties up to a dock is to make connections with the local Bell telephone service and thus to establish telephone communication with Chicago. A. G. Francis, of the Chicago Telephone company, is with the party and is giving his personal attention to this service, with the result that it is very satisfactory. K. S. Baker had his linemen on the dock yesterday when the steamer arrived and before the gangplank was out the telephone service was in commission. Over forty Chicago connections were given members of the party during the day.

STANDARD MINE IS TO BE EXPLORED

Some 8,000 Feet of Drilling Will Be Done on Property Near Republic.

The Standard mine, four miles west of Republic, on almost a direct line between the Klonan and Erie properties, is to be explored. The property has been optioned to parties who are represented by Captain Matthew Gibson of Republic, who on Tuesday received bids from four exploration companies on a diamond drilling contract. The parties submitting the bids are Cox & McDonald, Longyear & Hodge, George H. St. Clair and the Sullivan Machinery company. All of the concerns have representatives on the ground and it was reported from Republic yesterday that the contract would likely go to Mr. St. Clair of the Sullivan company, as they were the lowest bidders.

In calling for bids the contracting firms were asked to take under consideration the drilling of a series of holes aggregating from 7,000 to 8,000 feet. It has not been stated just what the depth of the holes will be, as that will depend entirely upon the appearance of the formation. It is thought, however, that some of the holes will be put down at least 1,000 feet, while the average depth will probably exceed 500 feet.

The formation is magnetic in character and the ore is somewhat similar to that produced at the Republic mine. The property was never extensively operated nor was it ever thoroughly explored. Some ore was mined from their twenty odd years ago but operations were conducted in a very crude way. A shallow shaft was sunk and some ore was also taken out of surface pits. It is thought that there is a very good opportunity of finding a paying ore body on the tract.

It is expected that the contract will perhaps be awarded before the close of the week and the drilling operations will be closed as soon as possible. It is understood that two or more drills will be used, as the parties having the property under option desire to complete the exploratory work within a year. It is anticipated that the drilling will be slow work as the formation is very hard.

The Independent Mining company, which some weeks ago began work at the Erie property, seven miles west of Republic, is now working a good sized force. The last of the buildings will soon be completed and the machinery is being rapidly put in position. The shaft through which the hoisting is to be done is being timbered and this work will soon be finished. Republic men who are familiar with the Erie property believe that a fair-sized producer will be developed as present indications are favorable for the opening of good ore bodies. E. F. Braudt, formerly of Ishpeming, who is one of the managing directors of the Independent company, was familiar with the Erie before his incorporation secured control of it. He has visited the mine two or three times since the exploratory work was started.

The Jones people are still conducting work at the Klonan property, though only a few men are employed. A number of trenches have been put in with a view to ascertaining the nature of the formation.

ELKS' CONVENTION.
Copy of Program for Annual Reunion Received in Ishpeming.

Bert Ramsdell, secretary of the Ishpeming lodge of the Elks, has received a copy of the official program of the national convention, which is to be held next month in Detroit. The festivities will open on Monday, the 11th, and they will be continued throughout the week.

From present indications quite a good-sized delegation of Ishpeming Elks will make the trip and it is thought that several hundred members of the society will go from the upper peninsula. The copper and iron country members, who will travel by special train to St. Ignace and from there by a chartered boat, will be accompanied by the Calumet & Hecla board.

The arrangement committee for the celebration is to give a special prize of $75 to each band of thirty members or more appearing in the massed band parade on Tuesday, the 12th; also in the grand parade on Thursday. All bands within a radius of 100 miles from the city will be excluded from the special prize. As the Calumet & Hecla band will have more than thirty members it will come in for a prize. The members will leave for Detroit on Saturday morning, the 9th.

The cheapest and best fuel for your kitchen is gas. Order a gas stove from the Marquette County, Gas & Electric company. (6-14-1f)

BANQUET TO SENIORS.
The members of the junior class of St. John's parochial school tendered the seniors a banquet last evening at the home of the sisters. The members of the sophomore and freshmen classes were also the guests of the juniors. The closing exercises of the school will be held next Wednesday afternoon at the Ishpeming theatre. Many tickets have already been sold and a large attendance is assured. The program will be participated in by students of the high school department as well as all of the various grades. The members of the senior class are: Violet M. Cleary, Bernice N. Gleason, Teresa A. Hickey, Catherine C. Hennessey, Cecilia K. Harrington, Nora A. Kennedy, Laura A. LaBreshe, Celestine E. Lynch, Honore S. O'Neil, Anna C. Ryan and Catherine M. Vogtlin.

This is the season when you will appreciate a gas stove. With your kitchen sizzling hot, how can you get along without one? The Marquette County, Gas & Electric company will put one in for you on short notice. (6-14-1f)

WILL CELEBRATE.
At a mass meeting of the citizens of Republic, held Saturday evening, it was decided to celebrate the Fourth. Committees were appointed to solicit funds and another meeting is to be held Friday evening when they will make their reports. Al. Hocking and C. W. Munson yesterday completed making the rounds of the thirty members and they met with much encouragement. Peter Pascoe and George Thompson are soliciting funds from the men at the Republic mine. Mr. Hocking said yesterday that it is proposed to make this year's celebration the most attractive that has ever been held in Republic. Among the strong features will be a series of boat races and floats on the river. There will also be baseball and athletic sports.

DEATH OF MRS. A. CROLL.
Mrs. A. Croll, an old and highly respected resident of Marquette county, passed from life at Michigan yesterday afternoon. Her demise was the result of a paralytic stroke and took place at the home of her daughter, Mrs. P. H. Tiesize, with whom she had made her home a number of years. Surviving Mrs. Croll are three sons and two daughters. The sons are Fred Croll, of Cleveland; Max, of Hibbing, and Emil, of Iron Mountain. The daughters are Mrs. James Carmichael of Hibbing and Mrs. Tiesize. Mrs. Croll was seventy-four years of age. She formerly lived at Ishpeming and Negaunee and was well known in the two cities. The funeral arrangements had not been completed last evening.

"A WOMAN'S WAY."
"A Woman's Way," which will be presented at the Ishpeming theatre next Tuesday evening, the 21st, was written especially for Grace George and, it is said, its this young comedienne unusually well, although it is more dramatic than pieces generally attempted by comedy actresses. The wide range of Miss George's capabilities, however, enables her fully to realize and exploit all the possibilities of the role. The work is from the pen of Thompson Buchanan, a young New York newspaper man, and is the second piece he has attempted.

"A WOMAN'S WAY."
The ladies of St. Augustine's church congregation of Republic will conduct their annual bazaar at the Woodmen's Hall next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings. The ladies have prepared a large collection of fancy and useful articles that will be sold and refreshments will be served each evening. On Tuesday evening an entertainment will take part and an exceptionally good program has been prepared. R. J. Goodman, Jr., Booth (Goodman) and Ted Butler of this city will assist with the entertainment. Tickets are selling at thirty-five cents each. Seats are being reserved at Al. Hocking's store.

This is the time you need a gas stove. Order one from the Marquette County, Gas & Electric company. It can be installed at once. (6-14-1f)

A WOMAN'S GREAT IDEA
Is how to make herself attractive. But, without health, it is hard for her to be lovely in face, form or temper. A weak, sickly woman will be nervous and irritable. Constipation and kidney poisons show in pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. But Electric Bitters always prove a Godsend to women who want health, beauty and friends. FLINT—As the result of a joy ride in which several collisions were reported to the police, Robert Malcolm, local music dealer, and Frank Newbury and William H. Stark, two of his friends, were placed in the county jail, having been placed under arrest by Patrolman McKay. At the intersection of the Fenelon road with the western city limits the automobile driven by Malcolm collided with a farmer's wagon with the result that the machine was reduced almost to scrap.

Hunt while returning from Detroit went to sleep in his seat, but suddenly arose and yelling "Whoa!" he made a rush for the door. He was gone before the passengers could stop him and the train had passed a mile by the spot before it could be stopped. Hunt suffered a fractured leg, a dislocated ankle, a dislocated shoulder, besides severe bruises.

SAGINAW—What might have been a serious accident, with the possibilities of a heavy loss of life, was narrowly averted on the Flint-Saginaw interurban line, when two heavily loaded cars crashed together at Cook's corners. The cars met on the curve and one was thrown clear of the track and against a telephone pole. The Flint-bound car was dished. Portions of the woodwork were torn out of both cars. There were about 225 passengers in the two cars and none were seriously injured, although nearly all were somewhat bruised.

There is one man in the United States who has perhaps heard more women's secrets than any other man or woman in the country. These secrets are not secrets of guilt or shame, but the secrets of suffering, and they have been confided to Dr. R. V. REMOVAL OF RAILWAY TO JACKSON STREET

City Officials and Street Car Company Have Not Reached an Agreement.

The members of the board of public works and the street and highway committee of the council met with W. J. McCorkindale, manager of the Marquette County Gas & Electric company, Tuesday evening, with a view to reaching an agreement relative to the removal of the street car track from Iron to Jackson street. The matter was very generally discussed but no agreement was reached. It was decided to hold another meeting some day next week.

Since the petition was circulated among the business men on Iron street, protesting against the removal of the street car line from that thoroughfare, the subject has been a live one. There were only a few of the business men who refused to sign the petition and most of these expressed the hope that the line will remain where it is. Among the signers are several of the leading merchants and property owners. The petition was reviewed at the conference held Tuesday evening, but in spite of the fact that such a large majority of the business men had signed it, the members of the board of public works and committee still believe that it is advisable to make a change as the pavement can be put in to much better advantage if the track is removed from the street.

Mr. McCorkindale advised the city officials that he would prefer to change the line to point along the north side of the Chicago & Northwestern's main line, extending from Cyr street to Jackson street. He suggested that the cars would still have to cross the railway tracks at two points between Cyr street and the terminal.

The council has not yet taken any action with reference to the disposing of the bonds or the letting of a contract for the pavement work and it is not likely that anything will be done until the matter of the removal of the street car line is disposed of. One of the business men yesterday expressed the opinion that if the work is delayed much longer, he was afraid that it would be necessary to have the street car work until next spring. He said that this would be a big disappointment, especially to the business men on Iron street.

Liquor License Refused. While in session as a board of review Tuesday the council decided to refuse Patrick Healy, the Keely Brewing company's agent, a license to conduct a retail business in the city. The Keely company last year represented by Joseph Lacombe, who was granted the privilege of renewing his license at the special meeting of the council, held the latter part of April. After making application for a license to sell and dispense beer in the city, and in view of the fact that he was the Keely company's representative, Mr. Healy thought that the council should grant a license either to himself or some one else. The stand taken by the council is that there are already a sufficient number of saloons in the city, and that under the law it had no right to grant a license to anyone who was not engaged in the business last year.

George F. Ruzer's Review. "The New York list opened strong, but later in the day sold off on profit-taking. Carb stocks were also dull and unchanged."

DEATH OF MRS. LEVINE.

Mother of Abel and Phil Levine of Negaunee Died at Green Bay.

Mrs. B. Levine, of Republic, who had been in poor health for some time, died Tuesday at Green Bay at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Jacob Davidson, formerly of this city. Mrs. Levine went to Green Bay six or seven weeks ago in the hope that the change would be beneficial to her health and although she did not improve very much her condition was not considered precarious until a short time before she passed away. Abel and Phil Levine, proprietors of the Savings Bank store in this city, sons of the deceased, and their families, were called to the Bay Tuesday and they, together with other members of the family, yesterday accompanied the remains to Chicago, where they are to be interred.

The deceased was one of Republic's oldest and best residents. She was born there some thirty years or more ago. She was about fifty-six years of age and is survived by her husband and four sons and two daughters. The daughters are Mrs. Jacob Davidson of Green Bay and Mrs. Harry Davidson of Republic. The sons are Morris Levine of Houghton, Abel and Phil of Negaunee and Louis of Republic.

MUST KEEP OUT. Outsiders Hereafter Will Not Be Permitted to Use Firemen's Equipment.

The men who went into No. 1 hose house Monday at midnight in response to the alarm of fire at the home of Miss Lizzie Fick and helped themselves to the firemen's boots and coats are requested to return them at once. Chief Jackson says that when he needs outside help at fire he will call for it. Some of the members of the department who turned out Monday night missed their coats and boots. Part of the equipment has not yet been returned, but an officer will be after it if it is not brought back at once.

Mr. Jackson has suggested to the committee on fire department that the officer stationed at the city hall, across the way, be instructed to keep a watch on the equipment when the firemen are out on duty. The fire hall is always left open and the members of the department occasionally leave valuables in their clothing. It is also suggested that when an alarm comes in the officer be instructed to light the lanterns which are always ready to torch a match to them so that the firemen can get them in a hurry when they are preparing to leave on the wagon.

Mr. Jackson has also suggested to the committee that parties engaged in sidewalk construction or other work in the streets, be obliged to put red lanterns over their obstructions. In making the run to the fire Monday night No. 1 hose team came very nearly running into a big mortar box while one of the firemen fell into the box and in a dark place and could not be seen by the firemen as they came along the street.

The operators of the Portland mine, west of Michigan, have started to ship ore. Hous & Parsons, who are stripping the overburden and mining the ore, are working two steam shovels to good advantage, and a good sized crew is employed.

Edgar Williams, son of John Williams, motorman on the street car line, who left Negaunee less than a month ago for Detroit, has a splendid position with the Chalmers Automobile company. He is employed in the mechanical department and is getting a good weekly salary with the privilege of working overtime. For some time before leaving Negaunee he was one of the engineers at the Maas mine.

Rev. Trudson, a former pastor of the Swedish Lutheran church, will conduct services here this evening, commencing at 7:30 o'clock. Mr. Trudson, who left Negaunee some thirteen years ago, is now located in the West and is here on a few days visit. For a week or more he had been at Rock Island, Ill., attending the fiftieth anniversary celebration of Augustana synod.

The members of the fire department are wondering when they will be able to move into the new hose house. It is not likely that the change will be made until the clock is installed in the tower and the bell is in place. The bell at No. 2 hose house will be transferred. The clock was received some days ago, but the expert who is to install it has not yet arrived in the city.

Leon Guimond, who, a short time ago purchased the house and three lots on the southeast corner of Clark street and To Lake avenue, intends to erect a modern home on the site. Mr. Guimond is a carpenter in the employ of the Republic Iron & Steel company, and he will plan and erect the dwelling himself. He offers the house on the lots for sale. The purchaser will be obliged to move it away.

WHAT EACH SIDE PLANS TO SHOW

Opening Arguments of Assistant District Attorney Clute and M. M. Riley, for the Defense, Made to the Jury Yesterday—No Witnesses Called as Yet.

Prosecution Charges Embezzlement and Manipulation of Books in Numerous Instances, While Defendant Maintains He Was the Innocent Tool of Others.

From the amount accomplished during the first day of the trial of George H. Beddow, charged with embezzlement, misapplication of funds and making false entries in the books of the First National Bank of Ironwood, and the vast amount of evidence to be submitted, judging from the statements of the attorneys for both sides, the case will not go to the jury for a week at least, and possibly longer. All of yesterday was occupied in the hearing of the opening arguments of W. K. Clute, assistant United States district attorney, and of M. M. Riley, chief counsel for the defendant.

Mr. Riley is assisted in the defense by Arthur O'Neill, while at Mr. Clute's side sits Philip Tillinghast, receiver of the defunct bank, though as yet he has taken no active part in the proceedings. Mr. Beddow, the defendant, sits at the side of his lawyers and is following the proceedings closely. During Mr. Clute's outlining of the government's case, he took copious notes. His manner is composed and self-collected and a stranger could scarcely tell which of the men at the attorney's table was the one against whom action is brought. Mrs. Beddow, a comely and neatly dressed young woman, is also a regular attendant at the trial and thus far has borne up bravely.

While the trial is in progress, the jurymen will be allowed their liberty when court is not in session. Judge Denison yesterday cautioned them not to talk about or listen to any discussion of the merits of the case, and not to read newspaper accounts of the trial proceedings. He asked that any attempt to prejudice any of the men at the jurymen's table was the one against whom action is brought. Mrs. Beddow, a comely and neatly dressed young woman, is also a regular attendant at the trial and thus far has borne up bravely.

Box Will Be Important.

From the opening arguments of the attorneys, it appears that the safety deposit box, which the defense asked for possession of and was refused Tuesday, will play an important part in the trial. Mr. Beddow's attorneys hold that the box contains only private effects and personal papers, belonging to Mr. Beddow, Bank Examiner Logan having at one time taken therefrom all the documents belonging to the bank. This box is now in the possession of Receiver Tillinghast, while Beddow has the key to it. Mr. Tillinghast refuses to surrender the box, on the ground that he believes it to contain assets of the bank. The government officers have agreed to allow Beddow to open the box in their presence and make copies of its contents (the government officers, of course, to have the same privilege) but this Mr. Beddow's attorneys flatly refuse to do. Attorney Clute holds that this box contains further proof of Beddow's guilt, while, on the other hand, Mr. Riley declares this box contains Beddow's private property, the nature of which is none of the government's business.

Review of Indictment.

In opening the case to the jury, Assistant District Attorney Clute reviewed the seven counts of the indictment returned by the grand jury, in which three distinct offenses are charged, namely: Embezzlement, misapplication of funds and making false entries on the books. Mr. Clute stated that in addition to the specific acts mentioned in the indictment, that the government would offer to prove many other fraudulent transactions. He further said that the government would show that an agreement existed between the defendant and E. T. Larson, by which credits were abstracted from the bank, and the depositors and stockholders thereby defrauded. A series of transactions alleged to have taken place from April, 1908, to June, 1909, were described by Mr. Clute, his explanation making it appear that at various times the bank's books and funds were manipulated and misapplied by Beddow to the advantage of Beddow and Larson. Mr. Clute went into a large number of these alleged crooked transactions very minutely, and had not concluded his remarks when the noon recess was taken.

The government prosecutor spoke for an hour after dinner, and outlined the events immediately preceding the closing up of the bank. With reference to Beddow's part in these events, Mr. Clute said that the government would produce in evidence a paper, signed by Mr. Beddow, in which the latter admitted some of the illegal transactions ascribed to him in the assistant district attorney's story of the Ironwood bank failure and the events that led up to it.

At the conclusion of Mr. Clute's address, Attorney Riley, for the defense, objected to further consideration of the case. His argument was that E. T. Larson had pleaded guilty to all the offenses charged against Beddow, and that if any offenses had been committed by Beddow, he had simply aided and abetted Larson, and should have been indicted as an accessory, rather than principal, to the misdemeanor or crime.

Judge Denison overruled the objection and ordered the trial to proceed in the regular way.

Upon being overruled on this point, Attorney Riley surprised nearly everyone by announcing his readiness to present the case of the defendant to the jury, it being the usual custom to reserve this statement until after the direct evidence of the prosecution has been submitted. Mr. Riley began by telling the life story of the defendant, Beddow, his evident purpose being to show that up to the time he entered the employ of the bank his character had been unimpeachable, and that his only knowledge of banking was the knowledge obtained while in the employ of the Ironwood bank.

Bank Insolvent for Years?

As far as the Ironwood bank was concerned, Mr. Riley declared that he proposed to show that it had been insolvent since its inception, and that it had been the custom for years before Beddow became a bookkeeper there to manipulate the books to cover up illegal transactions. In this connection, Mr. Riley made a startling attack on E. T. Larson, the founder of the bank and for many years its president. He claimed the defense would show that a note signed by Hayes Bros. became the property of the bank and that remaining unpaid for a long time, it was charged to the account of the bank. Some time later, the Hayes Bros. paid this note to Mr. Nelson, but the bank never received any of the money, said Mr. Riley. Several other transactions equally fraudulent under the construction placed upon them by Mr. Riley, were cited. All of this was to show that much of the business of the bank had been fraudulently conducted for years before Beddow had any connection with it, and that he served his apprenticeship under that same kind of banking.

"The statements of Mr. Riley, reflecting discredit on me as a former officer of the Ironwood bank, are absolutely untrue," declared Mr. Nelson last night, after court had adjourned. "In the Hayes Bros. matter, for instance, when the bank examiner objected to certain securities the bank held, and ordered a 50 per cent assessment on the stockholders to offset this bad paper, Mr. John and myself bought the Hayes Bros. note and replaced it with the required 50 per cent assessment, amounting to $25,000. This Hayes note was then the personal property of Mr. John and myself, and when it was paid, we took the money of course. The other alleged illegal transactions are just as easily explained, and as far as the bank is concerned, I have never misappropriated a dollar during the long period I was connected with that institution."

Beddow a Tool of Others.

Mr. Riley further stated that the defense expected to show that whatever entries had been made in the books of the bank by Beddow had been made with the authority and at the direction of either Mr. Larson or Mr. John and that Beddow had no intent or knowledge of wrongdoing when he made such entries. He said it would be proven that Messrs. John and Larson had conducted an illegal speculative business for themselves and their customers, and that at times Beddow's name had been used to cover up their hands and part in the deals. Mr. Beddow did these things, Mr. Riley declared, because he was ordered to do so by his superiors, supposing that it was his duty and one of the conditions of his employment.

Some of the entries alleged to be in Beddow's handwriting, he declared, were forgeries, and in proof would show that when some of the entries were made Beddow was not in Ironwood at all but was absent on a vacation. He further said that evidence would be introduced to show that Mr. John had said to several persons that Beddow was absolutely innocent of any intentional wrongdoing, and ignorant of the methods by which John and Larson were peculating the funds of the bank.

Finally, Mr. Riley said the defense would show that Larson had pleaded guilty to every offense charged against Beddow and that inasmuch as Larson was guilty of these offenses, Beddow, too, could not be guilty of those identical offenses, under the form of the indictment. Court then adjourned until this morning.

CHICAGO INVADERS PUT IN BUSY DAY

Excursion on Theodore Roosevelt Last Night Climax to Their Marquette Visit.

As a climax of a busy day the trade expansionists of the Chicago Association of Commerce last night acted as hosts to the people of Marquette in what was undoubtedly the largest excursion ever out of this port. When the Theodore Roosevelt departed away from the dock shortly after the scheduled hour, 7:15 o'clock, last evening, with all her bunting flown to the main breeze and all of her myriad lights ablaze, she carried nearly 3,000 passengers.

The movement to the steamer began shortly after six o'clock and continued until it seemed as if it would be impossible to take on more people, but as a matter of fact the crowd fell some hundreds short of her capacity. For half an hour before the leaving time people came in a solid stream. But they were quickly swallowed up in the roomy interior of the boat, and there was not much unpleasant crowding at the gangways.

The excursion was an interesting and enjoyable one for the party. The night was most favorable. The air was mild and a new moon shone in the sky. While she was in the inner harbor the topmost deck of the steamer was the most popular place of rest and a person who endeavored to make his way from bow to stern on it was persuaded that fully three-fourths of the merry-makers must be gathered there. But when the Theodore Roosevelt got fairly out in the lake the wind was rather strong and there was a general scurrying from this exposed point to the more sheltered decks.

There was dancing on the lower deck to music furnished by an excellent orchestra, and a display of screen pictures of well-known Chicago scenes on the cabin deck. The crowd, for the most part, was unwilling to remain in one place for long and there was constant movement fore and aft and up and down the big steamer. The people gave every evidence of greatly enjoying themselves. The members of the association left nothing undone to make their evening a pleasant one.

The Theodore Roosevelt was sailed north some miles beyond Presque Isle and about two hours elapsed from the time she left the dock until she was again tied up, and the great crowd began to disperse. At 10 o'clock, while the steam calliope played "Auld Lang Syne" and other appropriate airs, and while the bomb batteries fired parting salutes, she sailed for Ashland, the next port of call, and many people watched her graceful outlines, marked out by electric lights, fade out into the night.

The Day in Marquette.

The Theodore Roosevelt made a noisy entry into Marquette harbor, about a half hour late, at 12:30 yesterday noon. To let the people know that the Chicago invaders had arrived a long continued aerial bomb salute was fired, the while the steam calliope read the air with many recognizable melodies of a popular nature. Immediately after the boat was tied to the dock several automobiles, carried for the use of the party, were run out, and in the course of the afternoon trips were made by many of the delegates to Ishpeming and Negaunee.

Most of the fifty members of the party spent the afternoon in the business district. Practically all of them have trade connections in Marquette and the business men were cordial in their reception of the representatives of the houses with which they have dealings. The visitors, however, kept trade matters in the background, as far as that was possible, as the purpose of their visit was to meet personally the business people of the city rather than immediately to push their trade interests.

Wherever they went the visitors were cordially received, and frank pleasure at the interest their visit showed in the region from which Chicago derives much valuable business was expressed. As is shown in another column, the visitors were impressed with the appearance of Marquette and the manifold evidences it offers of a solid and substantial growth.

SCARED INTO SOUND HEALTH.

Mr. B. F. Kelley, Springfield, Ill., writes: "A year ago I began to be troubled with my kidneys and bladder, which grew worse until I became alarmed at my condition. I suffered also with dull heavy headaches and the action of my bladder was annoying and painful. I read of Foley's Kidney Pills and after taking them a few weeks the headaches left me. The action of my bladder was again normal, and I was free of all distress." Sold by all druggists.
