SENATE ORDERS LORIMER CASE INVESTIGATED

Committee on Privileges and Elections Is Directed to Look Into the Charges of Bribery—Chairman Burrows Promises There Will Be No Delay.

By a Viva Voce Vote, the House Passes the Public Building Bill—The Session Continues Far Into the Night and Much Business Is Disposed Of.

Washington, June 20.—In the senate today, a resolution directing the committee on privileges and elections to investigate the charges of bribery made in connection with the election of Mr. Lorimer, of Illinois, was adopted. Senator Borah offered an amendment that the investigation be presented immediately. He said that expedition was necessary both in the interest of Senator Lorimer and the public. He meant no reflection on the committee, but Chairman Burrows interpreted his action as such. The amendment was voted down. Senator Burrows promised that there would be no delay.

Postal Bank Bill Considered. The senate considered without disposing of the proposition Mr. Carter's motion to concur in the house amendments to the postal savings bank bill. Senator Cummings contended that the measure was a radical reversal of the senate bill. He urged Mr. Carter to pursue the usual course of asking for a conference. The Iowa voiced special objection to the provision of the house bill governing the control of the savings bank system by trustees and the withdrawal of deposits.

Conservation received much attention, Senator Borah making an extended speech. Mr. Money suggested dealing the public lands to the various states as the best method of dealing with the land question. The senate reconsidered the vote by which it passed the land withdrawal bill, in order to eliminate the bond feature which provides for finishing irrigation projects under construction. The withdrawal bill was then passed. The bond feature, carrying probably $20,000,000, will be put in a separate bill.

House Sits Until Midnight. The public building bill, carrying $10,288,500, besides $3,095,000 for continuing contracts, was passed by the house at midnight tonight by a viva voce vote.

The so-called "pork barrel" was jammed through the house in less than an hour. The members were in gay, restless mood and they suggested that the clerk skip a few pages to expedite matters. When Mr. Sims, of Tennessee, declared the house running wild with ornate bills, he was greeted with ironic cries of "Lend!" "Vote!"

The speaker had a strenuous time maintaining order. There was constant conversing and laughter. The temperature was intense. The speaker caused a ripple of laughter by swinging himself in his chair with a disgusted expression while he suspended the proceedings until order was restored.

Homesteaders Benefited. The house also passed a bill allowing homesteaders to leave their claims until water is available.

A commission to consider means for the promotion of international peace is provided for by a resolution passed by the house. Among the many other measures passed by the house during the session of today were bills requiring all ocean-going vessels leaving ports of the United States and carrying more than fifty passengers to be equipped with wireless telegraphy effective in July 1911, making unlawful the wearing of the insignia of the American National Red Cross except with authority, providing for a commission to attend the centennial anniversary of the republic of Mexico and a bill to prevent minority stockholders of national banks from freeze-outs.

Naval Conference Report. The conference report on the naval bill was submitted to the house during the session. It provides for two battleships to cost $60,000,000 each, as well as four submarines, six torpedo destroyers and other small vessels.

Charles Hartger, of New York, and Secretary Penton, of the Merchant Marine League, testified before the house ship subsidy investigating committee today. The committee purposes to conclude the inquiry, so far as it concerns Representatives Steenerson and Kuesterman, who felt aggrieved under the league's attacks, by the time that congress adjourns, in view of the coming elections.

HOUSE PASSES THE BILL
RETIRING JUSTICE MOODY.

Washington, June 20.—The bill for the retirement of Justice Moody, of the United States supreme court, on account of continued illness, was passed by the house today.

The general deficiency appropriation bill, as amended by the senate, carries $7,945,072, an increase of $1,082,345 over the house bill. A large part of this is made necessary by the authorizations under the omnibus lighthouse bill.

GIANT LOCK AT PANAMA
WILL COST OVER $5,000,000.

Washington, June 20.—The contract for the giant lock of the Panama canal was awarded today to the McClintock-Marshall company, of Pittsburgh for $5,374,474.

VETERANS OF CIVIL WAR SHABBED AT NEW YORK.

New York, June 20.—The veterans of the Civil war were denied representation in the reception to ex-President Roosevelt by the committee in charge, according to General George B. Loring, chairman of the memorial committee of the forty-seven local G. A. R. posts. "Roosevelt is as sincerely loved by the veterans as any president we have had, with the exception, perhaps, of Grant, and he has demonstrated his loyalty to the Civil war veterans. The Grand Army was not in evidence, and not even a seat in the grandstand was tendered them," he said, tonight.

$700,000 COURT HOUSE
COSTS COUNTY $2,000,000.

Springfield, Ill., June 20.—Governor Deneen will be the principal speaker July 2nd in Carlinville, Macoupin county, at the dedication of the final payment of the bonded indebtedness of $1,680,000 on the Macoupin county court house, built forty years ago. The total, interest and all, has aggregated over $2,000,000. Builders of experience say the structure cost the duplicated for $700,000. Elmo Ritter, county treasurer, gave a check for $57,000 to State Auditor McCullough today, this being the final payment on the bonds, all of which will be cancelled and burned by the governor at the celebration. Former Governor Evans, of Missouri, and Congressman Graham of Springfield, Rodenburg of East St. Louis and Rainey of Carrollton will speak.

OHIO DEMOCRATS WILL MEET TODAY

Big Fight Will Come Over the Proposition of Endorsing a Candidate for Senator.

Dayton, O., June 20.—The Ohio state Democratic convention will open here tomorrow. The big fight of the convention will come when the state central committee meets to consider the proposition of endorsing the convention call to require the endorsement of a candidate for United States senator. W. J. Bryan has advocated this plan, and he is seconded by former Mayor Tom L. Johnson, of Cleveland, and his supporters. Governor Judson Harmon is opposed to the endorsement proposition. The indications are that the plan will be defeated. Governor Harmon has no opposition for a renomination to a second term.

GOVERNOR HUGHES URGES IMPORTANT LEGISLATION.

Albany, N. Y., June 20.—Governor Hughes sent a special message to the legislature, which convened in extraordinary session today, in which he recommended the enactment of a law making suitable provision for the direct nomination of candidates and an amendment to the resolution providing for an investigation into the alleged corrupt and improper practices in connection with legislative elections, so as to give the committee ample authority.

COLONEL ROOSEVELT AT HIS DESK AGAIN

After a Single Day's Rest, He Takes Up His Work as an Editor of Outlook.

New York, June 20.—Theodore Roosevelt began today the life he had chosen for himself as a private citizen. He has his own ideas of what the country shall do with its ex-presidents and, after a single day's rest, he took up his work today as a contributing editor of Outlook. Not even the fact his son was to be married this afternoon detained him from his desk.

The dispatch boat Dolphin brought him to New York early from Oyster Bay; he came as the guest of Secretary of the Navy Meyer. He went directly to his office and immediately plunged into a mountain of correspondence. Two hours later he appeared on the street and was recognized by the crowds. Before he had walked half a block he was followed by a throng that blocked the sidewalk.

Buys a Straw Hat. The sun was beating down fiercely, making it difficult to see. The colonel, plunged for a letter's at a speed that made the crowd behind him run to keep up.

As he passed the offices of the publishing house that will bring out his forthcoming book on his hunting trip, the former president framed a tall portrait of himself, framed in red, white and blue. "That's a dandy, isn't it?" was his comment.

It took the colonel two minutes to take a wide-brimmed straw hat with a black band. Then he footed it with the same amazing speed to his office again. Editor Roosevelt's business headquarters will be on the seventh floor of the United Charities building, Fourth avenue and Twenty-second street, where he has a suite of three rooms.

Rooms Furnished Magnificently. On the entrance door appears the legend in gilt letters, "Office of Theodore Roosevelt." The rooms are furnished magnificently. The suite comprises a room for Mr. Roosevelt's secretary, a waiting room and Mr. Roosevelt's own room. The furniture is of mahogany and the desk is a reproduction of George Washington's desk at Mount Vernon. A rich rug covers the polished parquetry of the floor. Pictures of Washington and Lincoln and a copy of the Declaration of Independence hang on the bronze burlap wall.

If it should prove that visitors are too insistent, there is an auxiliary exit by which Mr. Roosevelt may escape through a hidden wall to the street.

STATEHOOD BILL A LAW.

Washington, June 20.—President Taft signed the statehood bill this afternoon.

PUT MANY WITNESSES ON STAND

Lawyers for the Defense at the Trial of Lee O'Neil Browne Seek to Exalt the Prisoner and Discredit Representative White, His Accuser.

A Flurry Is Produced When a Clergyman Speaks to a Juror—A Heated Debate and an Excited Colloquy Also Add Interest to the Proceedings.

Chicago, June 20.—Fighting each step of the way to discredit Representative White and exalt Lee O'Neil Browne in the eyes of the jury, the lawyers for the defense placed nearly thirty character witnesses on the stand today in the trial of Browne, the legislative leader who is accused of bribery in connection with Wm. Lorimer's election to the United States senate. The majority of the witnesses were from Ottawa, Ill., Browne's home town. Among these were Rev. Father Thomas H. Keating, Marengo Leland, a banker; Henry May, postmaster; Alfred Schock, banker, and T. J. Nerney, capitalist.

Priest Speaks to Juror. As Father Keating stepped down from the witness stand, he walked inside the jury railing instead of using the passage outside the lawyers' tables. Judge McSweeney precipitated a sensation by suddenly hurling this question at the clergyman: "Did you talk to one of the jurors then?"

"Yes," replied the priest. "I just said that this was the first time I had ever been in a courtroom."

"Well, it was very improper," declared the judge. "We will drop the matter, although it is against all court rules."

Opposing Lawyers Clash. As State's Attorney Wayman was examining Catherine Woods, a St. Louis stenographer, Attorney O'Donnell, for the defense, interrupted.

"Sit down, I tell you," shouted Mr. Wayman.

"I don't have to sit down for you. Who do you think you are? Do you think you own the court room?" roared O'Donnell.

During the examination of William Russell, formerly a lobbyist for the machinists, Mr. Wayman and Attorney Erdstein, for the defense, engaged in a heated debate.

"Why were you so friendly to Browne?" Mr. Erdstein asked Russell.

"Because he is the best friend that labor ever had," said Russell. Mr. Wayman shouted an objection to the answer, but the judge allowed it to go on record.

"Was Charles A. White a friend of labor?" Mr. Erdstein asked.

"Amid vehement objections from Mr. Wayman, Russell declared: "You bet he was not." This answer was ruled out.

Attorney Forrest, for the defense, announced that he had the name of a Chicago man who aided White to get up his history and confessing of the alleged legislative bribery. Browne will probably take the stand tomorrow.

Burke Still Tracing the Fish Fund. Springfield, Ill., June 20.—State's Attorney Burke today received a telegram from Louis B. Hirschelmer, of Pittsburgh, stating that Hirschelmer would be here Wednesday to confer with him. Hirschelmer, according to the views of Mr. Burke, is in a position to give valuable testimony relating to the fish fund. Hirschelmer said that the president of the St. Nicholas Hotel was here at the time the fish bill fund was turned over to Frank Traut, of Beardstown.

Attorney F. W. Potter of Henry, who is said to have acted in the capacity of lobbyist for the fishermen, will be before the jury tomorrow. Mr. Burke allowed it to be inferred today that he may call before the jury certain attorneys who have been active during the progress of the investigation in calling upon witnesses summoned to appear before the jury.

FOUR STUDENTS EXPELLED FROM THE TAFT SCHOOL.

Watertown, Conn., June 20.—For decorating with their school colors and flags and evergreens the large granite soldiers' memorial shaft in the middle of the town, John Garfield, son of former Secretary of the Interior James Garfield; Harry Crocker, of San Francisco; and Frank Andrews and John Dunham, both of New York, were expelled from the Taft school tonight by Horace Taft, the principal, who is a brother of President Taft. Mr. Garfield was to have graduated next week.

KAISER WILLIAM WILL ATTEND THE REGATTA AT KIEL.

Potsdam, June 20.—Emperor William has so far recovered from the incision of the sore knee joint, occasioned, according to the court physicians, by over-exercion in the saddle, that he decided today to attend the yachting regatta at Kiel.

Detroit, June 20.—President Taft, at Washington, tonight pushed the button formally opening Detroit's industrial exposition.

MEXICO PUTS DOWN THREATENED REVOLT

Smuggled Arms and Ammunition Are Seized and Hundreds of Arrests Are Made.

Cananea, Mex., June 20.—The premature discovery of smuggled arms and ammunition, followed by the arrest of the leaders of the discontented faction and the proclamation of martial law in Cananea and other border towns, probably has checked and discouraged a serious outbreak against the Mexican government scheduled to take place election day, June 26.

The revolutionary movement originated among a vote-chamber of northern Mexico, followers of General Bernardo Reyes, now in Europe, and of Senor Madero, candidate for president. Dealers at Bisbee, Douglas and Naco, Ariz., have sold all the rifles and ammunition they had in stock. The police are conducting a house-to-house search for arms in all border towns. Hundreds of arrests have been made throughout Sonora state and many leaders have been deported. The troops have been ordered to disperse any gathering of fifty or more.

WHEAT PRICES SCORE SENSATIONAL ADVANCE

Crop Outlook Called the Worst in Ten Years—Stock Market Is Affected Adversely.

Chicago, June 20.—With a crop outlook declared by one authority to be the worst in ten years, wheat today closed 4% to 6% higher than a week ago. The finish was strong and at the topmost point of the day. Compared with Saturday's closing, there was a net gain of 2% to 3%. The sensational rise resulted because the showers, which on Saturday broke the market, proved to have been unimportant; the weather was hot and dry Sunday, and complaints from the spring wheat states today were the blackest this season. It was from the president of one of the leading elevator companies operating in North Dakota and Minnesota that the information came as to the outlook being the most discouraging in a decade, according to his judgment, and the market was a sort of balloon ascension affair right from the start. The commission houses found a surprising volume of buying orders on hand, with apparently the spring wheat market in a state of panic. The wheat market today was very few and slight. In one instance the chief cause was profit-taking. The September delivery opened at 91% to 92% and closed at 91%. The July left off at 95%.

The corn states, as well as those in the spring wheat belt were said to need rain. The trade in corn, however, was mainly under the influence of the excitement in the larger pit. The close was strong, 1% to 1% higher, the September at 80% to 81% and the July at 50% to 51%. The oats market was higher, the crop complaints, as well as because of the advance in wheat. It closed 1 1/2% to 1% higher, the September at 37% and the July at 38%.

Stock Market Continues Dull. New York, June 20.—The operators in stocks choose for the central subject of consideration today the signing by President Taft of the railroad bill. The crop prospects into view as a controlling factor and interrupted the influence of the railroad bill. There was only a slight increase of animation in the speculation, as is evidenced by the meager advance in the day's transactions, but the last prices of the day generally were the best.

The favorable affect on the tone of the market of the disposition of the railroad legislation may be due simply to the feeling of relief that it is out of the way. The more immediate influence of the bill in the stock market comes from the fact that its passage will be made the signal for renewed notices of intended increase in freight rates. Dry weather with too great heat in the Northwest over Sunday, which continued to dry and resulted in an active demand for wheat reported from that region, carried the disagreeable intimation that the crop is still subject to harmful contingencies in contrast with the lately prevailing confidence in the outcome of the harvest. The jump in wheat checked the slowly rising tendency of the prices of stocks, but without providing stronger influence on the grain or stocks in the general list. Iron producers seem to be making concessions still to secure the larger volume of orders which are reported. Copper also showed another decline in prices in London today.

Hot Blasts Killing Wheat. Chicago, June 20.—Private reports of the weather conditions as affecting the spring wheat country of the Dakotas and Minnesota hinted of sensational developments today. A report by one of the best known experts said that the crop has deteriorated 15 per cent in North Dakota during the last week. Should another week elapse without general rains in that region it is said that the damage will be so severe as to verge on the sensational.

The Weather

Johnson, himself, was the recipient of the news, but he refused to divulge where the information came from.

Johnson expected to leave for Reno Thursday, but will wait until Governor Dickerson's attitude is definitely known. Pettit said, "Since the Governor Gillett affair we want positive information from the head man that he sanctions the fight before we begin to travel."

The squabble between Johnson and his former manager, George Little, continues. Today Little said that he would bring suit against the champion tomorrow for $10,000, while Johnson declared that he would swear to a complaint charging Little with grand larceny.

ENGAGE IN MANUFACTURING.

St. Paul, June 20.—Magnus Brown, president of the Minnesota Wool Growers' association, announced tonight that the state associations of wool growers of Wisconsin, Minnesota, Wyoming and New Mexico have formed a co-operative organization and have obtained an option on a plant at Albuquerque, N. M. The object is to secure the highest possible prices for the growers. Mr. Brown said: "We will do all kinds of knitting and manufacturing. ## MICHIGAN WARDEN'S THRILLING EXPERIENCE

Wisconsin Fishermen He Had Arrested Maroon Him on a Sparsely Settled Island.

Menominee, Mich., June 20.—The story of the capture of a state official by men he had taken prisoners and of his being landed on a sparsely populated island in a weather-beaten portion of Lake Michigan where the waters of Green Bay empty into the lake is that told here today by Michigan Deputy Wardens J. B. Eddy and G. E. Pettit.

Eddy came home from Menominee Saturday night from a chase after an escaping Wisconsin fishing boat to report to Lansing the kidnapping of Warden Pettit. Late today Pettit was brought to Menominee, having been taken off Chambers island, where he was marooned by the Wisconsin fishermen, by another fishing boat.

The Michigan authorities believe they are unable to cause the re-arrest of the Wisconsin fishermen, whose names they refuse to give out. The Michigan wardens expect to get revenge by capturing the boat if it ever gets in Michigan waters again.

The game warden was seized when he was aboard the Wisconsin boat, which he had declared confiscated by Michigan and whose crew he had placed under arrest. The fishermen cut the line by which they were being towed into a Michigan port by the game warden's boat, and escaped.

Pettit spent several days on the island before he was rescued. He refuses to describe his experiences. He says that the boat which kidnapped him hailed from Green Bay. The boat had 400 pounds of fish, said to have been legally caught, on board when he boarded it, but the fish were supposed to have been disposed of quickly at Green Bay.

BRILLIANT WEDDING IN NEW YORK CITY

In the Presence of an Assemblage That Fills the Church to Capacity, Miss Eleanor Butler Alexander Becomes the Wife of Theodore Roosevelt, Junior.

Crowd Outside Is Held at Distance by a Detail of 100 Policemen—Rough Riders Conspicuous Among the Guests—Bride Receives 600 Presents.

New York, June 20.—Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., and Miss Eleanor Butler Alexander were married at four this afternoon in the Fifth avenue Presbyterian church. The bride and bridegroom knelt on white satin cushions for the responses. The bride's veil was handsome, but young Roosevelt said "I do" with an emphasis that brought many smiles.

The church was jammed. A detail of one hundred policemen held the crowd at a distance, to prevent the fingering of the dresses of the guests. Over the shoulders of the officers peered milliners and dressmakers, note-books in hand.

Miss Alexander was escorted to the church by old cavaliers of Spanish war days, and when she came out as Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., the former soldiers saw her safely to the reception given after the ceremony at the home of Mrs. Charles B. Alexander, aunt of the bride.

Rough Riders Witness the Ceremony. Conspicuous among the guests were forty-two Rough Riders in full uniform. Mr. Roosevelt decided this morning that it would never do to leave his old comrades out in the cold at his eldest son's wedding. Accordingly he sent out a happy call at the eleventh hour. The troops sat in the gallery. When the colonel had taken his place with dignity, he turned to look for them, and when they waved at him he waved back with boyish freedom.

The bride walked to the altar down a line walled with white roses and lilies of the valley. The pews, puffed and organ were decorated with roses. Mr. Roosevelt was with his wife and Miss ten and Archie. Behind them sat Mrs. and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth.

Mrs. Longworth wore a white chiffon gown trimmed with black and pale yellow, with a black and yellow hat and a profusion of jewelry. The bride wore a high-necked gown of soft white satin and tulle, richly trimmed with the duchesse lace which had been worn by the bride's mother and grandmother at their weddings. The bride was thirty years old and the veil fell to the waist.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Henry Addison Alexander, gave her away. The matron of honor was Mrs. Snowden A. Fahnstock, a friend of the bride. The bridesmaids were Ethel Roosevelt, the Misses Harriet and Janette Alexander, consins of the bride, and Jean W. Delano and Jessie Millington Drake. They wore legorn hats trimmed with pink roses. Their dresses were white chiffon gowns with points d'esprit fichus caught up with pink ribbons. The bouquets were of pink rambler roses, carried in arms.

Bride's Great Uncle Officiates. Kermit Roosevelt was best man. The ushers were George Emilen Roosevelt and Monroe Douglas Robinson, consins of the bridegroom, and George F. B. Roche, Hamilton Fish, Jr., Fulton Cutting, John Cutler, Grafton Chapman, Elot Chatler and E. Morgan Gilbert. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Henry M. Sanders, great uncle of the bride.

While the guests assembled there was orchestra music furnished by fifty pieces, all the selections for which were chosen by the bride, herself, an accomplished musician. Among the guests were Mrs. Russell Sage, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Alexander, John Burrows, the naturalist; Rear Admiral and Mrs. Cowles (Mrs. Cowles is a sister of Theodore Roosevelt, Sr.), Secretary of the Navy Meyer and Mayor Gaynor and Mrs. Gaynor. Governor Hughes sent his regrets.

There were six reported presents to the bride, but her husband would not permit a list of them to be given out. Those acknowledged by the donors were a diamond medalion from Mrs. Russell Sage, a diamond tiara from Mrs. C. B. Alexander, a silver set from Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Carnegie, an imposing silver water pitcher from President Taft and a gold vanity mirror from Mrs. George J. Gould.

Will Live in San Francisco. After the honeymoon is over the bridal couple will take up their residence in San Francisco, where young Roosevelt will enter business.

MARQUETTE, MICH., JUNE 21.

It is reported from Detroit that a former member of the legislature, Guy M. Miller, has announced that if elected again he will not be bound by the results of the primary election as to the choice of the people for United States senator. If Mr. Miller feels as he talks he should not be a candidate for the legislature this year, says the Cadillac News and Express. No matter what he may personally think of primary election decisions, the Republicans of Michigan have formally agreed that they would vote on the question as to their choice for United States senator and that they would abide by that vote. No candidate would feel privileged to accept Mr. Miller's vote if the Republicans of the state had decided against him. It is not probable that the Republicans of any legislative district in the state will give their support to a candidate to represent them at Lansing who is not willing to carry out a fair party agreement.

A PROMISE (?)
 Said ex-President Roosevelt in reply to Mayor Gaynor's address welcoming him home:

"I have been away a year and a quarter from America and I have seen strange and interesting things alike in the heart of the frowning wilderness and in the capitals of the mightiest and most highly polished of civilized nations. I have thoroughly enjoyed myself, and now I am more glad than I can say to get home, to be back in my own country, back among people I love. And I am ready and eager to do my part so far as I am able in helping solve problems which must be solved if we of this, the greatest democratic republic upon which the sun has ever shone, are to see its destinies rise to the high level of our hopes and its opportunities.

This is the duty of every citizen, but it is peculiarly my duty, for any man who has ever been honored by being made president of the United States is thereby forever after rendered the debtor of the American people and is bound throughout his life to remember this as his prime obligation, and in private life as much as in public life so to carry himself that the American people may never have cause to feel regret that once they placed him at their head.

This sounds very much like a promise that in whatever capacity the American people may need his services hereafter he will not be found wanting in willingness to serve them.

Those Democrats who are counting on electing the next president will please take notice.

LAND WITHDRAWAL.
 The senate has passed the bill which authorizes the president to withdraw from entry, sale, or settlement public lands pending the enactment of new legislation for the ultimate disposal of the same. A similar measure has already passed the house, and there seems no reason to doubt that the minor differences between the two bills will be speedily ironed out in conference.

Large bodies of land have already been withdrawn from entry. To make such withdrawals was the prime object of Mr. Pinchot. But the legality of many of the withdrawals has been open to doubt. Messrs. Garfield and Pinchot dismissed these doubts on the kind principle that the desirability of the end justified the means. But the present secretary of the interior, with the approval of the president, has been less sure that he possessed unlimited discretion. Indeed, the heart of the Ballinger-Pinchot controversy is the dispute over the legality of the acts of the department when Mr. Garfield was in charge. The subject matter of this dispute will be removed if the new legislation is enacted, for Mr. Ballinger has all along contended that he was willing enough to force out the explorer if it could only be shown to him that it was legal for him to do so.

But though the new bill will place conservation on a surer legal basis, it does not solve the problem that is so much discussed. Confessedly the bill is an ad interim one—merely a temporary stop-gap. After the lands are withdrawn they are not to remain indefinitely unused. The needs of an increasing population grow too rapidly to permit this. The coal and the minerals, the forests and the water powers must be put to use. It's not conservation that is the real problem, but distribution—sound and wise distribution—and as to this nothing has been done and little practically suggested. It is not enough to pursue a negative policy. There must be also an affirmative one, or quickly there will arise a force of public opinion strong enough to brush aside the negation now authorized. Conservation is well, but not if it implies non-use—a miser-like stowing away of natural resources whose development will contribute to human happiness.

A WISE RESOLUTION.
 Ex-President Roosevelt has announced that he is going to take a rest, and will not have a word to say on any public question for two months. He shows commendable wisdom in deciding to settle down and think a bit before he again makes himself a factor in the affairs of this country. The complexities in which the American people are involved call for the utmost caution in the man, no matter what his station, who proposes to assist in solving them. That our virile ex-president will have something to say concerning these later may well be taken for granted, and he displays judgment in giving himself some time to consider them carefully before taking a definite stand upon them.

When Bryan returned from his last trip abroad the people of this country were more enthused over him than they had ever before been. He had been graciously received and conspicuously honored in all the countries of the old world visited by him, and had borne himself so well that his countrymen of all parties were proud of him. He was accorded a magnificent reception when he arrived at New York, and his admirers counted confidently on starting a new movement to make him president with the tremendous demonstration therein in his honor as the initial step.

But they failed to take into account the stupendous vanity of the man, and the blinding effect on his judgment of that dominating trait of his character. He had come home loaded with crude ideas gathered abroad which he had not taken time to thoughtfully consider, and of course he wanted to exploit his new-found knowledge with the least possible delay, for the enlightenment of his countrymen. And before he had talked half an hour at New York following his debarment he had announced himself unqualifiedly in favor of government ownership of railroads—and blasted for all time his rehabilitated popularity.

Dewey came back from his splendid victory over the Spanish fleet at Manila to be received with a fervor of enthusiasm hardly less than that which marked the reception to Roosevelt Saturday. Never was a man more completely the idol of a grateful and admiring nation than was the heroic admiral when he landed at New York. The honor done him turned his head, and before he had recovered his poise he had done and said some foolish things, with the result that his popularity died in a day, and has never been regained, though as a naval commander he had won for his country a great territory, and struck a deadly blow to the naval strength of Spain, without losing a ship or a man.

In view of these examples of the danger of acting and talking indiscreetly when under the fierce light that blazes on a man whose deeds have focused the attention of a nation upon him, Mr. Roosevelt has displayed a rare wisdom in determining to keep his views and purposes to himself for the present. There is work for him to do, and he can afford to take ample time to think out his future course before taking the public into his confidence.

AN INJUSTICE TO MR. KELLY.
 A number of papers throughout the state are interpreting a recent statement of Hon. P. H. Kelly, defining where he stands as a candidate for the governorship, as a repudiation of the Warner administration and an announcement that he is hereafter going to make his appeals to the voters an arraignment of what these papers are pleased to designate as "Warnerism."

It is very doubtful if Mr. Kelly intended his remarks to be so taken. His work in the last campaign, more than that of any other man in Michigan, made Fred M. Warner governor for a third term. He is, therefore, more responsible than any other man in Michigan for the continuance of Mr. Warner in the executive chair for a term beyond the two terms which incumbents of that office are permitted to expect, under the custom of the party in Michigan. Not only that, but the very policies which Mr. Kelly claims credit for having been potentially instrumental in bringing to a fruition were essentially "Warner" policies, and had the support of the governor throughout the effort that was made to give them force and effect through legislative enactments.

This being the case, it would be repudiation of his own record as lieutenant-governor, on which he bases his claims to the higher office, for Mr. Kelly to now assume the role of an assailant of the administration of Governor Warner.

Nor is there any occasion for him to do this. On the whole, Governor Warner has given the state a very creditable administration of its affairs. He is charged with many things for which a system that he could not change, but which the people are at last determined to break away from, is responsible. It was not through any act of his that the state treasury was looted by Glasier. He cannot control the state treasurer now, any more than he could when Glasier held that office. Some of his appointments were not wisely made, but the same is true of every governor Michigan has had since it was accorded statehood. Many excellent measures have been enacted under his administration, and most of these during his last term. The tax laws have been immensely strengthened and the railway and kindred corporations are now paying into the state treasury more money annually than they ever did before. Passenger fare rates have been cut down materially, and the railroads are giving the people a vastly improved service. There is much that Governor Warner may justly claim credit for from the people of Michigan, and due credit will be accorded him when the heat and turmoil of the campaign now under way is over, and his administration is viewed squarely and fairly.

No, Mr. Kelly cannot repudiate Warner and his administration. He was a part of it, and need not apologize for the fact. For him to set out to do so would injure rather than benefit him. This he well knows, and in time he will doubtless show that his recent remarks have been misinterpreted.

A LITTLE DELAYED JUSTICE.
 "The disposition of men who make laws for the nation to seek facts and be guided by authentic information was never better illustrated than by the manner in which they went to the bottom of the powder proposition in connection with the naval bill at the present session," said a prominent member of the house conspicuous for his activity in army and navy affairs, says the Washington Post.

A year ago a great commotion was precipitated when the powder paragraph in this bill was reached, and charges were freely made that the government was the victim of extortion and unfair treatment. This resulted in placing certain limitations on the purchase of powder, which might have proved exceedingly embarrassing to those responsible for good results in the army and navy. Mr. Foss, chairman of the committee on naval affairs in the house, wisely decided, before the bill was prepared this year, to open up the whole question and get at the facts.

As the Du Pont Powder company, of Wilmington, Del., furnishes all the powder used by the army and navy, except that manufactured at the government plants at Indian Head and Dover, that company was asked to appear before the committee and give such information and answer such questions as might contribute to the general illumination of the subject. Col. E. G. Buckner, vice president of the company, responded, and the result was one of the most interesting committee hearings ever held in the house. The phase of the manufacture and cost of powder, and the policy pursued by the Du Ponts was taken up, thoroughly discussed, and much valuable information acquired. General Crozier and Admiral Mason, chief of the ordnance bureau of the army and navy, were present and gave to the hearing a dignity and impressiveness quite out of the ordinary, and before Colonel Buckner left the stand, informed the committee that all the statements he had made were verified by the records in their respective bureaus. When the bill came up in the house this year the gentlemen who caused the storm last year admitted that the information elicited led them to refrain from insisting on the restrictions placed on the purchase of powder at the former session.

It might be truthfully said that the dependence of the government on the Du Ponts, who have made practically all the powder shot in this country's wars for more than 100 years, was emphasized to such a degree by the information secured as to place that concern in the attitude of a quasi-governmental institution. Indeed, it is a fact, though not generally known, that officers of the army and navy are constantly on guard in the Du Pont factories, inspecting every step incident to the manufacture of explosives.

It developed at this hearing that while the price of nearly everything else the government is buying is increasing, the price of powder was decreasing, that paid last year being several cents below the limit fixed in the naval bill, and about twenty cents lower than other nations pay for the same powder. It was also shown that while the Du Pont company could supply the government's demands by operating one plant, the officials at the head of the ordnance bureau of the army and navy, to be prepared in time of war, insisted on the company operating three plants, thus necessitating the employment of four to five times the capital that would be required were only one plant in commission. The capacity of these three plants is five times the combined capacity of the two government plants.

The statement made in congress last year that the price of powder to the government during the war with Spain was increased by the Du Pont people was disposed of completely when it was shown by official records that in the midst of that war the Du Ponts had voluntarily decreased the price of powder three cents per pound. The records also established that while the company might have gone into the court's claims and secured $250,000 for the unfulfilled part of the contract made with the government when war was imminent, it canceled the contract on its own motion without making any demand in lieu of cancellation. Indeed, from facts elicited at this hearing it would seem that the Du Pont Powder company has gone to the limit of liberality in its dealings with the government. It might have charged hundreds of thousands of dollars for inventions, formulas, and processes which it presented to the government without asking compensation. These, worked out in its shops and laboratories, have resulted in savings in the manufacture of powder and wear on guns aggregating millions of dollars.

It developed that when Congress, three years ago, appropriated $167,000 to build a powder plant at Dover, the Du Pont people not only gave the government officials free access to all its plants, but turned over their blue prints to them so that when the factory was completed it represented every modern feature.

The committee was as much surprised as interested when told that the Du Pont company had recently expended $400,000 to obtain a new powder for government use, which a distinguished admiral says is the best asset this nation could have in the event of war.

LOWER STATE NOTES.

MUSKOGON—Thomas Hume has bought at auction the plant and business of the Atlas Parlor Furniture company for the sum of $20,000. Mr. Hume, up until a short time ago, was a stockholder in the company and was one of its heaviest creditors.

LANSING—Now that the school year is over State Labor Commissioner Fletcher is receiving numerous requests from parents for permits to allow children under fourteen years of age to engage in factory work. Without exception these requests have been turned down and the commissioner in his reply has mailed the petitioners a copy of the state law.

KALAMAZOO—No longer will crime pictures be displayed in the motion picture theaters of this city. The police commission has instructed the force to watch the theaters and in case a picture is displayed showing crime or that in any other way might be objectionable for children to see, to stop the show and arrest the offenders.

BAY CITY—Suddenly taking a notion to end his life, John Shephard, about forty-four years old, slashed his throat with a pocket-knife and then jabbed the blade into his abdomen several times. He was sitting in his little confectionery store at the time and it was while talking with a friend that the suicidal spirit seized him. He was taken to Mercy hospital. Although weak from the loss of blood it is thought he will recover. Shephard is unmarried and has been in ill health for some time.

BAY CITY—Daniel M. Shaver, formerly teller of the Lumberman's State bank of this city, has been arrested on a warrant charging specifically, that April 6, 1910, he defrauded the bank out of $3,000 by making a false entry. The officers of the bank have issued a statement declaring that Shaver's shortage totalled $24,205.06, that amount being determined by the state bank examiners, who have been at work on the bank's books for about three weeks. The amount was made good by Spencer O. Fisher, president of the bank, who gave his check for that amount. He also signed the warrant against Shaver. Shaver was arraigned in order that bail might be given. The amount was fixed at $3,000 and was furnished. Shaver is married and has two children. He has been in the bank's employ for the past twenty-two years.

DETROIT—It has developed that a common law marriage was the culmination of the kidnaping which set in motion the Detroit police and sheriff's departments, whose representatives searched all day for Josie Bonellita, supposed to have been taken from her father by a band of Italians as the result of a vendetta. Several men arrested in connection with the affair were released. Friends of Joe Leone, who came for his bride in a taxicab, assert that several volleys of revolver shots were fired because everyone was so happy.

TRAVERSE CITY—William Lindsay, convicted of securing $700 by means of a fraudulent deed, was sentenced to from one to ten years at hard labor at Jackson, Lindsay, whose home is in Warshaw, Ind., is said to have previously served a seven-year sentence in the Topeka, Kan., penitentiary for forgery. His wife and little eight-year-old daughter sat beside him all through his trial. It took the jury but twenty minutes to convict him.

GRAND HAVEN—Joe Conroy and A. C. Heller, two residents of this place, are home from a launch trip which they will not care to repeat soon. They set out in the Indian Joe, a staunch craft, and were some miles off Muskegon when the engine went wrong. There was considerable of a sea on and it took some strenuous work on the part of both men to keep the launch right with the wind. They worked all one day and all night in an effort to keep afloat and to get the engine going. During the next day the men drifted near enough to the shore to signal some fishermen and they were rescued, hungry and pretty well exhausted.

MASON—Arrested by Sheriff Chime for the theft of a horse from Dundee, twelve-year-old Delphia Simms declared that he had come so fired with patriotism at the Monroe Custer ceremonies that he stole the horse in order to run away and join the army. He said that he had intended to drive the horse and rig to Lansing, sell the rig, buy a saddle with the proceeds and then enlist to fight Indians, who had killed Custer. The lad's mother is dead and he does not know his father's whereabouts. He will be returned to Monroe.

SCARED INTO SOUND HEALTH.

Mr. R. F. Kelley, Springfield, Ill., writes: "A year ago I began to be troubled with my kidneys and bladder, which grew worse until I became alarmed at my condition. I suffered also with dull heavy headaches and the action of my bladder was annoying and painful. I read of Foley's Kidney Pills and after taking them a few weeks the headaches left me. The action of my bladder was again normal, and I was free of all distress." Sold by all druggists.

NO TRIFLING WITH ART.

"Pay a man to dab a little whitewash on a fence!" Mr. Davis snorted indignantly. "If I couldn't do fool work like that I'd sell out," he said. Mrs. Davis sighed, bringing the sign up from a deep well of experience. "You'll miss yourself all up," she protested, "and it will hurt your back—"

Mr. Davis laughed scornfully. "Just you watch me," he said, with confidence. Then he went out and bought a whitewash brush. He paid a quarter for it, and the dealer had tried to make him buy one for seventy-five cents. "Seventy-five cents for a whitewash brush!" Mr. Davis was so angry he steamed.

Then he bought a bushel of lime and went home. The lime was a fine powder when it came, and when mixed with water became a watery fluid with flakes of white on top. The lime stayed in the bottom of the tub.

When he used the new brush it shed hairs like a setter dog in summer, and, being wet, showed that it possessed two thin rows of hairs on either side and none in the middle. Also, when the whitewashing dried the fence looked in nowise different from its former ugliness. Mr. Davis considered. His back hurt. There was lime in his eyes and he was mad clear through.

He went into the house and found Mrs. Davis preparing to go down town, so he went back to his work. As soon as she was safely out of sight he headed for a negro shack he knew and resurrected Uncle Peter, who was seventy-six years old and had been whitewashing and doing odd jobs for seventy years. He turned the job over to Uncle Peter, who threw his brush into the alley, emptied the whitewash and procured $2 from him. With a wheelbarrow Uncle Peter disappeared and shortly returned with a barrowload of lump lime and a brush and set to work. Mr. Davis sat on the steps with his pipe and watched him work.

When Mrs. Davis returned her husband was washed and shaven and the fence was glistening white. "Why, you did do it!" she said. Her evident surprise nettled her husband. "Of course I did," he said; "I do all I set out to do."

"All by yourself?" inquired Mrs. Davis, admiringly. "Well," confessed Mr. Davis, "I got Uncle Peter to sorter help me."

"Oh!" said Mrs. Davis, and went in to take off her hat.—Galveston News.

BODY IS FOUND IN PORTAGE LAKE CELEBRATED CASE IN CIRCUIT COURT

Drowning the Fate of Bartholomew Harrington, Miss- ing Two Weeks.

The drowned body of Bartholomew Harrington, a laborer, was found floating in Portage lake yesterday morning. It was discovered by the crew of the steamer International, who notified Chief Voetsch. The chief located the body at the foot of Huron street and secured assistance in removing it from the water. It was taken to Krellwitz's morgue. Justice Cross summoned a coroner's jury and an inquest was held yesterday afternoon, the finding being that the deceased came to his death from accidental causes. Harrington was about fifty-five years of age and lately had been employed on the Lakeview road work. He made his home at the Michigan House, having been a lifelong friend of Proprietor Myers. He was last seen at the hotel at the supper hour two weeks ago Sunday. He left then, saying he was going to take a walk, and had not been heard from since. An investigation had revealed nothing regarding his movements since that time and it is believed he fell into the lake shortly after leaving the hotel. Harrington was fifty-one years of age. He was born in Detroit, but was raised in Huron town and had lived there and in Houghton for more than forty years. His parents are buried at Forest Hill and he had no living relatives here. It is believed he has a sister in Detroit and an effort is being made to communicate with her. Pending the result of this effort the body will be held at the morgue.

HAS SETTLED WITH STATE. County Treasurer Rashleigh Turns Over $281,767.29.

County Treasurer Edgar Rashleigh returned yesterday from Bay City and Lansing. He had been in the former city as representative of Palestine commandery to the grand commandery meeting of the Knights Templar of Michigan. His mission to Lansing was to make a final accounting with the auditor general of Houghton county's state taxes for 1909. He turned over to Auditor General Fuller $281,767.29, being the last installment of the county's total tax of $478,727.16. Mr. Rashleigh says that lower Michigan is rampant and almost raved with tax talk. Many candidates for representative in lower peninsula districts are making their headquarters on the tax platform. Mr. Rashleigh referred to an interview published yesterday with Tax Commissioner Shields and said that Mr. Shields' views on the necessity for sending particularly able upper peninsula representatives to Lansing this fall are based on good reasoning, because he knows the upper peninsula will have a stubborn fight on taxation matters.

ARE MARRIED IN HOUGHTON. Ernest G. Hawke, chemist of the Breitung-Kaufman mines of Marquette county, a resident of Ishpeming, and Miss Sophie Anderson, formerly of Negaunee and for the past year a teacher in the Houghton schools, were married in Houghton yesterday by Rev. F. P. Knoles of the Presbyterian church. They will live in Negaunee.

JUDGE HAIRE WILL SPEAK. Hon. N. W. Haire will be the speaker at Hancock's Fourth of July celebration. The Declaration of Independence will be read by Norman D. Starrett and Mayor W. Frank James will be the president of the day. The celebration parade will be one of the best ever seen in Hancock. The committee in charge of this feature consists of H. Z. Broch, Dan Crowley, Dr. W. W. Kimmel, Andrew Brain and Paul Ruppe. There will be a balloon ascension every hour during the day. Correspondence is now being conducted with Dorothy DeVonda, an aeronaut, and it is likely she will be engaged.

THE CONSERVATION OF NATURE'S RESOURCES. Applies as well to our physical state as to material things. C. J. Bindlow, Washington, R. I., realized his condition, and took warning before it was too late. He says: "I suffered severely from kidney trouble, the disease being hereditary in our family. I have taken four bottles of Foley's Kidney Remedy, and now consider myself thoroughly cured. This should be a warning to all not to neglect taking Foley's Kidney Remedy until it is too late." Sold by all druggists.

STILL HAVE THAT 1,000 PERCENT. The Double H are still the "big noise" in the Copper Country baseball league. The team still leads the league with 1,000 per cent, beating Hancock handily Sunday afternoon with a score of 8 to 0 on the Huron street grounds. The game was pretty good baseball, though the Double H did not have to extend themselves at any time. Charley Wagner held Hancock down to five hits, while the Double H connected with Hanson's slants safely ten times. Billy Mutter's three-bagger was the feature.

A Poor Weak Woman

As she is termed, will endure bravely and patiently agonies which a strong man would give way under. The fact is women are more patient than they ought to be under such troubles. Every woman ought to know that she may obtain the most experienced medical advice free of charge and in absolute confidence and privacy by writing to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, R. V. Pierce, M. D., President, Buffalo, N. Y. Dr. Pierce has been chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y., for many years and has had a wider practical experience in the treatment of women's diseases than any other physician in this country. His medicines are world-famous for their astonishing efficacy. The most perfect remedy ever devised for weak and delicate women is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. IT MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG. SICK WOMEN WELL.

The many and varied symptoms of woman's peculiar ailments are fully set forth in Plain English in the People's Medical Adviser (1008 pages), a newly revised and up-to-date Edition of which, cloth-bound, will be mailed free on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps to pay cost of mailing only. WIRELESS STATION IMPROVED.

The United Wireless Telegraph company is making considerable changes in its Calumet station. The plant is being made one of the most powerful on the Great Lakes, as it will communicate the great sweep of lake-between Marquette and Isle Royale. At the present time John MacDonald of Calumet is in charge of the station. T. H. Williams has gone to the Soo. He had been in charge of the Calumet station several months, and during the past winter turned out several Calumet boys as operators. Mr. Williams' assistant, Ed. Banks, has gone to Duluth to take charge of a radio station there. F. G. Moe of Duluth, who has been doing the improvement work at Calumet, has gone to Marquette to superintend the putting up of a station there.

JUDGE STREETER, CLASS ORATOR

Commencement Exercises of the Baraga High Schools Wednesday. Hon. Albert T. Streeter of Houghton will deliver the commencement address at the exercises of the Baraga High school Wednesday night. The following is the program: When Knighthood Was in Flower. Louis V. Gustin. Essay, Daniel Webster. On the Onset. Leona M. Stratton. Vocal Solo. Selected. Joseph L. LaFregue. Essay, John C. Callahan. The Future of the Superior & Pittsburg Property and what it will eliminate the necessity of endeavoring to develop any outside property as was done in the Courtland and Mammoth districts. The two companies would naturally receive with actual control of Calumet & Arizona out of this district.

FINE CATCHES OF GRAYLING.

Despite the many stories to the effect that the present season is a poor one from a fisherman's standpoint, some great catches are being made by Calumet sportsmen, not only up in Keweenaw county, but also in Houghton county and, in many instances, right close to home. This is about the first season that any large catches of grayling have been reported, but several elegant catches of this game fish, which was planted in copper country streams but a short term of years ago, have been made.

FRENCH SOCIETY REUNIONS.

A celebration of St. John's Day, June 24, will be held at Calumet next Friday and all branches of the French Canadian societies of the copper country will participate. Delegations will also be sent on Saturday to Escanaba, where the upper peninsula reunion will be held.

CALUMET ENGINEERS.

Company A, of Calumet, the only engineering company in the state, will be well represented this summer in all of the state shooting contests as ever before. The company will not, however, have three men on the state team in the national rifle matches at Camp Perry, Ohio, because of a recent regulation to the effect that only one company can have military organization, will hereafter be entitled to not more than two members, no matter how well any of the men may shoot. Although it seems that this is discriminating, the matter cannot be helped and the Calumet Engineers, who last year had three men out of the five men on the state team, and two of them among the twelve regular shots, will be able to send two.

Mining News

SUPERIOR & PITTSBURG. Property Is Said Now to Be Earning $100,000 a Month.

Superior & Pittsburg is now earning at the rate of $100,000 a month. It has secured several years ago from the Calumet & Arizona Mining company has been practically all repaid or will be in a few weeks. The Calumet & Arizona smelts the Superior & Pittsburg ore and were the smelter to give the latter company additional capacity, it would be necessary to enlarge the plant. It has been the general belief for some time that the stockholders list of both the Calumet & Arizona and Superior & Pittsburg companies were more duplicated than the Houghton, Hesperia and Superior & Pittsburg companies. The actual mine management, however, has been placed in charge of the Lewisols, with the present tonnage of the Ray Central property is estimated at about 15,000,000 tons. Mr. Channing himself stated some time ago that there was available in sight 7,500,000 tons, while in probable ore indicated by the drill holes on an area similar to that proven there were 7,500,000 tons more. Since that time Mr. Channing has not stated whether his estimate of probable ore was fully justified. The details of the proposed Ray Central mill have not been announced, but it will have a capacity of not less than 1,000 tons per day. This capacity will be increased should future tonnage figures warrant.

OLD DOMINION.

The decline in the shares of the Old Dominion company is directly traceable to the reduction in the dividend to the holding company from a $2 to $1 per annum basis. The smaller dividend is the result of a forced curtailment in output during the past few months by reason of inadequate hoisting facilities. A new hoist, however, has been ordered which should be in commission within the next thirty days when the mine will be in position to resume normal operations. At the present time it is costing the company about 10% cents per pound to produce its copper, landed in New York, but the management anticipates a reduction to ten cents this fall when, with a normal output, it is hoped to restore dividends of the operating company to the former basis of $1 per share quarterly. This, of course, assumes that there will be no further reduction in the price of copper. In the past three months the operating company earned a little in excess of the fifty cents per share declared as a dividend. In the fiscal year ended April 1, 1909, Old Dominion produced 24,417,712 pounds of copper at a cost of 11.25 cents per pound, the operating company showing a deficit of $41,947 after paying dividends of $4 per share on its 162,669 shares, of which the Old Dominion company of Maine holds 155,345 shares. The smelter output of copper for the first five months of 1910 compares with the same period of 1909, in figures, as follows:

amount of development work is being vigorously presented in the North Butte mines. Two shafts are being opened, development work on both the Edith May and Lewis veins prosecuted on the 2,000 and 2,200-foot levels and below the 2,200 level on the Edith May, as well as extensive development of the Cross vein, the remaining part of which was recently secured of contiguous property. This development work is disclosing additions to the ore reserves in the mines. The mine below the 2,200-foot level of the Edith May still continues to disclose high grade ore and the development work and the additional expenditure required for this purpose, the directors deem it prudent at this time to declare a dividend of thirty cents a share. A complete report of the mine development and analyses of the ore developed will be forwarded to the stockholders with the dividend checks.

drove a crosscut from about the 300-foot level of its workings on the Calumet conglomerate lode and opened the Osceola lode, but as it was poor at the point of intersection, no drifting was done upon it. The success of Calumet & Hecla in winning profitable copper ground from the Osceola lode warrants the hope that Wolverine likewise may open it at a profit.

Almbeck, with its Nos. 3 and 4 shafts, each bottomed now at a depth of about 900 feet and sinking at an average rate of about 100 feet monthly, ought to reach the Keastake lode by October or November as the Theis aggregate is at a depth of about 1,250 feet. It is doubtful if the rate of 100 feet monthly can be maintained all the way down, because it will be necessary soon to begin carving the shafts from their present incline of 80 degrees so that they will conform with the incline of the lode, which is about 40 degrees from the horizontal. Diamond drills will be installed at the new No. 3 and 4 shafts in order to "feel" ahead for the lode, so that the proper arrangements to put the curve in the shafts may be made.

CHENMUNG.

New financing for the Chenmung Copper company appears probable before the end of the current year. There are less than 100 stockholders and the bulk of the stock is held by United States Steel corporation officials. At the present time there is about $100,000 in the treasury. Development work at the rate of 150 feet a week is being pushed and there are now eight miles of underground workings. This property adjoins the Barro Mountain property recently purchased by Phelps, Dodge & Co. Formerly they owned one-third and bought the remaining two-thirds from N. Leopold of Chicago. The Phelps-Dodge people, however, are doing absolutely no development on the property, owing to metal market conditions. On the other side of the Chenmung property lies the Tyrone property which E. P. Earle, president of the Nipissing Mines company, has under option for one year. It is said that the Chenmung ores average 3 per cent to 3 1/2 per cent copper, while in one level 7 1/2 per cent ore has been encountered.

WOLVERINE.

The plans of Wolverine to explore for copper values on the Osceola lode are materializing. A diamond drill is being rigged up to undertake the work. There is very little overburden. Wolverine's property carries about sixty acres of the Osceola lode but has never tested its value. Many years ago the Centennial

One of his arms was broken and he was otherwise bruised but his injuries are not of a dangerous nature.

State Bar Meeting Here—According to an official announcement in the last issue of the Detroit Legal News, the annual meeting of the state bar association will be held in Marquette the latter part of July. Local attorneys for some time have been working for this meeting, but it was only on the visit of William J. Landman, secretary of the state association, to this city last week that the convention was assured. This is the first time that the association has ever met in the upper peninsula. A delegation of about fifty is expected from below the straits, and it is hoped that the attorneys of the upper peninsula will be well represented. While no formal arrangements have as yet been made, among the forms of entertainment under consideration are a whitefish dinner on the beach or a motor ride to Negaunee and Ishpeming. The meeting will be addressed by some of the leading legal lights of the state and nation.

BEDDOW'S TRIAL DRAGS ON SLOWLY

Most of Yesterday Was Occupied in the Cross-Examination of Herman Dietrich.

Apparently, but little progress was made in the trial of George H. Beddow in federal court yesterday and as yet there is no indication that the government is anywhere near the conclusion of its case. The cross-examination of Herman Dietrich, which was begun last Saturday, was not concluded until yesterday shortly after the noon hour, and but two other witnesses have been called, one of whom was still on the stand when court adjourned last night.

In cross-examination, Attorney O'Neill brought out from Mr. Dietrich that the so-called "Stanlake draft" concerning which considerable testimony has been offered, was deposited and accepted as a draft on Beddow by Mr. Larson at a time when Beddow was not in the bank at all but was away on a vacation. The draft as now exhibited in evidence shows the name of Beddow to have been stricken out and that of James Stanlake written in its place, in Beddow's handwriting, according to Dietrich.

Mr. Dietrich further testified that from July 2 to Oct. 21 the pass book of Mr. Brady, the Ironwood broker, was at the bank and that no entries were made in it during that time. The witness stated that it appeared from the books that Mr. Brady did not object to Larson neglecting to enter his deposits in his pass book. The witness said that Larson's individual account was commonly overdrawn from $7,000 to $10,000 and that Brady's account, according to the bank books, was frequently largely overdrawn, at one time to the amount of $14,000. This questioning was for the purpose of showing that Larson and Brady had an agreement relative to giving and receiving credit on stock transactions, but the witness denied any knowledge of such an agreement.

Determined effort was made by Mr. O'Neill to show that Beddow had told Dietrich in his first conversation after Beddow's resignation as assistant cashier that Larson got the stock which was charged to Beddow. The witness denied this, but said Beddow had made that statement two days later when he asked Dietrich to replace the Stanlake draft with a type written memorandum check. Attempt was also made to break down Dietrich's testimony in other important points, but the witness usually stood firm on his original statements.

L. C. Rogers was the next witness called by the government. Mr. Rogers was one of the men who audited the books after the failure and he merely testified to two pencil memoranda made by the auditors on the books while doing that work.

A. E. Bryan, of the National Copper Bank of New York, the bank correspondent of the First National of Ironwood, was on the stand when court adjourned. It was in connection with alleged remittances and drafts on this bank that several of the false entries charged to Beddow were made. Mr. Bryan has with him a mass of the records of the New York bank by which the prosecution would make it appear that the entries attributed to Beddow were bogus. Objection was made to his testimony by the defense on the ground that the books in evidence were not the original records and that the entries in them were not made by Mr. Bryan personally, but the objection was overruled. When court adjourned, Mr. O'Neill was endeavoring to show that the entries relating to transactions between the two banks were bona fide entries and represented actual transactions.

Grace George.

Grace George's gowns, worn in "A Woman's Way," which comes here Friday evening, June 24, are marvels of beauty, and the young actress carries them with a pretty style all her own. Her first entrance gown is a visiting costume of rich and costly white material, the foundation being a heavy quality of dull white satin. The Empire coat, which she later throws aside, is white satin heavily embroidered and ornamented, with designs in white chiffon velvet, outlined with white silk braid. It is three-quarters length, and the front is trimmed with eight large white embroidered buttons, four on each side.

The gown is directoire with a short train. The square neck of the bodice and short elbow sleeves are of soft white lace, with richly embroidered beads across the breast and shoulders. Miss George's hat is one of the new extreme shapes, a sort of a deep scoop, made of fine yellow Tuscany straw. It is trimmed with white Paradise plumes, and a wide white band about the crown.

Her dress in the second act is a beautiful house gown of palest salmon pink satin. The bodice of this is cut Princess-Empire style, with a sort of over-garment of white lace hung over the shoulders in broad bands, both back and front, and falling almost to the hem. These bands are a combination of heavy lace and pink ribbon, the broad center being edged with two-inch wide ribbon, and this again edged with lace, together making a band about twelve inches wide. At the sides, under the arms and across the hips, the two ends are caught together at six-inch intervals by pieces of ribbon about eight inches in length. The neck of the bodice is pointed both back and front. The bodice is trimmed down the front with beautiful ornaments of lace.

Miss George's dinner costume is of "The most ghastly superstition," Professor James said recently, "that afflicts its base in a ludicrous fact. It is like the case of Jones.

"Nonsense!" was the reply. "How could his wooden leg pain him?"

"His wife," the man explained, "hit him over the head with it."

WALL STREET STOCKS.

New York, June 20.—Paine, Webber & Co. say of today's stock market: "The stock market appears to be gaining strength each session. The feeling is becoming generally that an early adjustment of the rate question is near and more harmony is said to exist between the shippers and the railroads. The opinion is expressed that the controversy will be ended before the end of the week by a compromise agreement and although, of course, this is only a surmise, still there seems to be no question but that the contention of the carriers is receiving more consideration. The absence of aggressive outside selling is a most favorable feature during the present period of dullness and indicates that securities are well lodged. We still feel as expressed previously, which is, in effect, that the long side of the market presents greater possibilities at this time than the short, and that any early movement is likely to be in the nature of an upward swing."

BORAH SPEAKS AS CHAMPION OF WEST

Idaho Senator Denounces a Policy That Holds the Natural Resources in Idleness—He Is for Sane, Practical Conservation, Under Reasonable Regulation.

Washington, June 20.—"What we want is a sane, practical conservation policy, under reasonable regulation, permitting the development of our natural resources in accordance with the natural laws of progress and industrial growth," declared Senator Borah in addressing the senate today during the consideration of conservation legislation.

Mr. Borah spoke as the champion of the West. "It would be a magnificent scheme, indeed," he exclaimed, "to compel the whole great West to hold its vast resources in idleness, deprive its people of their enjoyment and use and compel them to pay tribute to the government for the privilege of using those resources of which you have taken possession here in the east and developed at your own free will."

Contending that it was a violation of every principle of the Constitution to withhold power sites from the use of the Western states, Mr. Borah inquired: "If Illinois or Massachusetts requires thousands or even millions of dollars as a revenue for their water power and Idaho receives nothing, but, on the other hand, pays millions into the federal treasury, there equality among the states?" He said that the contention that natural resources in a state belonged to all the people of the United States was all right in theory but that in practice it was utterly untrue.

"Our power sites do not in any sense of the term belong to the people of New England or New York," continued the senator. "They are to be utilized by those who make themselves citizens of the state and join with others in trying to hold up a commonwealth." He argued that it never had been the theory of the government that these resources should be utilized as a revenue producing proposition but that they were for the benefit of all the people.

"But," he said, "the people must come within the state in order for all themselves of the use and benefit." Mr. Borah said congress could not promote conservation by treating power sites, which to utilize was to conserve, as it did coal beds, which to utilize was to consume. As to the conservation of natural resources he said that after congress had adopted laws to prevent waste, extravagance and monopoly so as to insure their economic and bona fide use by the people, it was about as far as the United States government could go.

He added that at times there are ways shut," he the encouragement and aid of reforestation as that was something that could be reproduced. "Every water power site unused, locked up in idleness and inactivity when there are communities to serve, is an indication of a failure of human happiness and prosperity," he continued. "Every piece of land which will produce the necessities of life dedicated by law to nonuse, incorporated in a reserve and denied to settlement, is an extra burden upon every man who buys the necessities of life. Every year in which thousands of feet of ripened lumber are permitted to rot and fall in the reserves you are stealing something from the human race that belongs to it, and every year that the great and beautiful Pacific slope goes undeveloped it costs this government its extra millions to send coal around to the Pacific, burdens every citizen in that part of the country with exorbitant freight charges, and puts extra millions into the hands of eastern coal companies who delighted to see this go on."

Economic use and development should be the basic and fundamental principle of any conservation policy agreed upon or incorporated into law, said Senator Borah. "These resources are not to be idle, imprisoned and unusable. They are yours before the world, and as lawmakers we are inefficient, as administrators worthless, and that our citizenship is so brazen and corrupt that we can no longer do business, but out of sheer impotency, must shut up shops."

Senator Borah declared that any legislation upon the subject of conservation must be upon the basis that western citizenship was honest, law-abiding and intelligent; that western people appreciated the value of their resources and proposed to protect them; and that they were loyal to their states and to the nation as a whole. "The conservation policy which teaches the farmer the science of farming, how to vary his crops, protect them from insects and his stock from disease, how to make thirty-five bushels of wheat grow where only twenty grew before, which reforests those timber lands which will produce nothing but timber, which will adopt a policy of regulation and control admitting of use and development everywhere, is a true conservation policy," he asserted. "But the policy which withholds the agricultural land from production and industrial life which forces the citizen into a city or a foreign clime for lands, is not only short sighted and unwise, but it is a blunder, which, in legislation, is even worse than a crime."

"I prophesy that such a policy will be rejected in the end. What we want is more farmers and better farms, more homes and better homes," he added. "The West has her fight to make in the industrial world," said Mr. Borah, in conclusion. "She has to take care of her people and furnish prosperity for those who come among us. Taxes must be levied to sustain county and state governments. With one-third of our state

Jailed for Refusing to Work—

W. J. Embury, deputy sheriff at Garrettsville, has brought to the Mackinac county jail at St. Ignace Tony Meyer and Tony Torber, sent up by Justice J. A. Browning for thirty days for false pretenses. The Hudson Lumber company brought in a party of men, paying their way from Chicago, and the two prisoners refused to carry out their contract to work. The train are ahead their fare, but are out thirty days' time.

Child Is Seriously Burned—

While playing with matches at the home of the family at Lathrop, Delta county, Agnes Payton, five-year-old daughter of John Payton, was severely burned about the body. In making a heroic effort to save the life of the child, Mrs. B. Curran, mother of Under Sheriff T. J. Curran and grandmother of the victim of the accident, was burned about the arms and face. When discovered the child's clothing was ablaze and Mrs. Curran crushed out the fire with her hands.

Married Half a Century—

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Finnegan, residents of Escanaba for forty-five years and one of the most prominent couples included in that city's pioneers, have just celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding. They were married at Fort Atkinson, Wis., June 17, 1860. In 1865 they moved to Escanaba. The town then was composed of but a few scattered buildings and they have watched with interest the development of one of the largest and most metropolitan cities in the peninsula. Both Mr. and Mrs. Finnegan enjoy unusually good health. Eight children were born to the couple and all but one who died in infancy are living. The sons and daughters are: Edward W. Finnegan of Powell, South Dakota, William Finnegan of Escanaba, Jr., Charles Finnegan of Cooper, Puget Sound, John Finnegan of North Escanaba, George Finnegan of Duluth, Mrs. E. G. Bradbury of Duluth and Mrs. F. V. Hubert of Brack, Mont.

Burglars Cut Two Safes—

Safe blowers entered the stores of Stein Brothers and Breitenbach Brothers at North Escanaba the other night, and after blowing open two safes made their escape without being detected. Nothing of value was secured from the stores. The store of Stein Brothers approximately $100 in cash, a quantity of checks and jewelry were carried away. Both safes were blown, it is believed, with nitroglycerine and in spite of the explosion that ensued, the burglars escaped without attracting attention. The police officer on the North Escanaba beat was there throughout the evening and he holds that he heard nothing that resembled an explosion. The burglars were not discovered until the places were notified by the business. Chief Iverson has secured excellent descriptions of the two men who were seen loitering about North Escanaba and who are suspected of being the guilty ones. The officers at all surrounding points have been notified to look out for the robbers.

Village Administration Criticized—

An edict has gone forth that the provisions of the bicycle ordinance are to be enforced and hereafter any kid or adult caught riding on the sidewalks will be subject to a fine if one of the village sleuths get their clutches on the offender, comments the Newberry News. This is pretty tough on the kids, especially in view of the condition of our main streets, which are not fit for bicycle riding. Each succeeding administration for several years has been promising to fix up our main thoroughfares as soon as the village finances would permit, but apparently that time is never to arrive. Newberry avenue is to be macadamized when we get rich enough to stand the expenditure, but in the meantime the ruts and the sand get the kids deeper with each passing season and any reckless enough to drive a carriage through the streets faster than a walk is in danger of smashing his conveyance and dislocating his neck. There are not so many bicycles used about town that they interfere very seriously with the rights of pedestrians, and until some repairs are made on the streets the officials might give the kids a show.

Will Make Butter Soon—

The creamery which has been under construction at Garden the past five weeks will be ready to go into operation about July 8, and this will prove an important date in the history of dairying in that part of Delta county. The farmers and business men of Garden, Fayette and Van's Harbor have shown their interest in the enterprise by subscribing for stock, and the list of stockholders includes the names of a large number of the prominent citizens in that district. That the creamery will experience no difficulty in disposing of its product is evident from the fact that Manager Ewald has already received an offer from a New York house for the entire butter output at the highest market price. The price offered by the New York house is about ten cents a pound higher than the farmers are receiving for their dairy butter. It is expected that the by-products will find a ready sale in nearby markets. An experienced butter market has already been secured and he will report for work the latter part of the present month. The committee has ordered tubs, packages, etc., so there will be no delay as soon as the machinery is in place.

Many New Teachers Next Year—

There will be many new faces among the teachers in the Munnising schools the coming year. Superintendent Orville LaBounty, who for seven years has been the head of the schools, has declined to accept a reappointment and will engage in the mercantile business and in farming. Miss Evelyn MacIntyre, for the past eleven years a teacher, has resigned to accept a more lucrative position in the Duluth schools. Edward Fisher, who has taught science the past year, will probably accept a position nearer his home in Whetson, Ill., where he will spend the summer. Miss Mary K. Button, teacher of English the past year, will take up other work more congenial. Her sister, Miss Margaret Button, teacher of the sixth grade, has decided not to return. Both young ladies will spend the summer at their home in Hanover, Ind. Miss Ethel Worthington, of Houghton, instructor in one of the grades in the Central building, also will not return next year. Miss Julia O'Neill, another of the teachers, has been offered a position in a Detroit school. Miss M. Kilzabeth Walter, supervisor of music and drawing, will teach nearer her home

Still Another Fraternal Order—
One more fraternity has invaded the upper peninsula. Joseph N. Welsh, grand master of the grand chapter of the Royal Black Knights of the state of Michigan, a corporation, has organized a preceptory at the Soo which will be known as Chippewa preceptory No. 1. The following are the officers elected for the ensuing year: Joseph N. Welsh, Edgar J. Swart, W. McLaren Doig, John McGirr, T. Egan, J. Stanley, A. F. Arnold, Claude Christie, W. J. Brown, M. New Canal at the Soo—
There appears to be an impression that the present canal at the Soo will be operated in connection with the new lock excavation for which is now being made. This impression was no doubt gained by reason of the widening of the existing waterway. The fact is that the plan is for the construction of an entire new canal and the specifications for the west end of the work are now being prepared at the engineers' office and will soon be forwarded to Washington. It is not known just when bills will be asked for the work, which will involve an expenditure of half a million of dollars or more, but it is expected that it will be some time during the summer. The canal will be 300 feet in width with a bascule bridge which will be lifted when boats are passing. These lifts will be about 150 feet in length and over three times the height of the canal monument in Brady park.

Serious Accident in Factory—
W. S. Locke has been the victim of what might have proven a fatal accident at the cooperage mill at McMillan, Luce county. His clothing was caught in a bolt on a friction drive and before he could be released the flesh on his leg from the knee down was torn and ground almost to a pulp. Locke was thrown across one of the machines, which fortunately was idle at the time. Had it been running he would have met with almost instant death. No bones were broken and he will be able to be about again as soon as his wounds heal.
Will Meet at Ironwood—
The grand Temple of Honor and Temperance will hold its seventeenth annual session at Ironwood June 23, 24 and 25. About twenty-five delegates will be present chiefly from Houghton and Marquette counties. The boys of the grand section will hold their meeting on the 23rd and the grand temple, the 24th and 25th. Saturday evening the grand body will be entertained at the Armory by the Ironwood Temple, ladies of the Social temple and boys of the Junior section. There will be a short program, also addresses by the grand templars, Sunday morning they will attend service at the Armory, where Brother W. B. Coombe will address the combined societies.

CAMP MEETING A BUSY PLACE

Adventists Are Conducting Services on North Third Street.

The preparations for the Seventh Day Adventists' camp meeting, which have been going on the past few days at the Cleveland-Chiffs Iron company's vacant plat on North Third street, have been completed. The camp has attracted many visitors, especially on Sunday. There are about thirty tents pitched. Some of the campers have already arrived and many more are expected before the close of this week. Two large tents have been seated and fitted up for public services.

The first services were held Saturday, the day the Adventists observe as a Sabbath, and the meeting was well attended. Two services were held Sunday. In the afternoon the discourse was on "The Second Coming of Christ," as a present-day message. In the evening the topic considered was "The Hour of God's Judgment Is Come."

Subjects of special interest to the public are promised for the remainder of the meetings, and those in charge extend a welcome to the people of Ishpeming and the surrounding country. The Swedish services are in charge of Pastor Carl Stenberg, who is assisted by Elder S. Morfison of Chicago, in general charge of the Swedish division of the Adventist church in the United States.

The following English speaking ministers are present: Elder J. J. Irwin of Potosi; R. J. Bellows of Ishpeming; Pastor J. H. Nichols and E. F. Peterson of Houghton; Elder Allen Mason of South Bend, Ind., president of the Lake Union conference, comprising the states of Michigan, Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin, and Elder J. B. Blosser, general missionary agent of the same territory. Several other ministers are expected to-day. H. W. Johnson of Potosi, leader of the missionary work in the local conference, and other gospel laborers, are also present.

The Northwestern Michigan Tract society has a tent arranged for the display and sale of Bibles and publications bearing on a wide range of religious subjects. The society also has for sale some health foods. Meals are to be served to all who desire them at the dining tent, which is in charge of Mrs. P. J. Bellows of this city.

Public services are to be held each day at 10:30 a. m. and 3 and 7:45 p. m. The speakers present report the maintaining of a foreign mission propaganda of world-wide proportions. From mission statistics of 1907 they report one missionary to every seventy members, who contributed an amount equal to $5.63 per member to promote and maintain this work in mission fields outside the United States.

DEATH OF OSCAR FORSBERG.

Alderman in Fourth Ward Passed Away Sunday Night.

Oscar Forsberg passed away Sunday night at 11:35 o'clock at the family home, 110 Barn street. Cancer of the liver was the cause of his demise. Some three months ago Mr. Forsberg, who was in the employ of August Henriksen, the Cleveland avenue merchant, had to give up work. He submitted to a surgical operation at Dr. I. Lindgren's hospital, and remained there for some time, but later was taken to his home. His relatives and friends had realized for some weeks that it was a question of only a short time when he would pass away, as physicians gave no hope for his recovery.

The deceased had been a resident of Ishpeming for nearly twenty years and he was one of the city's best known Finns. During most of the time he lived here he was employed as a meat cutter and grocery clerk. He entered the employ of August Henriksen & Co. some six or seven years ago. He was married here thirteen years ago to Miss Carrie Simonson, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Simonson. He was thirty-seven years of age and besides the widow there are six children surviving.

A year ago last spring the deceased was elected alderman from the Fourth ward on the People's party ticket. The city flag was at half mast yesterday out of respect to his memory. He was a member of the Ishpeming tent of the Maces, also of the Ishpeming branch of the Knights of Kaleva. The funeral will be conducted at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

BRAKEMAN INJURED.

Employee of Northwestern Company Had Both Feet Taken Off Yesterday.

Albert Papin of Escanaba, brakeman on the Chicago & Northwestern Railway company's time freight, running between Escanaba and this city, suffered the loss of both feet yesterday morning at 3 o'clock. His engine had just finished taking coal at the sheds in the yards here and was backing out onto the main line. Papin was standing on the inner edge of the footboard, preparatory to opening the switch leading to the main line before the locomotive reached it. He struck a platform projecting out from the shed and was thrown off. He was unable to throw himself outward, and both of his feet fell across the track, under the main drivers. The wheels passed over the left foot at the ankle and over the right some inches below, practically tearing all of the flesh from it. His right foot was in such condition that amputation was necessary. Both feet were taken off between the ankle and knee. Papin and the operation exceptionally well and it was reported from the Ishpeming hospital last evening that his chances of recovery are excellent. He displayed great nerve and he was cheerful both before and after the operation.

Papin has a wife, and three children living at Escanaba. He is thirty-two years of age. His wife arrived in this city yesterday afternoon on the 4:30 train and will spend several days here. He is a member of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, and is very well-known in Escanaba, where he has lived for some years.

DEATH WAS INSTANTANEOUS.

Former Ishpeming Man Was Killed by Fall of Rock.

The Calumet Evening News of Saturday said of the accident which resulted in the death of James Olds, formerly of this city: "James Olds, a Tamarack miner, was instantly killed about 4 o'clock this morning through a fall of rock. The accident happened between the 28th and 29th level of No. 2 shaft of the Tamarack mine.

"The man was working in the winze at the time. It is believed that an air blast or blasting by miners in some other part of the winze in which the descending cage was caught by a huge mass of rock to fall away. Olds' back was broken and death was instantaneous.

"The unfortunate man was aged twenty-seven years, and is survived by a wife and five children. He resided at the No. 5 Tamarack location. Arrangements for the funeral will be made today.

"Coroner R. B. Rule was notified of the accident, and impeded a jury to inquire into the cause of death. A verdict of accidental death was returned."

The deceased will be remembered by many Marquette county people as having been a clever Cornish wrestler. For some years, before going to the copper country, he participated in many tournaments and he was usually numbered among the prize winners in the light-weight class.

It was decided not to bring the remains to Ishpeming and the funeral will take place this afternoon in Calumet. Relatives from this city who will attend the obsequies are James Olds and wife, parents of the deceased; William J. Robert, Edward, Joseph, George and Richard H. Olds, brothers, together with the wives of Robert and Richard; John Nanxarrow and wife, Captain John Skews, Thomas Atwell, Matthew Johns, wife and sons, William and Harry, and John Wills, the latter of Gwinon. Ed. Olds, who has been at Hibbing the past few months, came down from there yesterday morning on the 4 o'clock train and left a couple of hours later for the copper country.

The bride was attired in a tan traveling suit and wore a white Panama chiffon hat.

Following the marriage the groom and bride and their attendants went to Coleraine, where they were tendered a reception, followed by a wedding dinner at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. S. B. Forsberg. The parlors and dining room were decorated with ferns and cut flowers for the occasion. Intimate Government Building. Announcement in Yesterday's Issue a Surprise to Ishpeming People.

Ishpeming people were much surprised, as well as pleased, yesterday morning when they read in The Mining Journal's press dispatches that the omnibus bill now before the house calls for an appropriation of $75,000 for a federal building in Ishpeming.

Ishpeming is entitled to a federal building, and needs one for the post office, as the quarters in the Sellwood block are inadequate. As might be expected many people yesterday discussed various sites available, but it was hard to find two who would agree. To the general public it will matter very little where the building is located so long as the city gets it. There are a number of desirable sites within a block or so of the passenger station.

BANNER FISH STORY.

Duluth Fisherman Reported to Have Caught Thirty-Six Pound Whitefish. The report that a whitefish weighing over thirty-six pounds has recently been caught by Captain John Maloney, of Duluth, near Isle Royale, is causing considerable discussion among local fishermen. Whitefish weighing up to eighteen pounds have occasionally been caught here but the Duluth fisherman's prize is generally conceded to be the biggest whitefish ever caught in Lake Superior waters. The Duluth Herald of recent date contains the following, accompanied by a photograph of the big fish: "Captain John Maloney caught it at the north end of Isle Royale, after a stiff fight lasting over an hour. According to reports he was in a small launch and the fish not only yanked the launch about, but it nearly took the doughty captain with it. The captain is said to deny this part of the story. He is an expert swimmer and his friends declare that if necessity had arisen he would have jumped into the water and put a strangle hold on the bellows grand father of the little fishes that feed around the rocks of Isle Royale. "The big fish measures three feet, two and one-half inches long, twelve and three-quarters inches wide and five and one-half inches thick through the back. Captain Maloney is one of the oldest fishermen employed by the Booth interests on the lakes, and he never remembers of previously seeing a whitefish that weighed over eighteen pounds."

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.

Sealed proposals will be received by Edw. S. Rice, secretary of the Board of Education, public schools city of Marquette, Michigan, until 12 o'clock noon of Thursday, June 23, 1910, for the building and completion of an addition to the present school house in North Marquette. Plans, specifications and instructions to bidders can be seen at the aforesaid secretary's office, also at the office of the architects, Marquette, Michigan, and Milwaukee, Wisconsin. The right to reject any and all bids is reserved. CHARLTON & KIENZLE, Architects.

PROF. JAMES C. MONAGHAN.

Something About Noted Orator Who Will Speak Here Friday Night.

Professor James C. Monaghan, of New York, who will lecture on "How the Other Half Lives" in Baraga auditorium Friday evening, under the auspices of Marquette council, Knights of Columbus, has taken place on the faculty boards of Wisconsin and Notre Dame universities. For several years he was prominently identified with the consular service. He is a man of exceptional talent and a conspicuous example of the high type of Catholic citizenship. Considering his ability as an orator, Denis A. McCarthy, associate editor of the Sacred Heart Review, says:

"It is hard to tell accurately wherein lies the power of Professor Monaghan over his audience. It is not so much in the words he utters, though they are always distinguished by force and scholarship and literary flavor. Nor is it in abundance of action, where with some speakers seek to help out their delivery. Monaghan uses but little gesture. He stands for the most part with his hands in his pockets, or with one hand in his pocket and the other holding his glasses. He never saves the air or indulges in any school-of-elocution gymnastics.

"His physical appearance is not strikingly impressive. He has not the commanding presence of the old-time orators. He lacks the leonine head, the deep chest, the thunderous tone of the conventional western spell binder. His hearers sit up and take notice when he begins to tell, in his own inimitable way, some little story that has them all laughing before they are aware; and then, when, with a sudden change of manner, he grows intensely serious and, probing in keen flashing sentences; and when he drives it home with glowing eyes and terrible earnestness, then it is that his wonderful force and power begin to manifest themselves.

"There is only one way to account for the spell which he weaves over his audience, and that is genius. But it is more than genius. It is the power of the man who knows."

PASSED AWAY THIS MORNING.

Mrs. Emelie Caderette, widow of the late Ferdinand Caderette, who died about three years ago, passed away at 1 o'clock this morning at the home of her niece, Mrs. Henry Dupuis, 152 Rock street. Mrs. Caderette had been an invalid for more than seven years. She was sixty-eight years of age and for twenty-nine years had been a resident of Marquette. Her passing will be mourned by a large circle of friends. Mrs. Caderette is survived by two sisters and one brother who reside in Canada. The funeral announcement will be made later.

MUSIC LOVERS GIVEN AN OPERATIC TREAT

"Bohemian Girl" Successfully Produced Last Evening by Normal School Students.

Balfie's "Bohemian Girl" was given by the students of the Northern State Normal in the opera house last evening, before an enthusiastic audience that filled floor, balcony and boxes. The enthusiasm and concentrated effort of the cast and chorus called a vigorous response from the friendly audience, and, under such circumstances, it is no wonder that the performance moved with precision, despatch and swing to a triumphant conclusion. The tuneful and familiar melodies were welcomed by the listeners and the performance of them received much well-earned applause. That in the short space of two months so ambitious a work was carried out with such excellence, speaks volumes for the earnestness of both the directors, Miss Linton and Mrs. Rushmore, and the body of performers, one and all. Very few of the actors had ever appeared in public, and not more than two or three of the voices had ever received the slightest training. There were a few slips noticeable, but they were so insignificant that they only served to accentuate the splendid quality of the rest of the performance.

The chief honors of the evening went to Miss Flora Retallic, "The Bohemian Girl." She is well-known here for her charming singing and delightful stage presence, but she surprised even her warmest admirers by the fullness of her tone, her grace and sweetness, her command of stage technique and gesture. Round after round of applause greeted her every appearance, and every song had to be encored. The duets with "Theodorus" (George Belding) were among the most successful numbers sung, as the two young people made an attractive stage picture and their acting was convincing in its simplicity and naturalness. Mr. Belding was in many respects an excellent "Theodorus" and carried his role consistently to the end of the opera. His acting was at times very dramatic and was always effective. His voice, although very light, was true to pitch, and agreeable, and he shared with Miss Retallic the principal applause.

Not the least factor in the evening's enjoyment was the devilish made-up and actions of the gypsy band, especially their queen, Miss Creer, and their chief, Devilshoo (Mr. McKereghan), who seemed to be two of the least trustworthy customers one could imagine. Miss Creer's solos seemed chiefly to consist of declamations on one note with melody in the orchestra, but she was always properly intense and passionate and her acting was excellent. Her one melodious song, "Oh, Would That I Had Died Ever This," was encored enthusiastically.

Mr. McKereghan evidently took thorough delight in his part of "Devilshoo." His "business" when stealing the little Arline, and when investigating the mysterious of a dying being in the evening's enjoyment was the devilish made-up and actions of the gypsy band, especially their queen, Miss Creer, and their chief, Devilshoo (Mr. McKereghan), who seemed to be two of the least trustworthy customers one could imagine. Miss Creer's solos seemed chiefly to consist of declamations on one note with melody in the orchestra, but she was always properly intense and passionate and her acting was excellent. Her one melodious song, "Oh, Would That I Had Died Ever This," was encored enthusiastically.

Gordon Tucker as "Florestin" shared with Miss Creer the monotone solos, although where hers were dramatic, his were meant to be humorous. He sang very well what fell to his share, and acted as much as his part called for, or possibly more. It was a difficult part to make anything of, and he did well with it.

Mr. Mullaly as the "comet" was evidently struggling with unfamiliarity, not of the actual words involved, but the sentences behind the words. As far as the printed page was concerned, he was "letter perfect," and once or twice when there came a sentence he could feel he had a dramatic moment. He had certainly been most carefully coached and had learned equally carefully, and great credit is due him for what he accomplished. What he failed to accomplish was very clearly not his fault.

Miss Rutan as the nurse of the little Arline had a very thrilling scene which she carried through exceedingly well by gesture alone, not a word being spoken. The minor characters were filled by devoted souls whose ambitions toward the drama is humble but sincere, and they all did well, soldiers, gypsies and servants, gentlemen and hussies.

Too much praise can hardly be given to the chorus. They sang well, they acted exceedingly well, and the deadly solemnity usually the visible and unmistakable mark of an amateur chorus, was entirely lacking. In fact, at all times permissible, the chorus turned a battery of radiant smiles and gleaming teeth on the enraptured audience, and danced and swung with life and vigor.

The special dances added an attractive feature to the play, especially the tango solo dance by Miss Eleanor Rankin, which was re-demonstrated.

As was before stated, too much praise can hardly be given to the organizers and managers of the opera. Miss Linton directed the music and Mrs. Rushmore had charge of the stage action. Every musical phrase and stage gesture showed care and enthusiasm on the part of the managers and cast. Miss Davis at the piano did excellent work, being in thorough sympathy and understanding with the singers.

It is to be hoped that the great success of this year will encourage the Normal students to renewed efforts in the musical and dramatic lines already laid down, and that the commencement season of each year will produce some one thing that will prove of such value to them and of such pleasure to their friends and well-wishers as was this much-enjoyed performance of "The Bohemian Girl."
