CONGRESS ENDS BUSINESS OF LONG SESSION

President Taft Well Pleased With Accomplishment and Received Congratulations of Members, Cabinet Officers and Friends When Adjournment Is Taken.

Speaker Cannon Talks on Work Accomplished, Not Forgetting Fling at the Insurgents—Way Paved for Inquiry Into Charges Made by Senator Gore.

Washington, D. C., June 26.—President Taft walked out of the capitol at 11:00 o'clock last night smiling.

The second session of the sixty-first congress had just adjourned and he had signed practically all the measures placed before him. He received congratulations from the cabinet and from members of both branches of congress upon the successful passage of most of his pet measures. The president shook hands all around.

Each house marked the closing hour by voting for investigation of the Mc-Murray Indian contracts. Instead of the usual scene of comparatively undisturbed relaxation from business, both houses devoted serious attention to the charges of attempted bribery and other forms of improper influence made in the senate by Mr. Gore and subsequently in the house by Representative Murphy of Missouri.

President Proud of Record.

President Taft's comment on the work of congress is that it was manifestly impossible for all the public demands to be met at one session of the national legislature, but he is proud of the record made.

The achievements are, in fact, amazing, considering the time that was wasted in factional opposition to the economic measures demanded by the president. Mr. Taft has spoken regretfully, within a short time, of the failure of legislation on the important subject of injunction or, as it is commonly called, the anti-trust bill. But he expressed himself as appreciative of the splendid work of congress and its sympathetic attitude toward him in the closing days of the memorable session. The administration had a close call on several of its important measures, but it made a "Garrison finish" under the whip and spur of the man who had suffered for several months criticism as a placid and unmagisterial president.

A Billion Dollar Congress.

This, the first congress, has spent, it is estimated, $1,024,000,000. Representative Taft, chairman of the committee on appropriations, says that these figures are too high, and that the result will show that more was spent by the second session of the sixty-first congress. Unofficially, the $1,075,000,000 is a record breaker, as the highest previous expenditure was by the last session of the sixtieth congress, when the total was, in round numbers, $1,070,000,000. But the day has long gone by when the public was amazed by the expenditure of a billion or so at any particular session of congress.

The house conference finally yielded on the question in dispute over the pensioners appropriation bill and the conference report was agreed to by the house. The house wanted to abolish all the pension agencies but the one in Washington, but the senate would not agree. All the present agencies will be retained. The pension bill carries $166,000,000.

The ocean mail subsidy bill was made the action gives to the measure the place of vantage for the short session of congress beginning in December.

The Appalachian forest reserve bill the senate agreed to pass over until February 15 next. The senate adopted the Mann "white slave" bill, previously passed by the house. The house and senate adopted joint resolutions appropriating $1,000,000 for the protection of property along the lower Colorado river. President Taft having submitted a message calling the attention of congress to the dangerous conditions along the river bed.

The conference report on the bill for the creation of an employers' liability commission was adopted by the senate and agreed to by the house. Senators Warner and Hughes and Representatives Denby of Michigan and Branding of Georgia were named on the committee.

Taft Dislikes River Bill.

Washington, D. C., June 26.—A message from the president stating that he signed the rivers and harbors bill, but would never again sign another one. Like it, enveloped the final proceedings of the senate. He said that improvements should be made in accordance with a approved system, which was not followed in the bill, but that he signed the bill in order that the more important improvements would not be delayed.

President Taft says that the piecemeal policy of making appropriations to continue work from time to time is the bill's chief defect. He said the government, when it enters upon a project, should finish it in a reasonable time and then take up others and work out a businesslike scheme. Mr. Taft also signed the public buildings bill.

Cannon Gives Resume.

Washington, D. C., June 26.—Speaker Cannon summarized the work of congress in a statement. He declared that it had done more and better work than any congress of which he was a member during his 35 years of service in the house. After recounting the legislation enacted, he said:

"The changes of the rules have opened to the pleasure and perhaps to the power of some individuals in the house; but the current of legislation itself has moved on as usual, with little disturbance on account of the few new methods and with little advantage therefrom."

He said that for industry and intelligence he could commend every member of the house. He said that in point of business the first congress takes a high rank, for more than 6,000 out of 27,000 bills were considered and reported from committees and about 200 public laws were passed.

Then he referred to the big tasks accomplished such as the tariff revision, the amendment of the railroad law, and the passing of the postal savings bank measure all of which were accomplished after long consideration and without disturbing the country.

The Session's Appropriations.

Speaking of appropriations, he said they were large but not nearly as large as demanded by the people who are agitating for development of various departments of the government." He said: "The Democrats have talked economy, but they have helped to enlarge every appropriation, and there are bills introduced by Democrats and not acted upon which would call for $300,000,000 additional expenditures. So, I take it, their talk of economy is Pickwickian. The work of this congress has been greater than any other with which I have been identified as a member, and it has been constructive legislation in the face of destructive tactics and efforts to create factional strife."

"These efforts, I regret to say, have received more attention in the public press than the real work of legislation and, having given so much space to these revolutionary efforts, at the expense of their record of the work, it is not surprising that some editors suddenly discover in these last days that the Republican congress has enacted laws to carry out the pledges of the Republican platform, and then jump at the conclusion that this work has been done in haste before adjournment, instead of by painstaking effort for seven months."

BUTLER AMES SCORES SENATOR CABOT LODGE

Announcing His Candidacy for Senate, He Arraigns Him as Tool of Interests.

Washington, June 26.—Representative Butler Ames of Massachusetts, today announced his candidacy for the United States senate in a formal statement embodying a bitter attack upon Senator Lodge. Representative Ames says he becomes a candidate after having failed to induce any one else to "take up the fight against Boss Lodge and his political machine."

Ames says about the senator and what he describes as the "Lodge machine": "The machine, backed by all the large corporations and all the state and federal patronage, has, for many years, served as a ready and efficient tool to crush out all political ambitions, endeavors and opinions not sanctioned by Lodge."

"His orders have gone out to crush not only for his own political end, but to advance the selfish schemes of the large railroad, banking and manufacturing interests he serves in congress, as well as in the Massachusetts legislature. "The machine, backed by all the large corporations and all the state and federal patronage, has, for many years, served as a ready and efficient tool to crush out all political ambitions, endeavors and opinions not sanctioned by Lodge."

"His orders have gone out to crush not only for his own political end, but to advance the selfish schemes of the large railroad, banking and manufacturing interests he serves in congress, as well as in the Massachusetts legislature. ### WEALTHY VETERAN DEAD.

Chicago, June 26.—Edwin Vlagel, seventy-six years old, a Civil War veteran, died here today. He was a resident of Aurora, Ill., fell over a railing of a stairway in the Moody church here today and died in a hospital a few hours later. Two bank books in his pocket showing deposits of $7,700 in a bank in Quincy, Ill., were found.

RAIN ENDS DROUGHT.

Burlington, Ia., June 26.—The drought in southeastern Iowa was ended today by a heavy rain.

DIAZ RE-ELECTED BY BIG MAJORITY

Anti-Reelectionist Party Polled But Small Vote Throughout Mexico.

Mexico City, June 26.—General Porfirio Diaz was today elected president of Mexico and Ramon Corral vice president by an overwhelming majority, according to returns from all over the country tonight. The anti-re-electionist ticket, headed by Francisco I. Madero, received only about 2 per cent of the vote cast in Mexico City. The city was free from disorder. Eight hundred electors were chosen in Mexico City, of whom only four are of the anti-re-electionist party.

By telegrams from various parts of the republic the same proportion is shown to prevail. The electors chosen today will meet next month to vote for deputies and senators, and to name the judges of the supreme court.

BROWNE JURY WILL ACHIEVE A NEW RECORD

At Midnight Men Considering Testimony in Lorimer Bribery Case Had Been Out Fifty-Six Hours With No Indication of an Early Return of a Verdict.

Judge McSurely Says He Will Allow Them to Deliberate "a Couple of Days Longer"—Important Developments Now Looked for in Sangamon County

Chicago, June 26.—At midnight the jury in the Lee O'Neil Browne case had been out fifty-six hours. During all this time it has been peened in a room so small that the members cannot get any exercise, but the jurymen seem content to remain in session indefinitely. Not a word has come from them, and not once since the case was given into their hands has there been a single request for instructions from Judge McSurely.

The jury bids fair to establish a record in Cook county. The Madden labor case jury a few months ago established a record for long juries here by remaining out for fifty-nine hours. The Browne jury unquestionably will surpass this record by many hours.

Judge McSurely said tonight that he would allow the jury to deliberate "a couple of days longer" and then if he finds it hopeless divided he will discharge it. If he finds, however, that the situation is as the prosecution maintains, that the jury is eleven to one for a verdict, whether of acquittal or conviction, he will send it back for further deliberation.

Judge McSurely stated that he would not compel the jury to remain in deliberation over the fourth of July.

"I shall resist any effort to have the jury discharged if it stays out until the fourth of July said State's Attorney Wayman today. "It cannot be possible that twelve men would disagree on the evidence of bribery placed before that jury. No matter how long the jury stays in those chambers, I shall resist a motion to have the body discharged."

It is the contention of Mr. Wayman that one juror has balked at a verdict of conviction from the start.

Expects Important Developments.

Springfield, Ill., June 26.—Following the indictment yesterday by the Sangamon county grand jury of Representatives Lee O'Neil Browne, Robert E. Wilson and others, a great volume of additional evidence is expected by State's Attorney Burke, who believes that the indictments voted are merely a preliminary to a much wider investigation.

Representative H. J. C. Beckemeyer, of Carlyle, one of the principal witnesses in the Browne case at Chicago, has been called to give additional testimony here Wednesday.

The local indictment against Senator John Broderick, of Chicago, will be introduced in scope by the state's attorney. Similar action may also be taken in the indictments against Senator S. C. Pemberton and Representative J. C. Clark. Senator Holtzlaw and Representative Link will be recalled as witnesses.

CHARLTON GOES TO PIECES IN CELL

Wife Murderer Had Nervous Collapse in Hoboken Jail—Is Apparently Insane.

New York, June 26.—Porter Charlton had a nervous collapse in his cell at the Hudson county jail tonight.

"Charlie" Burke, the safe robber, who was in his cell, sent for the warden in fear.

"That fellow is sure crazy," said Burke. "His moaning and going on like fits. I'm afraid to stay in here with him."

The warden found Charlton sitting on the edge of his pallet, his face in his hands moaning and abbering. A spasm seemed to seize him and he shook as with theague.

The warden sent for Dr. Wm. J. Arlitz, the city physician of Hoboken, who has been retained by the Charltons as an alienist.

"I found Charlton in a terribly nervous condition," said the doctor, after his visit. "He would close his hands with such force as to dig the nails into his flesh. Then he would laugh in absent manner and betray that he was holding himself in check with the greatest difficulty. He shows every evidence of not being in his right mind."

The doctor added that Charlton is undoubtedly tubercular and that one lung seems to be badly affected already.

THREE DEAD IN PITTSBURG.

Pittsburg, June 26.—A temperature which pushed the mercury up to 93 in the United States weather bureau knob on Smithfield street today resulted, according to returns tonight, in at least three deaths in Pittsburg today. There was practically no relief in the city.

1,500 PEOPLE IMPERILED IN STEAMER FIRE

Ame Packet Company's Boat J. S. Burned to Water's Edge on Mississippi, Twenty-Four Miles South of LaCrosse, Wis., but Only Three Lives Were Lost.

Escape from Horror Regarded as Miraculous, as Panic on Crowded Vessel Was Narrowly Averted by Prompt Action of Crew and Coolheaded Passengers.

LaCrosse, Wis., June 26.—Three dead and nearly sixty injured, summarizes the casualties sustained in the destruction by fire of the Ame Packet company's excursion steamer "J. S." between Victoria and Genoa, twenty-four miles south of LaCrosse on the Mississippi river last Saturday night.

The dead are: Mrs. Emma Randall, of New Albin, Ia., drowned.
John Plane, of Waukon, Ia., burned to death.
An unknown woman, drowned.

The seriously injured are: Joseph Coyle, Mrs. Dr. Meyer, of Lansing, Ia.; Mrs. John Joseph Desota, Mrs. Archie Bailey, Mrs. Kaeppler, of Victory, Ia.

Fifty are estimated to have received minor cuts and bruises. The escape of all but a handful of the 1,500 passengers on the boat when the fire started is regarded as a miracle. Prompt work by the crew and cool headed passengers in controlling the frantic throng after the first alarm was all that prevented hundreds from jumping into the river in midstream.

Mrs. Randall was the only one who broke through the guard on the edge of the decks, and twenty tried to grasp her when she plunged from the upper deck into the water. The body was not recovered. John Plane was locked in the hold for disorderly conduct in the excitement of the panic; no one thought to release him. The body is undoubtedly in the river bottom with the burned bulk of the steamer, which sunk after the boat had burned to the water's edge.

It was late Sunday morning before the last stranded excursionist was removed from Bad Eye island, on which the boat was beached ten minutes after the fire started.

Norman Fox, of Victory, who was thought to have burned to death, was located here Sunday. The loss was $80,000. Practically every passenger lost clothing and baggage. It is still possible that other excursionists may have perished, although all people thus far sought have been located.

SINGLE MAN FIGHTS AND KILLS OFFICERS.

Ocala, Ga., June 26.—Chief of Police Davis and Deputy Sheriff Sheffield were killed and Sheriff McPherson and two other deputies were wounded here today by W. H. Bostwick, who is yet barricaded in his home with his six children. He is well armed and threatens to kill anybody who tries to take him. The officers had tried to arrest Bostwick on a misdemeanor charge. An appeal was made to the governor for troops, and a company has been sent from Atlanta which will reach Bostwick's home probably early tomorrow morning.

INSURGENTS MADE LEGISLATION GOOD

Murdock of Kansas Says They Gave It a Vitality it Has Lacked in Past.

Washington, June 26.—The insurgents in the house were responsible for much of the important legislation passed during the session of congress just closed, according to Representative Murdock, of Kansas, the insurgent leader.

"The declaration was a reply to the one made by Speaker Cannon last night, in which the speaker said the changes in the rules had nothing to do with the constructive legislation."

Murdock said: "Cannon took pains to say the constructive legislation of the congress was the best in thirty years. He did not acknowledge, as he should, that it was the activity of the insurgents which touched all the major measures passed with a vitality that similar legislation has not had for years."

"The tendency since last December has been towards free government. Tyranny in committees, brutal closure in the house, arrogance in the chair, have been under constant fire. It was the challenge to Cannon and Cavanaugh that made the legislation what it is, and every unprejudiced member of congress knows it."

SOCIALISTS NAME TICKET.

Schenectady, N. Y., June 26.—Charles Edward Russell, magazine writer of New York, was named for governor at the state convention of the Socialist party held here today. A full state ticket was named, including one woman, Mrs. Bernice Praxer, of Brookline, for secretary of state.

Cochran, of New York, won the jubilee prize, defeating Lieutenant Krupp Von Bellingham's German "Empress" and Emperor William's American "Meteford." The emperor aboard, finished third. The emperor today conducted services aboard the imperial yacht Hohenzollern. He chose as the theme "Did Jesus Live?", which recently has been the subject of much discussion, following the declaration by Professor Arthur Drews Karlsruhe that Jesus never lived.

PROMINENT SCIENTIST DEAD AT CAPITOL.

Washington, June 26.—Prof. Cyrus Thomas, one of the most prominent authorities on the history of the North American Indians, and for the past thirty years connected with the Smithsonian institution, died at his home here today, aged eighty-five years. ### FIGHT FANS CROWD PUGILISTS' CAMPS

Reno, June 26.—Great crowds of fight fans swarmed into the city to watch the erection of Rickard's arena and to visit the fighters' camps. Jeffries' camp looked like a picnic grounds. Jeffries went fishing and Cobett entertained the visitors.

Johnson was his own master of ceremonies. He kept things going most of the time today, urging the singers in the camp to great efforts and occasionally assisting the general merriment with a solo or obligato selection on his cello.

It is believed the arena will be finished Saturday. John L. Sullivan visited the Jeffries camp. The trouble between Jeffries and Corbett and Sullivan was patched up Saturday when John L. made a second trip to Moanan Springs. There followed a reconciliation with Corbett. He shook hands with Jeffries and the breach between the famous ring men was closed.

"I guess everything is all right now," said the old fighter who grasped Corbett's outstretched hand.

"Sure," was the quick reply.

Sullivan found Jeffries in the rubbing room. The big fellow held his hand out in welcome, and John L. shook it warmly, as he cried: "Hello, old fellow; by heavens you're looking great."

"And I'm strong, too," Jeff told him. "Then for a quarter of an hour they talked about battles of bygone days, and after another handshake all around, Sullivan returned to Reno. Middleton, Croyinski and Rickard claim the honor of bringing about the reconciliation."

"Reno's Disgrace"

Reno, June 26.—"Reno's disgrace was the subject of an address delivered tonight by the Rev. L. M. Burwell, pastor of the Methodist church of this city. The minister characterized the Jeffries-Johnson battle as the crowning shame of a city that boasted in its "possession of gambling halls, divorce courts and saloons," and declared that the fight would have a brutalizing effect upon the community, as it would bring in its wake the "riff-raff of humanity and the obscuring of the country."

The speaker declared that even California, notorious for its "crude civilization," had rejected the fight which Reno welcomed with open arms. At the conclusion of his address, Rev. Burwell admitted that it would be impossible to prevent the contest.

TURNERS AT ST. LOUIS.

St. Louis, June 26.—The North American gymnastic union opened their biennial convention here today with nearly 200 delegates. ### DISASTROUS FIRE IN DAVENPORT.

ROOSEVELT TO HELP OUT WITH NEW YORK FIGHT

Is Reliably Reported He Will Give a Hand in Saving the State for Party, and Is Said He Will Suggest Third Term Candidacy to Governor Hughes.

In Conference With Executive an Articulated Policy Will at Least Be Agreed on—Reports of ex-President's Plan Causes Flurry of Intense Interest.

Oyster Bay, June 26.—The news that Col. Roosevelt had decided to enter the fall campaign in New York created endless gossip here today. There is a persistent rumor that an important political gathering is to be held this Entered as mail matter of the second class in the postoffice at Marquette, Mich.

One Mr. Dixon of Ishpeming appears to have Negaunee's goat, sure 'nuff.
Our crops also are beginning to look wilted. A little rain, please, to freshen them up.
Cornell has gone through with its usual spring program of cleaning up the Hudson regatta.
Senator Gore furnished a sensational finish for that "busiest and most eventful" session of congress.

The moving pictures of the big fight have been sold out by the principals. This ought to be an assurance that there will be no stalling to serve the camera man.
The Manitowish people are laying plans to try and squeeze a new depot out of the Soo Line. We would suggest that they send a committee to Negaunee, to learn how to go about it.

The general public will be inclined to agree with the Illinois man who concluded that $10,000 was a rather high price for a single bill. Now if it had been a half dozen bills—
John L. the peevish one, Jim Corbett and Jim Jeffries have shaken hands and made up. The white winged dove of peace now hovers over all of Reno, Nev., barring the divorce colony.

All the upper peninsula papers speak in the pleasantest terms of the forthcoming visit of Lieutenant Governor Kelley. The upper peninsula is nothing if not neighborly, friendly and openminded.
Two runs were scored against Marquette Saturday at Crystal Falls because the ball was lost in the tall grass of one of the outfielders. Evidently the Crystal Falls diamond needs a shave and a shampoo.

If the Illinois state's attorneys have good luck, when the senate committee of inquiry into the Lorimer bribery charges gets settled down to business in the fall its members will be able to reach all the principal witnesses by holding one session at the Joliet penitentiary.
The advertising that Reno, Nevada, will get during the next few days will be dirt cheap even at the price paid for it. But there are overights in the connection. Every article on the big fight should contain some reference to Reno's divorce industry and many of them omit this important point.

The publicity bill was finally adopted in the form recommended by Senator Burrows, namely, with the provision for publicity of campaign contributions before elections struck out. It will be a vastly less effective measure than would have been the case if this provision had been retained. Under its terms, the voters will have no information in regard to who is financing the campaign of the candidates until it is too late to act on it.
The Sangamon county grand jury has indicted Lee O'Neil Browne, who has been on trial in Chicago for legislative bribery, as a party to a conspiracy to purchase legislation during the last session of the Illinois legislature. Several other men are hit by indictments returned at the same time as the one reaching Browne. The erstwhile minority leader—be of the comprehensive knowledge of Holy Writ—promises to have a busy time keeping out of the penitentiary this summer, even if he is not "landed" by the present trial in Cook county.

One thing we haven't been able to fathom is on just what basis newspaper men break into the farmers' granges. Over Menominee way Roger M. Andrews, publisher of the Menominee Herald-Leader, is a shining light in the inner shrine of grange circles. Perhaps Mr. Andrews gets his entree because he is the editor of the Northwestern Farmer, and can turn a rattling good speech on demand. But moving on to Escanaba we find F. L. Baldwin of the Journal similarly active in grange affairs, and Mr. Baldwin does not boast the editorship of any Farmers' paper. What is the open sesame by which the scribes break into the granges? They should pass the word along. Perhaps there are other newspaper men who would like to qualify.

Marquette, Mich.

Patrick Kelley, who would like to be governor of Michigan, which is a honor any politician might well seek, will be in the upper peninsula soon to talk to us, to smile upon us, and to assure us again how great his love is for us, says the Ishpeming Iron Ore. We like to listen to Kelley because he always has something interesting to say, and his stories are generally worth listening to. While we will greet the candidate heartily, and express to him our best wishes for the crop of his state, and our state, and while we will hope the farmers will be taxed according to the real value of their lands and products, we will have to tell Mr. Kelley that we see no hope for him, our candidate from the upper peninsula being clearly in the lead and with no chance for his being overtaken. If there was to be a second choice we might look with favor upon Mr. Kelley, but there is to be no second choice this year, we having picked a winner.

The pace of the league baseball being played in this neck of the woods is gradually being speeded up, as weak material is being weeded out and is being replaced by faster men. The result is that at the present time the league teams are among the fastest that have been assembled in this region, and they are giving the public some excellent sport, with now and then a bad fall down for variety's sake. The quality of their work should, however, improve steadily and the games from now on should be even better than those seen to date. Excellent sportsmanship is being shown by most of the players and men connected with the teams, and the conduct on the field is gentlemanly. The teams should be careful to keep up the good record in this respect. Nothing makes a better impression on the public than the spectacle of a hard baseball game being fought out fairly and cleanly, as if every man in the lineup was a thoroughgoing gentleman.

Representative Young is home from Washington. At Menominee county last week he was one of the speakers at a grange meeting, and from now on intends to busy himself actively with his campaign. The Twelfth district will be canvassed this year as it has never been canvassed by congressional candidates before. The direct nominations law is operative in the Twelfth for the first time, and it greatly changes the sort of a campaign that aspirants must put up. It becomes quite essential to reach the individual voter, and both Mr. Young and Mr. Kerr will doubtless put in a busy ten weeks showing him. To date Mr. Young has shown a disposition to rely on newspaper space, but this has doubtless been because he has been detained at Washington by the slow-moving session of congress. Mr. Kerr, his opponent, has been gunshooting the district on a systematic plan, devoting about a week to each county, and speaking in hamlets and villages and at the cross roads, in order to meet the voters and thus put himself on an equality with Mr. Young as far as acquaintance throughout the district goes. Take it all in all, the average voter, the chap that nobody used to bother much about except on election days, is going to find himself a very important gentleman this year.

The Ishpeming Record has this reference to the work of Auditor General Fuller:
There seems to be a general impression all over the state that Auditor General Fuller may be re-elected this fall without opposition even from a Democratic source. Such a thing is quite unusual. At the same time Mr. Fuller's case deserves unusual attention. It is practically certain that he will be named by the Republican party without a contest. His record for competency in office is the highest recommendation that can be given him. It is common talk about Lansing that the auditor general's department has never been in such a high state of general efficiency as it is at the present time and it has never been managed as economically. Mr. Fuller is a good business man and he has carried his reputation for the state with the result that he has looked after the business of his commonwealth with the same care and attention and desire for results at low cost that any good business man would employ in his own business affairs. It is a good thing for the state, with the result that he has looked after the business of his commonwealth with the same care and attention and desire for results at low cost that any good business man would employ in his own business affairs. It is a good thing for the state, with the result that he has looked after the business of his commonwealth with the same care and attention and desire for results at low cost that any good business man would employ in his own business affairs.

MORIARTY WILL RUN.
Senator Moriarty informs The Mining Journal that he has decided to again stand for a nomination to represent the Thirty-first district in the legislature. Some weeks ago the senator announced that he would not be a candidate this year. It was his bona fide purpose at the time, as his friends know, not to run, and he had no idea he could be prevailed on to change his decision. But Mr. Moriarty has been urged very persistently by the newspapers and the leading interests in his district to return to Lansing for at least one additional term. They have felt that with the prospect of issues vitally affecting upper peninsula interests likely to come up it was most important that Mr. Moriarty should be available at Lansing to apply his experience and the influence he has gained through his long membership to the task of safeguarding them. Mr. Moriarty has yielded to this pressure and will at once circulate his primary petitions in the different counties of the district. He will have no opposition for the nomination. Mr. Moriarty will be the member of longest service in the next legislature, and, as the issue will doubtless prove, one of the members of greatest influence. The results will justify the wisdom of the insistent demand that he serve another term.

HERE AND THERE.
Melville W. Fuller, chief justice of the United States, it is said, owns a million dollars' worth of Chicago real estate.

Senator LeRoy Percy of Mississippi has refused to speak at the big Lauderdale barbecue in that state Friday of next week, because ex-legislator Theodore G. Bilbo (who says a friend of the senator tried to buy him) is to speak there.
There are now 481 coal mines in Scotland and 125,898 persons are at work in them; of these, 2,644 are women. "In recent years," writes Consul Van San from Dunfermline, "the miners' lot has been greatly improved, yet their wages and working conditions are apparently not equal to those of the United States, to judge from the constant stream of emigration to America. Though this is true, there is in Scotland no class freer or whose hours are shorter. They have three shifts of eight hours each, and on notice are at liberty to take a holiday at will."
Dr. Andrew D. White, who has just returned from England, says of England's reception of Colonel Roosevelt's Guild hall speech: "Although some Englishmen and others may shrug their shoulders and question the taste of a statesman from one country, giving advice to another country, nevertheless I think on the whole the people of England liked Mr. Roosevelt's Guildhall speech. They might have resented it from any one else, but not from Mr. Roosevelt. To them Roosevelt is Roosevelt and they recognize him as Roosevelt and they recognize him as Roosevelt." The remarks were keen and pungent—the remarks of a statesman.

A negro was lynched in Florida the other day and, as has happened many times before, the lynchers got the wrong man. The real criminal confessed after the innocent man had been killed. The Savannah News now unreasonably concludes that the incident is likely to cause further trouble. It says: "By this act of the mob no good was accomplished. On the contrary, the negro of the community in which the crime was committed were led to believe that justice was not dealt out with an even hand—that there was one kind of justice for white men and another for black men. Henceforth we are conscious of a feeling of resentment—of bitterness—and this feeling will likely show itself in other crimes against the white people."

A LAUGH OR TWO.
Time to Run—Yes.
The old veteran had paused in his reminiscences and was mopping his brow while his audience waited impatiently, thinking he had left off. He then said, "I recollect," he continued dreamily, "that at the battle of Alma I had a very exciting time. Bullets were pelting upon us like rain, men fell right and left, cannon roared like thunder itself and, worst of all, the snoring yards of our position. I was mad with excitement and wasn't thinkin' of anything except just fightin' for all I was worth. All of a sudden I turned and found that my regiment had changed its position and I was cut off—left to the mercy of the enemy, sir."
The veteran paused; he always does at the most exciting part; he finds it amusing.
"Well, what did you do?" asked an impatient listener.
"He?" said the old fellow, sleepily. "Well, I reckon I did a mile in three minutes!"—St. Paul Dispatch.

Gave Him a Receipt.
As John O. Sprout, manager of one of the departments at the May company, stood wondering if he ought to buy lingerie or furs to meet the weather conditions he saw walking down the aisle a lady in a factory running day and night shifts. The man had turned on both draughts and the sparks were flying from the smokestack.
"Shay, fellow," began the stranger, addressing Sprout, "ha' you seen anything 'er my life?"
"I don't know," replied Sprout, stepping to one side to avoid the toxic influences of the man's breath. "I don't happen to be acquainted with your wife. Take a look around here and perhaps you can pick her out."
"I 'uz to meet 'er here," the man went on, "and—"
"All right," interrupted Sprout, "take a look around."
In about five minutes the semi-pickled one returned.
"Shay, ol' round face," he began, familiarly, "I wanna receipt."
"Want what?"
"I wanna receipt—a receipt to show my wife. I promised I 'ud 'er here and she'd never believe I 'ud 'er here less I show 'er receipt. See? 'Cu you gimme receipt?"
Sprout, always considerate of a fellow-human in distress, scribbled something on a piece of paper and gave it to the stranger, who left with heart unburdened.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Too Big a Risk.
Commonly it is the man himself who is the last person to discover that a too high value has been put upon his worth to the world. In his book, "Atout and Alone," Stephen Powers reports the case of a negro in the south before the Civil war who came to the conclusion that he was paying too much for himself when he was buying his freedom. He had belonged to an Alabama planter who owned a ferry on the Chattahoochee river. This ferry the negro had operated. To make the ferry man faithful to his duty, the owner had allowed him one-half of the earnings.
Harry saved his gains carefully, and in the course of time proposed to his master to buy his freedom. The master consented, and an agreement was made that Harry should pay $800 for himself, half in hand.
Not long after this there came an unusual freshet. Harry's skill was capitalized in the middle of the stream, and he himself was carried down two or three miles before he could get ashore, being then more dead than alive. Wee-fully bedraggled and dilapidated, he presented himself before his master.

"Marse John," he said, "I want to trade back."
"What's the matter, Harry?"
"Well, Marse John, $400 is mo' money'n I want to risk in dis hyar nigger."—Youth's Companion.

Big Guns.
Lord Kitchener at one of the dinners tendered him in New York, apologized for his want of eloquence.
"I can't speak; that is why I don't like to speak," he said.
"The officers of the British army are noted for their inability to make a public speech. Whenever an officer is foolish enough to rise to answer a toast, the guests say to one another significantly, as he sits down:
"Well, you know, the bigger the gun, the bigger the bore."
THE IRON STUMP.
A Quaint Old Legend of the Ancient City of Vienna.

No one knows the precise age of the Austrian city of Vienna, although there are plenty of patriotic Viennese who will tell you that the first foundations of their beloved town on the beautiful blue Danube were laid, immediately after the deluge, by one Abraham, a near descendant of the patriarch Noah; and few will admit that its earliest walls are any younger than those of Rome. At all events, it is undoubtedly a very old city, treasuring many old and curious things; and though far from the oldest, one of the quaintest of its "antiquities" is the mysterious "stock-in-Eisen," or "Iron Stump," about which are told tales enough to while away many an evening in a long winter.

Some time about the year 850 A. D., so runs one legend, the Emperor Louis the Pious, son of Charlemagne, decreed that a hunting lodge should be built for his use in the Wiener Wald—the old forest of Vienna. Among those employed in this work was Friedrich Mux, a restless young apprentice, who, growing impatient of the harshness of the master locksmith whom he served, ran away one summer evening to seek his fortune, like many other young apprentices before and since. But the luckless youth sought his way in the thick night of the deep, old forest, wandering round and round, until at last he fell exhausted at the foot of a great larch tree, where he slept until daybreak awoke him. He opened his eyes and found to his dismay that he was within a few hundred yards of the very point from which he had started. Then he opened his traveler's sump to make a hasty breakfast, and found to his horror, that he had taken with him a costly and beautifully wrought nail specially designed by his master to hold the great lock of the imperial lodge.
Poor Friedrich was now in a quandary. There was no way in which he could with safety to himself return his master's prize. If he brought it back he would be punished as a runaway. If he did not do so he would certainly be proclaimed a thief. At last, in desperation, he drove the unlucky treasure to the head into the trunk of the tree under which he had slept. "There," he said, "old larch, be thou a witness for me when I return!" And he went his way.
Five years later Friedrich came again to his native city, a skillful master locksmith of great reputation. "There," he said, "old larch, be thou a witness for me when I return!" And he went his way.
After this story became known it grew a custom of the city that every locksmith's apprentice as he departed on his Wanderjahre—the year of travel—admission to the guild as a master workman—should drive into the tree a nail bearing on its head his initials or private mark, in imitation and memory of Friedrich Mux. Thus, year after year, new journeyman locksmiths drove their memorial nails, until the stump of the old tree became, as it remains today, a mass of iron, so filled with nails as every inch of it. And year by year the city extended far into the year of travel, until the stump of the old larch tree stood alone, the center of a public square.
Now in the year 1573 it came to pass that the good burghers of Vienna resolved to protect their famous Stock-in-Eisen with an encircling iron band, which band, they further resolved, should be fastened with the finest and most immediate lock that could be procured. Every master locksmith in the imperial city competed for the honor of furnishing this masterpiece, and many wonderful contrivances were produced; but finally a tall, dark stranger, having from no where in particular, submitted a lock of such surpassing ingenuity and beauty that it was at once chosen by unanimous vote of the council. But when the stranger was asked to name the price of the lock, he named so great a sum that the burghmaster, old Heinrich Pfalz, simply laughed in his face. Whereupon the stranger stamped his foot in a terrible rage, snapped the lock shut on the staple of the iron band, tossed the key so high into the air that to this day it has never come down, and finally, while the open-mouthed citizens were watching the flight of the key, that mysterious stranger vanished from Vienna, never to be seen again.

A great reward was offered to him who should devise a new key to open the curious lock.
After many trials by the most skilled workmen in the kingdom, the successful competitor proved to be a young locksmith's apprentice, who, in the end, like all industrious apprentices of the old stories, is said to have "married his master's daughter."—Arthur Guiterman, in St. Nicholas.

CURES OLD S.S.S. BLOOD TROUBLES

Contagious Blood Poison is at the bottom of a great many old blood troubles. The disease may have been contracted years ago and some treatment used that removed the outward symptoms and shut the virus up in the system to slumber in the blood, but it only awaits a favorable opportunity to break out in some form.

Certain forms of catarrhal troubles, especially itching sores, ulcerated membranes, etc., are due to this specific poison. Perhaps many who are afflicted in this way are ignorant of the fact that the seeds of this mighty poison are still hidden in the blood. Like the deadly serpent, which is dangerous as long as the faintest spark of life is left to enable it to sink its poisonous fangs, this powerful disease will corrupt and debilitate while the least particle of its insidious virus remains in the blood.

A PERFECT CURE.

Some eight years ago I was inoculated with poison by a nurse who infected my baby with sores and ulcers from head to foot. No language can describe the agony of two during these long years. I was advised by friends who had seen S.S.S. We got some and I tried it. I was cured in a few days. S.S.S. is the only blood remedy which cures all cases of old blood troubles.

Mining News

THE COPPER SITUATION.

N. L. Amster Pleads for a Curtailment of Output.

N. L. Amster has devoted a great deal of thought and study to the copper situation, and is greatly impressed with the necessity at the present time of a curtailment in output. He says: "Unless the producers of copper inaugurate different business methods, I fail to see how a change can be brought about in the metal situation. Although the world's actual consumption of copper is the greatest in the history of the industry, still the price of the metal is lower today than it was in the panic of 1907."

"The producers are to blame for this situation. They seem to have an insatiable desire to increase production without regard to what disposition shall be made of the output. Consumers naturally see no great reason, nor do I, why they should stock up and pay inflated prices for metal which would ordinarily have to carry for their near future needs, but are buying only from day to day as manufacturing necessities demand. This explains the large surplus in the hands of the producers' agent which ordinarily would be sold to the consumers as a working supply."

"It is greatly to be regretted that one of this country's greatest industries and a natural source of real wealth is being driven almost to the wall. Every producing mine is harassed to its utmost capacity and called upon to deliver every ton of ore it can possibly spare and much that cannot spare; and ore, it should be remembered, does not grow."

great majority of minor copper mines, not so fortunately situated, and whose average cost must be considerably higher. "Something must be done to change the business methods of the copper producing industry to avoid the useless exhaustion of valuable ore bodies, and to regulate production. Such regulation would mean a saving of $200,000,000 to $400,000,000 per annum, lengthen the life of the producing mine by at least 25 per cent, and add a stability to the industry, such as is enjoyed by most of our great industries, but which copper has never enjoyed."

NOTES OF COPPER NEWS.

With copper at 12 1/2 cents there are but sixteen copper mining companies in the dividend ranks out of about fifty active producers. These sixteen companies are disbursing dividends at the present time at the rate of $22,000,000 per annum. Of this $22,000,000, however, seven companies contribute $27,000,000, of which Anaconda is the leader with disbursements at the rate of $8,000,000; then follow Utah Copper with $4,000,000; Phelps-Dodge $3,000,000; Newmont Consolidated $2,000,000; Calumet & Hecla with $2,000,000; U. S. Smelting $2,000,000; Copper Range with $1,500,000.

These seven companies are contributing about 750,000,000 pounds of copper per annum to the world's supply. With 15-cent copper between twenty-five and fifty companies are normally in the dividend ranks and total disbursements would double present dividend disbursements.

UMBRIA GOES TO JURKISHOP. Last of Her Class, Famous Ship, Was a Single Screw With a Notable Record.

The assignment of the Camander Umbria to the junkman, an event still fresh in the memory of men of the sea, recalls the fate of other ships of the single screw type that also were holders of the evanescent transatlantic record. The Oregon, while on her way to the coast, began to fly lighter, her former passengers going to the swifter and finer ships. But she was still a sixty-day boat to Queenstown and some voyagers who had been traveling by her for ten years or more could not give her up in a hurry, being contented with the fact that she was still a sixty-day boat.

The Umbria had few other accidents in her long career. The most remarkable one was when she cut the stern of the freighter Heria by a fog off Sandy Hook in 1888. The Umbria was undamaged in the collision, and all the men of the Heria were saved.

The passengers were unaware that anything serious had occurred aboard until Captain McKay came into the smoking room at 7:30 o'clock that night and remarked with circumlocutory allusion that he was sorry to inform the passengers that the shaft was broken and that they would be unable to proceed just then. Just after the ship stopped, a drag or sea anchor, was put out, and the passengers, who had been uncomfortable while the ship was pitching and rolling in the heavy seas, felt a bit happier physically, although not so pleased with the prospect of spending Christmas almost within a day's sail of New York.

The Umbria had few other accidents in her long career. The most remarkable one was when she cut the stern of the freighter Heria by a fog off Sandy Hook in 1888. The Umbria was undamaged in the collision, and all the men of the Heria were saved.

PAJU MATCH IS OFF. Port Arthur Finn Not to Wrestle Here on July 2.

The catch-as-catch-can wrestling match between Chris Person and Fred Paju, which was to be seen at the Kenogedie theater on July 15, has been called off. Since arranging for the match it has been learned that Paju is not in the best of condition, and was thrown recently by Karl Lehto in a short time. A weak wrestler would not be a drawing card.

Person has returned from Neguague where he wrestled Jake Miller at the MacDonald Opera House Friday night. Person threw his man twice and didn't have much trouble. A small crowd attended the bout. Person is now making a study of the Cornish style of wrestling and is training at that with the intention of entering the tournament at the Amphitron on July fourth. He will make it interesting for the Cornish wrestlers of this district. It is probable that no more catch-as-catch-can wrestling matches will be arranged for here this summer, as they are not a paying proposition with the weather so warm. Person is to stay here, however, and next fall and winter expects to be able to get some of the best men of his weight here for matches. Another effort is to be made to match Person and Lehto, to have their comparative abilities decided for once and all.

MINISTERS SAY FAREWELL.

Rev. Gould of Hancock and Rev. Rufsvold of Calumet Depart.

Rev. J. Sidney Gould, who recently resigned as pastor of the Hancock Congregational church after holding that position for five years, last evening preached his farewell sermon to that congregation, taking as his subject "The Unfading Foundation for Christian Edification." Mr. Gould has accepted an appointment as state secretary for Kansas of the Congregational home missions society. He leaves today for Kansas City, Kan., with his family. He will make his headquarters in that city and will preach in the Congregational church there next Sunday morning. Rev. Gould's departure from Hancock is regretted. His years of service there have been fruitful ones and he and his family have been popular with all classes and people of all creeds.

Rev. M. Rufsvold, for the past five years pastor of the Norwegian Lutheran church of Calumet, preached his farewell sermon yesterday. Rev. Rufsvold resigned his charge in Calumet for the purpose of taking a rest, with a number of offers in view when he decided to again take up his labors. He will spend his period of rest in Marinette, Wis. His successor is Rev. S. Romsdahl of Fargo, N. D., who will arrive early in July.

Went to Ball Game--Beryl, daughter of A. Laurin, 283 North Third street, aged six years, disappeared from home about 11 o'clock yesterday and was not found until late last evening. Search was made all over this city without avail. She was finally found in Negaunee, and explained by saying that she had gone there to see the ball game.

Buffaloes Whalloped Prisoners--The Negaunee Buffaloes, one of the fastest amateur baseball teams in the county, gave the prisoners' team a bad beating at the Marquette prison yesterday morning. The prisoners looked raggedly and the Buffaloes were doing the ball hard it required two figures to tell the story of their score.

Clifford Let Out--Clifford, the center fielder for Marquette early in the season, was, according to the Diamond Drill, released by the Crystal Falls management last Monday, after a tryout with the team. His failure to clout the ball was responsible for his dismissal. Some Marquette fans thought Clifford was laying down on the team here, but his failure at Crystal Falls would indicate that his lack of hitting ability for the Marquette team was honest enough. He started out at a fast clip for Marquette last spring, but did not keep it up.

After Forty Years--A. F. Agnew, foreman of the South Shore round house, and M. M. Riley, chief counsel for the defense in the Biddow case, unexpectedly met Saturday for the first time in forty years. These two men were chums in their young days down in Seaman, Pa., but had drifted apart and neither knew where the other was until they chanced to meet face to face Saturday. Mutual recognition was instant in spite of their long separation and the evening was very enjoyably spent in going over the escapades and events of their boyhood days.

Goes To Ishpeming--August Erickson, for the past twenty-three years in the employ of The Mining Journal company, has gone to Ishpeming, where he will assume charge of the linotype room for the Ishpeming Iron Ore. Mr. Erickson has been one of the Mining Journal's company's linotype operators since its battery of machines was first installed, and is an excellent linotype machinist as well as a good operator. Mr. Erickson, during the long period he has been in their employ, has been continuously in the employ of The Mining Journal company.

Business Unsatisfactory--The traffic manager of the Chicago & Duluth Transportation company, which is running the steamer Pere Marquette No. 5 into this port this season, writes that the business given it by Marquette business men is not as satisfactory as it was so far unsatisfactory in volume. The water route offers a considerable saving in freight rates and should be taken advantage of by the business interests. Unless the company gets a fair amount of traffic the service will not be continued. The field has not been very well worked up by the company as yet, and this in a measure doubtless accounts for the unsatisfactory business.

Great Improvement to Store--The new plate glass front just installed at A. E. Archambeau's clothing and men's furnishings store is a great improvement. The new arrangement gives Mr. Archambeau two commodious windows in which stock can be shown to advantage and the general appearance of the store, both inside and outside, would be a credit to a city much larger than Marquette. The boys of both sexes were attracted to the store and tasty selections from the stock are artistically displayed. Above the plate glass fronts, a section of prism glass has been put in, which makes the whole store much brighter than formerly. The woodwork has been furnished in oak to correspond with the interior furnishings.

Wants New Depot--The unsanitary barracks used by the Soo Line at Marquette for depot purposes so thoroughly misrepresents the importance of Marquette as a city and shipping point that our citizens have decided to take the matter up with the railroad company with the view of persuading it to erect a structure in keeping with the importance of the city, says the Pioneer-Tribune. Outside of Minneapolis itself, more business is done by the railroad company in Marquette than in any other city on the line, yet Marquette has a depot whose double may be seen at any of the flag stations along the line. Our business men feel that they are not being treated right by the company, and that they are deserving of some consideration. The depot we now have gives the traveling public a very poor opinion of the city. Very little of the town is in view and the appearance of the depot effectively carries out the idea that Marquette is a small village. Root for a new depot, sign petitions, and if necessary send a delegation of representative citizens to Minneapolis to confer with the officials. We believe that concerted and sincere efforts at this time may achieve prompt and effectual results.

MARQUETTE MAN WEDDED.

Miss Elsie Grosse and Edward Constance Married at Little Suamico, Wis.

A pretty wedding was held Wednesday last, at St. Pius' church, Little Suamico, Wis., Rev. Father Novak officiating. The contracting parties were Miss Elsie Grosse, daughter of G. A. Grosse, Sr., and Edward Constance, of Marquette.

At 10:30 o'clock the bridal party entered the church to the strains of the wedding march played by Mrs. Hartho of Green Bay. They were preceded by John McHugh, of DePere, and George Murphy of Oconto, acting as ushers, and were followed by the little Misses Alice Tremel and Margaret Grosse, nieces of the bride, and Miss Laura Grosse, sister of the bride, and Dr. E. H. Beselmann, of Marinette, cousin of the bride, and bride's maid and groomsmen, respectively.

The bride was attired in a gown of white messaline, beautifully decorated with silk and pearl ornaments. The bridesmaid wore a gown of pink silk. Both wore picture hats and carried shower bouquets of roses.

Following the ceremony the bridal party, with relatives, repaired to the bride's home where a sumptuous wedding breakfast was served. In the afternoon a reception was given to relatives and intimate friends of Mr. and Mrs. Constance, dainty refreshments being served by the Mrs. Charles and Fred Grosse and Mrs. Bosse.

The house was prettily decorated for the occasion, the large floral bell, pink and green, being used in the dining room, red and green in the parlors, and yellow prevailed in the hall.

The gifts were numerous and beautiful. Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. A. Witte and daughters of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Vuth and Olive and sons Otto and Lawrence of Marinette, Mr. and Mrs. J. Kurka of Green Bay, Miss Lena Mueller of Green Bay, Miss Mabel McKenna of Green Bay, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Bosse of Green Bay, Misses Vangie and Elsie Constance of Marquette.

Mr. and Mrs. Constance left for a trip to Chicago, Duluth and other points, after which they will return and be at home to their friends, after Aug. 1, at Green Bay, Wis.

Joy Rider Jailed--Jolin, the chauffeur, who distinguished himself as a joy rider, and in so doing extinguished the Nicholson touring car at Manistique, has been arrested and taken to the county jail from the hospital where he was being treated for minor injuries. He was arraigned in Justice Knox's court and was bound over to the circuit court in the sum of $500 for his appearance at the next session of the circuit court. Being unable to furnish the necessary bonds, he is in jail. He denies any confession of his movements the evening of the joy ride and it appears that booze played an important part in the transaction.

Position for Prize Student--Miss Anna Hankey, the Houghton girl who was recently honored at the University of Michigan by being chosen a member of the Phi Beta Kappa, the scholarship fraternity, has been chosen as one of the seniors for whom teaching positions has been secured by the appointment committee of the university. It is announced that Miss Hankey will teach English and German next year at Norway. Miss Hankey's scholastic record, both in the Houghton high school and the state university, has been a most remarkable one. She stood one of the highest in her class in the high school and when the committee of the Phi Beta Kappa was selecting the candidates for membership in their fraternity they discovered that the scholastic record of Miss Hankey was higher than that of any other student in the university.

Suicide at Manistique--Louis Jordan, aged forty years, committed suicide by cutting his throat with a razor, at the Keystone Hotel at Manistique. He deliberately planned the deed, for after cutting the gash he held his head over a stop jar so that the blood would not fall on the carpet. A chambermaid endeavored to get into his room for the purpose of fixing it up. The door was locked and hearing strange noises within, she called Proprietor Olson, who affected an entrance by breaking down the door. Jordan was nearly dead at that time and passed away before a physician could reach him. The regular vein was severed. The deceased was a native of Sweden. During the past winter he was employed by the South Side Lumber company, at Hiram, Wis. He came to Manistique about two weeks ago and secured the position of chorboy about the Keystone hotel. He was sober at the time the deed was committed, had done his work about the hotel during the morning, and was ordered to cut the grass on Mr. Olson's lawn. Mr. Olson supposed that he was at the house at the time.

GRAFT CRUSADE NOW UNDER WAY

Rudolph Spreckels Has Organized Office at Washington and Is Making Plans.

Washington, D. C. June 26.—Rudolph Spreckels evidently means business with his national graft crusade. The movement has been organized and an office opened in Washington with Harry W. Walker in charge. Local headquarters will be established also in Chicago, New York, Boston, San Francisco and other large cities. The plan is to operate something like a political Red Cross organization. Whenever an epidemic of graft breaks out in a community sluths will be despatched to the center of trouble with instructions to go after the corruptionists. Trained experts will be employed who will be supposed to recognize a boodler at sight and be thoroughly informed about Jack pots, strike bills, trapping delegates and all the other dark methods employed by those who seek to corrupt lawmakers.

It appears that Mr. Spreckels has obtained the cooperation of some big national characters. Mr. Walker says that among the men who are with the California millionaire are ex-Governor Folk of Missouri, who has a miniature presidential boom attack; Norman Hays of Collier's, who has directed many of the exposes of that publication; Perry Belmont, who used to give out frequent statements of the need for a campaign publicity law, and Andrew Carnegie.

In Formative Period. It seems that the movement is only in its formative period. The actual work of going out and exposing the grafters and corruptionists will begin later. Just now Mr. Spreckels and his assistants are engaged in an effort to unite under one common management all the crusaders in the land. Overtures have been made to the officers of the Civic Forum, the Belmont Publicity League, the women interested in the suffrage movement and other leaders in work for the general uplift. The idea is to bring representatives of all these organizations to Baltimore for a great conference in the fall. It is said that Cardinal Gibbons has promised to preside and that a great number of college presidents, divines, crusading governors and others of like character and habit have agreed to be present.

The Spreckel organization has taken the formal title of the National Anti-Graft movement. It is getting out some literature intended to quicken interest in the general campaign of purification. In the literature are liberal extracts from Mayor Gaynor's speech to the midshipmen at Annapolis a few weeks ago, in which he told of the extent to which graft exists in high official places. Orders have been issued to incorporate certain portions of Governor Hughes' special message to the New York legislature in which he insists that the probe shall be used without mercy wherever official wrongdoing exists in the Empire state.

No Plans for Capitol Yet.

So far as the Washington work is concerned nothing seems to be contemplated in the way of aggressive sluthing for the present. Just now Mr. Walker is engaged in working up interest in the anti-graft movement and in encouraging publicity. While Mr. Spreckels is furnishing the cash for the present operations it is proposed that the various cooperating organizations shall help pay the expenses in the future. This is one of the chief reasons for enlisting others in the crusade. After matters have been thoroughly organized, however, it is proposed to turn the searchlight on the doings in the great white marble building on Capitol Hill. If there is any graft going on there the Spreckels sluths will uncover it. It is a notable thing that past efforts systematically to expose alleged corruption in Washington have generally failed. The people's lobby was established for this purpose, but fizzled out after a session or two, accomplishing nothing.

Several committees to investigate so-called legislative scandals have been appointed by congress from time to time. The chief product of these inquiries has been whitewashes. During the postal frauds expose five or six years ago many surprises were uncovered. However, it is promised that the Spreckels National Anti-Graft movement will stir things up both at Washington and throughout the country, and warnings are now given that it will be unsafe for legislative boodlers to ply their trade in the future.

Markets

WALL STREET STOCKS.

New York, June 26.—Paine, Webber & Co. say of yesterday's stock market: "The list was again under pressure, but the selling was not as aggressive as heretofore. The technical position of the list has been greatly improved by the extension of the short interest, but the operators for the decline have again become quite aggressive and perhaps will endeavor to force a lower range of prices whenever an opportunity is presented. Any change for the better in weather conditions over the northwest Sunday will probably have a favorable effect on sentiment Monday."

Boston Stock Quotations.

Boston, June 26.—Yesterday's stock market at Boston is summarized by Paine, Webber & Co. as follows: "Scattered selling continued all through the list today. Only a small portion of the stocks were quoted and the prices of those showed slight recessions. We look for continued dullness with a sagging tendency, but we think stocks should be conservatively purchased in anticipation of a general improvement in the situation."

Paine, Webber & Co.'s Wheat Letter.
Chicago, June 25.—The market acted during the morning like that of yesterday. The early selling was mainly by the pit leaders. At the decline a group of the biggest commission houses took the offerings. The market had a strong rally of 1/2 cents from the low point. The whole trade was in a bullish frame of mind because of the nearly 2 cent upturn in the September price at Minneapolis and no one leader could check the force under the market here. The reports of damage from the northwest continue unabated despite the scattered rains.

Cotton Market.
[By Paine, Webber & Co.]
New York, June 25.—It was distinctly a waiting market and prices moved over a narrow range for lack of incentive. The weather in Texas is attracting more attention than any other feature. Showers were had in the eastern sections of that state and during the evening and fairly good rains over Sunday deterred buyers, however. Next Tuesday will be the first notice day for July deliveries.

LOWER STATE NOTES.
LANSING—According to a decision of the attorney general the property of the Tappan Presbyterian church at Ann Arbor is exempt from taxation. The question was raised by the local assessment committee and it is held that under the special act of incorporation of the association its property, which is used for good work among the students and a rooming house for girl students, is exempt.

PORT HURON—George Plant, seventy-eight years old, placed a glass of beer to his lips while standing front of the bar in a local saloon and fell dead before he had finished drinking it. Heart failure, superinduced by excessive heat, is given as the cause of death. He left the county poor house a few days ago after living there two years. Little is known of him here except that he had been married twice.

LANSING—Some increases in valuations resulted from the visit of the state tax commission to St. Johns to review the tax rolls of that city. The assessment of the St. Johns Wagon works was increased from $1,500 to $14,000, the concern having been on the rolls at $15,000. Some other raises were or-

LANSING—Because he was thirsty and didn't want to bother his mamma, the two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Sharp, 1012 May street, drank what he thought was water from a saucer sitting in the woodshed, and instead took a quantity of gasoline into his stomach. When found in the shed his mother and the child were nearly dead. A doctor was called and after hard work succeeded in saving the little fellow's life.

LANSING—The assessing officers of Beaver Creek township, Crawford county, have placed a value of $20,410 on the 1,907 acres of state forest reserve land in that township and under the state law allowing the public domain commission to pay taxes for highway purposes on this property the township will probably ask for a check for about $150 in settlement of taxes. The rolls are before the land department for approval.

OVID—Mrs. George C. Weatherbee, who, after obtaining a judgment for $2,800 against George R. Byam and William A. Bloss, former saloonkeepers and their bondsmen for the death of her husband, who was drowned, sued the two parties on behalf of her year-old daughter, has settled the second case for $1,500. In payment of the $2,800 judgment she received checks from the King Brewing company of Detroit, and the Grand Rapids Brewing company, each paying half.

OWOSSO—William Ingram, aged eighty, and Gertrude Nich, aged eighteen, both inmates of the county house, figured in the strangest episode of the county's history. The girl's room was found vacant at 5 o'clock and suspicion at once pointed to Ingram, who has been clumming with the girl. The sheriff hurried in every direction. Half an hour later they returned to police headquarters with the names of half a dozen boys, all members of prominent Flint families. It all happened this way: After the graduation exercises were held in the high school a dozen or more of the boys remained at the school after it had been closed. The others left the building and secured a quantity of dynamite. In accordance with a prearranged plan the school bell tolled loudly at 4 o'clock. This was the signal to touch off the dynamite and the explosion followed. Then the bluecoats went out and nabbed a few celebrants, who were released and allowed to go home after they had given their names to the officers.

LANSING—Olaf Mickelson, owner of the Wisconsin fishing tug which caused so much trouble for Deputy Game Warden Pettit and his assistants in Green Bay a few days ago, has forwarded $100 to State Game Warden Pierce for a permit to fish in Michigan waters. Pierce is undecided whether to accept the amount or return it with a warning to Mickelson that if he is caught in Michigan waters he will be prosecuted for assisting Michigan officers. During the struggle on board the Wisconsin tug which took place between Mickelson and Deputy Pettit, Mickelson's shirt was torn off, and he had the audacity to present a bill to the state for a new shirt.

STRENUOUS FIGHT BY WIRELESS INTERESTS

Control of Future Development of Commercial Service the Prize Fought For.

New York, June 26.—It has been known for some time that a very serious, strenuous competition, a most aggressive battle for supremacy, has characterized the wireless telegraph interests identified by Marconi's name and those identified by the name of De Forest. Sometimes it has been thought that this was preliminary to an ultimate absorption of the two interests into one.

This competition has been especially heated recently, or certainly within the past year, because of the now convincing demonstration of the commercial practicability that lies in apparatus invented for utilizing electrical waves in the atmosphere. Competent telegraphers using the Morse or other system are convinced that some kind of wireless system will within the next ten years be commanding relatively a business as great as that of the land telegraph companies, and that the future possibilities for wireless telegraphing are boundless. Very likely the realization of the commercial possibility that lies within the wireless system has served greatly to stimulate this competition. But apparently the postoffice inspector feels that he is justified in laying before the grand jury evidence tending to show that, not satisfied with the commercial possibilities that are in the wireless systems, some promoters have endeavored to discount the future, and take immediate profits, leaving a too confident public to make hereafter such reckoning as is possible.

In this community not much is known of the president of the United Wireless company, Mr. Wilson. He is understood to have had the greater part of his training elsewhere than in New York. If there has been expert use of the mails, so that the public has been criminally tempted to invest in worthless securities, and if it be shown that President Wilson is chiefly responsible, it probably can also be shown that he learned the unworthy strategies of stock manipulation and flotation elsewhere than in New York.

But the vice president of the company, Samuel S. Bogart, had been for many years in business life in New York, and is a citizen of one of the neighboring towns of New Jersey, highly esteemed by all who know him. In his early manhood he was known as an expert telegrapher. He was associated with Thomas A. Edison, and these two men have been personal friends for many years. He mastered not only the practical side of telegraphing, but also what may be called his business side. Years ago he was one of those who predicted that the time would come when the telegraph would be used for night mail service, so that business men would carry on much of their correspondence by means of it.

That is exactly what President Vail of the telephone company, within the past year, has accomplished, so that it is now said that the amount of night correspondence transmitted by the telegraph companies has already become very great and is each month increasing.

Later in his career Mr. Bogart became associated with some real estate interests, and was the manager of one of the large office buildings in the vicinity of the Grand Central station, a building recently torn down to make room for a greater one.

In all his career Mr. Bogart has maintained a very high reputation for personal probity. He would have had no difficulty in getting bond for any amount that the court had exacted. Those who know him best will be greatly surprised if it should be shown by evidence that he had guilty knowledge of the facts as alleged in the initial proceedings brought by the post-office inspector. For, if he did, and if he proved, then his friends will be convinced that his case is one of the rare ones in which men who lived business and personal lives in probity have been in the closing years of their careers tempted or misled so as to participate in acts forbidden by the statutes.

BIRD CHAT.

Birds shun pestilential places and all places infected with plagues. The lens of America lay 850,000,000 eggs annually. The swiftest animal is the ostrich, which can do a mile a minute. The Australian mound bird builds the biggest nest in the world. A pigeon has been known to fly a thousand miles in two days, six hours. Game cocks and ducks sometimes take to catching mice, which they devour greedily. The voice of the naked throated bell bird can be heard at a distance of three miles. In the interior of Peru eggs are used as currency. Who knows what kind of eggs they are? In proportion to its owner's weight, a bird's wing is twenty times as strong as a man's arm. Every eight months ostriches are plucked, and each plucking yields about a pound of feathers. Stale eggs once had a commercial value, as hickening was originally made of them and used. The kick of an ostrich is terrible; it will knock out a man quicker than one of Jim Jeffries' solar plexus blows. The turkey's real name was Meleagris, by which it was known to the Cherokee Indians, and so called from its call. A single crow has been known to eat 700,000 insects a year. The organ of smell in the turkey buzzard is so delicate that it can scent food at a distance of forty miles. A bird dealer in Paris is trying to raise canaries of an orange red tint by feeding the parent birds on cayenne pepper. In China athletes train on duck brains, which they regard as the most strengthening of food. Ostriches are now hatched in incubators with the maintenance of 110 degrees of heat before the chicks begin to appear.

ISHPEMING WON SATURDAY'S GAME

Dixon, in the Box for the Hematite City, Secured His Second Shut-Out.

Ishpeming won a rattling good game from Negaunee Saturday at Union Park by a score of 2 to 0, both runs being made in the first inning. Dixon, who was in the box for Ishpeming, pitched effectively and was given faultless support. Steidle also pitched a splendid game for Negaunee. Ishpeming's hitting was timely. Negaunee had three errors, but none of them aided Ishpeming in scoring, while the latter had but one error, that being a fly dropped by Laxstrom. The game was one of the prettiest that has been seen on the local grounds this season. The result was in doubt until the last man had been retired. The features outside of the battery work of both teams was the playing at first, second and short by Larson, St. John and Whitman of the Ishpeming team, and Cullis' work at short for Negaunee. St. John went into the game against his wishes, with a crippled right arm, strained while pitching against Escanaba the previous day, but he nevertheless played a phenomenal game. Whitman opened the first inning for Ishpeming and after Steidle had pitched two balls and two strikes, he pitched the ball for three-bagger over McCrory's head. Burke and Kiebs fanned and Score was given a base. Laxstrom singled, Whitman and Score scoring on the hit. Larson fanned, retiring the side. Steidle held his opponents down closely after the first inning, though in the third and fourth he was hit for two-baggers by Score and Dixon, both of whom died on second. Dixon left the bag, thinking that the umpire had called a foul, and as he was walking in Steidle touched him, the umpire calling him out as the hit was fair. St. John at second made one of the prettiest one-hand pick-ups, after a long hard run into right field, ever seen on the grounds. The ball was batted by McKale and looked like a sure hit, but St. John threw him out at first. Dyer and Varebrook, the latter of Marquette, were the umpires. The players on both sides kicked on a few decisions but both umpires took a decisive stand and the arguments were brief. The most strenuous kick was registered by Ishpeming in the sixth. Messier was on first and Swick sent a grounder to Whitman, the latter making a pretty pick-up. It appeared to the Ishpeming players as though he touched the second sack. He then threw out Swick at first. Dyer claimed "he did not touch the bag and he refused to change his decision. The summary:

DEFECT IN BUILDING BILL.

Ishpeming Will Evidently Not Secure Its Federal Building Very Soon.

A dispatch from Washington Saturday stated that the discovery has been made that the public buildings bill, involving about $20,000,000 as it passed the senate and house, does not carry an actual appropriation of moneys, but merely authorizes the purchase of sites and the erection of buildings. The bill originated in the house and it is stated, it was generally understood that there was to be no immediate appropriation of money, although the number of the members worked ardently for the bill in the belief that their districts were to receive some immediate benefit. It was explained by a statement from the house committee on appropriations that the superintendent architect of public buildings was so far behind with his work that there was no use of appropriating money for any additional buildings for "at least sixteen months to come.

When the board of review completed its work it was found that the total valuations of the tax roll was $228,986 less than was last year's roll. All of the decreases with the exception of $50,000, that was taken from the Pittsburg & Lake Angeline company's real estate, was granted the mining corporations on account of there being less ore in stock this spring than there was last year when the valuations were taken under consideration by the assessor.

Weiser, who held down second base for Ishpeming for a few weeks at the close of last season, is expected to join the team some day this week. He has been playing good ball with one of the teams in the Illinois-Wisconsin league. He applied for a place on the team, and as the nine has not had a regular second baseman for some time the management was glad to get him, as he is a fast player.

SENSELESS COMET SCARES.
Preposterous Predictions by Scientific Men of Latter Days.

Since Halley's time, says the Scientific American, the chance of a collision between the earth and a comet has engaged the attention of many astronomical mathematicians. Laplace, for example, pointed the possibility of a collision with the earth so vividly that he started his day and generation. He drew a picture of a comet whose mass was such that a tidal wave some 15,000 or 14,000 feet high would inundate the world, with the result that only the higher peaks of the Himalayas and the Alps would protrude. Lalande created a panic by a similar consideration of the subject in a paper which was intended for publication before the academy of sciences, but which was not read. Such was the popular excitement, that he felt himself constrained to allay the public fears as well as he could in a soothing article published in the Gazette de France. The masses assumed by both Laplace and Lalande are so preposterous that their theories are no longer seriously considered by any sane astronomer.

Since the day of Laplace and Lalande there have been several comet "scares." Biela's comet crossed the earth's orbit on Oct. 2, 1832. When that fact was announced, Europe was in a ferment. The orbit of the earth was confused with the earth itself. Such was the popular excitement that Arago took it upon himself to compute the possibilities of a collision. He pointed out that the earth did not reach the exact spot where the comet had intersected the earth's orbit until a month later, on Nov. 30, on which date the comet was 60,000,000 miles away. Incidentally he pointed out that a collision was always happily remote. He thought that the chances of a meeting were about one in 281,000,000. Babinet, on the other hand, thought a collision was likely to take place in about 15,000,000 years.

More recently the entire problem has been considered by Professor W. H. Pickering of Harvard. By a collision he understands, first, that any part of the earth strikes any part of the comet's head; second, that any part of the earth strikes the most condensed point in the head (the core) as distinguished from the larger nucleus. What the average size of a visible comet's head may be we have no means of knowing. Young estimates that for a telescopic comet it averages from 40,000 to 100,000 miles in diameter. The head of the great comet of 1811 was 1,200,000 miles; that of Holmes' comet in 1892, 700,000 miles; and that of naked eye comets generally over 100,000 miles.

In the last half of the last century 121 comets, including returns, penetrated the sphere of the earth's orbit. From this Professor Pickering infers that we should expect to be struck by the core of a visible comet once in about 40,000,000 years, and by some portion of the head once in 4,000,000 years. More comets' orbits are more thickly distributed near the ecliptic than in other regions of the sphere. The collisions would occur rather more frequently than this, but hardly as often as once in 2,000,000 years, and since it has been estimated that animal life has existed upon the earth for about 100,000,000 years, a considerable number of collisions, perhaps as many as fifty, must have taken place during that interval. In Professor Pickering's opinion, evidently without producing any very serious results.

Previous to 1800, tallow dips and wax candles were the only sources of light; then came gas lighting and about 1850 the oil lamps came, becoming very widely used in the sixties. In 1870 the first arc light was used in a lighthouse and later they were installed for street illumination. The incandescent lamp was discovered by Edison in 1880 and the latest development in electric lighting, the new metal filament lamps, is only about a year old.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running, sore or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are cured by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

WILD CATS IN CAPTIVITY.

Four Kittens That Remain Around House Like Dogs.

I was fortunate enough to secure a female wild cat which had been caught in a trap by a keeper in the extreme north of Scotland. It was not long in my possession before I arrived at the conclusion that there are few animals wilder than a wild cat. The beast was so savage that I found it impossible to do anything to the injured forelimb, but nature came to the aid of my captive, and the leg, although remaining slightly deformed, became quite serviceable. In about a month's time the cat, which afterward escaped and was shot while raiding pheasant rearing grounds, presented me with four kittens, and knowing the cannibalistic tendencies of wild animals in captivity, made arrangements to remove the kittens as soon as they were born. One had, however, been made a meal of before the others were rescued.

The remaining three were transferred to a foster mother in the shape of a gentle stable cat and the family survived all their infantile ailments and are still alive. Notwithstanding their environment and the excellent example shown them by the stable cat the kittens were practically untamed terrors with every one but myself until they reached the age of four or five months. After that period they seemed to have a greater faith in human nature, or perhaps familiarity had bred contempt, though even yet there are times when the wild ancestral blood courses madly through their veins, and for days they are almost unapproachable. But in their quieter moments they follow me about like dogs and respond to a call or whistle. I give them their liberty only during the day now, and even then they are under observation, as once when I let them out of their quarters in the evening they bolted.

After much difficulty I recaptured two, but the third did not return for a week and I was surprised that it came back at all. On warm moonlight nights they will wander to the domestic tabbies, and the voice of the ordinary cat is a mere whisper compared to the calls of those products of the pine woods gloom, and I had to remove my three wild cats to a place where they were no neighbors whose dreams could be disturbed.—The Scotsman.

WHERE LOOKS DON'T MATTER.

Apreros of a titled foreigner's recent marriage to a rich and rather ugly American girl, Paul A. Sorg said at a dinner in New York. "The count has no cause to complain. The ethics of such a marriage as his are but the ethics of the matrimonial agency. "A man called at a matrimonial agency. "I am interested," he said, "in the young lady who has $250,000 in her own right. Could you let me see her photograph?" "No; that is not the custom," the agent replied. "In any case over $100,000 the photograph is never asked for."

Fine grades of paper are now finished on electrically heated rolls. Electricity is being used extensively throughout the manufacture of paper and its products.

Negaunee Department

NEGAUNEE WON IN NINTH INNING

Five Men Cross Plate With Two Men Gone and Two Strikes on Third.

Negaunee defeated Ishpeming yesterday by a score of 6 to 5, scoring five of the runs in the last inning, after two men had been retired and two strikes had been recorded against Lafave, who started the Ishpeming balloon skyward when he pounded out a single.

The performance on Negaunee's part was almost an exact duplicate of the game between the same two teams on May 31, last year. Goulette was then in the box, as he was yesterday, when the run-making started, but the slugging began with no one out. The score at the beginning of the ninth was 6 and 1 in Ishpeming's favor, while in yesterday's contest it was 5 and 1 in favor of the Hematite City nine. In yesterday's game, as in the sensational contest of last May, Negaunee had but three hits off Goulette when the fireworks were touched off. In last year's game Roberts and Lafave secured singles and Siebenhitler hit for two sacks. Messier came up and Goulette fumbled his ground hit. Toman was then put in. Swick singled and Scanlon and Paul reached base on errors by Goulette at second and McLaughlin at third. Messier bringing in the final run on McLaughlin's fumble.

Goulette went into yesterday's game with a sore arm, and he was very wild throughout the game. Besides hitting five batters, he walked two. In the sixth Heidenson was hit a terrific blow in the face by a pitched ball but after some minutes he resumed playing.

There were a good many who did not see the final ascension yesterday, as they had left the grounds thinking the fun was over. Ishpeming's "bloody ninth" opened with Messier at the bat. He fanned and Swick, the next batter up, sent a fly that Sinecek handled in center. Lafave and Roberts each singled and Roberts was hit by a pitched ball, filling the stations. Steidle singled, scoring Lafave and Roberts and sending Rains to third, himself reaching second, while the ball was being tossed about the infield. Dixon then went into the box, but there was no stoppage to the slugging, as Cullis hit the ball for three bases into deep center, scoring Rains and Steidle. McCrory then sent a grounder down to Seore, the latter fumbling it. Cullis bringing in the winning score.

Negaunee scored her first run in the sixth. Cullis opened with a single. McCrory sent up a pop foul that Klebs handled. Cullis was thrown out at second when he attempted to steal. McCrory stole second and was taking a long haul when he was thrown from the plate to Whitman, the runner started for third. Seore failed to get Whitman's throw, which was low, and McCrory scored.

Negaunee did not play anything like her usual game, as the error column indicates. However, who has not yet fully recovered from injuries received in games at Marquette and Crystal Falls, was in the box the first three innings, but Ishpeming hit him so freely that Steidle succeeded him in the fourth.

In the ninth inning Ishpeming had five batters up, but no hits were recorded. The second inning opened with Larson, who singled and went to second on Swick's error. Sinecek sent the ball into right for three sacks, scoring Larson. St. John sent a grounder between second and first, which was between Swick's legs. He stole second, but was later thrown out. Klebs to Rains, when he attempted to steal third. Goulette singled, Whitman popped to Heidenson and was put out. Burke singled, scoring Goulette. Klebs reached first on Roberts' failure to handle his ground hit, but Burke was thrown out at the plate, Roberts to Heidenson, when he attempted to make home on the misplay. In the third inning Seore touched Rosevear for a single and Larson swatted the ball for three bases. This was the only run made. The three put-outs were on fly balls, two to McCrory and one to Rosevear.

Ishpeming scored her fifth run in the fifth. Seore batted a fly that McCrory dropped and he was retired to Laxstrom, who went out. Rains to Roberts. Larson sent a single mark. The score above a single mark. The score above a single mark.

William Walters, who is making a specialty of sorting and grading moving lawn, has had considerable work this spring. He did a fine job at the public school grounds, where he used between twenty and thirty loads of sod. The lawn was seeded with grass last year, but it did not grow as well as expected, so the board of education decided to sod the entire plat. Mr. Walters has also improved several private lawns in the city.

David Wood, the Duluth contractor, who will erect the new union railway station here, has a considerable quantity of crushed rock has arrived and work on the concrete foundation will be started within a few days. The scene at the station will be a busy one from this time on as the contractor intends to employ as many men as possible and the railway companies will also have crews working there adjusting the tracks.

NASTASI STILL AT LARGE. Countrymen of Man Who Did Shooting Refuse to Make Complaint.

Tony Nastasi, who wounded Peter Sino, Peter Certo and Frank Catanece, at the former's boarding house, near the Marquette County, Gas & Electric company's power plant last Wednesday night, has not yet been apprehended. None of the men who were shot by Nastasi would swear out a complaint against him. The marshal thinks Nastasi is in Ishpeming.

It is reported that the quarrel between Nastasi and Catanece, which culminated in the shooting, was over a woman that both are smitten with. One of their countrymen expressed surprise that they had not come together before, as he said that there was much rivalry between them.

None of the men who were shot by Nastasi will be obliged to remain away from work very long, as their wounds are healing rapidly. The wound in Catanece's shoulder is not as serious as at first supposed.

Meals prepared quickly and cheaply with a gas stove, Marquette County, Gas & Electric company can supply it on short notice. (6-14-tf)

WOULD LIKE TO RETURN.

Roy Cullis, shortstop of the Negaunee baseball team, Saturday received a letter from "Reddy" McKey, former catcher of the local nine, in which he expressed a desire to come to Negaunee to finish out the season. McKey has been pitching for Battle Creek and it is said that he has been doing fairly good work. It was reported here the latter part of last week that he had been signed with the Chicago "White Sox" for next season, but nothing to that effect has appeared in the papers, and the report is undoubtedly erroneous. It is said, however, that several of the big baseball men have been in the lower peninsula watching McKey work, with a view to securing him, but up to this time he has received no offers. The Negaunee team cannot use McKey as Heidenson is giving excellent satisfaction behind the bat. McKey finds the Battle Creek job rather difficult as the team is playing nearly every day and he is doing most of the catching. He states in his letter to Cullis that he would appreciate a rest.

Have you a gas stove, the kitchen's greatest necessity, and the cook's most faithful friend? Order one from the Marquette County, Gas & Electric company. (6-14-tf)

EXCURSION WELL ATTENDED.

A total of 370 Marquette county people went to Escanaba Saturday on the Chicago & Northwestern Railway company's special train chartered by the French societies. Eight coaches were well filled when the train pulled out of Negaunee, shortly after 7 o'clock. Marquette had a larger turnout than any of the other cities, the total number from there being 114. Negaunee sent down 108 and ninety-seven went from Ishpeming, the remainder of the excursionists being from Republic and other parts of the county. The excursionists arrived home early Sunday morning.

Those who want to fill up their yard may get sand free and loaded on their wagons from the Workers' Hall company's lot, nearly Hanson & Son's meat market, on Tobin street. Men can be found working on the lot during all day. (6-27-1d)

The Scandinavian society's old time market attracted another fairly large crowd to the Cleveland park Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. J. P. Miller and her daughter, Miss Alice, and sister, Miss Joseph Laughlin, left Saturday for Chicago and Milwaukee on a visit to friends. They will be absent ten days or two weeks.

William Nadeau's dog was run over by an automobile and killed Friday. Whitening on the street near his home. Tong and he said Saturday that he would let her have sold it for $50.

AN UP-TO-DATE STOVE

Do you realize there is no longer any reason why you should use a coal range? Oil is cheaper than coal; it is lighter and easier to handle, and gives an intense heat. Provided you have the right stove, oil is more economical, cleaner and less trouble. Have you seen the

New Perfection Oil Cook-stove

The accompanying illustration gives you only a rough idea of its appearance. You really can't appreciate it until you either use it yourself, or talk to someone who has used it. It does everything that a coal range will do—except heat the room. The New Perfection Oil Cook-stove will do anything, from heating a kettle of water to cooking a course dinner, but it won't heat a room. It doesn't "smell," it doesn't smoke. It can't get out of order. Light it and it is ready. Turn it down and it is out of carrying coal and cooking in the kitchen is cool.

Only a woman who knows the trouble of carrying coal and cooking in a hot kitchen can appreciate what it means to have a clean, perfect stove that will cook anything, boil, bake or roast, and yet won't heat the kitchen. How is it done? The flame is controlled in the quize-blue enamel chimneys, and directed against the bottom of pot, pan, kettle or oven, and only there. The flame operates exactly where it is needed—and nowhere else. With this stove your kitchen is cool.

The nickel finish with the bright blue of the chimneys makes the stove ornamental and attractive. Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners; the 2 and 3-burner stoves can be had with or without Cabinet. Every dealer everywhere; if not at yours, write for Descriptive Circular to the nearest agency of the Standard Oil Company (Incorporated)

Gladness comes with a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed and assisted by the pleasant laxative remedy Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. To get its beneficial effects always buy the genuine manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co.

MARQUETTE WON AND LOST ONE

Took Saturday's Game from Crystal Falls Nine by the Score of 6 to 4, But Was White-washed Yesterday in One of the Best Games of the Year.

Marquette took even on the trip to Crystal Falls this week, winning Saturday's game by the score of 6 to 4, but losing yesterday to the Iron county team 1 to 0. In Saturday's game Marquette battled Hollenback hard and in the eighth he was forced to retire. The wall was a mystery to the Marquette team yesterday and but two hits were made off his delivery. Frost pitched an almost equally good game, however, and Crystal Falls' single tally was due to errors by Mack and Frost, followed by Metier's two-base hit.

Four new men appeared in the Crystal Falls line-up this week, and the team is now believed to be as good as any in the league. Their defensive work Saturday and Sunday was first class in every respect and from now on the Iron county nine may be expected to taste their share of the game.

In the game Saturday, Crystal Falls scored in the first inning and held the lead until the eighth, when the Marquette players got to Hollenback and scored four runs. These runs were brought in by three doubles and a sacrifice hit. Biopelle's two-bagger bringing two men across the plate, Empire Connolly was hit by a batted ball and although he finished the game he was unable to officiate in Sunday's contest.

Pitchers' Battle Sunday.

Sunday's game was a pitcher's battle between Oswald, for Crystal Falls, and Frost, for Marquette. Two hits were all that were made off either pitcher, though both made off Frost were good for two bases. The only score was made in the third inning, when Mack fumbled a bad bounding grounder knocked by Lade, the runner going to second on Frost's lead throw to catch him off first, and stealing third while Mack was arguing with the umpire, Metier's two-bagger brought him home.

Second Team Defeated.

The first game of the new Marquette-Aiger baseball league was played at the fair grounds yesterday, the Gwin team defeating the Marquette second team by the score of 10 to 2. Inability to hit Lindville, the Gwin pitcher, coupled with seven errors, was responsible for the second team's downfall.

Gwin pitched the game in the first inning by scoring four runs. Robare hit into left field and made two bases on Smith's fumble. Mains singled, scoring Robare. Kilder was out, but Lindville's single brought in Mains. Jeanson hit Granville, forcing Lindville to second and Alsop went to first on Jeanson's error. Billing the bases, Hoagland reached first on Orbeassa's error. Lindville and Alsop scored. This was enough runs to win the game, but for good measure, Gwin added two more in the third, three in the sixth and one in the ninth.

Jeanson, although hit rather hard, could have kept the score down if he had been given better support. The second team played raggedly in the field and were weak in their batting. Gwin, however, had a much stronger team than had been expected. In their line-up yesterday were McCrory, formerly of the Negaunee team; Mains, a brother of the Mains formerly on the Isipeming team; Johns of Rapid River, Hoagland and Lindville.

Lindville had sixteen strike-outs and allowed but four hits. Jeanson gave eleven hits, struck out four and gave one pass to first. A fair-sized crowd witnessed the game.

MUCH ENTHUSIASM.

Baseball Meeting to Be Held at the Guild Hall Tonight.

The Guild Hall members have caught the baseball fever in earnest. A meeting of the fans will be held at 7:45 this evening at the Guild Hall to select captains for the first and second nines and to appoint a baseball committee, and the meeting promises to be large and enthusiastic. The first nine will be composed of the strongest players, and will represent the Guild Hall in matches with outside clubs. The second nine will consist of younger but promising players, each of whom will strive to make it plain that he ought really to be on the first nine, and promotions from the second to the first nine will be made as vacancies occur. The two nines will be selected at once and after a few days practice, will play their first match.

Longyear field at the foot of East Ridge street has been leased by the Guild Hall association for baseball and other out-door sports, and with a little roofing and other work, it can easily be made a fine baseball field. A wire netting backstop will be put up and a regulation diamond laid out and put into first class condition at an early date. The field is not enclosed, but it is believed that at games with outside nines that would justify an admission fee, the "hat can be passed," as is frequently done at college games, with satisfactory results.

The players will practice each day this week at 4 p. m.

Several Noted Educators and Speakers Have Been Engaged to Lecture, Among Whom Are Professor Howerth, A. E. Winship, F. K. Walter and Miss Massee.

The eleventh annual summer session of the Northern State Normal school will open today and continue six weeks, closing Aug. 5. Today will be devoted to the enrollment of students and regular class work will begin tomorrow. Last year the summer term was attended by nearly 400 students, and President Kaye is of the opinion that the attendance will be fully as large this summer, and perhaps larger.

Instruction will be given in all the departments of the school by the normal school faculty, assisted by extra instructors in special lines of work. Among such special instructors are Fred A. Jeffers, superintendent of the Painesdale schools; E. L. Parmenter, commissioner of schools, Dickinson county; S. O. Clinton, superintendent of schools, Baraga; W. A. Pierson, science teacher, Marquette High school; V. Winnifred Lacey, principal Cleveland school, Isipeming; Sara M. Nicholson, principal Central school, Ironwood, and Mabel C. True, state librarian, Lansing. The work of the summer school is specially arranged for students pursuing regular courses and for teachers who may wish to do special work.

Institute courses will be given in all subjects required in the examinations for the first, second and third grades. A course in library methods, and one especially designed for teachers in country districts where no libraries exist will be given. Special courses will be offered in music, drawing, nature study and domestic science, designed to give elementary teachers a working knowledge of these subjects.

Noted Lecturers Engaged.

As last summer, a number of eminent lecturers and educators have been engaged to give a series of lectures. These lectures will be both popular and scholarly, and will appeal to the general public, as well as to the student body.

Professor Ira Woods Howerth, of Chicago university, has been engaged for the week of July 11. As a thinker and writer on educational topics Dr. Howerth has attracted wide attention. From January, 1908, to April, 1909, he was a member of the Illinois Educational Commission, and as such he rewrote and revised the general school law of that state. His experience in all grades of schools, from the country school to the university, his knowledge of educational philosophy, and his ability as a public speaker, enable him to present his lectures practically and interestingly. His course of lectures will include the following subjects:

- 1—The Rising Generation.
- 2—The Physical Welfare of School Children.
- 3—Talent and Opportunity.
- 4—Education and Public Health.
- 5—Learning and Labor.
- 6—Brains vs. Battleships.
- 7—Paternalism—Instinctive and Intelligent.
- 8—The Heroism of the Common Life.
- 9—Social Waste in Education.
- 10—Education and the Common Weal.

Mrs. Abby Snell Burnell, who gave entertainments in Marquette last winter, has been engaged to give a series of monologues on Hindu life in July 18 and 19. Dr. A. E. Winship, of Boston, will give a series of lectures July 25 and 26. Dr. Winship is known everywhere as one of America's greatest educators. While here, he will give his new lecture on "Schools and Their Critics."

Frank K. Walter, vice director of the library school at Albany, N. Y., will spend two weeks lecturing, beginning the middle of July. He will give a series of lectures pertaining especially to library work and also several of a more general character.

Miss May Massee, children's librarian at the Buffalo public library, will give a course of lectures on children's reading, children's books, and children's literature. She will bring with her a model children's library of 500 volumes, which should be of interest to teachers, parents and students.

A series of lectures on practical pedagogy and teaching has been arranged to be given by a number of leading superintendents in the upper peninsula. Each of these superintendents will be several lectures on practical themes. The series will be given by Orr Schurtz, Negaunee; F. D. Davis, of Escanaba; L. E. Amidon, Iron Mountain.

JAHN'S STATEMENT REGARDING BEDDOW

President of Bank Told That Beddow Was Innocent in Stalake Draft Matter.

It is now believed that the Beddow case, which has been on trial in United States court for the past two weeks, will go to the jury next time Wednesday, though there are so many possible contingencies that this is rather an uncertain prediction. Only a half day session was held Saturday, during most of which Beddow was on the witness stand undergoing a direct examination. The direct examination is still unfinished and was suspended to permit two other witnesses for the defense, J. W. Best and Chris Larson, to give their testimony in order that they might return to Ironwood Saturday night.

Mr. Best testified that he had a conversation with H. F. Jahn, president of the bank at the time of its failure, the day before he killed himself. The witness said that Jahn had told him at that time that Beddow was innocent of any wrongdoing in connection with the Stalake draft transaction, on which one of the counts of Beddow's indictment is based. Mr. Larson is Beddow's father-in-law and he testified that Beddow was at Mercer on a vacation from Aug. 11 to Aug. 14, the time when the Stalake draft was presented at the bank for payment.

Beddow's direct examination Saturday consisted of his explanation of the bank entries, which the government alleges he made on the books of the bank for the purpose of deceiving the national bank examiner and the banking association. Beddow's story of the different transactions did not differ materially from that brought out by the witnesses for the prosecution, except that he denied any knowledge or suspicion of doing wrong when he made them. He testified that he had simply made the entries on the order of Jahn or Larson in the regular course of his duties as bank bookkeeper, and that there was nothing on the face of the slips or other data he received from his superior officers to excite suspicion that they did not represent bona fide transactions. Thus far, Beddow has told a very plausible, straightforward story.

QUEEN OF TOURNAMENT.

Some Upper Peninsula Young Woman Will Have Honor at Firemen's Meeting.

Though the Upper Peninsula Firemen's tournament to be held at the Soo in August is still more than a month away, members of Morse hose company are already laying their plans for visiting the Lock city at that time and indications are that there will be a large delegation to the tournament from Marquette. The Soo department is making great preparation for the comfort and enjoyment of its guests on that occasion, and the program promises to offer some unique features, one of which is outlined in a letter just received by Chief T. J. Sweeney:

"The firemen and citizens of Sault Ste. Marie have decided to honor some lady as queen of the Firemen's tournament to be held at the Soo, August 10-14. Who is going to be the queen? She will be from some town whose firemen are members of the Upper Peninsula association. No town is debarred from entering the race, except the Soo.

"We are anxious to have every town enter this contest and the lady receiving the highest number of votes will be honored as queen. Five cents will count one vote for your favorite. All regulations must be made by postoffice order, payable to E. S. Boyce.

"Pick out the lady you wish to be honored and get busy. The contest will close on Tuesday, August 2nd. No votes will be honored after this date.

"If each department will take hold, you will materially aid the Soo firemen to make the tournament a success, and at the same time make some good advertising for your town, whether you win or not. Possibly some of the smaller towns might join together and in that way have more chance of bringing the queen to the tournament."
