Mining News. NOTES OF COPPER NEWS. In the fiscal year ended June 30, last, Wolverine is estimated to have earned under $600,000, which is less than the amount paid in dividends. The total cost per pound of copper was under seven and one-half cents and the output about 10,000,000 pounds. The leasers on the Silver King mine of Davis-Daly have made an important strike at a depth of 125 feet in a new shaft where the Silver King vein has been cut. A drift of 100 feet shows over seven feet wide averaging 3 1/2 per cent copper and ten ounces of silver. The total width of the vein has not been ascertained. The First National Copper company has made a contract with the Mountain Copper company for the mining and smelting of all the ore in the "New Year's" mine, which lies adjacent to the Well ore body of the First National. A contract was recently made with the Bully Hill Copper company to treat their output, and at present sixty tons of ore are being sent to the smelter daily. Almek is one of the very few Calumet & Hecla companies that has produced substantially more than half as much copper in the first six months of 1910 than in the year 1909. It has made good progress with its two new shafts, which should be a factor in its production by the close of the year. It has put two heads of its stamp mill in commission and the other two heads are expected to be ready next fall. Hayden, Stone & Co. say: The enlarged smelting plant of Granby is all paid for and it would seem safe to figure its outside cost of production at eleven cents a pound, giving it, theoretically, earnings for the year of $3 a share. The stock market, however, tells a different story; either stockholders have been frightened out of their senses, or the last word on this property has not been said. Shipments from the Butte-Balaklava property to the Pittsmead smelter of the East Butte company continue at the rate of 200 tons daily. The earnings for June amounted to $85,000, which, considering the ample surplus on hand, would appear to afford justification for the payment of the initial dividend of fifty cents. The company has 250,000 shares outstanding. The property, consisting of six acres, was originally a bequest to one of the Butte churches, passing from them to the present owners, a clear title being given, and Negaunee Department. DELIGHTFUL MOTOR TRIP. Cleveland People Made Run from That City to Escanaba. Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Wilson and S. A. Hart, Jr., wife and son, of Cleveland, made the trip from that city to Escanaba in a motor car, coming from the latter place by rail to Negaunee. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson were the guests of Mrs. Elizabeth Mitchell and family Monday and yesterday, Mrs. Wilson being Mrs. Mitchell's daughter, and Mr. Hart and his family were the guests of W. A. Garner. All left last night for their home. They will make the return trip in the car, leaving Escanaba this morning. The trip was greatly enjoyed, as the weather was pleasant during the entire journey. The distance covered between Cleveland and Escanaba was a little less than 800 miles. They made the journey in a 1910 Franklin touring car, averaging 125 miles a day. They had no mishaps, not even a punctured tire. The roads for the greater part of the distance were in good condition.

TAXPAYERS PLEASED WITH SCHOOL REPORT. Board of Education Commended in Resolution Adopted Monday Evening. The members of the board of education received a strong endorsement at the annual meeting Monday evening, when Alderman William Haggett offered a resolution of thanks to the trustees for the excellent services they have rendered. After the secretary's annual statement had been read, Mr. Haggett commended the careful manner in which the school affairs have been handled, and referred particularly to the fact that, with the exception of the bonds issued on account of the meeting of the new high school, all but $3,000 of the bonded indebtedness had been wiped out. He was pleased to note, he said, that the board had made provision for redeeming the final $3,000 in bonds outstanding against the old school during the present year. He felt certain, he said, that the taxpayers would also be pleased that $10,000 less money was asked for than was raised last year. This alone, he declared, carried proof that the affairs of the schools were being carefully handled. The resolution presented by Captain Haggett was unanimously adopted, as was the proposition to place $40,000 on the tax roll for school purposes. While there was no opposition to R. G. Jackson and Thomas Connors for election as members of the board, much interest was manifested in the meeting and election. A total of 107 votes were cast. The largest vote ever cast in an election for trustees was polled three years ago, when Messrs. Jackson and T. M. Wells were rival candidates. In that election nearly 500 taxpayers and school patrons voted.

ACCOMMODATION NOTES AT ISSUE

First of the Many Suits Brought by the Receiver of Defunct Ironwood Bank Tried in United States Court Yesterday, Herman Skud Being Defendant.

Defense Is That End of Paper Showing That Stock Was Attached as Collateral Has Been Cut Off—Plaintiff Asks Court to Direct Verdict in His Favor.

The first of the many actions brought by Receiver Tillinghast of the First National Bank of Ironwood against signers of "accommodation notes" found among the bills receivable at the time the bank was closed, was begun yesterday in United States court. In this case Herman Skud, an Ironwood merchant, is the defendant, and the receiver is suing to collect $2,300 and interest from April, 1909, from Mr. Skud. The plaintiff is represented by Mr. Tillinghast, who is an attorney, and H. M. Norris of Ironwood; the defendant by Belmont Waples of Ironwood and M. J. Sherwood of Marquette.

The note itself is about the sum and substance of the plaintiff's case. The receiver states that an unsecured note for $2,500, signed by Mr. Skud, was found among the assets of the bank shortly after its failure and that Mr. Skud has refused to pay this note, because of which he is now being sued. J. B. McCormick was the only witness called by the plaintiff, who testified to having overheard a conversation between Mr. Tillinghast and Mr. Skud, in which the latter said that the note in question was his note. On cross-examination, the witness stated that Mr. Skud might have said it was his signature, instead of that it was his note.

Mr. Skud and his attorneys maintain that this note was given to Mr. Larson, cashier of the bank, at the latter's request, who at the time it was given, secured it with 200 shares of Butte-Balakava and 100 shares of Shattuck-Arizona copper stocks (Larson's own stock), and to show that the note was so secured that Larson wrote across the end in the margin, "200 Butte Balakava; 100 Shattuck." No such annotation or stocks were found attached to the note by the receiver, and the defendant claims that the stock was converted by some one and that the end of the note bearing the notation has been cut off without Mr. Skud's knowledge or consent. In proof of this claim, the defense offered in evidence another note said to have been taken from the same pad of note blanks, which is about as eighth of an inch longer than the note at issue.

Motion to Direct Verdict. Mr. Tillinghast asked that the court direct a verdict in favor of the plaintiff.

on the ground that the defense offered did not constitute a legal defense. Mr. Tillinghast's chief argument was that Larson did not have authority from the bank directors to make any such arrangement with Mr. Skud and that the bank could not be held for Larson's personal acts. Mr. Skud gave as the reason for signing the note that Larson had said he was short of money and wanted to borrow in that way, as he could not, as an officer of the bank, borrow from that institution. Mr. Jahn also said it would be a personal favor to him for Mr. Skud to do this. The note was not made on the usual form of collateral note, to which stock was attached as security, but there were other collateral notes among the bills receivable in substantially the same form as the Skud note.

When the testimony was all in, Judge Denison excused the jury while the motion to direct the jury to return a verdict in favor of the plaintiff was being discussed. Before the attorneys began their arguments, the court stated he was then inclined to think that no legal defense had been made, but was open to conviction otherwise. He said that in giving the note Skud was really endorsing a loan from the bank made by Larson and that if Skud knew that his note was to be used to deceive the bank examiner as to the assets of the bank, he was a party to the fraud to an extent that would debar him from any rights in a court of equity.

The arguments of the attorneys on Mr. Tillinghast's motion were concluded when court adjourned last evening, and Judge Denison will make known his final decision this morning.

SETS THE STYLES.

College Lad Now an Important Factor in Matters Sartorial.

"Kindly take note of the passing of the duds," said a local tailor yesterday. "Nowadays we call him the rah-rah boy from college. Perhaps it is only a different manifestation of the same instinct, but there are very few mere duds now."

"I don't know just what happened, but I believe the men have learned how to dress, without going to extremes, and the fashions now are less pronounced and sensational than they used to be. You will recall the days of the wide trousers and the narrow collars, and the high collars, and other awful developments, but there is not much of that sort of thing these days."

"It is the college boy now who sets the styles, and the business men follow. He has pegged the tops of all trousers more or less, and set a lot of other fashions. Note the brands of ready-made clothing with college names. Nearly every dealer enters to them more or less, and if a man can suit the college crowd, he can be sure of the older men."

"About the only simon-pure specimen of the classic dude that used to be cartomped with eyeglasses—but isn't any more—is the man who carries a cane that is for ornament only. There are a few of him left, but not many."

CIRCUS COMING.

Campbell Bros.' Consolidated Shows Will Be in Marquette Aug. 4.

W. H. Quinnett, advance agent for Campbell Bros.' Consolidated shows, was in the city yesterday and made arrangements whereby this company will give an exhibition and circus in Marquette Aug. 4. This will be the first appearance of the Campbell shows in the upper peninsula and but little is known of their size and merit locally. The company will show at Hancock, Calumet, Ishpeming, Marquette, Sault Ste. Marie and Escanaba.

Mr. Quinnett promises that this will be one of the best circuses that ever visited Marquette, and further declares that no gamblers, fakirs or other objectionable persons are allowed to travel with the company. He says the company travels in forty-two cars, has twelve elephants, two hundred camels and twenty cages of animals, in addition to a large band of high class circus performers.

STUDIED MEXICAN BIRDS.

George Shiras III Member of Party That Visited Tampico Bay.

George Shiras III is in the city, having accompanied his father, Judge Shiras, here from the east for his annual summer visit to Marquette. Last spring Mr. Shiras, in company with three other students of bird life, visited the Tampico bay region in Mexico, one of the spots where semi-tropical birds are found in the greatest abundance in that country, and spent five weeks observing the habits of many species, photographing them both in still life and in action, taking moving pictures of their colonies and pursuing other scientific inquiries. The party was engaged with this work from the latter part of March through April.

The other members of the party besides Mr. Shiras were F. M. Chapman, curator of birds in the American Museum of Natural History in New York; L. A. Puertes, a bird artist of wide reputation, and Chapman Grant, of San Diego, Cal. Mr. Chapman's mission was to prepare exhibits for the Museum with which he is connected. The bird which the scientists particularly sought to study was the roseate spoonbill, which is an almost extinct species, and they were successful in making some valuable observations of its habits. The white ibis, man of war bird, brown pelican and egret were also observed. The latter is another almost extinct species, it having been practically killed off by market hunters tempted by the extravagant prices offered by millinery establishments for its plumage.

Mr. William Noce, representing the Wilton and Brussels Rug & Carpet Co. of Philadelphia, will be at Hager Bros. Co. Ltd. store, Thursday July 14th with full sample line of the finest line of goods manufactured. Any parties wishing to see these goods may see same my calling. (7-13-10)
