SHOT KILLS PROMINENT CHICAGOAN

Ira G. Rawn, President of the Monon Railroad, Dies of a Bullet Wound Inflicted at His Summer Residence at an Early Hour in the Morning.

Family Lays Tragedy to Burglar, but the Police Believe It a Case of Suicide—Dead Man Involved in the Illinois Central Graft Investigation

Chicago, July 20.—Ira G. Rawn, president of the Chicago, Indianapolis & Louisville railroad (the Monon route), died of a bullet wound at his summer residence at Winnetka, fifteen miles north of Chicago, early today.

The members of the family say he was killed by a burglar. The police are working on the theory that Rawn killed himself.

As a basis for the suicide theory the police advance the following reasons: They point to the fact that Rawn was operating vice president of the Illinois Central railroad at the time the fraudulent car repair contracts were put through, and was recently drawn into the Illinois Central graft investigation as chief witness.

They say that the action of Rawn's relatives in refusing the aid of the Chicago detective department in a search for the alleged intruder is suspicious. They declare there exists a lack of convincing evidence that an intruder actually had been in the Rawn residence.

Story of the Wife.

The wife of the dead man; R. G. Coburn, his son-in-law; Mrs. Coburn and two children, and three maids were in the house when the tragedy occurred. Mrs. Rawn says that her husband was aroused from sleep at 1:30 o'clock in the morning by a noise on the first floor. She says that he picked up a revolver and started downstairs and was shot on the landing halfway down.

Both Mrs. Rawn and Coburn say there were two shots. A minute search in the front of the hall and the adjoining rooms, however, apparently showed that but one bullet was fired. The police say that this was from Rawn's own revolver and that it apparently had passed through Rawn's body just below the heart.

Powder Marks on Nightgown.

Coroner Peter Hoffman took personal charge of the investigation. He refused tonight to say whether he thought the case one of murder or suicide. He stated, however, that powder marks had been found on Rawn's nightgown, indicating that the bullet which killed him was fired at close range.

Employees of two detective agencies appeared late today at the residence. A brief altercation followed until members of the household ordered one set of men from the grounds. Coburn instructed the men remaining to keep all persons away from the premises and give no information to any inquirers. The set ordered away is believed to be employed by an insurance company in which Rawn is said to have had a $100,000 policy or by railroad interests.

DR. CRIPPEN IS REPORTED TO HAVE FLED TO SPAIN.

London, July 20.—Scotland Yard is still without information other than that contained in the newspaper dispatches concerning the report that Dr. Crippen, wanted in connection with the disappearance of his wife, appeared recently at Vernet-les-Bains, France. According to these stories the fugitive spent last Sunday night in the French city. Gardemes were sent to arrest the suspect, but when they arrived at the hotel he had left for Spain.

London, Thursday, July 21.—The Scotland Yard detectives now are turning toward Spain as the point sought by Dr. Hawley H. Crippen. They believe the report that he and his stenographer, Ethel Clara Leneve, have gone in that direction. They are sending out thousands of descriptive circulars, offering a reward for the apprehension of the dentist.

Mrs. Young Believed Near Death.

Chicago, July 20.—Mrs. Alexander G. Young, who was shot by Charles W. Rigdon Friday afternoon, just before Rigdon met his own death by a bullet wound, has suffered a relapse and the physicians say it is likely that the wound will prove fatal.

PREACHER FROM ENGLAND A SUICIDE AT NEW YORK.

New York, July 20.—The body of Rev. Athelton Cornforth, of London, Eng., was found today in a lonely part of Colonial Park with a bullet wound in the mouth. A revolver was near the body. A photograph in his pocket gave the address of English friends on the back. The body was identified tonight in the morgue by a woman who claimed it under the name of Edith Hall Cornforth. No reason was given for the suicide, which, the coroner seems to be, the preacher came from England two months ago and little is known about him.

Aberdeen, S. D., July 20.—Fire starting from electric wires tonight destroyed the Gottschalk theatre, the Wells-Banta Whip company's building, the Aberdeen glove company's plant, the Opera House, the Gottschalk Motor company's garage and the Spaulding Automobile company's quarters, entailing a loss of $75,000, covered by insurance.

GRAND JURY INDICTS GOVERNOR OF IOWA

True Bill Charging Criminal Libel is Voted Against Hawkeye State's Chief Executive.

Des Moines, Ia., July 20.—Governor Carroll was indicted for criminal libel by the Polk county grand jury today. The indictment is a growth of the investigation by the grand jury of the affairs of the Iowa Industrial School for Girls at Mitchellville. It is alleged in the bill that the governor made libelous statements concerning the former chairman of the state board of directors in an address published in the Des Moines Capital May 24 and in which the state executive set forth at length his reasons for demanding the resignation of Chairman Cowie.

POLICE AT DETROIT RECOVER JEWELS VALUED AT $6,500.

Detroit, July 20.—Jewels valued at $6,500 and said to have been stolen from the residence of Attorney J. C. Jones of St. Louis, Mo., were recovered by the police here today. In connection with the case a woman who says she is Mrs. Anna R. Scholes, of Los Angeles, is being held for the St. Louis officers.

COPPER SHARES ARE RESURRECTED

They Live Up Both Here and Abroad—Output to Be Curtailed, 'Tis Said.

New York, July 20.—There was a glimmer of speculative interest in the copper industrial today. This was indicated by the fact that the market for copper shares was a strong feature in London and Paris, indicating considerable scope for the movement, whether of purely speculative nature.

The realizing movement usual in a narrow market was reversed in the early trading. An element in the reaction was the decision of the interstate commerce commission against the reasonableness of the lumber rates to the Northwest on traffic originating in Southwestern territory.

Grain Markets Strong and Higher.

Chicago, July 20.—It was nip and tuck between the American Northwest and the remainder of the world today in regard to supplying bullish news for wheat. Especially as to the Canadian portion of the spring crop held the lowest estimate to date concerning the yield for the season was brought forward. A firm feeling prevailed at the close, with the prices 1 to 1 1/2 net higher, the corn market ruled strong and higher, and at the close showed substantial gains. No rain reported and none in the forecast for the corn-growing districts was the cause of the firmness. The close showed gains of 1/4 to 1 1/2, the September at 62. Though the oats market opened weak, it closed strong, with net gains of 1/4 to 1/2 on the day. The weather in the oats states was favorable for maturing and ripening the crop, and large yields were reported in many sections. Large purchases by local speculators gave the market its strength at the close. The September opened at 39 1/2 and closed at 39 1/2.

FOREST FIRES BURN TWO SMALL TOWNS IN WISCONSIN.

Milwaukee, July 20.—Dispatches from the northern part of the state tell of heavy fires wrought by forest fires in small lumbering towns. Manitowish, a place of 400 inhabitants, and Heinemann, with 500 people, have been destroyed. Forest fires also are raging near Wittenberg. A large amount of lumber and timber has been destroyed.

DAILY MINING JOURNAL

MORNING PAPER PUBLISHED BY THE MINING JOURNAL CO. (LIMITED), MARQUETTE, MICH., JULY 21, 1910.

A little more rain, please. Well, how about the street fair?

No fault to be found with the grass-hopper, crop, however.

Uncle Samuel has $38,000,000 of ready cash. But Uncle Sam is a jolly old bachelor.

Bristow, Murdock & Co. and Uncle Joe Cannon seem able to take care of one another in the Kansas free-for-all.

If Atlantic City learns how badly Detroit feels over the Elks' convention it will be likely to renig on the 1911 show.

Even Hughie Jennings himself, the lion hearted Hughie, must begin to have serious doubts about that fourth penant.

Of course if our Marquette team, in its turn, can capture that next series with Negaunee the situation will look a little brighter.

Speaker Cannon may run for another term as executive officer of the house, but the issue will doubtless prove that the "run" will be all there is to it.

Col. Buffalo Bill Cody is this year making another of his annual farewell tours, with his brave company of untamed cowboys and Indian bucks.

That cow Josephine, of Missouri, she of the electric fan, has just broken the long distance milk record. Evidently it would pay all dairymen to pamper their stock.

Senator Burrows and Representative Townsend dined together at a railroad lunch counter this week, in a recess from the cow paths. Both smiled pleasantly.

A Wright or Curtiss aeroplane is a little beyond the purse of the fair association, but it will do the next best thing and present an old fashioned kerosene oil balloon ascension.

Those candidates for the legislature who have been insisting that they would do as they tarried pleased, irrespective of the state wide majority in the senatorial primary, are left without a candidate for senator to stand on.

Ironwood has just licensed a second electric light and traction company, and Ironwood is none too big to support the one it now has. It won't be long after company No. 2 gets going when the U. S. bankruptcy commissioner receives a hurlyburl cry from that fair city.

Grand Rapids increased in population between federal censuses 25,006. The city now has 112,571 inhabitants, but is faultfinding because it isn't 120,000. The census bureau is no more successful in satisfying people than the weather bureau.

The tax commission is in Houghton county this week. Commissioner Shields says he knows of no particular reason why they are there and opines that they are simply making the usual annual visit. That certainly is the most comfortable explanation.

Thanks to the statute of limitations, the adjudication of the cases growing out of the bank smash at Ironwood is now about at an end. If it were not for that statute, there would be still more, and intensely interesting, litigation. The statute of limitations is a great life saver.

Senator Bristow says that Speaker Cannon is putting up his fences against the time when he will be a candidate for re-election, and that he can't fool anybody. It may be so, but there are a lot of people who have the idea that the speaker is putting up the Democrats' fences.

The Ohio convention can have its own way about platform and candidates. Both President Taft and Colonel Roosevelt have declined to do anything to the end of controlling its deliberations. The colonel hopes that the convention will adopt a progressive platform, but does not indicate just what his ideas of a progressive platform are. Former Secretary of the Interior Garfield also is out for a progressive platform, and wouldn't dodge the nomination for governor, if it came sailing along in his direction. There are several candidates for this nomination, no one of whom yet appears to have a majority of the delegates, and when it comes to predicting who the Ohio Republicans will place at the head of their ticket one man's guess is as good as another's. The Georgia senate has passed a bill making it illegal to exhibit anywhere in the state moving pictures of prize fights. A similar bill is on file in the house, and is expected to be passed by that body, also. Sentiment in the legislature is strongly against the exhibition of the Johnson-Jeffries fight pictures, through fear that they would lead to serious race disturbances, and to make them illegal the legislature considers it wise to put all pictures of that class under the ban.

Mr. Hemans doesn't feel a bit friendly toward the upper peninsula. He doesn't like the way it rolled up votes for Governor Warner two years ago. If Mr. Hemans thinks back to that time he will recall that he slighted the upper peninsula in his campaign. He visited but a few of its counties, and did not penetrate into the copper country at all.

If Mr. Hemans had campaigned in this region more industriously and thoroughly, he might have obtained more votes up here. He did well enough where he put in a little work. Mr. Hemans shouldn't blame the upper peninsula for his own shortsightedness in 1908.

The Negaunee board of public works has called for bids on the contract for paving Iron street, the principal business thoroughfare and two short streets leading from it, with creosoted block, and the work will be carried through to completion the present season, it is expected. It is also possible that the street railway will be removed from Iron street, in which event Negaunee will have one of the finest business streets in the upper peninsula—one which will doubtless give civic pride in that city a great impetus and in time lead to many other related public improvements. Negaunee has, within a few years, become one of the most progressive towns in the upper peninsula.

President Taft is paying the great mass of Republican voters the highest compliment he could pay them when he refuses to do anything that will conflict with his theory that they know enough to manage their own political business. President Taft's example might well be noted and followed by many noisy statesmen, including "the leading citizen and one of the oldest residents of Danville," who has been raising such a clatter in the confines of Kansas the past week. It isn't on record that the voters of Kansas sent any hurlyburl cry for advice to Danville at any time in the recent past, and the issue will no doubt show that they resent gratuitous interference with their affairs by outsiders, and unsought advice.

Uncle Joe's Kansas eloquence reminds that Representative Parsons' charge that Uncle Joe's friends and Tammany entered into an illicit bargain by which the regular Republicans were upheld in their organization of the house by Representative Fitzgerald, and other Tammany Democrats, in return for assurances that the bills for election reforms in New York city would not be allowed to pass in the New York legislature, still stands. Representative Parsons, who was formerly chairman of the Republican county committee for New York, has never retracted a word from these charges, and they have never been effectively refuted by the Uncle or his close friends, while there is much prima facie evidence to give them plausibility. The house was organized as Uncle Joe wanted it organized by the grace of Tammany votes, and in due time the election bills that Tammany wanted killed in the New York legislature were killed. There are many excellent reasons why Uncle Joe's insistence on placing himself in the forefront of the pending campaign is an exhibition of execrable judgment—the Parsons charges are only one of them.

PEARY'S RECORDS PUBLIC. Commandant Peary, discoverer of the pole, makes public his observations in the immediate neighborhood of the pole in the August number of the magazine which purchased his story. These proofs have already been presented to and passed on by several leading scientific bodies and have been held to be sufficient. Last winter they were demanded by the congressional committee that had under consideration the recognition that should be accorded by congress to Peary for his feat, and his refusal to make them public at that time was seized upon as an excuse to treat him in a shabby manner, with which his cordial reception abroad has been in pleasing contrast. Peary was unable to meet the demands of the congressional committee without violating his contract with his publishers. Peary has shown himself free from taint of mercenary motives. He has made no attempt to capitalize his exploit into a fortune for himself. Lectures that would have netted him large sums he has refused to deliver. One substantial cash testimonial presented to him he turned over intact as a nucleus for the expenses of a proposed south polar expedition. About all he reserved for himself was the income from his writings relating to the expedition. It was unreasonable for the committee of congress to insist that he violate his contract relative to those writings by giving premature publicity to his records.

The fishing industry of the United States is valued at more than that of any other country.

PLEDGE THE CANDIDATES. Commenting on the acceptance by the candidates for senator of the statewide interpretation of the primary vote, the Grand Rapids Herald says: "Candidates for Republican seats in the legislature can now have no excuse for failure to respond to this intelligent and laudable leadership. There was only one possible way for defeating the will of the people as expressed in the senatorial primary, and that way was for part of the legislature to be guided by the result as totaled in the whole state and for another part to be guided by the result as figured for the home constituencies—each legislator choosing that method which would justify his vote for that candidate for senator who might be his personal choice. These legislative candidates are now in duty bound to declare their willingness to be bound by the state-wide result of the primary; that method of interpretation which is asked for by the senatorial candidates themselves, and which has been publicly endorsed by 90 per cent of the state press, by the state grange, by the governor who signed the legislative bill making the primary possible, by a vast majority of those legislators who voted for it, by the attorney general of Michigan, by party leaders everywhere, and by the statewide organization bearing the self-explanatory name of the Michigan Republican Primary Defense League. These pledges from state legislators are still necessary, despite the clear statements from Mr. Townsend and Mr. Burrows, lest some tangle result which might—as in the case of Illinois—bring in a new dark-horse candidate for the senate who has neither the courage nor the willingness to dare a test vote of the people whom he might seek to serve."

Wife and Country. Paul D. Cravath, the noted New York lawyer, said at a luncheon at the Lawyers' club:

"Vacation time is here, and already that dreadful song about the wife gone to the country is being resurrected. "But a variant to the song was furnished by a conversation I overheard the other night."

"Hello, Smith!" said one man to another. "I'm glad to see you back at the club again, old fellow. Wife off to the country, eh?"

"No," Smith growled. "She's got 'em."

"The old woman's tea?" said I, puzzled.

"Then Mr. Croker explained that this old woman used to brag about her tea in these words: "Och, but mine is the lovely strong tea. Sure, it takes such a powerful grip on the second waterer."

Sealed proposals for furnishing all labor and material for constructing a chemical house and apartments in the city of Marquette, Mich., addressed to the Secretary of the Board of Fire and Water Commissioners, and endorsed "Proposal for Constructing a Chemical House and Apartments," will be received by the Board of Fire and Water Commissioners at their office until 8 p. m., Tuesday, August 2nd, 1910, in accordance with the plans and specifications on file in the office of the commissioners, from whom copies may be obtained. Gus Krueger, but John D. M. MacKay leans Osborawari, as does Guy A. Miller, who is a candidate to succeed Senator Mackay in the Third. Just where the house delegation stands is hard to ascertain, as the members are nearly all candidates for reelection and they are keeping out of other fights. John C. Lodge, John Stevenson and Bob Ogg are all Osborn men, but they, aside from Representative Miller, are the only ones who have made an open statement on their preference in the matter.

It is entirely too early to make predictions on the outcome but it looks like a good fight for Wayne.

LOWER STATE NOTES. SOUTH BRANCH.—Mrs. Peter Mohan, living about a mile from Maltby, Ogemaw county, uses a log cellar for a milk house. She found the other morning that a big bear had been there before her, tearing down part of the roof and several logs, and had helped himself to five pails of milk. Bruin is still at large.

FLINT.—A special from Denmark, a German settlement, twenty-five miles northwest of Flint, is the oldest third National Rogers, ten-year-old son of Michael Rogener, died from lockjaw, as the result of a toy pistol accident. The boy caught one of his fingers in the pistol hammer and, although the bruise was very slight, it was sufficient to allow the deadly tetanus to get in its work.

KALAMAZOO.—Because he refused to pay alimony to his former wife, Austin Cooley was sentenced to jail for ninety days. Mrs. Cooley was granted alimony, which now amounts to over $500. He refused to pay the money and when brought before Judge Knapp was sentenced to spend the rest of his life in jail rather than pay. His former wife declares that if the amount is not paid when his present term in jail expires she will have him arrested again.

LANSING.—Since the supreme court handed down its decision confirming the lower court opinion which compelled non-resident liquor dealers to pay the state license of $300, twenty-five have requested the auditor general for permission to do business in the state. It is expected that petitions from the other 100 will be received within the next few days.

JACKSON.—Harry Schofield, of Detroit, sentenced at Monroe in 1906 for fifteen years for assault with intent to commit robbery, escaped from the Michigan state penitentiary. Exit was made over the north wall via a rope attached to a hook. He apparently believed that the meeting of the prison board of control to approve the bonds of Acting Warden Stone was an opportune time to make a break for liberty. Officers are scouring the country and his early capture is expected.

IONIA.—Herbert Taylor, an attendant at the state asylum, was struck on the head with a window weight in the hands of William Burke, an inmate. Dr. Smith of Grand Rapids was called to assist local surgeons in an operation, but Taylor did not rally and died Monday. Taylor came to the asylum about two weeks ago from Paw Paw. He was making beds when Burke came up behind him with the weight. Burke came to the asylum from Marquette twelve years ago and is serving time for manslaughter. His prison record has been a good one.

LANSING.—During the past year the state highway department paid out for state road work $1,383,349. Of this amount $12,000 was paid for roads which were constructed last year but were not inspected by the department in time to be incorporated in the previous report. Two and three-quarter miles of class A road was constructed, for which the department paid $250 per mile. The other classes are as follows: One hundred and fourteen and one-half miles of class B road at $500; one mile of class C road at $750 per mile; three and one-quarter miles of class D road at $750 per mile; 65 2-3 miles of class E road at $100 per mile.

SAGINAW.—Saginaw police are looking for Frank Green, a young lad who escaped from police headquarters. Green and three companions were confined in the second story, on suspicion of highway robbery. Green and another lad named Padden worked during the early evening cutting away part of the ceiling. Through the hole Green crawled along between the roof and ceiling, reaching a trap door from which he dropped into the corridor. The rear window was open and he climbed down a steel pipe running from the roof. A dog was discovered in the act and caught.

LANSING.—The plans of Architect E. A. Bowdler for the new Sparrow hospital for this city have been accepted. The building will be in a modified "U" shape, with two wings at an angle of 45 degrees adjoining the main part. It will be of pressed brick, with Amherst sandstone trimmings. The length from one end to the other is 296 feet. The construction and equipment of the building will be of the latest design in every respect. The hospital will be located on East Michigan avenue. Both the building and land are donated by Edward W. Sparrow of New York city, formerly of Lansing, the total of his gift amounting to $100,000.

MOUNT CLEMENS.—Undersheriff Mathews was called to the home of David Hemming, on the Shoemaker road, Chesterfield township, where he found wandering in the hallway a half-demented stranger. The man was brought to this city and cared for, but is unable to give his name. From rambling talk it was learned that he is a sailing tinker in Wheeling, W. Va., and has been taking baths here. All night he wandered through the fields, tearing down fences and gates, and entering the rear door of the Hemming home, and was helping himself to things in the kitchen. When discovered he was ordered out, and again commenced tearing down the fence along the highway and doing other strange stunts until taken in charge by the officer.

COOPERVILLE.—Overcome by the heat while working on the Grand Rapids, Grand Haven and Muskegon inter-urban tracks near Mona Lake, Liss Green, thirty years old, a section hand, was struck by the railway, fell across the third rail which furnishes current to the cars and was almost instantly killed, the heavy voltage from the rail passing through his body to the ground.

The body was enveloped in blue flame and sparks and none of the other members of the section gang dared remove it until precautions to prevent another grounding of the current had been taken. Green was unmarried. The body was removed to his home at Nunica.

Copper Country

HOMESTEADERS ARE SEEKING WORK

Continued Drought Ruins Crops and Causes Many Small Farmers to Give Up

The continued dry weather throughout the copper country district is having had a bad effect on the foreign homesteaders located in the power farming districts and reports are being received to the effect that many of them are leaving their homesteads or rented farms to seek work elsewhere as their crops are ruined for this year.

This condition is largely the result of inadequate farming facilities by the poorer farmers and homesteaders. These people have taken up wild land and have cleared it by dint of great labor and the resulting farming amounts to little else than putting in the seed and trusting to nature.

The older farmers, around Chassell for example, are hauling water from Portage lake and irrigating their farms in a crude way.

It is considered by all who observe the agricultural situation that unless rain comes within a very few days this will be a black year for farmers.

FISH HATCHERY NOT FOR COPPERDOM

Superintendent Marks of the Soo Cannot Find a Suitable Site in This Region.

Superintendent H. H. Marks of the Soo fish hatchery, who has been here investigating probable sites for that hatchery, which is to be removed from the Soo, left yesterday for Ishpeming and Marquette, to investigate sites there.

Mr. Marks said before leaving that the copper country does not offer a site which has sufficient water and also any shipping facilities. He looked over the Pilgrim river yesterday and said that it is not flowing more than 3,000 gallons of water where it should be flowing 18,000 gallons.

Mr. Marks' investigations show him that there are no flowing springs of any great volume in the copper country, that most of the water in the streams comes from the rain and snowfall and that the destruction of the forests has had a tendency to destroy the country's ability to hold this water after it has fallen.

Mining News

ARIZONA & MICHIGAN.

Development at the Arizona & Michigan property continues along the same lines as heretofore, the work all progressing for the purpose of opening the Old Dominion and Blackbird veins at the Denn-Arizona property.

The Telfair shaft is 1,629 feet in length and is still in shale containing an abundance of iron oxides. The Old Dominion vein should be opened by this crosscut at an early date according to all information that is obtainable from the surface outcrop and from other parts of the district where this vein has been encountered in the underground workings of other properties.

Sinking in the Blackbird shaft has been stopped at a depth less than 400 feet, while a gasoline hoist is being installed. Only a few days of delay will be necessary for this installation, as the preparations were made as complete as possible, before discontinuing the underground work.

Upon resumption of the development of the Blackbird vein, the shaft is to be sunk to a depth sufficient to give definite information regarding the character of the vein material and general character of the formation. Hitherto, the vein has had a thickness of over five feet and has been shown to carry a small proportion of copper along with a large amount of iron oxides and some manganese oxides. It is believed that at depth, the copper content will be found to be much greater than the upper portion of the vein.

MIAMI.

The usual activity at the property of the Miami Copper company is rapidly accomplishing the structural work at the concentrator and power buildings. The steel work is practically completed and much of the machinery has been installed in each building.

The chief work still remaining to be done is that of installing the machinery. The steel frame for the building that is to shelter the hoisting engine for No. 4 shaft is in process of erection. The underground work is progressing steadily along the lines previously outlined in the plans of development. Between 900 and 1,000 feet of drifts are driven each week.

Several of these are being driven into the western portion of the property, to open the one body sampled and shown up by the churn drills during the past several months. The main haulage levels, at depths of 420 and 570 feet, are receiving a large part of the development work, which is required to prepare the ore body for the commencement of production. The drifting at the 370-foot level of the mine, has been driven through about fifty feet of ore, assaying 3 per cent copper, at a distance of over 1,000 feet northwest of the central workings and on the Captain claim.

Sinking in the Blackbird shaft has been stopped at a depth less than 400 feet, while a gasoline hoist is being installed. Only a few days of delay will be necessary for this installation, as the preparations were made as complete as possible, before discontinuing the underground work.

Upon resumption of the development of the Blackbird vein, the shaft is to be sunk to a depth sufficient to give definite information regarding the character of the vein material and general character of the formation. Hitherto, the vein has had a thickness of over five feet and has been shown to carry a small proportion of copper along with a large amount of iron oxides and some manganese oxides. It is believed that at depth, the copper content will be found to be much greater than the upper portion of the vein.

MIAMI.

The usual activity at the property of the Miami Copper company is rapidly accomplishing the structural work at the concentrator and power buildings. The steel work is practically completed and much of the machinery has been installed in each building.

The chief work still remaining to be done is that of installing the machinery. The steel frame for the building that is to shelter the hoisting engine for No. 4 shaft is in process of erection. The underground work is progressing steadily along the lines previously outlined in the plans of development. Between 900 and 1,000 feet of drifts are driven each week.

Several of these are being driven into the western portion of the property, to open the one body sampled and shown up by the churn drills during the past several months. The main haulage levels, at depths of 420 and 570 feet, are receiving a large part of the development work, which is required to prepare the ore body for the commencement of production. The drifting at the 370-foot level of the mine, has been driven through about fifty feet of ore, assaying 3 per cent copper, at a distance of over 1,000 feet northwest of the central workings and on the Captain claim.

Mining News

ARIZONA & MICHIGAN.

Development at the Arizona & Michigan property continues along the same lines as heretofore, the work all progressing for the purpose of opening the Old Dominion and Blackbird veins at the Denn-Arizona property.

The Telfair shaft is 1,629 feet in length and is still in shale containing an abundance of iron oxides. The Old Dominion vein should be opened by this crosscut at an early date according to all information that is obtainable from the surface outcrop and from other parts of the district where this vein has been encountered in the underground workings of other properties.

Sinking in the Blackbird shaft has been stopped at a depth less than 400 feet, while a gasoline hoist is being installed. Only a few days of delay will be necessary for this installation, as the preparations were made as complete as possible, before discontinuing the underground work.

NOTES OF COPPER NEWS. The Boston & Montana mines have now been put on a regular six-day-a-week working basis. This is also true of the Anaconda mines. The July production at Butte will, it is estimated, show a reduction in copper output of 2,000,000 pounds from May. The Superior & Globe company has discontinued temporarily its underground drifting and resuscitating, while prospecting with a diamond drill is under way. The drill has been lowered into the mine and set up in readiness for operation in the north crosscut on the 630-foot level above 475 feet from the surface.

NOTES OF COPPER NEWS. The Denn-Arizona property has always been and still continues a holding company, but in place of the shares of the Red Metal Mining company, which held title to its various Butte properties, there are now in the treasury of the Butte Coalition company 500,000 shares of Anaconda given for the Red Metal property and 23,000 shares of Anaconda given for control of the Alice property. In addition, the company has $4,000,000 in actual cash and 3,000 shares of International Smelting stock now paying dividends of $8 per share per annum.

NOTES OF COPPER NEWS. The directors of International Smelting & Refining company will meet early in August to set upon the dividend. No change in the quarterly rate of $2 a share is anticipated. Earnings are running considerably larger than last year, due to introduction of economies and the increased supply of copper shipped to the plants for refining. The company is not affected by low priced copper. Not including the new smelter in Utah, net profits available for dividends in the first half of the year were at the rate of more than 14 per cent a year. The new smelter in Utah will be started Aug. 15 and will handle ores of the Nevada Consolidated and Giroux. Developments at Giroux have been satisfactory and shipments of ore are expected to be made within the next two or three months.

NOTES OF COPPER NEWS. It has not been definitely decided whether the new Ahmeek shaft, known as No. 3 and No. 4, will be sunk directly in the lode, or if they will follow in the footwall. The shafts are now down about 950 feet, and will probably reach the Kearsarge lode in the course of the next month or six weeks. Diamond drilling disclosed the vein almost fifty feet earlier than was expected, indicating that the vein has become flatter than at the Ahmeek's present workings. No. 3 and No. 4 shafts were sunk at an angle of eighty degrees, and when the vein is reached will be turned to conform to its dip. The two heads at the new Ahmeek mill are working quite satisfactorily. Some slight modifications are being made in the mill, and will be incorporated in the construction of the two additional heads. Ahmeek, continues to ship a small amount of rock daily to the Franklin mill.

SHIPPERS DECLARE AGAINST THE PROPOSED COMPROMISE. Chicago, July 13.—The general committee appointed by the shippers here May 17, last, reconvened today. It refused by resolution to entertain the suggested compromise between the shippers and the railroads regarding the rate controversy. A sub-committee of thirteen was granted authority to raise funds and engage counsel, auditors and experts to present the shippers' side to the interstate commerce commission.

MARQUETTE, MICH., JULY 21, 1910.

A little more rain, please. Well, how about the street fair?

No fault to be found with the grass-hopper, crop, however. Uncle Samuel has $38,000,000 of ready cash.

Bristow, Murdock & Co. and Uncle Joe Cannon seem able to take care of one another in the Kansas free-for-all.

If Atlantic City learns how badly Detroit feels over the Elks' convention it will be likely to renig on the 1911 show.

Even Hughie Jennings himself, the lion hearted Hughie, must begin to have serious doubts about that fourth penant.

Of course if our Marquette team, in its turn, can capture that next series with Negaunee the situation will look a little brighter.

Speaker Cannon may run for another term as executive officer of the house, but the issue will doubtless prove that the "run" will be all there is to it.

Col. Buffalo Bill Cody is this year making another of his annual farewell tours, with his brave company of untamed cowboys and Indian bucks.

That cow Josephine, of Missouri, she of the electric fan, has just broken the long distance milk record. Evidently it would pay all dairymen to pamper their stock.

Senator Burrows and Representative Townsend dined together at a railroad lunch counter this week, in a recess from the cow paths. Both smiled pleasantly.

A Wright or Curtiss aeroplane is a little beyond the purse of the fair association, but it will do the next best thing and present an old fashioned kerosene oil balloon ascension.

Those candidates for the legislature who have been insisting that they would do as they tamed pleased, irrespective of the state wide majority in the senatorial primary, are left without a candidate for senator to stand on.

Ironwood has just licensed a second electric light and traction company, and Ironwood is none too big to support the one it now has. It won't be long after company No. 2 gets going when the U. S. bankruptcy commissioner receives a hurryup call from that fair city.

Grand Rapids increased in population between federal censuses 25,006. The city now has 112,571 inhabitants, but is faultfinding because it isn't 120,000. The census bureau is no more successful in satisfying people than the weather bureau.

The tax commission is in Houghton county this week. Commissioner Shields says he knows of no particular reason why they are there and opines that they are simply making the usual annual visit. That certainly is the most comfortable explanation.

Thanks to the statute of limitations, the adjudication of the cases growing out of the bank smash at Ironwood is now about at an end. If it were not for that statute, there would be still more, and intensely interesting, litigation. The statute of limitations is a great life saver.

Senator Bristow says that Speaker Cannon is putting up his fences against the time when he will be a candidate for re-election, and that he can't fool anybody. It may be so, but there are a lot of people who have the idea that the speaker is putting up the Democrats' fences.

The Ohio convention can have its own way about platform and candidates. Both President Taft and Colonel Roosevelt have declined to do anything to the end of controlling its deliberations. The colonel hopes that the convention will adopt a progressive platform, but does not indicate just what his ideas of a progressive platform are. Former Secretary of the Interior Garfield also is out for a progressive platform, and wouldn't dodge the nomination for governor, if it came sailing along in his direction. There are several candidates for this nomination, no one of whom yet appears to have a majority of the delegates, and when it comes to predicting who the Ohio Republicans will place at the head of their ticket one man's guess is as good as another's.

The Georgia senate has passed a bill making it illegal to exhibit anywhere in the state moving pictures of prize fights. A similar bill is on file in the house, and is expected to be passed by that body, also. Sentiment in the legislature is strongly against the exhibition of the Johnson-Jeffries fight pictures, through fear that they would lead to serious race disturbances, and to make them illegal the legislature considers it wise to put all pictures of that class under the ban.

Mr. Hemans doesn't feel a bit friendly toward the upper peninsula. He doesn't like the way it rolled up votes for Governor Warner two years ago. If Mr. Hemans thinks back to that time he will recall that he slighted the upper peninsula in his campaign. He visited but a few of its counties, and did not penetrate into the copper country at all. If Mr. Hemans had campaigned in this region more industriously and thoroughly, he might have obtained more votes up here. He did well enough where he put in a little work. Mr. Hemans shouldn't blame the upper peninsula for his own shortsightedness in 1908.

The Negaunee board of public works has called for bids on the contract for paving iron street, the principal business thoroughfare and two short streets leading from it, with creosoted block, and the work will be carried through to completion the present season, it is expected. It is also possible that the street railway will be removed from iron street, in which event Negaunee will have one of the finest business streets in the upper peninsula—one which will doubtless give civic pride in that city a great impetus and in time lead to many other related public improvements. Negaunee has, within a few years, become one of the most progressive towns in the upper peninsula.

President Taft is paying the great mass of Republican voters the highest compliment he could pay them when he refuses to do anything that will conflict with his theory that they know enough to manage their own political business. President Taft's example might well be noted and followed by many noisy statesmen, including "the leading citizen of Danville," who has been raising such a clatter in the confines of Kansas the past week. It isn't on record that the voters of Kansas sent any hurry-up call for advice to Danville at any time in the recent past, and the issue will no doubt show that they resent gratuitous interference with their affairs by outsiders, and unsought advice.

Uncle Joe's Kansas eloquence reminds that Representative Parsons' charge that Uncle Joe's friends and Tammany entered into an illicit bargain by which the regular Republicans were upheld in their organization of the house by Representative Fitzgerald, and other Tammany Democrats, in return for assurances that the bills for election reforms in New York city would not be allowed to pass in the New York legislature, still stands. Representative Parsons, who was formerly chairman of the Republican county committee for New York, has never retracted a word from these charges, and they have never been effectively refuted by the Uncle or his close friends, while there is much prima facie evidence to give them plausibility. The house was organized as Uncle Joe wanted it organized by the grace of Tammany votes, and in due time the election bills that Tammany wanted killed in the New York legislature were killed. There are many excellent reasons why Uncle Joe's insistence on placing himself in the forefront of the pending campaign is an exhibition of execrable judgment—the Parsons charges are only one of them.

Commandant Peary, discoverer of the pole, makes public his observations in the immediate neighborhood of the pole in the August number of the magazine which purchased his story. These proofs have already been presented to and passed on by several leading scientific bodies and have been held to be sufficient. Last winter they were demanded by the congressional committee that had under consideration the recognition that should be accorded by congress to Peary for his feat, and his refusal to make them public at that time was seized upon as an excuse to treat him in a shabby manner, with which his cordial reception abroad has been in pleasing contrast. Peary was unable to meet the demands of the congressional committee without violating his contract with his publishers. Peary has shown himself free from taint of mercenary motives. He has made no attempt to capitalize his exploit into a fortune for himself. Lectures that would have netted him large sums he has refused to deliver. One substantial cash testimonial presented to him he turned over intact as a nucleus for the expenses of a proposed south polar expedition. About all he reserved for himself was the income from his writings relating to the expedition. It was unreasonable for the committee of congress to insist that he violate his contract relative to those writings by giving premature publicity to his records.

The fishing industry of the United States is valued at more than that of any other country.

PLEDGE THE CANDIDATES.

Commenting on the acceptance by the candidates for senator of the statewide interpretation of the primary vote, the Grand Rapids Herald says: "Candidates for Republican seats in the legislature can now have no excuse for failure to respond to this intelligent and laudable leadership. There was only one possible way for defeating the will of the people as expressed in the senatorial primary; and that way was for part of the legislature to be guided by the result as totaled in the whole state and for another part to be guided by the result as figured for the home constituencies—each legislator choosing that method which would justify his vote for that candidate for senator who might be his personal choice. These legislative candidates are now in duty bound to declare their willingness to be bound by the state-wide result of the primary; that method of interpretation which is asked for by the senatorial candidates themselves and which has been publicly endorsed by 90 per cent of the state press, by the state grange, by the governor who signed the legislative bill making the primary possible, by a vast majority of those legislators who voted for it, by the attorney general of Michigan, by party leaders everywhere, and by the statewide organization bearing the self-explanatory name of the Michigan Republican Primary Defense League. These pledges from state legislators are still necessary, despite the clear statements from Mr. Townsend and Mr. Burrows, lest some tangle result which might—as in the case of Illinois—bring in a new dark-horse candidate for the senate who has neither the courage nor the willingness to dare a test vote of the people whom he might seek to serve."

STATE POLITICS.

The Detroit Journal says, ament the political situation in Wayne county: "Thus far there has been but little campaigning done here for Amos Musselman and his name is seldom heard. The fight here seems to lie entirely between Chase S. Osborn and Lieutenant Governor Kelley, and there are long line-ups on both sides. If Mr. Musselman puts up a campaign here he may change the complexion of things, but the time is getting short.

The Kelley people claim that their candidate is going to sweep both the county and city. They are long line-up backers declare that he will defeat Kelley by a greater vote than Dr. Bradley did Governor Warner. You can take your own choice of opinions.

The bulk of the Kelley organizing has been done by the state officials located here. Jack Knight, head of the state employment bureau, is the leader apparently and he has the assistance of the employees of the state labor department, the factory inspectors, the dairy and food department and also the oil department. Frank S. Neal of Northville, head of the latter department, handling the bulk of the work out in the county.

John S. Haggerty of the county road commission is an ardent Kelley man and has been laboring for months in behalf of the lieutenant governor. Fred Postel, Thomas E. Newton and Frank B. Leland are among the prominent business men who are supporting Kelley, and Secretary of State Martindale, with his employees, are also with the lieutenant governor. This connection brings in the dominant faction in the school board, although that body is split up. Inspectors Goldberg and Cotter being openly in favor of Osborn, while some of the others are keeping out of it.

Osborn has a number of prominent men who are making no secret of their support of his candidacy. Among them are E. H. Doyle, Waldo Avery, Russell A. Alger and Fred M. Alger, John Shaw, Allan H. Frazer, Ralph Stone, Drs. J. B. Kennedy, J. H. Carstens and B. D. Harrison, and William T. Dust.

His principal supporter among local officials is Auditor Milt Oakman. The latter is out openly campaigning for the Soo candidate, but except for Road Commissioner Haggerty he is about the only county official who is taking part in the fight. Register Steel, Clerk Farrell and Treasurer Mowler are apparently keeping out of the contest.

This is largely true also in the city hall, although it is apparent that considerable Osborn work is being done in the city building. Deputy Clerk Dever, who handled the Bradley campaign two years ago, is understood to be open to Osborn, although he is making no open declaration on the subject.

The legislative delegation is split up. Senators Snell and Scott are for Kelley, John Anhalt is saying nothing, nor is LOWER STATE NOTES.

SOUTH BRANCH.—Mrs. Peter Mohan, living about a mile from Maltby, Ogemaw county, uses a log cellar for a milk house. She found the other morning, that a big bear had been there before her, tearing down part of the roof and several logs, and had helped himself to five pans of milk. Bruin is still at large.

FLINT.—A special from Denmark, a German settlement, twenty-five miles northwest of Flint, is to the effect that Norman Rogener, ten-year-old son of Michael Rogener, died from lockjaw, as the result of a toy pistol accident. The boy caught one of his fingers in the pistol hammer and, although the bruise was very slight, it was sufficient to allow the deadly tetanus to get in its work.

KALAMAZOO.—Because he refused to pay alimony to his former wife, Austin Cooley was sentenced to jail for ninety days. Mrs. Cooley was granted alimony, which now amounts to over $300. He refused to pay the money and when brought before Judge Knappen declared he would spend the rest of his life in jail rather than pay. His former wife declares that if the amount is not paid when his present term in jail expires she will have him arrested again.

LANSING.—Since the supreme court handed down its decision confirming the lower court opinion which compelled non-resident liquor dealers to pay the state license of $500, twenty-five have requested the auditor general for permission to do business in the state. It is expected that petitions from the other 100 will be received within the next few days.

JACKSON.—Harry Schofield, of Detroit, sentenced at Monroe in 1906 for fifteen years for assault with intent to commit robbery, escaped from the Michigan state penitentiary. Exit was made over the north wall via a rope attached to a hook. He apparently believed that trial to approve the bonds of Acting Warden Stone was an opportunity time to make a break for liberty. Officers are scouring the country and his early capture is expected.

IONIA.—Herbert Taylor, an attendant at the state asylum, was struck on the head with a window weight in the hands of William Burke, an inmate. Dr. Smith of Grand Rapids was called to assist local surgeons in an operation, but Taylor did not rally and died Monday. Taylor came to the asylum about two weeks ago from Paw Paw. He was making beds when Burke came up behind him with the weight. Burke came to the asylum from Marquette twelve years ago and is serving time for manslaughter. His prison record has been a good one.

LANSING.—During the past year the state highway department paid out for state road work $138,349. Of this amount $12,000 was paid for roads which were constructed last year but were not inspected by the department in time to be incorporated in the previous report. Two and three-quarter miles of class A road was constructed, for which the department paid $250 per mile. The other classes are as follows: One hundred and fourteen and one-half miles of class B road at $500; one mile of class C road at $750 per mile; three and one-quarter miles of class D road at $750 per mile; 65 2-3 miles of class E road at $100 per mile.

SAGINAW.—Saginaw police are looking for Frank Green, a young lad who escaped from police headquarters. Green and three companions were confined in the second story, on suspicion of highway robbery. Green and another lad named Padon worked during the early evening cutting away part of the ceiling. Through the hole Green crawled along between the roof and ceiling, reaching a trap door from which he dropped into the corridor. The rear window was open and he climbed down it, ated pipe running from the roof. Padon was discovered in the act and caught.

LANSING.—The plans of Architect E. A. Bond for the new Sparrow hospital for this city have been accepted. The building will be in a modified "U" shape, with two wings at an angle of 45 degrees adjoining the main part. It will be of pressed brick, with Amberst sandstone trimmings. The length from one wing to the other is 206 feet. The construction and equipment of the building will be of the latest design in every respect. The hospital will be located on East Michigan avenue. Both the building and land are donated by Edward W. Sparrow of New York city, formerly of Lansing, the total of his gift amounting to $100,000.

MOUNT CLEMENS.—Undersheriff Mathews was called to the home of David Hemming, on the Shoemaker road, Chesterfield township, where he found wandering in the hallway a half-demented stranger. The man was brought to this city and cared for, but is unable to give his name. From rambling talk it was learned that he is a saloonkeeper in Wheeling, W. Va., and has been taking baths here. All night he wandered through the fields, tearing down fences and gates, and entering the rear door of the Hemming home, and was helping himself to things in the kitchen. When discovered he was ordered out, and again commenced tearing down the fence along the highway and doing other strange stunts until taken in charge by the officer.

COOPERSVILLE.—Overcome by the heat while working on the Grand Rapids, Grand Haven and Muskegon inter-urban tracks near Mona Lake, Lias Green, thirty years old, a section hand in the employ of the railway, fell across the third rail which furnishes current to the cars and was almost instantly killed. The heavy voltage from the rail passing through his body to the ground, and sparks was developed in blue flame and some of the other members of the section gang dared remove until precautions to prevent another grounding of the current had been taken. Green was unmarried. The body was removed to his home at Nunica.

A LAUGH OR TWO.

One Chance to Lose. "Now that the Democrats are crowing over their prospects of winning the congressional elections," said Representative Butler of Pennsylvania, the other day, "I am reminded of what good old Ike Hill, assistant sergeant at arms of the house used to say on the eve of an election. Ike was a Democrat through and through, but he was a philosophical Democrat.

"When anybody asked him how he thought the vote would go, he would invariably reply: "By gosh! I think we've got 'em, if they don't buy us off."—Popular Magazine.

Wife and Country.

Paul D. Cravath, the noted New York lawyer, said at a luncheon at the Lawyer's club: "Vacation time is here, and already that dreadful song about the wife gone country is being resurrected.

"But a variant to the song was furnished by a conversation I overheard the other night of what good old Ike Hill, assistant sergeant at arms of the house used to say on the eve of an election. Ike was a Democrat through and through, but he was a philosophical Democrat.

"Hello, Smith!" said one man to another, "I'm glad to see you back at the club again, old fellow. Wife off to the country, eh?" "No," Smith growled. "She's got back."

Bitter.

Miss Anna Held, at a tea on la Providence, raised the French. "The only French quality I dislike," she said, "is cynicism, and sometimes I think French cynicism is preferable to Anglo-Saxon sentimentality.

"The mushy Anglo-Saxon idealization of things here, look here, is in my opinion, fatter to human nature than the cynical Frenchwoman's remark: "Nothing equals the skepticism of a married woman, unless, indeed, it be the credulity of an unmarried one."

O. Henry's Reading.

The late "O. Henry," whose flippant and slangy stories gave him a great reputation as a humorist, was, in private life, a serious student. A visitor to the library of Mr. Porter's New York residence was amazed at the ponderous histories and biographies on every side.

"But don't you read," said the visitor, "Ellis Parker Butler and writers of that sort?" "Well, no," said Mr. Porter. He laughed and added whimsically: "I make fancy cakes and eat them, but I only eat bread and meat."

Strong Indeed.

"Richard Croker will undoubtedly come back to America to live," said a Tammany man at a banquet at Delmonico's.

"Yes, Mr. Croker," he went on, "told me down in Florida that his attachment to America was as strong as the old woman's tea."

"The old woman's tea?" said I, puzzled. "Then Mr. Croker explained that this old woman used to brag about her tea in these words: "Och, but mine is the lovely strong tea. Sure, it takes such a powerful grip on the second waterher."

The forming of regular habits is most important and while endeavoring to form them the assistance of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is most valuable, as it is the only laxative which acts without disturbing the natural functions and without debilitating and it is the one laxative which leaves the internal organs in a naturally healthy condition, thereby really aiding one in that way. To get its beneficial effects, buy the genuine manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and for sale by all leading druggists. Copper Country

The continued dry weather throughout the copper country is having bad effect on the foreign homesteaders located in the newer farming districts and reports are being received to the effect that many of them are leaving their homesteads or rented farms to seek work elsewhere as their crops are ruined for this year.

This condition is largely the result of inadequate farming facilities by the poorer farmers and homesteaders. These people have taken up wild land and have cleared it by dint of great labor and the resulting farming amounts to little else than putting in the seed and trusting to nature.

The older farmers, however, Chaswell for example, are hauling water from Portage lake and irrigating their farms in a crude way. But this will not entirely remedy the difficulty and it is considered by all who observe the agricultural situation that unless rain comes within a very few days this will be a black year for farmers.

INSURANCE MAN'S TROUBLES

General Agents Congregate in Houghton and Talk Shop

There is no convention of general agents of insurance companies in progress in Houghton, though the uninformed might be pardoned for thinking so, because there are a dozen or more of the agents there now. The influx is explained by the fact that the general agents reserve the copper country and the Lake Superior region generally for the hot months. They come up here to enjoy the cool nights and the lake breezes and at the same time check up on the local agents and talk shop.

FISH HATCHERY NOT FOR COPPERDOM

Superintendent Marks of the Soo Cannot Find a Suitable Site in This Region.

Superintendent H. H. Marks of the Soo fish hatchery, who has been here investigating probable sites for that hatchery, which is to be removed from Marquette, to investigate sites there. He has turned down the copper country as a candidate.

Mr. Marks said before leaving that the copper country does not offer a site which has sufficient water and also any site which has been offered is lacking in shipping facilities. He looked over the Pilgrim river yesterday and said that it is not flowing more than 3,000 gallons of water where it should be flowing 18,000 gallons. He found similar conditions in Keweenaw country.

Mr. Marks' investigations show him that there are no flowing springs of any great volume in the copper country, that most of the water in the streams comes from the rain and snowfall and that the destruction of the forests has had a tendency to destroy the country's ability to hold this water after it has fallen.

A DEARTH OF NOTABLES.

Big Steamer North West Carries Many Passengers—None of Note.

The steamer North West docked at Houghton on her regular weekly east-bound trip yesterday morning. She had a big passenger list, but no one of note. Last year this steamer had a trip in which the big steamer did not have such a distinguished person as a stellar attraction. Thus far this year there has been no one who might be considered a big personality, Senator LaFollette excepted.

Mrs. Thomas Gunn returned yesterday from Hibbing, Minn., accompanied by Mrs. Randall of Hibbing, who will visit her here.

Albert Craig of Sibley, Pa., a Pittsburg steel magnate, was a passenger on the automobile, was also in the list. Among those who came ashore at Houghton were Mr. and Mrs. James A. Smith of Duluth, J. A. Heim of St. Paul, J. A. Miller of Milwaukee, J. C. Sweet of Minneapolis, R. Asmus of Chicago and F. C. Dibble of Minneapolis.

FUNERAL NOT ANNOUNCED.

Paul Grierson Obituaries Await the Arrival of Relatives.

Pending the arrival of relatives, the funeral arrangements for the late Paul W. Grierson of Calumet, manager for Gay & Sturgis, who died Tuesday night, had not been made yesterday.

When Mr. Grierson's health first gave way seriously he consulted and was treated by prominent specialists in Chicago. Later he took an Eastern trip, returning to Calumet apparently improved, and after a relapse two weeks ago his life was despaired of.

The deceased was born in Ontonagon county and spent the greater part of his life in the Lake Superior copper country, where he had been prominent in business and social life since young manhood. He was postmaster at Calumet under the last Democratic administration.

This evening—Last concert by the Apollo quintet. Friday afternoon—Lecture, "The Man of Our Times," Rev. Frank Smith of Chicago. Concert by the Quincy band. Friday evening—Lecture on "Breaking Through the Hedge" by L. B. Wickesham. The lecture to be preceded by the ladies' quartet of Laurium.

Saturday afternoon—Lecture on "The Ministry of Laughter," William A. Colledge. Concert by Calumet & Hecla band.

Saturday evening—Solo by Mrs. Lloyd Wilson, soprano, Houghton. Lecture by Dr. Frank Smith of Chicago, on "Our Nation."

DRILLING JUDGES APPOINTED.

President Frank Schumaker and Clerk N. F. Kaiser of Red Jacket.

The hammer and drill contest committee of the Calumet & Hecla miners yesterday announced the appointment of President Schumaker and Clerk Kaiser of the village of Red Jacket as the judges in the hammer and drill contest to be held at the miners' picnic one week from next Saturday. The Butte miners' team will choose the third judge.

Some very interesting contests are being held to determine what team shall meet the Westerners. The first of these was held Saturday afternoon, and the Becker team won first place with 39 1/2 inches, the Tucker team took second with 37 inches and the Crystal team third with 35 inches. The team making the best record or highest aggregate of inches in the three contests will represent the Calumet & Hecla.

The second contest was held Monday afternoon, and the Becker team again took first place, boring a hole 42 1/2 inches in depth in fifteen minutes, while the Tucker team made but 40 1/2 inches. These contests are attracting a great deal of attention. In order to take first place and capture the honor of representing Calumet against the Westerners the Tucker team must gain more than 4 1/2 inches on the Becker team in the next contest. The Becker team has a total of 81 1/2 inches to its credit, and the Tucker team a total of 77 1/2 inches.

GO AFTER THE YANTIC.

Volunteers from Hancock Naval Reserve Off for Sturgeon Bay.

A detachment of the Hancock Naval Reserve left yesterday for Sturgeon Bay, Wis., in command of Captain H. S. Goodell, having volunteered to assist in bringing the U. S. Yantic back from the Wisconsin port, where she has been in drydock. The Yantic is expected to arrive in Portage lake sometime Sunday afternoon, and after an absence of nearly ten months will again occupy her old position at the dock at Ripley. She will present a greatly changed appearance and will surely be recognized as the vessel which steamed away last fall.

Whereas the Yantic had three masts when she left, she will return with but two masts, which will be used mainly for signaling purposes. The main mast having been removed. A new chart house, new bridge, new decking, new steam steering gear and many other improvements have been made by the government during the time that the Yantic has been at the slip yards in Sturgeon Bay. She is to be fitted with a new boiler, better equipped than ever before to meet the requirements of a training ship for naval militia.

The Yantic will be at her dock until Aug. 6, when she will steam for Thurston Bay, the rendezvous of the militia of Illinois, Minnesota, Michigan and Ohio, where there will be assembled on Aug. 8 the following vessels: U. S. S. Wolverine, flagship of commander-in-chief of the squadron; U. S. S. Nashville; U. S. S. Yantic and Don Juan de Austria, of Michigan; Donathea and Essex, of Ohio; Gopher, of Minnesota. The boats will leave Thurston Bay Aug. 8 at 8 p. m., sailing for Buffalo. The squadron will be reviewed by Governor Harmon at Cleveland Aug. 14, on the return trip, and by Governor Warner of Michigan at Detroit Aug. 15. The squadron will disembark at Port Huron, after inspection by the United States board of inspectors Aug. 16, and the various ships will then sail for home, the Yantic arriving at Hancock about Aug. 18.

WILL BUILD PAROCHIAL SCHOOL.

Rev. Father Klompach, pastor of the Croatian Catholic church of Calumet, announced yesterday that his parish had decided to build a parochial school adjoining the church edifice on Seventh street, Red Jacket. A lot will be purchased for $4,000 and a $5,000 building will be erected upon it.

WHERE IS THE HOCKEY CUP?

Mohawk Hockey Team Seeking the Bauble Won Last Winter.

The Mohawk hockey team won the championship cup of the copper country league last winter, but it has not as yet received the trophy. This is bothering the Keweenaw county fans who supported the Mohawk team through a trying season last winter, for although Mohawk won the championship hands down it has received little official recognition. The fans want to know why the team has not yet been presented with the championship emblem, the silver cup held so long by Hancock. They want to know whether their club is to get the cup this year or not, or whether it is to be held in Portage Lake. There is some satisfaction, the fans say, in having the cup after winning it. They would like to hold it for a few weeks, anyway, put it on exhibition among the many other sports and athletic trophies won by teams representing Keweenaw and Michigan in the past to their friends. The cup may be battered up or not, but it represents the highest honors in hockey in the northern part of Michigan, even the Northwest. So they want the cup.

The Laurium lodge of Pythian Sisters was organized and instituted Monday afternoon and evening. Past Grand Chief Mrs. Carrie Bond being the officer in charge. The floor work was put on by members of the Houghton lodge, a large number of whom were present, going home after the meeting in a special car. The new lodge has a very strong membership, which bids fair to grow much larger in a very short time. Some of the best known ladies in Calumet and Laurium are enrolled. Following the institution of the lodge Monday evening there was a social session and ice cream and other refreshments were served. The officers of the lodge are as follows:

Mining News

ARIZONA & MICHIGAN.

Development at the Arizona & Michigan property continues along the same line as heretofore, the work all progressing for the purpose of opening the Old Dominion and Blackbird veins at depth. The southeast crosscut from the Telfair shaft is 1,020 feet in length and is still in shale containing an abundance of iron oxides. The Old Dominion vein should be opened by this crosscut at an early date according to all information thus far obtainable from the surface outcrop and from other parts of the district where this vein has been encountered in the underground workings of other properties. Sinking in the Blackbird shaft has been stopped at a depth less than 400 feet, while a gasolene hoist is being installed. Only a few days of delay will be necessary for this installation, as the preparations were made as complete as possible, before discontinuing the underground work. Upon resumption of the development of the Blackbird vein, the shaft is to be sunk to a depth sufficient to give definite information regarding the character of the vein material and general character of the formation. Hitherto, the vein has had a thickness of over five feet and has been shown to carry a small proportion of copper along with a large amount of iron oxides and some manganese oxides. It is believed that at depth, the copper content will be found to be much greater than the upper portion of the vein.

MIAMI.

The usual activity at the property of the Miami Copper company is rapidly accomplishing the structural work at the construction and power buildings. The steel work is practically completed and the machinery has been installed in each building. The chief work still remaining to be done is that of installing the machinery. The steel frame for the building that is to shelter the hoisting engines for No. 4 shaft is erected. The underground work is progressing steadily along the lines previously outlined in the plans of development. Between 900 and 1,000 feet of drifts are driven to the west. Several of these are being driven into the western portion of the property, to open the ore body sampled and shown up by the churn drills during the past several months. The main haulage levels, at depths of 420 and 570 feet, are receiving a large part of the development work, which is required to prepare the ore body for the commencement of production. The drifting at the 570-foot level of the mine, has been driven through about fifty feet of ore, assaying 3 per cent copper, at a distance of over 1,900 feet northwest of the central workings and on the Captain claim.

DENN-ARIZONA.

There hasn't been much going on in Denn-Arizona markwise recently, but the reports from the property indicate that good progress is being made there. According to these reports sinking in the shaft goes steadily forward, from twelve to fifteen feet being the weekly average. The shaft is now down below the 1,350 level, or at a total depth of 1,422 feet, and is in a good solid formation of lime rock, making the work safe and the timbering of the shaft secure. Three drifts are being driven from the lowest level. Some very rich subdrifts and glance copper has been run into in No. 25 drift and in a raise from this drift some ore going from 40 to 50 per cent copper has been encountered. Both of the big pumps have been lowered to the 1,350 level and are pumping steadily an average of 900 gallons per minute. On a test run one of these pumps showed that they can, if pushed, handle 1,500 gallons per minute. The handling of the water has always been a serious matter with the Denn people, but with the installation of these pumps that difficulty seems to be eliminated. Sixty-five men are now employed.

LAKE COPPER.

Hayden Stone & Co. say of Lake Copper: The severe decline in the shares of the Lake Copper property, and the regular production and earnings, are subject to decided correction. Lake is still a prospect, though, perhaps, an unusual degree of certainty what the average will be of the Lake rock when it begins to mine on an extended scale. Mill runs of a small tonnage at the present stage of development do not really contribute, it is felt, to the stockholders' knowledge of the value of the property, and as they are a source of expense, rather than profit, they will probably be discontinued. The mill run for June yielded thirty-three pounds of mineral per ton, estimated to contain twenty-one pounds of copper. In short, the perpendicular decline in Lake is due to a change in the angle of viewing the proposition. A mine can be valued on the basis of developed ore and earning capacity, but what valuation should be placed on the shares of a prospect is always problematical. It is our feeling, however, that although market exigencies may, temporarily, force a somewhat lower figure, yet, somewhere around these prices, Lake should prove a very fair speculation.

NOTES OF COPPER NEWS.

Lake Superior & Arizona was organized at Calumet some years ago, and has been operating, off and on, a mining property located some thirty miles from Calumet, adjoining the old Silver Queen, both mines having been worked in the early days for precious metals with successful results. The Thompson-Gunn interests are operating the Queen under a company named the Magna. These interests agree to expend $200,000 on the Lake Superior & Arizona to demonstrate further ore values and to show sulphides, the option running for eighteen months. This work is undertaken as a result of an examination by Henry Krumb. This property has never been worked in the vigorous manner necessary to success, operations having been conducted in a desultory manner from the start.

THE COAST LINE TO MACKINAC Detroit & Cleveland Nav. Co. amount of rock daily to the Franklin character, says a Butte dispatch. The ore is running from 9 1/2 to 10 per cent copper to the ton and the ore body is from twenty-five to thirty feet wide. The company is continuing to increase its treasury surplus and no new company was ever organized in this district which has made such a rich showing in the same length of time. The Boston & Montana mines have now been put on a regular six-day-a-week working basis. This is also true of the Anaconda mines. The July production at Butte will, it is estimated, show a reduction in copper output of 2,000,000 pounds from May. The Superior & Globe company has discontinued temporarily its underground drifting and crosscutting, while prospecting with a diamond drill is under way. The drill has been lowered into the mine and set up in readiness for operation in the north crosscut on the 650-foot level above 475 feet from the surface. The Butte Coalition Mining company has always been and still continues a regular production and earnings, and is holding company, but in place of the shares of the Red Metal Mining company, which held title to its various Butte properties, there are now in the treasury of the Butte Coalition company 500,000 shares of Anaconda given for the Red Metal property and 25,000 shares of Anaconda given for control of the Alice property. In addition, the company has $4,000,000 in actual cash and 3,000 shares of International Smelting stock now paying dividends of $8 per share per annum. The directors of International Smelting & Refining company will meet early in August to act upon the dividend. No change in the quarterly rate of $2 a share is anticipated. Earnings are running considerably larger than last year, due to introduction of economies and the increased supply of copper shipped to the plants for refining. The company is not affected by low priced copper. Not including the new smelter in Utah, net profits available for dividends in the first half of the year were at the rate of more than 14 per cent a year. The new smelter in Utah will be started Aug. 15 and will handle ores of the Nevada Consolidated and Giroux. Developments at Giroux have been satisfactory and shipments of ore are expected to be made within the next two or three months. It has not been definitely decided whether the new Almek shafts, known as No. 3 and No. 4, will be sunk directly in the lode, or if they will follow in the footwall. The shafts are now down about 350 feet in the course of the next month or six weeks. Diamond drilling disclosed the vein almost fifty feet earlier than was expected, indicating that the vein has become flatter than at the Almek's present workings. The shafts are now being sunk at an angle of eighty degrees, and when the vein is reached will be turned to conform to its dip. The two heads at the new Almek mill are working quite satisfactorily. Some slight modifications are being made in the wash at this plant, and will be incorporated in the construction of the two additional heads. Almek, continues to ship a small

Died in Texas—News has been received of the death of Mrs. Louise A. Wright, wife of a former resident of Marquette, which occurred at San Antonio, Texas, June 30. Mr. Wright was engaged in the mining business here for a number of years. He married seven years ago and he and his wife visited in Marquette last fair time. She was twenty-eight years of age and had been an invalid for three years.

Analyses Much Alike—Water Works Superintendent Kern has received the analyses of two samples of water sent to the state board of health a few days ago, one of which was taken at the location of the proposed intake extension and the other of the Black rocks at Presque Isle. Both samples were taken the same afternoon when a south wind was blowing. Neither of the samples contained dangerous bacteria and were pronounced safe, and the two analyses were almost exactly alike.

Death at Munising—Mrs. Margaret E. DePew, aged fifty-seven, wife of John W. DePew, died at her home at Munising at 1 o'clock Wednesday morning. The remains will be brought to Marquette Friday and taken to the residence of W. D. Reany, 742 Bluff street, where the funeral will be held at 10 o'clock Saturday morning. Automobile Record Broken—A record journey from Escanaba to Menominee and return was that made by Axel Peterson when he made the round trip in exactly five hours. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Wells had been summoned from Canada, where they were visiting, owing to the illness of Mrs. Wells' mother. A car was sent from Menominee to meet them at the Soo Line train, but the engine in the car was disabled a short distance out of the city and Mr. Peterson was called. He responded at once and made the round trip in five hours.

New Train Service Delayed—Although nearly four weeks have elapsed since members of a committee of the Escanaba Business Men's association went to Chicago to interview officials of the Northwestern road and were promised a greatly improved train service, no orders have yet been received at the company's Escanaba office for any change in the train service. It was expected by the members of the committee that the improved service would be delayed until after July 1, but the continued delay is causing no little concern among people.

Two Eloping Couples Wed—Two brides from Chicago meeting two grooms from Marinette and each eloping to Escanaba to be married was the unusual spectacle witnessed this week, and both couples were married by Judge Emil Glaser, to make the coincidence complete. August William of Marinette eloped to Escanaba with Miss Abbie McGordon of Chicago and after securing a license were married early in the afternoon by Judge Glaser. At the same time and coming to Escanaba by the same train were Abraham Merar of Marinette and Miss Mary Korol of Chicago, who after securing the necessary documents at the county clerk's office hunted out Judge Glaser and were made man and wife. The two elopements and the coincidences that marked their marriage is considered remarkable as it was not known by either couple that the other couple were following out plans exactly similar to their.

Soo Ball Team Won—The $200 baseball game between Trout Lake and the Soo was a disappointment to those who expected a fast game. The Soo won by a score of 7-0, but outside of the second and seventh innings neither team got a run. In the second the Soo got four runs and in the seventh three. Standford, for the visitors pitched a great game, but had poor support, Murray for the Soo held the visitors down to six hits and several times with the assistance of a fast fielding team behind him pulled out of some very deep holes.

Plan to Build Parsonage—The members of the congregation of St. Charles Catholic church of Rapid River are making arrangements for the erection of a parsonage. The building will be of modern type and will prove a most valuable addition to the assets of the parish, as well as furnishing a comfortable home for Rev. Father Duford, the pastor.

Big Hay Crop in Chippewa—The farmers of Chippewa county are very optimistic in regard to their hay crops in spite of the bad start all kinds of vegetation got this year. The fact that Wisconsin and northern Minnesota, the two competitors of Michigan in hay, are, according to latest reports, going to have a decided failure is just giving the hay growers of Chippewa the smiles that won't wear off until next season. William Howden feels satisfied that the present price of $17 per ton will drop very little and that even after the hay harvest it will still hold out at least $15 per ton. The hay crop of DeTour is the only one in the county that cannot be depended upon. Almost all other sections have the best crops in years. In the immediate vicinity of the Soo, the Orvis and Shank farms are turning on one and one-half tons to the acre at least. The Lipsett and Dingman farms on the Hay Lake road are estimated by some at two tons to the acre. At Rudyard the property of the Michigan Land company and also a part of the Wyatt farm is said to have such a crop that some say they will very nearly produce three tons to the acre on an average. William Best of Pickford is claimed to have a very large tract of hay land that will run almost two and one-half tons to the acre on an average. George A. Post of Strongsville, one of the leading farmers of the county, says in that locality there will be at least twice as large a crop as last year and that the entire county will have almost increased two fold, averaging the sand districts, compared with last year. There is but very little question among the farmers of the county in regard to the money possibilities of their crops in general. If the peas, the wheat and the potatoes hold out to the end of their respective harvests Chippewa will find itself in about as good a financial condition and possibly better than ever before.

STRAWBERRY KING ON THIRTY ACRES

Very Little Even of This Small Berks Farm Is Devoted to the Fruit.

ROTATION AT WORK THERE.

All the Crops Can Be Made to Pay If Operated on This Systematic Scale.

Fleetwood, Pa., July 20.—Berks county's strawberry king is Daniel M. Merkel, and he lives on a thirty-acre farm a mile east of this town. Eleven years ago he bought the farm in a run-down state, and started out, as the average Berks county farmer does, growing wheat, rye, oats and corn. For one or two years he followed farm life in this old-fashioned way; but one day he sat in his kitchen and worked with his lead pencil an entire afternoon, until he came to the conclusion that he would turn over a new leaf, and stop doing things as his father and grandfathers had done.

The result is apparent to every one who sees the Merkel farm. Instead of an old orchard with lots of dead wood, there are 130 pear trees, seventy-five of the Kiefer kind; sixty fine apple trees, with no evidence of the San Jose scale; 150 two-year-old peach trees, and 100 one-year-olds, all with that greenish hue that tells a successful story of fruit growing. When he had worked out his little problems with his lead pencil he came to the conclusion that he could raise small fruits that would be worth from $300 to $500 an acre, instead of raising $40 or $50 worth of wheat from the same acre.

He Did Prove It.

Neighbors said: "Prove your problem." He did. Last year, Merkel harvested 10,000 boxes of strawberries from two acres of ground—$450 worth from each acre. After the expenses had been deducted for picking, cultivating, planting, etc., he had more than half this amount remaining, and ten times as much as if he had followed wheat and rye. Today he is known as the strawberry king of Berks county, not only raising more berries than any other farmer, but raising them larger and prettier. He is very exact, and everything is conducted systematically. Mr. Merkel allows his strawberry beds to bear but two years, when they are turned under by the plow. Each spring an acre is planted. During the first summer all the beds are picked off the plants; none are allowed to bear fruit. He wants all the strength during the first season to go into the plants, sparing them the strain of forming pollen, which he claims weakens the stalks. The following year he reaps a rich harvest, and the next year the plants are again allowed to bear fruit, after which they are turned down. The patch is then sown with cowpeas, which are turned down later in the summer, and rye is sown. The following spring the rye is plowed under, and potatoes are planted, resulting always in a fine crop. In the fall, rye is again sown, and the next spring this rich rye mulch is turned under and a new crop of berries is planted. The result is that by this double rotation Mr. Merkel grows the largest berries without the use of manure. He has kept up the standard of fertility for the last eight years by this method, and the crops showed his method was correct.

The berry patches are mulched with cut straw and shredded corn fodder, which affords a clean bed, keeping the berries free from dirt at picking time. The vines are planted three feet apart one way and two and one-half feet the other, affording room for cultivating both ways and keeping the runners off. After the crop is harvested the bed is cut with a mower, the straw removed and the berries are allowed a new growth. Sometimes the beds are leveled by the burning process; but this method must be understood or else more harm results than good. The bed is then cultivated with the hoco plow, until the patch is cultivated as if it were a new bed. Cultivation is continued practically every week, and especially after a rain, so that the culture of the right class of strawberries is no lazy man's job, but requires a great deal of time and skill.

No Use for Novices.

Picking is done systematically. He employs only experts—men and women boys and girls, from the neighborhood—and no newcomers. They receive from 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 cents a box to pick, according to the abundance of the berries. Each picker has a carrier-like basket, holding four small berry boxes, and, during the picking, they arrange the berries systematically so that they make a good appearance for shipping. The pickers need not run to the crates to empty them, as two boys constantly travel along with larger baskets holding eight boxes and carry them away to the crates and pack them for shipping. Those boys also keep the accounts of the pickers by a card method. Some of the pickers average over 100 quarts per day and from twenty to twenty-five persons are at work on busy days.

Mr. Merkel has, it will be observed, made his berry culture a study, and he knows just the kinds of berries that are adapted to his soil. He grows twenty varieties, so his crop lasts about two months. Among his favorites are the Dorman, known as "Uncle Jim"; the William Belt, Pride of Michigan, Texas, Gilman, Nickerson, Klondike, Havland, Miller, New York, Chesapeake, Champion, Oswego, Excelsior and Virginia early. For a finer berry he has picked the Chesapeake, which is uniform in size and color and the best shipping, strong and firm, and grows large. Twenty-five of these berries usually fill a quart box, and the flavor is away above that of the average strawberry. One-third of his crop this year was of this variety, and none were sold for less than twelve cents a quart box. His crop this year will yield on an average of from $425 to $465.72 an acre, and only one and three-quarter acres were in bearing condition, though he has several acres of new beds.

WALL STREET STOCKS.

New York, July 20.—Paine, Webber & Co. have today's Wall Street market: "The copper metal industry was the strongest during today's session than for a long time. The balance of the list responded in sympathy with it, but towards the close receded sharply, on realizing, the copper retaining the greater part of its advance. Various rumors were afloat regarding probable favorable developments with regards to the metal industry, but although official confirmation was lacking still it seems to be the general impression that something tending towards betterment will be accomplished in the near future. We do not think conditions warrant a sustained upward movement of the general list, and favor the lightening of accounts on recovery, but at the same time would take hold of the good issues on the occasional drives."

Boston "Coppers."

Boston, Mass., July 20.—Summarizing today's copper stock market, Paine, Webber & Co. say: "Persistent rumors of curtailment and the coming together of the large copper interests caused activity and higher prices in the general copper market today, although no definite information on this subject seems to be obtained. The rise in Amalgamated and Utah in the New York market had a very favorable influence in the local issues and a better demand sprung up along the line, with offerings very light in the leading issues. This is accounted for by the heavy liquidation that has taken place in our market during the last sixty days. Whatever selling there has been lately was more on account of absolute necessity than anything else. We do not believe in buying on these bulges, such as we had today, but the good coppers should be picked up on a scale from now on, on every reaction, as the situation is bound to change for the better before many days."

WOMAN HAS FOUR SOULS.

Dr. Hall Accounts for Devotion to Puffs, Fudge and Giggles.
Greeley, Col., July 20.—Girls at sixteen are absolutely irreligious, according to Dr. Stanley Hall, president and professor of psychology at Clark University, Worcester, Mass., lecturing at the summer normal school here. Hence it is, he continued, they are devoted to rats, puffs, psychic knots, fudge, giggles and other ephemeral things.

CHINA ADVANCING POLITICALLY.

Governmental Reform Slowly but Surely Progressing as Mapped Out.
There is something admirable and at the same time almost uncanny in the inexorable, fateful manner in which China is moving forward to the fulfillment of the constitutional program which was promulgated after a protracted nearly two years ago. Step after step has been taken exactly on time, with all the precision of well rehearsed military evolutions and with entire disregard of those circumstances which in any other land might give convincing cause for delay or change, and there is now ample ground for confidence that the process will be continued to the completion of the program.

WHEN O. HENRY WENT FISHING.

The Bookman tell several stories about the late O. Henry. While walking down Broadway one day he accidentally bumped against a man who was not looking in the direction he was walking. "I beg your pardon," said Henry, "but really you ought to look where you are going." "If I did in this town I probably wouldn't go," replied the man with a sarcastic smile. "Ah," said O. Henry quickly, "and how are all the folks from Chicago?" One hot day when O. Henry and a friend had gone out of town on a little fishing expedition and had just caught anything—the friend noticed his companion desperately searching for something in his pockets. "What are you looking for?" he asked. "I am looking for my return ticket to New York," replied Henry positively, "and let me tell you that as soon as I find it I'm going to take a 'hitch' on a wagon and go back—fast! I know it's blamed hot in town, but there are just as good fish left on the menu as there are in the sea." The Bookman also vouches for the story that just before O. Henry died he asked that the curtains be raised "because," he whispered, with a smile, "I don't want to go home in the dark."

Afraid of Ghosts

Many people are afraid of ghosts. Few people are afraid of germs. Yet the ghost is a fancy and the germ is a fact. If the germ could be magnified to a size equal to its terrors it would appear more terrible than any fire-breathing dragon. Germs can't be avoided. They are in the air we breathe, the water we drink.

The germ can only prosper when the condition of the system gives it free scope to establish itself and develop. When there is a deficiency of vital force, languor, restlessness, a sallow cheek, a hollow eye, when the appetite is poor and the sleep is broken, it is time to guard against the germ. You can fortify the body against all germs by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It increases the vital power, cleanses the system of clogging impurities, enriches the blood, puts the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition in working condition, so that the germ finds no weak or tainted spot in which to breed. "Golden Medical Discovery" contains no alcohol, whisky or habit-forming drugs. All its ingredients printed on its outside wrapper. It is not a secret nostrum but a medicine of known composition and with a record of 40 years of cures. Accept no substitute—there is nothing "just as good." Ask your neighbors.

BAD FOREST FIRES WEST OF ISHPEMING

Call for Help Received from American Mine Responded to by Fire Department.

Yesterday afternoon and evening forest fires threatened the complete destruction of Ishpeming and the American mine location. It was feared that the flames would cause much damage near Clowery. About 4 o'clock the officials of the American mine telephoned Chief Lacey, of the fire department, for help, and he sent up the steamer Robert Nelson, a large quantity of hose and several firemen. The steamer was loaded near the Nelson Morris best house and was taken up about 5 o'clock.

The fire reached the danger point at Clowery, two miles east of Ishpeming, about 11 o'clock, when J. H. Malloy, Ishpeming agent of the Chicago & Northwestern Railway company, was notified. He sent out men to fight the flames, to protect the company's property. A high wind prevailed the greater part of the day and the flames spread rapidly. At 1 o'clock the fire was fully a half mile from the American mine, but within two hours they were close to the location. Most of the men working at the mine were put to work digging trenches and fighting the fire in other ways, and they succeeded in checking its progress somewhat, otherwise much damage would have resulted before the arrival of the steamer. There is plenty of water at the location. Boston lake lies on the east side and there is a big swamp on the west.

The residents of Ishpeming and at the American mine location were considerably frightened, as for a time it looked as if both places would be wiped out. A crew sent to Clowery by Agent Malloy of the Northwestern company worked all afternoon. The fire did no particular damage to the company's property, but it was impossible to check its progress toward the American mine. If it does not rain soon it is feared that the fire will do great damage in that vicinity, as they are now burning in several places. There are a number of farms between North lake and the American mine location and the timber and underbrush are as dry as tinder.

For an hour or more before the firemen reached Ishpeming the flames coming from the Clowery district were traveling at the rate of twenty miles an hour. The workmen dug wide trenches in front of the moving fire and threw the sand on the flames. The American mine has a fine pumping equipment, but there was not enough hose in the engine house to reach down to the location or Dierite. Water was thrown on the mine buildings while the men were fighting the flames to the west. Practically the entire swamp near the location was ablaze.

Mine Dry Takes Fire.

A short time before 6 o'clock the roof of the dry house at the American mine took fire and a few minutes later the roof of the dwelling occupied by Dr. Spinks also caught, but the latter was soon extinguished by the bucket brigade. By hard work the mine workmen saved the dry, but the roof was damaged somewhat. At the time the firemen were working on the roof, the flames in the balsam trees near the mine buildings were rising into the air fully 100 feet, but within a few minutes they had passed by and at 6:30 last evening it looked as though all of the houses at the location, as well as the mine structures, would be saved, though Dierite was in great danger. Several streams from the steam engine were used to fight the fire approaching the Dierite store and other buildings in the townsite. The smoke became so thick that it was with much difficulty that the men were able to continue their work.

Just before the supper hour the women and children began to leave, some of them being obliged to go out without taking any of their belongings. Some of the families were taken out in automobiles, and others walked toward Clarksburg.

J. R. Tompson, manager of the mine, superintended the fire fighting, and he said last evening that his men did fine work. Shortly before dinner, when the fire was near Clowery, he went down to look it over and he said that within fifteen minutes the flames had traveled a half mile.

FINNISH REUNION.

Noted Temperance Worker Coming from Finland to Deliver Address.

The arrangements for the convention and reunion of the National Finnish Brothers Temperance association, to be held at Eveleth this week after next, are now about completed. The convention will be held at Wahlonahle hall, and the picnic, on Saturday, the 30th, will take place at Ely lake.

A number of leading Finnish temperance workers in this country will speak at the picnic, and Professor William Reina, of the Finnish college at Helsingfors, Finland, is coming for the purpose of addressing the assemblage. Miss Alma Hinkinen, grand secretary of the organization, who makes her headquarters in Ishpeming, and J. R. Shields of Illinois are to deliver addresses. Among the organizations that are to give concerts are the Finnish band of this city and the Finnish Glee club of Ironwood.

Special rates of fare have been granted for members of the society and others desiring to attend the reunion. A number of the Ishpeming members plan to leave here next Sunday night with the Finnish band, and others will leave for Eveleth on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights. Large delegations are also expected to leave the copper country on Monday and Tuesday. The festivities will be brought to a close on Sunday, the 31st.

SUFFERS HEAVY LOSS.

Former Ishpeming Man Loses Timber, Hay, Barns, Machinery at Agate.

"I believe from what I have seen in the burned over districts in the upper peninsula during the past month that the damage to the standing timber will this year be greater than it was in 1907, when the flames spread over large areas in many of the timber districts of the upper peninsula, as well as in Northern Wisconsin and Minnesota," said an Ishpeming man yesterday. "I spent Monday near Trout Creek, where the fires have done a great deal of damage. For a time the towns people were afraid that the village would be destroyed, as the fires were burning all around them. The timber on all sides has been burned to within a half mile of the place, and it surprised me to find that the fire had been kept out of the town.

"The fires are now bad near Agate, some three or four miles from Trout Creek. Gabriel Bessonon, a former well-known Ishpeming man, who has been doing a prosperous timber and farming business in that vicinity, recently lost everything on his place with the exception of his home and his cattle. His barns, hay and machinery were completely destroyed. His gristmill was burned last year. Mr. Bessonon has been operating in that vicinity for the past ten years, ever since he left Ishpeming. His parents reside on East Division street. Mr. Bessonon is not discouraged and he has started in with renewed vigor. He still owns considerable stumpage that has not been badly damaged by the fires.

"Fires are also being fought in the vicinity of Goldwood, where the Marquette Lumber company is operating. The lumber concern now has a railroad extending ten miles into the woods, and additional tracks were recently completed. Several of the fires in that vicinity have been started by sparks from the company's locomotives, as the timber is close to the tracks practically the entire distance traversed by the railroad.

"Ontonagon county has a crew of men at work clearing the right-of-way for a team road from Trout Creek to Ontonagon, a distance of twenty-four miles. This improvement will be greatly appreciated, not only by the people of Ontonagon and Trout Creek, but also by the farmers."

Some of the Ishpeming merchants are having difficulty getting all the hay they need to supply their trade. The better quality hay is now worth $24 on the cars here, and is the highest price that has prevailed in a long time. The hay crop was almost a complete failure in parts of Wisconsin, and there was not enough grown in the upper peninsula for the farmers' own use.

A boat that was until recently owned by Dr. Hercules Meloché, formerly of this city, and sold by him to Lillian Lewis for $3,000, has been declared unfit for navigation. The craft was built in New York in 1865 as a steam tug. Later her machinery was removed and she became a tow barge, finally being converted back to a steam vessel. The boat was known as the "Henry W. Johnson," and was used in both freight and passenger traffic between Detroit and ports on the lower Detroit river.

WORLD'S BIGGEST DIAMOND.

Discovered High up on Bank in South African Mine.

The days' work at the mine was over and Frederick Wells, the surface manager, was making his usual rounds. Glancing along one side of the deep excavation of a brilliant object far up the bank. He lost no time in climbing up to the spot where he had noted the glint of light. He had not been mistaken; it was a brilliant crystal. He tried to pull it out with his fingers, and as this proved impossible he sought to pry it out with the blade of his penknife. To his surprise the blade of the knife broke without causing the stone to yield. Then he knew it was a large stone. So large and brilliant was the stone that he feared he was either dreaming or was insane.

Determined to test the stone on the spot, before proceeding further, Wells rubbed off the dirt from one of its faces with his fingers, and soon convinced himself that it was not a lump of glass, but a diamond, apparently of exceptional whiteness and purity. He finally succeeded in prying out the stone and bore it away with him to the office of the mine. Here it was cleaned, and to the astonishment of all, was found to have a weight of 302 1/2 carats, more than three times that of any other diamond that had been discovered. Before many hours passed the telegraph carried tidings to all parts

ENLARGING PLANT.

Additional Sorting Room Being Added to Hardwood Flooring Mill.

The Consolidated Fuel & Lumber company already has need for additional floor space at its hardwood flooring plant. An addition is being erected on the northwest corner, to be used for sorting flooring. The structure is thirty-seven feet in length by twenty-five feet wide. The present sorting room is quite crowded.
Three grades of matched flooring is being turned out. Flooring of various lengths, from eighteen inches to eight feet, is made. One man is employed sorting the flooring as it leaves the last machine, and the different grades are put up in bundles and piled in separate parts of the warehouse. Two widths of flooring, one two and one-half inches and the other one and one-half inches are turned out.

The plant is being operated economically. The shavings and saw dust furnish fuel for the boilers, and all of the clippings are sold. The clippings are carried by endless buckets to a bin on the south side of the plant. The saw dust and shavings are carried to the boiler plant in a similar manner.
Convenient railway tracks have been put in for the unloading of lumber from cars at the eastern end of the dry kiln, and also for loading the finished product at the ware house. The dry kiln will hold twenty carloads of lumber. The lumber remains in the kiln for six days. The average temperature in the kiln is 150 degrees. The kiln and warehouse are heated by the exhaust from the boiler plant during the day and by live steam during the night. The temperature in the warehouse is kept at a high point.

Since putting the plant into operation the Consolidated company has disposed of a considerable quantity of flooring to outside retail dealers, as well as supplying all of their own retail trade. During the past few weeks the company branches have increased their stocks. Twenty men are employed at the plant, which will be operated summer and winter.

WILL SOON BEGIN USING NEW ROUTES

South Shore's Tracks Between Negaunee and Eagle Mills Nearing Completion.

The Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic Railway company will probably begin using its new double tracks between Negaunee and Eagle Mills before the first of the coming month, as both lines are now nearly completed. Peter LaCrosse, who has done considerable construction work for the company during the past few years, has a crew employed putting in two additional sidings in the Negaunee yards, near the point where the new tracks will connect with the present main line. Each of the tracks is to be between 500 and 600 feet in length. The company will have four side tracks at that point, and four good-sized ore trains can be accommodated there. The Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company's new Negaunee mine shaft, now being sunk, is necessary to blast out considerable of the ledge, which came up in places from four to six feet above the grade. The sand cut directly south of the shaft is nearly twenty feet deep. The work on the cuts was used for the fills in the swamps east of the Negaunee mine.
It is not likely that the South Shore will abandon its present line between Negaunee and Eagle Mills immediately after the trains begin running over the new tracks, but it is hardly probable that the present track will be used after this summer, as it passes over surface that has been undermined. The new construction work was done by the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company, through the Lake Superior & Ishpeming Railway company, in order to get the South Shore track out of the way of the Negaunee mine operations. The double track system and the additional sidings for ore trains will be an improvement that road and yard employees of the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic company will appreciate, as it will make it possible to run the numerous trains that pass over the system between Negaunee and Eagle Mills to much better advantage than formerly.

Men were called out of the mines to fight the fire. When the wind went down they quickly got it under control. Besides the men that came from the mines there were people from all of the locations with axes and shovels trying to keep the fire in check.
The fire came within a hundred yards of the warehouse of the DuPont Powder company, which is used for storing powder. There was only a small quantity of powder on hand, but if the building had taken fire the explosion would have caused considerable damage.

GOLF MATCH SATURDAY.

Ishpeming and Negaunee Players Will Meet Iron Mountain Men.

Ten or more members of the Golf club will go to Iron Mountain Saturday to meet members of the team there in a match contest. Those who plan on going from here are Dr. A. W. Haidle, T. M. Wells, Al Maitland, F. A. Bell and J. M. Perkins. The Ishpeming delegation will probably be made up of Max Biber, L. Eaton, Will Newett, George F. Ruez and F. P. Tilson.
While no definite arrangements have been made relative to the contest, it is likely that the entire delegation from Ishpeming and Negaunee will be matched against an equal number of players from the Iron Mountain team. The Menominee range golfers have the better of the argument over the local team up to this time, as they won the matches played here and at Iron Mountain last year.

SOME BAD FIRES.

It is reported that the forest fires are now almost as bad as they were before the rain of ten days ago, and the timber in many parts is badly damaged. A party of Negaunee people went to one of the camps near Swanzey in an automobile Tuesday and the fires were serious in that direction. The corduroy bridge, located in what is known as the "slough" near the Swanzey station, was destroyed. When the Negaunee men passed over it in the morning there was no fire near it, but in the afternoon the bridge was burning and was completely destroyed a short time after they passed over it.

FOUND BIG WAD.

John Northley, a wellknown Negaunee young man, picked up a pocketbook on the street Tuesday that contained a large amount of currency. The wallet had been dropped by a commercial man. His card was in the pocket and Mr. Northley found him at the hotel and returned it.

GWINN.

FIRE THREATENED GWINN.

Men Called from Mines to Help Fight Flames Monday Afternoon.

A forest fire started about four miles from Gwin in 1 o'clock Monday afternoon, and within an hour it had reached a point about a quarter of a mile from New Swanzey. People living there began to move their belongings to Gwin and Princeton. There was a high wind blowing at the time and it looked as if the whole country thereabouts would be engulfed in the flames. The dry fir trees burned quickly and the fire jumped from one to another and at times rose into the air to a height of fifty feet.
Men were called out of the mines to fight the fire. When the wind went down they quickly got it under control. Besides the men that came from the mines there were people from all of the locations with axes and shovels trying to keep the fire in check.

The fire came within a hundred yards of the warehouse of the DuPont Powder company, which is used for storing powder. There was only a small quantity of powder on hand, but if the building had taken fire the explosion would have caused considerable damage.

WILL OPEN STORE.

Leo Verville & Co. Will Be Ready for Business This Week.

Leo Verville, a wellknown resident of this range, will this week open a grocery store and meat market in the Farqua building at New Swanzey. Mr. Verville has had the building redecorated and remodeled throughout and it presents a neat appearance. He has installed new fixtures and has a complete line of groceries. The meat market will not be ready for business at the start, but will be opened as soon as possible. Mr. Verville has been a resident of Gwin for the past six years and is well known. He has worked for a number of the merchants here and also in other towns in the upper peninsula for the past twelve years, and is familiar with the grocery and meat business.

FINE VOLUMES HAVE MISSION

That a Book Is a Faithful Friend and Should Be Housed and Dressed as Well as One's Purse Will Permit, Is the Contention of Captain Alanson Himes.

Though Thoroughly English, He Finds Much Good in America and American Institutions, and Says People of This Country Appreciate Literature.

While no great number of persons visited the exhibition of fine books given by representatives of the Grolier society, of London, at the Peter White public library yesterday, those who did went away enthusiastic over the showing of costly editions, some of which are so fine that one hesitates to handle them with unglazed hands. Owing to the great interest manifested in the books, Captain Alanson Himes, who is in charge of the exhibition, did not give his lecture as anticipated. The collection may be seen at the Hotel Clifton today and tomorrow, and from here will be taken to Houghton.

Captain Himes emphatically denies the popular impression that limited editions and books with very costly bindings are gotten up by publishers solely to tickle the fancies of the vulgar rich, who want something that no one else can afford. It is true that only the very rich can afford to place books that cost $1,000 and upwards on their library shelves, but he declares such works nevertheless have their legitimate purpose.

"If you have a very dear friend," he says, "you want that friend to dress and appear as well as his station in life will permit. If you can afford to dress your wife in silks and satins, you want to dress her in that manner. The same should be true of a good book. There are no more faithful or deserving friends than good books. Therefore, why not dress your favorite books as well as your purse will permit?"

Sees Good in America. Captain Himes is one of the few dyed-in-the-wool Englishmen who can see something good in America and American institutions. He says he greatly enjoys traveling in this country and finds the American people just as bookish and just as literary as those of Europe, speaking generally of all classes of people, with the single exception of those engaged in business. The average American business man, he says, is too busy making money to spend much time in reading, while the average European business man, on the other hand, lays aside his business for an hour or more each day to enjoy art and literature.

Captain Himes is accompanied by Mrs. Himes, who is proud to claim South Africa as her birthplace. The captain has served in the British army under Queen Victoria and later under King Edward. Mrs. Himes also expresses herself as delighted with America. She sees much variety here, both in natural beauty and in the people in different parts of the country. The people in different cities and different states are as unlike, oftentimes, as those of two distinct nations. Much of the scenery here, she considers as beautiful as that of Europe, leaving its historical associations out of account.

Both Captain and Mrs. Himes express themselves as mightily pleased with the cordial and appreciative reception which they and their books have received from upper peninsula in Menominee, Escanaba and Marquette people. They have found people of these three cities to be cultured and thoroughly appreciative of the good in books and literature. That the common charge that the American people are not readers and students of standard literature is unfounded and unjust is their opinion.

FEDERAL JURY DISCHARGED.

Balance of Term Will Be Taken Up With Chinese Deportation Cases.

The jury cases set for trial at this term of United States court unexpectedly came to an end at noon yesterday and the jurymen were discharged from further attendance. Arrangements had been made to start the case of John Johnson vs. the Castle Mining company yesterday afternoon, but a settlement was made out of court during the noon hour. It was anticipated that the trial of this case would have taken about a week.

In the case of the Public Schools of the City of Ironwood against the United States Fidelity & Guaranty company, trial by jury will probably be waived, in which case Judge Denison will hear it the first of next week; otherwise, it will be continued until next term. This practically disposes of the work of the term, with the exception of the Chinese deportation cases, the first of which will be heard before the court Saturday.

The case of Leaper vs. C. J. Huelb company, brought because of an alleged breach of contract relative to the sale and delivery of a quantity of posts and poles, went to the jury just before noon yesterday and a short time later a verdict was returned in favor of the plaintiff, by which the defendant must pay Leaper $2,613.79, which is $50 less than the full amount of the claim.

Because of the late date at which the work of this term of federal court will be finished and the fact that it was scheduled to begin on state primary day, the September term of United States court has been postponed from Sept. 6 to Oct. 4.

Foad wishes to notify parties that want good camping sites on the shore of Lake Superior where there is good fishing, good hunting and the best camping sites that are for sale on the shore of Lake Superior. BIJOU CHANGES HANDS.

Gillard Bros. Sell Front Street Theater to Grand Rapids Man.

By the terms of a deal consummated yesterday, the Bijou theater on South Front street will be taken over by Lloyd Dorsey, of Grand Rapids, at the end of this week's business. Mr. Dorsey is a man of long and diversified experience along theatrical lines and is well fitted to take charge of the management of a first class vaudeville and moving picture theater. The custom of having a vaudeville act in connection with each performance, which was inaugurated by the Gillards, will be continued by Mr. Dorsey and he is already in communication with managers of prominent vaudeville circuits relative to teams to be sent here. His wide acquaintance with the moving picture and vaudeville theater assures the people of Marquette that the theater will continue to operate along the same high class lines that have characterized the shows in the past.

For the last year and a half the Bijou has been operated by Gillard Bros., who during that time have made an enviable record for fair dealing and giving the public clean shows that were well worth the price of admission. Chas. E. Gillard, who has been actively in control of the management, expects to go to Sandusky, where his family lives. J. R. Gillard is now located in a law office at Grand Rapids. The theater will pass into the hands of Mr. Dorsey Saturday night.

DONOVAN-KELLEY WEDDING.

Two Well Known Marquette Young People United in Marriage.

Two well known Marquette young people, Miss Mary A. Donovan and Richard J. Kelly, were united in marriage at St. Peter's cathedral at 6 o'clock yesterday morning by the Rev. Father Pinten. Elizabeth and James Donovan, sister and brother of the bride, were the bridesmaid and groomsmen, respectively. After the marriage vows had been exchanged, the wedding party repaired to the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Margaret Donovan, 214 Rock street, where a wedding breakfast was served. Both Mr. and Mrs. Kelly have their home in Marquette, and their friends number legion. The groom is the senior member of the Kelly Hardware company. After a wedding trip to Chicago and eastern points, they will be at home after Aug. 1 at 123 East Michigan street.

COMING NEXT WEEK.

Amos Musselman Will Campaign in Upper Peninsula.

It is announced in the lower state papers that Amos Musselman, of Grand Rapids, one of the trio of candidates for the Republican nomination for governor, will spend next week campaigning in the upper peninsula. The itinerary is not given, but it is said that meetings will be held in Escanaba, Marquette, Houghton, Hancock and Ironwood, and that other meetings will also be arranged. Mr. Musselman will be accompanied by the Hon. George Clapperton, also of Grand Rapids, a well known public man in western Michigan, and who is a strong speaker.

It is not known just when Messrs. Musselman and Clapperton will be here, but they may attend the meeting of the joint prison and allied boards at the Marquette prison tomorrow and Saturday. Mr. Musselman is and has been for some years a member of the board of control of the Ionia reformatory and Mr. Clapperton is a member of the board of corrections and charities.

FOREST FIRES SERIOUS AGAIN

Dry Weather and Carelessness of Campers Responsible for Much Damage in Woods.

Forest fires, which were quenched for a time by the rains of last week, have broken out again in many parts of the upper peninsula and yesterday were reported to have assumed threatening proportions at several places in Marquette county. A bad fire is burning just north of the city back of the old Merritt farm and the smoke could be smelled distinctly last evening. Fire started on Little Presque Isle yesterday afternoon and the timber on the island was badly damaged. The only fire near the line of the Marquette & Southeastern of any consequence is that near Yalmar, which has been burning for several weeks.

Several bad fires are raging near Birch and Big Bay. One was reported to be dangerously near Reichel Bros. logs, which are barked along the track, preparatory to shipping them to their new mill in North Marquette. A small fire is burning just back of the railroad station at Big Bay, but the town is in no danger at present.

A crew of fifteen or twenty fire fighters were rushed to Big Bay by a special train yesterday to fight a fire which has started on Longyear land west of Big Bay, but it is not so serious as was thought at first. The woods are burning along the Salmon Trout river. This fire is said to have been started by a fisherman, who left his camp fire burning. It is also believed that the fire on Little Presque Isle was started by campers.

Fires are burning at many points along the South Shore railroad. Engines equipped with fire pumps were working at Trout Creek and Ewen yesterday and at the American Mine location the situation got so serious that a string of one or two cars was taken to Michigamme, as there was danger that they might be burned. Fires are reported to be very close to the houses at the American Mine location and considerable apprehension was felt yesterday afternoon. The fire was said to be under control last evening.

NO CAR SHORTAGE EXPECTED THIS YEAR

Railroad Men Believe Freight Can Be Moved Promptly During the Fall Months.

According to railroad men in Marquette, and in other parts of the northwest as well, there will be no such shortage of cars as is usually the case during the fall months. While the western states are moving their grain crop, it is usually true that cars for other purposes are as scarce as the proverbial snowballs, but this year is expected to be an exception.

One of the reasons upon which this belief is based, is that the crop will not be the equal of the crop that generally causes traffic officials of the railroads of the country to become gray-haired in an effort to keep the general business of the country moving. With the shortage of the crop, traffic men say there will be also a decrease in other shipments. Therefore, looking at all sides of the situation, as shown at the present time, it is not thought that the railroads will be called upon to tax their rolling stock to haul the freight of the wheat producing region of the west.

However, the railroads of the northwest are making the annual preparation for handling the fall rush of business. These preparations include the repairing of freight rolling stock and the overhauling of every car in use by the companies. The railroads do not intend to be caught napping, should business be heavier than the present crop outlook warrants.

The warm weather of last March and the unfavorable crop prospects have made the movement of coal light to date, and this may cause a congestion later. This demand will be only temporary, however, say railroad men, and not one that will cause any car shortage. Wheat is the great commodity that taxes the capacity of the railroads more than any other crop. A good crop also means increased industrial activity in other lines. Therefore, when the crop is light demand for cars in other lines of business is likely to be lighter than usual, and for these reasons the traffic experts are quite positive that there will be plenty of cars to handle the business of the country during the fall months.
