MARQUETTE, MICH., JULY 23, 1910.

Entered as mail matter of the second class in the postoffice at Marquette, Mich.

Dr. Crippen and his whiskers still remain at large.

Speaker Cannon and Senator Bristow
 have fought their rubber trust bout out
 to "no decision."

"Keep sweet" is not the worst watch-
 word in the world for these tumultuous
 days of political turmoil.

President Taft showed the swagger set
 at Bar Harbor, Me., that he is president of all the people.

We will endeavor to give our guests—
 the members of that pesky Negeauze
 baseball team—a warm welcome.

Judge Montgomery now ought to be able to appreciate how wise he was
 when he took himself out of the gubernatorial race.

Representative Monroe of Ironwood is another old timer on the upper peninsula legislative delegation who will have opposition in the primaries this year.

Rhode Island may have but a little over 500,000 population, but it has been plenty big enough to boss the United States senate for these several years past.

Has anyone heard of any of State
 Forestry Warden Pierce's deputies doing anything to embarrass the forest fires
 that are doing so much damage in the upper peninsula?

If Mr. Hemans does not run for governor it is now stated that he may run
 for circuit judge in Ingham county. It seems to be generally assumed that Mr.
 Hemans must run for something.

The school census indicates that Chicago has a population of 2,100,000, and it is predicted that the federal census will beat that at least 100,000. But Chicago isn't big enough to prevent the Illinois Central locomotives from blowing smoke all over its landscapes.

An elaborate analytical article in one of the copper country papers explains
 why that Double H team continues at the top of the percentage column with a percentage of 1000. Why all this analysis? The other teams are the reason.

To the customer it is a matter of indifference whether the Bell Telephone system in this state is owned by the Michigan State company or the American Telephone & Telegraph, as long as the service is kept up to a high standard and the rates are kept down.

Officials of the state grange have a prominent part in Mr. Osborn's entourages, as he passes through the lower state counties. Mr. Osborn is going to get his fair share of the grange vote. A fair minded granger can't help but realize that his position on taxation matters is as sound as a nut.

Speaker Cannon is going to rusticate
 and recuperate at Mackinac Island. It would be a fortunate thing for the gentlemen who are arms deep in the task
 of trying to elect a Republican majority for the next congress if the process would keep the speaker busy until late in the autumn. His outbursts are embarrassing, to put the thing as mildly as possible.

Now it's the bath tub trust that must stand fire. The department of justice has launched a bill in equity against sixteen manufacturers of sanitary en-email, said to have $100,000,000 behind 'em. But what does the department of justice care about $100,000,000
 when cleanliness is at stake.

Two weeks ago tests made by the agents of the commissioner of health in Milwaukee showed an average of only 7 per cent of butter fat in the ice cream
 vended in that town, whereupon the commissioner gave warning that unless
 more cream was placed in the ice cream
 he would be compelled to allow something to drop. Tests this week showed an average of 14 per cent butter fat, or an improvement of 100 per cent. All of which goes to prove that good and active health commissioners are worth all that is paid them.

The Chocolatey furnace is out of blast
 and will probably be shut down for a period of several months. The pig iron market has been laggard of late, the demand slow and prices off. The Chocolatey furnace has not had any good going since it was rehabilitated by the Berry interests three years ago. There hasn't been,

in the interval, a strong iron market,
 and the money invested in the plant has yet to make any return to speak of.
 However, the furnace is now in excellent order for production, and in time will make its killing. But now, for an interval, the Chocolatey location will take
 on some of its accustomed sleepiness,
 which has been rudely broken in on by industry for several months past.

Representative Campbell, of Grand Rapids, the speaker, is writing members of the legislature telling them that he can have a renomination if he wants it,
 but intimating that he does not particularly want it unless he is tolerably sure of being elected the president officer of the next house. Mr. Campbell's letters are regarded as a feeler put out to determine whether Representative Baker,
 another candidate for speaker, has all
 the support he asserts he has.

Representative McLaughlin, of Muskegon, one of the best known public men
 in Michigan, came flatly out for Chase S.
 Osborn for governor at a meeting addressed by Mr. Osborn during his tour of Muskegon county. The audience called on Mr. McLaughlin for a few remarks, on Mr. Osborn's conclusion, and he informed the assemblage, straight from the shoulder, that he intended to vote for Mr. Osborn, and recommended the upper peninsula candidate to its thoughtful consideration. Mr. McLaughlin's influence in Muskegon county should mean a great deal for Mr. Osborn's candidacy.

The Wisconsin prohibitionists have come out squarely against the local option plan of dealing with the liquor problem. The regard it as wholly inadequate, because it is not far-reaching enough. What the prohibitionists want is the entire uprooting of the liquor traffic. They would get to the bottom of the traffic by prohibiting any brewing or distilling of liquors containing alcohol.
 They regard local option as a good deal
 of a farce and as a wholly inconsistent program. The lack of sympathy between local option and prohibition
 workers, which has been plainly evident for two or three years past, promises
 to become an open breach.

The Houghton Gazette doesn't think much of street fairs. It says, anent the action of the Marquette council this week:

One of the lodges at Marquette desired to arrange for a street fair
 later this summer and applied to the common council for the necessary permission. Instead of jumping right into the street carnival
 proposition with enthusiasm and offering to donate $500 for the purpose of helping the thing along the city council announced that permission would be granted under special conditions, one being the payment of $200 license fee and the other a general supervision of the attractions by a council committee.
 And the council is right. If the action results in prohibiting the street fair in Marquette it will be the best thing for all concerned
 for these things never result in any real benefit to any community and often they do great damage.

"The people who have subscribed to the warfare against bossism should join the president and Mr. Roosevelt in making it clear to the personal and factional politicians that the rank and file of the Republican party in each state, together with its local and lesser leaders,
 is quite capable of running its own affairs without the assistance of either Oyster Bay or Beverly," says the Milwaukee Free Press. "As far as Mr.
 Roosevelt is concerned, every good citizen hopes that he will take an active part in redeeming the Republican party
 of his own state, just as it hopes that he will speak fully and freely when the time comes on the issues before the American people. That is his privilege and duty as a party leader and one of
 the foremost citizens of the country.
 But such activity is a far cry from the role of a 'meddlesome Mattie' in party politics." P. S. Uncle Joe take notice.

Lewis T. Sterling, of Iron Mountain, has announced that he will not be a candidate for re-election in his representative district. Personal interests demand an increasing amount of Mr.
 Sterling's time, and he cannot serve another term in the legislature without too serious a sacrifice. There is genuine cause to regret that Mr. Sterling will not be a member of the upper peninsula
 delegation during the next session, as he is a representative man, of excellent ability, and gave admirable service. He is the type of man of which there is too few in our legislature, and would, if he continued a member of the body, be most influential in its deliberations. The Iron Mountain Press hears that J. B.
 Knight, of Norway, who represented the district previous to the election of Mr.
 Sterling, will be a candidate again, and
 says that if he should enter the field
 he probably would be nominated without opposition.

STATE AID A FARCE.
 The next legislature may well take another round out of the statute that is supposed to provide for state aid in the work of preventing and fighting forest fires in Michigan. It has been the practice for some years past to put in a little time bi-annually putting at this statute, but it has not yet been put into such shape that it counts
 for anything.

The statute as it stands makes the game warden also the state forestry
 warden, and his deputy game wardens
 are usually appointed deputy state fire wardens as well. In their districts they have, within certain limitations, the right of capturing fights on forest fires
 and can incur certain limited obligations in doing so.

But either through the unpreparedness
 of the state wardens' department, the ineptitude of most of the deputies, the faulty nature of the statute, or because of all these causes, the forest fires now
 general in this region could burn until the last stick of timber was destroyed
 for all the effective work being done under state auspices to put an end to them.

With fires on every side in the upper peninsula, The Mining Journal has yet
 to learn of a single effective effort made by one of Mr. Pierce's deputies to quench even one corner of the smallest of them. Not even the circumscribed power placed in their hands by the existing statute has been exercised. If it had been invoked when the fires were in their infancy in different parts of the upper peninsula hundreds of thousands of dollars of property loss might have been prevented.

The legislature should do its part. It should frame a statute providing for state aid in fighting forest fires drawn
 on more liberal lines than the one now
 written in the law books. It will cost much more money to fight forest fires effectively, but the sum required will be a mere bagatelle compared with the annual loss that results from their being allowed to sweep unchecked over wide
 expanses of country.

Unfortunately the legislature can in
 no manner provide for the appointment of efficient deputies. That will have to be the state wardens' responsibility.
 The only way he can accomplish this duty satisfactorily will be to gum shoe
 about until he finds the right men and
 then give them commissions, being careful in the meanwhile not to let the local politicians know that he has any vacancies to fill. If he omits this latter precaution he will be besieged with remonstrances of this or that aspirant based entirely on their real, or supposed, ability to serve local political ends, and not at all on their ability to do the work
 for which they are paid.

Mr. Pierce's deputy game wardens,
 taken as a whole, are a lot of nail pol-
 ishers in city streets, who make mighty
 little pretense of delivering the goods.
 The exceptions here and there simply prove the rule. If they were better men, even under the present inadequate statute much of the forest fire loss that has occurred in the upper peninsula the past few weeks might have been prevented.

He who laughs loudest seldom laughs
 best.

HIS SORE HANDS
 CURED IN A WEEK

Cracked Open, Bled, Burned and Ached for Over a Year—Could Not Sleep nor Even Dress Himself
 —Doctors Failed to Help Him.

MAN OF 70 OWES SKIN
 COMFORT TO CUTICURA

"I am a man seventy years old. My hands were very sore and cracked open on the insides for over a year with large sores.
 They would crack open
 and bleed, itch, burn
 and ache so that I could not sleep and could do
 but little work. They were so bad that I could not dress myself in the morning. They would bleed and the blood
 dropped on the floor. I called on two doctors,
 but they did me no good.
 I could get nothing to me any good till I got the Cuticura Soap and Ointment.
 About a year ago my daughter got a cake
 of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment and in one week from the time I began to use them my hands were all healed up and they have not been a mite sore since. I would not be without the Cuticura Remedies.
 "They also cured a bad sore on the hand of one of my neighbor's children,
 and they think very highly of the Cuticura Remedies. John W. Hasty, So. Egghingham, N. H., Mar. 5 and Apr. 11, '09."

For Baby's Skin
 The purest, sweetest and most economical method of preserving, purifying
 and beautifying baby's delicate skin,
 scalp and hair is the constant use of Cuticura Soap, assisted, when necessary,
 by gentle applications of Cuticura Ointment. For rashes, itchings, inflammations
 and chafings of infants, children,
 and adults, as well as for shaving, shamp-
 oing, sanative, antiseptic cleansing
 and all purposes of the toilet, both and Cuticura Soap and Ointment
 are unrivaled.

A LAUGH OR TWO.

An Exception.
 A village parish clerk, who employed a grammarian to teach his daughter, heard him with much surprise define the use of the articles, "a," "an," and "the."
 "You cannot use 'a' in the singular article, before plural nouns. No one can say 'a houses, a horses, a—'"
 "Hold there!" said the parish clerk.
 "I must contradict you in that. Don't I at church every Sunday say 'Amen!'"
 —Tie-Bits.

Weather Forecast.
 "I do not think," said Edmund Yates
 in his book, "Reflections on Experiences,"
 "I ever met a man more hopelessly deaf than Charles Kemble at seventy. Some of us were sitting one afternoon at the Garrick club when a tremendous thunderstorm broke over
 the house.
 "I was roused with extraordinary fury,
 one snap exploding with terrific noise immediately above us like a volley of artillery."
 "We looked round at each other almost in horror, when Charles Kemble,
 who was calmly reading, lifted his eyes
 from his book and said, in his trumpet-tone, 'Think we are going to have some thunder; I feel it in my knees!'"

Hard Lines.

On the line of the Missouri Pacific railway, just over in Oklahoma from Coffeyville, Kan., is a small place called Nowatta. A state law in Kansas prohibits the carrying by the railroads of public drinking cups on trains. Not long ago a farmer from Iowa, on a Missouri Pacific train in Kansas near Coffeyville, wanted a drink of water. He did not know about the law. Going to the water cooler, he began looking for the cup. When he failed to find it he sought the chair car porter, a negro, and asked
 for it.
 "Law, doan' low no public cups on
 dese heah trains," said the porter.
 The Iowan was deeply disgusted. He returned to his seat and grumbled until the train crossed the Oklahoma-Kansas line. Shortly after that the negro porter struck his head in the door.
 "Nowatta!" he called.
 "That increased the Iowan's disgust.
 "In Kansas they don't have no drinkin'
 cups," he said to the man in the next seat, "and in Oklahoma no water on trains. Danged if I don't stay in Iowa for the rest of my life, if I ever get back
 there without dryin' up of thirst!"
 —Denver Times.

In Cipher.
 William O. Hudson of New Orleans is a magnetic speaker, and has an engaging personality that commands the immediate attention of any one with whom he comes in contact. He is also a raconteur of no mean ability, and has always a crowd around him.

"I recall a case of genuine bone-headedness, mixed with enthusiasm, that cost
 the great many people a lump of money.
 It was during the time when a big strike meant a drop in the price of oil. The foreman of a drill crew had been instructed by the employers to use a code
 in the event of oil being found. If it was a big flow he was to wire, "Pine trees grow tall." If, on the other hand,
 the flow was small, "Pine trees grow
 small," was to be the code message.
 "The drill struck a gusher, and the following message was sent by the Ivory-
 topped individual: 'Pine trees grow tall
 as hell, and she is spewing all over the derrick.' Of course there were a number of men about the exchange who could understand telegraphy, and the consequence was that the price of oil dropped
 about $2 a barrel in a few minutes."

Aids Nature

The great success of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in curing weak stomachs, wasted bodies, weak lungs, and obstinate and lingering coughs, is based on the recognition of the fundamental truth that "Golden Medical Discovery" supplies Nature with body-building, tissue-repairing, muscle-making materials, in condensed and concentrated form. With this help Nature supplies the necessary strength to the stomach to digest
 food, build up the body and thereby throw off lingering obstinate coughs. The "Discovery" re-establishes the digestive and nutritive organs in sound health, purifies
 and enriches the blood, and nourishes the nerves—in short establishes sound vigorous health.

If your dealer offers something "just as good,"
 it is probably better FOR HIM—it pays better.
 But you are thinking of the cure not the profit, so there's nothing "just as good" for you. Say so.

 arrested in Newark on charges preferred against him here and was speedily convicted. He is also said to be wanted

 and it is also said that he recently completed a sentence of three years in Sing

SAD NEWS FOR THE VAGRANTS. Basement of New Jail Addition Will Be Excavated by Prisoners.

The sad word has gone out and Houghton county now probably will not be a favored spot during the hot weather for hoboes and vagrants...

A jail sentence in Houghton County has been a sentence heretofore. The men are all sentenced to a term at hard labor, but that has meant scrubbing floors, working in the kitchen, cleaning up around the stable or puttering around among the beautiful flowers which deck the county building grounds...

But now, it will be "drill, yep, tarriers, drill" and the vagrant will be a scarce quantity in the county as soon as the word goes forth. Sheriff Byers has had much experience in working men in lumber camps, railroad construction and public works construction and he is going to get the work out of his unwilling laborers...

The work probably will begin next Monday morning, at which time Architect Liebert will have laid out the ground. The addition is to extend the present jail wing of the county building south to the boundary of the grounds...

J. N. Mitchell, chief of the Hancock fire department and president of the Upper Peninsula Firemen's association, has received from Treasurer G. J. Murray the financial report for the year, which is to be presented at the annual convention of the association at the Soo next month...

The action of the Hancock common council in granting an appropriation of $350 to the fire department for the purpose of meeting the expense of the campaign to secure year's annual tournament and convention is a very satisfactory one, showing the finances of the association to be in excellent condition...

BOOSTERS FOR HURONTOWN. Houghton Suburb Has a Booster's Club Which Will Boost.

Speaking of civic pride and municipal ambition and the other things which go toward increasing the fair fame and prosperity of cities, consider the Boosters' club of Hurontown. This club was organized at a meeting of the business men Thursday night at the Hurontown fire hall...

The club has appointed a committee consisting of E. Liebert, meat dealer, Fred Mutter, baseball magnate, and Frank Hanson, cigar manufacturer, to get up a constitution and by-laws to be reported at the next meeting.

The charter membership is thirty-eight, each member pledged to pay $1.00 per month into the fund. The object is to promote the interests of Hurontown. Hurontown is neither a village, nor a city. It is a place, a location, a collection of homes gathered around and among the Isle Royale and Superior mining locations...

COUNCIL MEANS BUSINESS. Houghton Village Board Will insist on Sidewalk Construction.

The Houghton council some time ago issued notices to several hundred property owners to the effect that if they did not immediately construct needed concrete walks adjoining their property, the village would do the work, commencing at the expiration of the sixty-day period...

The trustees seen in deadly earnest regarding this sidewalk matter. They are becoming somewhat weary over making the owners ignore and are going to enforce this one to the letter. The council meets next Monday night and it is probable that at that time Superintendent Foley will make a report of the walks actually constructed in response to the council's orders.

SPANISH WAR VETERANS. New Camp of the National Organization Is Formed at Calumet.

Officers and members of George Miller Camp, United Spanish War Veterans, of Houghton, Thursday night organized at Calumet a camp to be known as Peterman camp. It is named for Colonel John P. Peterman of Alcona, Michigan in the Spanish war.

NATURALIZATION RECORD HERE. County Clerk Richardson Receives Much Needed Supplies.

County Clerk Richardson yesterday received from the naturalization bureau at Washington a new record book for naturalization petitions and his office is now in position once more to proceed with receiving and posting petitions for citizenship.

OFFICERS MUST BE ELECTORS. Attorney General Says Attorney Outside County Cannot Be Elected.

According to a written opinion of former Attorney General Bird of Michigan, now in the hands of Attorney J. A. Hamilton of Alcona, who seeks the Republican nomination for the office of prosecuting attorney of Keweenaw county this year, a person living without the county cannot be elected to office in the gift of any county.

"Judge Cooley, in his work on Principles of Constitutional Law (page 257), in discussing the question of eligibility to office, says, 'When the law is silent respecting qualifications to office, it must be understood that electors are eligible but no others. For more than 60 years this has been regarded as the settled law of this state.' (544)

"A person must, therefore, be an elector, in order to hold the office of prosecuting attorney. It is not sufficient for him to be an elector somewhere in the state. He must be an elector in the county, the electors of which elected him to the office. A contrary conclusion would be directly opposed to popular belief. Local conditions cannot operate to change this rule. There may be counties in this state in which there are no resident attorneys. This fact can not operate to change what is believed to be an important qualification. It is believed that an attorney must be a resident and elector of the county as a condition to his right to be elected to or hold the office of prosecuting attorney."

The Mohawk during the first half of 1910 produced approximately 5,600,000 pounds of refined copper. This output is very nearly the same as that for the first six months of 1909, and if maintained indicates production for the year of 11,200,000 pounds, the same as last year. With but a single exception the rock run through the mill in June was the poorest of any month this year.

The yield of refined copper per ton of rock was 13.74 pounds, a drop of more than two pounds from the April yield, but nearly one pound better than the February yield. The June average was practically the same as for the 1909 year, when 13.73 pounds of copper was obtained from each ton of rock, compared with 15.01 pounds, in 1908, and 13.77 pounds in 1907. Sinking in the new No. 6 shaft is being done at a depth below the sixth level in the old mine, but this ground will not be opened up through stopes until late this year.

Some have predicted a famine, but are wrong. Nature's gifts are abundant and the weather has been ideal for a Chautauqua and the attendance has been large. This is the second annual assembly and its success insures the permanence of the venture. It will be an annual affair next year and its importance and influence, in the opinion of those most interested.

COUNTRY IS UNDER A PALL. Forest Fires Cause Darkening Skies Similar to 1908.

A pall of smoke is hanging over the copper country, indicating the serious nature of the forest fires which are prevailing and also the fact that the continued lack of rain is a portentous matter. The smoke yesterday was so dense that the sun was obscured and it was difficult to distinguish objects across Portage lake. A similar condition existed in the fall of 1908, when for days the country was hung over with smoke. Only a heavy rainfall can remedy the condition.

THE BEST S. S. S. SPRING TONIC

Most persons, even those who are ordinarily strong and healthy, need a tonic at some period in the Spring. Some have a nervous system, but are weak, debilitated and run-down. Winter life with its decreased amount of outdoor exercise, and the fact that cold weather has kept the pores of the skin closed, prevented the proper amount of waste and refuse matter from being expelled from the system. These impurities entering the circulation have thinned and weakened the blood, and the body therefore does not receive a sufficient amount of blood nourishment. The general bodily weakness, tired feeling, sickle appetite, poor digestion, etc., show how anemic the blood has become. It is Nature's tonic, pure and healthful. It regulates digestion, tones up the stomach, improves the appetite and promotes strong, vigorous health. This will be your best Spring tonic if you use S. S. S. for your tonic.

ILLINOIS SITUATION BADLY INVOLVED

Lorimer Scandal One of the Dominating Factors in Both State and Congressional Campaigns—Seats of Several Representatives Are Threatened.

Members of Legislature Who Voted for Blond Boss Are Under Fire of Their Constituents and There Is a Prospect the Legislature Will Be Cleaned Up.

Washington, July 22.—More interest attaches to the Republican state campaign in Illinois than in any other state in the country, if such things can be compared. People of the Prairie state, like their confederates in New York, are trying to shake themselves loose from a political system which has disgraced the state and then from time immemorial. The fight is now on to a finish, and will be half won Sept. 15, by one side or the other, when the primaries are held. The Lorimer scandal will, of course, be the paramount issue, with national and other local matters mixed in.

At present there is almost universal support of the proposition that the state legislature shall be cleaned out from top to bottom of all men who voted for William Lorimer for senator. There are 200 members of the Illinois legislature, of whom fifty-five Republicans and fifty-three Democrats, 108 in all, voted for Lorimer for senator. A few of the 108 are hold-over senators, who cannot be reached by the voters at the coming election. Four of the 108 have confessed that they were bribed to vote for Senator Lorimer. Another, who has not confessed, has already been tried once for bribery and will be tried again. Still another has been indicted for alleged bribery. The situation is similar in many respects to the legislature of 1897, which rejected the Humphrey gas bill and the Allen street railway bill, the result of which was that only one member of the legislature from a district outside of Chicago voted for the legislation was re-elected.

Chicago has been obtuse to the pleadings of the independent press of Chicago to the low grade of its legislature. Today it is aroused. The indignation sweeping the state over the Lorimer scandal is non-partisan. The issues in Illinois this fall promise to be as follows: One of the delegates, Frank O. Lowden, has already announced his retirement from congress, and half a dozen more have serious contests on their hands for renomination and re-election.

One Democrat, John P. McDermott, of Chicago, who voted with the Fitzgerald Democrats last March in aid of the Cannon house organization, is slated for defeat by the Democratic organization in his district. Since that fatal vote, McDermott has labored hard to offset it. He is a moderate congressman at best, however, and will have a hard time convincing his constituents that he ought to be returned.

From the sixth and seventh districts of Chicago come William J. Moxley, who succeeded Lorimer in the house, and Patrick Lundy, both Republicans. Lundy is another Lorimer satellite. Moxley was forced to pay the government a fine of $28,000 for violation of the oleomargarine law. His firm has been repeatedly mentioned in connection with "butter moonshining" in Chicago. As a congressman, Moxley has no influence. Nor is Lundy of congressional calibre. At home, he is a good ward worker and a manufacturer of pet medicine.

Boswell Boutell in Danger. The real surprise of the congressional contest in Illinois is likely to occur in the Ninth district, where Henry S. Boutell, member of the ways and means committee, who nominated Speaker Cannon for president, and who is known as the "side statesman" in congress, is in grave danger of defeat. The issues against Mr. Boutell are the tariff bill and his absolute subservience to Speaker Cannon. His district comprises the Twenty-first ward of Chicago, which includes part of the northwestern river front and the lake shore drive, and also the Twenty-second ward. In his district, five members of the Treasury Department, Secretary of War Dickerson, Solicitor General Lloyd W. Bowers and other figures of the national administration, Mayor Fred A. Busse, Roundback and former Mayor Carter H. Harrison, Democrat, Mr. Boutell has been receiving nominations for a number of years on a silver platter, the Busse organization merely donating him his seat. He has never had Democratic opposition worth mentioning. Now, however, Mayor Busse, who is strong with the independent press of Chicago, is understood to be on Mr. Boutell's trail, and the newspapers unqualifiedly assert that Mr. Boutell, who is known as the "Boanerges of protection," is not coming back.

On the other hand, the Republican leaders of Cook county have practically determined to make up their county slates for the primaries without reference to Senator Lorimer and his friends, who admittedly control five wards in the "side states." Now, Roundback, in Chicago appear quiescent. Whether they will put a primary slate of their own in the field, whether they will knife their opponents in their own party in the polls in November, or whether they will "come through" and support them is a matter of some doubt. The Democrats have an opportunity for carrying Cook county this fall that they have not had in a number of years.

The Republican majority on joint ballot in the legislature is fifty. The Republicans had the senate by thirty-eight to thirteen, and the house by eighty-nine to sixty-four. It must not be forgotten in connection with the Lorimer scandal that no Republican member of the legislature has been shown to be either a bribe giver or a bribe taker in connection with the senator's election. On the other hand, the Lorimer forces in Chicago appear quiescent. Whether they will put a primary slate of their own in the field, whether they will knife their opponents in their own party in the polls in November, or whether they will "come through" and support them is a matter of some doubt. The Democrats have an opportunity for carrying Cook county this fall that they have not had in a number of years.

Whether they have opposition either at the primaries or the polls, Representative Charles E. Fuller of the Twelfth district, James McKinstry of the Fourteenth, George W. Prince of the Fifteenth and Joseph V. Graff of the Sixteenth, will find out from their constituents that they have had enough of Cannonism.

So far as Speaker Cannon himself is concerned, he will undoubtedly be returned from the Danville district by a good majority. The speaker has been in congress for thirty-six years, has got for his district practically everything it needs from the federal government, and has built up a petting list from time to time which is said to have reached nearly every family in it. It may be possible to reduce the speaker's majority, but the Democratic leaders have no hope of displacing Mr. Cannon until he says the word himself. Aside from the election of a new house of representatives and of one-half of the state senate, the highest state officer to be voted for in Illinois this fall is state treasurer, who is elected every two years. All the nominees to be voted for this year will be selected at a statewide primary for all parties, which will not be held until Sept. 15, followed immediately thereafter by county, congressional and state conventions, which will probably have little opportunity to set aside the popular verdict. The nominations will be immediately followed up with a whirlwind campaign by all parties which will last until election day, Nov. 8.

PASSING OF THE PEACE PIPE. Only a Few Indian Chiefs of the Proud and Crafty Tribes Remain. The remnant of all that is picturesque, that certifies to tradition, that belongs to the redskin as our forefathers knew him, will gather in convention at Muskogee, Okla., in about a month, for the first national Indian convention in America's history.

Strange it seems that the first national convention will see the last of a vanishing people. Not that the Indian is dying out. Far from that, for a census bulletin last fall told that the red man was shaking off the ills which civilization had endowed him with, and was increasing in numbers, slowly, it is true, but surely.

Yet the redskin of today is so different from his progenitors, except in those racial characteristics which immutable hereditary laws have bequeathed to him, that he can be compared in few ways to the warriors who disputed the white man's way across the continent. No peace pipes will be required at the forthcoming convention because no Indians have been at war, and none could go to war if they wanted to. In the first place the facilities are denied them. In the second, few of them want to. In the last generation those redskins who have not degenerated into weaklings and warms of the state have turned, for the most part, into prosperous farmers.

Practically speaking, the day of the peace pipe, and all that went with it, is past. The few old line chiefs who are still left to gather round the council fire are, but a pitiful reminder of the proud, erudite, crafty tribes that once held sway over what we now know as America.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

MEXICAN FIRE DEPARTMENT. Consists of One Man, One Burro and a Rolling Water Barrel. It might be thought that such an exciting thing as a fire would startle the Mexicans out of their habitual indolence, but such is not the case. The alarm of a fire at Matamoros, Culahu, Mexico, was given by the discharge of numerous pistols and guns, says a writer in the Wide World Magazine, and I hastened to the scene, thinking at first that a battle was raging.

After a long interval, during which the people watched the fire with interest, chattering among themselves meanwhile, there appeared placidly trundling along the road the Matamorosan

Is the Boy Extravagant?

Does he spend quarters where you spent pennies at his age and then come back for more? Why not invest him in a plan that will teach him the value of money? Give him a weekly allowance with the agreement that he deposit a part of it on his savings account, and to deposit all extra sums such as birthday and Christmas money. He will have a good time and at the same time, have a growing bank account. He will soon take an interest in the saving and forget some of the frivolous spending. It is largely habit whether he spends or saves.

Your boy can start an account here with just one dollar. The best way of learning the value of a dollar is to earn it yourself.

Keep it on your sideboard at home. Don't travel without it. A quick lunch prepared in a minute. Take no imitation. Just say "HORLICK'S" In No Combine or Trust equivalent of a fire engine—a barrel rolling along the ground, drawn by a reluctant burro. A swivel pin in each end of the keg permitted it to roll freely and ropes attached it to the animal. Behind walked the fire brigade, a solitary poor, bearing a bucket. Arrived at the scene of the conflagration, the water in the barrel was poured into buckets and hauled to the roof of an adjacent house, whence it was flung on to the flames. Everybody was greatly excited. The calmest thing of all was the fire, which burned steadily on till there was nothing left to consume. Then as the spectacle was over the people dispersed. Every one was satisfied except perhaps the unfortunate owner of the house that had been destroyed. SYRUP LAYS ROAD DUST. Experiment on Tennis Court Applied to Montana Highways.

A scheme for improving the roads of Montana by sprinkling them with a syrup which is a refuse in the manufacture of granulated sugar from beets will be submitted to the good roads convention and is being widely discussed. The idea of using refuse syrup on roads grew out of an experiment made by one of the tennis clubs at Billings. When the court was laid out the dust caused considerable annoyance; also that after every rain the soil was picked up by the shoes of the tennis players. In looking about for a cheap binder, one member suggested refuse syrup. It answered the purpose admirably. When mixed with salt and poured over the court to a depth of several inches the ground was rendered impervious to water and the dust was entirely eliminated. It worked virtually as well without salt. It is believed that if the country roads are properly graded, rolled and copiously sprinkled with this refuse syrup, they could be kept in fair condition with two such treatments a year at a cost trifling when compared with oil.—Los Angeles Times.

The program for the production of "Up and Down Broadway" to be given at the Marquette Opera House, Thursday and Friday evenings of next week, has been practically completed. Monday morning the seats will go on sale and Peter Phelps will auction off the privileges of the first choice of seats, immediately before the regular sale commences. Unusual interest is being manifested in this production and there is no doubt out that there will be one of the largest audiences ever gathered in the Marquette Opera House. There will be numerous box parties and a great many out of town guests are expected. Quite a number of Detroit people, who are now at the Huron Mountain club, are to attend. In Detroit the opera house was so packed for the four performances of "Up and Down Broadway," that all previous records were broken.

EDMUND A. LOCHER.

Obituary of Indiana Man Who Died in This City July 13.

The Kendallville (Ind.) Daily Sun contains the following obituary notice of Edmund A. Locher, who passed away at the home of his daughter, Mrs. E. L. Stewart, in this city, July 13, after having spent nine months here.

"Edmund A. Locher was born at Newark, Essex county, N. J., Dec. 4, 1832. He was married to Sarah A. Wolf Nov. 22, 1857. He leaves a wife, three daughters, one son and fourteen grandchildren, one daughter dying at the age of two years. He lived in Kendallville ten years after he was married, and worked at the cooper trade, with the exception of the time he served in the army.

"He moved to the farm northwest of this city in 1867, and lived there until Aug. 10, 1899, when he, with his wife, went to Marquette, Mich., where he died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. E. L. Stewart, who, with the widow, accompanied the remains to this city.

NEGAUNEE VS. MARQUETTE.

Baseball Games at the Fair Grounds This Afternoon and Sunday.

Marquette will have a chance to get revenge for the triple defeat of last week at the hands of the Negaunee nine this afternoon and Sunday afternoon, when the two teams will again clash at the fair grounds. The games will be of very great importance. Marquette appears to be the only team that stands much chance of crowding Negaunee off the topmost rung of the pennant ladder, and by defeating the visitors today and tomorrow, the locals will be within reaching distance of the pennant themselves. On the other hand, should Negaunee take both of this series of games the team would practically have the championship clinched.

However, Marquette has no notion of allowing Negaunee to take both, or even one of these games. The boys have been out for practice several nights this week, paying especial attention to team work and do not intend to engage in any further "phony" base running, wild throwing, etc. They declare that they worked all such out of their systems last Sunday at Negaunee and are now and henceforth prepared to play ball in their usual good form.

The game this afternoon will be called at 3:30, and the line-up will be the same as last week with two exceptions. Richardson will replace Jacobs behind the bat and Magnum, who has returned to the city recovered in health, will be in the outfield. Frost is the best guess for pitcher and Day will be at first, Tallion at second, Young at short and Mack at third.

The game Sunday will be called at 2:30 p. m. and a special train will leave the South Shore station for the fair grounds at 2:15.

BUREAU OF MINES BEGINS ITS LABORS

New Federal Department Will Give Special Study to Mine Accidents and Fuels.

The act establishing a government bureau of mines, approved May 16, 1910, became effective July 1. Carrying out the spirit and intent of the law, the secretary of the interior has transferred to the bureau of mines the investigation of mine accidents and fuels, together with the personnel and equipment of these investigations.

The work of the bureau of mines for the first year will be a continuation and expansion of the work carried on by the technologic branch of the geological survey. The law in itself provides for a variety of other problems that properly belong to the bureau of mines and which should eventually be undertaken, such as methods of mining and metallurgical processes, but these activities will be deferred for the most part until congress gives additional authorization in the shape of adequate appropriations.

The mine accident investigations, which have been transferred from the geological survey to the bureau of mines, were first authorized in the legislative appropriation act of May 22, 1908, carrying for this purpose an appropriation of $150,000. This was followed by a similar appropriation carried in the act for the sundry civil expenses of the government for 1910.

A mine experiment station was established in Pittsburgh during 1908, at which, since that time, investigations of explosives, coal gas, dust, electricity and other possible causes of mine explosions have been continually under way.

Normal Notes

Miss Mabel Massee, children's librarian at the Buffalo public library, will be here next week and will give a series of lectures on children's books and readings. All who are interested are cordially invited to attend her addresses.

"Miles Standish" will be presented by the pupils of the eighth grade Wednesday evening, July 27th, in the assembly room at the Normal. An admission fee of twenty-five cents will be charged. The public is cordially invited.

E. L. Parmenter, of Iron Mountain, a member of the summer faculty, gave an excellent talk in chapel Thursday morning. He emphasized a number of things which a teacher must bear in mind when beginning her year's work.

Ex-Superintendent and Mrs. Jason E. Hammond, of Lansing, are spending a few days in Marquette. Their son, Stuart, is representing the Hammond Publishing company at the school during the summer, and Mrs. Hammond will remain with him until the close of the term.

The school picnic held at Presque Isle last Tuesday afternoon was a great success. About three hundred and fifty persons were present. After supper, a number of groups played games of various kinds, while others strolled about and enjoyed the beauties of nature.

Dr. A. E. Winship, of Boston, will be at the school Monday and Tuesday of the coming week, and will give a series of lectures, the principal one being his famous "Our Schools and Their Critics." This lecture has been given in many of the larger cities throughout the United States, and has been the subject of a great deal of comment.

Monday evening, Mrs. Rushmore will give a reading of "Madam Butterfly" in the assembly room at the Normal.

This is one of Mrs. Rushmore's special readings, and one which she renders in her usual pleasing manner. She has read the same before large audiences throughout the south, but it has never been given before in Marquette. Mrs. Rushmore will be assisted by Mrs. Alton True Roberts, who will give a number of Puccini's songs in connection with the reading. The program will be a special treat, and all who can be cordially invited to come.

Monday evening, Mrs. Abby Snell Burnell, in costume, delighted a large and appreciative audience with her impersonation of a high caste Hindu woman—Menarche. Mrs. Burnell told her story in such a realistic manner, that it was hard to realize that she is an American and not a real Hindu. She told of the life in India, early childhood, marriage customs, and life in general. At chapel Tuesday morning, she related the experience of a real character, a young woman who had become a widow, and who, in order to expiate a great unknown sin, committed in some unknown existence, must visit shrines throughout the Indian empire, and do penance in order to be exonerated from the disgrace of widowhood imposed upon her. Mrs. Burnell's lecture was highly instructive and most enjoyable.

Tarkington's "Monsieur Beaucaire" was excellently read to a large audience Wednesday afternoon by Miss Eva Watt, a student in the department of expression. Miss Watt had made her own abridgement and dramatization, and her interpretation of the various characters, and her manner of presenting the same, were excellent. Miss Watt is deserving of great praise. The Misses Loret, Constance and Barnaby, in French-Canadian costume, assisted in the program, by singing several French songs. They were accompanied by Miss Kate Stewart.

The annual musical given at the Normal Thursday evening, was, if possible, even a greater success than those which have been given in former years. The assembly room was altogether too small to accommodate the crowd which came, and all possible space was used in the outer halls and stairways, a number even gathering on the campus. About 200 persons have to be turned away owing to the lack of accommodations. Those who were fortunate enough to hear the program were enthusiastic in its praise.

Markets

WALL STREET STOCKS.

New York, July 22.—Paine, Webber & Co. have this to say of today's Wall street market: "The market again suffered from the shock of the reduction in the National Lead common stock dividend. In addition the selling of Steel, presumably on fears that the volume of unfilled tonnage as revealed at next week's meeting would show a large shrinkage, also contributed to the easier feeling and the list throughout the session was feverish, with a downward tendency. Amalgamated Copper was one of the few issues to record a gain over last night's close, which was said to be due for the most part to short covering and foreign demand. It is believed that the efforts made to be in progress tending towards a reduction in the production of the red metal. We would confine purchases to the drives and light accounts on the occasional rallies."

Late in the session the cash and elevator people did most of their selling for the day. It is this sort of news which causes liquidation by holders, and overselling on the part of the bear forces is quite natural. We look for the market to run into a position where it will be decidedly profitable for buyers who have the courage to take hold on the breaks.

LITTLE LAKE AN IMPORTANT POINT

First Mill Plant Established There More than Four Decades Ago.

B. J. GOODMAN & SON NOW OWN PRINCIPAL PART OF THE TOWNSITE

Firm Has Sufficient Timber to Keep Its Plant in Operation Twenty Years—A New Store Building Is to Be Erected and a Dozen or More Dwellings Will Soon Be Completed—Some Attractive Summer Resorts on the Shore of the Lake.

Little Lake, where the activities were long confined to the operation of a water tank that supplied passing trains on the Chicago & Northwestern Railway line, will, there is promise, be a live and prosperous place within a few years.

The Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company, its extensive mining operations on the Swanzy range and its allied railway interests, is largely responsible for Little Lake's new lease of life, as it made the place an important railway junction by extending the Munising and the Marquette & Southeastern railroads to connect with the Northwestern and from there to the range towns. B. J. Goodman and his son, Bernard, have also done much to revive the place.

So far as The Mining Journal can learn, no one, not even the oldest residents, can tell how Little Lake obtained its name. It is believed, however, that one of the early explorers, named Little, gave the place its name. Those who have traversed the broad expanse of the lake in a row boat on a hot summer's day wonder why it was ever called "Little" unless the explorer had come from somewhere on Lake Superior and was contrasting the lake with that big body of water. Little Lake is about four miles in length and two miles wide, and it is one of the most beautiful inland bodies of water to be found in the entire Lake Superior district.

A few years before the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company discovered mines been asked why they did not locate their plant on the lake, where there are several desirable sites. On their present site they have service from both the Northwestern and the Munising Railway systems. The firm now has about a mile of tracks in its lumber yards, which cover an area of more than twenty acres. Preparations are being made to put in additional tracks, in order to properly handle the increased output.

Plant to Be Enlarged.

The Goodmans now have a sufficient quantity of logs in their yards to keep their mill in operation the remainder of the year, but timber is being received daily and as there is yet much available ground that can be used for stocking purposes it will continue to come in, as shipments can be made to better advantage during the summer and fall than at any other period, on account of the inability of the railways to supply all the cars needed by the shippers during the active logging season.

Preparations are being made for a fifty-foot extension on the west side of the mill and some additional machinery will be put in. Within the past few months several new machines have been installed and still the firm is unable to turn out lumber fast enough.

The planing department is equipped with a dust collecting system, which takes the refuse to the boilers. The saw dust, shavings, etc., which are carried much timber to the railroads and mines operating in this region. The concern handles the timber of some thirty-five or forty jobbers operating along the Northwestern line between Little Lake and Escanaba.

New Store and Dwellings.

The firm is soon to begin the erection of a new store building, near where its present store is located. The mercantile enterprise has grown in proportion to the mill business, and larger quarters have been badly needed for some months past. The new store building will be two stories in height. The entire ground floor will be used for the store and office and the second floor will be sleeping quarters for members of the Goodman family employed at the plant.

Six dwellings have recently been completed and the construction of another half dozen will soon be started. It is possible that before winter sets in work on a second dozen will begin, as there is an unusual demand for houses. The Goodmans intend not only to provide comfortable houses for their workmen but they will also have several dwellings that will be rented to others. The concern recently donated a lot to the Modern Brotherhood of America, upon which it has erected a building.

Attractive Summer Resort.

Little Lake has for years been a favorite place for hunting and fishing.

A "Street" in B. J. Goodman & Son's Lumber Yard at Little Lake.

Among the pioneer settlers who relate with their hunting and fishing experiences are William S. Wilson, Mike Hawley, Harry Small, John McCarthy and Ed. Summers. The latter is known to every man, woman and child for miles around Little Lake as being the cleverest mimed in that region, and Mr. Small has been a trapper there for the past thirty-five years.

Early Merchandising.

During the greater part of the period that Little Lake was considered nothing more than a watering place for the passing trains, it still had a mercantile establishment. When the tank was first built by the Chicago & Northwestern Railway company, Martin Ramlie was in charge of it. For many years Mr. Ramlie had a hard task keeping the tank filled and in proper working condition, as the company used to run their trains of Jimmie ore cars, about one hour apart during the shipping season. Although having very few leisure hours Mr. Ramlie decided to engage in the mercantile business as a side line, and started by keeping a few varieties of canned goods to supply the settlers in the surrounding country. His business

Little Lake now has several attractive and well located summer cottages the first of which was erected some twelve years ago by the late P. B. Kirkwood of Negaunee. Next came Andy Seass, the well-known Negaunee hotel man, and he was followed by Joseph Richardson and Charles Muck, also old residents of Negaunee. Up to the time of Mr. Kirkwood's death he made his summer home his abode from early in the spring of each year until the snow flew in the fall. Messrs. Seass, Richardson and Muck also spend the greater part of the summers at their places. All of these camps have been the scenes of many jolly fishing and hunting parties.

B. J. Goodman, Jr., was the last to establish a summer home on the shore of the lake. He owns a tract of forty acres directly opposite one of the most beautiful beaches on the west shore. Since acquiring ownership of the land Mr. Goodman has cut away all of the timber with the exception of the birch, making it an ideal spot. All of the summer resort owners acquired their lands by homesteading.

Mr. Seass has named his cottage "Little Bismarck." All of his crockery and glassware has the camp name on it. Mr. Seass, as well as the other campers, have nicely furnished places. The campers are proud of the water which they obtain from their wells, at an average depth of fourteen feet. The claim that it is the most wholesome drinking water that they have ever found in this region. Believe Mineral Is Nearby.

Nearly all of the men who are in any way interested in Little Lake believe that some day iron ore will be found near the place in paying quantities. The indications in the outcroppings on the bluff immediately west of Goodman's mill plant are favorable, although no drilling has ever been done there. The late P. B. Kirkwood was convinced for some time before his death that there is ore on his tract, and he placed a high value on the land. The Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company and the Chicago & Northwestern Railway company have a considerable acreage west of the bluff above referred to, but the former's exploratory operations in that immediate territory have been limited.

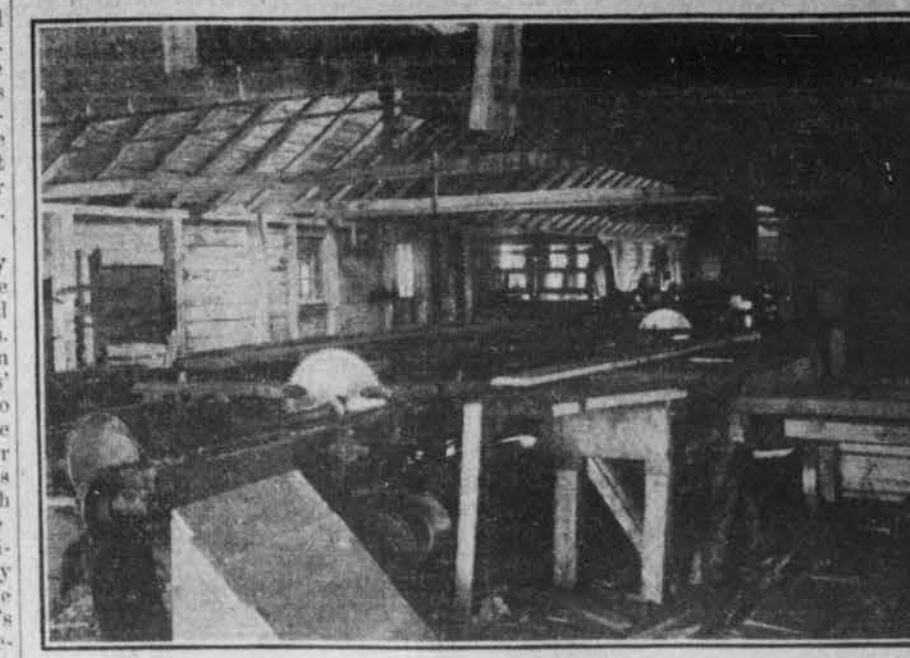

The farming industry has been growing in importance near Little Lake for several years past and there are now a number of fairly good farms there. Most of the old settlers own their own places and they are getting along nicely.

in the outing are used to pay their dues, which will be $1. to any of the following:—Fred J. Egan, Thomas Hughes, James Luck, August Lindberg, John Shand, L. Hoyseth, Thomas Nelson, Samuel Huot, Ed. J. Butler, George A. Newett or William Andrews.

The old settlers of foreign birth, who conducted last year's picnic, desire all of the American born residents who located here prior to 1875 to send their names for membership to any of the members of the above committee. A committee will be appointed at the next meeting to prepare a list of names of the American born citizens who are eligible. About thirty of the old settlers attended Thursday night's meeting and all manifested much interest in the picnic, which will be conducted along lines similar to last year's outing, which was declared to have been one of the most successful affairs of its kind ever held in this county.

The ladies of the Swedish Mission church will hold an ice cream social at the church on Saturday evening. All are cordially invited. (7-22-3t)

on the Swanzy range, and before making Little Lake a junction railway point was contemplated. It was thought that in time even the watering tank would be removed, leaving the place inhabited only by a few farmers.

First Mill on Lake Shore.

More than forty years ago the first saw mill was erected on the east shore of the lake. The late Isaac Johnson was one of its early owners and operators, and in spite of the crudeness of the affair he made it a success. The mill was closed down after it had been operated for several years, at a time when the stumpage available did not look attractive to the operators. In those days the lumbermen in this district cut very little timber except the choicest pine, as the demand for other grades was not sufficient to warrant taking it out.

The second mill industry was launched about 1880 by McArthur Bros., who put in a band mill, also located on the shore of the lake. It was operated by Giffard & Morissette, who cut pine for some fifteen years, when the stumpage the operators owned became depleted. The mill was abandoned and left to rot where it stood, to be removed for scrap a year or so ago.

When Little Lake was made the junction point of the Chicago & Northwestern and Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company's roads, some five or six years ago, it took all the traffic from the Swanzy station, which was for years a far more important place than Little Lake, because of its being the transfer point for people going to Princeton by stage.

Goodman's Lumber Industry.

Both B. J. Goodman and his son have great faith in the future of Little Lake, and since establishing their lumber industry there, some three years ago, they have invested largely in their saw mill plant and more extensive improvements are contemplated. When the Goodmans put in the mill they did not expect that their business would have such a rapid growth as it has enjoyed. Almost since the first day the plant went into operation the business has increased steadily, necessitating the mill's operation both winter and summer. When the plant was built its capacity was about 15,000 feet of lumber per day, but it now has a capacity of four times this quantity.

Mr. Goodman, who is now one of the oldest loggers in this part of the state, devotes little of his time to the management of the mill, as that branch of the business has been placed in the hands of his son, while the elder Goodman looks after the operations in the woods. The firm owns such extensive tracts of timber of various grades that its lumber industry is only in its infancy. The firm owns sufficient stumpage to keep the mill in operation winter and summer for the next twenty years.

Realizing the future possibilities of Little Lake, the firm recently purchased from Mike Hawley the "Y" shaped strip of land upon which the mill is located, and they now own by far the larger part of the townsite. Their holdings at Little Lake proper comprise about 120 acres. The Goodmans have many times

LINE TO DOMINATE NAVY

Fighting Men Will Build Our Warships—A Clear Field Now for the Meyer Reforms—The First Consideration Will Be Military Efficiency.

Washington, July 23.—Richard M. Watt, constructor in charge at the Norfolk navy yard, is picked by Washington opinion as the successor of Rear Admiral Washington Lee Capps, resigned as chief of the bureau of construction and repair, navy department. No official sanction of this choice can be obtained now and, in fact, it is said that Secretary Meyer, after a month's vacation on the Restigouche, will then make a tour of the navy yards and study the work of the constructors on duty there. There are twenty-seven constructors and forty assistant constructors on the naval list, hence the field from which selection can be made is rather limited. Announcement is expected about the middle of August. There appears to be authority enough for quieting the rumor that the new chief constructor will not be a line officer. Admiral Capps will be titular chief of the bureau until Oct. 1, but without duties in Washington.

No doubt can exist that the resignation of Admiral Capps marks a definite change of policy with respect to the construction of the future navy. This much is admitted at the department; and the ultimate result of the retirement of Admiral Capps will be broader than its mere relation to the Meyer plan of naval reorganization. In other words, the ideas of the sea-going officers henceforth will prevail in matters of construction. The naval service and the committees of congress dealing therewith have been sharply divided between the construction corps and the line officers. The friends of the former have held that of all the freak ideas ever suggested for incorporation in battleships, gunboats and other craft of the navy those advanced by the line officers have been the worst. The fighting men, on the other hand, have argued that while the construction corps has turned out ships admirable in many details, many of these vessels have been essentially defective at certain points where they should be strongest to give them the highest fighting capacity. The technicians involved in this clash of opinion mean little to the layman, but they have served to divide the navy into two hostile camps.

Upon assuming office, Secretary George Von L. Meyer resolved that he could render no greater service to the navy than to reorganize it. The one line of policy should permeate its every branch. He found in Chief Capps of the bureau of construction a man recognized in his profession and even throughout the naval service as almost a genius, yet of spirit so independent and unyielding that he dominated all with whom he came in contact. In other words, while the officers of the line were teeming with ideas for the improvement of the warships, these gained no recognition unless they happened to meet with the personal approval of the chief constructor. Rear Admiral Eustace B. Rogers, former chief of the bureau of supplies and accounts, Secretary Meyer found a clever man but not a great one. Admiral Rogers had his own ideas as to how the naval supply fund should be administered.

These did not agree with the ideas of Mr. Meyer, nor did the secretary relish the criticisms of his general navy yard reorganization plan which the house committee on naval affairs insisted on dragging forth from Admiral Rogers for the edification of the country. After a long and unpleasant series of disagreements, which Secretary Meyer bore with a good deal of patience, Admiral Rogers was removed from his position. A clause in the naval bill of 1911 made it possible for him to be retired without loss of rank or pay. Exactly the same experience was had and course followed with Chief Constructor Capps, who now relinquishes active work, except that of travelling inspection, but may retire eventually. The critics of Secretary Meyer will say that in order to carry out his own ideas in the navy department he has had the service of two of its ablest men. His friends are saying that the Meyer reorganization scheme, which exalts the line officers over the bureau chiefs, is of the courageous and scientific and will result in a unified navy, with the construction element made subordinate to the military element in every essential particular. Congress after a good deal of wrangling and hesitation gave Secretary Meyer all scope for a year to try out his reorganization plan. The secretary has deemed it also wisely necessary to the success of this plan to get his most powerful critics out of the way. This he has done, without personal injury to either and after the most careful consideration of their interests.

The removal of Chief Capps will quiet also the controversy between the bureau as to which shall have superior authority in matters of construction and repair. No such overwhelming personality as Capps is in high office in the navy department while the quiet persistence with which Secretary Meyer has dislodged his critics will be taken throughout the service as an object lesson which no other officers need learn. That is the plain English of the present situation.

The acquiescence of President Taft in the removal of an officer who is the idol of half the navy is another illustration of Mr. Taft's policy of giving full rein to his cabinet officers. When the historical story of Taft's administration is written this trait of the president will prove to have been one of his most admirable or otherwise. In the present case, it would seem that the interference of the president was only a necessary expedient to get the navy and the intolerable conditions growing out of it and have made the development of any systematic, all around plan out of the question. It will now be possible to appraise the Meyer plan as a whole and to judge it by its general results.

LOWER STATE NOTES.

BOYNE CITY—Officials are investigating two cases of alleged white slavery in this city. Two girls have made complaint to the officer; that they were hired by a woman to go to work and that after they had made the bargain they were told the nature of the work they were expected to do and also informed that they must pay a portion of their wages to a certain woman. As soon as they learned that their work was not what it was at first represented to be, they notified the police. The girls were but sixteen years of age and pretty. They returned to their homes.

PORT HURON—Local physicians are puzzled over the death of three-year-old Henry Wundersneider, which occurred supposedly from the effects of vaccination. At the time of the smallpox scare in this city one month ago the parents of the boy deemed it necessary to have him vaccinated, and a short time afterward the boy's arm swelled until the infection began to spread and finally extended over half of his body. The attending physician exhausted every known remedy, and Dr. McClintock, of the research department of Parks, Davis & Co., of Detroit, was called into consultation. However, in spite of all attention, the boy passed away.

TRAVERSE CITY—Charles H. Dickson, a government agent, has begun paying the local Ottawa and Chippewa Indians their share of the $115,000 allowed by the court of claims. There are 5,000 Indians on the list and each receives $21, while the children under three years get $12.25. This is considerably less than the Indians expected, but none of them have declined his share. It will take about ten days to complete payments here. Dickson came here from Seattle, where he paid the Indians in that vicinity. The coming of the government agent was not advertised, but that made no difference, every Indian in the Grand Traverse district getting the news soon after James Paul, who was instrumental in pushing the claim through, got the official notice. There is a claim of $800,000 now pending and it is believed that this will be allowed, although it will be at least two years before the money will be available.

MOTOR MAKING MICHIGAN

Five Towns Turn Out Three-Fourths of Country's Total Output.

In the state of Michigan and particularly in the cities of Detroit, Flint, Jackson, Lansing and Pontiac, the manufacture of automobiles has grown in the last few years to an extent that is marvellous. As a money-making proposition this industry has eclipsed anything in the manufacturing line heretofore known in the business world.

At the present time there are in the United States about 160 automobile factories, while in the State of Michigan alone there are between thirty-five and forty, with a total capitalization of over $40,000,000. These factories give employment to about 50,000 men in addition to some 20,000 employed in the manufacture of automobile parts and accessories.

In addition to this the General Motor Company has purchased fifty acres of ground for the erection of a new plant and the employment of about seven thousand men, while the United States Motor Company has announced its intention to build a plant for the manufacture of commercial cars which will employ four thousand men.

In 1909 114,000 cars were turned out in the United States, and of these 78,000 were made in the five cities above referred to. The cars made in price from $1,000 to $4,000, and the heavy limousine at $8,000, and no one need go outside of Michigan to get what he wants in the automobile line.

It is difficult to realize the great benefit this industry has already brought and will continue to bring to the city of Detroit and the State of Michigan. It has become necessary to build new and larger hotels, which even now are inadequate to care for the thousands of visitors, and what helps the hotels helps all mercantile establishments of whatever nature. In the matter of workmen's wages it is a well known fact that the ordinary laborer need no longer starve on a miserably small wage, but if he has any ability at all he can earn much more than formerly, and no one need remain unemployed, as the demand for competent workmen already exceeds the supply. Homes of all descriptions are in great demand and residence property, which has long remained vacant, is now finding a ready market. In fact, it has already been predicted that within a few years Detroit's population will have reached the million mark and the city become the greatest commercial center of the middle West.

The first automobile, in the sense of the word as it is used today, was built in Germany by Gottlieb Daimler in 1886, and it is well known that notwithstanding the previous introduction of the Selden patent in the United States, the manufacturing industry had its development in France and Germany. The first machine being placed on the market by Panhard and Lavassor in 1891. In the same year, however, Henry Ford of Detroit and R. E. Olds of Lansing were working out their own ideas in the development of these machines, and in fact, the first car ever built, designed and built by Henry Ford with his own hands in a little old brick shed, the side of which had to be torn down to get the car out. In the same year the first Oldsmobile was brought out, but it was not until 1903 that the industry in America assumed any prominence or the vehicle any remarkable degree of perfection. In fact, in 1899 there were only fifty cars owned in all America.—From the Bookkeeper.

Upper Peninsula

Bedbug Poison Kills Man—

John Tikkanen, who died recently at Summit, Baraga county, is declared to have been poisoned by a bedbug disinfectant. He drank the concoction in mistake for medicine. He was aged fifty, and single. His only known relative is a brother at Ashtabula, O.

Milk Prices Going Up—

The dairymen at Iron Mountain announce that commencing Aug. 1, they will charge eight cents a quart for their milk. The present rate is seven cents. The high prices of feed, owing to the widespread drought are assigned as the reason.

New Industry for L'Anse—

Interviewed at Iron Mountain, where he was on business, René Busk Culver, who recently returned from Marquette to L'Anse, said that with Representative Maxey and others he has been successful in organizing a strong company for the manufacture of various articles of the city have promised their support of erecting the plant would commence at once. The factory will employ several hundred hands.

Candidate for the Legislature—

Having received the endorsement of the required number of enrolled Republicans, A. D. Johnston of Gogebic county announces that he will be a candidate at the September primaries for the position for representative in the state legislature on the Republican ticket. He says: "If I am fortunate enough to be nominated and elected, I will do all in my power for the interests of Gogebic county and the upper peninsula." Gogebic county has long been represented by James S. Monroe.

Humane Society Proposed—

A society for the prevention of cruelty to animals is on its way to formation in Escanaba. Many of the business men of the city have promised their support and a meeting will be held shortly for the purpose of effecting organization by the election of a president, secretary, treasurer and such other officers as may be required. The primary aim of this humane society will be to establish a refuge for homeless and neglected dogs and cats, connected with a hospital for sick animals. It will also extend its protection to horses suffering from wounds, over-loading or brutal treatment from their drivers.

Will Inspect Dairymen's Barns—

Although he will have no legal power outside of Michigan a part of Menominee's milk and meat inspector's activities will be in Marinette county. Provision for an inspector was made by an ordinance passed at the meeting of the Menominee council this week. The inspector will go to the homes of the dairymen who sell milk at Menominee and will inspect the stables where the cattle are housed. If he finds the unsanitary he cannot compel the dairymen to change conditions, if the stables are in Wisconsin, but he can prevent them from delivering milk in Menominee. Most of the milk and cream consumed by Menominee comes from dairymen living in the vicinity of Peshtigo, or on farms in the towns of Grover and Peshtigo, in Wisconsin.

Voluninous Mortgage Filed—

One of the most voluminous documents ever filed for record at the office of Register of Deeds C. W. Mulloch at Escanaba is a mortgage for $10,000,000 given by the Lake Superior Iron & Chemical company to the Union Trust company, a mortgage for $10,000,000 given by the same company to the Telephone company was once recorded, but it was not as voluminous as the present document, which fills 145 printed pages. The Lake Superior Iron & Chemical company, which recently passed into the hands of New York capitalists, owns 2,610 acres of land in the northern part of Nahma township and for that reason the mortgage must be filed in Delta county as in all counties of the state where the corporation owns property.

Search for Water Is Successful—

In order to secure an additional flow of water, if possible, the Stambaugh village council has been sinking a 12x12 well at the new water works plant the past two or three weeks, the present well not being able to supply a sufficient quantity of water for household purposes. Wednesday afternoon, at a depth of forty feet, a large vein of water was struck, and before the men could even remove their shafts from the bottom, which was located on the North East shaft, the water raised so rapidly that they were forced to get out. It is believed the flow is sufficient to give the village a supply large enough to take care of all needs.

Suspicious Characters Jailed—

After a desperate fight against arrest with Officer Otto Sheriff, Harry Freeman and Frank Johnson, suspicious characters, found by the police, practically the first machines being placed on the market by Panhard and Lavassor in 1891. In the same year, however, Henry Ford of Detroit and R. E. Olds of Lansing were working out their own ideas in the development of these machines, and in fact, the first car ever built, designed and built by Henry Ford with his own hands in a little old brick shed, the side of which had to be torn down to get the car out. In the same year the first Oldsmobile was brought out, but it was not until 1903 that the industry in America assumed any prominence or the vehicle any remarkable degree of perfection. In fact, in 1899 there were only fifty cars owned in all America.—From the Bookkeeper.

Forest Fire Situation Serious—

The forest fire situation in the territory tributary to Escanaba has been very serious the present week. Foster City, Metropolitan, Hermansville, Northland, Turner and Ward have been in imminent danger of destruction. Throughout the district every possible effort is being made to stop the advancing flames, but with the country burned to a tinder by a drought that has extended through weeks only slight resistance can be offered the advancing waves of flame. An emergency train is kept in readiness in the Escanaba yards of the Northwestern road to be rushed to any point of danger on a minute's notice. The train is to be maintained with steam up until the forest fire danger is over. The town of West Turner on the line of the Escanaba & Lake Superior railroad has been wiped out, with a great quantity of timber belonging to the H. A. Baum company and the Ford Lumber company. Three sets of camps belonging to ex-Mayor M. Perron, together with a quantity of timber on the lands and in the woods, have been destroyed. The barn of Emil Deronin at Hyde was burned with all of its contents and the outfit of hay of Fred Deronin at Newhall also has furnished food for the flames. It has been necessary to rush fire fighters and fire fighting equipment to Hermansville, Foster City and Metropolitan. At Foster City the fire had jumped the river and was leaping toward the town where the mill and yards of the Morgan Cedar & Lumber company are located. At the offices of both the Northwestern and the Escanaba & Lake Superior railroads it was announced that the fires were confined to no particular district, but were reported from every part of their lines, making up one of the most serious forest fire conditions in years.

Narrowly Escaped Drowning—

The accidental overturning of a canoe in the ship canal at the Soo nearly resulted in the drowning of several persons. Mrs. Corney A. Ferris is entertaining her two sisters, Mrs. Green and Mrs. Rexford, who came from New York about a month ago. The other evening it was decided that the visitors should shoot the rapids, and with her sisters, and daughter Etta, Mrs. Ferris reached the foot of Magazine street, where little Bruno and the Roussin were hailed. All were landed safely within the canoe, but were not seated when Mrs. Ferris essayed to board. She did not, it appears, step exactly in the center and the little craft careened far toward the pier. In an effort to regain their equilibrium the occupants seated to the opposite side, whereupon the canoe capsized, sending the occupants struggling into the water. The women immediately set up a scream. "Pete" Bruno and Henry O'Hilway happened to hear the cries and immediately launched into the water, and in a few moments, after considerable hard work they managed to pull in Mrs. Ferris and Mrs. Rexford. In the meantime the cries had brought Captain Charles Hursley and Gordon Lodge, running with a government life preserver. This was thrown in and with a line about his waist Hursley flung himself into the canal and grasped one of the frantic women. On the shore Percy Dingman and "Jim" Gallagher tore a large sheet of canvas covering from the fish boxes of Samuel Johnson, which they threw into the canal retaining a hold on one end. By grasping this, Miss Etta Ferris and Mrs. Green were rescued. The two canoeists had in the meantime been doing their share toward sustaining the women and helping to pull in the ladies had been in the water almost five minutes before pulled out onto land, where they almost completely gave away.

Dead Man's Body Found—

James Cauley of Cottage Park, Chippewa county, was walking along the Soo Line track, about three-quarters of a mile from that place when he detected an offensive odor. Investigation revealed the body of a man lying about ten feet off the right of way, and over the fence. Cauley immediately notified the authorities in the Soo, and they went to the scene. They found a body that had been dead about three weeks. Examination of the clothes disclosed the man to be John McVicar, presumably of Bellaire, Mich. In the clothes were also found a pair of spectacles and a receipt for a postoffice money order for $3, issued at Bellaire on May 14. He appeared to be about forty years of age, weighed from 150 to 160 pounds, five feet seven inches tall, had fair hair, slightly bald, and was fairly well dressed with a brown derby hat, black coat and vest and mixed dark grey trousers. He wore a soft colored shirt and no necktie. The necktie revealed the man to be John McVicar, presumably of Bellaire, Mich. In the clothes were also found a pair of spectacles and a receipt for a postoffice money order for $3, issued at Bellaire on May 14.

PLANS HORSE RATION TEST.

Kansas Agricultural Station to Experiment With Big Drive of Cavalry Mounts.

ARMY HEADS FAVOR MOVE.

Half of the Animals Will Be Given 18 Diets for Five Months—Others Regular Food.

Manhattan, Kan., July 22.—Commencing Oct. 1, the Kansas State Agricultural college, with the co-operation of the United States war department, will start a nutrition experiment on the 884 cavalry horses stationed at Fort Riley, Kan., which will be the largest and most complete experiment of its kind ever conducted in America. "The beef steers and his sicks" have long been the subject of fattening experiments, but little attention has been paid to the proper rations of the horse. Professor Kinzer, head of the animal husbandry of K. S. A. C., has for some time had this experiment planned out, but was unable to put it to a test owing to the fact that he could not find a large enough bunch of horses. The horse is of such temperment that no two have dispositions exactly alike, and so to get satisfactory results it is necessary to experiment on a large number of animals.

EMPEROR'S SLAYER HAPPY.

Murderer of Elizabeth of Austria Is Not Chained in a Dungeon as Reported.

GIVEN WINE AND CIGARETS.

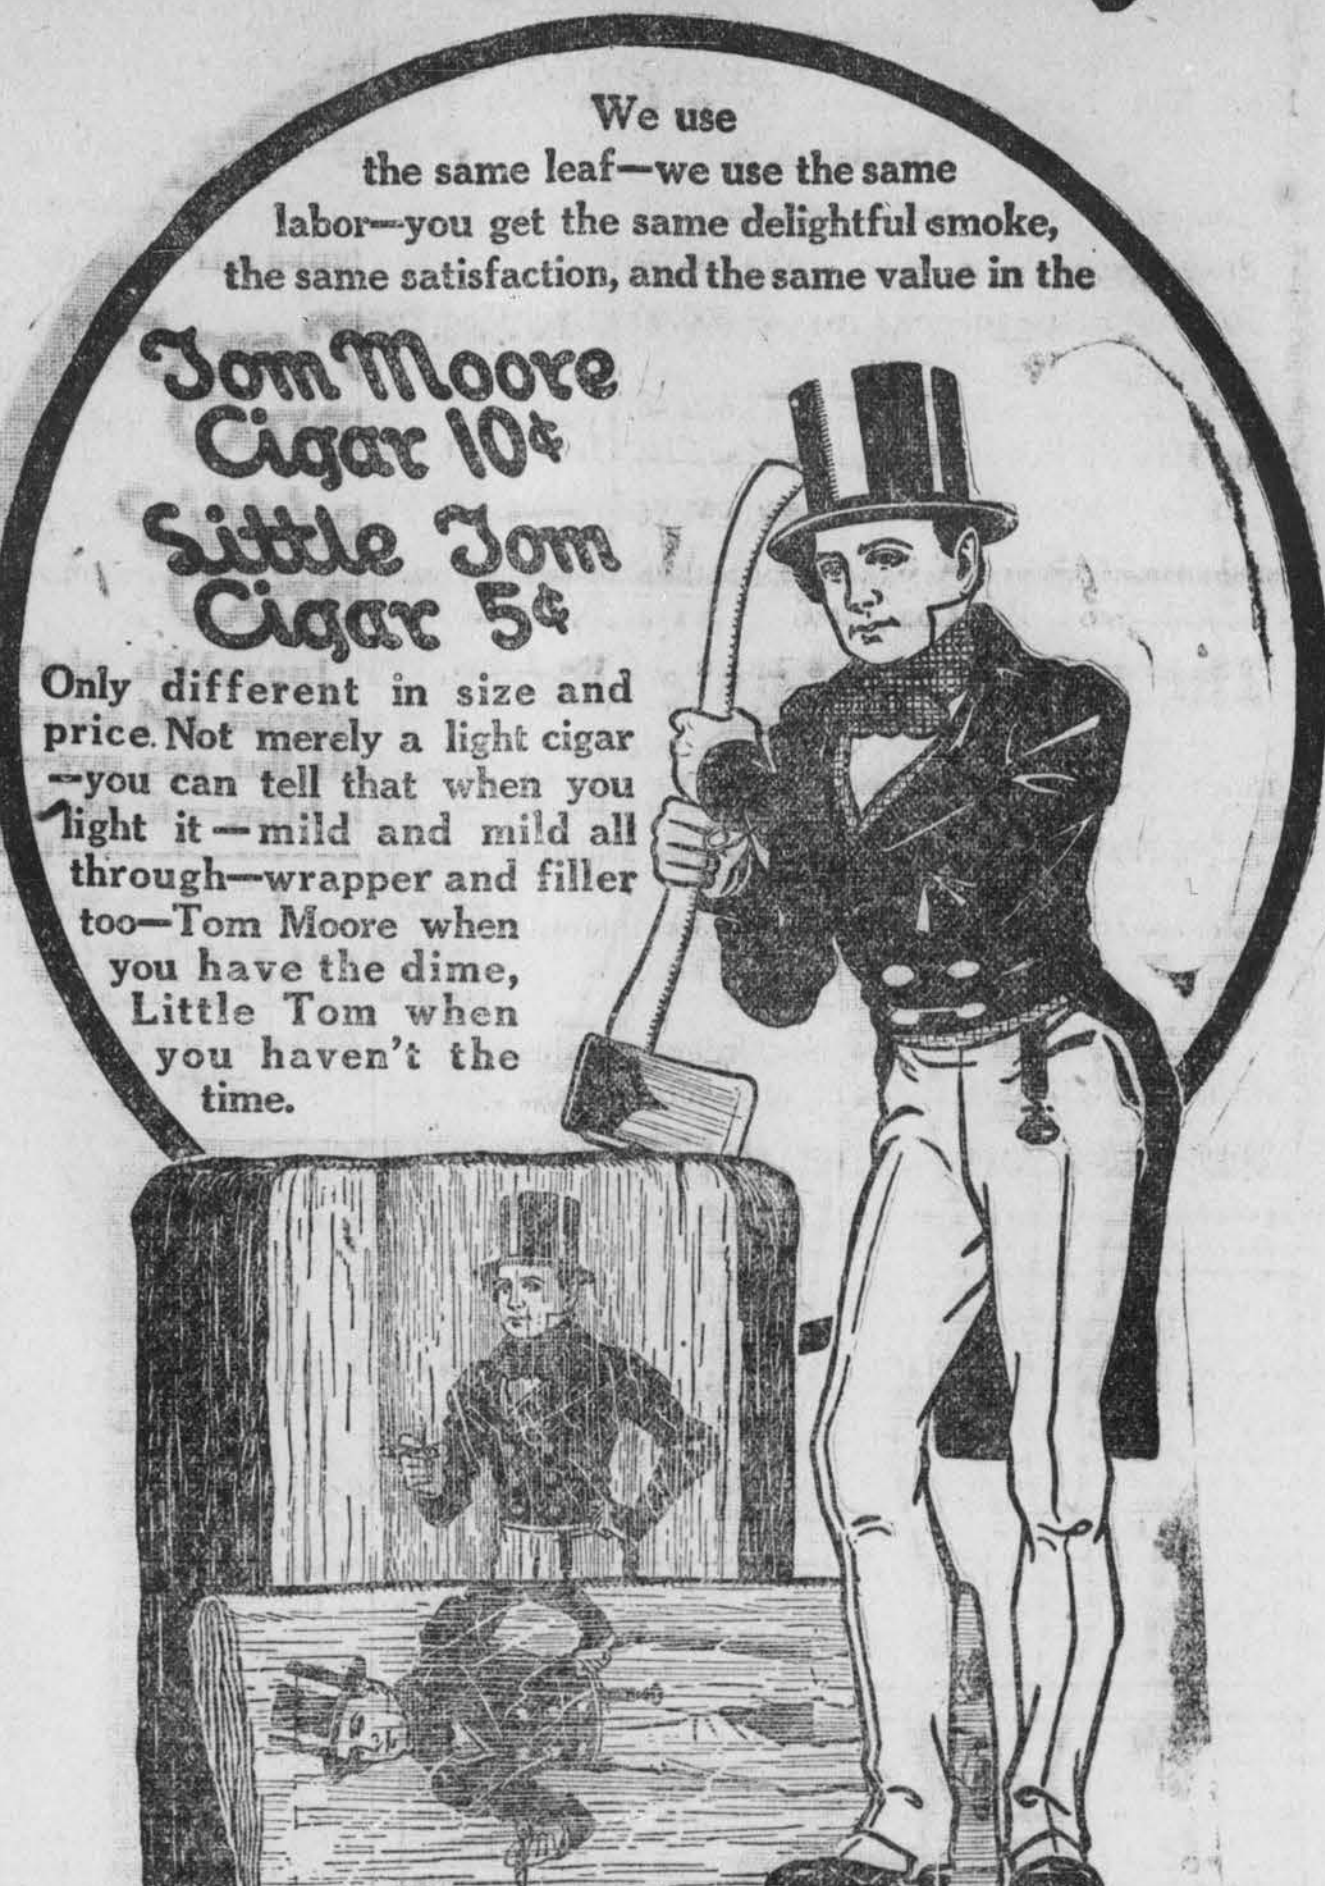

Daily Express Writer Finds That the Assassin Is Being Treated Royally in Geneva Prison

London, July 22.—It has often been stated that Luigi Lucheni, the man who murdered Empress Elizabeth of Austria in 1898, had either died in prison from the effects of the severities to which he was subjected or was hopelessly insane and chained in a dungeon. Harry De Windt, the Daily Express contributor to that paper the result of a visit he made to the assassin Wednesday, showing that the prisoner is leading an enjoyable, almost a luxurious, life in the old prison of Geneva, known as L'Eveche. He is in excellent health. It was as a delegate to the Paris Peace Congress that De Windt was allowed to talk with Lucheni, who has seen no one except prison officers for years.

De Windt found him in a light, airy ward overlooking the lake. He is employed at book binding, but this is voluntary, as he need not work unless he so disposed. He was cheerfully and amiably chatting with other convicts. He has never been in a dark cell except for three short periods for refractory conduct, one of which was a recent attempt to stab the governor of the prison with a rapier and a pocket knife. He was an ardent fan. He told De Windt he was extremely well. He has an abundant diet, a pint of wine and four cigarettes daily.

De Windt describes him as a sallow-faced, sturdy little man, with dark, restless eyes and a perpetual sinister smile. He constantly feigns insanity, but succeeds poorly. His intelligence is above the average. He reads much, especially the works of Montesquieu, Rousseau and Dickens. He has a large, well-filled bookcase and a writing table. The walls of his cell are covered with picture post cards, including portraits of European sovereigns, notably the kings of England, Spain and Italy. De Windt was astonished to find among these portraits those of Emperor Franeis Joseph and Empress Elizabeth. These had not been noticed by the governor of the prison, who, when De Windt called his attention to them, tore them down and destroyed them.

While this experiment is of mammoth proportions, yet it will cost the state but very little, as the war department will furnish all the different rations that are to be tried.

REAL MISSION OF THE STOGY

No One Too Proud or Too Rich to Smoke It at Columbus, O.

"Stogies, just the good old three for five, make Columbus, O., the most democratic town in the country," said a travelling salesman whose route was from New York to the Pacific Coast. "The sort of good feeling that existed between the men that represented capital—Columbus is one of the richest towns in the United States in proportion to its size—and the fellow that works in the ditch or at some other kind of manual labor was always interesting to me and I used to try to discover the reason."

"One man told me that the people were born that way, another said that it was because Columbus was made up from Little Towns all over the State and was merely a big village, but finally one of my wisest customers hit the nail on the head when he said:

"Stogies, that's the reason; no one here is either too rich or too poor to smoke them."

It is supposed that they smoke more stogies in Columbus than in any other town of its size in the world. Pittsburgh, Parkersburg or Wheeling may make them, but Columbus smokes them. You will find them in every cigar stand, be it a hole in the wall or at the best hotel. The banker puffing away at his "three fer" will offer you a quarter cigar if you are a non-resident and a stogy if you live in the town. One of my best customers, a prosperous merchant, took from his desk drawer a box of Havanas and offered me one, and at the same time he bit off the end of a stogy and lit it for himself.

"I found the fireman down in the cellar, the janitor up in the loft and the carpenter, who was doing an odd job of repairing, all pulling away at the same kind of weed as the boss. If a Columbus man goes for a picnic to the lake fishing or to the ball park he fills his pockets with stogies. They are not all for himself, but smoking for anybody that wants it."

"A fishing boat loaded with Columbus men looks like a steam tug under way and the hearth is almost hidden in clouds of smoke. So long as any one of the crowd has a stogy, so long can anyone smoke, and you need not have the least hesitation about asking for it, even if it is the last weed in the crowd."

"I went out to one of the country clubs for a game of golf, my host handed me a two for fifty perfect as he himself lit up a stogy, and when I turned around to look for our caddies I found them puffing at what looked like mates to his weed."

"I have always heard that the mission of the stogy was to give a cheap smok-

ENGLISH IN CHICAGO RACE.

"Road" Champion Aviator to Be Selected for American Flight.

New York, July 22.—The Chicago-New York aeroplane race—which is to start from the western city on Oct. 8 and consume such part of the ensuing seven days (168 hours) as weather conditions and the speed of the flying machines determine—for a purse of $25,000 offered by the New York Times and the Chicago Evening Post, has met with much favor in English aeronautical circles.

It is proposed in a letter to the Royal Aero club of Great Britain, a copy of which was received in this city today, to hold a 200-mile cross-country race at Salisbury Plain, to determine the English "road" championship, and then send the British champion and an alternate across the Atlantic to represent the Aero Club of Great Britain in the Times-Post race and the International aviation meet at Garden City which immediately follows.

The Katherine Iron Exploration company, which owns the Katherine mine, will rebuild the engine house immediately.

TIMBER OPERATORS EXPECT GOOD SEASON

Negaunee Jobber Speaks of Present Conditions as Compared With a Dozen Years Ago.

"The coming season promises to be an active one for the timber operators of this region," said a Negaunee jobber yesterday. "Logs of all kinds, ties, poles and pulp wood, are now in better demand than at any time since the boom of three years ago, but the prices are not nearly as good as they were then."

"If there were many jobbers and owners of timber lands are not in a hurry to let their timber go at the present prices, and I think there will be advances in some grades of timber the coming fall, but they are not very large. Cedar ties are now selling at forty-five cents, and hemlock and lamarack ties are bringing thirty-eight cents. Three years ago cedar ties cut along the line of the Chicago & Northwestern railway, between here and Escanaba, brought fifty-two cents on the average, loaded on the cars. Some times they were as high as $1.25. The side walls of the railroad companies were low brought fifty-five cents. This is the highest price that I have ever known cedar ties to sell at in this section. Some twelve or fifteen years ago, the same grade of ties that are now selling for forty-five cents could be bought for twenty cents. The price of the cutting of ties has not varied much. I believe the workmen are now receiving the same price that they did twelve years ago. Nearly all of the jobbers are paying ten cents a tie for cutting and trimming. A man who is industrious and knows how to use an axe can make big money at this price.

"The value of stumpage of all kinds has greatly increased during the past few years. Stumpage of fairly good timber that could have been bought for two years ago for from $40 to $50 a forty is now held at from $300 to $400. The owners of lands are pretty well informed as to what their stumpage is worth, and it is seldom that there are any bargains to be had.

"The recent fire has not caused any particular damage to the timber along the line of the Northwestern system, and this is the first summer in some years that settlers in that district have not had some serious losses. Fires have been started a number of times during the past six or eight months by passing locomotives, but the farmers and others have been prompt to attack them and so far the timber losses have been comparatively small.

"So far as I can judge, most of the operators who employ crews in the woods near here will be late in starting work, on account of the extended drought."

VICTIM OF TUBERCULOSIS.

Nicholas Oswald, Jr., died Wednesday night at the family home at McFarland's Hill. Tuberculosis was the cause of his demise. The deceased was well known in Negaunee, he having been a frequent visitor here for many years. His parents are among the best of the Ishpeming town here and Escanaba. He was twenty-nine years of age and single. The funeral will be held tomorrow at McFarland's Hill.

EXCURSION TODAY.

It is expected that some thirty or more members of English Oak Lodge, Sons of St. George, will go to Iron Mountain on the excursion train this morning, leaving here at 7:25 o'clock. Several of the members will be accompanied by their families. The largest attendance from this county will be from Ishpeming, where there are over 500 members of the order. It is expected that the train will carry between 400 and 500 excursionists. The members of English Oak lodge will be accompanied by the Negaunee city band.

BERRIES ARRIVING.

The first blueberries received in Negaunee this season passed through the American Express office Wednesday, when four cases came from Wellburg, between Marquette and Sault Ste. Marie. A few more cases came through Thursday and yesterday the shipment was increased to twenty-five cases. As there are a comparatively few berries to be found anywhere in the upper peninsula this season the price will be high. The stock coming from Wellburg is exceptionally fine.

WEDDED AT ISHPERING.

Negaunee Young People Got Ahead of their Friends Thursday Evening.

A. J. Rossiter and Miss Ethel Hooking got ahead of their Negaunee friends Thursday evening, when they were united in marriage at the Methodist church parsonage in Ishpeming. Rev. C. L. Adams, the pastor, performing the ceremony. In order not to arouse the least suspicion that they were to be married, Mr. Rossiter and his bride had Ishpeming friends act as their witnesses. They will leave this morning on a trip down the lakes, to be absent about a week. They will keep house on Mill street.

It had been known for some time that the young people were to be married. They had told their friends that the event was to take place next week, so that their visit to Ishpeming Thursday evening did not arouse the least suspicion, even among the groom's fellow workmen on the street cars. Mr. Rossiter has been employed as a street car conductor, and his bride, who is a daughter of John Hooking of Mill street, is well known here.

MONEY WILL BE SAFE.

Negaunee National Bank's Vault Will Be Both Dynamite and Fire Proof.

The vault in the Negaunee National bank's new block, being erected on East Iron street, will be one of the most modern in the state and will be dynamite and fire proof. The side walls of the vault are now being built and the concrete work will be completed to the top of the first story within a few days. The side and end walls of the vault will be twenty-four inches thick, including two inches of tile on the inside. The floor and ceiling, as well as the side walls, will be of reinforced concrete. The floor is lined with heavy rails, and the same quality of steel will also be used in the ceiling. Rails of similar dimension also extend through the side and end walls, and steel cables, over an inch in diameter, are interwoven through the center of the concrete. Over seven thousand feet of the cable will be used in making the numerous circuits.

Paul Schwartz, who has the contract for the brick and stone work, is making good headway with the front. The side and end walls were completed several days ago to the top of the first story. The putting in of the big columns on either side of the main entrance was a big task. The cut stone is now almost up to the top of the doors and the front will be completed to the top of the first story by Monday night. Contractor Chaussee expects to have the building enclosed within three weeks.

LOCAL LAONICS.

H. L. Stanton and wife of Chicago were Negaunee visitors yesterday.

Plate glass windows are to be put in the vacant store room in the Mulvey block, on West Iron street.

William Best and wife have gone to Ontonagon on a week's visit to his brother, George, and family.

Work has been started on the foundation for the hall that the Finnish Socialist society is to erect on Tobin street.

John Hicks went to Calumet Thursday to see his uncle, who recently suffered severe injuries. He will be away about two weeks.

William Seeman and William Waherry, who left here a week ago yesterday for the Mesaba range, intending to locate there, have returned.

The Negaunee baseball team will play two games at Marquette today and tomorrow. A large delegation of rooters will go down tomorrow.

Fire is still burning in the coal pile at the North Jackson engine house, which was destroyed a week ago last night.

Garfield Rice, who has been in Mitchell Bros. employ as a deliveryman ever since the Hartford closed down, has given up the position to return to his former job as motorman in the mine.

Mining operations have been resumed at the Hartford mine, but a full force has not yet been put on. As soon as all the supplies needed are received the force will be increased to what it was before the Oliver company surrendered its lease.

Mart Adson has advised the various South Shore agents that the Duluth trains will run about on schedule from this time on as a temporary track has been provided where the bridge east of Ewen was destroyed by fire a few days ago. It is expected that close connections will be made with the trains and boats at Sault Ste Marie and St. Ignace.

The members of Negaunee Odd Fellows, Elks and Scandinavian societies have been requested to meet at their regular meeting places tomorrow at 1 o'clock, to prepare for attending the funeral of the late Ross Hansen.

The lawn at the Cleveland-Cliffs iron company's land office building is much admired. The flowers and vines now present a more attractive appearance than at any previous time this season. The vines on the south side cover the greater part of the wall from the ground to the third story windows.

The services over the remains of the late Ross Hansen, whose funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon, will be conducted at 2 o'clock at the house. Immediately following the services the funeral cortege will start for Ishpeming.

The local societies, in which the deceased held membership, will march as far as Captain Pengelase's corner and will then march back to Iron street, taking the street cars to Ishpeming, loading the procession from the business district to the cemetery.

TIPPING PRIVILEGES BOUGHT.

Millions Paid by Visitors to Big Hotels Go Into Pockets of a Few Men.

It was said of the late Edward S. Stokes that he required all the tips given his hotel employees to be turned over to him, and no employee was allowed to leave the house until he had emptied his pockets. New York city hotels of today now accomplish much the same thing by a different process. They sell out the tipping privileges at so much a month or year to trusted employees.

Coastroom privileges in the larger hotels sell for from $5,000 to $10,000 per annum and one hotel is alleged to have received as high as $50,000 for its combined privileges, let to tip collectors. Notwithstanding the high prices paid the men owning tip stands gathered in more than $100,000 from generous visitors.

Take a large hotel, entertaining only the wealthiest persons. Vehicles arrived at least two sides of it. At each entrance stands the man who helps persons out and calls their vehicles when wanted. He has a corps of assistants. The lowest price paid the hotel proprietor for the door privileges in New York is $75 a month, or $900 a year, for medium sized hotels. The highest price paid is $10,000 a year.

It is the custom of the hotel proprietors of the highest resorts to have a story that when the palm room of one of the big hotels was opened as a novelty several years ago the tip revenue of the hotel averaged $10,000 for two years from checking hats and outer garments alone. The very large price of $50,000 a year was said to have been paid by the owner of the tip taking privilege for checking garments alone.

With scarcely an exception all head porters of hotels have retired wealthy from tips, which they take from all the under porters. No matter who gets the money the hotel proprietor gets it. When a patron on departure sends the head porter and hands him a bill of from $1 to $10 he also pays the porter who handles his trunks a quarter or half dollar, and this ultimately gets into the head porter's pockets.

Dining room tip privileges are also of the highest value. There is a story that when the head porter of a hotel who, while not taking all the gratuities received by waiters, receive a liberal share.

The bell boy privilege is also drifting into the hands of one man, although this system is not yet general.

Even the elevator men in many big hotels are now syndicated by one tip taker.

Tips received in big hotels range from $100,000 to $250,000 a year—tidy sums to be divided up among several men owning the privileges to collect them. In other words, a small sum which cannot be estimated, but which must run into millions, represents the annual incomes of syndicated tip takers in New York.—New York Herald.

RED SOCKS MADDEN BULL.

Surveying Party Endangered by Member's Vivid Hosiery Display.

Charles Jenkins, city solicitor of Youngstown, O., will wear no more red socks when out on a surveying expedition. He and a party of friends were engaged in surveying near Sharon, Pa. In tramping through the fields and tall grass Jenkins rolled up his trousers and displayed a pair of vivid-colored hosiery. Suddenly there was a commotion in the bushes, and a mad bull rushed the party.

By some clever dodging and fast running the surveyors managed to reach the fence and get over, barely escaping the horns of the angry bull. After gathering themselves up from the opposite side of the fence, they held a council of war and decided that when inspection trips are planned in the future it will be the duty of one of the party to inspect the wearing apparel of all and put the ban on all loud socks, neckties and the like.—Philadelphia North American.

PRISON BOARDS CONFER IN CITY

Governor Fred M. Warner and Large Party of Lower State Men Held Sessions at Marquette Prison Yesterday and Discussed Various Matters of Importance.

Governor Left in Afternoon for Munising Where He Intended to Present Plans for Experimental Alfalfa Tracts to State Board of Agriculture.

A large party of members of the joint prison boards of the state and members of two of the asylum boards met at the Marquette prison yesterday and discussed matters connected with prison management. Governor Fred M. Warner attended the sessions, he having come to Marquette Thursday night from Newberry, where he attended a meeting of the joint asylum boards Thursday.

In addition there were in attendance Otis Fuller, warden of the Ionia reformatory; Thomas J. Navin of Detroit, a member of the Jackson prison board; Col. James M. Cox, adjutant general of the Michigan National Guard; Huntley Russell, state land commissioner; James W. Belknap, of Greenville, a member of the state Ionia asylum board; Charles E. Belknap, of Grand Rapids, a member of the Kalamazoo asylum board; Dr. Henry P. Mowry, George Clapper, secretary of the board of corrections and Rowland Connor, Dr. James F. Rumer and Secretary F. E. Quigley of the board of pardons; Ira Carley, of Ingalls, and E. C. Anthony, of Negaunee, members of the Marquette prison board.

Those of the visitors in the city in the morning thoroughly inspected the Marquette prison, and discussed informally prison matters. In the afternoon an interesting session was held, in which many important subjects were considered at length. Some of the members of the boards left the city last evening, but others will remain in the city today.

Governor Went to Munising.

Governor Warner left in the afternoon for Munising to join the members of the state board of agriculture, who had gone there from a visit of inspection to the state experimental farm at Chatham, and with whom he met in that town last evening.

"It is my purpose," Governor Warner said, "to urge on the board steps to popularize among the farmers alfalfa as a fodder crop. Though the great value and utility of alfalfa have been clearly demonstrated in other states, Michigan has been slow to realize its importance, and the farmers still give up their acreage largely to the less valuable fodder crops.

"I think that the board of agriculture should furnish the farmers in every county an object lesson of the value of alfalfa. My plan is to have the board superintend the sowing of say 100 tracts of alfalfa, which would give each county at least one experimental crop. In each county one farmer should be singled out and asked to devote five or ten acres to this crop. Soil analysis would determine where the seed could be best planted, and the state's experts would see that the crop was properly started. The results, I am confident, would be excellent, and the growing of alfalfa would receive a great impetus.

"Alfalfa is the pre-eminent fodder crop. It yields bountifully compared with hay and as its roots run deep in the ground it flourishes in periods of drought in which hay is practically burned out. If alfalfa was generally planted in the upper peninsula, for instance, you would not hear apprehensions about the shortage of fodder pressed on every hand as you do now. The experiments I have in mind would cost maybe $2,000 or $3,000, but would be of incalculable value to the state."

Newberry Asylum Hard Hit.

The drought, Governor Warner said, has hit the Newberry asylum hard. The farm there is a large one and the produce obtained from it usually plays an important part in the maintenance of the institution. But the crops will all be short this year, owing to the unfavorable season, with the result that the cost of maintenance will be increased. In view of this condition, the allowance for maintenance at the Newberry institution was fixed at the joint asylum boards' meeting Thursday at fifty-four cents a patient a day, exclusive of clothing, an increase of two cents over the cost fixed for the past year. The Pontiac asylum allowance for maintenance was increased one cent a patient a day, to fifty-one cents, the cost at the Kalamazoo and Traverse City asylums being left at fifty cents, the same as for the past year. The cost of clothing for patients is estimated at three cents a day. These allowances cover all institutional expenses.

One of the pleasant features of the Newberry meeting was an unexpected address by Dr. Harrison, of Detroit, formerly a well-known resident of the Soo. He expressed to the assemblage his appreciation of the great interest Governor Warner has taken in the state institutions and of the excellent class of board appointments he has made throughout his term of office.

A man's argument is nearly always self-convincing.

A wise author draws his own conclusions at the beginning.

DIED VERY SUDDENLY.

W. D. Rees, Well Known Mining Man, Passes Away in Cleveland.

Word was received yesterday afternoon of the sudden death of Wm. D. Rees, at his home in Cleveland, following an operation for appendicitis. Mr. Rees was at one time prominently identified with the mining interests of this district, having been in active charge of the Republic mine at the time when it was one of the most famous producers of high grade ore in the United States.

While living here Mr. Rees was recognized as typifying in a peculiar degree that class of conservative and reliable business men who gave a solidity and standing to the mining operations on the Marquette range. In Cleveland this reputation followed him and his services and advice were in constant demand, not only among the boards of the largest financial and corporate enterprises, but in church and charitable organizations throughout his city and state.

He leaves a wife who is the daughter of Mrs. M. H. Maynard, of this city, and two children.

LAKE VERY SMOKY.

Fog Horn and Bell Sounded Constantly for Last Two Nights.

Forest fires are causing Lake Superior to be covered with a thick cloud of smoke and navigation is somewhat hazardous, although there is scarcely a ripple to disturb an otherwise calm sea. Thursday night and last night the fog horn and fog bell at the light house were sounded every few seconds to warn any vessels of the nearness of rocky shores. Thus far no strandings, collisions or other marine accidents have been reported because of the smoke. The lighthouse and life saving crews are especially vigilant at such times as this. As soon as the wind comes up, it drives the smoke off the lake and the vesselmen would prefer a little rougher weather. Woodsmen, on the other hand, hope there will be no high wind before it rains, as forest fires are only awaiting to be fanned to spread over much wider territory.

Captain H. J. Cleary, of the life saving crew, reports that this has been the lightest season for the crew he has ever known. There has been almost no rough weather and no accidents of any consequence have occurred near Marquette. Those operating gasoline launches have called on the life savers much less often this season than last year.
