The way the factions got together in the Ohio convention would indicate that the Republican party can come back, despite the handicap indiscreet leaders have placed on it.

If all those Ishpeming-Negaunee baseball games are to resemble the one of Wednesday we suggest the augmenting of the official staff of umpires by a referee or two, well posted on the Marquis of Queensbury rules.

Before the Ohio Republican convention Boss Cox of Cincinnati was reported to be offering to bid $15,000 that Judge Brown would be nominated. Wonder if the Boss got the money up?

It's sad, but it must be admitted that our Negaunee friends are in line to capture the league bunting, if there is any bunting. Of course the other teams will buckle in and do their best to rennake the percentage column, but those five games look like a big lead.

THEY GOT TOGETHER. The Republicans of Ohio appear to have made a first rate job of their convention and to have set up a ticket and enunciated a platform that carry as fair hopes of success as could well be expected this year.

The candidate is a newspaper man, Warren C. Harding, of Marion, editor of the Marion Star. He is forty-six years of age, vigorous, a forcible orator who is widely known in the state.

Senator Burton would have liked some other issue of the convention than the nomination of Harding, who opposed his election to succeed Senator Foraker, and George B. Cox would have greatly preferred the selection of his candidate, Judge Brown, but these leaders, and they are the only men seriously disappointed, will hardly do anything but give the ticket as nominated loyal support.

INSURE WITH PETER WHITE & CO. ABAS THE FLY. State Board of Health Cautions Against Typhoid Fever.

During the month of June typhoid fever was more prevalent than in the preceding month and also more prevalent than in June, 1909, says Public Health. The disease was reported present in fifty-one localities, being nine localities more than in the preceding month. The time is now approaching when typhoid fever is most prevalent. August, September and October being the maximum months, and, therefore, the need for watchfulness and for special efforts on the part of local health officials for the restriction and prevention of the disease is apparent.

In the past, contaminated drinking water is believed to have been one of the most common sources by which typhoid fever has been spread, and undoubtedly is, especially during the winter and spring months. However, during the last few years it has been determined beyond a doubt that, during the summer and fall months of the year, the common house fly is a very important factor in the spreading of typhoid fever. The guilt of the "typhoid fly" having been established, this department urges the co-operation of all persons for the restriction and prevention of the spread of typhoid fever. The screening of houses, groceries and fruit stands and in the rural districts the establishment of sanitary dry earth closets will do much toward restricting the spread of typhoid fever.

WHY THE PRESS CANNOT SUPPORT MR. BURROWS.

All doubts as to the nature of the senatorial campaign in Michigan have now been resolved. It is to be a straight contest between Mr. Burrows and Mr. Townsend, or rather between the opposing ideas these two represent, and for the first time in history the voters of the state are to have the privilege of choosing between two candidates. Though destitute of the spectacular features which made some of the senatorial elections of the past memorable it is beyond question equal in importance to any. The issue is clear and vital. It is that of the square deal for all against privilege for the few. Such a contest, when submitted to the voters ought not to be doubtful and the press does not believe that it is in this instance.

There are many citizens of Michigan who would have been glad if Mr. Burrows could have been spared the humiliations of such a campaign. He is a pathetic figure in Michigan politics. An old man now, his hair whitened and the fire of youth chilled by the frosts of seventy-three winters, he lingers superfluous on the stage of his earlier activities, the faculty of absorbing new ideas gone with the vanished years, out of touch and out of sympathy with the present, an obstacle to progress and a hindrance to the rising generation. For thirty-four years, eighteen in the house and sixteen in the senate, the people of Michigan have kept him at Washington. They will vote against him with the keenest regret, but firm in the conviction that the interests of the state and of the nation demand it.

It is to be said of Mr. Burrows that there has been nothing in his conduct during his long public career disgraceful to him or to the state. In fact there was a time when he brought distinction to Michigan. Gifted with the art of forceful oratory he was much in demand as a campaign speaker. In congress, though never a constructive statesman, he was at least a respectable figure. He was always to be relied on by his party leaders and they often put him forward as a champion of their measures.

But the question today is, not what Mr. Burrows was and has been, but what he is. The people want as their representative not a man who, through abiding in the present, is living in the past. The issues on which Mr. Burrows thrilled his audiences twenty years ago are no longer vital, but he seems unable to realize that such is the case. The issues of today big with the welfare of a hundred million people are to him incomprehensible and unreal. He cannot grasp them and with his guide and mentor, Mr. Aldrich, gone he would find himself in the senate like a rudderless ship on a stormy ocean. The questions which confront the nation today do not pale in comparison with those of any period in our history. Not even those which shook the foundations of the Union in 1861 were more important to the well being of our people. The square deal for the common people—proper control of the giant corporations, mighty instruments of modern industry, revolutionizing economic conditions and introducing a new era, but full of danger—the control of monopolies—fair regulation of transportation charges—the curbing of trusts—the conservation for the benefit of the whole people of our rapidly disappearing natural resources—the emancipation of the people politically from the rule of the bosses and the corrupt politicians—all these are of vital moment not only to us of the present generation, but to the generations which are to come. The mere enumeration of them shows the enormousness of the situation. On the one side united by the bonds of self interest we see those fortified by special privilege, entrenched behind laws of their own making, with in too many instances, the courts as their allies, with a grip on legislatures and even on congress itself, with the political machinery of the country largely in their control, and with that command over men and affairs which power and privilege and money always have had and will always possess. On the other side are the people armed only with the ballot. The contest is unequal. It will not be settled by a single brush at the polls nor by a single victory in the courts, but will be long and hard.

It seems as if nothing could be plainer than the question presented to the voters of Michigan in this contest. On the one side is Mr. Burrows whose record and alliances in the senate show him to be the friend and supporter of privilege and the elements opposed to the people's interests. He is not a corrupt man nor consciously an enemy of the people. He is one of those whom Mr. Aldrich recently alluded to as having been trained in a wrong school, who have grown old in the belief that money has the right to rule and cannot understand the point of view of men who recognize in the corrupt political activity of a railroad or a trust a dangerous kind of trespass to government by the people. His entire record shows the dominance of this idea. His votes on the tariff schedules show it. His childlike faith in Mr. Aldrich shows it. It is shown in his affiliations with the business and political elements which are backing him in this campaign for re-election. It is for these reasons that the Press feels compelled to oppose him as a matter of public duty. On the other side is Mr. Townsend whose record shows that in his attitude toward these things he is the direct opposite of Mr. Burrows. No other man whom Michigan has sent to Washington in years has loomed so large in the public eye as a constructive legislator. Few men have made so thorough a study of railroad problems. He was the real author of the Hepburn law and was the only member of the house that Mr. Taft called into consultation in preparing the railroad measures submitted at the recent session. To him was entrusted the administration bill in the house. In congress he has shown himself a leader and has been thoroughly independent. He has stood for the people in legislative matters and refused to be dominated by the bosses. He enjoys the confidence of Mr. Taft and of Mr. Roosevelt. In his campaign for the senate he places himself squarely on the side of the people. Will the voters choose for their senate for a champion of their own cause, one who is notoriously opposed to their interests? This is the real issue and the main issue of the primary campaign.—Grand Rapids Press.

GUEST OF HONOR POSED AS MAID

Society Woman Plays Servant to Help Out Her Hostess in a Pinch.

PREDECESSOR HAD STRUCK.

After Making a Hit Serving the Luncheon She Joins in the Bridge Game.

St. Louis, July 28.—While a score of invited guests were on their way to Mrs. James H. Howe's beautiful Swiss chalet in Webster Groves to attend a five-hundred club party and luncheon, Mrs. Howe's serving maid announced her resignation, to take effect immediately.

Mrs. Fleckenstein, and with them came the idea of a masquerade.

Insists on Filling Place. "Let me be the serving maid," she said promptly. "I think I can do almost as well as a real one."

"But, my dear—," Mrs. Howe began to remonstrate. "I insist," said Mrs. Fleckenstein.

And she hurried downstairs and returned with a dainty white dress and checked serving apron. In a few moments she had on the garments, and stood before her surprised hostess in an attitude of waiting for the tinkle of the dining room bell.

As Mrs. Howe finished dressing the volunteer "maid" advised her what to tell the guests, to aid in the hoax.

"What a charming maid you have," was almost the first remark of the first club member who appeared.

guest of honor, Mrs. Fleckenstein, entered the room in her party gown of white lingerie. There was a gasp of admiring surprise as the "maid" of a few moments before, was recognized. Her attire, whose Parisian appearance had set others to taking notes, remained unaltered.

The unconventional introduction was the preface to a pleasant acquaintance between Mrs. Fleckenstein and the guests who, a few moments before, had spoken their best French to her.

"I'll be glad to take her, if you aren't going to keep her," said the next guest, when the explanation was repeated in her hearing. Only I don't know, whether I want such a pretty maid around the house. Of course, I trust my husband, but—"

When the party had gathered and the "maid" began serving the luncheon, some of the guests tried their French by essaying remarks to the maid. "Oui, madame," with a curtsy, was the only reply they received.

High Complaints For "Maid." As they fled downstairs from the dining room, which is on the second floor of the Howe chalet, the guests saw the maid arranging the card tables, and again there was a whispered series of compliments on the graceful movements of the trim figure.

WALL STREET STOCKS.

New York, July 28.—Paine, Webber & Co. have this to say of today's Wall Street market: "Yesterday's rally was continued again this morning, and the buying of stocks looked better than for some time. There was no large amount of public following, the trading being largely professional, but the bears were afraid to make the bears afraid to make any more drives and were working to cover their short contracts. The strength was well sustained all day and the general feeling tonight is much more confident."

"WHERE FASHION REIGNS."

Upper Peninsula

Barter in Trouble.—Fred Erasher, a bartender employed at the season of C. Devost at Escanaba, was arraigned before Judge O. V. Linden this week, charged with selling liquor to minors. The complaint is made by J. A. McCarthy and it is alleged that the defendant sold three boys a pair of beer. The defendant demanded an ex-Untill today.

Police Suspect Incarceration.—A fire of mysterious origin broke out early in the morning in the building occupied by the Escanaba Grocery company at 200 North Sarah street, and considerable damage was done both to the stock of goods and the building before the flames were extinguished. Officers who are investigating the fire have a strong suspicion that it was of incendiary origin and a number of clues are being followed. The fire had broken out at three different places in the building and it was only with difficulty that the flames were brought under control. The loss sustained to the building is not covered by insurance while the loss to the stock is fully covered.

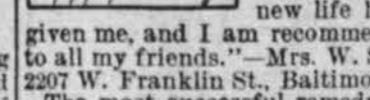

Old-Time Lumber Carrier.—The old lumber carrier Trade H. Wiehe, which was destroyed by fire in Portage bay, Lake Superior, some days ago, was one of the best known vessels on the great lakes. The photograph of this boat has probably been used more than that of any other vessel of this type in marine directories and periodicals, as an example of the boats used in the lumber trade. The Wiehe was built in 1885 and was operated mainly on Lake Michigan. When first built she was under the name of A. Folsom, but was better known under her later name. The Wiehe generally was operated with one or two barges and has often brought cargoes of lumber amounting to a million and a half feet on her own decks and those of her consort into Lake Michigan harbors. The vessel had a capacity of 625,000 feet of lumber and was 187 feet in length by 33 1/2 feet beam. She was owned by the Hines Lumber company.

Cost $7.79 to Lock Each Boat.—Uncle Sam paid $102,093.50 during the fiscal year ending June 30 to lock vessels through at the Poe and Weitzel locks of the St. Mary's canal. There were 13,093 vessels locked through at an average cost of $11.59 per lockage. Two and sometimes three vessels are taken through in one lockage at the American canal, and the total number of lockages are about half the number of vessel passages. The average cost of each passage is figured to be about $7.79. Counting twenty trips for each boat, the government had to pay $155.80 to care for one boat through one season, in locking expenses. For each registered tonnage passed through the canal, the expenses amounted to 3.44 cents, and for each freight ton, 3.52 cents. Since there was a registered tonnage of 29,678,738 tons, and 29,651,114 tons of freight passed through the American canal, the cost can be readily figured out. The total time used in making lockages amounted to 4,307 hours and twenty-three minutes. The average time for one lockage was twenty-nine minutes and twenty-two seconds. The total time spent by vessels in passing the locks was 6,273 hours and twenty-eight minutes or about 261 days.

VEGETABLES AND PRODUCE BY WEIGHT

Large City Grocers Are Adopting the Plan and Country Dealers May Follow Suit.

"I believe the time is not far distant when eggs, bread, peas and other vegetables will be sold in the grocery stores of the country by weight instead of by measure," said an Ishpeming business man yesterday. "I notice that the grocers in many of the larger cities are now selling these articles by weight, and from what I can learn they like the change. Their customers, too, are better satisfied."

"In New York and other Eastern states the correct weight system has already been substituted for the unreliable counting of eggs and indiscriminate guessing of bread. In New York the state dealer of weighing instruments has made a rule that eggs and bread are to be sold by weight only. He is backed by the law and he is enforcing the order in all country towns, as well as in the large cities. In Milwaukee there is an ordinance now pending in the council providing that the weight of bread shall be specified on each loaf. It is a compromise measure from the original ordinance providing that sixteen ounces shall constitute a pound loaf of bread. The bakers in that city are very much opposed to the measure and through their influence final action on the ordinance has been postponed a number of times."

"It seems to me that the only fair method of selling eggs is by weight. As you know, eggs are of different sizes. In a dozen there may not be two of the same size. If the merchant bought eggs by weight, he would get just what he paid for, and he would then be able to give the consumer what he also paid for. About six or eight eggs would constitute a pound and the price could readily be fixed on the basis of what they would sell for by the dozen."

"The counting of articles in stores is an ancient custom and many times it has resulted in cheating the customer as well as the dealer. I am satisfied that the change from measuring to weighing would be welcomed by the dealers and their clerks as well as by the customers. Grocers have frequently made the mistake of using liquid for dry measures in dealing with dry stuffs, cheating themselves at least 15 per cent on every measure. Potatoes also can be sold and bought by weight."

"I notice that the chief dealers of weights and measures in some of the large cities have contacted many illegal measures. This is proof that the measure system is not fair to either the producer nor the customer."

Ladies' Trimmed Hats now being offered at a fraction of the wholesale price.

MAY COME THIS WAY.

A heavyweight baseball team that has been touring Wisconsin for more than a week past may come to this county. The team played a seven-inning game Wednesday at Marinette and it was at Menominee yesterday. It is slated for a game with the Escanaba team today. The combined weight of the nine players is 4,487 pounds. "Baby" Bliss, the heaviest man, tips the scales at 640 pounds. The youngest player, a lad of fifteen years, weighs over 400 pounds, and the lightest, who is a little over three feet in height, weighs over 300 pounds. It is said that the team is drawing immense crowds. It took a four-horse team to pull the players to and from the grounds at Menominee.

It is reported from many points in the West that new heat records have been made this week. STONE DEAF FOR TEN YEARS

But Hearing Restored With "Fazakerley" Formulas

OFFICE AT 607 THIRD STREET, ISHPERING, CROWDED FIRST DAY.

"Fazakerley" has already started out on a successful career in Ishpeming while to those who have not seen the remarkable cures made by this man, it seems impossible, still each day and night brings forth more wonderful cures. No one cares to go through life in a half sick condition or afflicted in any form and they continually seek the road back to health, from which through carelessness, they have strayed. A great many of the seemingly hopeless chronic cases are daily finding this road through the Famous Fazakerley Formulas. Among those who took advantage of the free demonstrations Wednesday evening, were the following:
Victor Lindig, of 1302, corner of Third and Ninth streets, Ishpeming, who had been stone deaf in the left ear for ten years and had given up hope, recovered his hearing after one application of Fazakerley's Formulas amidst loud applause from thousands of people.
Peter Solea, of 412 Bank street, Ishpeming, who had been very hard of hearing for years, was another to receive instant relief. Duncan Campbell, of 314 Canda street, Ishpeming, had been almost stone deaf in his right ear for seven years, caused by an injury received in the mines, was made to hear plainly in a few moments.
These remarkable demonstrations were made in public before thousands of people, at the open air lectures at North Third street.
The entertainments given in connection with Fazakerley's lectures are the best that have been seen in this part of the country for some time, consisting of laughable farces, trapeze work and other high class vaudeville with moving pictures and illustrated songs.
Fazakerley's office at 607 North Third street, Ishpeming, is already crowded daily with suffering humanity. This office is in charge of the Eminent Specialist Dr. Garmon, who, with his assistants, successfully treat all diseases that are not incurable.
These specialists have made a thorough and exhaustive study of the human body and are past the stage of experimenting, as the quick results already obtained testify. The office is situated at 607 North Third street, Ishpeming, a

Rapids Pilots to Organize—

The St. Mary's rapids pilots at the Soo plan to perfect an organization for mutual protection. There is considered little likelihood that they will encounter much competition, as no novice cares to attempt to steer a canoe over the foaming rapids and there is little enough business for those engaged in it at the present time.

Holiday for the Soo—

At the meeting of the Sault Ste. Marie Common council this week the Retail Grocers' association petitioned the aldermen to proclaim Thursday, August 4, a civic holiday, and the mayor was authorized to make an official proclamation. The date is the one the association has set for holding its annual picnic, which has become one of the big events of the summer season and one in which the entire town is interested.

Hay a Banner Crop—

Chippewa county hay is now being harvested and according to most of the reports received it is running away above the average. In the best regions the yield is said to be two or three tons to the acre, or nearly double that of last season. While the price usually drops considerably following the haying season, there is every reason to believe that this will not be the case this summer. Minnesota and Northern Wisconsin report a big shortage, and their contractors will probably be after the Chippewa county product right away. The present price of $17 per ton will doubt be maintained as an average for the fall, if it does not stiffen up a little. Chippewa county farmers naturally feel jubilant over the outlook. Field peas are reported to also be a fair crop, though some of the special varieties have suffered from the drought and will not pan out very well. The temptation to grow $2 and $2.50 peas for the big seed companies got some of the farmers in bad, but the $1 and $1.50 fellows will come out all right.

MANY BUILDING JOBS UNDER WAY

Negaunee Contractors Have Had Work for Men Since Early in the Spring.

When the building season of 1910 has been closed, the Negaunee contractors and building supply concerns will find that the year will average up with some of the best they have ever had. All of the contractors have had steady employment for good-sized crews. The dwellings erected will number from twenty to twenty-five, and several have been extensively improved. The building operations have not been confined to any particular district, but have been carried on throughout the city.

The most important building job of the year is the Negaunee National bank's new block, now under course of construction, and last year the new high school building and the Scandinavian society's new block were among the principal contracts. The new hose house will also go to the credit of 1910, as it was not completed until March.

Several dwellings are now being constructed and a number of others are being figured on. Among those who will within a few weeks occupy new homes are Mrs. D. McDonald, Andrew Carlson, C. V. Anderson and Oscar Carlson. The two latter are building in the Collins' addition, platted last year. Ten dwellings have already been completed in the plat and several lots, in addition to those on which Messrs. Carlson and Anderson are building, have been sold within the past few weeks. It is expected that at least two or three more dwellings will be erected there before the season closes. Among the dwellings will be a large double house, Oscar Dahlquist, the contractor, has erected the finest home that has yet been built in the Collins' tract. Mr. Dahlquist did all of the work himself, with the exception of putting in the foundation. The house is attractively finished, and has all of the modern conveniences, with the exception of a heating plant, which is to be put in later.

The mechanics in the employ of the Negaunee contractors have received the same wages and work the same hours as they did last season. Practically all of the brick layers, masons and plasterers employed in both Negaunee and Ishpeming are working under a union schedule adopted by their organization a year ago last winter.

The present summer has been an exceptionally favorable one for building operations, as very little time has been lost on account of wet weather. For several weeks last season the mechanics employed on outside work did not get in more than three-quarters time, as the rains were frequent.

Mrs. R. G. Quinn of Milwaukee and Miss Gertrude Kruse of Chicago are guests at the home of M. C. Quinn.

Teething children have more or less diarrhoea, which can be controlled by giving Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. All that is necessary is to give the prescribed dose after each operation of the bowels more than natural and then cast oil to cleanse the system. It is safe and sure. Sold by The People's Drug Store.

Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets gently stimulate the liver and bowels to expel poisonous matter, cleanse the system, cure constipation and sick headache. Sold by The People's Drug Store.

LEVINE BUYS HOME.

Andrew Lindquist Has Sold His Dwelling to Negaunee Business Man.

Abel Levine, of the firm of Levine Bros., has purchased Andrew Lindquist's dwelling on Clark street, between Teal Lake and Mackenzie avenues, and will occupy it with his family within two or three weeks. Mr. Lindquist will move to the dwelling he recently completed on the corner of Teal Lake avenue and Bluff street.

Mr. Lindquist, who is in the contracting business, will make several improvements in the house for Mr. Levine. Among them will be hardwood floors in the ground floor rooms, and in some of the rooms on the second floor. The dwelling contains eight rooms. Mr. Levine and his family have occupied G. I. Kohlman's house on Brown avenue ever since they were married.

When Mr. Lindquist completed his new house on Teal Lake avenue and Bluff street he intended to sell it, but now that he has disposed of his other dwelling he will make the new place his permanent home.

NEW TENT ORGANIZED.

Maccabees of World Started Branch at Palmer Wednesday Evening.

The great commander and great record keeper of the Maccabees of the World, who were expected to attend the organization meeting of the new tent at Palmer Wednesday evening, were unable to be present, and the tent was organized by A. P. Crooker, the supreme district deputy, assisted by J. A. Goodman, who secured the members for the organization. Several members of the Negaunee tent attended the meeting. At the close of the business session, a lunch was served and the visitors left for home shortly before midnight.

The tent was organized with the following officers: Commander—Thomas Nicholas. Lieutenant Commander—Hans Hulverson.

Record Keeper—Alex Fredericksen. Chaplain—J. B. Ronan. Physician—Dr. H. B. McCrory. Sergeant—James Ronan. Master at Arms—Leonard Anderson. First Master of the Guard—E. W. Swanson.

Second Master of the Guard—John Asplund. Sentinel—Albert Anderson. Picket—William Lague. Trustees—Thomas Nicholas, Harry Hulverson and August Jacobson.

The camp has thirty-four charter members. Messrs Crooker and Goodman are to spend some time in the copper country, and upon their return Mr. Goodman expects to secure a sufficient number of applications for a tent on the Swanzy range.

LOST A FOOT.

William Pekkala, an employe of the Richmond mine, on the Cascade range, had a foot so badly crushed yesterday morning that it was necessary to amputate it. Pekkala was letting down some cars on the mine tracks and he fell underneath the wheels. The operation was performed at the Negaunee hospital. Pekkala is twenty-eight years of age and single.

WORKING 100 MEN.

The Republic Iron & Steel company, which recently resumed operations at the Hartford mine, is now employing a force of about 100 men. It will be increased as the underground work progresses, but at present it would be impossible to employ more men to advantage. The work has been held back somewhat since operations were resumed because of the non-arrival of supplies.

LOCAL LAONICS.

The front of the Negaunee National bank's new block has been completed to the top of the first story.

The baby daughter of Julius Gagnon of Case street died Wednesday. The funeral will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from St. Paul's church.

A number of the local baseball fans have signified their intention of going to Crystal Falls Sunday in case the baseball excursion train is run.

Miss Fern Chaussee has departed for Kansas City, to resume her work in a hospital, where she is studying with a view to becoming a trained nurse.

Matt Kangas is training for his catch-as-catch-can wrestling match with John Rowett Saturday evening at McDonald's opera house. Both Rowett and Kangas will go on the mat in good condition, with the Negaunee man having about five pounds advantage in weight.

The dwelling that formerly occupied the lot on which Mrs. D. McDonald is erecting a new home on Case street has been moved to Charles Chopette's lot on Mitchell avenue. The building will be put in good condition before it is again occupied.

The shipments of blueberries from points along the lake shore, east of Marquette, are increasing right along, but the movement is light compared with some former years. They are not many pickers in the fields, and they are no campers near Harvey or Cascade Junction. This is the first time in many years that berries have not been sent out from the latter places. If the Negaunee baseball team can win its next five games it will have the pennant cinched. Its record of winning the last five games was unlooked for by the team's supporters, as neither the Marquette or Ishpeming teams were ever considered "easy" for the local nine. The team is now playing steadier ball than at any previous time this season, and several of the players are hitting exceptionally well. There are very few teams in any of the leagues with a majority of its players having a batting average above .250. Seven of the players now have averages above this mark.

The work consisting of the laying of approximately 10,250 square yards of pavement. Bids must be indorsed "Proposal for Iron street improvement, etc.," and be accompanied by a certified check on a solvent bank for at least five (5) per cent of total amount of bid made payable to the City Treasurer. The right to accept any or to reject any and all bids being hereby reserved and to let the contract to other than the lowest bidder should it be to the best interests of the City to do so. W. H.
