Works Nearing Completion—The new factory of Longyear & Hodge on the Lake Shore boulevard is nearing completion and the firm hopes to be doing business in the new plant within three weeks. Spoke to Workingmen—Angus W. Kerr had a busy forenoon in Marquette yesterday, campaigning for the nomination on the Republican ticket for congressman from the Twelfth district. In the early morning he visited the South Shore shops where he shook hands with several hundred workmen, and was given assurances of support from many of them. He then went to the Lake Shore Engine works, where he gave a short talk at the noon hour, to which all the employes listened attentively. As in the address in Lakeside park Tuesday evening, Mr. Kerr declared himself in hearty accord and sympathy with the progressive movement within the Republican party. Mr. Kerr expressed himself as mightily pleased with his reception in this city, and as having received more encouragement in his candidacy than he had anticipated. He and his party left for Negaunee in the afternoon, where a meeting was held last evening.

DISEASE IS LESS IN COUNTRY LIFE

Attacks Upon Health Not So Frequent on Farms as in Large Cities of Country.

Living next to nature wards off disease and death, if statistics recently compiled by the United States census bureau are to be believed. According to these figures disease claims fewer victims among those who work on farms than from those who find employment in other walks of life. The data in question has been gathered from eighteen states and shows how the various causes of death affect the farmer, the planter and the farm laborer in general, on the one hand, and all other workers on the other. Infant mortality is not taken into consideration, the figures covering only the ages from twenty-five to sixty-four.

While in the majority of cases the advantage does seem to appear to be on the side of the tiller of the soil, the grand total is decidedly in his favor, the figures showing that of the total death rate 73.63 per cent consists of deaths from disease, accident and suicide, while in the case of the farmer and those engaged in agricultural pursuits, the percentage of deaths from those causes is only 68.325.

The principal gain in favor of the farmer is in the case of tuberculosis, due undoubtedly to the fact that his outdoor life renders him less susceptible to the disease than those whose occupations are of a more sedentary nature. In 1908, in the eighteen states covered by the figures, the "great white plague" was responsible for 19.3 per cent of the total deaths, but only 15.6 per cent of the farmers who died that year were victims of that disease.

On the other hand, owing perhaps to the unsanitary conditions prevailing on many American farms, typhoid fever made more victims proportionately among the farmers than it did in other walks of life. Of the total deaths, 2.825 per cent were due to that disease, while 3.85 per cent of the farmers' deaths resulted from it.

In 1908 the farmers appear to have been more prone to suicide than have other people, for 3.725 per cent of the farmers' deaths were self-inflicted, while only 2.5 per cent of the complete mortality list comprised deaths by suicide. On the whole, however, the figures demonstrate that life on the farm is in many respects more safe than other forms of occupation and tends to longevity.

Upper Peninsula

Killed by a Falling Tree—As the result of injuries sustained when he was hit by a falling tree in the woods near Perkins, Delta county, John Pariseau, twenty-eight years of age, died at the hospital of Dr. A. L. Laing, at Rivier. The parents of the unfortunate young man live at Escanaba.

School Instructors Are Married—Announcement is made of the wedding of E. J. Lederle, superintendent of the Grand Marais public schools, to Miss Minnie Louise Shore. The marriage was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents at Ewart, Michigan. The bride formerly was teacher of music and drawing in the Grand Marais schools.

Shooting Found Accidental—Sheriff Robinson and other Dickinson county officers have investigated the shooting affair which took place at Channing when a boy named Steele shot little Johnny Murphy in the back of the head with an old rusty shotgun which the youngsters discovered in a stump pile on a farm. The authorities are fully satisfied that the shooting was an accident, and have permitted young Steele his freedom.

Long Ball Game a Tie—In one of the longest games ever played by an upper peninsula team the Richters of Escanaba tied with the Norway team, 1 to 1, after seventeen innings of play. Neither team scored until the twelfth inning when each shoved a single run across the plate. The game was called after the seventeenth inning when in the gathering darkness it was impossible for either side to play. La Salle and Murray made up the battery for the Richters and Scott and Gandtz for Norway. La Salle struck out seven and Scott nineteen men. La Salle hit one batter and gave no bases on balls, while neither hit a batter nor was donated a base. The Richters got twelve hits and Norway nine, the Richters making four errors and Norway two.

Peace-Maker Loses an Eye—August Boitolon of Crystal Falls was taken to St. Joseph's hospital, Menominee, this week and an operation was performed in which his right eye was removed. Boitolon claims that while in a saloon a couple of his friends became engaged in a brawl and he attempted to part the combatants. The fighters became enraged at his interference and turned on him, and in the course of the ensuing melee one of the men lammed a beer glass at his head, hitting him in the right eye. The ball of the eye was badly torn, and was in such condition that there was no possible chance to save the eyesight. His eye was taken out and he is now recovering from the operation.

Suicide Was a Steepjack—More information has been learned concerning Riley Johnson, the man who committed suicide by jumping off the tower at the Soo. A number of the crew of the steamer Meringo, which passed the canal, viewed the remains and stated that the man had worked for years around Chicago as a steepjack. They could not say whether his relatives resided in Chicago or whether he himself called that city his home. While Johnson had been a sailor some years ago he had not followed that calling lately. T. W. Gunn, of the Lake Seaman's union at the Soo, has been unremitting in his efforts to find some clue to the relatives of the suicide and has written letters and sent many telegrams in the hopes of being able to do so.

Legislator Declines Renomination—John O. Maxey of L'Anse, representative in the state legislature from the Iron district, comprising the counties of Baraga, Iron, Keweenaw and Ontonagon, has declined a re-nomination, due to his many business interests, which demand his whole attention and which he would have to sacrifice if he again entered the state halls. Mr. Maxey, while a member of the house, assisted in passing many bills which were of interest to his constituents and the people of upper peninsula in general. He will probably be succeeded by Dr. King, who resides in Keweenaw county.

Don't Know Names of Streets

Bishop G. Mott Williams of Marquette writes the editor of the Bessemer Herald as follows: Kipling, in one of his stories, quotes a typical song, "if you don't know where to go, ask a policeman." This is my first visit to Bessemer for several years, I find it much improved in appearance and evidently growing. But it is apparently not anxious to help strangers to find their way around. Let me detail an actual happening. I asked a policeman on the postoffice corner the name of the principal street. He replied "Sophie St." Then what is the name of the street it corners with? He replied, "I'm blessed if I know." I read an advertisement of a house for sale, on such and such a street. No one knows where it is. The policemen do not know, the sheriff doesn't know, the hotel proprietor doesn't know. It is unquestionably the hardest town to find any body in that I have ever seen. A smart looking, prosperous, growing little city ought to have up-to-date conveniences, street signs, numbers and an intelligent knowledge of itself.

Havoc Among Insect Pests

There is a deal of truth in the old saying that "there is no great loss without some small gain." It applies very forcibly to the present summer, which has been about the driest in the memory of even the pioneer residents of the upper peninsula. The long drought has been hard on the gardens, fields, forests and lawns, hard on the public and tough on the animals, but it has also been blessing rolled up in the large package of misfortune. Upper peninsula people never suffered less from this insect pest than they have the present season. The "wigglers" from which mosquitos spring flourish in mudholes, swamps, cisterns and in fact everywhere where the water is stagnant and infected with decomposed animal or vegetable matter. This season the long drought, warm sun and great evaporation has dried up their various breeding ground and left them to gasp out their vicious little lives on the parched surface.

The hot water has also been hard on flies though to a somewhat less extent. Flies have to have water or moist just the same as any other animal or insect life. They can, however, survive for some time without it. No matter how warm the weather is the flies will be all right if there is only a dew fall, as in the early morning they can absorb a sufficient supply of moisture to last them through the day. This year, however, there has been less dew than usual and as a result the mortality among the flies has been unusually heavy. The occasional exceedingly cool nights have also helped to thin their numbers.

Hoodoo With Him

A correspondent at Witch Lake, on the Milwaukee road south of Republic, reports the arrival of Dr. C. D. Westcott at that popular summer resort, after a series of haps and mishaps. The doctor came from Chicago. Due to the carelessness of a new porter, he was not informed of the fact that he was a tenant of the Copper Range sleeper, necessitating a change at Channing. When the doctor discovered the fact, he was nearing Amasa. The conductor informed him that a freight train was due at Amasa in a short time and this would afford him an opportunity to return to Channing. At Amasa, however, he was gladdened with the news that the freight train was two hours late. The skies brightened considerably a few moments later when Roadmaster Ludman put in an appearance with his autocar and kindly offered transportation to Channing. This was a pleasant means of locomotion and the trip would have been thoroughly enjoyed had not Mr. Hoodoo again put in an appearance and disabled the auto midway between stations. Several hours were spent in earnest argument with the car, and the conversation was becoming real sultry when the delayed freight train put in an appearance. Dr. Westcott abandoned the auto, boarded the freight and in due season arrived at Channing. Determined to reach Witch Lake, he chartered a locomotive and arrived in good order. Meanwhile his relatives and friends had become considerably alarmed by his sudden disappearance and a messenger was sent to be dispatched to the nearest telegraph office to make inquiries regarding his whereabouts when his special train arrived.

Y. M. C. A. HAVING A GOOD GROWTH

Membership in Michigan Has Almost Doubled Within Past Six Years.

According to the annual report of the Michigan Young Men's Christian Association, a copy of which has just been received at the office of the local organization, the association is flourishing in Michigan. The membership has been almost doubled in six years. In 1903 it was 8,255, and last year it was 15,737. The valuation of property owned by the association increased from $543,058, in 1903, to $1,532,329, at the close of this year. The current expenses during the six years' period increased from $90,003.61 to $321,782.25. In 1903, 632 members were enrolled in educational classes, and last year there were 2,298. The expense of conducting the educational classes in 1903 was $23,095.72. The total sum received from educational classes in 1903 was $1,682,115, and in 1910 it was $1,451,710.

The enrollment in the physical department last year was 9,699, compared with 3,034 in 1903. The association last year spent $7,849.90 for the advancement of religious work, compared with $1,827,055, six years ago. The total attendance at the religious meetings held in 1903 was 51,940, and last year it reached 240,162. The state executive committee reports that it believes that the ratio of increase in the membership will continue through the coming year. The committee has asked that $200,000 be raised for its endowment fund.

There are now seventeen branch in Michigan cities, and four cities have railroad branches. Detroit has an army branch. The value of the Detroit building is $636,000, and last year the expenses of the Detroit organization were $150,000. It has 2,780 paid up senior members and 527 boys. Grand Rapids is the second largest organization, with 1,184 members and property valued at $85,000. There are seven other organizations in the state having larger realty values than the Ishpeming branch. They are Ann Arbor, $55,000; Bay City, $59,000; Cadillac, $64,000; Calumet, $62,800; Jackson, $70,000; Kalamazoo, $60,000, and Lansing, $80,000.

The membership of the Ishpeming organization was given as 616, including seniors and juniors, at the close of the year, but since then there has been a steady increase. The officers will work during the next few months to increase the membership to 1,000 by the first of the year.

During the year ending in June the physical department privileges were used by a majority of both the junior and senior members. The Ishpeming branch had sixty students enrolled in the several educational classes last year. The expense of conducting these was $367.11, and $174.75 was received in tuition fees.

TO START WORK TODAY.
 Division Street, West of Railway, Will Be Macadamized.

The board of public works will put a crew of men and teams to work today, removing the surface from Division street, west from the Northwestern railway crossing, to Greenwood street, preparatory to macadamizing it. The old street between these two points has been abandoned for some weeks. The new street will run parallel with the South Shore line the entire distance from the railway crossing to Greenwood street, and it will be a more desirable route than the former one. Several inches of the surface will be removed and a foundation of crushed rock will be put in. On top of this there will be three courses of gravel.

It will be fully two weeks or more before the Lake Superior & Ishpeming Railway company completes putting in the concrete abutments. The filling was completed to Division street Tuesday, and the steam shovel that has been used loading the cars was transferred to Marquette.
