

SENSATIONAL INCIDENT IN DAKOTA TOWN

Man Who Queries Roosevelt as to Who is Paying the Expenses of His Tour of the Country Creates Much Excitement in Big Labor Day Crowd at Fargo.

He Calls the ex-President a Liar When Informed the Outlook Magazine is Footing the Bills. Whereupon the Colonel Helps to Eject Him from the Platform.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 5.—A man who fought his way to Theodore Roosevelt and called him a liar gave a bad scare today in the big Labor Day crowd at Island Park. Mr. Roosevelt seized the man and helped eject him from the platform.

The colonel had just finished his Labor Day address. There was a rush to the speaker's stand by thousands who sought to see Mr. Roosevelt at short range.

"I have a question to ask you, Roosevelt," he shouted. Mr. Roosevelt watched him closely.

"Standing about six feet from the colonel the man called again. The people on the stand grew silent. Mr. Roosevelt faced the man.

"I want to know who is paying the expenses of this trip of yours about the country?"

The question angered Mr. Roosevelt, and he advanced a step and shot back the answer: "I consider that an impertinent question," he said. "However, I have no objection to telling you."

He added that the expenses of the party were being paid by the magazine of which he is one of the editors.

"You lie," the man shouted. Mr. Roosevelt stepped forward quickly and seized the fellow's arm just above the elbow.

He explained later that he did not know who the man was or what his intentions were, and that he acted in a measure of self-protection.

He pushed the man forward, turning the man half around so that the latter was powerless to use the arm. It was an old trick of self-defense which he had learned years ago, the colonel said.

The man then shouted: "Your expenses are being paid by the people of the United States."

Before the man finished, two men had seized him. The colonel did not release his grip until the stranger was moving rapidly from the stand.

He was ejected from the platform amid considerable excitement. An effort was made later to find the man, but all trace of him had been lost.

Colonel Praises Federal Judge Who Sympathizes With the Laboring Man.

In his address at Island Park before the great Labor Day crowd, Mr. Roosevelt spoke words of warm commendation for the federal judge who was presiding, because, the judge, in introducing him, had showed himself to be in sympathy with the laboring man.

He referred to Judge C. F. Amidon, of the District of North Dakota, and his remarks were applauded. Judge Amidon said that the people should not forget that it was the laboring man's day.

He suggested that the laboring man suffers wrong by congress' non-passage of a liability law. He said that almost every other country had done so.

When Mr. Roosevelt reached that part of his speech advocating working men's compensation, he said of Judge Amidon that he was delighted to hear such utterances from a federal jurist.

A heavy shower fell during Mr. Roosevelt's speech.

Mr. Roosevelt began the day by laying the cornerstone of the library building at Fargo college. Several hundred persons stood there in a drizzling rain to hear the colonel's speech.

In the afternoon a parade headed by the trade unions of Fargo took Mr. Roosevelt through the streets.

Lieutenant Governor Lewis, a Republican, rode by Mr. Roosevelt's side. Governor Burke, who is a Democrat, was further back.

Mr. Roosevelt put on his raincoat and went out among the crowd, telling the women to go to the stand under cover.

When he had filled the stand with women, he sauntered through the crowd, heedless of the rain, shaking hands.

After ten minutes of rain, the sun suddenly broke through the clouds and the shower was over.

In his speech the colonel made it clear that he did not wish to give a blanket endorsement of everything done by the labor unions, although he believed them to be necessary in modern life and he thoroughly approved them.

will support Pinchot and Garfield. He will, it is said, fight to a finish. CHASE S. OSBORN ISSUES FINAL STATEMENT, REVIEWING THE CAMPAIGN--CENSURES IMPROPER POLITICAL METHODS--IS GRATEFUL TO HIS FAITHFUL FRIENDS--OUTLOOK IS ROSEATE

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 5.—Chase S. Osborn today made public the following authorized proclamation statement:

"The primary campaign is over, I have won deep satisfaction from it, no matter how many votes I get. The primary law is all right in its objects, but it needs further perfecting to make it entirely practical. In a general sense the people and the candidate are brought closer together and the tendency is to increase the individual interest and information in men and measures. I have tried to say to the people just what I felt and thought, without reference to whether my utterances would win votes or not. In other words, I have endeavored to be natural and to convey to the people a complete idea of my views, character and temperament. There have been but very few unpleasant features. Only once has my word been involved and I think that may have grown out of a misunderstanding."

"In a controversy with Mr. Kelley at Big Rapids, he asked me if I had not contributed $750 to Gov. Warner's campaign. I replied that I had done so. He asked me the date of the subscription. I told him I could not remember without consulting my books, Governor Warner has contended that I denied making the subscription, conveying the direct impression that I was caught in a misstatement and compelled to confess it. This was cleverly worked and a few people probably believe the governor. I have an affidavit from Meyer Drescher, of Big Rapids, and could get fifty more, substantiating my views of the controversy. In fact, I believe Mr. Kelley and I would agree upon what was said."

"The evil results told during the campaign by Dick Fletcher, of the Warner-Kelly forces, and by one John V. Moran, of the Musselman forces, have not perturbed me in the least. The circulation of the Escanaba Journal libel by Amos Musselman is the most objectionable thing of the campaign. Mr. Musselman has always pretended to wear a mantle of superior humanity. I think his connection with that crime will hurt him for ever. I owe it to good citizenship to do all I can to bring about conditions under which men of character will feel free in offering their services to the public. To this end I shall probe the Musselman."

"I have said no word that I regret. I have kept the peace of my own conscience and preserved my self-respect. "One thing deeply pleasing has been the attitude of the press towards me. With few exceptions, I have been treated fairly and even generously and the character of my splendid newspaper support has been without venality or the slightest mercenary suggestion. More and more have the newspapers come to be the people's champions, and the arbiters of public questions, and more and more are publishers in both city and country realizing their high place and their sacred duty in these directions."

"Michigan will survive two years of anybody for governor, but Michigan and the United States must, with each decade, make social conditions better. The application of broad christian principles of nitrogen and its compounds in the field is the tendency of the times and it is the finest influence that has ever manifested itself."

"To conclude, I wish to say my happiness is not involved in the number of votes I may receive. If I am finally chosen a governor I shall do my best to serve and that is all I want."

The pointed statement that the distinguished patron-saint of pure food made to the effect that he didn't give a hang for the "business world" followed this argument.

"Then," continued Attorney Baldwin, "you consider that more important than hundreds of thousands of dollars staked in the food factories?"

"I must certainly do. Where there are hundreds of millions of dollars involved in the balance which these investigations affect. It is these that I consider, and not the business which may be done by any corporation."

"I don't know what physiologists in general think," responded Dr. Wiley, "and I don't care. I know what I think, and that is all I want."

man-Escanaba Journal libel to the bottom. My campaign has been confined to the lower peninsula because I have lived in the upper peninsula for a quarter of a century and my character and qualifications are well known there, and for the further reason that the natural scene of contest is where the votes are. The population of the lower peninsula is about two and half million and of the upper peninsula about 250,000. Also I wished to bring about a better understanding between the northern and southern divisions of the state, for the purpose of obtaining a greater and more harmonious Michigan. This aim has been nullified, to some extent, by the campaign of sectional prejudice carried on by Mr. Kelley, in which he disappointed his better friends.

DAILY MINING JOURNAL

A MORNING PAPER PUBLISHED BY THE MINING JOURNAL CO. (LIMITED)

Issued daily except on Sundays. Contains Associated Press dispatches and is especially devoted to the Upper Peninsula interests.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES: Per year, by mail, $9.00. Per month, by carrier, $0.90.

MARQUETTE, MICH., SEPT. 6.

Entered as mail matter of the second class in the postoffice at Marquette, Mich.

Well, here's the day at last.

How big will the vote be? Well, that depends.

If the upper peninsula doesn't bug a governor this trip it never will.

An excellent buffer against disappointment is realization that for one man to win somebody has got to lose.

The candidates all say they are glad it is over. The public steps forward with a hearty second to the sentiment.

In the current issue Detroit Saturday Night declares for Chas. S. Osborn for governor as the man most available for the Republican party and the candidate who can most easily be elected in November.

The annual county fair is now open. The officials and directors have spared no effort to prepare an excellent program. The events will possess varied interest, and people of all tastes will find something to please them.

A new broom sweeps clean. That's why thousands of voters will cast their ballots for Chas. S. Osborn. Many of them think kindly of Lieutenant Governor Kelley, but they see that he is tied to a lot of political barnacles.

The spectacle of William Barnes, Jr., member of the firm of Barnes, Woodruff & Co., high arbiter of the political destinies of the state of New York, wading into Colonel Roosevelt reminds somewhat of a frontal attack by a gnat on one of those lions that Teddy was hunting but a few months ago.

It's rather an anomaly that Wisconsin, the state in which so much is heard about reform, should have some of the highest priced election contests of any state in the Union. Uncle Ike Stephenson's $100,000 race for endorsement at the polls two years ago was a classic, and this year Captain Lewis, one of the candidates for governor, is spilling money about the state as if it was water.

According to a table compiled by the Auto Directories company of New York there are 8000,000,000 worth of automobiles in this country. New York state leads with 60,000 machines, and California is second with 35,000. In Minneapolis, it is reported, one automobile firm holds mortgages on 1,500 homes. In Wisconsin the mortgages on automobiles and other property for the purchase price are estimated at $4,000,000; Nebraska has $9,000,000 in mortgages based on automobile purchases; in Kansas the estimate is $4,000,000 in the last three years. The money tightness in Iowa is charged to 2,000 persons are reported to have given mortgages recently to buy automobiles. In Wyoming only 5 per cent of automobile purchases are represented by mortgages, but it is reported that 15 per cent of the purchasers are persons who cannot afford the luxury.

IS DISAPPOINTING.

Lieutenant Governor Kelley, in his sectional campaign to be nominated for governor on the Republican ticket, is disappointing to thousands of voters in this region who have been good friends of his, even if they have been supporting Chas. S. Osborn in the primary campaign.

At a mass meeting in Detroit last Friday night, Mr. Kelley promised, if made governor of Michigan, to secure a re-assessment of the upper peninsula so that the state would annually receive four times the amount of taxes from the mines that it now receives.

This is, obviously, a species of demagogic appeal hardly in keeping with the character that has been ascribed to Mr. Kelley by practically every one in this region who has known him. How can Mr. Kelley know that it would be just to increase upper peninsula mining taxes four fold? Obviously he cannot.

Mr. Kelley's address on this occasion abounded in misstatements that are inexcusable coming from a man who himself has a considerable acquaintance with upper peninsula industries and upper peninsula men. Forty thousand men, he said, are employed in the mines of the upper peninsula. The number nowhere nearly approximates that number. One company alone, he stated, employs 12,000. He must refer to the Calumet & Hecla, and the figure he gives is a gross exaggeration of the men on its payroll.

Mr. Kelley's reference to the upper peninsula and Mr. Osborn were filled. It is greatly to be regretted that Mr. Kelley felt impelled to embark on a sectional campaign to secure the nomination. It is even more to be regretted that, having elected to follow such a course, he has fathered gross exaggerations and misstatements. Two years ago Lawton T. Hemans carried lower Michigan and a Republican governor was elected by virtue of upper peninsula votes.

Senator Burrows is fighting windmills to the last. The Mining Journal has received a dispatch from the Burrows campaign bureau quoting a telegraphic denial from Colonel Roosevelt, dated Omaha, Sept. 2, that he had expressed a wish for any man to be nominated for senator in Michigan. It is stated that "for weeks Townsend managers have been stating that their candidate was endorsed by Roosevelt."

Here is a palpable misstatement that makes Burrows' managers themselves eligible to membership in the Ananias club. Townsend managers have not for weeks been claiming that Colonel Roosevelt has endorsed their candidate for senator. They have never claimed anything of the kind. It is possible that an obscure newspaper or two may have, in misguided zeal, made some claim of the kind, but it has never been given form by any responsible supporter of Representative Townsend, or by any important paper advocating his endorsement at the polls today.

With the idea of creating an eleventh hour diversion, Senator Burrows' managers stuffed a scarecrow with straw and then called on Colonel Roosevelt to knock it down. Any statement that Colonel Roosevelt or President Taft was interfering in the Michigan campaign from hundreds of miles away would have been palpably absurd and if advanced seriously would have done the man it was designed to aid incalculable harm.

Of course it is not improbable that if Colonel Roosevelt had visited Michigan in the course of the campaign he would not have hesitated to acknowledge on the public platform the valuable and unstinted service he obtained from Representative Townsend when the railroad legislation which he fathered was in its formative stage, and was so bitterly opposed by the reactionary elements in congress. In other states where senatorial contests are being waged he has not hesitated to refer to the public service of men now before the people. He made acknowledgement of the assistance he had from Senator Burkett, of Nebraska, in carrying out some of his policies, and also commended Senator Dolliver, of Iowa.

Thus it is not improbable that had Colonel Roosevelt spoken in Michigan at any time during the past few weeks he would have repeated, in substance, his remark of March 3, 1909, when he said at the White House: "I wish we had more men in public life like Charles E. Townsend.

He is a credit to the state of Michigan and the country at large, and has given faithful, able and distinguished service to the people of the United States."

But Colonel Roosevelt has not visited Michigan and, therefore, has very properly refrained from in any manner referring to the Michigan senatorial campaign. Nothing to the contrary has ever been intimated from any authoritative Townsend source, and the dispatch from Colonel Roosevelt, published by the Burrows managers, setting forth that he has had nothing to say about the Michigan situation as well have been sent by the Man in the Moon, for all the bearing it has on the contest.

A LAUGH OR TWO.

A Familiar Warning. Mrs. Jones' favorite warning to her young progeny when they were in mischief was that she would tend to them in a minute. "Tending" was accomplished by applying her open hand where it would do the most good.

"What's the matter?" asked his mother. "I'm 'fraid of the man," he said, solemnly. "Oh, he won't hurt you," reassured Mrs. Jones. "I'm in a hurry for them."

A second time Harry disappeared round the corner, and a second time returned without his purchase. "I'm 'fraid of the grocer man," he explained, as before.

"Well, what makes you afraid of him?" demanded his mother, impatiently. "Why," answered the little fellow, "I 'fraid of him 'cause he looked at me 'an' said, 'I'll tend to you in a minute!'—Youth's Companion.

A Tip for the Angler. There had been an incessant downpour of rain from the early hours of the morning. It was now half-past three, and still the angler sat on the bank of the river. Doubtless he was fishing for tea, but success did not attend his efforts, and his only consolation was a small eel about the size of a worm.

Suddenly a drenched urchin made him appearance. "Caught much?" asked the boy. "Can't you see," impatiently replied the angler.

"Ye'll catch nothing there, mister." No reply. After a slight pause, "I know where you can catch some, though." "Where?" eagerly inquired the ardent angler.

"Under the bridge," replied the boy. "How do you know?" "Cause they allus go there to keep out of the rain."

The angler got up to stretch himself, and the youth made a hasty retreat.—Ideas.

A Matter of Environment. The late Justice Brewer was noted for his tolerant and broad-minded views. A Washburn diplomat re-called the other day a story told by Justice Brewer in illustration of the need for tolerance.

"We should respect the views of others"—so the story ran—"for morality itself is but a matter of environment."

"A missionary in the South Seas was distressed because her dusky parishioners were nude. She decided to try delicate to get them to wear at least a little clothing, and to this end she led a great many pieces of scarlet and green and yellow calico lying about the hut.

"An elderly dame called one afternoon for spiritual advice. The missionary related how enviously her eyes rested on the calico, and she took up a two-yard piece of the yellow, saying: "I'll give you this if you'll wear it!"

"The female draped the calico about her like a skirt and departed in great glee. "But the next day, nude as before, she returned with the fabric under her arm. Handing it sadly to the missionary, she said: "Me no can wear it, missy. Me too shy."

A Poor Defense. "That is no defense." The speaker, Captain B. S. Osborn, was criticizing the various attacks on Dr. Cook's veracity. "That defense," he resumed, "reminds me of the Cireville woman's defense of her husband. 'Her husband had not been at work

NOT FOR WOMEN IN POLITICS.

The German Emperor has seized an opportunity of venting his views on the feminist movement, and the general trend of his utterances has been made public, presumably with his majesty's permission. He views with profound sympathy the general movement proceeding in all the civilized countries of the world for the amelioration of the position of women, including higher education. His majesty believes in technical education for women and the invasion of different businesses and professions by women, holding that in the present numerical proportion of the sexes this is inevitable, and could not be denied to women without grave injustice.

A HAIR'S-BREADTH ESCAPE.

The hair's-breadth escapes in which the writers of historical novels have the reputation of revelling may not seem quite so improbable if we take for analogy an anecdote of the sort related by Marion Harland in her autobiography. "This revolutionary reminiscence," writes the author, "is always renewed by the sight of an old Virginia plantation gate swinging gratefully on ponderous hinges and kept shut by the fall of a wooden latch, two yards long, into a wooden hook set in the gate post. My grandfather, 'Capt. Sterling,' was at the head of a foraging party near Yorktown, when they were chased by British troops. The Americans scattered in various directions and escaped for the most part, being familiar with the country byways and cross roads. Their captain was closely pursued by three troopers to a high plantation gate. The Virginian opened it without leaving the saddle, shot through, shut the gate, and rammed down the latch into the socket hard. The pursuers had to alight to raise the latch, and the delay gave the fugitive time to get away."

A RELIABLE MEDICINE—NOT A NARCOTIC.

Mrs. E. Marti, St. Joe, Mich., says Foley's Honey and Tar saved her little boy's life. She writes: "Our little boy contracted a severe bronchial trouble and as the doctor's medicine did not cure him, I gave him Foley's Honey and Tar in which I have great faith. It cured the cough as well as the choking and gagging spells, and he got well in a short time. Foley's Honey and Tar has many times saved us much trouble and we are never without it in the house." Picnic Well Attended—In spite of threatening and chilly weather, the Labor Day picnic at Presque Isle yesterday was well attended, and everybody had a good time. The pavilion was well filled during the afternoon with merry dancers and the program of sports proved very amusing and entertaining. The inevitable Mr. Smith, as usual, brought forth plenty of laughter with his unique "stunts," in which the younger set participated, chiefly. The day's festivities closed last night with a dance at Fraternity Hall.

House Raided Yesterday—Marquette people would do well to keep their houses securely locked, when away from home, this week. While N. F. Morgan and wife were at camp yesterday, some one broke in through the cellar window and ransacked the dwelling for valuables, with what success had not been learned last night. The robbers helped themselves to a lunch in the pantry and went through all the drawers in the house, and appear to have done no wanton damage. Mr. Morgan had not ascertained what or how much had been stolen last evening. It looks like the work of professional house breakers.

School Opens Today—This is a day of mourning for the small boy, for school begins at 9 o'clock this morning, and that, too, with a county fair and a street fair in town. The teachers, as announced a few days ago, are ready to begin their year's labors and a successful and profitable year is anticipated. The buildings are in first class condition, head janitor Ed Quarters having made all the repairs during the summer vacation that were authorized by the board of education last June. The addition to the North Marquette school will not be completed for several weeks.

Big M. B. A. Meeting—At a meeting of the Modern Brotherhood of America held last evening, watches were presented to E. G. Gilbert, Mrs. Frances Clubb and Mrs. Mand Watters, these three having secured the greatest number of new members for the Marquette lodge during the last sixty days. The contest resulted in the addition of forty-two members, fifteen of whom were initiated last evening. A fine lunch was served at the close of the ceremonies. The local lodge is now in prosperous condition with 225 members and is growing rapidly. The lodge was organized June 6, 1906, with eighteen members. District Manager W. J. Lupton presented the three watches.

PRIMARY ELECTION TAKES PLACE TODAY

Polls Open for Enrolled Voters from 7 a. m. to 8 p. m.—Who Are to Be Voted For.

Today the qualified electors of Michigan will settle who are to be the Republican and Democratic candidates for governor, lieutenant governor, United States senator, congressman, state senator and the various county offices. In all the cities of this county the polls will be open from 7 a. m. to 8 p. m. In Marquette the voters of each ward will vote in their customary polling places. The interest in the election in this county is confined to the Republican nomination for governor, United States senator and congressman from the Twelfth district, there being no contest for any of the county offices, except representative in the legislature from the First district to succeed Chas. R. McCabe. W. S. Ewing, of Choccolay, and Thomas M. Wells, of Negaunee, aspire to represent the voters of eastern Marquette county in the legislative halls at Lansing. M. H. Moriarty, of Crystal Falls, has no opposition for reelection as state senator from this district.

For the governorship, there are three Republican candidates: Chas. S. Osborn, of Sault Ste. Marie; Patrick H. Kelley, of Lansing, and Amos S. Musselman, of Grand Rapids. All of these men have given public addresses in this city since the opening of the campaign.

There are two aspirants for the senatorial toga. Senator Burrows is seeking a re-election and he is opposed by Chas. Townsend, of Jackson. In a sense the result of the senatorial primary will be the most significant feature of the primary election, as the issue is clearly that of "standpattism" versus "progression." Senator Burrows representing the "old guard," and Mr. Townsend the progressive wing of the Republican party.

Congressman H. O. Young seeks a re-nomination to that important office, and he is opposed by Angus W. Kerr, of Laurium.

Salient Points of Primary Law.

The primary election will be confined to those who have enrolled as members of the parties. Many who will come to the polls will find out that neglect of this little matter will keep them on the side lines. Democrats who enrolled as Republicans to help out some Republican friend cannot participate in the primary of their own party.

The law provides that those who were ill on enrollment day or unavoidably absent from their precinct or township may swear in their vote as non-registered voters may be sworn in at regular elections. Voters who have changed their places of residence since enrollment day may vote in the new locations by securing a certificate from the place in which they are enrolled, stating that they are properly enrolled there.

It is evident there is going to be no little arguing and discussion at the polls because of the fact that voters are not enrolled, and if they are not enrolled they cannot vote at the primaries unless they were unable at the last enrollment because of illness or unavoidable absence from the election precinct, or those who have been twenty-one years of age since the last enrollment.

Some people are arguing that if a man moves from one ward to another and has been in the latter ward twenty days prior to the primary election, that he can enroll that day, regardless of whether he was enrolled before, which is not true.

It appears that there are many voters who think they are enrolled who are not, and caution should be taken at swearing in their votes at the primaries unless they are positive they are enrolled in the ward from which they moved, for false swearing would subject the voter in such case to arrest for illegal voting or for perjury.

General Law Governs.

A voter has the same right of assistance in marking his ballot, if he makes such a request, that he has been allowed in the past under the general election law. This means that an illiterate voter who cannot read his ballot, can have the assistance of the election officials in marking it, under the restrictions provided by the general law. It also means that a voter physically incapacitated from marking his ballot can have assistance. It does not mean, however, that the election officials, or any one else, has no right to enter a booth unless the voter is clearly unable to read his ballot or physically unable to mark it.

Any person soliciting votes in a polling place or within 100 feet of a polling place while the polls are open, who offers or gives to any person in the polling place any intoxicating liquors or shall in any other way violate the provisions of the general election laws, is liable to a fine not to exceed $300 or imprisonment not to exceed six months. The only county offices which will not be voted upon at the primaries are that of circuit judge and school commissioner.

Pierce Players to Return Soon.

First definite announcement of the plays to be given the forthcoming visit by H. E. Pierce & Co.'s Associate Players is made by Lee Parvin, business representative, who arrived in the city yesterday.

It includes two well known dramas which have never been seen here. The engagement will be for three nights, opening Monday, Sept. 12, during which time William Jossely, Miss Blanche Douglas and their large company of players will be seen in Augustus Thomas' dramatization of Richard Harding Davis' romantic novel "Soldiers of Fortune;" Rida Johnson Young's charming comedy, "The Boys of Company B," in which Jack Barrymore last season appeared in both Chicago and New York as well as a road tour with much success, and also a mammoth and most pretentious revival of Anthony Hope's well known novel, "The Prisoner of Zenda," dramatized by Edward E. Rose, and in which E. H. Southern created the leading role.

These plays are picked with a view to lending variety to the offerings as well as to give the finest opportunities for Mr. Jossely, Miss Douglas and the various members of this company. Besides all the old members who have been retained, several new faces will be seen, including Jack Livingston, Claude Kimball and Miss Edna Marshall.

The same careful attention to detail that characterizes all productions made under H. E. Pierce & Co.'s management will be continued and regardless of the magnitude of their present bills the scale of prices will remain the same as when the Pierce Players last appeared here. Every promise made by this management was fulfilled here during their last engagement and as a result there seems to be little doubt but that a series of packed houses will await their coming visit, which will be a welcome one to many.

FOOD GOES DIRECT TO THE STOMACH

Oklahoman Has Not Swallowed for Over a Year—Is Fed Through a Rubber Tube.

Surprises Waiters by Peculiar Methods—Uses a Gallon of Milk at One Time.

Wichita, Kas., Sept. 5.—A six-foot Oklahoman, apparently in fine health, caused surprise in Kunkle & Parker's restaurant by his peculiar method of absorbing sustenance. He got off a south-bound Santa Fe train and, perching on a stool in the restaurant, asked Oscar Jenkins, a waiter, for a gallon of milk, served in glasses. Jenkins served the big fellow, who opened his grip, took out a glass funnel, reached in his shirt bosom and drew forth a rubber pipe about the size of pencil. The traveler then attached the funnel to the hose, turned part of the milk into the funnel and with his thumb and forefinger of his right hand graduated the flow just a little faster than a drop at a time.

"To the waiters, four in number, the stranger explained that about a year ago his Adam's apple "went back" on him. He went to Kansas City and was told by specialists that a growth had stopped up his gullet and that he would never again be able to eat solid food. He continued: "To save my life for the time being a silver tube was connected with the top of my stomach. I began to regain my health, my strength came back and soon after I was discharged from the hospital where treatment was being given me.

"Since that day I have not eaten any solid food. All my strength goes through this funnel and this rubber tube," which he tapped with the edge of a glass as he refilled the funnel for the third time.

After using the last of the gallon of milk the Oklahoman cleaned the tube and funnel by pouring a glass of water through it. He then doubled up the tube, tied a string tightly about it, replaced the funnel in his grip, paid the cashier and bowed out of the door, leaving four waiters and the cashier in astonishment.

The Oklahoman took the south-bound train. His grip was loaded with the initials "C. S. R."

WOMAN ESCAPES OPERATION

Was Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Elwood, Ind.—"Your remedies have cured me and I have only taken six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was sick three months and could not walk. I suffered all the time. The doctors said I could not get well without an operation, for I could hardly stand the pains in my sides, especially my right one, and down my right leg. I began to feel better when I had taken only one bottle of Compound, but kept on as I was afraid to stop too soon."—Mrs. SADIE MULLEN, 2728 N. B. St., Elwood, Ind.

Why will women take chances with an operation or drag out a sickly, half-hearted existence, missing three-fourths of the joy of living, when they can find health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has cured thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion, and nervous prostration.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be absolutely confidential, and the advice free.

INDIAN PLUNDERING AT END IN OKLAHOMA

Congressman Campbell, Home from the Inquiry, Sounds the Square Deal Tocsin.

Kansas Predicts Much Good from the Investigation, Declaring the Government Will Act.

Pittsburg, Kan., Sept. 5.—"The worst plundering in lands and land grabbing ever known has been disclosed by the investigations of the congressional committee in Oklahoma," said Congressman Philip B. Campbell who has arrived home after a month's absence with the committee in Oklahoma.

"The investigation," said Mr. Campbell, "has called attention to the manner in which this land grabbing and grabbing has been going on and will result in great good to the Indians."

"What will be the outcome, finally, Mr. Campbell?"

"The outcome? Well, for one thing, there will be no more Indian land grabbing or grabbing. This plundering of Indian property will be stopped. No more will the Indian be permitted to sign away his rights. The government will see to that.

Big Fee Days Over.

"No more big fees for attorneys, no more lobbying in Washington, no more hints at bribery. Indian affairs will be conducted properly hereafter, you can rest assured of that."

"The government will sell the lands for the Indians. The government will employ the necessary attorneys for the Indians and they will be paid at a rate fixed or approved by the government. The lands will be placed on the market in September. They will be sold and the Indians will get their share from the sale."

"And how about J. F. McMurray?"

"The McMurray contracts will not be approved," replied the congressman. "For that matter, none of the existing contracts will be approved. Mr. McMurray has many friends among the Indians. As to what our report concerning him will be I am not in a position to say."

Nothing Against McGuire.

"The investigation, while complete so far as work in Oklahoma is concerned, is not finished. We will resume our hearing in Washington in November. At this hearing we will examine records in an effort to substantiate certain testimony submitted in Oklahoma and may call several attorneys before the committee. What these records are I do not care to say at this time."

"Will the failure to realize on his contracts leave McMurray any recourse on the Indians to get his money?" Mr. Campbell was asked.

"That is a legal question," said he, "which I cannot discuss."

"You exonerated McGuire, according to the dispatches?"

"Yes; there was absolutely no evidence showing wrongdoing on the part of Congressman McGuire," was the reply. "He apparently had no more to do with the Indian land contracts than did Vice President Sherman or Senator Curtis."

BAD WHISKEY IN PROHIBITION MAINE

Rear Admiral Robley Evans Says It's Sold to Sailors and Makes Them Crazy.

Bar Harbor, Me., Sept. 5.—Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans, who is spending the summer here, disapproves of the Maine prohibitory law. He says it does not prohibit, and that the quality of whiskey served in defiance of law is atrocious.

"I am reluctant to say anything about the laws of Maine," said Admiral Evans yesterday. "I do not want to talk about laws of states other than my own without first making a thorough investigation and inquiry. But I will say this honestly and fearlessly and as one who is sure of his ground—I have had more trouble in the direction of my sailors getting drunk in the ports of Maine than I have had with my men while at any other ports in the world."

"I have gone ashore with a boatload of men in Portland, and when they returned to the boat, in a surprisingly short time, they, my own sailors, did not know me. As far as the liquor question is concerned I would rather take my men anywhere in the world than bring them to Maine."

"I do not believe in a prohibitory law

unenforced, and I have never yet seen it enforced in Maine. I have found by experience that my men could always get whiskey in Maine. No, not whiskey, for it was always poison, and for the most part wood alcohol. I know that the most impossible and abhorrent dives and there obtain their obnoxious concoctions, worse, much worse, than liquor. It made them always, not so much drunk as crazy. I do not believe in a law that works like that.

"In New York my sailors go to places to get liquor, too. No law will stop them from looking for it, any more than the law of Maine has so far prohibited their finding it. Yes, in New York they look for it, too, and, of course, find it. But it is not poison; it is real whiskey. And if they are imposed upon in the quality of goods they know it, on the instant, and go where they can get what they want. I say that this condition is better than the condition in Maine."

"Theory aside, it requires a very short experience such as I had with my men and much short liberty to demonstrate most practically and tellingly that oceans of intoxicating liquors are obtainable in Maine coast ports, and that the effect of this liquor on men is infinitely worse than is the effect of liquor obtained elsewhere."

ANNUAL SCHOOL MEETING YESTERDAY

Electors Voted to Spread $65,000 Upon the Tax Roll for School Purposes.

At the annual meeting of the electors of school district No. 1, held yesterday morning in the Central school building, on Division street, it was voted to spread the sum of $65,000, in addition to the one mill tax, upon the roll for school purposes. This is the same amount that was raised last year. The resolution authorizing the spreading of the amount designated upon the tax roll was presented by W. P. Belden and seconded by Captain Thomas Walters, and was unanimously adopted. It was as follows:

"Resolved, That the sum of $65,000 and one mill tax, in addition to other school funds, be and the same is hereby voted by this district to be raised by a tax levied upon all the taxable property of said district for the year 1910, the same to be used for the purpose of defraying the expenses of the schools, including the payment of teachers' wages, fuel, light, repairs, supplies, janitors and all incidental expenses for the ensuing fiscal year, and for the payment of bonds and interest accruing thereon during the fiscal year."

Following the adoption of the resolution, the polls were opened for the election of a trustee for three years. Thos. H. Bargh, who was president of the board during the year just closed, was the only candidate, and he received all of the votes cast. The board was organized with Charles Burt, John G. Welch and Fred Tommeson as inspectors, John Bergdahl and E. C. Cooley, clerks; George Francis and Antoine Augustson, gate keepers.

RUSSELL STOCK COMPANY.

Week's Engagement Opened Last Evening With a Large Audience Present.

"The Man on the Box" was the initial performance of Edward Russell and his stock company at the Ishpeming theatre last night, and they more than pleased the large audience assembled. Mr. Russell, as Robert Warburton, completely captivated his audience, and Miss Grace Bryan, as Betty, gives a splendid impersonation of Harold McGrath's heroine. The rest of the company were all above the average stock players. Mr. Benec and Miss Gordon deserve mention for their clever specialty.
Tonight the company appears in "The Bachelor and the Maid," a society comedy, said to possess all the requirements to make a comedy really a comedy. "The Bachelor and the Maid" has been used by the company as an opening bill in other places and this fact should prove that it is one of the best pieces offered during the week. Arrangements have been made to have election returns read from the stage.
ON LONG AUTO TRIP.
Former Ishpeming Man Will Journey from Duluth to Buffalo.
W. B. Shaver, formerly of this city, who is now conducting a large and successful building contracting business on the Mesaba range, is a member of the party that will journey in a touring car from Buffalo to New York city. The Virginian said of the proposed trip:
"Dr. C. B. Lenont and B. Shaver of this city, Dr. Patten and E. M. Treway of Duluth and Dr. Johnson of St. Paul leave today for a trip down the lakes in a touring car. From there they will set out in Dr. Lenont's Thomas Flyer for a trip through the state to New York city. A number of other eastern cities are included in the itinerary of the party's trip and they expect to spend several days with Charles T. Fairbairn, general manager of the Republic Iron & Steel company, whose headquarters is at Pittsburg. The trip will be particularly interesting to all members of the party and that they will have a good time is quite needless to add when one considers the personnel of the party."

Mining News

QUINCY.

The Quincy Mining company has no copper pressing for sale and furthermore would not consider a price under 13 cents a pound. Thus far this year Quincy has received an average price in the neighborhood of 13 1/2 cents. Earlier in the year when copper prices had commenced to sag, sales of Lake copper were made at 13 1/2 cents a pound. On the recent depression, when electrolytic sold down to 12 1/2 cents no Quincy copper was marketed below 12 1/2 cents. Quincy's 1910 production is expected to approximate 21,000,000 pounds obtained at a cost of not less than 10 1/2 cents per pound. If pushed, production could probably be made to total 25,000,000 pounds. During the first half of this year Quincy produced something more than 10,500,000 pounds of copper. All of this and several million pounds more has been contracted for, making total sales to date about 13,900,000 pounds. Indications are that if the company had been obliged to sell copper at around 12 1/2 cents recently the directors would have taken different action regarding dividends at their recent meeting. As it was, the margin between profits for the second quarter of the year was exceedingly small. The new No. 9 shaft is down about 800 feet and at the 500 level the only drift thus far started has been driven for about 200 feet and bunches of copper have been found.

NOTES OF COPPER NEWS.

The combined output of the South range mines—Champion, Baltic and Trumountain—for August was about 3,921,000 pounds refined copper, an increase of 1,000,000 pounds over July. A year ago the August output was about 4,100,000 pounds refined copper.
Copper exports for the month of August were the largest for any month this year at 27,776 tons, comparing with 22,875 tons the previous month and 22,916 tons August, 1909. In April of this year exports of the metal fell to 13,062 tons. These heavy exports probably account in part for the increase of 780 tons in the foreign visible supply the past two weeks although even now the visible supply abroad at 97,507 tons is at the lowest point this year, showing a reduction of 15,948 tons since March, when the visible supply was at the highest point of 113,455 tons.
On the first of the current year there were in the Giroux treasury $500,000 of second mortgage bonds, the balance of $1,500,000 authorized. These have since been converted into stock at par, and marketed in part. On its five compartment Alpha shaft the Giroux company will probably spend $125,000 and friends of the property point out that Thomas F. Cole, who is in control of the company, would not authorize such an expenditure did not ore tonnage warrant.

Another extension until October has been made on the United Copper company notes which fell due on July 1 and which were extended for sixty days until Sept. 1. These notes were issued by the United Copper company to cover bonds due January 1 and July 1, 1909. La Franca company owns the Lexington mine in Montana and is one of many subsidiaries of the United Copper company.
Superior's copper yield per ton of rock from No. 1 shaft is highly gratifying, and promises to average much higher the present fiscal year than for either of the two preceding years. The average for the year ended April 30, 1909, was 22.22 pounds per ton, and for the year ended April 30, 1910, it was 20.52. Present indications, however, point not only to a restoration of the former average, but warrant the belief that it may average close to twenty-five pounds. It has not been unusual for the rock to run well above thirty pounds refined for a week period or longer. Shipments fluctuate between 300 and 400 tons daily, or between 8,000 and 10,000 tons monthly.

Stockholders of the Cumberland-Ely Copper company are notified that the Nevada Consolidated Copper company has extended again the offer to exchange its shares for those of Cumberland-Ely on the basis of three and one-quarter shares of the latter for one of the former. The offer still remains to purchase Cumberland-Ely stock at $0.10 per share. Word from Butte says: "Unless there is some further delay the suit brought by Boston stockholders of the Parrot Copper Mining company for the appointment of appraisers to value the property of the company, will come up in the district court in Butte, Sept. 12. The stockholders in question object to the sale of the Parrot property to the Anaconda company for 90,000 shares of stock, claiming that the Parrot is worth considerably more. Under the laws of Montana, the stockholders who are dissatisfied are at liberty to go into court and ask for the appointment of appraisers to value the property, all the expenses to be paid by the company. There have been some rumors that the case would likely be dropped, but the attorney representing the protesting interest says that so far as he is aware the case will come for hearing on the date named."

Fall Breaks Boy's Collar Bone

Roy, the seven-year-old son of John Watson, fell from a delivery wagon at the Soo Saturday afternoon and broke his collar bone. The boy was left in the rig while the driver was delivering an order. He was cautioned to remain quiet, but became restless and the horse starting up, he fell from the wagon.

Dies from Infantile Paralysis

Kenneth H. Rose, aged three and one-half months, son of Henry Rose, 815 South Sarah street, is dead at Escanaba, after an illness of but four or five days with infantile paralysis. This is the second case of the disease to result fatally in the city the past week and it is reported that considerable apprehension exists. In the opinion of some physicians the malady is more contagious than smallpox and much more deadly.

Some Advice for Farmers

Several of the business men of this city have advanced a very plausible reason why the average farmer finds more or less trouble in disposing of his fruit and produce to the groceryman, commission merchant, or the fruit dealer. They state that it is the usual custom to bring stuff in on Friday or Saturday, glutting the market, as the average grocer does not care to carry a surplus stock of perishable nature over until Monday. If more of the farmers would bring their products to town earlier in the week, they would find less trouble in disposing of their wares.

Miner Is Dead from Injuries

Ardino Georgini, employed at the James mine at Iron River, is dead from injuries. He and two other trammers were going to their place of work, where they were to tram ore into a chute. The other two passed the chute, but soon missed Ardino. They notified the captain, who descended to the fourth level and there found the man at the bottom of the chute. Ardino had fallen about one hundred feet. He was thirty-one years of age and single.

Will Transport Children

Messrs. Blandford and Neerham of the Iliawatha board of education were, in Manistique a few days ago for the purpose of making a contract with R. G. Casemore for the transportation of children of the township eligible for attendance at high school to and from the city every school day during the coming year. Mr. Casemore will receive the sum of $490 for the work, which is considered a very reasonable figure. The township will furnish the van.

Claims Bounty on Six Wolves

G. E. Lowry, a hunter and trapper of Whitefish township, has written a long letter to the county clerk at the Soo, relative to an experience he had last fall with a pack of wolves. He says that he spent a couple of months hunting the wolves and finally located their headquarters. He baited the place with poisoned meat, but the weather conditions were such that he was unable to return to the scene last winter. This fall the carcasses of six wolves were found by berry pickers in the vicinity where Lowry had placed his poisoned bait, but they were in such condition that it is doubtful if the requirements of the law can be met in order to secure the bounty. The law requires that punches be made in the butts of both ears of each animal and without the ears it would be impossible for the county officers to make the necessary affidavit to secure the state's share of the bounty on the animals. County Clerk Parsille has written for further information, and it may be that Lowry will yet receive his reward.

Capt. Richards' Election Pleases

William J. Richards, general superintendent of the Corrigan-McKinney properties on the Michigan and Gogebic ranges, was chosen president of the Lake Superior Mining Institute at the annual session held last week on the Gogebic range and at Gary, Ind., comments the Crystal Falls Drill. Mr. Richards' election is a very high honor among mining men and an evidence of the great esteem in which he is held among the mining men of the Lake Superior country. He requires the members of the institute to know that he fully appreciates the high honor they have placed upon him. In honoring Mr. Richards, Crystal Falls has been likewise honored, for his whole life since he came among us has been an effort to advance the interests of the community of which he has become such an important member. The next session of the Lake Superior Mining Institute will be held on the Menominee range and Crystal Falls will be the headquarters, according to the usages of the body in the past. It is safe to say that this coming year the college he has been in the Republic Iron & Steel company's employ here. The bride is the only daughter of Marshal and Mrs. Rough.

NEGAUNEE WINS BASEBALL FARGE

Exhibition Contest Between the Ishpeming and Negaunee Teams Was a Big Frost.

Yesterday's ball game between the Negaunee and Ishpeming teams, won by the former by a score of 11 to 0, was the biggest farge that has been pulled off at Union Park this year. The Ishpeming players horsed the game from start to finish, and the farcical spirit seized the Negaunee players in the fifth inning, after they had the game cinched. Even Umpire Harris swung the favor, and several times he called Negaunee men out when they were safe in order to shorten the agony.

Many of the regular baseball patrons from Ishpeming left the park disgusted, but nearly all of the Negaunee fans remained. The game proved that all of the comedians are not behind the footlights, as some of the stunts were really funny. The Ishpeming team was censured by the disgusted fans from that city for giving such an exhibition. It was evident from the start that the Ishpeming men had little interest in the game, as Lamers, who pitched the first inning, was replaced by Secore, who does not pretend to be a twirler. No explanation was offered why Lamers was taken out of the box other than that the two first men up hit the ball into the field, while Swick, the third batter, hit safely. Cullis, the first batter scored, his fly ball having been dropped by Larstrom in right field.

Secore pitched the remainder of the game, and the Negaunee players hit him whenever they felt so disposed. Nichols, who was trying hard to catch a good game, quit, disgusted, in the sixth inning, and Sib Larson went behind the bat. Nichols going into right, Larstrom taking second and Dixon going to first.

Steinle pitched the first five innings for Negaunee and not until the fifth did an Ishpeming man hit safely, or did a runner reach first base. Secore, the first man up, hit for two bases, but he was thrown out at third, when he attempted to stretch it to three sacks. C. Larson reached first in that inning on four balls, but he never left the base. Goulette pitched the next three innings for Negaunee. He was touched for two hits in the seventh. Simpson went in the box for Negaunee in the ninth. Swick going behind the bat when Goulette started to pitch. Simpson's "win" before delivering the ball was one of the best comedy stunts of the day and it did a good deal toward giving the spectators at least some return for their money.

Baseball players who are being liberally paid for their services can afford to put on such exhibitions, as the fans like to see them do their best to win. Manager Steeking sat in the grandstand with a disgusted look on his face, but he did not attempt to regulate his team. When Nichols quit, catching he was roughly applauded by the Ishpeming fans, many of whom had in different ways expressed their disapproval of the farge.

The Negaunee team scored twelve hits, one of them a two-bagger in the ninth, by Elmer Mitchell. Swick had five hits, landing safely every time he came to bat. Rosevear had two, and Steinle two. The playing of Elmer Mitchell on first base was a real feature. Rosevear had a put-out in left field that was a sensation. After a Ping run he pulled down a ball hit by Dixon that looked good for three bases. The Ishpeming team was let down with four hits, three of them by Secore, one a two-bagger. Dixon secured the other hit. The two baggers were off Steinle's delivery; two singles were made while Goulette was in the box and Simpson was also touched to bat. Rosevear had two, and Steinle two. Former Pastor of Swedish Lutheran Church to Give Lecture Tomorrow.

Rev. C. E. Benson, who had charge of the Swedish Lutheran church congregation in this city some seventeen years ago, and who is now pastor of the church at Stillwater, Minn., and chaplain of the state penitentiary there, will lecture this evening, commencing at 8 o'clock, in the Swedish Lutheran church. His address will be in the Swedish language, and his subject will be "Criminology and Cause of Crime."

In recent years he has become prominent in church work and is now one of the best known of the Swedish Lutheran ministers in the country. He is said to be a fluent speaker. Last year Rev. Benson was a delegate to the American Penitentiary association's convention at Seattle, Wash., and at that meeting was elected vice president of the organization. His son, C. A. Benson, who is now a student at the Augustana seminary, is at present in charge of the Negaunee congregation, having come here a week or ten days ago during the absence in Europe of Rev. G. Fletwood, the regular pastor.

There will be no admission charge for tomorrow night's lecture, but a collection will be taken up.

NORTHERN STATE NORMAL SCHOOL

MARQUETTE School Begins Monday, Sept. 26, '10

The Northern State Normal School admits graduates of approved high schools to the two years' course leading to life certificate and diploma. It offers courses leading to a three-year certificate, which is renewable for three years and valid in graded schools, and also a rural school certificate. Has excellent facilities for training teachers for special work in Kindergarten, Music, Drawing and Nature Study. It has an exceptionally fine corps of teachers who are specialists in their departments, and its training school gives a splendid opportunity for the training of teachers. There is a splendid dormitory in connection with the school, which is an ideal home for the student. The building is lighted with electricity and heated with steam; the living rooms are large and pleasant; the dining room has a seating capacity of one hundred and fifty persons. The expenses are moderate. Students of the Northern Normal School who finish the life certificate course are given fifty-six hours' credit at the University of Michigan.
